Anyone who thinks they might not have been counted in the census was asked to call the Chamber of Commerce office (442-2537).

The Post Office mailed census packets to all householders, and census enumerators were to examine the returned questionnaies and to make calls at households where there was no response.

Figures from neighboring Stephens County showed a gain of about 15 percent - from 8,414 in 1970 to 9,722 in 1980 with Breckenridge up 792 from 5,944. Figures were not released for other neighboring counties. Taylor County had a gain of 10,806 to 108,808. Abilene was still below 100,000 with a pre-preliminary total of 95,816.

The marginal scorch progresses inward until the entire leaf withers and drops. The extent and spread of the leaf drop is dependent on the type of plant and cause of damage. There are several unfavorable conditions that may cause leaf scorch.

One of the most common conditions causing leaf scorch is root failure. Roots may be damaged by such things as diseases, insects, or a change in the soil caused by man. When this occurs the leaves are not furnished with enough water and nutrients to supply the top.

translocate enough water and nutrients to adequately furnish the plants. Another common cause of leaf scorch is simply a shortage of soil water.

Toxicity from herbicides or excessive use of fertilizer burns roots and causes their failure. Certain herbicides may kill roots directly while others translocate to foliage tissue causing leaf scorch. A blockage of the trees vascular tissues may cause leaf scorch to only one or two limbs. Some diseases will cause water transporting vessels to become plugged and prevent normal translocation.

With any of these problems leaf scorch is worse in very hot weather because the leaves are losing water at a faster rate.

The treatment for leaf scorch depends on the source of the problem. First, the problem should be corrected if possible such as stopping a gas leak. There is no cure for

One of the paradoxes of human nature is that everyone wants to live a long time but nobody wants to grow old. And most people won't admit they are old until their birthday cake starts looking like a forest fire. And yet some of the youngest people I (we) know are past 70. Youth is a state of mind, not the number of years on a calendar. Don't you know people in their 20's and 30's who are already old? Emerson said: "We do not count a man's years until he has nothing else to count." What you are now will be accentuated for better or worse in your old age. Whether you outlive your friends or not, if you have Christ in your heart and a high purpose in life, old age can be looked forward to as a truly golden prime time of life . . . It has been said that a person isn't old until it takes longer to get rested than it did to get tired. But isn't it true that a person is old when there is no longer any growth of mind and personality . . . when he is no longer capable of improving? As long as a person is learning, changing and enjoying, he is not old. Browning wrote: "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be. The last of life for which the first was

YOU'D THINK there would be some fanfare when a man passed the State Bar examinations and receives a license to practice law. But there wasn't in the case of County Judge Scott Bailey of Eastland County. We learned about it the other day when a lady called and suggested that we might want to check on it.

It is certainly to Judge Bailey's credit that he is an attorney at law. Back in 1956, he went to UofT Law School for a year after getting home from the Korean war. After a year, he dropped out went to work. He taught school a few years before coming back home to Cisco and running for office.

There is a statute that provides that judges with a minimum of 10 continuous years in office can take the state bar exams without being a law school graduate. Over the years, Judge Bailey continued studying law books and last spring he made weekly trips to Austin to attend an intensive review course for several weeks.

Judge Bailey took the bar exam in February and was admitted to the bar on May 26th. Like other judges and district attorneys, Judge Bailey will be eligible to practice law on a limited basis. He has no thoughts of giving up his office to practice full time

You'll want to join us in extending congratulations to Judge Bailey on his education accomplishments.

JUDGE BAILEY tells us that they're hopeful that the new Eastland County jail will be completed during July. Work is behind schedule. County officials are due to report again to the federal court in September to answer any question regarding a damage suit that former prisoners filed a few years ago, forcing upgrading of the county jail.

Judge Bailey added that the county plans to open the new jail for public inspection for two or three days before it goes into use

IN THE PAST few days, we've noticed a couple of handsome young men looking over buildings and places and making pictures around town. Checking into the matter, we've learned quite a lot about them and their ac-

Petrini's UofHouston architects and they're here for several weeks to do survey work in preparation for recommendations on a community restoration project. Dr. Chief Brown, who has been working closely with Dr. Petrini and the Hilton Foundation, has loaned the two architects his pickup truck and they're staying at his Brown Sanitorium.

You can expect to hear more about their work very soon THE CISCO CofC board heard reports of the historical project, the 1981 Cisco Centennial, and on efforts to obtain new housing at their weekly luncheon Tuesday noon at the Colony Restaurant . . . Met up with a Gorman man in our town the other day and he remarked that "Gorman is certainly mad at Cisco. Ann Boland is our 3rd grade teacher and has been doing an outstanding job." As you know, the Bolands will likely be moving away since he resigned as Cisco's city manager.

IT'S VACATION time for Emma Lee Donovan, vice president at the First National Bank, and she has a month of leisure. She told folks at the bank that she planned to stay near the air conditioner at home and look at scenic pictures of Col-Marcia Glenn, orado daughter of the Ralph Glenns, will complete her journalism graduate study this summer and is considering opportunities in the newspaper and magazine writing fields. She's at Baylor University until mid-August RECORD HIGH temperature for our area was 111 degrees set in 1943. according to the Abilene newspaper. In the early 1950s, we had 31 continuous days when temperature readings exceeded 100 degrees. The current spell has gone on for about two weeks now . . . It was Ralph Glenn who teamed up with Bennie Nichols to win the Lone Cedar Country Club golf tournament in 1979. Glad to correct the mistake made here the other day.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order at the home of John and Ann Boland. They received an anniversary present Wednesday-an eight niversary. She was born June 20th . . . Mr. Boland, former Cisco city manager, reported that he is weighing job opportunities . . . Two of his Cisco friends gave John a T-shirt with "Nowhere else but Cisco, Texas" printed across the chest. He was wearing it downtown Thursday.

The Senior Center is the place to spend the day, during this hot weather, stated one member. We don't have to cook and heat the house. Seniors are busy visiting, playing table games, doing arts and crafts, enjoying good programs and fellowship.

Bob Beaver, "The One Man Band", presented a program during the lunch hour this week. Alberta Sims furnished dinner music this week. The Seniors appreciate the talents that are shared by so many busy people. We say thanks for the enjoyable pro-
