

Plan for Terminal Home Building

Plans were formulated Tuesday night for the development of housing facilities for employees of the Carter Livestock Trucking Terminal which is in the process of completion on the southern edge of Stratford.

Approximately 33 families would like to make their homes in Stratford on about October 1, it was revealed by Sid and Charles Carter of the trucking firm. Eighty percent of the Carter firm personnel are married men and will need facilities which are desirable for a family to make their home. Two bedroom homes were thought to be more desirable but it is expected that a few three bedroom homes would be needed.

Establishment of the Carter Trucking terminal in Stratford will place a quarter a million a year payroll in the city limits of Stratford, Sid Carter said. The geographic location of Stratford on two major highways and two railroads in the heart of the livestock country, makes it a desirable hub for our operations, Carter said. We hope to bring you hard working citizens who draw salaries comparable with good living standards and will appreciate the aid of the people of this territory in securing housing facilities to provide for their needs, Carter added.

The Carter Trucking firm has 63 employees in their original office in Amarillo. Two-thirds of these employees hope to move to Stratford by October 1 and more men will be added to the Stratford payroll with the adoption of new expansion programs planned by the company.

Representatives of the Sherman County Development Association, Stratford City Councilmen, Stratford School officials and interested community leaders met Tuesday night at the County Exhibit building in Stratford. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss needs for housing for employees of the Carter Trucking Company, and housing needs for other families who may wish to move to Stratford.

Those present at the meeting were Duard Lamb, who presided, Paul Chesmer, R. M. Buckles, Charles Carter, Sid Carter, Conde Donelson, John Knight, Kenneth Kendrick, R. W. Standefer Jr., Dan Foreman, Otis Bryant, Dale Knight and Herbert Folsom of Stratford, A. E. Watkins of Borger, Lee Searcy and Cynus Brown of Lubbock.

The Carter Company is nearing completion of its livestock trucking terminal on the southern edge of Stratford. Mr. Carter feels that his employees will need about 30 houses between now and the first of the year, and business developments may very well increase this need to 50 homes in the near future. Carter said that in the event the housing could not be made available in Stratford, his employees would probably locate in nearby towns and drive to work in Stratford.

Two plans were discussed. First, the promotion of building a number of houses in a low cost development. Secondly, it was felt that some local citizens might desire building a new home in a higher price development, making their present homes available for rent. In some cases, rent on a person's present home would pay a large part of a monthly payment on a new home.

A. E. Watkins, Lee Searcy and Cynus Brown were present to give cost figures on F.H.A. housing. They stated that the down payment on a $10,000 home would be approximately $600.00 and with a twenty-five year loan, the monthly payments

Miss Preston Is Bride Of Leon Eden

In a double ring service read by the Rev. Raymond T. Dyess, August 28, in the First Methodist Church, Miss Wanda Preston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Granvil Preston, became the bride of Leon Eden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Eden of Kerrick.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Martha Harrison, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Lorraine Mehner as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A sunburst arrangement of emerald foliage centered with white gladioli, flanked by banks of foliage were used as the floral decorations in the sanctuary. Candelabra holding white tapers stood on either side of an archway, completing the altar decorations.

Bridal attendants wore waltz length dresses of pink taffeta with pink silk organza bouffant overskirts. They carried bouquets of white carnations. The maid of honor was Miss Peggy Taylor. Ethel Preston was her sister's bridesmaid. Reba Ann Preston, another sister of the bride was flower girl.

Bill Clark of Texhoma attended his cousin as best man. Ray Davis of Conlen and Richard Preston of Dalhart, cousin of the bride, served as ushers and candelighters.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was lovely in a waltz length dress, designed with a long torso bodice of lace over white taffeta. The long sleeves of her lace jacket came to a point over the hands. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a pearl tiara. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Presiding at the bride's table were Mrs. Darrell Cotney, Mrs. Lois Holmes and Mrs. Dick Woolsey. Assisting at the table were Mrs. M. L. Mitts, Mrs. Clyde Pittman, Mrs. F. L. Yates, Misses Evelyn Cooper and Linda Mitts.

Miss Eileen Clark of Texhoma registered the guests.

The couple is at home at Kerrick.

Fences Delay Raising Grade For New Paving

Actual work on raising the grade for the paving of 39.166 miles of highway in Precinct One is being delayed by fence lines which have not been moved back to provide the necessary right-of-way, it was reported this week by County Commissioner Roscoe Dyess.

Dyess hopes that land owners will move their fences back as soon as possible in order that the contractors may complete as much of the work as possible before cold weather halts construction work.

Normally October 15 is the last day that nature provides sufficient warmth for the efficient pouring of asphalt on road beds in the Texas Panhandle.

The paving project was authorized by the qualified voters of the precinct by bonds issued for liquidation under the provisions road district construction of highways.

Dyess said that easements which have not been secured by the property owners will be in the mail within a few days.

Boys Ranch Rodeo Champ Will Defend Title In Events Sept. 4-5

The title of "Best All-Around Cowboy" of Boys Ranch, now held by 16-year old Richard Dale of Newark, N. J., will be on the line when the 261 Ranchers hold their 16th annual Rodeo over the Labor Day weekend, September 4 and 5.

Dale won his title the hard way in the 1959 Boys Ranch Rodeo with an unprecedented 195 points out of a possible 200. Impressive as this total was, Dale was only three points up on the second place winner, indicating the fierce and close competition.

The competition in the 1960 rodeo is expected to be as strong, if not stronger when the young Ranchers ride for points and prizes in calf, steer, bull and bronc busting events.

All seats will be in the shade for this year's show and 1,000 extra seats have been added to accommodate the expected record-breaking crowds. Two reserved sections have been set aside and advance tickets are now available at the Boys Ranch office in Amarillo.

The boys will handle every phase of the rodeo themselves; from riding the salty professional rodeo stock to handling and rigging the animals to operating the concessions to directing traffic. Every boy will have some part in the production and it is a Boys Ranch show, 100 percent.

Featured in the 16th annual Rodeo will be the Amarillo Air

THAT'S ENOUGH
A school teacher asked the pupils to write a short essay and to choose their own subjects. A little girl sent in the following paper:

"That is all I know about ants."

Force Base band, representatives of riding clubs all over the Panhandle and six specialty acts staged by Boys Ranchers.

There will be two performances of this nationally-famous rodeo; one each afternoon at 2:30, September 4 and 5. General admission is $1.50 for adults, 75¢ for children; reserved section tickets are $2.00.

Proceeds from the 16th annual Boys Ranch Rodeo will be used in the Ranch expansion program.

Snapshots: America In Pictures

Standard equipment for every American tourist is a camera, for Americans, more than any other people in the world, like to capture good times, historical events, and grand and glorious scenery on film. A vacation in the mountains, a trip to the beach, or an auto excursion across this great land of ours offers many opportunities to catch memorable scenes forever. A photo like the one above, for instance, will capture all of the excitement of a glorious vacation. The scene is Elk Lake, located west of Bend, Oregon, a popular fishing lake, also ideal for sailboating and canoeing during the vacation season. In the background is the South Sister Peak of the Three Sisters in the Cascade Range.

By C. A. Dean, M. D.

MEDITORIAL: Almost any working man knows he is safer on the job than at home. He also knows this is the result of safety training. Unless American families learn to safety-manage themselves, the present annual rate of 27,000 accidental deaths in the home will rise to 48,000 by 1970. The number of home accidents will increase from 4,000,000 to 7,000,000.

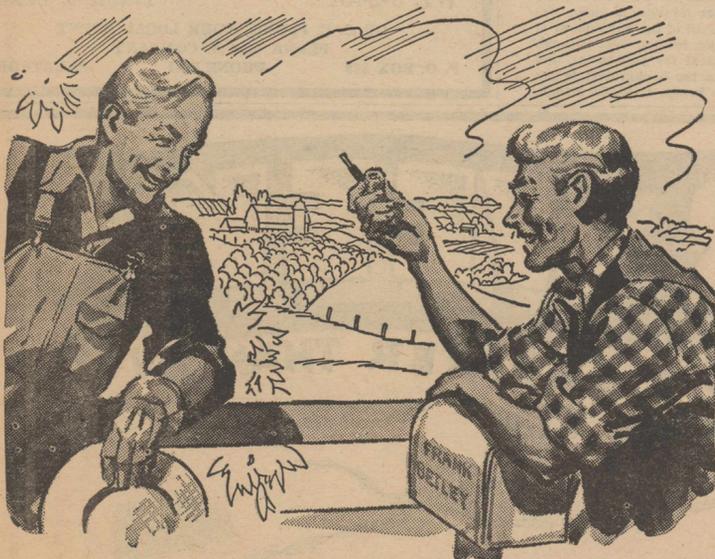

To stop this trend, families must be aroused from their apathy toward hazardous situations. Organization of defense against accidents is a must, and if it works on the job it should be successful at home. Accident rates have been reduced from 15 per 100,000 man hours to 6, and there is no reason home accidents can't shrink when families learn safety management.

Here are some rules for safety:

1. Periodic check of home and grounds, and correction of faulty conditions.
  2. Annual inspection of heaters and correction of defects.
  3. Thorough cellar to-attic house-cleaning at least twice a year to eliminate trash.
  4. Regular check and repair of electric appliances.
  5. Training children to be aware of hazards and to follow safe living habits.
  6. Proper play supervision of children.
  7. Special precautions to prevent injury to older persons.
  8. Safe storage, inaccessible to children, of all poisons.
  9. Family first-aid training to assist the injured until the doctor arrives.
  10. Study of every accident to prevent its recurrence.
- With these in mind you will have a start in developing a good safety program for your home.

rainfall with dry-land farming.

The disease appears in North Texas during August and September.

Damage is easiest to detect when the plants are approaching maturity. Charcoal rot damaged plants have poorly filled heads with lightweight grain. Diseased stalks ripen and dry early.

Weakening of the stalks by the fungus, in many cases, causes them to lodge. Stalks are soft and discolored at the base with the pith disintegrated and shredded. Small pin-point, blackish, seed bodies may be among the shredded pith. Abundant moisture from rain or irrigation water in the latter part of the growing season practically controls the stem rot form. Crops appear to resist the disease in their period of growth when they have high vigor. Work is under way in an effort to develop resistant hybrids.

Where the Master who signals on High

Has provided a welcome for him
Which the train takes as it passes by.

His hand though unseen is on the throttle,
His wisdom and compass the best,

And His love is supreme as he points
To Life's beautiful Station of Rest.

Life's train for our daddy is over,
On time it has reached the shore

Where others are waiting to greet him,
Who only were called home before;

And the headlight that pierces the darkness
Soothes the sorrow in each weary breast,

And with glory brightens the portals
Of his beautiful Station of Rest,
Then out through the Gloom see the sunshine

And the face of the Pilot ashore
Who has called from a happy home circle,

Our loved one to mansions above.
There where Life's storm sweeps never,

Safe in the realms of the blest,
He'll be waiting for us at the station.

The Beautiful Station of Rest.
Thus, one by one, we are passing,
Passing on as Life's train goes by,

And as loved ones remaining we offer
Our tribute with tear-moistened eye,

As father, grandfather, friend and neighbor,
He proved faithful in every test,
He is worthy of life's crown eternal

In Life's Beautiful Station of Rest.

We wish to thank everyone who was so kind and thoughtful during the long illness and death of our husband, father and grandfather, Dently David Woodall,
who passed away in Amarillo,
August 28, 1960 at the age of 72.

May God bless each of you.

SUMMER, 1960, may be remembered as an historic year for fishermen; not because of record catches, but, instead, because of research which brought nearer the solution of one of the ocean's great mysteries—just where do fish migrate and what routes do they follow.

The theory is this:
A given species of fish can only live within a fixed temperature range. Temperatures vary at different levels beneath the surface of the sea, and different species of fish are found at each level. As the temperatures along these levels change during the course of the year, fish move to stay within the temperature range that will sustain their existence. These temperature-determined highways are the migrating routes of fish—"thermal roads in the sea."

The theory has been advanced by Finn H. Magnus, one of the nation's foremost big-game fishermen. This summer he set out to map some of these "thermal roads" off the New Jersey coast and particularly in the Hudson Canyon—a virtually unexplored deep-sea gorge only 79 miles south-southeast of his home of Manasquan, New Jersey. Scientists from Rutgers University, as well as from the Marine Laboratory of the University of Miami collaborated with Magnus.

From the viewpoint of commercial fisheries, as well as of John Doe, fisherman, proof of the theory will take all the guesswork out of "finding the right spot."
"All they need do," says Magnus, "is to take a temperature reading with a special marine depth thermometer and they'll know whether or not there'll be fish to catch."

The Hudson Canyon was chosen for exploration because it extends to depths of 7,500 feet—and preliminary probings by Magnus had shown it teeming with tropical fish, suggesting the presence of many sub-surface "thermal roads."

It makes good sense to pre-plant ammonia on wheat land

Prominent West Texas farmers like RAY SCHULTE use ammonia to get wheat yields up to 60 bu.

Ray Schulte of Castro County, who farms 875 acres, says: "On this soil around here, it wouldn't pay you to put in a wheat crop without ammonia." Applications of 100 pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonia per acre have given Mr. Schulte up to 60 bushel per acre wheat yields.

"On maize," he reports, "I put down 100 to 120 pounds of Phillips Ammonia per acre. I've made 8600 pounds maize per acre in the De Kalb 5-acre contest. Ammonia on cotton gives me about 1/4-bale increase per acre."

Thousands of Texas farmers are using Phillips 66 Ammonia to help assure top net profits per acre. Actual field reports prove that Phillips 66 Ammonia (1) boosts wheat and small grain yields (2) increases maize yields (3) produces more high grade cotton (4) improves forage production.

Overplanting Affects Future Wheat History

With seeding of the 1961 winter wheat crop under way, growers were reminded that overplanting the farm's wheat allotment will usually have indirect as well as direct effects upon the farm's crop or operation.

According to R. C. Buckles, chairman of the Sherman County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, farmers generally understand very well that wheat from a farm where the wheat allotment has been exceeded is not eligible for price support. With a few exceptions, such as the 15-acre exemption provision and the feed wheat exemption, it will also be subject to marketing quota penalties. What is not so well understood, however, is that such overproduction can also reduce the farm's wheat allotments under a ruling provided by legislation enacted within recent years.

"If a farmer complies with his 1961 allotment," the chairman explained, "the base acreage, which is the farm wheat acreage allotment plus the acreage diverted from wheat for the current year, will be considered as the farm's wheat acreage history for 1961 in establishing future wheat allotments."

"If the farmer does not comply with his 1961 farm wheat allotment, however, the general rule is that only the 1961 allotment will be considered as the farm's wheat history for 1961 in determining future allotments."

"If the 'excess' wheat were stored or delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture as provided by regulation, the farm could then be credited with its base wheat acreage, instead of the allotment, in determining future allotments. But if the stored wheat were later used or marketed and a marketing quota penalty became due, then the farm would be considered as a noncomplying farm for such year when future wheat allotments for the farm were determined."

Mr. Buckles pointed out that the rule governing wheat history applies in all cases where the farm allotment is exceeded regardless of the size of the allotment. Thus, if the farm allotment is exceeded, a farm not subject to marketing quotas, such as a farm with 15 or less acres of wheat or a feed wheat farm with 30 or less acres of wheat, still would be credited only with the wheat allotment, not the base acreage, when future allotments were established.

None of the wheat produced on a farm where the allotment is exceeded is eligible for price support.

P. A. G. has earned the confidence which farmers have in this sorghum. Each exclusive variety is researched, tested, and proved before it is offered for sale. Then when you plant P. A. G. you can be confident that not only will it look good in the field, but it will provide top yields. Careful quality control through triple isolation on seed production pays off in your field when you plant P. A. G. Sorghums. Hundreds of tests have proved it.

Now is the time to book your P. A. G. seed.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGER.

Is Mother Good Judge Of Talent?

By C. D. Smith

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "My mother was quite successful locally, as a singer. I am now 16 and she has had me taking singing lessons all my life. She thinks I have a great talent and she wants me to 'have the career she might have had.' I am not sure that I have the talent, nor the desire. What should I do?"

OUR ANSWER: If you have neither the talent, nor the desire, then everyone's time is being wasted. If you have the talent, but not the desire, you will certainly never utilize that talent to the highest degree . . . unless you can cultivate a desire more important than having the career that your mother might have enjoyed.

It is not difficult for a person to evaluate his or her own desires and ambitions. While some may struggle through life without ever knowing "what they really want," they generally always know the things they do not want and do not like.

The desire to achieve success is often enough to offset a lack of talent. Some of our greatest entertainers admittedly have less actual natural ability than others not so successful, but they possess great "drive" and an overwhelming desire to be a success, no matter how much hard work and effort is required.

It is a simple thing for a singer to learn whether or not he or she has talent. All they need do is go to some disinterested professional (and by disinterested we mean someone not a relative or friend of the family) and show what they can do. When one sings or performs before relatives and friends, or a local audience, compliments are expected. A perfect stranger is apt to speak more truthfully.

On the other hand, while it is wrong for one not to fully utilize natural talents and abilities, there is seldom any future in training an individual to sing opera if this individual has the desire to be a doctor, lawyer, or a housewife. The greatest talent is certain to be wasted if there is no desire to utilize it and to work hard and to perfect it all the more.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

OUTDOOR NOTEBOOK: Conservation experts who have studied the matter say that the greatest mass killing of animals in recorded history had much to do with the decline of the buffalo—but an equally significant factor in the decline of the once tremendous herds was the fact that the buffalo ran out of available habitat. The old nemesis of nature and wildlife—civilization—just squeezed the buffalo out of the picture.

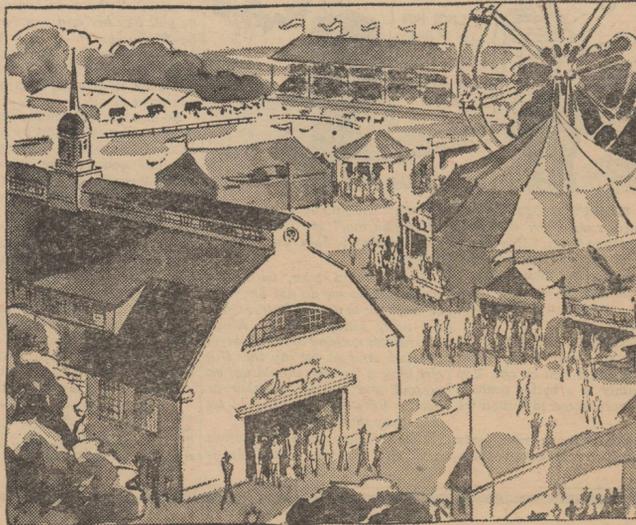

In Pennsylvania, a few years ago, a bakery proprietor noticed that some cookies he had placed in storage were being nibbled. He set a steel trap, expecting to catch a thieving rat. He did—a muskrat, despite the fact that the bakery was half-a-mile from the nearest water supply.

Band-tailed pigeons are western birds, found only along the Rocky Mountain range, and, most abundantly, along the Pacific Coast. The Coast birds summer in the timbered regions from California to British Columbia, spend their winters in oak and madrone dotted areas from central California south into Mexico. Some birds winter farther north if food conditions are right.

Haste does make waste. Analysis of thirteen shooting accidents that happened in Massachusetts in 1953 showed that haste was one of the principal causes of such accidents. In almost all cases, the person hit was standing in the line of fire, clearly visible to the person doing the shooting.

You-might-know-it department: Conservationists say that the skunk has nose trouble. One of the skunk's chief enemies is the automobile. Thousands are killed on highways every year. A second threat is sinus trouble, which is sometimes fatal. It is caused by a wire worm invading the skunk's nostrils.

Sherman County Fair And Jamboree Has Capable Leaders

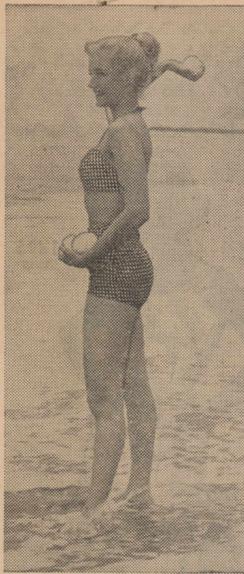

The Sherman County Fair and Stratford Jamboree opens Thursday of next week and continues through Friday and Saturday with a good staff of leaders. The Board of Directors is composed of E. R. Bell, president, R. M. Buckles, Kenneth Kendrick, Alfred Pronger and Claude Fedric.

The Advisory Board is composed of Harold Oquin, treasurer; Mrs. Gaynelle Riffe, secretary; Floyd Brannan, fair chairman; Mrs. Blanche Strother, home economics teacher; Mrs. Ruby Campbell, home demonstration agent; E. Goule, county agricultural agent; Duard Lamb, vocational-agricultural teacher; R. W. Standefer, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Gaynelle Riffe of the Nu Beta Sorority; Mrs. Dorless Wells of the Xi Epsilon Iota Sorority; Mrs. Oline Caraway of the Prospectus Study Club; Mrs. Opal Bryant of the Stratford Garden Club; Mrs. Virginia Wells of the home demonstration council; Chester Guthrie of the Stratford Lions Club and Conrad Riffe of the American Legion.

Two important factors point toward higher potential profits for commercial hog producers during the months ahead. They are, according to C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, more favorable prices for pork and abundant supplies of grain. But, he warns that important management considerations must be met if full advantage is to be taken of these favorable factors.

National prizes are: First, $1,000 cash; second $500; third $250; fourth $100, and 20 other cash awards for honorable mention. State and local contest winners receive additional Auxiliary awards which vary with the community.

The writing contest was begun by the V.F.W. Auxiliary in 1935 to encourage young people to think and write on patriotic subjects. During the last school year more than 30,000 students from all 50 states entered the national contest. Leo Hoegh, director of the office of civil and defense mobilization, served as chairman of the national judges. Further information on the 1960-61 contest may be obtained from local Auxiliary units, or from the Contest Department, V. F. W. Auxiliary, 406 West 34th Street, Kansas City 11, Missouri. Auxiliary members annually give more than three million dollars, and more than six million hours, to volunteer service for hospitalized veterans and their families, community service, Americanism programs, assistance to youth groups, civil defense and legislation benefiting veterans and their families. Members are the wives, mothers, sisters, daughters and widows of veterans who have served overseas in the U. S. armed forces, or women who have themselves had overseas service.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

How Can She Know He Likes Her?

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a crush on a boy who is a year older than I am. I like him a lot but I don't know if he likes me. How do I go about finding out? I sure would like to know. I hope you can answer my question. Please do try!"

OUR ANSWER: And, it must be this answer—we don't know whether he likes you or not. You are certainly in a better position to know more about him than we do.

This letter, perhaps, represents the one question most asked of this column: "How do I make someone I like like me," or "I like a certain someone; does that person like me?"

This column tries, with how much success we do not know, to be realistic; to answer letters without using fancy language which contributes nothing to the problem at hand. And so, we say that if a girl likes a boy she should not sit around and wonder whether or not he likes her. She should let him know that she likes him.

The simplest, and sometimes most effective way to do this, is to tell someone. Word will get to him in short order. You can bet on it.

Quite often, a girl who likes a certain boy never lets him know it. She acts as if she doesn't know he is alive, all the time hoping that he will like her and pay some attention to her. In many cases, the boy may like this girl, but inasmuch as she isn't even friendly when he is around, he isn't encouraged at all.

No one can tell whether we like or dislike someone just by looking at us. Our thoughts are our own. But our actions give expression to our thoughts. If we are friendly to someone, then it is apparent that we like them. If we avoid someone, or do not react when they are friendly toward us, then it is apparent that we do not like them for some reason.

The only way that a girl can find out if a boy likes her is to let it be known that she likes him. And, as we said, she doesn't have to call him on the telephone and tell him. All she has to do is to mention it to a few friends.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

James And Clifford Stedje Complete First County Great Plains Project

James and Clifford Stedje have just completed the first conservation practice in the county installed under the Great Plains Conservation program. They have installed two diversion terraces as part of their Great Plains plan. Thus far their's is the only Great Plains plan completed in Sherman County.

Vernon Courter has asked for assistance under this program on the three sections of land he is farming. He may very easily become Sherman County's Great Plains producer number two.

Applications for this program, may be placed with E. Goule, county agent, or Vernon Bullard, manager of the ASC office. Signing an application does not obligate a person to enter into a Great Plains Conservation program contract.

The application will be forwarded to the Soil Conservation Service office in Spearman. Their technicians will contact you and further explain the program. They will assist you to draw up a conservation plan. Hansford County Soil Conservation Service technicians must be used until such time as a Soil Conservation District is formed in Sherman County. Were a district formed, Soil Conservation Service technicians would be stationed in Stratford to do the work.

Beauties To Practice For Contest

The bathing beauty contest is sponsored by the ladies of the Nu Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Business firms who have not secured a beauty contestants are urged to do so by Saturday. Arrangements should be made with Mrs. E. R. Bell of the Nu Beta Sorority when they have secured their entries.

would be approximately $75.00 per month. This figure would include payment on the principal, interest, taxes and insurance. Should the group find a lender who would make a 30 year loan, the monthly payments would be considerably less.

For individuals interested in a more expensive home, the following information was made available. A $15,000.00 home purchased on a 25 year loan, would require a down payment of approximately $1,000.00, and a monthly payment of $98.96 on the loan and interest. Taxes and insurance would be added to this amount.

A committee to make a continued study of the possibilities of such a housing development in Stratford was appointed. R. W. Standefer Jr. will serve as chairman, with the following men serving as committeemen: Paul Chesmer, Charles Carter, John Knight, Kenneth Kendrick, E. R. Bell and Otis Bryant.

The purpose of the committee will be to make a survey of the Carter Trucking Company employees and the City of Stratford, to determine the needs and interest in the proposed housing project. Contact has already been made with a group of men who are at this time consulting with potential investors in the proposed project.

Persons interested in possibly building a new home may contact R. W. Standefer, chairman, or any member of the committee for a questionnaire sheet. This questionnaire will be used to compile information to contact builders and groups to finance the project.
