Star Gazing

By DON HOUK

An interested reader has given us a few thoughts about the late M. F. (Tubby) Reeder. The writer asks to remain anonymous in the newspaper, so I will respect that request.

"Now, I feel a need to pay tribute to a man who was truly a friend to man. Tubby Reeder never knew there were so many who loved him and he never dreamed he would be missed so greatly.

"Every child who knew Tubby was extra special to him and he to them. His good nature and perpetual humor enriched the lives he touched.

"Words can't describe the sadness left by the passing of this good friend.

"I am not very eloquent but putting the feelings of the heart into words is never easy."

More about the front page discussion. I intended to ask for comment from the readers in last week's column. I make only one condition. . . all letters MUST be signed. I will respect a request that the writer's name be withheld.

I did get one letter, very flattering to say the least, without asking for it.

This column is open to both sides

Here's a note on the new housing in Stratford; the Leslie Dodsons, the Ross Wells and the Darrell Cotneys will have new homes soon. Four other new homes in the south part of town and two in the north-west part of Stratford.

A big hole in a wall of the Sherman county jail is the topic of discussion these days. Sheriff Turner doesn't know how it got there. A number of recent prisoners have had long stays as guests of the county.

The hole wasn't complete. All it lacked was the thickness of the outside brick and the prisoners would have been free.

The last two in the jail were taken to Huntsville last Thursday.

Leon Guthrie went fishing on the Gulf last week. If you don't believe it, read last week's Star or ask the Boss Lion.

He has nothing to prove he caught anything, no pictures and no fish. He said he caught some, but Next Thursday is Turkey Day. The Star will be printed Wednesday night. I'll be in town Monday and Tuesday instead of Tuesday and Wednesday.

For all our fussin' and feudin' next week's holiday gives us pause for reflection.

We can have our little differences only because we live in a town that is an integral part of Texas, which in turn is a member of the 48 United States, the most privileged nation in the world.

I can't be thankful for every one of the 160,000,000 people in this country because my mind just can't comprehend that many human beings.

But, I can be thankful for the gifts God has given me, including the one that made me a citizen of the U.S. I'm thankful because if I had to live among the soreheads in Russia or China, I would soon become a sorehead, too. (Or more so, according to some.)

Hearing Tests Are Given Here

Hearing tests, under direction of Dr. Crannell Tolliver, head of the speech department of West Texas State college, Canyon, are being given in Stratford schools today and tomorrow, according to a joint announcement by Hugh Stewart, grade school principal, and H. T. Galloway, high school principal.

The Stratford Lions club is paying the expenses of Mr. Tolliver. The PTA is giving administrative assistance to the tester.

It is the first such test given in Stratford schools in over 10 years, the officials state.

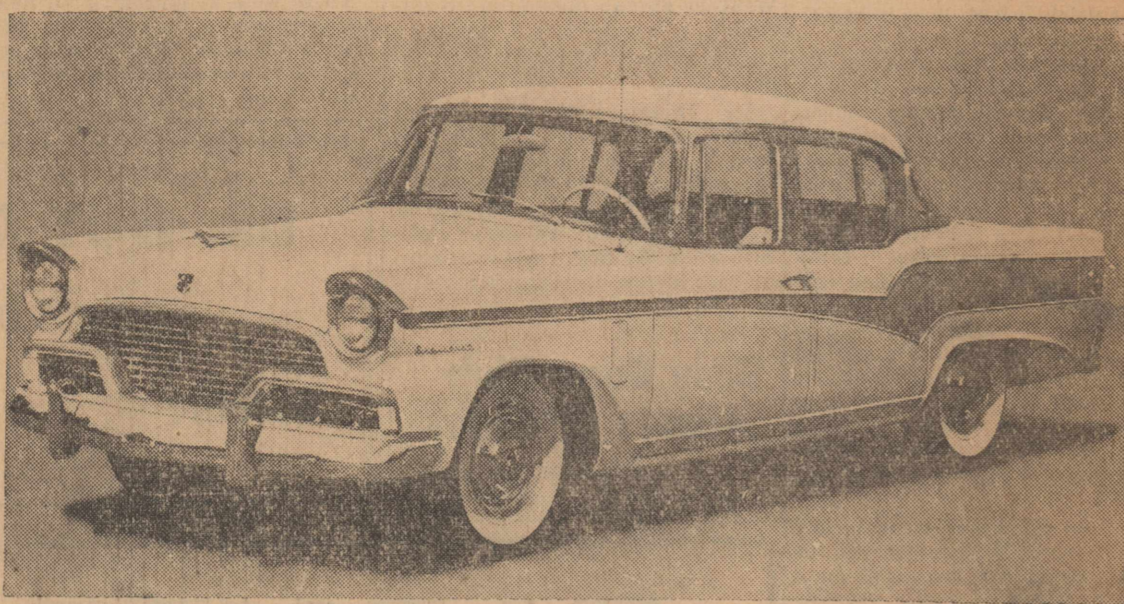

An eye testing program is scheduled for Nov. 29-30 under direction of Dr. John Purgason, city-county health officer.

There are 455 students in Stratford schools.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to each of you who were so thoughtful during my recent illness in the hospital. The cards, visits and flowers were indeed appreciated.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT CLASSIC FOUR-DOOR SEDAN

Studebaker Showing Is Tuesday, Nov. 22

New styling, improved horsepower, a new series of five-passenger sports-type cars, engineering advances and a number of safety innovations and improvements are outstanding features in Studebaker passenger cars for 1956. C. C. Plunk, owner of the TOC Motor Co. in Stratford, announces.

The line includes the new 210-horsepower President Classic four-door sedan.

Detailed announcement of a new line of highpowered sports-type cars is scheduled for a later date. Bigger in exterior appearance, the new Studebakers have greater room inside, and trunk room has been increased by 20 per cent.

Mechanical innovations include an advanced automatic transmission — the new Flightomatic; special "safety-fin" brakes that increase brake-drum cooling by 100 per cent to maintain non-fade efficiency when heavily used, and a colorlighted "safety-eye" speedometer.

The speedometer is mounted on top of the instrument panel, directly in front of the driver. It indicates speeds in large numerals that are green from 0 to 35 miles per hour, orange from 35 to 60, and red at higher speeds.

Studebaker has 16 models — 12 in the sedan and station wagon series, and four in the volumn-produced sports-type group.

Heading the nine models in the sedan series is the President Classic model — more than 17 feet long and luxury-styled throughout — is powered by a new Sweepstakes 289-V8 engine with four-barrel carburetion.

Also powered by the Sweepstakes 289-V8 engine are two other sedans in the President series and the Pinehurst President Station Wagon.

Commander sedans and the Parkway Commander station wagon features the most powerful engine ever offered in the Commander series — the new Sweepstakes 259-V8 at 170 horsepower. Power kits, comprised of four-barrel carburetion and dual exhaust, will be available as optional equipment and will increase the 259-V8 horsepower to 185.

Champion sedans and the Pelham Champion station wagon have a newly improved Sweepstakes 185-cubic inch heavy-duty economy six engine, with 101 horsepower.

These sharply increased powers combine with Studebaker's high horsepower-to-weight ratio to give the new sedans and station wagons good acceleration, power for both city and highway driving and other performance factors.

The new President engine, with 289-cubic inch displacement, develops 222 foot pounds of torque at 2,800 rpm. The new Commander engine, with 259-cubic inch displacement, develops 260 foot pounds of torque at 2,800 rpm.

Despite their bigness and increased power, all the new models are designed to continue the tradition of fuel economy leadership that has made Studebaker a perennial winner in the Mobilgas Economy Run, including the Grand Sweepstakes award in the past two contests.

Studebaker's President passenger car series includes a four-door sedan and two-door sedan in addition to the Classic four-door model and the Pinehurst station wagon. The Commander and Champion series include four-door sedans, two-door sedans and two-door sedanets and the Parkview and Pelham station wagons. The sedanets are the lower priced of the two-door sedan models.

New crash-tested safety door latches, to prevent car doors from coming open under collision impact, are standard on all models. Crash-tested nylon seat belts are available as optional equipment.

The self-energizing, self-centered brakes have been further improved. All brake drums have a tongue in groove type seal to prevent entrance of dirt or water into the brake assembly.

Among other safety features are increased passing efficiency with new power, high torques and new transmissions; new safety-strength steel bodies using heavy gauge, box section, glider construction; new safety beam headlights, higher capacity defroster systems, tubeless tires, self-tightening wheel bolts, and padding on the rear of the front seat.

The hill-holder, which prevents any roll-back of the vehicle when stopped on an incline after the foot is removed from the brake pedal, is also offered. The hill-holder is standard equipment on all V8 models with standard or overdrive transmission.

The 1956 Studebaker presents new appearance. The hood is higher. The rear deck also is higher and more massive, providing greater storage utility.

The new fenders extend over the headlamps, with wheel cutouts and lips. Horizontal lines are used in chrome trim and body side moldings for two-tone separations.

The station wagon series has been completely restyled and further improved. With ample room for six passengers on the two full-width seats, the cargo space has a capacity of 81 1/4 cubic feet, which is expanded to 65 cubic feet when the rear seat is folded forward.

Perforated, vinyl headlining muffles inside noises. A two-stage suspension system in the rear gives the station wagons the same soft ride as sedans, but supplies a firmer support for the body when the wagon is loaded with heavy cargo. Studebaker's "helper" spring goes into action to assist the normally used spring when the loads are increased.

Twenty-three two-tone color combinations and 11 solid colors, with two-tone interiors in new fabrics and vinyl treatments are offered.

Flight-type instrument panels on sedans and station wagons have sliding color indicators for oil pressure, amperes, fuel and engine temperature. The glove box is located in the center of the instrument panel.

"Comfort-contoured" seats on all models, newly developed by Studebaker engineers, feature a spring design adapted to contoured cushioning and matched upholstery fittings. The front seat track has a front-mounted control for easy adjustment of the seat.

The Studebaker Flightomatic provides greater converter flexibility in city and highway traffic with "instant power response and liveliness."

In addition to an improved manual three-speed transmission, Studebaker offers manual transmission with overdrive for all sedan and station models.

All models have a 12-volt electrical system. Power steering, power seats are available. The bodies and engine hoods are insulated with fibre glass and other fibre material for quiet, vibration-free driving.

Lions Directors Have Meeting

The Lions club board of directors met Monday night according to a report from President Leon Guthrie.

The board authorized payment of the club's part of the Community Christmas party and authorized payment of the club's portion of the purchase price of an electrocardiograph machine, to be installed at the Stratford Clinic.

A committee, Alfred Pronger, H. T. Galloway and O. H. Ingham, was appointed to select the Lions club play.

A Mothers Night was scheduled for Nov. 28.

CARD OF THANKS

We are truly grateful to the good friends who did so much for us during our recent sorrow. May we take this means of saying thank you for the many comforting expressions of your sympathy in the food, cards, and flowers.

Reeder Obituary

M. F. (Tubby) Reeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Othel Reeder, was born July 21, 1908 in Stratford where he lived all his life, except for three years in Tucuman, N. M. as a small boy.

Passed away Wednesday morning, Nov. 9, at the age of 47 years, 3 months and 19 days.

Tubby joined the Baptist church of Stratford Jan. 29, 1922 and was a faithful and active member until his death.

He was united in marriage to Minnie Lavake Dec. 22, 1934. To this union was born two children, Lynne and Carol.

Except for disease that are common to all children, his life was free from sickness.

Tubby was devoted to his family and their wishes and desires always came first. His entire life was spent in unselfish service to others.

The night was never too dark and the way was never too far for Tubby to go to help a friend, asking nothing in return.

He is survived by his wife, Minnie, two daughters, Lynne of Amarillo and Carol of Stratford; one sister, Mrs. Floyd Phillips, Petersburg, Tex.; one uncle, Carl Reeder, Bushland, Tex.; one aunt, Mrs. Lyla Berry, Tucuman, N. M.; and only eternity will reveal the number of friends that were his.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Webb and Mrs. M. E. Upchurch sang "Thy Will Be Done." The church choir sang "Abide With Me" and "That Will Be Glory For Me." They were accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Kendrick.

Rev. Upchurch conducted last rites.

Out of town mourners were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Nunn and children of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Phillips, Petersburg, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Samford Phillips and children of Lubbock and Miss Letha Phillips of Amarillo.

Poem

By Edgar A. Guest

I'd like to think when life is done
That I had filled a needed post,
That here and there I'd paid my fare
With more than idle talk and boast;
That I had taken gifts divine,
The breath of life and manhood fine,
And tried to use them now and then
In service for my fellow men.

I'd hate to think when life is through
That I had lived my round of years
A useless kind, that leaves behind
No record in this vale of tears;
That I had wasted all my days
By treading only selfish ways,
And that this world would be the same
If it had never known my name.

I'd like to think that here and there,
When I am gone, there shall remain
A happier spot that might have not
Existed had I toiled for gain;
That someone's cheery voice or smile
Shall prove that I had been worth while;
That I had paid with something fine
My debt to God for life divine.

Two Taken To Huntsville

Sheriff Ross Turner and State Highway Patrolman Don Tabor of Dalhart took Jimmy Lee Gresham and Gilbert Nelson Perigo to the state prison at Huntsville last Thursday.

Gresham and Perigo are under two-year sentences each for felony theft.

Christian Church Contests Closing

This Sunday will mark the end of the attendance and Bible contests at the First Christian church, Cryder Brayshaw, minister, announces.

The one-half of the Bible school membership known as the Stripes lead the other half, known as the Polka-dots, by 84 points in the attendance contest, Mr. Brayshaw said.

The Ladies' Bible class leads in the Bible contest, "Shoot the Moon," with 915 points. The Intermediate and Mens classes are tied with 820 points, Brayshaw said.

Sunday activities at the church will include Bible school, 9:45 a.m., lesson, "Evidence of Jesus' Power;" morning worship, 10:45 a.m., sermon, "Think and Be Thankful," Mr. and Mrs. Brayshaw will present special music, accompanied by Mrs. Gordon Ferric, the Lord's Supper will be observed; evening service, 7:00, "What is Your Life," evangelistic singing, prayer and Scripture reading.

Wednesday at 7 p.m. a Bible study and prayer hour will be held Acts 16 will be studied.

"The entire Bible school offering, plus the Thanksgiving coin boxes and envelopes, will go for the purpose of Home Missions and Christian education," the minister concluded.

86.9 Per Cent State, County Taxes Paid

Eighty-six and nine-tenths per cent of Sherman county and state taxes were collected in October, John Kidwell, deputy tax assessor and collector, reports.

The total tax roll is $239,071.10. Collections were $107,987.79.

The Oct., 1955 collections compare favorably with taxes paid during the same period in the past four years. Per cent collections in past years were 87, 1954; 86.8, 1953; 86.5, 1952 and 86.7, 1951.

Mr. Kidwell prepared a breakdown of taxes collected last month. With total roll listed first and collections following, they are:

State, $58,615.92, $51,559.20; county, $115,780.33, $100,481.23; road district No. 1, $16,042.65, $14,042.26; road district No. 2, $12,434.18, $11,012.78; road district No. 3, $18,540.92, $15,016.09; road district No. 4, $12,886.84, $9,729.43; underground water district, $7,070.26, $6,146.75.

Kidwell reminded tax payers that a two per cent discount will be allowed on taxes paid in November and a one per cent discount will be allowed on taxes paid in December.

Boy Scout Fund Drive Held Today

The Boy Scout Fund raising campaign was held today.

It was kicked off with a breakfast at 7:30 this morning in the Palace cafe.

The drive was conducted under direction of R. C. Buckles, district chairman, Elmer Hudson and Earl Riffe.

SHE WON'T GO BACK—An Enoch Arden tale, with a reverse twist, unfolded in Canonsburg, Pa. Mrs. Lore Supinsky is happily married to her American ex-soldier husband, John. But her first husband, a former Nazi Storm Trooper, has come back from a Russian prison after being declared legally dead. He says he'll fight the "death certificate," but Mrs. Supinsky says she'll stay married to John nevertheless. The Supinskys are shown above with their children, Barbara, left, and Patricia, right.

Hallowe'en CROP Money Sent Off

The following is a copy of a letter dated Nov. 10.

Mr. John Gillies
Director-CROP
504 W. 24th St.
Austin 5, Tex.

Dear Mr. Gillies:
Enclosed find certified check to cover the amount raised from Sherman county, of $327.91.

Please break this money down and send receipts as follows:
1st Methodist church — $100
1st Christian church — $100
1st Baptist church — $100
Spurlock (Methodist) — $27.91
Rev. Wayland Dowden,
Cactus.

Total amount from Sherman county — $327.91
May I tell you this in my letter last year on Oct. 31 the little city of Stratford was completely wrecked at Hallowe'en. The city said that it took them over $300 to put back things that had been destroyed.

I started this campaign by writing to you in reply to your letter of Oct. 13. Took it up with the Baptist preacher, Rev. M. E. (Buddy) Upchurch, and Cryder Brayshaw, the First Christian church.

We took this up in our Youth Department and the kids got behind it 100 per cent.

The morning following Hallowe'en our little city was one of beauty; not a single thing had been touched. Seventy-one of the kids of this town, with six from the Spurlock community (included in the 71) put this over.

From the bottom of our hearts we say "Thanks a million" for being able to have a part in a worthy cause. We hope we can do better next year.

Sincerely yours
Chas. R. Gates, Methodist

Methodist To Have Thanks Service Nov. 23

The First National Methodist church of Stratford will have a special Thanksgiving service Wednesday evening, Nov. 23. The three choirs, church, junior and adult, will furnish music. Rev. Chas. R. Gates will give a Thanksgiving sermon and the Lord's Supper will be served.

James Close's Father Dies

James Close of Stratford has gone to Billings, Mont. to attend funeral services for his father, James Close, Sr.

James Close, Sr. died Wednesday following a long illness. Date of the funeral is not known.

Free Chest X-Ray Is Next Week

Sherman county residents are urged to take advantage of the free chest x-ray at the American Legion hall next Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 22-23, Mrs. Ross Wells, publicity chairman, announces.

Physicians point out that even though you have participated in the program during previous surveys, it is most important to be checked again, Mrs. Wells said.

Early stages of chest abnormalities are more easily controlled than in the advanced stages.

All persons over 15 years of age are eligible for the free chest x-ray. All reports are kept confidential, the spokesman explained.

Tuesday hours will be from 1:00 to 5:30 p.m. and Wednesday hours will be 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Juniors To Give Three-Act Farce

A synopsis of the junior class play, to be given tomorrow (Friday), Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium, was announced today by Mrs. Claudia Seibold, directors.

"Everybody's Crazy" is a three act farce by Jay Tobias. It involves three newly-broke college fellows who buy a summer hotel and do they have a whale of a good time!

"The audience will laugh itself into the aisles watching the way in which the trio meets up with Old Man Adversity and polish him off with much eclat," Mrs. Seibold said.

"Business is terrible — so very bad it becomes necessary to give the inn a reputation as a haven for ghosts and the hiding place for an old miser's gold.

"Then Come the paying guests, including an old maid who dabbles in spiritualism, a widow, just a funny old bundle of nerves, a sleep-walking old Romeo, his hypochondriac wife, his daughter with gum-chewing propensities, and a farmer-bachelor who is subject to nightmares.

"The cockney cook, afraid of spoons, is one of the funniest characters in any play and rounding out a comedy team is Gladiola, the colored maid, and Jasper, the bellhop.

"One of the boys impersonates a doctor and treats the guests for all sorts of fancied ailments. Another one assumes a female character role and plays fast and loose with many a palpitating masculine heart."

A grade school matinee is being planned, but final details are not known.

Stratfordite's Uncle Is Dead

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burgess attended funeral services for Harry Schwartz, 78, and uncle of Mrs. Burgess, in Tulla Tuesday.

Mr. Schwartz had been in ill health for sometime. He was a longtime farmer of the Tulla area.

Last rites were held in the First Baptist church. Burial was in Tulla.

His wife and three children survive.

Elks Close Season With Texhoma

The Stratford Elks closed out their football season last Friday afternoon by defeating Texhoma 20-6 in Texhoma.

Despite a high wind and 155 yards in penalties, Mike Neal lead the Elks by scoring all three touchdowns for Stratford.

The first TD came in the opening quarter when Texhoma gambled and lost on a fourth down, two yards to go situation. The Elks took over on the Texhoma 28 and Neal lugged the leather 28 yards on the first play of the afternoon from scrimmage for the Elks. The extra point try was no good.

Neal intercepted a Texhoma pass on the hosts' 28-yard line and went all the way for pay dirt. Emery Hamilton passed to Jimmy Phelps for the conversion.

The second quarter was a saw-saw battle. Phelps booted an 80-yard punt, with the wind, in the period.

There was no scoring by Stratford in the third stanza.

Neal called three quarterback sneaks in succession and moved the ball 78 yards for touchdown in the fourth quarter. The first netted 10 yards, the second eight yards and the third 60 yards. Bob Reed Donelson kicked the conversion.

It was the final game of their high school careers for seniors Lynn Hudson, Jimmy Phelps, Bruce Biddy, Ray Fisk, Perry Coffman, Church Oakley, Ralph Hampton, John Wilson, Emery Hamilton and Bob Euper, manager.

The Elks wound up with a six win, four lost record. Their district record was four wins and four losses. The squad will probably tie for third with Darouezett.

After that more than one hundred thousand deaths and casualties were inflicted upon American soldiers and their allies in Korea.

General Courtney Whitney, in his biography of General of the Army, Douglas MacArthur, declares that the Chinese probably knew before General MacArthur himself that the latter would not be allowed to bomb the Yalu bridges and to destroy enemy concentrations in Manchuria.

The British have boasted that they are not afraid of Communism, and are little concerned over Communist spies. They have laughed at our attitude toward subversives. Tens of thousands of American soldiers are dead and much larger numbers are casualties because of British carelessness on this very important issue. And there are many in our country who resent all efforts that are made to dig out the subversives and traitors in our midst.

Not until Vladimir Petrov deserted his communist masters and told the story of 21 years as a member of the International Soviet Spy Ring, did the whole story of the traitors Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess, who fled to Russia in May, 1951, become public. Maclean was head of the American section of the British Foreign Office, and Burgess had just returned from a top assignment to the British Embassy in Washington. Maclean had been in Washington from 1944 to 1948 as head of the Chancery in the British Embassy. Both men had access to top secrets in U. S. and British relations. Maclean had a pass to the offices of the Atomic Energy Commission, good for 24 hours a day. He was the chief British representative in the United States on atomic policy. The Petrov confessions and the story of Burgess and Maclean are told in the U. S. News and World Report for Sept. 23 and Sept. 30, 1955.

According to that publication, Klaus Fuchs sent reports to Communist Russia enabling that country to gain at least 18 months in making an atom bomb. Still worse, Maclean and Burgess took with them to Russia not only full information about the bomb but were in position to assure the Chinese Communists that they could enter the Korean War without danger of calling down reprisals upon themselves.

General MacArthur had driven far north and was on the point of uniting all of Korea. Largely due to British influence, he was prevented from bombing the Yalu bridges, reconnaissance flights into Manchuria, and from breaking up enemy concentration north of the river. Then the Chinese Communists suddenly entered the War, evidently having been assured that Washington and British policy would not permit MacArthur to attack them. It is believed that Burgess and Maclean took that assurance with them to Moscow.

Speaking of his native land, however, is only part of the talents of Gauer. While herding his cattle, he learned folk songs, dances and yodels. And a part of his program in Dalhart, after the serious work has been delivered, will be a presentation of some of his country's native music.

Liver Iron Diet Must

For variety and food value include liver on the menu at least once a week, suggests Lucile King, home demonstration agent. Beef, pork, lamb and veal liver are all exceptional sources of essential food nutrients. Pork liver is especially high in iron.

The need for iron varies at different ages and under different conditions. During infancy, adolescence and pregnancy it is especially high. A deficiency of iron in the diet may result in nutritional anemia.

It is generally believed that the iron of animal foods is more available to the human body than that of vegetable foods. Only a portion of the iron in food is absorbed in the body, therefore, it is important that good supply of iron-rich foods be included in the diet. Some such foods are meat, chicken, oysters, eggs, vegetables, dried fruits, whole grain or enriched bread and cereals.

It is not necessary to scald any kind of liver. If liver is to be ground, simmer in hot water for a few minutes. This makes grinding much easier. Beef and pork liver are especially adapted to braising methods, while lamb and veal liver are easily broiled.

Utilize the distinctive flavor of liver to advantage by combining it with other foods, such as bacon, mushrooms, tomatoes, onions, potatoes, carrots, etc.

Season's Low Was Tuesday

The lowest temperature recorded this fall was registered Tuesday morning by John Haney, U. S. Weather Bureau observer in Stratford.

The mercury slumped to 9 degrees.

Mr. Haney pointed out that Tuesday's snow flurry and the one Nov. 7 are the earliest snows, in his memory, since Dec. 9, 1945.

The snow flurry Tuesday of this week brought only a trace of moisture while the Nov. 7 snow measured four inches deep and left .14 of an inch of moisture.

OES Deputy Grand Matron Pays Official Visit Here

Stratford Chapter No. 980, Order of Eastern Star, was honored Tuesday evening, Nov. 15, by the official visit of Deputy Grand Matron Goldie Quayle of Amarillo. Mrs. Quayle was accompanied to Stratford by a friend, Mrs. Evelyn Hollis, also of Amarillo.

The hall and dining rooms were beautifully decorated with fall flowers.

As the deputy grand matron was presented to the East, Sister Lorraine Mehner sang "For You" accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Arthur Ross. The chapter enjoyed the annual instructions brought by Mrs. Quayle. Preceding the meeting a banquet was held in Sister Goldie's honor in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church and served by the ladies of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

The following program was given: Introduction of honored guests by F. B. Mullins master of ceremonies; welcome to the guests and members, Mrs. Amolee McMinn, worthy matron; invocation, Russell Beall, worthy patron; solo, "Trees," Mrs. Nellie Johnson with Mrs. Velma Plunk as accompanist; benediction, A. L. King.

Party Given For Members Of Two SS Classes

Mrs. Hattie Flores entertained the Naomi Class and the Martha Class of the Methodist Church with a party Saturday.

There were a devotional and informal visiting and later a delicious refreshment plate was served to the following: Mrs. A. W. Allen, Mrs. Tim Crossfield, Mrs. Fred Pronger, Mrs. H. M. Brown, Mrs. W. P. Mullican, Mrs. Jessie Wilson, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. C. R. Foster, Mrs. Sally McAdams, Mrs. J. W. Elliott and two guests, Mrs. Chas. Gates and Miss Ineva Headrick, Amarillo.

Miss Evelyn Gross Becomes Bride Of Doyle Kirkwood

At a pretty afternoon wedding Miss Evelyn Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gross of Dalhart, became the bride of Doyle Kirkwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erick Kirkwood.

The double ring ceremony took place Saturday in the Dalhart home of the bride's parents, 323 Conlen Ave., at 4 o'clock. Rev. Nelse Wright, pastor of the Lincoln Street Baptist Church in Dalhart, officiated.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Nelse Wright and Mrs. L. W. Phillips sang "Always" and "My Happiness."

Marking the place of ceremony were baskets of white carnations and burning tapers in candelabra. The tapers were lighted by Bonnie Combs and Roy Combs, niece and nephew of the bridegroom.

BRIDE WEARS SILK FAILLE

The bride wore a lovely turquoise dress of silk faille trimmed in dainty pink rosebuds and sequins. Her small hat, veiled in white, was of velvet and pink rosebuds, was carried on a white Bible.

Mrs. Roy Gross, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor and Roy Combs, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception followed the wedding. Guests were registered by Mrs. L. W. Phillips.

The serving table was covered with a lace cloth, imported from Holland. Centering the table was the decorated wedding cake which was on a cut glass cake plate over a hundred years old. The plate belongs to a close friend of the Kirkwood family.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gross and daughter, Rhondy Jane, Perryton, and Mr. and Mrs. Erick Kirkwood, Miss Juanita Vandiver, Bill Bevins and Eddie Poe were also present.

Mrs. Buckles Is Hostess To Texas Nu Beta

On November 10, Texas Nu Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met in the home of Helen Buckles, reports Dorless Wells, chapter publicity chairman.

A letter was read from Mary Jane McIntosh asking to become a member-at-large.

Plans for the Christmas parties were made and December 8 was set for the formal Ritual of Jewels ceremony.

Bobbie Cummings and Dorless Wells presented a program with Mrs. Van Boston as guest speaker.

Mrs. Boston demonstrated character make-up for the stage, which the members enjoyed very much, the publicity chairman stated.

Lovely refreshments were served to Mrs. Van Boston, Corinne Eller, Glennelle Dettle, Betty Garrison, Gerre Heil, Alice Jeffcoat, Bonnie Mitchell, Babe Senna, Zola Brannan, Ronnie Dettle, Ollie Massie, Bettye Lasley, Bobby Cummings, Flo Hudson, Jonnie Vincent, and Dorless Wells.

Mrs. Stanley Pleyer

Relatives and friends filled the First Christian Church in Dalhart Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the lovely fall wedding of Miss Doris Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Black, Sr., of Dalhart, to Stanley Pleyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pleyer of Stratford.

Minister Glen Adams impressively officiated. Floor stands of white mums and pommums, palms and burning tapers in candelabra were used with a white arch in the decoration of the altar. Entwining the arch were white pompons and piumosis.

White mums were attached with white satin bows along the bridal aisle. Mrs. Ray Foster, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Eldon Black, brother of the bride, as he sang "I Love You Truly," "The Wedding Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer." The last song was sung after the exchange of vows and while the couple knelt.

The bride's beautiful gown was of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over net and satin. The molded bodice had a V-shaped neckline with stand-up collar in the back and the long fitted sleeves terminated into lily points over the hands. Panels of the lace, alternating with tulle, featured the full skirt.

The finger-tip veil cascaded from a satin headpiece with seed pearl trimming and her wedding bouquet, carried on a white Bible, was of lily-of-the-valley, white snapdragons and centered with a white orchid and with a shower of satin ribbon.

Mr. Black gave his daughter in marriage. Mrs. Vern McCormick, Liberal, was matron of honor and Billie Pleyer, Stratford, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Warrken, Dumas, were bridesmaids.

The honor attendant was in mint green and the bridesmaids in coral. Their gowns were of moire faille taffeta, made with fitted bodices having gathered shoulder bands and flared skirts.

They wore white nets stoles and flower headbands and carried bouquets made of white pompons, moss green maline and satin ribbon.

John C. Broyles served as best man and the ushers were W. J. Black, Dumas, brother of the bride and James Warrken.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Black chose a navy blue sheen gabardine coat dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Pleyer, mother of the bridegroom, wore a powder blue suit, black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception for all the wedding guests followed the ceremony in the Rose Room at the church. Guesses were registered by Mrs. W. J. Black, Jr.

Mrs. Newton Foster poured and Mrs. George Oakley, Amarillo, sister of the bridegroom, served the cake.

White snapdragons decorated the table holding the four-tiered wedding cake. The table was laid with a lace cloth over mint green and lighted with mint green tapers.

On departing for the wedding trip the bride was wearing a brown wool suit, small brown hat with sequin and pearl trim, brown accessories and the white orchid from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home on the Pleyer farm near Stratford.

Electric Well Cooker Money Saver In Home

The well cooker is an insulated well or utensil, inserted in the top surface of the range. Whatever name it is termed by the manufacturer it means a saving in money for every user. A whole meal can be prepared in the well cooker for as little as a penny.

As with surface units, a number of heats are available. The capacity of the inset pan or kettle varies, as does the wattage. Various other parts may be used, as a trivet to divide foods in the pan, a separate pan, and a French fry basket.

The cooker is so constructed that a very small amount of electricity will cook a large amount of food. A whole meal, including meat, vegetables, and dessert may be prepared in the well cooker at one time. Once this quantity of food has been brought to the steaming point, only about as much current as is used for a 100-watt lamp is required to continue the cooking process.

The well cooker can perform most operations that can be performed with the oven, with the exception of broiling. The baby bottles can be sterilized in it and beans can be cooked without soaking for a long period of time to become the luscious brown beans that make a meal.

Deep fat frying of doughnuts, french-fried potatoes or other vegetables, croquettes, etc., can be done at a convenient height in a large enough kettle. Marmalades, jams, and other canned food can be cooked here before canning them. Rolls, biscuits, bread or cake can be warmed before serving.

Stews containing the less-tender cuts of meats are another use of the well cooker to make easy, economical meals. Those cuts of meat which are best prepared by cooking in liquid mean a saving on the food bill. Other cuts of meat may be braised or fried in the well cooker.

Steaming vegetables or puddings and breads saves precious vitamins and minerals and can be done at the same time that a pot roast or stew is cooking below in the well-cooker. Large quantities of spinach or other greens, corn on the cob, and other fruits and vegetables make plenty of food for hungry men.

Baking of potatoes, apples, custards, cakes, tarts, muffins, biscuits, etc., means that the oven does not require heating for only one food. A few points should be kept in mind when using the well cooker. Each time the cooker is opened, the switch should be turned to High heat until steam again comes freely from the cooker. The heat may then be lowered as desired. Flavors and odors from the various foods will not intermingle so long as steam is actively being formed in the cooker.

Several vegetables may be cooked at the same time and may be separated, if desired, with parchment paper or cheesecloth. Sufficient water to cover the bottom of the cooker kettle, 1/2 inch in depth, is used. The cooker switch should be turned off only when the food is removed from the cooker.

Desserts or breads may be steamed in the cooker in a well-greased pudding pan, inset pans, or squat tin cans. When baking, the cooker kettle is removed entirely and in its place, a trivet or baking rack is placed over the cooking unit. Then the food to be baked is placed on the rack, the cover is adjusted, and the baking process continued according to the proper timetable.

Food should not be stored in the cooker kettle for any length of time. Since only one unit is used, there is only one kettle to wash. It should be cleaned thoroughly after each using.

Spaghetti for a large number of persons or beverages for groups can be prepared and left below the top of the range until needed. Soups and stews can be left cooking at low temperature as other vegetables are added.

A suggested menu for complete cooker meal could be: Lamb stew with potatoes, and carrots and onions, pineapple upside-down cake, and your family's favorite salad, bread and beverage. Or try baked beans with Boston brown bread steamed above them in cans of three-inch diameter so that the bread can be cut off in round slices as it comes from the can.

Use the recipes and suggestions for well cooker meals given in your electric range booklet of instructions. Experiment with your favorite recipes and you'll find that you are soon using your well cooker almost every day.

Steak Broiled By Electricity Is Delicious

A beautifully broiled steak is the quickest way for any woman to win a man's heart. Your electric broiler makes fast work of preparing delicious food from simple broiled vegetables to more expensive steaks and chops.

Whether the broiling is done under the oven unit or in a separate compartment, the glowing red coils match the performance and results attained with a charcoal grill.

The broiler on the electric range is provided with a broiler pan and metal rack so designed that it protects fat drippings from the direct heat, thus reducing smoke. The broiler pan rests on a sliding oven shelf, adjustable at different heights. The counter-balanced door has a stop which holds the door ajar during the broiling period.

Best results from broiling procedure can be had only when proper foods are broiled. Thick steaks and lamb chops are good examples, while pork and veal should be cooked in moist heat and not broiled. Previously, cooked vegetables or squash, tomatoes, and onions are bets, while cauliflower, beets, uncooked whole sweet or white potatoes are more effective cooked on the top unit.

It is a wise homemaker who plans a complete broiler meal for each time the broiler is used. Some suggestions are: Scored ham slice, broiled sweet potato halves, and apple rings with marshmallow in the center. Or try salmon steaks, with cooked potato slices and tomato halves arranged around them on the broiler pan.

To utilize the drippings from meat being broiled, string beans, or canned asparagus may be placed below the broiler rack in the pan and served with the juices of the meat over them. Peaches, pears, oranges, grapefruit halves, apricots, pineapple rings, etc., add essential minerals and vitamins to your complete broiler meal.

Suppose we buy a thick, well-marbled sirloin or club steak for dinner tonight. Have salad greens ready to toss into a salad and slice thick slabs of homemade bread to serve with it. Check your range booklet for instructions as to exact time and distance to place meat from broiler unit.

To prepare the steak which is one to two inches thick, slash the fatty edge of the steak about every inch. This keeps the meat from buckling as it broils. Any cuts into the meat mean juices lost, so work carefully. Preheat the broiling compartment, if necessary, and prepare the cold broiler pan for the steaks by greasing lightly with cooking fat. This prevents the steaks from sticking.

Place the rack so the top of the steak is 3 to 5 inches from the heat. For well done steaks, place the top of the meat 5 inches from the unit; for rare to medium, place the steak closer, so that the outside is brown and crusty and the inside yet a pinkish color.

When one side of the steak is brown, salt and pepper it and turn with tongs to the other side. If a fork is used, be sure to stick it into the fat so that meat juices are not released. When the second side is done, season the steak and serve it immediately with all of the family waiting eagerly.

Always leave the broiler or oven door ajar when broiling. This helps to keep the oven as free from steam as possible and reminds one to watch the steak closely.

To clean the broiler pan, it is sometimes advisable to reheat the pan and rack a short time. Then wash in hot, soapy water, using fine steel wool for scouring, if necessary.

Broiler meal are a boon for families that love outdoor cooking and campfire broiled foods. When company comes and a meal must be prepared that stretches supplies on hand, you might try ground beef patties brushed with melted butter or French dressing. Broil the patties placed about two inches below the broiler unit until they are brown on one side. Then turn the patties and place precooked potatoes and halves of tomatoes brushed with melted fat or canned asparagus and peach halves around them. Broil until the patties are done and serve with hamburger buns in best picnic fashion.

In purchasing your new electric range, check on the position of the broiler and its capacity. If your family dotes on broiled foods, it may be wise to choose a model that has a separate broiler. In any case, plan now to serve more broiled foods soon.

Electric Range Is Wife-Saver

She'll bless you if she gets a new automatic electric range in time for Christmas preparations.

Christmas is a busy time and every bit of work that can be saved is a blessing indeed. Let's see how the electric range saves time: First, the electric elements on the top of the range actually clean themselves in the event something boils over. The drip pans under the elements come out in a jiffy and are washed just like a saucer. It's a snap to have a clean range when it's electric. She'll save cleaning time — lots of it.

BLUSHING SALLY—Hollywood's little Miss Censored, Sally Forrest, is blushing at what censorship did to the movie version of "Seven Year Itch." Sally, who starred in the Marilyn Monroe role on Broadway, says the movie is more censorable than the play.

Next, the accuracy of electric cooking permits her to put baking items in the completely insulated oven and merely set the control. No "peeking" is necessary since the automatic features of the oven maintain the required temperature until the meat or cake is properly cooked. She saves time and worry here.

And, if she has gardening to do or a church meeting to attend, she can put a complete meal in her electric oven, set the automatic controls to turn on, cook the meal, and then turn off at the proper time. When she comes back to serve dinner, it's ready and waiting.

Cooking is a big part of the Christmas celebration, so why not give her the "tools" to make it easier for her. A pre-Christmas electric range will put her in the mood for a bang-up Christmas dinner — one long to be remembered. It's an investment in happy home life for Christmas and then on through the years ahead.

Electric Oven Always Bring Tasty Results

The oven on an electric range with its uniform heat distribution and accurate temperature control, insures delicious results in baking or roasting foods. Some models have two ovens, one being a small pastry oven or both full sized ovens.

The automatic timing device found on some ranges means more free time for the homemaker since she can prepare her food, put it in the oven, set the timer and leave home for those extra hours. The oven comes on automatically and after cooking for the predetermined time, shuts itself off and when the homemaker returns, her meal is prepared.

Since a complete oven meal costs little more than one or two products baked or roasted, planned oven meals are another saving. A little searching in the cookbooks will reveal many foods which cook for the same time and at the same temperature. Or if the homemaker is around, she can pop biscuits into the oven at the end of baking a roast, turn the temperature higher and while making the gravy, the biscuits are becoming a golden brown.

Since electric ovens are insulated on all six sides, it is possible to put food for an automatic timed meal into the oven hours in advance. The oven insulation then keeps the food at the same approximate temperature until the unit comes on.

When the oven is set at Preheat or Bake, the oven control turns the current on and the oven is brought to the desired temperature. The thermostat control keeps the oven at an even, steady temperature so that opening the door to test foods or peeking at them can be eliminated.

Your electric range instruction booklet gives tested recipes and temperature and time for baking and roasting. For perfectly baked products the choice of pans is important. Baking utensils should not be warped and should be in proportion to the size of the recipe. When pans are placed in the oven, they should not touch the walls or each other, but should be placed to allow for the greatest circulation of air.

Roasting meats can be done at a moderate controlled temperature which means less shrinking and more palatable meat. The time necessary depends upon the size of the roast, its temperature when placed in the oven, and the doneness desired. Pork roasts should always be well done.

The steps in preparing a beef roast for tonight's dinner might be: Wipe meat with a clean damp cloth and season with salt and pepper. If using a meat thermometer, insert it into the meat so that the center of the bulb reaches the center of the largest muscle, but does not rest in fat or on bone.

Place the roast with fat side up on rack in an open, shallow roasting pan. Do not cover and do not baste during the roasting process, as the melting fat bastes the roast naturally.

The pan containing the meat should be placed in the center of your electric oven, preheated to 300-350 degrees F. If a cold start is used, a slightly longer period must be allowed. Allow more time when frozen meat is to be roasted without thawing, too.

Roast for the required time according to the weight of the meat and the doneness desired. It is not necessary to open the oven door until the roast is done unless other food is being cooked at the same time.

A simple oven meal that could be timed to cook for one and one-half hours might include meat loaf, lima beans or stewed tomatoes, and a baked pudding. Accompaniments to a roast which is being baked for three hours might be squash or hominy and stewed fruit which is in plenty of liquid. Scalloped dishes, vegetables, and quick breads hold prominent position on the short-time oven meal list.

The oven on your electric range, being heavily insulated, retains its heat, thus keeping the kitchen cool and conserving fuel as well. While the homemaker is away from home all afternoon, she knows that her oven meal will be perfectly prepared when she returns. And again the next morning, her breakfast can be prepared even to piping hot coffee with the use of her automatic timing device.

In buying a new electric range, estimate your baking needs and get the model with as much oven space as you will need. Use your range instruction booklet to get full advantage of your oven and don't be afraid to try new ideas.

Electric Stove Surface Units Are Versatile

The surface units are used more than any other part of an electric range. The homemaker wants them to be fast, economical, and easy to keep clean. She has these and other features in her modern electric range.

Whether cooking ranch style beans for hours at low heat or warming the baby's bottle in a hurry, surface units given even, controlled heating. The switches control the various heats which are readily available.

A few simple rules can be kept in mind about electric cooking. High heat is used for bringing water and foods to the steaming point and is not generally used for continued cooking since it is too hot. Preheating fat for frying and for deep fat frying is done at the High setting. Then the units are turned to a lower heat when the steaming point is reached.

The Medium heats will be used for most cooking purposes. When frying chicken, cooking cream sauces and gravies, vegetables and fruits, rely on the middle heats to do the job. Water is no hotter when rapidly boiling than it is when only at the boiling point, so conserve on electricity by using these settings.

The Low settings can be used for cooking stews and puddings, holding foods at serving temperatures, or reheating foods. Melting chocolate and butter is done at this low temperature.

For many short-time cooking processes, cooking may be continued on stored heat, by turning off the switch before the product is done. This heat retained after the unit is off varies with each make of range.

Utensils are important in any cooking. They should be of the same diameter as the units in which they are used, if possible. The most efficient utensils have a flat bottom and straight sides with tight-fitting lids or covers. Since heat is transferred to them by convection, and radiation, they utilize more of the electricity being used.

In cooking vegetables, the use of just enough water to cover the bottom of the utensil and to create steam is recommended. This is most easily accomplished with the measured low heat of the electric range. In most vegetables, a tightly covered pan which holds in the steam is best. Vegetables cooked in this manner retain the valuable water-soluble minerals and vitamins. If a large quantity of water is used, these nutrients go down the drain with the left-over cooking liquid.

Bring vegetables & liquid to the boiling point on High and then switch to the lowest heat that will maintain steaming for the remainder of the cooking time. Use the shortest cooking time possible — foods should be tender and easy to cut, but not cooked until mushy.

Frozen vegetables should be put in boiling water without thawing. Dried fruits and vegetables are usually soaked in water before cooking, the time varying according to each. Then cook as suggested above. Check with your range manufacturer's instruction book to get detailed information.

French-fried potatoes or doughnuts are no trick at all with the even heat of your electric unit. Use a deep utensil (a well-cooker is excellent to use). Melt fat over High heat, but again, turn to the heat which will keep it at the temperature you desire, as shown by your fat frying thermometer or the bread test. An inch cube of bread should brown in 30-40 seconds when the fat is at the temperature to fry potatoes.

Electric cooking keeps the rich, luscious juices in meats, which means they not only taste better — but there are more savings per pound. All proteins, as meat, milk, eggs, and cheese are more tender and easier to digest if they are cooked at a low temperature.

Electric products have no by-products from usage and are also self-cleaning. Spillovers burn right off. Simply wipe or brush the unit once in awhile, if you like. The reflectors under the unit and the larger drip trays below can be easily washed.

When purchasing a new electric range, choose the top arrangement of units which best suits your needs. A typical grouping has all units at one side with the other side available for use as table top surface. Some ranges have a well cooker with a unit that pulls up to become a fourth unit on the range.

Buy the range that has the features which you want — as well cooker, automatic timing device, minute reminder, oven light, signal lights on backpanel, storage drawers, etc. A well-known trademark on a range and a reliable Reddy Kilowatt Dealer will repay dividends in later years.

Cooking Story One Of Drama

The story of cooking from the day of the open fireplace to the modern electric range is an interesting one. Up to the electric range it might be called a "hot" story, because until the electric range came along, every method of home cooking created heat which contributed nothing toward cooking the food but did its share toward keeping the kitchen hot.

An open fireplace was the pioneer woman's range. The fireplace, of course, did double duty as it heated the house, too.

Still another disadvantage of the open fireplace was the fact that it couldn't be "plugged in." As a matter of fact, its fuel supply had to be carried in from the woodpile.

The coal stove was quite an improvement over the open fireplace. The open fireplace limited the cook to one kettle. With the coal stove you could roast as well as stew. The old problem of hauling in the fuel supply, coal, and hauling out the ashes and clinkers remained.

Next in home cooking methods was the kerosene stove. The fuel problem continued to exist, and frequent replenishment from the kerosene barrel remained necessary. Kerosene did eliminate ashes and clinkers, but it kept the bottoms of the pans black.

The gas range provided the first constant fuel supply, with the range connected directly to the gas line. No more carrying fuel to the stove. No more spilling fuel on the kitchen floor. No more fuel-flavored foods. But still the flame, and with the flame, the carbon, etc.

Then came the electric range that lets you cook an entire meal without raising the temperature of your kitchen more than one degree.

With the electric range came the first, and still the only oven with complete six-side insulation. No vents are necessary, because no oxygen is necessary to support a flame. The heat is sealed into the oven, in a manner of speaking, and is completely concentrated on the cooking job to be done. What's more, you heat your oven only once with an electric range, for the air doesn't have to be passing through time after time—it doesn't have to pass through at all.

The surface units on your electric range are equally kind to your comfort and the cleanliness of your kitchen. No air being necessary to support the heat of electricity, your cooking utensil sits right on the element. That means the heat goes right into the utensil.

With an automatic electric range, which has a constant heat, there's no reason for oven-peeking. The completely automatic oven, with the thermostatically controlled temperature, plus the constant heat of electricity, means your recipe will be finished at the time shown in it.

Clothes Dryer Is Economical For Any Home

Want to make her eyes "light up" come Christmas morning (and what husband doesn't) — then get her an electric clothes dryer. Now is the time to make the arrangements so that the dryer can be shipped in quietly and be ready for use on Christmas morning.

So, to make her Christmas happy and save money to boot, arrange to get her an electric clothes dryer. Now is the time to make the arrangements.

Electric Aids Make Housework Vastly Easier

It was John Hartley who said, "A chap niver feels th' need ov a holiday as much as on th' day after he's had one." And, every homemaker who has gone through are stretching out to whistle around your head, blow clothes off the line as fast as you hang them up and freeze your fingers to the very bone? If you haven't, then try it and you'll have first hand experience of what the little woman goes through all winter long trying to dry clothes in windy, dusty weather. In fact, one such experience and you'll be running (not walking) down to the nearest appliance dealer demanding that he put an electric dryer in your home.

Another thing that will appeal to budget-minded husbands is the fact that with an electric clothes dryer, fewer clothes are needed. This is particularly important where the parents have growing children. Fewer clothes to buy, means fewer clothes to throw away, since children seem to grow out of their clothes so fast. When clothes can be washed and dried in little over an hour, it's no trick at all to get along on much less clothing. Too, the gentle action of an electric dryer makes clothes last longer since the clothes are protected from dust. Dust, as you know, is actually one of the culprits, with its grinding action that wears out clothes, instead of exposing your newly washed clothes to the dust-laden outdoor air, you protect the clothes when you put them in an electric clothes dryer.

So, to make her Christmas happy and save money to boot, arrange to get her an electric clothes dryer. Now is the time to make the arrangements.

the mad rush of the Christmas season will probably echo those sentiments as she starts the cleaning up process following the Christmas holiday.

Fortunately for Mrs. 1955 Homemaker, she has at her disposal all kinds of electrical aids to make the job of housecleaning easier. For example, one of the needs in a good housecleaning job is plenty of hot water. This is where the electric water heater plays a vital part.

Modern electric water heaters offer all the hot water you need. This is because the modern quick recovery heaters are able to put out hot water so fast. These quick recovery units are placed at the top and the bottom of the tank and specially designed baffles keep the hot and cold water separated. With this arrangement, the water drawn off the top of the tank is hot and never do you draw off cold water or "mixed" water. When you have completely drawn off all hot water from the entire tank, the upper unit immediately turns on automatically to provide almost instant hot water. Then, as the water in the upper part of the tank reaches maximum temperature, the upper unit cuts off and the lower unit goes to work. In a very little time you have a complete tank of hot water ready for use.

In addition to offering rapid recovery, the electric water heater requires no vents or flues since there is no flame. This type of water heater is completely insulated on all sides so that maximum water heating efficiency is obtained.

WHERE THE FURNITURE - WISE ECONOMIZE

Leather Care Is Explained

Leather accessories are expensive items in the clothing budget these days. Fall and winter costumes call for more leather belts, bags, gloves and shoes.

Preserve the beauty and lengthen the life of the articles by proper care, suggests Lucile King, home demonstration agent.

Shoes especially receive hard wear. An economical plan is to have two pairs for alternate daily wear, permitting each pair to rest or dry out between wearings. Perspiration weakens leather, and causes shoes to crack and rip. Use a good shoe cream frequently to protect the leather. Preserve the shape of your shoes by using shoe trees or paper pads in toe and heel.

On belts, bags and gloves, use cream or wax polishes to protect the leather and keep it pliable and soft.

To remove spots from leather articles clean with benzene or gasoline, air well and re-polish. Saddle soap can also be used to remove dirt and grease from leather articles between polishings.

Prevent cracking and preserve the finish on patent leather articles with vaseline. Use a cheese cloth pad to apply a light, even coating once or twice a month.

A GREAT LESSON

There is a story in the Modern McGuffey Sixth Grade Reader which carries an ageless moral lesson. The lesson has greater application today than at any time since the founding fathers came ashore at Jamestown and Plymouth Rock. The story is entitled "Something For Nothing." In the new McGuffey readers, now being published by the American Book Company, "Something For Nothing" is meant to teach 11-year-old children that there is no such thing as something for nothing.

It is the story of Jack, a bright young lad who is in love with the miller's daughter. He sets out to win his fortune in seven days. "What I want!" he exclaims to his mother on departing, "is something for nothing." His first encounter is with a stalled donkey and its owner. He whispers in the donkey's ear and it responds. The owner rewards Jack with three nuts, and the lad is sure the nuts will magically obtain something for nothing. The nuts prove to be worthless. And as Jack walks through the woods to his next experience, a bee stings him on the nose, and the wound pains him greatly.

HE GETS SLAPPED

Jack next comes upon an old woman with an apple cart, eating her lunch. He sits down and helps himself to an apple. The good-natured peddler doesn't mind. But in payment for the apple, she tells Jack, "You must tighten my horse's harness." Jack laughs. "But it's something for nothing I'm searching for, old mother," he tells her. "And now your apple is gone!" "I'll give you something for nothing!" cries the angry old woman. She boxes him soundly on the ears! So now Jack has a red nose and two red ears, but he seems no nearer to his fortune.

His next encounter is with an old man with merry eyes who is playing a fiddle. "My third meeting!" says Jack to himself. "May it be the best." He whistles with the fiddler's tune, and then dances. They strike up a friendship. Jack tells the fiddler about the beautiful miller's daughter. "And she won't marry you now?" asks the old man. "A fine, bright lad like you?"

NO MIND TO WORK

"She will marry me when I roll up my sleeves and get to work," says Jack. "But that I'll leave to others, for I've no mind to work my days away." Not when a bright lad can always get something for nothing. "You can?" asks the fiddler. "It's been done." "It has?" "I've heard tell." "Truly?" "Well — Jack begins and suddenly he starts to wonder. The old fiddler looks as if he might have stepped out of a tale, but he gives no signs of leading Jack to a fortune. Until he says to Jack, "I think I'm exactly what you're looking for."

"You are?" exclaims Jack. "I knew there was magic in your fingers the minute I heard you fiddling." "Are you sure there isn't magic in yours," says the old fiddler. "In mine?" asks Jack with surprise, and he holds up his two hands and looks at them, palms up and palms down. "Folks say I have fingers-magic with my needle," says the old man, "for I'm a tailor. I stitch forenoon and afternoon, and then at noon and at night I fiddle." "You work?" cries Jack. "And play," says the fiddler. And he plays and sings the following tune:

HANDS TO WORK

"There's always been magic in the three and in seven; But I know a secret — there's magic in ten. Just look at your fingers, you'll see magic in them; There's magic in fingers, that know how and when." And the old man looks at Jack and says, "Your fortune's at your finger tips, so make it! You eat your cake after you bake it."

Jack turns back toward home. And finally the old fiddler's message breaks through to his mind. The beautiful miller's daughter meets him at the mill. "Does your father's mill need a bright young lead, I wonder?" asks Jack. "If it's

Wheat In Poor Condition From Lack Of Snow

Sherman County Agent Ernest Goule has made another of his periodic crop reports.

The dry weather continues in Sherman county. Wheat is in very poor condition and livestock is being moved to market as they come off stubble fields.

The two light snows which came during the past ten or 15 days left very little beneficial moisture. Livestock is in fair condition, however the ranges are short over most of the county. With no wheat pasture, cattlemen will have to supplement these ranges with both hay and protein supplement this winter to maintain their breeding herds.

Home Freezer Defrosting Is Explained

Chances are that summer heat and humidity left your home freezer with a big deposit of frost and ice. If more than one-half inch of frost has collected over a large area of the refrigerated surfaces, it's time to defrost, according to Lucile King, home demonstration agent.

Remember that you are working with an expensive piece of equipment. Short cuts in defrosting may damage the freezer. For one thing, don't use hot water. It can build up the refrigerant pressure in the evaporator and cause difficulty in starting the compressor.

Here are some suggestions offered by the agent for doing a safe job of defrosting.

About 12 hours before you begin the job, turn the temperature control to its coldest position so that food won't thaw as quickly while you are defrosting.

If no ice has formed, merely scrape the surfaces with a spatula, putty knife, or similar tool while the freezer is running.

Ice, however, calls for more work. Remove all food packages and disconnect the freezer. Stack food packages compactly on chilled trays or in chilled baskets. Wrap with blanket or other insulating material.

Work rapidly to get the defrosting done before the frozen foods start to thaw. Ordinarily the job can be completed in less than an hour, if you work at it.

Cold water run over the refrigerated surfaces will hasten melting but it adds to the clean-up

Here... you'll find a Faith to live by...

It's quiet inside. Quiet with the peace of centuries, for this is God's House.

Within these walls, the worries which loomed so large outside become less fearsome... for the first time perhaps you see them in their true perspective. If this alone were the reward of Faith, it would be enough. But there is more.

Faith is a source of strength, a reservoir of power that helps you meet the needs of every day. By worshiping with your family each week at your church or synagogue, you're giving them a measure of security no amount of money could buy. The Faith to hope... to grow... to live by...

Morning Meet, Luncheon For Mullins Circle

The Florence Mullins Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service met Wednesday morning at 9:30 in the Methodist Church parlor.

After the regular program and the study "To Combine Our Efforts for Lasting Peace," there was a luncheon honoring Mrs. Florence Mullins for whom the circle is named.

The honoree was presented with a gift.

Special guests were Mrs. Pearl Mullins, a daughter-in-law of the honoree; Mrs. Lois Holmes, a daughter, and Mrs. Bell Cummings, a sister. Mr. and Mrs. Boy Reynolds and Rev. Chas. Gates were also guests.

Regular members present were Mrs. Richard Albert, Mrs. W. H. Gaylord, Mrs. Billy Cummings, Mrs. O. L. McMinn, Mrs. Pete Flores, Mrs. Chas. Gates, Mrs. Dan Foreman, Mrs. Max Stevenson, Mrs. Arthur Ross, Mrs. Hugh Stewart and a new member, Mrs. Mollie Dick. There were thirteen children present and Mrs. Louis Brannan, who keeps the nursery.

Bro. Gates offered the prayer before the luncheon.

Mrs. Mullins gave a history of the first Methodist Church formed in the Spurlock community. At the time the church was first organized there was not a church building or schoolhouse in the community and services were held in the homes. Later, the Spurlock school house was built and services continued there. Mrs. Mullins said the families always took their lunch and enjoyed an all-day fellowship.

Mary Ethel Circle With Mrs. Hudson

The Mary Ethel Circle of the Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon Nov. 16, in the home of Mrs. N. W. Hudson.

The devotional was by Mrs. M. Dorth and Mrs. W. N. Price. Mrs. F. B. Mullins was in charge of the program topic "To Combine Our Efforts for Lasting Peace."

Attending were Mesdames Hattie Flores, Roscoe Dyess, Ernest Cummings, A. L. King, W. N. Price, M. Dorth, F. B. Mullins, J. W. McAdams and N. W. Hudson.

The circle will have its next meeting Monday, Nov. 21 at 2:30 at the C. W. Moon home.

Germes Shorten Cut-Flower Life

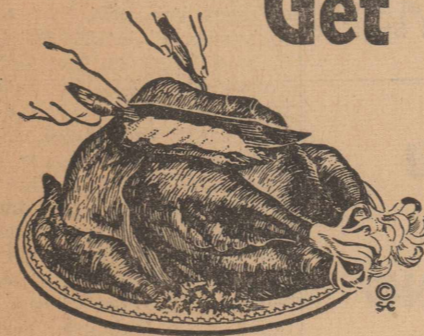

Bacteria left in used containers will shorten the life of cut flowers, according to Lucile King, home demonstration agent. Scrub containers carefully with brush, soap and water after using.

Here's what happens when you store unwashed flower containers. The bacteria present becomes dormant when the container dries. When water is again added, they become active, multiply and clog the water-conduction tubes of the flower stems.
