Please remember to all those that are sick, including Verna Lasater, (she's been under the weather).

We still need volunteers!!!!

Marie Culpepper And Marshall Cook

This month's "Employee of the Month" is Marie Culpepper. She is the bookkeeper here at Valley View Lodge and has been for about a year and a half.

Marie really deserved this award. She is not only a hard worker, dependable and devoted to her job but; she also is a "friend" to all the residents, as well as the Staff. Marie is a key asset to Valley View Lodge and to the quality care that our residents received.

Thank you, Marie, May God Bless you, Marshall Cook, Administrator and Staff

Leo Cox Valley View "Resident Of The Month"

Leo Cox And Marshall Cook

We, here, at Valley View Lodge would like to share a little back ground history about Leo Cox, our "Resident of the Month", with the public. Leo was born in Fort Worth, Texas in the year 1909. He was second born of 7 children. Leo's father was a rural Baptist Preacher. His mother died when Leo was only 17 years of age and he and his older sister raised the 5 younger children. Leo was always a hard worker. In his earlier years he picked cotton, then in his 20's he baled hay, and later went to work at a Dairy Farm. It was here that God miraculously spared Leo's life on 2 separate occasions.

He was in his early 20's the first time; he fell under a tractor and though seriously injured, he survived. Then the second time Leo was in his thirties, and an electrical wire fell on some cattle, he ran grabbed hold of the wire and knocked about 75 feet by the powerful current in it. Again, though seriously injured, Leo survived.

Leo has been a resident here at Valley View for almost a year. He is very thoughtful as well as helpful to one and all here. Valley View Lodge is very proud to have Leo Cox represent it as "Resident of the Month".

Landowners Can Provide Information

"Eastland County landowners and ranch foremen have the opportunity to provide valuable deer and other game harvest data for our Department," says Raymond Sims, Wildlife Technician with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in Breckenridge.

"Every person who was issued antlerless deer tags this year should have a landowner receipt card with the tags. At the bottom of the receipt card are four questions asking how many deer or turkey were harvested on the specific tract during the past hunting season. If the person in charge of the tags will see to it that the requested information is put on the card and that the card is stamped and mailed to the address on the back of the card, our department will get a valuable insight into the overall harvest that took place in Eastland County during the 1986 hunting season." Sims stressed that, "We need the cards back as soon as possible after the season ends on Sunday, Jan. 4. If the cards are too late, we can't use them in developing our harvest estimates. Also, even if nothing was harvested on the specific tract of land, the returned card, with all zeros, still gives us important data on the harvest rate."

"The data allow us to monitor the game populations occurring in Eastland County, and to determine the impact that annual harvest, changes in habitat, and other important factors have on the local animal populations," Sims said. "We utilize these annual county harvest figures, along with other important game population data, to justify maintaining current harvest regulations or when proposing new regulations for the county."

Oklaunion Power Station Will Serve WTU Customers

With its new Oklaunion Power Station in commercial operation, West Texas Utilities Co. is again capable of generating all the power its customers will need during the peak usage period of hot summertime.

The peak demand for electricity exceeded the capacity of WTU's installed general stations several summers ago and additional power had to be purchased from neighboring utility companies. "This means that we literally have grown into this new power plant," explained Walter Meller, WTU's manager of system production.

"Often, when a new plant is brought on line it creates an immediate huge surplus of general capacity. In our case, completion of Oklaunion was timed to coincide with our needs."

The coal-burning Oklaunion unit eight mile southeast of Vernon has a net rated capacity of 665 megawatts, which is more than half the 1,070 megawatt capacity of all of WTU's gas-fired plants. WTU owns 54.69 percent, or 370 megawatts, of the new plant, which is the first jointly-owned unit of the Central and South West System. Other owners are Public Service Co. of Oklahoma and Central Power and Light Co., both members of CSW; and Oklahoma Municipal Power Authority and the City of Brownsville.

The new plant was officially declared commercial December 24. The power is under control of a central dispatcher in Abilene, who economically loads the various generating units in the WTU system.

As Plant Manager Chuck Adams of Vernon explains it, "When the load increases, the unit that can make the next kilowatt the cheapest is the one that is brought on line."

Adams' staff includes 126 employees, who work in Construction at Oklaunion was begun in May 1982, and almost all the news regarding the plant since then has been good. The best news is that it was completed on time and under original cost estimates.

The plant will provide over 25 percent of WTU's operating capacity and will end the Company's almost total reliance on natural gas as boiler fuel. The low-sulphur coal comes by rail from Wyoming. Each delivery averages from 100-115 cars, with each car holding 100 tons of coal. About 300 tons will be burned an hour when the plant is in full operation.

The plant is one of the most modern in existence. Equipment includes the most up-to-date pollution control facilities and complies with all air quality control requirement.

I've Been Wrong Before

by Gordon S. Clark

Now I would like to quit trapping and spend more time hunting rattlesnakes.

Not that predators have sworn off killing my goats, other peoples sheep, chickens etc. The worm in my apple is that so many low life two legged varments with hen house ways steal traps and snares. Now you can imagine people with so little respect for their own self as to become a thief for a snare which costs about a dollar new? As most stolen property is sold for a fraction of original cost, those boys must be hard up indeed or they are too stupid to know how cheap they are. Steel traps are more expensive but certainly not so high as to be worth degrading ones self for. I recently got a bouch of Conibear (body hold traps) for two bucks each on the smaller and the largest at eight. I like Conibear because they kill almost instantly every time. Saves ammunition too.

It might be that the thieves are Animal Rights fanatics but I rather suspect deer hunters. I just can't imagine anyone who might shoot an animal as near harmless as a deer, wound it and chance it getting away to suffer but that same person getting maudlin about a skunk suffering in a trap. Still, one would be nuts if he discounted the possibility of any kind of nut at all.

Another party poked sticks in traps to throw them. Probably just a bit young and not over the kid stage of messing with things that don't concern him. But any way you cut it, there are people determined on infringing on the rights of others. I reminds me of an old man in W.Va. who got a bit irked at another who insisted on telling him how to conduct his affairs. Said the one who felt that his freedom of thought was being violated, "Y'know, I once knew a man who became fabulously wealthy just minding his own blamed business!"

So fair I have caught five bobcat and a coyote with mange so bad you would hardly believe it. I handled that carcass like it was leprosy. Of skunk, I lost count long ago. Those aren't worth anything now. Time was when a dollar bought five or ten time what it does now and yet skunk then brought three, to five dollars or more. What happened? Well, I heard but wouldn't guarantee that the big market for skunk fur used to be in China before the Communists took over. Then women in furs became very unpopular as signs of decadent Capitalism, too much bourgeois though we see Russian Reds bundled in furs. So Communism is good to skunks regardless of number of legs.

I admire people who have a tender heart and feel very sorry for them in this cruel world. But like I have pointed out before, from the day that God killed animals and replaced the fig leaves of Adam and Eve with skins to the Last Supper when Christ ate the passover lamb I find nothing to make my religion vegetarian. In fact, I won't even go as far as Paul who wrote that if eating meat offend another he would not eat meat. Rather I would advise them to keep their runny noses out of MY dinner plate. If you encourage those who try to make their way your own, the next thing you see is them trying by force to force entry into your castle of the mind and actions.

Now about those rattlesnakes: My grandson and I sold sixteen pound at three dollars a pound just after Christmas. Probably there is a better market than at Cross Plains but I didn't know of one handy and the ladies of the house seemed distressed at the idea of that can of worms remaining in the barn while we checked for markets.

Since snake hunters seldom have a gun unless for emergency there are few places they are not welcome. Typical was the time a man saw us near his neighbors fence and thinking we were deer hunters asked a bit aggressively what we were doing there. We assured him that we had asked permission to enter the property and gave him a look in the can at the lovely specimens we had already taken. Then it was, "OH M'GOSH, get all of them you can and welcome."

Though the eye people at Veterans Hospital in Dallas told me a couple of months ago that with three degrees less vision field I would be considered functionally blind and without both hearing aids be and up high I couldn't hear a rattler right beside me, I try to be most careful. None of that show off stuff like we see at the Round-ups where someone puts one in his hat or walks barefoot in an arena littered with them. I have handled explosives and live electric wires but HANDLE WITH CARE is the rule.

Come on now, folks, you pay good money for the kids and yourself to feel the spine tingling thrill of the rollycoaster and people do get hurt in accidents at the amusement parks. So, try rattlesnake hunting for a thrill they pay you for getting. No closed season there, Sport, and if you have any you don't want, just call me. I don't scare easily nor do I even want to live forever in this polluted world. But, please, don't call asking me to get a rattler in tall Johnson grass after eleven at night as a neighbor once did. I may be braver than some but I emphatically deny being suicidal. I hope for Heaven but don't rush me.

Dr. C. Everett Koop

Spotlights & Sidelights

By Julia Worthy

EDUCATION: FOR SALE?

Much of what I read about schools concerns money. As seems to be par these days, it's too much or too little.

An irritant at the moment is the suit some "poor" districts are bringing against the "rich" districts. I cannot be comfortable with this attitude, though it seems it would be indisputable that all children should share alike in the distribution of educational goodies.

Why? It is an extension of the warped notion that all people are created "free and equal?" Yes, I think everyone should be free as opposed to slavery (meaning bondage to another person).

"Equal" is another keg of nails, or "can of worms" is more likely to be apt terminology considering the state of the arts when it comes to "genetic engineering" and "cloning" of individuals.

Perfection of either process (genetic engineering or cloning) would mean "equal" people could be produced much like cookies. Will you have cocoanut macaroons, chocolate chip or snickerdoodles? Or will everyone be vanilla wafers? They'd probably have to be vanilla wafers if everyone is to be equal.

So why should all schools be just alike in equipment? I do believe everyone should have an opportunity to learn, but I expect the learner to put forth the major part of the effort involved.

I probably am guilty of a closed mind as I do not believe I even can subscribe to the idea that spending more money will produce better schools....more comfortable, yes. I will not gain say that a euphemistically described "rest room" yards away in another building instead of down the hall is not much less than comfortable.

More money can buy the necessities to make life easier, but does it "better" the schools? How? Also, how much better?

Workbooks, duplicated sheets of figures, films, records, tapes, TV's and computers--all great teaching aids! Oh, wow!

I do not fault current teachers for using these aids because a teacher is expected to "keep up professionally."

It does cross my mind to wonder how much time is spent loading film projectors, programming TV's, running the copier--but we won't go into that now.

I reserve the right to believe children now do not learn as much in the classroom as my generation did--and most of us could have done better at that. The opportunity was there. I do not think our schools was unique in having all the "real" teachers of the time.

In my school we copied math problems from the blackboard; we covered sheets and sheets of paper with times tables written by our own hot little hands. If "Teacher" couldn't read them at a glance, we did them over--partly because math teacher was also penmanship teacher. If we weren't number-perfect in reciting those tables, we did them over. (Motivation, no doubt.)

We made history notebooks copied from the board. There were plenty of blanks to fill in, and we did it. We did not hear much in the way of records, except for JIL Mistic Memory, but we listened to each other orally mutilate everything from the Twenty-Third Psalm to "Little Boy Blue."

Our teachers didn't know how to load a film projector, but they loaded our minds. More than half our class of fifteen finished college, and as far as I've been able to check up, we still have no indigents nor jailbirds among our numbers.

Of course, we didn't have Average Daily Attendance breathing down our necks, either. The fifteen who graduated wanted that diploma for whatever reason. Many of our "free and equal" numbers had dropped out along the way because they were more free than equal to the grind.

"Jim" was happy in the chemistry lab, but was he any more so than "Joe" who rode a horse all day in search of a cow with suspected pink-eye? Was Jim any more so to himself

Disaster Payment Program Opens

Farmers who lost more than 50 percent of their crop production in 1986 because of EXCESSIVE MOISTURE may apply for the Disaster Payment Program at the Eastland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). Program applications may be filed through January 30, 1987.

The 1986 Disaster Payment Program compensates eligible producers in disaster-affected counties for production losses on program and non-program crops, according to county ASCS official David Martin. For the 1986 Disaster Program, program crops are wheat, corn, grain, sorghum, barley, oats, upland cotton, and peanuts.

To apply for assistance on a wheat, feed grain, and upland cotton crop, Martin said farmers must have participated in the acreage reduction program for the crop. For assistance on other crops, the acreage for disaster payments is limited to the 1985 acreage of the crop. "Producers who apply and society as the lawyer he became than was Joe who parlayed that of pink-eyed cow into a respectable ranch? Would more money have changed the chemical reaction of Jim's sulphur and iron filings or taught Joe to find and pen a cow?

How do you go about buying an education?

for disaster assistance must furnish to the ASCS office 1986 acreage and crop production reports, and, under certain conditions, provide evidence of their actual yields for 1983, 1984 or 1985 for all crops except wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, cotton, and peanuts," Martin said.

In determining whether producers qualify for compensation under the 1986 Disaster Payment Program, ASCS will consider program individually on a per farm basis, and nonprogram crops individually on a per county basis. Martin said if the nonprogram crop's value was adversely affected by the disaster, this factor will be considered in determining eligibility for assistance as well as the payment level. "We will also consider whether there has been a substantial loss of production of the nonprogram crop and whether an economic emergency has occurred."

Martin said the program provides only for consideration of a loss of actual production for program crops. Therefore, a quality adjustment will not be considered for these crops.

Disaster payments to eligible farmers will be made in generic commodity certificates.

The ASCS official said disaster payments to producers will be limited to $100,000 for program crops and $100,000 for nonprogram crops.

RANGER

Dr. Bruce Goleman, who now serves as streets and parks commissioner for the City of Ranger, has filed as a candidate for Mayor. Dr. Goleman and his wife, Catherine, have lived in Ranger for more than 20 years. Goleman was academic dean at Ranger Junior College for 17 years, and the Golemans have also been active in church and civic affairs of the city. Dr. Goleman says that if he is elected Mayor his priority will be to see that the city operates within its income. Incumbent Mayor Raymond Hart is reported as saying, "At this point I do not seek re-election."

Dr. W.P. Watkins, his children and his friends invite all to attend the dedication service for a stained glass window at the First Baptist Church, Walnut and Marston Sts., Sunday, January 25, at 11 a.m. The window is being dedicated to the memory of Dorothy Louise Watkins.

A public meeting will be held Tuesday, February 17, at 7 p.m. in the Community Clubhouse to discuss a possible hazardous waste site near Ranger. The place in question is the site of an injection well blow-out, which was drilled in 1976 by Sonics International. The well blew out in 1979, spreading waste in the area. Decisions must be made as to how hazardous the site is, and who is responsible for the cleanup. Sonics International is now listed as a bankrupt company, but may be affiliated with another corporation. According to a Bill passed by the 69th Texas Legislature, a critical area is one that is experiencing serious ground water problems or is expected to within the next 20 years.

The next meeting of a Ranger group working on the Eastland County history will be Thursday, February 19, at the Gholson Hotel. A tentative time of 4:30 p.m. has been set for the book committee and 5 p.m. for the general public. It is hoped there will be a wide Ranger area participation, and that the history of Ranger and its people can be brought up-to-date. Anita Walton has been elected to serve as publicity chairman and Jean Pruett as historian of Ranger.

BAIRD
The Baird Chamber of Commerce will host their annual Valentine's Sweetheart Banquet Saturday, Feb. 14, 7 p.m. in the Baird School Cafeteria. The dinner will include charbroiled sirloin steak strips, a salad, vegetables and chocolate cake. Guest speaker will be K-TAB Sportscaster David Bacon. Various civic awards will be presented, and there will be a drawing for door prizes. Tickets for the event will be $8 per person. There is seating available for only 150 persons, so early reservations are needed. Tickets are available at the First National Bank, Chamber of Commerce office, the Callahan County Star or any Chamber member.

All women and girls who are interested in forming a Ladies Auxiliary for American Legion Post No. 82 are requested to attend a meeting at the Legion Hall on Tuesday, January 27, at 7:30 p.m. At least ten members must apply before a Charter can be granted. Eligibility is limited to mothers, wives, sisters and granddaughters of American Veterans. Junior members under 18 may be chartered, and will obtain Senior Membership at the age of 18.

Callahan County Commissioners have extended the contract with attorney Carl A. Malley of Houston to continue to collect the County's delinquent taxes. The extension will coincide with the collection by Malley of Cross Plains School District. Commissioners also met with Sheriff Bill Skinner to discuss payment of guards for hospital guard duty on Gary Don Parks, the kidnap suspect at a Clyde Pharmacy on Dec. 13.

EASTLAND
Around 60 people met in the Majestic Civic Center last Monday night to organize for work and tour the facilities. Eastland Fine Arts Association President John Berry reported the list of officers and directors as follows: Earl Bradley, vice president; Nannette Keith, secretary; Mike Perry, treasurer; and Directors Grover Hallmark, Steve Haines, Jim Wright, H.V. O'Brien, Mary Ann McCloud, Virginia Russell and Nettie Wilson. Repair of around 850 seats was noted as one of the first needs, and a major fund drive will probably be launched to take care of this. The crowd heard from Dr. Jim Whittington, whose family is responsible for making the building available to the city. Dr. Whittington pledged a donation of $5,000 as soon as the Foundation becomes a National non-profit organization. It already has that status in the State of Texas.

Eastland City Commissioners named Jimmy Wilson of the Department of Public Works as Employee of the Month for January. Wilson was praised for his service to the city and especially for a special project that saved the city money. He was responsible for the construction of a steel cage that is used by the animal control officer. The cage is mounted in the officer's vehicle, and is used to contain animals before removing them to the city pound. Retail value of the cage would run about $1,300, but Wilson spent only $300 to fabricate the cage.

A new clean-up and condemnation ordinance was discussed at a recent meeting of the City Commissioners, who said there was a great need for both. Commissioners viewed photos of property and buildings in Eastland. Sample ordinances were discussed, and turned over to City Attorney Mike Siebert for legal work. These will be discussed again at the next meeting.

All concerned adults and parents are encouraged to attend a meeting of the 4-H Adult Leaders and Parents Association on Sunday, February 1, at 3 p.m. in the Texas Electric Reddy Room, Eastland. A film titled "Dick and Jane" will be shown. This film is described as an "eye-opener" - one every person should view. It is provided for the public by TESCO.

CISCO
The annual meeting of the Cisco Historical Society will be held Tuesday, January 27, at 6:30 p.m. at the Redeemer Lutheran Parish Hall. A potluck soup, salad and dessert supper will be served. Dr. Ayres Cermin, president of the society, invites all past and present members and those interested in becoming members to attend. There will be renewal of memberships and an election for the 1987 officers, also reports and discussions of previous meetings. Under consideration is the development of a plot site for the proposed historic village.

The First United

Methodist Church postponed their Chili Luncheon last Sunday, due to the icy roads. It will be held this Sunday, January 25, at noon, at the church. Chiefs Wesley Valek and Don Wallace will be up early preparing the food. The chefs will use the recipe that Wesley has used to win several chili cookoffs at Cisco Junior College during their annual Ranch Days. There will also be cornbread, salad and dessert, and charges will be a free-will offering.

Carole Sudderth Pyburn, a Cisco native, will conduct a workshop at the Breckenridge Fine Arts Center January 26-29, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. Carole received her degree in art from Howard Payne University, and for the past 27 years has taught oil, watercolor and acrylics. She has won numerous awards, and her paintings have been placed in private collections throughout the state. Credits include a "Citation Award" from the Texas Fine Arts Association.

Cisco school children are collecting Campbells Soup Co. labels to help earn valuable educational equipment. This program is sponsored by the Cisco PTO, and collection boxes will be placed at Cisco Elementary. Or, citizens may contact a school child of PTO members if they have labels to give. The labels will be redeemed for athletic equipment, audio visual equipment, reference books and teaching aids.

Developmental Screening To Be February 13

On February 13, 1987 a developmental screening will be held for young children ages zero to five (0-5). This screening will be conducted at the Eastland County MHMR Center, Eastland, Texas from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

The screening, which takes about 20 minutes to complete, test a young child in four areas: personal/social skills (playing, eating, dressing, etc.), fine motor skills (ability to manipulate small objects), gross motor skills (running, jumping, etc.), and language development (speech, following instructions, etc.). If a child is found to have two or more delays in one area, there is further testing available or referral to the appropriate agency.

The purpose of Early Childhood Intervention is to identify and correct as many problems as possible for young children. Early detection of young children's delays have proven beneficial to the child, and teachers.

For further information, please feel free to call (915)646-9574, ext. 159 or 158 in Brownwood, or come by the screening site.

You can be earning tax deferred interest on your life insurance. Ask E.F. Hutton how.

E.F. Hutton Life Insurance Company is now crediting 9.0 percent on the account values of its universal life insurance policies. Think of it - that's better than the 6 percent or 8 percent you'll get today on MONEY MARKET FUNDS, TREASURY BILLS, and CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT. And since interest credited to your Hutton Life universal life policy is tax deferred, it grows faster than in taxable vehicles. But unlike these investments, Hutton Life's universal life offers much more. Benefits like:
• Permanent life insurance, providing tax-free estate protection for your beneficiaries.
• Competitive interest rates, guaranteed for one full year
• Tax-free access to your cash value through low-cost policy loans

Ready to learn more? The listen to what E.F. Hutton has to say about how Hutton Life's universal life policy fits into your financial plan. Call your Hutton Life representative.

A simple bridge on the Leon River southwest of Cisco marks the spot where calvarymen and other early-day travelers went back and forth through Eastland County. This crossing is on Bacon land, and has been used since "earliest times", according to Billy Bacon Jr., the new County Commission for Pct. 4. Bacon also has information that the road was once used for hauling salt from the Ft. Griffin area to other army posts to the south. Bacon says that the first bridge on the site was constructed by soldiers in 1885, and much of the rock work on the river banks remains. The rocks were cut in grooves so they could be pulled by mules to the site. The river is narrow at this point, but about 17 ft. deep. The original bridge was rebuilt some years ago, but the steel railings have been saved. The river has been known to flood on the north side of this bridge, but has never flooded around to the south, according to Bacon. The bridge is not in good shape, he says. "It was never built to carry heavy truck traffic," the Commissioner notes.

Questionnaires Needed On Deer Harvest

"Eastland County landowners and ranch foremen have the opportunity to provide valuable deer and other game harvest data for our Department," says Raymond Sims, Wildlife Technician with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in Breckenridge.

"Every person who has issued antlerless deer tags this year should have a landowner receipt card with the tags. At the bottom of the receipt card are four questions asking how many deer or turkey were harvested on the specific tract during the past hunting season. If the person in charge of the tags will see to it that the requested information is put on the card and that the card is stamped and mailed to the address on the back of the card, our department will get a valuable insight into the overall harvest that took place in Eastland County during the 1986 hunting season."

Sims stressed that, "We need the cards back as soon as possible after the season ends on Sunday, January 4. If the cards are too late, we can't use them in developing our harvest estimates. Also, even if nothing was harvested on the specific tract of land, the card returned, with all zeros, still gives us important data on the harvest rate."

"The data allows us to monitor the game populations occurring in Eastland County, and to determine the impact that annual harvest, changes in habitat, and other important factors have on the local game populations," Sims said. "We utilize these annual county harvest figures, along with other important game population data, to justify maintaining current harvest regulations or when proposing new regulations for the county."

Junk mail junked before delivery

Austin (TNA) - Postal workers throughout the country are now throwing "mountains of junk circular mail" into the post office trash cans instead of delivering them to household addresses.

Citing improperly addressed circulars as one of the reasons for regularly discarding tons of direct-mailed pieces, an official of the U.S. Postal Service has revealed:

"An audit of more than 85 post offices around the country showed an average of about 14 percent of all direct mailings are dumped into the trash cans rather than being delivered to households."

"The 14 percent was an average of the entire 1986 year's mailing."

The audit by the Postal Inspectors also discovered that 11 percent of the remaining 84 percent of circulars mailed to reach their destinations.

Another recent study found that only four of some 35 "deck" mailing addresses ever received by a major mailing firm. The 35 "deck" addresses were provided as checkpoints to determine the reliability of the mailer's claims.

Fishing Outdoors

By Terry Wilson

E.C.B.C. President Eddie Green presents Steve Pennington the 1986 Angler of the Year Award.

“Tomorrows Tackle Today, Shimano”

A cooperative survey by biologists of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and the Oklahoma Department of Wildlife Conservation has gotten underway on the big border reservoir.

Biologists Bruce Hysmith said the survey will include a roving creel survey where anglers will be interviewed while fishing on the lake.

Hysmith said he hopes to collect information on the fish they are catching, where the fish are located and most productive lures or baits. Other sampling techniques to be used are cove samples, gill netting, trap netting and electrofishing, Hysmith said.

Shimano a leader on today's hi-tech fishing industry brings tomorrows tackle to us today, when the anglers need it.

When Shimano introduced its revolutionary BaitRunner feature last season, a lot of fishermen got hooked on it. They liked the realistic way that BaitRunner let baits work naturally with the drag disengaged and the bail closed.

For 1987, the revolution continues. Shimano has introduced an entire line of BaitRunner reels, there are six models, ranging from the BT150 ultra-light to the heavy-duty BT650, and all feature Shimano's smooth front drag. Graphite Titanium construction makes the spools, bodies, and rotors, light, strong durable, and totally non-corrosive.

Shimano has added the convenience of flipping to fast, long casting efficiency in its new Bantam Black Magnum reels for 1987.

True to its name, the lightweight addition to the line fits in your hand, and its all-graphite body weighs in at only eight ounces.

By flipping the “flipping” switch on the free spool button becomes a no-backlash line stripper. Let off on the button and it pops up, so you're back in gear instantly, prepared for action.

With the switch in the off position the Black Magnum offers fast casting efficiency with Shimano's Quick Fire Casting System that lets the

Each of the four models of fer years of smooth, quiet, trouble-free dependability with its stainless steel ball bearing construction. The BKM200 and 201 feature three stainless steel bearings each and the BKM100 and 101 have one each.

It only makes sense that if you buy a Shimano reel for its fast retrieval and advanced technology, you would want a rod that could keep up with it. Shimano agrees, and has designed the Magnumlite Speed Master Fightin' Rods for 1987.

Beyond the handsome styling, Shimano's engineers have produced a computer-designed rod for fast action fishing perfectly matched to its new Speed Master reels.

These rods are even lighter than Shimano's original GT Fightin' Rods, and feature a high graphite content. As a further innovation in weight reduction, Shimano cut the reel seat threads right into the blank.

In creating these rods, Shimano used only the finest components available. These include quality Fuji guides with aluminum oxide inserts and space age finishes that offer the optimum in guide and wrap protection.

The design also helps to heighten and achieve greater sensitivity in the “through-the-hand” Fightin' Rod design.

Besides heightened sensitivity, the benefits each rod delivers on every cast, is incredible casting acceleration, pinpoint accuracy, and riveting hooksets.

Shimano offers 15 different models of the Speed Master Fightin' Rods in one or two angler release the spool and thumb the line in one quick easy motion.

Retrieval is fast too, with a gear ratio of 5:1. And all-day fishing comfort is maximized with Shimano's Bio-Grip design that puts the surface area of the palming plate in constant contact with your hand for increased sensitivity and a virtually slip-proof grip.

Every Bantam Black Magnum has a high capacity spool allowing the fisherman to use heavier line, from 275 yards of 8 lb. test to 140 yards of 14 lb. line. The Black Magnum is perfect for freshwater applications like bass or walleye, and light saltwater fishing.

A new county-wide project was announced this week. Eastland County is joining the national effort to help all adults be able to read. Our local effort, the Eastland Literacy Project, is based at the Centennial Memorial Library of Eastland. It uses the well-known Laubach Literacy Program.

This method relies on community volunteers to teach non-readers on a one-to-one basis. The teaching method is simple to learn and proven effective. People do learn to ## read this way BUT THE SUCCESS OF THE PROGRAM DEPENDS ON THE AMOUNT OF COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT.

Anyone who can read can teach someone to read by this method. The Eastland Library through its membership in the Big Country Library System will be providing books and training for tutors. If you are interested in teaching others to read, or in learning to read, please call the Eastland Library at 629-2281.

Prospective tutors, please register for one of the introductory sessions:

February 12, 7-9:30 p.m.
 February 21, 9-11:30 a.m.
 The Laubach motto is "Each one teach one." Your involvement can make a difference.

Become involved! Become part of the effort to enrich your life and that of the entire community. Help someone learn to read!
