Truck Jack-Knifes On I-20

A diesel tractor-trailer rig jack-knifed on Interstate 20 Monday afternoon around 1:00 p.m., approximately a half-mile west of the Highway 183 overpass.

The driver of the semi-truck, Jean Bernard Perry of North Carolina, was not injured in the accident. The only damage done was to the truck itself when it slid off I-20 down a steep embankment.

Department of Public Safety Trooper Phillip Dean of Callahan County, investigating officer, stated the truck was coming up behind a slower moving automobile in the westbound lane of the highway and started to pass. When Perry attempted to pull into the passing lane, another car was along side the truck. He locked his brakes, going into a skid, and jack-knifed the truck.

Officer Dean, who happened by minutes after the accident, said no contact was made between the truck and other vehicles.

She then read the minutes from the January meeting which stood approved as read.

Walter Knowland gave the audit report. The books were found to be correct and in balance.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Greer have volunteered to chair the sunshine committee.

Neal Moore reported that the AARP Rhythm Band will play in the Centennial Festival.

The program was turned over to Gene Abbott who gave a talk about the centennial and showed slides which had been prepared to remind everyone to welcome visitors to Cisco. He also gave a tentative outline of the schedule of Centennial activities for the week of April 20-26.

They were dismissed by Tony White.

Lela Lloyd gave the treasurer's report. Memorials were sent to the Cisco Cemetery Association in memory of Jack White and Sue Stansell.

Soviet Scientist Will Conduct Lectures at TSU March 3

Pavel Litvinov, a leading Soviet intellectual, scientist, and dissident leader will be on the Tarleton State University Campus Tuesday, March 3. Litvinov will be conducting a series of informal lectures to students throughout the day.

He will conclude his visit with his speech, "The Human Rights Movement in the Soviet Union" scheduled for 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the Clyde H. Wells Fine Arts Center. Tickets for the Civic Series Event are free to TSU students and $3.00 for the general public.

By 1967, Litvinov was working hard to assist and counsel Russia's political prisoners. He published accounts of his experiences in the Western Press and as a result was expelled from the Institute in which he taught physics. His protests against the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968 got him five months in jail followed by four years of exile in Siberia. He returned to Moscow in 1972 and his Eastland County Art Association meeting March 5th with Dean Hubert of Dublin, to be honored.

The DeLeon Art Association has named Dean Hubert of Dublin artist of the month for February.

Dean grew up in Dublin and had the privilege of living in several other states while her husband, Kenneth was serving in the U.S. Air Force.

They have one son, Scott who is presently attending Tarleton State University. Dean was first introduced to art in Clovis, N.M., when she took a workshop with Mary Lee Garrett.

Some of her other instructors include Carole Sudderth, Comanche; Warren Hunter, San Antonio; William Earle, Wilton, Conn.; Carol Gibson-Sayle, Austin; Jeannie Elliott, Lubbock; Bobbette Flory, Smithfield; Cathern Brooks, Stephenville; George Kovach, Stephenville; and Harold Roney, Cloudercroft.

N.M. Dean prefers "Realism" in painting. She likes to achieve a soft fragile quality in still life and a realistic look in landscapes.

She prefers rustic type subjects to paint from. "The duller they are, the more challenge they present," she said.

She likes for one to get the impression that her paintings tell a story and leave you with a peaceful tranquil feeling.

She has a small studio on Park Street, where she teaches art lessons twice a week.

She also gives demonstrations for local Art Clubs and still finds time to help teach art to the Senior Citizens.

Mrs. Herbert has won several awards for her paintings. She is also a member of the Brownwood Art Association.

Her exhibit will be at Higginbotham's Dry Goods in DeLeon.

IWU Reflections In Perspective

By I. Will Ussery

Have I told you about the island of Lavan? More than a thousand miles almost directly south of Teheran, it is some two and a half miles wide and thirteen miles long and runs northwest to southeast some twelve miles off the coast of Iran in the Persian Gulf. A typical "salt-plug" island, it was thrust up from the seabed a few hundred thousand years ago. The currents and the wind have shaped it from a craggy wall at the northwesterly end to a calm, gentle sandy beach on the southeast. There's a beach which is contained in a sort of cove on the northerly side of the island and which is a nesting ground for giant sea turtles. As I recall, the maximum elevation on Lavan is a tad less than fifty feet above main sea level.

Short grass, weeds, wildflowers and a few trees grow on the island. Among the trees are banyan trees which reportedly were set out by the Portuguese when they controlled the Gulf back in the fifteenth century. Their control was maintained by a chain of forts, the almost undiscernible ruins of which are found about midway along the northern shore of Lavan Island. A much more modern fort, built by the Arabs in the late eighteenth century stands near the principal of four villages and commands the lee end of the island.

Each of the four villages has its own character. The main village is under the autocratic control of "Hajji Yusuf", one of the two personages on the island who have made the "Hajj" or pilgrimage to Mecca. And one village of perhaps two hundred souls lies directly across the island from the ruins of the Portuguese fort. Known as the "Black Village", it is said to have been founded by African slaves who were left behind when the Portuguese departed. While the relations between all the villages are quite cordial; intermarriage with people from the Black Village is taboo; an attitude unique among the most of the Arabs I've known.

Until oil was discovered in Iranian waters ninety miles to the southeast of the island, it was known as "Sheik Shwaib Island". It still is so identified on many charts and maps. Mentioning the fact that it was becoming an oilfield development base to Sheikh Rashid of Dubai once, he observed with a smile: "Yes; I know Sheik Shwaib Island. It is actually my island. I allow His Majesty, the Shah to claim it, but the people are my people."

Until the coming of people who searched for oil... and found it... the principal if not the sole industry and source of livelihood on the island was that of pearl-fishing and the sale of mother-of-pearl. Pearls abound in oysters along the reefs off the island. The oysters are pried from the seabed by divers who work without any modern equipment without which no American diver would think of entering water with a depth of more than ten feet. They are hauled aboard dhows, taken to the island where the pearls are removed and the shells are piled into a great common heap. At regular intervals traders put in at the island and purchase the shells. Pearl buttons and decorative mother-of-pearl are made from the shells. That particular aspect of the industry died with the advent of plastics, I am afraid. But when I first visited the island there was a huge mound of shells near the beach at the southeastern end of the island. The stench! Thank goodness for a prevailing northerly wind. Hajji Yusuf, needless to say, purchased the pearls. He was said to be quite wealthy.

Hajji Yusuf did not hold an absolute monopoly in the dealing in pearls, though. He had a competitor in Hajji Ibrahim, who held sway over the "Number Two Village" at the other end of the island. Hajji Yusuf, though, had a slight edge over Hajji Ibrahim. Near his village... inside the village, in fact... was a shallow well which yielded brackish water. The other villages depended upon underground cisterns for their water supply. Those cisterns were excavated in the centers of shallow basins which could be found about the island. Water from the sparse rainfall was channelled into the cisterns, the most of which were very large and all of which were lined, "walled", if you will, with crude but very sound concrete made from materials prepared at the site.

When the Shah launched his "war on illiteracy" in the late sixties, it was considered to be politically expedient to include Lavan in the program. A Literacy Corpsman who had been trained as an elementary teacher was sent to the island of Lavan, which by now had become a not insignificant part of the Empire. All well and good. The people were pleased to have such attention. Along with his chest of classroom supplies, the corpsman had the usual white tent which he pitched near a huge banyan tree in the village. I met the young man shortly after his having arrived to launch his battle against the inability of the people to read and write.

A very nice, neat, soldierly-bearing young corpsman; he was faced with a problem. Nobody on the island spoke the Persian language! And he spoke no Arabic, which was the language of the people of Sheik Shwaib. I never learned how he came to cope with his problem, but his white tent became a fixture in the village. As did he. Hajji Yusuf spoke with pride of "My Teacher". Perhaps he learned Arabic; who knows?

Annual Awards Banquet Set For March 4

The Upper Leon Soil and Water Conservation District's annual awards banquet is set for Wednesday, March 4, 1981 at 7:00 p.m. at the Proctor Area Recreation center. The program is sponsored by the ten banks in the district and recognizes those people in the district who have done outstanding conservation work or made outstanding contributions to the district's program.

The program will consist of a series of slides showing the accomplishments of each conservation farmer. The banquet meal will consist of a buffet supper served by the excellent cooks at PAR.

Everyone is invited to attend and help recognize these award winners. Those receiving awards are shown in the district's annual report and calendar. Tickets are available for $5.00 each at the Soil Conservation Service office in Comanche, Eastland, or Dublin. Also directors Norman Moore, George Steel, J.W. SADBERRY, Edwin Jones or Bill Brown have tickets. Tickets will be available until Monday March 2.

Irrigation Cost Reduced By Fuel Efficiency

COLLEGE STATION-- Costs of irrigating cropland can be reduced by keeping irrigation pumps and power units in good repair to improve fuel efficiency.

Whether or not such repair pays depends on the current efficiency of the pumping unit, says Gary D. Condra of Fort Stockton, area economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

To evaluate the potential profitability of repairs to irrigation units, consider current pumping efficiency, depth from which water is lifted, interest rate, cost and expected life of the improvement, and current condition of the power unit and pump.

Condra uses the following example to illustrate the effect of the current efficiency factor on the profitability of repair work. Assume an 800-gallon per minute (GPM) pump runs 3,000 hours per year lifting water from 300 feet with an electric motor using 5 cents per KWH electricity. A 10 percent increase in pump efficiency from 40 to 50 percent will reduce fuel costs for the year by about $3,800. However, a 10 percent increase in pump efficiency from 60 to 70 percent will only reduce yearly fuel costs by about $1,800.

Assuming improvements cost $5,000 at 15 percent interest, the increase in efficiency from 40 to 50 percent will pay repair costs in less than two years. On the other hand, increasing efficiency from 60 to 70 percent requires almost four years to pay repair costs.

Condra points out that today probably more pumping plants fall in the 40-50 percent range than the 60-70 percent range. Thus many producers can make profitable improvements in irrigation pumping efficiency before preplant irrigation starts this spring.

However, he adds the evaluation of the unit's current efficiency is critical as a first step.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Gives Income Tax Report

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Tuesday said Social Security and income taxes will eat up most of 5.1 percent pay raise state employees expect in February paychecks.

"There will be a lot of disappointed employees at the end of the month," Bullock said of the emergency pay raise approved by the Legislature.

For most employees, the so called raise amounts to little more than a dollar a day.

The professional people (like auditors) will receive the 5.1 percent raise but it will amount to about $41.98 gain for Feb. 1980 over Dec. 1980 paycheck.

The situation is even worse for the 60,000 employees who are so lowly paid that they will get a flat $50.00 raise instead of the 5.1 percent. A typical employee in the $50.00 category will take home $1.17 a day more.

Bullock said its a sin that employees will get so little from a pay raise that will cost the state so much—$86 million for just seven months from February through August, the end of the state's current budget year.

Bullock said, "We spend $86 million in seven months and the state worker gets $1.17 a day. That's a disgrace."

Rotting Fences Found Everywhere

COLLEGE STATION-- Evidence of rotting fences can be found everywhere. Many homeowners must repair or replace privacy fences only a few years after construction, says wood products specialist.

"Any homeowner can build a fence that will outlast his house, even in areas of high decay hazard, by following a few simple rules," contends Chuck Stayton with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "The same decay prevention principles applicable to home also apply to wooden fences."

"Posts are more susceptible to decay than other fence parts because of direct contact with the soil," Stayton says. "Use either metal posts or wood posts that have been pressure treated with a preservative."

Normally, horizontal stringers are fastened to posts to provide a surface for attaching vertical fence boards, notes the specialist. Leave a space of one-eighth to one-fourth inch where ends of stringers meet to permit air circulation. This reduces water collection between ends of stringers, thus reducing the chance of decay. Wood used for stringers should be naturally decay-resistant heartwood or be pressure treated with a preservative.

"Vertical boards fastened to stringers should not touch the ground," Stayton warns. "This is the most serious mistake made. Ends of boards take moisture from the ground and can decay or be attacked by termites in a short time. Use either naturally resistant heartwood or pressure treated wood and elevate the boards about 2 inches above the ground. If boards are to be stained, use a penetrating stain containing a water repellent and preservative."

If the fence joins the house, inspect these areas periodically for termite entry, suggests Stayton. If the bottoms of fence boards are above ground, any termite tubes between the fence and house should be easily visible. Otherwise, digging under the boards is necessary for a thorough inspection. Termites can be controlled by chemical treatment of the soil.

"If boards and stringers are redwood or western red cedar, all fasteners should be made of hot-dipped galvanized metal to avoid discoloration of the wood," adds Stayton.

"Rumpelstiltskin" to be Presented at the Fine Arts Center at TSU

Tarleton State University's Clyde Wells Fine Arts Center will reverberate with laughter Saturday, February 28 when Penguin Productions of Dallas presents two performances of "Rumpelstiltskin".

The production is sponsored by the Cross Timbers Fine Arts Council.

Penguin Productions is a professional touring company that deals exclusively with "quality theatre" for children. The company is produced and managed by the husband and wife team of Bryan Lake and Rena Newton. Lake said, "We believe that a live theatre performance should be an aesthetic experience that children can become involved in, not just observe like most television shows and movies."

Speaking for ATFAC, director Dr. Bob Walker said, "the group from Dallas (Penguin Production) certainly comes highly recommended. Their productions have received rave reviews across the state."

"We feel especially fortunate to have been able to get them before they become so famous we can't afford them."

"Rumpelstiltskin" is the story of a poor miller's daughter who has to try and spin gold from straw for her king in order to save her life. A strange little man helps her do this, but makes her promise to give her first born child to him. When the little man returns for the promised child, she refuses to surrender him. Guessing the little man's name is the only thing that can negate the promise.

Homemaking Hints

By Janet Thomas

Food quackery and diet fads are very much rampant in the United States. Each year ten million Americans squander $500 million on food fads. It is estimated that more than $600 million is spent on self-prescribed vitamins. Prominent among current fads is the interest in "Special Liquid Diets," "Calories Don't Count Diets," "Alfalfa Tea for Arthritis," "Grape Cure for Cancer," "Honey and Vinegar as a Tonic", and fear of foods grown with fertilizers or other chemicals.

It is puzzling that people of all walks of life pay big money for frauds in an era when true miracles have resulted from great advances in medicine and good nutrition. In ignorance, indifference and fear make people easy prey for the quack or promoter of fads. Victims are persuaded that "Health Foods," "Wonder Diets," or "Super Pills" can produce magical results. Accepting the false promises of the quack, they believe they can regain "youth, vigor and charm" or "lose ugly fat—no counting of calories—no exercise" or have "nerves soothed while miraculously being cured of whatever ails them."

Many books—many are often best sellers—as well as newspaper and magazine articles or advertisements give misleading or false information. The printed word can be very misleading—people often believe anything they see in print. Some writers are completely unscrupulous: twisting the truth, making claims without a shred of scientific evidence, and quoting true scientists out of context.

HOW TO SPOT QUACKS:
The American Medical Association has been acting as a clearing house for information about quacks for 50 years. They advise:

1. If a "so-called" medical expert uses a "special" or "secret" machine or formula, claiming it can cure disease, Beware!
2. If a quick cure is guaranteed—Beware!
3. If case histories or testimonials are used to promote a cure—Beware!
4. If claims are made that medical men are persecuting him (or her) or are afraid of competition. Beware!
5. If he (or she) tells you that surgery, X-ray, or drugs will do more harm than good—Beware!

DANGERS OF FOOD FADS AND NUTRITIONAL QUACKERY: There are several important reasons why food fads and nutritional quackery are dangerous:

1. Medical attention to a serious ailment may be delayed while a food faddist or quack attempts to treat the condition.
2. Faddish foods and treatments are always expensive.
3. Essential nutrients may

1. be lacking from a fad diet...malnutrition could easily result.
2. Children following a fad diet may not get the nutrients they need for growth and development.

Charles Stenholm Reports on President's Proposed Budget

WASHINGTON, D.C.—President Ronald Reagan's proposed budget cuts, outlined to Congress here Wednesday (February 19,) are "a strong move in the right direction and represent an approach that I have advocated since first coming to Congress, Charles W. Stenholm said today.

"I certainly agree with the general direction the President's budget takes," Stenholm said, commenting on the Reagan speech, "even though I have some unanswered questions."

Stenholm singled out the projected $122.4 billion deficit outlined in the proposal. "It seems to me that if deficit spending has caused inflation for the past four years then it stands to reason that it will continue to cause inflation," he said.

Stenholm said the President had presented a challenge to Congress for an alternative plan "which offers a greater chance of balancing the budget."

Stenholm said he would respond to that challenge by looking at other areas in the federal budget "that could stand further cuts and at some of the techniques, and setting in sleeves.

LET'S ALL get ready to wave goodbye as Rick and Judith Calhoun and little son as they depart Friday for a new home and a new opportunity down in the Canyon Lake country. Their plans call for loading up their household and moving this weekend.

As you know, Coach Calhoun resigned his job as head man of the Lobos last week to accept a post as coach and athletic director at Smithsonian Valley High School, a Class 3-AAA school down between San Antonio and New Braunfels. The Calhouns have obtained housing at Startzville on Canyon Lake and he will begin work there March 2nd.

The Calhouns have lived in Cisco about four years. After two years as an assistant coach, he took over the Lobo reigns and had a respectable 13-7 record as a head coach. The Calhouns have been good citizens of our town. She has been a member of the choir and a frequent soloist at the First Baptist Church.

The Calhouns have sold their Cisco home over on 4th Street to Sylvia Hagan. You'll want to join us in wishing them well in their new community. . . Supt. James Couch reports that CHS will use substitute teachers to teach the three classes that Coach Calhoun had until a successor has been named.

THE FIRST Baptist Church is losing another choir member as Mike and Sheila Blackburn depart for Greenville. Mike works for Cisco Masonry Company as a brick mason and they're going to the East Texas city where the firm has a big construction job, our scouts report. Sheila has been in the choir several years.

Good luck to the Blackburns and let's hope they'll be returning when the Greenville project is finished.

MR. WILLARD Johnson, who keeps his ear to the ground to determine where and when the fish are biting, tells us that bass have been moving pretty well lately at Lake Cisco. Clyde Barbee of the Eastland County Bass Club hooked a six pound, 10 ounce bass at Lake Cisco last Thursday.

Willard says he is contemplating another mustache in honor of Cisco's coming 100th birthday festival.

WE DIDN'T know him when we met up with Mr. Jerry Jeffcoat, superintendent of Lone Star Gas Company's Pueblo pressure maintenance plant, the other day. He has a full beard—nice and red and handsome. . . The beards are getting real noticeable out at CHS—Jim Puryear, Manning Davis, Delbert Schaefer, James Couch and others. . . Major Farnsworth has a deluxe beard as does Bruce Stovall. . . The Bill Ashs plan to spend the weekend over in Louisiana to help their son

Obituary

Services For Charles Russell Held Monday

Funeral services for Charlie A. Russell, 79, of Cisco, were at 2 p.m. Monday at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Buddy Sipe, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Oakwood Cemetery under the direction of Kimbrough Funeral Home.

Mr. Russell died at 9:35 a.m. Saturday at West Texas Medical Center after a long illness.

He was born July 19, 1901, in Mineral Wells. He was with Sinclair Oil for 45 years, retiring in July 1966. He was married to Dorothy Rodgers on March 21, 1921, in Ranger. They had lived in Cisco since 1968, and he was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Thelma Russell Murdock of Lubbock; two sisters, Mrs. Walter High and Miss Mertha Russell, both of Artesia, N.M.; and four grandchildren.

Pallbearers were J.C. Foreman, Audrey Rodgers, James Royce Yancey, Ike Taylor, Timothy Taylor, Alvis Rodgers and Alfred Rogers.

Cutti get married.

SOME FIFTY students of Cisco Primary School marched in pairs through town last Friday, stopping here and there to look at places of interest like City Hall, the Post Office and the CofC. Teachers Patsy Reynolds and Carolyn Pruitt were in charge. . . Local grade schools enjoyed a puppet show last week. It was staged by the area dental society auxiliary and it featured folks like the Cookie Monster whose teeth were showing the effects of too many cookies between meals. It was a delightful show with a nice moral, reports one of our scouts.

SEE BY THE papers that Cisco had a dramatic increase in sales tax income during the fourth quarter of 1980—up from $9,841 the previous quarter to $26,202 for the final three months last year.

Eastland's tax income jumped from $9,957 to $24,240; Putnam was up from $521 to $2,292, Ranger gained from $7,180 to $14,751, and Rising Star was up from $664 to $3,271.

ALSO SAW BY the papers that an oil company has announced plans to drill their No. 5 Jake Morgan oil well. And we asked Jake about it. Jake says things like that in the papers are liable to cause people to think he has a lot of money. Let's all hope the impression that such news might cause is true. . . Mr. Gary Adams, one of the supervisors of the Church of Christ Camp out at Lake Cisco, tells us that the camp seems to grow in popularity each year. Already it is virtually booked solid for youth camps and reunions this year.

BANKERS from seven area counties gathered out at the Colony Restaurant here last Thursday night for a dinner meeting. President Grover Hallmark of the Eastland National Bank was the master of ceremonies. New banking regulations and things of interest to bankers were discussed.

Cisco Bank President Dick Woolley was in charge of arrangements, and 103 people enjoyed the dinner.

MEN OF THE Cisco Country Club are having a steak dinner at the club this Thursday night. Louie Gilbert, club VP, will be the head chef. . . Guess we had oughta rush over to the post office and buy a supply of postage stamps since they're supposed to raise stamp prices from 15 to 18 cents next month. . . There's a new edition of the Cartee-Allison yellow sheet out, and if you missed it you didn't miss much as it's a rehash—same song, same verse.
