CISCO SCHOOLS WILL OPEN TOMORROW

About Our Friends

By STEPHEN A. LONG

...to school tomorrow... children will be pouring into school buildings in Cisco and many other towns in the nation... Teachers are glad to receive them, ready to receive them, ready to receive them... new devices and plans where learning may be absorbed more easily and more impressively... will go because they are impatient with an instinctive desire to learn and learn about more of the wonders of this world while others are content with many different things... some social, some because they are sent... and so on.

...others and fathers will get their fill out of the day also... In many cases it means sacrifice... if or daughter are going away to college, it may mean doing without luxuries and some necessities... but all in all it means a glad day for the nation of all ages... the school system gives us something to look forward to and ideal to cherish... Sweet indeed the first day of school!

...A. Jensen says he thinks the thing job on his front will be completed on time... Jack Duncan and other workman doing the actual work and a big lineup of helpers and advisers... sometimes 8 or 10 men supervising the work... One man wants to know why Jack Jensen then has the other workmen clean it off... Jensen hesitates to butt in... on the men who insist that Jensen do it... it is work on his store... How the question hasn't been answered yet.

...Ferdie left a nice picture of the police group hanging in his station, thinking that it might be inspiration to the boys to do their duty during his absence... after arriving in New Mexico.

Board Accepts Resignation Of Simmons

DAVID NELSON NEW MANAGER OF TEXAS PEN

HOUSTON, Sept. 7 — The Texas prison board today accepted the resignation of Lee Simmons and appointed David Nelson of Orange as manager of the state prison system. Simmons had tendered his resignation after much controversy and much talk of alleged brutality in the state prison system. Eastham prison farm was one of the central points in the talk of brutality, following the death of a prisoner there. Simmons had been under fire during the summer when several convicts in the system were stricken while working in the sun. Simmons became manager of the system in 1930 after having served as a member of the prison board. Nelson, Simmons' successor, is chairman of the state livestock sanitation commission.

SENATOR COLLIE PRAISES SIMMONS AS MANAGER

EASTLAND, Sept. 7. — Unaware that the Texas prison board had accepted a resignation of Lee Simmons as manager, Senator Wilbourne B. Collie said Saturday: "It may be the penitentiary flare-up may get some airing. Manager Lee Simmons has made Texas a great public official. I have just wired the board of prison commissioners to withhold action on his resignation until the legislature meets. If it's politics getting into the system, we ought to get that out."

Lions Look Forward To Minstrel Show

Lions were looking forward this weekend to their minstrel next Thursday night. An excellent program was said to be in store for those who attend. Blackface comedy, novelty musical acts, and unique features of ventriloquism, magic and slight of hand, dance numbers, and songs were promised, along with complete comedy acts. There will be a number of prominent Cisco men in the blackface comedy. Tod and Dot Fields will appear on the program, through the courtesy of N. F. Tate of Waco. J. B. Moreno, professional director, will have charge of the minstrel. The minstrel is being given to raise funds for the 1935 Lions convention here.

Seized Oil Held To Be Transportable

AUSTIN, Sept. 7 — Attorney General William McCraw today held that confiscated hot oil in Texas should be permitted in interstate commerce as well as in intrastate commerce, on the ground that legislation on it was passed primarily to aid state law enforcement. The opinion was asked by the United States solicitor general at the request of U. S. Attorney General Homer Cummings. McCraw said Texas' method of condemning and selling oil removed "any taint of illegality" and made it a bona fide article of commerce. As such, he believed the oil should be given federal tenders for transportation. The opinion was based on an interpretation of the oil bill outlawing excess oil production and transportation.

ROOSEVELT'S 'BREATHING SPELL' SPOTLIGHTS ISSUES OF CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. — President Roosevelt's "breathing spell" letter tended today to spotlight the issues upon which the New Deal will base its 1936 campaign for another popular mandate. That President Roosevelt will be the presidential nominee and Vice President John Garner will be his running mate are as definite as anything political can be. The republican scramble still is anybody's race. Senator William E. Borah, Frank Knox, publisher of

Smiles Forecast Net-Screen Merger

Romance? Well, ah—yes... Marriage plans? No, nothing definite... Helen Vinson and Fred Perry, top-ranking amateur tennis player, made no secret of their happiness when the photographer found them together as a liner docked in New York. The screen actress was on her way from London to Hollywood when Perry met her at the dock.

Million Dollar County Road Project Gets District WPA Office Approval

Application for more than $1,000,000 of WPA funds sought for Eastland county lateral roads has been approved by the district headquarters in Abilene and the projects have been sent to the state WPA at San Antonio, it has been announced. The application for highway projects was included among 22 projects totaling $1,399,970.91 for this county and sent together to San Antonio together. The road project application asked for $1,025,479.31. It was filed by the county commissioners court.

LOST MAN IS FOUND WHILE BODY SOUGHT

EASTLAND, Sept. 7. — While crooks were dragged at Eastland, Leonard Buckley 94, missing since Thursday evening, was found at the home of Tom Adams, a friend, near Ranger Saturday morning. Volunteer searchers had renewed their quest for the man following a fruitless hunt late Friday night and early Saturday morning. Buckley said he left his home Thursday evening, remarking that his bed was not comfortable. Volunteers had been called to aid in the search by blowing of the fire siren. The dragging was centered at the creek below the Lake Eastland spillway.

Two Make Bail Bond After Indictments

EASTLAND, Sept. 7. — Bail bond of two persons indicted by the 88th district court's grand jury last week were on file in the district clerk's office Saturday. Pete Theous, indicted in connection with a charge of possession of liquor, made bond of $750 while H. S. Whitaker, indicted in connection with a charge of driving while intoxicated, made bond at the same figure.

Repair Cisco School

Included in the list of projects approved at Abilene and mailed to San Antonio before the deadline was one for repairs on Cisco school buildings. The federal fund for the project would be $1,649.65, while the total cost would be $3,143.81. The project would require 34 man months. Other projects included were: Eastland: Airport improvement, $2,533 federal fund; $2,987.50 total project, 78 man months. Eastland: Clerical help for agent, $576 federal fund; $1,976 total project, 12 man months. Eastland: Road construction, $150,150 federal fund; $167,300 total project, 3,767 man months. Ranger: Street construction, $15,975 federal fund; $23,175 total project, 12 man months. Ranger: Park, $2,370 federal fund; $2,920 total project, 52 man months. Ranger: School stadium, $9,353 federal fund; $21,769 total project, 204 man months. Eastland: Dam repairs, $942 federal fund; $1,072 total project, 26 man months. Eastland county: Road construction, $314,400 federal fund; $355,500 total project, 7,267 man months. Eastland: Street construction, $2,980 federal fund, $3,528 total project, 72 man months. Ranger: Completion of auditorium, $451 federal fund; $1,206 total project, 12 man months. Eastland: Clean up dump ground.

NURSERY AND ADULT SCHOOL OPEN MONDAY

...Norton could place a 1 90-pound average backfield on the field. Norton plans to lose no time in setting under way and expects to split his squad into "A" and "B" groups the first day out. In preparation... will be served as usual in the nursery school, it was announced. Courses will be offered in vocational work, homemaking, commercial subjects, and literary studies. Teachers in the adult school are Mrs. Maud Bailey, Mrs. Dill, Miss Neva Dean Dill, Miss Ruth Endicott, Miss Glenn Fowler, Mrs. Alice Henson, Mrs. Carrie Holder, Mrs. Ina Lee Jones, Mrs. Mary King, Mrs. Mattie Lotfin, Mrs. E. S. Martin, Miss Oletha Medford, M. L. Moore, Lee Humphreys, Mrs. Greta McDonald, Mrs. C. O. Pass, Miss Essie Roberts, Mrs. Muriel Schook, Miss Dalia Surlis, Mrs. A. L. Thomas, Miss Gladys Tomlinson, Mrs. Caroline Waters, Mrs. Maudie Mae Strube. Nursery teachers are Mrs. John Vernon, Miss Edna Moad, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Miss Josephine Walbaum, Mrs. L. E. Morris.

National Guardsmen Called to Election

HARLAN, Ky., Sept. 7. — Threats of violence and vote frauds brought 600 national guardsmen into bloody Harlan county today for the runoff primary to select a democratic candidate for governor. Opponents of Thomas Rhea, who has the support of Governor Ruby Laffoon charged the government was attempting to sweep the election for his candidate with the presence of the state troops. Rhea is an old time democrat who aided Laffoon in securing the three per cent sales tax. Lieutenant Governor A. H. Chandler, 37, who ran second to Rhea in the August 3 primary, opposes the sales tax and the "militia" of the court on Sept. 12. The condemned kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby believes that the court of errors and appeals will grant him a new hearing. Hauptmann is more cheerful than he has been at any other time since he was committed to the prison on Feb. 16, 1935. He is looking forward to the session of the court on Sept. 12. The court of nine jurists and five lay members can grant him a new trial or sustain his death sentence. If the state's case is upheld, he will die in the electric chair within eight weeks.

Death House Fails To Faze Hauptmann

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 7. — Seven months in the death house of the New Jersey state prison have failed to break the spirit of Bruno Richard Hauptmann. The condemned kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby believes that the court of errors and appeals will grant him a new hearing. Hauptmann is more cheerful than he has been at any other time since he was committed to the prison on Feb. 16, 1935. He is looking forward to the session of the court on Sept. 12. The court of nine jurists and five lay members can grant him a new trial or sustain his death sentence. If the state's case is upheld, he will die in the electric chair within eight weeks.

Confederate Vets End Their Reunion

AMARILLO, Sept. 7. — Seventy years since the war between the states the grey-clad men of General Robert E. Lee's Confederate army prepared to return to their homes, awaiting the approval of the union veterans for a joint reunion at Gettysburg. Almost to a man the veterans accepted the invitation of Governor George Earle of Pennsylvania to shake hands with the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic on the scene of General George Pickens' historic Confederate charge.

Will Head Schools Opening Monday

President J. T. McKissick, left, and Superintendent R. N. Cluck will head Cisco's schools, which open tomorrow. Dr. McKissick is looking forward to his first year as president of Randolph college since the institution was moved to Cisco, while Superintendent Cluck will begin his sixth year as head of the public schools. Both men are expecting large increases in enrollment during the coming session.

Burning of Storm Victims Rushed As Probers Push Forward Inquiries

MIAMI, Sept. 7. — Health authorities today rushed disposal of bodies of hurricane victims as three investigators worked to determine if they had died needlessly. Thin wisps of smoke drifted lazily across the tropical sky from funeral pyres on the Florida keys where bodies were cremated to end a threat of pestilence. Graves were being dug for bodies already in coffins. Health authorities insisted on cremation of bodies on the keys to the south and on burial of bodies already brought to Miami. While those tasks were being carried out, Miami planned a tribute to the war veterans who lost their lives in the storm. Bay Front park, skirting Miami's waterfront, will be given over Sunday afternoon to a national memorial in which the federal government will be represented by several officials and detachments from every branch of its service. Governor Dave Sholtz was in command of the situation. He flew over the keys, reported that the carnage was indescribable, and engaged in conferences which brought the cremation order. The American Red Cross, still checking the casualties, estimated the dead at 446, an increase of nearly 200 from earlier announcements. The United Press survey on Tuesday had placed the number at 442. While the cremation order was in conflict with the request of President Roosevelt, it was understood that federal officials here, won over to the need for health protection, had advised Washington officials that cremation was necessary for health safety.

RESIDENTS OF VALLEY READY TO EVACUATE

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 7. — On-rushing floodwaters from American and Mexican tributaries of the Rio Grande today caused warnings to residents of the lower valley to be ready to flee from lowlands. W. J. Schnurbusch government weather forecaster, said there was enough water in the river already to send it as high as the stage reached last June when several thousand acres of rich farm land in the valley were inundated. The crest of the flood pouring downriver from Del Rio was not expected to reach the lower valley until Monday or Tuesday. Schnurbusch warned that the danger of the flood would depend entirely upon unknown amounts of water in Mexican tributaries. These side floods had not reached the Rio Grande today.

Mercy Flier Hurt In Hunt for Plane

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Sept. 7. — The same icy Alaskan wilderness which claimed the lives of Wiley Post and Will Rogers today threatened death to Percy Hubbard, north country "mercy flier," critically injured while on another mercy errand. Too critically injured to be moved he lay on a gravel bar in the Chena river. His brother, Russell Hubbard, and A. J. Douglas, passengers in his plane that crashed and burned, were in a hospital. The two were concluding a survey of the Circle City region in search of four fliers when disaster struck the rescue ship.

POPE PIUS XI MAKES APPEAL TO 3,000 WAR VETERANS FOR PEACE

VATICAN CITY, Rome, Sept. 7. — Pope Pius XI made an earnest plea for peace today to 3,000 war veterans from 15 countries, assembled in St. Paul's basilica. The pope drew a careful analogy between a defensive war and a war of conquest and said either sort of war could be approved if it were for religious rights and religious treasures. He was believed to be referring directly to fascist Italy when he said: "We desire that the aspirations and needs of our dear people should be satisfied, but with justice." The pontiff's speech called for worldwide efforts for peace. "The entire world desires peace. We are praying for peace. You children should make every effort for it," he said.

ENROLLMENT IS EXPECTED TO INCREASE

Cisco public schools and Randolph college here will open tomorrow for the fall semester, school officials have announced. Both Superintendent R. N. Cluck of the public schools and President J. T. McKissick of the college have announced that they expect an increase in enrollment when the fall session opens. All ward school pupils will report to their respective buildings tomorrow at 10 o'clock, according to Superintendent Cluck. The schools will go through the routine of enrollment and issuing of books. Many of the high school pupils enrolled during last week. Their registration will be completed Monday, according to Principal H. Brandon.

School Buses Added

The addition of two school buses is expected to account for about 50 more students in the high school. The buses will bring in approximately 100 pupils from outlying districts. At the same time, the increase in the city's population since last year probably will help to swell the enrollment. At Randolph President McKissick and his faculty have been working hard all summer to bring more students to the college. They have covered much of the state in their efforts and are looking forward to an unusually large attendance. Dr. McKissick, although having once before been president of the school, heads it for the first time since it has been in Cisco. Dr. Lee Clark is dean, H. R. Garrett, business manager, and E. B. Isaacs registrar.

Public School Teachers

Public school teachers for the 1935-36 session, as announced by the school board Saturday night, are the following: H. Brandon, E. C. Pennington, C. C. Duff, Dexter Shelley, J. M. Bird, Miss Lucine Lewis, Miss Elizabeth Daniel, Miss Nellie Yunk, Mrs. Lucretia Trby, Miss Marion Chambliss, Miss Ella Andres, Miss Travis Watson, Miss Ida Mae Collins, Robert L. Maddox, Clyde Van Sickle, Miss Lucille Robinson, Paul Barton, O. L. Stamey, Mrs. O. L. Stamey, Miss Esther Bradshaw, Mrs. Lela Mason, Mrs. E. L. Hazlewood, Miss Fannie Stevens, Mrs. Lucille Gragg, Howard H. Goss, Arlin Birt, Mrs. Hazel Preston Bailey, Miss Dorothy Kramer, Miss Wilma Mason, Miss Attie Stevens, Mrs. R. E. Grantham, Miss Ruby Rae Swift, Miss Myrtle Estes, Miss Byrd Bacon, Mrs. Irene Hallmark, Mrs. Callie McAfee, Mrs. Graham, Connelly, Mrs. T. C. Williams, T. C. Williams, Miss Lucy Kittrell, Miss Lucille Sprull, Miss Frances Bowen, and Abigail Love Haley, colored.

SCUTTLING OF WPA PROGRAM IS PROTESTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. — Decision of work relief officials to scuttle most of the $900,000,000 public works program drew heavy fire today from political subdivisions and from labor. Six hundred North Carolina public officials organized under two U. S. senators, one congressman, and the governor to protest against the action. Labor leaders have openly agitated strikes against the "security" wages ranging from $19 to $25 a month offered workers in lieu of prevailing rates paid on PWA projects. Dissention over the program made it apparent that Work Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins, who holds the purse strings to the $4-1,000,000,000 employment fund would allow no more than $250,000,000 to PWA.

WEATHER

West Texas — Mostly cloudy, probably local showers in north and east portions, cooler in panhandle. East Texas — Cloudy, local showers Sunday.

State Park Plans Move Forward

The state park project advanced a little this week with Congressman Thomas L. Blanton promising the city to aid in securing an early location of the CCC camp sought to build the park.

The congressman had been told by the Cisco Boosters and the Chamber of Commerce that the camp's early location here is necessary if the park is to be in use in time for the Texas Centennial celebration next year.

The Boosters had prepared a booklet which was sent to the congressman and which contained a description of the park site, a map of the canyon area, and a description of resources here. A letter contained in the booklet and signed by Mayor J. T. Berry, President Charles Hale of the Chamber of Commerce, and Secretary H. C. Bailey of the Cisco Boosters showed the urgent need of a camp here.

A letter from Congressman Blanton in Washington to the mayor promised the former's aid in securing such a camp.

At the same time a project calling for the construction of a recreation building at the entrance of the park has received the approval of district WPA headquarters at Abilene and has been sent to San Antonio, state headquarters. If it is approved there it will be forwarded to Washington for final action.

The recreation building would cost $13,737.91, of which $9,786.74 would be furnished by the Works Progress Administration.

President Roosevelt has recently approved a project to construct a park of 5.6 acres below the swimming pool. The project will be at a cost of $5,077, of which $4,310 will be furnished by the federal government.

These projects, when connected with the greater park project, will mean much toward bringing tourists here for the Centennial celebration. With one project given final approval, one given district approval, and Representative Blanton promising to use his influence to secure an early location of a CCC camp here, the city's park plans are progressing and citizens can look forward to a worthwhile participation in the Centennial.

The Opening of School

Doors through which they have not passed for three months tomorrow will swing open for boys and girls of Cisco when they return to school for the 1935-36 school year.

Both the public schools and Randolph Junior College are looking forward to a great year, both in the matter of large attendance and in educational efficiency.

A larger attendance is expected in the public school system, with approximately 50 additional pupils in the high school resulting from the two new buses which will bring them in from eight outlying districts. The buses will bring in about 100 boys and girls of high school grades, of whom approximately 50 would have attended the Cisco school anyway. At the same time, the increase in population here will account for more students.

The school board and Superintendent R. N. Cluck have been working hard this summer to have an outstanding school of the state when the term opens. The matter of teacher selection has been carefully considered, as well as other factors involved in the educational setup.

Some time ago Dr. J. T. McKissick of Marfa was made president of Randolph college, replacing Dr. David F. Tyndall, who resigned to devote more time to his work as head of the school's Bible department and pastor of the First Christian church. Dr. Lee Clark was named dean, H. R. Garrett business manager, and E. B. Isaacks registrar. The rest of the faculty likewise was carefully chosen, most of it from the old staff, with a view of building the school to an enviable position in Texas education.

When it opens tomorrow the college will be looking forward to one of the best years it has ever enjoyed. President McKissick and his faculty have been working hard during the summer months to bring more students here for this session and have covered much of the state in doing so.

The president of the college has announced that his policy will be to include a thorough background as preparation for college work to follow.

Patrons of Cisco schools and Randolph college, as their boys and girls return to their studies tomorrow, can know that they will be assured of the very best in education which any city of this size, or for that matter, many cities of much greater size, can give to them.

Completion of Recovery Program

President Roosevelt Friday made an announcement which many business men of the country have been awaiting for a long time when he announced that the administration's program of reform and recovery has reached "substantial completion" and that the "breathing spell" which they have been asking for is here.

His announcement, in a letter to Roy W. Howard of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, said that he and the congress had believed that the conditions facing them in 1932 had made it necessary for them to take drastic and far reaching action, but that the time had come when business could "get into the game" and go forward.

The "breathing spell" of which Howard had spoken in a letter to the president is here—decidedly so—the letter from the chief executive said. It now remains for business to "get back into the game," as Howard predicted it would. Just to show that business believed what Mr. Roosevelt said, stocks jumped from one to four points, on the New York market.

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—Dave Nelson of Orange, visitor in Austin this week, three times in the past, has been offered the post of general manager of the Texas prison system. Reports this week that he will be elected to succeed Manager Lee Simmons, resigned effective Oct. 1, have proven entirely accurate.

To accept the place, Mr. Nelson reluctantly will give up his present state post as chairman of the livestock sanitary commission. Nelson formerly served on the board. This year he succeeded in getting a grant of $800,000, federal money to supplement state appropriations for the tick-eradication campaign of the livestock commission, and has the program far toward completion.

Ernest Goens, wisely-known Tyler world war veteran, will take over the rudder of the American Legion in Texas immediately after the legion's national convention. He will succeed H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling, one of the most aggressive of recent state commanders.

The two men together will share honors for achieving the goal of an American Legion Centennial museum, as the peculiar contribution of the two men together.

Trade is like a river and, as a river cannot flow undisturbed unless its course is comparatively free of obstruction, so business cannot flow freely when it is obstructed by heavy taxes and unusual regulation and fear for the future.

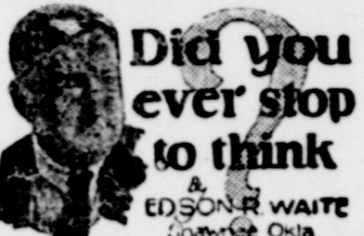

The normal law of supply and demand is interfered with, the sooner we will enter an era of prosperity. It is not good to deny natural laws their operations and the less interference with the exchange of commodities, the better.

Individual efforts to restore trade does not do much good. It takes mass effort. At the present time much can be done to cultivate a spirit of friendliness and not shoot fear into business in extra large doses. The sooner that is done the better it will be for all.

Fear gets us nowhere. Courage and cooperation will get us somewhere.

OUT OUR WAY

STILL LIFE.

WHITEWING TO BE PROTECTED BY NEW LAWS

McALLEN, Sept. 7.—The wily whitewing choice game bird of South Texas, will be as much sought after during the present hunting season as during many past seasons, but he will have a better chance to survive because of the many legal protection thrown up to prevent his extermination.

The whitewing season usually opens the winter hunting season in the brushland and backwoods sections of the Valley and the bird is hunted early and late because it is a choice article of food and because he is one of the most sporting of all game birds.

The whitewing is a fairly small, gray bird, with stripes of white feathers, as the name indicates, on his wings. Before the hunting season opens, he feeds where he pleases, usually flying low and staying near his nest.

Swift Target
Flying at bullet-like speed, the white wing presents a target that is difficult to hit. Even when wounded, he will flutter into a bush and lie so still that a hunter without a dog may never find him.

Deputy State Game Warden Charley Jones of Weslaco, who is anxious to see hunters get their legal game quotas as he is to establish bird and game sanctuaries, has 5,000,000 acres to patrol this season. With his own deputies and the assistance of county officers up and down the border, he will seek to maintain the new regulations designed to prevent South Texas' most famous game bird from extinction.

Because of the great number of birds killed recently the whitewing is now found in large flocks only in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Under the new law, the open season for the bird begins Sept. 1 and ends Oct. 1. No hunter is allowed to kill more than 30 birds during the entire season, nor more than 15 birds in any one day.

LYDIA AND PRISCILLA

(Christian Women in Industrial Life)

Text: Acts 16:11-15; 18:1-3, 24-28
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 8.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

THE place and power of women in the early Christian church stand out plainly from the records of the New Testament. The fact is all the more remarkable when one realizes that the church was not free from the general attitude toward women that was prevalent in surrounding society.

Paul, if we have an authoritative record of his words, was not particularly progressive at this point. Speaking in meeting and performing other functions in the church were things that pertained to men only, and Paul would seem to have gone out of his way about this business of "keeping women in their place."

Nevertheless, Paul was not a despiser or a disparager of women. He recognized their force of character, and he welcomed their cooperation in his early work. Possibly Paul attached a great deal of importance to ways in which women could serve and do good, short of speaking in public.

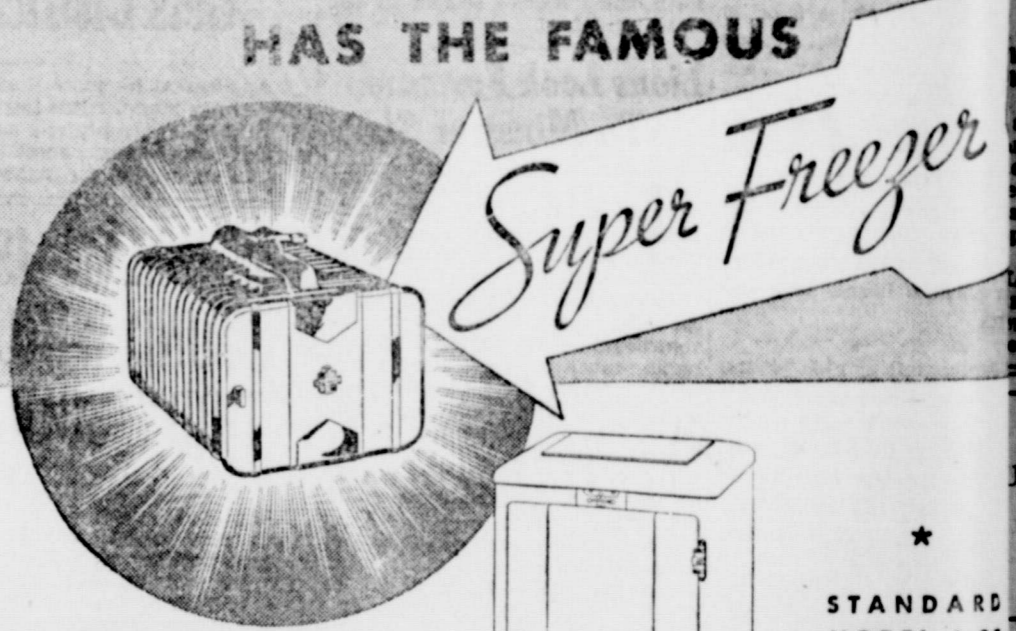

At any rate, here in our lesson we have an interesting portrait of two women who were active in industrial life—women apparently of very great ability who were the precursors of the place in the church that women have represented in devotion and service.

Lydia was a seller of purple in the city of Thyatira. When the Christian religion took hold of her, it opened not only her heart but her home.

Paul's meeting with Lydia was interesting. From the city of Philippi he had gone outside the gate by the riverside in a place where people were wont to gather for prayer. There he and his companions found a number of women.

CITY DRUG COMPANY
452 LEON MANER, Prop. Cisco

BIG DAM CHATTER

The story Leon Maner told to Friday's Daily News reminded him of a flock of his favorite grid yarns. And when that druggist-sportsman gets started on sports stories, there just isn't any heading him off, especially when those listening are just as interested in the tales as he is.

"One of the funniest sights I ever saw on a football field," Maner said, "happened when Cisco was playing somebody. Cleburne, I think."

"Cisco had the ball, fourth down and goal to go. The Lobos called Honk Irwin into the backfield to carry the ball in an off-tackle rush. Honk got back there, all set for the run when the ball was snapped and he started on one of those terrific runs as only he could make them."

"He was so intent on making that run, though, that he missed the ball. He went crashing across the line of scrimmage and across the goal line standing up, but there was the ball, ten yards back behind him where nobody had ever touched it."

Honk was one of the great grid stars who brightened the Oil Belt firmament back in the early twenties and then went on to greater glories.

Coming to Cisco from Stamford in 1924, Honk was placed at left tackle where he stepped everything else back and every other opposing team could drive at him. But he was a punter. During his career at Cisco he did the kicking for the Lobos and got off some great spirals that traveled high and far down the field.

When Cisco played Cleburne here for the bi-district championship in 1925, Honk covered himself with glory. Cleburne also had two great kickers, Squires and Bratcher. Squires was a punter who specialized in low kicks at a given mark that gave the opposing safety men a lot of trouble, especially if the wind happened to be against him. Bratcher was a place kicker who also played tackle.

The game was a kicking battle from the beginning. When Cleburne got the ball Squires booted it far down the field and the Cleburne ends nailed the Cisco safety. Then Honk booted it back. Finally Cleburne got a break and Bratcher, far back and nearly to the sideline, kicked a field goal that really started the fireworks.

One time the Cleburne boys pressed Cisco a little too hard and backed them up to their own goal line on one of Squires' fine kicks. Things looked black for the home team and the quarterback called on Honk the Reliable. Honk came out of the line, got as far into the end zone as he could without stepping out, and took the pass back from center.

Then he stepped forward and apparently booted the ball no harder than usual. But that pigskin started off in a long spiral that went over the safety man's head. It hit rolling the right way, and when it came to rest as a Lobo killed it, it had traveled just 39 yards and had put the Yellow Jackets behind the proverbial eight-ball, just as the Lobos had been a moment before.

Honk was like that. He could be depended on to deliver the goods when it was needed. When the Lobos went to Dallas in 1924 to play a great team of Oak Cliff Leopards in the state semi-finals, it was Honk who did not get stage fright. He was one of the few men who kept driving into the team that placed five men on the all-state and time after time stopped the advance of the Blue and White. There were others, too, especially on offense, of course, but Honk that day stood out as the greatest lineman in the state.

Heavy—he at one time weighed 216 pounds—Honk was fast enough to carry the ball on off-tackle drives and end runs. He was spectacular, gashing down the field and grabbing at the orange colored baseball cap he wore—he would have nothing to do with a helmet.

Ending his high school and college career, Honk started playing professional football in the east. At first he was used at fullback because of his defensive and kicking ability. Later, however, he was not used as a kicker at all but played in the backfield because he was a defensive man, a great blocker, and a ball logger. He played last season with the New York Giants, pride of the east.

WASHINGTON U 11 IS STRONG THIS SEASON

By T. W. KIENLEN
United Press Staff correspondent

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 7.—A broad-shouldered man with a shock of iron-grey hair sits each day at a desk in the athletic office of Washington University and studies lists of names and charts marked with strange hieroglyphics.

The man is Jimmy Conzelman, eminently successful football coach at Washington. The hieroglyphics are the plays he plans to give his 1935 squad when practice starts.

Conzelman took full charge of football at Washington in 1932 after the Bears had completed the worst cycle in their gridiron history.

However, things began to change and the 1932 season was an improvement over 1931. In 1933 the Bears began the climb that in two years has placed them in a position to challenge for national gridiron honors.

Vast Improvement Shown
Last fall the team was better. Washington played good games against Illinois and Kansas and although it lost—12-7 to Illinois and 12-0 to Kansas—the team showed enough for critics to rate them as one of the most improved teams in the country.

This year's schedule follows:
Sept. 27—McKendree at home.
Oct. 5—Illinois at Champaign.
Oct. 12—Southern Methodist at home.
Oct. 19—Duquesne at Pittsburgh.
Oct. 26—Michigan State at Lansing.

Special to Daily News
COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 7.—A husky new coaching staff, a remnant of nine lettermen and enough other players to make sixty candidates all told, are ready to Texas Aggie grid practice early Tuesday morning. Although already seemingly related to the Southwestern conference second division by virtue of all pre-season guessers the Card stronghold still maintains a big spirit of optimism.

"Our team should be better, much better, than last year," Coach Homer Norton said, adding laughingly, "In some departments it could possibly be worse." But he added more seriously, "we may surprise some of the other boys."

LOOK FOR THE FORD SIGN

THE Ford Motor Company very early decided that good service was as necessary as correct design and efficient manufacturing.

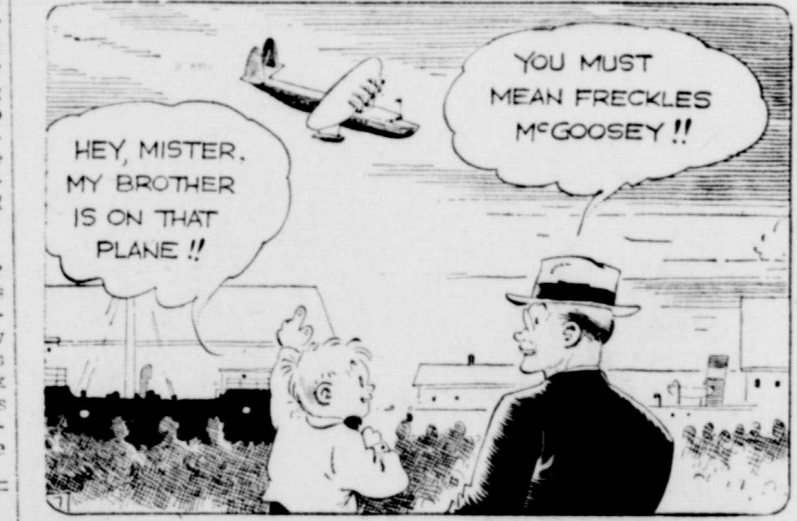

To give you service that measures up to factory requirements, Ford dealers' mechanics are factory trained. The modern, efficient equipment they use, such as the Ford Laboratory Test Set, saves you time and money. Charges are low, because uniform flat rates prevail. Perhaps one of the most noteworthy savings has been effected through the Ford Factory Engine Exchange Plan, which eliminates the old-fashioned costly overhaul.

Today we believe that Ford dealers and those garages which display the "Genuine Ford Parts" sign combine to provide the most complete, most satisfactory type of service available anywhere. Use these facilities and get the utmost in performance and economy from your Ford car or truck.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS

Your Ford dealer always lubricates your Ford in accordance with factory specifications. He has the modern equipment and skilled mechanics necessary to do good work.

Typical of the modern, scientific equipment used by Ford service stations is the Laboratory Test Set, which quickly and accurately checks engine and electrical performance.

At less cost than an old-fashioned overhaul, you can exchange your present Ford engine for a factory-reconditioned cylinder assembly. Many other units are also included in this service.

One O'Clock Luncheon Friday Marks The Fall Opening of Twentieth Century Club

A one o'clock luncheon on the roof garden of the Laguna Hotel Friday, marked the fall opening of the Twentieth Century club.

The tables were centered with lovely bowls of fall blossoms over reflectors. Goldenrods, the club flower, were blended with plematis in portraying the club color, gold and white. Places for the guests were marked with miniature sail boats of pecans carrying golden sails.

Mrs. E. P. Crawford, club president, was toastmistress for the afternoon. Mrs. F. C. LeVeaux delivered the invocation after which the president gave the welcome address. Mrs. A. E. Jamison was presented in two vocal numbers, "Danny Boy" and "Lullaby" by Gramms. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. S. E. Hittson. Mrs. Crawford presented the future president, Mrs. Charles Brown, who gave a short talk on plans and hopes for the coming two years. Mrs. J. C. McAfee directed attention to the railroads, giving a short discussion, after which she gave passports to each guest. The passports revealed individual descriptions with a pink sketch of that person. This clever thought was received with interest and enthusiasm and the sketches, drawn by Miss Vivian Kilpatrick, were easily distinguished.

Present were: Mesdames J. T. Anderson, Charles Brown, J. R. Cate, E. P. Crawford, J. B. Curry, C.

H. Fee, George P. Fee, S. E. Hittson, C. C. Jones, J. C. McAfee, K. H. Pittard, P. Pettit, William Reagon, Hubert Seale, John Shertzer, Alex Spears, C. R. West, Alfred Irby, F. C. ## MALARIA NOW PREVALENT!

Kill the Disease in the Blood!

Malaria mosquitoes are flying thick this year and biting right and left. Many persons are being infected and going down with the dread disease.

Be on your guard! Treated promptly and intelligently, malaria can be quickly checked and you won't have to go through the terrible suffering—the teeth-chattering chills and the burning fever.

At the first sign of any attack of malaria, adopt these intelligent measures.

Watch Diet!
Eat light foods, preferably liquids, such as fruit juices, milk, soups, etc. Keep your bowels open by using a mild cathartic if necessary.

After meals, and before going to bed, take a tablespoonful of Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. (Children smaller doses, as the directions say.)

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is a noted remedy for malaria. It contains quinine and tasteless quinine, and iron. The two—the tasteless quinine and the iron—are contained in the form of a pleasant syrup that even children take willingly.

Quinine, as you know, is the only specific for malaria and in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic you get quinine in tasteless form, without the bitterness. Combined with the tasteless quinine, you get IRON!

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is not a mere palliative. It is a definite treatment for malaria and the accompanying chills and fever! It attacks the infection in the blood and that is the only way to get rid of the disease.

Besides its remedial action, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has a tonic effect of great value in overcoming the ravages of malaria. You pick up much faster.

Taken during the malaria season, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is an excellent preventive measure. It will do much to combat infection. Many take a tablespoonful or two a day as a protection.

Play Safe!
Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is no new or untried preparation. It has been in use for nearly half a century and its harmlessness has been proven. This is a point to remember when you hear about, or are offered, some "magical" new preparation. The "cure" may be worse than the disease.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic may be given even to little children—that's how harmless it is! Keep that in mind when taking a medicine for malaria.

All drug stores sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic in two sizes—50c and $1.00. The dollar size is by far the more economical. Adopt the course of wisdom and get a bottle today.

ASSURES PAUL-GULF RIVER TRAFFIC

T. W. KIENLEN
Press Staff Correspondent
LOUIS, Sept. 7.—Hemp locks, coffee from Brazil, and other items some day will change the length of the Mississippi from New Orleans to destinations in Paul, Minn., and numerous other parts of 26 above St. Louis.

Construction of 26 dams and construction locks at intervals along the Mississippi will change the river into a stream of variable depths, which at times commercial traffic almost stops entirely, into an all-year-round navigable stream.

The government plans to spend $200,000 on the construction of 26 dams and locks—seven of which are completed—and when they are finished a sufficient depth of water will be available at all points to allow continuous passage of freight and passenger boats into the upper reaches of the Mississippi.

mense project is that above St. Louis the stage of water is not, and never has been, reliable. In some spots it is more than ample, in others it is too wide and too thin in time of drouth. Recurring chains of rocks add to this hazard but surveys have located each chain and these twenty-six locks will successfully eliminate this stumbling block to navigation.

Traffic Forced to Halt
Cargoes and towboats last year traveled regularly on their established routes until the spring freshets dried out. Then a temporary embargo—that later became permanent—was declared. This season there has been a big improvement, but until the entire series of locks and dams is completed, river traffic will not be dependable.

Major Malcolm Elliot of the Army Engineering Corps is in charge of the entire project and he is enthusiastic over its possibilities. "The upper river project," he said recently, "is primarily one of putting the stream in a position to do its job efficiently and without delay. It is not a matter complicated with either power or flood control."

And this is what the average layman doesn't know. Except for Number 19—Keokuk Dam—none of the dams have the remotest connection with power supply. They are there simply to increase the navigability of the river.

As an example of the cost for a single unit in the 26-dam chain, the Alton locks will cost $3,950,000. The job was started in September of 1934, and is to be completed in September of 1936. This is the same time allotment of each of the 26 units, approximately.

STEER SQUAD ANXIOUS FOR GRID SEASON

Special to Daily News
AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—Straining at their leashes Saturday were some 50 odd bronzed and husky University of Texas Longhorn football aspirants, eagerly awaiting the first call to arms which Coach Jack Chevigny will issue next Tuesday.

and the throng will likely be swelled to about 90 by Sept. 10, the day on which Conference Fathers say practice may officially be opened. The majority of the athletes, fresh from the oil fields, highway construction jobs or other hard summer labors, appeared to be in the condition and every man in the group seemed to be ready to adopt the routine of training prescribed for the three weeks prior to the opening game here with Texas A. & I. college on Sept. 28. Lettermen, squaddies and sophomores were gathered in clumps about the stadium, gymnasium and campus, discussing the possibilities of the Longhorns in the Conference flag chase as well as their own chances of being in the starting lineup.

Experienced Men
The old men who were eager to don their uniforms, some of them for the last time, included: Harold Griffin, center; Capt. Joe Smart, Moreland Chapman and Woodrow Weir, guards; Clint Small and James Tolbert, tackles; Harris Vandant and Jack Collins, ends; Charles Johnston, Ney Sheridan, Buster Jurecka, James Hadlock, Irvin Gilbreath, Bill Pitzer, and Jay Arnold, backs.

While this group appears to be a good nucleus around which Coach Chevigny is to build the 1935 team, the absence of Bohn Hilliard et al leaves quite a gap in the supply of experienced material available. The eight men lost by graduation and the two by eligibility, Hugh Wolfe and Louis Olivier, constitute probably the heaviest loss of valuable performers to any team in the Southwest conference.

Many Sophomores
Despite these losses the Longhorn coaches will be greeted by a large group of eager squaddies and sophomores. The squaddies are: Bill Hughes, center; Bill Huff and J. B. Goodson, tackles; John Henderson and Milton Curtis, guards; Joe Bleymaier, Homer Tippen, Walton Launey, and Paul Taylor, ends; Neville Hargrave, Judson Chidlow and Jack Woodward, backs.

In the sophomore group, where stars are found every year, there are such promising men as: Bill Dunne and Howard Terry, centers; Alvin Eggleing, John King and Vincent Vallone, guards; Matt Burns, Hagan McMahon, Robert Keeling, Tarleton Jones and James Maedgen, tackles; Dave Kaine, Joe Roach, Warren Wagins and James Vess, ends; Ed Strout, Morris Sands, Henry Breaker, Judson Atchison, Nick Mittermayer, Harry Reading, Nick Wheeler, John Morrow, Frank O'Rourke, and several other backs.

INTERESTS WOMAN
SAUGUS, Mass.—Mrs. Lucinda Hills, who recently celebrated her 104th birthday anniversary still wants to go up in an airplane. Mrs. Hills, in good health, thinks jazz music and crooning is a "lot of sentimental trash."

BREADLINE TO CLOSE
SEATTLE—Seattle stray dogs and cats must find another breadline when Mrs. Margaret Murray leaves on a trip to Europe. For nearly a year she fed all comers. Dogs got their food in front of Mrs. Murray's house, cats at the rear. They never fought.

LAUREL, HARDY ARE SCOTCH IN NEW LAUGH HIT

"Bonnie Scotland" opening today at the Ideal theatre, is rated as the funniest and most ambitious of the feature-length comedies co-starring Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy.

With a wee bit of delightful romance and heaps of good old-fashioned Laurel and Hardy hilarity, the production serves to bring the two famous funsters together again after a brief separation which, for a while, threatened to end disastrously for their legion of fans throughout the world.

With Scotland and India as the background for most of the action—of which there is plenty—the story advances through seven reels of almost continuous laughs, punctuated occasionally by a smile or a sigh. For there is a sprinkling of pretty romance in this sparkling presentation—a love story interpreted by June Lang and William Janney, two screen youngsters of unusual promise.

Finist in Recitment

But it is Laurel and Hardy—the Laurel and Hardy of old—who make this Hal Roach-M-G-M picture an outstanding evening's entertainment. Earning the greater part of the picture, the boys frolic through their inimitable scenes in the characters of Scotch Highlanders, attired in kilts and otherwise bedecked in the manner of the "laddies from hell." This strange departure from their usual habit is wrought when Stan and Olive inadvertently enlist in the Scotch regiment while visiting Scotland to claim a share in a fortune left by Stan's wealthy uncle.

Assigned to patrol duty in the desert wastes of India, the boys encounter adventure in the raw, so to speak. Spiced with a number of new and hilariously funny gags, "Bonnie Scotland" offers a laugh, festival par excellence for young and old alike.

Among others in the cast are Anne Gray, Vernon Steele, David Terrence, Jimmy Finlayson, Maurice Black, Daphne Pollard, Mary Gordon and Lionel Belmore. The story is an original by Frank Butler and Jeff Moffitt. James W. Horne directed.

SUEZ CANAL GIVES HINT OF PERILS INLAND

PORT SAID, Egypt, Sept. 7.—Life on the isthmus of Suez hangs on a thin thread of water running to the Nile 150 miles away.

Passengers on liners in the canal are struck first by all the things they have read about, bumps, fezzes, veiled women, by methodical camels and the lucky fellows who dive for coins.

Water Problem Evident

All drinking water except for those who can afford the bottled European article, comes from it. It is a brief introduction to the water problem facing Italy in East Africa.

Leaving Port Said for the south, the main canal cuts straight for Kantara, terminus of the railway to Jerusalem. The Bible city is only 16 hours across the desert, and from the costumes and activities of the natives along the canal, Bible times might be only 10 years ago.

The high cut Arabian bank of the canal gives directly onto the desert, which extends without break eight hundred miles east to the Persian Gulf and twice as far to the Indian Ocean in the south. The only travelers on this bank are the camel squads of the canal's patrol force.

Vegetation Follows Canal

The opposite bank boasts shrubs, grass and even trees at the central station every few miles. It is due to the fresh water canal 50 feet away running parallel to the shipping lane. Where it leaves the main canal, the fresh water stream can be traced to the western horizon by the vegetation which follows it through the desert.

At Ismailia halfway to Suez, where the canal widens to a lake of salt water, the fresh water canal has made possible European trees and gardens, tennis courts and a golf course—all sandtrap but none the less popular.

Vegetation on the Red Sea ends at Suez, and the shores are dusty mountains without a sign of life. At Suez, dimly visible through the haze from the boat, there is a monastery. Then the sea widens, the shores fall away over the horizon, and there is nothing left but the heat.

Elaine wrote, "Dear John McNeill . . . I'd adore seeing you again."

and a bunch of letters held together with a rubber band.

Fingering the letters with interest before laying them down, Hortense remarked, "From the Prince of Wales, I suppose. Or Robert Montgomery."

Elaine remained silent. "No," she answered, "Just from Teddy Van Harrington." Both she and Hortense knew that for their particular requirements the Van Harrington scion was the most desirable of men. The deb's delight. The deb's mother's ultimate goal.

Teddy was just 25 and, thanks to a dozen high-powered tutors, now possessed a sheerskin from Harvard and a reputation for brains in addition to his immense wealth. Within the last five years his father's trusty checkbook had rescued Teddy from three scheming actresses and a night club hostess. When Teddy announced himself engaged to Elaine Chalmers, Higate Deal's domineering, level-headed stepdaughter who had money of her own, the elder Van Harrington swore with relief. He figured the marriage might last five or six years, with any luck at all, and in that time Teddy would grow up.

Elaine was considerably older at 20 than was Teddy at 23. She had already decided to marry him, but because she did not love him in the least she subconsciously decided to make as many men miserable as possible. This complex, actuated by the activities of her indolent college sorority and abetted by her piquant beauty, her afternoon at Graycastle.

"What about your plans for the Ohio campaign?" asked Hortense casually.

"I've put things in motion," Elaine told her. "I wrote to the old caretaker—Penny, we call her—and told her I wanted to come on for a week's rest. I haven't written to the victim himself."

"Can't you ask him on here for a house party instead of going out there?" suggested Hortense.

"I've considered that," Elaine answered, "but I don't think I could swing it. This chap must be all of 24 years old now and is probably tied to a job. In a letter Penny wrote my mother last year, she mentioned that he still lives next door with his mother, so I guess he isn't married. His mother and mine were childhood friends."

"What's he like?" inquired Hortense, struggling with anarchy paste and a cracker.

"Try to remember that I haven't seen him since I was a child," Elaine answered crossly, "and that I was too young to be very thick with him. He's apt to be attractive. The virile type. He always liked boys better than girls, I recall. I must cure him of that."

"Oh," said Hortense, lighting a cigarette. She saw that Elaine wished to close the subject. "Let's talk that a pimple on your nose, darling."

"I hardly think so," Elaine replied, stealing a worried look in the mirror. "I've just been wondering, Hortense, why you don't diet. Your figure was gorgeous last year—"

WITH this exchange of civilities the two friends kissed and parted. A few moments later Elaine sat down at her desk and wrote the following letter which Hortense's questions had inspired:

"Dear John McNeill: Here's a letter from 'the pesky brat' (you once called me that!) who used to admire you so extravagantly—time out here while you look for my name at end of letter—

"The idea is this. I'm at college at Graycastle now and am planning to run off during fall vacation for a visit to mother's old home which used to be, and I hope still is, the house next door to you. I had such fun there when I was a kid that I've always wanted to go back. Just a while, but I can't seem to get away from it. I suppose it will be a disappointing visit since we can never recapture the old childhood spirit, but at least I'm going to attempt it. It would help a lot to find one familiar face there besides Penny's. In short, when I arrive will you come through the althea hedge and greet me in the old garden? I'd adore seeing you again and talking over old times. You'll find me aged though not decrepit. "Otherwise the same Elaine Chalmers."

"P. S. (Of course there would have to be one.) Do you remember how you turned out the entire neighborhood to look for your Eagle Scout badge? Well, I had stolen it for purely sentimental reasons. I hid it in the old globe to the library. Maybe it's still there, E. C. (unrepentant)."

When she had addressed the envelope she looked through her desk for a stamp, failed to find it, swore softly and lighted a cigarette. Presently she noticed the time, picked up her Italian grammar and sauntered out to her next class.

The letter to John McNeill was to lie on her desk for a few days unnoticed. Until Fate was ready for it.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

SALVAGE those late tomatoes before frost and make some good old-fashioned green tomato ketchup and piccalilli.

Don't forget how good they are fried, either. Choose good sized tomatoes and cut them in slices about 3/8 of an inch thick. Sprinkle each slice lightly with sugar, salt and pepper and dip in fine cracker crumbs. Dip in egg slightly beaten with a little cold water and roll again in crumbs. Fry in butter until brown, first on one side and then on the other.

And then there's green tomato mince meat which many consider quite as good as regular mince meat. Anyway, it's not as rich and expensive to make.

Green Tomato Mince Meat

One peck green tomatoes, 3 lemons, 2 cups seeded raisins, 1 cup currants, 1-2 pound citron, 1 cup chopped suet, 4 pounds light brown sugar, 1-2 cups vinegar, 2 tablespoons powdered cinnamon, 1 tablespoon powdered cloves, 1 tablespoon allspice, 1 tablespoon salt.

Wash tomatoes and cut out stem ends and any blemishes. Put through food chopper. Place in a large crock, sprinkling 1 cup salt through them. Let stand three hours. Drain over night through colander and discard juice. Squeeze juice from lemons and put rind through food chopper. Add juice, lemon rind, vinegar and suet to tomatoes in preserving kettle. Bring to the boiling point and cook fifteen minutes. Add sugar, raisins and spices and bring again to the boil.

It was the Texan who exposed the navy's official memorandum branding the Federal Council of Churches, National Council for Prevention of War, and Women's International League, Jane Addams, Clarence Darrow, and Sherwood Eddy as Communist or "Communist-minded."

MARCANTONIO was campaign manager for Fiorello LaGuardia when LaGuardia was beaten for reelection to Congress in 1932. Then LaGuardia ran for New York mayor and Vito ran for Fiorello's old House seat. Campaigning for each other, both won and Marcantonio is regarded as a worthy successor to LaGuardia, who became the most effective independent leader in the House.

A member of the Labor committee, Marcantonio is radical in his demands for labor. He led a brilliant but unsuccessful battle against compulsory military training in colleges and managed to block the Dickstein alien deportation bill. He led the unsuccessful revolt for a tax bill soaking all incomes above $5000 and raising the administration ante on big inheritances, incomes and corporations.

If there's a future for radicalism, Marcantonio has a big future.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grapes, cereal, cream, fried green tomatoes, cinnamon toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Green peppers stuffed with fish, rye bread, piccalilli, orange rice pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER: Veal stew with dumplings, spinach with hard cooked eggs, Chinese cabbage and tomato salad, grape juice Bavarian cream, milk, coffee.

Piccalilli

One peck green tomatoes, 3 sweet red peppers, 2 onions, 1-2 cup salt, 2 cups brown sugar, 1 quart vinegar, 2 tablespoons celery seed, 4 tablespoons mustard seed, 1-2 teaspoon pepper.

Wash tomatoes and put through food chopper. Sprinkle with salt and let stand two hours. Add onions, peeled and put through the food chopper and let mixture drain through colander over night. Discard juice. In the morning add peppers seeded and chopped and remaining ingredients. Put in preserving kettle and bring to the boiling point. Boil fifteen minutes and put into hot sterilized cans. Seal and store in a dark, cool place. One small head of cabbage may be chopped and added with the peppers.

SCHOOL bells will be ringing again in a few days, and in many homes school lunch boxes must be packed five mornings out of the week. The lunch-box may merely supplement a hot soup or hot drink which is supplied by the school cafeteria, or it may furnish the whole noon meal. But if you would avoid monotony and furnish wholesome lunches, you will soon discover that you must plan four meals a day in place of the usual three.

The packing of the lunch kit is of almost as great importance as the lunch itself. If plenty of waxed paper, paper napkins, tiny waxed cardboard containers and small paper baking cups and picnic spoons are conveniently at hand, the task is lightened and neatness assured. Well-wrapped foods stay fresh and appetizing, but a carelessly packed lunch can be pretty bad.

Neatness Aids Appetites

Always consider the personal likes and dislikes of a child. Girls thrive on daintiness. Boys are rather ashamed of this feminine preference and want man-size sandwiches and cookies. But neatness and order appeal to all children.

The age of the child is important, too. Children under 12 require a different sort of lunch than that prepared for the high-school girl or boy.

If there is not a cafeteria in the school to furnish a hot drink or soup, this should be carried in a thermos bottle. The hot food aids digestion and does much to relieve nerve strain.

Of course the sandwich is the mainstay of the lunch box and must be concocted to furnish much food value. Make use of the infinite variety of breads as well as the many sandwich fillings in order to avoid monotony. Try to combine meat with grated and minced vegetables such as carrots, lettuce and celery in sandwich fillings. The combination gains both food value and piquancy. Always butter both slices of bread.

Vegetables for Bulk

Carefully wrapped celery, radishes, carrot straws and hearts of cauliflower give balance to the lunch by supplying bulk and crispness to a diet that is apt to be concentrated and soft.

Next to the sandwich in importance is the dessert. Fresh fruit always is desirable and easy to pack. Then there are cookies, cup cakes, individual baked custards and firm tapioca puddings to add to the list. When you pack the lunch kit, put the dessert in first. This way the child eats down to it and gets his entire lunch as you want him to have it. Otherwise the dessert may be eaten first.

ONE-DIVE DIVING TOWER

There is no climbing back for another dive in this aquatic feat. Janet Hughes, of Seattle, is shown starting her dive from the shoulders of Ray Daughters, noted swimming coach, as they are towed by a speeding motorboat on Lake Washington.

JAPAN PUSHES RETAIL TRADE AMONG FRENCH

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN

PARIS, Sept. 7.—The Japanese salesman, brief case in hand is canvassing the French empire.

The metropolitan territories and the French possessions of Algeria and Morocco are the chief grounds for the trade invasion from the Far East.

To these territories Japan has sent a vast army of salesmen to peddle the multifarious goods which Japan manufactures and which are easily portable and appeal to the popular public taste. How many of these emissaries from the Nippon empire sail from east to west in search of commercial works to conquer could be checked nominally if they were all Japanese.

Frontiers Closely Watched This is because the emigration of the Japanese salesman or immigrant to points west of Suez are controlled, as all European countries have a strict watch on their ports to prevent foreign labor, especially unrepaid labor, from penetrating their frontiers.

But the Japanese merchant has been wise in seeking new European and North African markets. He has employed salesmen of French nationality.

In French Indo-China, it is known the Japanese have recruited their salesmen for the French empire. As French nationals, these trade emissaries can go almost anywhere in French territory.

In equipment all they require is a cheap suitcase in which to stock their wares. For nourishment, all they ask is a little rice each day. Therefore, for salary they need only a few francs profit each day.

Goods at Low Prices All over France these peddlers of eastern wares can be found. They offer trinkets of all descriptions. Leather handbags for women, purses for men, cigarette cases, cigarette lighters, cigarette holders, ties which could be sold no where in the world at cheaper prices; imitation jewelry; silk goods which appeal to the cager eye of French women; cotton goods for the North African trade and a multitude of other articles.

In Morocco, where France has a protectorate, the Japanese can send their goods without payment of discriminatory tariffs against the devaluated yen. Thus the Japanese trade is growing swiftly. At one time the natives wore French silks and cottons and woollens but now they are chiefly made in Japan which can sell at a profit because the price is paid in gold. French francs which, when translated into depreciated yen, mean handsome rewards. Wholesale Trade Difficult In Algeria, and France itself the tariffs are high, which means that wholesale trade is difficult. For this reason, they, an army of Indo-Chinese salesmen have been recruited and sent along the highways and byways of the French empire. They may not blaze trails of Use Daily News want ads for results. Phone 80. Patronize Our Advertisers

LEWIS OWNS WORLD'S MOST UNIQUE BATON

All the batons that Ted Lewis uses are self-whittled, that is, by Ted himself.

He loves to whittle. In fact, he's something of an expert at it. And that love of whittling gives a slant on his character—optimism! And his favorite baton brings out another high point of his character—accomplishment.

That baton is nicked. There's a notch for each of his song hits. Ted says he got the idea from reading about the Western trigger men who notched their revolver barrels and he declares that his own peaceful application of the notion keeps him striving to add to his string of musical successes.

A Musical Optimist
Lewis, starring and conducting his orchestra in "Here Comes the Band," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's musical cocktail coming today to the Palace Theatre is, aside from being a musician, a humorist. He regards his songs in a very definite light, and refuses to sing any but happy and optimistic numbers. It has caused him to be known as "music's ambassador of optimism."

"People want to be happy," he says, "and the right songs can do the trick. So, if we give them happy songs presented in a bright manner, we not only make people happy but help give them courage and optimism. That's why, I think, I have achieved any success I may have had."

Conducting his orchestra, Lewis is precision himself, though he conducts sometimes with baton, sometimes with his famous clarinet, sometimes with his hands after the fashion of the famous symphony conductor Wollie. The top hat always figures in his antics.

He Sells His Songs
"It's one thing to sing a song, the other is to really sell it to your audience," he says, "and that's where the tricks come in. Conducting the playing of the music itself

BACK TO SCHOOL? or BACK TO TRAGEDY?

TO THE CITIZENS OF CISCO:—

The time for the children of our city to trek merry to school is almost upon us. With this thought in mind, order to help avert tragedy, I would caution all parents and owners to see that the brakes of their cars are in good condition; as well as caution them to drive carefully.

The annual toll of school children over the nation has been down by careless motorists reaches into the hundreds. Thinking people will not let any mechanical defect of an automobile or recklessness on their part deprive some child of its life.

If your automobile will not stop within 45 feet after brakes are applied at a speed of 20 miles per hour as required by law; you are doing more than breaking the law; you are endangering the life of some child.
