BRITAIN, ITALY REACH NAVAL ACCORD

AGREEMENT AFFECTS PLANS FOR DISARMAMENT; ITALIANS TAKE MAKALE IN ETHIOPIA

(Copyright 1935, by United Press)
LONDON, Nov. 8.—Great Britain and Italy have reached a naval agreement which vitally affects naval construction disarmament plans, the United Press was informed today. As a result of Anglo-Italian naval parleys, Britain, according to authoritative information, will cease opposition to Italian construction of two 35,000 ton battleships. The move was regarded by experts as ending for all practical purposes the long British campaign in favor of reducing tonnage but not the gun calibre of capital ships. The naval talks were held preparatory to the December conference which will be held on Dec. 4 instead of Dec. 5, at the request of the United States.

Italy Seeks Huge Shipment of Oil From East Texas

(By United Press)
DALLAS, Nov. 8.—Agents representing the Italian government were reported today seeking to purchase 5,000,000 barrels of East Texas oil. The president of an independent concern here said no definite deal had been made due to a disagreement over the price. He ridiculed the idea that the proposed contract calls for 50,000,000 barrels of oil. "Someone got that idea out of his hat," he said. "It would take several major companies combined to furnish that much oil, even in several years, under present Texas rules for production."

His concern already has sold several consignments of oil to an agent who shipped it to Italy, he said. Another concern, he added, has sold 500,000 barrels of crude through an agent and the oil is being loaded into six ships at Corpus Christi for shipment to Italy. "Several of the agents are Englishmen and we have no dealings directly with the Italian government," the company president said. He said President Roosevelt's embargo on shipments to combatants had not been broadened to include oil and he saw no legal impediment at present to the completion of such deals.

SERVICES FOR WAR VETERANS TO BE SUNDAY

Special Armistice Day services honoring ex-service men and their families will be held Sunday evening at 7:30 at the First Presbyterian church, it was announced today by Dr. J. Stuart Pearce, pastor of the church. Members of the American Legion Veterans of Foreign Wars and other veterans and their families will be the honor guests and special seats for them will be provided, it was announced. Dr. Pearce will speak on "The Future of America," he told the Daily News this morning. In addition to the sermon, the Young People's choir will have charge of the song period and will present special music. Morning services will be as usual.

Sermons at Revival Listed by Pastor

Rev. Luther Pryor, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, today announced that "The Port of Missing Men" would be the subject of tonight's revival sermon. Last night the sermon was on "The Four Phases of the Revival." Following Sunday school at 9:45 Sunday morning, Rev. Herschel Murphy will preach on "From Pipeline to Pulpit." Junior service under the direction of Mrs. Murphy will be at 6:45 p. m. Day services will begin Monday.

WEATHER

West Texas — Partly cloudy except showers southeast portion tonight and Saturday.
East Texas — Mostly cloudy, local showers tonight and Saturday; somewhat warmer except on coast, warmer northeast Saturday.

Submit Compromise Gas Tax Bill

LEVY WOULD BE MADE ON PERCENTAGE

(By United Press)
AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—Senator Clint Small, Amarillo, today offered the senate a compromise natural gas tax which would place a tax on three and a half per cent on natural gas produced in the state and on the first sale of all gas piped into it. The present tax is two per cent. Amending a bill passed by the house which calls for a tax of one-eighth of a cent per 1,000 cubic feet. Small argued a percentage tax is more fair than a fixed tax, since panhandle gas sells for about half the prevailing price for south Texas gas. Texas representatives voted 70 to 62 to reconvene in Austin Nov. 15 to hear impeachment charges against J. E. McDonald commissioner of agriculture. The present special session is to end at midnight, Nov. 14. By its reconvening immediately, no mileage fees will be allowed members.

Two Women Hurt In Car Accident Here

Two women were injured and their car badly damaged Thursday afternoon when the machine overturned on Highway 90 a mile and a quarter west of Cisco. Mrs. Florence D. Roney of Chicago and St. Petersburg, Fla., sustained a cut on the face and possibly a broken nose and her companion, Mrs. Lillian Baker of Hollywood and Chicago suffered a fractured collar bone in the accident. They were traveling toward Cisco on their way from California to Chicago when the accident occurred. Mrs. Roney, owner of the car, a Plymouth coupe, said that she slowed in meeting another car. The driver of the other car, she said, failed to give half the road and her car slipped off the pavement. As she tried to bring it back, she said, it slipped suddenly and, as one wheel struck a rock, turned over on its side. The car was in a Cisco garage Thursday night, but Mrs. Roney said she planned to drive on to Chicago today.

One Killed, Three Hurt in Car Wreck

(By United Press)
COLEMAN, Nov. 8.—George Halley, 28, of Grand Prairie was killed last night and three companions injured on the Coleman-Cisco road when his automobile ran into a bridge abutment. C. L. McDonald of Nimrod suffered several broken ribs while two other companions were slightly injured.

11 Million Bales Forecast by Gov't

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The government consolidated cotton reports today indicated 1935 production as 11,141,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight and indicated a yield of 186.8 pounds of lint per cotton acre. The census bureau report indicated 7,749,635 running bales ginned from the 1935 crop up to Nov. 1 compared with 7,917,671 for the period in 1934 and 4,230,367 running bales up to Oct. 1. The crop reporting board on Oct. 1 estimated the 1935 cotton harvest at 28,652,000 acres.

Colorado Secretary of State Faces Senate Trial on Impeachment Charge

(By United Press)
DENVER, Nov. 8.—For the first time in Colorado history, an elected official, James Carr, 32-year-old secretary of state, faces a state senate trial on impeachment charges accusing him of malfeasance in office. Removal from office would be the penalty upon conviction in the senate where a two-thirds majority is necessary to return a verdict of guilty.

Another Sousa Leads a Band

As pretty Priscilla Sousa, above, twirled her baton and strutted at the San Diego Exposition, bandmen struck up "Stars and Stripes Forever," in honor of her illustrious grandfather, the late Bandmaster John Philip Sousa. Priscilla's dad, John Philip, Jr., was feted too, at the fair's Old Home Town Band Day celebration.

FAMED FLIER FEARED LOST ON LONG HOP

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
SINGAPORE, Nov. 8.—Sir Charles Kingford Smith, Australian aviator, was many hours overdue from a flight from Allahabad, India, today and it was feared he was lost in the shark infested Bay of Bengal. On his last long flight from England to Australia the conqueror of oceans had been sighted by an aviator, fighting a fierce storm over the bay 150 miles from shore, flames shooting from the exhaust of his plane, the Lady Southern Cross. A search was conducted by ocean liners, tramp steamers, wireless, and Royal Air Force flights all over the dangerous ocean area in which he was last seen. Kingsford Smith said this flight would be the last of the great flights which have won him fame.

Woman Dies When Kansas Bus Burns

(Special to Daily News)
ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Nov. 8.—Miss Mildred Beal, 32, of Kansas City, was burned fatally and eight other persons injured today when a Southern Kansas Stage Line bus burned over. The accident occurred 18 miles east of Arkansas City. The bus was westbound. Robert Palmer, driver, was among those who suffered injuries. Palmer said he was climbing a hill when he encountered a stalled car. Another car was approaching and in trying to avoid a collision he pulled sharply to the right shoulder of the road. A wheel caught in the soft dirt and the bus plunged into a ditch, rolled over and caught fire.

Motor Accidents Take Great Toll

DALLAS, Nov. 8.—Monthly reports of the Dallas Traffic Bureau revealed that 26 persons had been killed and 114 injured in 344 traffic accidents which occurred in the city of Dallas during the month of October. Of the 596 drivers that figured in the accidents, 76 were found to have been under the influence of liquor. All except 115 of the drivers were men. The seven reported killed were in six fatal accidents. The Traffic Bureau records failed to show the death of one woman, fatally injured while standing on the side of a moving car which sideswiped another. The bureau held that the death was due to the willful intent of the driver. Three of the persons killed were over 65 years of age. Two of the forty-nine pedestrians injured were reported to have been intoxicated.

Radio Evangelist To Speak Saturday

Rev. J. A. Lovell, radio evangelist of Dublin, will preach on the streets of Cisco Saturday afternoon at 3:15, he has announced. Rev. Mr. Lovell preaches daily over radio station KFPL at Dublin, conducting the Old Time Religion Church of the Air.

C-C Worker Quits For New Position

MISSION, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Ynema Mulholland, secretary of the Mission Chamber of Commerce for the past three years, has announced her resignation to accept a position with the Rural Settlement Administration at Uvalde. Mrs. Mulholland, during her tenancy in the office of the Mission organization, became one of the best known chamber of commerce workers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and was widely known throughout the section. E. E. Marburger, president of the Mission chamber, said several applications for Mrs. Mulholland's former place had already been received and that action would be taken next week to name her successor.

Cameraman in Forbidden Ogaden

H. V. (Henry Victor) Drees, NEA Service-Cisco Daily News staff cameraman, sends scoop after scoop out of the war-torn Ogaden district, forbidden territory which he was able to reach through the friendship of Bakala Ayele, influential chieftain. Here Drees proves he can take it as well as give it when it comes to photography. He is shown with his companion, Col. Zeltin, (peering over Drees' shoulder), Ayele (left) and the chieftain's followers. The rifle held by Drees and the big-calibre elephant gun in Zeltin's hands are typical of the diverse arms used by the native defenders in skirmishes with Italian forces. Watch the Cisco Daily News for Drees' exclusive pictorial dispatches from the front lines in Ethiopia.

Only One Week More Until First Lap Of Race For Two Automobiles To End

Only one more week! Just one week from tomorrow night the first lap of the big race for those two new cars, the seven other prizes and cash to be given away by The Cisco Daily News and Cisco American and Roundup ends. And with the end of the first lap comes the end of the very biggest and best offer of extra credits of the entire campaign—150,000 extra credits for each and every club of these 820 clubs as every club of $20 worth of subscriptions. It takes only four one-year subscriptions or their equal in other terms subscriptions to earn this big extra bonus and there is no limit to the number of these clubs that you can turn in before the first lap ends.

MIDGETS WIN 12 TO 0 FROM MORAN TEAM

Those who are in to win are putting everything else aside and bending every effort and all of their energy towards piling up as many touchdowns as they can. Their battle cry is "Clubs are Trumps" and more trumps mean more credits. This is no time to hesitate or to think about it—this is the time to "get 'em in—now" while they count the very most. For those who are loafing on the job now will not ever have to worry about gasoline bills or new tires for either one of those two new cars, for while they are resting on their laurels, thinking and day-dreaming, the Midgets did not play their usual brand of football. They had previously beaten the Moran team by a count of 29 to 0 on the Cisco field. Warren, Cisco quarter, did not enter the game yesterday until the final period. "I've awfully and don't know how I would get along without it," writes Mrs. W. D. Jowers, of Minden, La. "I take it for constipation and biliousness. When I let

Ted Key Confesses Masquerading As Brother; Is Now Ineligible at UCLA

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—"R. F. (Ted) Key, erstwhile star UCLA back, stood revealed. Clois Francis Key, a "ringer," who played out his eligible college years at the Texas School of Mines. Key emerged from seclusion today to confess his identity. Previously his father, James Key, had asserted that his son was the person in whose name he was registered for admission into the university. Admissions followed reports that Key had been ruled definitely ineligible by Dean of Men Earl Sellars, of UCLA, who had gone to Amarillo to check up on the player's high school records. Whether Key will be allowed to remain at the school following the disclosure may be decided at a conference of officials today.

AFL Dissatisfied With Gain in Jobs

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—This fall's employment gain was the first increase in jobs since September 1933, when the Blue Eagle was born the American Federation of Labor reported today. Confirming reports that 427,000 jobs had been given unemployed Americans by private industry from August to September the federation asserted the gain would have been greater had the NRA then been alive.

Work Order Issued On Hatchery Here

A work order has been issued on the Cisco fish hatchery project. It was announced today by S. D. Wright, fish hatchery superintendent. The project, which calls for the employment of 74 workers, includes a WPA fund of $17,236 and a sponsor's fund of $3,442. Approval for the project was given some time ago, but the work order was issued yesterday. It was learned that authorization by the state headquarters of the WPA at San Antonio was included in a list for projects totaling $2,751,841.

Work Allotments Hit Billion Mark

Sanctions and War Profits

With Germany throwing its hat into the ring in the matter of sanctions against Italy, the fascist nation yesterday took on a definite appearance of the country without a friend—or at least with very few friends.

Mussolini still was looking far across the Mediterranean and the Atlantic, hoping to receive raw materials from the United States, which does not belong to the League of Nations and which has not clamped down a strict economic boycott.

The United States has a neutrality law which provides that it will not sell arms and munitions to any nation at war. That means both Italy and Ethiopia. But it does not apply to such other materials as are needed in a campaign. The United States government officials may request but under this law cannot force private companies to refrain from sending exports to Italy. Perhaps the next congress will pass a law extending the neutrality act, but it is now strictly a neutrality law to prevent the United States from becoming involved rather than to keep other nations from fighting.

The United States exporters stand to make a great deal of money by dealing with Mussolini and his nation in supplies to be used by an army intent upon crushing Ethiopia. They stand to profit at the expense of a less fortunate nation made up of less fortunate individuals.

But this is no time to think of war profits. It is a time to think of peace. It is a time to remember that the war profits were taken in by capitalists during the early part of the last war and by munitions manufacturers and others were little in comparison with the losses which this nation as a whole sustained and from which it is still hoping to recover sometime in the future.

The Prison Shakeup

Resignation of Capt. Ike Kelley as manager of the Retriever prison farm yesterday marked the first move in a rumored shakeup in the entire prison system of Texas following appointment of Dave Nelson as prison general manager.

The appointment of Nelson himself was the first move of the shakeup, and observers looked for more changes to be made following his taking over the office.

Nelson came into office following the resignation of Lee Simmons, after the latter had been under fire over alleged brutality on the part of prison guards under Manager Kelley at Retriever. Two members of the prison board had charged that the prisoners there were driven to self-mutilation in order to escape the hard work and brutality which would have otherwise been their lot. Simmons backed up Kelley and said that he was the "best in the system."

The cry for Simmons' job grew louder and there was some talk of politics playing a part in the situation. Then

Putting the Smoke in the Stacks

Simmons resigned, effective Nov. 1, and Dave Nelson was immediately appointed.

Nelson represents an entirely different school of thought in prison management from that of Simmons. Whereas the latter had believed in plenty of hard work and of giving the prisoners more axes "so they can chop themselves," Nelson has announced that he will inaugurate a system of humanitarianism and rehabilitation. He wants to make the prisoners fit for a place in the outside world rather than fit only for a place in a prison.

Along with the new prison setup,—and perhaps more changes are to come—Texas is getting a new system of probation for persons convicted for the first time. Just how it works will be determined in the future.

Prison reformers' eyes will be on Texas from now on. First of all, they will be wanting to see how the probation idea works—or if it works. Then they will want to see how the prisoners already in the state institutions respond to the new type of treatment. If either or both of the two reforms are found successful and the man who has erred can still become a useful citizen, Texas will be looked upon as having an ideal penal system.

need of counties he said: "Some are so broke they can hardly buy snuff."

Draped over the settee in the governor's receiving office is a blanket made of Texas mohair that is a revelation to many visitors. The soft wool is woven in beautiful design. It was a gift to the governor from L. G. Watts of Maria. Few Texans know the extent of the demand for Texas mohair. Manufacturers of upholstery for automobiles provide the chief market for the clippings from Texas goats.

Senator Allen Shivers, Port Arthur, won a colonel's title by failing to rise in the state senate when there was a call for all to stand who had not been given the military title.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—Gov. James V. Allred is the first Texas governor to hold "cabinet" meetings. The meetings are held at the governor's mansion, usually at night. Invited are appointed heads of state departments. Elected officials are not included. R. B. Anderson, state tax commissioner and member of the state racing commission, is a leading member of the cabinet. A former member of the legislature from Johnson county, Anderson has had a big part in drafting the administration's program.

Governor's Secretary Ed Clark, San Augustine is another power in the cabinet. He is the best mixer in the administration's forces and knows the public pulse.

Whenever a crowd in high good humor is gathered around some one person in the lobbies of the capitol, it's a good bet that the center of the crowd is either Clark or Attorney General "Bill" McCraw.

Both have the happy faculty of interesting people, probably because they both are interested in people. Both are ace story tellers. Both can take a joke as well as deal out one.

Clark, a newcomer in state office, has all the earmarks of the man destined to get somewhere and soon.

Because of Clark's unflinching good humor, he is subjected to many practical jokes in the governor's office.

Recently he returned from a trip to find that the rubber stamp with his name on it had been applied generously to all the papers on his desk. The stamp had been put at top, bottom and sides of the papers.

"This is too much," Clark exploded. "Nobody but a blankety blank moron would do a thing like that."

It was two days later that Clark learned that Governor Allred personally had done it.

Do not send an umbrella to a legislature friend as a Christmas gift. Umbrellas are not popular in Austin. As umbrellas they are all right, but during the rain of tax bills in the state legislature some one pictured the various industries as each having an umbrella held over it by a legislator who was willing to tax others while protecting it.

The simile caught public fancy and is so popular that opposition to a tax bill now is generally referred to as "holding an umbrella."

White felt hats also are poor Christmas gifts for senators. They fell into disfavor when practically the entire senate of a former legislature returned from a week-end jaunt with white hats.

Jasper N. Reed, Texarkana, minister-legislator, is "Brother Reed" to fellow house members, and the butt of many of their jokes because of his seriousness of purpose.

The other day he sought passage of a bill to increase inheritance taxes 50 per cent.

"This is a painless tax," Reed informed the house.

"Yes, it's painless," interrupted Representative Bob Alexander Childress, "—painless because the man who has to pay it is dead."

Jests greeted Reed's attempt to tax public dance halls.

"Brother Reed" a member asked through the house microphone, "are you trying to tax fan dancers, too?"

"Aw, he couldn't do that," said Representative Herman Jones, educator. "Nobody would tax a woman without a stitch on her back."

Senator Tom Berry, Bogata, is floor leader for administration measures. Senator Frank Rawlings, Fort Worth, is chief stumbling block in the path of most of them. Edgar G. Harris, publisher of the West Point, (Miss.) Daily Times-Leader, president of the Tupelo (Miss.) Daily News, and chairman of the Daily Press section of the Mississippi Press association, says:

Wright A. Patterson, president of the Western Newspaper Union, touches on a very vital subject when he says "The circulation of large city newspapers in rural communities develops among the people of these communities the city buying habit. The effective advertising of the big stores attracts business away from the home town, and in time the home town as a market place has passed out of the picture. When it does the local newspaper is buried in the same grave."

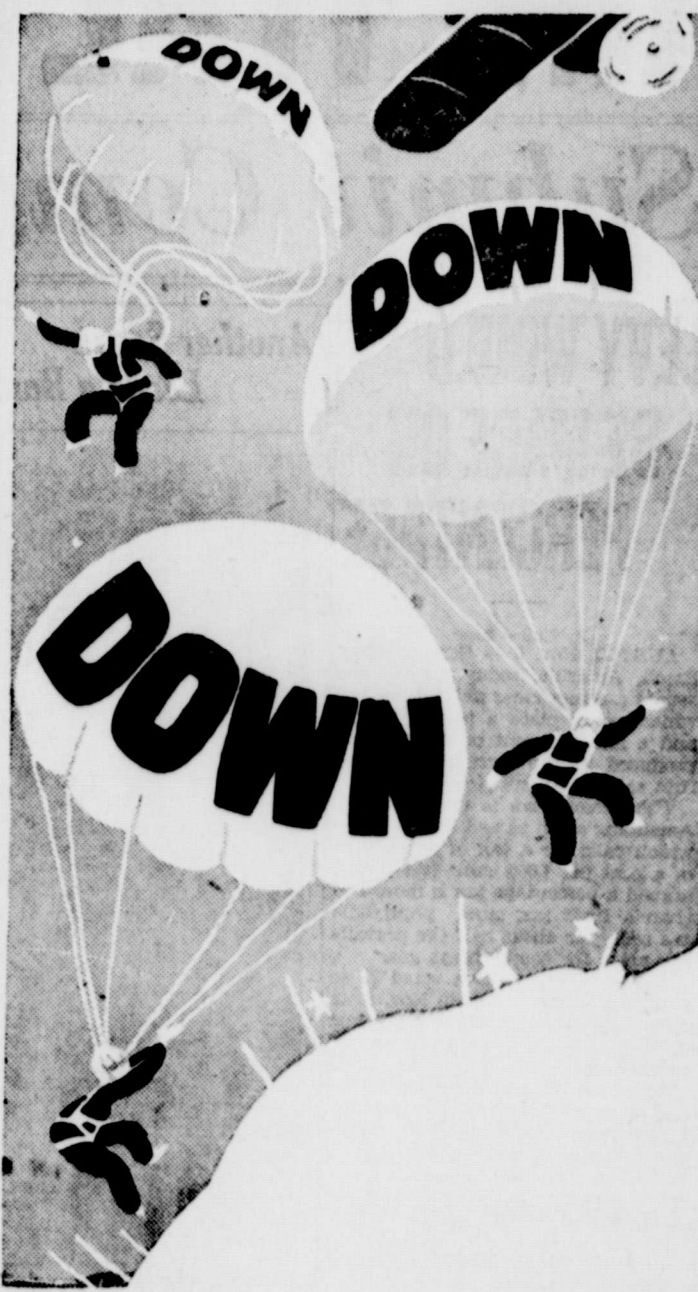

"Considered from this standpoint, the regional or local daily or weekly is even more important to the town or city in which it is published than it is to the owner or publisher. There is no getting around the fact that the trade of a town or city follows the circulation of the local newspaper, just as civilization follows the flag."

"Your town or city is not going to advance very far unless your local newspaper blazes the way. And your local newspaper is not going to be the sort of newspaper necessary to gain and maintain a complete coverage in the logical trade radius of your town or city unless it has the wholehearted support of your merchants and business men."

"Aggressive business men in many of the small cities of the country are coming to understand and appreciate the importance of the home newspaper, and the day is not far distant when local Chambers of Commerce will make one of their main objectives an annual drive for increased newspaper circulation in the logical trade radius of their respective communities."

Loboes Play Ranger 'Mystery Team' Monday

STRENGTH OF BULLDOGS IS KEPT SECRET

The Loboes will be taking on a 'mystery team' when they meet the Ranger Bulldogs on Chesley field in their annual Armistice day clash Monday.

The Bulldogs' strength is entirely masked behind a long string of defeats, but fans and writers who have seen them in action believe that they still have plenty of punch left to shoot at the Loboes.

They went through their early games in a halfhearted manner, apparently preferring to lose rather than win last week, however, with most of the first team warming the bench the Loboes put on perhaps their best exhibition of the season.

Primed for Cisco They will be primed for Cisco by long years of tradition and their confidence will be restored by last week's showing. Their real strength and the power they will be willing to shoot at the Loboes, though, remain clouded in mystery.

The Loboes on the other hand, will be battling for both their first conference victory and their first opportunity in several years to hang a pair of Bulldog ears among their trophies.

They will be using their light team and open plays against their far heavier opponents and close formations pitting their speed and smart football against the power which those who have seen the Bulldogs play know they possess.

Although some of the Loboes are still somewhat sore from the Eastland game, all with the possible exception of Ryee will be ready to go into action against the Canines when the opening whistle blows.

BIG DAM CHATTER

If you want a top row seat on the 50-yard line for the Cisco-Ranger game, you had better get started toward Chesley field early Monday afternoon.

There won't be any reserved seats for the contest, according to Principal Hiram Brandon today. No tickets will be placed on sale anywhere except at the gates. That means a crowd at the gates just before game time — to remain until after the kickoff.

The game starts at 2:30.

Ted Key is through at UCLA. That is the word from the dean of the institution, who made the trip from Los Angeles to Amarillo to find out if Ted Key is himself or someone else. His family, through newspapers, telegrams, and letters, had cast about as much doubt on the youngster's identity as anyone else. Various members had "thought" Ted was at UCLA or somewhere on the coast.

The university is to be congratulated upon the action it took. If the boy were entitled to play the officials wanted to see that he was given the opportunity. If he were ineligible, they were just as anxious to have him barred from the Bear lineup.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

COLUMBUS.—The great majority of football men and followers had never heard of Francis Albert Schmidt until he arrived at Ohio State last year, but it didn't take him long to gain their respect and confidence.

Schmidt, 290 pounds of nervous energy from Texas Christian, caught the popular fancy, not only with winning teams, but with his explosive manner, plain-spoken personality, and brilliant wit.

The Ohio State faculty had a little difficulty getting used to Schmidt's virile, he-man language at first, but quickly accepted him as the campus leading figure. He probably is the most popular coach ever to hit Columbus. Players and students consider him the last word in coaches.

Schmidt cusses his boys plenty, but they love it. They'd rather be cussed than complimented by him. The athlete who gets bawled out the most has a good chance of starting the game.

Coach Schmidt Devotes 18 Hours a Day to Football

SCHMIDT, a driver from away back who works 18 hours a day, continually thinks and talks football. He usually works in his office in his shirt sleeves. He welcomes visitors, but even though he's met them time and time again, he doesn't remember their names. Schmidt has pet names for most of his boys, such as Bobo, Boro, Leatherhead, and Oil Can. He never runs out of nicknames or wisecracks.

Schmidt refuses to wear a topcoat while sitting on the bench during a game. He claims that he never notices the cold during the heat of battle.

A born salesman and after-dinner speaker, Schmidt could hire out to speak every night of the week throughout the year.

His age seems to be a delicate subject with Schmidt, but he's 49 or 50. He was a star halfback at Nebraska in 1904 and '05. He was graduated from the law school there, but does not practice. He wears only bow ties.

Basketball Knowledge Asset to Buckeye Boss

SCHMIDT'S first coaching assignment of any importance was at the University of Tulsa, where he lost one game in the last four seasons of a five-year reign before and after the war.

He left Tulsa for Arkansas, where he had the reputation of getting the most out of his material for seven campaigns.

With less talent than larger rivals, Schmidt won two Southwest Conference championships, tied for the title once, and finished second and third in five years at Texas Christian.

In 19 years, Schmidt's teams have compiled a record of 141 victories, 39 defeats, and 10 ties.

The headman of the Buckeyes has been even more successful in basketball than he has in football. His Arkansas teams won four consecutive Southwest Conference championships, and his Texas Christian careers bagged two and twice finished second.

Football going basketball was right down Schmidt's alley. His knowledge of the hoop game no doubt played a big part in his developing, in less than two seasons, the finest set of ball handlers that such veteran and skillful exponents of the razzle dazzle as Bob Zuppka and Bo McMillin ever saw.

ulated upon the action it took. If the boy were entitled to play the officials wanted to see that he was given the opportunity. If he were ineligible, they were just as anxious to have him barred from the Bear lineup.

Not every university or college team would have taken the trouble that UCLA has taken.

Losing Key meant losing some games, in all probability. The Uclians were counting upon the Texan to help them beat his fellow Texans from SMU this week, and losing him naturally will hurt their chances.

But there never was a player a team couldn't get along without. There never will be.

Losing Key may have hurt the University of California at Los Angeles, but the stand taken by the school undoubtedly will raise the standards of college football over the nation.

Steer-Bear Clash To Be Broadcast

When the Texas University Longhorns invade Waco, Saturday, to collide with the Baylor Bears, they will take to the air in more ways than one. In addition to their aerial attack, the play will be broadcast as the Southwest Broadcasting System's game of the week.

Byrum Saam, ace sportscaster, for the net, will call the play-by-play from Carroll Field, while Gene Wyatt handles statistics. The broadcast, sponsored by Humble Oil, will start at 2:20 p. m. with the kickoff slated for 2:30.

Golf Chat

By WILLIAM PHILPOTT (Professional, Cisco Country Club)

Golfers are more superstitious than is generally supposed.

I know a well known professional in Chicago who always sleeps with his head at the foot of the bed and before a tournament. Another will not allow his caddie to hand him his driver on the first tee but takes it out of the bag before the caddie can handle it. Still another will not use a driver for his first tee shot in a tournament but uses a brassie. Many amateurs will not use a yellow colored tee, while some will not be the first of a foursome to drive off the first tee.

Whether these eccentricities have any real bearing on the result of

A Notre Dame Foray That Miscarried

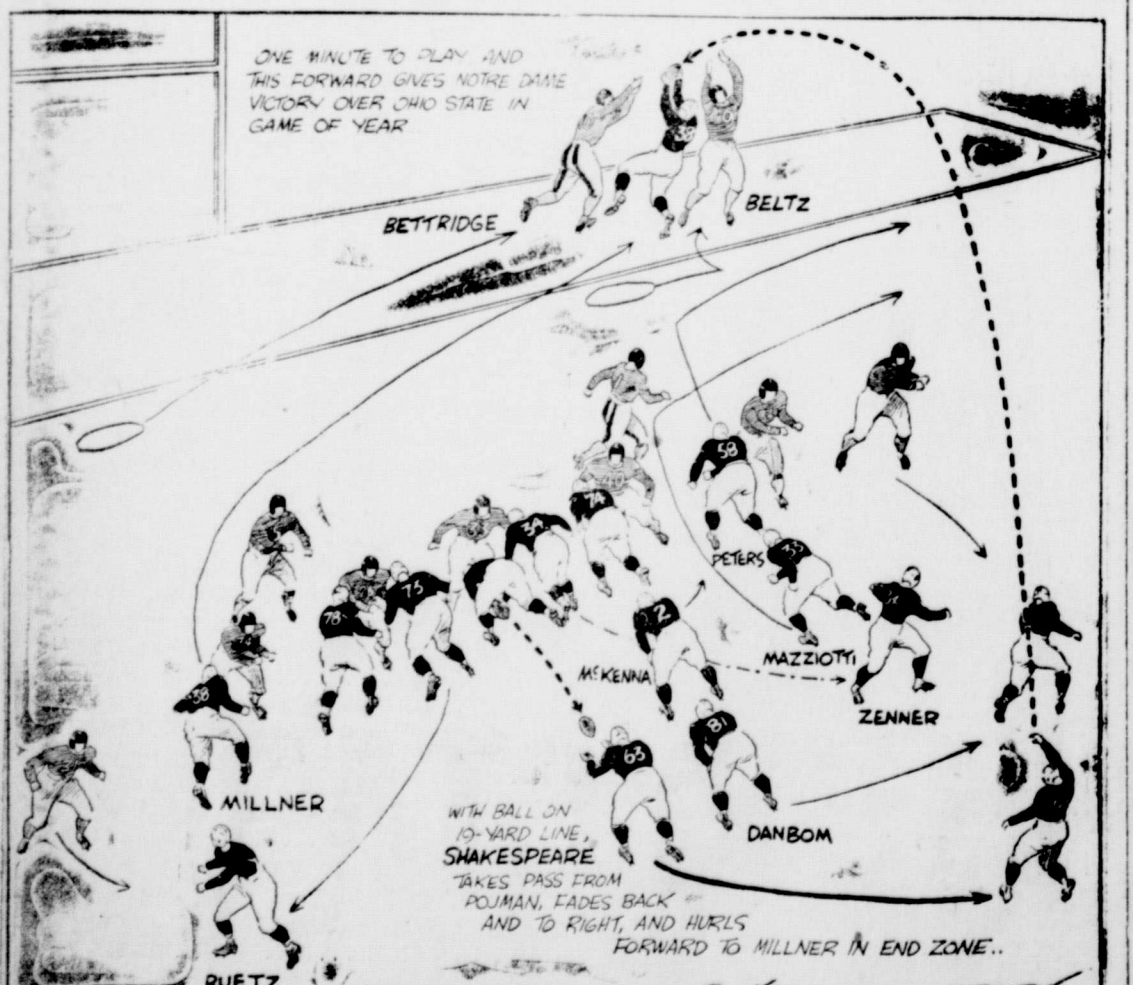

Thrill-packed from the opening kickoff, Ohio State's defeat, 18-13, by an infuriated Notre Dame eleven that had trailed into the last quarter, went a long way toward deciding 1935's gridiron champions. Here Francis Layden, Notre Dame right half, is seen in the lower right-hand corner, heaving the pass that was turned into Ohio's first touchdown in the opening quarter. Frank Antenucci, Buckeye fullback, intercepted the pass, flipped a lateral to right half Frank Boucher, who ran 65 yards for the touchdown.

Winning Plays Of 1935

Here's Play That Astounded Grid World—Irish Pass That Beat Bucks

By ART KRENZ NEA Service Sports Artist
With one minute to play, Notre Dame's pass from Bill Shakespeare to Wayne Millner clicked, and the biggest upset of the current football season was registered in an 18-13 victory for the Irish over Ohio State.
The score stood 13-12 against Elmer Layden's boys after Andy Pilney had advanced the ball to the State 19-yard line and then was borne from the field on a stretcher after he had pulled a tendon in his ankle.

Shakespeare came into the game in Pilney's place.
With the ball on the 19 yard line, Shakespeare took a pass from Projman, second string center, faded back and to the right, and hurled a perfect forward to Millner in the end zone.

Peters Irish right end, went down as a decoy and cut out to right. Mazziotti, right half, also went down as a decoy and cut to the right.

NEW ENGLAND SEEKS TROUBLE FOR NEW DEAL

By WILLIAM D. CLARK
Press Staff Correspondent
HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 8—

Hint as to what the national administration intends to do about opposing anti-Roosevelt sentiment in New England may be given by Postmaster General James A. Farley when he formally opens Connecticut's annual campaign here.

Farley was one of the few who did not vote for Roosevelt in 1932 and recent town elections showed strong republican gains in New England.

Farley will find problems. The biennial election this month showed democratic gains in 14 of the 149 independent democratic towns.

There were 30,000 fewer votes than in 1933, yet republicans showed a net gain of 14,000 votes.

Hoover's majority was 1,788. Success of New England's socialist administration at the state level doesn't encourage Roosevelt forces in that state.

Republicans seem united inside and outside Connecticut. The thriving young republican movement is another thorn in the administration's side.

Coincidental young republicans meet at Vermont, Nov. 9-10 to discuss a tentative program "within the scope of the constitution" to sprinkle New England's platform with moderate conservatism.

Young republicans have been working with the regular party while young democrats thus far are without consolidation, both in Connecticut and the rest of the northeast states.

The fact that Farley was invited to the subscription dinner here Nov. 9 as chairman of the national committee, and not as a member of the president's cabinet, plainly indicated that state leaders were hopeful of gaining a few hints as to the field general's planned strategy in this region.

Farley's Optimism Puzzles Democrats were as puzzled as republicans when Farley announced several weeks ago he was "very pleased" with the party's showing in the biennial town elections, and found it difficult to match his exuberance when the returns had it in black and white the party was peddling backward.

Farley will meet Connecticut democratic chieftains only a few doors away from Yale's oolsey ahl where in June, 1934 the president was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws by James Rowland Angell, who welcomed President Roosevelt as having "brought high intelligence and complete devotion to the service of the nation, winning to your personal allegiance millions of men and women and party," and expressed the desire of the university "to make her admiration and respect for your daring leadership."

Angell Attacks Administration Within six months after this demonstration of affection, President Angell publicly announced the national administration would have to look elsewhere for its brain trusters, and within the last month declared "reasonable individual liberty is gravely and repeatedly invaded" and "oppressive taxation is invoked to finance grandiose programs of social reform."

That's another thing Farley may be asked to explain—the sudden about face of educators who helped the president launch his New Deal and then deserted the ship.

Accompanying the postmaster general to the conference will be U. S. Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, a native son, who tele-

MANILLA, Nov. 8—The Philippine Commonwealth will be inaugurated Nov. 15 with formalities and pomp befitting the historic day marking the Islands' progress.

The United States will be represented at the ceremonies by Vice President John N. Garner, Secretary of War George H. Dern and Congressmen. The highest executive post in the islands will pass from Governor-General Frank Murphy to President-Elect Manuel L. Quezon.

Another chapter will be written in the history of Malacanang Palace. It will become the residence of the president, as provided by law. Murphy will become high commissioner and will establish his seat of activity in new quarters for which congress has made appropriation.

Notables Filled Post Murphy becomes the last of 11 governors general appointed by presidents since 1901. Men famous in American history have held the post, among them William H. Taft, first governor general appointed by President McKinley. Gen. Leonard Wood resigned from the army to accept his appointment from President Harding. He died in 1927, the only governor general to die in office.

Others well known in American life who filled the high office were Henry L. Stimson, Dwight F. Davis, and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

An elaborate inaugural display has been arranged for several reasons, chief being the realization by Filipino leaders of the part America has played in advancing the Philippines. Then, too, the impressive ceremonies will have an important effect on the populace. Quezon Makes Pledge In a pre-inaugural pledge, President-Elect Quezon promised that there would be "more government and less politics." He said he would start observing this pledge in choosing his cabinet.

The president elect is optimistic concerning financial stability and public order in the new commonwealth. "The financial position is excellent," he said. "There are not only surpluses accumulated from the yearly operations of the government, but we have cash that has been lying in deposit for several years from the gold fund as the result of accumulation of interest which raises this fund to more than the law requires."

Quezon said that aid to industry, while contrary to the American theory of keeping the government out of business, was practiced by the governments of major European powers, and also by Japan. The Philippine government will have to give such aid in the Philippines, he declared.

"Such aid is particularly needed," Quezon continued, "in the case of industries wherein there is no or insufficient capital available for development."

Looks to Defenses The president elect cited the problem of national defenses as one which might create extraordinary demands justifying drawing on the accumulated surpluses mentioned for its capital structure.

The coalition platform, on which Quezon was elected, recommends ultimate adherence of the Philip-

Social Library Is Aim At Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 8—A new type college library, designed to bring into closer contact the students, faculty and books, is revealed in the plans for the Princeton University library.

The plans, made public by Dr. Harold Willis Dodds, president, call for a tall central tower which will contain the book stacks. The tower will be flanked by three story wings housing the departmental headquarters of the humanistic and social departments.

To the students of English, classics, modern languages, philosophy, Oriental languages, history, politics and economics, the library will be as much a laboratory as that of the scientist.

Lounge and Kitchen Provided Plans for the English department are typical. Offices of the members of the faculty are adjoining; study rooms for students have individual desks; small rooms for conferences and preceptorials and a lounge for relaxation and informal discussions are included.

A small kitchen adjoins part of the central tower where English books are kept.

In his announcement of the accepted plans, President Dodds said, "The new library will make physically possible the goal toward which the university is directed: That the student may enjoy and profit fully from his association with faculty and books."

To Be Meeting Place It will be the educational center of the university, the great meeting place of students and teachers with every facility for them to become acquainted with each other in normal daily association.

The library will be constructed of variegated Princeton stone, the material used in modern dormitories and other campus buildings. Charles K. Laidor, of Philadelphia, is the architect.

The building is being built as one of three items on Princeton's $7,750,000 program of development. The other two endowments are for scholarship and for the school of public international affairs.

OFFERED SURE KILLS PUEBLO, Col., Nov. 8—Modern business methods were injected into big game hunting this year. A man from the mountains came to the city and made hunters a proposition. For $7.50 he would produce a deer, all properly shot and ticketed. For $12.50 he would deliver an elk. The "hunters" would find their "kill" laid out for them at a designated place on the highway.

SOOTHE PATIENTS

LONDON — Hairdressing is the latest treatment for women mental patients. The Severalls Mental Hospital is instituting a hairdressing room on the theory that the restoration of a patient's self-respect has a strong psychological effect for the better.

Quezon pointed out that while the Philippines would be eligible for membership in the League, it would be impossible for the islands to become a member without the consent of the United States, which retains control over Philippine foreign relations during the commonwealth.

He said there were no immediate plans concerning League membership, however.

"Calumet sure gives you your money's worth, with that Big New 10¢ Can!"

SAYS MRS. W. W. HICKEY, OF CHICAGO, ILL.

"THERE'S a lot of good baking in that 10¢ can of Calumet," observes Mrs. Hickey. "It's worth more than a dime any day!"

"Of course, with my big family I get the full-pound can—and it's only 25¢ now. As long as I bake, Calumet will be in my pantry!"

Grandfather Rummel, who was a baker for 40 years, says: "Calumet takes the guesswork out of the job nowadays."

LOOK AT THE NEW CALUMET CAN! A simple twist... and the Easy-Opening Top lifts off. No delay, no spilling, no broken fingernails!

WHAT makes Calumet so dependable? Why is it different from other baking powders? Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat. This Double-Action produces perfect leavening.

All Calumet prices are lower! Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in its history... The regular price of the Full-Pound Can is now only 25¢! And ask to see the new 10¢ can—a lot of good baking for a dime—with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder. A product of General Foods.

Stock Show Men Are Grateful For Help

J. M. Bird, manager of the Eastland County Livestock Show, this week expressed the appreciation of the stock show committee to all who had contributed to make the show a success.

Firms contributing cash prizes were overlooked in giving credit for the premiums, he said. He listed the following firms which gave cash prizes: First National bank $5; Cisco Gas corporation, $2; West Texas Utilities company, $2; Community Natural Gas company, $2.

News' Contest
dreaming and hoping that someone will hand them subscriptions on a silver platter, the real winners will show their colors by forging ahead at the rate of 150,000 extra credits for each and every one of the $20 clubs they turn in.

Saturday, November 16th, is a Red Letter Day in the Cisco Daily News and American and Roundup Opportunity Club, and 9 p. m., is the zero hour of the first lap of the race. Towards this day and hour Opportunity Club members have been looking, working and planning; it won't be long now and never again after that date will subscriptions count for as much as they do right now. Every subscription that you fail to get in by that hour simply means that you will have to take less credits on afterwards. The ultimate winners of both cars will show their colors by being fortified with plenty of these all-powerful clubs that are worth 150,000 extra credits each and then some, before the first lap ends.

Plan now, tonight, for tomorrow's work and don't let a single five year, three year, one year or even a six months or three months subscription get by you. Remember that the more of those all-powerful $20 clubs that you have in by 9 o'clock on next Saturday night, Nov. 16, the more credits you will have and the more credits you have, the nearer you will come to winning the prize of your heart's desire in the big list. The only thing in the world that will win for you is—credits—and plenty of them. You can not have too many of them—there is no such thing. So, get 'em and get 'em in now. Remember clubs are trumps and there is no limit.

So, stay in there and win!

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE
SEA Service Staff Writer
THE Pilgrim families who landed at Plymouth Rock were the first white persons to taste native American cranberries, which grew in profusion in the nearby swamps of Cape Cod.

Ignorant of vitamins and the human need for iron and iodine, the Indians nevertheless regarded the cranberry with awe for its health giving and life prolonging qualities. And though in these elements, my family finds the luscious tartness sufficient excuse for eating cranberry condiments.

Cranberry sauce and cranberry jelly are traditional with turkey, but you will find the taste of cranberry quite as delicious with roast pork and veal. Cranberry often takes the place of sauce or jelly at a formal dinner. Cranberry sherbet makes a splendid dessert after a heavy dinner, and cranberry tapioca pudding is an inexpensive dessert suitable for any simple dinner.

Cranberry Juice
One quart cranberries, 4 cups water, 1 cup sugar, 1 lemon.
Cook berries and water for ten minutes. Strain through cheesecloth. Bring juice to the boiling point, sift in sugar and cook not more than three minutes. Just long enough to be sure the sugar is completely dissolved. Chill and add juice of lemon when ready to serve.

There is an uncooked cranberry relish that is delectable, too.

20 Attend Meeting Of Parent-Teacher Group on Thursday

Approximately 20 members of the East Ward Parent-Teachers' association met yesterday afternoon in a business meeting and to hear short talks from two speakers.

Mrs. Tom W. Smith presided during the business session, during which time a committee consisting of Mrs. Fred Steffy, chairman, and Mrs. Tom McAllister, was appointed to meet with the board in making plans to repair the school building.

Mr. Tenny of Austin gave a talk in behalf of the blind children, after which T. C. Williams addressed the group pointing out the needs of the school building.

Patriotic Theme Used at 42 Party

A patriotic theme depicting Armistice Day was used in accessories for games of forty-two Thursday afternoon when Mrs. J. T. McKisick was hostess to the Thursday Forty-two club.

Lovely chrysanthemums in Mexican weaved baskets decorated entertaining rooms. Mrs. J. T. Berry won high score for the members of the club and Mrs. C. R. West won high for guests.

The hostess was assisted by her daughters Misses Helen and Ruth, is serving a two course refreshment plate. Present were Mesdames William Reagan, P. P. Shepard, W. H. LaRoque, J. T. Berry, H. C. Henderson, J. S. Stockard, Connie Davis, J. W. Mancill, C. R. West, T. J. Dean, and G. M. Stephenson.

Mrs. Bird Hostess At Bridge Party

Zenias and marigold in autumn hues decorated the home of Mrs. J. M. Bird Thursday afternoon when she entertained at bridge.

Mrs. H. Brandon was presented

SUPERSTITION ENDURES
MADISON, Wis. — Members of a Russian group here are reputed to avoid passing salt to a guest at table under the superstition that death would overtake that guest on the way home.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST Stewed dried apricots, cereal, cream, country sausage, bran muffins, milk, coffee
LUNCHEON: Black bean soup, toasted muffins, apple and raisin salad, Norwegian blue pudding, milk, tea
DINNER: Hot-pot of hodge-podge, baked winter squash, head lettuce with Roquefort cheese dressing, cranberry tapioca pudding, milk, coffee

Cranberry Relish

Two cups cranberries, 1 orange, 1 1/2 cups sugar
Put berries and orange through food chopper. Add sugar, stir well and let stand several hours before serving.
Cranberries are so easy to use that I like to serve them in many ways as possible. They require no seeding or paring in preparation for cooking. After a thorough washing and looking over for soft fruit, they are ready.

Cranberry Tapioca

One quart cranberries, 2 cups boiling water, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup quick cooking tapioca, few grains salt
Cook berries in water until tender, about ten minutes. Press through a fine sieve. Add sugar, salt and tapioca and cook until transparent. Turn into individual molds to chill and become firm. Unmold and serve with a garnish of whipped cream.
