Mrs. Webster A. Whorton sustained burns about both arms, one ankle and the abdominal region Friday when she was enveloped in flames which threatened her life and could have destroyed her country home. She was cleaning greasy work clothes in the kitchen of her home when fumes from the gasoline she was using were ignited by the pilot light of the kitchen range.

Mrs. Whorton rolled herself into a mattress pad to extinguish the flames about her body, and then went into the kitchen and put out the fire before going outside and calling to her husband for help.

Mr. Whorton rushed his wife to Dumas Memorial Hospital where her burns were treated. She was released from the hospital and brought home Monday evening.

Mr. Whorton states that his wife is responding to treatment and is getting along very nicely.

Do You Happen To Know This Man

"The Rotary Graph, a publication of the Weslaco Rotary Club, has passed along this little story, source unknown. It is almost as funny as it is tragic.

"A young man lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended public school, rode the free school bus, and participated in the free lunch program. He entered the Army, then upon discharge retained his national service insurance. He then enrolled in the State University, working part time in the State Capitol to supplement his GI education check.

"Upon graduation, he married a public health nurse and bought a farm with an FHA loan and then obtained an RFC loan to go into business. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of the veteran's land program and obtained emergency feed from the Government.

"Later he put part of his land in the soil bank and the payments soon paid out his farm and ranch. His father and mother lived very comfortably on the ranch on their social security and old-age assistance checks. REA lines supplied electricity. The Government helped clear his land. The county agent showed him how to terrace it; then the Government built him a fishpond and stocked it with many fish. The Government guaranteed him a sale for his farm products at highest prices.

"Books from the public library were delivered to his door. He banked money which a Government agency insured. His children grew up, entered public schools, ate free lunches, rode free school buses, played in public parks, swam in public pools, and joined the FFA. The man owned an automobile so he favored the Federal highway program.

"He signed a petition seeking Federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his area. He was a leader in obtaining the new post office and Federal building, and went to Washington with a group to ask the Government to build a great dam costing millions so that the area could get 'cheap electricity.'

"He petitioned the Government to give the local air base to the county. He was also a leader in the movement to get his specific type of farming special tax writeoffs and exemptions. Of course, he belonged to several farmers' organizations, but denied that they were pressure groups.

"Then, one day, he wrote his Congressman: 'I wish to protest these excessive governmental expenditures and attendant high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own two feet without expecting handouts. I am opposed to all socialistic trends and I demand a return to the principles of our Constitution and the policies of'

Garden Club Plans To Sponsor Show

At a recent called meeting of the Stratford Garden Club, held in the home of the president, Mrs. Odis Bryant, plans were made to sponsor the water show to be held in connection with the Stratford Jamboree, but not to enter a float in the parade this year.

Mrs. Earl Riffe reported as to the work done on the club project, the Rock Island Park, and plans were made for future work and beautification.

It was decided to select a beauty spot of the week and Mrs. Edward Smith was appointed as chairman of that committee.

Attention was called to the many trumpet vines over the city that are now in their full beauty, especially those on the back yard fence at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Foreman. Another beauty spot mentioned was the flower garden of the late Mrs. C. R. Foster, now belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Plunk and sons. Attention was called especially to the flower, Texas Star (Standing Cypress), which is in its prime this week.

Mrs. Bryant served coffee to twelve members present.

Mrs. Pederson Laid To Rest Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Pete J. Pederson of Jonesboro, mother of Mrs. Jodie Reesing, were held Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Pederson died in a Clifton, Texas hospital Sunday evening. She suffered a stroke earlier in the day.

Mrs. Pederson is survived by her husband, two daughters, and one son.

Mr. and Mrs. Reesing and their children attended the funeral.

C. B. Dodson Is Hospitalized

C. B. (Red) Dodson, retired cattleman, is reported to be resting and making some improvement in Coon Memorial Hospital in Dalhart where he was taken June 25 after becoming ill with a heart ailment. Visitors are not allowed in his room.

Heavy rains Sunday night which have been followed by intermittent steady showers have poured an estimated 1.5 to 2.5 inches of moisture into fields and pastures over most of the territory.

The rain will be beneficial to growing row crops and may induce several farmers to plant sorghum for a forage crop. Roughage feed is likely to be in demand this fall as dry weather depleted most of the reserve hay supply during the spring and summer.

Most all wheat stubble land had been plowed. The moisture will be advantageous for summer fallowing and encourage the early sprouting of volunteer wheat in sufficient time for it to be killed out before the drilling season.

Where good fields of ripened grain were wiped out by hail storms, it is questionable as to whether all of the volunteer can be killed out in time for planting this fall, but owners of such fields will have a much better chance than they would have had with seasons of marginal rainfall.

Most of the slow steady rain fell while the territory was under the influence of a high pressure system of 30.5.

Temperatures which were rising to over 100 in the summer heat wave have fallen into the 50's with the cool rainy season.

Cecil Borth Sets Record, Rolls Car

Cecil Borth competed in the open class races at the Amarillo speed bowl Saturday and Monday. Saturday he made his best time record in his racing career. Monday night he was in the lead when he went too far up on the side of the track on the fourth turn and flipped his car.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Borth attended the races in Amarillo Monday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Harkins Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Borth and Ginger attended the races over the week end and enjoyed a picnic in Palo Duro Canyon on the fourth.

Mrs. Sloan Wins ACC Tourney

Mrs. Claude Sloan upset Mrs. Tom Jones in the finals of the Amarillo Country Club Women's Golf Tournament with a one-up victory on the 19th hole Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Jones was favored to capture her third straight championship.

The finalists were all even after nine holes and still square after 18. On the first extra hole, Mrs. Sloan laid her third shot within two inches of the pin from 45 feet with an easy par four.

Mrs. Jones lost the hole, the match and the championship with a five. hnda-

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

Marry The Very First 'Steady'?

By C. D. Smith

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "I am going on 19, engaged to a very nice young fellow who is 22... Do you think that you should marry the first boy that you go with for a long time? There were two others, but I did not call myself going steady with them (although they did). I did not go with them as long as I am going with this boy. May will be one year that I have been going with this fellow. He does not drink, smoke, use foul language, is very intelligent and sensitive. But, there is one thing—he does not dress like I want him to. He isn't doing any work right now, and is graduated from high school... Should I marry this boy? He gave me a nice ring and thinks a lot of me. He will try to give me what I want, but it is hard with no work." FIRST QUESTION: Should a girl marry the first boy she goes with for a long time? When she goes steady, the smart girl is actually "shopping" for a husband. When she finds the "right one," it doesn't matter whether he was the first she went steady with or the umpteenth—the important thing is that he is the "right one." What does the average girl want in a husband? Certainly, most of them, anyway, admire a man who does not drink, smoke or use bad language. A man who does not smoke or drink—even in moderation—is something of an oddity these days. But these alone are not sufficient qualifications for an ideal husband. These are the things he does not do. Does he have other faults which are just as objectionable?

Plainly speaking, most any marriage will work if it is based on love and understanding... and security. There must be love. We choose as friends people we "like," but we marry someone because we love them and not merely because they are "nice" and have no objectionable habits. There must be understanding. Marriage is a give-and-take proposition. Any girl is foolish to think she can marry a man and then "make him over" to a desired image, or eliminate his small faults—unless he wants to change himself. There must be security. Two cannot live as cheaply as one and no girl should marry a man who is not working or has no income—unless she plans to support him until he does get a job. This may be some time, and, for no other reason lack of security, the marriage can fail.

Marry the boy? If he is the "right one"—if he has a job, then marry him.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Bandbox Freshness
Fresh white cotton gloves can add a wonderful note to good grooming in hot weather if they're always kept laundered and run through liquid starch that helps them shed spots and keep their crispness.
Change hose and shoes at least twice a day to keep feet comfortable. Dust the inside of shoes with a deodorant talcum to keep them

HELEN'S FAVORITE:
Frosty Pineapple Cream (Serves 8)
1 1/2 cups chilled apricot nectar
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1 8 1/2-ounce can crushed pineapple
Chilled ginger ale
Beat nectar, ice cream, salt and ginger with crushed pineapple until well blended. Fill tall glasses with 1/2 of mixture. Pour in ginger ale to fill glasses and stir gently to serve.

fresh and smooth.
Instead of dabbing fresh makeup on a perspiring nose, take two minutes longer and cleanse the face with a quick cold cream facial and splash of cold water or astringent. Then put on makeup: it'll last longer.
Carry a small bottle of your favorite cologne when you go out. When you need refreshing, dab on wrists, elbows and back of neck.
When you shower, give yourself a good lathering with deodorant soap, then make sure that a needle spray shower rinses you clean. Splash of cologne and dusting powder will make dressing easier.

CASH For Expansion

The old-fashioned barber was an institution. He had a modest place, just one or two chairs and a mug in the cabinet for every customer. When he wanted to expand, he borrowed from the family, (if he could) or waited till he had enough collateral. (And by then safety razors had come in.) To-day it's a lot different. If you need a loan for your business, our credit department will lend money on your building, equipment, merchandise, your crop, or your contracts. Come in to-day.

IT'S A WOMAN'S BUYING WORLD

Because women do 80% of today's spending, it has become increasingly important for advertisers to attract and hold their attention through an advertising medium they read and rely on. That's why newspapers continuously do an outstanding job in attracting and interesting the large responsive feminine audiences which are so vitally important to advertisers.

The newspaper's diversified and extensive coverage of news and information of interest to women, guides mothers and daughters alike in thousands of homes.

For advertisers who sell to women - and how many do not? - newspapers editorially condition women readers to the newest and best. Day after day women shop their favorite advertising medium, the newspaper, at a time and place of their convenience and pleasure.

If you would improve your sales position with women, concentrate your advertising in the newspaper - the medium of their choice and the one which helps them buy.

Junior Training Union Group Visits Museum

The Junior Training Union Department of the First Baptist Church made an interesting field trip to the Museum in Goodwell, Oklahoma Sunday afternoon.

The unit the Training Union is studying is "Christian Citizenship", and the group learned many interesting facts in the Museum displays that will be related to being a good citizen in their own community.

Those making the trip were Kay Roberson, Susan Upchurch, Charlotte Guthrie, Kay Carey, Linda Peters, Eloise Adkins, Dora Davis, Marian Halle, Lorelyn Halle, Gary Don Roberson, Jack Newcomb, Barbara DeBord, Stevie Lovett, Alice Guthrie, John Upchurch, Nancy Davis, Luann Plunk, Jody Taylor, Becky Guthrie, Linda Maxey, Dena Ward, Russel Slaton, Lester Plunk, Department Director, Mrs. Joe Brown, Associate Director, Mrs. W. S. Pleyer, Secretary, Mrs. Reba Davis and Leader and Sponsor, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. DeBord.

The organization wishes to thank Mr. Nichols for making it possible for them to go through the Museum on a holiday and also wish to thank Lester Plunk for taking his car and for the treats.

Remember reading about the Texas Revolution and the final battle where General Sam Houston and his valiant Texas Army, thundering "Remember the Alamo", defeated the Mexican Army of Santa Anna?

Today this San Jacinto Battleground, just east of Houston, is a beautiful sight to behold.

On this "Battleground of Victory" there now stands the world's tallest stone monument. You can take an elevator up the 570-foot massive, air-conditioned, giant edifice and survey the entire battlefield.

A huge 35-foot, 220-ton "Star of Texas" rests atop the monument. It is as impressive as the majestic state it represents.

Texas traffic crashes, wrecks, collisions and tragedies have caused an estimated average economic loss of more than $277,000,000 (million) a year for the past five years.

Texas traffic collisions have injured more than 119,000 persons each year for the past five years.

it is very deep and there are places where one cannot find bottom with a 1,000 foot line.

The formation of the country of Guatemala makes it liable to earthquakes as well as eruptions. Yet, such is human persistence and the force of habit that the Indians cultivate their corn fields not only on the border of the lake almost at the edge of the volcano's crater, high up among the misty clouds.

Corn, cocoa and coffee grow high up on the mountainsides thriving on the rich volcanic ash which forms much of the soil. There are small towns where the only way to take their wares to market is to carry it. The Indians are trained from childhood until they are able to bear loads of over 200 lbs. on their backs, up and down the steep trails. The men are a sturdy five feet three or four inches in height while the women are four feet seven or eight inches tall. They are a small people, stoic to all pain, courageous and honest with no inclination to begging. Even when using the free medical clinics they insist on paying their way - in corn or whatever they have.

The former capitol, Antigua was the greatest, finest city in North America before an earthquake destroyed it in 1773 and again in 1917 when 100,000 people were made homeless and scarcely a wall was left standing. The capitol was moved to Guatemala City where it is today. Antigua has been rebuilt with low stone and stucco houses painted white, pink, blue or yellow, in the valley overlooked by the Volcanic Mountain Agua.

The Indians walk many miles to the town market and carry heavy loads on their backs. One woman had an open work basket full of fowls and ducks on her back on which was also slung a baby. In her arms she carried a fine young pig and on her head was a tray of tortillas. As she jogged along, the baby cried, the porker squealed, and the poultry made noise enough to drown her own groans.

Guatemala is an Indian land, for only about 10% of the inhabitant are white. Women make pottery, weave bright blankets and embroider their cotton blouses in colorful patterns. Each tribe and village has its own distinctive design so that an Indian girl's dress always indicates where she was born. For dress occasions, the men wear cotton suits and in addition, a small apron of plaid material. On their heads they wear bright kerchiefs or small folded blanket squares. Altogether, the countryside of Guatemala is as picturesque and beautiful as one could wish.

The area of the country is 42,042 square miles and the population is 3,201,000. Guatemalans are governed by a president and national assembly. Voting is compulsory for literate males over 18 but is optional for women. Catholicism is predominant over other religions and faiths there. There are 4,000 primary and secondary schools, and a university with 215,000 students. The country is mainly agricultural with the primary crops being coffee, sugar, maize, rice, beans, wheat, tobacco, essential oils and cabinet wood. Monetary unit is the quetzal and is on the par with our dollar.

Guatemala is a land of music and ceremonial dances. The marimba (which was originated there) is the national musical instrument and you can see there many strolling musicians playing on these primitive, homemade instruments.

We liked the people in Guatemala and enjoyed the beautiful natural scenery of the country. We were especially glad to become even a little acquainted with our neighbor nation of Central America. We think this ancient Sanskrit quotation expresses the desires and hopes of most of the world today:

"Walk together
Talk together
O, ye people of the earth.
Then and only then—
Shall we have peace."

Texas far outranked other states in cash receipts from farm marketings of cotton, rice and grain sorghum in 1959, reports Extension Economist John McHaney. Cotton brought in about a third of the total agricultural receipts.

The Amazon has the largest volume of any river in the world.

States' rights." Thus ends the story that appeared in the Congressional Record. We do not know who was the original writer of this story, but it is obvious that he was deeply impressed by many of the government programs that seem to get all of the attention and publicity, since he made no reference to some of the hidden subsidies which are being passed out daily. Under the circumstances, I think his story should be amended by inserting in the center of the story the following paragraph:

"When his children grew up, one of them obtained a Federal scholarship in order to attend college. Another obtained a job in a factory producing heavy machinery under a contract with a foreign government which was receiving foreign aid out of the pockets of the taxpayers of this country, with which it paid off its obligations to the factory where this son was employed. Another son obtained a position in charge of negotiating contracts for the government with manufacturing concerns under the term of which the government agreed to pay a higher price for certain products than that for which these products could be obtained under competitive bidding, the purpose being to provide employment and profit to the manufacturing concern because it was located in an area which had been declared a distressed area under a yardstick applied by another government agency in which one of the daughters worked. Another son operated a business which would have gone bankrupt had he not been able to obtain a small business loan from the Federal government, and the business produced by workmen employed at an urban renewal project which was being financed and paid for by the Federal government. Incidentally, all of the family learned about rugged individualism and free enterprise from what they read in a national magazine which had an annual subsidy from the Federal government of about $9,494,000."
