Midwestern States Rocked By Earthquake Early Today

About Our Friends

By STEPHEN A. LONG

The Stunt night was a big success... much credit is due the ladies who spent so much time promoting and planning for these stunts... Frankly, we couldn't decide which won... we're satisfied with the decisions as we would have been had it gone most any other way... When that fine group of children composing the Rhythm band, trained by Miss Addie Stevens, played their part, we awarded them first prize... then the Garden club, with their decorations and pretty crepe paper costumes and those sweet little tots, representing the flower garden like tiny fairies, came along and we just handed them the prize... but when "Six Little Grandmas," by Mrs. Godfrey, did their part, we began to weaken... Next came the Fiddler's Frolic, featuring Harry Schaefer, Ernest Hitson and Spurgeon Parks, playing from the ridiculous to the sublime in such a way as to call for an encore... we were simply lost... Now the "Scales Holiday," with Mrs. Clifford Yeager, was really ultra-brilliant... the planning in that showed talent... The Twentieth Century stunt with all those old... we mean matronly ladies, sliding around as scenery or closing curtains, finding their false whiskers in the way and discarding them while talking, bowing to the king and queen, the dead raising their heads too soon to see if the curtain had closed... we just couldn't make a decision... "Winter Wonderland" was wonderful... the snow man... the falling snow... the love scene... the

To Submit Notaries For Reappointment

Persons hold commissions as notaries public will be submitted for reappointment for the two year period beginning June 1, 1935, Wilbourne Collier, senator from Eastland for the 24th district, has written.

"It will not be necessary for them to write me direct or through the representative to secure this appointment," he said.

"Persons desiring an emergency appointment for the period between now and June 1 may file their request, and also, those who do not now have a commission but desire one for the next two years may file their application with me as soon as possible, and same will be attended to," he concluded.

BABY BANDIT IS SENTENCED TO 45 YEARS

EASTLAND, March 1. — Paul Dean Barker, Eastland's 17-year-old "baby bandit" today received sentence totaling 45 years in the state penitentiary when he was tried on five counts in two district courts.

Pleading guilty on two assault to murder charges, allegedly occurring April 1933, he received sentence of 15 years each from Judge B. W. Patterson in 88th district court.

Officers stated that shots were fired by the then 15 year old youth at Otter when they attempted to question him concerning car thefts.

In 91st district court he received three five-year sentences on a like number of automobile thefts after pleading guilty.

After receiving his sentences, he went to his wife and embraced her while his father wiped tears from his face. Officers immediately handcuffed him and led him from the 91st district court.

NO DAMAGE IS REPORTED AS TEMBLOR HITS

OMAHA, Neb., March 1 — An earthquake, the first felt in this section since 1931, shook parts of Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, and Missouri early today.

The first shock was felt at 5 a. m. and about four minutes later a second tremor shook the area. Persons were awakened, furniture moved, and houses trembled under the movement, but no damage was reported.

The area embraced by the quake extended east to around Des Moines, west as far as Grand Island, Neb., and south to Topeka and Kansas City.

The heaviest tremors apparently followed the Missouri river, for the earth's movements seemed most distinct in southeast Nebraska and northwest Missouri.

Persons in hotels and large apartments felt the earthquake shock as distinctly as residents in individual homes. At the Cornhusker hotel in Lincoln guests thought there had been an explosion.

Negro Is Guarded After Mob Attempt

UVALDE, March 1. — Strict guard was kept today over John Trapper, negro, of Rosebud, Texas, after a mob made an attempt last night to take him from officers who had charged him with killing Deputy Sheriff W. A. Hagood.

City Marshal J. A. Couser and Deputy Hagood were seeking Trapper on charges that he had killed his wife by slaying her throat. Trapper opened fire on them with a double barreled shotgun. Hagood was killed. Couser shot the negro in the leg and captured him.

NEGRO HELD IN UNNAMED JAIL

LINDEN, Texas, March 1. — Blackie Thompson, 21, negro dairy worker, accused of attacking a white girl, was held in an unnamed jail today after a mob threatened to lynch him at Atlanta last night and another crowd formed around the Linden jail when he was removed here from Atlanta.

Vacancies Listed By Marine Corps

Capt. George R. Rowan, officer in charge of replacement activities at marine corps district headquarters, New Orleans, announces vacancies for a few young men over 18 years of age from 66 to 74 inches in height, of good moral character and in sound physical condition.

Applicants to fill vacancies in the marines receive their preliminary examinations in their home localities and those selected receive their final examinations at U. S. Marine Corps Headquarters, 535 St. Charles Street, New Orleans. Complete information and application blanks will be mailed on request.

The Marine corps offers land, air and sea duty. Many young men on completion of initial training are selected for aviation, radio, music, clerical, mechanics and other school for specialist training. Others go aboard some battleship, cruiser or some foreign station where the United States is interested. Marines serving afloat or on foreign shores, travel thousands of miles and visit many strange places.

Congress To Help In Court Ruling

WASHINGTON, March 1. — Bright on the new deal horizon is assurance of congressional cooperation in a counter attack against general court ruling that much of President Roosevelt's emergency legislation is unconstitutional. This is in contrast to congress' attitude other White House problems.

There is a note of honest conviction in assurances of the administration's lawyers of reversal of the Wick Steel decision, against labor collective bargaining.

Whether additional legislation would correct faults alleged in that guarantee to labor is not yet evident.

U. S. Bombers Ready for Long Dash

A 10,000-mile flight including a 1100-mile overwater hop and a possible non-stop return jump from Panama to Washington, D. C. lay ahead of 29 U. S. Army fliers as their commander, Captain Harold D. Smith outlined the route as shown in the top photo. In the

Relief From Drought Soon Foreseen By Hopkins, Asking More Feed Grants

CHICAGO, March 1. — All restriction on feed grants to farmers in drought-stricken areas were ordered lifted immediately today by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator.

Hopkins predicted "the end of the big problem in the drought section within 3 months."

In connection with raising restrictions on feed grants, Hopkins said the step had been decided upon because farmers now are faced with spring work and in some cases the previous $25 limit on grants proved entirely inadequate.

Gains Are Seen In Lumber Industry

AUSTIN, March 1. — The lumber industry in the region represented by the Southern Pine association made favorable comparisons during January with the previous month and also with January last year, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research.

Average weekly production per unit, 208,850 board feet, was 18 per cent above December and 14 per cent above January last year, the bureau's report said. Average weekly shipments per unit, 216,500 board feet, were 32 per cent above December and 40 per cent greater than in January a year ago. Unfilled orders on January 31 totaled 475,784 board feet, 10 per cent under December and 18 per cent below the corresponding date last year.

DRIVERS PROTEST LICENSE

CLEVELAND, March 1. — The city defied the state to make cab drivers here pay for two licenses, bringing the result cab drivers had sought, but in a surprising manner. Frank Sommers, president of the Cab Drivers' Protective Union, protested drivers should not have to get city licenses ($2, plus 50 cents for photograph) inasmuch as the state this year was enforcing its own requirements.

BARRIERS AWAY

THE DALLES, Ore., March 1. — A little thing like driving through a stone wall didn't delay Leroy Cherron, held on a drunken driving charge. Cherron came down the wall, too fast and bashed into the wall, then drove with his wheels canting off line and car wobbling badly, until police state police.

SAAR JOYOUS OVER RETURN TO GERMANY

SARBRUCKEN, Germany, March 1. — The German Saar came back to Germany today.

Four hours after its formal return, Adolf Hitler, living symbol of a revitalized Germany, arrived in Saarbrücken to lead his fellow countrymen. Germans again after 15 years of exile, in a joyous celebration.

Tears and cheers—the unbridled, unrestrained joy and thanksgiving at the return of this German bit of Europe to Germany which greeted this transfer of the territory after 15 years of League of Nations rule reached a tumultuous climax with the arrival of Adolf Hitler, the man who soon after the world war announced in a beer cellar that he was going to lead Germany back to full equal fellowship in the concert of nations.

The return was marked by a gesture of good will and friendship toward France and Europe which bode well for immediate harmony in European relations.

The Saar region gave a great majority to Germany in the January plebiscite, and Nazi Germany immediately began steps to bring about a complete return to the Fatherland.

Meanwhile, anti-Nazis have kept up a trek out of the country.

Garrett To Attend Taxation Hearing

County Judge Clyde L. Garrett will be in Austin Friday night to attend a public hearing of House Bill No. 463.

Judge Garrett, president of the West-Texas County Judges and Commissioners association, with the group, favors the enactment of the bill as it is believed it would effect a sharp reduction in the ad valorem tax rate of Eastland and other counties in the state.

The pending bill adds one cent to the state gasoline tax to guarantee sufficient revenues to make real the proposed reduction in county tax rates.

Chinese, Japs Reach Far East Agreement

SHANGHAI, March 1. — China and Japan were reported today to have agreed in general terms on cooperation to "ease diplomatic and economic tension" in the far east.

The agreement, it was said, was a result of a visit by high Japanese military officers reported to have the support of the Japanese foreign office and war office.

Terms of the agreement, as reported, included complete cessation of anti-Japanese agitation in China and inauguration of a publicity campaign for Chinese-Japanese understanding.

Wanderers To Play In Cisco Saturday

The Wanderers, a six-piece string orchestra of Dallas, will be at Lake Cisco again Saturday night, it has been announced by Manager Albert F. Hunt of the Lake Cisco Amusement company.

The Wanderers, one of the best bands coming into this section of the state, may be heard every week day at 11 a. m. over radio station FAA.

Murder Trial Of Jockey Is Begun

FORT WORTH, March 1. — Donald Pay, 16 year old jockey charged with the murder of an Arlington Downs watchman went on trial here today.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pay, were reunited here yesterday after a separation of many months. Mrs. Pay lives in Hollywood and the father in Houston.

Attorneys for the boy introduced in district court here a motion that the lad be paroled in the custody of relatives in Galveston. If convicted young Pay will have to serve in the state reformatory till 21. He now is 16.

Saar Happy in Return To Fatherland

"German is the Saar" today was more than a boast of blood relationship or allegiance as the rich mining territory returning to the Fatherland after 15 years of exile in which the people were ruled by a League of Nations government. Flags were flying and the people were joyous with their "heil victory" and "heil Hitler" as the transfer of the land was made. Above is a typical Saarbrücken street, clouded overhead with Nazi flags after the German victory in the recent plebiscite.

O. O. Music Club Awarded First Prize In Annual Stunt Night Contest Here

First prize of $5 was awarded to the O. O. Music club last night when Cisco clubs and organizations contested for the honor at the annual stunt night program sponsored by the Cisco Federation of Women's Clubs.

Directed by Mrs. Clifford Yeager, sponsor, and her assistant for the evening, Mrs. Ray Godfrey, directing it, the club presented an unusually clever stunt. A musical staff constructed of five long strips covered with tinseled was used for the musical staff and ten girls were the living notes of the do-re-mi scale. Miss Margie Linder was charming in a tap dance and Miss Marian Jacobs and Paul Green added to the program by singing two duets.

The stunt was Mrs. Yeager's original idea, and her compositions were used in carrying it out.

Second prize was awarded the West Ward Rhythm band. The tiny tots in their red and white costumes appealed to the audience as they were not only well trained by Miss Addie Stevens, but their originality, characteristic of their age, made them extremely entertaining.

REPEAL VOTE IS POSTPONED UNTIL MONDAY

AUSTIN, March 1. — Submission of a repeal of prohibition to Texas voters next August 24 was postponed today to permit further study of rival repeal plans.

The subject was specially set for consideration next Monday morning.

Many senators, believing voters should be given an idea of what will take prohibition's place before balloting on repeal declared they wished to study a proposed state monopoly on manufacture and sale of liquor.

One major objection to the monopoly plan lies in its wording as offered. It prohibits sale of liquor for private profit and gives the state exclusive control over liquor manufacture.

It was believed, therefore, the state would have to set up its own distillery, as private profit would be involved if the state bought liquor from a private concern.

Campbell To Try For Speed Record

DATONA BEACH, Fla., March 1. — Sir Malcolm Campbell plans to make a definite bid tomorrow to raise the world to 300 miles per hour.

20 PER CENT OF BUDGET IS TO BE ISSUED

Eastland county's needy today had their relief funds slashed to a fraction of the amount they have been receiving, following an order to shut down on work relief projects and the ability of the county relief board to issue only 20 per cent of the standard budget.

Even this 20 per cent may be taken away if the county administrator's office does not receive information telling of a new fund supply by March 7, County Administrator H. E. Driscoll told the Daily News in a telephone conversation at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The order, which came from Austin, said that no further work relief projects would be approved except supplement to commodity distribution projects, supplement to garden projects or new garden projects where seed has already been contracted for.

Effective March 4, it will be necessary to close down projects. Non-relief personnel assigned to such projects will be dropped immediately from the payroll.

These instructions do not affect either the emergency education program or the rural rehabilitation program, both of which are financed by special funds.

No acquisition for material, trucks, teams, or any non-personal services items will be approved for any project.

The administrator was told to discontinue all expenditures for owner-governed trucks and teams, and that the Austin office will make no payment for such service dated later than March 2.

The move is being made to curb expenses because of lack of funds and the indefinite period over which the funds now held by the relief commission must last. "At this time no assurance can be given concerning the allocation for March allocation," the order said.

TARRANT COUNTY RELIEF REACHES CRISIS

FORT WORTH, March 1. — Tarrant county's relief situation today reached crisis when $0,000 persons were placed on a "food only" program and all work projects, with three minor exceptions, were halted.

County relief officials announced the county has only $3,000 cash on hand, sufficient to feed the $0,000 on relief for only one week more.

Relief officials at Austin informed the county officials no more funds were in sight until passage of the administration's $4,900,000 work relief bill.

FACTIONS SETTLE DOWN TO STRUGGLE OVER BILL

WASHINGTON, March 1. — The White House and organized labor settled down today to a grim struggle over the administration's work relief bill.

An early conclusion was sought but neither side showed any disposition to surrender. President Roosevelt, after administration leaders sent the bill back to the committee after it had been rewritten to be seeking an agreement that would say for him to go forward with his program without appearing to concede from the firm opposition he has shown to the prevailing wage clause.

With labor deliberately carrying its cause to the people and insurgent senators standing firm, it appeared likely the White House would have to accept some form of wage guarantee if it is to face the measure from the senate tangle which has enveloped it.

President Encounters Troubles

Birmingham switches the current of controversy onto the power lines of the TVA, when charges that the government has entered the utility business in competition with private concerns are made in the Federal District Court. Responding, TVA counsel is preparing an appeal to higher court. The basis of the charge against the TVA is that the government project is intended to produce power primarily for utility consumption, whereas it is held unlawful for a government plant to sell its product save as a surplus.

Washington celebrates the anniversary of the illustrious man whose name it bears by chopping away at the cherry tree of work relief. The President's $4,800,000,000 resolution suffers such mutilation at the hands of Senate hatcheteers that it is sent back to the appropriations committee tree surgeons. The main wounds: The Senate's easy capitulation to Labor's demands for the inclusion of a "prevailing wage" clause; the demands of conservatives for a smaller appropriation for direct relief only. Either might win a presidential veto. So the committee is asked to strip the relief measure of controversial twigs and branches and to return it to the Senate.

Taxes Versus Income

Apologists for the growing burden of taxation often state that the rise in taxes, when measured by the rise in our income, is not so important as it seems. Yet a recent editorial in the Syracuse Post-Standard shows that Federal, state and local expenditures are now five times as great as they were before the war. Tax collections, consequently, have risen in the same proportion. By contrast with this, the prices received by farmers for their products are but 2 percent above the 1910-1914 level, and the real wages received by industrial workers are but 21 percent greater. The cost of taxation has risen more steadily and more rapidly than other costs borne by businesses and individuals. Where, not so long ago, a national debt of one billion dollars was regarded as being dangerous, we now face a Federal debt of over $30,000,000,000. All units of government have gone on a spending spree, and have doled out billions of dollars. They have issued bond after bond—apparently not realizing that the bonds, which amount to mortgages on all property, must eventually be paid, plus interest, by direct or indirect taxation of the people. Taxes menace savings. They menace jobs and investments. They strike directly at the welfare of every worker, every farmer, everyone who owns a home or has a dollar in the bank. Rising taxation is a towering barrier in the path of recovery.

60 Million Acres Threatened by Dust

Texans have been given a reminder that the dust plague is threatening the empire state as well as many states above the Texas borderline on and on to the Canadian provinces. Washington advises that reports on severe dust storm damage to approximately 60,000,000 acres of land in arid regions of the United States are coupled by the soil erosion service with a warning that such storms will continue until farmers take adequate steps for their prevention. Moreover, the interior department service reports about 50,000,000 acres have been rendered utterly useless for crop purposes by the loss of top soil or by the deposit of wind blown sand on the once fertile areas. This dust plague gathered its forces in the upper country and swept on and on across Texas from the Panhandle to the Gulf of Mexico.

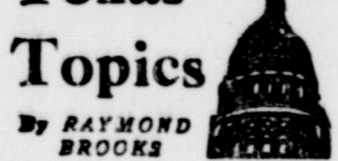

We Can't Do Without Metals

If you want to obtain an idea of the value of metals, look around your home, office or factory. Practically everything you use involves one or more metals—automobiles and pens, furnaces and thumb tacks, kitchen equipment and sporting goods. Every basic industry is vitally dependent upon metals for making and distributing its products or services. If the impossible happened, and we suddenly found ourselves without metals tomorrow, life would have to be carried on in the neolithic manner. This illustrates the reason for the importance that is attached to the domestic mining industry—and shows why far-sighted economists are so interested in fair and reasonable legislative and tax policies for mining.

Riding High

Texas Topics

Unicameral legislatures will come. It is safe to believe, within a decade. Probably, the so-called progressive mid-west and western states will lead the way along the path blazed by Nebraska.

Somewhere down the line, the question will be settled in Texas, and, after a few trials in the legislature on submission, will be decided by the voters, either in legislative elections or in passing on a constitutional amendment.

The issue will be responsiveness and responsibility against the cumbersome and lack of centralized responsibility and the often-asserted lack of ability to respond to needs and sentiment of a diversified public in so large a state.

The principle of course will be given a trial and wide attention in Nebraska. It may be disappointing.

Iron Cow Gives Milk For Experts

WASHINGTON, March 1. — An "Iron cow" produces milk at the Washington Sanitarium. It was installed recently by Dr. H. O. Miller, medical physician.

Soybeans are fed into the "cow" and a grade-A milk is produced which, according to the department of agriculture is good for children and stomach aches.

The "iron cow" works on the same principle used by Chinese peasants. Soybeans are soaked in water and crushed to a pulp. The recipe calls for one pound of beans to three quarts of water. Thirty minutes of boiling removes the bean flavor and milk is the product.

The "manufactured milk" does not contain enough calcium or fat, however, and the Washington Sanitarium adds coconut oil.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER. NEA Service Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON—Well, anyway, Jim Farley is going to show us what currency inflation is like. By way of atoning for a sad error, the postmaster general will do the trick with postage stamps. He gave away to his friends scores of sheets of nice new issues which, because they weren't perforated, represented huge values to stamp collectors who go in for such oddities, and did they squawk! Now he promises to start the printing presses again and pump so many imperforate sheets into the philatelic market that none will be worth more than face value. That means that a pair of imperforate 2-cent Grand Canyon stamps, recently offered for sale at $350, will slump in value to a mere four pennies. It will be kind of like the post-war inflation in Germany and may be a dampening object lesson to the Senator Thomases and Father Coughlins at that.

IN the face of rather hot Republican fire, the official how-it-happened from the postoffice department is this: Farley wasn't dishonest. He was unwise. No stamp collector himself, but only a jolly simple-minded postmaster general who just adored to issue a beautiful new kind of a stamp every other week and autograph sheets of them for friends, he never realized that—for instance—somebody would shoot of his Mother's Day stamps for $29,000 because the lack of perforation and the fact that no one but he could buy them imperforate had vastly enhanced their market value. And his best friends wouldn't

Did you ever stop to think EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Okla.

By EDISON R. WAITE SHANEE, Okla., March 1. — An editorial in the Brazilian American in part says: "Under curiously reverse conditions the United States is reducing cotton acreage and diversifying production by turning old coffee plantations into cotton fields. Curtailment of the American output and consequent higher prices have encouraged expansion of cotton growing in many of the countries listed as cotton producers, but no nation has been more prompt and energetic in taking advantage of present conditions than Brazil."

"The Brazilian Department of Agriculture, which placed the 1933 crop at slightly less than 150,000,000 kilos, estimated the 1934 output at nearly 172,000,000 kilos. Although less than 50,000,000 kilos for domestic consumption, there remain 222,000,000 kilos or about 1,000,000 bales for export.

Under the distinctly favorable conditions Brazil sees the possibility of continued expansion for cotton. Curtailment and high prices in the United States may result in important transfers of world purchases of other nations which are increasing output as the American crop is reduced."

SAYS IDEA OF NEW DEAL IS DUE CLIMATE

CINCINNATI, March 1. — Theories of Dr. Clarence A. Mills, professor of experimental medicine in the University of Cincinnati medical school, concerning effects of climatic conditions on health, mind, business and even governments, have found their way into a book, "Living With the Weather."

Dr. Mills' research has been recognized by the Leonard Wood Memorial which has appointed him to study leprosy first hand in the Philippines.

"The cycle of generally mild, unstimulating weather, now prevailing here," Dr. Mills holds, is responsible for the population's low energy level, which in turn permits the growth of paternalism in American government. "This energy change," he says, "is only temporary and few of these radical social or economic innovations will be tolerated when cold, stormy years return and excess energy again pushes men to demand greater freedom of action."

Desdemona Man Opens Lyric Feud With Famed Poet Praising Wife's Biscuits

When a poet praises the spring, the little birdies in the trees, or the snowflakes on a gray December day, it goes unnoticed. But when he takes to the muse to right the wrong set by another poet who failed to praise his wife's cooking, that comes in for a lot of attention.

How can a poet's heart be hard? Still, I've been reading from a bard who warns all men with wives that take To boast and brag not on her cake. Eat thou in silence; hold your trap. For if you brag you're one big sap; Cause wife will hearken what you say. And feed you that same cake each day. I cannot, for the life of me, With this dear poet quite agree; For boostin', braggin', that's my line And Wiley surely feeds me fine.

Noticing a poem by Edgar A. Guest, in which the famed bard advised men not to praise their wives' cooking, Wallace E. Barron, railway agent at Desdemona, penned a reply and mailed it to Guest. A few days later he received the following reply: "My dear Mr. Barron: It was fine of you to let me see your answer to that bit of mine, and I want you to know that I enjoyed it. Thank you so much. With every good wish, I am, Sincerely yours, Edgar A. Guest."

Following is the Desdemona man's answer in praise of praising his wife's cooking: "I advise northerners to take their vacations in the winter instead of summer and go south for relief from the stimulation. Southerners should come north in the summer, he says. Both groups, he believes, would benefit from artificial air conditioning."

Scientists Keeping Contact With Radio

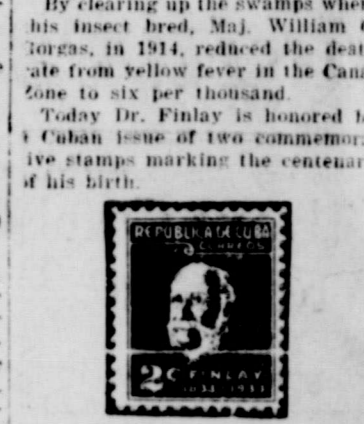

EAGLE HARBOR, Mich., March 1. Two scientists have dug in for the winter on Isle Royale and for four months their only communication with the outside world will be by means of a short wave radio set. They are Paul Hickey, mammalogist, and his assistant, Ellsworth St. Germain, fieldmen of the Michigan Department of Conservation. Their winter's task will be to conduct experimental work in moose feeding and live-trapping, preliminary to transplanting the once huge herd to the mainland. The moose on Isle Royale are facing a shortage of winter browse.

In 1930, it was estimated that the herd numbered 1,000 animals but now there are believed to be only about 600 left.

CONQUEROR OF DISEASE

THE Panama Canal made possible an obscure physician in Cuba discovered that yellow fever, the disease which ravaged the tropics, was spread by a certain type of mosquito, the "Stegomyia". The discoverer was Dr. Carlos J. Finlay, a Cuban.

By clearing up the swamps where his insect bred, Maj. William C. Forbes, in 1914, reduced the death rate from yellow fever in the Canal zone to six per thousand.

Today Dr. Finlay is honored by a Cuban issue of two commemorative stamps marking the centenary of his birth.

BIG DIGGING

COULEE DAM, Wash., March 1. Removing excavated material from site of the $63,000,000 Grand Coulee Columbia river dam, has boosted its capacity to 37,000 cubic yards in a 21-hour day. At that rate it will take 300 days to remove the 9,000,000 cubic yards remaining.

SUNKEN SPINDLES

by Laura Lu Brookman © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I suppose so," the girl said, "but I don't want it to happen to you. I couldn't stand that. You've done so many things for me and—well, I just thought if there was any way I could help I wanted to." Brian covered her hand with his. "You're a sweet girl, Vicky," he said. "You wouldn't let a fellow down, would you?" "What do you mean?" "Nothing, nothing at all—only I think you're one of the sweetest, sweetest girls in the world. I think you're great and I'm glad you asked me to come over tonight. You're right about it—I've been staying too much by myself. Moping. From now on it's going to be different. You and I are going to have fun together."

"Yes," Vicky moved toward the door, "Don't forget," she said softly. "And you'd better be prepared to keep it." "They'll stay the rest of the week. After that they're going to Mary's cousin. I don't know how long she can keep them. It's dreadful, isn't it—not even having a roof over your head." "It's Fisher's fault," Josie said vehemently. "He could have kept Mary on if he'd wanted to." "I certainly wish he'd give her her job back." "Well, he won't! You know that as well as I do. Firing more all the time—that's what they're doing instead of taking any one on. Do you know what I think? I think they put Mary out of her house to scare the rest of us. Howley got a notice this morning; did you know that? And there's lots of others whose rent is back. I think they're trying to scare us all, but it isn't working that way. Oh, there may be some who fail for it—but you know about the meeting tonight, don't you?" "Gale nodded. "Yes." "Are you going?" "Yes," Gale said. "I am. I didn't think this organization meant much until I saw what happened to Mary yesterday. Phil's talked about it a lot but—well, there doesn't seem to be any other way now. We've got to stand up for each other. The bosses do treat us like slaves and they think we haven't any rights. I'm tired of having my pay cut for being late when I haven't been. And I'm tired of working twice as hard as we used to for less money." "Good for you!" Josie's face was shining, eager. "I'm getting everybody I can to go. It's a protest meeting, you know, about these evictions."

TEXAS LOOKS TO STATES TO AID PAGEANT

DALLAS, March 1—Texas, preparing to welcome the world within its portals in 1936 for the state-wide celebration of its Centennial, is looking to her sister states to participate actively in the commemoration of the achievement of her independence.

To this end, Walter D. Cline, managing director, has sent letters to the governors of the forty-seven other states requesting them to take suitable action to assure exhibits from their respective commonwealths at the forthcoming centennial exposition at Dallas. Cline pointed out that most of the state legislatures now are in session and that makes the present an appropriate time to submit to them the matter of state exhibits, in order that they make adequate provision of funds, through appropriations, in the several states, for such exhibits.

Cline is authority for the assertion that the central exposition may provide a separate building to house such state exhibits, although at other expositions some of the states have erected their own separate structures for that purpose. California and Florida customarily prefer separate exhibits, he said.

Cline's action, together with that of the Texas Centennial commission, in sending out formal invitations, signed by governor James V. Allred of Texas, to all of the governors of state to attend personally the Texas celebrations, constitutes the state's first official proclamation to the world that the Texas Centennial of 1936 is nearing a reality and in the near future will have become an accomplished fact.

The world is being put on notice that Texas expects its citizens to come and view its wonders and possibilities and that Texas is preparing to act in accord with the words of its governor, who has urged that "during the Centennial, we should let our visitors know that all Texans are a friendly people."

Thus merchants and manufacturers, outside of Texas, are informed that in Texas through the Centennial, they are to be afforded a splendid opportunity to contact personally and demonstrate their merchandise and products to over 6,000,000 Texans and millions of transients, visiting the state, for the Centennial year.

DRIVES STARTS TO PLACE WINE UPON TABLES

United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, March 1—Casting aside a 75 year policy of marketing wine as a luxury, the California wine institute, representing two-thirds of the nation's $500,000,000 industry, today opened a drive to place wine on every dinner table in America as an indispensable food.

A. R. Morrow, president of the institute, announced the organization's plans, which he said will "seek growth along a path followed by European winemakers for centuries."

After struggling for 14 months "in a post-repeal blind alley," Morrow said California vintners no longer intend to attempt individually to compete with domestic and imported wines in the luxury market, but will press a campaign already under way in 20 states to obtain recognition of wine as a food.

Not a Luxury

The old policy, he said, ignored the fact that wine to its principal consumers, always has been an everyday table beverage, not a luxury.

"It has become increasingly apparent since repeal that the American mistake of classifying wine as a luxury must be corrected if wine is to sell at reasonable prices and if the grape growers, vintners and allied industries are to prosper," he said, citing per capita consumption of nations where wine is consumed freely with meals.

He said the average annual consumption in France is 42 gallons and in Italy 35 gallons for every man, woman and child of the population.

Called a Food

The institute's first step, he said, will be to follow up steps already taken before legislatures of 20 states to obtain recognition of wine as a food. In this manner, luxury taxes would be avoided and wine made available to the consumer of average means at a lower price.

"Despite repeal, almost as much homemade wine is still being made in basements as is being sold commercially, and this basement made product escapes all taxes, federal and local."

California, where wine is classified as food, he pointed out, is collecting more than $250,000 annually by taxing wine only two cents a gallon.

"Californians," he declared, "are drinking more than one-third of the commercial wine supply of the United States, which demonstrates that Americans will drink wine with their meals when they can buy it reasonably and conveniently."

He said wine consumption in the United States is less than half a gallon per capita annually, of which nearly half is homemade wine.

Economic Aid

Aside from the standpoint of viability, Morrow said, increased consumption will mean economic salvation to more than 250,000 people directly dependent upon grape growing and winemaking throughout the nation. He said half a billion dollars are invested in vineyards and wineries alone.

Considering the temperance problem, he said: "I want to emphasize that wine never was, and is not now, a saloon drink."

Beer and liquor have monopolized the post-repeal liquor store trade channels, he said, concluding: "Now it becomes a matter of making our choice, and necessarily has made us come to our senses."

By free distribution of wine at reasonable prices and through advertising that wine is a healthful, civilized accompaniment of food, we can place our product where it belongs—on the American dinner table."

NORMAN LOCKWOOD WINS SYMPHONY COMPOSITION AWARD FOR THIS YEAR

CHICAGO, March 1—Composition of American music by young American composers was given new encouragement today with the award of $1,000 cash first prize to Norman Lockwood of Oberlin, Ohio by G. P. Swift, Lockwood's winning symphony, "A Year's Chronicle" will be played in the near future by the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

A $500 cash second prize was also awarded to Charles Haubel of New York City for his "The Ritratti Characteristic." Honorable mentions went to Haubel for his "Pastoral" and to David Van Vactor of Evanston, Illinois for his "The Masque of the Red Death."

Winners of the national symphonic composition competition, all under 40 years of age as required by the rules, were chosen by a jury of four celebrated symphonic musicians headed by Dr. Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and including Sir Hamilton Harty, conductor of the London Symphony orchestra; John Alden Carpenter, famous Chicago composer; and Dr. Howard Hanson, noted composer, conductor of the Rochester Symphony orchestra and director of the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N. Y.

118 Compositions

Selection of the four leading compositions came after more than two months of study of the 118 compositions submitted by 104 young composers, 13 of them women, from 25 states and the District of Columbia. Mr. Lockwood's entry received the unanimous vote of the judges.

"Although our final choice of Mr. Lockwood's work was unanimous the selection was by no means an easy one," said Dr. Stock. "The quality level was high among the leaders,

Scotch Church Has United States Arms

ABERDEEN, Scotland, March 1—Arms of the 48 states of the United States will adorn the ceiling of the Aberdeen Cathedral in the near future as a memorial to Bishop Samuel Seabury of Connecticut, who was consecrated as Scottish Bishop on Nov. 17, 1784.

The arms will be placed there at the instruction of the Seabury Committee in the United States, secretary and side chapel at Aberdeen Cathedral in memory of the famous 18th century American bishop. Approximately $80,000 has been subscribed in the United States and Great Britain by Episcopal churchmen for this work.

Work will also be begun soon on the main part of the Seabury Memorial scheme to erect a new sanctuary and side chapel at Aberdeen Cathedral in memory of the famous 18th century American bishop. Approximately $80,000 has been subscribed in the United States and Great Britain by Episcopal churchmen for this work.

Buddhists Split On Airplane in Burial

FANGCON, March 1—The progress of science is causing a heated controversy among the Buddhist community here over the question of whether an airplane should be used in a burial service.

A dead pony, or Burmese Buddhist monk, is the cause of the controversy. Before his public cremation can take place, his remains must be transported in a bullock cart seven times around the Shwedagon Pagoda, as the ancient ceremonial rites required that the coffin shall be continuously in motion before being placed on the funeral pyre.

It has been proposed by a section of the community that an airplane be hired from the Imperial Airways to fly the coffin around the Pagoda. The contention that the dead monk will be all the more honored if the rites are performed in the most up-to-date fashion.

The suggestion shocked the more conservative elements of the community and was the signal for an outbreak of wordy warfare in the local newspapers. Meanwhile, the embalmed body of the monk lies in state while the elders deliberate on the question of whether this innovation can be admitted to their time-honored burial rites.

Sea Sled Pontoon Used On Seaplane

BOSTON, March 1—An Adaptation of the V-bottom of the seaplane to sea plane pontoons is the invention of Captain John Bennett, retired sea captain here.

The idea, according to Captain Bennett, is to break the suction of the water which often makes difficult for the hydroplane to obtain sufficient lift to rise from the surface.

The new pontoon resembles the ordinary pontoons with their new sides slanting inward until they meet, leaving a space like an inverted V between them.

"There will be a gushing water sucking through this V-tunnel which will produce an upward pressure beyond expectation," Captain Bennett said. Forty per cent of the "drag" will be eliminated, according to his estimates.

Captain Bennett conceived the idea when Colonel Lindbergh was unable to rise from the water during one of his tropic trips. He built a model of the new type, demonstrate his idea.

Bennett was for many years captain of a Newfoundland sealer. He devoted himself to ship models and explaining his latest invention.

A group of the Fort Worth citizens will arrive here at 2:40 Thursday afternoon for a 20 minutes stop during which they will extend their invitation according to Charles Cotten, manager of the trade extension department of Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to J. E. Spencer, secretary of Cisco Chamber of Commerce.

The group will bring a string band and will present a concert of popular music over a public address system, it was said. The group will travel in a large bus.

The party, which will include several of some of the largest and most influential business institutions, will come to Cisco from Crockett, Plains and Rising Star.

Secretary Spencer has announced that the Chamber of Commerce here will welcome the group and has urged as many citizens as possible to be present at the concert and the extending of an invitation to the Fat Stock Show. The concert will be given on D avenue, he said.

Sales In January More Than in 1934

AUSTIN, March 1—Retail sales in Texas during January continued on a relatively high level, according to data compiled by the University of Texas bureau of business research. Reports from 89 representative stores show an average increase of 6.8 per cent over January, 1934, and a decline less than the usual seasonal drop from December to January, the bureau's report said.

The increase in sales for January in Austin, Dallas, San Antonio, and Temple was greater than the average for the state. Of the five groups of establishments included in the 89 stores, men's clothing stores made the best comparative showing followed in order by women's specialty shops, large department stores, small department stores, and dry goods and apparel stores. Collections of outstanding open credit accounts averaged 36.3 per cent of the total amount on the books on January 1 against 35.7 per cent during January last year.

Laxative So Many Like

Old folks, young folks—thousands of them say they prefer Theodor's Black-Draught when they need a laxative. It does its work so well.

"I have used Theodor's Black-Draught in my family since 1883," writes Mr. Henson Temple, Smithdale, Miss. "We do not feel like we could keep house without Black-Draught. We are quite a good way from town, and a good, simple medicine, like Black-Draught, is good to have on hand. All these years I have never changed because it gave satisfaction."

LOCATION FOR STOCK EXHIBIT IS ANNOUNCED

Cisco's livestock show will be held at the Wilkinson Lumber company yard at D avenue and Tenth street, Friday and Saturday of next week. It was announced Thursday by J. M. Bird, general chairman of the show. This is the same location as was used for the show in 1933.

"There is a lot of work being done, and we have every reason in the world to believe now that this will be a good show," Bird said. He pointed out that prizes are being awarded through the cooperation of Cisco merchants and Eastland county breeders, and that much interest is being shown. A grand prize of $7.50 will be awarded the breeder winning the most first and second places in the show and $5 to the one winning the second number. These prizes are being furnished by the Cisco Boosters.

Rules announced for the show were as follows: 1—All animals must be in place by 9 a. m. Friday, March 8, except that all horses and mules must be in place by 9 a. m. Saturday, March 9. 2—All animals must remain in place until 5 p. m. Saturday, March 9. 3—There will be no entry fees. 4—Each exhibitor will be required to show his own animals. Vocational agriculture students will assist exhibitors in showing stock if requested. 5—Each exhibitor will care for his own animals and provide food for them. The show, however, will have a watchman on duty at all times and will furnish straw for bedding. 6—The show management cannot assume responsibility for the safety of stock. Every effort will be made, however, to prevent damage to animals. 7—Exhibitors must show animals to be eligible for awards. Breeders of Eastland county and Cisco merchants are cooperating to offer prizes for all first and second place animals. 8—There will be seven classes of animals in the show; it has been announced. These will be beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep, goats, hogs, draft horses and mules. The Chamber of Commerce and business men of the city are cooperating to make the show a success. The stock show is being held next week purposely. It was understood in order that breeders here may exhibit their animals before the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show at Fort Worth.

Worters, the Go-Getter

One reason little Roy Worters is classed as the greatest goalie in the National Hockey League is that he can so often that puck to either side. Here the New York Americans' net tender is shown sliding to his left for a shot that Bob Gracie of the Montreal Maroons unsuccessfully tried to slip past his outstretched hand. Despite his heroic work at the net, the Maroons won, 2-0.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE, N.E.A. Service Staff Writer

I DON'T know about the rest of you—but since the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, I have been completely converted to the touch of wine in cookery that changes so many of my favorite dishes into something subtler and more delicately flavored than they were before.

My favorite is Sauce Madera, which may be served separately as an accompaniment for veal, venison, lamb, steaks or changed slightly and reheated with leftover meats to make a truly marvelous rechauffe.

Sauce Madera: Four tablespoons butter, 4 ounces onions, 4 tablespoons flour, 4 tablespoons madeira, 1-2 teaspoon meat glaze, 1 tablespoon minced gherkins, 4 ounces mushrooms, 1-2 cups white wine, salt, pepper.

Melt butter until smoking hot. Add onions peeled and minced and cook and stir until brown. Stir in flour and cook and stir until brown. Add wine slowly, whisking to keep mixture smooth. Cook and heat with whisk until thick. Then strain through a coarse strainer to remove onion. Return to heat and add chopped gherkins and peeled and chopped mushrooms. Simmer ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in meat glaze, madeira, salt and pepper and serve at once in a preheated sauceboat.

If you want to vary the sauce to use with left-overs, substitute 1-2 cups milk for the white wine and reduce the amount of flour to 2 tablespoons. Make the sauce exactly the same way, adding 1-2 cups diced left-over meat and 2 coarsely chopped hard cooked, etc.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Oranges, cereal cooked with dates, cream, crisp broiled bacon, toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Baked macaroni and cheese, whole wheat rolls, apple and raisin salad, chocolate brownies, milk, tea.

DINNER: Tomato and lemon juice cocktail, roast leg of lamb, Sauce Madera, potato marbles in parsley butter, buttered new peas, salad of cress and French endive with French dressing, muscovite of strawberries (freeze canned strawberries and serve with a dab of whipped cream). Camembert cheese, water crackers, milk, coffee.

Mushroom Sauce: One pound mushrooms, 1 cup cream, 2 sprigs parsley, 4 tablespoons butter, 1-4 cup madeira, 2 teaspoons flour, salt and pepper and a dash of mace. Peel mushrooms and arrange in a baking dish. Sprinkle with salt about 1-2 teaspoon, dot with butter, and pour over cream and madeira. Sprinkle with parsley, mace and pepper. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for fifteen minutes. Pour over boiled chicken.

SHIPMENT OF STOCK SHOW POOR RANGE

AUSTIN, March 1.—Shipments of livestock from Texas to interstate points and to Fort Worth stockyards during January were materially larger than a year ago, reflecting the continuance of condition of Texas ranges and shortage of feed on farms, according to Dr. F. A. Buechel, statistician and assistant director of University of Texas bureau of business research.

"Shipments of all classes of livestock totaled 4,729 cars, an increase of 30 per cent over January of last year," Dr. Buechel said. "Of total 3,326 cars were cattle, an increase of 59 per cent; 755 cars were calves, an increase of 2 per cent; 457 cars were hogs, an increase of 95 per cent, and 191 cars were sheep, a decrease of 65 per cent."

"The unusually large monthly shipments of cattle, calves, sheep and hogs, which have been shown in reports since July are reflected in the estimate of the United States department of agriculture of the number of livestock on Texas farms on January 1, 1935. According to the estimate, the number of cattle and calves is 1,348,000 less than a year ago; sheep, 1,017,000 less and hogs, 665,000 less. With the improvement of ranges which may be expected to result from the recent rains, further radical reduction in the number of cattle, calves, sheep on Texas ranges is unlikely. But with prices of feed still high in relation to hog prices, further depletion of hogs on farms is probable."

"The total value of Texas livestock on farms as of January 1, 1935, greater than it was on the corresponding date in each of the preceding years. This situation arises from the fact that the increase in value of horses and mules more than offset the decrease in value of cattle, calves, sheep, and hogs. This is true in spite of the fact that the number of horses and mules decreased substantially during the past year. Should pastures and feed conditions improve late in the year, a sharp relative decline in livestock shipments will probably occur. Total income from livestock, however, may not be adversely affected since prices have been rising sharply during recent weeks."
