Hall Of Remarks by Norrol Hallmark

SINCE TODAY IS Mother's Day, the following article from Metro Newspaper Service is a timely column. It is an interesting item and I hope you will enjoy it as much as I have. HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY!

You've come a long way, Mother!

It wasn't so many decades ago that Mother's interests centered largely about the kitchen, the children and the church.

No longer, readers, can Mother live in such a "tight little island" of hard work, little play and not-so-splendid isolation!

Today, Mother is a 50-50 partner in everything that goes on in, and outside, the family.

She still cooks and cleans and cares for the kids—but hardly to the exclusion of the world around her.

In fact, more than half of all American Mothers are gainfully employed—at bringing home their own "side of the bacon." Part of this employment stems from the new view of women as co-producers, responsible for expanding our economy, for keeping it well-oiled and functioning.

The fact that a woman is a Mother, too, does not diminish her capabilities. Our growing economy needs the skills of its women to remain vigorous and competitive.

Then, what with inflation, rising expectations for a better life, higher standards of living we've come to expect, darn few single-earner families can "hack it" on the income of just Dad alone.

So Mother has "gone into the world," and with tremendous impact and success.

As our social philosophy has touched on a real equality, women—many of them Mothers—have taken new responsibility and leadership roles in commerce and industry, to an extent not even dreamed of a few short years ago.

Perhaps it was the labor demand of World War II that opened the doors of "liberation and equality" to the Mothers of today's "baby boom" generation.

Their hands, minds and skills were desperately needed by a nation fighting for the survival of a lifestyle, envied by all the world.

What, in fact, began as a necessity, blossomed into a blessing. Women proved they could "make it"—and a heretofore "man's world" was shattered forever.

The proliferation of new home appliances to make "keeping house" easier has substituted servo-mechanisms for female brawn—in drying clothes, cleaning rugs, washing and drying dishes and, yes, even shoveling snow.

So, freed from drudgery, with time to spare, a lot of American Mothers gave up the "leisure life" and went to work.

Have they made their mark? Well, judge for yourself.

One, Ms. Jane Pfeiffer, is Chairman of the Board of RCA. Two, Mrs. Patricia Harris of HUD and Mrs. Juanita Kreps, Secretary of Commerce, are cabinet members. One, Dr. Rosalind Yalow, has recently won a Nobel Prize.

The anonymous ones drive trucks and cabs. Others pilot commercial aircrafts. They administer our education system, and they teach in it. They write advertising.

Are we better for it? Are they better for it? Is our society better for the application of their skills and talents?

Well, have we ever lived better? Or longer? Or had so much? Or eaten so well?

Mother and her work outside the home hasn't hurt a bit!

Mr. Dick Woolley, president of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, is presenting Mrs. Pat Kahan, president of the Kahan Energy Corporation, a membership plaque.

The Kahan Energy Corporation began operating in the Cisco area about two years ago. They have over 15,000 acres under oil lease at the present time. The corporation has some 21 employees that work out of the headquarters office located at 116 West 6th Street. The corporation recently opened an oil field supply sales store at the above address. Mr. Marvin Kahan, chairman of the board, and financial counselor for the corporation, has business interest in California and divides his time between the two.

The Kahans have four children, two daughters and two sons. The younger son, Jeffery, is employed by the corporation and resides in Cisco.

On Mrs. Kahan's right is Mr. U.L. Kingsbury, vice president of the corporation. Mr. Kingsbury was with the Exxon Company a number of years before joining Kahan. Also extending a warm welcome into the Chamber of Commerce is Mr. Dean Madison and Mr. Gerald Winnett, chamber members. (Photo by Brad Kimbrough)

Happy Mother's Day

TO MOM WITH LOVE

By Tami Eudy

Fights and Tears and Heartaches they're always hurting each other!

Where is Love and Happiness that should be with Daughter and Mother?

Why are they so far apart, unable to share things they should?

Why can't they laugh and be happy?

Why can't more things be good?

With every word a heart is broken—

With every truth there's a lie.

But with every song there's a meaning, and it's not always a sad good bye.

I hope it's not too late for our Love to grow

And to change our relationship from a knot to a bow!

I'll always love you no matter what I do or say!

But feelings build inside me and must be let out some way!

Please, just tell me that you love me and I'll try harder to understand!

I know you're just protecting me and for that I think you're grand!

Some things may confuse me, and others I might think wrong;

but Please Mom, just bear with me cause I'll grow up before long!

I want you beside me through all of my life!

I want you to guide me all the way!

So, I'm asking and begging you to Please be my friend today!

Now we've started laughing!

We've really started to care!

We've become great friends now, and what lovely things we share!

And now that we are friends again, as we were once before, let's continue to mend the broken hearts that in the past were tore!

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY

GRANDMOTHERS

By Tami Eudy

Someone that smiles all the time—

The one that spoiled me rotten!

This describes my grandmother that shall never be forgotten!

She's always very cheerful—

She loves everyone she meets.

That's my loving grandmother and she can't be beat!

I love to go and visit her and eat her chocolate cake!

She's the best granny in the world and that is no mistake!

She's a very lovely lady and I love her with all my heart

That's why my loving granny and I shall never part!

This poem was especially dedicated to her grandmothers Eudy and Watts.

A TRIBUTE TO ALL COUNTRY MOMS

I wonder how many living today

Still remember what it was to be poor.

No fancy plumbing, just an old outhouse,

And the hardships we had to endure.

No water bill to pay for us country folks,

No furnaces nor electrical lights.

No daily trips to a neighborhood store,

And no driving to just see the sights.

Up every morning before break of day;

Milking cows in the dark was routine.

Plowing or hoeing till near setting sun;

It was needed to keep our fields clean.

No money we had, yet how rich we were,

And when asked where our wealth derived from,

We answered with pride, "We owe everything To our precious and dear Country Mom!"

They never fed hogs nor chopped any wood,

Nor raised their own Thanksgiving tom;

Never felt the sting of a keen willow switch

Placed properly by a good Country Mom!

God's greatest gift was a sweet Country Mom!

And their equal has never been known.

Facts easily proven, just ask anyone

Who has been reared by one of his own.

A "Jack of All Trades," and master of each,

There was nothing that they couldn't do!

Do it, they did, and I might also add,

With no modern conveniences too!

If moms did today what moms did back then,

No doubt that they would all feel abused.

They washed their clothes on an old rubbing board,

And even made the soap that they used!

Speaking of their soap, an ordeal it was,

To use it while attempting to scrub

A tired aching body each Saturday night

While doubled up in a galvanized tub!

In front of the stove, on cold winter nights,

While that weekly old bath undertaking,

One side of you roasted from heat of the fire;

The other was shivering and shaking!

What really was sad was cases like me,

In a family with one older daughter.

My old Country Mom made me always wait

And bathe in that second hand water!

Old Grandma Baird could have learned a few things,

In the days when she first was a bride,

By merely observing a good Country Mom

Doing all with "true family pride!"

The biscuits, the pies, the cakes that they baked,

In a wood burning stove were produced.

When dinner time came, and they rang the bell,

Second helpings were never induced!

Worth their weights in gold were all Country Moms,

For they taught us The Golden Rule too.

They practiced their teaching, "Do unto others As you would have them do unto you!"

Today I pay tribute to all

Senior Citizens Nutrition Menu

The Senior Citizens, during the luncheons, are becoming to get more and acquainted with professionals when it concerns programs.

James Cotton not only sang several solo numbers but led the group in singing. Mrs. Vida Killion was the accompanist.

Vivian Jones, from Eastland with her accompanist Florence Clark presented a spiritual uplift with the great hymns that Ms. Jones sang. On the same program Diana Fraley, with her accompanist Marguerite King, brought to the luncheon participants several outstanding hymns.

Dr. and Mrs. M.A. Treadwell presented an unusual program by Dr. Treadwell playing great hymns on the musical saw while Mrs. Treadwell accompanied on the piano.

The participants of the luncheon are fortunate in having such outstanding talent brought to them every week. It is just another reason why all senior adults, over the age of 60, should plan to attend the Monday, Wednesday and Friday luncheons.

Call Ms. Jo Phillips, 442-3625, or the Senior Citizens office, 442-2263, for reservations.

The menus for the week are:
Monday—meat loaf, vegetable beans, hominy, cake, bread and drink.

Wednesday—oven fried chicken, new potatoes, buttered carrots, fruited jello, bread and drink.

Friday—luncheon steak, brown gravy, corn, green beans, apple juice, cobbler, bread and drink.

Lights From
 The Christian World
 By Josephine Cleveland

The kingdom of Jesus Christ is made up of people whose hearts are united with His. Not many of these true believers possess brilliant talents, commanding eloquence of speech or appearance, genius or riches. The late Fletcher Galloway who wrote "Observations for Life," which blessed and encouraged thousands, commented, "The world could get along with a Niagara with its thundering roar and majestic beauty, but it cannot spare the thousands of brooks and small rivers that wind their way through the lowlands, spreading life and beauty." The Church of Jesus Christ could never function or carry out the great mission of going into all the world and sharing the good news of Jesus Christ without the thousands of dedicated people whose names never get into the headlines, but whose plodding faithfulness, and quiet integrity and consistent, Christlike spirit make up the Body of Christ in every century. Friend, let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven. Your light may seem dim and faint to you but remind yourself that it is an important part of a whole....Let your life be one of the small lights that spread life and beauty. Many lights when united together will give a brilliant display.

Questions For The Doctor
 Appendicitis: It's Still With Us

Many people have the mistaken idea that appendicitis is a thing of the past, thanks to antibiotics, the Texas Medical Association says. In fact, appendicitis is still a common problem, and many physicians agree that it can be treated only by surgery. Antibiotics help the patient recover from surgery with few complications but used alone they rarely provide permanent relief from a diseased appendix. The appendix, a worm-like attachment extending from the large bowel, seems to serve no useful purpose in the human anatomy. Most people are not aware of this organ unless it becomes inflamed. Although waste matter from the bowel flows past it, the appendix's own mucous secretions normally keep it clean. If the appendix's opening becomes plugged, however, its normal method of drainage does not function. An astonishing array of objects - including pebbles, seeds, toothpicks, small bones and clumps of hair - passing through the intestinal tract can plug the appendix's opening. More often, however, the appendix becomes blocked by its own twisting or by small, hard bits of fecal matter. When blockage occurs, the tiny appendix becomes swollen and the person soon experiences the characteristic pains of appendicitis. The symptoms may be slight fever, nausea, constipation and abdominal pain. The pain does not always begin on the lower right side of the abdomen where the appendix is located. It may start on the left side or high in the center of the abdominal area and then move to the lower right side.

The swollen appendix, filled with pus, may block off its supply of blood and its nerve supply. When this happens, the person may get some relief from pain, but with its blood supply cut off, the wall of the appendix weakens and sometimes ruptures. The pus which breaks through may infect vital organs in the abdominal cavity. This is what doctors call a perforated appendix. Although not every pain in the abdomen indicates appendicitis, any such pain that is increasingly severe and that is accompanied by nausea, vomiting, and fever should be reported to a physician. Until a doctor determines what is wrong and what should be done, laxatives or enemas should not be taken. The surgery which corrects appendicitis is a procedure with relatively little risk. The patient is usually in the hospital less than a week and can usually count on being back to a normal routine in three weeks. Once the useless appendix is removed, there is no danger of recurrence.

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C.--I have introduced a bill (H.R. 3809) in the House of Representatives this past week entitled the Producer Elected Farm Policy Advisory Board Act of 1979. This bill will establish a vehicle whereby the nation's farmers and ranchers can bring direct producer input into the decision making processes of the Department of Agriculture on policies, procedures, programs, and practices. I believe this will help to alleviate a common complaint from farmers and ranchers that the Secretary and the Department are not responsive to the needs of agriculture.

I have provided that the Board will function for a period of five years, after which the Congress may review the Board's record of achieving the objectives set forth in the bill prior to extending the authority of the Board or letting it expire. I feel that this bill will help to reduce the number and improve the credibility of existing and appointed advisory groups in the USDA and will allow the Nation's agricultural producers direct input by their elected representatives in the decision making processes of the Nation's agricultural policies.

Several of my colleagues have introduced bills this session to provide for Cost of Production Boards that would formalize the existing practice of appointing these persons. I believe these bills fail to recognize that usually such Boards only become the instruments of the current Administration in power at the time, and therefore are unable to speak out freely and act accordingly on the issues that are of concern to the farmer. Too, these boards would lack the authority to address the full scope of agricultural issues that my bill envisions.

The Board I propose will be composed of 30 agricultural producers, three from each of ten regions across the Nation. These Board members will be elected by the ASCS committee members in each county in the U.S. and will be unpaid for their services, though they will be reimbursed for travel and per diem expenses while actually on Board business. The members will serve three year terms with a two term limit. The ten regions designated in my bill were selected on the basis of total agricultural income and the number of farms, in an effort to achieve a good cross section and fair representation of all farmers and ranchers and agricultural production.

Parasite Infests Texas Catfish

A tiny parasite the size of a pinhead can infest large numbers of catfish in Texas ponds if left unattended.

The parasite, called Ichthyophthirius or "Ich," is mainly a problem in the spring and all of the year and can wipe out entire stocks of catfish, points out Dr. Ken Johnson, fish disease specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

According to the Texas A&M University System specialist, the Ich parasite lodges just beneath the surface of the fish's skin and appears as a whitish to brownish spot. "Hundreds of the parasites will cause the fish's outer skin to swell and slough off," explains Johnson. "Infested fish will lie motionless in shallow water along the pond shore or will swim about slowly at the water surface."

What can be done about Ich infestations?

"With a few precautions, a pond can be kept Ich free," points out Johnson. "The key thing is to avoid introducing the parasite into a pond."

Since the parasite is passed from fish to fish, live minnows or perch should not be used as bait in catfish ponds, cautions the specialist. Also, precautions should be taken to avoid introducing wild fish into a pond from creeks and up spillways. A spillway with a four-foot drop will keep wild fish from entering a pond via this route.

Johnson also suggests checking fingerlings or seed fish for Ich infestations at stocking time. "Once a point is infested with Ich parasites, it's difficult to correct the situation," notes Johnson. He recommends harvesting infested catfish of large size as the parasites present no health hazard to human consumption.

Sandra Hale Is Administrator

Leisure Lodge-Valley View has announced that effective May 1, 1979, Sandra Hale will be the administrator of that home with Judy Chaney serving as assistant administrator and bookkeeper.

Four years ago, May 1st, Sandra came to the home as bookkeeper and assistant administrator. She began her 200 hour Administrator in Training course September, 1978 at the University of Texas. She served her six months internship under Joyce Pylant and Lauretta Lowler.

Sandra is a 1968 graduate of Cisco High School. She will now continue her education by obtaining her Associate Degree in Long Term Health Care.

Judy is a 1962 graduate of Eastland High School, attended Cisco Junior two years, and has continuing educational units in Gerontology from Tarleton State University. She has been employed at Valley View as Activity Director the past six years.

Sandra would like to take this opportunity to extend an invitation to the community families, and friends to come by and meet with her and her staff, to become more familiar with the home and get to know each and everyone.

We asked Sandra if she had any future plans or goals she would like to initiate. "Yes, most definitely! We have a very enthusiastic staff who wants to continue to strive for improved community relationship and involvement, to increase and improve staff efficiency, and above all, to maintain and continue to improve patient care!"

For The Men Who Succeed

...and for those who will some day succeed them, our suggestion is that they invest part of their earnings in real estate. Wise investments in real properties have yielded fortunes to many people. And those who succeed in this venture never gamble on the title. They buy only quality abstracts or title insurance made or written by those who have themselves invested wisely - in their plant - in their personnel - and in their responsibility to the public.

8th Annual Memorial Day Coffee Project To Begin

The 8th Annual Memorial Day Coffee project benefiting the Summer Program at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center is underway throughout West Texas.

As in past years, waitresses in restaurants throughout the area will be selling plastic American flag pins for $1 each entitling the purchaser to get a free cup of coffee in any of the more than 100 participating restaurants on Memorial Day.

Shelley V. Smith, executive director of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center stressed the importance of this year's project, as the Easter Seal campaign of last month fell far short of what was anticipated in revenue.

Smith pointed out that the coffee project traditionally provides the funds for a special summer program for more than 100 handicapped youngsters to keep them involved in therapy through the summer months, as well as other social and recreational activities.

Smith asked that all waitresses make a very special effort this year to sell as many of the plastic flag pins as possible as the growth of the past months at the Center, as well as the inflationary spiral, make it necessary for every project to produce more income. Waitresses will be selling the flag pins between now and Memorial Day with all proceeds going directly to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center's three campuses.

Plant High Quality

Peanut Seed

The difference between profit and loss in a peanut crop depends a lot on the quality of seed planted, says an agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Dr. Leland D. Tripp emphasizes that high quality peanut seed are those that are an adapted variety of known origin, are the right size, and are of high germination.

"Size of seed you use at planting time can greatly influence the stand you get," points out Tripp. "Research has shown that a small seed does not have enough energy to push up and maintain a seedling until it can establish itself. This is particularly true if disease, insects or adverse weather conditions are present at seeding time."

Germinating ability of peanut seed is good to excellent in most years and is not a real problem, adds the agronomist. The producer is normally guaranteed 75-80 percent germination on peanut seed he buys. It usually runs much higher than this.

"A key point to remember when ordering peanut seed for this coming year is get a variety that has performed in your area in the past," emphasizes Tripp. "If you want to try a new variety, try only a few acres; don't plant your whole allotment to something new. Plant a seed that is large enough to produce a healthy, vigorous seedling, and buy the highest germinating seed possible."

Living With Lightning: Safety Precautions Help

Killer From the Skies

In West Texas, it struck someone playing baseball with an aluminum bat.

On the Texas coast, another victim was just getting into a car.

In Harris County, it happened during an installation of pipe at a construction site.

Another victim was a young football player.

What happened to all these Texas? They were struck by lightning. Three of the four were killed.

Although lightning is obviously not something that can be eliminated, fear of lightning can be replaced with facts and basic precautions.

ON THE ROAD

Suppose this is the situation:

You are driving through flat farmland in Texas. What appeared to be a mild shower off on the horizon seems to be moving inland. More and more lightning streaks across the darkening sky. As you pay closer attention, the grumbling thunder turns into loud frequent claps.

There is no question that you are about to be caught up in the midst of a Texas thunderstorm. It's the kind of storm that may be good for your parched lawn back home, but it is potentially dangerous and even deadly for you at this moment, depending on what you know and what you do.

If you see a shed off the road, should you stop and seek shelter there until the storm passes over? Is it safe to stay in your car? What if it's a convertible? Should you keep the radio on?

The first thing to do is to remain calm but cautious. If you notice a shift in the weather while traveling in your car, try to tune in to a local radio station to get a better idea of the forecast. Once in the midst of a thunderstorm, turn off the radio.

Your metal car is the safest place you can be. Pull over to the side of the road and sit the storm out. Do not touch the metal parts of your car. A convertible car, which is not all-metal, is not safe. Your alternative would be to seek a ditch, cave or ravine. If you cannot see any such shelter, crouch down in the open.

Stay away from trees, telephone poles, wire fences, tractors, and anything else that might serve as a conductor to electricity.

The main thing to remember is that you must not be the tallest object in the field. Drop to your knees, bend forward and place your hands on your knees, wherever you find yourself, be aware that if your hair stands on end or your skin tingles, lightning may be about to strike you. Crouch down at once.

IN THE HOME

If the same kind of storm catches you at home, the Institute suggests other precautions.

-Avoid windows, doors, fireplaces, radiators, stoves and metal pipes or sinks.

-Refrain from using electrical appliances such as radios, TV's, toasters, hair dryers, electric razors.

-Stay off the telephone, strange as that restriction may seem. Lightning may strike the outside lines.

-Don't take a shower or bath.

It is important to instruct children about lightning as well. Even a very young child should know to stay out of water during storms and to go indoors if they are playing outside.

In an age where we often feel a false sense of security against the forces of nature, we need to remind ourselves that lightning kills more Americans annually than hurricanes or tornadoes.

WITH A VICTIM

If you are with someone who is struck by lightning, you must think clearly and act fast. The victim has received a severe electrical shock and may be burned. They are not "charged" though and are perfectly safe to touch. Even if the person appears to be dead, prompt first aid often can revive them.

If they are not breathing, give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation once every five seconds to adults, once every three seconds to infants and small children. If there is no pulse, it is necessary to administer both resuscitation and external cardiac compression.

This can only be safely done by those with proper training. (Another good reason to take a first aid course from the Red Cross or some other organization or agency.) Even those victims who merely appear stunned need to be checked for burns: examine fingers and toes, particularly areas next to buckles or jewelry.

STAY CALM

Lightning is a power to be respected, but do not panic. Remain as calm as possible and use your common sense. Others may be depending on you for guidance and help.

What Would Happen If Disaster Hit?

No one wants a disaster, but there can be some comfort in the fact that private interests and government agencies do prepare in advance.

The most recent test was the Tuesday tornado that whacked North Texas and particularly Wichita Falls.

The next challenge may well be anytime.

There's the grim reminder that May is the worst month for tornadoes.

The Texas Disaster Act makes the Governor--through the Division of Disaster Emergency Services (DES)--the chief officer for coordinating disaster relief in the state.

DES's Texas Disaster Plan outlines the duties of both state agencies and local governments, should there be a need. It is designed to support the efforts of local governments and is a supplement to, not a substitute for, relief assistance provided by cities and counties.

The DES works with a local disaster coordinator in each area. In unincorporated areas, it's the county judge; in incorporated areas, it's the mayor.

If the resources of these local political subdivisions are inadequate to the task--such as is the case in a major tornado or hurricane--then local officials may request aid from the state to help relieve suffering and alleviate as much hardship as possible.

MORE INFORMATION

For more information on lightning, there are several publications available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402:

-The National Weather Service has two useful booklets for children. One is called "Owlie Skywarn's Lightning Book" (stock number 003-018-00086-5), available for 80 cents. The other is "Owlie's Tips on Lightning Safety" (stock number 003-018-00076-8), available for 50 cents.

-The National Weather Service also has a booklet for adults giving tips to follow in thunderstorms. It is called "Lightning Safety" and can be purchased for 60 cents. Ask for number 003-017-00392-2.

-A booklet titled "Lightning" is a product of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. Cost is 35 cents. Ask for stock number 003-017-00005-2.

-A specialized publication, "Lightning Protection for the Farm," supplies information to help assess farm lightning protection needs. Cost is $1. Ask for stock number 001-000-03794-3.

"Lightning Protection of Aircraft" is the title of a specialized NASA publication giving information on the effects of lightning on aircraft. Cost is $4.75. Ask for stock number 033-000-00689-6.

Fees To Be Collected At Some Corps Of Engineers' Camping Areas

The Fort Worth District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, will start its 1979 Summer Camping Fee Collection Program on Friday, 25 May, continuing through September, Acting District Engineer, Lt. Col. Harvey D. Hodges said today. Collection of fees is required under Public Law 93-303 enacted in June 1974.

Where economically feasible, fee collection is required under the law at all Federal campgrounds which provide tent or trailer spaces, drinking water, sanitary facilities, access roads, reasonable visitor protection, and other facilities.

The fees range from $1.00 to $3.00 per day for camping at a designated campsite, and group use facilities range from $15.00 to $25.00 per day. Under the law, the Corps of Engineers is required to provide at least one free camping area at each of its lakes.

Entrance fees are not charged at any Corps park nor are fees charged for access to the water or use of boat launching ramps.

However, fifty cents per day will be collected for use of electrical outlets provided in fee areas.

Holders of the "Golden Age" passport issued to Senior Citizens will receive fifty percent reduction on campground and electric outlet fees at all Corps-operated fee recreation areas.

Should a disaster be widespread and totally disabling, the Governor can request a presidential declaration as a disaster area--which opens the doors for federal assistance. Should this occur, Civil Defense officials will come into the community and set up one-stop disaster assistance centers, through which aid--local, state and federal--will be coordinated.

Insurance companies, with their teams of claims adjusters, and private relief organizations such as the Red Cross and Salvation Army are also full partners in the relief effort.

Jimmy Riddle: Service For The Blind

By Viola M. Payne
Comparatively few Eastland County citizens have personal contact with the blind people scattered about the local towns and countryside. Of course they read of the great talent of Stacey Blair, and are happy over his success with music. Music, fortunately, is one of the professions in which the ability of blind persons can be used. But other blind and partially blind persons find their activities more restricted than persons with normal sight. Obviously a blind person cannot drive out to meet friends or to attend Church or other public affairs. Even simple activities require planning and assistance.

But one person is especially aware of the blind people of this area, and their needs. Jimmy Riddle, of Keene, Texas, is a Representative for the Christian Record Braille foundation, Inc., a Non-profit organization with Headquarters in Lincoln, Nebraska. This amazing group has been serving blind people without charge since 1899. They furnish personal visits, maintain a Lending library, many kinds of Braille and large print material, have Full-vision books, Cassettes, and National Campes for blind children and adults. This is all made possible by the contributions of Churches, Organizations and business men in this area and all across the country.

Mr. Riddle, who appears younger than his 40 years, visits regularly in a territory stretching over a wide area of Central and North Texas. "Most people are surprised to learn," he stated during a recent interview. "That there are between thirty and forty blind persons in Eastland County."

I have contact with about twenty of these at the present time, and hope to reach the others soon."

Mr. Riddle mentioned that the Bible in Braille is always of great interest. It takes twenty large books in Braille to cover all the material in the bible. He also said that the Foundation has retained the name Christian Record in its title since its origin. The first Braille Journal was named Christian Record.

Mr. Austin O. Wilson, the acclaimed founder, was himself a blind person, he published the Journal's to cover a wider scope than a religious tract, so the covers advertised business opportunities and encouraged independence for the visually handicapped.

A hand-cranked, washing machine clothes wringer was used to press the first raised dots onto paper to record the Magazine's first copies.

Today, the presses literally eat their way into well over eight tons of Braille a month to supply blind readers with Braille materials.

Mr. Riddle reported visiting with a blind lady recently who had attended the Austin

School for the Blind. This lady recalled a great occasion of her life—getting to talk with Helen Keller. This woman has also received the Christian Record magazine since 1907.

Another interesting experience reported by Mr. Riddle was when he visited with a blind Grandfather. This man's grandchildren couldn't understand why Mom and Dad and Grandma could read a book to them and answer their questions, but Grandpa could not. It was a privilege for Riddle to demonstrate a copy of one of the Full-Vision Library series books to Grandpa. These are books with ink print pages and pictures on one side, with pages of Braille inserted opposite. Now when the grandchildren are visiting, Grandpa can hold his own by ready to them from the Braille. The Full-Vision books make the difference.

In addition to the reading program, the Foundation offers a summer recreational program which includes camping activities for both the Youth and Adult age levels. National camps for Blind Children began in 1967 with one camp and 23 visually impaired campers. Now there are 29 camps in the U. S. and 3 in Canada. In addition there are Nu-Vision camps, with a modified program for multi-disabled blind youth, ages 12-24. In these camps, the counseling staff is often on a one-to-one basis.

There are two National Camps in Texas—a Youth Camp at Nameless Valley Ranch, near Leander, Texas. This is located on a large, beautiful tract of land northwest of Austin. The Camp dates for this year are July 29th to August 5th.

The Adult Camp—arranged for those 20 and older—is located in a recreational area near Athens. The Camp dates are Aug. 12 to 19th.

These camping programs are available to all legally blind persons on a discriminatory basis. They are designed to place emphasis on the ability rather than the disability of the individual. It is hoped they increase self-confidence and develop an appreciation for God's love and care.

Applications are available from Christian Record Braille representatives or the main office in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Special safety precautions are taken in all areas of the program, with counselors assigned to each four campers, with a medical staff on duty at all times.

There are an astonishing number of activities planned for the Camps, such as horseback riding, swimming, tumbling, hiking, archery, crafts, beeper baseball, touch and feel trail, sailing, and others. Music is an important part of each camp, with practice for a "talent program" presented one night for family, friends, and community leaders of each area.

"The joy of watching the children enjoy such activities as swimming or a baseball game makes everything worthwhile," states Jimmy Riddle. "I would like anyone interested in attending one of these camps to call a toll-free number—1 (800) 228-4189. Or they may write me at Keene, Texas, Box 258, Zip Code 76059."

Mr. Riddle adds that he "loves his work", and finds the blind people of Eastland County a "real inspiration to me". He states his appreciation for the contributions of the businessmen and others, who continue to support this work.

It is difficult for a person with sight to realize just how much this sort of program can mean to a person who must live without vision. It is good to know that the cheerful voice of Jimmy Riddle is reaching through the darkness and isolation, showing the concern that all of us feel.

Gross State Sales Up

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Tuesday said a sales tax analysis for Texas last year showed that gross sales in the state exceeded $186 billion.

Bullock said gross sales in Texas during the fourth quarter of 1978 reached $54.2 billion, a $9 billion increase in sales recorded during the year's third quarter.

"In spite of glimpses of economic uncertainty around the country, the Texas economy continues to be strong and is growing," Bullock said.

Gross sales for the first two quarters of 1978 were $44.2 and $42.4 billion.

AN OLD-TIME TREATMENT FOR PNEUMONIA CALLED FOR COVERING THE PATIENT'S CHEST WITH A POULTICE OF BOILED ONIONS...

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Armo Chambers

Many artists, writers, poets, politicians, heads of nations and other prominent people have proudly and publicly shown affection to his or her mother. Millions of other people also show pride, concern, love and affection for her and especially on Mother's Day. Exceptions are rare.

Adventures and misadventures of childhood are only half remembered. But mother's love, concern, discipline, decisions, example, hopes and prayers are forever rememberable. Her enduring love is timeless, even when children face condemnation-justified or not. Her own memories center on good things, especially memories of the smiling and sometimes crying children that once filled her life.

Would it not be nice on Mother's Day to say, "Gee, Mother, you're wonderful?" If she is no longer with you, would it not be nice to bring a measure of happiness to some one else's mother as a tribute to your own?...

PAMELA SHIRLEY AND GARY MORGAN

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Delton Shirley of Monahans have announced the engagement of their daughter, Pamela Susan, to Gary Lynn Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Wesley Morgan of 2308 West 2nd Street, Monahans. The couple plans to marry Saturday, June 9, in First Baptist Church in Monahans. The bride-elect, a 1979 graduate of Monahans High School, is employed by Burke Welding and Supply of Monahans. The prospective bridegroom, a Monahans High School graduate, is also a graduate of Western Texas College at Snyder. He is employed by Louisiana Crude Oil Company in Eastland. The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. O.B. Shirley of Cisco and the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Cora Plumlee of Cisco. The couple will reside in Eastland.

Former Ciscoans Established In FWISD

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was published in the April 1979 edition of The Beacon, a publication of the Fort Worth Classroom Teachers Association. The article was written by Carroll Barnhill about two former Cisco women.)

And from out of the west, about 100 miles from Fort Worth to be "almost" exact, where oil derricks dot the area and cattle roam the ranchlands, two former Ciscoans have established their niche in the FWISD.

Laverne Dill Lewis and Patsy King Atkinson, with similar, yet diverse backgrounds have long been settled in Fort Worth doing what they love to do—teaching young children. Both teachers, born and raised in Cisco, are graduates of Cisco High School and Cisco Junior College.

Laverne recalls a few pleasant memories of the oil boom years in Cisco, followed by the Great Depression, and the turbulent years of World War II. Patsy, on the other hand, has very little first-hand knowledge of the lean years of the 30's. She, however, recalls experience, both sad and happy, of World War II.

After getting their start in their revered hometown of Cisco, these two ladies have come a long way as they have ascended to the pinnacle of education—total dedication to the teaching of young children.

Laverne entered the teaching profession with many unique experiences. She served as Cisco High School substitute teacher while still attending Cisco Junior College. She graduated as the valedictorian from CJC in '41, and, within a week following her graduation, she married a young man from Eastland, Clarence Lewis.

World War II erupted and Laverne became a traveling "war bride," traveling to both coasts, then back to Texas when her husband was ordered overseas. She was attending North Texas State when the Japanese accepted unconditional surrender.

Her educational goals were interrupted once again when she accepted a position at General Dynamics as one of the first women hired as an engineering design draftsman. Following 14 years at the "bomber plant," she resigned and entered TCU to complete her formal education.

Following graduation from TCU, with a B.S. degree in elementary education and a minor in English, Laverne was assigned to Denver Avenue Elementary to teach third-graders. After five years there she was transferred to Kirkpatrick Elementary where she taught second grade students one year. She is completing her eighth year at Kirkpatrick, the last seven as a first grade teacher.

On Washington's birthday she brought treats to her students then remarked, "I've brought these because I love you, and you have been so nice." A youngster replied, "you brought them cause you're so nice."

Another student, a little boy, had been absent because of illness. When he returned, he said, "Miz Lewis, I'm still sick, but I got so lonely for you." Laverne stated that feelings such as these help to make teaching so rewarding.

Laverne has little time for hobbies as she has been an FR at both schools, and she is an active member of numerous professional organizations. She also teaches a Sunday School class and Vacation Bible School classes. In addition, she serves as chairperson for the Mayor's Executive Committee of Willow Park. When time permits, she enjoys doing artwork for her classrooms, sewing, and even farm and ranch work.

Following high school graduation, Patsy attended Cisco Junior College on a music scholarship. She was a member of the band, chorus, Madrigal singers, girls' quartet, and girls' trio. She was voted campus favorite her freshman year and was listed in Who's Who both years.

Patsy earned her B.S. degree in elementary education from McMurry College. While there she was a member of the chorus and girls' trio, Alpha Chi (National Education Fraternity) serving as its secretary. She was graduated Cum Laude and has done graduate work at North Texas State University.

All of Patsy's teaching, 14 years, has been in FWISD. Her first assignment was at Charles E. Nash Elementary, where she remained two years. Other assignments included Daggert Elementary, Lily B. Clayton, and Brooklyn Heights, where she was head teacher two years. When the latter school's doors were closed in 1977, Patsy was transferred to B.H. Carroll. Until this year she taught music and fifth grade. She now teaches fourth grade.

Patsy is a member of numerous professional organizations and has served as second vice president of the Elementary Music Educators' Association. She is highly active in her church, Crowley Methodist, where she serves as its vice president of United Methodist Women. She also serves as a substitute Sunday School teacher and sings in the choir. In fact, her choir singing spans 32 years, starting at an early age in Cisco's First Methodist Church.

As a dedicated teacher, Patsy remarked, "Through the years of teaching, I have found that patience and a sense of humor have been very valuable to me in this demanding, but rewarding profession. When that troublemaker I have tried to deal with all year throws his arms around me on the last day of school and says, 'I love you. I wish I didn't have to leave your class, I know why I try to replenish my supply of knowledge, good humor, patience, and understanding for another school year.'"

Her hobbies include attending football games, cooking, reading and listening to good music.

Patsy is married to Charles Atkinson and they have two children, Tim 18, and Cynthia 15.

Mr. and Mrs. M.M. Parmier were honored with a reception Sunday, May 6, at the Masonic Hall, honoring their 50th wedding anniversary. The reception hosted by the couple's family was attended by approximately 90 people.

Cisco Intermediate School Choir To Present Musical

The Cisco Intermediate School Choir will present "Entertainment-Now and Then" Thursday, May 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Intermediate School Gym.

The 90 voice choir's annual musical is set in a TV studio talk show atmosphere. "The story line is drawn from the development of home entertainment from the early 1900's to the present," say Mrs. Debbie Pessnell, director of the show and music teacher in the Cisco Public Schools. "Each child has a part in the production—the entire choir has worked very hard to make the show even better than 'Tom Sawyer' was last year." There will be no admission charge—everyone is welcome to attend.

Work on the musical has been even more intensified since the choir was not able to start work on it until after the Cisco Junior Music Festival where they won a first division trophy for their performance.

Shirley Brinson, CJC Grad, Signs HSU Scholarship

Shirley Brinson, Cisco Junior College graduate from Weslaco, has signed a letter of intent and basketball scholarship at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Brinson of Weslaco. After receiving nine scholarship offers, Shirley selected HSU, and will be an asset to Coach Peggy Williams' Cowgirls.

Shirley was the first women's basketball player signed to an athletic scholarship at CJC, and was the only sophomore on the team; she now becomes the first CJC graduate to receive a women's basketball scholarship to a senior college. She has made a tremendous contribution to CJC's first year in women's basketball, and set the following individual records: (1)most points scored in a single game (30), and most points in a season; (2)scored in double figures in 23 of 77 games; (3)most steals and assists in a season; (4)best field goal percentage in a season. And statistically, she had the following for the 1978-79 season: averaged 23 points per game, and was one of the top scorers in the Northern Texas Junior College Athletic Conference; rebound average seven; averaged three steals; and had a 50 percent field goal percentage and 74 percent free throws.

Also, as a CJC player Shirley received numerous honors: she was selected All-Conference (NTJCAC); All Region V (NJCAA); and started for the winning West team in the Texas Junior College Women's All-Star basketball game.

Academically, Shirley has a 4.0 grade point average, and is on the President's List at CJC, and is a member of Phi Theta Kappa.

Playing her high school basketball at Weslaco High School (28AAAA) for Jimmie Campbell, CJC Women's Coach, Shirley received many honors. She was all-district as a junior and senior, All-State, and played in the 1977 Texas High School Girls' Coaches Association All-Star game. As a senior Shirley averaged 35 points per game leading her team to the region IV finals, and her junior year was instrumental in WHS advancing to the state-semi-finals. Not only an excellent basketball player, she was also a standout performer in track in the high jump, and very active in various student organizations.

Hints For The Aged & Handicapped

By PATRICIA GALBREATH

DEAR PAT--Disabled adults often have difficulty in training a new attendant to help them. Having to explain one's needs on a day to day basis to new attendants is not an easy job when one has speech, sight, hearing, or co-ordination problems. It is also a problem for the aged. A new manual for attendants who assist disabled individuals in the personal needs of daily living has recently been published by the Rehabilitation Service at Southwest State University. "Aid in Attendant Care for Handicapped Persons" by Larson and Snobl, discusses disabilities (cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, polio, spinal cord, etc.) and contains information on various health related routines such as catheter care, ostomy, and preventive medicine. Special emphasis is placed on spinal cord injury.

Discussion includes such areas as pressure sores, how to take pulse and temperature, bathing procedures, oral hygiene, bowel evacuation, and other maintenance areas.

A chapter is devoted to first aid (restoring breathing, control of bleeding, drug overdoses, burns, epilepsy, emergency evacuation). By having this book available to let a prospective new attendant read saves a lot of frayed nerves, hurt feelings and depression. The turnover rate in attendants is very high as many who take the position seem to think it is simply a baby-sitting job. For more information, or to order the book, write to Maren Larson or Daniel Snobl, Rehabilitation Service, Southwest State University, Marshall, MN 56258. Price of book is $5.00. --M.P., Minn.

DEAR PAT--There is a lady who is a leg amputee and has looked for a swap partner for 25 years. She is registered with several clubs, but no one has been found that could exchange shoes with her. If your readers know of any one who wears a size 11B and needs shoes for the left foot, she would like to swap. Please write: Charles Conrad III, 7205 Linwood Rd., Racine, Wis. 53402

GORDON SPOT

by DeMarquis Gordon

Pecan growers in Eastland County are making plans for their spring field day next Friday, May 18. The growers are going to tour the Wolfe pecan orchards in Comanche and Erath Counties.

Growers will see many things of interest including high density planting of trees, drip irrigation, the nursery and an orchard used for budwood production. There will be a program on pecan insect and disease control at the end of the tour in Stephenville.

The tour begins at the Dowing Community located on Highway 16 and about 8 miles south of De Leon. Growers will probably pool travel with neighbors and friends. If any growers would like to meet in Eastland to pool travel we will meet at the First Baptist Church parking lot at 8:30 Friday morning.

It's still too early to spray pecan trees for control of the pecan nut casebearer. Timing is most important when spraying trees for this insect. The spray must be applied just after the eggs hatch but before the young worms get inside the pecans.

It would be a good idea to get your sprayer ready and purchase your insecticide so that you will be ready to spray when the time comes. We will be observing pecans daily to determine the correct time to spray. In past years we normally spray between May 26 and June 1. This varies a few days from one year to the next. Since we have had cooler weather this spring our guess is that casebearers will be late this year. Watch the paper for announcements of the spray dates.

Unusually wet conditions have caused an abundance of broadleaved weeds in pastures and rangelands. These weeds can be successfully and economically controlled with type herbicides such as 2,4-D, dicamba (Banvel) or Weedmaster (a mixture of 2,4-D and Banvel).

You need to take certain precautions in applying these herbicides because small quantities can injure susceptible crops such as cotton, cucumbers, melons, tomatoes and others. Most of this injury is due to spray drift from the target area. Prevent spray drift by paying close attention to three factors: wind speed and direction, size of spray droplets, and height of the spray boom.

A good rule of thumb is to never spray if wind speed exceeds 10 miles per hour. High gallonage nozzel tips produce large droplets that do not drift as far as smaller droplets. Spray pressure of 20 to 30 pounds per square inch produces larger droplets than higher pressures. Adjust boom height on ground sprayers as low as possible to still obtain coverage of weeds. Lower boom height 6 to 10 inches by using flooding nozzle tips rather than flat-fan nozzles.

Under hot, dry conditions ester formulations can volatilize from soil and plant surfaces and be moved as fumes to susceptible crops several hours after application. However, amine formulations rarely volatilize and are least hazardous to use near susceptible crops under high temperature conditions. Of course, amine formulations of 2,4-D or Banvel will still drift at time of application if precautions aren't taken.

PANAMA, R.P.—Tuesday, May 1st, was Labor Day in Panama and everybody observed a holiday. So we took a little trip aboard an Excursion Boat to the island of Taboga, which is located across the Panama Canal entrance area some 15 miles northerly. Taboga is known as the Isle of Flowers with some 200 different kinds for all to see, smell and admire. About 600 people live on the small island.

After the boat docked, we were strolling up the main street and saw a building with a Lions Club sign on it. We looked in the open door and found a group of Lions holding a meeting. They invited us in, served drinks, and we enjoyed meeting with them. Taboga Lions are pretty important to the island. They provided their one school, the one church, a playground and beach area, and sponsor an informal city government.

We learned that Panama is Lions District D-1 and is composed of some 40 clubs. There are also Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs throughout the country. Club members wear their pins on their shirt collars.

WE BECAME tourists last Sunday for the day and drove to the mountain city of El Valle. It is a small place where the Indians gather every Sunday morning to offer their crafts for sale to anyone who happens to be there. Prices are attractive and the crafts are nice.

There were a good many tourists there for the day—maybe 100. A thunderstorm deluged the countryside for an hour or so, playing havoc with market day. The drive to El Valle was via the only paved highway to the north. You can see the beach much of the way.

WENT TO THE movies the other day to see "The Deer Hunter", the picture that won top honors in the recent Oscar awards. And we're here to tell you that it is a lousy picture in all respects and how it won any kind of honor for anything is beyond us. It is hard to believe that anybody could see enough in the movie to vote it the best of the year.

Most movies shown in Panama are made in Hollywood and have

Obituary

Mrs. Foye Beene Buried In Services Held Saturday

Mrs. Foye Beene of Houston, sister-in-law of Laura Beene and Lillie Beene, both of Cisco, died Thursday morning. Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at Melton Funeral Home in Breckenridge.

Survivors include three sons, Marvin B., Royce and Warren, all of Houston; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Spanish lines across the bottom for the benefit of folks who don't understand English.

VISITED IN A small town near Panama City, Republic of Panama, recently, we met the mayor. He spoke fair English, saying that he had been to college in USA. In the course of our talk, the mayor said they had purchased a new fire truck. And they advertised their old truck for sale.

The best bid was $100, so the mayor said, "We decided to keep the old truck to use in answering false alarms."

"Where did you go to college?" we asked. "Texas A and M," he replied.

THE STAR and Herald, English language newspaper published in Panama City, had an editorial the other day that would be a credit to any USA newspaper. Entitled "Flying High," the editorial follows:

"It would be an interesting experiment to give a group of employees of the federal government a $1,000 increase in salary and tell them they had to pay any travel expenses out of their own pockets. According to some of the travel expense figures coming out of Congress, that could be a bargain."

"Sen. Jim Sasser, for one, finds it appalling that at any given time an average of 22,000 federal employees are en route somewhere by commercial airliner. Overlooking the obvious puns about heads in the clouds and public servants who don't have their feet on the ground, the deeper probes go into travel expenses the worse it looks."

"One of the newer agencies, the Consumer Cooperative Bank, has requested enough travel funds for the next fiscal year to average $7,900 per employee, including clerical staff. The Economic Development Administration would like to spend $2,000 per employee for travel. Numerous other agencies find their employees urgently needed elsewhere. That urgency could disappear under a pay-your-own scheme.
