Tomorrow's Game With Eastland Crucial One For Loboes

COLDER, FAIR WEATHER IS IN PROSPECT

A slow rain this morning threw further complications across the "dope" for the Cisco Loboes and Eastland Maverick grid battle here tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Over the unbroken chain of victories, excluding one tie, has always approached it as just another hurdle on the road to a title.

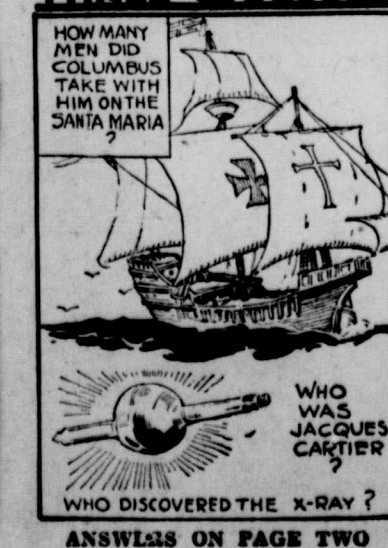

Therefore, say those who ought to know, tomorrow's game is the crucial one of all for the Loboes.

The way the Mavericks view the outlook is in a strong sense, complementary to Cisco.

Prices of admission will not exceed 50 cents per seat, no reservations being made.

BURNED DURING MEETING GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Nov. 2—While fire companies from more than a score of nearby communities were attending a meeting here, the home of Miss Margaret Dwey was practically leveled by fire.

THREE GUESSES

Gold Lure Revived in Old West

New life stirs in ghost towns of the old west and pick and pan play a tinkling tune along hundreds of watercourses and on hill-sides of Pacific coast and Rocky mountain states.

U.S. Agents Closing In On Verne Miller

JAP TROOPS IN AREA OF GREAT WALL REMOVED

PEIPING, China, Nov. 2—The Japanese army of occupation today began a sweeping movement of evacuation from all its positions outside the great wall of China.

The movement was accomplished, it was believed, after a new "understanding" had been reached between the Japanese and Chinese.

It released at least one full division of troops, now available for operations in the north, where the Japanese-Soviet quarrel over the Chinese Eastern railway still is critical.

Ickes Asks Details Of Oil Cost Figures

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2—Sec'y of Interior Ickes, acting as administrator of the petroleum code, today requested detailed information from the industry concerning the cost of producing, refining and marketing oil and oil products.

Two Killed When Amphibian Falls

CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Nov. 2—Two men, one of them E. M. Moore, son-in-law of the late Rear Admiral William Moffatt, who perished in the Akron disaster, were killed today when the ten-passenger amphibian that flies between Catalina Island and the mainland crashed in Avalon Bay.

RAINFALL HERE THIS MORNING .9 OF AN INCH

Stockmen, farmers and people in general over this territory smiled today at the first rain of any consequence in months.

A slow, soaking fall that began about 4 a. m. and continued until 11 a. m. had put almost an inch of moisture in the dry soil by the time it ceased.

The register at the city hall showed slightly in excess of nine-tenths of an inch. At noon after the rain had ceased falling, the thermometer read 46 degrees.

RAIN GENERAL OVER PANHANDLE

AMARILLO, Nov. 2—Rain was general over the northwestern panhandle today with occasional snow and sleet flurries reported.

FIRST SNOW FALL IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 2—The first snow of the year for Oklahoma fell at Fairview today as temperatures dropped to lower levels over the state and citizens shivered under the initial blasts of winter.

4,511 Bales Ginned In Eastland County

MISS LENOVA Luttrell will return to Fort Worth where she has been going to school, this week.

HYER'S DEFENSE IN DISBARMENT ACTION SCORES

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2—The defense scored heavily today in defending Julian Hyer, prominent Ft. Worth attorney and former state senator, in a disbarment suit filed by the Fort Worth Bar association.

Hyer is charged with soliciting two damage cases and with misappropriation of $755 in county funds.

John A. Vincent, a grocer, testified he had requested Hyer to call on Harry Obeydin, chief witness for the bar association, in connection with the filing of a personal injury suit.

Miller was described by federal officers as the most desperate gunman outside of prison. He is credited with heading the machine gun in the Union station massacre in Kansas City last June 17.

Seven agents were stationed about a north side hotel after it was learned Miller was hiding there.

Miller walked into the lobby. The informer dropped a bunch of keys as he had been instructed. Instantly the alert gunman pulled a revolver and fired twice at the informer. He missed.

Called to Oklahoma By Relative's Death

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Statham and Mrs. M. A. Northup left early yesterday morning for Oklahoma City, where they were called on account of the death of Fred Northup.

ROCK RINGS LIKE BELL. EAST GREENWICH, R. I., Nov. 2—A local oddity is Drum Rock, a big boulder which may easily be rocked by hand, but which cannot be overturned.

PLANT HAD 5 HEADS. DAYTON, O., Nov. 2—A Jersey Wakefield cabbage plant at the Adelbert Smith farm bore five perfect heads, each weighing about a pound. It grew in a field of 1,000 normal plants.

Explains Loans

That the Chase National bank paid $55,000 to a friend of former President Machado for his services in connection with the bank's loans to Cuba was being inquired at which Shepard Morgan, one of the bank's vice presidents, was a principal witness.

GEN. JOHNSON IS INVITED TO LEAD PARADE

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2—An invitation was sent Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson today inviting him to lead an Armistice Day parade here, after it was learned definitely he would be here for an address the night of November 11.

Johnson's address will be before the convention of the Tenth District Advertising Federation which will close its two-day session here that day.

The initiation was sent by W. P. McLean, Jr., parade chairman who plans one of the largest patriotic demonstrations in this city's history.

Alamo Knowledge Endears Farling

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2—Postmaster-general James A. Farley estimated he made about 12 speeches during his Texas tour.

San Antonians and many other Texans will remember him most gratefully for his reference to the Alamo in a luncheon address here. He had asked to see the historic shrine.

Farley proved himself almost as familiar with the fortress and its place in Texas traditions as natives are. Other visiting dignitaries from Washington have not.

San Antonio has not forgotten the remark of the late President Coolidge. As he was being shown through the bullet-pocked cradle of Texas liberty, the president asked, "What do they use this place for?"

In 1901 President McKinley visited San Antonio, pronounced the word Alamo with an accent on the second "a" during a complimentary address.

The city's mayor was a diplomat. When he rose to thank President McKinley for the compliments, he too pronounced the word incorrectly.

Deputy Enforced Law Too Well, Removed

COLDSRING, Nov. 2—Deputy Sheriff M. P. Whitcomb of San Jacinto county enforced the law too well, and that is why he is no longer deputy sheriff.

More than 30 residents of Shepherd near here, presented commissioners' court with a petition asking Whitcomb's removal because he filed too many charges against autoists for trivial infractions of the law.

POST OFFICE TO BE MOVED ON SATURDAY

The Cisco post office will move from its old quarters in the Spencer building on Eighth street to its new, government-owned home at the intersection of E avenue and Sixth street Saturday, November 4.

Patrons having boxes in the old building will have access to their boxes until 6 p. m. Saturday after which all mail will be removed to the new building and placed in corresponding boxes there.

OPEN HOUSE

West of Mrs. Jimmie Hornsby's sister, Mrs. Carl McCarver, and Mr. McCarver.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Coleman were aid visitors Sunday.

C. E. Phippen was in Dothan Sunday afternoon.

Hester Sublett was in Cisco Saturday.

Miss Pearl Donaway of Cottonwood spent the week-end with one-folks here.

Robbie Hazlewood of Reich spent today night with relatives.

M-antime, from 9 a. m. Saturday to 5 p. m. of the same day patrons assigned boxes in the new building may call at a special window there and receive the keys for their new boxes.

Cooperation Asked

The assistance of the public will materially aid in making the change from the old to the new quarters uneventful and convenient.

The move will start at noon. Already some less important equipment has been transferred, but the new structure is still undergoing inspection and correction of details found unsatisfactory to the inspector.

Only about 75 per cent of the furniture and fixtures have arrived, but enough has been received to make it possible to do business in the new quarters without serious difficulty.

The building consists of a basement, where are located not only boiler and janitor quarters, storerooms and repair shop, but the offices of inspectors and other federal agents, and a civil service examination room; and a main floor with splendidly equipped quarters for each department. The building faces south.

Arrangement

Boxes and ordinary service windows front the entrance, in the loggia, with the postmaster's private office to the left and the windows of the special service department, including money orders, registered mail, postal savings and so forth, on the right.

Behind the boxes, equipped with sorting racks, sack racks, desks, and everything essential to proper and swift sorting and distribution of the mails, even to trundles for carting heavy sacks, etc., is the airy and spacious, well lighted work room. A stairway at the right leads upward to comfortable quarters for male employees not on duty.

GRAF REACHES GERMANY

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Ger., Nov. 2—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin landed at 7:15 today after its flight from the United States.

Seized as Shield By Thug; Slain

Seized by a fleeing robber for a shield while he waged a gun duel with police, Miss Edna Kingsley, 26, above, Toledo, O., stenographer, was slain by a bullet from the bandit's pistol as she struggled to escape.

The robber, Donald J. Elliott, 20, was captured and charged with murder.

RETAIL TRADE CODE EXCERPTS ARE QUOTED

Excerpts from the retail trade code of fair practices which was signed by President Roosevelt October 21 under the national industrial recovery act, are quoted below at the instance of the Cisco NRA compliance board as of particular interest to Cisco merchants.

The code provides, said Chairman D. K. Scott of the committee in designating the excerpts, "that on or within one week after the effective date of this code (that is, by not later than Monday, November 6) every retail establishment shall designate under which of the groups set forth it elects to operate, and shall post and maintain in a conspicuous place in the establishment a copy of such election showing its store hours and employe working hours."

Three Groups

"Group A—Any establishment may elect to remain open for business less than fifty-six (56) hours per week, unless its store hours were less than fifty-two (52) hours prior to June 1, 1933, in which case such establishment shall not reduce its store hours; no employe of these establishments shall work more than forty (40) hours per week, nor more than eight (8) hours per day, nor more than six (6) days per week.

"Group B—Any establishment may elect to remain open for business fifty-six (56) hours or more per week, but less than sixty-three (63) hours per week; no employe of such establishment shall work more than forty-four (44) hours per week, nor more than nine (9) hours per day, nor more than six (6) days per week.

"Group C—Any establishment may elect to remain open for business sixty-three (63) hours or more per week; no employe of such establishment shall work more than forty-eight (48) hours per week, nor more than ten (10) hours per day, nor more than six (6) days per week.

All establishments covered by this code must elect their store hours and employe working hour schedules from Groups A, B, or C, except drug stores which may elect either of them or they may choose Group D.

"Group D—In place of any of the schedules of store hours and hours of labor set forth in (Groups A, B and C) "retail drug establishments may elect to remain open for business seven (7) days a week for a

WITNESS SAYS PERMIT MUST HAVE INITIALS

AUSTIN, Nov. 2—Initials of James E. Ferguson were necessary on a state boxing permit, Leon Wilson told a legislative committee here today, saying that statement was made to him by Eugene T. Smith while Wilson was seeking a permit.

Wilson's testimony and J. J. Brown's denial of testimony at a previous session that he had paid Ben Richards to retain his place in the state department of education, were the high points of today's session of the committee.

Wilson said that after seeking a permit for Houston or Austin, he went to Smith, close friend of the Ferguson's and a former state highway commission chairman.

Wilson said Smith was telling him it was costing promoters throughout the state $500 for a license. The maximum fee in the law is $100, Wilson said.

Permit For $200

He said Smith pointed out his close association with the Ferguson's and finally said he would get Wilson an Austin permit for $200 plus the license fee and a percentage of the gross gate receipts.

"I asked him how long it would take to get it," said Wilson, "and he replied 'How long will it take to get the cash?'"

He also quoted Smith as saying he would meet the governor, talk to "Governor Jim" and meet Wilson again.

Wilson said he had gone to Smith after talking with Art Mondt. Mondt sought a Beaumont permit. According to the testimony, Mondt was sent to James E. Ferguson and told he would have to get the approval of W. Howth, Ferguson's campaign manager in Beaumont.

According to Wilson, Mondt was told to "go make your peace with Howth." He said he did not know if this was in the presence of Mrs. Ferguson.

Wilson testified that Mondt got a permit and told him that he "made peace with Howth, paid off, and paid the tariff."

Body of Aged Negro Found on Railroad

The body of a 70-year-old negro, found on the Texas and Pacific railway tracks here Monday night, was returned in the care of a son to the home of the victim, at McKinney, Texas, today.

The body, the legs severed from the torso, was found on the tracks at a point opposite the west corner of the Oakwood cemetery about 9 o'clock Monday night. Justice Wilsho returned a verdict of accidental death at an inquest. It was believed the negro, identified as Bill Dowell, had slept and fallen from a freight car on which he was returning to his home from a visit with a sister in El Paso, Texas. The legs lay between the rails and the body outside.

Identification card found in a pocket book gave the negro's name, his age and directions for getting in touch with relatives which officers followed. A son arrived today to claim the body at the Green funeral home.

Board of Stewards To Meet Friday Night

Members of the board of stewards of the First Methodist church will meet Friday evening at 7 o'clock, instead of this evening, it was announced this morning.

The board will meet at the church when final reports upon the progress of the year-end campaign now under way. Attendance of all members is expected.

JOB SELLING.

A house committee seems to be turning over pay dirt in its investigation of the sale of state jobs to gullible people by persons who were without evident authority to promise state jobs to anybody.

An illustration of its rottenness is the present revelation of job selling. The opportunity to do what is charged has been done is quite clear.

Assuming that the Ferguson administration is entirely innocent of the practices that have been charged as existing, it is no doubt irksome to that administration to have found its campaign for election the opportunity for such a trade.

THE NEW P. O. BUILDING.

Cisco's new federal building has been completed. Under construction for months the splendid new structure that will house the post office and such other federal agencies as may either temporarily or permanently be located in Cisco.

In order that the public may have opportunity to see behind the scenes and inspect the construction and arrangement of the building before it is entered by the post office, an open house will be held at the building from 7 to 9 Friday evening.

In construction, arrangement and appointment it will be found a remarkable structure. The minute care which the federal government devotes to its buildings is seen in every detail of a structure that more than does credit to Cisco.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

This is a mighty fine rain, but you know a human being, blessed of Providence and so generously equipped with a will and volition of his own, is never satisfied with anything.

The Cisco Banking company has had its front doors painted. There is a job of life in the institution yet. There are whippersnappers unconfirmed that it may be re-opened.

I am sure, however, that a happy solution will shortly be worked out and the quarter of a million dollars that has been tied up in the institution during these hard times will be released to do some wonderful working in the community.

Thanks to Jewel Poe at the First National Bank, I have my magazine. It's rather surprising to me that I should have business in a financial institution important enough to absorb my attention to the point of forgetting a magazine there.

total of eighty-four (84) hours or more per week, but on no day for less than eight (8) hours; no employee of such establishment, except as provided in Article V, Sections 4 and 5, shall work more than fifty-six (56) hours per week.

Retailers should immediately make their elections of schedules, drug stores choosing either Group A, B, C, or D, and all others choosing only either A, B, or C, because if they do not have their schedule posted by November 6 they will be violating the code.

Schedules. Serious thought should be given the election of schedules, because the code provides — "Article V, Section 3—(a) No establishment may choose from the Group (schedule) in which it has elected to operate except upon December 31 of every year.

"(b) Any establishment, however, may at any time increase its store hours, provided it maintains the basic employee work week of the Group in which it originally elected to operate.

"(c) Any establishment may, for a period not to exceed three (3) months during the summer, temporarily reduce its store hours, but the weekly wages of its employees shall not on that account be reduced."

The code also provides that: "No employee shall work for two or more establishments a greater number of hours, in the aggregate, than he would be permitted to work for that one of such establishments which operates upon the lowest schedule of working hours."

The posting and maintaining of the schedule of store hours and employee working hours in a conspicuous place in the establishment is obligatory. It is suggested that much confusion and numerous complaints of violations would be prevented if all retailers would also post and maintain the wages schedules of the code, which are as follows in Texas:

Wages. "Article VI. Wages—Section 1.—On and after the effective date of this code, the minimum weekly rate of wages which shall be paid for a work week as specified in Article V—whether such wages are calculated upon an hourly, weekly, monthly, commission, or any other basis—shall, except as hereinafter provided, be as follows: (Sections B, C, and E, inapplicable to Cisco excluded):

"(d) Within cities, towns, villages of from 2,500 to 25,000 population, the wages of all classes of employees shall be increased from the rates existing on June 1, 1933, by not less than twenty (20) per cent, provided that this shall not require an increase in wages to more than the rate of $10.00 per week and provided further that no employee shall be paid less than at the rate of $9.00 per week.

Forgotten Sweetheart

MARY RAYMOND

BEGAN HERE TODAY. JOAN'S VOICE, the million-dollar, met in Memphis and will be here. She is a beautiful girl, and she is a singer.

BOB opened the telephone directory and ran his eye through the list of names. There it was—"Barney H. Blake." No, it was "Mrs. Barney H. Blake." Queer!

It was a rather grim-looking young man who piloted the gray roadster through traffic to the Park Avenue address. Bob was driving as rapidly as possible, at the same time remembering that untimely arguments with traffic officers would only retard his progress.

He was elated, almost gay when he halted before the apartment building. A few moments more and he would be on his way to Joan!

In the lobby a sleepy clerk gave him the number. Bob decided he would not risk ringing and perhaps hearing a polite refusal. He caught the elevator to the fifth floor.

Joan heard the knock on the door. She had changed to a simple short-sleeved house frock. The costume she had worn on the stage— and during that hasty drive home—lay where she had dropped it on the floor where she had kicked them. A forlorn Cinderella had returned from the ball.

Realizing sleep was impossible, Joan had decided to unpack a miscellaneous assortment of boxes that cluttered the room. After a while she gave up the task, letting her thoughts drift as they would. She sat at the window and looked out. She had been in Bob's home, a beautiful home mellowed by years, over which the gracious presence of his ancestors seemed to brood.

Wrapped in her thoughts, Joan scarcely heeded the knocking at the living room door until it became insistent. It was Barney probably. He had been worried by her nervousness, disturbed because she could give no explanation of her strange manner.

Joan rose and opened the door. For a moment there was silence. Joan saw a light leap into Bob's eyes and then die suddenly. He stared blankly at her.

"Yes," said Bob. His voice was hoarse. "I wish to God I hadn't!" He was still standing, staring at her with dark concentration. Joan thought he looked drunk. Yet she was sure he had not been drinking. He looked ill. Something was certainly wrong.

"What's the matter, Bob?" she asked gently. He did not answer. Her away from her wrists, held her away from him while he studied her face. Suddenly he laughed and pulled her into his arms.

Between fierce kisses on her lips Joan was whispering, "It's been so long. I couldn't bear it. Bob! Do you really love me?" Without answering he flung her from him violently. "Now go back to him!" he said hoarsely.

He was gone then, running down the stairs. Joan stood where he had left her, amazed, bewildered. "What had Bob meant? He had discovered that she was the masked singer. Perhaps he had heard that Barney was in love with her. Maybe their marriage plans had leaked out.

Their marriage plans! Still shaken by the memory of Bob's kisses, only one thought remained clear to her. She could know Barney now that she knew Bob loved her. Bob had been swept by some terrible emotion. Jealousy or rage. Nevertheless he loved her.

That thought was singing through her agitation, a wined shaft of light through the dark unhappiness that had enveloped her for so long. She must tell Barney in the morning. No, she must tell him tonight. She had been planning to cheat Barney and herself. Now, whatever came—even if she never saw Bob again—she could not marry Barney.

She called the number and after a long moment heard his voice: "Yes, Joan, what is it? Are you ill?" "Barney, something's happened. Can you come?"

She heard the click of the telephone which meant she knew that Barney would be on his way. Dear, dependable Barney! He was like the rock of Gibraltar, a bulwark of strength. Like a hand always waiting to help her.

In the mirror above the console table she saw a shining-eyed creature. A flame had leaped up in her heart, transforming the passive sober-eyed girl of an hour before into a creature of glowing radiance.

Barney was at the door then. It seemed such a short time since her call that he must have dropped out of the sky. Barney, disheveled and bare-headed. "My God, Joan, what is it? Has anything happened to Pat?"

"Pat," Joan repeated, weakly. "Why no, Barney—" And then, as Barney sank weakly in a chair hiding his face with his hands, light flooded Joan's mind. "Oh, Barney, dear! Why didn't you tell me?"

broken off suddenly at the memory of Pat sobbing in the night. Pat was a face as she went dazedly, bravely through trying days.

"Joan, what's happened?" Barney asked. "You mean you really don't mind about us?" Joan told him then about Bob.

Barney groaned. "I get wester every day!" he said. "Wester came to me for your address—right and I wouldn't give it to him. You see Joan, I thought he was just a rich wanderer looking for another thrill."

That explained it all. Bob for some reason must have interpreted Barney's refusal to mean that he was in love with her.

"I'll call him tomorrow and explain," Barney promised. "No, he'll come back. He was just excited," Joan said. Loving each other as they did, what could possibly keep them apart? Now that she and Bob both knew what was in each other's heart.

"Are you sure?" "Sure," Joan said and meaning it. She had never been so happy. "You and Pat—" She went back to the subject engrossing him. "I can't see why you didn't tell me. Didn't you know you were cheating?" And then Joan had the grace to blush.

Barney said, "We were a pair of saps," guess. THE door opened and Pat, enveloped in a bright glowing robe, stood regarding them.

"What," she began, "could you all be talking about at this hour?" "About heaven," said Barney, tenderly opening his arms. Pat, without question and reading assurance in his happy eyes flew to him, and was gathered into his arms.

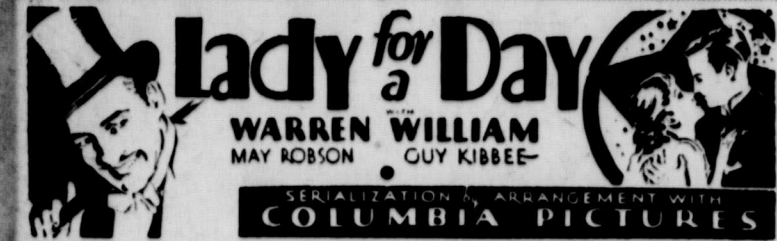

"And angels," whispered Barney, his lips against Pat's bright hair. Joan said, "tears in her eyes. "Bless you my children!" She went on. "Barney, now that you've changed brides just before your wedding don't you think Pat should be getting her beauty sleep? In the five seconds while I turn my back you may tell her you love her."

"As if I didn't know," came Pat's happy voice, muffled against Barney's coat. Joan went to her room and sat down by the window again. The lights which had seemed so cold and hard a short while ago now glowed warmly, twinkling gayly at her. The radiance in her heart was spreading, enveloping the world!

"Mrs. Robert Weston." She whispered the words to herself. It had been meant to be from the beginning. All the pain and hopelessness, on a romantic impulse Joan went to her desk and wrote her name, then caught the little white square of paper against her heart. Pat, coming into the room quietly, switched on the light. "Joan, I thought you would be in bed."

"I couldn't sleep," Joan said softly. "Oh, too happy." "And me!" said Pat, her face illumined. "Oh, Joan, I can't believe I'm the one getting married tomorrow!" Joan was glad it was Pat who was to be married tomorrow—to Barney. She was sure the same time tomorrow would bring Bob back to her.

Scouts Treated
Troop 115 of Rising Star was guests of honor of the American Legion post annual banquet which was held last Thursday night.

Scoutmaster Warren Tallafiero who heads troop 15 of Lampasas and has had many years of experience in the past, was a visitor to the scout office last week and reported that both troops were holding regular meetings. The other troop being 33 of which Eric Matthews is scoutmaster. Scoutmaster Tallafiero asked that a scout rally be held for the southern district soon and we hope to have an announcement on this sometime soon.

Oh Boy, Ice Cream!
This was the exclamation heard coming from the throats of members of troop 2 in Brownwood, which is sponsored by the volunteer fire department. The scouts were guests of the fire department to an ice cream supper which was given for the troop at Seybourn Jones' cafe.

Do you realize WHAT A WORLD of GRIEF Advertising SAVES YOU?

WE KNOW a seed house that proves each season's crop of seeds in their own trial gardens before they offer them to the public. Flowers and veg. seeds are tested to definite standards, or else the entire crop is thrown away.

We know a manufacturer of dry batteries who tested before he sold a single battery to a single dealer. We know a manufacturer of an anti-freeze solution who spent two years testing his product under all conditions before advertising about the merits of his goods.

We know a manufacturer of household pharmaceutical products whose self-imposed standard of purity and efficacy is even higher than that laid down by the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

If we mentioned their names you would recognize them immediately. You probably would say, "Why! I plant those seeds," "I use that battery," "I use that anti-freeze," "My medicine cabinet contains those products."

The four instances cited are typical of every reliable manufacturer in America. Millions of dollars are spent annually to develop, to improve, to standardize, and to take the guesswork out of merchandise. Other millions are spent in advertising to tell you about them.

All of which is to say that in putting your trust in advertised merchandise you save yourself the bother, the expense, the disappointment—yes, the danger—of experimenting and discovering for yourself which make of soap, breakfast food, radio tubes, lingerie, gasoline, tea, electrical device, stationery—or what-not—gives you the most service for your money.

The news columns of this paper keep you informed of the latest international, national and local happenings. The advertisements inform you of the newest, most advantageous, most reliable merchandise that America's most progressive makers are producing.

CISCO PASTOR ACCEPTS SAN ANTONIO CALL

Any erroneous reflection upon the part of any person, firm or corporation within this paper will be gladly corrected upon the part of the editor.

Any error made in advertisements brought to attention of the publisher.

Funeral services Sunday drew overflowing crowds to the East Side church. Many friends of the pastor, not members of his congregation, attended the services at both of which he spoke. Special music was played.

Congregations mingled with regrets as the pastor was bid farewell by his congregation and friends. The Rev. Mr. Smart was active not only in his religious duties, but in local charitable activities, particularly through the Cisco Charity and Welfare association of the board of which he was a member.

DR. STEPHENSON LEAVES CISCO FOR SAN ANGELO

Dr. G. M. Stephenson, since 1918—except for intervals spent at special work in the east—a practicing physician in Cisco, Tuesday left for San Angelo, Texas, where he has opened offices in the San Angelo National bank building. Equipment was moved that morning from the suite that Dr. Stephenson had occupied for 12 years on the second floor of the West Texas Utilities company.

Mrs. Stephenson and their two children, Louise and Jack, will not join Dr. Stephenson in his new location until after the current school semester here. Both children are in Cisco high school.

In locating at San Angelo, Dr. Stephenson returns to the scenes of his boyhood. The old home ranch on which he was reared is situated a short distance from that city. He also joins a number of former Ciscoans who are now San Angelo citizens. These include A. E. O'Flaherty, former publisher of the Cisco Daily News and now of the San Angelo News; L. B. Campbell, former manager of the Laguna hotel, and now of the Naylor hotel, where Dr. Stephenson will make a temporary home; and others, not to speak of acquaintances from communities near Cisco, such as Dodd Price, formerly of Moran, who have moved to the Tom Green county capital.

The Stephenson family will retain their ranch holdings here, including a home on acreage five miles north, the site of a "dude ranch" operated during the past two years by Dr. Stephenson, and other property three miles farther north which was Mrs. Stephenson's share of the Hittson estate. Born and reared in Cisco, Mrs. Stephenson was Miss Lillian Hittson before her marriage to Dr. Stephenson. The family residence, at 1907 West Twelfth street, will be retained in Cisco.

The dude ranch will not be continued, Dr. Stephenson said, but properties to be devoted to cattle raising and placed under the management of Douglas Schaefer.

The San Angelo offices of Dr. Stephenson will be in suite 503 of the San Angelo National bank building.

Gives Self Up in Unsolved Murder

Isador Martin, 23-year-old golf instructor, is shown in Philadelphia after surrendering and allegedly confessing to police that it was he who killed Beulah Limerick, 19-year-old night club secretary, in Washington three years ago. When Martin confessed the crime to police the day after the body was found they freed him for lack of evidence, charging that his confession was a "publicity stunt."

A. S. RUTLEDGE TO BE BURIED TUESDAY AT 2

Funeral services for Alfred S. Rutledge, 54, who died at DeLeon Sunday morning at 1:15 after a sudden attack of illness, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 from the First Methodist church here with burial in Oakwood cemetery.

The Cisco Masonic lodge conducted the rites at the grave. The Rev. O. O. Odum, pastor of the Cisco church officiated, and Green Funeral home was in charge of burial arrangements.

Mr. Rutledge who was foreman of the M. K. and T. shops at DeLeon at the time of his death, had made his home at Cisco for the greater part of the more than 25 years that he was employed by the Katy railroad as trainmaster and in various other capacities. The family home is located about mile south of Cisco, but the family is living on West Seventh street here during the school season.

George C. Beck, 42, formerly a resident of the lower Rio Grande valley, two Mexicans and Cam Hill, are charged in connection with the slaying of Claude Kelly.

Information obtained in Mexico three weeks ago led to the arrest. Charges were filed here again Cam Hill, of El Paso, former Hidalgo county clerk; Julian Ybarra, Mexican resident of Mercedes, Texas; a Weslaco street sweeper; and George Beck, Dallas peddler.

They are accused in connection with the slaying of Claude Kelly, 31, who was fatally beaten in 1929 while he slept in the home of his father-in-law County Judge Couch.

Couch at the time was a candidate for county judge on the good government party ticket. The party leaders intercepted the attack upon Kelly as an attempt at the life of Couch.

Allegedly by mistake, Keiley was slain, while he was occupying Couch's room.

DALLAS, Nov. 2.—The first rule of the federal government's transient bureau being established all over the country, according to Miss Mary Bullard, supervisor of the Dallas office, is that the government does not intend to aid farmers who leave the soil and go trekking to the cities.

"We will not give even one meal to farmers who leave their land and come to the city," Miss Bullard said. "The place is on the farm where they have been making their home, and they should not leave there."

The rigid policy in this respect, Miss Bullard said, is to prevent if possible any augmentation of the horde of transients roaming over the country.

Texas Employment Scores New Increase

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Employment in Texas scored another substantial increase during the week ended October 14, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. Reports from 949 establishments gave a total of 881,576 workers against 76,293 in September, a gain of 68 per cent, and an increase of 17.5 per cent over the 69,438 employed in October, 1932.

Practically all the cities from which reports are received showed a gain over October, 1932. Cities in which employment increased 20 per cent or more over last October were Amarillo, Austin, Fort Worth, Houston and Port Arthur.

TELLS HOUSE COMMITTEE HE BOUGHT JOB

AUSTIN, Nov. 2.—Joe E. Sims, 23-year-old Whitney grocery clerk, came to the governor's office and reported that he had bought a job. He told the house of representatives committee investigating reported state job trafficking when the committee reconvened here Wednesday.

Sims said he bought the job from R. H. Burek, of Whitney. He exhibited a receipt for $100 as a year's subscription to the Ferguson Forum. Burek, Sims testified, told him he had to give him a receipt that way to "cover up."

The receipt bore the number 41. Sims said Burek told him that represented the number of the job he was going to get. It was a state inspector job, the young man said he was told.

He borrowed the $100 from the bank and paid by check, Sims told the committee. That was November 1, 1932. Not getting a job after the change of state administration, he said, Burek first told him that the legislature was holding it up, and that as soon as the senate confirmed Frank Denison as chairman of the highway commission, the job would be had.

Went to See Governor.

Finally, Sims said, he came to Austin and in the governor's outer office two days without being able to gain entrance. Then, he testified, he told John Wood, then secretary to the governor, that he had bought a job. He said Wood went into the office and later returned declaring Burek unknown.

Sims returned to Whitney and told Burek. Burek pretended to be "mad," Sims continued, and told him to give the check back to him and that he would take it to Austin and get a Ferguson Forum stamp on the back of it. He delivered the check to Burek. Failing to get it or the money back, Sims became impatient. Burek came by and got Sims in an automobile on a promise to go to Burek's house and get the check, Sims testified, and when he was in the car, Burek threatened to kill him.

"When he went in the house to get a gun I got out of the car and ran off," Sims said.

COUCH SLAYING STORY TO JURY NEXT TUESDAY

EDINBURG, Oct. 31.—A week from today county authorities here expect to put the jury on the stand in the story of the slaying of Claude Kelly, son-in-law of County Judge E. C. Couch, which has been unsolved since 1929.

George C. Beck, 42, formerly a resident of the lower Rio Grande valley, two Mexicans and Cam Hill, are charged in connection with the slaying of Claude Kelly.

Information obtained in Mexico three weeks ago led to the arrest. Charges were filed here again Cam Hill, of El Paso, former Hidalgo county clerk; Julian Ybarra, Mexican resident of Mercedes, Texas; a Weslaco street sweeper; and George Beck, Dallas peddler.

MEXICAN TIP LED TO ARREST OF FOUR MEN

EDINBURG, Texas, Nov. 2.—A tip from Mexico led to the arrest of four men held here on charges of murder in connection with a four-year-old murder attributed to Hidalgo county's bitter political war.

Information obtained in Mexico three weeks ago led to the arrest. Charges were filed here again Cam Hill, of El Paso, former Hidalgo county clerk; Julian Ybarra, Mexican resident of Mercedes, Texas; a Weslaco street sweeper; and George Beck, Dallas peddler.

Texas Employment Scores New Increase

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Employment in Texas scored another substantial increase during the week ended October 14, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. Reports from 949 establishments gave a total of 881,576 workers against 76,293 in September, a gain of 68 per cent, and an increase of 17.5 per cent over the 69,438 employed in October, 1932.

Practically all the cities from which reports are received showed a gain over October, 1932. Cities in which employment increased 20 per cent or more over last October were Amarillo, Austin, Fort Worth, Houston and Port Arthur.

FOUR CHARGED WITH ROBBERY OF WEST BANK

WACO, Nov. 2.—Four Men, including Q. R. Miller, identified by officers as sheriff of Foard county four years ago, were charged here in connection with the robbery of the National bank of West.

The bank was robbed Friday night of approximately $1,600. Sheriff Mobley said that the case was apparently completely solved. The bank cashier and four examiners were in the bank at the time of the holdup.

Sheriff Mobley filed charges in justice court here Sunday against Miller and the other three, Tom Herndon, R. E. Flood, and J. C. Elk, all of Dallas. A fifth man held in Dallas is being questioned in connection with the robbery.

Agents of the department of justice may not accept rewards. Colcord added, however, that his decision was not necessarily final, and that the reward would be paid to others who aided in the chase if federal authorities recommended it.

SIGN-POSTS

IMAGINE yourself on an unfamiliar highway at night in the country. You want to go to Allison. You come to a forked road. No signs! Which way? You turn left and come to a crossroad. No signs. You turn right. You come to a town. It proves to be Liberty. You go back to the fork and turn left. A mile or so farther on you come to another crossroad. A sign pointing right says "Allison three miles."

But for that sign-post you might have traveled miles—spent hours, and come short of your destination.

Imagine yourself in need of hosiery, clothing, breakfast foods or anything else, and this newspaper without advertisements! Think of the number of stores you would have to visit, qualities and prices to check, reliabilities to consider.

Advertisements are sign-posts. They are information. They save you from wandering aimlessly from store to store. They keep you advised of the newest products; of the latest values. They save you time, and put greater buying power in your dollars. They assure you of quality and service in merchandise, for only honest goods honestly advertised can stand the spotlight of publicity.

Compromises

Ernest T. Weir, above, steel company chairman, after challenging authority of the National labor board, agreed to a compromise in the strike at his Weirton, W. Va., steel plant, whereby both employers and employees would abide by results of an election of delegates to treat with the corporation heads, ending the strike.

SEES KENTUCKY DERBY RIVAL IN ARLINGTON

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Nov. 2—It is but a matter of time, believes Judge Joseph A. Murphy, director of the racing meet here, until Arlington Downs will have an event comparable to the Kentucky Derby.

Murphy is extremely optimistic over the future of Arlington Downs. He is one of the best versed men in America on horse racing operations. In Arlington Downs, Texas has a plant which is considered to be one of the finest in the country, and I do not hesitate to predict that big-stake races of nation-wide importance will soon be staged here," Murphy said.

"I can speak familiarly of conditions in Texas, because I have officiated at various meets here in the past and have naturally watched recent developments with much interest. I am elated over the future prospects of horse racing in Texas."

Murphy is one of the most famous turf officials in the United States. Through his efforts horse racing has been brought back to Louisiana, Illinois and California, and he had a prominent part in returning the sport to Texas.

The distinctive-looking, middle-aged director began his career as a sports writer in St. Louis. He was a star sprinter on the St. Louis university track team while in college. Later he worked in Chicago. Then he became racing secretary and associate judge at the old Harlem track.

Murphy said the Texas pari-mutuel system of betting is a commendable feature of the sport. It eliminates all possibility of collusion between bookmaker and rider. Practically all the money placed on a race goes back to the winning wagers.

Under the Texas system, eight per cent of the bets go to the track, two per cent to the state as a tax, and the remainder to the bettors.

Midgets to Rising Star This Afternoon

Coach Frank Langston's Midgets of the Grammar school, were due to engage the Rising Star grammar eleven at Rising Star this afternoon. The Cisco team, starting off the season with scant encouragement has been steadily improving and with some further readjustments this afternoon, is expected to show even greater strength than against a strong Eastland team junior high team recently.

COLDER, FAIR WEATHER IS IN PROSPECT

A slow rain this morning threw further complications across the "dope" for the Cisco Loboes and Eastland Maverick grid battle here tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. However, probability that there would be rain during the game was dispelled by the weather report which declared for fair weather, accompanied by increasing cold, due to abate somewhat toward Saturday.

Of what importance as a favoring or injurious factor moisture may be a subject for earnest discussion among local fans as they viewed with some uncertainty the prospects for the outcome of the struggle.

Suffice it to say that never in the history of Cisco and Eastland high school football relations has a clash between the two schools been looked forward to with so much seriousness here. Eastland has invariably taken such a game earnestly, but Cisco, lulled by an unbroken chain of victories, excluding one tie, has always approached it as just another hurdle on the road to a title. This year, however, everything depends upon a victory over the Mavericks. They come in the very midst of a resurgence of Lobo spirit that promises to take the Cisco team over the hump and on the way to a prospective district title. If, fired by a determination to win their first decision over the Cisco team, the Mavericks accomplish the unprecedented and take the home edge into camp, the Cisco boom will be deflated into a memory mighty quick.

Crucial Game.

Therefore, say those who ought to know, tomorrow's game is the crucial game of all for the Loboes. It will mean, predict the hopeful, either a district title or no district title, this the first year of Cisco's return to the grace and standing in the league after a season spent outside the fold.

The way the Mavericks view the outlook is, in a strong sense, complimentary to Cisco. "Beat the Loboes and we will have a successful season," is a prominent declaration among the slothfuls they have forged for the occasion. With that the football team is being indoctrinated, while over the city everybody with any interest in the rivalry between the two Eastland county cities is keyed to a high pitch.

The Cisco team has been drilling earnestly during the week, but there is a noticeable lack of that spirit which motivated the players during the week preceding the Breckenridge game and reached a climactic height in the last three quarters of that game. Inability to lift the fighting mood of the team to a level consistent with that is cited by pessimistic observers for their belief that the game tomorrow afternoon will mean a defeat, the first that the Loboes will have ever sustained at the hands of the Mavericks.

The same lineup that played the Breckenridge contest, with an exception of two, will probably start tomorrow afternoon's game.

Prices of admission will not exceed 50 cents per seat, no reservations being made.

Gold Lure Revived in Old West

New life stirs in ghost towns of the old west and pick and pan play a tinkling tune along hundreds of watercourses and on hill-sides of Pacific coast and Rocky mountain states. Thousands are hunting gold, since higher prices came by Roosevelt edict. Above is shown a typical sluicing operation. The gravel comes down the flume, which is "riffled" to hold the sparkling particles.

RAINFALL HERE THIS MORNING .9 OF AN INCH

Stockmen, farmers and people in general over this territory smiled today at the first rain of any consequence in months.

A slow, soaking fall that began about 4 a. m. and continued until 11 a. m. had put almost an inch of moisture in the dry soil by the time it ceased. A wind out of the north accompanied the rain bringing the coldest weather of the season in the wake.

The register at the city hall showed slightly in excess of nine-tenths of an inch. At noon, after the rain had ceased falling, the thermometer read 46 degrees.

Fall grain and winter pasture will be materially helped. Low stock water is also partially replenished.

RAIN GENERAL OVER PANHANDLE

AMARILLO, Nov. 2 — Rain was general over the northwestern panhandle today with occasional snow and sleet flurries reported.

FIRST SNOW FALL IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 2 — The first snow of the year for Oklahoma fell at Fairview today as temperatures dropped to lower levels over the state and citizens shivered under the initial blasts of winter.

4,511 Bales Ginned In Eastland County

The government census report of cotton ginning in Eastland county this week reveals that to October 18, 1933, a total of 4,511 bales had been ginned, compared with 1,118 as of the same date last year. The report was made by L. H. Gaskins, of the U. S. department of commerce.

HYER'S DEFENSE IN DISBARMENT ACTION SCORES

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2 — The defense scored heavily today in defending Julian Hyer, prominent Ft. Worth attorney and former state senator, in a disbarment suit filed by the Fort Worth Bar association.

Hyer is charged with soliciting two damage cases and with misappropriation of $755 in county funds.

John A. Vincent, a grocer, testified he had requested Hyer to call on Harry Obelvin, chief witness for the bar association, in connection with the filing of a personal injury suit.

Hyer's contention that he did not solicit the cases also was strengthened by testimony of Leslie Spotts, Fort Worth attorney. Spotts testified that he had asked Hyer to call on a negro woman whose husband was killed on a grade crossing on the Dallas-Fort Worth interurban.

Called to Oklahoma By Relative's Death

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Statham and Mrs. M. A. Northup left early yesterday morning for Oklahoma City, where they were called on account of the death of Fred Northup. Mr. Northup was the eldest son of Mrs. Statham. His death terminated an illness of two or three years. Mr. Northup had made his home in Oklahoma City for many years.

Nazi Activities In Saarbrucken Curbed

SAARBRUCKEN, Germany, Nov. 2 — Nazi activities threatening grave trouble between France and Germany brought a series of stern repressive decrees today from the League of Nations commission governing this internationalized territory.

German demands for immediate return of the territory to the German flag have so inflamed the population that French authorities feared an outbreak—and the rest of Europe has feared that if there were an outbreak France would send troops into the territory.

The decrees were aimed directly at curtailing Nazi activities and preventing an armed outbreak. Nazi speakers have exhorted the population to revolt and even children give the Nazi salute.

ROCK RINGS LIKE BELL

EAST GREENWICH, R. I., Nov. 2 — A local oddity is Drum Rock, a big boulder which may easily be rocked by hand but which cannot be overturned. When this moved it produces a deep, bell-like tone. Indians, according to tradition, used Drum Rock to call councils and spread alarms.

PLANT HAD 5 HEADS

DAYTON, O., Nov. 2 — A Jersey Wakefield cabbage plant at the Adelbert Smith farm bore five perfect heads, each weighing about a pound. It grew in a field of 1,000 normal plants.

Explains Loans

That the Chase National bank paid $55,000 to a friend of former President Machado for his services in connection with the bank's loans to Cuba was brought out by the senate banking inquiry at which Shepard Morgan, one of the bank's vice presidents, was a principal witness. Morgan here is shown on the stand as he challenged any impression that the bank had acted as "Lady Bountiful in any private way."

GEN. JOHNSON IS INVITED TO LEAD PARADE

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2 — An invitation was sent Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson today inviting him to lead an Armistice Day parade here, after it was learned definitely he would be here for an address the night of November 11.

Johnson's address will be before the convention of the Tenth District Advertising Federation which will close its two-day session here today.

The initiation was sent by W. P. McLean, Jr., parade chairman, who plans one of the largest patriotic demonstrations in this city's history. Racing officials at Arlington Downs have designated November 11 as Veterans' Day and sent invitations to 482 American Legion posts in Texas.

Alamo Knowledge Endears Farling

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 — Postmaster-general James A. Farley estimated he made about 12 speeches during his Texas tour.

San Antonio has many other Texans will remember him most gratefully for his reference to the Alamo in a luncheon address here. He had asked to see the historic shrine.

Farley proved himself almost as familiar with the fortress and its place in Texas traditions as natives are. Other visiting dignitaries from Washington have not.

San Antonio has not forgotten the remark of the late President Coolidge. As he was being shown through the bullet-pocked cradle of Texas liberty, the president asked, "What do you use this place for?"

In 1901 President McKinley visited San Antonio, pronounced the word Alamo with an accent on the second "a" during a complimentary address.

The city's mayor was a diplomat. When he rose to thank President McKinley for the compliments, he too pronounced the word incorrectly. To save the dignity of the distinguished visitor, the Alamo became the Al-a-mo throughout the remainder of that luncheon.

Deputy Enforced Law Too Well, Removed

COLDFRINGS, Nov. 2 — Deputy Sheriff M. P. Whitcomb of San Jacinto county enforced the law too well, and that is why he is no longer deputy sheriff.

More than 30 residents of Shepherd near here, presented commissioners' court with a petition asking Whitcomb's removal because, he filed too many charges against autoists for trivial infractions of the law.

The court complied with the petition.

POST OFFICE TO BE MOVED ON SATURDAY

The Cisco post office will move from its old quarters in the Spencer building on Eighth street to its new, government-owned home at the intersection of E avenue and Sixth street Saturday, November 4. Postmaster Craddock announced today. Patrons having boxes in the old building will have access to their boxes until 6 p. m. Saturday after which all mail will be removed to the new building and placed in corresponding boxes there.

OPEN HOUSE

Citizens who wish to inspect the new U. S. post office building here before the transfer of the postal business to the structure Saturday, will have opportunity to do so tomorrow night from 7 to 9 when "open house" will be held at the building. Postmaster Craddock announced today.

Everybody is invited, said the postmaster, and all employees of the office will be on hand to assist in showing visitors through the building and explaining its various features.

Meantime, from 9 a. m. Saturday to 5 p. m. of the same day patrons assigned boxes in the new building may call at a special window there and receive the keys for their new boxes. This is an important announcement, and the postmaster is anxious that all patrons having boxes appear at the window between those hours and secure their keys so that mail may be delivered to them Sunday morning.

The boxes in the new building will not have combination locks as do the old, but access will be by means of keys.

Cooperation Asked

The assistance of the public will materially aid in making the change from the old to the new quarters uneventful and convenient.

The move will start at noon. Already some less important equipment has been transferred, but the new structure is still undergoing inspection and correction of details found unsatisfactory to the inspector. Only about 75 per cent of the furniture and fixtures have arrived, but enough has been received to make it possible to do business in the new quarters without serious difficulty.

The new structure will be found of great convenience to the public. Its appointments within and without have been carefully designed and constructed and everything has been arranged for efficient and quick handling of the postal service in Cisco.

The building consists of a basement, where are located not only boiler and janitor quarters, storerooms and repair shop, but the offices of inspectors and other federal agents, and a civil service examination room; and a main floor with splendidly equipped quarters for each department. The building faces south.

Arrangement

Boxes and ordinary service windows front the entrance, in the loggia, with the postmaster's private office to the left and the windows of the special service department, including money orders, registered mail, postal savings and so forth, on the right.

Behind the boxes, equipped with sorting racks, sack racks, desks, and everything essential to proper and swift sorting and distribution of the mails, even to trunks for carting heavy sacks, etc., is the airy and spacious, well lighted work room. A stairway at the right leads upward to comfortable quarters for male employees not on duty. An elaborately equipped wash-room adjoins this mezzanine enclosure. Below is a vestibule with passages of heavy double doors.

At the left of the main work room is the women's rest room.

Outside the building a covered platform from the vestibule will accommodate the trucks bringing mail or departing with it. A driveway of concrete proceeds to the rear, where cars may be parked and access gained to the rear basement through heavy doors at the bottom of a concrete stair.

RETAIL TRADE CODE EXCERPTS ARE QUOTED

Excerpts from the retail trade code of fair practices, which was signed by President Roosevelt October 21 under the national industrial recovery act, are quoted below at the instance of the Cisco NRA compliance board as of particular interest to Cisco merchants. The code was effective Monday, October 30.

The code provides, said Chairman D. K. Scott, of the committee in designating the excerpts, "that on within one week after the effective date of this code (that is, by not later than Monday, November 6) every retail establishment shall designate under which of the groups set forth it elects to operate and shall post and maintain in a conspicuous place in the establishment a copy of such election showing its store hours and employ working hours."

The three groups of hours from which each establishment may choose are as follows:

Three Groups.

"Group A — Any establishment may elect to remain open for business less than fifty-six (56) hours per week, but not less than fifty-two (52) hours per week, unless its store hours were less than fifty-two (52) hours prior to June 1, 1933, in which case such establishment shall not reduce its store hours; no employee of these establishments shall work more than forty (40) hours per week, nor more than eight (8) hours per day, nor more than six (6) days per week.

"Group B — Any establishment may elect to remain open for business fifty-six (56) hours or more per week but less than sixty-three (63) hours per week; no employee of such establishment shall work more than forty-four (44) hours per week, nor more than ten (10) hours per day, nor more than six (6) days per week.

"Group C — Any establishment may elect to remain open for business sixty-three (63) hours or more per week; no employee of such establishment shall work more than forty-eight (48) hours per week, nor more than ten (10) hours per day, nor more than six (6) days per week.

All establishments covered by this code must elect their store hour and employ working hour schedules from Groups A, B, or C, except dry stores, which may elect either of them or they may choose Group D.

"Group D — In place of any of the schedules of store hours and hours of labor set forth in (Groups A, B, and C) retail dry establishments may elect to remain open for business seven (7) days a week for a

WITNESS SAYS PERMIT MUST HAVE INITIALS

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 — Initials of James E. Ferguson were necessary on a state boxing permit, Leon Wilson told a legislative committee here today, saying that statement was made to him by Eugene T. Smith while Wilson was seeking a permit.

Wilson's testimony and J. J. Brown's denial of testimony at a previous session that he had paid Ben Richards to retain his place in the state department of education, were the high points of today's session of the committee.

Wilson said that after seeking a permit for Houston or Austin, he went to Smith, close friend of the Ferguson's and a former state highway commission chairman. Wilson quoted Smith as telling him it was costing promoters throughout the state $500 for a license. The maximum fee in the law is $100, Wilson said.

Permit For $200

He said Smith pointed out his close association with the Ferguson's and finally said he would get Wilson an Austin permit for $200 plus the license fee and a percentage of the gross gate receipts.

"I asked him how long it would take to get it," said Wilson, "and he replied 'How long will it take to get the cash?'" He also quoted Smith as saying he would meet the governor, talk to "Governor Jim" and meet Wilson again.

Wilson said he had gone to Smith after talking with Art Mondt. Mondt sought a Beaumont permit. According to the testimony, Mondt was sent to James E. Ferguson and told he would have to get the approval of C. W. Howth, Ferguson's campaign manager in Beaumont.

According to Wilson, Mondt was told to "go make your peace with Howth." He said he did not know if this was in the presence of Mrs. Ferguson.

Wilson testified that Mondt got a permit and told him that he "made peace with Howth, paid off, and paid the tariff."

Body of Aged Negro Found on Railroad

The body of a 70-year-old negro, found on the Texas and Pacific railway tracks here Monday night, was to be returned in the care of a son to the home of the victim, at McKinney, Texas, today.

The body, the legs severed from the torso, was found on the tracks at a point opposite the west corner of the Oakwood cemetery about 9 o'clock Monday night. Justice Wilson returned a verdict of accidental death at an inquest. It was believed the negro, identified as Bill Dowell, had slept and fallen from a freight on which he was returning to his home from a visit with a sister in El Paso, Texas. The legs lay between the rails and the body outside.

Identification card found in a pocket book gave the negro's name, his age and directions for getting in touch with relatives which officers followed. A son arrived today to claim the body at the Green funeral home.

Board of Stewards To Meet Friday Night

Members of the board of stewards of the First Methodist church will meet Friday evening at 7 o'clock, instead of this evening, it was announced this morning.

The board will meet at the church with final reports upon the progress of the year-end campaign now under way. Attendance of all members is expected.

CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Nov. 2 — Two men, one of them E. M. Moore, son-in-law of the late Rear Admiral William Moffatt, who perished in the Akron disaster, were killed today when the ten-passenger amphibian that flies between Catalina Island and the mainland crashed in Avalon Bay. George Banker, co-pilot was the other victim. The pilot was injured slightly.

JOB SELLING.

A house committee seems to be turning over pay dirt in its investigation of the sale of state jobs to glibly people by persons who were without evident authority to promise state jobs to anybody.

An illustration of its rottenness is the present revelation of job selling. The opportunity to do what is charged has been done in quite clear. The solicitor has simple persuasion with which to approach a prospective contributor and he has that with which to cover up the contribution and thus conceal his own stealth.

Assuming that the Ferguson administration is entirely innocent of the practices that have been charged as existing, it is no doubt irksome to that administration to have found its campaign for election the opportunity for such a trade.

WHERE RECOVERY BEGINS.

The Eastland county cotton crop, maturing early this year, has about all been harvested. The government ginning report for the county places the number of bales ginned to October 18 at 4,511.

The price of cotton this fall has made a great advance over the price that the fleecy staple brought last year, although the present price is not what it should be, to believe the indices of wise men and statisticians. It does represent a small profit above cost of production, thanks to the determination of the government to pull the farmer out of the ditch if it takes all the resources of Uncle Sam to do it.

The farmer who cannot sell his staple for 20 cents a pound can borrow that much from the coffers of the bewhiskered old gentleman of the stars and stripes and that means his cotton is worth ten cents. The country has a long way to go before it is firmly placed upon a normal basis that will guarantee the returns that the government program provides for, but for the farmer, at least, it appears there has been an about-face of fortune.

THE NEW P. O. BUILDING.

Cisco's new federal building has been completed. Under construction for months the splendid new structure that will house the post office and such other federal agencies as may either temporarily or permanently be located in Cisco, has been accepted for the government and will be formally occupied Saturday.

In order that the public may have opportunity to see behind the scenes and inspect the construction and arrangement of the building before it is entered by the post office, an open house will be held at the building from 7 to 9 Friday evening.

In construction, arrangement and appointment it will be found a remarkable structure. The minute care which the federal government devotes to its buildings is seen in every detail of a structure that more than does credit to Cisco. It is a splendid institution and Cisco should be proud of it.

Banker and Editor Decline Places on Bond Board

By HUGH NUAGENT FITZGERALD.

Spokane's Stevenson named Banker Joseph H. Frost of San Antonio a member of the board to direct expenditure of federal relief funds. Banker Frost is a busy man. That is, he notified the speaker that it would be impossible for him to accept the appointment on account of the demands of business.

Col. Gene Howe is a somewhat modest and yet jocular newspaper publisher of Amarillo. He declined a place on the board. Now there are two vacancies to be filled by the speaker. Col. Howe would have made a magnificent publicity agent for the relief distributors.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

This is a mighty fine rain, but you know a human being, blessed of Providence and so generously equipped with a will and volition of his own, is never satisfied with anything.

Well, it was no matter. The address must be right because it was the only "Barney Blake" in the directory.

It was a rather grim-looking young man who piloted the gray roadster through traffic to the Park Avenue address. Bob was driving as rapidly as possible, at the same time remembering that untimely arguments with traffic officers would only retard his progress.

He was elated, almost rapt when he halted before the apartment building. A few moments more and he would be on his way to Joan!

In the lobby a sleepy clerk gave him the number. Bob decided he would not risk ringing and perhaps hearing a polite refusal. He caught the elevator to the fifth floor.

He looked up, smiling a little in his eyes. "Lord, but you gave me a turn! I thought that Pat—" "You and Pat in love—and not telling me!" Joan murmured. She sat down beside him. "Oh, Barney, what you must have been through! And Pat too!" Her words were of both business aspirations and a live conscience, asked my opinion. "What should I do?" he asked. "If at the end of a year, after paying from the return of the business all expenses and myself good wages, I had several hundred dollars in the clear? Should I keep it for myself, put it back into the business, or return it in one form or another to society?"

"Business is business," is a common plea. The very purpose of business is to make money, it is said—to make a living—or to make a fortune—according to the degree of the ambition. Amidst competitors of all kinds anything is counted fair that will achieve that purpose.

At the present time when comparatively few are comfortably situated, when many are existing only by means of an artificially created job system, and when many are not even reached except through a dole, a conscience on the questions of the rights and privileges of men is paramount. A sense of responsibility, such as this young man expressed by his question, for such goods as

Retail Code--

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE total of eighty-four (84) hours or more per week, but on no day for less than eight (8) hours; no employee of such establishment, except as provided in Article V, Sections 4 and 5, shall work more than fifty-six (56) hours per week, nor more than ten (10) hours per day, nor more than thirteen (13) days in any two consecutive weeks.

Retailers should immediately make their elections of schedules, drug stores choosing either Group A, B, C, or D, and all others choosing only either A, B, or C, because if they do not have their schedule posted by November 6 they will be violating the code.

Schedules. Serious thought should be given the election of schedules, because the code provides—Article V, Section 3—(a) No establishment may choose from the Group (schedule) in which it has elected to operate except upon December 31 of every year.

(b) Any establishment, however, may at any time increase its store hours, provided it maintains the basic employee work week of the Group in which it originally elected to operate.

The code also provides that: "No employee shall work for two or more establishments a greater number of hours, in the aggregate, than he would be permitted to work for that one of such establishments which operates upon the lowest schedule of working hours."

The posting and maintaining of the schedule of store hours and employee working hours in a conspicuous place in the establishment is obligatory. It is suggested that much confusion and numerous complaints of violations would be prevented if all retailers would also post and maintain the wages schedule of the code, which are as follows in Texas:

Wages. Article VI, Section 1—On and after the effective date of this code, the minimum weekly rate of wages which shall be paid for a work week as specified in Article V—whether such wages are calculated upon an hourly, weekly, monthly, commission, or any other basis—shall, except as hereinafter provided, be as follows: Sections b, c, and e, inapplicable to Cisco excluded:

(d) Within cities, towns, villages of from 2,500 to 25,000 population, the wages of all classes of employees shall be increased from the rates existing on June 1, 1933, by not less than twenty (20) per cent, provided that this shall not require an increase in wages to more than the rate of $10.00 per week and provided further that no employee shall be paid less than at the rate of $9.00 per week.

The minimum wages paid to professional persons, outside salesmen, outside collectors, watchmen, guards, store detectives, and maintenance and outside service employees shall be upon the basis of the basic employee work week upon which the establishment by which they are employed has elected to operate."

Forgotten Sweetheart

MARY RAYMOND

JOAN BARNEY, pretty blonde girl, and BOB WELLS, son of a millionaire, met in Memphis and fell in love. They were engaged through the scheming of BARBARA COLEMAN, who is trying to win BOB for herself. Joan goes to New York to search for her sister, who has run away after an unhappy love affair. Joan is hired as a masked singer at a night club. Believing BOB is lost to her, she becomes engaged to BARNEY BLAKE, owner of the night club. BOB returns home. He is not long before he realizes he loves Pat instead of Joan. BOB returns to his private real-estate business and discovers she is in Bob's home. BOB returns to her voice. Because of her situation, Joan leaves before her final encore. BOB follows in his car. He goes to the night club and asks Barney for Joan's address. Barney refuses to give it to him. Angered, BOB leaves. He returns to find his car has been stolen and learns BARNEY has gone home.

CHAPTER XXII

BOB opened the telephone directory and ran his eye through the list of Blakes. There it was—"Barney M. Blake." No, it was "Mrs. Barney H. Blake." Quess! From what Barbara had said he had supposed Blake was a bachelor.

Well, it was no matter. The address must be right because it was the only "Barney Blake" in the directory.

It was a rather grim-looking young man who piloted the gray roadster through traffic to the Park Avenue address. Bob was driving as rapidly as possible, at the same time remembering that untimely arguments with traffic officers would only retard his progress.

He was elated, almost rapt when he halted before the apartment building. A few moments more and he would be on his way to Joan!

In the lobby a sleepy clerk gave him the number. Bob decided he would not risk ringing and perhaps hearing a polite refusal. He caught the elevator to the fifth floor.

He looked up, smiling a little in his eyes. "Lord, but you gave me a turn! I thought that Pat—" "You and Pat in love—and not telling me!" Joan murmured. She sat down beside him. "Oh, Barney, what you must have been through! And Pat too!" Her words were steadily. "Yes," said Bob. His voice was hoarse. "I wish to God I hadn't!" He was still standing, staring at her with dark concentration. Joan thought he looked drunk. Yet she was sure he had not been drinking. He looked ill. Something was certainly wrong.

"What's the matter, Bob?" she asked gently. He did not answer. He caught her by the wrists, held her away from him while he studied her face. Suddenly he laughed and pulled her into his arms.

Between fierce kisses on her lips Joan was whispering, "It's been so long. I couldn't bear it, Bob! Do you really love me?" Without answering he flung her from him violently. "Now go back to him!" he said hoarsely.

He was gone then, running down the stairs. Joan stood where he had left her, amazed, bewildered. What had Bob meant? He had discovered that she was the masked singer. Perhaps he had heard that Barney was in love with her. Maybe their marriage plans had leaked out.

Their marriage plans! Still shaken by the memory of Bob's kisses only one thought remained clear to her. She could not marry Barney now that she knew Bob loved her. Bob had been swept by some terrible emotion. Jealousy or rage. Nevertheless he loved her.

That thought was shining through her agitation, a winched shaft of light through the dark unhappiness that had enveloped her for so long. She must tell Barney in the morning. No, she must tell him tonight. She had been planning to cheat Barney and herself. Now, whatever came—even if she never saw Bob again—she could not marry Barney.

She called the number and after a long moment heard his voice: "Yes, Joan, what is it? Are you ill?" "Barney, something's happened. Can you come?"

She heard the click of the telephone which meant she knew that Barney would be on his way. Dear, dependable Barney! He was like the rock of Gibraltar, a bulwark of strength. Like a hand always waiting to help her.

In the mirror above the console table she saw a shining-eyed creature. A flame had leaped up in her heart, transforming the passive sober-eyed girl of an hour before into a creature of glowing radiance.

Barney was at the door then. It seemed such a short time since her call that he must have dropped out of the sky. Barney, disheveled and bare-headed. "My God, Joan, what is it? Has anything happened to Pat?" "Pat," Joan repeated, weakly. "Why no, Barney—" "And then, as Barney sank weakly in a chair hiding his face with his hands, light flooded Joan's mind. "Oh, Barney, dear! Why didn't you tell me?"

He looked up, smiling a little in his eyes. "Lord, but you gave me a turn! I thought that Pat—" "You and Pat in love—and not telling me!" Joan murmured. She sat down beside him. "Oh, Barney, what you must have been through! And Pat too!" Her words were

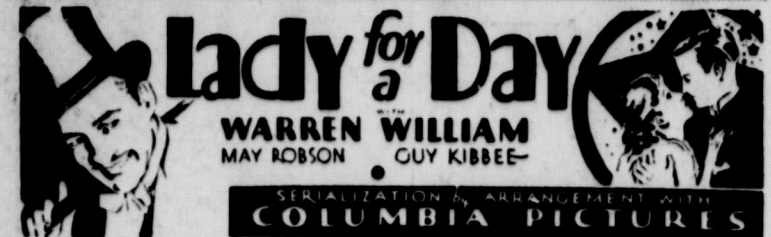

Joan was glad it was Pat who was to be married tomorrow—to Barney. She was sure the same time tomorrow would bring Bob back to her. (To Be Continued)

Our Weekly Story...

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Apple Annie, an old apple vendor on Broadway and a good luck charm for Dave the Dude, a gambler, is educating a daughter in a European court. The daughter, Louise, thinks that her mother is a society woman because of the letters that Jack has written. Louise notices Annie in a letter that she is coming to New York to see the man she loves, Count Casanova. The Dude decides to help Annie out of her predicament and manages to get an apartment for her at the exclusive Hotel Manhattan. Annie, with the help of her friends, manages to get a real dowry, which she gives to Louise. Louise is really a blushing bride, poses as Annie's distinguished husband, Mr. Henry Manville. The Dude becomes David Maxwell, supposedly Blake's brother. After entertaining the Rascals for several days, in which time Happy, Maurice, a henchman of Duke's, has to do away with an unscrupulous reporter, the Judge takes Duke that they are going to have a reception, which is astonishing news to him. It proves to be, however, the Count's idea.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Who's coming, brother Henry?" the Dude repeated.

"Oh, just a few of our friends. It's to be a small affair—about a hundred—a hundred and fifty people, perhaps."

"Hardly a handful," said the Dude, with a tinge of sarcasm in his tone.

"The Count," went on Blake, "is a little tired of just looking at buildings. He wants to meet some of our friends."

"The Count will love our friends," they were interrupted by the butler. "A newspaperman to see you, sir."

Annie paled. "A newspaperman?"

"What does he want, John?" asked Blake.

"He'd like to get a biography of Mrs. E. Worthington Manville."

Annie's eyes widened. "A biography?"

"The Judge threw a meaning look towards Duke. "Perhaps you better see him on your way out. Brother,

"Consult not here. He go way long time. Come back next week."

Me Japanese boy.

(Posed by Warren William)

David You're so clever at handling newspapermen. The Dude quietly "I'll handle him."

He walked out quickly followed by Happy and confronted the reporter who wanted to know "What you want, know?" asked Duke politely.

"Oh, just a general biography," answered the reporter. "Then, suddenly suspicious, 'Aren't you Dave the Dude?' Seems to me I saw your picture."

"Dave the Dude? How ridiculous!" The Dude grinned.

"There's a house full of guests," said Happy charmingly. "Maybe we better go where we won't be disturbed."

"Whatever you say."

"There's a room down the hall that's rarely used."

The later afternoon papers carried this headline: "SOCIETY REPORTER MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS."

"A reception! I guess you stayed awake nights figuring that one out! You found yourself in a swell apartment and you began to believe it. Well, for my dough, you're still a penny ante good shark!" The Dude banged an angry fist in his palm.

The Judge, trying to act unoffended, had a ludicrous air.

"Well—after all, my dear Duke—" "Shut up!"

Luckily the phone rang to interrupt the argument. The Dude answered and the butler's voice came over the wire. "I'm sorry to trouble you, Mr. Duke, but the Count just asked me to call up the Spanish Consul. I thought you might be interested."

"Interested?" shouted the Dude. "I'll tell the cockeyed world 'im—that's he calling him up a minute. What's he want? Hold on a minute." Duke turned to Happy. "Can you beat that? The old boy's calling up the Consul. Probably checking up on you. How's your Spanish, Happy?"

"As good as my French, and you're both snells!"

Duke swung on the Judge. "You! How about you?"

The Judge was about to go into a long speech. "Well, I'll tell you, Duke. When was in Havana and the elevator boys proved to be Spanish. The Dude ran back into the room and grabbed the phone.

"Allo!" His voice was squeaky in imitation of an Oriental. "Consul not home. Me Japanese boy. No, sir, no, sir. Consul not here. He go way long time. Come back next week. Me Japanese boy. Consul not home. Thank you." He hung up quickly.

Luckily, the Count had been stayed off, but the situation was swiftly developing its complexities, for now the hue and cry was rising as to the disappearance of three re-dis church whereby some Scout demonstrations and a number of tableaux were presented.

Keeping Up With The Boy Scouts

Scouts Treated

Trop 115 of Rising Star was guests of honor of the American Legion post annual banquet which was held last Thursday night. The American Legion post in Rising Star has been sponsoring this troop for the past five years. The troop will soon receive its five year veteran charter. Waldo Wilcox is the present scoutmaster and Charles Bucy is assistant scoutmaster.

Lampasas

Scoutmaster Warren Tallafiero who heads trop 15 of Lampasas and has had many years of experience in the past, was a visitor to the scout office last week and reported the both troops were holding regular meetings. The other troop being 33 of which Eric Matthews is scoutmaster. Scoutmaster Tallafiero asked that a scout rally be held for the southern district soon and we hope to have an announcement on this some-time soon.

Spook Hike

Trop 18 of Breckenridge pulled a spook hike at their last troop meeting.

The hike started on the Furr ranch. All scouts were, blindfolded with the exception of the leader and they all caught hands and started out. Various and sundry things were encountered on the hike to lend to the spooky feeling that existed before the scouts started. After the hike, the troop gathered around the campfire for ghost stories which was started off by Scoutmaster J. R. Barnes. All of the scouts had a delightful time and the program ended with refreshments.

Star Scouts—Comanche

The scout office has just received a court of honor report from the Comanche district which states that Scouts Leo Hoffman, J. T. Mohon, Ted Durham, Willie Jack Thomas and Quentin Gauley have successfully passed the examination for Star rank. These are the first Star Scouts for Comanche's new troops. Many merit badges and several Second and First Class badges were awarded.

Dublin's First Eagle

At a recent court of honor, Scout James Hunsley successfully passed the examination for Eagle rank. This is the first application of Eagle rank in Dublin. However, several other scouts are in the nest and will hatch out soon. Scoutmaster J. R. Fraley has been doing some splendid work with the Dublin troop.

Trop 23—Stephenville

Scoutmaster Homer Tudor reports that his troop assisted in a program recently put on at the First Metho-

Scouts With Rotary Club

Under the direction of E. E. Lennon, trop 4 of Cisco put on several demonstrations of scout work at the regular weekly Rotary club meeting last week.

Troops should avail themselves of every opportunity of demonstrating scout work where it is convenient to do so so that men and boys everywhere may become interested in the scouting program and thereby give opportunity to boys who are not now scouts to have the advantage and the privilege of the scouting program.

Do you realize WHAT A WORLD OF GRIEF Advertising SAVES YOU?

WE KNOW a seed house that proves each season's crop of seeds in their own trial gardens before they offer them to the public. Flowers and vegetables grown from these seeds must measure up to definite standards, or else the entire crops from which the samples were taken are burned.

We know a manufacturer of dry batteries who tested a new product two years before he sold a single battery to a single dealer.

We know a manufacturer of an anti-freeze solution for automobile radiators who spent two years testing his product under all conditions before he said a word in advertising about the merits of his goods.

We know a manufacturer of household pharmaceutical products whose self-imposed standard of purity and efficacy is even higher than that laid down by the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

If we mentioned their names you would recognize them immediately. You probably would say, "Why! I plant those seeds." "I use that battery." "I use that anti-freeze." "My medicine cabinet contains those products."

The four instances cited are typical of every reliable manufacturer in America. Millions of dollars are spent annually to develop, to improve, to standardize, and to take the guesswork out of merchandise. Other millions are spent in advertising to tell you about them.

All of which is to say that in putting your trust in advertised merchandise you save yourself the bother, the expense, the disappointment — yes, the danger — of experimenting and discovering for yourself which make of soap, breakfast food, radio tubes, lingerie, gasoline, tea, electrical device, stationery — or what-not — gives you the most service for your money.

The news columns of this paper keep you informed of the latest international, national and local happenings. The advertisements inform you of the newest, most advantageous, most reliable merchandise that America's most progressive makers are producing.

DR. STEPHENSON LEAVES CISCO FOR SAN ANGELO

Dr. G. M. Stephenson, since 1918—except for intervals spent at special work in the east—a practicing physician in Cisco, Tuesday left for San Angelo, Texas, where he has opened offices in the San Angelo National bank building. Equipment was moved that morning from the suite that Dr. Stephenson had occupied for 12 years on the second floor of the West Texas Utilities company.

Mrs. Stephenson and their two children, Louise and Jack, will not join Dr. Stephenson in his new location until after the current school semester here. Both children are in Cisco high school.

In locating at San Angelo, Dr. Stephenson returns to the scenes of his boyhood. The old home ranch on which he was reared is situated a short distance from the city. He also joins a number of former Cisco-coans who are now San Angelo citizens. These include A. O. Flaherty, former publisher of the Cisco Daily News, and now of the San Angelo News; L. B. Campbell, former manager of the Laguna hotel, and now of the Naylor hotel, where Dr. Stephenson will make a temporary home; and others, not to speak of acquaintances from communities near Cisco, such as Dodd Price, formerly of Moran, who has moved to the Tom Green county capital.

The doctor will retain their ranch holdings here, including a home on acreage five miles north, the site of a "dude ranch" operated during the past two years by Dr. Stephenson, and other property three miles farther north, which Mrs. Stephenson shares with the Hittson estate. Born and reared in Cisco, Mrs. Stephenson was Miss Lillian Hittson, before her marriage to Dr. Stephenson. The family residence, at 1907 West Twelfth street, will be rented.

COTTON GRADE

Following is the federal department of agriculture report on the cotton grade and staple for the week ending October 26, 1933. Eastland county is in district No. 9.

With the season well advanced in Texas, it is thought best to compare only the figures from week to week as the date figures are changing very slowly.

There was a slight increase in the per cent of spotted and yellow linted cotton classed this week for the state of Texas as a whole compared with last week. The proportion of cotton under 7-8 inch this week declined materially. Less than 5 per cent of the cotton classed in the state was under-7-8 inch this week compared with 7 per cent last week. There was virtually no change in the proportion of extra white cotton this week. Cotton 15-16 inch to 1-1-16 inches made up 64 per cent of the classing this week. There was quite an increase this week in cotton 1 inch and longer in staple length for the state as a whole. There was virtually no ginning in District 10 this week, and the number of samples from that area was insufficient to make a weekly report. The grades of this district are much better this year than last year. There is very little difference in staple quality this year and last.

There was a material change in the proportion of cotton classed as spotted and yellow linted in District 5, the cross timbers, this week. Thirteen per cent was classed on the extra white standards this week. There was a small decline in the proportion of cotton shorter than 7-8 inch in that district, and there was a noticeable increase in cotton 15-16 inch or longer from that district. Approximately 4 per cent of the cotton from District 5 was un-tenderable on futures contracts.

Gives Self Up in Unsolved Murder

Isador Matin, 23-year-old golf instructor, is shown in Philadelphia after surrendering and allegedly confessing to police that it was he who killed Beulah Lamerick, 19-year-old night club secretary, in Washington three years ago.

When Matin confessed the crime to police the day after the body was found they freed him for lack of evidence, charging that his confession was a "publicity stunt."

A. S. RUTLEDGE TO BE BURIED TUESDAY AT 2

Funeral services for Alfred S. Rutledge, 54, who died at DeLeon Sunday morning at 1:15 after a sudden attack of illness, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 from the First Methodist church here with burial in Oakwood cemetery. The Cisco Masonic lodge conducted the rites at the grave. The Rev. O. O. Odum, pastor of the Cisco church officiated, and Green Funeral home was in charge of burial arrangements.

Mr. Rutledge who was foreman of the M. K. and T. shops at DeLeon at the time of his death, had made his home at Cisco for the greater part of the more than 25 years that he was employed by the Katy railroad as trainmaster and in various other capacities. The family home is located about mile south of Cisco, but the family is living on West seventh street here during the school season.

Four children—Mrs. Rutledge and four children survive. The children are Alfred S. Rutledge, Jr. of Taylor; Billie Rutledge, and Misses Mary Edith and Anna Belle, of Cisco. Billie is a member of the Cisco high school football team, playing regular end. Fred Donald and Melba Louise, children of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rutledge, Jr.

Judge Conner Buried At Eastland Saturday

Mr. Rutledge was born June 13, 1879, at Yorktown, D. Witt county, Texas. He and Mrs. Rutledge were married at Waco, Texas, May 2, 1901.

TELLS HOUSE COMMITTEE HE BOUGHT JOB

AUSTIN, Nov. 2.—Joe E. Sims, 23-year-old Whitney grocery clerk, came to the governor's office and reported that he had bought a job. He told the house of representatives committee investigating reported state job trafficking when the committee reconvened here Wednesday.

Sims said he bought the job from R. H. Burk, of Whitney. He exhibited a receipt for $100 as a year's subscription to the Ferguson Forum. Burk, Sims testified, told him he had to give him a receipt that way to cover up.

The receipt bore the number 41. Sims said Burk told him that represented the number of the job he was going to get. It was a scale inspector job, the young man said he was told.

He borrowed the $100 from the bank and paid by check, Sims told the committee. That was November 1, 1932. Not getting a job after the change of state administration, he said, Burk first told him that the legislature was holding it up and that as soon as the senate confirmed Frank Denison as chairman of the highway commission, the job would be had.

Finally, Sims said, he came to Austin, sat in the governor's outer office two days without being able to gain entrance. Then, he testified, he told John Wood, then secretary to the governor, that he had bought a job. He said Wood went into the office and later returned declaring Burk unknown.

Sims returned to Whitney and told Burk Burk pretended to be "mad," Sims continued, and told him to give the check back to him and that he would take it to Austin and get a Ferguson Forum stamp on the back of it. He delivered the check to Burk. Failing to get it or the money back, Sims became insistent. Burk came by and got Sims in an automobile on a promise to go to Burk's house and get the check, Sims testified, and when he was in the car, Burk threatened to kill him.

"When I got out of the car and ran off," Sims said.

COUCH SLAYING STORY TO JURY NEXT TUESDAY

EDINBURG, Oct. 31.—A week from today county authorities here expect to outline before a grand jury the story of the slaying of Claude Kelly, son-in-law of County Judge E. C. Couch, which has been unsolved since 1929.

George C. Beck, 42, formerly a resident of the lower Rio Grande valley, two Mexicans and Cam Hill, are charged in connection with the slaying. Confessions have been obtained, according to officers, from the Mexicans and Beck assertedly made a statement which outlined the plan to slay Judge Couch.

No Aid for Farmers Who Desert Soil

DALLAS, Nov. 2.—The first rule of the federal government's transient bureau established all over the country, according to Miss Mary Bullard, supervisor of the Dallas office, is that the government does not intend to aid farmers who leave the soil and go trekking to the cities.

"We will not give even one meal to farmers who leave their land and come to the city," Miss Bullard said. "Their place is on the farm where they have been making their home, and they should not leave there."

Texas Employment Scores New Increase

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Employment in Texas scored another substantial increase during the week ended October 14, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. Reports from 949 establishments gave a total of 861,576 workers against 76,393 in September, a gain of 6.8 per cent, and an increase of 17.5 per cent over the 69,438 employed in October, 1932. Practically all the cities from which reports are received showed a gain over October 1932. Cities in which employment increased 20 per cent or more over last October were Amarillo, Austin, Fort Worth, Houston and Port Arthur.

MEXICAN TIP LED TO ARREST OF FOUR MEN

EDINBURG, Texas, Nov. 2.—A tip from Mexico led to the arrest of four men held here on charges of murder in connection with a four-year-old murder attributed to Hidalgo county's bitter political war.

Information obtained in Mexico three weeks ago led to the arrest. Charges were filed here again Cam Hill, of El Paso, former Hidalgo county clerk; Julian Ybarra, Mexican resident of Mercedes, Texas; a Weslaco street sweeper; and George Beck, Dallas peddler.

They are accused in connection with the slaying of Claude Kelly, 31, who was fatally beaten in 1929 while he slept in the home of his father-in-law County Judge Couch. Couch at the time was a candidate for county judge on the good government party ticket. The party leaders intercepted the attack upon Kelly as an attempt at the life of Couch.

FOUR CHARGED WITH ROBBERY OF WEST BANK

WACO, Nov. 2.—Four men, including Q. R. Miller, identified by officers as sheriff of Foard county four years ago, were charged here in connection with the robbery of the National bank of West.

The bank was robbed Friday night of approximately $1,600. Sheriff Mobley said that the case was apparently completely solved. The bank cashier and four examiners were in the bank at the time of the holdup.

NONE MAY GET $15,000 REWARD FOR 2 KELLYS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 2.—No one will be paid the $15,000 reward offered for the capture of George (Machine Gun) and Katherine Kelly unless his conclusion that department of justice agents were solely responsible for tracking down the outlaws is disproved, Charles F. Colcord said Wednesday.

Agents of the department of justice may not accept rewards. Colcord added, however, that his decision was not necessarily final, and that the reward would be paid to others who aided in the chase if federal authorities recommended it.

Olaf Thatoff, champion skater, says of HANES Wonderwear:

"Warmest in the world, and I have lots of freedom"

THERE'S no such person as Olaf Thatoff. But thousands say what we say he said. No matter how wicked the Winter—they wear, and wear by, HANES! Show your legs into the fluff lining... poke your arms through the sleeves... button the heavy, soft ribs across your chest... and let the thermometer dive!

HANES is knit and cut to true sizes, and marked by an honest measure. You can reach to the top of your closet, without it pinching the crotch! Button-holes, cuffs, and seams are sewed to last the life of the warm fabric. Stock-up for Winter with Wonderwear. P. H. Hanes Knitting Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Renew Your Health By Purification

Any physician will tell you that "Perfect Purification of the System is Nature's Foundation of Perfect Health." Why not rid yourself of chronic ailments that are undermining your vitality? Purify your entire system by taking a thorough course of Calabats—once or twice a week for several weeks—and see how Nature rewards you with health. Calabats purify the blood by activating the liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels. In 10 cts. and 35 cts. packages. All dealers. (Adv.)

Sign-Posts

IMAGINE yourself on an unfamiliar highway at night in the country. You want to go to Allison. You come to a forked road. No signs! Which way? You turn left and come to a crossroad. No signs. You turn right. You come to a town. It proves to be Liberty. You go back to the fork and turn left. A mile or so farther on you come to another crossroad. A sign pointing right says "Allison three miles."

But for that sign-post you might have traveled miles—spent hours, and come short of your destination.

Imagine yourself in need of hosiery, clothing, breakfast foods or anything else, and this newspaper without advertisements! Think of the number of stores you would have to visit, qualities and prices to check, reliabilities to consider.

Advertisements are sign-posts. They are information. They save you from wandering aimlessly from store to store. They keep you advised of the newest products; of the latest values. They save you time, and put greater buying power in your dollars. They assure you of quality and service in merchandise, for only honest goods honestly advertised can stand the spotlight of publicity.

TEXANS! Your Response to My Appeal is Amazing

WHEN reports showed that a financial emergency was approaching our railroad, two alternatives were open to me. One was to borrow money—the other was to go directly to the people and ask them frankly to rally to our support and give us enough additional business to see us through the last lap of a period that has sorely tried the patience, courage and resourcefulness of all people everywhere.

So, I decided quickly to lay the facts frankly before you people, and bluntly ask for your support. I had unbounded confidence in your spontaneous response when you knew what our record, frankly, what our claim on you actually is—and in several previous announcements I elaborated on the following points:

Here's How YOU Can Do Your Bit There are four things you can do. First, ship your freight via Katy both within and outside of Katy territory. (On shipments coming to you from the North and East specify Katy routing through St. Louis or Kansas City.)

I'll do my bit for the KATY J. C. KING, Agent, M-K-T Lines Cisco, Texas. [ ] Count on my support in your good fight led by Mr. Cahill. [ ] See me about routing freight via Katy. [ ] I am planning a trip to... [ ] See me and help make arrangements. (Destination) [ ] Get in touch with me for information that may be of value. Name Address City

Compromises

Ernest T. Weir, above, steel company chairman, after challenging authority of the National labor board, agreed to a compromise in the strike at his Weirton, W. Va., steel plant, whereby both employers and employees would abide by results of an election of delegates to treat with the corporation heads, ending the strike.

SEES KENTUCKY DERBY RIVAL IN ARLINGTON

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Nov. 2—It is but a matter of time, believes Judge Joseph A. Murphy, director of the racing meet here, until Arlington Downs will have an event comparable to the Kentucky Derby.

Murphy is extremely optimistic over the future of Arlington Downs. He is one of the best versed men in America on horse racing operations. In Arlington Downs, Texas has a plant which is considered to be one of the finest in the country, and I do not hesitate to predict that big-stake races of nation-wide importance will soon be staged here," Murphy said.

"I can speak familiarly of conditions in Texas, because I have officiated at various meets here in the past and have naturally watched recent developments with much interest. I am elated over the future prospects of horse racing in Texas."
Murphy is one of the most famous turf officials in the United States. Through his efforts horse racing has been brought back to Louisiana, Illinois and California, and he had a prominent part in returning the sport to Texas.

The distinctive-looking, middle-aged director began his career as a sports writer in St. Louis. He was a star sprinter on the St. Louis university track team while in college. Later he worked in Chicago. Then he became racing secretary and associate judge at the old Harlem track.

Murphy said the Texas pari-mutuel system of betting is a commendable feature of the sport. It eliminates all possibility of collusion between bookmaker and rider. Practically all the money placed on a race goes back to the winning wagers.
Under the Texas system, eight per cent of the bets go to the track, two per cent to the state as a tax, and the remainder to the bettors.

Midgets to Rising Star This Afternoon

Coach Frank Langston's Midgets of the Grammar school, were due to engage the Rising Star grammar eleven at Rising Star this afternoon. The Cisco team, starting off the season with scant encouragement has been steadily improving and, with some further adjustments this afternoon, is expected show even greater strength than against a strong Eastland team junior high team recently.
