Kelley Pettillio Wins Speedway Classic

WINNER SETS NEW RECORD OVER TRACK

BULLETIN
INDIANAPOLIS, May 26 — Kelley Pettillio won the annual Memorial Day speedway classic here today, setting a new track record with an average of 106.24 miles an hour.

Wild Bill Cummings, last year's winner, was third.

SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 30. — Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, driving a Miller motored Pirrung Special, set a new track record of 108.98 miles an hour for 350 miles on the Indianapolis speedway today.

The previous average was 107.33, set by Louis Meyer, when he won the race in 1933.

Kelley Pettillio from whom Shaw had grabbed the lead, was second at the 350 mile mark and Bill Cummings, Indianapolis, last year winner, was third.

Pettillio regained the lead at 375 miles, however, when Shaw made a pit stop.

ONE MAN KILLED EARLY IN RACE
SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 30. — Kelly Pettillio, Los Angeles, led the field at the halfway mark in the 500 miles race today.

He passed Rex Mayes, Californian, who had held the lead most of the entire distance, on the 99th lap.

Mayes, out in front from the first, had relinquished his advantage only twice during the race and then only temporarily. At the 155th mile Mayes went into the pits for water and gas and Babe Stapp took the lead. A few miles later, when Stapp had to stop for gas, Pettillio went to the front. His lead was short lived, however, for Mayes soon passed him. Stapp was forced out of the race on the 69th lap by a bad radiator.

At 250 miles, 22 of the original 33 starters were in the running. Two went out on bad accidents. On the 96th lap Clay Weatherly of Harmon, Ill., was killed when he lost control of his machine on the northeast turn and hurtled the remaining wall. His mechanic Edwin Bradburn, Los Angeles, suffered a broken back.

A few miles later Al Gordon, Los Angeles, bounced against the wall at the same turn, but suffered only slight injuries, as did his mechanic.

Convict Is Stabbed
By Clyde Thompson
ANGLETON, May 30. — Clyde Thompson, 24 year old life convict who at 17 killed two brothers in Eastland county "just to see them kick," today gloomily contemplated his fourth slaying. He drove a crude knife five times into the chest of Everett Melvin, 35, a fellow prisoner at Releve Prison farm barracks.

Thompson refused to make a statement.

"Looks like you're in trouble again, Clyde," Captain Ike Kelley said to Thompson.

"Yeah, sure looks like it, Captain," Thompson answered.

Wisconsin Working On Utopian Project
MILWAUKEE, May 30. — A group of Milwaukee engineers, architects and professional men have petitioned federal financial aid to carry out a proposed co-operative community project, which is figured to eliminate economic ailments.

If financial aid is available, the first of a number of such communities will be set up somewhere in the southeastern part of Wisconsin.

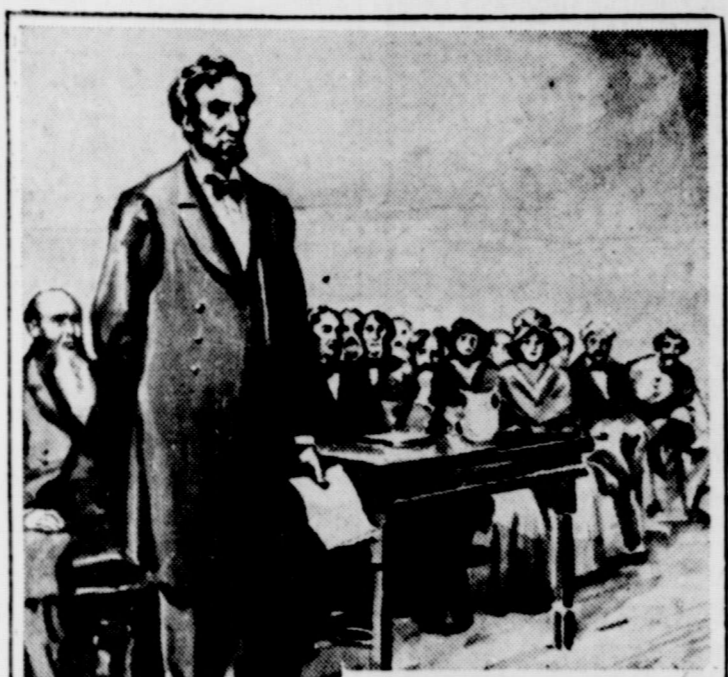

The sponsors of the movement indicate.

Under the plan, the communities would be incorporated under the names of "The Pioneers & Menagers' Corporation" and "Pioneers' Corporation."

A minimum investment of $2500 would be imposed on each adult, with an additional $100 for each child over 10 years old. Maximum individual investments would be limited to $1000. Each citizen, however, would be entitled to one vote in administering community affairs, regardless of the amount of his investment.

AFTER BIRD PESTS
BOISE, Idaho. — The state game department ended a 30-day drive to exterminate magpies, with an estimated death toll of 150,000 birds.

and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth. The only woman now living who claims to have sat on the speaker's platform and heard Abraham Lincoln thus complete his immortal Gettysburg Address is Mrs. America Viola Shoop of Sayre, Pa., shown at right. As an honored guest at the Gettysburg, Pa., Memorial Day exercises at the famed Civil War battlefield, she will tell of her experiences on that day nearly 72 years ago at the scene sketched here from the famous painting by Fletcher G. Ransom of Chicago.

Preacher Fighting Return To Orange

DERIDDER, La., May 30. — Admitting freely that he shot Police Chief Ed J. O'Reilly at Orange, Tex., Rev. E. E. Estridge, crusading Baptist pastor and former prohibition agent, was determined today not to return to Orange to face murder charges.

Estridge, 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighing 240 pounds, and a "crack shot," asserted he shot O'Reilly yesterday because he was being "prosecuted."

O'Reilly, a former friend and member of Estridge's congregation who was baptised only a short time ago, arrested Estridge Tuesday and took two pistols from him.

"I'll go back willingly with Sheriff Dick Richardson of Beaumont," Estridge told Sheriff Henry Cain in the parish jail, "but I'll never go back there and be turned over to W. P. Brown, Orange county sheriff."

He said he had attacked Brown from the pulpit for asserted failure to clean up gambling in Orange county.

"I ran to get away from there. I got a dirty deal once and I'll get another."

Witnesses to the shooting in Orange said that Estridge drove up to where O'Reilly was standing on the street curb, stopped his car, and drew a shotgun from the floor of his automobile. He fired once, the charge striking the peace officer in the head and killing him instantly.

After the shooting, Estridge immediately left the city and went to Louisiana, where he was later held by officers.

America Honors Its Fallen War Heroes

CHURCH WILL BEGIN REVIVAL HERE FRIDAY

The local Church of Christ, corner of Eighth Street and Avenue H. will begin a series of meetings commencing tomorrow evening. Services will be held mornings and evenings, beginning at 10 a. m. and at 8 p. m.

D. W. Nichol, minister of the Church of Christ of Ranger, has been secured to do the preaching. He is an interesting and forceful speaker, and the local congregation is fortunate in securing him for the revival.

A night will likely be set apart as Ranger night, and a large number of Ranger people will attend the services.

Song services will be in charge of A. Z. Myrick, and good congregational singing will be a feature of the meeting.

Friday evening Rev. Mr. Nichol will speak on "The Rule of Life." Saturday evening his subject will be "When Jesus Falls," subjects for Sunday will be: morning, "A Church Inspected;" evening "Salvation."

The public is cordially invited to attend all services.

Seven More On High School Honor Roll

A final check of the records of this year's work in the high school has revealed that seven students, in addition to the list published Sunday, made an average of 90 or more during the school year, it was announced today by Principal H. Brandon.

Those who have not been given their certificates may get them by calling at Principal Brandon's home, 710 West Seventh street.

The following seven students on the honor roll bring the total to 45: Maxine Gallagher, Uviah Moad, Fayton Farmer, Pansy Lee Porter, Jacqueline Porter, Nellie Sanders, Muriel Whitaker.

HEARING UPON MARBLE CASE IS TOMORROW

Whether marble machines will continue to be operated in Cisco and Ranger after this week will be determined tomorrow when a hearing is held in 91st district court at Eastland at 9 o'clock.

The hearing was set by Judge George L. Davenport, after owners and operators, seeking to make permanent a temporary injunction against the Cisco and Ranger police forces, had asked for it.

The court will rule on whether the owners and operators of the machines will have to remove them, as ordered by police, under the gambling laws, or whether the machines actually are, as their exponents claim, "innocent and harmless amusement devices."

Representing the machine side of the issue against the two city authorities are Carl Lowery, W. L. Moore, R. E. Waters, J. W. Hooks, Victor Cornelius, and O. W. Novelty company.

NEW AIRLINE ROAD PRAISED BY JUDGE ELY

EASTLAND, May 30. — Crowds jammed Eastland today as this section of the state celebrated the opening of the Highway 89 airline between Weatherford and Ranger.

Representatives from 26 cities in Texas and one in Oklahoma were present at the banquet held at noon. They represented an area with a population of a quarter million people.

Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene, former chairman of the state highway commission, addressed the crowd this afternoon and said:

Ely Speech
"This highway is important, necessary, and defensible from every standpoint. It is important to the state and national highway systems in this section.

"It improves one of the greatest transcontinental highways in the United States. It is especially important locally because it ties up commercial relationship which has heretofore been more or less separated.

"It shortens the distance between this section and Dallas and Fort Worth by 14 miles, but even if it didn't do that, it is important from a safety standpoint, because it is a straight road and has no dangerous curves, which also shortens the time as well as the distance between important sections of Texas.

"I am very proud of it."

The crowd at the banquet today arose in tribute to the memory of John Gholson, who was praised for his work in securing the cutoff.

The North Texas State Teachers college orchestra, the Hardin-Simmons Cowboy band, and the Ranger-American Legion Tickville band furnished music for the program.

Members of the court of civil appeals, Chief Justice W. P. Leslie, and Associate Justices Clyde Grissom and O. C. Funderburk, and 91st District Judge George L. Davenport and 88th District Judge B. W. Patterson, were introduced.

Cisco, Ranger, Eastland and other cities and towns of Eastland county and surrounding territory, have come into their own with the completion of Highway 89 between Ranger and Weatherford District Judge S. M. Russell of Stephenville told citizens and visitors of Eastland this morning.

Gathered on the courthouse square several thousand strong, visitors and local residents began an all-day celebration of the opening of the new highway.

Speakers of the morning were: Judge Russell, Hamilton McRae, president of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce who gave an address of welcome; and State Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur who responded for visitors.

Milburn McCarty of Eastland, general chairman of the celebration committee and director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, presided. After welcoming his visitors he pointed out work yet to be done to complete the new highway.

Beautifully paving and intensifying advertising to advise travelers of shorter routes between East and North Texas and West and south-west Texas were his recommendations.

Senator Woodruff complimented the state highway commission for its road building program which includes the new highway and praised all workers for the new road. He urged Eastland county to join hands with Decatur, Springtown, and Weatherford in extending Highway 89 from Weatherford to Gainsville via Springtown and Decatur, saying that the survey of project.

TRUCE CALLED FOR MONTH IN JUNGLE FIGHT

BUENOS AIRES, May 30. — The long Gran Chaco war between Paraguay and Bolivia was called off today, at least for 30 days.

The Bolivian delegation to a conference here accepted the 30-day truce proposal and during that time efforts will be made to bring the war to an end. Paraguay already had accepted the truce.

The warfare, arising from a frontier dispute, has lasted more than two years and taken a terrific toll for many months with little advantage on either side. Then Bolivia made important advances, only to be met with a great counter attack which drove their forces back from their positions.

The Seekers After Truth

"Know the truth, and it shall set you free," is after all, an idle saying. How is one to know the truth?

The search after truth is like the search after perpetual motion or the attempt to square the circle.

Samuel Butler held that all we should aim at is the most convenient way of looking at a thing—the way that most sensible people are likely to find to give them the least trouble for some time to come.

It is not true that the sun used to go round the earth, until Copernicus' time, but it is true that until Copernicus' time it was most convenient to us to hold this theory.

If truth is not trouble-saving in the long run, it is not truth, Butler contended. He held that truth is only that which is most largely and permanently trouble-saving.

The ultimate triumph, therefore, of truth rests on a very tangible basis—much more so than when it is made to depend upon the will of an unseen and unknowable agency.

It does not matter what the truth is—that is to say, our hitting on the most permanently convenient arrangement of our ideas upon the subject whatever it may be—matters very much; at least it matters, or it may matter, very much in some relations. And however little it matters, yet it matters, and however much it matters it does not matter.

This is a whimsical, roundabout way of saying that every question has two sides. Knowing both sides, you are in a position to know the truth.

What Cicero practiced as a means of forensic success, requires to be imitated by all who study any subject to arrive at the truth. The greatest orator, save one, of antiquity has left it on record that he always studied his adversary's case with great, if not with still greater, intensity than his own.

He who knows only his own case knows little of that.

Kickers and Knockers

A recently published dictionary boasts of having 400,000 words between A and Z of its alphabetical order. A tremendous number of words indeed, each word possibly in use day in and day out and each word enjoying the acquaintance of some companionable human. But how many of these 400,000 words are universally or anywhere near universally known? An astonishing few in these enlightened United States, but if no other, there is one that can truthfully lay claim to universality.

It is the word "kicks," a diminutive word indeed. Of four letters by actual count unless in the prevalent plural. Like most English words, its use and definitions are many and diversified but its universality extends to only one of these, i. e., to "object strenuously, to raise a howl, to complain, protest and vociferate against," and so on ad libitum.

In other and fewer words "kicking" is about the only thing humanity is unanimous in. Every last animal vocally equipped to distinguish itself from other animals by the word "dumb" is inoculated with some pet kick or a dozen of them, more probably. Everybody, barring dead ones, is kicking in slumber, before and during each meal, while at play and while shirking more useful and fruitful work. In other words, the United States has to go to the "kickers" and their ubiquitous "kicks." (Note the prevalent plural.)

The divine pessimist, Arthur Schopenhauer, once said that optimism is the last stage of insanity, but it has never been found where he ever said or wrote that it is the bounden duty of every pessimist (kicker) to proclaim his pessimism (kicks) to the world.

The illimitable kicks forbid enumeration or classification but picked at random a few of the most fashionable and popular are these of capital against the shackles of labor and of labor against the slavery and iron heel of capital, of the landlord against the food profiteer and taxburdening public official and of the landlord's tenant against the rent profiteer, of the reformers and calamity howlers against licenselessness, immorality and new thought and of the wine-weaned and "railbirds" against the reformers, the prohibitionists, the shalt-notters in general, of the political party out of power against the malfeasance and incompetency of the party in power. Kicks are one thing found without seeking.

Humble and abject apologies for this "kick" against the "kickers."

Carter Glass Sustains Bonus Veto

Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia never dodges an issue. He never straddles the fence. He has been in public life many years. He votes his convictions, regardless of the administration in power. He has no apologies to make. He tells it straight to the democrats of Virginia if they do not like his style or rather his laconic way of expressing himself, it is their American privilege to elect his successor at the next succeeding election.

Political writers talk of Borah as the great independent. There is only one great independent. He guides powerful Virginia newspapers. Borah is an independent every day in the year except on election day. Then he votes the republican ticket straight and then tells to the world that his party and its presidents are false to the interest of the people, "and that the common man gets its where the chicken gets the ax."

Carter Glass voted to sustain the presidential veto of the Patman bonus bill. Sen. Peter Norbeck republican of South Dakota, was the only absentee Sen. Norbeck is a very sick man. He was paired and would have voted had he been present to override the veto. Incidentally and to the point, 41 democrats voted to override their president. They were joined by 11 republicans, one farmer-laborite and one progressive.

Memorial Day

THE MYSTIC CHORDS OF MEMORY, STRETCHING FROM EVERY BATTLE-FIELD AND PATRIOT GRAVE TO EVERY LIVING HEART AND HEARTHSTONE ALL OVER THIS BROAD LAND, WILL YET SWELL THE CHORUS OF THE UNION WHEN AGAIN TOUCHED.... BY THE BETTER ANGELS OF OUR NATURE.

- LINCOLN

Twenty-eight democrats voted to sustain President Roosevelt and republicans joined them. Now the war is on again on the part of the bonus leaders headed by Wright Patman. And now. A rider to one of the appropriations bills.

Pres. William Green of the American Federation of Labor, addressing a large audience in the city of New York, threatened a general strike the country over if all the demands of organized labor and all the bills they favor are not passed over the top and signed by the President. Really, is Green for an American dictator or the rule of democracies. Why not get the ox out of the ditch, meaning national recovery for all the people, before making wild threats or issuing orders to the President and the senators and the representatives of a republic that was founded by freemen with a flag to defend and a constitution to be the guide of all those who believe in a free press, freedom of conscience, freedom of action, freedom of property rights, a free ballot and the right of the majority to rule as expressed at the ballot box?

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, May 30 — Gov. Allred paid a real tribute to his friend, Clyde Grissom, when he appointed Judge Grissom to the Eastland court of civil appeals. They had prosecuted the case of Mrs. Collier, wife of the Wichita Falls mayor, when she and Mrs. Collier were tried in connection with the death of their daughter's suitor. The case was transferred to Haskell county and tried before District Judge Bruce W. Bryant, where Grissom was district attorney.

Haskell county started really to become a law-enforcement county about the time Judge Grissom became the district attorney, the governor said.

Their association in the trial of that case 10 years ago this month undoubtedly led to Judge Grissom's appointment to the appellate bench at this time.

There are several things Gov. Allred wants to know about the new marble-machine tax bill before he signs or vetoes it. He has asked Attorney General William McCraw for a ruling on these and other points:

Will this act legalize any gambling device?

Will it affect pending cases in-

Ponds For Bass Are Nolan County Aim

SWEETWATER, May 30 — Building of ponds to rear 50,000 six-inch bass is the immediate object of the Nolan county chapter of the Texas Fish and Game Protective association. Ben N. Roberts, local chairman said.

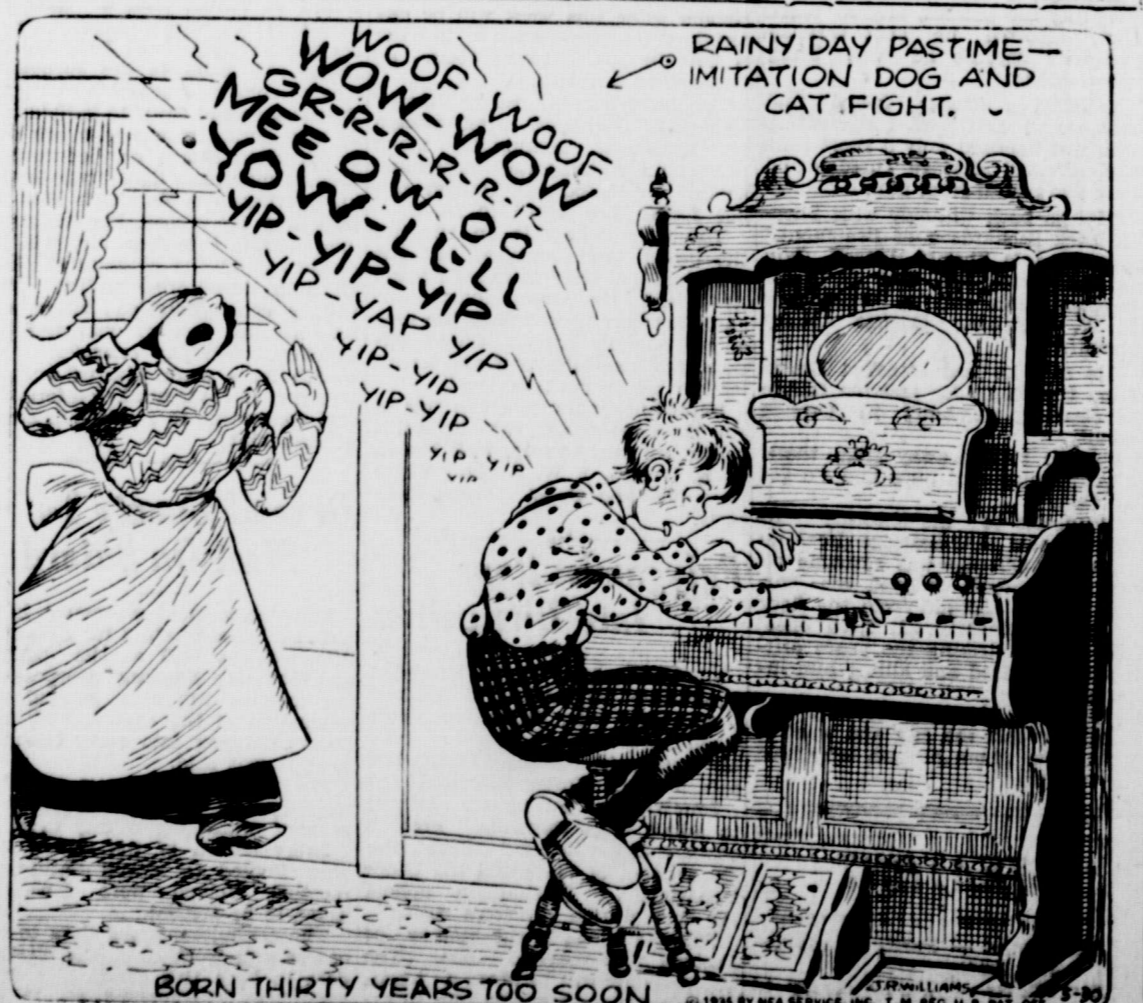

Proper fertilizers and plants would be placed in the ponds to provide "fattening" grounds for the fish before they are planted in lakes near here.

Another object of the organization is to eliminate known enemies of game fish, such as "suckers," Roberts said.

An educational campaign is planned. In it, fishermen are to be instructed to handle the young fish they catch "accidentally." For example, fishermen are warned to wet their hands before handling or throwing the little fish back in the water, as dry hands may cause a skin disease which would kill them.

OUT OUR WAY

volving the collection of occupation and license taxes?

The question whether the coin pay-off machines, dependent in some degree on skill, are amusement or gambling devices is an intricate one. It already has brought on conflicting decisions of courts.

Despite the governor's warning against many jokers in legislation, there almost was the best joker of all in a bill that almost got by in the recent session—and a joker not intended by the sponsors or friends of the bill.

A universal hunting and fishing license bill was reported out by conferees, with numerous East Texas counties purportedly exempted. The conference report was adopted by both houses. Somebody looked into it and found the exemption only applied to catfishing, and not to the general provisions of the bill at all. The immediate East Texas stampede followed, and the bill was reconsidered by the house after the senate had lost a quorum, so that it was thus killed.

Friends of the bill, sincerely eager to provide fish and game for those who want the sport, and knowing that any sportsman who spends many dollars for a trip would be willing to spend a dollar more for the assurance of game or fish, had hoped to provide for adequately financing the necessary propagation and restocking. They were not responsible for the mutilation that would have trapped the opponents had the bill got through.

New Legion Home To Be Dedicated

CLEBURNE, May 30 — Cleburne's new American Legion home to be dedicated Thursday, with a parade scheduled for the morning.

Led by the Dallas police department band, Grand Marshal Harry Leonard, city officials and fire fighting apparatus, Cleburne prepared to honor its veterans, with Gold Star mothers and mothers of other veterans accorded a prominent place in the ceremonies.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

KATHARINE STRIKHERT, beautiful, 28, accomplished, riding teacher, and acknowledged as a fascinating attraction toward the young man who is worried over her disappearance.

ZOE PARKER, friend of Katharine's, and GIBBS LARIBIN, of whom Zoe's parents disapprove.

KATHARINE and DR. JOHN KAYE, friend of the Strikherth family, take Zoe to a night club where she sees Gibbs with a notorious woman. Zoe threatens to kill her.

That same night Michael is involved in taking SALLY MOON, local coquette, to the same place. Sally, arriving home late, informs her father that she and Michael are engaged.

Dr. Kaye drinks poison. Doctor Kaye sets to work to save her life.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

DR. KAYE spoke slowly, as one who is deadly weary. "We pulled through," he said. "She's going to get well."

Katharine crumpled against the window frame. Her creamy silk evening frock was wrinkled. Her eyes had great hollows under them. "Oh, John, thank God! You did it—we owe it all to you."

He shrugged his shoulders. "It was the least I could do."

"You mean because you took us to the club and she was fate?"

"Not exactly," said John Kaye, rather dryly. "You see I happened to know he was one of the habitués.... I heard gossip around town.... It's taught me something."

Katharine said, on a long, shuddering breath of exhaustion. "It's taught me never to interfere with human destiny. That, after all, is God's business...."

"If only we could all learn that lesson so early," said the man wryly. "Come along now. Time for you to get some sleep. Zoe is resting quietly."

"Does her mother know?"

"I sent the nurse to tell her five minutes ago."

"Then I must have been asleep," marveled Katharine. "And I thought I'd never sleep again till I was sure. What weak creatures we humans are, John! You must have thought so when you came out of that room a moment ago and saw me dozing."

"I thought...." he paused and smiled that peculiarly winning smile of his. "Never mind what I thought."

Katharine went home again, tipping through the quiet house, through the dew-soaked garden. The morning seemed new-minted for her especial pleasure. It was a fresh gift. Never before had she realized how divinely sweet a morning could be.

Zoe's convalescence was slow. No one but John Kaye and Katharine knew what really had happened that terrible night. Some columnist from the city printed an item to the effect that "Gibbs Laribin took it on the chin from a certain prominent medicine dealer in the Blue Sky Club." Katharine, reading it, trembled. But there were no further repercussions from the incident. Gibbs evidently had not been seriously hurt and, wherever he was, he had the sense to keep out of Zoe's path now.

Later Katharine read his name in the sailing lists. Bound for Plymouth and Havre.

The day came when Zoe was allowed to walk in the garden. She seemed thinner, more thoughtful than before. Her close brush with death had sobered her, changed her from the laughing, rather frivolous girl she had been into a quieter woman. Katharine was conscious of being drawn to her as to a younger sister.

For the moment thoughts of Michael Heatheroe were pushed in to the background of Katharine's mind. She saw him almost daily. Sometimes he rode at her side; sometimes not. But their relationship was now on a firmer basis. Katharine no longer felt it necessary to be stiff and offhand with him. Every day she saw about him some quality that she liked and admired more.

"Who says men and women cannot be friends?" she demanded of Dr. Kaye one rainy Sunday. Bertine and her father were at the country club for tea.

"I don't know. Who does?" John Kaye returned lazily. Ellen had kindled a fire in the library grate, for the afternoon was cool as well as damp—a curious day for August—and Katharine sat on a low hassock, poking idly at the embers with one of the fire tools.

"Oh, I don't know. Everybody!" Katharine offered vaguely, smiling to herself.

"Generalizations are always stupid," the doctor said idly.

"I love this," Katharine went on, with animation, including the fire and the tea tray in the wave of her hand. "It's pleasant to be shut in like this, with rain pounding against the windows and beating at the door." She smiled a secret smile, thinking of the day she and Michael Heatheroe had been sheltered in the wayside cabin. Michael had been angry at her that day. Why? Some day, perhaps, she would know. He had never spoken to her in that way since.

"Pleasant, indeed. You never can get this feeling in a city apartment," mused Dr. Kaye. "You have to have the noise of trees, branches bending in the wind and the sweep of water pounding on rocks and maybe the lighthouse bell tolling occasionally to give you a taste of real drama, in the storm. Katharine," he digressed suddenly, putting his cup down, "you've been happier of late, haven't you? Or do I imagine it? Somehow you and Bertine seem to be hitting it off better than you did."

"Oh, yes. Bertine is all right," Katharine said politely. "I wouldn't do to tell John that the reason she was able to bear her mother's irritating ways, her trick of whining and fussing at everything was because she had found a new outlet for her energies and affections. The Merseer house was open to her now whenever Bertine made home unbearable. Violet Merseer was her confidante.... and Katharine loved the children, too, as she hadn't dared to love anyone for years. But Bertine knew how often she looked out the little white house in the hills behind Innlock, she would be sure to interfere."

How grand it would be, Katharine thought, if Michael Heatheroe were to come walking in that door this very instant. She would say, "Tea, Michael?"

She would say, "I'm sorry, but do you take sugar and cream? I don't seem to remember...."

But she could never ask Michael Heatheroe to her home. Her stepmother would never allow it. Bertine, for all her smiles and apparent amiability, ruled the Strikherst menage with a rod and her portly husband did as she wished; in fact, he thought, said Katharine ruefully, that Michael Heatheroe temptingly to herself, what his wife told him Michael Heatheroe did long.

"Who is he?" Bertine was asked with a lift of the eyebrow.

Well, some day Katharine have a place of her own. She ask her own friends there, as she liked. No one was to criticize them, or, if she she would not listen.

"Wool-gathering. Princes!"

She smiled at the lean, looking man across the table.

"I guess so. You used to say that when you first saw John, 'Princess Kitz,' a very grand young man in a pigtail."

"A funny child you were, said John Kaye. "Just prickly pear. I tried to make you smile."

"Was I that bad?"

girl.

"No, you were afraid of Shrike. It wasn't exactly Distrust, I'm afraid. Po girl!"

HER throat tightened. She thickened as she said Doctor John. You'll have me into tears."

"Well, you've changed a how," said the man. "You afraid of anyone any more the stuff, Katharine. Look the face and tell 'em all hell."

"Good advice," said K smiling.

Lights flashed up in the head fixture and Bertine hurst bustled in.

"What are you two doing here in the dark? You to get into your things and brisk walk," cried Bertine. Katharine doesn't take enough That's why she droops her half-alive."

Angry words sprang to lips and were suppressed. Bertine looked at her warningly.

"I pulled three sets of the the broiling sun yesterday arine said, keeping her humored with an effort. Rode horseback in the Doesn't that count?"

Bertine gave her own little laugh.

"Oh, I guess we know the young ladies in town taken to riding of late. We could tell a thing or two that."

Katharine clenched her with an effort she controlled voice. "Really!"

Bertine turned to Dr. Kaye for understanding and sympathy. "You wouldn't believe how girls are nowadays about decent-looking male breeches. Why, I heard too Sally Moon is going to me fellow."

"Marry whom?" the doctor asked.

"Why, that young man of the riding place," cried Bertine triumphantly. "That chap himself Heatheroe."

John Kaye, glancing at arine, was shocked by the look on her face.

"Why, there's something he said to himself, in 'This means something to (To Be Continued)

STATE OF COTTON CROP IS RELEASED

Production in 1934 of 2,406,000 bales is 2,022,000 bales or 46 per cent below the 1933 crop and 2,174,000 bales or 47.5 per cent below average production in the 5-year period 1928-1932. The low production for 1934 was due to reduced acreage and to extreme drought conditions covering a large portion of the state.

Forecasts of cotton production for Texas made by the crop reporting board during the 1934 season and percentage comparisons with final production are as follows: August final production, 1,9 per cent below 1933; September 1, 2.3 per cent below; October 1, 2.345,000 bales; 2.5 per cent below; November 1, 2,390,000 bales, 0.7 per cent below; December 1, 2,395,000 bales, 0.5 per cent below final production.

For the United States the revised estimates of 27,883,600 acres in cultivation on July 1, 1934, and 26,987,000 acres harvested are about two per cent below preliminary estimates made last December. The yield at 170.9 pounds per acre is about six-tenths of one per cent above the December estimate. Production in 1934 of 9,636,000 bales is about 3,411,000 bales or 26 per cent below the 1933 crop, and 5,030,000 bales or 34 per cent below average production in the 5-year period 1928-1932.

Forecasts of cotton production made during the 1934 season for the United States are as follows: August 1, 9,159,000 bales; September 1, 9,252,000 bales; October 1, 9,443,000 bales; November 1, 9,634,000 bales; December 1, 9,731,000 bales.

Twenty-five Years on a TRENCHING Expedition to reach Your Doorstep with Natural Gas!

Petrolia cyclone in 1925 wrecked most of the field and compressor equipment, but not a customer on the lines missed his gas that day.

Lone Star has built seven river bridges to keep pipelines from washing away.

Started with twelve wells in Petrolia field. Now this system draws on 1,800 wells for cold weather load.

Deep-sea diving, to relay pipes in Galveston Bay.

25 compressor stations force gas over long distances.

TWENTY-FIVE years ago the Lone Star Gas System (of which your Gas Company is a part) struck out across country with pick and shovel in a four-foot trench, to pipe some North Texas natural gas into Fort Worth and Dallas. They were the pioneers in this part of the country, and many were the problems they had to work out, digging away through black waxy, limestone, rivers and woods. It took years of work and planning, large investments, great engineering skill, and a great deal of courage to thread this network of dependable gas supply to nearly 300 towns in Texas and Oklahoma.

automobile japanning-ovens. There are House-Heating Systems that clean and moisten the air, as well as warm it; there are Clothes Dryers, Radiators, Floor Furnaces, Automatic Ranges, Incinerators, and so forth. For running a cement plant to warming a baby's bath, these Lone Star towns enjoy an automatic heat that has made their skylines famous for their smokeless chimneys.

A quarter of a century of careful planning has made natural gas so low-priced at your meter that 15 cents' worth a day is the average household load the year around, for heating, cooking, hot water and refrigeration.

AUXILIARY MEMBERS CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church celebrated the twenty-third birthday anniversary of the Southern Presbyterian Auxiliary Tuesday afternoon in the church.

A Japanese theme predominated in decorations, plate favors, and the program, which was a play presented in costume.

Mrs. John Kleiner, president, presided during a business meeting, in which it was decided that two recital pieces of the church would be financed to the Kerrville encampment this summer by the Auxiliary. The society also voted to meet at 4 o'clock in the afternoon instead of 3 o'clock. The Auxiliary will assist Young People in a banquet given tonight in honor of the graduates and friends. A special offering was taken for the Golden Castle College for girls in Nagoya, Japan.

Under the direction of Mrs. A. E. Jamison, the play "A Golden Castle Alumnae Meeting" was given with the following taking part: Mrs. Homer Slicker, Mrs. L. Y. Siddall, Mrs. Abbie Daniel, Misses Pat Van Eman, Nell Alexander, Mrs. Lucille Gray, Betty Slicker and Doris Jamison sang "Jesus Loves Me," in Japanese. Mrs. Jamison sang a Japanese love song.

Students with "blank checkbooks" unlimited drawing accounts, spent little more than girls with allowances. The former class averaged $1,169.49, the latter, $1,102.14. Postcard To Pay For Patsy's Mate

FORT WORTH, May 30 — A mate for "Patsy" the Fort Worth zoo's educated lady chimpanzee, is to be bought with funds raised from sales of postcards portraying the young female "chimp" in three coy poses.

Patsy doesn't have much opportunity to get out and look around for a desirable mate, so the zoo people are going to attend to it for her.

A suitable gentleman chimpanzee to share life's cares and woes with Patsy would cost about $400.

King Tut, a big elephant owned by the zoo, will lend his weight to the money drive by allowing himself to be photographed for postcards, which also will be sold on behalf of Patsy's love life.

Hyacinths Blocking San Marcos River

AUSTIN, May 30 — Hyacinths are blocking the San Marcos river by their rapid spread and growth. Boatmen complain that the one-day stream can scarcely be traversed because of the heavy growth. Until 20 years ago there were no hyacinths on the stream. Then some were planted for beautification. Their removal has been proposed as a work relief project.

Considerable opposition to the removal of the hyacinths is heard. Besides their beauty, hyacinths have a patriotic appeal to Texans. It was along the San Jacinto river that Gen. Sam Houston won Texas independence from Mexico in a battle with Gen. Santa. Hyacinth in Spanish is "jacinto."

PROGRESS IN GAS SERVICE IS PICTURED

A quarter of a century in developing complete natural gas service is depicted in an advertisement of the Lone Star Gas system and affiliated companies, published in today's issue of this newspaper.

Twenty-five years ago natural gas service was virtually unknown in Texas. Wood coal and kerosene fires did the cooking and heating, except in the larger cities where manufactured gas carried considerable of the cooking load. In those days smoking chimneys were a sign of prosperity, and soot laden cities accepted their murky atmosphere because they didn't know any better. Today all Texas cities using gas are served with natural gas.

Then in 1909 L. B. Denning organized the Lone Star Gas company and in the fall of the same year started the first long distance pipeline in Texas. This line, running from Petrolia to Fort Worth and Dallas, a distance of 135 miles, was completed in February 1910 and service was started to Fort Worth in that month, reaching Dallas in April 1910. From that time, through many struggles, the system has spread over a territory larger than some states and reaches even out of the way villages, bringing a modern gas service to small towns equal in quality to that enjoyed by the cities.

From one pipeline and 15,000 customers the company has grown into an interconnected system of 4,000 miles of line serving about 300 towns and cities. From an uncertain and at times inadequate gas supply, through years of struggle for gas reserves, financial difficulties, labor shortage and serious engineering problems, the company has worked its way up to the type of natural gas service known at present throughout this territory.

The advertisement published in this paper sketches the pipeline system, indicates the towns where the company maintains offices, shows a few of the high spots in the company's history, and pictures modern gas equipment now available to gas patrons.

Government Canned Meat in Shipment

AUSTIN, May 30 — Shipment of 371 carloads of government-canned meat from Texas warehouses left 22,241,896 cans in storage within the state. C. Z. Crain, head of commodity distribution for the Texas relief commission, said today.

Much of the remainder will be transferred to other states by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation. Crain said. Texas already have consumed 15,428,000 cans of such meat and another allotment is to be made soon.

Another product of the federal cattle-buying and canning program last year, animal hides, is stored awaiting completion of plans to manufacture them into vests, comforters, and other articles for winter use.

Austin Thief Likes Pickled Pig's Feet

AUSTIN, May 30 — Austin police are looking for a burglar, who likes pickled pig's feet.

While E. Carlson checked his stock to see what was missing after he found a door to his store pried open, police looked for a clue. All they could determine had been taken was a large jar of pickled pig's feet.

They admitted that threw a lot of folks under suspicion.

"We don't like to hear the boys who lost their lives in a war fought for a called suckers in and profiteers," Smith said. He spoke upon possibility of future wars and condemned peace-lovers who would go to any length to avoid another war. "That was not the way this country was built," he said. Rev. J. B. Marble Hearing Will Be Held On Friday Morning

Whether marble machines will continue to be operated in Cisco and Ranger after this week will be determined tomorrow when a hearing is held in 91st district court at Eastland at 9 o'clock. The hearing was set by Judge George L. Davenport, after owners and operators, seeking to make permanent a temporary injunction against the Cisco and Ranger police forces, had asked for it. The court will rule on whether the owners and operators of the machines will have to remove them, as ordered by police, under the gambling laws, or whether the machines actually are, as their opponents claim, "innocent and harmless amusement devices." Representing the machine side of the issue against the two city authorities are Carl Lowrey, W. L. Moore, R. E. Waters, J. W. Hooks, Victor Cornelius, and O. W. Novelty company.

Lions Choose Cisco For 1936 Convention

The Lions convention for District 2-E, Northwest Texas, composed of 58 towns, voted Monday at Vernon, to come to Cisco in 1936, as a result of a strong bid and tireless work by the Cisco delegation headed by Past District Governor Horace Condlley. Immediately on arrival at Vernon the Cisco delegation supplemented its previous work of contacting other delegations by means of telephones and letters, by securing headquarters and waging a strong campaign for Cisco for 1936. Badges in the Lions colors of Purple and Gold, and bearing the slogan "Come To Cisco 1936", and displaying a bathing girl, were pinned on every delegate as they were contacted at their hotels or at Convention Hall. Contacts continued until Cisco was declared the host city for 1936 by unanimous vote. Other Bids Graham and Sweetwater had also made known their intentions of asking for the convention, but Graham failed to press her claim and Sweetwater, after making her nomination speech, withdrew her claim and seconded Cisco's nomination. Cisco was placed in nomination by W. H. LaRoque of Cisco. The nomination was seconded by Dr. Rupert N. Richardson of Abilene. The Cisco delegation consisted of Horace Condlley, W. H. LaRoque, H. L. Dyer, Charles, Joe Burnam and Mr. and Mrs. George Foster, of Laguna hotel. Site has been determined to have state conventions in future, district conventions will command more attendance, and Cisco should expect several hundred men and women next year. Decatur Man Elected C. P. Dodson of Decatur was elected district governor to succeed D. T. Bowles of Breckenridge, without opposition. The Vernon convention was an unusually good one, Lions said. While not having so large an attendance as some past conventions, which was perhaps caused partly by Vernon's situation in an extreme part of the district, and partly by the lack of sufficient advertising of its program over the district, its programs were unusually good. Most of the delegates attended some one of the Vernon churches Sunday evening. The president's and secretaries' breakfast Monday morning were the scenes of some splendid talks and interesting short programs. Speakers Such distinguished speakers as Past International President Julian Hyer, Past International Director Sam Brasuel, Director Fred Grimes, and Dr. Rupert N. Richardson made time pass rapidly. The Breckenridge club were hosts at a model luncheon Monday noon, special music and entertaining numbers were interspersed throughout the program. The Cisco club will start immediately to planning for the biggest district convention in history.

72 Graduates In Group Receiving School Diplomas

Seventy-two seniors of Cisco high school Tuesday night heard Dr. C. Q. Smith, president of McMurray college, address them on "Building" and received their diplomas from O. J. Russell, vice president of the Cisco school board. Dr. Smith urged that the members of the class, in building their lives "do not be satisfied with anything but the best" and "make as many friends as you can." "Build for security," Dr. Smith said. "Build for tomorrow." He pointed out the need for education in building a life or anything else and said, "To argue that an ignorant man obeying without questioning would make a better teacher or a better citizen would be as foolish as to argue that a blind man could drive a car down a highway at night better than a man with good sight could drive it over the same road in broad daylight." Dr. Smith commented upon the progress that has taken place within the last generation and said, "When you have advanced as far as your parents you will be in a position to call them old-fashioned." Speaking of mechanical progress, he said, "I'm not so much afraid of these machines blowing up and killing people as I am of this regimentation that may make us a part of a machine." Awards The Industrial Arts club's annual award was presented to Miss Louellyn Clark as the outstanding student in the high school's home economics department. Sentell Caffrey will receive the Rotary club medal as the outstanding boy of the school this year, it was announced by Principal H. Brandon. The medal has not yet arrived but will be presented to him as soon as it is received. Livius Lanford was runner-up for the award, it was announced. Scholars were awarded to the Miss Louellyn Clark, salutatorian, and Harry Brennan, valedictorian, as the students making the two highest scholastic averages in the class. These scholarships, it was announced, are recognized in most of the colleges and universities of the state. Honor certificates for all grades of the year above 90 were presented to 16 seniors and perfect attendance certificates to two members of the class. Seniors this year were graduated in the "graduate," "honor," or "high honor" groups, depending upon their grades. The high school choral club sang "I Love Life" and the sextet sang "The Pipers' Song." The procession and recessional were played by Mrs. S. E. Hittson. Rev. J. B. Curry delivered the invocation. Presentation of awards was by Principal H. Brandon and presentation of the class by Superintendent R. N. Cluck. Four of the seniors who were graduated Tuesday night were unable to be present to receive their diplomas. They were listed today by school officials as follows: Durward Boyd, football player, good student; and band member; Elvin Norvell, member of the football squad; and the E. F. A. Billy Doty, good student, reliable and cooperative; and Henry Elsenhuth, good student, and dependable office assistant. School officials characterized the four today as courteous, cooperative, and dependable.

HONOR 'LAST WOMAN' WHO SAT NEAR LINCOLN AT GETTYSBURG

...and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth." The only woman now living who claims to have sat on the speaker's platform and heard Abraham Lincoln thus complete his immortal Gettysburg Address is Mrs. America Viola Shoop of Sary, Pa., shown at right. As an honored guest at the Gettysburg, Pa., Memorial Day exercises at the famed Civil War battlefield, she will tell of her experiences on that day nearly 72 years ago at the scene sketched here from the famous painting by Fletcher G. Ransom of Chicago.

Randolph Will Open Session on Monday

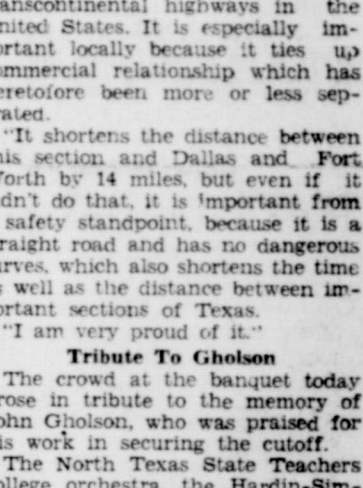

Randolph college today announced the opening of its summer school will be on Monday of next week. The following statement was made by college authorities, along with the announcement of the opening date: Randolph college, located a mile north of Cisco, on a high, breezy hill, is the coolest spot in summer in this part of the state. The new state park, together with Lake Cisco backs up almost to its door. The lake itself is less than two miles from the college. The location is ideal for a summer outing as well as study. Randolph college is a member of the Association of Texas Colleges, and also a member of the American Association of Colleges, and is rated as a college of the first class. This fact entitles its students to transfer their credits to any college in the United States. Randolph college will offer Bible training under the personal supervision and teaching of Dr. David P. Tyndall, one of the Bible masters of the world today. A sincere invitation is extended to all ministers to attend this course, regardless of whether they are regular students of the summer school or not. As the students and faculty mingle together in class rooms and on the campus, they soon became one large Christian family. Randolph college's living expenses for men and women are very reasonable. Rooms for men may be obtained at Bivins Hall, a modern, fire-proof dormitory. Light house-keeping privileges will be granted; stoves and cabinets are furnished free of charge in separate kitchens. This is a special favor to individuals with moderate means who are determined to obtain an education. Women may have light house-keeping privileges at Randolph Hall, a dormitory for women. For the summer months this dormitory will be conducted on the cooperative plan. In both dormitories utility bills will be equally divided; water will be furnished free of charge. Each individual will pay one dollar per month for a room. Married couples will find it economical, comfortable, and convenient to reside and study at Randolph.

W. Ewing, assistant in cotton adjustment at Eastland. RAY NICHOLS SPEAKER FOR CELEBRATION

EASTLAND, May 30 — More than 5,000 people shouted praises of the men who have led this section into their own by the completion of the new highway between Ranger and Weatherford, designated Highway 89, at an all-day celebration here which ended Thursday afternoon with an address by Ray H. Nichols of Vernon, newly elected president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. "Highways form an important keystone in the development of West Texas resources for which we are all striving," Nichols said, "and this new road fills in a gap that is of primary importance to the people and commerce of this section. We are hopeful that the highway commission will fill other important gaps in our West Texas highway system." Representatives from 26 cities in Texas and one in Oklahoma were present at the banquet held at noon. They represented an area with a population of a quarter million people. Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene, former chairman of the state highway commission, addressed the crowd this afternoon and said: "This highway is important, necessary, and defensible from every standpoint. It is important to the state and national highway systems in this section. It improves one of the greatest transcontinental highways in the United States. It is especially important locally because it ties up commercial relationship which has heretofore been more or less separated. It shortens the distance between this section and Dallas and Fort Worth by 14 miles, but even if it didn't do that, it is important from a safety standpoint, because it is a straight road and has no dangerous curves, which also shortens the time as well as the distance between important sections of Texas. "I am very proud of it." Tribute To Gholson The crowd at the banquet today arose in tribute to the memory of John Gholson, who was praised for his work in securing the cutoff. The North Texas State Teachers college orchestra, the Hardin-Simmons Cowboy band, and the Ranger American Legion Tickleville band furnished music for the program. Members of the court of civil appeals, Chief Justice W. P. Leslie, and Associate Justices Clyde Grisom and O. C. Funderburk, and 91st District Judge George L. Davenport, and 88th District Judge B. W. Patterson, were introduced. Cisco, Ranger, Eastland and other cities and towns of Eastland county and surrounding territory have come into their own with the completion of Highway 89 between Ranger and Weatherford, District Judge C. M. Russell of Stephenville told citizens and visitors of Eastland this morning. Gathered on the courthouse square several thousand strong, visitors and local residents began an all-day celebration of the opening of the new highway. Morning Speakers Speakers of the morning were: Judge Russell; Hamilton McRae, president of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce who gave an address of welcome; and State Senator Gray Woodruff of Decatur who responded for visitors. ## The Seekers After Truth

"Know the truth, and it shall set you free," is after all, an idle saying. How is one to know the truth? The search after truth is like the search after perpetual motion or the attempt to square the circle. Samuel Butler held that all we should aim at is the most convenient way of looking at a thing—the way that most sensible people are likely to find to give them the least trouble for some time to come. It is not true that the sun used to go round the earth, until Copernicus' time, but it is true that until Copernicus' time it was most convenient to us to hold this theory. If truth is not trouble-saving in the long run, it is not truth, Butler contended. He held that truth is only that which is most largely and permanently trouble-saving. The ultimate triumph, therefore, of truth rests on a very tangible basis—much more so than when it is made to depend upon the will of an unseen and unknowable agency. It does not matter what the truth is—that is to say, our hitting on the most permanently convenient arrangement of our ideas upon the subject whatever it may be—matters very much; at least it matters, or it may matter, very much in some relations. And however little it matters, yet it matters, and however much it matters it does not matter. This is a whimsical, roundabout way of saying that every question has two sides. Knowing both sides, you are in a position to know the truth. What Cicero practiced as a means of forensic success, requires to be imitated by all who study any subject to arrive at the truth. The greatest orator, save one, of antiquity has left it on record that he always studied his adversary's case with great, if not with still greater, intensity than his own. He who knows only his own case knows little of that.

Kickers and Knockers

A recently published dictionary boasts of having 400,000 words between A and Z of its alphabetical order. A tremendous number of words indeed, each word possibly in use day in and day out and each word enjoying the acquaintance of some companionable human. But how many of these 400,000 words are universally or anywhere near universally known? An astonishing few in these enlightened United States, but if no other, there is one that can truthfully lay claim to universality. It is the word "kicks," a diminutive word indeed. Of four letters by actual count unless in the prevalent plural. Like most English words, its use and definitions are many and diversified but its universality extends to only one of these, i. e., to "object strenuously, to raise a howl, to complain, protest and vociferate against," and so on ad libitum. In other and fewer words "kicking" is about the only thing humanity is unanimous in. Every last animal vocally equipped to distinguish itself from other animals by the word "dumb" is inoculated with some pet kick or a dozen of them, more probably. Everybody, barring dead ones, is kicking in slumber, before and during each meal, while at play and while shirking more useful and fruitful work. In other words, the United States has to go to the "kickers" and their ubiquitous "kicks." (Note the prevalent plural.) The divine pessimist, Arthur Schopenhauer, once said that optimism is the last stage of insanity, but it has never been found where he ever said or wrote that it is the bounden duty of every pessimist (kicker) to proclaim his pessimism (kicks) to the world. The illimitable kicks forbid enumeration or classification, but picked at random a few of the most fashionable and popular are these of capital against the shackles of labor and of labor against the slavery and iron heel of capital, of the landlord against the food profiteer and taxburdening public official and of the landlord's tenant against the rent profiteer, of the reformers and calamity howlers against licenselessness, immorality and new thought and of the wine-weaned and "railbirds" against the reformers, the prohibitionists, the shall-noters in general, of the political party out of power against the malfeasance and incompetency of the party in power. Kicks are one thing found without seeking. Humble and abject apologies for this "kick" against the "kickers."

Carter Glass Sustains Bonus Veto

Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia never dodges an issue. He never straddles the fence. He has been in public life many years. He votes his convictions, regardless of the administration in power. He has no apologies to make. He tells it straight to the democrats of Virginia if they do not like his style or rather his laconic way of expressing himself, it is their American privilege to elect his successor at the next succeeding election. Political writers talk of Borah as the great independent. There is only one great independent. He guides powerful Virginia newspapers. Borah is an independent every day in the year except on election day. Then he votes the republican ticket straight and then tells to the world that his party and its presidents are false to the interest of the people, "and that the common man gets its where the chicken gets the ax." Carter Glass voted to sustain the presidential veto of the Patman bonus bill. Sen. Peter Norbeck republican of South Dakota, was the only absentee. Sen. Norbeck is a very sick man. He was paired and would have voted had he been present to override the veto. Incidentally and to the point, 41 democrats voted to override their president. They were joined by 11 republicans, one farmer-laborite and one progressive.

Twenty-eight democrats voted to sustain President Roosevelt and republicans joined them. Now the war is on again on the part of the bonus leaders headed by Wright Patman. And now. A rider to one of the appropriations bills. Pres. William Green of the American Federation of Labor, addressing a large audience in the city of New York, threatened a general strike the country over if all the demands of organized labor and all the bills they favor are not passed over the top and signed by the President. Really, is Green for an American dictator or the rule of democracies. Why not get the ox out of the ditch, meaning national recovery for all the people, before making wild threats or issuing orders to the President and the senators and the representatives of a republic that was founded by freemen with a flag to defend and a constitution to be the guide of all those who believe in a free press, freedom of conscience, freedom of action, freedom of property rights, a free ballot and the right of the majority to rule as expressed at the ballot box?

That newspapers are the melting pot of all local problems. They do the big part in making perpetual progress. They initiate faith and hope in the home city. They are guardians of public affairs and moulders of ideas for the betterment of the home city. They stand for the rights of every citizen. They breathe patriotism and encourage success. They help to build cities and give all they have to make the home city a bigger, busier city. Newspapers are recognized and generally conceded as the acknowledged advertising medium through which to reach all the people.

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, May 30—Gov. Allred paid a real tribute to his friend, Clyde Grissom, when he appointed Judge Grissom to the Eastland court of civil appeals. They had prosecuted the case of Mrs. Collier, wife of the Wichita Falls mayor, when Mr. and Mrs. Collier were tried in connection with the death of their daughter's suitor. The case was transferred to Haskell county and tried before District Judge Bruce W. Bryant, where Grissom was district attorney. "Haskell county started really to become a law-enforcement county about the time Judge Grissom became the district attorney," the governor said. Their association in the trial of that case, 10 years ago this month undoubtedly led to Judge Grissom's appointment to the appellate bench at this time.

There are several things Gov. Allred wants to know about the new marble-machine tax bill before he signs or vetoes it. He has asked Attorney General William McCraw for a ruling on these and other points. Will this act legalize any gambling device? Will it affect pending cases involving the collection of occupation and license taxes? The question whether the coin pay-off machines, dependent in some degree on skill, are amusement or gambling devices is an intricate one. It already has brought on conflicting decisions of courts.

Despite the governor's warning against to many jokers in legislation, there almost was the best joker of all in a bill that almost got by in the recent session—and a joker not intended by the sponsors or friends of the bill. A universal hunting and fishing license bill was reported out by conference, with numerous East Texas counties purportedly exempted. The conference report was adopted by both houses. Somebody looked into it and found the exemption only applied to catfishing, and not to the general provisions of the bill at all. The immediate East Texas stampede followed, and the bill was reconsidered by the house after the senate had had a quorum, so that it was thus killed.

Friends of the bill, sincerely eager to provide fish and game for those who want the sport, and knowing that any sportsman who spends many dollars for a trip would be willing to spend a dollar more for the assurance of game or fish, had hoped to provide for adequately financing the necessary propagation and restocking. They were not responsible for the mutilation that would have trapped the opponents had the bill got through.

EMBARRASSING SOLICITUDE EVANSTON, Ill.—A dozen young women, members of Evanston's Junior league, were on a tour of the city jail. As they filed into the cell block one of the inmates asked sympathetically, "Gee, girls, what were you pitched for?"

Ponds For Bass Are Nolan County Aim

SWEETWATER, May 30—Building of ponds to rear 50,000 six-inch bass is the immediate object of the Nolan county chapter of the Texas Fish and Game Protective association. Ben N. Roberts, local chairman, said. Proper fertilizers and plants would be placed in the ponds to provide "fattening" grounds for the fish before they are planted in lakes near here. Another object of the organization is to eliminate known enemies of game fish, such as "suckers," Roberts said. An educational campaign is planned. In it, fishermen are to be instructed to handle the young fish they catch "accidentally." For example, fishermen are warned to set their hands before handling or throwing the little fish back in the water, as dry hands may cause a skin disease which would kill them.

New Legion Home To Be Dedicated

CLEBURNE, May 30—Cleburne's new American Legion home is to be dedicated Thursday, with a parade scheduled for the morning. Led by the Dallas police department band, Grand Marshal Harry Leonard, city officials and fire-fighting apparatus, Cleburne prepared to honor its veterans, with Gold Star mothers and mothers of other veterans accorded a prominent place in the ceremonies.

Polygamist Runs Into Difficulties

EL PASO, May 30—A self-styled "practicing polygamist," J. Herbert Foster, met with difficulties here when he attempted to bring both his legal wife and his common-law wife into the United States. Immigration authorities refused to admit Rosa Carmona, Foster's common-law wife, and both the Department of State and the Labor Department at Washington upheld the immigration division's ruling. Rosa Carmona is the mother of Foster's nine-year-old son. The boy probably will be given a temporary passport to enable him to attend school in El Paso, immigration officials said.

Church Announces Summer Bible Class

The First Christian church vacation Bible school will begin Monday, June 3, it has been announced. The school will include three departments of boys and girls from five to 13 years, the beginners, primary, and juniors. The junior department will have a Bible course dealing with the life of Christ from the prophesy through His Ascension. Manual training will be offered for the boys and sewing for the girls. The primary department will take up the study of "God and Nature," and will make scrap books and peep boxes. The Beginners' department will study the children's place in the home and will make scrap books. The classes will meet five days a week, from 8:30 until 11:30 a. m. Miss Nadine Sherwin of Randolph college urged mothers of all denominations to send their children to the school.

Cisco Man Attends College Graduation

Rev. J. Stuart Pearce Monday attended the commencement of Daniel Baker college at Brownwood and heard the baccalaureate address by Dean Hart of the college faculty. Twenty-five were granted B. A. degrees. Honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees were conferred on Francis M. Davis, pastor of the Alamo Heights Presbyterian church of San Antonio, who preached the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning; Rev. Bryan Keathley, superintendent of home missions of the Fort Worth Presbytery; Rev. Roy K. McCall, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of San Saba; and Rev. Roy F. Crumland of Africa.

Convention Reports Are Heard by Lions

With Leon Charles Kleiner as chairman, reports were made by delegates who attended the Lions convention at Vernon and a letter was read from the girl graduate who was assisted by the club Wednesday. Lions Conley, LaRoque, Dyer and Burnam made brief reports, all agreeing that the program at Vernon was outstanding in character and a much better attendance should be expected at Cisco next year than that of Vernon this year. Dr. Hubert Seale made a report on the osteopathic convention to be held during the weekend. Lion Joe Burnam read a letter of thanks from the senior whom the club had assisted in her graduating expenses. Past President E. O. Elliott, of Colorado city, was the guest of W. J. Leach.

Postcard To Pay For Patsy's Mate

FORT WORTH, May 30—A mate for "Patsy" the Fort Worth zoo's educated lady chimpanzee, is to be bought with funds raised from sales of postcards portraying the young female "chimp" in three coy poses. Patsy doesn't have much opportunity to get out and look around for a desirable mate, so the zoo people are going to attend to it for her. A suitable gentleman chimpanzee to share life's cares and woes with Patsy would cost about $400. King Tut, a big elephant owned by the zoo, will lend his weight to the money drive by allowing himself to be photographed for postcards, which also will be sold on behalf of Patsy's love life.

Hyacinths Blocking San Marcos River

AUSTIN, May 30—Hyacinths are blocking the San Marcos river by their rapid spread and growth. Boatmen complain that the one-way stream can scarcely be traversed because of the heavy growth. Until 20 years ago there were no hyacinths on the stream. Then some were planted for beautification. Their removal has been proposed as a work relief project. Considerable opposition to the removal of the hyacinths is heard. Besides their beauty, hyacinths have a patriotic appeal to Texans. It was along the San Jacinto river that Gen. Sam Houston won Texas independence from Mexico in a battle with Gen. Santa Ana. Hyacinth, a Spanish is "jacinto."

COYOTE FOSTER MOTHER

CRAIG, Colo.—A pup belonging to A. J. Miller who lives near here, disappeared recently. Two weeks later, sheepherders found him in a coyote den with nine coyote pups.

MEANEST THIEF

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—A blind man was robbed of his piano-tuning instruments, his only means of earning a living, by an affable stranger who carried them for him to a nearby house, saying he wanted his piano tuned. The stranger deserted the blind man on a street corner, promising to return in "just a few minutes." He didn't.

STATE OF TEXAS COTTON CROP RELEASED

Production in 1934 of 2,406,000 bales is 2,022,000 bales or 46 per cent below the 1933 crop and 2,174,000 bales or 47.5 per cent below average production in the 5-year period 1928-1932. The low production for 1934 was due to reduced acreage and to extreme drought conditions covering a large portion of the state.

Forecasts of cotton production for Texas made by the crop reporting board during the 1934 season and percentage comparisons with final production are as follows: August 1, 2,382,000 bales, 1.0 per cent below final production; September 1, 2,382,000 bales, 1.0 per cent below; October 1, 2,345,000 bales, 2.5 per cent below; November 1, 2,390,000 bales, 0.7 per cent below; December 1, 2,395,000 bales, 0.5 per cent below final production.

For the United States the revised estimates of 27,883,000 acres in cultivation on July 1, 1934, and 26,987,000 acres harvested are about two per cent below preliminary estimates made last December. The yield at 170.9 pounds per acre is about six-tenths of one per cent above the December estimate.

Production in 1934 of 9,636,000 bales is about 3,411,000 bales or 26 per cent below the 1933 crop, and average production in the 5-year period 1928-1932.

Forecasts of cotton production for the United States are as follows: August 1, 9,159,000 bales; September 1, 9,252,000 bales; October 1, 9,443,000 bales; November 1, 9,634,000 bales; December 1, 9,731,000 bales.

Twenty-five Years on a TRENCHING Expedition to reach Your Doorstep with Natural Gas!

Petrolia cyclone in 1925 wrecked most of the field and compressor equipment, but not a customer on the lines missed his gas that day.

Lone Star has built seven river bridges to keep pipelines from washing away.

Started with twelve wells in Petrolia field. Now this system draws in 1,000 wells for cold weather load.

25 compressor stations force gas over long distances.

automobile janting-ovens. There are House-Heating Systems that clean and moisten the air, as well as warm it; there are Clothes Dryers, Radiators, Floor Furnaces, Automatic Ranges, Incinerators, and so forth. For running a cement plant to warming a baby's bath, these Lone Star towns enjoy an automatic heat that has made their skylines famous for their smokeless chimneys.

A quarter of a century of careful planning has made natural gas so low-priced at your meter that 15 cents' worth a day is the average household load the year around, for heating, cooking, hot water and refrigeration.

ANSWERING THE ETERNAL QUESTION

What to Serve?

LONGEST CASE IN COURTS OF TEXAS ENDED

HOUSTON, May 30 — A ruling for the plaintiffs by the supreme court of Texas recently ended the longest case ever tried in state courts.

The case—Palmetto Lumber company vs. J. P. Gibbs—required 24 weeks in court and resulted in 4,500 typewritten pages of verbal testimony.

A district court's opinion in favor of the lumber company was upheld by the supreme court.

More than a week was required to read the "briefs" in the case, the plaintiff submitting 1,070 pages and the defendant 1,341.

Exhibits filed were 501 bound pages for the plaintiff and 967 for the defendant. There were approximately 1,000 sheets of loose exhibits.

The Palmetto Lumber company entered into a contract with Gibbs in 1907 to borrow $196,000 to purchase and divide a tract of timber.

The contract provided that the company would pay such expenses and interest, carrying charges and taxes. The company dissolved in 1927, ten years after contract, and asked for division of profits, but was told interest had consumed its share.

The firm's suit asked for an accounting and $1,100,000.

Shakespeare Club Of Children Formed

FCRT WORTH, May 30 — A children's Shakespeare club here is soon to present "A Midsummer Night's Dream." It is believed to be the only Shakespearean drama organization in which children are the players.

Shakespeare, himself said "Out of the mouths of babes..." should come the truth.

The immortal Englishman remembered children in many of his plays. Human understanding was Shakespeare's greatest faculty and he recognized the importance of children in this sometimes dreary world as guileless spirits who could see truth through the disillusioning adult mentality.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to an order in the above cause by the Hon. Jas. C. Wilson on the motion filed in said cause by said debtor to dismiss said proceedings, a hearing will be had on said motion on the 3rd day of June, A. D. 1935, in the court room of the United States District Court in Lubbock, Texas, at 10 o'clock A. M., at which hearing all creditors, stockholders and others interested in the affairs of the above named debtor shall appear and show cause, if any, why the motion of said debtor to dismiss said cause shall not be granted.

E. H. HENDERSON, President. Lake Cisco Amusement Company.

TICKS DESTROY ELK YELLOWSTONE PARK. — A total of 358 dead elk were counted during a recent aerial and ground survey of Yellowstone National Park's northern elk herd, according to Jack Emmert, acting park superintendent. Their deaths were attributed to mountain ticks, prevalent in the region. The survey revealed 10-112 elk in the herd.

EVERYBODY BUSY ARLINGTON, Neb. — There is not an idle man in Arlington. Every eligible man has been given a job either in shelter belt planting or road work on the south half of the Lincoln highway near here.

POLICE PAY OWN WAY NEWCOMERSTOWN, O. — With gasoline funds exhausted, police here have been operating at their own expense since January. Already, they have given a dance, earning $30 for a special fuel fund.

PROGRESS OF EDUCATION SEATTLE — Men and women attending the annual University of Washington sports promenade were furnished free cigarettes, in addition to other refreshments.

DOETHAN

School has closed. The children are home for their vacation. Most of them are enjoying working with their hoes and plows this week.

Two boys from this community received diplomas from the Cisco schools this term. Lowell Allan Suskett graduating from the grammar school and Clifford Pippin from the high school. Miss Enojane Hazlewood received an honor certificate for making an average of 90 or above for the entire period of nine months. We wish to congratulate these pupils on their success.

Among these from Dothan who attended the closing exercise of the Cisco schools were Mrs. C. E. Pippins and daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Mrs. Elliott Sublett, Jack Redford, Miss Glenna Pippin and Mrs. E. L. Hazlewood and children.

Miss Effie Head has gone to Eastland to work. Mrs. Claude Carter has moved from this community to the Friendship community. We regret to see her leave.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Donaway were sorry to hear of the death Monday of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donaway. The baby was born Sunday evening.

Miss Pearl Donaway has returned home for her summer vacation. She has been teaching at Moran the past year and expected to return there next term.

Friends of Dorris Donaway will be glad to hear that she was able to get out riding Thursday.

Miss Glenna Pippin spent Sunday night with Miss Enojane Hazlewood.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hazlewood and son Everett were guests of Mrs. Hazlewood's sister Mrs. Gilmer Reese and Mr. Reese and baby of Scranton Saturday night and Sunday.

STATE THINKS GRAY WOLVES NOW EXTINCT

ENCAMPMENT, Wyo., May 30.—There will be no more gray wolves at the door of Wyoming.

The last known gray wolf in the state was found dead, recently in Encampment Valley. The animal died after eating poison meat set out by Fred Potter.

With the passing of the last of the gray wolves, old stories of their depredations were recalled.

Fifty years ago wolves were the worst problem the cattlemen had to solve. In 1896 the state paid bounties, of $3 each, on 3,458 wolves.

Buffalo, elk, deer, antelope, and other big game, were killed by the wolves. Then the beasts turned to cattle and horses.

From 1896 to 1927 there were 36-161 wolves killed or captured in the state. In 1915, when the biological survey started work in Wyoming, there were 1,000 wolves doing damage to game and livestock estimated at $1,000,000 annually.

With the exception of Yellowstone park, there probably are no more gray wolves in Wyoming.

A number of the wolves, killed by federal and state hunters, had notorious pasts. Notable among the wolves were: Scarface, Five-Toes, Cushion Foot, Red Flash and a pair of Sheridan wolves.

The most notorious wolf killer, and the one who carried the largest price on his head, was the Custer wolf.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE NEA Service Staff Writer PRACTICALLY every family has its own ideas about Sunday dinners. My childhood recollections of them are rich with ice cream and best dishes and shining silver and an atmosphere of pleasant luxury and leisure that was not common with everyday dinners.

Every woman wants her Sunday dinners to stand out in the memory of her family as something special, no matter what limitations of time and money she may have to struggle against. So I'm suggesting two menus and if you serve even the most economical dinner it will be made interesting by attractive garnishing.

Tomato Juice Cocktail Canelon of Veal New Potatoes with Cream Sauce Carrots Creole Stuffed Prune Salad Strawberry Fluff with Custard Sauce Milk Coffee

Right after breakfast Sunday morning I mix up the cannelon of veal and put it in the roasting pan all ready for the oven. It will bake in one hour. Or if I want to be away and serve my dinner on short order after I get back, I bake it in a low oven for two hours.

Canelon of Veal One pound finely chopped veal, 1-2 pound finely chopped pork, 1 cup dried herbs, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 3 hard cooked eggs, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 2 slices bacon.

Mix veal, pork and bread crumbs. Sprinkle with lemon juice, salt, pepper and parsley and mix thoroughly. Add eggs slightly beaten and mix well. Add milk and mix. Put half of the mixture into a loaf pan. Lay hard cooked eggs through the center, end to end. Cover with remaining meat mixture and press firmly into mold. Turn out into a roasting pan and lay thin slices of bacon diagonally over top and sides of loaf. Bake one hour in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.), basting frequently with drippings in the pan. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve. This is good either hot or cold.

Tomorrow's Menu BREAKFAST Halves of grapefruit, cereal, cream, waffles, syrup, milk, coffee. DINNER: English mutton chops, turnips in parsley butter, beet greens with Dutch sauce, carrot and celery salad with peanut dressing, lemon soup pie, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON: Spanish omelet with mushrooms, fresh apple sauce, ginger snaps, milk, tea.

And here's the other menu: Strawberry and Pineapple Cocktail Roast Duck Brown Gravy Lattice Potatoes Sweet Potatoes Glace Asparagus Salad Orange Ice Chocolate Brownies Milk Coffee

The cocktail is prepared early Sunday morning and kept closely covered in the ice box until wanted.

The brownies are made Saturday and stored in a tin box and ice is made right after Sunday breakfast and put in the refrigerator to freeze.

Shirley Temple's Fan Mail Shows That Nearly Mother Has Daughter Like Her

HOLLYWOOD, May 30.—Sitting through Shirley Temple's fan mail is like looking in the telephone directory at the Jones clan.

Nearly every mother in the United States has a daughter like Shirley.

It's not surprising the number of letters this child star gets from mothers who enclose photographs of daughters they avow are exact images of her.

The mothers, seeing Shirley on the screen or her photographs in the magazines and newspapers, apparently are carried away by their imaginations, as the pictures they enclose don't bear the slightest resemblance to very young Miss Temple.

Mrs. Gertrude Temple, her mother, has studied hundreds of these mailed-in photos and has yet to find one that resembles her daughter.

All Wellwishers Unlike the fan mail most Hollywood stars receive, all the letters to Shirley are kindly. As a general thing, they merely wish her continued success.

Big Reward

As his killings increased and his fame spread the reward for his death increased until the old wolf was carrying around a price of $500 dead or alive.

His mate was killed, but old Custer, cunning and sly, avoided all traps and poison. Two covotes acted as bodyguard for the cunning old wolf and followed him as he ranged through the country.

The coyotes always would be near him, but never ran by his side. They would follow him and feed on his kills after Custer had eaten his fill.

H. P. Williams, after following the wolf for six months, finally caught him in a trap and killed him.

The king of the killers ranged over northeastern Wyoming and western South Dakota for nine years. During his reign of terror he killed cattle valued at more than $25,000.

MAGICIANS ARE DUE TO GATHER IN CONVENTION

LIMA, O., May 30. — Magicians, both professional and amateur, all members of the International Brotherhood of Magicians, prepare to market their year's efforts in tricks at the 10th annual convention here, June 4 to 6.

Amateurs in every magic classification, including mentalists, card manipulators, illusionists, sleight-of-hand experts and coin kings will try to fool each other, and will also participate in a contest, for which the various dealers will award prizes.

Professionals watch these contests for new ideas or effects which they might purchase.

Many of the most important discoveries in magic are made by the amateurs, professionals claim but lacking showmanship or means to utilize the tricks, the amateurs sell their tricks to the professional.

The organization claims a membership of 5,000. W. W. Durbin Lima is president of the national organization, and is also Registrar of the United States Treasury.

Government Canned Meat in Shipment

AUSTIN, May 30 — Shipment of 371 carloads of government-canned meat from Texas warehouses left 22,241,896 cans in storage within the state. C. Z. Crain, head of commodity distribution for the Texas relief commission, said today.

Much of the remainder will be transferred to other states by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation. Crain said, Texans already have consumed 15,433,000 cans of such meat and another allotment is to be made soon.

Another product of the federal cattle-buying and canning program, last year, animal hides, is stored awaiting competition of plans to manufacture them into vests, comfitters, and other articles for winter use.

Fishermen Seeking King of Lobsters

PICTOU, Nova Scotia, May 30.—The lobster fishermen of Nova Scotia have started their annual search for the great grand-daddy of all lobsters so that on July 10 the crown which will mark him out as the "Lobster King" may be placed on his head at Pictou's famous lobster festival.

A triumphant shout from fishermen "trap hauling" in Nova Scotia waters these days means but one thing—a giant lobster has been caught. Lobster fishermen all over Nova Scotia, where lobsters are always "in season" on some part of the coast, are watching out for a candidate for royal honors to take to Pictou, home of the largest and most prosperous lobster fisheries in the world.

Every giant caught is carefully placed in a special tank outfitted with all the necessities of crustacean life and fed meals fit for a king until his captors run across a bigger catch or hear of a larger lobster having been taken some place else.

The Nova Scotia lobster monarch is true "king for a day," for triumphant reign lasts only that long. His coronation at the quaint Pictou festival, where lobster fishermen from all over the province gather to celebrate the high spot of their year, is followed swiftly by his death. The monarch is then served at a royal feast.

RIVER MOVED UNDER BRIDGE ON DRY LAND

OMAHA, Neb., May 30.—Spectators gather daily to watch Missouri river channel engineers figuratively crack their whips and force the Big Muddy inches nearer the bridge that was built on dry land.

Some days the river is mighty obstinate and the old timers who shook their heads and looked askance when they saw the bridge spanning dry land, are gleeful because they believe their judgment verified.

Move 1 1/2 Feet

But over a period of days the stream behaves exactly as the army engineers predicted on their blue prints several months ago. By a series of dikes and piling built zig-zag fashion from the Iowa or eastern bank of the river the engineers have succeeded in driving the channel 1 1/2 feet westward toward the new South Omaha or "dry land" bridge.

Youngful First Lieut. Paul W. Thompson of the army engineers, who has been in charge of cracking the whip on the river, said he is well satisfied in the manner in which the stream has been responding.

Need More Water

"It isn't as easy as we expected," Thompson said, "but we have gone far enough now to know that in a very short time the channel will be directly under the main span, just as we figured. A little higher water would speed the job up considerably."

C. W. Cabbage, general superintendent of the bridge company which occasioned the head-shaking by building the country's first big bridge on dry land, had no misgivings about the job.

"They just gave us the plans and we went ahead and built the bridge," Cabbage said, "but I've noticed the river is doing her part."

Boss Calls Police Good Pea Shooters

ELMIRA, N. Y., May 30.—As members of a modern police force, Elmira policemen would make a swell bunch of pea shooters, in the opinion of City Manager Florence J. Sullivan.

Upon his order to assemble for target practice, the policemen lined up at the target grounds. The first patrolman had to press the trigger nine times before his revolver discharged.

Most of the other weapons were found to be rusty and dust-filled, and practically useless. One captain's holster was found to be moth infested.

"These guns are almost as good as pea shooters—almost, but not quite," Manager Sullivan remarked. He issued orders for a drastic clean-up and regular target practice.

Jacques thanked him and as he did the officer got a whiff of his breath and arrested him for drunk driving. The incident cost Jacques $50.

Caution Of Driver Gets Drunk Fine

BRISTOL, Conn., May 30.—A caution light showed on the police traffic beacon, so Wilfred Jacques stopped his automobile and patiently waited for it to turn green.

A policeman, making his rounds observed the car parked in the middle of the road and went on his way. Returning some time later and finding the machine still waiting under the light, he strode over to the driver and told him it would be four hours before the light changed.

Jacques thanked him and as he did the officer got a whiff of his breath and arrested him for drunk driving. The incident cost Jacques $50.

Community Natural Gas Company has standing behind it a system which draws upon not one source of supply, but THIRTY-ONE distinct gas fields. Through an inter-connected system embracing 4,000 miles of pipe lines, it is prepared at all times to put these resources and facilities at the disposal of every customer.

You Pay Community less than it spends in Eastland County!

No dollar that you spend works harder for you and the interests of Cisco and Eastland County than the dollar you pay Community Natural Gas Company for your gas service. You know by experience that Community Natural Gas Service saves you time, labor and money.

But your gas dollar you pay Community works for you in still another way that is just as important to you as the many conveniences it makes possible in your home. The purposes for which Community Natural Gas Company uses the dollars you pay it, play a vital part in the development of Cisco and Eastland County!

Because a large part of the investments and production activities of the associated companies of Lone Star System are centered in Eastland County, the company spends each year in this and adjoining counties more than $700,000.00 for wages and taxes alone! Work is provided in this West Texas district for 454 men and women employees who spend an average of more than $48,000.00 a month for household and personal needs. The company is Eastland County's largest taxpayer—paying more than one and one-third times the amount it receives from its Cisco customers!

Certainly the welfare of Community Natural Gas Company is important to you not only as a user of gas, but also as a citizen of the city of Cisco. We have done and will continue to do our full share in the advancement of Cisco and this section.

PROTECT YOUR LIFE AND THE LIVES OF OTHERS!

THERE are three questions you should ask yourself about the tires you buy:

- 1—"Will the non-skid tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"
- 2—"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"
- 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

Answer No. 1—Harvey S. Firestone early realized the value of tire traction and safety and was the first to design an All Rubber Non-Skid Tire. Through the years Firestone has led the way in the design and development of tires with most effective non-skid treads.

Firestone does not depend solely on traction and non-skid tests made by its own engineers—it employs a leading University to make impartial tests for non-skid efficiency of its tires, and their most recent report shows that Firestone High Speed Tires stop the car 15% quicker than the best of all popular makes of tires.

Answer No. 2—Blowout protection must be built into a tire. Friction and heat within the tire is the greatest cause of blowouts. Firestone protects its tires from friction and heat by a patented process which soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber. This is an additional process known as Gum-Dipping, by which every 100 pounds of cotton cords absorb eight pounds of rubber. This extra process costs more and is not used in any other make of tire.

Leading race drivers investigate the inbuilt qualities of the tires they use, because their very lives depend upon their tires, and they always select Firestone Tires for their daring speed runs. In fact, Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-mile race for fifteen consecutive years, and they were on the 5,000-pound car that Ab Jenkins drove 3,000 miles in 23½ hours on the hot salt beds at Lake Bonneville, Utah, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, without tire trouble of any kind. These amazing performance records are proof of the greatest blowout protection ever known.

Answer No. 3—Thousands of car owners reporting mileage records of 40,000 to 75,000 miles, is proof of the long mileage and greater economy by equipping with Firestone High Speed Tires. Let these unequalled performance records be your buying guide.

Go to the Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store or Firestone Tire Dealer and let him equip your car with Firestone Tires, the safest and most economical tires built.
