DROUGHT COMMITTEE STARTS ON TOUR

About Our Friends

By STEPHEN A. LONG

The agreements secured by Capt. R. N. Cluck, with three new schools and the re-acceptance of tracts of schools that had formerly patronized Cisco, is another feather in the cap of this live superintendent and his board of trustees. Cisco was one of the few schools of the state to inaugurate diversified occupations course and it has seemingly made good. Now other schools, some much larger than Cisco are following...

A live school head and a board that is wise enough to catch the pulse of progress should merit the probation of the entire mass of parents. Often we do not properly appreciate what we have until another school has plucked the same from our hand...

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pratt have returned from a visit to the Centennial. They will likely tell us about what they saw in a few days...

The two young sons of Hon. Wright Patman... visited in Cisco a few moments Saturday... nice young chaps... very modest... not what one usually expects of those who may have spent much of their young lives in a city like Washington... It is their personalities and not what they appear to be now that will make them prominent figures some years hence, perhaps... The power of education to train men for future achievements is its greatest accomplishment...

Doc Cabanes, who is president of the men's class at the First Baptist Sunday school tells a good story... yes... no... well, we would, too... but at any rate he held the office... The subject of the lesson was about the power... Of course W. F. Walker, teacher for the class didn't talk much about that particular phase of the lesson but... We are discussing... said Cabanes...

A young man didn't like a certain farmer, so he went out in the night time and sowed the farmer's black land farm down with Johnson grass... then the war came on and the young fellow was gone across the seas for a few years... he forgot about the enemy and the field he had sown... when he returned he found that the little weedy face girl had grown into a beautiful woman... of course they married... Doc wouldn't ruin good story by bringing tragedy to it... and behold the farmer we have then the farm as a wedding present... Now we suppose that reaping what you sow with vengeance... But it did hit the point...

The basis of the peace campaign is laid in a four-point program which is stated to indicate "the indispensable minimum requirements of any collective system for the organization of peace." ## The Brass Rule Of Life

"Don't expect to succeed by being good and unselfish, or practicing the Golden Rule," advises an American actress who has cut a splurge in her time and now, in her old age, is writing her memoirs. "Always do what you want, whether it is moral, proper, conventional or what anyone else thinks you ought to want. It's your life, not their's. Be yourself at all costs, really and deeply. Don't be fooled. Virtue is its only reward. Unselfishness leads to more unselfishness, and the world is full of wolves who will take it off if you let them. Go for what you want and stick to it; then, perhaps, you will have as good a time as I have had."

This is honest, at least, and honesty is better than hypocrisy, no matter what heresy it may flaunt. The High-flier actress is welcome to her opinion. It may be remarked however, that if the world is as she says she has found it, here is a notable case of the old truth that one finds in the life what one looks for. Against any such sordid view of life can be set the testimony of many witnesses certainly no less trustworthy who say at the close of a well spent life that they have found the world full of kindness and generosity. Whether we should "be ourselves really and deeply," may depend on what kind of selves we are, and how much we interfere in others being ourselves. Most of us are humble enough to admit that maybe we need a little improvement before giving our inmost desires free play. What this woman offers as a rule of life requires little analysis to prove it a brass rule, which stands little chance of supplanting the Golden Rule as the ideal of really intelligent men and women.

Bad Check Smoothtree

Said a man to me the other day, "Recently in response to an advertisement which I inserted in the 'Help Wanted' column, I received a letter from a man named Smoothtree. His application interested me and I told my secretary to call up the number he had given and tell him to come around and see me. She rang up and said she'd like to speak to Mr. Smoothtree." "Yes," replied the woman who answered the phone, "I'd like to speak to him myself. He gave me a bad check this morning for his board, and skipped out."

By an old coincidence I happen to know Mr. Smoothtree myself. I have known him for a number of years. The first time I heard of him was in connection with a bad check, and I have been hearing of him in company with bad checks ever since. From my first knowledge of Mr. Smoothtree he has been broke. Bill collectors are always on his trail, Lawyers usually are hunting him, and the sheriff generally has an eye peeled for him. Most of the time he has been just on the edge of the penitentiary. Yet Mr. Smoothtree is under the impression that he is beating the game. He fancies he is getting ahead of the world. He thinks every time he gives somebody a bad check and gets away with it he is just that much ahead. He married a nice girl and has been dragging her from one difficulty into another. If she wasn't a good sport she would have quit him long ago, but she hopes she can do something with him; perhaps she can.

Mr. Smoothtree is working harder for what little he gets than anybody we know. He is always in trouble and always will be in trouble. He has to dodge about half the people in his county. He knows they look on him with contempt. He is always short of clothes and short of food, and looking for somewhere to live; he can stay in the same place but a short time because whenever he has anything to pay he gives a bad check and then of course he must travel!

It is marvelous, isn't it, that a man will go to such lengths for so little. It is astounding that a fellow will sell his birthright for a mess of pottage. It is unbelievable that human beings made in the image and likeness of God, is willing to so demean and debase himself for a few paltry dollars.

Why should a creature who has the privilege of walking around as a man, and of being a man, choose to be a jackal? This is a land of opportunity; this is country where any out with health, yes, with out it, can work and make good; and hold up his head and be respected and treated like a lord of a castle.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (UP)—Weakest link in the chain of law enforcement sought to be welded together by creating a State Department of Safety is contact with local law officers.

SHEARER'S quarters in Austin. He was puzzled how to strengthen that link.

An example of the weakness was given when prisoners escaped from a prison farm, kidnaped a man and had a fight after their victim tipped off a filling station operator in their flight.

Safety Department headquarters received no notice from the prison farm where the break occurred, from the point where the man and automobile were seized nor from the town where the fight took place. These possible points of contact all failed to put the state department with its forces on notice. The result was several days of fruitless effort to run down the convicts—ended only when a local constable stumbled upon them asleep.

Names placed in the new floor of the state capitol have sent many usually well informed persons on a history hunt. Palmito and Coleto stump most people. Palmito might register with more Texas if its full name were used—Palmito Hill. It was at that spot in Cameron county that the last battle of the Civil War was fought in Texas. In these days of rapid spread of information it seems strange that this battle between the Blue and the Gray could have taken place 34 days after the surrender of Gen. Robert E. Lee at Appomattox Court House Va.

Coleto Creek was the place where Colonel Fannin and his men surrendered to an overwhelming force of Mexicans. They were taken from there to Goliad more generally associated with Fannin's name because of the execution of the Texans.

From the "Fifty-Five Years Ago" column of the Williamson County Sun, comes the information that Governor's proclamations were used more sparingly a half century ago.

The Sun of Aug. 5, 1881 announced that the Jefferson Debating Society of Georgetown would debate the propriety of Gov. O. M. Roberts' action in refusing to issue a proclamation, as governors of other states had done, setting apart a day of fasting and prayer for the recovery of President Garfield. Governor Roberts contended that fasting and praying were religious and not governmental functions.

Site of the Buchanan Dam, first of the big works to control Colorado River flood water now being constructed near Burnet, is reached by so round-about a way that most visitors are completely lost as to direction when they reach it.

It is not surprising that the first question asked by many is: "Which way does the river flow?"

The workers invariably reply: "Down stream like all rivers."

Work on the dam which was begun as the "Hamilton Dam" on the Insull power system, is moving rapidly forward. It is expected that retarding of the stream flow can begin this fall. Normal flow must be permitted to pass the dam site. Only flood waters are to be stopped, so it will depend on the weather when the reservoir basin begins to fill. It may take two years to store the full amount of water.

The Texas Governor's assignment for national campaign speeches have not been issued. He will go wherever the speakers bureau directs. Personally he would like to tear out right behind Gov. Alf M. Landon, republican presidential nominee, and argue his state's rights stand.

The Texas Governor accuses the Kansas of being against states rights and for a federal dictator of oil control. As a participant in the movement for an oil state compact Alfred made a special investigation of that feature.

Awaiting word from party leaders and in order to keep his Texas desk clear, Alfred meanwhile is turning down many invitations.

Regrets have been sent to the sesqui-centennial celebration of David Crockett's birth, at Greenville, Tenn., to the Arkansas convention of the American Legion; to the Inter-Tribal Indian ceremonial at Gallup, N. M.; to the "Texas Picnic" of former Texans now living in Arizona, and to California's anniversary of admission to the Federal Union.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—The amusing and exciting aspects of the Townsend movement's convention in Cleveland still gave little indication as to the size of the vote the Lemke ticket will roll up this year.

Among politicians, hardly anyone has been heard of who is at the moment guessing a total of more than 1,500,000. Many estimates run below that.

Despite the fact that Dr. Townsend himself and the Rev. Gerald Smith have joined Father Coughlin in supporting Lemke, there is no particular boom in the North Dakota congressman's stock.

One reason is that it appears to be manifestly impossible to "deliver" the Townsdenites to any presidential candidate this year. Townsend's hold on his followers is none too firm. When the impressively large crowd of delegates cheered Gomer Smith's hysterical speech almost as hysterically as they did Coughlin's vicious attack on the president, it began to appear that the doctor's dream of controlling millions of votes might be slightly cockeyed.

A further tip-off is that the three states of the Pacific Coast, birthplace and chief stronghold of the Townsend movement, are generally considered certain to go for Roosevelt this year by big majorities.

Nevertheless, the Union Party will be backed by the most spectacular group of rabble-rousers gathered into a political party in our time—lacking only the late Huey Long to give it vital leadership—and predictions now are likely to fall wide of the mark, either way.

The ticket will get much or most of what cynical politicians call "nut vote" and nobody knows how big that vote is.

YOU may have noticed an interesting story about the flight of an army transport to Jasper, Ala., to get a bill passed in the closing days of Congress. Speaker William B. Ewing signed the bill.

Then the plane took off from Valde, Tex., where Vice President Garner also signed the bill. The bill was supposed to be a rather inconsequential overlooked in the last-minute rush through a bill passed during the closing days of the session.

The inside story is this: In closing days the administration pushed through a bill providing that a congressional committee might take recalcitrant witnesses to court on contempt charges the summer and fall as well when Congress was in session. The bill passed House and Senate without amendment. Someone on the Senate side was on it "passed with amendment" if that had been correct, the bill couldn't have become a law. The House had no time to pass any Senate amendments.

The bill went on the wrong side of a considerable mixup resulting in everything was strangled out and the bill was saved. The quick flight to Jasper, Tex., was the result.

Significance of the episode that important Senate investigating committees will be able to make things immediately hot witnesses who refuse to answer their questions, instead of being compelled to wait until after the session—and until Congress convenes in January—to be able to start prosecutions.

Their Thrill at the Expo

This is a sure way to beat the heat, according to the trio of ladies who were visiting the Ford building at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas. They are, from left to right: La Verle Raggsdale, two and a half years old, Dallas; Verlie Joe Gregson, age three, of Grand Oklahoma, and Karen McCray, age four, of Moline, Kansas.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS

Rich and Reckless

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MOLLY MILFORD, rich and popular, has received proposals of marriage from three suitors...

A girl was standing there. A girl who was as much like Molly as her own reflection in a mirror.

THE newspaper front pages were filled with details of a bank robbery. Molly read them, but, despite the headlines, she was sure it was going to be a dreadfully dull day.

attractive. Donna, haven't you ever known the time when you were so eager for something different that you'd have gone out with—her eyes fell on the headlines of the paper—a bank robber, if he'd asked you?

FOR dinner at Frency's—wherever Frency's might be—she would wear her new pleated blue crepe with the white patent belt and a cluster of patent-leather flowers at the neckline.

"Molly!" Donna's voice was startled. "What could Brent have been thinking of to take you there?"

Horned Frog Team Prospects Bright

FORT WORTH, Aug. 17—Sixteen lettermen, plus 11 squaddens, plus 21 sophomores, in the case of the Horned Frog football team of T. U. U. adds up to quite a bright prospect for the 1936 season.

The roster for the coming season shows that some 48 men are slated to report September 10 to coach L. K. "Duten" Meyer, and his new assistant, Mike Brumbelow, when the real action is called at the opening practice session.

At least one veteran will be available for every post. At most of the positions there are several men who will be able to divide the time without weakening the team, something that the Frogs have not always had in years past.

The line appears to be a little stronger than the backfield, even though such stars as Capt. Darrell Lester at center, Tracy Kellow at guard, Wilson Groseclose and Manuel Godwin at tackle, and Melvin Diggs, at end, will be missing.

To replace these are most of last year's big fast freshmen crew and a bunch of junior and senior lettermen. The ends will be especially strong, with four lettermen, including last year's regulars. The lettermen are Capt. Walter Roach, L. D. Meyer, Will Wallis and Charlie Needham. To back these up will be Squadman Paul Snow and Sophomores Charles Mabry, Charley Williams and Bob Jordan, all promising wingmen.

In order to fill Groseclose's hole at right tackle, Coach Meyer has switched Aubrey Linne to that position. Line is especially good on defense. If he can get the hang of the offensive duties, he is sure to be heard from plenty.

Roosevelt Views Cleveland Exposition

Detouring on his inspection of flood control projects, President Franklin D. Roosevelt made a brief visit to Cleveland's Great Lakes Exposition, before returning to Washington D. C. Here the president is shown in his car in front of the Automotive building at the big lake front show with a secret service man leaning against the windshield. The president viewed two major WPA projects, the work of enlarging municipal airport and the $3,000,000 lake front boulevard, while in the city. He was cheered by thousands as his car proceeded through downtown streets. Beside the president sits Mayor Harold Burton of Cleveland.

left guard in 1935, to the right side of the line. Behind him will be letterman Mason Mayne, squaddens George Dunlap and sophomores Clifford Kellow (Tracy's brother) and Forrest Kline.

Solon Holt will take Harrison's place at left guard, instead of playing tackle, as he did last year. Another letterman, Gynn Rogers, will divide time with him.

Jack Little will probably step in to the all-American shoes of Lester at the pivot post. Little showed his ability several times last year while earning his "T" as a sophomore—particularly in the Sugar Bowl game against L. S. U.

Squadman Elliott Phares and Sophomores Ki Aldrich, Paul Tankersley and Leon Pickett will be at the same post.

Other linemen whose positions have not been determined yet are Jack Peavy, Carroll Adair, Bill Farley and Farris Wheatley.

The Frog backfield will have to be rebuilt, with the exception of Sam Baugh at quarter. George Kline and Rex Clark will be missing at left half. Jimmy Lawrence will leave the right wing open.

while Taldon Manton will have to be replaced at full.

Glenn "Donkey" Roberts, senior letterman, will probably be the starting fullback. His relief will probably be Limon Blackmon, junior squaddens. Two sophomores who started on last year's freshman eleven will also be ready to go at that position—Ward Wilkinson and Horace Carswell.

Two lettermen are available at right half. Vic Montgomery and Harold McClure will battle it out for the starting position. Both have earned a couple of letters.

Johnny Hall and Leo Crockett will also work at this position. Also, Coach Meyer has indicated that he may use Wilkinson at right half instead of at fullback.

At left half a sophomore, junior and senior will be fighting for the position left open by the loss of Kline and Clark. The senior is Scott McCall. He flashed his old form last season in several games and may get the starting call. However, he will be hard pushed by Junior Bob Harrell and Sophomore Pat Clifford.

Quarterback is the only position on the T. C. U. eleven for which one can name a sure starter.

Slinging Sam Baugh started the world last year with his passing and punting, and is due to shine even brighter this season in the Frog backfield.

Behind him will be Vernon Brown senior, and Davey O'Brien and Coleman Sullivan, sophomores.

The T. C. U. schedule (with 1935 scores) is as follows:
Sept. 18—(4) Howard Payne (0), Brownwood (N)

Sept. 26—Texas Tech., Lubbock (N)
Oct. 3—(13) Arkansas (7), Fort Worth.

Oct. 10—(13) Tulsa (0), Tulsa.
Oct. 17—(19) Texas A. & M. (14), College Station.

Oct. 24—Mississippi State, Dallas Centennial.
Oct. 31—(28) Baylor (0) Fort Worth.

Nov. 7—(28) Texas (0), Ft. Worth
Nov. 14—(27) Centenary (7), Ft. Worth.

Nov. 21—(27) Rice (7), Houston.
Nov. 28—(14) Rice (7), Dallas.
Dec. 12—(10) Santa Clara (6), San Francisco.
