MURDER TRAIL LEADS THROUGH CISCO

CHECK CASHED AT LOCAL GAS STATION POINTS ROAD TAKEN BY MAN U. S. AGENT SEEKING

The trail of murder, following the mysterious disappearance of four persons, led through Cisco, federal agents believed Saturday, following an investigation of a traveler's check cashed here two weeks ago by a suspect.

The federal agents were seeking a man who had cashed a check belonging to one of the missing persons and who, it was believed, could throw considerable light upon their disappearance.

The four persons missing are Mr. and Mrs. George Lorus of East St. Louis, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heberer of DuQuoin, Ill., last seen in Albuquerque, N. M., May 22.

The investigation followed a trail of Lorus' traveler's check cashed at points between El Paso and Dallas. Waldo Harris, manager of the Magnolia service station at the corner of D avenue and Third street, was questioned by officers concerning the appearance of a man for whom he cashed a check two weeks ago.

The man was said to have driven into the service station here between 9 and 12 a. m. and to have purchased gas and oil, paying for it with a $10 traveler's check. Harris said he later became suspicious when the signatures on the check did not match.

The man was said to have been driving a tan 1931 model Nash sedan which had been wrecked near Monahan, according to the driver. The car was later found in Dallas, it was reported.

Justice Department seeks clues at El Paso. EL PASO, June 8 — Department of justice agents turned today to the task of unraveling the mysterious disappearance of four persons whom they believed murdered and whose bodies tossed into the desert or into the Rio Grande river.

The four persons are Mr. and Mrs. George Lorus of East St. Louis and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heberer of DuQuoin, Ill., who were last seen in Albuquerque, N. M., May 22.

The hunt turned to El Paso when traveler's checks, issued to Mr. Lorus, were cashed here May 23 and 24 by a man known to have spent the night in El Paso.

He left the trail of those checks in practically every city between El Paso and Dallas, where he abandoned the Lorus car, which was found May 28.

Because of dates on some of the checks, department of justice agents believed he doubled back to pick up the luggage of the victims which he is believed to have left here.

15 Billions Are Spent by New Deal. WASHINGTON, June 8 — The New Deal in more than two years has spent more than $15,000,000,000, treasury figures showed today as congressional leaders studied further means of taxation.

The outpour of federal funds, the heaviest in peacetime history, averaged about $570,000,000 monthly since President Roosevelt went into office, or nearly $200,000,000 each twenty-four hours.

Between March 4, 1933, and June 5, 1935, a period of 27 months, the cost of running the federal government, including expenditures for relief and recovery, amounted to $15,393,336,000.

Gulf Coast Dock Strike Is Foreseen

PAY INCREASE DEMANDS ARE TURNED DOWN

HOUSTON, June 8 — A major strike by gulf coast longshoremen within the next three weeks was believed imminent today as a result of shippers' refusal to grant a three point proposal for wage increase and unionizations of dock workers by July 1.

M. J. Dwyer, Galveston, president of the Gulf Coast district of the International Longshoremen's association was notified by Houston and Galveston steamship executives that present economic conditions do not warrant a wage increase.

To the contrary, they told Dwyer, a reduction was in order but they offered to extend present contracts "because of the appeal of President Roosevelt and his advisers that employers avoid instituting destructive working hours and decrease in wages."

The decision was announced in a statement issued by Chairman J. Dunn of the Houston Cotton Exchange and Board of Trade maritime committee, W. C. Hunt and M. K. Whittington, members.

Besides the 16 per cent wage increase, the Longshoremen asked that the ILA's be recognized at New Orleans and Lake Charles, La., and that the two ports use only affiliated longshoremen for loading vessels and that wharf clerks and checkers be organized into an I. L. A. auxiliary union.

2 ARMY MEN ARE SLAIN BY TAXI DRIVER

SAN ANTONIO, June 8 — Two men found stabbed to death in a taxicab 30 miles south of here today were identified as U. S. Army Privates Tommy Smith and B. C. Cooper of Fort Sam Houston.

Willie Sanchez, driver of the taxi, reported to police that the men had robbed him in this city and that he later stabbed both of them and fled from the taxi.

Identification of the men was made by members of their company who said they had been missing several days.

Sanchez late last night reported the robbery. He said he had been overpowered, beaten, robbed and flung into the back seat of the car.

Regaining consciousness, he drew his knife and stabbed one of the men sitting alongside of him. Then he stabbed the other, who was driving, and leaped from the car, he said.

Decrease Seen In Texas Relief Roll

AUSTIN, June 8 — Check of the state's relief rolls today revealed a steady decrease in unemployment. Only 225,529 cases, representing 14.8 per cent of the population received aid in April. It was the best record since July, 1934.

Ten counties having less than five per cent of their population on government aid were listed on the honor roll.

Six counties, including Orange county, had more than 30 per cent on relief although none reached the former 40 per cent.

"All factions in Dallas are in agreement," Carrington said.

THREE RAILWAYS OF CISCO JOIN DURING RAILROAD WEEK TO SHOW HOW THEY SERVE BUSINESS OF CITY

In keeping with the spirit of "railroad week," which begins Monday, employees of Cisco's three railroads, numbering 35 persons, have produced figures which show the importance of the railways as business factors here.

Observance of railroad week followed a proclamation by Major J. E. Berry and the mayors of other cities of Texas and western states. It is recognition of the service which railroads have given to the communities through which they pass and have continued to pass in their work of spreading civilization during the history of the United States.

The spectacle, photographed just before the derrick's girders crumpled in the intense heat, attracted hundreds of spectators. Fire crews fought vainly to quell the flames.

Drys Begin Fight As Repeal Date Nears

With only a little more than two months remaining before the people of Texas vote upon the question of repeal of state constitutional prohibition, dry forces of Eastland county have taken on an atmosphere of activity as they open their campaign.

The dry campaign for the county includes a countywide dry setup, recently organized, with various local units, formation of women's Christian Temperance Unions, and dry force rallies.

Mrs. Thomas C. Jensen, of Austin, state W. C. T. U. secretary, aided in the campaign of a local unit of that organization at a meeting of Cisco women at the Christian church Thursday.

Mrs. J. R. Burnett was elected president of the Cisco W. C. T. U. Other officers named include Mrs. R. I. Lee, vice president; Mrs. B. E. Morehart, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alpha Elder, recording secretary; and Mrs. W. F. Bruce, treasurer.

Plan of U. S. Fathers Confronts Us

While the specialists down at Washington grope about among the wreckage of the NRA to see if any of the pieces can be patched up and used again, the rest of us might properly take time out to meditate over the underlying issue which the U. S. supreme court's decision brings in prominence.

That issue is nothing less than the question. How far can the original American attitude toward the functions of the central government be preserved in the face of modern conditions?

The confusion of thought which resulted in erection of an NRA framework so completely unconstitutional that the court was unanimous in knocking it down comes straight from the fact that we tend to look on the federal government in a light entirely different from that in which its founders viewed it.

The men who founded the American government represented many schools of thought, but they were close to agreement on one point: they distrusted a strong central government as an enemy of democracy.

Their first attempt to found a government left the several states almost independent. The articles of confederation were too loose. It took only a few years of experience to prove that a tighter union was necessary; but even when the existing constitution was framed, the framers took pains to limit the powers of the federal government, and to reserve all possible rights to the states.

Since then the whole structure of society has changed. In place of a predominantly agricultural nation, in which each community was largely self-sufficient, we got a tremendously complex industrial nation with commercial and financial ties that made every section dependent on all the others.

In face of that change, there arose a feeling that many problems could be handled properly only by the national government. We long ago discovered, for instance, that railroad regulation would fail if left to the states. We seem to be moving toward a similar attitude in regard to public utilities.

In the NRA decision, the supreme court simply reminded us that we have carried this tendency altogether too far. For while one section of public thought tends to rely more and more on Washington to provide the reforms and the supervision which a complex 20th century society needs, the fact remains that our basic law is founded on the belief that the central government should do as little of that kind of work as possible.

The problem of the moment, then, is to think the whole matter through with extreme care, determine just how closely we wish to cling to this original theory, find out exactly where modern conditions make necessary a revision of it, and then formulate our future policies on a logical and enduring basis.

But there is where we strike a political snag that is likely to create much dissension and diversion of opinions. Our interests are diverging in Cisco, the interests caused by a difference of occupations and hence a different point of view, are very dissimilar from those in New York City or Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Regulations that might be construed to be very necessary in Detroit, would be galling in their restraint to business dealings of business men in the Rio Grande Valley, or in the Mississippi Valley region. So long as interests differ, just that long will there be divergent opinions.

The greatest good to the greatest number, is still a good measure for the standard of government.

The Pink Slip and What May Happen

Congress repealed the pink slip provision requiring publicity of income tax returns. Now a correspondent with a nose for news is responsible for the charge that the national lawmakers overlooked something in the enactment of the law. Indeed, it is alleged that "the blackmailers and the snoopers are all smiles since the enactment of the measure. A movement is on foot to put before the houses of congress for vote, the question as whether the treasurer's report on income tax returns should be made public. It has been suggested by the Philadelphia Bulletin that the law be amended "to provide that the returns of each year shall be made public only when congress so provides by joint resolution." Furthermore it is said at present the law requires a corporation to reveal every individual to whom more than $1,000 a year has been paid so that all the information is already in the office of the bureau of internal revenue. Notice has been given that the list of those receiving in excess of $15,000 probably will be ready during the summer "when congress is not in session."

Surface indications and the political signs of the times are that congress may be in session until late in the fall. If the law is to be amended, "to provide that the returns of each year shall be made public only when congress so provides by joint resolutions," why wait until the fall months for the decision?

Washington Sees Campaign Issue

Washington observers agree that the question raised by the president, if pressed, may easily become the chief issue of the 1936 campaign. They believe President Roosevelt plans no stop-gap legislation until he gets a reaction from the people indicating their likelihood or otherwise to favor an amendment to the Constitution to broaden Federal powers. Josephus Daniels, leaving the White House, says a conven-

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, June 6 — Sen. Ben G. O'Neal of Wichita Falls has just named a member of the board of managers of the American Legislators' association, the central executive group of the organization representing the legislative department of all the states. His appointment to the position in the national council of legislators comparable to that represented by a cabinet position in an administration. Sen. O'Neal was named the Texas representative to the interstate commerce commission on conflicting taxation, out of which grew the American Legislators' association. He served as the southwestern delegate, and this year, by the recognition conferred upon him by President Belknap has been advanced to a place on the board of managers. Your very valuable contribution to the work of the interstate commission on conflicting taxation, and your attendance at its meetings have been sincerely appreciated by all concerned." Mr. Belknap told him in announcing his appointment to the national board of managers. Lawmakers representing the legislatures of all states, through the interstate commission and the Legislators' association, have begun to work out measures of cooperation through which state legislative policies will be formulated and conflict avoided between federal and state taxation and other legislation. One of the first steps was to cause the federal government to start withdrawing from the policy of levying a sales tax on gasoline, leaving this field to the states.

Though the safeguards of a reserve of power in the judiciary to decide the limits on authority of the executive, and the limits of authority and jurisdiction of the legislature generally have been reassuring, the certain clamor to curb the United States supreme court's unlimited exercise of power is sure to find some echo in Texas. The Hidalgo county case, saying the legislature can not remit future taxes, is in point. The court wiped out the books a law under which Texas had lived for 12 years. The recent decision that Texas has no anti-trust laws touched another point. In the abstract, there has been much question whether courts should have the power to declare void a law enacted by the legislature and approved by the executive and sustained by the approval of the electorate. United States supreme court can pass on the validity of a state constitution of constitutional amendment. Until changed and one question that the electorate wants it changed, the Texas supreme court can declare void any state statute. The court is answerable to its own interpretation of the law alone: And thus it is the repository of an ultimate essence of power beyond that of the executive department, as limited by the legislative, and beyond that of the legislative branch of government.

50 BOYS LEARN HOUSEKEEPING AT TARLETON

STEPHENVILLE, June 6.—Fifty boys, during the college years just closed, learned some of the facts of life here—such, for instance, as how to spend a 24-hour day profitably. These are boys who know they must go out into a world that demands ability. No longer is a sheepskin the magic wand that opens inner sanctum doors, they believe. They have learned to manage their personal finances well, at John Tarleton college, on a cooperative "baching" plan. Neal Gearhead, who directs students in how to live decently at college without aspected income, reported that out of a group of forty two who "bached" during the years, not one was hauled "on the carpet" before the disciplinary committee. The boys went through the school year on an average of $38.36 for living expenses, or $7.77 a month. That included food, lodging and utilities. The most extravagant member spent $12.42 a month, while one boy found it possible to make $3 a month do the same work. Good nourishing food helped the boys make the record. With the assistance of the Dean who told them they needed foods which provided energy, they selected foods which gave them the highest degree of personal competency.

DEER HINDER PLANE
SPOKANE, Wash. — Deer cavorting on the Moose creek landing field in Idaho, were so numerous it was impossible to land a plane on the first attempt. Roy Schreck, Spokane, reported after a flight to that section. There were 40 deer and several elk on the field, which he drove away by maneuvering his plane.

Little Known Facts About Banking Figures that Prove Banking Efficiency

Not many people realize how economically banks serve them. According to figures recently published by the Post Office Department, it costs the Government an average of 14 cents for every money order issued. Banks are nearly three times as efficient. The average cost to them for a check drawn and paid is only 5 cents. Nothing could show more convincingly how banks serve their depositors with a minimum of waste and expense.

Summer Sweetheart

BEGIN HERE TODAY
KATHARINE STRYKHURST, beautiful, 20, falls in love with MICHAEL HEATHERSOME, owner of a riding school. Katharine's father is rich and her stepmother a snob. ZOE PARKER, Katharine's friend, has an unhappy love affair and is saved from suicide by young DR. JOHN KAYE. Overhearing two detectives ask for Michael's address, Katharine rushes to warn him, although she has not seen him since his engagement to SALLY MOON, local coquette, has been announced. Michael refuses to go away unless Katharine comes with him. They are married in an obscure little town. Then Michael insists on returning to face the detectives. He learns he is heir to a fortune and title in Ireland. Sally Moon, answerer of this, urges Michael to hasten the date of their wedding. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVII MICHAEL shook his head. "We can't do that, Sally," he said rather heavily. "Why not?" All girlish impertinence, she faced him. "Why on earth can't we? Anyone here can take charge—Jerry or anybody." Michael's face darkened imperceptibly. "Oh, don't be trifled about it, Michael, darling!" the girl said. "I'm not trying to boss you around. I'm just telling you how easy it would be." Her voice took on a crooning note. "Imagine a honeymoon at sea—and at Buenos Aires. I've always wanted to see it, Michael. We'd have glorious times." Her eyes glittered. "Can't be done," the man told her. "Something came up today—important business." "Really?" Her rounded face assumed a greedy, sly expression. "Tell me about it." "I can't—yet." With sudden clarity and horror he had a vision of what the news might—what it certainly would mean—to Sally Moon. Lady Carden—Sally as Lady Carden. Castles. Moats. A crest on her stationery. . . . Lord, he was in for it now, right enough! If he could head off those detectives, if he could only prevent the news from leaking out before he broke the news of his marriage to this girl. . . . But how was it to be done? Frankly, Michael was daunted. He who owned to no fear in this world, quailed before the prospect of blazing feminine eyes, tears, reproaches. "It's business I've got to see to tonight—right away," he improvised in haste. She pouted. "You haven't been to see me since Tuesday." "I know. Sorry," Michael said. "You aren't. You've been behaving—oh, dreadfully!" she reproached him. "Have I done anything?" There was a good deal more of this. The man, feeling oppressed by her cloying, possessive sweetness, managed somehow to get away. "I've got to go into New York." "Oh, Michael, I'll run you in and wait for you and then we can go some place to dance later." It was always like this. —At ways. She didn't want to let him out of her sight. He said, "Can't be done. It may take hours. All night." SHE frowned, drawing her heavy brows together. Thus seen, the prettiness, the coquetry was lost. You saw Sally Moon as she would be 20 years hence. "That's funny. Queer business that takes all night. After we're married, darling, you won't be able to get away with this." She smiled, and there was menace behind her playfulness. But she drove off, having secured his promise to come around to see her in the morning. She wanted to hear all about it, and he was to make arrangements about the South American trip. "You're in a fix and no mistake, young fellow-me-lad," muttered Michael to himself. Well, it had been his own fault. He had let himself be caught, and not entirely unwittingly. The night he'd come back to her house from the Bath Club, the night she'd been giddy from too many cocktails, he had simply let her "get away with it." He'd been too weak, too chivalrous to contradict her when she had announced they were to be married. Now he must pay for that weakness and error. Just at first it hadn't been unpleasant to find himself "engaged" to this little warm, cuddling, confidential person with the large eyes and the rippling laugh. It had been flattering to his male ego. He had needed that, rather. Especially when Katharine had appeared to have forgotten he existed. . . . Katharine. The name, the very thought of her brought a sparkle to his eyes. Katharine. His wife. It was all part of the dream. . . . He'd have to tell Katharine about the inheritance. It made him, all at once, worthy of her. He needn't be ashamed to take her hand in his, before her people. They couldn't say she was "marrying down" now. But, on the verge of sitting down to write the important news to her (the thought he dare not risk another telephone call) he hesitated. "Why tell her? Why not wait and 'spring' it as a most delightful surprise? Why not give it to her when he claimed her, as a very special 'going-away present'?" That's what he would do. . . . TONIGHT he must go into the city and find Mr. Downrigg—was that the name?—at the Waldorf and beg him to keep the facts out of the newspapers. For a while, at least. Michael called Clarence and told him he was going to New York and wouldn't be back until the late train. He ran the shabby little car around and whirled down to the station. The trip into the city seemed un-

Highway 66 Named Memorial Highway

AUSTIN, June 8. — State highway No. 66, running north and south across Texas from Red River, near Evers in Clay county to the international bridge at Reynosa, Mexico, has been named "The American Legion Memorial Highway," according to a proclamation issued by M. L. Wiginton, secretary of the State Highway commission.

The American Legion of Texas, through its Department Commander, H. Miller Ainsworth, proposes to secure roadside parks adjacent to the rights-of-way of the highway and to dedicate each park to some particular unit of the Legion that served in the war.

As fast as the parks are acquired the Legion will erect plaques giving the names of men who were killed during the war in that locality.

The highway extends for 600 miles and it is planned that when the project is completed, there will be 100 road side parks built adjacent to the highway.

Museum Materials Moving From State

AUSTIN, June 8. — Texas, once rich in museum material, is being rapidly depleted of interesting historical articles, according to A. Garland Adair, chairman of the American Legion Texas Centennial committee.

The reason for this, according to Adair, is that Texas has no adequate museum in which to store its historical objects.

"The great museums in the United States are exclusively in the north and east," he said. "Expeditions from these museums are constantly scouring the state to dig up and carry away interesting museum pieces."

The American Legion, through the sale of Centennial half dollars, is endeavoring to raise funds for the erection of a museum to house Texas historical objects.

It is planned that the museum will be completed in time for the 1936 Centennial celebration.

CCC Enrollment To Begin On June 17

AUSTIN, June 8. — First enrollment of youth from relief families in Texas "tree army" will begin June 17, Neil Guy, state CCC supervisor said today.

The first enrollment will include only 929 persons, Guy said. In the period from July 1 to August 31 a quota of 12,000 will be filled out.

Enrollment of the 12,000 youths is expected to remove that many families from relief rolls.

An Item that has not Increased

Through the American principle of private initiative in business, electric rate reductions have been continued along with improvement in service. According to the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, electric service costs for the United States as a whole are now 39% lower while the cost of living now is 38% higher than in 1913.

According to the National Industrial Conference Board, food is now 25% higher than 1933, clothing 22% higher, and rent 8% higher. Total taxes, including the numerous Federal taxes the consumers pay indirectly, have increased at an alarming rate and for the average family now amount to more than ten times the cost of electric service.

Net average rate for all the 160 communities served by the West Texas Utilities Company is today more than 60% below that of 1923.

Electric service is cheap. You should use more of it.

FEDERAL LAND BANK INTEREST TO BE REDUCED

The interest rate on all Federal Land-Bank loans made through National farm loan associations will be reduced to 3 1/2 per cent for all interest payable in the one-year period commencing July 1, 1935 and to 4 per cent for all interest payable in the two-year period commencing July 1, 1936, according to Claude Strickland, secretary-treasurer of the Cisco National Farm Loan association. This announcement was made June 8, 1935 when Strickland was notified of the new loan rate by A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston and general agent of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston.

This temporary reduction of interest on Federal Land Bank loans having installments due prior to July 1, 1935 is the result of new legislation, the Farm Credit Act of 1935, which was signed by President Roosevelt June 3. Interest payable on installment dates occurring after July 30, 1935, will be at the original contract rate, which is 4 1/2 per cent on loans now being made through National farm loan associations and varies from 3 to 6 per cent on loans made prior to April 1, 1935.

The Farm Credit Act of 1935 also provides for another important innovation. Under its terms, the Land Bank Commission now may make loans to finance the purchase of farms by deserving tenant farmers. Formerly, commissioner loans could be made only for the purpose of refinancing debts, for purchasing farms lost through foreclosure and for working capital. The Act extends to January 1, 1940, the time in which the Land Bank Commission may make direct loans to farmers on first and second mortgages. The commissioner loan plus any prior encumbrances on the property may not exceed 75 per cent of the appraised normal value. Commenting on the new provisions, Strickland said: "The new provision enabling the Land Bank Commission to make loans for the purpose of purchasing farms provides a new opportunity for young farmers and deserving tenants to become farm owners and home owners in their own right. We shall be glad to talk things over with worthy tenants who wish to buy farms of their own."

Since May 12, 1933, when the Farm Credit Administration was established, the Federal Land Bank of Houston, acting for itself and as agent for the Land Bank Commission has made 42,738 loans aggregating $12,192,350.96. This is almost as large as the amount of business carried on the books of the bank on May 1, 1933 after 17 years of operation. The interest rate reduction provided by the Act will affect only Federal land bank loans, all of which are first mortgage loans. The interest rate on Land Bank Commissioner loans, which are made on either first or second mortgages on farm property, will remain unchanged at 5 per cent.

DIVIDENDS IN PLACE OF TAX IN MOUNTAINS

By JOSEPH D. RAYOTTO
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, June 7 — Just the spot we have been seeking all our lives. Towns where no taxes are paid and where on the contrary one is paid to live there.

It may sound like a fairy tale. Yet it is a fact, confirmed by official documents, that 24 French communes in the Jura mountains, on the Swiss border, with a population of about 10,000, pay no local taxes. Instead each inhabitant receives a yearly dividend, ranging from 100 to 200 francs.

The explanation is quite simple. In years gone by, these communes became the proprietors of spruce and fir woods in the vicinity. These woods are exploited in business like fashion by each commune so well that there is a profit after all the communal expenses have been paid. This profit is divided between the inhabitants.

Mountain Resort
La Chaux des Crotenay, one of these communes which is an attractive mountain resort, may be taken as one of the best examples. During the present century, nobody has paid any local taxes. Instead, each inhabitant, including women and children, has received a yearly check averaging 150 francs.

Further, each family has been furnished with free firewood, and since the allowance has been quite generous, half of it has generally been sold, adding to the dividend check.

Whenever a citizen of the commune desires to build a house he is given a free plot of ground. Also free stone and sand. Finally the village doctor is subsidized by the commune, and according to the contract, he has reduced his fees.

Owned by Communes
Many square miles of Jura forestland are owned and exploited by the commune, and the villages have literally gone into the woodcutting and wood-selling business. The profits are devoted to municipal expenses.

The dividend-paying villages are naturally proud of this unusual distinction. Naturally newcomers who seek to become permanent inhabitants to get their share of the booty are not welcomed cordially.

SHORT PANTS
ST. LOUIS — A tennis player's breath is likely to come in short pants, but the problem confronting the park department is how short should lady's shorts be. Officials have gone "long faced" about the subject. Their best answer thus far has been a blush.

LIMA, O. — The expenses in coming here to claim his share in a $600 estate cost more than Samuel C. McMillen, Toledo, received in the will of a cousin, Walker Rydman, together with approximately 50 others. McMillen received 50 cents.

VALLEY YOUTH FACES MURDER TRIAL IN JULY

FALFURIAS, June 8 — William Osborne, 17-year-old Falfurias youth, is to go to trial in July in Judge Lawrence Broeter's 79th Criminal District Court of Brooks county for the hitch-hiking slaying of J. M. (Jack) Bronck Harlingen paper salesman on May 19, 1935, according to Sheriff Jack Ballard.

Young Osborne, who was only 16 when Bronck was slain, was indicted on a charge of murder by the April term grand jury of the 79th Criminal District Court. He was 17 years old in January, 1935.

First he was tried as a juvenile delinquent in county court in August, 1934 and given the maximum penalty—a sentence in the state reform school at Gatesville until he was 21—on a charge of carrying a pistol.

Brinck, a former Olympic Games rowing star and popular Lower Rio Grand Valley business man, was found shot to death near his parked car on State Highway 66 several miles South of here the morning of May 20, 1934.

Found Osborne's Billfold

Sheriff Ballard and Hidalgo county officers discovered Osborne's billfold in the pocket of a blood-stained trousers beneath the wheel of the car, mired in deep sand at the edge of the road.

Witnesses were found who said they saw the youth enter Brinck's car at a Falfurias filling station. The youth was arrested several miles south of the scene of the slaying thence after Brinck's body was found.

After telling officers of the slaying the night after Brinck's body was sign a written statement, but told Sheriff Ballard to places in the dense brush bordering the highway where he had hidden a pistol and clothing.

Osborne has been held in the Brooks county jail here since his arrest.

THE RAILROAD HAS CARRIED AMERICA ON ITS BACK

RAILROAD WEEK

JUNE 10th TO JUNE 14th

(SPONSORED BY WESTERN RAILROAD)

TRAVEL BY RAIL

The destiny of America, greatest of democratic nations, was written in the smoke of locomotives against the western sky. Transportation solved the problem of the vast wilderness, stretching thousands of miles beyond the limited horizons of those first, early colonists, and transportation, as expressed in bands of steel, tying east to west and north to south, gave to the world the richest and mightiest nation on the globe.

The railroad is more than an instrument, more than a system, more than a great corporation employing thousands of workers. It is an institution.

The railroad is more than a corporation employing a great many people. It is an institution in which is bound up the economic welfare of teeming millions and directly affecting the social and political solidarity of the nation.

SHIP BY RAIL

It is a far cry from those wood burning, inefficient early coaches and to the modern "last word" in rail transportation. Torrid, cool air-conditioned coaches, pulled by swift engines speed at high speeds in perfect comfort and safety, free from dust, soot, odors and other annoyances. A degree of comfort such as transport has never known is realized in these coaches, dining cars, club sleeping cars.

Basic passenger fares and sleeping car charges have been reduced to the world's finest transportation service is offered at the lowest rates in the world. For summer vacation travel, the railroads offer special round trip fares, all-expense tours and other travel bargains.

Western railroads also invite you to ship by train, thereby supporting an important home industry, giving employment to local workmen and guaranteeing the continuation of a service that is being constantly improved and which can be depended upon in all seasons.
