NO ARE KILLED IN RALLS TORNADO

MANY HOUSES DESTROYED BY BAD TWISTER

BULLETIN
RALLS, June 20 — Two persons were killed, eight injured, and crops wiped out over an area 10 miles wide and 30 miles long by a tornado which cut a destructive swath through this plains section early this morning.

RALLS, June 20 — A tornado smashed through a small community 14 miles south of here today, leaving in its wake two dead and numerous houses demolished.

The dead were Bob Easter, 60, and his wife.

Nearly a dozen persons were injured. Several were taken to Lubbock to the hospital.

The tornado approached as a black cloud at 5:30 a. m. Numerous residences, stores, and warehouses were wrecked before the twister dipped southward.

Spectators said the storm approached with a roar and was followed by a downpour which left three inches of rain within 45 minutes. Hail peppered the streets.

Haines reported that numerous windmills were blown down leaving cattlemen with the prospect of water shortage until the damage is repaired.

A school building and community auditorium 10 miles south of Ralls were demolished. Fields of cotton, milo, maize, kafir corn, and sorghum were flattened or wiped clean by the wind.

U. S. POWER TO AID ECONOMIC ILLS FORESEEN

AUSTIN, June 20 — Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace today predicted constitutional use of federal powers to remedy social and economic ills will be the major public question of the next decade.

He said that if "destructive group warfare" were to be avoided, "we shall have to take a different attitude toward local and federal government than has hitherto characterized this and other nations."

Wallace intimated he believed a constitutional amendment would be necessary if the government was to realize this objective.

"No one knows today with any certainty just which, if any, of the amendments to the constitution will be necessary to put in action such a principle of proper union."

"We do know that it has not been politically feasible to use the federal unity of the U. S. since the war in such a way as to permit a fundamentally sound solution to our long-run economic and political problems," he said.

Support Cisco's Recreational Features

There seems to be a unanimously prevailing feeling in Cisco to rally to the support of the new management of the Lake Cisco Amusement company and help the new directors and manager to make this resort the community center, for the oil belt, at least, that its location and recreational facilities should warrant.

This is well. Our money has been expended in the past in building a dam that has impounded an immense amount of pure, fresh water. We may say that the capital of all Cisco is tied up in that construction work. And for many years to come, any other city activity will be restricted by this fact. Whether we approve of this expenditure or not, makes no difference with the fact that our money is invested. So it would seem that it is up to us to make the most of this investment. Others have invested in an artificial swimming pool, thus bring together, pure water in abundance, boating, fishing and swimming facilities.

Now, we have succeeded in bringing the management of the Amusement company into our local control. If we lend a hand and give our patronage, our moral and financial support to the concession, we may turn what has been considered a "white elephant" into a real trump card. We may be able to bring the eyes of other parts of Texas and the country in general, to view our recreational possibilities in a very favorable light. Good swimming pools are scarce. Visitors tell us we have something very rare — something immensely worth while.

Therefore, since the most important factor in making any sale is to first sell ourselves, it would seem that this local interest is of paramount value.

HUNGARY ADDS TO GREAT UNREST BY SEEKING TREATY REVISION

By STEWART BROWN
United Press Staff Correspondent
BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 20 — If Hungary's "border" had a label it would read "Revision!"
For the Magyars of Hungary's kingdom sleep eat and drink nothing but revision!
Almost without exception they are rapidly against the provisions of the Treaty of Trianon, signed in 1920 after the end of the Rumanian occupation.

Every foreign visitor in Budapest is swamped with propaganda booklets and maps showing how proud Hungary was "robbed" of more than two-thirds of its territory and one-half its population.

Every Hungarian — and there are about 9,000,000 — dreams of the day when Hungary will get back the territory lost to Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

Forced to Remain Humble
The effect of this constant agitation on Hungary's neighbors and former enemies readily can be seen. The statesmen in Prague, Belgrade and Bucharest tremble at every sign of new strength and power in Hungary. Naturally they do everything to keep Hungary poor and powerless.

The treaty-makers saw to it that Hungary was made defenseless. The present Hungary, stripped of its former rich territories, is situated on a vast open plain easily dominated by mountains which are in the hands of the Czechs, Yugoslavs and Rumanians. According to the Hungarians, Budapest is within artillery range of the Czech frontier. Hungarians point to the large armies maintained in Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia as a direct menace to its national independence.

Complaints Against Neighbors
Hungary constantly complains about the nationalization of former Hungarian citizens in Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia. During the recent tension between Hungary and Yugoslavia over the assassination of King Alexander, Yugoslavia expelled many thousands of Hungarians who had not applied for Yugoslav citizenship when their districts were attached.

Because of lack of money and weapons, Hungary has been forced to carry on its treaty revision campaign with what little support it obtained from Italy and Germany. The government has based its foreign policy on an axis midway between Italy and Germany, but dissatisfaction with the government's friendship with Italy has been increasing in proportion as Italy draws closer to France and farther from Germany.

Treaty Revision Is Goal
The sole aim of Hungary's foreign policy being the revision of its peace treaty, it is casting about for support wherever it can be obtained. It already has announced its refusal to sign Danubian mutual assistance and anti-meddling pacts as a price for its rearmament. Hungary believes if the big powers permit Germany unilaterally to increase its armaments, then it must be allowed to cancel its military restrictions without paying a price.

For the moment Hungary is concentrating on getting its rearmament legally approved before it resumes its efforts to reincorporate some 3,300,000 Magyars whom it lost to its neighbors.

Hungary was a co-partner in the pre-war Austro-Hungarian empire, but today Hungary, unlike Austria, does not generally desire a restoration of the Hapsburgs.

Horthy Is Regent
Curiously enough Hungary is a kingdom without a king. Admiral Nicholas Horthy, who led his irregular forces into power after the collapse of the Bela Kun communist regime, is Regent and lives in the Royal Palace. He does not intend to give up his position.

Twice Hungary repulsed attempts of monarchists to restore Emperor Karl, and today the government is firmly opposed to any restoration. The legitimist party in Hungary largely is recruited from the large estate owners, therefore the restoration movement is not popular with peasants.

Socially and economically Hungary is backward. A large percentage of the land is held by a few families, represented in Parliament by Count Bethlen. The present premier, Julius Goembs, has hopes of reforming the land system.

Internationally Hungary is important because of its treaty revision campaign. It cannot go to war to change the treaties but its agitation is a constant source of trou-

AUSTIN, June 21 — Gov. Allred's plan for a Texas pipeline to St. Louis and Detroit, so that Texas may get some revenues from its natural gas, may start the biggest public works program so far proposed, if anything but dormant, even though the legislature let adjournment mark its failure to do anything about the undertaking.

with officials in Detroit on definite details of a plan that will be acceptable to the federal government or financing. The plan will show the federal government an available supply of cheap natural gas, a public state-profit works proposal, and contracts for the purchase of gas upon a profitable basis to liquidate the pipeline construction program.

It may wait on future legislative action; there may be found ways to start the undertaking without awaiting the action of the 181 member debating society.

Texas officials were stirred to action on reports that the state of Michigan might try to corner the pipeline project, when the only advantage Texas would get would be the sale of additional gas under competitive conditions, and about 100 miles of pipeline construction. Gov. Allred's plan is for Texas to get the profit from the pipeline operation.

Further, it is known the legislature will meet within less than three months, and very likely within less than two months, when the plan to create a public authority to seek the loan and build the line could be reauthorized. The possibility of creating a semi-public corporation under present franchise powers, without waiting for an enabling act, also was seen.

Economic and financial phases of the pipeline project were said to have received most favorable consideration by federal works administration officials.

Lighting Strikes Church Camp Twice
KERRVILLE, June 20 — Lightning may never strike twice in the same place, but sometimes it doesn't miss it far, persons attending the Methodist Assembly here have found out.

The cottage of the superintendent, the Rev. A. R. Vetter, was struck recently and a floor lamp base and mirror broken. The minister's wife and three sons were unhurt.

The assembly cafeteria was struck by lightning 15 days previous and a workman was knocked unconscious. He was revived two hours later.

Did you ever stop to think

EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Okla.

James R. Rhodes, publisher of the Newton (Iowa) News, says: "I am wondering in these days of Shoppers' Guides and throw-away sheets if the newspapers of the country which are afflicted with such unfair competition have ever stopped to think that they are not doing an adequate job of selling."

"During the spacious days of five and ten years ago I am fearful that newspapers became a big lax in selling themselves to the community. Business came easily. In many instances, advertising was brought by business men with little or no effort on the part of the newspaper. The result was that many of us 'let down' as it were, and quit telling our advertisers about the merits of our newspapers. We didn't talk circulation. We didn't constantly tell our advertisers of the community service which we performed week in and week out. Our advertisers were not impressed with the fact that newspapers were always in a key position to put over not only individual sales events for merchants themselves, but were able to put over mass selling for the community as a whole when various trade events were being promoted.

"It's now time for newspapers to not only start selling themselves again to the local advertisers, but to step up the quality of their product. Possibly we should be handling more local news matter. Possibly we should be stepping up the quality of our news. Possibly we should go in for local pictures, as the metropolitan papers have done. Possibly we should improve the typographical appearance of our papers.

"I am convinced that, as a general rule, Shoppers' Guides have made outstanding progress only in fields where the newspapers have been asleep. We should not fool ourselves. We cannot hope to make any progress against shoppers' guides by playing a 'waiting game'."

LETTERS FROM READERS

Editor, Daily News:
My work in Cisco as a preacher will stand for itself. I am especially anxious that the fine white citizens and colored hereby know that the article published in the Cisco Daily News, which I consider one of the most courteous papers to negro uplift in Texas, one Rev. Z. H. Hickerson advertised or published my untruthfulness as to the 100 voices to sing at the August meeting to be held at St. Mark's Baptist church.

Serving as I have as President of the District Department work. I spoke in Rev. Z. H. Hickerson's church on my annual visit six months ago, having introduced for the meeting and that that we were to have 100 voices to sing; he informed it as a fine effort.

Every church pledged to furnish talent to make up 100 voices; it furthermore was and is my duty to announce my line of work, and as to the untruth of the best brains in Texas it was my duty as pastor and president to invite whom I desired from all over the state. I fear the article appeared out of selfish prejudice.—O. B. MCKINNEY.

KAY FRANCIS ECONOMICAL IN HER SPENDING

HOLLYWOOD, June 20.—A motion picture star who owns no private swimming pool could be considered unique.

Kay Francis is unique in that way. She has no swimming pool. Nor does she have a luxurious home, any beach houses, yachts or race horses. She has no extravagant collection of jewelry because she says she never cared for it. Although rated one of the best-dressed women in Hollywood, she pays no fancy prices for her clothes.

It is this lack of ostentation that makes Kay Francis one of the colony's richest women. Only she calls it "planned economy."

"I want money for the security it will bring, the enjoyment it will give me later," she says. "A big house is only a burden. Financial protection for the future is much more comforting."

She had different ideas four or five years ago. She established herself in a big house, but suddenly closed it up and moved into a seven-room cottage that is extremely simple. She drove a small motor car until it became as seedy as Garbo's, then bought another which she now drives.

The one extravagance she permits herself is travel. On every opportunity she leaves Hollywood. She travels by train, boat and airplane. She can't recall the number of times she has flown to New York. And when time will allow she keeps on going until she reaches Paris, Vienna or Milan. Nor does she live pretentiously when away from home. She never occupies "royal suites," charters planes, hires private cars or rents penthouses.

Some of her friends believe she will end her career as the richest woman in pictures.

Winning Musicians In Camp Orchestra

KERRVILLE, June 20.—An eight piece orchestra composed of high school girls who won state or district music honors during the past school year, is being directed at Camp Waldemar, girls summer camp near here, by Miss Cobby De Stivers, Waco high school music director.

The orchestra members were selected on a tryout basis. This year the camp is attended by 225 girls, the largest number in its history. They come from eight states of the union.

Britishers Curious Over Jack Rabbits

DALHART, June 20.—Geoffrey De Freitas and John S. Crippie, of London and Gloucester, England, respectively, wanted to see some jack rabbits when they visited here recently.

"We've heard of the rabbits here which have ears two feet long," they said.

O. T. Williams, who showed the visitors over a wind erosion control project, pointed out a big jack and told them it was a "mere infant."

It was several days before the Englishmen caught the joke.

BRIDE WEARS OLD LACE

BOSTON — Virginia Bennett followed a precedent set by her mother and grandmother. When she was married, her trousseau included a pair of silk lace stockings and a rose point lace cap worn by her mother and paternal grandmother at their weddings.

EXPECT MORE FARMERS

SEATTLE. Population of the state of Washington will be doubled by migration of farmers from the drought and dust areas of the middle west, J. C. Herbsman, head of the Seattle port commission, predicted. Prospect of cheap power from Grand Coulee Dam, making possible reclamation of semi-desert areas, will be a major attraction, he said.

YOUNGEST SENATOR TAKES SEAT, ANXIOUS FOR BATTLE OF WITS

By HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 20.—The senate gave Rush, Drew Holt a birthday party today.

It was his 30th birthday—the day after six months of nervous waiting that the young West Virginian attained the age entitling him to the senate seat to which he was elected last November.

What bothered Holt was that, not being sworn in, he couldn't vote and he couldn't speak. He promised that he would not be long in making up for his probationary silence.

"Somebody told me," Holt said, "that I had every right of a senator except the right to get in trouble."

Trouble—when it means a hot battle and fiery debate in behalf of his principles—is just what the youngest senator since Henry Clay's time likes.

Holt, a slight, spectacled young man of serious mien, won his way into the senate by fighting and since his election he has been busy gathering ammunition for new battles.

In the meantime many have been asking about the 29-year-old who was sent to the senate too young to take his seat. And well they might because Holt rode into office by defeating a man old enough to be his father who had not been beaten in 40 years of political life—former Senator Henry Hatfield, Republican.

The birth of Holt, 30 years ago today, was not as big an event in the life of his father as such things are in the lives of most male parents. It just meant that "Doc" Holt had to hurry a little more in making his daily round of calls in the central West Virginia community around Weston where he had been practicing for some 33 years.

Father Was Individualist
But being the son of "Doc Holt" has made considerable difference to Rush. He mixed salty advice on affairs of state with his pills and the accompaniment of a gruff and hearty denunciation of big business. For 14 years he ran a newspaper along with his practice and

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

SALADS and summer, like pork and beans, or waffles and maple syrup, go together. Family lunches and Sunday night suppers may well center around the salad bowl.

But though I serve many salads during the summer months I have some hot foods each day, too. Everybody needs at least one hot dish a day no matter what the thermometer registers. It may be hot bouillabaisse to begin the meal, or I may feature a hot vegetable dish along with cold cuts.

Lettuce or other salad greens must never be crisp. I hope you like and use all the greens—endive, chicory, watercress and romaine. They are rich in every vitamin.

Fresh Fruits in Season
At this time of year you can serve a salad composed entirely of fresh fruits. Time enough to whip the canned ones when the season prevents you from getting fresh. Pineapple, strawberries, cherries, grapefruit, bananas, apples and oranges are abundant.

The rich mayonnaise and whipped cream that go into the average frozen and jellied salads provide a mixture quite as rich in calories as most desserts. However, remember that a salad must not be sweet as dessert. It must have a tantalizing tartness rather than a cloying sweetness.

One bland fruit in combination with a tart fruit makes a perfect balance of flavor and my favorite bland fruit is the banana. In the fall, pears are good.

This banana frozen salad can be served solely as a dessert if

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Stewed dried apricots, cereal, cream, creamed dried beef, scones, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Stuffed eggs, sandwiches, rhubarb dumplings, milk, tea.
DINNER: Cream of mushroom soup, lamb patties on toast, buttered asparagus, banana frozen salad, toasted crackers, milk, coffee.

Banana Frozen Salad
One tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, 4 tablespoons crushed pineapple, 1-2 cup marshmallows cut in quarters, 1-2 cup walnut meats, 1 cup whipping cream, 3 well-ripened bananas.

Chop nut meats and cut bananas in cubes. Add lemon juice and salt to mayonnaise and stir into cheese. Mix with pineapple, cherries, nuts and fold in cream whipped until firm. Add bananas. Turn into trays in automatic refrigerator or put in mold and pack in four parts ice to one part cream salt. Freeze three hours or longer. Unmold and cut in slices to serve. Garnish with slices of banana which have been dipped in lemon juice to prevent discoloration and serve on bed of lettuce and cream.

If you want to use this as a dessert rather than a salad dip the banana slices in a thin syrup of sugar and water instead of lemon juice.

Wrote for Newspapers
When he finished college, Holt taught school a while, reported Weston news for metropolitan papers, coached local athletic teams and worked in a butcher shop.

That lasted him until he was 23. Then he suddenly bounded into politics.

Just five minutes before the closing hour, Holt filed for the West Virginia house as a Democratic nominee and he came within 500 votes of winning in spite of the 1928 Hoover landslide.

He tried again in 1930 and won after an almost single handed campaign. He hung his own campaign posters and had little help from the Democratic organization.

His Influence Felt
In the legislature Holt fought utilities, particularly natural gas interests. He did fairly well and after the 1932 campaign in which he was reelected, he did better. In this campaign he named 12 legislators whom he charged were tied up with utility interests. All except one of the 12 were defeated.

The campaign in which he was what he wrote made people read even if they usually disagreed with him.

The elder Holt made three efforts—all unsuccessful—for the senate himself. He ran as the Socialist candidate and made the race for governor under the same banner. He finally got into office at the age of 82 when Weston elected him mayor.

Holt's opponents called him a "red" and a "bolshhevik" and threatened to mob him when he refused to buy Liberty bonds during the World War.

Determined Young Man
Growing up in that sort of atmosphere, young Holt absorbed a certain amount of politics. But he was no pawn of his father. That's what political opponents charged during the campaign.

"Control him?" sputtered "Doc" Holt, "if I could control him, he wouldn't be a Democrat who could believe me. I can't control him and neither can anyone else."

Young Holt's creed backed by his father:

"I will follow my own conscience in voting. I have never compromised and I don't intend to start now," he said.

Holt's trouble with the senate over his age is not his first. He was something of a prodigy in school and at 14 tried to get into the University of Cincinnati. Professors told him he was too young. So he went back to the institution from which his mother was the first woman graduate—Salem College—and matriculated there.

PHILPECO MAN BREAKS PAR TO QUALIFY HERE

With official qualifying play for visitors scheduled to start Friday morning, one man already has broken par in the qualifying round of the fourth annual invitation golf tournament of the Cisco Country club.

Nick Nicholson of Phil-Pe-Co shot a 71 to lead the field before most of the first flighters arrived and limbered up.

Players from all over the state were sending in their names for entrance Thursday, and indications were that there would probably be a field of 100.

Jimmy Phillips, Ranger star who won the tourney in 1933, will be here, it was learned. Bill McMahon of Longview, formerly of Cisco, who won the club tournament in 1932 and was runnerup to Phillips in 1933, will be back to have a try on his old home course.

Among the others from West Texas clubs who have already entered the tourney are Gid Faircloth, Sam Bimberry, Jack Mooney and Elmer Norris, all of Ranger; and Dub Jones and Bob Sikes of Eastland. Yesterday the course was crowded as Ciscoans and golfers from the above clubs and Brownwood and Hamlin were qualifying.

Match play will begin Saturday morning. Finals in all flights and consolation will be held Sunday.

The tournament barbecue and Calcutta pool will be held at the club house tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. All Ciscoans wishing to attend may obtain separate tickets from J. E. Caffrey, W. C. McDaniels, and L. A. Harrison.

The women's bridge tournament, to be held in connection with the golf tourney, will be at the club house Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A club dance Saturday night will be a feature of the three days of entertainment. The dance committee was headed by Jimmy King and his Southern Serenaders to furnish music for the occasion.

Visitors will have an opportunity to take advantage of the fishing, boating, and swimming at Lake Cisco during their stay for the tournament.

Humble To Have Its Annual Picnic Here

Members of the Humble Boosters club here are working on plans for the annual Humble picnic of this division to be held in Cisco June 29.

Plans call for the picnic to be at the Country club, with employees from all parts of the state in attendance.

The local committee is making an effort to bring high officials from Houston and other points to address the group. Rex Carrothers, Cisco director of the state Humble Boosters, is head of the group working for the picnic.

A complete program for the occasion was not available Thursday, it was said. The usual program consists of a picnic lunch, speeches by high Humble officials, entertainment features, sometimes a golf tournament, and a dance.

The Cisco Boosters, in a meeting Wednesday night, voted to extend to the Humble company every courtesy possible and to aid in any way they could to make the meeting a success.

Support Cisco's Recreational Features

There seems to be a unanimously prevailing feeling in Cisco to rally to the support of the new management of the Lake Cisco Amusement company and help the new directors and manager to make this resort the community center, for the oil belt, at least, that its location and recreational facilities should warrant.

This is well. Our money has been expended in the past in building a dam that has impounded an immense amount of pure, fresh water. We may say that the capital of all Cisco is tied up in that construction work. And for many years to come, any other city activity will be restricted by this fact. Whether we approve of this expenditure or not, makes no difference with the fact that our money is invested. So it would seem that it is up to us to make the most of this investment. Others have invested in an artificial swimming pool, thus bring together, pure water in abundance, boating, fishing and swimming facilities.

Now, we have succeeded in bringing the management of the Amusement company into our local control. If we lend a hand and give our patronage, our moral and financial support to the concession, we may turn what has been considered a "white elephant" into a real trump card. We may be able to bring the eyes of other parts of Texas and the country in general, to view our recreational possibilities in a very favorable light. Good swimming pools are scarce. Visitors tell us we have something very rare — something immensely worth while.

Therefore, since the most important factor in making any sale is to first sell ourselves, it would seem that this local interest is of paramount value.

HUNGARY ADDS TO GREAT UNREST BY SEEKING TREATY REVISION

By STEWART BROWN
United Press Staff Correspondent
BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 20 — If Hungary's powder barrel had a label it would read "Revision!"
For the Magyars of Hungary's kingdom sleep, eat and drink nothing but revision.
Almost without exception they are rapidly against the provisions of the Treaty of Trianon, signed in 1920 after the end of the Rumanian occupation.
Every foreign visitor in Budapest is swamped with propaganda booklets and maps showing how proud Hungary was "robbed" of more than two-thirds of its territory and one-half its population.
Every Hungarian — and there are about 9,000,000 — dreams of the day when Hungary will get back the territory lost to Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.
Forced to Remain Humble
The effect of this constant agitation on Hungary's neighbors and former enemies readily can be seen. The statesmen in Prague, Belgrade and Bucharest tremble at every sign of new strength and power in Hungary. Naturally they do everything to keep Hungary poor and powerless.
The treaty-makers saw to it that Hungary was made defenseless. The present Hungary, stripped of its former rich territories, is situated on a vast open plain easily dominated by mountains which are in the hands of the Czechs, Yugoslavs and Rumanians. According to the Hungarians, Budapest is within artillery range of the Czech frontier. Hungarians point to the large armies maintained in Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia as a direct menace to its national independence.
Complains Against Neighbors
Hungary constantly complains about the nationalization of former Hungarian citizens in Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia. During the recent tension between Hungary and Yugoslavia over the assassination of King Alexander, Yugoslavia expelled many thousands of Hungarians who had not applied for Yugoslav citizenship when their districts were attached.
Because of lack of money and weapons, Hungary has been forced to carry on its treaty revision campaign with what little support it obtained from Italy and Germany. The government has based its foreign policy on an axis midway between Italy and Germany, but dissatisfaction with the government's friendship with Italy has been increasing in proportion as Italy draws closer to France and farther from Germany.

Treaty Revision Is Goal
The sole aim of Hungary's foreign policy being the revision of its peace treaty, it is casting about for support wherever it can be obtained. It already has announced its refusal to sign Danubian mutual assistance and anti-muggling pacts as a price for its restoration. Hungary believes if the big powers permit Germany unilaterally to increase its armaments, then it must be allowed to cancel its military restrictions without paying a price.
For the moment Hungary is concentrating on getting its rearments legally approved before it resumes its efforts to reincorporate some 3,200,000 Magyars whom it lost to its neighbors.
Hungary was a co-partner in the pre-war Austro-Hungarian empire, but today Hungary, unlike Austria, does not generally desire a restoration of the Hapsburgs.
Horty Is Regent
Curiously enough Hungary is a kingdom without a king. Admiral Nicholas Horthy, who led his irregular forces into power after the collapse of the Bela Kuhn communist regime, is Regent and lives in the Royal Palace. He does not intend to give up his position.
Twice Hungary repulsed attempts of monarchists to restore Emperor Karl, and today the government is firmly opposed to any restoration. The legitimist party in Hungary largely is recruited from the large estate owners, therefore the restoration movement is not popular with peasants.
Socially and economically Hungary is backward. A large percentage of the land is held by a few families, represented in Parliament by Count Bethlen. The present premier, Julius Goemboes, has hopes of deforming the land system.
Internationally Hungary is important because of its treaty revision campaign. It cannot go to war to change the treaties but its agitation is a constant source of trou-

Texas officials were stirred to action on reports that the state of Michigan might try to corner the pipeline project, when the only advantage Texas would get would be the sale of additional gas under competitive conditions, and about 100 miles of pipeline construction. Gov. Allred's plan is for Texas to get the profit from the pipeline operation.
Further, it is known the legislature will meet within less than three months, and very likely within less than two months, when the plan to create a public authority to seek the loan and build the line could be reffered. The possibility of creating a semi-public corporation under present franchise powers, without waiting for an enabling act, also was seen.
Economic and financial phases of the pipeline project were said to have received most favorable consideration by federal works administration officials.

Did you ever stop to think

James R. Rhodes, publisher of the Newton (Iowa) News, says:
"I am wondering in these days of Shoppers' Guides and throw-away sheets if the newspapers of the country which are afflicted with such unfair competition have ever stopped to think that they are not going an adequate job of selling.
During the spacious days of five and ten years ago I am fearful that newspapers became a lax lax in selling themselves to the community. Business came easily. In many instances, advertising was brought by business men with little or no effort on the part of the newspaper. The result was that many of us 'let down' as it were, and quit telling our advertisers about the merits of our newspapers. We didn't talk circulation. We didn't constantly tell our advertisers of the community service which he performed week in and week out. Our advertisers were not impressed with the fact that newspapers were always in a key position to put over not only individual sales events for merchants themselves, but were able to put over mass selling for the community as a whole when various trade events were being promoted.
"It's now time for newspapers to not only start selling themselves again to the local advertisers, but to step up the quality of their product. Possibly we should be handling more local news matter. Possibly we should be stepping up the quality of

KERRVILLE, June 20 — Lightning may never strike twice in the same place but sometimes it doesn't miss it far, persons attending the Methodist Assembly here have found out.
The cottage of the superintendent, the Rev. A. R. Vetter, was struck recently and a floor lamp base and mirror broken. The minister's wife and three sons were unhurt.
The assembly cafeteria was struck by lightning 15 days previous and a workman was knocked unconscious. He was revived two hours later.

our news. Possibly we should go in for local pictures, as the metropolitan papers have done. Possibly we should improve the typographical appearance of our papers.
"I am convinced that, as a general rule, Shoppers' Guides have made outstanding progress only in fields where the newspapers have been sleep. We should not fool ourselves. We cannot hope to make any progress against shoppers' guides by playing a 'waiting game'."

LETTERS FROM READERS

Editor, Daily News:
My work in Cisco as a preacher will stand for itself. I am especially anxious to see the fine white citizens and colored hereby know that the article published in the Cisco Daily News, which I consider one of the most courteous papers to negro uplift in Texas; one Rev. Z. H. Hickerson advertised or published my truthfulness as to the 100 voices to sing at the August meeting to be held at St. Mark's Baptist church.
Serving as Rev. Z. H. Hickerson's church on my annual visit six months ago, laying the foundation for the meeting, and he introduced me. I said then and that that we were to have 100 voices to sing; he introduced it as a fine effort.
Every church pledged to furnish talent to make up 100 voices; it furthermore was and is my duty to announce my line of work and as to the truthfulness of the best brains in Texas it was my duty as pastor and president to invite whom I desired from all over the state. I fear the article appeared out of selfish prejudice.—O. B. MCKINNEY.

Cusack said the executive committee of the state organization, called to meet July 16 in Fort Worth.
"Other members of the Dallas Young Democrats join me in the feeling that Mr. Roosevelt's residence in Texas and his work in the organization are too limited to entitle him to the honor," Phil Overton, Dallas, member of the state committee said.

NO INTERRUPT of YOUR GAS SERVICE

As Texas Streams Burst Banks
With torrential flood waters swirling at many points, Lone Star Gas System is the threat of the elements. Bridging the gas wells and your gas appliances, this dependable service has conquered the hazard and kept your service.

The greatest and most widespread floods in this company have threatened the gas pipe points. As the waters rushed on over the country, stood by these lines day and night ready for any bridges went down and roads were washed out was halted, the gas lines held intact.

This dependable service is not an accident. A quarter of a century of planning and huge money. Seven pipe line bridges across swollen steel pipe laid deep in the ground, a well trained crew among the facilities which have made them able to meet the unprecedented flood conditions.

The ability of your gas company to serve emergencies is, after all, the supreme test of its significant fact is that the facilities and organization to keep your service constantly dependable in any emergency must stand by throughout every day of your instant call.

Graham Blossoms In Western Attire As Time For July Jubilee Is Approaching

GRAHAM, June 20 — Sombrero, ten-gallon hats, cowboy boots and flaming red bandanas burst into style this week as Graham "went western" to advertise the approaching July Jubilee and Historical Exposition.

The change in dress was occasioned by Mayor J. J. Gallaher's proclamation that until the three-day celebration July 4, 5 and 6 such will be the official garb of those who hold dear the spirit of Northwest Texas.

The edict was published at the request of the Graham Junior chamber of Commerce, members of which were first to blossom out in the colorful western attire.

Backed against the stone walls in the southeast corner of the penitentiary lot, is an attractive story and a half stone house. On the door is tacked the address, "No. 1 Wall Street."

Inside lives C. L. Simpson, watch repairer for the prison and half the town, cabinetmaker and one inmate in no hurry for a parole.

Serving a life sentence from Holden, Mo. "Simmie," as he is known to his numerous customers, is reputed to rate financially so well that the No. 1 Wall Street business is no joke. His $5,000 invested in tools and household furnishings backs up the claim.

Keathley's Sermons Are Well Received

Rev. Bryan Keathley, who is conducting the revival at the First Presbyterian church, yesterday delivered two sermons which were well received by the congregation.

Speaking from the Twenty-fourth Psalm at the morning hour, he taught that all belongs to God, man included, and that blessings are passed as they are allowed to pass from one to another.

In the evening he spoke from Psalm 121. "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, whence cometh my help," he said.

Hundreds of persons from many parts of the United States are expected to attend the convention.

Potatoes Growing On Tomato Vines

LUFKIN, June 20 — J. C. Burt, farmer living near Alto believes he is well on his way toward raising potatoes salad on his tomato vines.

In 1933 Burt planted a field of tomatoes. Last year he planted the same field to potatoes. This year he planted tomatoes again, and was surprised to find that some of the vines bore a strange fruit.

He brought some of the vines to Lufkin to show his friends. The vines had potatoes on the roots and a queer kind of tomato on the stems.

The tomatoes, however, were harder than the ordinary kind and smelled a little like potatoes. The potatoes were perfect specimen.

NIGHT and DAY you're safe on CONCRETE AT night the superiority of concrete becomes most apparent because of its visibility. Its light gray surface with sharply defined edges reflects light but is not glossy. Concrete conforms precisely to the formula for the ideal pavement set up by the International Illumination Congress of 1928 and by the Illuminating Engineering Society in 1934. The importance of this is emphasized by the fact that the rate of death per accident is 43% higher during hours of darkness. Concrete, smooth but non-skid, insures a quick, certain stop even in the rain. Blow-outs, spring breakage, steering gear failures, accidents of all kinds are less apt to happen on concrete. Yet concrete is not only safe—it is more comfortable—it saves in driving costs—it costs less for upkeep—and cost of construction is less than that of any other pavement of equal load-carrying capacity.

RESCUE WORK FOR NARCOTIC ADDICT BEGUN

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 20.—Treatment of minds and bodies weakened by the use of narcotics on a scale never before attempted has been undertaken by the United States government with the recent opening of the federal narcotics farm near here.

The government plans to receive patients who might once have been considered incurable, and through natural corrective processes, rehabilitate them for useful citizenship.

There is no prescribed "cure" in the social reconstruction of addicts. Each case is studied and treated individually by the most productive means known to medical science.

Projects cost $5,000,000. The narcotics rehabilitation project here cost close to $5,000,000. There are 12 new buildings and the farm covers 1,400 acres of Kentucky's blue grass country.

The first patients were brought here from Leavenworth, Kan. federal penitentiary. They immediately were placed under observation for a three-week period. At the end of that time, they began an almost normal life on the farm.

From time to time, patients will be brought here from other institutions. Although most of them have been convicted of violating narcotics laws, there will be few of the dangerous criminal type accepted.

Patients on Probation. Patients will be put on probation by the courts, making it conditional that they be treated here until cured. Voluntary patients also will be accepted, providing they agree to remain here until cured. This latter class of patients will pay $1 a day board.

The first step in the general treatment will be to stop the use of narcotics as rapidly as the patient's condition permits. Then the body will be built up through exercise, correct diet, work in shops and on the farm, recreation, education and psychotherapy.

Daily Lectures Scheduled. Persons physically depleted will receive a milder form of withdrawal treatment. After withdrawal is complete, the treatment will be essentially the same for all classes of patients. Daily lectures will be given to the patients as a part of the rehabilitation program.

When the farm population reaches its peak, there probably will be 1500 patients.

Although the patients will not lead a secluded life within the buildings, their contacts with those on the outside will be closely guarded. It will be virtually impossible for narcotics to be smuggled to patients.

Area to Be Guarded. Dr. Lawrence Kolb, senior surgeon in charge of the farm, has announced that additional narcotics agents will be assigned to this district to protect the community against peddlers who might be attracted here by the opening of the farm.

Slow cures are desired to minimize the chance of a relapse after the patient has left the farm.

Medical authorities consider the farm one of the most important developments in social progression of this generation and believe it marks the beginning of a new era in treating addicts.

KAY FRANCIS ECONOMICAL IN HER SPENDING

HOLLYWOOD, June 20.—A motion picture star who owns no private swimming pool could be considered unique in that way.

Kay Francis is unique in that way. She has no swimming pool. Nor does she have a luxurious home, any beach houses, yachts or race horses. She has no extravagant collection of jewelry because she says she never cared for it. Although rated one of the best-dressed women in Hollywood, she pays no fancy prices for her clothes.

It is this lack of ostentation that makes Kay Francis one of the coldest of her richest women. Only she calls it "planned economy."

"I want money for the security it will bring, the enjoyment it will give me later," she says. "A big house is only a burden. Financial protection for the future is much more comforting."

She had different ideas four or five years ago. She established herself in a big house, but suddenly closed it up and moved into a seven-room cottage that is extremely simple. She drove a small motor car until it became as seedy as Garbo's, then bought another which she now drives.

The one extravagance she permits herself is travel. On every opportunity she leaves Hollywood. She travels by train, boat and airplane. She has flown to New York, Vienna or Milan. Nor does she live pretentiously when away from home. She never occupies "royal suites," charters planes, hires private cars or rents penthouses.

Some of her friends believe she will end her career as the richest woman in pictures.

Tarleton Gets Rare Old Texas Volumes

STEPHENVILLE, June 20.—A collection of early and rare books connected with Texas history, begun in early spring at John Tarleton college already includes several prized volumes.

Miss Margaret Bierschwale, librarian, who is directing the collection, names among the best books "required to date a Thrall's 'Pictorial History of Texas.' 'A Journey Through Texas,' by Olmstead; William Carey Crane's life of Sam Houston; 'The Republic of Texas,' by Anson Jones; Smithwick's 'Evolution of a State'; and William E. Connelly's 'Doniphan's Expedition.'

Officials anticipate that before the opening of the centennial next year the Texas collection will be placed in an appropriate series of pioneer days in numerous cities of pioneer days in Texas.

Miss Bierschwale is trying to locate certain rare volumes, old maps and other memorabilia. She states that the value of the collection has been greatly enhanced by gifts of books and documents.

Visitors to Stephenville are invited to see the Texas collection, which is on display at the Tarleton library.

Belated Award Is Given Rough Rider

TULSA Okla., June 20.—After 37 years, Frank Frantz, Tulsa, last Territorial Governor of Oklahoma and Rough Rider in the Spanish-American War, has received a citation for gallantry in action.

Frantz received the citation for his part in the battle of Santiago. The captain of Troop A, of which Frantz was first lieutenant, was killed in action. Frantz, taking command of his own squad, led the troops into the fray.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, chief of the Rough Riders, personally set this endorsement on the lieutenant's discharge: "I promoted him to the command of his troops for gallantry and efficiency in the battle of July 1."

Frantz was in the battle of July 1, 1898, at Santiago, Cuba.

TAXING PLAN TURNED OVER TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, June 20 — President Roosevelt shifted to congress today the responsibility for immediate action on his billion dollar share-the-wealth program.

The White House indicated that, while Mr. Roosevelt is desirous of early passage of his three-point program for increased tax levies on the wealthy, he preferred to let congress decide when and how it would handle the legislation.

A meeting of the senate finance committee was called, with an indication the group would vote whether it should go into the broad plan at this time.

The committee voted to report the resolution carrying the present "nuisance taxes" but with an amendment continuing them for one year instead of two years as the house provided.

It was indicated the White House felt the tax pronouncement was one of the most significant made by Mr. Roosevelt since he took office and there was no intention of rushing through immediate legislation.

Mr. Roosevelt's three-point plan sent to congress in a dramatic surprise message provides for:

- 1—High inheritance and gift taxes on large fortunes.
- 2—Sharply higher income taxes in the upper bracket.
- 3—Graduated corporation taxes placing a heavier burden on large corporation incomes.

The program was estimated as carrying a revenue of $1,000,000,000 annually. It was indicated the White House would allow congress to make its own interpretation of the program and work out legislation in its own way.

Winning Musicians In Camp Orchestra

KERRVILLE, June 20.—An eight piece orchestra composed of high school girls who won state or district music honors during the past school year, is being directed at Camp Waldemar, girls summer camp near here, by Miss Cobby De Stivers, Waco high school music director.

The orchestra members were selected on a tryout basis. This year the camp is attended by 225 girls, the largest number in its history. They come from eight states of the union.

Britishers Curious Over Jack Rabbits

DALHART, June 20 — Geoffrey De Freitas and John S. Crippie, of London and Gloucester, England, respectively, wanted to see some jack rabbits when they visited here recently.

"We've heard of the rabbits here which have ears two feet long," they said.

O. T. Williams, who showed the visitors over a wind erosion control project, pointed out a big jack and told them it was a "mere infant."

It was several days before the Englishmen caught the joke.

BRIDE WEARS OLD LACE

BOSTON — Virginia Bennett followed a precedent set by her mother and grandmother. When she was married, her trousseau included a pair of silk lace stockings and a rose point lace cap worn by her mother and paternal grandmother at their weddings.

EXPECT MORE FARMERS

SEATTLE — Population of the state of Washington will be doubled by migration of farmers from the drought and dust areas of the middle west. J. C. Herbsman, head of the Seattle port commission, predicted. Prospect of cheap power from Grand Coulee Dam, making possible reclamation of semi-desert areas, will be a major attraction, he said.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE
Sister Mary's Staff Writer

SALADS and summer, like pork and beans, or waffles and maple syrup, go together. Family lunches and Sunday night suppers may well center around the salad bowl.

But though I serve many salads during the summer months I have some hot foods each day, too. Everybody needs at least one hot dish a day no matter what the thermometer registers. I may be hot bouillon to begin the meal, or I may feature a hot vegetable dish along with cold cuts.

Lettuce or other salad greens must never be crisp. I hope you like and use all the greens—endive, chicory, watercress and romaine. They are rich in every vitamin.

Fresh Fruits in Season
At this time of year you can serve a salad composed entirely of fresh fruits. Time enough to use the canned ones when the season prevents you from getting fresh. Pineapple, strawberries, cherries, grapefruit, bananas, apples and oranges are abundant.

The rich mayonnaise and whipped cream that go into the average frozen and jellied salads produce a mixture quite as rich in calories as most desserts. However, remember that a salad must not be sweet as desserts. It must have a tantalizing tartness rather than a cloying sweetness.

One bland fruit in combination with a tart fruit makes a perfect balance of flavor and my favorite bland fruit is the banana. In the fall, pears are good.

This banana frozen salad can be served solely as a dessert if you add 4 tablespoons sugar and omit the mayonnaise.

Banana Frozen Salad
One tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, 4 tablespoons crushed pineapple, 1-2 cup maraschino cherries cut in quarters, 1-2 cup walnut meats, 1 cup whipping cream, 3 well-ripened bananas.

Chop nut meats and cut bananas in cubes. Add lemon juice and salt to mayonnaise and stir into cheese. Mix with pineapple, cherries, nuts and fold in cream whipped until firm. Add bananas. Turn into trays in automatic refrigerator or put in mold and pack in four parts ice to one part ice cream salt. Freeze three hours or longer. Unmold and cut in slices to serve. Garnish with slices of banana which have been dipped in lemon juice to prevent discoloration and serve on bed of lettuce and cress.

If you want to use this as a dessert rather than a salad dip the banana slices in a thin syrup of sugar and water instead of lemon juice.

YOUNGEST SENATOR TAKES SEAT, ANXIOUS FOR BATTLE OF WITS

By HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 20 — The senate gave Rush Drew Holt a birthday party today.

It was his 30th birthday — the day after six months of nervous waiting that the young West Virginian attained the age entitling him to the senate seat to which he was elected last November.

What bothered Holt was that, not being sworn in, he couldn't vote and he couldn't speak. He promised that he would not be long in making up for his probationary silence.

"Somebody told me," Holt said, "that I had every right of a senator except the right to get in trouble."

Trouble — when it means a hot battle and fiery debate in behalf of his principles — is just what the youngest senator since Henry Clay's time likes.

Holt, a slight, spectacled young man of serious mien, won his way into the senate by fighting and since his election he has been busy gathering ammunition for new battles.

In the meantime many have been asking about the 29-year-old who was sent to the senate too young to take his seat. And well they might because Holt rode into office by defeating a man old enough to be his father who had not been beaten in 40 years of political life — former Senator Henry Hatfield, Republican.

The birth of Holt, 30 years ago today, was not as big an event in the life of his father as such things are in the lives of most male parents. It just meant that "Doc" Holt had to hurry a little more in making his daily round of calls in the central West Virginia community around Weston where he had been practicing for some 33 years.

Father Was Individualist
But being the son of "Doc Holt" has made considerable difference to Rush. He mixed salty advice on affairs of state with his pills to the accompaniment of a gruff and hearty denunciation of a newspaper along with his practice and for governor under the same banner. He finally got into office at the age of 82 when Weston elected him mayor.

Holt's opponents called him a "red" and a "bolshhevik" and threatened to mob him when he refused to buy Liberty bonds during the World War.

Determined Young Man
Growing up in that sort of atmosphere, young Holt absorbed a certain amount of politics. But he was no pawn of his father. That's what political opponents charged during the campaign.

"Control him?" sputtered "Doc" Holt, "if I could control him, he wouldn't be a Democrat you know. I believe me I can't control him and neither can anyone else."

Young Holt's creed, backed by his father: "I will follow my own conscience in voting. I have never compromised and I don't intend to start now," he said.

Holt's trouble with the senate over his age is not his first. He was something of a prodigy in school and at 14 tried to get into the University of Cincinnati. Professors told him he was too young. So he went back to the institution from which his mother was the first woman graduate — Salem College — and matriculated there.

Wrote for Newspapers
When he finished college, Holt taught school a while, reported Weston news for metropolitan papers, coached local athletic teams and worked in a butcher shop.

That lasted him until he was 23. Then he suddenly bounded into politics.

Just five minutes before the closing hour, Holt filed for the West Virginia house as a Democratic nominee and he came within 500 votes of winning in spite of the 1928 Hoover landslide.

He tried again in 1930 and won after an almost single-handed campaign. He hung his own campaign posters and had little help from the Democratic organization.

His Influence Felt
In the legislature Holt fought utilities, particularly natural gas interests. He did fairly well and after the 1932 campaign in which he was reelected, he did better. In this campaign he named 12 legislators whom he charged were tied up with utility interests. All except one of the 12 were defeated.

The campaign in which he was elected to the senate was equally stiff. He ran in a field of four, including Clem Shaver, former Democratic chairman and personal choice of National Chairman James A. Farley. Holt won the Democratic nomination and came through the November election 70,000 votes ahead of Hatfield.

Wide Tour Made
His journeys have taken him west to Texas, Oklahoma and Colorado, through the middle west, many parts of the south and eastern industrial districts.

On the eve of his birthday, Holt said he thought he'd learned a lot of things.

"Anyway," he said, "I think I know more about what the country is thinking of than I'd stayed here in Washington all the time."

As for politics: "Young people should not be afraid of putting their ideas against those of their elders. This is a time for experimentation, questioning and daring."

WEDNESDAY, June 20 — Rep-

Half Of People In Bad Mental Health

DALLAS, June 20 — Fully 50 per cent of all persons employed in American industries suffer from varying degrees of emotional or mental ill health, according to Dr. H. L. Pritchett, professor of sociology at Southern Methodist university.

Many men and women who are highly successful in business and are entirely rational, none the less suffer from emotional maladjustment, Pritchett said.

Relatively few people are engaged in the type of work they really wish to follow, he said. Most people are engaged as they are because of compulsion or circumstance.

"Strong physical health is the foundation of mental health," Pritchett said. "Plenty of work done with a feeling of satisfaction that it is worthwhile is the best cure for emotional unbalance."

Piedras Negras To Form New Polo Team

EAGLE PASS, June 20 — General Jesus Jaime Quinones, widely known sportsman who took charge at the Piedras Negras garrison on June 2, as commander of the North Coahuila Military zone, is planning the formation of a polo team in the border city.

He brought a number of thoroughbred ponies with him from Mexico City, and has stabled them at a farm on the outskirts of Piedras Negras.

Nearby, he is having a field cleared and shaped for polo contests, and has already sent an invitation to the Fort Clark polo team for several matches to be played here July 3 and 4.

Pirate Gold Tales Lure Ship Salvage

WALLISVILLE, June 20 — Pirate gold has lured searchers to Lake Charlotte to raise a ship that was sunk more than a century ago.

E. H. Sherman, local resident, found the ship and interested a salvage firm in the report that the boat was laden with gold.

Operations have been started to raise the 70-foot vessel from 16 feet of mud. Work was retarded, however, by recent high water, resulting from heavy rains.

BRIDGE; HICKS; DIVORCE
SALEM, Mass. — Lottie C. Barry, 60, of Lynn, was granted a divorce recently from William J. Barry, 40, claiming that she often "took it on the shins" when her husband resorted to clever footwork under the table to criticize her skill at bridge.

CCC BUG CATCHERS
MISSOULA, Mont. — CCC workers near here harvested an unusual crop this spring. They caught 54,000 wood ticks. The ticks will be used by the United States Public Health Service laboratory at Hamilton, Mont., in preparing serum to combat Rocky Mountain spotted fever, caused by tick bites.

SHOW WOMEN HOW
AUBURN, N. Y. — Men took over womanly duties for Mother and Daughters banquet held here recently. The men prepared, cooked and served the dinner, according to the announcement. Mothers, wives, sisters and daughters ate. Nothing was said about washing dishes.

PECAN TREE HUGE ONE
HOLLY ROCK, Tenn. — A pecan tree, whose trunk measures five and one-half feet in diameter, is hailed here as the largest of its kind. The foliage spread exceeds 120 feet from tip to tip. General Andrew Jackson gave the seed for the tree to a Mrs. Morris during the War of 1812. It still bears.

BIBLE READING CHAMP
GILVERTON, Ore. — Mike Dolan won a Bible-reading contest here with 3,700 chapters in 52 days. His record included reading the Bible clear through twice, with the New Testament three times extra and 548 single chapters besides. Hiram Hartley was second, with 3,652 chapters, only 48 behind Dolan.

CUT HUNTING SEASON
HALIFAX, N. S. — A bill limiting the hunting season for moose, deer and caribou to 11 days, from October 20 to October 31, in Nova Scotia, has been adopted by the Provincial Legislature.

WANT BLEACHERS
SCHENECTADY, N. Y. — Because the "girl-friend" hates to sit on the grass, Union college students are clamoring for bleacher seats at lacrosse games.

BUILT OF AUTO PLATES
WILLOWS, Cal. — Ira E. Mercur is going to have a steel plated garage. Discarded automobile license plates are being used to face a wooden building to be used for a storage garage. The job requires 3,280 plates.

MOTORCADE TO SEEK SITE FOR STATE PARKS

McALLEN, June 20. — A motorcade traveling from Byers, in Clay county, to Hidalgo, in the southern part of the state, will investigate Highway No. 66 for proposed park sites, according to Commander H. Miller Ainsworth of the American Legion Department of Texas.

The motorcade will formally open Highway 66, one of the important through highways in the state, as the American Legion Memorial highway. The State Highway commission recently approved of the new name.

The 600-mile trip will be made June 24, 25, and 26. Traveling in the motorcade will be legion officials, members of the highway commission, and others interested in the plan.

Sites for roadside parks in each of the 18 counties through which the road passes, will be selected.

Another project which is being considered is the planting of popples along both sides of the highway.

Following is the schedule for the motorcade:

Leave Byers at 10 a. m. June 24; stop for noon at Wichita Falls; night stop at Mineral Wells. Breakfast June 25 at Stephenville; noon stop at Lampasas; night stop at San Antonio. Noon stop June 26, at Alice night stop at McAllen.

Projects under way include: a methylethylketonebenzol solvent dewaxing plant; a multi-solvent extraction plant, and additions and improvements on treating units.

The work is expected to be completed by next fall, according to C. R. Stevenson, manager.

Flower Thieves Get Their Photos Taken

DALLAS, June 20 — Clarence I. Browne, Dallas gardener, has a novel way of stopping persons from stealing flowers from his garden.

A sign at the edge of the garden warns passers-by that their picture will be taken if they molest the flowers.

In spite of the sign, however, Browne has snapped pictures of 32 persons, 27 of them women, who have stopped to pluck blossoms from his mimosa tree which is covered with gorgeous blossoms.

800 School Houses Get Relief Repairs

AUSTIN, June 20 — Nearly $1,000,000 was spent repairing and building 800 school buildings by the state relief commission, director Adam R. Johnson said today.

The outstanding project, Johnson said, was a $532,000 landscaping job at nine Fort Worth schools. Relief funds paid all but $28,000 of the cost.

More than 50 Lower Rio Grande Valley schools, damaged and wrecked in 1933 hurricane, were replaced.

Roomier and more healthful educational plants have resulted, Johnson observed, and hundreds given work.

Golf Shorts Worry For Women Begins

KANSAS CITY, June 20 — The park board didn't have any trouble deciding that male golfers, using municipal courses, must wear shirts but when they tackle the problem of women in shorts they took time out.

"They look right nice in 'em," volunteered Maurice De Fever, superintendent of public courses, "but I'm afraid they are dangerous. They problem over in our minds for a time."

FIREMEN HERE REPORT STATE MEETING GOOD

Cisco delegates to the state firemen's convention at El Paso Saturday reported the largest attendance and perhaps the most successful meeting of the kind that the state has yet held.

A crowd of 3,000 persons attended the convention, of whom more than 600 were delegates, it was said. The convention will be held in Fort Worth next year.

Those attending from Cisco were Fire Marshal O. Gustafson, Fire Chief J. J. Collins, Carl Pence, Earl Robinson, and Charlie Simpson.

"Taken in every way," the fire marshal said Saturday, "I think it was the most successful and satisfactory convention yet held."

He said that both he and the firemen had enjoyed their trip and had derived a great deal of good from the program and from association with other fire fighters of the state.

Marketing Service For Cotton Sought

TAYLOR, June 20 — The Texas planning board will consider a play by E. R. Torn of Taylor for the federal work relief administration to supply cotton farmers with marketing information and classifying service.

The application, sponsored by Central Texas ginners and cotton farmers, asked that a 24-hour service be maintained. The project will be considered first by the planning board's land use committee, headed by Judge R. C. Hopping of Lubbock.

District Meeting Of Church Planned

St. Mark Baptist church, colored, will be host in August to the West Texas district Baptist association in its annual session, the moderator, Rev. Z. B. Hickerson, Jr., who is also one of the vice presidents of the state convention, announced this week.

He denied the fact, however, "that there will be the best brains of the Negro Baptists from all sections of Texas," as Rev. O. B. McKinney, formerly pastor here, had previously announced, "for this is not to be a state meeting, but the meeting of a small district." He also said that there will not be 100 trained voices to lead in the singing, but that there will be a chorus of limited number who will lead in the singing. "However, these voices will be the best in the district," the moderator said.

He said he was anxious to correct the "misrepresentation of our meeting to the end that the citizens, both white and colored, will not be disappointed, nor the membership of the St. Mark church embarrassed."

LETTERS FROM READERS

Cisco American and Roundup,
Cisco, Texas.
Gentlemen:

Quite often I see in your Personal Mention Column that Cisco people have returned from a visit to that marvelous natural wonder, Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico. If anyone has had the temerity to try to describe this first (not seventh or eighth) wonder of the world, I have not seen it. Neither am I going to try to describe it. I know if I should try to describe it that my vocabulary would be so completely helpless that my words would be as scarce as the proverbial "hen's teeth." Permit me, however, to make a few observations that may have some little weight in creating a desire in others to see this indescribable monument of God's earthly creations. These myriads of stalactite and stalagmite formations that create within us such a reverential awe that we stand in breathless wonder before them. This underground cavern that is so stupendous that our National government, after ten years of extensive and intensive exploration and development, is prepared to show its citizens less than one fourth of the scenic beauties that are known to exist. How much more really exists, in all probability, will be left for unborn generations to explore. Already 32 miles of passages and chambers have been explored and each year further mileage has been conquered, so future years are expected to yield more miles of scenic beauty. At the present time only seven miles of underground corridors and great chambers are open to visitors, but I would advise you not to wait for further development before you go through, for the simple reason that you may be overcome by sheer wonderment.

We enter the cave at 10:30 a. m. MST, through the great natural arch of the immense main corridor of the cave. The descending winding pathway extends for almost a mile, and leads to the Green Lake room, so named because of a small green pool. The trail then passes through a short artificial tunnel to the King's Palace, one of the most beautiful chambers in the caverns.

A natural "key hole" leads from the King's Palace to the Queen's Chamber, particularly famous for its elephant ears or draperies and helictite formations. Then follows the Papoose's Chamber a beautiful little room leading back to the King's Palace, whence the winding terraces lead to the lunch room, 750 feet below the surface, where lunches are served." This lunch room is the beginning of what is termed the "Big Room," so termed because of its immense dimensions, being 4,000 feet long and 625 feet wide, with ceiling arches at one place 300 feet high. It is in this room we have the giant stalagmite formation 60 feet high and 16 feet in diameter, and denominated "Rock of Ages." Here the visitors stop each day to hear a brief talk on the park. It so happened the day we went through that there were 579 in the crowd, and three hundred and two were from Texas. The speaker in announcing the number from each state commented pleasantly upon Texas, and that Texas crowd clapped vehemently. He continued his complimentary remarks upon Texas by stating that last year ninety seven thousand people were conducted through the caverns, and 52,000 of them hailed from Texas. Then that Texas crowd encircled with almost vociferous vehemence, until the speaker's voice arose with the startling announcement that at that rate it would take 100 years to show the cave to all Texas. That Texas bunch was so quiet that one could almost imagine they were in the Mormon Tabernacle at Salt Lake City waiting for somebody to drop a pin. If you doubt this statement ask Fred Steffy and family, Misses Miriam or Norma or Master Wilbur Ghormley, Misses Nell Carmichael, Eloise Rea, Rose Drake, Elders W. W. Blatter, J. J. Lovell. All respected citizens of Cisco, and present and partaking.

After this brief lecture the lights were turned off for 30 seconds and that crowd was made to feel for this short duration something of the meaning of that Bible expression "outer darkness." The darkness was so intense that it could truthfully be denominated "thick darkness." At this juncture a few lights were turned on at the opposite end of the "Big Room," 4,000 feet away, and a male quartette began a very pleasing rendition of that familiar hymn, "Rock of Ages," and as they progressed more lights were turned on, coming slowly toward us, until at the close of the hymn all the lights were on. The effect was so delightfully exhilarating that a sensitive imagination might truly experience a foretaste of the ecstasies of eternal bliss. After this memorable occasion we wound our way back to the Lunch room, some to begin their ascent on foot, others to ride out in the elevator at the rate of 1,000 feet per second. Thus endeth four hours in the lives of five hundred and seventy nine human beings, the memory of which will never be erased by the ravages of time or the duration of eternity.

This story would not be complete if I failed to tell you something of the museum at White's City, near the entrance to the cave, and Jim White the 50 year old cowboy, to whose inspiration and courage we are indebted for the revelation of this marvelous wonder of wonders. Jim has collected a number of different things, common and uncommon to the mountains of New Mexico. Among the uncommon things is a family of mummified human beings supposedly pre-historic beings and known in archeology as "basket makers." Every evening at 8:30 the guests of White's City are permitted to view this interesting collection and listen to a lecture detailing their discovery and supposed history. While the minds of the people composing this crowd seemed to wander in a maze of uncertainty and speculation concerning the spectacle before them, I sat in serenity and satisfaction and pondered the facts concerning the fate of a people whose ancestry, habits and life had been recorded by themselves and preserved by the power of God and given into my hands that I may be prepared to receive the confirmatory evidence presented by the gloomy monitors before me. Three over I thanked God that I had been counted worthy to receive this superior knowledge of God and His purpose regarding the history of humanity past, present and future. My mind and spirit soared to sublime heights and breathed the ozone of Life Eternal.

Corn-Hog Contract Compliance Begins

Compliance work of the Corn-Hog Contract association was started Thursday, E. F. Alton, county supervisor, announced. Completion of measuring of acreage on which corn is planted and other duties of the field supervisors will probably be made in five or six days, Alton stated.

Work this year is being done before approval of contracts, an innovation in regular procedure, Alton said.

EARLY PLANS COMPLETE FOR TEXAS PARTY

DALLAS, June 20. — Preliminary plans are now complete for Texas one-hundredth birthday celebration which will center in the spacious exposition grounds here commencing June 8, 1936.

Just one year is left for construction of a $10,000,000 exposition plant, and ground will soon be broken for the first of the scores of unusual and artistic structures which will house the big display of Texas resources, international exhibits and all-embracing amusements.

Ample funds are available to make the Texas Centennial Exposition one of the greatest international expositions of its kind in history.

The state of Texas has appropriated the sum of $3,000,000 of which more than a million dollars will go into the construction of a state of Texas Building which will be permanent on the exposition grounds.

Bonds Issued
The city of Dallas is issuing $3,500,000 of bonds for exposition purposes. The Texas Centennial Central Exposition, Inc., has already sold practically $2,000,000 of bonds to private individuals and corporations to aid financing of this Texas World's Fair.

It is considered more than likely congress will appropriate another $2,000,000 for a federal building and other features. This appropriation has already passed the senate and is now being considered by the house.

Walter D. Cline, managing director of the Central exposition at Dallas, expects to make it a twenty million dollar show for fifteen million people.

Frank N. Watson has been selected as the promotion manager for the central exposition and has plans under way to tell the story of this great Texas celebration in all parts of the nation and throughout the world. He will aid in the creation of a national "urge" to

TIRES MAY LOOK ALIKE ON THE OUTSIDE ON THE INSIDE THEY ARE DIFFERENT

HEAT on the inside created by friction is the main cause of blowouts. Firestone Tires are different on the inside—they are built with the patented extra process of Gum-Dipping that soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber, preventing internal friction and heat. No other make of tire is Gum-Dipped.

When you realize that there were 882,000 automobile accidents in 1934, injuring 954,000 people and killing 36,000, and that 43,000 of these accidents were caused by blowouts, punctures and skidding, you will be more interested in the make of tires you use on your car.

Firestone performance records again emphasize the undisputed evidence that Firestone Tires are not only blowout-proof, but give greatest protection against skidding. There are three questions and answers that will solve the problem of what tires to buy:

QUESTION 1—"Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

ANSWER—Recent tests by a leading University show that Firestone High Speed Non-Skid Tires stop a car 15% quicker than any other of the leading makes. For eight consecutive years Firestone Tires have been on the winning car in the dangerous Pike's Peak Race where a skid means death. This is undisputed evidence that Firestone gives car owners greatest protection against skidding.

QUESTION 2—"Are they blowout-proof?"

ANSWER—Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have the most amazing records for being blowout-proof of any tires ever built. In the grueling 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis, May 30th, every one of the 33 cars was equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Kelly Penillo won the race and broke the record over this 26-year-old rough brick track without tire trouble — in fact, not one of the 33 drivers had tire trouble of any kind.

Ab Jenkins drove his 5,000 pound car on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires over the hot salt beds of Utah, 3,000 miles in 23 1/2 hours, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, with temperatures as high as 120°, without tire trouble of any kind. These are most amazing proofs of blowout protection ever known.

QUESTION 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

ANSWER—Firestone High Speed Tires not only give you more than 50% longer wear, but also lowest cost per mile. This is made possible by the tough, wear-resisting tread built with higher shoulders and a wider, flatter contour. This thick, rugged, scientifically designed tread is held securely to the Gum-Dipped cord body by Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of cords under the tread. This is a special construction feature not used in any other tire. Unequaled mileage records by thousands of car owners add undisputed evidence of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

DALHART, June 20. — Rabbit drives, which were discontinued during the drought, have been resumed. The pests were allowed to run unmolested during the drought because many families depended upon them for food.

Now, however, they have become so thick that several drives have been organized in efforts to exterminate them.
