NRA Expects to Complete Industrial Codes in 60 Days

CHECK-UP ON HOLD-OUTS TO FOLLOW DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Completion of American industry within 60 days was the goal of the national recovery administration today as its country-wide Blue Eagle campaign entered its most intensive phase.

The re-employment drive will be followed by a check-up on industries which have not come forward with either a presidential agreement or proposals for a permanent code for practice. These will be submitted to hearings with the object of completing all codes by November 1 or earlier.

Explained by an NRA official, the plan now is for about 300 industries. The country's 2,000,000 enterprises are being sifted down to a number of general classifications.

Seventeen codes have been put into effect since the national recovery was signed June 16. Hearings have been held on some 30 others. It was estimated that already 80 per cent of American industry is under the Blue Eagle agreements permanent codes.

EMPLOYEES BARRED FROM DETROIT PARADE

DETROIT, Aug. 31.—Employees of the Ford Motor company were barred from the Detroit NRA victory parade today because their employer, Henry Ford, has not won the Blue Eagle by bringing his vast enterprises under the automobile code.

Officials of the Ford company, president on the statement of Gen. W. S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, that if Ford did not win the NRA drive the public was to "crack down on him."

Today's celebration parade in which 15,000 workers will participate, was closed to Ford employees by parade officials.

PARADE TALKS WITH FORD IN MICHIGAN

DETROIT, Aug. 31.—Henry Ford, whose failure to sign the automobile code brought him a conflict with the recovery program, hastened here today to meet by telephone with his son, Edsel, business partner, who is in Detroit.

Ford refused to make any statement.

More Public Works Projects Received

PORT WORTH, Aug. 31.—Proposals piling into the public works headquarters here today for the week ended today total $36,490,000.

President Walter Cline and Manager D. A. Bandeen of the West Texas chamber of commerce were here today to learn more about the procedure in handling applications for state aid.

They conferred with Regional Adviser Clifford Jones and engineers.

Waterworks projects and swimming pools predominate in the list of applications brought in by the state officials.

100 CACTUS PLANTS

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 31.—Mrs. E. Pearce has gathered a collection of more than 100 varieties of cacti in her 20-year-old garden here.

FRIDAY IS NEW YEARS DAY FOR TEXAS GOVT

AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—Tomorrow is New Year's day for the state government.

Its new fiscal year starts then. Salary cuts, averaging 25 per cent, become effective then.

All money appropriated for the fiscal year ending today, that has not been spent, goes back into the state general fund. Only money appropriated by the last session of the legislature may be spent after today.

Approximately $1,500,000 will be returned back to the treasury to be used for the next fiscal year. It will be impossible to know the exact amount for some time as contracts outstanding before August 31 are payable out of the 1932-33 funds.

The state prison system is expected to operate at the greatest saving under its appropriation. It is now expected to turn back $500,000. The expected outlook is that $350,000 will be turned back from the judiciary appropriation. A considerable sum is expected to be turned back also from the appropriations made for eleemosynary institutions.

The state game, fish and oyster department has also cut expenses and its fund is a continuing one, and not returnable into the general state fund.

Beginning of the new year will mark also the establishment of several new state agencies. The state commission to regulate boxing and wrestling will become officially a part of the state government. Its previous work has been voluntary in preparation for functioning under state authority. The state racing commission also becomes effective.

FOUND MOTHER

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 31.—Miss Elmo Hobson, 18, Colorado hitchhiker, discovered her mother here after more than 17 years of separation. A story in the Wichita Eagle brought the two together when the girl arrived. She did not know her mother's full name.

'NEW BIRTH' IS SERMON TOPIC THIS EVENING

"The New Birth" will be the subject for this evening's sermon, Dr. W. R. Hornburg, who is conducting the meeting in progress at the First Baptist church here, has announced.

Dr. Hornburg is pastor of the Coggin Avenue Baptist church at Brownwood.

This evening the evangelist will preach on the subject, "Sorrow May Endure for the Night, but with the Morning Cometh Joy." He spoke this morning on "A Church that Had Lost Its First Love" and last evening on "Sowing in Tears and Reaping in Joy."

E. L. Carnett, a teacher in the school of sacred music at the Southwestern Baptist seminary, has charge of the music during the revival. There will be special music by the church orchestra each evening.

Sectional prayer services will be held at 7:45 each evening at the church. The Rev. E. S. James, pastor of the church, will have charge of the campaign among the women of the men's section, Mrs. James of the women, Mr. Carnett of the young people and intermediates, and Mrs. Cecil Stephens and Mrs. Allen Crowover of the primary department.

"Our goal for the Sunday school is 400," the pastor has announced.

CHILD BRIDE IS ONE HELD IN MAN'S DEATH

PAULS VALLEY, Okla., Aug. 31.—An 11-year-old child bride, Dorothy Taylor Holshel, her father's widow and her husband were taken into custody here today for questioning.

Search for the group started after T. J. Taylor, 55-year-old farmer, alleged to have made a strange marital transaction with a neighbor, had been found dead at a camping ground near Anadarko. Authorities said he had been poisoned.

The state charities and corrections commission said her investigation revealed that Taylor's 11-year-old daughter had married J. T. Halsell, Taylor's neighbor and that Taylor married Halsell's 17-year-old daughter.

100 PER CENT REPORTED BY COL. REAGAN

The women's organization of Cisco are 100 per cent for the NRA, Col. Mrs. William Reagan announced today.

There are a few instances, said Col. Mrs. Reagan, where women are out of the city and have had no opportunity to sign the consumer cards pledging themselves to support the recovery campaign, but "we know these women and we know that they will support the NRA gladly."

The colonel gave credit for the splendid success of the campaign which closed its main drive yesterday, to lieutenant-colonels who actively directed various sections of the campaign among the women's organizations. These are Mrs. J. E. Spencer, Mrs. G. B. Kelly, Mrs. B. E. Morehart and Mrs. Charles Sandler.

Mrs. J. B. Cate is lieutenant-general in charge of the women's division of the campaign. Other sections of under her supervision are reported to be showing results comparable with those which Col. Mrs. Reagan reported in her sector.

He recently had lines for terraces on between 20 and 25 acres run. Both E. H. Varnell, vocational instructor here, and county agent J. C. Patterson assisted him.

CITY'S OFFER ON BONDS IS TURNED DOWN

The counter-proposition submitted to the Cisco Bondholders' Protective committee, at New York, for settlement of Cisco's municipal debt problem has been rejected by the committee, Mayor J. T. Berry said today.

Announcement of the committee's refusal to entertain the proposition was contained in a letter to the mayor from Charles P. Bullard, chairman of the committee.

The proposition provided for refunding the Cisco bond debt of approximately five million dollars with new bonds issued at the rate of $100 for each $100 of original bonds, payable in 40 years and bearing interest at the rate of three per cent per annum. It also provided for payment of $48,000, or approximately that amount in the sinking fund of the city, for all matured and accrued interest to the date of the exchange.

Committee Offer

The proposition had been prepared by a committee of 10 citizens named by the city commission and submitted as the city's answer to an offer of the bondholders group which asked to try to get bondholders of the city to accept refunding bonds of the city on the basis of $450 for each $1,000 of principal, payable in 40 years, and bearing a graduated interest scale beginning at one per cent for the first year and stepping up to a maximum of five per cent during the last 25 years of the life of the bonds.

The proposition was examined locally and who asserted that the provision for payment of $48,000 into a New York bank for proration among bondholders was a consideration prior to agreement to recommend the proposed settlement to the bondholders and did not provide for cancellation of the past due interest, but only for endorsement of the amount paid upon the bonds.

The mayor said that the committee of ten will probably be summoned into immediate conference to study the communication from the bondholders. He also indicated that a special meeting of the city commission will probably be called within a few days.

Photos Accuse Star as "Love Thief"

These photographs are offered as evidence by Mrs. Marian Young Read, Oakland, Calif., society woman, in her $100,000 suit against Claire Windsor, blond movie actress, at Los Angeles. ### TWO NEGROES ADMIT CRIME, OFFICERS SAY

DALLAS, Aug. 31.—The body of Miss Katherine Prince, Dallas county farmer's daughter, was found today in a cotton field two miles from the farm home of two negro brothers who, officers said, confessed slaying her after they had wounded her escort.

The negroes, identified by deputy sheriffs as Bluey and Thurman Burkley, were taken to Dallas city jail. The girl had been shot in the back of the head. Her features were almost obliterated by blows.

A truck driver saw the negroes in the field and advised officers. After the pair was arrested they led officers to the girl's body. Fearing violence, officers hurriedly drove the two brothers to the Dallas jail.

ESCORT ABDUCTED GIRL NEAR DEATH

DALLAS, Aug. 31.—Deputy sheriffs and hundreds of volunteer posemen today hunted for two negroes who abducted a white girl and critically wounded her companion.

No trace of the girl, Katherine Prince, Dallas county farmer's daughter, or of the abductors was found. Many feared the girl had been killed.

Deputies raided hobo camps and combed the vicinity of Pleasant Mount and Balch Springs. More than 50 men were arrested but none were believed to be one of those sought.

Mace Carver, 27, of Pleasant Mount, Miss Prince's escort, was near death at a hospital here from bullet wounds in the neck and hand. Carver told police he and Miss Prince attended a prayer-meeting at a church in Oak Cliff, Dallas suburb. They had driven toward home at about 11 p. m. They parked in a lane near their homes and were listening to the radio when two negroes appeared at the car.

They ordered Carver to walk to a car on Carver's lap. One negro entered the driver's seat and another the rear.

The negroes drove about 20 minutes arguing over what road to take. Stopping the car, the armed negro ordered Carver to leave the car.

They ordered Carver to walk to a near by clump of trees. As they neared the trees the negro ordered Carver to turn around. Carver turned to receive two bullets. He fainted. Before dawn a farmer heard his groans and brought him to Dallas.

President's Gold Proclamation Eliminates Uncertainty of Current Dollar Value

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The United Press has requested Harland H. Allen, well known economist who early predicted the inflationary program of the United States as the inevitable result of mounting governmental costs and taxation, to present his views on President Roosevelt's proclamation establishing a free market for mined gold. His article follows.)

By HARLAND H. ALLEN
Written for the United Press
(Copyright, 1933, by United Press)
CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The president's latest gold proclamation has broader and more favorable importance than may be generally recognized.

It not only provided the gold producing interest of this country an avenue for the legal marketing of their products, at prevailing world prices, but it also will furnish all business and investment interests with a dependable quotation on the current value of the dollar.

With the English pound dropping and the French franc wavering in terms of gold lately, it has been increasingly difficult to be sure just what the dollar was worth.

Now that the value of the dollar will be more precisely known, it should fluctuate less violently, being less subject to whim, rumor and speculative excesses. That should aid business and employment generally while the market for gold itself will, of course, re-establish itself in smelters and increase demand for miners.

This is but one step in a series of moves by the government. It will be as impossible to stop here, where Americans can sell but only foreigners (and industrial users) can buy the precious metal, as it was to insist two weeks ago that new gold in this country must be shipped abroad to be smelted.

The greatest good from an open gold market will not arrive, however, until the government decides to enter that market and buy and sell the money metal at declining, but regularly declining, rates, which will let the dollar down fast enough to prevent its collapse under our excessive load of debt, and slow enough to give the NRA a chance to build up compensating gains in purchasing power.

TWIN COLTS BORN.
WAITSBURG, Wash., Aug. 31.—When twin colts were born to a Percheron on Henry Zuger's ranch, one was a horse, the other a mule.

Hitler Activities Are Exciting Europeans

PARIS, France, Aug. 31.—Specific plans to re-arm Austria and strengthen Belgium's eastern defenses were discussed today by European statesmen increasingly alarmed at the policies and pronouncements of German Chancellor Hitler and the activities of his followers.

The Belgian premier and his defense minister were understood to have decided that Belgium must increase materially and at once her eastern fortifications.

Paris was the center for a European discussion of re-arming Austria.

Two Hosiery Mill Strikers Are Killed

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—Two strikers, hosiery workers were shot and killed today and at least a dozen other persons were injured, including two patrolmen and several girls, in a riot at the Cambria Hosiery mills. While the riots at the Cambria plant marked the most serious disorder on the eastern Pennsylvania labor front today, a Montgomery county deputy sheriff asked the governor to send state police to the clothing mills at Rose Hill, two miles south of Pottsville.

TONS OF DEAD EELS

OREGON CITY, Ore., Aug. 31.—Sixty-five thousand tons of dead eels were removed from the Willamette river below Willamette falls here this year, August Rakei, head eel remover, estimated. The eels are unable to go over the fish ladder and beat their lives out against the rocks.

PITCHFORK BRINGS BAIT

HYSHAM, Mont., Aug. 31.—Here's a tip for fishermen, volunteered by Oscar Crain. When hunting worms for bait, plunge the business-end of a pitchfork into the ground, then strike the handle smartly to start the worms vibrating. Crain vouches the vibrations will attract the worms to the surface.

Tournament Awards To Be Distributed

A meeting of all golf playing members of the Cisco Country club has been called to take place at the chamber of commerce tomorrow (Friday) evening at 7:30 when prizes will be awarded winners in the annual country club tournament.

Bill McMahon, youthful star, retained the club championship which he first won last year. He and winners of three other flights and their runners-up will get awards.

Maddened in Dispute, Man Beheads Wife

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 31.—Nelson Hanford, 46, a farmer, re-headed his wife, attempted to burn her body, menaced his children with an ax and attempted to burn the homes of two neighbors before he was shot to death near here today.

Hanford, during a religious argument with his daughter, threatened her with an ax. When his wife interfered, Hanford attacked her with the ax. Placing the beheaded body on a bed, he gathered newspapers and started a blaze under it.

Several children, crouching in a corner, crawled out and extinguished the blaze as Hanford grabbed a shotgun and left the house screaming.

WARNS WETS.

The Austin American editorially sounds the wets a note of warning as Texas, or rather, a large slice of Texas, prepares to pull down its teetotaler sign and sell 3.2 per cent beginning just after midnight on August 14.

"It would be an excellent idea," remarks the American, "if the beer industry, as soon as the initial rush of opening up breweries and getting established on a more or less permanent basis is finished, would give some thought to law enforcement." We might add, not only an excellent idea, but a prudent one.

Continues the American:

"The legislature has already enacted regulatory provisions, which probably will have to be modified later on. But the sale of beer in this state, as well as in all other states that do not prohibit its sale, can be easily abused. If beer is made a public nuisance, the inevitable reaction will set in. In the flush of victory wets should not forget that brewers were held responsible for the existence of thousands of disreputable resorts in this country before national prohibition was adopted. The brewers opened saloons everywhere, or provided financial backing, so their own brands of beer could be sold in these places. The conditions thus created became intolerable. The lower class of beer saloons, which were much more numerous than saloons of the better class, were breeding places for crime and immorality.

"There are to be no saloons, known by that name, under the new dispensation anywhere in the United States. Nevertheless, it will be necessary for the makers of beer, and perhaps a little later for the distillers of alcoholic liquors, as well as the thousands of persons engaged in the distribution of beer and liquor, to maintain a higher standard of ethics than was known in pre-prohibition days. The American people have already sealed the fate of the 18th amendment, and, in effect, have voted for the return of all alcoholic liquors. But by the vote, the American people have not sanctioned a return of conditions that prevailed under the saloon regime."

The thing that sealed the doom of the saloon in pre-prohibition days was the saloon itself. Protected by law it was the worst violator of all. It bred crime as filth breeds flies. Those who entertain for a moment the idea that America is going back to such conditions as that merely because it is turning thumbs down upon national prohibition, are due for a sharp awakening. The ideal toward which this country shaped its course in adopting prohibition and continues to shape its course in repealing what a majority of its people appear to regard as a failure, is not unbridled drunkenness and insatiable appetite. The brewers and the distillers and all the rest of the liquor traffic had better to give some thought to that.

THE WOMEN WILL WIN.

"All women's organizations in the city 100 per cent NRA," is the report of Col. Mrs. Wm. Reagan to the NRA drive headquarters today. This splendid evidence of the patriotic determination of Cisco women to do their part in the great national recovery program has been provided through the earnest work of Mrs. J. E. Spencer, Mrs. G. E. Kelly, Mrs. B. E. Morehart and Mrs. Charles Sandler, lieutenant-colonels in the campaign, and their officers and workers.

"Cisco 100 per cent for the NRA" means at least 95 per cent woman power. The woman is the purchasing agent for the home. It is upon her decisions that the fate of this or that product as a favored commodity depends, and it is from her viewpoint that the most of the advertising put out by the manufacturers and distributors of things, from pins to automobiles, is slanted. She can do as she wishes with the recovery program and Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Johnson and all the rest of the administration can do absolutely nothing about it.

But womankind can always be depended upon in a crisis such as now. It is to women that we owe most of the credit for the uplifting movements that have made the world a better place in which to live. She has fought no wars but she has won all of them. And she will win this, or it won't be won.

OIL AND GASOLINE PRICES.

Texas, using about one million gallons of tax-covered gasoline daily, uses only a third of the refined output of the state's oil production. But for that third, when the price of gasoline is raised a cent a gallon, as was done this week, Texas pays an additional $10,000 per day reward for the higher price of the oil.

That means that the one-cent increase in the price of gasoline out of Texas oil returns to the gasoline people $30,000 per day.

According to Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson's formula, the buyers of oil should be paying $1.30 per barrel for crude, before being justified in charging 13 cents plus tax (5 1/2 cents) for gasoline.

Reversing that formula, if they are paying 80 cents for crude oil, the justifiable price under it for gasoline would be 13 1/2 cents per gallon.

But, during the months when refiners were buying Texas crude oil at 10, 25 and 30 cents, who can remember any gasoline that was selling at six or nine cents? What is a fair price for gasoline? And do the people who pay for the gasoline have a share in determining that price?

Now We're Getting Economics Simplified

THIS LITTLE PIG GOES TO MARKET, THIS LITTLE PIG STAYS HOME

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

The NRA recovery campaign seems to be doing right well in Georgia according to what Herron says to Grist.

Herron—R. W., and a former shop merchant of Cisco—is now in Dalton, Ga. where his mother owns a textile mill among a number of other textile mills.

One year ago, wrote Herron to Fred Grist, Cisco hardware merchant, the town of Dalton resembled the valley of the bones. The entire citizenship seemed to be starving en masse and no man was faring faster than his neighbor. Things hung over the gaunt buildings and the streets the atmosphere of Goliath's Deserted Village. To look into the town was to want to get away from there.

But picture the contrast. Came the NRA. Came a lot of other things, including orders, and the silent mills hummed into sudden activity. Now, writes Herron enthusiastically, every mill in the town is running full blast, everybody that wants a job has one and there is plenty of money to spend. "Saturdays look like Cisco used to look during the boom."

Herron wrote that his mother's plant shipped more goods during the first eight days of August than it shipped during the entire month last year.

Evidently, this NRA is doing some fide is coming this way. Most of us know where there is plenty of room for it.

Even so insignificant a thing as a stick of chewing gum can be employed to advantage. It can build up a lot of good will. One day invested in the city secretary's office gains privileges that extend even to the appropriation of bribe-a-brac. I have not yet succeeded in making off with an odd, three-eared flower jug in a warmth of yellow, hinting of brown, however, but I shall continue the investment. The jug is the property of Mrs. Myrtle Rominger, who gets all the chic.

A few laughs lifted from a trade pamphlet:

An elderly woman was resorting to two little girls around the Zoo. While they were looking at the stork, she told them the legend of the ungainly bird—how it was instrumental in bringing them to their mamas.

The children looked at each other with sly glances, and presently one whispered to the other: "Don't you think we ought to tell the dear old thing the truth?"

Motorist: "I hear someone took your car last night, Mose. Did you notify the sheriff?"

Mose: "No use boss; he's the one that took it."

"Where did you get the name Teddy for your car?"

"There are no doors. You simply Step-In."

It doesn't mean a thing to Cisco or Eastland county, but a lot of folk will be interested in learning just what a prospective beer seller under Texas law must do in order to legally sell the beverage after September 15. The United Press supplies the following information:

Pay four months liquor dealers tax to the U. S. internal revenue collector at Austin or Dallas. Apply to county judge on or after September 1 for a license. If the license is authorized he

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON E. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Charles R. Long, publisher of the Chester (Pa.) Times and president of the Pennsylvania newspaper publishers' association, says:

"Only the world war era offers a comparison for the value of advertising to the country in a national crisis, as related to the importance of today's emergency."

"Millions of dollars are being spent by large and small business concerns, not only for direct sales results but for the education of the masses in the ramifications of the 1933 reorganization. And with that recognition of advertising as an instrument of rare value, there is a lesson for every newspaper reader to remember."

"Newspapers primarily are commercial institutions, but also possess a phase unlike all other business concerns. They are part and parcel of every reader's life, with the reader having a real share in their production. Advertising is a reproduction of the commercial life of the community and without newspaper advertising business would wane and the readers would be denied an important part in their knowledge of the current affairs."

"It was here in the East that John Wanamaker first developed the department store advertising that was to pave the way for the expenditure of untold millions in later years by the nation's merchants. Few of us realize the tremendous part advertising has played in the rise of the nation to the rare heights of boom times, and now advertising is still playing its tremendous part in reviving the nation's prosperity."

"Newspaper advertising not only makes money for the publisher, but for every reader, for the merchants and for the nation at large."

There is, in the necessity of restricting the bond issue to about $7,000,000 out of the total, a very strong prospect that the legislature will not only spend 30 days in session in September and October, but will come back again in January or February to authorize a further issue.

It is doubtful if the present legislature could be persuaded to issue at once more than $7,000,000 of the bonds. The legislature probably will employ an outstanding auditing firm and require a current audit of every expenditure from the issue, and periodical public reports of the disposition of the money.

Crippled Children To Get State Help

By VERNON A. MCGEE, United Press Staff Correspondent. AUSTIN, Aug. 31—The state will send a helper's hand to approximately 8,000 crippled children in Texas beginning September 1.

A physical restoration service for cripples under 21 years of age was created by the last legislature under the prosaic title of senate bill 726. The task of seeking out and aiding the lad with a club foot or the girl with a deformed leg was assigned to the rehabilitation division of state department of education.

The same legislative appropriation of $200,000 for the two-year period beginning next month for the physical restoration service, and the restoration of Texas children. It appropriated $120,000 for same biennium to rid Texas of ticks.

A. H. Abbott, middle-aged gray eyes, absorbed with the duties of his office as chief administrator of the physical restoration service, said that the named special supervisor of the physical restoration service, and work under the direction of J. Brown, head of the rehabilitation division.

To Make Surveys. Abbott is not certain how many crippled children there are in Texas. Surveys will be made simultaneously with the next scholastic census. Four present types of federal survey forms will be used, and applied to this ratio to Texas children. Abbott estimated that total, more than 50 per cent probably will qualify for the service offered by senate bill 247.

The act limits the amount of state money for hospital care to $18 per week per child. The age limit of rehabilitation is 21. Texas approximately $300,000.

The state appropriation will be supplemented by donations from the cooperative efforts of clubs and relief societies.

Abbott is authorized to supervise public diagnostic clinics and designate hospitals for the care of crippled children. He plans to establish 30 such clinics in Texas within the next year.

Arlene eyed the dress wistfully. "Even with my employees' percentage off," she said, "it will set me back terribly—but I can't resist it. I've never worn anything as lovely as this dress!"

"She stroked the soft ruffles gently. "I've never had pieces to wear such things," she went on, "but now that I have the dress I'll make occasions to wear it!"

"That evening Eve sat in the brilliantly lighted theater and looked happily about her. The ruby red mohair seats were rapidly filling with beautifully dressed women accompanied by men in severe evening clothes. Down in the second row Dick had seated Mrs. Brooks and the teachers. Mrs. Brooks was wearing a black dress that had been carefully made over and embellished with the heavy gold and amethyst jewelry that had been a gift from her husband. The older of the teachers wore her "convertible" black net dress from the occasion. Saturday afternoon the sleeves would be sewed back in place for the annual reunion of her normal school class. Miss McEllinney was charming in flowered yellow taffeta with tiny puffed sleeves and she apparently was much intrigued by a handsome young cellist who sat before her in the orchestra pit.

Dick had made a last minute check of the heating and lightning equipment and was now busy backstage. He would join Eve after the performance began.

He had reserved a box for their guests. Eve had invited Arlene and Sam, Marya and Ray. They made an attractive group—Arlene glowing in rose chiffon, Marya wearing forget-me-not blue satin, and Eve with her lustrous honey-colored hair and pale gold lace dress. Eve wore one green orchid at her shoulder and her wrap was lined with green.

THE heavy cerise curtains parted, the lights went down and all eyes were turned toward the stage. First on the program was a feature motion picture starring a popular actress. This was followed by a few vaudeville acts of especial merit.

Suddenly from behind a shimmering silver curtain stepped a famous vaudeville star in an emerald wrap. Her white gown was studded with brilliants, accentuating the blackness of her hair and eyes. Her dynamic songs charmed the audience, her sparkling wit captivated them.

Smiling and holding out her arms, she exclaimed, "This wonderful theater—I must congratulate you upon having such a beautiful building in your city. It is the most beautiful house in which I have ever appeared. I hope (and here she smiled again), 'that you will appreciate it!'"

Eve, too, hoped that Lake City would appreciate it. She knew something of the tremendous cost that had gone into its construction and decoration. She was amazed

A FEW evenings later Dick, Eve, Arlene and Sam were backstage during a performance. "When I see what Apple means to the actors," said Arlene, "I am ashamed to think I ever the curtain go down after a performance without showing appreciation. Just see how they work to please us, and how is no other way to have of them than they have succeeded!"

She was really contrite over past indifference. A small girl wearing a very full, charming dress, smiled at them and perched on a table nearby. Eve spoke cordially to her. "I'm about to go on," the girl said, "I do a dance in the number."

"That's a lovely gown you're wearing," Arlene offered. "Thanks. Do you like my stiletto dancer's outfit, unfolding a little of blue she carried under her arm. "You see, it's an evening party and I enter wearing the graceful girl arose and wrapped the girl in the metallic of her gown. "My aunt made it," she said naively.

A few moments later they saw the dancer and they were the course of her dance. Eve smiled at them and perched on a table nearby. Eve spoke cordially to her. "I'm about to go on," the girl said, "I do a dance in the number."

"That's a lovely gown you're wearing," Arlene offered. "Thanks. Do you like my stiletto dancer's outfit, unfolding a little of blue she carried under her arm. "You see, it's an evening party and I enter wearing the graceful girl arose and wrapped the girl in the metallic of her gown. "My aunt made it," she said naively.

RIGHT KILLED IN WRECK OF LIMITED TRAIN

CUMMINGS, N. M., Aug. 31.—Eight persons were killed when the eastbound Golden State limited train wrecked on the Rock Island railroad near here Tuesday.

From that day on the force grew constantly. Probably its most famous emergency was the Klondike gold rush of '98, when the Mounties patrolled wild and uproarious boom towns.

In 1904 the force was "knighthood" in recognition for its Boer war services and became the royal Northwest Mounted police. It took its present name in 1920 when its jurisdiction was widened to cover enforcement of federal authority throughout Canada.

"Today," says the Geographic society, "the Mounted Police patrol Canada's last great frontier, the chain of islands stretching from Greenland to Alaska. There are posts on such isolated islands as Ellesmere, North Devon, Baffin and

THOUSANDS OF TEACHERS FACE SMALLER PAY

By DAN ROGERS.
 United Press Staff Correspondent.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 30.—Thousands of southwestern teachers will return to classrooms next month to face slashed salaries, uncertain paydays and diminution of employment in their profession, while other workers sing praises of the Blue Eagle.

These pictures, like those on the first page, were snapped at the scene of the wreck of the crack Rock Island Golden State Limited near Tucuman, N. M., in which eight people were killed, and rushed to the Daily News by the NEA.

of Oklahoma, wedding arbitrary power conferred upon him by the last legislature, abolished whole departments in state schools and all salaries were drastically cut. Teachers in the University of Texas and other state schools receive a 25 per cent salary reduction. September 1. Most Texas grade school teachers are behind in salaries due to shortage of school funds and all work for salaries far below 1930-31 levels. Texas private colleges are in the same predicament as the state schools.

Public school teachers in Dallas face salary reductions of from 6 to 16 per cent, depending on the amount they draw. El Paso teachers were cut 5 per cent and in that city, 184 fewer were employed than last year. Other Texas cities reported similar conditions.

Missouri plans consolidation of hundreds of smaller districts dotted with one- and two-room schools, so fewer teachers can teach more children.

Kansas City, Mo., reduced teachers' salaries 25 per cent. Kansas City, Kan., ordered a 15 per cent cut on top of a 10 per cent reduction, placing the neighbor cities on a parity.

The story is the same all over the southwest, with a few isolated exceptions where wealthy school districts are able to pay good salaries with warrants which may be cashed immediately for full face value.

TOO MANY PIGS AT FT. WORTH, GROWERS TOLD

FT. WORTH, Aug. 31.—Hog producers were urged today to withhold all shipments to the market here in the federal government's hog reduction campaign until the 7,000-head surplus now existent, is wiped out.

The plea was issued by commission houses after the first three days of the campaign resulted in a glutted market. Only 2700 pigs and piggy sows a day can be handled. The supply on hand and others arriving today will be more than enough to carry over the week-end, packers said.

County Agent J. C. Patterson today relayed to the farmers of Eastland county a warning issued by a representative of the agricultural adjustment administration at Fort Worth not to ship hogs to the Fort Worth market for government sale until an order is received from the commission house through which the farmer expects to sell.

He made public the following telegram from E. M. Regenbrecht, A. and M. swine specialist, and A. A. representative at Fort Worth:

"Owing to the surplus of government pigs exceeding processing facilities shipped are warned until next week and then only on definite O. K. from their commission firm. This will prevent incurring heavy feed cost and possibly death losses. The program allows ample time for orderly marketing and shippers must cooperate."

County Agent Patterson said that to his knowledge only two trucks of hogs have gone from Eastland county to the Fort Worth market. One of these is still being fed there.

The congestion of pigs in Fort Worth as a result of the government's buying campaign is so great that considerable difficulty is being encountered. The packing plants can process only so many per day and the buying must be limited to this amount, Mr. Patterson explained.

There is plenty of time for all who wish to put their hogs on the market, he explained and they may do so by wiring the commission firm they want to handle their pigs and then waiting for the firm to inform them that it is ready to handle their shipment. In this way the pigs can be kept at home until ready to be sold and feed costs and possible losses are saved.

The regulation requiring that pigs must be sold directly to the government by the grower through his commission representative in order to command the bonus has been lifted, Mr. Patterson said. They may now be sold to any buyer and still claim the bonus.

CITY'S OFFER ON BONDS IS TURNED DOWN

The counter-proposition submitted to the Cisco Bondholders' Protective committee at New York, for settlement of Cisco's municipal debt problem has been rejected by the committee, Mayor J. T. Berry said today.

Announcement of the committee's refusal to entertain the proposition was contained in a letter to the mayor from Charles P. Bullard, chairman of the committee.

The proposition provided for refunding the Cisco bonded debt of approximately five million dollars with new bonds issued at the rate of $100 for each $1000 of original bonds, payable in 40 years and bearing interest at the rate of three per cent per annum.

The proposition had been prepared by a committee of 10 citizens named by the city commission and submitted as the city's answer to an offer of the bondholders group which agreed to try to get bondholders of the city to accept refunding bonds of the city on the basis of $450 for each $1,000 of principal, payable in 40 years, and bearing a graduated interest scale beginning at one per cent for the first year and stepping up to a maximum of five per cent during the last 25 years of the life of the bonds.

The proposition of the commission, so Bullard's letter to the mayor asserted, agreed to cancel all outstanding interest, amounting to about $1,250,000, for a cash payment of one per cent on the principal, or about $48,000 a year. That provision of the committee's written offer, however, was given another interpretation by attorneys who examined it locally and who asserted that the provision for payment of $48,000 into a New York bank for prostration among bondholders was a consideration prior to agreement to recommend the proposed settlement to the bondholders and did not provide for cancellation of the past due interest, but only for endorsement of the amount paid upon the bonds.

100 PER CENT REPORTED BY COL. REAGAN

The women's organization of Cisco are 100 per cent for the NRA, Col. Mrs. William Reagan announced today. There are a few instances, said Col. Mrs. Reagan, where women are out of the city and have had no opportunity to sign the consumer cards pledging themselves to support the recovery campaign, but "we know these women and we know that they will support the NRA gladly."

The colonel gave credit for the splendid success of the campaign which closed its main drive yesterday, to lieutenant-colonels who actively directed various sections of the campaign among the women's organizations. These are Mrs. J. E. Spencer, Mrs. G. B. Kelly, Mrs. B. E. Morehart and Mrs. Charles Sandler.

President's Gold Proclamation Eliminates Uncertainty of Current Dollar Value

EDITOR'S NOTE: The United Press has requested Harland H. Allen, well known economist who early predicted the inflationary program of the United States as the inevitable result of mounting governmental costs and taxation to present his views on President Roosevelt's proclamation establishing a free market for mined gold. His article follows.

By HARLAND H. ALLEN. Written for the United Press. (Copyright, 1933, by United Press.) CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The president's latest gold proclamation has broader and more favorable importance than may be generally recognized.

It not only provided the gold producing interests of this country an avenue for the legal marketing of their products, at prevailing world prices, but it also will furnish all business and investment interests with a dependable quotation on the current value of the dollar.

With the English pound dropping and the French franc wavering in terms of gold lately, it has been increasingly difficult to be sure just what the dollar was worth.

Now that the value of the dollar will be more precisely known, it should fluctuate less violently, being less subject to whim, rumor and speculative excesses. That should aid business and employment generally, while the market for gold itself will, of course, re-establish employment in smelters and increase demand for miners.

This is but one step in a series of moves by the government. It will be as impossible to stop here, where Americans can sell but only foreigners (and industrial users) can buy the precious metal, as it was to insist two weeks ago that new gold in this country must be shipped abroad to be smelted.

The greatest good from an open gold market will not arrive, however, until the government decides to enter that market and buy and sell the money metal at declining, but regularly declining, rates, which will let the dollar down fast enough to prevent its collapse under our excessive load of debt, and slow enough to give the NRA a chance to build up compensating gains in purchasing power.

TWO NEGROES ADMIT CRIME, OFFICERS SAY

DALLAS, Aug. 31.—The body of Miss Katherine Prince, Dallas county farmer's daughter, was found today in a cotton field two miles from the farm home of two negro brothers who, officers said, confessed slaying her after they had wounded her escort.

The negroes, identified by deputy sheriffs as Bluey and Thurman Burkley, were taken to Dallas city jail. The girl had been shot in the back of the head. Her features were almost obliterated by blows.

A truck driver saw the negroes in the field and advised officers. After the pair was arrested they led officers to the girl's body. Fearing violence, officers hurriedly drove the two brothers to the Dallas jail.

ESCORT ABDUCTED GIRL NEAR DEATH

DALLAS, Aug. 31.—Deputy sheriffs and hundreds of volunteer policemen today hunted for two negroes who abducted a white girl and critically wounded her companion.

No trace of the girl, Katherine Prince, Dallas county farmer's daughter, or of the abductors was found. Many feared the girl had been killed.

Deputies raided hobo camps and combed the vicinity of Pleasant Mount and Balch Springs. More than 50 men were arrested but none were believed to be one of those sought.

Mace Carver, 27, of Pleasant Mount, Miss Prince's escort, was near death at a hospital here from bullet wounds in the neck and hand. Carver told police he and Miss Prince attended a prayer-meeting at a church in Oak Cliff, Dallas suburb. They had driven toward home at about 11 p. m. They parked in a lane near their homes and were listening to the radio when two negroes appeared at the car.

They ordered Carver to walk to a car on Carver's lap. One negro entered the driver's seat and another the rear.

The negroes drove about 20 minutes arguing over the road to take. Stopping the car, the armed negro ordered Carver to leave the car.

They ordered Carver to walk to a nearby clump of trees. As they neared the trees the negro ordered Carver to turn around. Carver turned to receive two bullets. He fainted. Before dawn a farmer heard his groans and brought him to Dallas.

Maddened in Dispute, Man Beheads Wife

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 31.—Nelson Hanford, 46, a farmer, re-beheaded his wife, attempted to burn her body, menaced his children with an ax and attempted to burn the homes of two neighbors before he was shot to death near here today.

Hanford, during a religious argument with his daughter, threatened her with an ax. When his wife interfered, Hanford attacked her with the ax. Placing the beheaded body on a bed, he gathered newspapers and started a blaze under it. Several children, crouching in a corner, crawled out and extinguished the blaze as Hanford grabbed a shotgun and left the house screaming.

WARNS WETS.

The Austin American editorially sounds the wets a note of warning as Texas, or, rather, a large slice of Texas, prepares to pull down its teetotaler sign and sell 3.2 per cent beginning just after midnight on August 14.

"It would be an excellent idea," remarks the American, "if the beer industry, as soon as the initial rush of opening up breweries and getting established on a more or less permanent basis is finished, would give some thought to law enforcement." We might add, not only an excellent idea, but a prudent one.

Continues the American: "The legislature has already enacted regulatory provisions, which probably will have to be modified later on. But the sale of beer in this state, as well as in all other states that do not prohibit its sale, can be easily abused. If beer is made a public nuisance, the inevitable reaction will set in. In the flush of victory wets should not forget that brewers were held responsible for the existence of thousands of disreputable resorts in this country before national prohibition was adopted. The brewers opened saloons everywhere, or provided financial backing, so their own brands of beer could be sold in these places. The conditions thus created became intolerable. The lower class of beer saloons, which were much more numerous than saloons of the better class, were breeding places for crime and immorality.

"There are to be no saloons, known by that name, under the new dispensation anywhere in the United States. Nevertheless, it will be necessary for the makers of beer, and perhaps a little later for the distillers of alcoholic liquors, as well as the thousands of persons engaged in the distribution of beer and liquor, to maintain a higher standard of ethics than was known in pre-prohibition days. The American people have already sealed the fate of the 18th amendment, and, in effect, have voted for the return of all alcoholic liquors. But by the vote, the American people have not sanctioned a return of conditions that prevailed under the saloon regime."

The thing that sealed the doom of the saloon in pre-prohibition days was the saloon itself. Protected by law it was the worst violator of all. It bred crime as filth breeds flies. Those who entertain for a moment the idea that America is going back to such conditions as that merely because it is turning thumbs down upon national prohibition, are due for a sharp awakening. The ideal toward which this country shaped its course in adopting prohibition and continues to shape its course in repealing what a majority of its people appear to regard as a failure, is not unbridled drunkenness and insatiable appetite. The brewers and the distillers and all the rest of the liquor traffic had better to give some thought to that.

THE WOMEN WILL WIN.

"All women's organizations in the city 100 per cent NRA," is the report of Col. Mrs. Wm. Reagan to the NRA drive headquarters today. This splendid evidence of the patriotic determination of Cisco women to do their part in the great national recovery program has been provided through the earnest work of Mrs. J. E. Spencer, Mrs. G. B. Kelly, Mrs. B. E. Morehart and Mrs. Charles Sandler, lieutenant-colonels in the campaign, and their officers and workers.

"Cisco 100 per cent for the NRA" means at least 95 per cent woman power. The woman is the purchasing agent for the home. It is upon her decisions that the fate of this or that product as a favored commodity depends, and it is to her viewpoint that the most of the advertising put out by the manufacturers and distributors of things, from pins to automobiles, is slanted. She can do as she wishes with the recovery program and Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Johnson and all the rest of the administration can do absolutely nothing about it.

But womankind can always be depended upon in a crisis such as now. It is to women that we owe most of the credit for the uplifting movements that have made the world a better place in which to live. She has fought no wars but she has won all of them. And she will win this, or it won't be won.

OIL AND GASOLINE PRICES.

Texas, using about one million gallons of tax-covered gasoline daily, uses only a third of the refined output of the state's oil production. But for that third, when the price of gasoline is raised a cent a gallon, as was done this week, Texas pays an additional $10,000 per day reward for the higher price of the oil.

That means that the one-cent increase in the price of gasoline out of Texas oil returns to the gasoline people $30,000 per day.

According to Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson's formula, the buyers of oil should be paying $1.30 per barrel for crude, before being justified in charging 13 cents plus tax (5 1/2 cents) for gasoline.

Reversing that formula, if they are paying 80 cents for crude oil, the justifiable price under it for gasoline would be 13 1/2 cents per gallon.

But, during the months when refiners were buying Texas crude oil at 10, 25 and 30 cents, who can remember any gasoline that was selling at six or nine cents? What is a fair price for gasoline? And do the people who pay for the gasoline have a share in determining that price?

By GEORGE

The NRA recovery campaign seems to be doing right well in Dalton, Ga. according to what Herron says to Grist.

Herron—R. W. and a former shoe merchant of Cisco—is now in Dalton, Ga. where his mother owns a textile mill among a number of other textile mills.

One year ago, wrote Herron to Fred Grist, Cisco hardware merchant, the town of Dalton resembled the valley of the bones. The entire citizenship seemed to be starving in mass and no man was starving faster than his neighbor. There hung over the gaunt buildings and the streets the atmosphere of Goldsmith's Deserted Village. To look at the town was to want to get away from there.

But picture the contrast. Came the NRA. Came a lot of other things, including orders, and the silent mills hurried into sudden activity. Now writes Herron enthusiastically, every mill in the town is running full blast, everybody that wants a job has one and there is plenty of money to spend. "Saturdays look like Cisco used to look during the boom."

Herron wrote that his mother's plant shipped more goods during the first eight days of August than it shipped during the entire month last year.

Evidently, this NRA is doing some folks a lot of good. Perhaps the tide is coming this way. Most of us know where there is plenty of room for it.

Even so insignificant a thing as a sack of chewing gum can be employed to advantage. It can build up a lot of good will. One day invested in the city secretary's office gains privileges that extend even to the appropriation of bric-a-brac. I have not yet succeeded in making off with an odd, three-eared flower jug in a wraith of yellow, hinting of brown, however, but I shall continue the investment. The jug is the property of Mrs. Myrtle Rominger, who gets all the credit.

A few laughs lifted from a trade pamphlet:

An elderly woman was escorting two little girls around the Zoo. While they were looking at the stork, she told them the legend of the ungainly bird—how it was instrumental in bringing them to their mamas.

The children looked at each other with sly glances, and presently one whispered to the other: "Don't you think we ought to tell the dear old thing the truth?"

Motorist: "I hear someone took your car last night, Mose. Did you notify the sheriff?" Mose: "No use boss; he's the one that took it."

"Where did you get the name Teddy for your car?" "There are no doors. You simply Step-In."

It doesn't mean a thing to Cisco or Eastland county, but a lot of folk will be interested in learning just what a prospective beer seller under Texas law must do in order to legally sell the beverage after September 15. The United Press supplies the following information:

Pay four months liquor dealers tax to the U. S. internal revenue collector at Austin or Dallas.

Apply to county judge on or after September 1 for a license. If the license is authorized by must present the authorization to the county tax collector and tender the fee required. The tax collector will issue the license on or after September 15. Application to the U. S. revenue collector can be made at once.

Application to the county judge for license may be made September 1 or after. Upon its filing the judge will set a hearing not less than five or more than ten days distant. Applicants must be 21 years of age, residents of the county two years or over and make affidavit they have not been convicted of felony within two years.

By RAYMOND BROOKS

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 31—(Spl.) Now that the state bond issue has been approved, the legislature will, after Sept. 11, authorize issuance of probably $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 of the total.

The bill to issue first of the bonds will raise two other questions:

- What will the money be spent for?
- From what tax source will it be paid off?

Part of the answer of the first question is known. Some of the money will be added to federal grants whose continuance was assured when the bonds were voted, for direct relief, in feeding the destitute. Some of it will be used in experimental work in rehabilitation. Some of it will be applied to match federal money in public works projects.

Tentatively it has been planned to set up an experimental colonization unit, to test the back-to-the farm plan, at Austin. This proposal is to lease a tract of land in the Colorado river valley capable of irrigation, and to locate on five-acre tracts of it families who are now on the relief rolls. These families would be chosen for their prospects of making a living on five acres of good land, out of food and feed crops.

If this experiment should turn out well the state may go into a policy of sending families back to the farm and of renting, or buying and reselling to them, small farm tracts.

So far as possible, the legislature will require the state bond money to be spent on permanent public improvements. All state buildings and college plants, public roads and lateral roads, should share the expenditures.

The other question may have been answered too in the governor's insistence upon a sales tax. Capital reports have said that a sales tax must be passed to pay off the bonds, and that it would have been passed for direct relief if the bonds had failed.

There is, in the necessity of restructuring the bond issue to about $7,000,000 out of the total, a very strong prospect that the legislature will not only spend 30 days in session in September and October, but will come back again in January or February to authorize a further issue.

It is doubtful if the present legislature could be persuaded to issue at once more than $7,000,000 of the bonds. The legislature probably will employ an outstanding auditing firm and require a current audit of every expenditure from the issue, and periodical public reports of the disposition of the money.

ARELENE eyed the dress with a fully, "Even with my employees' percentage off," she said, "it will set me back terribly—but I can't resist it. I've never worn anything as lovely as this dress!"

She stroked the soft ruffles gently. "I've never had places to wear such things," she went on, "but now that I have the dress I'll make occasions to wear it!"

That evening Eve sat in the brilliantly lit theater and looked happily about her. The ruby red mohair seats were rapidly filling with beautifully dressed women accompanied by men in severe evening clothes. Down in the second row Dick had seated Mrs. Brooks and the teachers. Mrs. Brooks was wearing a black dress that had been carefully made over and embellished with the heavy gold and amethyst jewelry that had been a gift from her husband. The older of the teachers wore her "convertible" black net dress from which the sleeves would be detached for the occasion. Saturday afternoon the sleeves would be sewed back in place for the annual reunion of her normal school class. Miss McElhinney was charming in flowered yellow tulle with tiny puffed sleeves and she apparently was much intrigued by a handsome young cellist who sat before her in the orchestra pit.

Dick had made a last minute check of the heating and lighting equipment and was now busy back stage. He would join Eve after the performance began.

He had reserved a box for their guests. Eve had invited Arlene and Sam, Marya and Ray. They made an attractive group—Arlene glowing in rose chiffon, Marya wearing forget-me-not blue satin, and Eve with her lustrous honey-colored hair and pale gold lace dress. Eve wore one green orchid at her shoulder and her wrap was lined with green.

The heavy electric curtains parted, the lights went down and all eyes were turned toward the stage. First on the program was a feature motion picture starring a popular actress. This was followed by a few vaudeville acts of especially merit.

Suddenly from behind a shimmering silver curtain stepped a famous vaudeville star in an ermine fur. Her white gown was studded with brilliant, accentuating the blackness of her hair and eyes. Her dynamic songs charmed the audience, her sparkling wit captivated them.

"Smiling and holding out her arms, she exclaimed, 'This wonderful theater—I must congratulate you upon having such a beautiful building in your city. It is the most beautiful house in which I have ever appeared. I hope (and here she smiled again), 'that you will appreciate it!'"

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

Charles R. Long, publisher of the Chester (Pa.) Times and president of the Pennsylvania newspaper publishers' association, says:

"Only the world war era offers a comparison to the country in a national crisis, as related to the importance of today's emergency.

"Millions of dollars are being spent by large and small business concerns, not only for direct results but for the education of the masses in the ramifications of the 1933 reorganization. And with that recognition of advertising as an instrument of rare value, there is a lesson for every newspaper reader to remember.

"Newspapers primarily are commercial institutions, but also possess a phase unlike all other business concerns. They are part and parcel of every reader's life, with the reader having a real share in their production. Advertising is a reproduction of the commercial life of the community and without newspaper advertising business would wane and the readers would be denied an important part in their knowledge of the current affairs.

"It was here in the East that John Wanamaker first developed department store advertising that was to pave the way for the expenditure of untold millions in later years by the nation's merchants. Few of us realize the tremendous part advertising has played in the rise of the nation to the rare heights of boom times, and now advertising is still playing its tremendous part in reviving the nation's prosperity.

"Newspaper advertising not only makes money for the publisher, but for every reader, for the merchants and for the nation at large."

Crippled Children To Get State Help

By VERNON A. MCGEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Aug. 31—The state will extend a helping hand to approximately 8,000 crippled children in Texas beginning September 1.

A physical restoration service for cripples under 21 years of age was created by the last legislature of the present title of senate bill. The task of seeking out and the rehabilitation division of the state department of education. The same legislature appropriated $200,000 for the two-year period beginning next month for the physical restoration of Texas children.

It appropriated $120,000 for same biennium to rid Texas of ticks.

A. H. Abbott, middle-aged gray eyes, absorbed with the dependents for 10 years, chief administrator of the fund for crippled children. He named special supervisor of the physical restoration service, and work under the direction of J. Brown, head of the rehabilitation division.

To Make Surveys. Abbott is not certain how many crippled children there are in Texas. Surveys will be made simultaneously with the next scholastic census. Four persons out of every suffer some type of physical deformity, according to federal estimates. Applying this ratio to Texas children, Abbott estimated that need medical or surgical care because of physical deformities that total more than 50 per cent probably will qualify for the offered by senate bill 247.

The act limits the amount state may pay for hospital care to $18 per week per child. The average cost of rehabilitating a child in the United States is $100, Texas approximately $300.

The state appropriation will be supplemented by donations from the cooperative efforts of clubs, relief societies.

Abbott is authorized to supervise public diagnostic clinics and designate hospitals for the care of crippled children. He plans to establish 30 such clinics in Texas within the next year.

THOUSANDS OF TEACHERS FACE SMALLER PAY

By DAN ROGERS,
 United Press Staff Correspondent.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 30.—Thousands of Southwestern teachers will return to classrooms next month to face slashed salaries, uncertain paydays and diminution of employment in their profession while other workers sing praises of the Blue Eagle.

Employment generally is increasing, average earnings are rising and working hours are being shortened. But not for teachers in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. A United Press survey showed, tax-ridden school districts, municipalities and states in many instances this year will pay the lowest salaries and employ fewer teachers than at any time since the World War. They don't have the money to do otherwise.

Those affected range from the little one-room country school that is being abandoned to the college professor whose courses are being eliminated for economy's sake. And those who retained their positions in most cases took salary cuts for the second or third consecutive year.

Look to N.R.A.
 The teachers are looking with hopeful eyes toward Washington and the N.R.A. But school boards and state officials, with empty treasuries and bonded debts are wondering if N. R. A. Administrator Hugh Johnson can conjure teachers' salaries out of the air.

N. R. A. officials advised the American Council on Education that it had not yet formulated a policy in regard to participation of educational institutions in the recovery program.

Missouri and Nebraska educators are organizing to see that their states include schools in benefits accruing from relief programs and returning national prosperity. Other Southwestern states plan to do likewise.

Instances of rural teachers receiving as little as $35 a month, of college professors reduced to $150 a month, are on record. The budgets of state universities and colleges have been reduced 30 per cent in many cases.

Grade and high school teachers in most cities will work for from 15 to 25 per cent less than salaries two years ago.

Last year, in Oklahoma and some other states, Teachers' salary warrants were discounted 5 to 10 per cent by banks which cashed them, as the warrants were non-payable and had to be held for tax collections.

The average of rural teachers salaries in Nebraska for the school year 1933-34 is $467.40, the state department of education estimated. City and village teachers will average $946. These compare to $762 and $1,238 two years ago. A thousand less teachers will be employed in the state.

Cut Staffs and Pay.
 The University of Kansas at Lawrence and the University of Wichita have reduced teaching staffs and salaries.

Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray

TOO MANY PIGS AT FT. WORTH, GROWERS TOLD

FORT WORTH, Aug. 31.—Hog producers were urged today to withhold all shipments to the market here in the federal government's hog reduction campaign until the 7,000-head surplus now existent, is wiped out.

The plea was issued by commission houses after the first three days of the campaign resulted in a glutted market. Only 2700 pigs and piggy sows a day can be handled. The supply on hand and others arriving today will be more than enough to carry over the week-end, packers said.

County Agent J. C. Patterson today relayed to the farmers of Eastland county a warning issued by a representative of the agricultural adjustment administration at Fort Worth not to ship hogs to the Fort Worth market for government sale until an order is received from the commission house through which the farmer expects to sell.

He made public the following telegram from E. M. Regenbrecht, A. and M. wine specialist, and A. A. representative at Fort Worth:

"Owing to the surplus of government pigs exceeding processing facilities shipped are wanted to delay further shipments until next week and then only on definite O. K. from their commission firm. This will prevent incurring heavy feed cost and possibly death losses. The program allows ample time for orderly marketing and shippers must cooperate."

County Agent Patterson said that to his knowledge only two trucks of hogs have gone from Eastland county to the Fort Worth market. One of these is still being there.

The congestion of pigs in Fort Worth as a result of the government's buying campaign is so great that considerable difficulty is being encountered. The packing plants can process only so many per day and the buying must be limited to this amount, Mr. Patterson explained.

There is plenty of time for all who wish to put their hogs on the market, he explained and they may do so by wiring the commission firm they want to handle their pigs and then waiting for the firm to inform them that it is ready to handle their shipment. In this way the pigs can be kept at home until ready to be sold and feed costs and possible losses are saved.

The regulation requiring that pigs must be sold directly to the government by the grower through his commission representative in order to command the bonus has been lifted, Mr. Patterson said. They may now be sold to any buyer and still claim the bonus.
