What's News Today

After a season of silence the Lindberghs, world's most noted fliers, are on the front pages today as nations wonder where they are going. Circling over the city of Calais, France, they take wing for parts unknown. Some think they are bound for Cairo, Egypt, where an interational meet is scheduled for aviation late in February.

A billion-dollar bill starts rolling through Congress to finance the veterans administration and social security board during the next fiscal year. There seems to be a little trouble arising from use of WPA men in senate investigations. This Congress may see much efforts to investigate many practices but the opposition in Congress is too weak to cause the democrats much embarrassment. New Deal legislation should have easy sledding.

Chicago's half-million students in her schools are embarked on the new idea of educational curriculum which is a radical departure from the old course of study brought down from the Middle Ages. Practical courses of study, emphasize the doing rather than theory in educational work. Students have a natural inclination to do and work with their hands, while nearly all children dislike study that means nothing to them. They like to draw, paint, build, construct from plans, experiment in simple experiments and do the things that modern teachers are using in directing their efforts in the new educational era. Parents call it streamlined education, or making it easy for them. Why not?

Moscow in Russia continues with its work of stamping out Trotskyism and puts 13 to death in its imperialistic rule. Russia has a long way to go yet to reach a democracy like that of the United States where we can express ourselves freely about our government and our lawmakers. The world is in a political revolution that will be history for the students of the "Rise of Nations" in the near future. But as usual, America leads and any other road will lead to bloodshed and blind alleys. President Roosevelt has announced and proven the way to advanced thought in modern government. It may be socialistic as compared with the thought of a few years ago but it is working and seems to be the shining star to which European nations will look for guidance as soon as the mists of their own ideas clear for better vision.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court shies around a decision concerning social security constitutionality and fails to make decisions that many were expecting. No reasons are given but they will be brought to light in time. It requires deep thought and the weighing of many matters to be a supreme judge of a national tribunal and ours are able men. They will step carefully where a mis-step would mean danger.

And the strike gets no better fast. Evidently there is a crisis imminent else strikers would not become frenzied over the threat of military rule. General Motors say they are determined to own and rule their own plants and the strikers are equally determined that these plants shall not re-open for work without a decisive understanding of their position regarding open shop in industrial plants. It is a continuation of the long struggle between capital and labor that began back in the days of King John of England, resulting in the granting of Magna Carta.

It's not the lure of South Sea islands but science that beckons the happy young George Vanderbilts as they weigh anchor at Miami, Fla., for a cruise toward the Southern Cross. They gleefully shout their farewells from a precarious perch beside the boom of their 175-foot schooner Cressida (left), which has been outfitted as a laboratory for the scientists who accompany them on the South Sea expedition to collect specimens for the Philadelphia Academy of Science.

is how Don Wilcox sums up the matter of rolling this "makin's"

I ROLL 'EM AND SMOKE 'EM STEADY. PRINCE ALBERT'S THE GREATEST 'MAKIN'S' I'VE DISCOVERED IN 7 YEARS OF SMOKING

HERE'S DON WILCOX taking a few seconds off to spin out a firm, inviting P. A. roll-your-own.

70 fine roll-your-own cigarettes in every 2-ounce tin of Prince Albert.

FOR MILD AND MELLOW PIPE SMOKING - MAN, YOU CAN'T DO BETTER THAN P.A.

THAT 'CRIMP CUT' FEATURE MAKES THE TOBACCO FIT INTO THE PAPER SO NEAT THAT A MAN CAN ROLL 'EM BLINDFOLDED

AND FOR A TASTY SMOKE - THAT'S A SMOKE - THAT'S MILD AND COOL - IT'S PRINCE ALBERT FOR ME EVERY SINGLE TIME

THE PHOTOGRAPHER had to work fast to get the snapshots of Don because he rolls 'em so quick. P. A. has flat - rolls tight.

THAT SMILE on Don's face tells how much he enjoys his Prince Albert "makin's" cigarette - a mild smoke, but plenty flavory too!

DON WILCOX'S TIP TO "MAKIN'S" SMOKERS: "Try the no-risk offer on Prince Albert!"

Roll your self 30 soft cigarettes from Prince Albert. If you don't find them the finest, tastiest roll-your-own cigarettes you ever smoked, return packet tin with rest of tobacco in it to us at any time within a month from this date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage. ## TELEPHONE MEN STILL WORKING TO REPAIR ICE-WRECKED LINES

January Storm Does More Than $1,500,000 Damage to Telephone System of Southwest.

Telephone men, still at work repairing the damage from the $1,500,000 sleet which swept from the Iowa border to the Gulf in January, can remember no worse ice storm.

Sturdier Poles

First - Most telephone poles today are crosscut yellow pine. They stand under ice that would snap poles used years ago. Fewer broken poles mean that linemen repairing fallen lines can make faster progress at restoring service.

10 Years of Effort

These things... improvements of the last 10 years... are a part of the Bell System's constant effort to make its lines proof against storm and disaster.

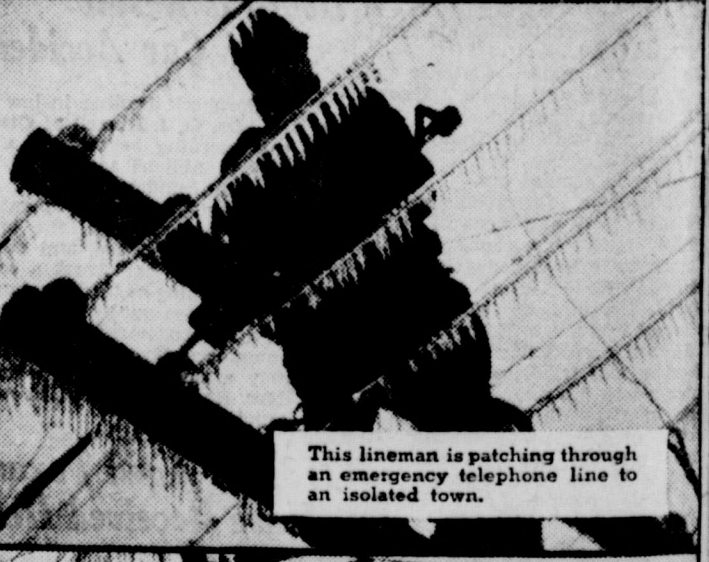

Constantly, too, the Bell System must be ready to go into action when disaster does strike. One advantage of its far-flung organization is that the men, the materials and the financial resources are always available for prompt and adequate repair of the damage.

To those customers who were without service because of the storm, perhaps for several days, the company expresses its appreciation for their patience during a trying period.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company

Repair crews, rushed into January sleet storm area, found miles of telephone line flattened by ice.

This lineman is patching through an emergency telephone line to an isolated town.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

BEGIN HERE TODAY BOLITHO BLANE, British financier, disappears from yacht owned by his principal competitor, CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE, at Miami.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VI DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAMES'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S EXAMINATION OF MISS FERRI ROCKSAVAGE.

K: Good morning, Miss Rocksavage. Come right in. F. R.: Good morning. K: Come and sit down. There are just a few questions I want to ask you about this unfortunate business last night.

F. R.: Certainly; anything I can do. K: Would you just tell me, Miss Rocksavage, what you were doing, and where you were, from the time the yacht sailed until you went in to dinner.

F. R.: When the ship left Miami I was sitting on the port deck with Mr. Jocelyn. K: Did you see Mr. Blane come aboard?

F. R.: No. We were on the port side of the ship; that is, we were facing out to sea. We sat there and his secretary, neither of whom I had met, and I was just looking round for my father when the steward came up with a message from him. He said to me, "Mr. Rocksavage says, Miss, would you please take everybody in to dinner. Mr. Blane has had a heart attack, so we are returning to Miami."

K: And what happened then? F. R.: I did as my father had asked me to and I didn't know anything about what really happened until father told us all after we had anchored off Miami again, just a few minutes before the police came on board.

K: Did you know of any special reason for this trip? F. R.: No. K: Are you certain of that? F. R.: Well, it's just a pleasure trip, like lots of others we've had on the yacht, but as there were several strangers on board I naturally assumed that some big business deal would be discussed during the time we were at sea.

RETAKE, PAMELA JOCELYN. 8.1.37

FERRI ROCKSAVAGE. RETAKE. 8.1.37

Father often uses these trips to entertain people with whom, if he were seen ashore, comment might be aroused which would affect the markets. K: I see. Thank you, Miss Rocksavage. That'll be all for the moment.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAMES'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S EXAMINATION OF THE HONORABLE REGINALD JOCELYN.

K: Good morning, Mr. Jocelyn. Now, I'd just like you to tell me anything you can about this unfortunate affair last night. J: I'm afraid I can't tell you anything.

K: Well, let's hear what you were doing between the time of the ship's sailing and your going in to dinner. J: When the ship sailed I was sitting on deck with Miss Rocksavage. We stayed there until the ship was well out to sea and somewhere about 7:30 we went down to our cabins to change for dinner. I came up to the lounge at 8:30 and Mr. Rocksavage arrived soon after. A steward spoke to him and he went below, then a message came up that Mr. Blane was ill, so we were returning to Miami. After that we went in to dinner.

P. J.: I was in the lounge with Count Posodini. K: Anyone else there? P. J.: No, not until Mr. Rocksavage arrived. K: What happened then? P. J.: We had more drinks and talked for a bit, then Mr. Blane's secretary came in and was introduced to us. There was some talk about his sending a message down to Mr. Blane, and just after that I said that I must go down and change for dinner. Count Posodini said that he thought he would, too, so we went below together.

K: What time would that be? P. J.: About ten minutes to eight. K: And then? P. J.: I changed and came up to the lounge with my husband again just as the dinner bugle sounded at 8:30. A few minutes later a steward came in and spoke to Mr. Rocksavage, who had just come in, and they both went below together.

K: Just when did you know the real cause of the trouble? P. J.: Not until the yacht was anchored off Miami again. Mr. Rocksavage told us then, and said that the police would be coming on board in a few moments.

K: Good. Now, did you regard this just as a pleasure trip? P. J.: Not altogether. I know that my mother has a big interest in the Rocksavage companies and, as Bolitho Blane was expected to join us at Miami, I thought that there must be something in the wind.

K: Your husband advises your mother, though, where her financial interests are concerned, doesn't he? P. J.: Yes, but we go about with mother quite a lot on social parties, where no business comes under discussion at all. K: Thank you, Mrs. Jocelyn. That'll do for the present. (To Be Continued)

Ground hog day today, February 2... He comes out, according to legendary reports, and if he sees his shadow, he is frightened and goes back into his hole and remains for 40 more days of winter... if it is cloudy and he does not see his shadow, he remains and winter has passed and spring is next batter up.

As we write this item, about 9 o'clock this morning, there is no sign of the sun... let us hope for a real cloudy day that will allow this timid wood-huck to remain out and thus according to the idea, allow spring full sway.

We know we are in harmony with most everyone in Cisco and whether they ever agree with us again we are sure there have come many hearty amens to the above wish for spring.

Dry goods merchants are just itching to display the spring goods they have been buying... it is said that the coming of prosperity is reflected in the bright and gay colors that fashion has decreed for men and women.

The Future Homemakers met in the Homemaking department Tuesday February 2, to hold the first meeting of the new semester.
Mrs. N. A. Brown, speaker, and guest of the occasion, spoke on "Homemaking as a Vocation." During her talk she told the definition of homemaking, what was included in homemaking, the qualifications of it and that it can be combined with other vocations.
She said the "Homemaker" must provide the home with the best of her ability and enjoy social life at the same time.
During the business discussion of the meeting, the club voted to help the Red Cross by sending food, clothing and money. Since this first meeting of the second semester, several new members have joined the club and are taking much interest. New members are: Loree Clifton, Jean Souden, Laura Culbert, Winona Cameron, Iram Lee Perdue, Velma Crowder, Helen Lenz and Colleen Rowe.

Loboes Win Over Ranger 53 to 10

By TOMMY LA MORE
The Cisco Loboes had a merry time last night by romping over the Ranger Bulldogs to the tune of 53-10 in the high school gym before a big crowd.
The Ranger team never had a chance once the Loboes started scoring and were soon hopelessly outclassed by the fast shooting Loboes who had things their own way.
Marcell Harrison and brother, Odell were the outstanding stars of the game scoring many of the team's points. Bacon, Sherman, Donahoe, Yarbrough and Bailey all played nice games. Cullum Harrison played nice ball and was outstanding on the defense.
At the close of the game two fast fights were staged and were thrilling through out.
Charles McDonald and J. T. Culp staged a slugging duel and neither boy was able to continue after the first round.
Curtis Yancy and Arvel Ainsworth fought a furious battle with Ainsworth getting the winning nod over Yancy.

Mrs. Brown Talks To Homemakers

Mrs. N. A. Brown talked to the Homemaking class at the high school this morning emphasizing the important phases of the woman in the home, according to Miss Martha Graves, teacher of this department.
Mrs. Brown stressed the definition of the word Homemaking, table service meal preparation, clothing remodeling, child care, home nursing and family relations. The discussion was intensely interesting and stressed important points in the course being taught in four classes by Miss Graves.

Questions that Some Folks Ask About Cardui

BENEFIT FOR MAL-NUTRITION
Thousands of women testify Cardui has helped them to overcome mal-nutrition and to ease many of the functional pains of menstruation.
What is meant by helping to overcome mal-nutrition?
Cardui contains extracts of two plants which are classed among the "bitters" in medicine because they are known to increase the flow of digestive juices—to improve digestion—so there is a craving for sufficient food for the body's needs, and by their action more energy (or strength) is obtained from the food eaten. The food, of course, brings the additional strength, but Cardui serves as the means to this end by its good influence on the digestive system.
