

Lovely Girls In Jamboree

Beautiful girls of high school age will parade in lavish bathing suits on the stage of the school auditorium at 8:00 p. m. Thursday, September 10, to open the annual Stratford Jamboree. The winner of the senior beauty contest will reign as "Miss Stratford" over the grand parade to be held Saturday, September 12. Bells of tomorrow, the little girls selected from the ages of four through six, will compete for the title of "Little Miss Stratford" and will assist the queen in the celebration activities.

The girl winning the title of "Miss Stratford" will be sponsored as Stratford's entry in the annual "Wheatheat contest" to be held next year.

The county fair, held each year in conjunction with the celebration, will open Friday, September 11, at 9:00 a. m. in the county exhibit buildings in South Stratford. Judging will start at 9:00 a. m. in all departments except cattle, horses, poultry and rabbits. Poultry and rabbits will be judged at 2:00 p. m. Community recreation at 2:30 p. m. Friday will supply a diversion for fair visitors. Fair buildings will remain open until 9:00 p. m. Friday.

Saturday, September 12, has been planned as a day of entertainment for everyone. The fair buildings will open at 9:00 a. m. Club calves, breeding stock and horses will be judged at this time.

Stratford's Jamboree parade will roll down Main Street at 11:00 a. m. Floats to be entered in the parade in competition for prizes must be registered with Parade Marshal R. W. Stander Jr. by Friday, September 11, at 2:00 p. m. Prize money has been set up for four classes of entries.

Three cash prizes of $40, $30 and $20 will be given to the three first place winners in the organization float class. Three cash prizes for the first three place winners of commercial floats will be $40, $30 and $20. Prizes for Kiddy entries will be $7.50, $5.00 and $2.50. Four prizes of $5.00 will be given to those riding horses. Classifications for prize winning competition has been designated as the best typical cowboy, the best typical cowgirl, the best typical junior cowboy, and the best typical junior cowgirl. The junior class will be confined to those 12 years of age and under. Each float will be judged on the merits of its classification.

Floats will be placed in line for the parade on the west side of the school building. Kiddy entries will enter the parade from Fourth Street.

A barbecue, financed by the donation of those enjoying the meal, will be served at the noon hour Saturday, September 12. This feature of the celebration has been a money losing proposition in recent years. The public is asked to contribute as liberally as possible but not one will be turned away because of lack of funds to pay for their food. The American Legion Hall will be kept open for the convenience of those who prefer to eat their meal on the inside.

Following the barbecue, a period of recreation will be conducted for the enjoyment of both young and old. Foot races and bicycle races will be open to boys and girls of the age groups of 6 and 7, 8 and 9, and 10 to 12 years of age. A father and son sack race will also be staged. A first place

20% Acreage Cut Needed to Remove $50M Wheat Loan

Acting Secretary of Agriculture Ervin L. Peterson announced August 6 that any producer of wheat for harvest in 1960 desiring nonrecourse price support in excess of $50,000 must reduce his total wheat acreage 10 percent below his 1959 acreage and otherwise be in compliance with price support regulations.

Acting Secretary Peterson also warned large growers of other fall-seeded crops in probable surplus supply that a similar production cut may be required of them if they wish to avoid the price support limitation. The crops, fall-seeded in some areas, that might be affected are barley, oats, rye, grain sorghums and flaxseed. The determination of surplus supply with respect to these crops as well as to spring-planted crops will be made later at the time the level of price support is announced for these crops.

Under a provision of the 1960 Agricultural Appropriation Act (Public Law 86-80), nonrecourse price support to any person on the 1960 production of any agricultural commodity declared by the Secretary of Agriculture to be in surplus is limited to $50,000 unless "such person shall reduce his production from that which such person produced the preceding year, in such percentage, not exceeding 20 percent, as the Secretary may determine to be essential to bring production in line within a reasonable period of time with that necessary to provide an adequate supply to meet domestic and foreign demands, plus adequate reserves."

August 6 the Acting Secretary declared wheat to be in surplus and determined that the production cut exempting a wheat producer from the effect of the limitation should be at the 20-percent maximum fixed by this provision.

The $50,000 limitation applies only to nonrecourse price support. Loans will continue to be made in excess of this amount provided the borrower "shall agree to repay all amounts advanced in excess of $50,000 for any agricultural commodity within twelve months from the date of the advance of such funds or at such later date as the Secretary may determine."

The limitation, Department officials emphasized, applies to individual "persons," not to individual farming units. A special application form, on which the applicant has listed all farms (wherever located) in which he owned or shared in the 1959 production as well as all farms in which he will own or share in the 1960 production, may be required of any person who wished to obtain nonrecourse price support on a surplus crop in excess of $50,000.

This application, which would have to be filed well in advance of harvest, is expected to be needed to permit advance checking of acreage, compliance, or other price support eligibility requirements.

S. J. Calvird Funeral Rites Held Sunday

Funeral services for Samuel Joseph Calvird were held Sunday afternoon in the First Christian Church. Mr. Calvird had been in failing health for several months and died of a heart attack Friday night while he was talking with his wife. He was 80 years of age at the time of his passing.

S. J. Calvird had been engaged in farming and ranching in Sherman County for about 48 years. He remained active in his work until a few months ago.

Mr. Calvird was born in Clinton, Missouri August 23, 1879.

Survivors include his wife, Cora Kate; three daughters, Mrs. M. Dortch and Mrs. Don Wilson of Stratford, and Mrs. George Gentle of Amarillo; three grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Typical of the early day cattlemen who pioneered the Plains area, Mr. Calvird cultivated a kindly disposition which numbered his friends by his acquaintances.

Burial was made in the Stratford cemetery.

September 10 Is Last Day To Place Land In Soil Bank

Thursday, September 10, is the latest day farmers can take the first necessary step to participate in the Soil Bank's 1960 Conservation Reserve program, it was announced this week by R. C. Buckles, chairman of the Sherman County ASC Committee. The first step is for each farmer who wishes to offer cropland under the program to ask the county ASC committee to set a basic annual rate per acre for the land offered.

After the basic rate has been established for the land offered, the farmer will then have an opportunity to apply for a contract at any figure below the basic rate. If the offer can be accepted, the farmer will be notified of the date by which he must return the signed conservation reserve contract to the county ASC office.

Growers who participate in the program receive cost-sharing help in establishing approved conservation practices on the reserved land, and annual rental payments for the life of the contract.

Farmers who would like to have further information about participating in the 1960 conservation reserve are urged to get in touch with the county

State Capital Highlights

(By Vern Sanford)

Gov. Price Daniel signed the huge new state appropriations bill, but he exercised his constitutional prerogative to scratch out some items.

Daniel vetoed appropriations for (1) a $216,000 home for old folks; (2) a $200,000 tourist advertising program by the State Highway Department; and (3) $1,033,500 for interim legislative expenses.

He vetoed the old folks home, said the governor, because "the hospital board does not have responsibility for seniles and, state policy should be to get these unfortunate people into private rest homes near their families rather than making them permanent patients of the state hospital system."

As to tourist advertising, the governor said that the Highway Department already is spending twice this much from other funds, and the appropriation would reduce activities.

Daniel said he saw no need for the interim legislative expense money in as much as $330,000 had been appropriated in a separate bill for future legislative expenses.

Legislative leaders replied that perhaps the state isn't supposed to be responsible for housing the aged, but the fact is it has some on its hands. They are now housed in the 50-year old Confederate Home in Austin. It has been labeled a fire trap.

Legislative expense money was to be used to put a new carpet in the House, refinish desks and provide offices for House members. Rep. Bill Healy of Paducah said he felt it was "unprecedented for the executive branch to tell the legislative branch how to finance itself."

Now that all state agencies know how much money they'll have for the next two years, governing boards have been busy deciding how to make the most of it.

AMERICANA Unusual Spots Ghost Town Is Contest Prize

Ulcer Gulch, Arizona

Have you ever heard of Ulcer Gulch, Arizona? Probably not. This is the name given by the Saturday Evening Post to an Arizona ghost town which figures in a promotion contest for advertising executives. The magazine will actually give the town away to the advertising or sales executive who furnishes the best last line to a contest jingle.

The town in question, until recently known as Stanton, Arizona, has a bloody history dating back to 1861. The last person it was named for was shot and killed in 1866. The ten-acre town has a saloon, an 11-room hotel, general store, post office, a private home and three outhouses. The town will be decided to the contest winner and named after him.

Charles P. Stanton bossed the town until 1886 ruling with a smoking gun. He is reported to have killed 25 people before a band of bandits killed him in the bar that stands today.

Electronics Will Be Used Soon In Agriculture

Can you imagine a mechanical brain working out a plan of operation for an agricultural enterprise? Well, it is being done. Electrical computers are being used on an experimental basis to get the one combination of land, labor and capital that will bring the highest possible net profit, according to Cecil A. Parker, extension farm management specialist.

Parker thinks electronics have a place in agriculture but they aren't very adaptable to plowing or milking just yet. They might perform an even more troublesome chore and that is the brainwork of modern agriculture. These computers can come up with the most profitable combination of resources in a matter of seconds and save the farmer many months or even years of headaches.

"Don't start shopping for one of these electronic wizards," Parker warns. "They cost over $1 million."

In the age we live in, it doesn't take much imagination to set the feasibility of electronic decision-making, but in the meantime the best we can do is to use its guides and manipulate the old pencil.

There are some short cuts in pencil arithmetic you may not know about. Your county agent can show them to you. Why not take your problems to him? It may save you time and trouble.

Estimated damage in the great San Francisco fire of 1906 was $350,000,000, with an insurance loss of $220,000,000. Some 150,000 claims were paid by 243 companies.

which solve this problem neatly. Use a large, empty milk carton in the car when traveling for wastepaper, fruit peeling and candy wrappers. It prevents litter and can easily be tossed away at a service station.

Plastic or metallic pan scrubbers substitute nicely for flower holders.

Covers worn on your favorite book? Decorative adhesive-backed paper is wonderful for putting an almost permanent cover on the book.

Asbestos mitts which you use when grilling can also be used on the bottoms of hot pans or skillets on your picnic table when you finish cooking.

For ink stains from ballpoint pens on rugs or carpets, try dry cleaning fluid on a clean sponge.

15-Year Death

It was the obituary that really set you to thinking. "Local man, age 36, dies after 15 years in hospital, following car accident in which he was totally disabled."

Fifteen years of staring at the same ceiling.

180 months of complete dependence on others.

780 weeks of hope-erosion, with expenses towering to crowd everything else off the skyline.

5,475 days of waiting for the night.

5,475 nights of waiting for the day.

131,400 hours of four walls, fading flowers, medicinal smells, useless sympathy.

7,844,000 minutes of vegetation with roots withering in hopelessness, spirit shrinking in stagnation.

473,040,000 seconds of death before burial.

And probably because of some "little" fault that you might be committing every day of your driving life, such as failure to glance left and right, or forgetting to check your rear-view mirror; squeezing just one more trip out of bald tires; crowding the car ahead; leaning on luck in a blind spot; trying to average 60 on a 50-mile an hour road or in 50-mile an hour conditions; or just plain, blind assumption that the other driver will do the right thing.

Death at 36 after 15 years of dying. Within that period of time, a man usually marries, has a family, climbs upward in the world, travels, plays, begins to mature, enjoys a million sights, sounds, sensations. Over these same 15 years, this man was a castaway on a lonely bed-island. He absorbed tasteless food, slept a desperate sleep, suffered, cursed, cried, felt the bitterness kink his insides into knots at such ordinary sounds as laughter, free foot-steps and hearty talk.

For every person who dies in traffic smashups, many others spend agonizing weeks, months, life-times of disability. You risk this, as well as a quick ending, when you commit those "little" driving errors.

EVEN BEFORE the Vice President's much-publicized trip to Russia, Washington observers were convinced that President Eisenhower had made up his mind to give all-out support to Richard Nixon's bid to become the Republican Presidential nominee in 1960.

Among the factors contributing to this was the fact that Eisenhower supported the Vice President's trip to Russia and gave him a free hand in offering to solve the deadlock at Geneva in the event Nixon was presented the opportunity to work-out a solution with Khrushchev in Moscow. Additionally, press reports quoting the President as confident of Nixon's abilities became increasingly regular. Evidence of the President's confidence was given some months ago when he appointed Nixon to head a politically-promising Cabinet-level economic study for the White House. On the other hand, Nelson Rockefeller, Nixon's chief opponent, has received small recognition from Eisenhower, despite the fact that Rockefeller vaulted to political prominence when he won the Governor's race in New York State last fall.

Long-time observers in Washington point out that all these factors add up to a public endorsement of Nixon by the President and subsequent nomination for Nixon on the first ballot at the Republican convention. The Vice President already has great strength among Republican state organizations. The observers add that the situation had reached the point where, if by some chance, the President should fail to endorse Nixon; endorsed no one; or gave his blessing to Rockefeller, it would represent such an about face that the Republican convention would be thrown wide open—with neither Nixon nor Rockefeller certain of the nomination.

Advocates of increased use of U.S. farm surplus commodities to barter for critical materials from other nations plan legislative action to force such a program on the Administration.

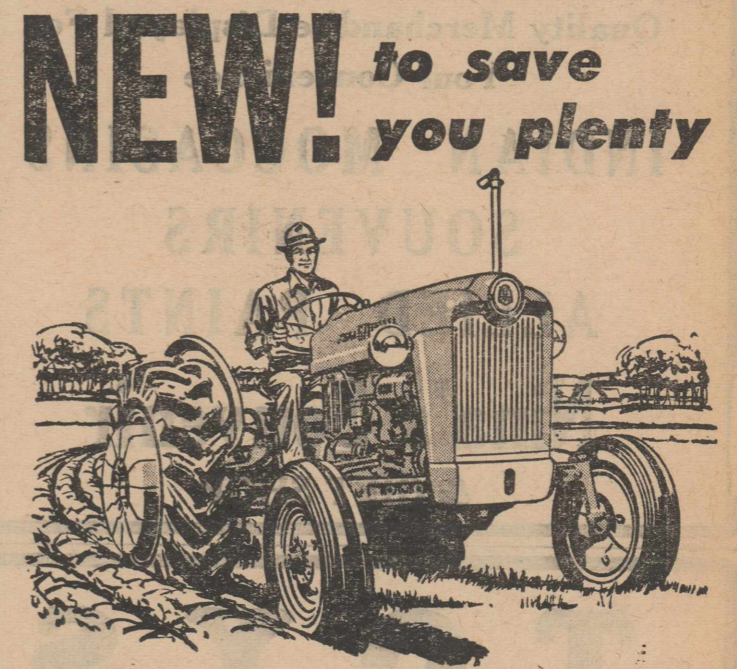

Proponents of the plan say the Agriculture Department failed to follow directions of the House Agriculture Committee, and that restrictions imposed by the Department resulted in complaints about the system from the trade.

Those against the mandatory increase in the plan point out that every pound of surplus bartered abroad replaces a cash sale.
