NOVEL DISPLAY BRINGS CROWD TO SEE WINDOW

All evening long after the lights Extravagant Bird were turned on and until late at night Saturday, groups of men, women, and children stopped at the A. G. Motor company's window and gazed at the wonderful Christmas tree and a life size picture of Santa Claus who scratches his head in puzzled wonderment at the unusual decoration that confronts him.

The tree, which is of fair sized was sprayed with aluminum paint from the company's paint shop and then decorated with blue lights. A few Christmas packages are strewn about the tree in a natural manner. A life size Senta Claus is standing near as though he had just approached and is scratching his head in a puzzled sort of non-plussed way as if he was not expecting to see a real frozer tree from the north down in Cisco

Texas. So unusual and catche is decoration that passers-by have stopped and gazed, singly and in groups.

Another window that is very unusual and that shows up wonderfully at night is that of Carrol Motor company, and this window also attracted groups of pedestrians after he lights were turned on.

Mr. Carroll first decorated his ceiling with streamers and bangles but later, catching the spirit from so much beauty up and down the street, he went at the job again.

This time he brought in the comb-! ings from the beautiful hills that surround Cisco country.

Cedar, mistletoe, gay colored auumn leaves laurel and even bamboo briars went into the weaving of evergreens that so lavishly decorate the walls-all in a very artistic and charming combination that

TEXAS SERV A. V. Clark, Prop. Corner E. at 8th

A WORD FROM HENRY FORD

We expect to announce our new 1935 cars, and have them in dealers' showrooms where you may see and examine them, on Saturday, December 29th. The cars are coming off the line now and distribution will soon commence.

I have never been very much in favor of the custom of yearly models. Good motor cars do not become obsolete simply because the calendar turns a leaf. Our former custom was to put improvements on our cars as soon as we developed and tested them, so that there was continuous refinement and progress. The custom of introducing new models annually is justified when they are really new, and not merely equipped with new talking points for the purposes of salesmanship.

Last year's Ford V-8 was a good car, the best we had built up to that time. We don't say to any customer with a last year's car that his car is out of date. If it is giving him service, and if he is not in the market for a new car, there is no reason for him to feel that he is behind the procession. He still drives the fundamentally latest thing in cars. The new car has all the qualities and advantages of last year's car, with something added.

The improvements we offer are not experimental in any sense; they were thoroughly tried out under every conceivable circumstance before we finally adopted them. That, in fact, is our job all the year 'round-refining, improving, making new balance of qualities, always adhering closely to our principle of continuous growth in the basic purpose of the Ford car.

The 1935 V-8 engine is practically the same engine we built in 1934, because we have not learned how to build a better one. It has, however, some refinements; amongst which are the copper-lead connecting rod bearings, and the new type of crankcase ventilation.

Most of the improvements concern the riding qualities of the car. There is now more comfort both in driving the car and riding in itand it was always a very comfortable car to drive. This year we have paid particular attention to the comfort of the back seat rider. The rear seat is now forward of the rear axle, so that all passengers ride between the axles. With the new flexible springs, this gives what has been aptly described as "a front seat ride for the back seat passengers." Besides, it has permitted changes in the design of the body which have resulted in those lines of beauty so much in favor with automobile owners today.

We have always had three fundamentals-Durability, Economy of operation and maintenance, and Comfort. Safety, of course, is taken for granted. The Durability is just what it always was; no one needs to be told at this late day that Fords are built to last. The Economy is even greater than before-an 8-cylinder engine with the economy of a four. As to Comfort, however, there has been a very considerable advance, as I think you will agree when you have tried the car out.

We built more than 20,000,000 cars previous to the V-8. We have built 1,300,000 V-8 cars. The V-8, we believe, is the proper engine for the lowprice car field, which is our field.

This 1935 car will be on display December 29th, with all details ready for your information. It is entirely probable that the prices will start at lower levels than in 1934. We want them lower because we expect to build a million cars and better next year, and the price must be right. If the price is right, people will buy; men will go back to work; a thousand related businesses will feel the new impulse. At least, we are trying to make 1935 a busier, happier and more hopeful year.

Management by Managers

"Ordinarily the management and managerial policies of a privately owned utility company should remain in the hands of its executive officers who are....familiar with the necessary development to meet future demands of the public," said the late Richard T. Higgins, President of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners, in a recent address. "Regulatory commissions with their numerous duties pertaining to many different classes of utility operations may not be qualified and should not be expected to act as executive or managerial agents of the several companies, but wherever there is found to be a destructive managerial policy or flagrant violation of sound executive judgment, the commission should take action as will necessitate a change and correction of the company's policies for the public's interest."

That certainly seems simple and sensible and no doubt reflects the viewpoint of most commissioners. Yet there are growing demands—largely resulting from political attacks on the utilities....for legislation which would take management questions out of the jurisdiction of owners of properties, and make them the province of state commissions.

One wonders how rapidly utilities would have developed n the past had that policy been in effect. State commissions are ordinarily highly efficient bodies-but they are necessmade up of men who have no personal interest in utilities. The magnificent standard of electric service we have in America has been due to the fact that the people who put up their money to build plants, took all the risks—they gambled, and sometimes they won and sometimes lost. They were comparatively free agents, and there were no artificial barriers to progress and achievement. Should management be subjected to the rule in all matters of an outside body, the spirit of enterprise would be lost-to the ultimate deteriora-

For weeks now Christmas packages have been in the mails for Alaska, Poland, Australia, Zanzibar, and other far-delinquent taxes, sorely needed for off places. The postal authorities have urged the public to current operations, as well as to shop early, mail early, and give the postman a break.

What they may have added is shop early, give yourself a break as well. Of course your toes may be the tough kind that will take an awful beating from the feet of other patrons grabbing at that same necktie, but even if they are that necktie may be gone when you get there if you wait too long.

By doing at least a part of your shopping some time before Christmas, you may be sure that you won't forget Aunt Mary or Cousin Henry, and that you will have a little more choice in what you do send them. Then there's that matter of bloodpressure and nerves about which the American people talk so much and do so little. Mr. Rockefeller, Mr. Aldrich and the others saw Texas at a rather favorable time. They found a state that has shared greatly in government benefits; but which, looking to the future, is just at the front door of a great vista of further and broader development in both established and new phases

Their visit to the larger cities of Texas was tacit recognition of a new day and new conditions, in that economic conditions and the well-being and the state of mind of Texas should interest New York bankers at the tip-top of the nations financial peak.

Their interests are broad. Railroads: They come to the section which has built 75 per cent of the nation's new lines since 1930. Banking: They checked the situation of both national and state banks in a state that escaped much of the financial suffering of 1933 and marched back ahead of the rest of the country. Retail merchandising: They found a Texas with money to spend, spending it in pre-holiday buy-

Natural resource production of vital concern to the capitalist and banker, expressed in Texas in oil, gas, sulphur; and other raw products, in farm crops, wool and mohair and livestock, occupy an important part of the picture gained by the New York bankers in their tour of the country; and Texas' showing in these respects is unequaled.

You have experienced achievements in pioneering a new country. The West Texas of Pioneer Days has given way to the eternal march of progress!

Schools, colleges and universities have made material advancement from their mediocrity of the frontier period to their excellence of the present day, Many commercial and industrial institutions in this "Land of Opportunity" have already attained a large measure of success from their pioneer endeavors.

The former open range of the Longhorn now yields its substance to a higher grade of cattle, and the old ranch is fenced and cross-fenced. It now enjoys, under well planned management, most, if not all, of the modern-day con-

We, too, have had our achievements. We are able to furnish more adequate service to the West Texas we have the honor to serve and at rates much lower than ever thought possible a short span of years ago. This Company, in its program of development to mee the necessities of an ever growing Empire, happily views its part in bringing about a greater West Texas of Tomorrow.

AIR CONDITIONING IN THE HOME AND PLACE OF BUSINESS for the health, comfort and convenience of our friends and customers will be one of our major programs for increasing

Your increased use of electric service under incentive rate schedules will combine our efforts for further developing West Texas and its unlimited resources.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

Service

Today the Government guarantees individual bank deposits up to $5000.00. Through codes uniform banking practice has evolved. Carefully thought-out laws have been enacted to gover financial institutions.

But still there is a difference in banks!

Deposit insurance, codes and laws cannot d themselves insure good banking from the stand point of the bank customer.

In the final analysis, conscientious manage ment, time tested policies and efficient, courteons service are the desirable qualities which mould, ank to the depositors ideal.

You may still safely judge a bank by its his tory, by its management and by its attitude d asefulness.
