STATE CIVIL WORKS PROGRAM STARTED

Breaks Decide Close Contest as Ranger Defeats Cisco 7-6

INJURIES AND INTERCEPTION HELP CANINES

By FRANK LANGSTON

Cisco's Big Dam Lobes came very near to doing here Saturday what few people in the oil belt had credited them with the ability to do.

As it was, a kick for the point after the touchdown spelled out a 7 to 6 defeat at the hands of the Ranger Bulldogs in the annual Armistice day football clash of the two teams on Chesley field.

Briefly put, it was the breaks that decided the winner of an evenly fought football game between what are without doubt the two outstanding teams of the district.

The Ranger counter came in the second quarter after the Lobes had advanced the ball to their opponents' 35 yard line. Ranger was penalized 15 yards when a substitute talked before the first play, to give Cisco a first down on the Ranger 20 yard line.

St. John received a bad lateral, but recovered it, and passed to Harrison. Briley, Bulldog halfback, rushed in and snatched the heave from the air above Harrison and set sail for the goal line 80 yards away.

Beasley overtook him but was unable to bring the flying Bulldog to earth.

Unable to Circle Britt The Lobes, after spending most of the game in trying to run through or over Britt, stellar Ranger wingman, settled down in the fourth quarter to the task of scoring a touchdown.

After Britt had played havoc with the Cisco series, Harrison got off a kick to Gray, who fumbled on his own 35 yard line. Timmons, who had replaced Graves at tackle, recovered for Cisco. Barker fumbled but recovered and gained four yards. Then, after taking a backward pass, St. John heaved to McMahon for a first down on the Ranger 24 yard line.

In three attempts, Barker carried the ball to the 12 yard marker. Then in two plays he shot through for another first down on the one yard line. From there Shackelford drove over for a touchdown. McMahon's low kick was blocked.

Lobo Line Better The Lobo line roundly outplayed the Bulldog forwards throughout the game, the work of Graves and Captain Blackburn standing out in particular. The Cisco guards, Blackburn and Merrett, piled up the strong Ranger interference, while tackles smashed through to throw the Ranger backs for heavy losses.

Brown, at right tackle, showed up well on offense. Page and Rutledge played good defensive games.

The work of Sentell Cuffrey was the feature of the Cisco defense. Returning to the lineup for the first time since he was injured in the McKinney game, the big back was shifted to center, where he proved to be the best line backer yet seen in the district. At the other line backer's post was Bill McMahon, who turned in a wonderful game both offensively and defensively.

St. John blocked and tackled well and threw the pass to McMahon that helped pave the way for the Lobo touchdown. Harrison ran the team well, helped McMahon roundly outkick Cole and bore the brunt of Cisco's running attack in Barker's absence admirably.

Britt Big Gun Britt was the big gun of the Ranger artillery. An all district end last season, he was a defense in himself and formed, with his end-grounds, a great part of the attack. He was all over the field, smashing, tackling, and blocking kicks and passes. Anderson proved to be the backfield ace for the visitors, with his smashes at the line. It was his toe that added the winning point to the Ranger score. His running mates in the backfield were Briley, strong blocker and hard running back who steamed down the field for Ranger's touchdown; and Gray, speedy halfback who accounted for much of the off-tackle yardage.

Five thousand people saw the Armistice day classic.

Play by Play The game started with the Lobes receiving, Harrison running from the Cisco one to the Cisco 30. Anderson intercepted Harrison's at-tempted pass after a lateral, giving the visitors the ball on their 40.

Cuffrey smacked Gray down for four yards loss, a Ranger pass was incomplete and Cole kicked over

Lone Star Rate Case Given to State Court

HOUSTON, Nov. 11.—The controversy between the Lone Star Gas company and the Texas Railroad commission over a commission-ordered reduction in gas rates, was turned over to a state court today.

LONE STAR CO. HOLDS SAFETY MEETING HERE

Between 175 and 200 officials and employees of the Lone Star Gas company, the Lone Star Gasoline company, and the Community Natural Gas company were here Friday evening for the semi-annual West Texas division safety meeting at the Laguna hotel.

H. L. Dyer, Cisco Community company manager, was host to the meeting and presided. Principal talk was made by a Mr. Miller, of Dallas, representing the Hartford Accident and Indemnity company. The visitors were welcomed by F. D. Wright, Cisco attorney, who asserted that much of the agitation between utility companies and the public was probably due to a lack of mutual understanding.

The Lone Star band played a concert of martial airs on the street in front of the hotel preceding the meeting, and then opened the session with numbers on the roof garden.

WALLACE SEES CORN PLAN AS STRIKE SOLVENT

DES MOINES, Nov. 11.—Sec'y of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace entered his home city and the seat of the farm strike today, declared that the only way to relieve the farmers' troubles is to "get some money into his hands."

The secretary said he believes injection of the government's $350,000,000 corn and hog reduction fund into the corn belt will do more than any other plan to bring peace to middlewest agriculture.

Budget Interfered With His Dream

DALLAS, Nov. 11.—When Dallas county fee officers work on their budget, everything else is excluded. After thousands of sheets of white paper had been used and many pencils had been worn to a nubbin, one went home to a well-earned sleep.

URGENT JAZZ BOYCOTT BUDAPEST, Nov. 11.—Gypsy musicians want the Hungarian government to boycott jazz. The Tzigas' association argues that tourists come primarily to hear them, and ask that saxophone players and variety "hoofers" be barred from cafes and restaurants.

FARMER FACES CHARGES FOR RANSOM HOAX

DALLAS, Nov. 11.—The federal government took another step today in its prosecution of participants in the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, millionaire Oklahoma City oil man.

Mail fraud charges were filed with U. S. Comm'r Lee Smith against J. A. Morgan, farmer-neighbor of R. G. (Boss) Shannon, on whose ranch Urschel was held for nine days.

AUSTIN, Nov. 11.—No Armistice was declared in the war with unemployment here today.

The state highway commission, moved an official holiday to take bids on road work estimated to cost $1,820,000 and employ thousands of workers.

An underpass and other improvements in Presidio county is listed for Highway number 3 Highway No. 5 bids taken on concrete paving in Bowie and Fannin counties.

Grading and drainage bids were received for Highway 13 in Oldham county, and for Highway 16 in Coleman county. It connects Houston with the Conroe oil field with Freerport.

The North Llano river will be bridged in Sutton county for Highway 27. Highway 33 will get a bridge over Terra Blanca creek and grading and drainage in Deaf Smith county. The Trinity river crossing of Highway 34 had bids taken. The bids included Ellis and Kaufman county approaches.

Concrete paving will be placed on Highway 35 in Brazoria county from Alvin to the Harris county line.

RESTRICTION OF WORLD RUBBER CROP PLANNED

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Restriction of world rubber production is seen as a strong possibility in 1934.

British and Dutch producers realized that the slight improvement in their industry can be sustained and a new setback averted only if they succeed in enforcing a watertight scheme to halt further indiscriminate tapping of rubber.

High importance is attached to these plans, not only by rubber growers and traders, but by the governments concerned, which know that a sound rubber market would contribute to general business recovery.

As a result, the British-Dutch-Belgian committee is redrafting the restriction project, conditionally rejected last July. The United Press understands that this scheme provided a 1934 export quota, equivalent to 70 per cent of 1929 production. The plan also is stated to foresee a levy on exports, the revenue of which would finance the purchase and destruction of accumulated rubber stores.

The committee probably will re-submit the restriction proposals to the governments with minor modifications. If approved, however, the scheme will hardly be put into operation until late in 1934, as time will be required to adopt plantations to reduced production.

Landlord Faces Charges of Murder

ATHENS, Nov. 11.—Charges of murder were filed here today against George Patton, held in the Dallas county jail, in connection with the disappearance a year ago of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McGehee and their two children. Until the time of their disappearance, the McGehees lived on Patton's farm near here. Extensive search for the people had been maintained since they mysteriously vanished. An order for permission to drain a large lake on the farm where the family had lived has been asked by Sheriff Sweeten of Henderson county.

KIDNAPERS OF YOUTH EVADE POLICE HUNT

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 11.—Kidnapers of Brooke Hart, 22, San Jose business executive, evaded an intensive police hunt today after repeating demands for payment of $40,000 ransom.

Alex Hart, hotel and restaurant store owner, received a letter through a telephone call, from the men believed to hold his son a captive.

The letter was delivered by an unidentified girl who said a well-dressed stranger thrust the communication into her hand and walked away rapidly.

"This is to verify our telephone call last night," the letter reportedly read. "We have Brooke and are treating him right. No harm will come to him if you pay over the money as we will direct you and if you stay away from the cops."

Missing Child Is Found at Neighbor's

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—An all-night search for two-year-old Peter Baldwin, whom police believed kidnaped, ended this morning when the child was found with neighbors directly across the street from his own home. The discovery was made when police, beginning a second search of the district, learned the neighbor had kept the child over night.

Heckling Won't Stop Long, He Declares

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 11.—Senator Huey P. Long let it be known today that heckling and barrages of missiles would not cause cancellation of his speaking tour of the state.

Long, speaking from a stand erected in front of the city hall last night, was the target for eggs, stench bombs, and oranges. None hit the mark and the kingfish continued talking. The hurlers were not identified.

Gold Mining Boomed By Higher Prices

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 11.—The initial boost of newly mined gold has created a new era for mining circles of Colorado.

Cripple Creek, long famous for its gold output, and the Alma districts have been rejuvenated and men are piercing the soil for the little flakes of gold.

Gold stocks leaped to new highs at the news of the price and new policy.

The day of the boom is preparing to become a part of this age once again, enhanced by the government's backing. Prospectors of the past gold boom are laboriously searching for the precious metal with much more vigor and a greater outlook for distribution.

Some of the dumps, the throwoff of the good ore, are being worked by placer crews and some are averaging as high as $23 a ton on the new basis, whereas it did not pay to work them before.

The invasion of eastern capital has provided another new aspect to mining in this region. A lone claim requires a substantial amount of money for production and the chance of searching the earth in vain for ore must be appreciated. The lack of funds has hindered the development of the mineral resources of this state, to such an extent, that practically all tunnels in the mines must be timbered.

WOMAN BAGGED BEAR

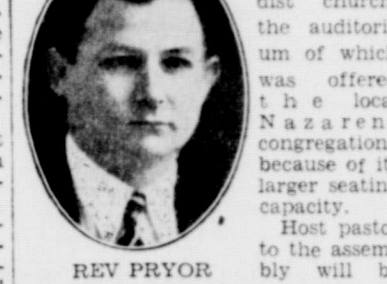

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 11.—Few women hunters can boast of bagging a bear. But Mrs. Catherine C. Foss, of this city, boasts that distinction. She shot the bear, a fine specimen, recently while hunting at Hall's camp.

CAMPUS INDIAN CAMP

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Tufts college campus was perhaps years ago the camping place for a tribe of Indians because ditch diggers, while working on the grounds, dug up the head of a tomahawk.

NAZARENE DISTRICT ASSEMBLY TO CONVENE HERE NOVEMBER 27

Between 500 and 600 ministers and lay delegates of the Nazarene church will gather in Cisco for a week's district assembly beginning November 27.

REV. PRYOR

Sessions of the assembly will be held at the First Methodist church, the auditorium of which was offered to the local Nazarene congregation because of its larger seating capacity.

Host pastor to the assembly will be the Rev. Luther Pryor, whose efforts are responsible for bringing this large governing body of the denomination in Texas to Cisco for its annual meeting.

Delegates and ministers will be cared for in Cisco homes, which have been listed by committees of women from the local Nazarene church. Meals, however, will be provided by the Nazarene congregation and served in the basement of the Methodist church, so that citizens providing beds will not be called upon to provide meals also.

The meeting here will draw many prominent leaders of both the clergy and laity of the denomination to Cisco.

Ford Winner in First Major Test With NRA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Henry Ford emerged victorious in his first major test with the national recovery administration today when Comptroller McCarl ruled the Detroit manufacturer must be allowing government contracts for automobile purchases, although he has not signed the industry's code.

McCarl, in letters to the secretaries of commerce and agriculture ruled Ford must be allowed to bid and have his bids accepted in the absence of any showing that he has violated the provisions of the code at his manufacturing plants.

Without such showing, McCarl added, it must be assumed Ford has complied with the provisions of the code which "have the force and effect of law."

"It is important," he said, "not only to make it possible for the Red Cross to help others help themselves in times of economic stress, but to insure the future of the agency's normal activities—which, after all, will mean a lasting contribution to the thousands of communities it serves."

"Our community, state, and nation have made encouraging steps toward recovery in the last half year, but in our eagerness to banish all thought of suffering caused by business dislocation, we must not be unmindful of those who still find it impossible to assume their full responsibility."

"The Red Cross carries on 'Danger lurks at the turning point in any national crisis,'" the chairman continued. "Through its regular services the Red Cross makes health popular among millions, trains workers in first aid, teaches proper care of the sick, urges preventive measures, assists war veterans and their families, and answers promptly whenever and wherever disaster strikes."

"In peace time, as in war; in lean years, as in more prosperous eras, the Red Cross carries on.

"In the fiscal year ending last June 30th, he said, "benefits from the national organization were felt in practically every county in the United States. In a single task, by distribution of cotton, flour, and cotton products, the Red Cross helped more than twenty-five million of persons."

"The Red Cross' performance," the chairman pointed out, "is necessarily gauged by the degree to which its work is supported by the public. When this year's membership campaign opens, every adult of this and thousands of other communities will be extended an opportunity to join. The minimum annual membership is $1.00 contributing $5; sustaining, $10, and supporting, $25. Regardless of which amount subscribed, only 50 cents goes to the national organization, the remainder being retained for local chapter services."

THOUSAND NEW JOBS SOUGHT BY WESTBROOK

AUSTIN, Nov. 11.—Civil Works Administrator Lawrence Westbrook today called for "at least 1,000" new work relief projects throughout Texas by next Tuesday, November 14.

Instructions to all county administrators, completed last midnight, were sent out today as Westbrook opened the throttle on Texas' $20,000,000 civil works machine.

"Call an immediate meeting of your board and get each one to help you accomplish your part," Westbrook advised county administrators.

"Get your machinery set so that if we wire approval of your projects, you can start the men to work on Thursday, November 16.

"Every hour you delay is keeping men off of payrolls.

"Go to work." The first and immediate duty of county administrators is to secure enough work relief projects to absorb all able-bodied men on Texas relief rolls, Westbrook said.

Speeding through the mails today with these instructions were other letters outlining methods of enrolling Texas' new work army and providing for paymasters and time-keepers.

CALL FOR JOBS IS ISSUED County Relief Committeeman F. E. Harrell announced late Saturday that he had received a copy of the instructions sent out by State Committeeman Lawrence Westbrook, and at the same time issued an invitation to all unemployed of the Cisco area who wish jobs to meet at relief headquarters in the Judge building Monday morning at 9 o'clock where they will be required to submit to physical examinations.

The invitation was issued to unemployed men whether or not they are on the relief rolls of the county.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The Soviet-American recognition negotiations were continued today in a talk between Foreign Commissar Litvinoff and Acting Sec'y of State Phillips.

Phillips declined to shed any light on the progress of the conversations thus far. He said he was not informed as to when Litvinoff would see President Roosevelt again. It appeared likely the negotiations may not be concluded before Monday.

DOUBT HALF BILLION TAXES FROM LIQUOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The government may find it difficult to raise $500,000,000 annually from liquor taxes after repeal, in the opinion of some members of the house ways and means committee, which is charged with drafting the tax legislation.

The committee has for several weeks been studying the present tax structure with a view to revamping it to the new income expected to be derived from liquor. Now it awaits recommendation from the treasury department.

These recommendations are not expected until they have been studied and approved by President Roosevelt and the department head working on the problem.

LIQUOR SOLD OPENLY AT GALVESTON

GALVESTON, Nov. 11.—Hard liquor was sold openly in many beer parlors, restaurants and other establishments here today, although the 18th amendment has not yet been officially repealed and Texas has one of the most severe prohibition laws of any American state.

Prices for whiskey ranged from 10 cents a glass in the water front places to as high as 50 cents in the better class restaurants. The price of a quart bottle of Bourbon, rye or Scotch was about $4.

Iron Repression to Be Martin Policy

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 11.—Court martial of 34 air corps rebels today inaugurated a policy of iron repression of revolt by the San Martin government.

Theaters were closed by official order. Snipers and soldiers roamed the streets searching for any another.

Business was semi-paralyzed. The comparative quiet of the morning was broken at intervals by the staccato chatter of machine guns and occasional rifle shots, indicating isolated duels between soldiers and snipers.

AN INSURANCE.

Annually in the fall there is an appeal made for the support of the Red Cross. Support of the organization is through memberships, minimum cost of which is one dollar, and the campaign takes the form of a roll call. The roll call is carried on under local direction with a chairman, sub-chairmen and workers patriotically giving of their time to organize and prosecute the appeal. In its very inception, then, the Red Cross is a cooperative, self-giving enterprise existing as one of humanity's answers to the selfish cry of Cain. The Red Cross is an incorporation of a national tithe of services and wealth devoted to the healing of the wounds of disaster. There is no way of achieving its aim except through giving, for the distress which it meets is destructive and cannot, of itself, provide the necessary means. Productive forces must bear the cost, meaning that each of us with goods and services must tithe in some way to overcome ravages of distress and disaster. Unless willingly done, repair of this damage will in some disguised way sap the rest of us of the means to accomplish it, just as the healing of a wound draws materials from healthy portions of the body. Ignore them as we may, the verities of human interdependence exist, and nature has a means of protecting the race against its greed and selfishness regardless of its mind.

The Red Cross, therefore, is an intelligent organization of forces to assist repair over the devious and more wasteful process of a deliberate nature. Hence, it is an economy, an institution that pays dividends in an economic sense as well as a humanitarian sense. How pitifully true it is that one must provide, sometimes, a selfish form of argument to induce an unselfish act. But, it is necessary to resort to that extremity often enough to offset a self-laudatory sentiment in giving with the truth that the giving is merely, after all, the payment of a well-defined debt. The Pharisee is much too evident in our contributions to social and religious causes.

From another practical viewpoint, there is to be seen in the maintenance of the Red Cross, as in the maintenance of local independent bureaus for welfare and charity work, an insurance against a decay of the national moral fibre. A serious question to be asked in this critical moment of attempted economic rescue by governmental intervention, concerns the extent to which we shall emerge with our dependence fastened upon paternalism. We must have a care to our economic independence if we are to be certain of our political independence. And by having a care for our economic independence means cherishing those agencies that are maintained out of economic resources and not political resources.

COL. JOHNSON EVER FOR A FREE PRESS.

Col. Hugh S. Johnson is a West Pointer. He was a gallant soldier during the World war and was responsible for the draft act and its enforcement. He is a rugged individual who never straddles a political fence or an issue of national importance. Appearing before the 4,000 members of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Illinois Manufacturers association, he defended the NRA and invited fair criticism. He told an audience of leading business men and industrialists and financiers that he did not believe in any restrictions whatever on the press. He gave the official opinion that there was no authority in the NRA to license a newspaper, and declared that the licensing sections of the statute must be read with the free press clauses of the constitution. He said most emphatically that together they clearly preclude the idea of any intent of congress to create any right in the NRA to license the press. Moreover, this rugged individualist and veteran of the World war said and said it aggressively, "that no press ever was given more absolute freedom than in and about the NRA and that the entire administration had been more cordial to newspaper comment and suggestions."

Addressing himself to the critics of the administration Col. Johnson let it be known "I am as devoted as any of these critics to the constitutional principals of the free press. Nothing will ever be done in or by the NRA to impair it." In conclusion the head of the NRA placed this in the record: "Certain sections of the press are inciting these jitters by headlines. My only request is that the gentlemen of the Fourth Estate give us a chance and not lend themselves to primitive witch dancing."

FARMERS PAY DEBTS.

Texas tillers of the soil are said to be paying their debts. Charles W. Sherrill of Dallas reports that farmers have repaid in cash 60 per cent of all crop production loans made by the southwest regional crop loan office. He submitted the figures. Total collections on 1933 loans amounted to $3,094,661. There are farmers who never dishonor their obligations or avoid debt payments when they have the cash.

The Wellington, Texas, farmer, who, to the amazement of his banker, burst into a pean of religious praise after having paid a three-year note, ought to be a mighty good risk for any bank.

MINERS BACK ON JOBS

The last 15,000 of the 75,000 Pennsylvania coal miners who battled for three months for union recognition are back in the pits. It is significant that, accompanied by women carrying flashlights and American flags, the United Mine Workers' column moved two abreast to the diggings. Their leaders said about 5,000 unemployed will be furnished jobs if the contemplated steel rail orders are placed. Winter is here. Consumers in many states need soft as well as hard coal. Wise are the miners of Pennsylvania who saw their way clear to return to the pits and regular weekly wages.

35 TONS OF LITERATURE

SEAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11 — Thirty-five tons of literature, costing San Francisco's taxpayers $10,000 in postage alone went to registered voters for the Nov. 7 election. Registrar Collins announced recently. Each voter was required to read 76,800 words about the various candidates and propositions, Collins stated.

HIGH PRICES FOR FARES

MOSCOW, Nov. 11 — The only item in the Muscovite's budget which held out against the rising tide of high prices has at last succumbed. Trolley-car fares, which for five years had remained 10 kopeks, regardless of the length of the haul, now have been put on a zone basis, which for most workers will mean from 100 to 200 per cent increase.

HARVEST MOON

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Nov. 11 — When the job investigating committee turned to boxing and wrestling, some of the house gladiators on it found themselves in a familiar arena.

Chinn. Harry N. Graves, for instance, had participated in one of the bouts of the regular session. He and R. E. Weaver Moore of Houston tangled up on the question of liquor control.

Among his questions, he wanted to know whose were the closest banking friends of each member, the member's church and lodge affiliations, what were his chief amusements, whether he drank intoxicants, and the like.

This was sent out, its date showed, a few days before the September special session.

The official's name was typewritten on the sheet. The man himself was away from his home city, but his superior officer, when shown a copy of the questionnaire, laughed it off and did not repudiate it as having come from the one whose name it bore.

000 for work up through next March.

But in one day, the federal government apparently this week put from $20,000,000 to $22,000,000 into its hands for spending as part of the president's civil works program of shifting relief rolls people to pay-rolls.

This assignment of public works money to be spent on projects selected by federal-state relief administrators, for employment of relief rolls people, seems, any way one takes it, quite a tribute to the fact that the relief organization is functioning and in position to get quick results.

The most amusing thing in North Texas newspapers, not excepting the comics, was the photographic reproduction of a naive questionnaire, sent out by a public utilities official to all his branch managers, asking for confidential information about all senators and representatives. He promised the matter would be kept confidential and given no publicity.

JAILER JAILED
CUSHING, Okla., Nov. 11 — The tables turned on Howard Baldwin, former Payne county jailer. Baldwin is serving a 60-day sentence in the jail he recently managed. He was convicted of killing a deer out of season.

The Texas relief commission has spent about $11,000,000 or $12,000,000 federal money in its work so far. It has been granted by a session of the legislature that cost $200,000—a total $5,500,000 state bond issue to be spent, along with an equal federal grant. That makes $22,000,000 for work up through next March.

LaGuardia Smashes Tammany Tiger

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
In 1912 the "forty immortals" of Texas journeyed to Baltimore and Gov. Thomas M. Campbell was their chief spokesman Woodrow Wilson was nominated for president of the United States. Campbell announced that Texas had "skinned the Tammany tiger," placed its pelt on the wall for tanning purposes and that the tiger was dead. Well, the tiger returned home, came back to power, reigned triumphant 20 years and now an American-born Italian whose reputation is international as a war ace in the long ago and a picturesque product of American politics, is mayor-elect of New York and the tiger has been caged for at least four years. Mayor LaGuardia has been a republican and a democrat, a republican and was the fusion nominee for the mayoralty. Republicans backed him to a finish. On the face of the returns two or three hundred thousand democrats and independents must have voted for him. He carried his fusion running mates to victory. He will be the political master of New York, if he lives for four years to come.

Ferdinand Pecora, Italian-born American and famous prosecutor, was sent to the political cemetery. Holy Joseph McKee ran second. O'Brien, the Tammany nominee, ran third. It was a famous victory for Samuel Seabury, independent democrat and long-time foe of the tiger, and the big chiefs of the republican party of Greater New York. It was a greater victory for those of all political faiths who agreed with Father Knickerbocker that the tribe of Tammany should be thrown into the political ashcan. Postmaster Gen. James A. Farley backed McKee. Well, he has taken it on the nose. Alfred E. Smith remained on the sidelines. His attitude was "a curse on all your houses." In private life "The Happy Warrior" holds 16 important executive positions and is following his own flag. He is an editor and editors "can't be bothered."

Maximilian Elser, of Cisco, passed out of the picture at Fort Worth. A beautiful tribute was paid to the departed by the Cisco Daily News. It was deserved. He had been a man among men, a builder among builders, a prophet who had won honor in his own country. He was 82. He was a native of the state of New York. He came to Louisiana and Texas in 1872. He was a telegraph operator of the old school. He was a student, a thinker, and throughout his years he did his level best to make the world better than he found it. Away back in the 70's stationed at Shreveport, he sent the AP news to his Texas clients. Came the building of the Texas and Pacific railroad. He superintended the construction of that important artery of traffic to the city of Fort Worth and later to and travel from the Louisiana border line El Paso. He opened the first real bookstore in the city where "the partner" laid down. He was among the early discoverers of oil in Texas. He was active until he passed his 80th milestone. He was widely known (in other years) throughout the southwest. He loved Texas and he loved Texans. He was a lifelong democrat and a stalwart champion of the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt as well as his New Deal program for the uplift of the forgotten man. He lived a long life and passed out of this to another world with a smile on his face and ready for the future life.

Construction of living quarters for a Civilian Conservation Corps camp at Cooleidge, 12 miles north-west of Mexia, is on the way. Also, the announcement that the tree army will be used in soil conservation work throughout the country. Farm land will be terraced and ditches to prevent erosion will be the job of the 200 boys to be camped at Cooleidge. This is a real back-to-the-farm movement. Taxpayers will foot the bill. Labor is said to be noble and holy. Man should be willing to work his way and pay for his up-keep instead of drifting from town to town and state to state.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON E. WAITS

The value of advertising for a business is based on its consistency. That means to keep advertising all the while.

Did you ever notice that business executives get paid for the results they secure while the politician, on the other hand, has little responsibility? In many cases, so long as he is in the limelight and can make his constituents believe they have elected something exceptional as their representative, he is perfectly satisfied. He draws his pay and remains more or less unaffected by the depression.

A city is usually judged by its appearance of the city rest upon city officials. The fact of the matter is, personal responsibility for the appearance of the city rest upon the shoulders of every citizen. Cooperation is absolutely necessary for the beautification of any city.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

move in after you left." She turned back to the newspaper. "Look," she said, "here's a picture of Denise Lang. And here's another of her with Tracy King. Bannister crossed the room and inspected the photographs. The face of the pretty, fair-haired girl who smiled up at him was one he had never seen before. The picture taken with King was a news photograph, showing the couple as they sat watching a tennis match. There was another photograph of King, probably made for theatrical use. It showed him as a slender, dark-haired and rather handsome youth.

"He was real good-looking, wasn't he?" Kate Hewlett conceded. "I suppose that's why Denise Lang wanted to marry him—" Bannister picked up the newspaper. There was more of the account of the Tracy King murder but the rest was made up of rather inconsequential details. An attempt was underway to trace fingerprints. Police Chief Henley had given out a statement. There were interviews with Link, the hotel clerk, and with a switchboard operator. There was a review of King's career as a musician.

Bannister read it all through hastily, then tossed the newspaper aside. His aunt had begun stacking up the breakfast dishes, getting ready to take them to the kitchen. "Think I'll take a walk down town," Bannister said casually. "It's a fine morning—" "It's all of two miles down to Broad street," his aunt warned. "Exercise will do me good," he told her.

By 11 o'clock that morning David Bannister was still wrestling with his problem. The walk down town had in no wise eased his mind. He could, of course, stroll over to Central headquarters and say to Captain McNeal, "I think I can identify your unknown blond murderer. I think I saw the weapon she used and helped her escape. I think I know the time of the murder—" He could tell McNeal the story and he was certain that, as an aggressive, thoroughgoing police official, the captain would pounce upon it as first-hand testimony.

Bannister could say, "I left her at the Tremont some time before 10 o'clock—" Only he couldn't. He remembered that look in the girl's eyes and knew he couldn't do that. He didn't even know her name but he couldn't believe that she had killed a man.

Years of newspaper experience reminded him, "The hardest ones always look the softest." Even then he couldn't do it. The devil of it was that the problem was getting on his nerves! He wanted to forget the whole thing but he couldn't do that either. "Damn!" Bannister swore vehemently and decided to buy a New York newspaper. He'd find something to read that wasn't plastered all over with details of Tremont's latest crime.

There was only one place in the city to buy a New York newspaper—the news counter in the Tremont. Bannister went there, threw down a coin and picked up the news paper. He hesitated, then started to ward the writing room. He had to cross a short passageway that was rather dimly lighted. Bannister took a dozen steps forward and then stopped. Just ahead, directly facing him, was the girl of the taxi ride—the girl in the green suit!

UP and down the Pacific Coast they are calling Rosenberg, the Trojans' big bad guard, "Alley Oop" . . . which seems to be about the prize nickname of the year . . . and Rosenberg, whose real name is Aaron, is just about the best guard of the season.

Interesting and picturesque that nickname of Rosenberg's . . . which after the little cave-man character in the comic strip . . . and recalling some of the particularly apt names of other years . . . names in which the gridiron abounds.

Ghosts and Pests
THERE was the Galloping Ghost, old Red Grange himself and Sleepy Jim Crowley, the only one of the Four Horsemen to receive a pet moniker . . . which brings to mind they never nicknamed Knute, though the words "The Sage of South Bend" probably have been printed several million times, "Special Delivery Al" Marsters was a name with lots of meaning . . . as was the suggestive name they hung on Mister Welch of Purdue . . . "Pest" . . . and "Lighthouse Harry" Wilson who went charging up and down the field like Pickett's cavalry.

Remember "Frosty" Peters? . . . who was just the kind of lad his name implied when he stood back and put toe to that oval! . . . cool as a November night . . . Some of the names implied line-smashing ability . . . such as "Five Yards" McCarthy . . . and that old Kansas cyclone, "Jarring Jim" Bausch . . . and "Crashin' Chris" Christensen of Utah . . . This year Kansas State has a hard-hitting back called "Ramming Ralph" Graham.

Jim and Ernie
SOME of the greatest football players of other days were not recalling pictures that have faded: "Shipwreck" Kelly of Kentucky; "Pug" Rentner, Purple piledriver; "Buckets" Goldenberg, the tough little Jewish boy from Wisconsin; "Choctaw" Kelly and "Lone Star" Dietz, the big bad Injuns; "Brick" Muller, who is down in the books as having heaved a football 79 yards; "Swede" Oberlander, "Tiny" Thornhill, "Foots" Clements, "Chick" Harley—and so on, each bringing back a memory of mighty deeds.

Count Received
"Out of the cotton appropriated, which was converted into cloth and readymade garments, Eastland county received and distributed to more than 2,000 needy families the following:
10,324 pairs hose @ 20c per pair $2,064.90.

13,124 garments @ 75c each $9,842.00.
49,200 yards of cloth goods, valued at 7c per yard $3,440.00.

Approximately 1250 blankets and comforts, valued at $1 each $1,200.00.
This represents a total in estimated money value of $2,882.40.

In addition to the above mentioned flour and clothing, in the 1931 drought period the chapter received $16,836 in cash with which it purchased groceries and distributed to the needy citizenship of GAL TWO RED CROSS PT . . . the community, and about $2,000 worth of farm and garden seed, making a grand total in money value of $51,732.40 as benefits received from the national chapter for needy families of the county.

Texas has received in the form of disaster relief, within the past 12 months approximately $300,000, relieving suffering humanity in three major storm disasters within the state. In two of these disasters, an appeal was made for disaster relief which limited response, the remainder coming from regular funds, all of which is in addition to the growth relief funds and supplies received and disbursed on account of the economic depression, which for the state ran into millions of dollars.

Great Benefits
The organization is largely supported by roll call members. For the past three years, the roll call has netted the national organization in Texas approximately $53,000 per year; thus you will realize the tremendous benefits received from the organization in proportion to the amount paid out. Eastland county's roll call for the past three years has netted an approximate average of one thousand members per year, and as above outlined, you will realize the great benefits this chapter has received in proportion to the amount paid out. Let me remind you here however that Red Cross relief and assistance is not based on reciprocity but takes care of a relief situation wherever it is needed, regardless of the support the organization has received.

Eastland county's apportionment this year is 1,500 members. We are urgently requested to secure this number of memberships, or more; and it is hoped that we may at least reach that goal. An organization of workers is being perfected, throughout the county, and the drive will be made during the period November 11 to November 25, especially appeal to every citizen of the county, when approached, to please enroll himself and each member of his family as members in this most worthwhile organization.

Once Each Year
Let us be reminded that the government and other relief agencies are functioning at this time, as well as the Red Cross, but they are only temporarily attempting to meet the emergency. You will recall that the Red Cross has been carrying on in these United States for the past 50 years and will continue to function when all other relief agencies have ceased.

And, therefore, the importance and dire necessity of our whole-hearted support by enrolling each adult member of the family as a member of this great organization.

Let me remind you that the Red Cross calls on you for help just once a year — Armistice day to Thanksgiving. Won't you join, please? Let's put Eastland county chapter on the honor roll by raising its quota of 1,500 or more members. You will, I am sure. We are expecting it."

This is the twenty-third Sunday after Pentecost and the epistle read today is taken from the Philippines 111:17-21; and the gospel is from St. Matthew 18:26.
