R. G. Giles is in Throckmorton today. ... on business for his company. ... P. P. Shepard is attending to business in Albany. ... J. L. Thornton and George Boyd cashing along Main. ... A. Jensen is a very jolly fellow, but he has serious moments and then he shows that he thinks of life deeply. ... Sometimes it happens that sunny exteriors are only hiding serious natures.

A little further talk with G. R. Kilpatrick, mentioned above brings out a fish story that he assures us two witnesses will corroborate. ... while investigating a formerly fixed leak in a line, five fish were obtained and the workmen took them home and ate them. ... Now he is going to have us all digging up our water lines instead of buying fishing licenses. ... A. W. Hubbard has just returned from a visit to Van Zant county where Hiram Brandon originated and where we once taught school.

BAPTISTS JAM DALLAS TODAY AT BTU MEET

By United Press
DALLAS, Nov. 29—Ten thousand Texas Baptists crowded five Dallas churches today to attend sectional meetings of the Baptist training union.

Dr. J. O. Williams, Nashville, and Dr. R. G. Lee, Memphis, were on the program for the principal addresses.

Officers will be elected and the 1936 meeting place chosen tomorrow.

BEARD CREDITED GORHAM, N. H.

GORHAM, N. H.—Eighty-year-old Tom White, a White Mountain woodsman, hasn't had a cold or headache in 30 years. He says his health secret is to allow his hair and beard to grow.

Allred Returns; Deer Still Safe

AUSTIN, Nov. 29—Governor Allred today returned from the "first real vacation" since taking office in January with the belief that "if all deer hunters are like I am, there would be no need of game laws or bag limits."

War Or Peace to Be Decided In Ten Days

SITUATION IN EUROPE SEEN AS DELICATE

LONDON, Nov. 29—Some competent diplomatic observers believed today the question of war or peace in Europe would be decided in the next 10 days.

The present situation between Italy and Great Britain and other League countries is most serious but many believe there is a good chance for peace.

The view is taken that Premier Benito Mussolini would not be able long to combat such penalties as embargoes on oil, coal, steel and iron, and despite threats he is likely to think long before adopting warlike measures involving him not only with Britain but with all League nations.

LEAGUE TO DECIDE ON EMBARGO DEB. 12
GENEVA, Nov. 29—Augusto de Vasconcelos of Portugal, chairman of the League sanctions committee, convened the steering committee of 18 today, to meet on Dec. 12 to decide on imposing an oil embargo against Italy.

In addition to extension of the embargo on oil, the committee will consider further extension of the general embargo, including coal, iron, and steel "as soon as conditions are favorable," meaning the attitude of the United States and other neutrals must first be ascertained.

Teachers To Vote Upon 18-Year Rule

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 29—Members of the Texas State Teachers association will be asked to vote in a referendum on the question of retaining the present 19 year age limit for athletes or of putting into effect Sept. 1, an 18 year limit, representative decided today.

DECREASE IN DEFICIT FOR NATION SEEN

Copyright 1935 by United Press
ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 29—President Roosevelt, in an indirect but forceful reply to New Deal critics told 90,000 persons today that lavish government spending was over and the nation could look forward with assurance to a decreasing deficit.

Political observers took his speech as an outline of his party's campaign ammunition in next year's national election and, therefore, as his most important public utterance of recent months.

Homecoming Day

He spoke before a throng that jammed Grant field, the stadium of the Georgia School of Technology, part of a "homecoming day" celebration arranged by the Georgia congressional delegation in his honor, in which 250,000 persons took part.

Big Clipper At Manila On Ocean Flight

Buchanan Clamors for Balanced Budget

Representative James P. Buchanan is registered at Warm Springs, Ga. He is not there for pleasure. He isn't taking a vacation. He is chairman of the house committee on appropriations. In many ways he is an old-fashioned democrat. He has a sincere belief that the nation and the state and the individual "should pay as they go." He is holding conferences with President Roosevelt at the "Little White House" in Georgia. The two are examining governmental requirements for the next fiscal year. Rep. Buchanan is a snappy, straight-from-the-shoulder, terse speaking individual. This is his attitude. "I am out to balance the budget just as soon as possible. I think the new budget can be brought within $500,000,000 of balancing." He was asked by the press correspondent, "how are you going about it?" His reply had a metallic ring to it, "by having the devil of a fight." Of course the chairman would not comment as to the make up of the budget, explaining "we did not get down to specific figures."

Rep. and Mrs. Buchanan will go to Washington from Warm Springs. It is a safe prophecy that he will have a devil of a fight on hand during the winter and spring months of 1936. Of course, prosperity is here. All the business leaders are predicting the merriest Christmas since 1929 blasted the American earth and the inhabitants thereof. If an individual is loaded down with debts, it is impossible for him to balance his personal budget. If a state is loaded down with debt, it is an impossibility. If the federal government is loaded down with debt, it is a job for miracle workers and there have been no miracle workers on earth since the crucifixion of the Man of Galilee.

Taxpayers Burdened by Officeholders

When Scheherazade of Arabian Nights' fame, was trying to think of enough tall tales to keep her husband from having her head cut off at break of dawn, she told him about the Old Man of the Sea.

The Old Man of the Sea was a tenacious individual who had a way of jumping on the shoulders of perfect strangers and compelling them to give him free transportation. Once he got on, there was no getting him off; he stuck and enjoyed the ride until his human steed could go no further.

Now Scheherazade flourished 'way back in the days of ancient Bagdad, but her story has a very modern ring, and the American taxpayer can listen to it with a sad smile of recognition; for if ever there was a person who is ridden by the Old Man of the Sea, it is this same taxpayer.

Wherever he goes, the taxpayer carries on his shoulders a flock of officeholders, and he could very profitably get rid of a great many of them if they didn't have their knees cemented firmly against his short ribs.

Forget, for the moment, about the vast horde in Washington, and the lesser hordes in each state capital, and think only of the local county seat. It probably is no exaggeration whatever to say that at least half of the county officers in

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The worst thing that can happen to you in Washington is to be appointed a co-ordinator. The fellow who once had to empty a well with a sieve had a soft snap compared with the job of trying to co-ordinate parts of the New Deal.

The latest victim is Peter Grimm, a New York real estate man and protégé of Secretary Morgenthau, who is supposed to co-ordinate the various New Deal housing activities.

A recent confidential survey found that 27 government agencies had "definite responsibilities in housing." The most important ones are FHA, PWA, RA, FEHA, RFC, HOLC, FCA, and WPA.

In as many of these agencies as could be covered in a day, one found a grim undercurrent of opposition to Mr. Grimm. It reminds you of the way people got to feeling about co-ordinator of co-ordinators, Donald Richberg.

Whether or not an abhorrence of being co-ordinated has anything to do with it, the people who struggle with housing here almost unanimously cry out a belief that Grimm, who has handled the Astor and Morgenthau properties in New York, seeks to maintain high mortgage rates and discredit low-cost housing efforts in the interests of big banks, mortgage agencies, real estate companies, builders and insurance companies.

GRIMM'S troubles began when Roosevelt appointed Fred Delano, the president's uncle as chairman of a housing co-ordination committee, with Grimm as Delano's assistant. Delano's dislike for Grimm dated back before that and was intensified when Grimm called a meeting of the committee without his consent.

A strong impression grew up that Grimm was especially anxious to co-ordinate Chairman John H. Fahey and the Home Loan System and Fahey won that reported battle to the extent that Grimm suddenly found himself out one among several other assistants to the committee, appointed by Delano.

SOMETHING had to be done or Mr. Grimm might as well go back to New York. The "something" was his appointment to the National Emergency Council as an official co-ordinator of housing activities.

Delano is reported threatening to resign if Grimm gets real power or authority. Grimm is sending long questionnaires to all agencies, which arouse sour reactions.

Home Loan thinks he's trying to absorb it into FHA and convert its bonds into insured mortgages. PWA Housing thinks Grimm would like to sabotage its low-cost projects. And so on. In other words, Mr. Grimm faces odds.

ROOSEVELT sick as ever with the press, was asked to comment on a crack from General Johnson by a correspondent who mumbled so that other newspapermen yelled "Louder!"

"He wanted to know about some kind of a statement from General Johnson," spoke up the president, grinning.

"How haw haw!" belted the correspondents, taking the cue. But one man insisted on asking the president's answer.

"You fellows gave the answer," Roosevelt replied. "Hee-hee-hee!" giggled the correspondents. "Just like Gran to pick me for a job like this," Nancy thought gloomily.

this republic are completely unnecessary and would be cut off the payroll forthwith if our local government were even 50 per cent efficient.

For one thing, we have far too many counties. In this day of autos and paved roads, a state which contains three dozen counties could combine them into eight or ten without working any real hardship on anyone. The horse and buggy era made small counties necessary; the modern age makes them utterly useless.

For another thing, counties themselves are absurdly organized. It is self-evident that a slight extension of the state police idea would completely do away with the need for sheriff, deputies, and small-town constables.

If it be objected that deputy sheriffs have such essential duties as the serving of legal papers to perform, it can only be replied that Uncle Sam's registered mail would do that job quite as efficiently and infinitely more cheaply.

We have county auditors and treasurers and assessors, each with his own staff, when one office could very well do the work of all three. We have vestigial remnants, such as coroners.

We have, to top everything, the fact that 99 per cent of these officers are grossly overstaffed, due to the requirements of party politics.

The needless officeholder is the modern Old Man of the Sea. The taxpayer patiently lugs him around and pays through the nose.

Some day let us hope, the taxpayer will get wise, pitch the Old Man into the nearest ditch—and discover that he can govern himself for about half of the present cost.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Nov. 29—Texas is ready to call "quits" on the past and start all over with its new liquor law.

Those accused of violating the old law apparently must be released from the charges, if they have not already been convicted and had their appeal exhausted.

Persons convicted and sent to the penitentiary before repeal was voted last August 24 still will have to serve their sentences, unless pardoned. Few pardons are expected because there are few first offenders.

Discretion is given licensing officials under the new law. They may refuse a license or permit to a person known to have been a bootlegger. Definite provision against licensing any who have violated the have continued, even if the new law had so provided. Many attorneys believe that repeal of the state prohibition clause of the constitution effectively ended the prosecutions, regardless of subsequent action.

Seventy-one cases involving liquor violations under the old law are pending before the Court of Criminal Appeals here. How many more cases are pending in various counties can hardly be estimated.

The task of putting unemployed people back on jobs seems to be making fair progress in Texas. F. E. Nichols, state labor commissioner, reports that in its first two months of existence, the Texas State Employment Service connected 5,902 persons with pay envelopes.

Those employed were not put on "grass eating jobs," Nichols said. "They were given positions in private industry or on useful public works."

A large number went into private industrial employment. Positions of this sort filled in September numbered 1,253 and in October, 1,345. Those placed on jobs financed by public relief money were: 261 in September and 3,043 in October.

Persons on relief rolls constitute only a part of the 52,623 unemployed who have registered with the state employment service. On some of the jobs, the service can place only those who will be taken from relief by such employment.

The service now is operating in 33 counties, with district headquarters at Dallas and Fort Worth. Additional district headquarters are to be opened.

When Senator Willbourne Collier, Eastland, will have an opportunity to be Governor-for-a-day is uncertain. His election as president pro tem of the senate makes him eligible to sit in the governor's chair at any time both the governor and Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul are absent simultaneously from the state.

Senators Ken Regan, Peecos, and John Redditt, Lufkin, each became Governor-for-a-day while serving as the senate's temporary presiding officer. Senator Jim Neal, Laredo, also has been president pro tem of the senate of the present legislature. He was in the office only overnight and had no opportunity to use the title of "governor."

Most of the acts of the recent special session of the legislature were passed with emergency clauses and with sufficient votes to make them effective immediately upon the Governor's approval. A few without the necessary two thirds vote in each branch will not take effect until 90 days after the session's end. This will be on Feb. 13 or 14. Whether the beginning and closing

Representative J. Manley Head, Grant, never is at a loss for a word. If there isn't one that suits his purpose, he coins one. "Smug-city" is his latest.

Head inferred that members of the house of representatives who have relatives on the state payroll would be guilty of "smugosity" if they voted condemnation of Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald because his brother's truck was used for a time to haul state breeding stock.

Head agreed that there is no legal barrier to a relative of a representative having state employment and admitted that he has a relative so employed, but said under the circumstances he would not censure McDonald, nor should others.

named director for relief administration in the state of Mississippi. Wender became interested in the plight of the unemployed while working as a reporter. His newspaper efforts to help them led to his designation on the city committee that took up early relief activities. Then came the state and national emergency organizations. He continued with them. He soon became a "trouble shooter" for the state relief forces. He was sent to various places where there were local squabbles and ironed out many of the state relief commission's difficulties. He then was brought to state headquarters. Not all his path has been smooth. In Austin he has been up and down with dissatisfied "clients."

When Senator Willbourne Collier, Eastland, will have an opportunity to be Governor-for-a-day is uncertain. His election as president pro tem of the senate makes him eligible to sit in the governor's chair at any time both the governor and Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul are absent simultaneously from the state.

Senators Ken Regan, Peecos, and John Redditt, Lufkin, each became Governor-for-a-day while serving as the senate's temporary presiding officer. Senator Jim Neal, Laredo, also has been president pro tem of the senate of the present legislature. He was in the office only overnight and had no opportunity to use the title of "governor."

Most of the acts of the recent special session of the legislature were passed with emergency clauses and with sufficient votes to make them effective immediately upon the Governor's approval. A few without the necessary two thirds vote in each branch will not take effect until 90 days after the session's end. This will be on Feb. 13 or 14. Whether the beginning and closing

Representative J. Manley Head, Grant, never is at a loss for a word. If there isn't one that suits his purpose, he coins one. "Smug-city" is his latest.

Head inferred that members of the house of representatives who have relatives on the state payroll would be guilty of "smugosity" if they voted condemnation of Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald because his brother's truck was used for a time to haul state breeding stock.

Head agreed that there is no legal barrier to a relative of a representative having state employment and admitted that he has a relative so employed, but said under the circumstances he would not censure McDonald, nor should others.

Loboes Lose Final 1935 Game to Abilene

EAGLES TAKE SECOND PLACE THIS SEASON

The Cisco Loboes yesterday closed their 1935 football season with a 42 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Abilene Eagles at Abilene.

The big Warriors took the lead in the opening minutes of play and never allowed the lighter Loboes a chance to cross their goal line. In winning the game yesterday, Coach Mayne's men clinched an unchallenged rating of second in the district for this season.

Couch, Moser, and Harris led the attack from the Eagle backfield, but their forwards, led by H. J. Jones at center, were responsible for gaining holes in the Cisco line that gave them the start they needed.

First Quarter

In the first quarter, after the Loboes had been held, Stansbury kicked to Couch on the Abilene 37 yard line. Harris made eight at center and Couch picked up a first down in the middle. In four more plays he and Harris had placed the ball on the Cisco 29 yard stripe and then Harris made it first down on the Cisco 17. After Couch had made nine in two tries, Moser, who had not carried the ball previously, plunged over right guard for a touchdown. Cumpston's kick was good and the score stood at 7 to 0 for the Eagles.

The Loboes got a break after they had been forced to punt a few minutes later. Wende recovered Couch's fumble on the Eagle 40. They failed to get their passes clicking, however, and the ball went over.

On the first play Couch dashed around left end and was run out around the score stood at 7 to 0 for the Eagles.

A reverse lost one and then Abilene drew a 15 yard penalty. Then Couch started around end but thought better of it and heaved to Moser, who dashed 54 yards for a touchdown on the longest run of the day.

As the second quarter opened, a lateral was fumbled and Bean recovered on the Cisco 14. Couch made it first down and then went over for the third touchdown.

74-Yard Punt

Stansbury put the Eagles in a bad spot a moment later when he got off a 74-yard punt that was killed on the Abilene four yard line. The Eagle immediately kicked out but the Loboes gained 38 yards on the exchange. A little later Ryle recovered Couch's fumble on the Abilene 20 to the Loboes a chance to score but the Cisco machine jammed and in four plays the ball went over.

The fourth touchdown came in the closing minutes of the first half when Harris plunged over from the one yard line.

The Loboes tightened somewhat in the second half and even did a little threatening of their own. Late in the third period, after Harris had recovered a fumble on the Cisco 31, the Eagles marched to a first down on the Cisco 10 and on fourth down Couch went over right tackle for a touchdown.

Loboes Threaten

With the opening of the fourth quarter Mayhew sent in his second string. The recruits banged away at the Lobo line and marched to the Cisco 15, where the Loboes recovered a fumble. Ryle hit right tackle for 7 and then picked up five. Beasley tried to gain but on the next play went around the right of the line for 35 yards to the Abilene end Mayhew promptly sent back the first string to halt the rally.

The Eagles made a final drive in the last period to score when Couch went over from the two yard line. His teammate, Cumpston, turned in a perfect kicking record with this sixth goal from placement for the afternoon.

The Loboes, far lighter than their foes, could not cope with them on the ground. They held them fairly well in the second half, however. Outside of Beasley's 35 yard flash, there were no outstanding offensive plays for the Loboes, but the entire team played a hard-fought defensive game. Superior punting by Cisco aided materially in offsetting the Eagle 25 first downs to three for the Loboes.

Lineups

Following are the starting lineups:

Abilene—Herman and Dodd, ends; Alsbrook and Joeris tackles; Campbell and Hays, guards; Jones, center; Couch, quarter; Moser and Cumpston, halves; Harris, full.

Cisco—Burns and Wende, ends; Wagley and Barnes, tackles; Merritt and Rainbolt, guards; Ivie, center; Stansbury, quarter; Ryle and Beasley, halves; Wood, full.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE KINGFISHER,
A BIRD WHICH IS AN EXPERT AT CATCHING FISH, IS NOT A SWIMMING BIRD!

THE kingfisher comes from a family of insect catchers. Long ago, the bird discovered that fish were easier to catch and far more filling than insects, so he renounced the family habit and became a fisherman. He sits on a limb overhanging a stream and dives straight into the water.

Title Game To Be On Both Networks

It was today announced that both National radio networks will honor the Southwest Football conference by carrying the game played Saturday afternoon between Texas Christian university and Southern Methodist university from Fort Worth on coast-to-coast hookups. In Texas, the game will be sponsored by the Humble Oil and Refining company, which has brought Southwest conference football games to radio fans since the beginning of the season.

Both pick-ups will be made by local organizations, and the Texas announcers who have been describing football in such vivid fashion for Southwestern listeners all season will handle the game. Kern Tips will broadcast over NBC stations and Byron Saam over these of the Columbia chain.

7 Baylor Seniors To Play Last Game

WACO, Nov. 29.—Seven seniors will play their last game in the Green and Gold uniform when the Baylor Bears tangle with the Rice Owls Saturday in Houston to terminate the grid season for the Bears. The graduating list includes James Floyd, center; Hugh Wilfong, tackle; Earl Wray and John Williams, ends; and Wendell Simpson, R. B. Buchanan, and Choc Sanderson, guards.

Emerging from their tussle with the Southern Methodist Mustangs last Saturday in excellent physical condition, the Bears plunged into their last week of practice. Only light signal drills were held Monday afternoon, and the practice session of Tuesday was cut short by heavy rains. However, Coach Morley Jennings says that despite the heavy battles that the Bears have waged against their conference opponents in the past few weeks, every man is in good shape, and he is expecting them to be at their peak when they take the field against the Owls Saturday.

PONIES, FROGS TO BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

INTERNATIONAL KISS
NIAGARA FALLS, Ont.—John Biasucci has to lean across an international border to kiss his wife and children. Biasucci was separated from his family by an irregularity in his immigration papers.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29.—For the third time in seven years, the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs and the Southern Methodist University Mustangs will find the Southwest Conference championship at stake when they meet on the gridiron here Saturday.

This year, as everyone knows, the two teams come up to the games with outstanding records, neither eleven defeated nor tied. The Frogs will have an undisputed and unblemished claim to the crown if they win. The Mustangs, if they win, will still have to prove their superiority over the Texas Aggies in College Station Dec. 7.

In 1929, T. C. U. needed only a tie with the powerful Mustang eleven, and got one, 7 to 7, to win the first conference crown for the Fort Worth school. The Mustangs could have shared the pennant by winning.

In 1931, the situation was just reversed. S. M. U. needed a tie with T. C. U. to gain the Southwest honors, and gained it, 0 to 0. The race would have been a deadlock between the two teams if the Frogs could have pushed over a touchdown.

Twice when these two teams met, third place in the conference standings has been the prize.

In 1930 the Frogs defeated the Fomes 13 to 0 to end up in third position. Last year S. M. U. swamped the Frogs 19 to 0, to win the same award for the Dallas institution.

The remaining two years of the seven—1932 and 1933—found the Mustangs hopelessly out of the running. In '32 they had dropped three games and tied one before their tilt with the Christians. That year the Frogs won the Southwest crown by defeating all of the remaining six schools in the conference—the only time this feat has ever been accomplished.

In 1933 T. C. U. took S. M. U. into camp 26 to 6, to tie with Baylor for second place in the standings, while the Ponies dropped to sixth place.

OFFER ON EACH CLUB OF $20.00 ENDS. NEVER AGAIN TO BE REPEATED

On Your Toes!

Turn in every subscription possible up to the close of this offer. To hold back subscriptions or to rely on promises to subscribe at a later date simply means you will be compelled to take less credits on such subscriptions.

We are putting it up to you squarely and fairly, if you entertain any idea of winning either one of the two cars to be given away, you cannot afford to let these few remaining days of big credits pass without having done your very level best. Hard work right now will count more than all the regrets in the world after the race is over.

This is the very last call for clubs earning 125,000 extra credits. All those candidates in the office at the stroke of 10 will be waited on and permitted to turn in their reports, regardless of how long it takes.

BUT--

No one will be allowed to enter the office after that hour to take advantage of the 125,000 extra credit offer.

Candidates residing outside of the city of Cisco in District 2 who are unable to come in to the office are advised to work right up to the final hour and make their last reports by mail, and these reports, no matter when they are received will be counted on this big bonus offer, providing only that such reports mailed are post marked not later than 10 p. m. on Saturday, November 30th. These reports should be addressed to Opportunity Club Manager, P. O. Box 654, Cisco, Texas.

"HUDDLED" behind a CLOSED DOOR! Many families "huddle" in one or two rooms, during cold days, around a small open flame heater with windows and connecting doors tightly closed. If you are a "huddler," you are violating one of the most important rules of personal hygiene and good health! Stagnant air is depressing and fails to produce the stimulating effect of air in motion. Connecting doors left open between adjoining rooms, when the entire house is adequately heated for comfort, provide a natural circulation of pure, warm air from one room to the other. Without adequate circulation air may become as foul and unhealthy as that of the tenement slums, even though the home may be the most beautiful in the neighborhood. If you heat only one or two rooms at a time... if you "huddle" in these rooms with connecting doors tightly closed, sudden temperature changes are unavoidable. Your family goes from an overheated room where the temperature has climbed past the point necessary for comfort, into a cold hall or unheated adjoining room. Then, shivering and chilled, they return to the heated room. This happens many times a day and each time they have unnecessarily subjected themselves to conditions that make them susceptible to highly communicable winter diseases. America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, finds a fertile field in an inadequately heated and poorly ventilated home. Don't "huddle" in one or two rooms during the short winter season... Guard the health of your loved ones with adequate heat and proper circulation of pure, warm air in every room in the house. ... CLAIMS COLD IS CAUSE FOR HALF OF ILLS

A caution against huddling in one room with windows closed during the winter has been issued by the gas company, which is continuing its series of educational messages on prevention of colds by proper heating and ventilation.

The company started the winter heating season with a program of information designed to assist customers to make their homes more comfortable and more healthful.

According to investigations by the company, many colds and other respiratory diseases, prevalent in this section in the winter time are due to improper house heating.

After exhaustive study and advice from the medical profession, the gas company advises its customers that an even temperature throughout all rooms of the house with a certain amount of moving fresh air is one of the best preventatives of colds to be found.

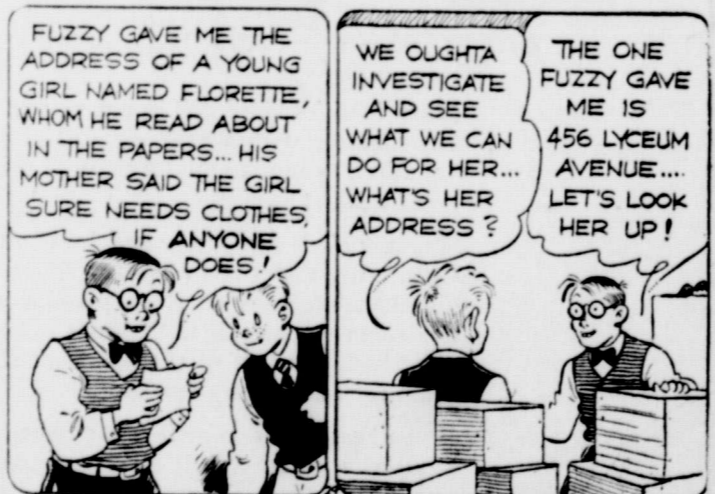

"Many families huddle in one or two rooms during cold days around a small open flame heater with windows and connecting doors tightly closed," says a current ad in the heat-for-health campaign.

"If you are a huddler, you are violating one of the most important rules of personal hygiene and good health. Without adequate circulation, air may become as foul and unhealthful as that of a tenement slums even though the home may be the most beautiful in the neighborhood."

The advertisement states that if people go from an overheated room into a cold hall or unheated adjoining room they have subjected themselves to a condition that makes them highly susceptible to communicable winter diseases.

The common cold germ is called America's Public Health Enemy Number One, because, according to medical authority 90 per cent of all diseases are traceable to the cold germ. In order to reduce this menace, the gas company advises an even temperature throughout the home with warm air in every room.
