FIVE RECAPTURED IN PRISON BREAK

PRISONER AND TRUCKER DEAD AFTER FIGHT

BOSTON, Dec. 3—A desperate daylight break by five long-term convicts from Massachusetts' century-old state prison ended today with one prisoner and a truck driver reported slain and another fugitive and three guards wounded.

Within two hours all the prison breakers were captured, dead or alive.

While guards chased the convicts along the railroad tracks toward Somerville, the ancient penitentiary situated within the shadows of Bunker Hill monument echoed with the yammering of 900 riotous prisoners who were locked in their cells when the cells before the break started.

Trucker's Skull Crushed
Louis Richards of Somerville, driver of a truck which had just delivered potatoes to the prison, was reported to have had his skull crushed with a bludgeon when the convicts commandeered the truck.

Prison officials said the prisoner slain was Philip Naples, 32, sentenced last month to 16 to 20 years for robbery.

Seriously wounded was William McManus, 27, Boston, serving a 20 to 24 year term for armed robbery. Trapped in a freight shed in the railroad yards behind the prison, he was shot by pursuers and carried back to the penitentiary.

Hit Near Truck
A few minutes later Frank Joyce, 21, was trapped in another shed and recaptured.

It was about 9:30 a. m. when the five desperados started swift execution of what was to be the bloodiest escape plot in the recent history of the prison.

The convicts, secreted themselves in one of the buildings. As the truck left the prison the five men dashed from their hiding place and boarded it. They crashed through the prison gate at full speed. Outside the walls the five abandoned the truck and raced into the railroad yards.

Cluck Commended On Adult School Work
Superintendent R. N. Cluck today received a telegram from A. A. Bullock, state director of the adult section of the Texas State Teachers association, upon election to the presidency of the Adult Teachers association.

Cluck was elected to the position at the state teachers meeting at San Antonio during the Thanksgiving holidays. Last year he was vice president of the organization and served as its head following the resignation of the president.

3—Exertion of its influence in favor of an Italian-Ethiopian peace acceptable to Italy, Ethiopia, and the League.

Second Trades Day Planned for Saturday

TURKEYS WILL BE THROWN TO CROWDS HERE

The second Trades Day of the holiday season, with hundreds being away turkey to those who catch them, will be staged here Saturday of this week.

The big crowd attracted by the first Trades Day event on November 20 was highly successful, and from the number of people brought to the downtown shopping district and the great number of turkeys sold, it is expected that the success of the next event will be many more people anxious to participate in this one.

As an evidence of lack of roughness, it was pointed out that two women secured turkeys without any trouble or inconvenience to themselves.

Merchants are dressing their windows and are arranging for bargain events, so that those who come to town with the intention of doing some Christmas shopping will be well pleased.

Cisco will be dressed for the occasion and the Christmas shopping here is expected to begin in earnest Saturday.

Plans Are Shaped For Amateur Hour

Following are the organizations to participate in the program, in the order of their appearance: West Ward Rhythm Band, Grammar School P-T, A. Charles Tucker's dancing class, Cisco Boosters, Mrs. Clifford Yeager's O. O. Music club, Mrs. Ray Godfrey's expression class, Mrs. Ben Krauskopf's violin ensemble, American Legion Auxiliary, Delphian club, Music Study club, First Industrial Arts club, Junior Music Lovers club, Twentieth Century club, and Community Choral club.

TOM HICKMAN OWN WITNESS ON DISMISSAL

FORT WORTH, Dec. 3—Capt. Tom Hickman, discharged ranger chief, appeared as the first witness in his own defense before the legislative committee investigating the fruitless raid Nov. 6 on Top o' Hill Terrace and Hickman's subsequent dismissal.

Following a recital of his history as an officer, Hickman told Representative John Atchison of Gainesville of his struggle with L. C. Phares, head of the Texas State Safety commission.

"Have any members of the commission had any experience in crime experience?" Atchison asked.

"Not to my knowledge," Hickman replied.

"How about Mr. Phares?" Atchison asked.

"He should have some knowledge as to highway but as to major crime I wouldn't say he had very much," Hickman answered.

Two Months of Italians' Slow Progress in Ethiopia

The relatively slow progress which Italy's invading armies have made in the first two months of their Ethiopian conquest is shown by this map. Since Oct. 2, when the Italians first pushed over the border from Assab, they have advanced about 80 miles in the northern area and about 125 miles in the south, though bombing planes and reconnoitering forces have made deeper forays. Slowness of the campaign is regarded responsible for Marshal Pietro Badoglio's taking over chief command from Gen. Emilio de

Bona. Absence of any major battles in the first two months indicates Ethiopians are adhering to their announced plan of drawing the invaders into the interior with little resistance until the Italians reach points for the best defense by untrained warriors.

Daily News Opportunity Club Banquet to Be Wednesday Night

COTTON MEN ARE URGED TO SUPPORT AAA

DALLAS, Dec. 3—The New Deal called on Southern cotton farmers today to back up solidly its cotton control program in the face of a critical supreme court test.

Chester Davis, AAA administrator, offered cotton growers the choice between Sec'y of Agriculture Henry Wallace's new four year program and almost certain economic ruin.

He reminded them of suits now before the supreme court challenging the constitutionality of the AAA and the Bankhead act and appealed to them for a "united front."

At the same time, Davis intimated strongly that the government would seek a way soon to dispose of the 4,000,000 bales of cotton held under 12-cent government loans.

Davis chose the convention of the Texas Agricultural Association as the setting for his address outlining the administration's new cotton policy.

Club Members Due To Gather at Laguna For a Dinner

All of the active members of the Cisco Daily News and Cisco American and Roundup Opportunity Club are planning today to attend the banquet tomorrow night at the Laguna hotel.

This banquet and sales meeting afterwards is one of the high lights of the campaign and in the general round table discussion which will follow the sales meeting many valuable pointers will be gained by these hustling candidates who have worked so faithfully and loyally through good and bad weather to boost to a new high level the already large circulation of these newspapers.

Time and Place
On Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Blue Room on the mezzanine floor of the Laguna hotel, the candidates and the representatives of these newspapers, along with the management of the Opportunity Club, will meet for a general get-together.

For the first time some of the candidates will meet and get to know better their opponents in the big prize race. City candidates will meet county candidates and will have a real opportunity to understand and appreciate the wide scope of these newspapers, one of which has for 16 years been the leader in its field, the other for more than 50 years has been the outstanding newspaper in this section of West Texas.

An interesting time, a good dinner and a real knowledge of just what the aims of these newspapers are in their present trade expansion campaign, is promised.

ESCAPES BY INCHES

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio—Fifteen months old Alice Mae Dennis was run over by a truck here and escaped without a scratch. She toddled into its path as it backed from the driveway. The truck knocked her down, but the wheels missed her.

WEATHER

DETAILS FOR BRITTON RITES NOT DECIDED

Funeral arrangements for O. C. Britton, founder of Britton Training School, now Randolph college, who died Sunday in Durham, N. C., were still not known here today, relatives said this morning.

Relatives were expecting further information on details of the funeral arrangements, they indicated, but nothing had been received at noon today.

Immediate survivors include the widow the former Miss Sammie Patterson, daughter of the late John F. Patterson of this city; and three children, O. Britton, Jr., Miss Martha Beryl Britton, and Jack Britton, all of Durham. Mrs. Britton is a sister of Judge B. W. Patterson and Mrs. C. S. Karkalis of Eastland.

Mr. Britton, pioneer in the field of education for the "country boy and girl" of West Texas, was a teacher in various schools of this county, founding Scranton Academy. Later he came to Cisco and started the Britton Training School in 1909, the entire institution operating for the first year in the single building that is now the girls' dormitory at Randolph college.

The teacher training school became a junior college in 1915 but was closed in 1917 when the outbreak of the World War cut deeply into the personnel of the student body. At one time there were 250 students in the school.

Buckaroo-Sandies Tickets On Sale

Cisco football fans who wish to see the Breckenridge-Amarillo bi-district clash Saturday today were urged by Principal H. Brandon of the high school here to secure tickets from him as early as possible.

Brandon said this morning that he had ordered a block of 50 reserved seat tickets and the Breckenridge officials were sending them immediately. The tickets will be on sale at $1.25 each.

Most of the reserved seat tickets are already sold, it was said, Breckenridge having sold 3,000 yesterday.

METHODS TO END WAGE EVIL ARE ADVANCED

AUSTIN, Dec. 3—Three methods here advocated today before a house committee here to prevent what labor men considered evils in working conditions on state highway jobs.

Wallace Reilly, Austin, Executive secretary of the State Federation of Labor, urged an amendment to the present law calling for payment of prevailing wages. The amendment would take away from the department letting a contract the right to say which the prevailing wage and would vest the power in the labor department. Such an amendment was defeated at the last regular session, after having passed the house.

Other proposals were: inclusion in specifications of the proportionate number of skilled, intermediate, and common laborers to be employed; placing labor inspectors on jobs to see that intermediate workers are not required to do the work of skilled workers for the smaller pay.

BALD STEER THRIVES

ASHLAND, O.—Farmer Earl La Plante has a bald bull—a completely hairless animal born during a windstorm. There's nothing wrong with this steer, because its entirely normal except for the expense of pinkish-tan skin.

Inflation Method For Bonus Gains

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—Powerful support for the currency inflation method of paying the $2,500,000,000 soldiers' bonus came today from acting House Majority Leader Edward T. Taylor, dem., Colo.

Taylor's support of the bonus payment method, advocated by Representative Wright Patman, dem., Texas, and opposed by the administration, developed as he announced he would refuse to continue to act as acting leader unless supported by a direct party house caucus vote. His decision threatened a serious disruption in house democratic ranks.

Montgomery Outlines Program

Leaders the country over are outlining programs for democrats—"an ideal program," mind you. Dr. R. H. Montgomery, University of Texas economics professor on leave for work, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the university progressive democrats—a student organization which was a branch of the Young Democrats of Texas. Dr. Montgomery never hesitates to outline his views of what should constitute an ideal program for the people. Not many moons ago, Rep. William Elmer Pope made the very blunt announcement that he would drive Montgomery from the campus and perhaps out of the state.

Now the professor is on leave of absence and one of the advisers of the Roosevelt administration. His program was accepted by the University Progressive Democrats. It declares that the sole and only function of a democratic society is to produce goods and services and get these distributed to a large number of people; second, the individual's share in these goods and services should be determined by his share in producing these goods and service unless he is unable to produce or has been segregated by the community; and third, our society must provide the greatest possible amount of freedom for the individual—"and I mean freedom of freemen, not of free-booters."

This should be passed on to William Elmer, whose place of residence is Corpus Christi and who has been a long-time member of the law making body of Texas. This university professor who has a national reputation placed this in the record as the essentials for the rational groundwork of a 20th Century democracy. He stated four other corollary propositions, explaining that each answered pertinent questions. Read the Montgomery answers:

"First, private monopoly of essential goods or services is against public policy. Second, the equality of opportunities for the essentials of life must be provided for each individual. Third, government functions must be kept as close to the people as possible and should be exercised by the agency which is most competent to handle the task. Fourth, business and social functions should be performed through government agencies only and always in case the latter method is more satisfactory than under private control.

Speaking of the supreme court and the actions it will take on various new deal measures and what reactions its decisions will produce, Dr. Montgomery holds, "with all other political students," that the power of the court to declare laws unconstitutional was "seized rather than authorized." He stated he believed this seizure should be nullified.

Hon. William Elmer Pope, unless the Lord intervenes, may sit again in the house of representatives in January and outline his well known and ancient views of what should constitute an ideal democracy for Americans, young and old, who are fighting the battles of today and hope to be able to fight the battles of the future while they are walking in their footsteps of "the lovers of liberty and constitutional government" who passed out with the old order of things in this republic. William Elmer always knows where to find himself and progressive democrats always know where to find William Elmer.

Waving Red-Orange-Pink Flag

American communist and social leaders of the Karl Marx school held an important conference in New York. It was of a red-orange-pink complexion. Earl Browder, general secretary of the communist party, and Norman Thomas, presidential candidate of the socialist party in America, were the principal speakers. Overtures were made by the red and pink forces to create and support a national farm-labor party in the United States. The red lion and the pink white lamb denounced capitalism. They denounced profit in business. Both agreed that an American farm-labor party would be much broader than "the communist and socialist parties" and would necessarily include both of them.

Norman Thomas began active life as a minister of the gospel. He deserted the gospel of the Man of Galilee for the gospel of Karl Marx. Now he is courting the smiles of the reds who will be wiped off the political map in the campaign next year just as the Brazilian government put down the reds in that country in the recent very bloody but abortive revolt of the red flaggers in Brazil and their soviet Russian instigators.

With All My Love

By Mary Raymond

Copyright NEA 1935

BEGIN HERE TODAY
After the death of her parents, lovely DANA WESTBROOK, child of her mother's second marriage, comes to America to live with her grandmother, MRS. WILLIARD CAMERON.
Dana's half-sister, NANCY WALLACE is resentful over Dana's coming.
Mrs. Cameron hopes Dana will make a brilliant marriage, she is elated when rich RONALD MOORE becomes interested in her young granddaughter.
Lonely Nancy masks her love for Ronald behind an antagonistic attitude.
Meanwhile, Dana and DR. SCOTT STANLEY become attracted to each other. PAULA LONG, desperately in love with Scott, watches his interest in Dana deepen.
Dana is caught in a storm and takes refuge in Scott's cottage. With his car in the shop and telephone wires out, the two young people anxiously wait for the storm to end.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII
THE room was warm and cozy in the fireplace flames leaped and crackled, but not loud enough to drown out the sound of the peering rain. Involuntarily Dana drew toward the fire.
"Let's talk," she said to Scott.
"It won't do any good to worry. And the storm can't last all night." She felt she must not add to Scott's uneasiness.
"What shall we talk about?" he asked.
"Oh—things. You might tell me about yourself, for instance."
"There's not much to tell."
"But there must be. What about this house, your professional training, everything?"
He grinned at her unexpectedly. "Well, that's a large order—everything! It's just the usual story. My father was a physician and surgeon. I grew up in this town, you know. My father was hurt in an accident and died. After that Mother didn't care about living. I know she tried, for my sake, but she couldn't."
"She didn't?"
"No, she didn't kill herself. Something snapped—the will to live. I guess. They said she died of heart trouble."
"Then?" Dana persisted.
"There was money enough to send me to school for a while, and by that time I had this medic gem. So here I am! Now what about you?"
Dana told him. There had never been much money, but she and her father and mother had had gay times. She remembered her mother as laughing a great deal. With a shine in her eyes, she remembered, too, the funny little foreign houses they had lived in. The floors were always hopping up on different levels. And there were picture-que gables and unexpected stairways. Dana said she supposed they lived in such places because her artist father hated things that followed a circumscribed pattern.
"And your mother liked them because he did," Scott added.
Dana said impulsively, "We have something in common, haven't we—the devotion of our parents?"

AFTERWARD she wondered why he had said that. Her face had flushed, her pulse quickening strangely when Scott's hand closed over hers for a moment.
The fire burned lower. After a while a silence closed down between Dana and her grandmother, she is elated when rich RONALD MOORE becomes interested in her young granddaughter.
Lonely Nancy masks her love for Ronald behind an antagonistic attitude.
Meanwhile, Dana and DR. SCOTT STANLEY become attracted to each other. PAULA LONG, desperately in love with Scott, watches his interest in Dana deepen.
Dana is caught in a storm and takes refuge in Scott's cottage. With his car in the shop and telephone wires out, the two young people anxiously wait for the storm to end.

Outside it was calm and still, but evidences of the tempest were everywhere. In the battered trees, in the street strewn with branches, in the water which was deep in the low places. More than once Scott lifted Dana in his arms and carried her, while he threaded his way through debris and water.
A car coming along the quiet street slowed down at a corner. The lights were turned for a moment toward them. Dana followed the car with her eyes, thinking the outlines of the car were familiar.
"It's 2:30," Scott said. "Or nearer 3. Your family will be off their heads."
"No. Grandmother never stays up for us and Aunt Ellen isn't the worrying kind. Nancy—" She stopped. She had been about to say, "Nancy wouldn't worry about me." But it didn't seem a sisterly thing to say.
"It's a sort of self-governing household," Dana amended. "In some respects at least. And in other respects it isn't."
"I hope this is one of the self-governing occasions," Scott said. He fitted her key in the lock carefully.
"Thanks for taking such good care of me," Dana said in a low tone. "I really had a grand time. And here we are."
"And the gossip none the wiser," Scott said, with a short laugh. "That's something really to be thankful for." He pressed her hand hard, and then was gone.
Dana stood inside, with the door slightly ajar, watching him. Presently his tall figure merged with the darkness. She shut the door quietly and went up the stairs.
In her own room Nancy had been awakened by the sound of Dana's cautious ascent.

DOGS LEAVE FOR COAST TO MEET BRONCS

PORT WORTH, Dec. 3.—The Texas Christian University football squad left Fort Worth at 10 o'clock this morning for San Francisco, where they play the Clara University Broncos in the season game on Dec. 7. The game will mark the end of the season for the Frogs. They were defeated until last Saturday when they fell before the powerful Southwestern Methodist Mustangs, 20 to 14. Sunday's game with Santa Clara renewed relations which began last year at the end of the season. The Frogs defeated the Broncos in a thrilling encounter in what turned out to be the home game of the season for the Frogs. The outcome of that game was surprising for the Frogs were one of the strongest in the west—losing only to Stanford on a muddy field. This year the Frogs will enter the season as heavy favorites. They lost only one game while running through a tough schedule, and one was won by S. M. U. who beat Stanford in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Lawrence, C.P.K. Out
Although the whole T. C. U. squad made the top two valuable players of the purple machine like Jimmy Lawrence, ace half back, and Rex Clark, Lawrence's running mate, will be with injuries suffered against Mustangs. "Dutch" Kline will fill in Clark's place and Harold Ware or Vic Montgomery will be on for Lawrence. The rest of the squad came out of the S. tilt unharmed except for minor injuries.

Frogs will work out on two fields before they arrive at Golden Gate Coach Meyer to run his squad through their on the Denver University field today and on Thursday in Salt City, Utah. The game is expected to attract thousands of Californians to Kozar stadium to view the widely publicized attack of Sam Baugh company.

Kept Kickers Of Jones Save Games

ORMAN, Okla.—Lawrence Biff spent much time grooming punters and place kickers on the Sooner of Oklahoma team and that the season is over he it was time well invested. was the accuracy of place that produced two game win-field goals for the Sooners. Michael Boudreau's 40 yard field won the season's opener again 3 to 0, and Bill Breeden's produced the three points that the Big Six conference game at Kansas State. Boudreau's goal also started the Sooners against Iowa State, another conference game the Sooners tucked to Hewes and Woody Hudon completed the roster of kickers that Jones pushed up for all campaigns. All were good. Against eight teams they outgained via punts by Colorado and Missouri only. Against State Sooner punts averaged yards.

Olympic Honor For Naismith Is Sure

LAWRENCE, Kan., Dec. 3.—Plans to honor Dr. James Naismith of the University of Kansas, who founded basketball, with a trip to the Berlin Olympic Games, are going forward rapidly, according to Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics here. The idea is sponsored nationally by the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Basketball will be played at the Olympics next year for the first time. Dr. Naismith started the game 30-odd years ago when he was an athletic instructor at the Y. M. C. A. college at Springfield, Mass.

According to Dr. Allen, all basketball teams and organizations will be asked to set aside one game in the week of Feb. 9-15 and contribute one cent from each admission toward the Naismith fund.

Many Improvements In New Ford Radio

Numerous improvements to the Ford radio, of which the current year's production will total close to a quarter of a million sets, were announced for 1936 today by the Ford Motor company. From the appearance point of view, the most important change is the adoption of an invisible speaker, mounted above the windshield. The rounded roof lines of the car remain unbroken, while the listener has the benefit of ear-level reception introduced in the Ford radio a year ago. The set continues to be of six tubes, with a number of chassis improvements. The chassis case has been shortened and made more compact, fitting underneath the instrument panel and above the steering column. It is invisible to those sitting on the front seat. The set has slightly increased sensitivity and external noises have been lessened, it is claimed. Internal circuit filtering now keeps out more external interference, such as from high tension wires and street cars, improving reception, especially in cities.

The speaker is of entirely new design. It is mounted flush on the header bar above the windshield. When installed it is covered by the car trim, completely out of sight. In the manufacture of the speaker, parts are held to tolerances as close as seven ten-thousandths (.0007) and one ten-thousandth (.0001) of an inch. The speaker cone has been redesigned to insure good reception right through the scale including high notes and bass notes.

Instead of having a three-point tone control, a constantly variable tone control is now used.

Ground-Gaining Drive in Nation's Best Grid Game of 1935 Season
