Three Arrested For Super Burger Robbery

Three men were still in the Eastland County jail Tuesday after their apprehension soon after a hijacking at 3:10 p.m. Saturday at the Super Burger Drive-In, 1001 West 8th Street, in Cisco.

Mrs. Barbara Walters, who helps her husband Asa operate the Drive-In, was the victim of the hijacking. When she started to wait on a man at the window, he opened a door and threatened her with a knife with a 3-inch blade, demanding money.

The man told Mrs. Walters that there was a man with a gun at the back door. She gave him the approximately $200 from the cash register. Two small boys playing back of the Drive-In noticed that the man got into a Ford Pinto with an Arizona license plate.

Mrs. Walters said she first called Allsup's Grocery next door, thinking that the hijackers might stop there. Then she called the police dispatch. Cisco Officers Guy Sullivan and Mike Demarzo responded almost immediately and radioed a description of the car.

Deputy Sheriffs Ben Sencillo and Gene Millican arrested the men about four miles east of Cisco on Highway 80.

Three men in the car were charged with aggravated robbery. Lonnie Stocker, Jr., 30, Dallas, was charged with the hijacking and his bond was set at $25,000. Accomplices were identified as Bryan Carter of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Daniel Yeager of Tucson, Ariz. Their bonds were set at $5,000 each.

Mr. and Mrs. Walters have owned and operated the Super Burger for some seven years. This was the first hijacking for their business.

AN ESTIMATED $1,000 worth of damage was done to the yard surrounding Southwest Enterprises, 300 Avenue D in Cisco, Saturday afternoon, according to Eris Ritchie, when the tractor-trailer truck pictured above rolled onto the yard. Mr. Ritchie, owner of Southwest Enterprises, stated the damage was estimated more on the work involved in keeping the yard looking nice, than on actual monetary value. He said the ground will have to be re-leveled, shrubbery re-planted, damaged sprinkler lines and a broken chain and pole will have to be replaced.

The Alabama truck driver stated that he had parked his 18-wheeler on West 3rd Street while his wife washed clothes at Taylor Laundry. He decided to get some sleep, but while he was climbing into the truck's sleeper he accidentally kicked something loose releasing the air from the rig's brakes. The truck started rolling downhill toward Avenue D and ran into the yard at Southwest Enterprises. The driver said he could not get out of the "coffin" sleeper in time to stop the vehicle. He said the company he drives for has insurance which should cover the cost of damages.

The driver said the truck was undamaged and the hood was up (when the picture was taken), because he was waiting for someone to "jump it off" so he could back the rig off the property. (Staff Photo)

Attend Seminar

Over 100 Green Thumb workers and sponsors from 12 counties attended a training seminar at the Stephenville Senior Center Tuesday, March 10.

Green Thumb workers and sponsors attending the seminar included Nila Jones, Marie Kurklin, Jo Phillips, Annie Rendall of Cisco Center; J.O. Elmore from the City of Eastland and Ruth Cartee, director of Cisco and Eastland Senior Centers.

City Administrator Kurt Ackermann welcomed the group. Speakers included Ken Maltby, Juvenile Officer; Don Montgomery, Texas Power and Light; Ronnie Isham, Superintendent of Parks and Recreation. Topics related to developments in energy, energy conservation and safety.

A discussion period was directed by Diane Parrish, Green Thumb State Director, Waco. Green Thumb is an employment program for rural low income senior citizens. It is funded by the Department of Labor and sponsored by National Farmers Union. Green Thumb, an equal opportunity employer, places order workers in part time jobs with non-profit organizations serving the needs of rural communities throughout 107 Texas counties.

'Let's Talk About Texas' Presented to City Federation Of Women's Clubs March 5

Members and guests of the City Federation of Women's Clubs were delightfully entertained on March 5, when Mrs. Olga Fay Parker and the Rev. Billy Weeks presented a correlated program, "Let's Talk About Texas," in commemoration of the Declaration of Texas Independence which was made on March 2, 1836, at Washington on the Brazos. Scene of the Federation's annual "Texas Day Tea" was the City Federation Clubhouse at 400 West 7th Street.

Member clubs of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, in the order of the rotation of the terms of their trustees, are: Cisco Music Study Club; Cisco Garden Club; the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, International; Lake Cisco Extension Homemakers Club; Cisco Twentieth Century Club and the First Industrial Arts Club. Hostess chairmen were Mrs. Bernice Carter, president and Mrs. Harry Donica, representing, respectively, the First Industrial Arts Club and the Music Study Club of which Mrs. Buddy Sipe is president. The decoration of the tea table and the club room was beautiful and creatively appropriate for the occasion.

Mrs. M.D. Allison, federation president, introduced the guests and directed the program. The pledge of allegiance to the flags of the United States of America and to Texas and the American's Creed were each given in unison. Mrs. A.E. Jamison led the audience in singing "Texas, Our Texas," with Mrs. Lynn Williams at the piano.

Mrs. Parker and Mr. Weeks entertained their very responsive listeners with humorous excerpts, quotations and paraphrases from some of Texas' most loved and well known story tellers, nostalgic of the late 19th and early 20th decades. Their presentation included a mixture of historic, legendary and good-natured "fun-poking" tall tales and jokes; portraying (as only the art of exaggeration can do) the "bigness" in every way of Texas and the importance of this section of the country as being central to the American Dream.

Possible Challenge Seen for City Election In Suit Filed

A petition was filed in 91st District Court at Eastland Monday that objected to matters pertaining to the April 4th City Election in Cisco and indicated that a court challenge might result after the election.

The petition was filed by an Eastland attorney in District Clerk Roy Lane's offices on behalf of Mayor Roy Cartee and Council Woman Louise Allison of Cisco. Both are listed on the April 4th city ballot in a recall election.

A 1949 case that challenged the state election code produced a supreme court ruling that the judiciary could not interfere with an election. In the light of this ruling, the petition filed Monday noted possible causes for challenge with no action if any to be taken until after the election.

The petition called attention to possible errors committed with reference to Sections 29, 31 and 35 of the City Charter. The recall (Sec. 31) refers to steps that could be taken under Sec. 29 noting that petitions had to be signed by 25% of the qualified voters. It was not clear whether the voters were those to participate in the last election or who might be eligible to vote. Some 900 people voted in the last city election. It is generally believed that between 1,800 and 2,000 are qualified to vote in Cisco. There is no official roll.

Section 35 might have been violated because the recall petitions were not considered at a regular meeting but at a special meeting, it was pointed out.

Mayor Cartee and Council Woman Allison had objected to the appointment of A.C. Warren as election judge at an earlier meeting. The petition filed Monday was addressed to the election judge and the acting city secretary but they were not served and would not be served until after the election, it was pointed out.

The suit also noted that recall petitions had names of signers printed in beside signatures in some places. This, it was noted, was in error as petitions are not supposed to be touched after being turned in.

Observers believed that the matter would not be carried further unless Mr. Cartee and Mrs. Allison are recalled in the election.—JWS

Starr, Berry and Woolley Receive Showmanship Awards

Glenn Starr, Shannon Berry and Mike Woolley received Showmanship Awards here this weekend at the Cisco Livestock Show Friday and Saturday. Starr's award was for swine, Berry's for sheep and Woolley's for cattle.

The Cisco show attracted nearly 100 animals and was in part a warm-up for the upcoming Eastland County Show. The Cisco show gives young raisers experience in the show ring.

In Friday night's swine judging, Darrell Stuart and Jim Bob Cozart were the big winners. Stuart captured the breeding swine show trophy with his Yorkshire gilt, while Cozart won the market classes with a Duroc.

Stuart had a 240 pound Duroc which was fatally injured in a car-pig collision near Cisco Thursday night, which he was confident would have won the Friday night's swine judging had he survived. Stock show condolences were given to Stuart as well as a $150 check from the Cisco Livestock Show Association on Saturday, so the ninth grader at Cisco High School can regroup for next year.

Another ninth grader's luck turned for the better at the weekend show, when Randy Ingram won the southdown lamb competition Saturday with an animal which was bought after his first project died.

Randy started the year with a pig, but it died and he had to buy a lamb and start over. Randy plans to keep his prize-winning lamb, breed it and try again next year, according to his father, Bobby Ingram.

Group Meets To Urge Big Voter Turnout April 4

Some 50 persons representing the People for Progress and Unity, an organization formed recently to participate in city political matters, met Monday night at the Cisco Country Club with Chairman Joe Wheatley presiding.

Mr. Wheatley said the group studied plans for working in behalf of their immediate goals: (1) Support Ivan Webb and Bobby Ingram for election to the City Council; (2) Support the recall of Mayor Roy Cartee and Council Woman Louise Allison; and, (3) Oppose the recall of Councilmen Bill Eudy, Jerry Jeffcoat and Harold Phippen in the April 4th election.

"We would like to urge every citizen to vote and have a voice in government," Mr. Wheatley said. "We are pledged to participate only in a clean campaign with no slander or half-truths. We stand for any program that represents the best interests of progress and unity for Cisco."

The group will help provide transportation to the April 4th polling place, will provide poll watchers and work in behalf of their election goals, Mr. Wheatley said.—JWS bringing up baby. By Mrs. Dan Gerber. New parents are frequently concerned about why refrigerated saveovers of baby foods turn watery. It's nothing to get upset about. The food is still wholesome and nutritious. Sometimes it's thinned by temperature changes during storage, from warm cupboard to refrigerator, for example. Mostly it happens when you feed directly from the jar. Saliva from the baby's spoon contains an enzyme which starts digesting the food, making it thinner. To prevent this, do not feed directly from the Gerber jar. Instead transfer the portion to be fed from the jar to baby's feeding dish and promptly refrigerate the rest. Once a jar is opened it should be stored in the refrigerator for no more than three days. But no smart mother lets half-used jars stack up in the refrigerator, now does she?

God's Flowers - The Bluebonnets

Several years ago a lovely little girl was staying at my house, and she enjoyed picking flowers. One day her Mother noticed she was picking them from my flower beds.

"Now those flowers have been planted, Christa, and you must not break them off!" Her Mother informed her.

So I carried Christa out to the pastures, where blue and gold flowers were spread like carpets across the hillsides.

"Who planted these flowers?" Christa asked. "I suppose you could say that God planted these flowers."

"Good." She nodded. "Would God care if I picked His flowers?"

I assured her that He would not. So she gathered an armful of the beautiful flowers, with her hair shining like the sunlight upon them. And I noticed that her eyes were the color of the flowers in her arms.

It has been another rainy winter, with enough moisture to soak and split the hard black seeds of the bluebonnet. So these, among other of "God's flowers" are going to be out in full bloom again, beginning in early April. Sometimes I think the most important news never reaches the front page of the papers. Surely there should be headlines reading:

1981 SLATED TO BE A GREAT YEAR FOR BLUEBONNETS!

I didn't always feel so concerned about bluebonnets. They seemed unreal to me - just another Texas symbol. But, until 1975, I had never really seen a patch of them growing. For, as incredible as it seems now, it is quite possible to live out your natural life west of Abilene without coming in contact with the State Flower. Recent attempts to plant them along roadways have left a few stunted specimens as far west as Mitchell County, I hear. I predict these will be wiped out with the first prolonged drouth, which is due to happen anytime.

Bluebonnets, just like most people, seem unhappy out of their natural habitat. And the area they most enjoy is the domain of the post oak, live oak, and pecan trees - south of the Red River west to Abilene, and down across the southern part of the state. This is an area of hills and tranquil meadows, the right temperature, and the right amount of rain and humidity.

Botanists report there are more than 400 different species of wild flowers in Texas, including the bluebonnet. There are five species of bluebonnets in the state, all belonging to the Lupine family. Best known and most frequently cultivated is Lupinus Texensis.

The bluebonnet was adopted as the State Flower by the Legislature in 1901, with the original resolution designating a south and east Texas specie, Lupinus Sub-carnosus, as the special flower. In 1971, however, Gov. Preston Smith signed a resolution naming all species of Texas bluebonnets as the State flower. All resemble each other, except that a Trans-Pecos type grows to a height of three feet. This type is rare, and apparently does not grow far up the Pecos.

There are about 200 species of Lupines growing in various parts of the world, including Northern Mexico and Northern California. One blue-flowered legume grows profusely on the hillsides near Jerusalem.

Artists delight in bluebonnets, yet it is difficult for them to transfer the flower to canvas. Bluebonnets, in many paintings, either resemble puddles of water, or they are individually portrayed in a remarkably stiff manner, as if they were made of wax.

But in reality the flowers are graceful and flexible, with rosettes of drab-green leaves forming a base for their spikes. About seven pairs of individual flowers form a cluster at the top, with each flower resembling a bonnet. A tiny, cream-colored face, sometimes touched with pink or mauve, peeps beneath it. The Spanish called this figuration "El Conejo", or "The Rabbit".

But whether it is called a rabbit or a bonnet, the beauty of the flower lies in its intensity of blue - almost a cobalt, and the constant play of light across the satin heads. This is enhanced by the taller spikes of coral-colored Western paintbrushes, a companion of the lupines.

I will not insult the Comanche, Apache or Aztec Indian by repeating all the bluebonnet legends attributed to them. Most of these stories seem to have sprung from the fertile brains of Anglo-Saxon writers, who had much space to fill and little information to fill it with. But Comanches might possibly have called the bluebonnet "Buffalo Clover", as writers state, since the flower grew in part of the old buffalo range. I can find no proof that buffalo ate bluebonnets, and only conflicting stories as to whether our domestic cattle graze on them.

"No, they're worthless for feed," say most ranchers.

But one very creditable rancher told me he had seen cattle "really going after" bluebonnets after the flower had shed its bloom and had green seed pods. So it may depend on how hungry the cows are!

Cattle do not seem to harm the plants, or do any other creatures of the hills and prairies. And bluebonnets - an independent lot - seem to prefer a life out with these creatures rather than cultivation in neat beds. And they, like most legumes, help add to the fertility of the land. They heal it after drouth and fires, and can manage to survive on poor and rocky soil.

Since the earliest times Texas explorers, naturalists, and citizens from all walks of life have appreciated the unique beauty of the bluebonnet. Lindheimer, the great German botanist from New Braunfels, spent weeks in the 1850's out with the wildflowers of Texas. The Comanches, thinking him some sort of a Medicine Man, did not harm him at all. In modern time Gov. John Connally and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson made a lot of effort to preserve the beauty of the state - and the bluebonnets. But now the population of Texas is growing rapidly, and the always-fragile balance of nature is in trouble. We see it in Eastland County - we see it almost everywhere - the press of industry, oil exploration, land-clearing, and developing. Can people live in harmony with tranquil meadows - with mystic hills? Will someone please leave room for bluebonnets to nod in a sunny breeze, and scatter their seeds for another rainy winter?

When Is A Sale Not A Sale?

COLLEGE STATION--Some advertised "sale prices" are actually the regular prices, says Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

Items marked on sale for more than 30 days probably aren't sale items at all, she cautions. Mrs. McCormack is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Beware of phrases such as "manufacturer's list price" and "suggested retail." These words may be deceptive since manufacturers cannot legally force retailers to sell products at set prices even though they often suggest a price, the specialist says.

On the other hand, use the "suggested" price as a comparison, since some retailers may sell below that price.

Beware of retailers who consistently advertise "specials" or "featured items" then the next day print disclaimer ads on a back page in the newspaper. This is legal, but it is a strategy often used to get you into the store, Mrs. McCormack explains.

What can consumers do about sales that aren't really sales?

Your best defense is awareness - of price ranges in your area and of retailers who are reputable, the specialist advises.

Spring Fling '81

Who said that older folks can't have fun? Now there's an opportunity for those over 55 to take part in an exciting, fun-filled camp at the Texas 4-H Center at Brownwood, April 28-May 1.

Appropriately called "Spring Fling '81", the camp is designed for today's older adult.

Among activities will be basket weaving, lapidary, needlecraft and ceramics. There will also be free-choice demonstrations on creative cooking, gardening, nature studies, exercise and recreation.

Among other fun activities will be shuffleboard, dominoes, "42", bridge and other card games.

And there's tennis and a golf course near by.

Of course, square dancing and sing-alongs are planned each evening to make your stay at the 4-H Center a memorable one.

Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists and a key group of volunteers will be on hand to present educational programs and to help you get the most from your camp activities.

The 4-H Center, located in a lovely wooded area on the shores of beautiful Lake Brownwood, offers an opportunity to "camp" in a resort atmosphere with all the modern conveniences.

Anyone interested in taking part in the "Spring Fling '81" camp may contact Mrs. Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent, for an application form. The county Extension office is located in the courthouse or telephone 629-2222. Reservations must be received at the Texas 4-H Center by April 22 adds Mrs. Thomas.

Historians believe fire was discovered some 400,000 years ago.

"For this very night there stood by me an angel of God"-Acts 27:23

During the years of my childhood my mother had hanging on the wall of my bedroom a picture of an angel standing by two small children. The children were crossing a bridge. The faces of the children revealed they had no fear as they crossed the bridge with the swirling waters below.

How often you are frightened by dangers and disturbed because of crushed hopes and circumstances beyond your control. If you could but see into the invisible world you would know that Jesus has thousands of angels who He sends swiftly to your aid when in His wisdom you have a need.

After a trying experience in the wilderness when Jesus overcame the temptation of Satan, He hungered and thirsted. "An angel came and ministered to Him"-Matthew 4:16. Before the crucifixion Jesus prayed in the garden for strength to drink the bitter cup He knew he must drink to fulfill His mission of dying for the sin of mankind. The Word tells us, "an angel from heaven appeared to him, and strengthened Him"-Luke 22:43.

Mary Magdalene, a follower of Jesus came to Jesus' tomb after He was crucified. "Mary stood weeping outside the tomb and as she wept; stooped to look into the tomb; she beheld two angels in white sitting where the body of Jesus had lain, one at the head and one at the feet"-John 21:18. The angel comforted her.

Friend, many times an angel has been sent by the Father to comfort, strengthen and protect you. Thank Him, the One from whom all blessings flow!

Congressman Charles Stenholm Reports

D.C.-Congressman Charles W. Stenholm told members of the House Agriculture Committee here today that the Free Enterprise System had been "redefined as it applies to agriculture," causing problems with both domestic and foreign marketing efforts.

Testifying before opening hearings on new farm legislation, Stenholm said, "When we face the situation squarely on, we must admit that past farm policy-and therefore the authors of that policy-have redefined the Free Enterprise System as it applies to agriculture. As a result, the American farmer faces the world market not only unaided by its own government, but restricted in its ability to compete against other farm exporting nations who are aggressively supported by their own government policies."

On the domestic side, Stenholm said the farmer has been consistently penalized "by a warped marketing system that forces him to accept an 'end of the year sale' price on his production before one bushel or bale of that crop has reached the elevator or gin.

"In both domestic and world market issues," he continued, "this committee must be willing to investigate the obstacles to the Free Enterprise System and to decide how best to meet the needs of American agriculture through that proven system."

Stenholm told committee members that the new farm bill would be judged "by the American farmer and the American taxpayer" not by how far we proceed from the starting gate, but how close we come to our final goal. "That final goal," he continued, was "profitability for the American farmer from the market and an insured supply of fairly priced food and fiber for the American public."

He pointed out that estimated returns to equity for all industry in 1980 totaled 16.1 percent, compared to agriculture's 6.9 percent return. "That's an unfair balance that cannot continue if the American farmer is to stay in business," Stenholm said.

"I am convinced that the farmer, with fair treatment by this committee and other lawmakers, needs only a fair price from the market to survive," Stenholm added.

The committee hearings are the first step in the months-long process of formulating the 1981 Farm Bill, which Stenholm called "one of the most far-reaching pieces of legislation that will go before the House this Session."

Reflections in Perspective
By: I. Will Usery

I'm hooked on hats. Never leave the house bareheaded. Well, almost never. Even to step out for a stick of firewood; I wear a hat. There's an old Navy customer (and I never served in that branch) which requires a man in that service (woman too, I suppose) to render a hand salute to a superior officer...but only if that officer is covered.

In my way of doing things, not actually recommended for emulation by anyone at all, but submitted only for consideration and perhaps as a bit of background; there are hats for all occasions. There's a golf hat and a tennis hat. Not one and the same, Heavens, no! And there are hats suited solely to the occasions.

Hunting hats, for example. There's the dove-shooting hat, which is not for a moment to be confused with the quail-hunting hat. It may appear to the uninitiate that they are the same, but the birds (and my trusty bird dog) know the difference. So do I. And the deer-hunting hat is yet another hat. No self-respecting deer hunter would sit cramped and freezing in a deer stand until he were covered by a suitable topper. Of course, not all deer hunters agree as to what is suitable. They're a breed apart, deer hunters.

And there's a hat for working in the garden, cutting grass, pruning roses...things like that. There's the remote possibility that such a hat could be a discarded hunting hat, but a separate and distinct hat for gardening is not at all out of order. And the go-to-town hat. It does not quite come up to the standards of impeccability as the Sunday hat, but it is a cut above the ordinary, everyday hat which may be worn in the pursuit of just about anything which may be of a non-specialized nature. Still another hat is for feeding stock. Never, but never should anyone, and I do mean just anyone venture out to a feeding ground to spread cake and hay to hungry beasts unless he is topped by a well-worn just a bit sweat-stained, curly-brimmed felt hat. It just isn't done, old boy.

There's a wide range of applications for the ever increasingly popular baseball-styled cap. Many people just use that cap as a hat-of-all-seasons. That may be all right, but it seems to me to indicate a lack of interest. Or maybe an indulgent wife. I've got some of them.

My Lovely Wife insists that, per square meter of floor space our humble cottage contains more hats than any residence in the township. I've never made a survey of the neighborhood in an attempt to refute her opinion. As a matter of fact, she just may be right. And it would never do for me to prove myself wrong. Just leave it to be said that when I reach for a hat, from just about whatever place I may be in the house, a hat can be found to be within reach. An old Western saying, y'know... "Never sit with your back to a door, nor hang your hat where you can't reach it-or get it on your way out".

And that brings up something I've noticed. Few restaurants have enough places between the dining room and the door where a man can hang his hat. Maybe there are thirty tables in the place, and how many hat hooks? Maybe ten, and half of those on one of these combination monstrosities calculated to provide hanging space for hats, coats, umbrellas and galoshes.

Perhaps that is the reason for so many young men...and a few of their elders...never taking off their hats in restaurants. Or maybe there's considered to be something "macho" about wearing a hat while enjoying a steak with one's light o'love. I don't know frankly. But it just doesn't look right to me. Recently observed a very quality-dressed pair enter a restaurant. She was done up very tastefully, and he matched her, thread for thread. He wore his hat to the table. Very well, I thought, he'll take it off when she is seated. He didn't. Know how I felt about that? Just a bit disgusted. No call for that.

I subscribe to the statement made by Bum Phillips who was asked, when he was coaching the Houston Oilers football team why he never wore his hat inside the Astrodome. Bum's reply... "My momma taught me take off my hat in the house".

Senator Glasgow Reports

By Senator Bob Glasgow

The Texas Legislature has now been in session for nine weeks. Amongst the most controversial and most vital bills have been the "War and Drugs" package consisting of five bills. I am the co-sponsor of four of the measures in the Senate.

Four are currently pending in committee or subcommittee and one has passed the Senate.

Senate Bill 396 provides for automatic suspension of licenses of doctors, pharmacists, dentists, veterinarians and podiatrists who incur drug-related felony convictions. The revocations are permanent unless their respective regulating Boards has a hearing and makes findings that the reissuance of the license is in the public interest as well as that of the revoked professional.

The bill has passed the Senate and is awaiting a hearing on Committee in the House.

A second bill, sponsored by Senator Farabee, increases substantially the fines and jail sentences for commercial trafficking in illegal drugs. Senate Bill 393 would set the penalty for "boatload" and "truckload" quantities at a minimum fifteen calendar years and fines up to $250,000.

Penalties for lesser amounts are graduated down and provision is made for enhanced penalties for repeat offenders.

The measure is awaiting hearing in the Senate Jurisprudence Committee and has been referred to Subcommittee in the House.

Senate Bill 394, the "Triplicate Prescription Bill", provides that a health care professional writing a prescription for a commonly abused drug do so on a triplicate serially-numbered pad printed on special hard to duplicate paper.

The doctor and pharmacist would each keep a copy and the third copy would be sent to the State where it would enter a computer system for analysis. This would be sent once every thirty days.

In Illinois, the total amount of drugs covered by the program which were dispensed by pharmacies dropped more than 40% in the first three months of the program.

This measure is pending business in State Affairs and should have been voted on this week in that Committee. In the House it is awaiting a hearing in the Health Services Committee.

Senator Jones is sponsoring a bill which would outlaw the trade in drug paraphernalia and permit the seizure of such paraphernalia. Senate Bill 395 provides that a person commits an offense if he possesses, manufactures, sells, offers to sell, delivers or offers to deliver drug paraphernalia under circumstances which indicate that the paraphernalia is to be used in a direct violation of the Controlled Substance Act.

Simple possession of such paraphernalia would be a class B misdemeanor while the other offenses would be a felony of the third degree.

The bill is presently pending in the Senate in the Jurisprudence Committee and is in Subcommittee in the House.

Senate Bill 397 makes delivery of a controlled substance or marijuana by a person 21 years of age or older to a person 17 years of age or younger a first degree felony and denies probation to anyone convicted of this.

Also, persons convicted of this offense would not be eligible for parole until they have served at least five years.

This bill is also awaiting hearing in the Senate Jurisprudence and is in Subcommittee in the House.

It is my feeling that these bills are very vital to the State. If you have any questions or comments concerning these bills please contact my office in Austin or the District Office in Denton.

Bullock Reports On Sales Tax

Thursday, March 12, 1981 State Comptroller Bob Bullock said rebates of the optional one percent city sales tax this month totaled $37.9 million.

The March payments will raise 1981 payments to date to more than $162.5 million, up $23.8 million over the first quarter totals last year.

Cisco's check this month is $10,467.40 for a yearly total through March of $46,593.84, a 27 percent increase over the 1980 first quarter.

Eastland will receive a check for $9,165.36, bringing its 1981 payments to date to $40,660.36, a 14 percent increase over the first three months of 1980.

Gorman will receive $1,388.36 for March. Its payments for 1981 total $7,869.58, a 19 percent increase over the first three months of 1980.

Letters Are Needed For Wildflower Day

Wildflowers are a feast for the eyes and food for the soul and Texas ought to have a special and official Wildflower Day to pay tribute to the 5,479 different species of plants native to the Lone Star State.

That's what Carroll Abbott of Kerrville believes.

Abbott is the state's only full-time wildflower seed and plant collector. He also is probably the only registered wildflower lobbyist in Texas. Maybe the world. He is on record with the Secretary of State, all legal-like.

Right now, he has hitched up his jeans, tucked in his denim shirt and is riding hard on a campaign to get the fourth Saturday in April designated as the official Texas Wildflower Day.

He startled some members of the Legislature and a whole lot of lobbyists when he turned up in his informal wearing apparel for a press conference at the Capitol. He didn't even take off his hat.

What Abbott needs most is a bunch of letters, he says, to impress the Legislature with the fact that Texans are really interested in a wildflower day. He asks that letters be sent to him at:

Texas Wildflower Day, 500 Thompson Drive, Kerrville, TX 78628.

He'll take what he hopes will be a big batch of mail to Austin in early April to present to the Legislature.

"This piece of legislation isn't going to cost anybody anything," he says, "except a 15-cent stamp and the time to write a letter of support." Abbott says the early response has been gratifying.

The Commissioners Court of Brooks County, for instance, has passed a special resolution of support.

Dozens of garden clubs have mailed in multi-signature petitions.

But, at this moment, Abbott admits that he is far from his original goal to get at least 5,479 names—one for each of the different kinds of plants native to Texas.

"There really ought to be that many Texans who like wildflowers—and who have 15 cents for a stamp," Abbott says.

Letters to the Editor

Editor:

As a former Ciscoan who has just returned to Cisco a couple of years ago, I too am concerned about our city. I am in complete agreement with Mrs. McDonald about the state of the city, the only difference is "whom is to blame." I would love to see more young people able to find good jobs and make Cisco their home. We do need them. I myself had to leave here years ago for the lack of work and go to a city. But there has been quite a few opportunities for progress that have been turned down, an air base and V.A. hospital that could have given work to a lot of Cisco people including young people. Also, the Ramada Inn Motel and Cafe which would have meant jobs also Gibsons Store another means of jobs for young people all turned down and had to go elsewhere.

I hardly think Mayor Cartee and Mrs. Allison could be held responsible for that and as for dictatorial administration, there is six council members and one mayor making a total of seven. Now everyone knows that the majority rules. Mrs.

Putnam News

By Mrs. R.B. Taylor
We are having ideal spring weather, not too hot and not too cold. Ample moisture and no sand storms yet. The fruit trees are in full bloom and maybe just maybe they will escape being frozen. Spring flowers are beginning to bloom. I saw some dandelions in my yard. The bluebonnets are not blooming yet but the buffalo clover is. Looks like we are going to have a gorgeous spring.

Sorry to report that my neighbor Mrs. Ruie Sunderman had to be taken to emergency at West Texas Medical Center at Abilene Thursday night. She is in I.C.U. there but may be moved to a private room today or tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Sunderman of Fort Worth are here looking after her.

Also Mr. Grover Maxwell had to be taken to Baird hospital this week. He is not recovering very well from a stroke he suffered some time ago. Mrs. Warren Fellmore of Oklahoma City has been helping to take care of him.

The City Council met in regular session at the Community Center Tuesday night. A few townspeople also met with them. The main business was to discuss a 25 year franchise to the Continental Telephone Company whose present contract has expired. No representative of the telephone company showed up, so the council voted not to sign the pending contract until it was discussed with the company. The Putnam Fire Department has started construction on a building to house the fire trucks.

The country musical at the school house was fairly attended. Thanks to the musicians who come and to all who came and bought food.

March 16 was Mr. I.G. Mobley's 39th birthday! Helping him to celebrate were some cousins from Fort Worth Mr. and Mrs. Lester Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Carrico of Baird.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Morgan and Kenneth's mother from Weatherford visited Mrs. R.B. Taylor Friday.

Mrs. Mary King has accepted a position with Aerodynamics at Abilene.

Mrs. Ollie Burnam, Burette Ramsey and Mrs. Fay Woods of Cisco visited their aunt, Mrs. Annie Bishop at Cross Plains Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Rickster and baby of Forney and Mrs. Dianne Heidelberg of Breckenridge visited their grandmother, Ollie Burnam Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Massingill of Abilene attended church at Putnam and visited the home folks the John Doyle Isenhawers Sunday.

We have just learned that Mrs. Bessie Jobe is in an Abilene hospital.

Visiting the Grover Maxwells Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Langendorff, Mr. and Mrs. James Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Constance, all of New Braunfels and Mr. and Mrs. Buddie Maxwell of Abilene.

McDonald spoke highly of three councilmen and I have been going to the council meetings for some time and know that Mrs. Lucy Collier always agrees with those three so four makes the majority of seven. How can one lonely councilwoman and the mayor be responsible for the dictatorial administration? I ask the citizens of this city to stop and think and then go to the polls and vote April 4.
Mrs. L. Schurpo

Dear Editor:

It is my honest opinion, that if the (silent majority) citizens of the city of Cisco, will awake to their responsibility and go to the polls on April 4th, and vote their convictions; that this will bring a solution to our problem.

I appeal to the peace loving citizens of Cisco, to go vote.

My prayer to our heavenly Father, is for the peace of Cisco, and may the Prince of peace be with us.
Rev. O. R. Williams

Dear Editor:

Previous to 1974 it was evident that a mayor and city councilmen serving part time could no longer effectively transact the business of the city. A full-time official, trained in management and alert to the complexities involved in running a city, was needed.

A movement was initiated to change to a city manager-mayor-council type of government, and a committee of very knowledgeable people was appointed to draw up a charter. Hours and weeks of labor went into this effort with intense research, numerous consultations with officials of other towns comparable in size to Cisco, and input from numerous agencies concerned with city government.

Trial copies of the proposed charter were distributed to the town people for study, and a number of revisions were made at their suggestions. The final copy was then submitted to the public; they studied it, they liked it, and in 1974 they mandated its adoption by a comfortable majority of votes.

Our present mayor and his supporting councilwoman knew when they ran for office that the city operated under the charter. But from the first days of their term of office, they assumed authority that was not delegated to them by the charter but rightfully belonged to the city manager. This encroachment resulted in a tug-of-war between them and the city manager.

This power struggle has been the source of discord at the city hall and has brought bad publicity to the town. When these officials realized that they could not work harmoniously within the framework of the charter, they should have resigned. Since they did not have the grace to do so, the voters of Cisco have no alternative but to recall them if the city manager is to be able to effectively transact the city's business.

City managers are hard to come by, especially in a divided town. Two city managers who were apparently working for Cisco's good have resigned rather than submit to the pressure exerted by the "dissenters."

Isn't it time that the voters of Cisco give the charter and the city manager a chance to work as they were intended to work?

Yours for a unified Cisco,
Vernon Honea

Dear Sir:

I am convinced that the coming city election will determine whether Cisco remains in its present stalemated or becomes the thriving, prosperous town it can become with the right leadership. With the increased oil activity and new industry which is being brought in by the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, Cisco has an opportunity unparalleled in its history. New industry and new people provide among other benefits (1) Increased revenue through a broader tax base (2) More job opportunities (3) An enhanced economy through more and larger payrolls.

Any citizen worthy of the name will not downgrade the civic-minded persons who make up the business community of Cisco nor badmouth the organizations and institutions which contribute to the economic and cultural well-being of the community. If Cisco is to reach its full potential, it must have leadership in city government which works for the interests and unity of all segments of the population, supports the businesses, organizations, and institutions which serve for the good of the town, and, most especially, projects a favorable image of Cisco to the outside world. This administration has failed to achieve these objectives.

RANDAL CARAWAY AND TAMMY HUTCHENS

I shall, therefore, vote the ticket prescribed by PEOPLE FOR PROGRESS AND UNITY.

Respectfully,
Coleen Strawn

News From The Center

By Moe Green

Recently our secretary, Diane Wheeler, who is a member of the United Pentecostal Church, came and brought members of the Primary Sunday School class to the Center. These young people rendered a musical and brought and distributed gifts to each resident. May God bless each one of them.

A group of young people from Mexia State School also paid a visit to our home. Thanks goes to Rev. Arno Bentley for thinking of our people and sharing this with us.

We at the Center welcome programs like these. We like for our people to have and experience the same kind of enjoyments that we have out in the community.

On March 3 Roland Smith and the Sandy Land Band came to the Center and entertained our residents with their favorite country and western song and also many hymns of faith.

During the break in the music a birthday party was hosted by Mrs. Claudia Mellette in honor of Roland. Everyone was served cake, punch and coffee. The party was so nice, and it was a pleasant surprise for Roland. Thank you, Mrs. Mellette.

Drake's 69-Foot Well Launched Oil Industry

(Reprint from Oct. 13, 1963 Abilene Reporter-News)

Over a century has passed since the drilling of the first oil well, the well which was to be the birth of an industry known as the "lifeblood of civilization."

A man with a dream; a tool-maker, handyman and driller of salt wells, and his son; and a drilling outfit that cost a total of $76.50 has, in the span of 104 years, progressed into an industry of endless worth and importance.

The man with the dream was "Colonel" Edwin L. Drake, of New Haven, Conn. Drake left a broad mark on the walls of the industrial hall of fame with the discovery of that first well, completed on Aug. 27, 1859, near Titusville, Pa.

No others had ventured into the drilling of oil commercially at that date.

Drake, a railroad conductor forced into premature retirement by illness, was hired in 1858 by the Seneca Oil Co. - partly because he had a railroad pass and could travel free - to go the Titusville to investigate oil seepages along Oil Creek, and determine if this thick black fluid could be produced in commercial quantities. At that time, petroleum had suddenly become valuable as a low-cost source of lamp fuel.

In the spring of 1859 Drake contracted W.A. "Uncle" Billy" Smith, the owner of a small blacksmith shop in Salina, Pa., a country village adjoining Tarentum, which in itself was an equally small place near Pittsburgh.

Uncle Billy was by no means an expert salt borer. But he was familiar with the technique, and had made salt pans and other tools used in drilling wells. And Drake was desperate, indeed. In fact, he said years later that if Smith hadn't agreed to help, he may have given up his idea of drilling an oil well.

Three times he had obtained commitments from salt borers and none of them had ever shown up in Titusville as promised.

Smith, his 15-year-old son Samuel (whose services were thrown in by Smith) and his daughter Margaret set up house near the prospective drillsite. Smith's wife and the rest of the family remained behind until the house-hold goods could be moved to Titusville.

The drilling tools were handmade in Smith's blacksmith shop and, including extras, cost a grand total of $76.50.

Drilling was begun sometime during the middle of May, 1859.

Trouble was encountered in the form of water seeping freely into the hole from nearby Oil Creek. A pump which was rigged up failed to keep pace with the incoming water. Subsequent cave-ins created a stalemate.

Drake and Smith got together and the first casing in history was set. They obtained 10-foot sections of cast iron pipe from Erie. With a white oak battering ram and a hand-powered windlass, they drove the pipe 32 feet to bedrock. Then, drilling with steam power commenced in earnest. By that time the summer had worn down into August.

Drilling problems were not the only ones to harass the small crew. Financial difficulties were prevalent. Drake's company was anxious to show some profits to the stockholders for his stay in Titusville of over a year. Drake borrowed $500 from a Meadville bank on a note endorsed by two of the few in Titusville who had faith in him - Peter Wilson, a druggist, and Reuel D. Fletcher, the general store owner.

But from New Haven, James M. Townsend, the banker who was the key personality among the stockholders, had mailed Drake instructions to pay all company bills and return home.

Apparently the letter did not arrive in time to stop the course of industrial history which is ranked in importance far above the California gold rush.

Although sources differ on the date, it is generally concurred that it was Saturday afternoon, Aug. 27, that total depth of 69 feet was reached.

The drill bit dropped into a crevice and slipped down another six inches. They decided to knock off for the weekend. They pulled the drill string, went to the small home nearby which Uncle Billy had converted from an old engine house, and prepared for a Sunday rest.

The next day Smith chanced to look into the hole and noted a yellowish black liquid bubbling in the pipe a few feet below the derrick floor. Excitedly, he plugged a short section of tin rain spouting, lowered it into the pipe and drew it up full of oil.

By Monday morning excitement crackled over the small lumbering village. Men shouted as they met one another, "The Yankee has struck oil!"

The well, first pumping at a rate of 20 barrels per day, had a total production of possibly 3,000 barrels.

Neither Drake nor Smith hitched their careers to the rising star of the oil industry. Drake left the oil region in 1863, one year after Smith, and both died broke.

WORD OF GOD

And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

Cretes and Arabians, we do hear them speak in our tongues the wonderful works of God.

Acts 2:4,11

He that speaketh in an unknown tongue edifieth himself;

I would that ye all speak with tongues,

For if I pray in an unknown tongue, my spirit prayeth,

I thank my God, I speak with tongues more than ye all:

Wherefore tongues are for a sign, not to them that believe, but to them that believe not: forbid not to speak with tongues.

Wrestles Calf

Jim Bob Cozart of Cisco wrestled a calf over the finish line at the March 3, 1981, performance of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo to earn a $400 calf purchase certificate.

The certificate, donated by Scurlock Oil Co. will enable Jim Bob to purchase a beef or dairy heifer which he will feed and groom during the coming year under the direction of John Blair. At next year's Livestock Show the youngster will return with his calf to compete in the special show ring competition.

Home refunding: answer to the inflation dilemma

How many times have you jealously eyed another food shopper handing the cashier a wad of redeemable coupons? How often do you take the time to clip coupons from a favorite newspaper or magazine, only to forget about them?

You may be a casual coupon-clipper but, for many people, refunding has become a profitable home business which they run from the kitchen table.

Foodmaster Publications has published a report which reveals, in step-by-step form, all the methods used by these supershoppers. Foodmaster also provides a free telephone and mail consultation service to help anyone who wants to get started.

For free information on this report, send a self-addressed, stamped (long) envelope to Consumer Service Associates, P. O. Box 9, Orangeburg, NY 10962.

Yet, despite the many "how-to-do-it" demonstrations to millions of TV viewers, these "supershoppers" are left wondering why more people aren't doing what they're doing to save money.

The answer is that most people still think that to really benefit from refunding means to flip through piles of magazines and clip coupon after coupon. The supershopper knows that this takes too much time, and is not always profitable.

Being a supershopper means knowing how to get the coupons we're all so familiar with mailed to his or her door.

It also means knowing how to get information on loads of manufacturers' refund offers, which we're not so familiar with. (Market research polls show that 63 billion individual coupons and refund offers are made each year, but only five percent are redeemed.)

Supershoppers also know how to set up a program so that once their refund checks start pouring in—it takes just a few

THE NATION'S biggest elm, near Louisville, Kan., lived quietly for some 260 years until it was "discovered" about five years ago. It is near the crossing at the Vermillion river on the historic Oregon Trail. The trail was also used by the "Forty-niners" heading for the California gold fields.

The elm caught the attention of Gary Naughton, forestry instructor at Kansas State University, and Ted Cunningham of the Kansas Wildlife Federation. They pleaded its case to Vic Finchman, a state road employee who was surveying a location for a new bridge. Impressed by its magnificence, Finchman changed the location and design of the bridge to avoid harming it.

Naughton and Cunningham submitted a formal application to name the tree the largest of its variety. On Oct. 3, 1979, by act of the National Register of Big Trees of the American Forestry Association, the elm was designated as the largest known example of its species.

The "Biggest Elm" is now called the Louis Vieux Elm, named after a man who owned the farm on which the elm stands. The tree is 99 feet tall and 23 feet, 2 inches in circumference, with an average crown spread of 133 feet. Its estimated age, based on a coring of the main trunk, is 265 years. It sprouted its first leaves when the Great Plains belonged to the buffalo and the Indians. The elm was 17 years old when George Washington was born in 1732 and it was 61 years old when the nation was born in 1776.

Cavalry troopers tied their horses in the tree's shade as they rested on trips between Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley. Pioneer women waited under it as their men repaired the broken wheels of covered wagons traveling the Oregon Trail.

THERE'S TALK that in the early days of the Kansas frontier, men threw a rope over the lowest branch of the Biggest Elm to mete out pioneer justice. But that's vehemently denied by Louisville Mayor Albert Menhusen. "There's nothing in any historical records that says that the elm was used for hanging people," he says. The elm, with its ample shade, is a popular place for picnics, he added.

Menhusen, assistant manager at the Wamego cooperative, a branch of the Farmers Union Cooperative Business Association headquartered in St. Mary's, Kansas, has been mayor of Louisville for 12 years.

Most of the information gathered about the elm was compiled by Mrs. Barbara Burgess, historian for the Wamego Historical Society.

The man whose name was given to the elm was brought up at a trading post that became Milwaukee. He moved to Kansas and bought a farm on the west bank of the Vermillion river. He raised beef cattle and vegetables, most of which he sold to Fort Riley. He also sold supplies, grain and horses to the Army troopers and to travelers on the Oregon Trail. He later became the first person to operate a toll bridge across the Vermillion river. It was said he collected up to $300 a day in the peak season, charging $1 for the horse and rider, says Mrs. Burgess. His sons joined him in the business and all became wealthy landowners.

As a result of an 1867 treaty which he negotiated with the Pottawatomie Indians, Vieux received 315 acres including the land on which the elm grows. When he died in 1872, records indicate that Vieux was overseer of considerable farmland. He owned part of a water-powered mill and was a major figure in Kansas.

Just up the hill east of the elm, Vieux and 28 relatives, including two wives and a brother, are buried.

Lightning has torn huge branches from the tree. Two have fallen astraddle other branches. The broken branches are the size of a man's torso and hang about 50 feet above ground.

UNLIKE MILLIONS of other elm trees, the Biggest Elm has been spared the Dutch Elm disease. Menhusen said the tree's isolation may have saved it.

People n Things

OUR SCOUTS report that the owner of Southfork Ranch, where the television family of J.R. Ewing holds forth on Friday nights, was a visitor in Cisco one day last week. He was in the Cisco area to see about an oil lease and stopped in for lunch at the White Elephant.

Understand the man, whose name we didn't learn, leases his home to the CBS folks as a locale for their television show. He passes out a few "Southfork" belt buckles to admirers.

SEVERAL PEOPLE report seeing Martin scouts in town, and Bill Reynolds of Gardenhire Oil tells us that 20 of the blue-purple birds have already moved in at his place out on South Avenue D. These birds, you know, usually send out scouts to locate homes for their families.

Bill has three Martin houses with a total of 36 compartments. He had 25 pairs last spring and summer and there was a total of about 100 Martins when they flew out to their winter home in the Amazon River country of South America.

These birds are nice to have around for they eat nothing but flying insects like gnats, flies and mosquitoes. Bill says his first Martins got to Cisco on Feb. 22nd. Generally speaking, the Martins are a bit late this year.

The Reynolds were over in East Texas last weekend, to visit his family and nobody there had seen 1981 Martins yet.

WILD FLOWERS are beginning to show to beautiful advantage these days. And you'll see Bluebonnets beginning to poke their pretty heads up if you look carefully in yards and on the road sides.

Memorial Hospital after a lengthy illness.

She was born April 10, 1902. She married Charles B. Lanham in April 1962 in Odessa. They moved back to Cisco in 1965.

He preceded her in death in April 1980.

Survivors include a son, Ralph Smith of Cisco; a daughter, Marjorie Wright of Odessa; a brother, Grant Tomlinson of Vernon; two sisters, Lillian Madden of Kansas City and Maggie Mann of Lewisville; two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Nephews were to serve as pallbearers.

Fruit trees, including plums and peaches, are in bloom. Let's hope that we have no more freezing temperatures to damage the fruit orchards of our community.

IF THERE'S AN old friend that you would like to invite to the coming Cisco Centennial, drop by the CofC offices and pick up a copy of the new celebration program. It's headed "Come to Cisco Centennial Celebration," and the attractive drawing is from the pen of Jo Ann Cermin. The type was set and the negative for the printing of the program came from Mr. Robert Kamon's oil company print shop out at Kamon House. Ivan Webb and Caryn Lee engineered the work. And, you know, the First National Bank footed the printing bill for the program, which is a real credit to Gene Abbott and Bettye McGinness of the CofC Centennial Committee.

FIREMAN BILL Webb took the rural fire truck out to IH-20 at 6:15 p.m. Sunday when a big truck motor caught fire. The blaze was under control when the Cisco truck got there but it stood by until mechanical help came. The Ed Bradshaws were pleased the other day to learn that their daughter and husband, the Robert Millers, and children are moving soon to Plainview from Washington State, where he is a research scientist for a big seed company.

Mr. Roy Hathaway, the ex-school superintendent, has a handsome black beard for the upcoming centennial. Dash Crofts and partner Jim Seals have just finished a tour of Alaska and have gone to Australia for a concert tour, reports Dash's parents, the Sutton Crofts, of our town.

AN ITEM HERE recently about Mrs. Louise Cooper, legal secretary, being honoree at a birthday party resulted in her receiving a letter from former Ciscoan George Downie of San Antonio, as follows:

"Dear Friend Louise: I have a fine helper who reads to me because, although I did get of the second grade, I can't read. The reason is that I'm legally blind. I can still see tall buildings and fat women, but print is too much for me.

"My friend read to me about your birthday party so I would like to send you special good wishes as I've always thought of you as a very special friend. I had a

MRS. EDWARD Lee of Cisco and Mrs. James Moore of Abilene were among old family friends who attended funeral services for Mr. W.C. (Bill) Hogue in Dallas last Friday. Ciscoans visiting at Traders Village, which is billed as the world's largest flea market, near Arlington last weekend included the Ed Bradshaws, the Sutton Crofts and the John McGuires. They went over in their recreation vehicles and spent a couple of nights. The village is open each Saturday and Sunday all year around and you browse through acres and acres of new and used merchandise (fleas). They often hold special promotions like a Prairie Dog Chili Cook Off that is scheduled for early April.
