Will Attempt Organizing GOC On July 10

Two attempts to secure volunteer personnel for a Ground Observation Corps have failed. Tentative plans for the organization in Stratford would be the erection of a steel oservation tower on the roof of the courthouse in Stratford. If 82 volunteers could be secured, it would in all probability only be necessary for each person to serve about two hours in the observation tower about every five Observers must attend least three schools of two hours duration. A direct telephone line would be established from the tower to the Oklahoma Air Defense Filter Center. Stratford, Texas, as one of the local citizens said, just is inside Texas. In one direction it's only a few miles to New Mexico, in another direction it's 10 miles to Oklahoma, and truth of the matter is, if one held his breath for a short time and drove like mad, he'd end up in Kansas before he knew it.

Survivors are four sons, Odis of Stratford, Orlan and Otho of Crowley, Colorado, and Herbert of Lindsay, California; three daughters, Mrs. Spencer Graves and Mrs. Blaine Spitler of Lindsay, California, and Mrs. Arthur Seigenthaler of Visalia, California. He also is survived by 13 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

ROBERT H. HARPER CALLED TO BE SAINTS

PAUL addressed Christians at Rome as "called to be saints." At the time he wrote, Rome had a population estimated at from one to three millions. It was the greatest city in the world and the capital of the Empire. It was also the center of the world's vice and cruelty. Yet Paul addressed the Christians there as those "called to be saints."

The many do not think of the average Christian as one called to be a saint. This is not due to the exalted idea of a saint but to the low estimate of the Christian. A saint is not such because he is lifted to such a high plane that he is not subject to the difficulties and temptations of ordinary and lesser mortals. Far from it. A real saint is one who dwells in the midst of his fellows and learns his wisdom and attains unto his saintliness from the lives of man, men his brothers, all

Every man should strive to be a saint because it is possible for him to be a saint. And for a man to realize that he can be a saint is to realize that he ought to be a saint. If men could be Christians in the city of ancient Rome, they can be Christians anywhere. Men are called to be saints, to live and serve as real Christians. Resolve to be a saint, and by the grace of God begin now to work on your resolve.

State Capitol Highlights

(By Vern Sanford)

Next month, for the first time in 24 years, Texans will be asked to vote, not only on man, but directly on issues.
State Democratic Executive Committee members have approved the placing of three questions on the primary ballot. Voters can express their desires for or against:

1. Legislation exempting child from compulsory attendance at integrated schools.

2. Legislation "perfecting" laws against intermarriage

Negroes and whites, and; 3. Use of interposition to halt federal encroachment on states Majority approval presumably would constitute a mandate for action by the next legislature.

Historically, such voter referendums seldom have been used. endums seldom have been used.
And not too successfully. Present procedures, still substantially unchanged, were set up with the passage of the Terrell Election Laws in 1907.

In the nearly 50 years since then, referendums were held only three times. And failed to pass twice. In 1908 a prohibi-

Redistricting Urged

Demands that Texas congressional districts be realigned were heard at both political party meetings party meetings.

Bill Elkins, candidate for congressman-at-large, told the Democratic executive committee the main plank in his platform is to have the office he seeks abolished.

Republican National Commit-teeman Jack Porter said the GOP legal committee might seek federal court action to force the legislature to redistrict. "It's not fair to have same representation from dis-tricts of 100,000 as you do from areas with more than a million," Porter charged.

Pearson Blamed Again In a report made public by the Insurance Commission, TV man Drew Pearson received the brunt of the blame for luring and Texans into investing money in the now defunct US Trust & Guaranty Co. The report was based on answers to questionnaires sent draft purchasers by the state liquidator's office.

Questionnaires were answered by 3,608 purchasers. They represented investments of $4,711,132. Nearly half of them charged Pearson with influencing them into buying. This because of his personal, oft-repeated statement that "You can put your trust in U.S. Trust."

Because Pearson personally recommended the purchase, the TV broadcaster several months ago pledged to refund all "profits" made on his commercials. As of this writing the Insurance Commission's records do not re-veal any such repayments by
