Let's All Boost For Cisco

Cisco is fortunate in one respect, at least. There are few of the so-called "moss-backs" here. Comparatively young, this city has but comparatively few of those petrified individuals who have been here always and have never seen certain things done here, and therefore are sure "it can't be done." But there are still a few. Their knocking can be heard, however indistinctly, whenever some new proposal for the advancement of the city is put forth. "Remember the depression" seems to be their favorite cry. But they forget the "depression" was one which was general throughout the country and not confined to Cisco alone. Those who would proceed with excessive caution should be reminded that good times are almost invariably followed by depressions just as night follows the day. But they should be shown that there is a difference between progress and a "boom." The fact that Cisco had its depression in the past can in no wise be taken as an indication that there is something basically wrong with Cisco, especially when it is recalled that the depression was felt generally through the country, although, of course, felt more acutely in some places than in others. But the further fact that Cisco has come out of the depression and is now enjoying a healthy prosperity should be taken as an indication that we have no basic defects here. We have at least an equal chance with other cities, in so far as location and natural resources are concerned. And in such case, the element which determines whether a place will be just a town or a real city is the spirit of its people. As a whole, Ciscoans are boosters. They are progressive. They are neighborly and they co-operate. Those few gloom spreaders should cease to hold back Cisco in its progress. They should get behind the town and push.

Advertising Reduces Prices, Makes Profit

Some people have always argued that advertising adds to the cost of goods, and that the business house that eliminates this form of expense could afford to sell cheaper. It is interesting to think what would happen if all at once firms stopped advertising. The result would be that the enterprising and successful store, the one that gets a good trade because it serves the public efficiently, would be unable to hold its position. A store of that kind could not show enterprise in attracting the public, because the public would not know what it was doing. People would buy in a haphazard way, largely of the stores that happened to be nearest to them. If the enterprising store attempted to handle some big lot at low prices, the public would not know that the goods were there, and the sale would not be a success. This would discourage a man from special attempts to serve the public, and he would run along in a routine way. The tendency would be for a lot of small stores to spring up, and get the trade away from the enterprising ones that now advertise freely. The public would not know that one store was better than another and a dealer could charge high prices and the customer would not have the store advertising by which they could tell what prices should be. Merchants would find that it did not pay to hold special sales as the public would not notice them much if they were held. The constant stream of trade that has been flowing through enterprising stores would dwindle. When a store sees its volume of trade fall off, the charge per article for retail distribution has to be increased. The cost of distributing stuff could be expected to double under such a system, and there would be a lack of the special opportunities by which the thrifty buyer now saves money.

No, it is an established fact that advertising enables one to sell cheaper and yet make more money on account of increase in volume. However, manufacturers have found that they can always get a higher price if they wish to charge it, for a well advertised article. Advertising Pays.

Good Credit Will Help Cisco Business

Modern business is based in great part upon credit. Big business and small business and all branches of business are conducted on a credit basis. It therefore follows that when credit fails business will fail. It is no business secret that the chain credit extends all the way down from the source of raw materials to the ultimate consumer. Everybody uses credit. The manufacturer, the merchant, the farmer, the consumer, all are borrowers. Business benefits from credit, of course, or it would not grant it, but the public also reaps rich benefits from liberal credit. Automobiles, fine furniture, good clothing, radios, pianos, phonographs and many other luxuries are possible for most people only through credit. If the credit method of merchandising is to endure those who receive the benefit from it must fulfill their contracts. That this has been done is evident from the fact that the great majority of people who buy on credit pay their debts promptly. A cardinal virtue of the American people is the honesty they exhibit in their relations with their fellowmen. No greater insult can be heaped upon the American than to brand him "deadbeat."

Texas Topics

AUSTIN, May 16 — A favorite legislative activity is baiting public officials.

Outside the form of procedure in the constitution for the legislature to act, it is the most unsatisfactory and unproductive thing imaginable. Neither the house nor the senate ever turns down anybody's resolution to investigate an body or anything except lobbyists and lobbying. It will not be long until half the legislature will possibly be on expenses between sessions or investigations of one sort or another.

An example of the inadequacy and futile kind of legislative inquiry is that just completed by an able group of lawmakers as could have been appointed on a committee. That committee held secret sessions off and on for four months. It reported out what it found to be highly unsatisfactory procedure in Agricultural Commr. J. E. McDonald's office, but all the members but one said they did not recommend action because evidence would not sustain charges for removal of the official.

The same committee slapped here and there, and in a published, privileged report, branded at least half a dozen officials with charges of misconduct ranging from trivial matters to others that, if true, should result in action of some sort. The house disagreed with the majority as to the agricultural department when somebody proposed a separate investigation, and voted to go over the same stuff again.

The state has enforcement agencies. It has the auditor, to check up on financial transactions. The attorney general is subject to direction by the governor, and charged also with the duty to act upon his own motion, in relation to failure in the performance of public duties.

A legislature with 181 people can not be guided by full information in possession of all those who vote, and those who prejudice, those who have a personal grievance or a political disagreement, are given an improper advantage in the disposition of the legislature to authorize and set up any sort of an investigating committee any time. The habit has now developed into virtually permanent committees with unlimited power to investigate anything, anywhere and any time.

Texas so far has not been assumed to be governed by the parliamentary system.

It does not defend or condone any sort of misconduct to say that until the system is changed, the responsibility lies in the hands of executive officers, except as to impeachment of certain constitutional officers; and the effort to subject everything to legislative domination as much violates the principle of the present system of government as most of the abuses it seeks to expose and correct.

Did you ever stop to think

The automobile tourist trade is a big factor in the business of a city.

Too many people spend too much time in playing the game of watchful waiting.

"In the devising of public gardens, the problems are varied and at times complex. To achieve the greatest effect, the combination of art and science is necessary," so says the Anglo-Brazilian of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Customers take a just pride in buying from growing institutions. Newspaper advertising makes a growing business.

A whole lot of people in this world need a little cheering up, especially those who are despondent about high taxes. They act as if there is not one ray of brightness anywhere. They feel that the burden of taxes is more than they can bear. Yes, they need cheering up.

The right kind of advertising attracts business the country over.

The calling of an Editor compels him to live in tomorrow before today has half run its course.

In some cities a whole lot of citizens think the home city is big enough and spend a lot of their time puzzling their minds about how to make a village out of it.

OUT OUR WAY

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
By United Press Correspondent
AUSTIN, May 16 — Chief complaint heard in the wake of the Texas legislature was not that it did so little, but that so much money was spent in doing it.

The session cost more than half million dollars. The exact appropriations for the year were $550,000. Some of this is left over for later session expenses of committees. The final appropriation was in house bill 1001 adding the last $50,000.

Charles H. Newell, Austin newspaperman, formerly of Dallas and Texarkana, has been made manager of the Texas highway branch of the Associated General Contractors association. He will have offices in Austin which will serve as a contact point between road contractors and the state highway department in carrying out the anti-depression campaign of road building.

The program is expected to furnish employment for 100,000 men. State funds will be supplemented by an estimated $40,000,000 federal grant.

Directors of the Colorado river authority formed to borrow federal funds and complete the Insull Power dam on the Colorado river, are alarmed because amicus curiae briefs have been filed with the Supreme Court attacking the validity of the authority's proposed bond issue.

Bond and share opposition which cannot fight the project directly is responsible, Director Raymond Brooks believes.

Edwin Tillery, Naacogoches, farmer, will be a candidate for speaker of the 45th Texas legislature.

"I guess there will be a dozen or more in the race," Tillery said.

"It's soon to predict the result. Nobody knows how many of the legislators will return to the 45th session so nobody can tell who is likely to be speaker."

Although Gov. Allred will not have to make appointments on the Commission of Public Safety until August, the scramble for the places already has begun.

Former State Senator W. A. Williamson of San Antonio is one of those being boosted for the commission. He was author of the bill that set up the State Motor Patrol.

The patrol is the dominant body in the new state department of safety which the commission will direct.

Fee offices in more than half the counties of Texas will be affected by whatever ruling the state supreme court may make in a $1,662 suit now before it.

The litigation is between District Clerk Hart McCormick Bexar county, and State Treasurer Charley Lockhart. The issue is whether the district clerk is entitled to certain fees.

The fees involved were earned under a wife and child desertion act prior to the time the act was declared invalid.

The McCormick litigation is a test case. Total fees that will be affected by it reach $100,000.

Gov. Walt. Woodall has a watch just like tinpieces of General John J. Pershing and Col. Charles Landburgh. It was presented to him by senators at the close of the 44th legislature, as an expression of their regard for his fairness as a presiding officer.

Sen. Will Pace, Tyler, made the presentation.

Biennial spring house cleaning is on at the state capitol. With the departure of legislators, a small army of porters with vacuum cleaners, brushes and polishers began work on the house and senate chambers.

Several days are required to put everything back in ship-shape after a session.

Stockmen, Farmers Blame Each Other

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 16 — Livestock dealers are refusing to take the blame for recent dust storms and have made a counter charge against farmers, it was disclosed in a federal hearing here.

S. M. Jorgensen, president of the Utah State Wood Growers' Association, told the federal examiner that plowing of marginal land that has been out of production is responsible for dust storms, and not overgrazing, as often charged.

Such plowing destroys native grass and thus removes nature's binding of the dust, allowing it to be swept by wind, he declared.

Protest also was made regarding the government's action in reducing grazing permits on national forests, on the ground that it is taking earnings power away from the livestock industry and reducing its security for loans.

14-Foot Sign Will Light Gas Building

Another spot of brilliance will be added to the white-way of Cisco's main street when the Community Natural Gas company completes erection of a 14 foot electric sign in front of the local office according to Manager H. L. Dyer. Weather has delayed work on the sign but Dyer expects it to be in place and fully lighted by Saturday night.

The new sign is the first of several improvements planned for the local office, Dyer said. Arrangements are being made to floodlight the entrance office as well as the display windows all evening.

With summer coming and Cisco attracting many visitors and tourists, we felt that improved lighting of our front would add to the progressive appearance of Cisco," said Dyer.

The top of the new sign will be 28 feet from the pavement and will be lighted by two 300 watt globes which will also be directed toward the front of the office flooding it with additional brilliance.

Plans are also under way for remodeling and redecorating the company's display windows and office interior.

MOVIE PROPERTY MAN'S STOCK WOULD SHAME A GENERAL STORE

By ALAN McELWAIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, May 16 — Jimmy Cagney took his place before the camera.

"Why, James," remarked Director William Keighly, "unless my memory fails me, in the scene we took three days ago, which eventually will directly precede this one, you were wearing a handkerchief in your breast pocket."

Cagney ran his fingers through his hair, as he looked at the offending pocket.

"I think you're right," he agreed, and turning to Bill Keuhl, property man, asked:

"Got a handkerchief in your chest?"

"Sure," Keuhl replied. "Couple dozen."

Cagney tucked in the handkerchief and grinned sheepishly.

"Maybe there's something to that, saying that no matter what you ask for, the prop man has it," he remarked.

And, as Keuhl challenged your correspondent, "If you don't think so, try it."

"A pair of eyeglasses," was the task.

Keuhl chuckled.

"Easy," he said. "Look."

He pulled open the second drawer of his chest, a box about five feet high, five feet wide and two feet deep. One corner held not less than 20 pairs of eyeglasses, some with, some without glass.

"That's to please the cameramen," he explained. "Some cameramen want glass in the spectacles the players wear, others don't. Like to try something else?"

"A bar of soap," your correspondent suggested.

Keuhl jerked open another drawer in which lay two score bars; laundry soap, face soap, pink soap, blue soap, little soap.

"You win," acknowledged your correspondent, "now let's see everything."

Keuhl started at the top of his chest.

Drawer No. 1: Assortment of wallets, ditto cigar cases, thimbles, half a dozen bags of marbles, six pairs of dice, shaving brushes and old-fashioned mugs, several decks of cards, seven or eight cigar lighters, tobacco pouches of all varieties, a can of cleanser.

Drawer No. 2: Half a dozen metallic crickets, several glass cutters, an assortment of matches, two or three make-up kits, every conceivable kind of pipe from clay to merchaum, a variety of pins, combs and compacts, rings of all types, from engagement to agate. Drawer No. 3: Wrist watches, a collection of tickets, pocket cameras, a bell and buzzer system, black-jacks, every type of telegram and in virtually every language, a couple of insect sprays, a collection of menus and stationery.

"And," remarked Keuhl, "you haven't seen anything yet."

He went to another box, pulled back the lid, exposing one of the completest arsenals outside the national guard armory.

"A gangster - hunting picture like the one we're filming," he said, "requires artillery."

And how!

There were revolvers of all calibers, automatics, sawed-off shot-guns, rifles, sub-machine guns and even two old derringers.

Keuhl still had one more chest. It held a collection of marriage certificates, citizenship papers, stocks and bonds, death certificates, an accumulation of bottles, complete tea set - up, various types of liquor bottles, and glasses for each, cocktail shakers, brief cases, physician's kit, photographer's flashlight bulbs and automobile license plates from every state in the nation as well as most large foreign countries.

"And," remarked Keuhl, "if they ask for something else—a 5-ton truck, for instance—I merely need the property department."

Mojave Plans Real '49er Celebration

MOJAVE, Cal., May 15 — A real "forty-niner" celebration is promised by Mojave residents on May 15 to celebrate the revival of gold and silver mining in this area.

The festival, in which prospectors and visitors will frolic in a style befitting a wide-open mining camp, will focus attention on sensational gold and silver strikes made during the past year. Full development of new areas, it is estimated, will bring work for 2,500 men.

Chief among the new mines is the Golden Queen, where $30,000,000 of gold ore has been revealed, and the more recent Middle Butte discoveries where a lease held by Sen. Key Pittman of Nevada, Walter Trent, and Bob Montgomery, shipped $80,000 or ore in a two-weeks period at the rate of a carload a day.

Hail Is Unmelted After Four Weeks

KERRVILLE, May 16 — Hailstones that fell on the Oscar Weaver ranch in the Copperas community in Kimble county last April were still unmelted four weeks later, it was reported here.

Many visitors from nearby counties picked up sacks full of the hail stones and carried them home to put in their refrigerators or use in making ice cream.

The hail stones did not melt because a heavy rain which accompanied the storm washed a protective layer of leaves over them in many places.

"I foresee the time when industry shall no longer denude the forests which require generations to mature, nor use up the mines which were ages in making, but shall draw its raw material largely from the annual produce of the fields... I am convinced that we shall be able to get out of yearly crops most of the basic materials which we now get from forest and mine."

Henry Ford

THE map above tells only part of the story—the little-known story of the inter-relation of the Ford V-8 car and the farm.

The figures in the map are based on what will be used this year if the Ford Motor Company reaches its intended production of 1,000,000 cars and trucks.

WOOL goes into upholstery, floor coverings, lubricants and anti-rust preparations.

LEATHER goes into upholstery—and in addition, glues are made from cow hide, and from cow's milk... Other parts of cattle, through other processes, yield stearic acid, greases, glycerine (for shock absorbers and body enamel) and soap chips (used in washing machined parts and bodies before painting).

HOOPS furnish lard oil, oleic acid and brush bristles.

GOAT'S HAIR (Mohair) goes into upholstery.

BEEWAX goes into electrical imbedding compounds.

COTTON goes into tires, batting, cloth, battery box, timing gears, brake linings and, not least important, into Safety Glass. (Every Ford V-8 car built this year will have Safety Glass in every window, at no extra cost to the car buyer... Cotton, in the form of cellulose acetate, is the central part between the two sheets of glass that make up every finished sheet of Safety Glass.)

CORN yields butyl alcohol (for enamel finishes and other purposes) and starch (for stiffening cotton linings).

LINSEED OIL is the basis for paint—is used in foundry cores—and is one of the ingredients of the beautiful, synthetic baked enamel finish on a Ford V-8.

SUGAR CANE yields molasses for solvents, antifreeze and shock absorber fluids.

CASTOR OIL goes into lacquers and artificial leather suitable for rumble seats, where real leather would be damaged by exposure to the weather.

TUNG OIL is part of the top material used in Ford cars and is also used in brake linings.

TURPENTINE is used in paints, adhesives and solvents.

SOY BEANS are used in making cores for metal castings in our foundry and are also an important part of the baked enamel finish of a Ford V-8 and of the plastic knobs and buttons in the car's interior.

LUMBER is used for packing purposes. It is not used for any structural part of the Ford car, which has a welded, all-steel body, reinforced with steel, for maximum safety.

Tree Man Praises Program of C. C. C.

WASHINGTON, May 16—Voluntary educational and forest improvement activities of the Civilian Conservation Corps have been described by Charles Lathrop Paek president of the American Tree association, as "the greatest citizenship making program the world ever has seen."

Paek said doubling of the CCC meant that thousands of additional young Americans would participate in the program.

"The remarkable feature of the citizenship making coupled with forest improvement," he said, "is the fact that more than half of the enrollees are voluntarily attending classes of one kind or another."

"What they are learning in the woods, and there is no finer place to learn, is being added to by 'book learning' as we used to say, in the night schools at the camps. The big point is that this educational activity is all voluntary on the part of the boys."

Paek said a survey showed that 43 per cent of the subjects studied were vocational. Of the balance, 18 per cent were of elementary level, 32 per cent of high school level, 5 per cent of college level, and 2 per cent general.

Louisiana Seeking Oil on School Land

BATON ROUGE, La., May 16. — Impressed by Texas' enormous revenues for schools from state owned oil lands, the State of Louisiana has gone prospecting for similar revenues.

Just 2,000 feet from Louisiana State University's property line, Superior Oil company is drilling a test well on the Duplantier plantation. The Superior company spent $100,000 for mineral rights on a 12,000 acre tract.

The test well now is below 1,800 feet. Drillers hope to hit a pay sand above 8,500 feet, but are rigged to go down to 12,000 feet.

HOLLYWOOD'S FAIRY LADY TO GIVE UP HOME

HOLLYWOOD, May 16. — The "Fairy Lady" of Hollywood, wealthy Mrs. Herse M. Carson, who feeds needy families, helps deserving young men become air pilots and finances penniless talent in selling her mansion home and costly art and furniture collection, so that all her time will be free for charity work.

Already her furnishings—paintings including V. Palmarioli's prizewinner, "Pink Lady," her famous gold suit augmented by Louis XIV pieces, and other rare and costly fittings—have been sold, and next her $650,000 Norman mansion on Sunset Boulevard will be disposed of.

"Then," said the little millionaire, "I shall retire to a nice hotel and in the company of my friends, grow old peacefully."

Mrs. Carson became known in the film colony for her independent, if unusual, charity methods. She finds her own objects of benevolence, and investigates them personally.

Through her generous pocket-book, girls talented musically have been helped on careers, a boy washing dishes for a living but yearning to fly was made an airline pilot, and many hungry families have been aided.

"I started out to do this work," explained Mrs. Carson, "and I'm the kind who likes to finish the job."

ANSWERING THE ETERNAL QUESTION "What to Serve?"

PAINTS DURING ARCTIC NIGHTS; IS RECOGNIZED

OTTAWA, Ont., May 16 — The painting talents of Stanley C. Knapp, 20-year-old English youth stationed at the Hudson's Bay company post at Clyde Bay, 500 miles north of Prochester Bay, have been recognized by the National Art Gallery.

Knapp paints the long sub-Arctic nights passing scenes of the northland. He is greatly handicapped by lack of equipment. Last year he ran out of paint and brushes, but that did not stop him from painting. Using brushes made from hair out of his own head and common house paint, he made an oil painting of the Hudson's Bay company post at Prochester, and presented it to the Art Gallery.

The painting was bought back by Major D. L. McKeand, commander of the Canadian government Arctic patrol. Officials of the art gallery considered the work of such historic value that it has been placed in the Dominion Archives.

In recognition of his natural talent and inventiveness, the trustees of the gallery have decided to send Knapp a set of artist's paints and brushes on the next vessel.

Knapp is an apprentice in charge of the Hudson's Bay post. He is a King's Scout of the 19th St. Thomas

Canal To Aid Coast Lumbering Industry

SEATTLE, May 16 — West coast lumbermen today looked to water transportation to place their product before consumers of the Mississippi Valley, greatest market of the nation.

Heavy increase in shipments from Oregon and Washington mills to the Middle West by way of the Panama Canal, New Orleans and the Mississippi river, was reported by the West Coast Lumbermen's association. The lumber moved by ocean steamer to New Orleans, up the Mississippi and tributaries by barge, and to the consumers by truck.

Officials believed the saving over rail rates, ranging as high as $10.80 per thousand feet, would build up new demands for Douglas fir, red cedar, spruce and hemlock in construction. Ultimately, it was believed, lumber will move by water as far as Pittsburgh.

Schedules of freight charges showed cost of rail shipments from Oregon and Washington to Mississippi river points between Vicksburg and St. Louis averaged $22.25 per thousand board feet for 12 by 12 inch timbers of standard lengths. The same can be moved by barge and steamer for $15.45, with a saving of $6.80.

The saving to Chicago was $4.51, to Evansville, Ind. $9, and to Cincinnati and Louisville, $1.90.

WELFARE FUND PLAN SUCCESS IN SHEBOYGAN

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., May 16 — A fund-raising plan for community welfare projects devised and put into operation by Charles E. Broughton, editor and publisher of the Sheboygan Press, proved so successful here that other communities in many sections of the country have asked for an outline.

Several years ago a community welfare fund was established to supplement state and federal relief funds. Purpose of the fund was to help finance municipal welfare organizations which did not fall in the category of regular relief organizations.

Fund Always Short

The idea was praised and generally accepted to be of benefit. The fund was to be raised by voluntary contributions. Contributions for the most part, however, were limited to what the prevailing idea seemed to be to "let the other fellow donate his share, he makes more than I do." Hence the fund always had been at low ebb. Subscriptions had always fallen far short of their quotas until Broughton conceived his plan.

Before expounding his theory, Broughton tried it in his own plant with success.

It was this: Each full-time employee pledged one hour's pay per month toward the fund. Half and part-time employees contributed a half hour or quarter hour per month, depending on the time employed. Broughton matched every dollar put up by his employees. Thus, set as the goal, inside the designated time limit, $100 individuals had pledged $49,000 — an over-achievement of $4,000. The number of contributors had actually doubled under the new plan. Previously the highest number of donors was less than 4,000.

The contributions all were voluntary, Broughton said. Although all were urged to co-operate, no one was forced to contribute a penny and all employees were given to understand that their positions would be in no way affected regardless of whether they contributed or not.

Police Asked To Stop Cow-Chasing

It was just one of those things which happen to police everywhere — one of those odd requests made by well meaning persons but about which they can do nothing.

A woman called the desk sergeant at the police station to report that "unless you do something about these dogs in a pasture south of town, they're going to kill somebody's cattle." It appeared that some dogs were having a rollicking good time chasing cattle all over the pasture and that the woman was alarmed over it.

The desk sergeant replied in the only way he could, that the police have no authority over pastures south of the city limits, and that the person owning the cattle ought to look into the matter.

AUSTIN, May 16 — Texas relief clients will go far toward feeding themselves this year if plans of the state relief headquarters materialize.

We furnished seed to plant 76,891 home gardens covering 29,250 acres in 157 counties of the state," said A. C. Allen, production director for the Texas Relief Commission.

Community gardens will be placed in 82 counties, adding 2,909 acres to the total tilled by relief clients.

To complete the program Texas will operate 500 canning factories to conserve excess vegetables for winter use. Every type of vegetable common to Texas will be planted.

OWNED MINE

FALUN, Sweden — The oldest chartered industrial concern in the world is the copper mine here in Dalarna, one of Sweden's most picturesque regions for travelers.

The mine has been owned by one family since 1220, and so much ore has been taken from it that its excavations would hold the Cheops Pyramid.

COAST GUARD'S ALASKAN ROLE IS VARIED ONE

JUEANU, Alaska, May 16 — "Semper Paratus — Always Ready," motto of the United States Coast Guard, is most effectively carried out in the Alaska division of the service.

Guardsmen are prepared, day and night, to rush food to starving villages, administer justice in remote communities, rescue crews of ice-bound whalers, or tend sick and injured at remote Eskimo outposts.

Each of the five coast guard boats cruising in and out of rocky fjords, or through ice floes, is a store post office, police court, battleship and hospital, all in one.

Lincoln Made Survey

The story of Alaska is associated closely with the Coast Guard, for in 1867, when Secretary of State William H. Seward bought the vast territory, it was the old cutter Lincoln that was sent to survey the new possession.

Many thrilling rescues in the far north are part of Coast Guard history. In 1884 the old cutter Bear saved the lives of Gen. Greeley and his men — the same general, now 91, who was rewarded this spring by Congress for his Arctic explorations.

Dramatic Rescue

Another dramatic rescue by the Bear was that of the crew of the foundered whaling ship, Napoleon, in 1890. Information of the Napoleon's plight, scribbled in Eskimo on a piece of board, was passed from village to village, until it finally reached the Bear.

The Coast Guard brought the first reindeer to Alaska from Siberia in the nineties, and under its watchful eye the Priskoff Island seal herd has increased by more than 10 times in the past 25 years.

One cutter will make two hasty trips to Point Barrow this summer carrying supplies to government employes at that remote station. Two will follow the Bering Sea seal herds to protect them from poachers. The others will patrol villages and aid fishermen and shipping, if needed.

FORTUNE AWAITS MAN

CLEVELAND — David F. Hayes, 74, if still alive, is sought here as the sole heir to a fortune left by his son, Frank E. Hayes, of Marion, Ind. The Cleveland Red Cross was asked by the Marion bank administering the estate, to help trace the father. The last known of him was in 1922 when the Cincinnati Red Cross helped him get to Cleveland, which he said was his home.

Letters Of Bryant Are Valuable Find

PALO ALTO, Cal., May 16 — Five dusty letters with the signature of William Chulien Bryant, famous American poet and editor of last mid-century, found in a private library, are proving the most important literary "find" of the year in this scholarly Stanford university campus town.

Their discoverer was Bernhardt Hoffacker, Palo Alto High School student and grandson of Bertrand J. Hoffacker, a New York composer of Bryant's day, to whom they were addressed.

One of them is addressed to Abraham Lincoln when he was president. It evidently was written when the author of "Thanatopsis" was editor of the New York Evening Post.

The "Lincoln letter" was an introduction to the president for Hoffacker describing the latter as a man of the most fervent loyalty which he has taken more than one occasion to express in spiritual aims and harmonies.

The other missives were personal notes to Hoffacker, one of them thanking the composer for setting to music "a little poem of mine which I wish were more worthy of the music to which it will be set."

Letters Of Bryant Are Valuable Find

Thomas Browning and family who tried to extinguish the blaze but could not on account of the strong wind and lack of water as it was outside the city limits and the well near the house had been broken that day. Fortunately the Brownings saved all their belongings.

Plague of Worms In Henderson County

MALAKOFF, May 16 — A plague of worms which destroy garden and farm crops has done extensive damage in Henderson county this spring.

The worms — literally millions of them — have devoured melon vines, peas, cotton and other crops. Some gardeners and farmers have planted their crop two or three times and each time it has been destroyed.

The worms are especially bad in the sandy sections. So far only one effective means of fighting them has been discovered. That is the use of poison.

County Agent John Moosberg, however, pointed out that it is difficult to use poison in all cases as the worms attack the young plants as soon as they begin to peep through the ground.

Four Counties On Relief Honor Roll

AUSTIN, May 16 — Four "honor roll" counties, each having less than 5 per cent of their citizens on relief rolls, were reported in Texas during April.

Rural Work Centers Being Considered

AUSTIN, May 16 — Rural work centers, where Texas relief clients may make the things they need, were being considered by Texas relief officials for 27 counties today. They were Stone, Kent, Yoakum and Cochran.

Land Of Promise Is Disappointing

16 — Carl Lund, Norwegian who came to the "Land of Promise" with prospects of acquiring money to marry comfortably and return to his native land, is returning home after 23 years of suffering and disappointment. Lund left his home in Litterstrom, Norway, in 1902, coming to northern Minnesota where he worked in lumber camps. He intended to work only a few years and then return to Norway to be married and bring happiness to his mother. At the end of four years, Lund had saved enough money to fulfill his anticipations but was stricken with rheumatic fever. His funds were exhausted after his illness and he was forced to work three additional years to earn the amount necessary to pay for the trip. At the end of three years he again was stricken by the same illness. A third time the disease struck, Lund has been a helpless invalid since 1913. He spent 13 years in various hospitals in northern Minnesota and in 1926 was moved to Fergus Falls where patients with incurable diseases are cared for. Despite his suffering Lund never gave up hope of returning to his mother in Norway. Sympathetic friends contributed funds for Lund to be sent back to his native land. He will make the trip on a stretcher under the care of Dr. A. Sommerfelt of Fergus Falls, who made arrangements for his trip.

Albino Twin Gets Scientific Study

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND, Calif., May 16 — Scientists are studying the case of the Rio twins, one dark-eyed and black-haired like his Mexican parents, the other an albino with white hair, fair complexion and a pinkish cast in his eyes. The scientists have the word of the doctor who delivered the boys four years ago that they are so-called "identical twins." Delving back, they found that although the twins' parents are of Mexican birth and typical dark coloring, one of the twins' grandmothers' great-grandmother was an albino. Years back this albino married a non-albino and became the mother of ten children. One, a girl, had hair half black and half white, one blue eye and one black. One boy had the same mixed hair but both eyes black. The other eight were normal. The Rio twins' grandmother's aunt was not an albino, but had four albino boys, among them a set of twins. Another aunt, also a non-albino, had three albino children, to appear in this generation.

ATHLETES SAY: "THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND!"
Read below what leading sports champions say about Camels
With the preference of star athletes overwhelmingly for one cigarette, that cigarette has to be exceptionally mild! Its name is—Camel. Here's what an Olympic champion diver, Harold ("Dutch") Smith, says about Camels: "I've found a great deal of pleasure in Camels. They never interfere with my wind." Rip Collins, of the St. Louis Cardinals, says: "Here's the best proof I know that Camels are mild: I can smoke them steadily, and they never get my wind."
Rowland Duffon, of the New York A. C., says: "Camels never upset my nerves or get my wind. That's what I call real mildness!"
Dick Shelton, world-champion steer dogger, and these two brilliant campaigners in the golfing wars, Denny Shute and Helen Hicks, have come to the same conclusion—"Camels do not get my wind."
How this mildness is important to you too!
Camel smokers can smoke more—and enjoy smoking more. You get more satisfaction, knowing that sports champions have found Camels so mild that they never jangle their nerves or get their wind.

SCIENCE TURNS ITS ATTENTION TO COMFORTS

NEW YORK, May 16—Research chemists are putting more dollars in the working man's pocket. Dr. James R. Withrow, professor of chemical engineering at Ohio State University, said at the building material symposium of the American Chemical Society convention here.

A surge of re-employment for renewed building and modernizing of homes and buildings was predicted by Dr. Withrow on the basis of creation by chemical science of better and more economical materials than those provided by nature, such as pre-fabricated partitions, mineral or rock wool for insulation of houses.

These materials rapidly are finding practical application and, said Dr. Withrow, their comparative economy and comfort producing features will create an increasing demand for labor, sending more money into the pockets of workmen.

Home Insulation

Home insulation, Dr. Withrow believes, will in a short time become as common as the radio, automobile, or electric refrigerator, for the manufacturer of mineral wools from materials such as molten rock has been developed in the laboratory to the point that entire structures can be insulated against extremes of temperature at comparatively little cost.

The wool which science has manufactured is a fibrous mineral that can be blown into the walls of houses. The inter-lacing fibers form countless tiny dead air spaces which are non-conductors of heat. Thus heat remains inside in winter, requiring less fuel and found to reduce heating costs from 20 to 35 per cent; in summer the sun's rays are turned back at the roof and walls and the interior is found to be six to fifteen degrees cooler, said Dr. Withrow.

Many Tests

Tests and experience have revealed that wall-thickness wool insulation gives best results. Mineral or rock wool is only one of many types, but because of its low thermal conductivity, is regarded as a most efficient insulation.

Most houses are of frame construction with a space of approximately four inches between exterior and interior walls. Filling this space completely with the wool fibers and placing a similar thickness in the attic envelopes the house in a protective blanket against extreme temperatures. In houses under construction, said Dr. Withrow, "bats" of the wool can be placed by hand between joists and rafters. In existing structures the wool can be blown in from the outside.

Last Year's Cotton Certificates Asked

Cotton farmers who have Bankhead cotton certificates carried over from last year should turn them in to the cotton assistant, O. W. Ewing, in the county agent's office at once and sign the necessary papers to have them replaced with certificates good for ginning cotton this year according to County Agent C. Metz Heald.

Only those who have old certificates are affected by this announcement, it was said. Those who do not have old certificates to be replaced will be notified when the time comes to sign up for their certificates for this year.

NEW ERA FOR EDUCATION TO BE STARTED

By RALPH TEATSORTH
United Press Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 16—A new era in American grammar school and high school education, in which most of the old precepts of formal instruction are discarded and development of a pupil's predominant talents is the governing principle, is being planned in Ohio State university's educational laboratory.

There will be no grading system; no "pass" or "failure." No student who has done his best will be given any basis for comparing his own with another student's accomplishment.

No Commencement

In this school, there will be no commencement and no diplomas. When pupils complete the minimum course, they will be graduated. The only evidence of graduation will be written appraisals of each student's ability from the school's faculty.

In these appraisals, the faculty will recommend to parents a future course. Some will be advised to go to college or art schools. Some will be advised to remain in high school for another year. A few will be advised to go to work immediately.

This school of the future is not entirely a dream of educators. A school following out these ultra-modern teaching theories has been operated by Ohio State university for several years.

First Class June 11

The first graduating class of Ohio's experimental university school will complete its work on June 11. There are 62 pupils.

Instead of a commencement, these students who entered the experimental plant 12 years ago will participate in a series of "year-end" events. Each student will have a part in the program.

University school's plan has been to forget prescribed studies and courses. Each student has been treated as an individual and has been permitted to pursue studies calculated to bring out the best in him.

NANCE PARTS DEPARTMENT IS MADE ROOMIER

With its parts department rebuilt and reorganized, the Nance Motor company presents a much roomier and more businesslike appearance to the customer who comes in for some piece of machinery that will make his old Ford go better, and what's still better—the customer can go find what he wants without assistance—using the help-yourself method, since every part is labeled and priced.

The reorganization was done systematically by the Gibbs and Sons organization, of Dallas, which specializes in this kind of work. Gibbs said the Nance company is the second in the state this year to do this up-to-date remodeling and that he believed it is because the Nance Motor company is one of the liveliest in the state. In fact, he said this company is doing 100 per cent more business in the Ford and parts line than any other dealer in the state, in a town of the size of Cisco.

In the reorganization of the parts shelves, they are all in plain view of both the Nance, vice president and bookkeeper, and Rex Page, supervisor of parts as they sit at their desks, which are arranged conveniently, both for patrons and for their accounting work.

The shelves are arranged with tags that tell what they contain and the price for each item plainly marked.

Tables are arranged systematically in front of the shelving, and contain packages of assembled units—parts that go together, and each package is also priced in plain figures so that customer can find what he needs and can know the price without asking anyone any questions.

New Hotel Manager Gets More Business

George W. Foster, new live wire resident manager of the Laguna Hotel, has already begun getting new business for his hotel. When interviewed shortly after his arrival Foster said he was going to bring more life to the hotel. It was not idle boast, because the proof of the pudding is the eating. Three new tenants for apartments have been secured during the last week. Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Cox, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alverson, have availed themselves of what the Laguna has to offer in the way of what the manager is pleased to call cool, convenient, and educational and economical apartments.

Foster also said that he is now making a drive for single room customers, who are looking for just what the Laguna offers in comfort and low cost.

Says Salvation Of Cotton For Farmers

JACKSON, Miss., May 16—Salvation of the cotton industry lies with cotton farmers, who must decide whether they want the government to continue the crop loans, E. F. Creekmore, general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative association told the Mississippi members today.

Creekmore said he believed the question facing the farmers was whether the south wants to let the price drop to the world level so that export trade can be regained, or whether they want to reduce production and grow only enough cotton for American use.

HONORS FIRST FLIER

PARIS. — The tenth anniversary of the death of Clement Ader, the first known man to fly a machine in the air, was celebrated here this month. The achievement, though unofficial was signaled by a meeting under the patronage of Air Minister General Denain. An obelisk will be erected at Satoy Camp to commemorate the flight, which took place in 1897 in the park at Armainvillers. Ader, whose machine resembled a large bat, only was able to rise into the air for 50 yards. This predated the successful flight of the Wright brothers by six years.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE

for the Universal Car

THE SIGN OF GOOD SERVICE

IN THE very beginning the Ford Motor Company realized the importance of good service. It was first to standardize tools and equipment and establish low flat charges for parts and repairs.

Today in any community you can see how far Ford has progressed toward the goal of providing service as good as the car.

The thousands of modern Ford dealerships are within reach of most of the millions of Ford owners. Other thousands of dependable garages and service stations—identified by the Ford sign—provide supplementary service and Genuine Ford Parts.

When you buy a Ford you can get the kind of service a good car deserves. One of the features is precision workmanship. You can exchange a used Ford engine, carburetor, distributor and other assemblies for "FACTORY EXCHANGE" units at much less than the usual replacement or repair cost.

This is "Universal Service" in every respect, broadening constantly through the addition of Ford Neighborhood Service Stations, where you can get extra-quick service—gasoline, oil, lubrication, repairs.

Millions Are Spent For Rail Equipment

OMAHA, Neb., May 16 — The Union Pacific Railroad is approaching completion of an improvement program, which exclusive of expenditures for stream-lined trains, has aggregated $5,532,000.

During the closing weeks of 1934 and to date this year, the road has spent $2,500,000 for air-conditioning of 300 standard sleeping, dining, club and observation cars, and tourist sleepers and coaches.

Another large expenditure was $1,400,000 for 19,500 tons of steel rail and 14,000 tons of track fittings. Approximately $12,000 will be spent in air-conditioning the Omaha Union station restaurant and $400,000 for air-conditioning, renovation and redecoration of 40 passenger coaches at the Omaha shops.

Fifty new stream-line passenger buses of the Interstate Transit Lines, subsidiary of the Union Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern, called for expenditure of $650,000 and 12 miles of new line in Southern Utah for the Columbia Steel Corporation, U. S. Steel Corporation, subsidiary, called for expenditure of $300,000.

Relining of 400 box cars in the Omaha shops cost $140,000 and installation of automobile loading equipment in 151 automobile freight cars added another $140,000 to the company's expense ledger.

Young Crow Becomes Conversationalist

SEATTLE, May 16 — Jimmie, a conversational crow, is one of the pets of the Kenneth Gideon family of Seattle. Tops, the fox terrier, is the other.

Gideon found Jimmie under a tree before he could fly a year ago. The crow developed talking ability without lessons, or any operation on his tongue.

"C'mon Tops!" "Hello, hello, hello," and "No, no no" (He has never been able to add the "a thousand times no") form about the extent of Jimmie's vocabulary, but the Gideons think that is pretty good for a crow.

Jimmie is a clean bird. He bathes every afternoon at 6 in the kitchen sink, but sometimes he is mischievous. He goes out on the back porch and knocks over the milk bottles with his wings just because he doesn't like them. Then he pulled Tops' dish away, when the dog was eating.

But the worst thing he has done was to steal several cards, as young Robert Gideon and friends played beneath a tree. They decided Jimmie wanted a hand, but when they located the cards, they were useless for playing purposes. Jimmie had pecked all the red spots off of them.

Judge Hickman Is Speaker On Sunday

Judge J. E. Hickman, influential layman of Eastland, filled the Methodist pulpit here Sunday in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Frank Turner, who had been called out of the city on account of the death of his mother.

The judge, in addition to being an eminent jurist, is an enthusiastic church worker. He teaches a Men's Bible class each Sunday in Eastland, and had an attendance of 300 last Sunday morning.

WAR UNLIKELY IMMEDIATELY SAYS ALLENBY

LONDON, May 16 — War is unlikely for some years, as everybody knows it would cause civilization to crash, according to Field Marshal Lord Allenby, British World War leader.

"I do not think anybody wants a war, and I do not think that there will be one—not for a few years, at any rate. Everyone's afraid of war — even Germany. The fact is, everyone is directly opposed to war."

That was Allenby's answer to the question: "Do you think we are on the verge of another war?"

Asked whether he believed that there would be much difference in the conduct of military operations during the next war, he replied:

"Well, the army is going to do as much damage as possible when it goes to war. As regard to what damage they would do I have no idea of what sort of an army the other people would have."

"The trouble is now that there is too much suspicion, possibly jealousy and a feeling of superiority — of being looked down upon. What the world really needs right now is mutual confidence. Nations need to trust each other; which they do not do now—and that's the danger. But, as I said before, everyone is afraid of war, even Germany. The fact is, and everybody knows it, another war would make civilization crash."

Miss Barthelme frowned. "I have a $100 check in my pocket," the young man went on. "But I can't get it cashed, and 25 cents will buy breakfast. I'm hungry." The sale was completed.

SAINT JOHN, N. Little Known Facts About Banking
Depositors Who Take Banking Service "For Granted"
For so many years during "easy times" banks furnished checking account service without cost to depositors, that even today few depositors realize there is any cost to the bank, either.
Jones maintains a balance of $200 in his account—the income from the use of which to the bank during any one month, actually pays for about 60 cents worth of banking service. But, if the service the bank renders Jones costs more than 60 cents, who should reimburse the bank for the difference?
Bank depositors in the United States enjoy more and better banking privileges, at little or no expense, than in any country of the world.

JUBILEE TIME IN ENGLAND IS WEDDING TIME

By H. L. PERCY
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, May 16—Silver Jubilee time is marrying time.
Provincials here for the celebrations, taking advantage of the cheap excursion trains that run from all parts of the island, also take advantage of the occasion to be married.
Judging from statistics normal times there will be well over 200 weddings a day during the Jubilee period.

City of Romance
These statistics have shown that despite its claim to sophistication, London still is a city of romance. Every day something like 130 marriages take place, and every quarter there are about 10,000. In some months there are 200 weddings a day.
There are several reasons for London's popularity for weddings. Many people in the provinces like the idea of being married at one of the famous old churches. Some have sentimental reasons such as a desire to be married in the same church as one of their ancestors. Then, it generally is cheaper, with less publicity for the provincial to marry here away from the narrower influences of the home-town.
Residential Qualifications
A residential qualification of 15 days is necessary, otherwise a special license and a fee of $150 are needed.

One of the most popular wedding churches in London is St. George-the-Martyr, in Borough high street, east London. This is famous as the church of the marriage of Charles Dickens' Little Dorrit. Mass marriages used to take place at St. George's on Easter Sunday, and sometimes as many as ten couples have been married simultaneously, one service sufficing for all. This custom, however, has now been discontinued.

Orphan Inherits Only Shirt, Pants

LOS ANGELES, May 16—A shirt and a pair of pants were inherited by Willie Fiegner, orphan farm boy, from his late employer.
On his death bed, Otto Paul Grasshoff, a rancher, signed a will, bequeathing "one shirt and pants to my boy, Willie Fiegner, on my ranch."
While Willie received the castoff garments, other heirs collected $10,000.

Pro Fainters Are Sought by Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 16—Now here's a new vocation—the professional fainter.
In connection with certain brain experiments at Harvard University, scientists are using individuals who for the sake of science will faint, or, rather, permit themselves to be put into a faint. This is accomplished with gas which contains no oxygen.

Red Tape Is Fatal To 14-Foot Python

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 16—Red tape, which annoys people, killed a 14-foot python.
With five other pythons, the snake arrived from Singapore for the Pacific International Exposition. The bills of lading were sent in error to Chicago and customs officials would not let the snakes off the boat.
By the time the bills of lading arrived, the 14-foot python was dead. The others were sluggish and thin but will live.

TRAPPED WILD DUCK
WELESLEY, Mass. — No wonder O. R. Rice had a bad case of the jitters. Strange weird sounds came from out the fireplace in his home. On investigation, however, it turned out to be only a wild black duck that had become trapped in it.

Says Child Should Earn Own Allowance

LONDON, May 16—Children should earn their pocket-money, otherwise they will deteriorate in character, says Dr. Marie Carnichon, ael Stopes, birth-control pioneer.
Ever since he was four her own son, now 11 has had a "wages-book" which he signs when any payment is made. The book contains such items as:
"Cleaning white paint in drawing room 2d"; "Laying turf straight in garden, 4d"; "Chopping wood, 2d"; and "Felling a tree, 6d."
"The point is not that all help should be paid for," she said, "but that no payment should be made without some work being done in return."

Eye Specialist To Receive Dana Medal

CHICAGO, May 16 — Fifty years of patient public service will be recognized on May 18 when Dr. William Hamlin Wilder, an eye doctor, will receive the Leslie Dana gold medal, an international award for achievement in the prevention of blindness.
Since 1884 Dr. Wilder has been healing the blind — so quietly that thousands who owe him their eyesight do not know his name. He still conducts his private practice.
Dr. Wilder's achievements, though unheralded are by no means undistinguished. As one of the founders of the American Board of Ophthalmology he has guided that body toward its goal of "establishing standards of fitness to practice." He also was one of the founders of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

WILKINS SEEKS CANADIANS FOR FLIGHT PILOTS

MONTREAL, May 16 — Two Canadian pilot-air engineers may lead Sir Hubert Wilkins next "Ellsworth Trans-Antarctic Flight Expedition."

Sir Hubert now is in Canada visiting the various aviation centers in search of two hardy pilots, willing to undertake a gaudy non-stop flight across 2,900 miles of uncharted ice-wastes.

The noted explorer revealed during a visit here that the purpose of his next expedition will be to establish whether the Antarctic is one continent.

Leave in Fall

He plans to leave next fall. Traveling by cargo boat, the party will land at the old base on the Weddell Sea. The flight across the South Pole to the extreme side of the continent will start early in October.

Sir Hubert said the men he was seeking must have a "certain amount of huskiness to dig a plane from snow drifts, and to start the engine in the event of voluntary, or forced landings." In addition, they must have experience with land and seaplanes, and a knowledge of blind flying.

Birth of Employment

The period of employment will extend from July 1, 1935, to April 1, 1936. The men will receive a salary of $500 and expenses, and a bonus of not less than $2,000, if the flight proves successful.

Sir Hubert said he favored Canadian fliers because they were probably the only ones capable of withstanding the rigors of the South Pole.

Two Canadian fliers have won fame with Sir Hubert's previous expeditions. Bernt Balchen, considered one of Canada's leading northern country fliers, was with the expedition last year, and L. Cheeseman was engaged in 1929-1930.

Rioting Is Ended By Proper Dieting

COLUMBUS, O., May 16 — A proper diet is one way to end prison riots according to George C. Williams, newly appointed supervisor of food and cooking equipment for all Ohio welfare institutions.

"A man properly fed always will be at peace because his stomach is at peace," Williams declares.

"I intend to please all of Ohio's convicts by giving them proper food which they have not received in the past."

A revision of menus served at breakfast was promised. Bankers breakfasts are to be eliminated and foods fit for a hard working man substituted.

"I'm going to dress up cooks, waiters and bus boys so that it will be the same as when you walk into a big hotel," Williams said.

Waiters should be able to read and understand French menus, he believes.

Williams, a former Cincinnati restaurateur, has been supervising preparation of foods for 22 years. He claims to have cooked for crowned heads and five presidents, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, and both Roosevelts.

President Hoover once congratulated him on his recipe for escalloped potatoes, he says.

POTATOES FOR HORSES

BELMONT, Wis. — Reading that dust storms had caused a potato shortage in Kansas, Albert Beaumont, Belmont Township farmer, filled a truck with his choicest potatoes and headed southwest. He found a farmer in Kansas who had a good team of horses, but no feed for the horses nor money to buy potatoes. He traded his potatoes for the team and brought the horses back on his truck.

WINS ORATORIAL TITLE

COLLEGE STATION, May 13 — John L. Mogford, sophomore agricultural student from Menard, won the 11th annual P. L. Downs oratorical contest at Texas A. & M. college. His subject was "The Meaning of the A. A. A." He was presented a gold medal by Col. P. L. Downs, Temple, sponsor and chairman of the contest.

Drouths Occur Only Every Eleven Years

MONTGOMERY, Mo., May 16 — Droughts occur only once in every 11 years, according to Capt. Tom See, veteran astronomer, who recites history over a period of 1,000 years to prove the assertion.

"This regular cycle of droughts is caused by sunspots," the weather observer says.

The basis of theory is a book outlining the history of China. His findings—the results of painstaking study of weather data — were placed at the disposal of the government in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

Capt. See believes his discovery will be more important to agriculturists than any data government weather forecasters can produce under their "haphazard system."

He has found that the 11 year cycle of cold winters and plentiful rainfall in this country against cycles of drought in China coincide with records of European weather compared with the drought this country suffered last year.

The observer went into history of the ancient Greeks to show that in 1184 B. C., or 38 cycles of 11 years back from 1929, intense suffering from cold marked the battle of Troy.

Bringing his observations up to date, Capt. See predicts no more serious droughts until about 1944-45.

Changes Are Noted In Rehabilitation

AUSTIN, May 16 — Addition of six new rural supervisors and rearranging the state into new rural rehabilitation districts was announced today by J. E. Standford, director of rural rehabilitation for the Texas relief commission.

Standford said it was necessary to regroup the counties and add new rural supervisors because of the large number of new counties which have been taken into the rural program and because of the general growth of the program brought about by the active farming season.

AIR CORPS HAS GIGOLO

WASHINGTON, — The Army Air Corps has a "gigolo." Although not a fit partner for a young lady, the Air Corp's gigolo has been defined unofficially in static test circles as "a dancing device which excites response in the body to which it is attached." The device is being used in vibration tests on a new Material Division motor mount.

WORK TAG RACKET

BERKELEY, Cal. — College boys at the University of California have found a way of beating the Berkeley parking ordinance. It's simple—they first get a tag for over-parking then stick it on the windshield every day thereafter. The theory is the police will pass it by as already tagged.

YAWNED JAWS OPEN

BROCKTON, Mass. — John Bryne won't yawn in a hurry again. Recently he yawned so hard his jaws wouldn't close. Police took him to a hospital where he was put to sleep, and his jaws finally closed.

FINES REMITTED

CAPE TOWN, — To mark the Silver Jubilee, Lord Clarendon, Governor-General of South Africa, has approved the remission of three months of the unexpired sentences imposed on prisoners on or before April 20. Prisoners sentenced for assault with robbery and other serious crimes are not included.
