Retail Survey Shows More Liberal Spending by Housewife

SALES SHOW CONSIDERABLE JUMP

NEW YORK, April 6.—The American housewife who spent sparingly during the depression, apparently is spending her purse strings more liberally at any time since the economic depression.

United Press survey of the retail stores in a number of the nation's largest cities revealed not only a jump in sales in recent months, but a spirit of optimism among business men generally.

The increase in retail sales, which has been noticeable around the Easter holidays, became even more marked coincident with the general increase in manufacturing payrolls and factory employment, as revealed by the department of commerce.

Housewives are not only spending more from the husband's weekly wages but are even dipping into their savings to put aside to weather the depression, one department executive said.

New York department store business increased 25 per cent in March over the same month last year. Chicago and Detroit retail stores reported approximately 8 per cent increase in sales, while those in Cleveland were 40 per cent higher in March, 1933.

Worth department stores recorded a 20 per cent increase over last year, while Dallas sales ranged from a 25 to 93 per cent increase over last year.

Shoppers who sought to enter the door of the Johnston Grocery store last night were baffled by a lock and then frightened away, it was announced.

The would-be intruders first cut through the wooden panel to thrust and through. Unable to manipulate the fastening, they removed the glass panel, setting it unbroken against the wall where it was found.

The door of the Johnston Grocery store last night was baffled by a lock and then frightened away, it was announced.

Occupants of a 24-year-old black Chevrolet coupe were prodded westward toward San Antonio after fatally shooting Bullington, highway maintenance employee, and knocking another employee unconscious, L. G. Phares, chief of highway patrol, was informed this afternoon.

Two men and a boy occupied the automobile, it was said. The shooting occurred about two and a half miles west of Melvin in Concho county, according to reports received.

Nebraska farmers rapidly are adopting systematic and accurate bookkeeping as an aid to more business-agricultural methods. More than 100 farmers according to estimates of the University of Nebraska extension service, have started farm bookkeeping, supplied them by a college of agriculture. Herman Zeigler, extension worker at the college, estimates that twice as many farmers are keeping books this year as last.

NEW YORK'S GREATEST EASTER PARADE SINCE THE DEPRESSION

ROUTED BANDIT GANG SOUGHT IN DUNE AREA

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 6.—Sheriff Paul Cox, of Nueces county, led a posse of 100 heavily armed deputies and citizens into the desolate sand dune country south of Corpus Christi today in search of three bandits who were routed in a gun battle yesterday at the First State bank of Bishop.

The bandit car was traced into the desolate area late yesterday and armed guards patrolled all roads from the section during the night, Cox said.

"We know they're in there and we're going to get them," the sheriff said.

One of the two men who entered the bank undoubtedly was wounded, Cox said, by the surprise fusillade, laid down by the cashier and his assistant.

OHIO BIRDS IN BRAZIL. LOGAN, O., April 6.—Two birds caught and banded by S. W. Zeigler at Stewart, near here, have been reported re-trapped and observed at Bahia, Brazil, 3,000 miles away. The birds, both killdeers, were captured in the Brazilian town by a girl, Delores Blanca, who wrote Zeigler. Zeigler banded the birds in the spring and they were caught in Brazil in the fall.

ASKED FOR 6 LOTS. LINCOLN, Neb., April 6.—If there were many families like one called to attention of relief workers here, all the plains of Nebraska would be sufficient to provide space for sustenance gardens.

EX-GOV. PARKER ENTERS LISTS AGAINST LONG

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 6.—A political enemy of long standing, former Gov. John Parker, of Louisiana, entered the lists against Sen. Huey P. Long today in a renewal of the wrangling in which Long has been involved this week.

Parker, charging that Long had spirited witnesses out of Louisiana in proceedings against the senator there, attacked Long in vigorous fashion despite his 72 years. Parker was a character witness for Daniel Moore at the senate finance committee hearing on Moore's nomination as collector of internal revenue for Louisiana.

Both Lang and Chairman Pat Harrison of the committee, who fought for six hours yesterday on and off the senate floor with bitter verbal exchanges, appeared to let the matter rest there for a while.

Darling Launches Battle for Ducks. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 6.—Launching a new deal for ducks, Jay N. (Ding) Darling, famous cartoonist and new deal chief of the bureau of biological survey, condemned drainage of 17,000,000 acres of marshland in the United States.

Darling, supervisor of wild animal conservation, urged immediate return of wasteland to the waterfowl. In addition, he warned that destruction of the animals must cease.

"All the world believes in conservation," said Darling. "The Audubon society, the farmers, the women's clubs all talk a lot about it—but they don't do anything."

ONLY 2 JURORS ARE SELECTED IN BYBEE CASE

THROCKMORTON, April 6.—Questioning of veniremen for jury service in the trial of Hilton Bybee, Texas desperado charged with robbery with firearms, continued here today.

When the court recessed last night only two of the special 45 veniremen examined were selected for the jury. They were J. L. Stroud and A. E. Hughes, Throckmorton county farmers. The trial was delayed this morning and was resumed at 1 p. m.

Before selection of the jury started, the court overruled a motion for a change of venue. Bybee is charged in connection with a filling station robbery near Woodson.

Defense attorney John Smith said he would base his case on a plea of insanity.

INSULL EXPECTED TO KNOW FATE SATURDAY. ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 6.—Judicial authorities were expected to give final decision tomorrow on the appeal of Samuel Insull against a government order for his surrender to the United States government.

Insull, held in the Istanbul detention house, depended on Turkish and British lawyers to free him on the plea that he was arrested illegally while seeking to pass through the Bosphorus to the Black Sea in search of refuge from American extradition charges.

POLL TAXES IN EASTLAND CO. TOTAL 6,080

Six thousand and eighty (6,080) citizens of Eastland county, plus an additional 500 more or less, are eligible to vote in 1934 state and county elections, according to the records of Tax Collector T. L. Cooper.

The former figure represents the number who paid their poll taxes in time to make them eligible to vote. The latter represents a rough estimate of the number of citizens who are "overs and unders" or excused, by reason of physical disabilities from the requirement of paying a poll tax to qualify themselves as voters.

The poll tax figure compares with about the same number issued in 1932, the tax collector's office said. Last year, an "off" season in state politics, only about 3,500 citizens paid the tax.

No exemption certificates for either "unders" or "overs" are issued in this county. The reason is that the new law requires issuance of such certificates only in cities of more than 10,000 population, into which category none of the Eastland county communities fall.

Citizens entitled to a vote either because of being over the age limit or having arrived at majority in the current year may be required to furnish an affidavit in the absence of a certificate of exemption if doubt exists in the minds of the judges, it was said. Physical infirmities are considered as their own evidence.

1,250,000 TEXANS QUALIFIED TO VOTE. AUSTIN, April 6.—More than a million and a quarter Texans have the right to vote in 1934 state elections, poll tax figures compiled by State Comptroller George Sheppard showed today.

Reports from county tax collectors indicated that 1,105,408 paid the poll tax in time to get receipts, entitling them to vote. Another 27,762 took out exemption certificates.

RIVER RISES DURING HUNT FOR VICTIMS. HAMMON, Okla., April 6.—The Washita river was rising again here today as search continued for bodies of five persons still missing from Tuesday night's disastrous $1,000,000 flood. The known dead number—12.

The river rose nine feet here overnight as a new crest came down from the Texas panhandle. Relief work was proceeding in good order. Food supplies had been replenished for immediate needs but there was still a danger of exhaustion.

Indian food survivors were reported eating beef from cows drowned in the flood. State Health department attaches were said to be en route to aid in preventing such acts and others conducive to disease.

50 AT SPRING DRILLS. STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 6.—Spring football drills at the Pennsylvania State college are being attended by more than 50 candidates, headed by Captain Merrill Morrison, Philadelphia.

"Male-less" World Prophet Refuted. By Evidence of Births in Cisco Area. The Eastern college professor who was quoted recently as predicting a future male-less world when, so he says, the female, increasing in numbers, even now, will finally resort to spider-like tactics and annihilate the entire male gender, should glance at the birth record for this precinct in and around Cisco during the month of March. Twenty-three babies were born, according to the record of Dr. W. P. Lee, registrar for the sixth precinct, and the girls are out-numbered almost 2 to 1.

Annual Appeal for Library Support To Be Made During Tag Day Saturday

Tomorrow will be annual Public Library Tag Day. Once a year the Twentieth Century club, sponsor of the library, approaches the public for contributions to the library maintenance fund through the sale of tags. Beyond that contribution, the club provides expenses accumulating above book rentals and membership sales.

The library now has 5,000 volumes and is constantly increasing its stocks. It is eager to receive suggestions from the public, the club said, and any book not in its catalogue and desired by a patron will be obtained if possible, should the library chairman, Mrs. Wm. Reagan, be notified. The institution, it was made clear, is not a private one, but is operated for the public benefit and is open to all who will conform to its simple rules.

"We shall appreciate a hearty response to this tag day appeal," said Mrs. J. B. Cate, chairman of the Tag Day campaign. "The Twentieth Century club maintains the library, but it belongs to the public."

There is no limit upon contributions—they may be as small as a large as the conscience and pocket books of the donors may dictate.

NEGROES ATTEND FROM CINCINNATI.

NEGROES ATTEND FROM CINCINNATI. April 6.—Negro students for the first time in the history of the University of Cincinnati, attended the school's junior prom. Miss Josephine Simrall, dean of women and faculty adviser to the Negro student group, adjusted the viewpoints of both sides. A portion of other students were first reluctant about mixing of the races at the affair, while several Negro students, who bought tickets and insisted on attending, were permitted their wish.

One Officer Is Dead, And Second Missing

JOPLIN, Mo., April 6.—Clyde Barrow, Bonnie Parker and Raymond Hamilton were seen just before noon today heading south from Welch, Okla.

MIAMI, Okla., April 6.—Clyde Barrow and Raymond Hamilton, southwestern desperadoes, were sought in northeast Oklahoma today as killers of one Oklahoma officer and probably killers of another.

With the fugitives, traveling in a circle that appeared to be taking them toward Chetopa, Kan., was a woman listed as Bonnie Parker, Barrow's sweetheart.

Cal Campbell, 60-year-old Commerce constable, was dead of machine gun wounds Percy Boyd, chief of police at Commerce, was wounded, missing and thought probably dead in a roadside ditch somewhere along the fugitives' route.

Accounts of how the officers were shot varied. One was that they were shot down when they approached the desperadoes' automobile where it was stuck in mud on a road near Commerce, five miles north of Miami.

Another version. Another that the officers had received a tip the fugitives wanted most recently in the slaying of two Texas highway patrolmen, were in hiding at a house near the little town, and that they were shot down as they entered the yard.

Campbell is dead and can't speak. Percy is gone and we don't know much about it," officers said. "Sheriff Dee Waters and a posse were riding over all roads. Officers in Kansas and Missouri had been notified."

Charles Dodson, Commerce truck driver, furnished the description on which officers decided the trio of gunmen must be Barrow, Hamilton and the red-haired, cigar-smoking Parker woman. He was forced to push the gunmen's sedan from the mud after the shooting.

SEDAN WITH YELLOW WHEELS. The machine was a V8 Ford sedan with yellow wire wheels, the same kind that Barrow drives.

Campbell was struck only once, it was said, though the killers emptied a machine gun at him and Boyd. It was not known how seriously Boyd was wounded.

A farmer whose car blocked the bandits' path eight miles west of Commerce, was threatened and warned: "We have killed two officers and will kill you if you don't get over."

BROADENING BANKRUPTCY ACT

Extension of the federal uniform bankruptcy act to corporations besides railroads is before the senate after having been favorably acted upon by the judiciary committee of that body. The bill was enacted by the house last year. It would provide corporations in difficult financial straits with a legal machinery for working out reorganizations and refunding processes which they now lack. The method has proved logical and workable in the case of railroads, and the terms held out to the carriers under the railroad bankruptcy act would be extended to other corporations by this broadening measure.

Under these terms corporations could proceed with a reorganization after agreement of creditors holding two-thirds of its obligations. Such a condition guarantees the interests of all concerned. Under the old law it was necessary that all creditors agree to such a reorganization if equity was assured all; failing in which the debtor simply went into bankruptcy court. Where his assets and liabilities and swore he was "broke." Listered upon, the court having agreed with him upon the basis of evidence submitted, a trustee was named and machinery set up to parcel the insufficient assets among the creditors who rarely, if ever, came out with the potential value of their several shares, for the reason that bankruptcy processes are costly. Revelations in several instances have pointed to rich harvests for certain attorneys and agents in bankruptcy.

The act under contemplation simply makes a possibility probable and affords the opportunity for harassed concerns to effectuate an agreement between itself and its creditors under the auspices of the federal court. Debtor and creditor may come together, canvass the situation, mutually agree upon a reorganization that will conserve the best interests of the creditors and hence preserve the best interests of the corporation and the public which it serves, and having reached this agreement, carry it into the court for approval and the authority to put it into effect.

The court having determined the reasonableness and validity of the agreement between the two principals, and having decided that the public interests involved have been properly recognized and preserved, then stands between the corporation and the dissenting element which would force it into bankruptcy and make wreckage of such possibilities as do exist to satisfy some ulterior motive. The act appears just as substituting rationality for destructiveness.

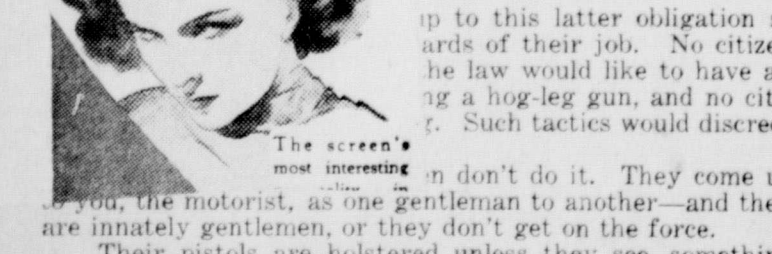

HIGHWAY BOYS YOUR FRIENDS

From the cruel slaying of two state highway patrolmen near Grapevine last Sunday, the Fort Worth Press points a pertinent moral in public courtesy and respect for the boys in blue-gray uniforms who patrol the pavements. The courtesy that these young men habitually show highway users, intimates the Press, was directly responsible for their murder at the hands of a couple believed to have been Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker. Their duty is primarily to keep the roads safe and to assist people in distress thereon—not to harass or bulldoze the public with a wanton display of weapons and authority—and the fact that they do not approach a normal situation except in a cooperative effort to help people out of difficulties puts them at a serious disadvantage before a craven with a machine gun or shotgun instantly available, says the Press.

It says: "We sincerely hope that the tragedy of Sunday afternoon will result in better understanding and better acceptance by the public of the work of the highway patrol, though this could not of course compensate in any way for the loss of the two fine officers so cruelly shot down."

"The highway patrolmen are on the roads to help all law-abiding citizens. The only trouble with them is, they are too few. Their primary duty is not enforcement of the criminal law, but of course, they have police powers and act very often, at grave hazard, as shown Sunday, to help you—to keep the road safe for your passage, to it or breakage, and to do it all forgetting they are servants up to this latter obligation so arduous of their job. No citizen he law would like to have an ag a hog-leg gun, and no citizen. Such tactics would discredit you, the motorist, as one gentleman to another—and they are innately gentlemen, or they don't get on the force. Their pistols are holstered unless they see something suspicious, and so it is quite possible for anyone who is craven enough or desperate enough to shoot down a highway patrolman before he has a chance, as Sunday's wanton massacre proved too well. They threw away what chance they might have in the one case among 10,000 where they encounter armed desperadoes, to be courteous to you and to me for whom they keep the highways safe. "The boys Wheeler and Murphy are gone—for they were but boys. Fair words cannot bring them back. But fair words and courteous treatment may make their companions of the highway patrol feel that the force's efforts are appreciated. Remember, unless your errand is unlawful, the highway patrolmen are your friends."

Uncle Sam Promise to Keep Rural Schools Running

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

Uncle Sam has made a pledge to keep Texas rural schools running. Washington advisers predict a grant of federal relief funds to carry on the Texas rural school system and to pay teachers for the remainder of this term will be announced shortly by the federal emergency relief administration. It is said the sum to be advanced would be in excess of $1,000,000 and a part of the plan to spend approximately $13,000,000 in 25 states where municipalities, counties or the state themselves are unable to keep rural schools open.

This is a queer old world. In all of the states of the south and the southwest and the border states democratic leaders are ever shouting for a sweeping recognition of the rights of a state to direct its own affairs and to pay its own bills. And yet today the attorney general for Uncle Sam to come across as the representative of the federal government and advance the funds to keep the rural school open away down here in Texas and many of the neighbor states below the Mason and Dixon line.

After the World War Uncle Sam became the Great White Father of Europe and many of the Asiatic and South American countries. He had his fingers blistered and his pockets picked clean before he got out of the mess. Now he has been elects the Great White Father, financially speaking, of all the people of the 48 organized commonwealths as well as the colonies or territorial possessions of the eagle which was the emblem of liberty and autonomy before the coming of the new civilization.

A 'REAL BURNING ISSUE' FOR PEOPLE OF TEXAS

There is a primary coming in July. There is a governor to be nominated; 16 state senators to be nominated; 150 representatives to be nominated; district and county attorneys to be nominated; sheriffs to be nominated. Well, the issue uppermost in the mind of the state and its machine gun rule Texas or shall the people who aer law-abiding speaking through their agents and servants rule in Texas wherever the Lone Star flag floats over the territory ranging from the Red River to the Rio Grande and from Gulf of Mexico to the Rocky mountain foothills. Why not make all the ambitious seekers for major or minor places speak out? Why not keep all the fence riders at home?

ANOTHER HUGE CONCERN IN PROSPERITY PICTURE

All Americans who read and think are interested in railroads as they appear in the skies of prosperity. The Aluminum company headquarters at Pittsburgh had a net income of $1,664,000 for 1933, compared with a net loss of $1,172,000 in 1932. The Aluminum concern is a $234,000,000 bloc in the Mellon chain of industries. Sales were 25 per cent greater than in 1933. However, the present outlook for sales in 1934 "is encouraging."

Janesville, Wis., is the home of the Fisher Body and Chevrolet assembly plants. These concerns employ 2,300 men. Employment will be increased 25 per cent before the coming of the middle of April.

Chicago is the headquarters of the West Texas Utilities company. Gross earnings of the west Texas branches of the company in 1933 show an increase of $110,854 over the previous year. General Motors corporation in 1933 earned a net income of $83,213,000, or $1.72 a share on its common stock Alfred P. Sloan, Jr. is president of the General Motors corporation. In his annual letter to stockholders he declared the labor section of the industrial act "must be clarified." Unless his advice is taken, Sloan predicts "there is certainty of industrial strife, the equal of which this country has not yet seen and just at the time when there is a foundation for hope of recovery from the economic depression."

Sloan agrees that every fairminded person should be in favor, from a social and economic standpoint, of a minimum wage; of the elimination of child labor; of a gradual shortening of the hours of labor but "unfortunately behind all this as the result of an interpretation which attempts to carry the weight of an edict of the law appears to be looming the spectre of the greatest monopoly that ever existed in any country in the world—the closed shop."

All of which is a reminder that it is the age-old conflict—trade and labor unions or the company unions "in existence" before the coming of the new deal.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

All my life I have heard the adage that the Lord helps those who help themselves. I have wondered if that divine tendency did not violate the principles of justice and equity and of a just reward for just living. Today I bow again to the march of the inexorable fact, but confess I am much puzzled over what happened to Dr. Paul M. Woods, for obviously Dr. Woods was helping himself when the Lord refused to help him. It admits, to my mind, that the adage should be modified in favor of the Scotch. Because, if appearance may be believed, the Lord may have named the Children of Israel his chosen but he saved a little corner of that special affection for the race that later overran the knucky hills of the four region north of Co-kney. Indeed had the Scotch originated before the Jews, it might be the latter would have taken second place in standing.

The story is thus: Dr. Woods bought one of the Humboldt residences. So did J. C. McAfee. Doc, being of an aesthetic mind, selected a site that would be impressive for elevation. McAfee came along with Scotcheseque calculation, chose a lot directly underneath Doc's. Reasoned he: "That bird is going to do things with that lot. Here I'll sit and when a good rain comes along, I'll receive the benefit."

One of the things Dr. Woods did was to have had a hundred loads of riep, soil hauled and put down upon his lot which he terraced beautifully.

Along the side adjoining McAfee, he erected a wall of stone to hold the earth in place. Along the opposite side of Neighbor McAfee's lot ran a high concrete curb.

Came the rain, and McAfee rushed out of the house and plugged up a large drain in the curb. The next morning the rock barrier that Dr. Woods had erected to hold his remade lawn in place had succumbed to the pressure and the lawn itself had been transferred into McAfee's yard.

The family cat is gone. A black Persian, with sable paws and head shading to a black gray with hints of rich mahogany in the middle, and lighter gray underneath, he wandered off on one of his nocturnal strolls Monday evening, and has been killed, lost or stolen. Since he has a homing instinct that equals any pigeon, I doubt seriously that he has lost himself. He answers to the name "Buddy", is apt to treat his best friends with utter unconcern, unless offered a piece of meat or fish. He also has a taste for black-eyed peas, etc., developed from the exigencies of the family larder. We "kinda" like that cat.

T. C. Williams, who has charge of the Lions club's athletic department—dubbed the Committee for the Good Little Boys and Girls—wants it understood that the playground baseball craze that has swept the Lions and Rotary clubs should not be confined to those organizations. Any legitimately-minded club or business house or association may enter a team in the league that T. C. and his opposing manager, Jim Collins, of the Rotary club, propose to foster.

In other words, these managers want plenty of competition for their teams, each being somewhat contemptuous of the other's club and desirous of making a city championship mean something.

T. C. called me on the telephone last night and requested that publicity be given the general nature of the movement in order to foster the development of a city league on the broadest basis as to competition and participation.

For instance, said he, the chamber of commerce board of directors, the churches, the Masonic lodge and private houses are eligible to enter teams. School boys, etc., may organize their teams, said he.

The serious fact to be considered is that too broad an organization might tear an excellent player between two loves and bring about a state of warfare between friends.

PABLITO, a handsome youth, becomes a fugitive when he flees from Key West to Havana with BEAU and ESTELLE, two thieves. Pablito has a sister, Estelle, but he did not commit. He is in love with ESTELLE FIELD, daughter of Jim Field, but he has called himself from her forever.

In Havana he becomes celebrated as a boxer and he and Beau open a gymnasium.

SIR AUBREY, an Englishman and Pablito's father, is searching for his son, employing BILLINGS. Sir Aubrey and Pablito were separated three years ago and then Pablito and Estelle meet again. They admit their love for each other. MARCIA TREADAWAY who is visiting the Field couple, Pablito was not the murderer but remained silent, fearing scandal.

Billings, in the meantime, Pablito may be Sir Aubrey's son. He goes to Morro Castle and sees Pablito and Estelle together.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXII

BILLINGS' quest was rewarded. In that slender, high tower of winding stairway where the shrill voices and breathless gasps of tourists echo he lagged behind near the daughter of Jim Field, ostensibly to buy post cards. The smartly attired older woman whom the girl addressed as "Marcia" seemed to consider it amusing that her companion wished to buy post cards. Billings had noticed that the older man's eyes always seemed above the heads of the other tourists and that she spoke as though she and the girl were quite alone.

"You go ahead," the girl had suggested, "and I'll catch up with you. I want to get some cards."

"Dear child, not really!" "I always send them to Nannette. She used to be my nurse."

"Oh, I suppose such people would adore them. Well, I'll wait—"

"No, don't, Marcia. Please! I'll catch up with you in just a moment. I'd really rather not delay you, please. It's so wonderful on top I want you to have all the time you can there—"

Billings was unfolding a panoramic view of Morro Castle and the harbor. "How much are the colored ones?" he asked. He was thinking that the girl was "not so slow" although she had let her nervousness reveal itself by intensity.

A moment later Juanito appeared. The girl spoke in a whisper but Billings overheard.

"You mustn't let her see you! A friend of hers—I can't explain now—but she mentioned your name in a letter and—" She grew silent then, looking at Billings, and shook her head.

"These brown ones—how much are they?" Billings questioned loudly. Without turning his head he saw Juanito kiss the girl's hands, first one and then the other. He saw him hold them for an instant against his heart as he looked adoringly down at her, kiss them once again and then drop them. Almost immediately she was gone. The young man sighed a little and, turning, recognized Billings as the man who had been eager to know how many, "exactly how many." Cubans had been killed by the Spaniards in Morro Castle.

He nodded, favoring Billings with one of those smiles that were

One player might appear for several different teams in opposing a mutual foe, but what would happen when one of his own group would be called upon to oppose another of that group?

Nature and Human Nature

Mates

Shoes or gloves that make a pair, birds or animals that cooperate for a season in rearing a family, children who find mutual enjoyment in play or a common experience in school or any other thing are called mates. We have playmates, seat-mates, jump-mates, and even soul-mates. Mates find congenial and complementary qualities in each other. Each contributes a share of satisfaction in their common experience and of success in their common purpose.

The mating season is upon us. Birds of a feather have flocked together during the winter. But now they are wisening for companions; and such antics and such capers as they go through with! In some sheltered spot of a winter woods one may run on to a number of doves flutter two together from some grassy spot or alight two together upon some limb, as they look for a likely place for a summer home. What joy a pair of birds must find in building together, in waiting patiently, anxiously for the breaking of the shells, and in scouring the country over for such morsels as will appease the amazing appetites. This partnership has soon served its purpose and at the end of a season or two the mates are lost to one another in the flock.

Man, with his higher wishes and joys and attainments, ought to find a great deal more in companionship. The question, with two individuals of opposite sex who walk or talk or into love is as to how complete is this complementary relationship. Physical attraction alone is likely to produce a partnership as temporary as that of summer birds; even mutual forbearance will not always thwart the tragic outcome of this inadequate foundation for love. But if the two find not only physical but economic partnership, mental companionship and spiritual comradeship they are in line for the most enjoyable experience that can fall to the lot of man. It is this merging of two natures that constitutes marriage. The ceremony simply sets the approval of society upon the union. What sublimer pleasure does life give us than that of a couple approaching the "last of the first" which was given, after traveling the rough and smooth ways together, and finding in their children and grand children the reward for the first years of toil; and now as they approach the end of the journey together death means only a little suspension of a richer and longer companionship somewhere else.—W. BRUCE.

mine," Beau answered. "I'll manage everything. We could be, anyhow? If he was to pull out, let him! I can go along without him but he can do nothing. Nothing! See what he's got on me? Not a thing! In the world, Nubia knows I was there but they don't know he was. And they know was his knife that done it, too! Lottie saw but she was not satisfied. Under the few hours the were happy for her there was a way an undercurrent of uneasiness."

BILLINGS paid for his cards and went up the stairs. He stood close to the two women, overhearing their conversation, but he got nothing from it except Estelle's discomfort over Marcia's slight attitude toward the history of Morro Castle. The older woman seemed much amused by the guide's vivid description.

"It is very real to all Cubans," Estelle protested. "You see, a war is real when your uncle or your father was killed in it. And the Spaniards were brutal to Cuban boys as well as to men. It was—really Marcia—quite horrible."

"Darling, you take all this so seriously—" Marcia complained. Estelle said nothing. She hated flippancy of this sort and the men and women who were her father's friends seemed always to be flippant about everything that was real. She had seen one Cuban woman who evidently understood English worse at Marcia's words and she realized that if Marcia had known she had caused this hurt she would not care. They were a selfish, cruel set whose only real emotions were anger over a maid's stupidity or clumsiness, dissatisfaction with a dress that was "a mess" or a meal that did not happen to please them.

She was tired of it all, Estelle realized—tired to the point of nausea. "But I'm going to get away from it!" she thought confidently.

If Juanito was Sir Aubrey's son, Billings was considering slowly, there would be trouble ahead. Already he had connected Juanito with the boy who had escaped from Jim Field's camp after murdering Ted Jeffries and stealing the famous Jeffries pearls.

Threads have a way of tangling but of leading, at length, to one ball.

WHEN Pablito accused Beau of having killed Jeffries the older man was calm.

"Who's going to prove it?" he demanded.

"I might."

"And how, sweetheart? I ask you how!"

The two had not exchanged any but the most meager words since that day. "Aw, this is hell!" Lottie had burst out at more than he had patiently, slumping down a heavy glass or pushing her chair away from the table.

"Let him treat me decently and I'll return the favor," Beau murmured once, to which Pablito did no more than to ask the stately girl who waited upon them for more butter. The situation, as Lottie said, was "pretty bad."

"I'll end up in a smash for all of us if you don't bring him around, Beau," she stridently and unhappily prophesied.

"Look here, sister, you tend to your kaittia' and I'll tend to WINE SEASON GOOD PARIS, April 6 — The 1934 wine season is said to be making a favorable debut according to growers and dealers. A comparatively temperate winter has precluded floods in the Bordeaux Burgundy and Rhone lowlands. Before the war hundreds of acres had to be replanted because of heavy rains washing the vines out of the ground. There has been just enough humidity this winter, say officials, to keep the vineyards in good condition.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION Get Relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexion, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can usually get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

VISIT OF FIRST LADY CHEERS PUERTO RICO

By RUBY A. BLACK
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN JUAN, P. R., April 6.—The visit of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Miss Lorena Hickok, federal emergency relief investigator, and the agricultural mission headed by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Rexford Guy Tugwell, gave a tremendous boost to Puerto Ricans.

"The conscience of America in Puerto Rico," Sen. Luis Munoz Marin called Mrs. Roosevelt.

Every interest in the island presented its troubles and its proposals to this group. Thousands of individuals went to Mrs. Roosevelt with their problems.

Governor Pleased
Gov. Blanton Winship said "nothing better could have happened to Puerto Rico than this visit."

The hope of the Puerto Ricans is not for a benevolent paternalism, or for charity, but for aid and encouragement in working out their own problems.

For the first time, young political leaders feel that they can strike out boldly to attack the economic problems of the island, for they believe they have the interest of Washington.

Tobacco Plan
A plan for the tobacco industry already is under way.

Chief Forester F. A. Silcox, who was a member of the Tugwell mission, is enthusiastic about reviving the forestry industry of the island. He found fine cabinet woods of many varieties, only one of which competes with continental lumber.

Assistant Secretary Tugwell particularly is interested in a homesteading and sugar stabilization plan which was being debated in the insular senate at the end of his visit. This proposal, that the insular government buy the bankrupt United Porto Rico Sugar company, with its 31,000 acres and five centrales to provide a basis for homesteading, was singled out for special study by insular and continental agricultural leaders.

Credit System Studied
Recognition of the credit system, to divorce credit control from the big sugar companies and to reduce interest rates, is being studied.

With prohibition repealed, and with the beauties of the island called to the attention of the continental public, the islanders hope that Puerto Rico will become a winter and summer playground, since its range of temperature is very narrow, and it never gets as hot here as it does in most parts of the United States.

8 LIVING GRANDPARENTS
FREMONT, O., April 6.—Eight living great-grandparents, including a great great grandmother, are among the relatives of Richard E. DeMars, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross DeMars here. The child has two grandfathers, two grandmothers, three great grandmothers and one great, great grandmother, Mrs. Selma Duffett, of Clyde, Ohio.

Today's Pattern

The Spring Print
Are you preparing your Spring frocks? They're sure to include a printed crepe frock like this one—with high neck-line, pleated capelet and slim paneled skirt—

Pattern 1497x

THIS modish frock, which can also be made in voile or silk, lends charm and poise to the youthful figure. It is designed in five sizes: 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19, with corresponding bust measures of 29, 31, 33, 35 and 37. Size 13 requires 3 1/2 yards of 35 inch material plus 3-8 yard contrast for the capelets, belt and neck trimming. To secure a pattern and simple sewing chart of this model, tear out this sketch and mail it to Julia Boyd, 103 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y., together with 15 cents in coin. Be sure to enclose, on a separate sheet of paper, your name, full address, your size, the number of this pattern (No. 1497x), and mention the name of this newspaper.

SHADY GROVE

The school children had an enjoyable time at the egg hunt Monday. Carlos Turner spent the week-end with homefolks in Eastland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Qualls of Pueblo visited Mr. and Mrs. Flynn Reims Wednesday.

Mrs. Joe Bowen of Burkett was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Laird Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gilmore and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Holder were Saturday evening guests in the Ward home.

Mesdames Hollis, and Robert McKinney of Dothan spent the day with Mrs. J. W. McKinney Monday. The school exhibit and ball game Friday afternoon were quite interesting to the parents, as it gave them a chance to see some of the work the children are doing.

Miss Mary Louise Laird was shopping in Eastland Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Dulin of Eastland visited her daughter, Mrs. J. W. McKinney last Friday.

All voters want to remember that Saturday is school trustee election. Be sure and vote.

Voiture 41 band, of Watertown, Mass., national championship band of the Forty and Eight, and a Forty and Eight quartet. All speakers and musicians will be members of the Forty and Eight, and all musical numbers of the society.

Senator Reed's Address
Senator Reed's address will deal with the benefits provided ex-service men through the activities of the American Legion, and will contrast the present mental attitude of the nation toward ex-service men with that existing in 1917 and 1918.

Congressman Patman will speak on current and prospective legislation affecting the ex-service man. Chief de Chemin de Fer Heller will give a brief message to members of the Legion and the Forty and Eight, and will explain the Legion's service work for disabled veterans and dependents. Chairman Miller will speak on the Legion's achievements in its rehabilitation activities for the war disabled.

The program will be broadcast from three separate points, New York, Washington and Boston, and will be carried by stations of the National Broadcasting company, coast-to-coast network. Arrangements for the hour's program have been completed by Chief de Chemin de Fer Heller and Robert M. Tolson of Washington, D. C., Legion rehabilitation worker.

Black-Draught For Biliousness

"I have used Black-Draught for years and find it a great relief for headache and constipation and biliousness," writes Mrs. L. B. Crippen, of Pulaski, Ill. "When I get bilious, I feel tired and sluggish; have a bad taste in my mouth, and bloot at my stomach. For these ailments, I take a dose of Black-Draught every other night until relieved."

Children like the new, pleasant tasting SYRUP of Black-Draught.
