PAM McCLINTOCK, GARY HARRIS AND CINDY NELMS

City Drug Is Cisco Business Of The Week

The Cisco business of the week is City Drug located at 800 Conrad Hilton. It is owned by Gary Harris. Gary was born in the Pleasant Hill community south of Cisco. His parents are Earl and Edna Faye Harris who also live in Cisco. His wife, Kathy is the daughter of Paul and Laura Marshall of Cisco. They have two children, Bobby, 8-years old and 10-year old Lucinda. Gary attended Cisco Public Schools and Cisco Junior College and graduated from the University of Texas in Austin. Gary was one of the first recipients of the Leon Maner Scholarships. After graduating from UoT in 1971, he went to work at City Drug. This is the only pharmacy where Gary has worked. He purchased City Drug from John Huffmyer in 1978. Gary is a deacon at Calvary Baptist Church where he and his family attend. He said the most important thing in his life is his personal relationship with his Savior, Jesus Christ. The second most important thing is his family, including his church family. And third is his business.

Other employees at City Drug are Cindy Nelms who has been employed there for eight years, Pam McClintock, three years, Jeff Kinser, one year, Shelly Bean, two years and Toni Little, who is a part time pharmacist, eight years. There is a fountain area located in the store managed by Sandy and Roy Dennis. They serve sandwiches and doughnuts.

City Drug also carries jewelry, make-up, hair care products, vitamins, and over the counter medicine, and they give a senior citizen discount on prescriptions. They also offer a film processing service.

And Mr. Schaefer knows that it was a miracle from the Lord.

On Thursday there sure were a lot of Army trucks and jeeps that passed in front of the Press. I wonder if they were coming from the Lake Brownwood area where the plane crashed occurred a couple of weeks ago. There have also been a lot of oil field equipment going by heading north and south. Maybe the oil industry is fixing to pick up again.

The title of the film by Dr. James Dobson that will be held in the High School auditorium Monday at 7:30 p.m. (new time) is "Parenting the Adolescent". There will be a different subject talked about each Monday night during these film series. They are very informative and talk about ways to help you cope with family life in today's world. Make a point to attend this one Monday.

We received a call last Friday morning from the sister of Frankie Letney. She said that Frankie was suppose to have back surgery on Thursday, but it had to be postponed until Saturday, January 31.

She is in the Methodist Hospital in Houston and is expected to have to stay there for two months. She would really appreciate cards and letters from her friends here in Eastland County. Her address is Frankie Letney c/o Methodist Hospital, 6565 Fannin Street-Room F-305-B, Houston Texas 77030. If you care to call her, the phone number is 1-713-790-2905.

Wanda's Corner by Wanda Hallmark

Two keys were turned into the Press last Wednesday. A woman found them in front of Olney Savings. If you have lost some keys stop by the Press, identify them and pick them up.

This issue of the Press is dated February 1. Valentine's Day is Saturday, February 14. The stores in Cisco have their Valentine merchandise out so there will be no excuse for not getting the ones you love a little something on this special day.

All of you husbands who are reading this column, be sure and try to remember to stop and get your wife either a box of candy, a bouquet of flowers, a new dress or some new jewelry for this special day. And all of you young men be sure to get something for your girlfriend. Since we now have women's lib, I guess that wives should buy something for their husbands and girlfriends buy something special for their boyfriends.

I hope my husband Herrel reads this and takes the hint. I wouldn't mind having one or all of the above mentioned gifts.

Henry Schaefer stopped in at the Press last week to tell how the "Lord had performed a miracle".

Lori Lopez, a sophomore at Cisco High School has to use a wheelchair to get around school and home. Mr. Schaefer had started a fund at Olney Savings for Lori so she could buy a motorized wheelchair from Nelson Medical Incorporated of Billings, Montana. They had quoted a price of $2,000 to Mr. Schaefer.

The chair was ordered and Lori has been using and enjoying it. When Mr. Schaefer stopped by Olney recently to check on the balance of the special account, it lacked 2 cents having $2,998, so he added that amount. He then

1st National Bank Has A-1 Rating

The First National Bank is one of 17 of the 1,936 Texas banking institutions given a A-1 rating by the Sheshoff Rating Service, Inc., a nationally known bank rating service, the stockholders were told at their annual meeting last Tuesday afternoon.

The Sheshoff firm, headquartered in Austin, recently completed its 1986 survey of the nation's more than 14,000 banks. Only 272 banks in the nation were given a 98-99 per cent (A-1) rating. Seventeen of that number are Texas banks, including Cisco's First National Bank.

The ratings are based on a general inspection of the bank's records, policies and statements plus FDIC reports and their activities in the communities they serve, President L.D. Woolley was notified.

The First National Bank enjoyed a "good year" in 1986. Mr. Woolley told the stockholders. The bank's total assets at the end of 1986, were $38,201,000 - down about $600,000 from their peak in 1985, due largely to the fact that the bank no longer encourages out-of-town corporation deposits, the president said. Loans, also slightly down, stood at $12,720,000.

With all of the bank's 50,000 shares of common stock represented in person or by proxy, directors were re-elected as follows: Dr. E.E. Addy, Betty Fee Drumwright, Kitty McCracken, Jerry Morgan, Billy Wright and L.D. Woolley.

Following the stockholders meeting, bank officers met and re-elected officers as follows: L.D. Woolley, president; Jerry Morgan, executive vice president; Emma Lee Donovan, Charlotte Hastings and Ron Patton, vice presidents; Allen Masters, vice president and comptroller; Brenda Lane, vice president and cashier; and Linda Walton, assistant cashier.

The board also reviewed and approved new operating policies for the coming year.

"As in the past, our good year was due primarily to the fact that we have a good community in which to do business," Mr. Woolley said. "We certainly appreciate the support given us and will continue to work very hard to merit it."

Council Approves Airport Management At Meeting

A proposed airport management and lease agreement were approved, members of an airport zoning board of adjustment were named and the city's motel-hotel tax was raised to provide operating budget funds for the Hilton Community Center at the semi-monthly meeting of the City Council last Tuesday night.

The airport management agreement with Curt Covert, Cisco resident who operates a business in Dallas, was approved, subject to further and final approval by the Texas Aeronautics Commission. The agreement includes leasing four airplane hangars and acreage adjacent to the airport.

Under terms of the agreement, Mr. Covert will assume responsibility for maintenance of the airport as well as for its operation.

In entering into the agreement, the Council believes that development of the airport and activities there will improve substantially with the airport becoming a considerable asset to the community, City Manager Mike Moore reported. Under the agreement, the city's expenses will be considerable less, he added.

Re-appointed to serve two-year terms on the Airport Zoning Board of Adjustments are Lloyd McGrew, Dean Toler, Gary Harris and Brad Kimbrough. Dr. Chief Brown was named to the place held by Mayor Joe Wheatley.

President Eris Ritchie of the Hilton Community Center board of directors appeared before the Council and requested that the city tax on motels and hotels be raised from two to seven percent and that five cents of the total be designated for use by the Center. Two per cent has been levied since a state law permitting the tax was passed several years ago and this goes to the Chamber of Commerce for promotion of tourist trade.

Mr. Ritchie told the Council. Continued Back Page.....

Tax Rates Held The Line For 1986-1987?

The 20 taxing entities in Eastland County pretty well held the line on rates for 1986 - but who can say what the future holds?

Six agencies dropped rates a bit, six had no changes and nine (including the two for the county) upped rates a bit.

Guesses of the rates of 1987? It's hard to tell, County Appraiser Steve Thomas responds. It depends on how Pritchard and Abbott peg the oil rates. Last year they were set at $23.00 a barrel - and they're sure to be less this year, so other property owners may have to make up the difference, it would appear. (Oil finally hit about $19.00 a barrel in December.)

Last year, the county went from .152 cents per hundred to .171 for the general fund, and from .053 to .058 cents for the road and bridge fund.

City of Eastland dropped from .458 to .438 cents.

E.I.S.D. up from .695 to .795.

Cisco I.S.D. stayed at .81, as did CJC at .20.

Cisco City dropped from .55 to .54, and Cisco Hospital stayed at .10.

Carbon City went from .067 to .64, and Carbon ISD went from .69 to .77.

Gorman City dropped from .72 to .716, and Gorman City dropped from .339 to .30.

The South Eastland County Hospital District (Gorman) went up from .298 to .293.

Rising Star I.S.D. went from 1.14 to 1.40 per hundred, and City of Rising Star went from .56 to .627.

Ranger I.S.D. went from .85 to .91, and Ranger Hospital went up from .10 to .11, while the Ranger City went from .345 to .338 and Ranger J.C. stayed at .17. The Ranger Water system and the Eastland water system continued to assess no taxes.

Life On The Quiet Side

My old brown dog Clyde loves me a lot. He loves me when I'm dressed up pretty... but just as well when I'm sloppy and dirty, and what a listener he is. A better psychiatrist I could never find. Sometimes I tell him my problems and never a word of advice does he give. He never tells me I should, or shouldn't have said this or that. And when he sees I'm real sad he just jumps up near me, his sorrowful sad brown eyes telling me he understands as his wet warm tongue licks my hands and playfully tries to lick the tears from my eyes until I begin to laugh and forget all the awful things in this world. And I giggle at his silliness. And when I laughingly tell him funny things I've heard, or done, his smiling eyes laugh with me and he begins to run around in circles, and all over the place until I'm laughing even harder and dancing around with him.

Oh, he's a silly, funny dog. And I love him.

He's smart too. Like the time I was laying on the diving board, face down, enjoying the cool breeze against the water. My husband Sam was sitting nearby, quietly fishing. And Clyde was just laying there, relaxed and happy. I didn't realize Sam had left the dock and I kept making lazy remarks... that didn't require an answer. As I continued to talk I kind of felt Clyde get up, walk to the edge of the dock and look up at me. I opened one eye and looked at him looking at me. He knew I wasn't talking to him. I wasn't using the right kind of voice I use to talk to him. I continued making comments every now and then. I'm used to my husband's silent nature. Then I went into a very long tale. And Clyde, still standing on the edge of the dock, began to bark. He knew I wasn't talking to him. Throughout the tale he continued to stand erectly, barking every now and then. I should have known he was trying to tell me something. When I finished my story I waited for a comment from my husband that didn't come. After a long silence I carefully raised myself up to find not a soul, a husband or anyone else on the dock. Just me and Clyde. I looked at Clyde. He looked at me as if to say... I was trying to tell you he's not here!

I laughed. And Clyde began to chase his scroungy tail. I wasn't embarrassed to have made a little bit of a fool of myself in front of my best friend here on the quiet side, in the slow lane of Lake Brownwood.

City of Cisco crews are shown working on a water leak located in the 700 block of Conrad Hilton on Wednesday of last week. The water line blew out again Friday morning spraying the sidewalk in front of Austin's Furniture with water. The city crew was back out there by 7:00 a.m. Friday working to repair the leak. WORD OF GOD

But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.

Acts 1:8

He said unto them, Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed? And they said unto him, We have not so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost.

And when Paul had laid his hands upon them, the Holy Ghost came on them; and they spake with tongues, and prophesied.

Acts 19:2, 6

Eris Ritchie is shown in the above photo receiving a check for the Hilton Foundation in the amount of $980.00 from Cisco Civic League president Yvonne McMillian. The money is from profits made from the Christmas at the Hilton program held in December. The money will be used in the completion of the Hilton Community Center.

Also like to express their appreciation to local merchants who had lights placed on their buildings in response to their request to make the downtown more festive during the Christmas season.

She said the lights added a lot to the Christmas season and she hopes there will be more businesses who will place lights around their stores next year.

And she said for everyone to think of the Christmas Festival. It will be held May 2nd and 3rd this year.

Firemen Answer

Fire Alarms

Three grass fires and a false alarm were answered by the Cisco Volunteer Fire Department during the past few days. The false alarm called firemen to Graham Memorial Hospital at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Also on Tuesday, at 7:25 p.m., firemen were called to the Lake Road (Highway 6) near the Johnny Cagle home when an electric power line started burning, starting a grass fire. WTU workers took care of the electrical problem and firemen put out the small fire.

Firemen went nine miles south on Highway 206 at FM Road 2526 at 4 p.m. Wednesday to put out a grass fire. They returned to the same location at 1:30 p.m. Thursday and put out a similar blaze. There was no property damage.

Dr. Ayres Cermin was reelected to the presidency of the Cisco Historical Society last Tuesday night in the Society's annual meeting, a soup, salad, and dessert supper held at the Lutheran Church Parish Hall.

lege. They have two children, Deitra, 8th grade student at Cisco Junior High, and Kevin, 3rd grader at Cisco Elementary. The family is active members of I-20 Church of Christ.

Mrs. Hearne said, "I have very little time for hobbies because taking care of my family, helping my husband (I keep the home score book for all the home Lady Wrangler basketball games and enjoy getting to know the Lady Wranglers by having them in our home for team get togethers), and being a first year teacher is so time consuming. However, when I do find time, I love to sew and do needlecrafts.

Mrs. Hearne added, "Our family is a sports oriented family. One of my favorite enjoyments is watching my daughter, Deitra, play basketball or watching my son, Kevin, play soccer or Little League baseball. I enjoy being a part of my husband's job; our family attends all the Lady Wranglers' home games and the out of town games when possible."

Mrs. Hearne is enjoying her first year of teaching. "After substituting for so long," she said, "I was ready to have a class of my very own and kindergarten was my first choice. Kindergarten age children are so energetic and eager to learn and also so loving. I have a great group of students and I am looking forward to many years as a teacher. It is what I always wanted to do and I'm glad to be a part of the profession."

club news

CISCO LIONS CLUB

Enjoy the time you spend in the sun but protect yourself against harmful violet radiation and heat. That was the advice given members of the Cisco Lions Club by Dr. Ayres Cermin in a talk last Wednesday noon at their weekly luncheon at the White Elephant Restaurant.

Observing that there would be no life without the sun, Dr. Cermin noted that too much sun caused face wrinkles, dry skin and skin cancer. People with fair complexion (blonds and redheads) are most affected by sun radiation and most likely to have skin cancer.

People planning prolonged stays in the sun should protect themselves by wearing long-sleeve shirts and trousers, a hat and eye shades, Dr. Cermin suggested. Ultra violet rays are worst around water and sandy beaches, he added. Radiation is also present during cloudy conditions, he said.

Sun bathing is acceptable if oils and creams are used but care should be taken to avoid too much heat, Dr. Cermin said. "Use common sense and dress appropriately when you plan to go out in the sun," he said. Wearing cotton rather than synthetic clothing is best, he added. He advised drinking plenty of liquids and to avoid taking salt tablets.

Secretary Willard Johnson reported that he and Zone Chairman Jerry McBeth attended the mid-winter Lions conference in Abilene last Saturday. They also attended a zone meeting in Breckenridge and it was reported that the sponsoring Lions Club lost some $900 on the Lions Benefit Bowl football game last November and that Cisco's share of the loss was $97.86. This was paid from the some $700 that the club netted in program advertising sales.

Mr. McBeth reported that the Cisco club was honored at the Abilene meeting as one of the district's 100 percent supporters of the eye bank program. Plans are being made for the eye bank committee to sponsor a white cane day in the spring to raise funds for the program.

Vice President Roy Dennis presided in the absence of President Olin Odom.

Nutrition Center

Many of the older Eastland County residents are finding it necessary to work enabling them to pay their bills. So many have asked how much they can earn without losing their social security benefits.

As of January 1, 1987, the earnings limit for persons under age of 65 increased to $6,000, up from $5,760 in 1986. Beneficiaries who are 65 to 69 may earn $8,160 this year without losing benefits, up from $7,800 in 1986.

Those older citizens, age 70 and over may earn any amount without penalty, starting with the month in which they turn 70.

I've Been Wrong Before

by Gordon S. Clark
But it seems that the big sporting events getting more attention all the time could have expected that sooner or later they get hit with a bad batch.

The deadly fan riots in Europe and South American soccer matches have yet to be equaled by anything in the US except at a few rock concerts. However, we see on TV that complaints of battered wives and other crimes of violence show a dramatic increase at super bowl times. Though we have often heard that "Excitement is contagious" we hadn't been told that like a contagious disease it could do great harm. It seems that those who idolize a team are ready to attack any whose religion centers on a different idol. Even wifely indifference seems to have become a sacrilege which merits punishment. For shame that a man(?) who wouldn't dare tackle "Refrigerator" thinks it manly to beat up the little woman. Oh sure, some would love to have a chance on the field. They have a problem like in the story of the lion which upon meeting an elephant roared "I'm the king of the jungle and lord of all I survey. You look pritty punny." and the elephant ran away. After the same results with other denizens of the jungle he came across a little mouse. Oh well, just to keep in practice, "I'm the king of the jungle and lord of all I survey. You look pritty puny." but the mouse said, "But I been sick." So with those would be heroes who demonstrate superiority by thrashing women and children.

Then too there are calculations of the vast sums being bet. It runs into the billions and the TV news man added that 99% of those bets were "illegal". But what part should we consider moral? In Calif. draw poker is legal in licensed poker parlors. Yet, what makes it better if you and I were to play poker where the house takes a cut out of the pot and the state gets in for a slice of the pie? A gamble may be legalized but that doesn't make it moralized. As the TV program did not tie down what part of that brutality in the home was due to a frustrated husband's loss of his pay, you can give good gambling odds on a large part being due to a weak minded man unable to strike out at Lady Luck throwing a punch at the Lady of the House. Unable to admit that he was stupid, he proves it.

"Concord silently grieves for space pioneer" "Hearts go out today for crew"

No.
I refuse.
For Christa McAuliffe and her fellow passengers, not one tear.

For their families, yes. Their lives are changed forever because the Challenger crew represented the stuff of which heroes are made.

It is too much for me to act on the idea that "...one crowded hour of glorious life is worth an age without a name." I want to live as long as I can as my curiosity knows no limits. But I believe I understand the dare of the Challenger.

The crew members were there because they wanted to be. Their mentalities, so I believe, were such as to exult in being chosen to make this journey.

Of course, they recognize the dangers inherent in the project. They were as fit mentally as they were physically.

No, my heart does not go out to the crew. For their families, yes. It matters little how much lip service we give to "understanding" why husbands, wives and children feel impelled to do the things they do.

Not one person was on that flight because someone else supplied the pressure for him to be there.

They went because they wanted to go. They worked, they studied, they trained. They may have told family and friends, "I have to do this." They may have thought it was the truth.

It may go over better with a listener to say, "I must do this-and-so to add to the fund of human knowledge" than to admit, "I must act because my heart beats faster, my mind races and I must know..." Perhaps "want to" and "have to" are synonymous in this case, or almost so.

It may be hard to differentiate between the two. A woman purposely infanticiding may consider she has no choice but to deliver, but at one point, she had a choice, and she made it. She decided what she wanted.

Once admitted to a course of action, it may be true to say you have to finish it, but not with the Challenger crew. They had back-ups waiting to take their places. They did what they wanted.

For one, I cannot mourn for anyone who does what he wants to and is willing to accept the consequences—not after attaining the age of reason. For families left, yes.

If one thing is sure, after we are born, at some time we will die. The manner of dying is another thing. Our customs are another thing, too.

If these Challengers had died one at a time in a car wreck, in a plane crash, or from food poisoning, how many headlines would we be reading a year later? They would be just as dead and buried and all their knowledge, plans, hopes and fears with them. Wouldn't they? The major difference, as I see it, is that their families probably would not have had their memories and emotions plowed up, harrowed and presented again for public consumption.

The explosion underlined, as nothing else could, the need to be exactly right on every part of such projects. "Estimates" should be forgotten. "Margins of error" should be eliminated.

"Precision machinery" should be just that: Precise.

Given today's society, the Challengers may have done far more for mankind by dying than if the mission had been completed. They may have saved many more lives than they gave. For them, I have no tears.

But for their families, I grieve.

You can be earning tax deferred interest on your life insurance. Ask E.F. Hutton how.

E.F. Hutton Life Insurance Company is now crediting 8.0 percent on the account values of its universal life insurance policies. Think of it: that's better than the 6 percent or 8 percent you'll get today on MONEY MARKET FUNDS, TREASURY BILLS, and CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT. And since interest credited to your Hutton Life universal life policy is tax deferred, it grows faster than in taxable vehicles. But unlike these investments, Hutton Life's universal life offers much more. Benefits like:

- Permanent life insurance, providing tax-free estate protection for your beneficiaries.
- Competitive interest rates, guaranteed for one full year
- Tax-free access to your cash value through low-cost policy loans

Cisco Public Library News

Books circulated by the Cisco Public Library during 1986 totaled 8,352, an increase of 633 books in 1985, and 1,894 more than in 1984. Librarian Mary Bob Leveridge presented the annual report of the Library's operation at the first of the 1987 meetings of the Twentieth Century Club held in the home of the President, Mrs. Lloyd London. The Club has owned and operated the Library since 1900.

cluding a number of special books for the Children's Library. For the second summer, the "Hang-A-Book" reading program for pre-schoolers through Junior High students was conducted with 29 young readers participating.

Under auspices of the State Library System, 50 or more books are sent quarterly from the Abilene regional office to the Cisco facility for a 3-month period. Special books and films are also available through the Abilene Library. A large selection of paperbacks is maintained and frequently renewed.

A high-light of 1986 was the workshop on "Library Business Practices" sponsored by the Big Country Library System, held at the Cisco Library and attended by librarians from towns throughout this Big Country region.

Many books have been donated to the Library, and in some cases of older books or duplicates, books or publications are available for sale.

Memorials and donations, for which the Twentieth Century Club is appreciative, have been made in the names of Wilma Waters, Ed Bradshaw, O. L. Stamey, Snookie Mahaney, Bill Austin, Olive D. Schaefer, and Mrs. Emma Addy.

Back To Nature: Couple Decides To Live In Wilderness

(Editor's Note: The following article appeared in the "Big Spring Herald" Sunday, Jan. 11, 1987. Barbara Purcell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Simmons of Cisco and is a 1971 graduate of Cisco High School. The article was entitled "Back to Nature: Couple Decides to Live in the Wilderness," and was written by Carleen Everett, Lifestyle Editor of the Big Spring Herald.)

Tom and Barbara Purcell are getting back to nature. In the process, they are undertaking a major change in their lives.

They've quit their jobs and are moving to Pennsylvania — taking with them a duffel bag, a bedroll, and a plastic cup, knife, fork and spoon — to live in a wilderness camp for troubled youths.

They'll sleep in teepees and cook on open fires and leave behind the finer things in life such as their home (equipped with all the modern conveniences), furniture, and vehicles, which they will store until they return.

The couple, married five months, is both excited and apprehensive about the prospect of the adventure. "We don't know what to expect," Barbara says.

The decision was made "on a whim," Tom added.

"One day Tom called me and said 'I've read about something and want to show it to you,' Barbara said. "I thought Tom had found an ambulance position in the Dallas area or something. Then he showed me the article about a company called VisionQuest. It wasn't what I was expecting, but I told him, well, let's look into it."

And they did. "We called and flew to Dallas for an interview. We applied, gave references and they ran an FBI check on us."

The couple leaves Big Spring on Jan. 17 and fly into Philadelphia.

VisionQuest officials will meet and take the couple to Ft. Mifflin, a VisionQuest camp on the south end of the Philadelphia Airport grounds where the Purcells will work as counselors with delinquent juveniles in the wilderness setting. Tom will also serve as a paramedic.

The term VisionQuest is a "Plains Indians' rite passage into adulthood," Tom explained.

The purpose of the camp is to help troubled young adults through "good, old-fashioned work ethics. They have daily responsibilities and are taught self-discipline, trust and respect for themselves, others and their environment."

"They're also taught how to face and deal with their problems," Barbara added.

Most of the youths in the camps have been in trouble an average of seven times, Tom said. "We'll be working with the toughest, street smart kids this country has ever produced."

The Purcells explained the typical scenario for a youth's participation evolves from an option between a prison sentence and VisionQuest.

Officials from VisionQuest interview each prospect and upon acceptance an individual treatment plan is written and the camp site is selected for the individual.

After two months at the wilderness camp — also called an impact camp — the youth can go on to another wilderness experience or another phase of VisionQuest, such as a wagon train

After that, if the individual has successfully completed the treatment plan, he can either return home or go on to another camp like OceanQuest, which is an elite group, the Purcells said.

The couple doesn't seem too worried about being in a camp with troubled youths. With a sense of relief, Tom noted that "VisionQuest does not accept murderers, rapists and arsonists."

Parenting will be the main thrust of their jobs, Barbara explained.

"They didn't sugarcoat anything at the interview," she said. "They asked questions like, 'Can you handle kids cussing at you — and manipulating you? Can you handle not taking a bath for a week?'"

"They didn't want anyone to have a romantic idea about it — it won't just be fun and games. It will be tough, too. But it will also be fun." Despite the challenges awaiting them, the Purcells are excited about their new adventure.

"For the last nine years, I've known everyday what my day would be like. When we get there, every day will be different," Barbara said.

"It's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," Tom said. "If we like it — and there are a lot of unknowns — we'd like to stay in the East for about two years."

The income is an attractive aspect of the job. "We're both getting considerable raises," Tom said.

"We expect to save $32,000 in two years," thanks to greatly reduced room and board expenses.

If they don't like their jobs, then they can quit. No commitments have been made, Tom said.

"If you aren't happy and don't enjoy it, they would rather you not stay, because you wouldn't be helpful to the kids," Barbara said.

"At first, my thought was 'I don't want to be away from family and friends,' Barbara said.

Tom's only hesitation is the extreme difference in weather they've become accustomed to in West Texas.

On their days off — they'll work five on and two off — they plan to travel. "We'll be close to Philadelphia, New York City, and Washington, D.C., we want to see it all," Barbara said.

THREE MORE DAYS!

Only three more days remain until the Grand Opening of the city's new Food Emporium! Beginning at 7 a.m. Wednesday, we'll throw open the doors on the most incredible supermarket in the state! We've promised you the best of both worlds and we're going to deliver!

WHOLESALE PRICES!

GRAND OPENING JUBILEE!

The best of both worlds means supermarket service at warehouse prices; supermarket variety at warehouse prices; and supermarket freshness at warehouse prices. You don't have to sacrifice service or quality or freshness for low, low prices and The Emporium proves it! We keep our prices down by volume buying and low overhead. A supermarket doesn't need magic to offer low prices, it just needs a little common sense. The Food Emporium is a chain that stretches from the heart of New Mexico to the tip of Texas and back to your hometown — the heart of Texas! We have a lot of buying power behind us, and we use it to keep prices as low as possible!

COUNTRY FRESHNESS

Fresh is more than just a word at The Food Emporium — it's a way of life. Everything we do is geared toward maintaining the freshest foods possible. We truck our fruits and vegetables ourselves to make sure they're in the store as soon as possible. Our buyers and butchers demand fresh, flavorful meats. All our beef is home grown right here in Texas and our pork and lamb is the best on the market. Our Dairy products are fresh from the farm and full of wholesome goodness. And one whiff from our Bakery will tell you that our breads and pastries are fresh from the oven!

Just three more days and the Grand Opening begins! Plan now to join the celebration! We'll have Tastings throughout the store so you can sample all the wonderful foods from our Special Departments. And to top it all off, we're giving away a 1987 Cadillac as our Grand Prize! That's right — a brand new Cadillac is our Grand Opening Prize in each town and you could be the lucky winner! Sign up each time you're in the store during the next few weeks and cross your fingers! Our Grand Opening is just three days away, so mark your calendar!

LET'S ALL HELP the Cisco Historical Society locate pictures and items that might be connected in any way with the old Word rural school building. The old structure has been donated to the Society by Mrs. Kitty McCracken and they expect to move it in the spring from south of Cisco to their historical park near the Hilton Community Center.

Any sort of artifacts that might be connected to the Word School, or any other area rural school, would be appreciated. They have some desks in prospect and would like other items. Contact Wesley Valek, Dr. Ayres Cermin, Mrs. Cermin, Kitty McCracken or others of the Society if you can help with this fine project.

oil that the Center needed additional funds for maintenance and expenses of operation at the restored Mobley Hotel and that the tax money would enable the Center to permit groups to use the facilities there at a nominal rate. The Center will be the community's official convention center.

In other action, the Council approved Change Order No. 2 to the Wastewater Treatment Facility Contract with Wardrup and Associates to allow the contractor an additional 21 days to complete the project. The change was requested due to considerable rainy weather during the past two months.

A delegation of residents of the North Shore of Lake Cisco appeared before the Council to request help in maintenance of the road that serves the area. They pointed out that the county ceased doing any maintenance work there some months ago and that the road was "in terrible condition, particularly in rainy weather."

The Council promised to study the matter and suggested that efforts be made to have the road formally designated as a county road. A group plans to attend a meeting of the Commissioners' Court in the near future, it was reported. City Manager Moore told the group that he would work with them in efforts to solve their road problems.

In his report to the Council, Mr. Moore noted that the new water reservoir at College Hill has been completed and in use. Plans call for a fence to be built around the reservoir soon, he added. He also reported that work on the wastewater plant is making progress although it is behind schedule due to considerable bad weather.

Mr. Moore reported that the city is giving street grading a number one priority at this time. A seal coating program for the coming summer will depend on the state of city finances, he said. With falling revenues, the city "has cut everything we can to the bone," the city manager said. He expressed the hope that no cuts in city services would be necessitated due to lack of money.

The monthly financial statements for November and December as prepared by City Bookkeeper Maryann Perry were approved.

Mayor Joe Wheatley presided at the meeting. Present were Commissioners Allen Masters, Roy Dennis, Bural Chambers and Bobby Ingram, City Manager Moore and City Secretary Ginger Johnson.
