REBEL CHIEF IGNORES BRITISH REQUEST

About Our Friends

By STEPHEN A. LONG

There is a good one that shows salesmanship of Charles Sanders as well as his power to impress authority on his young son. Charles had found that his son had left various things scattered about including some lights turned off by the young lad, to properly impress upon him seriousness of the neglect, files pictured to the little boy needles expense entailed on his notebook in having to pay extra notes by the unnecessary neglect of turning off these play lights.

Another Sandler grew eloquent as warmed up to the plea for cooperation. Among other things he asked Melvin how he posed papa was going to be able to meet all these expenses when as about all that he could do to provide for the necessary expenses they now stood. He evidently shed the little fellows warm heart because the little chap placed his hand in his pocket and took two nickels that his mother had in him to put in for the Red Cross drive at his school that day.

The carpenters have succeeded in getting up the floor at the West as Utilities company office. It is it looks like they have been doing kindling wood. Thousands of pieces of oak flooring are piled stacked about until the casual eye would think they have enough to lay end to end round the world. Now they really did need to do something about the floor.

It made one seiseck to walk on an account of its swaying and wobbling. We have never been through an earthquake but from accounts those who have had the experience, we gather the sensation was nothing similar. Hope the association of the office force through the ice house don't get into their system down there about the our holiday light bill comes in.

A Newspaper's Faith!

There are certain critics of newspapers who apparently have little conception of the work that the newspapers are doing in the world. There was a time (our grandfathers can recall it) when there was comparatively little in the average newspaper to rouse a man from his dreams, make him look with a wide-awake and seeing eye at the world around him, and—THINK.

This is what the real newspaper does today. It is not greatly bothered by the persons who say that most of the news should be suppressed because it is so "awful." The newspaper which believes in mirroring life as life really is shows greater faith in human nature than the critics—that is all. When they call this or that piece of news "awful," they often mean seductive rather than awful. They wrongly fear that human nature instinctively craves rottenness and that the exposure of a vile career will prove enticing.

It is no more enticing than the picture of an insane asylum is enticing. It shows as nothing else can show how terrible a thing sin is.

Every line of the picture thunders with a power denied to speech. The memory of it is burned into the soul with a quenchless fire. The reader, old or young, serious or gay, can never misunderstand, can never forget. It is a lesson that lasts. It is the truth in flesh and blood—the truth acting itself out before our very eyes in real life.

Bad Backs in School Girls

"You'd never dream how bad backs are until you have seen a lot of them," declared a high school physical education teacher. The physical examination at the beginning of the school year reveals posture so poor and backs so crooked as to menace present and future health.

At a London State Normal College, where entering students all undergo a careful physical examination, only 11 young women out of a class of 405 freshmen passed the health tests of the school. A definite health movement is now being started by the college, because it believes that health is of great importance to the state's teachers.

Fortunately the girls caught in high school and entering college with bad posture and with crooked backs are not too old to be helped. They are still growing. That is why the physical training teacher hopes to correct many of the present ills. The teacher quoted has undertaken to make good posture and health popular in her school. In stead of thinking about these things only in the gymnasium class two periods a week, she is striving to get the students to think about them in all their classes, on their way to and from school, at home and at play.

The general impression is that girls and women today are healthier than their predecessors a generation or two ago. Their clothes are more healthful and they have more wholesome outdoor recreation. But right along with these good developments has come a carelessness about posture which has had a decidedly harmful effect. Overcoming that is one of the big jobs of the physical educator today.

Can't Graze Soil Erosion Crops

Crops entered in the federal soil conservation program for soil building payment can not be grazed off by livestock, according to information received by County Agent Elmo V. Cook from A. L. Lmish, executive secretary of the state committee.

"Farmers have asked in many cases when they would be permitted to turn their livestock into field where crops have been left for soil conservation programs," said Conservation Assistant L. N. Miller stated. "We've just received a letter from the state office," continued Miller, "which states that crops left on soil for soil conservation payments cannot be grazed off and must be left on the land until it is plowed under. "Farmers who desire to graze off any part of their field where they have left crops on the land for soil conserving payments should write to the county agent's office and get a plow-up statement blank and the four men prepared to depart, first cutting the telephone wires. The police, when they arrived, were satisfied, first, that the four men were the Dog Wagon robbers, and second, that the four had the assistance of three outside men, a fact suspected in that former robbery but not verified.

Half-Acre in Eden

HELEN HERE TODAY MARCIA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CANFIELD, known for the neighborhood as being with gossip over the sudden disappearance of FRANK WADDELL, whose engagement to Marcia has been announced, since his disappearance, a shortage in Kendrick's funds has been discovered. With her friend, HELEN WADDELL, and others, Marcia is in a restaurant when there is a hold-up. Marcia loses a ring that was her mother's. Learning that Frank is in Chicago, Marcia goes there to try to persuade him to return and free her from all obligations, but when she reaches him, Frank leaves again. Meanwhile, TOM STILLECK suspects his brother CARLO, of being involved in the hold-up and finds some of the loot in Carlo's house. Marcia, learning her trip was in vain, takes a plane home. Storm forces the plane down and passengers seek shelter in a barn-house. Among them is BILLY McDUGALL, a stranger whom Marcia has encountered twice before. News of Marcia's trip to Chicago, in which she lives, Marcia arrives home.

CHAPTER XII ON the following day there took place another holdup, remarkable not alone for the amount of loot involved, but because of its wholesale character and because it was committed by the same four men who had robbed the Dog Wagon and its contents, and who were generally credited with having been the authors of several previous robberies as well. Mrs. Harold L. ... sister-in-law of the woman who was directing "Half-Acre in Eden" for the Stakecraft Guild, was giving a benefit bridge party at her home. Approximately a hundred women of Bobbs Neck had gathered for cards, tea and cakes and the promotion of the Village Welfare Society budget. Conversation had reached that crescendo which indicates that a benefit bridge is at the zenith when the four men entered the house without benefit of the doorbell, and, taking advantageous positions in the doorways between living room, dining room and sun porch, announced that this was a "stick-up."

The husband of Mrs. Henderson's maid, assisting for the afternoon, had just gone to the back porch to bring in the inevitable ice cream. He was thus permitted the privilege of viewing a hitherto unseen member of the bandit gang, a young man who was lounging at the side of the house and who, at sight of the Negro, commanded him promptly to get back in the house, emphasizing the order with a pistol, quickly revealed and quickly shoved back into the pocket of his overcoat. In the house the stripping of valuable property was accomplished within a very few minutes.

in Chicago as an address because I had to be there during the time I could reasonably expect an answer. The call was to tell me the job was mine. So here I am. "That's grand," said Marcia. "What—what business are you in?" McDougall looked pained. "Don't you remember my giving you a sample?" "Oh, an artist? I'm sorry—I thought that was a hobby. I guess. I really did like the sketch you gave me." "It may look like a hobby, lady, but it's bread and butter, and sometimes meat and dessert to me." "Where are you going to work?" "In New York, I thought, but perhaps Bobbs Neck, if all the merits of the town are as genuine as the Bradfords paint them." "I mean for what magazine, or whatever?"

"A SYNDICATE. They peddle my stuff to the newspapers. I draw a daily feature called 'Scenes from Life.' I did something like it out west for one paper. It was so good that a great public clamor arose for wider circulation. I held back, modestly, but the call became too great. I was persuaded, and here I am. "Do they have studios to rent in Bobbs Neck? I mean studios, not real estate development stuff." "I can't think of any offhand," said Marcia. "You may be faced with the necessity of tearing out the north wall of a house and putting in your own studio window." "Not this house, he can't," interrupted Mike. "When do you start to work, Bruce?" asked Joan. "Not until next week." "Then there's no sense in your going back to your hotel in the city tonight. You can just stay here for a day or so. Mike hasn't seen you in ages, and I'm so proud of the guest room, besides." "Let the poor guy go back to town," advised Mike. "I won't get to see much of him out here. I'll be working all day, and tomorrow night, too, probably. What would he do, moping around here?" "He can't bring him to tomorrow night's rehearsal," suggested Helen. "As long as he's going to settle down in the village, he may as well know us at our worst."

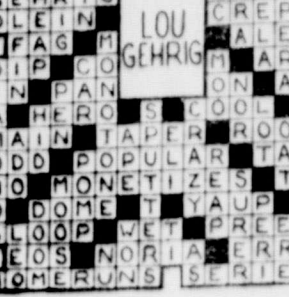

It was pleasant, thought Marcia, to see him again—this young man who was half assured, half naive, and a bit embarrassed at moments. "Well—," he said, "I really ought not—." "Do stay!" urged Marcia. "But I guess I will," said McDougall. (To Be Continued)

Letters From Our Readers

Cecil Lotief, representative for the Forty-fourth legislature, writes an open letter to Governor Alfred in which he defends his Bill No. 41 which deals with the salaries of county commissioners...

Eastland, Texas November 21, 1938 Governor James V. Alfred, Austin, Texas.

I noticed in the Fort Worth Star Telegram on November 16th an article by Associated Press stating that you vetoed my House Bill No. 41 which deals with the salaries of county commissioners...

I also read your veto proclamation giving your reasons for doing this. In your veto message you stated that you had received a report from the county officials stating that there was not one single person in that county who favored such a reduction...

In this connection I wish to say that I went to your office with Representative Collins from Dallas and we both asked you to submit local bills which you declined...

Your reason for vetoing my Bill in judgment was not logical, because you stated that the county officials did not have a public hearing before the committee...

If you will recall correctly when you were on the floor of the House you came to my desk and asked me if this Bill had already been passed, and I told you that it had been, and you did not say anything about vetoing the Bill...

In your campaign speeches you pictured old age assistance as a newly born babe and you claimed that she was growing fast and beginning to look good and healthy...

In conclusion let me state that there are a hundred good farmers and tax paying citizens who work hard and do not make over $90.00 per month. I think $90.00 a month is good enough for any small county commissioner...

ize that you have been in public office for several years always on a large salary and naturally you cannot sympathize with the farmer and the little fellow who is paying the bill.

For the information of the people in my District I wish to say that the House of Representatives passed my Bill after long deliberation by a vote of 116 to 2 and the Senate passed it 24 to 0...

With kindest personal regards I am,

Very truly yours, CECIL A. LOTIEF, Representative Eastland and Callahan Counties

P. S.—This is an open letter and I am going to offer a copy to my newspapers in order to defend myself and my record as I always have.

First Circus—First Picture for Heir to Tobacco Millions

First picture ever published of "Dickie" Reynolds, 3-year-old son of R. J. Reynolds, who recently came into a $30,000,000 inheritance, the exclusive photograph at the right above was taken the other day as the youngster visited his first circus with his parents at Winston-Salem, N. C.

Magic Valley Raises Peaches Too

The captivating beauty of Beverly Wittnebert (oval) won the admiration of John Bales, Universal Pictures star charged with the duty of selecting the queen to rule over the Texas Citrus Fiesta in Mission, and the Donna girl will ascend her throne December 4 as Queen Citrianda IV.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE CHIEF DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A CROCODILE (SHOWN ABOVE) AND AN ALLIGATOR, IS IN THE SHAPE OF THE HEAD, AND THE MANNER IN WHICH THE TEETH ARE PLACED IN THE LOWER JAW.

THE typical crocodile has a narrow, triangular head, with a round, pointed nose. The head of the alligator is broad, with the sides almost parallel. The canine tooth in the lower jaw of the crocodile fits on the outside of the upper jaw, in a notch behind the nostrils.

Transport That Will Defy Atlantic. Illustration of a transport plane. In test flights being conducted at Montreal a Burnelli transport plane, like that sketched, is being prepared by Clyde Pangborn for a flight across the Atlantic for delivery to its purchaser.

Nancy Hale of Putnam Succumbs

NAM, Nov. 24.—Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy Hale, 80, for years a resident of Putnam, were held at 3 o'clock Tuesday noon from the Methodist church, with the Rev. G. C. Wilpaster, officiating. Burial will be in the Putnam cemetery, beside the grave of her husband, James A. Hale, who died in 1909.

Mrs. Hale, who came to Putnam in 1884 and resided here until she died Monday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Bob Orr, in Gustine. News of her death was received here by Y. A. son-in-law, Mrs. Orr died in 1935 and also is buried here.

Mrs. Hale was born in Tyler in 1856. She was married to James A. Hale, in 1877. Three children survive—Mrs. Skinner of El Paso, a brother, Robert of California, also survives.

Transatlantic Delivery Man

Clyde Fungborn (above), transatlantic delivery man, hopes to be the first transoceanic arial delivery man on record. He is preparing to fly a huge Brunelli transport across the Atlantic from Montreal for delivery to a purchaser in England.

Moran-Olden Play At Eastland Friday

The executive committee of district 11-B meeting at Cisco last night at the Laguna hotel decided Moran high school should represent division 1 in a championship play-off with Olden. The game will be played Friday afternoon at Eastland.

Moran and Baird finished the division 1 race tied in percentage. Moran having three conference victories and two ties, against four wins and one defeat for Baird. The committee's vote was influenced by the fact that Moran had not been beaten, and that its team had defeated Baird.

Olden is said to have an unusually strong team for its class and the meeting of these two teams Friday will be well worth seeing.

MUSIC AIDS INSANE
WAUPUN, Wis. (AP)—Musical instruction has proven so popular with inmates of Wisconsin's central state hospital for the insane that officials have made it a major part of a new recreational program. Previous to the new recreational program the patients were limited to daily walks.

DRIVER BARRED FOR LIFE

HCRNBROCK, Cal. (AP)—A youth of this city is believed to be the first man in the United States to have received a life sentence for reckless driving. Following a suspension of his driving license for 90 days for reckless driving, a new offense brought on a suspension of the license for life.

HINTS OFFERED ON WORRYING
PASADENA, Cal. (AP)—David Eschbury, Eastern psychologist, is telling Western audiences "How to Worry Successfully." One of his rules is to worry with a smile and another is to get the matter and peave out of the system before starting to worry in order to give the latter a fair chance.

BLACK-DRAUGHT HIGH IN QUALITY WITHOUT BEING HIGH IN PRICE

Black-Draught is "easy to pay for" because it is so economically packaged and so reliable. But as to quality, there's nothing "cheap" about it. For instance, its principal active ingredient is the leaves of a certain species of plant that are brought 10,000 miles from where they grow to the factory where the medicine is made. These leaves from far, far away, help to give Black-Draught its well-known "laxative reliability." They could not be left out, or substituted, without real loss of good medicinal quality.

For a good, purely vegetable laxative, insist on Black-Draught. About 25 doses in each 25-cent package.
