Do you remember when the inside of J.C. Penney's building looked like this? Miss Helen Crawford gave Bettye McGinness, coordinator of the Cisco Centennial, these pictures of the Davis-Garner & Co. They were taken about 1915. Mr. Dick Davis and Mr. John H. Garner were owners. Miss Crawford's father, Mr. E.P. Crawford is in the suit (on right) in the men's section. Note the large selection of suspenders on top of the counter to his right.

The other picture is of the millinery department. Mrs. Bedell worked in this department. Palm trees added a nice touch to the store's interior. The material that is behind the curtains on the right must have been 100% cotton. Have you checked the fiber content lately on material? It is back to 100% cotton! The store also boasted a large shoe selection!

Later the store was sold to Mr. Sterling Drumwright's father.

Little Brownie and The Cookie Monsters

Evelyn Valek
(Note: Girl Scouts will be delivering cookies ordered in February this week, March 20-30. Price is $1.50 per box. So, all you cookie lovers, get ready.)

Once upon a time in the month of March, there was a little Girl Scout named Brownie who went about selling Girl Scout cookies in the town of Cisco.

Ranger Furniture Exch. To Observe 60th Anniversary

One of the area's oldest businesses will mark another milestone this month as Ranger Furniture Exchange will observe its 60th Anniversary. To celebrate the occasion the four generation establishment will hold a special storewide sale beginning Thursday, March 26th.

Ranger Furniture Exchange was opened by Colonel Brashier at 123 North Rusk in 1921 and has been serving the Eastland County trade area in the same location ever since. Colonel was joined by his son Felton in 1925 and he was an active partner in the business until his death in 1976. Felton, Jr. (Pete) came into the store with his father in 1945 and is currently the senior partner. Tom became the fourth generation to join the business as he joined the firm with his father in 1976.

The store has continued to grow over the years and was completely remodeled and expanded to its present size in 1977. Pete added a carpet department in the mid-fifties and it has grown to the largest carpet selection in the area. RFE stocks such fine carpet lines as Philadelphia, Trend, Brinkman, Lees, Aldon, Cabin Crafts, Galaxy, Volker and Sun. All of the carpet is installed by their own crew headed by Robert Cherry. Robert joined the store in 1963 and is one of the most experienced and expert carpet craftsmen anywhere. He is assisted by Joe Westmoreland.

The Brashier's offer a complete line of home furnishings and appliances featuring such name brands as Bassett, Riverside, Kroehler, Flexsteel, Stratford, Simmons, Brodyhill, Memphis, Dixie, Young-Hinkle, Town Square, Serta, Bemco, RCA, White-Westinghouse, Tell City, Douglas, Stratolounger, Catnapper and Lane.

"For this special anniversary we have stocked the finest merchandise we have ever offered," Tom said. "Everything in the store is on sale at savings from 10 percent to 40 percent off our everyday prices."

One of the most unique features of the store is its credit plan. "In following a practice started by my grandfather, Colonel Brashier, at Ranger Furniture Exchange you still pay no interest or carrying charges on furniture or carpet for up to one full year," Pete said. During the sale the public is invited to come in and register for free door prizes to be given away at the end of the sale. There is no obligation and you need not be present to win.

"We would like to express our appreciation to the many good customers who have traded with us over the sixty years we have been in business. It is your continued support that has allowed us to make it this far and we will strive to keep your business in the future by offering you the fairest and most competitive service possible," Pete added.

ner of 10th and M, she met a cookie monster.

"Oh no, not a cookie monster!" Little Brownie gasped, as she tried to hide her cookies behind her.

"Oh yes," said the cookie monster in a big, deep voice. "Give me all your cookies, Little Brownie. I want them."

"Oh, please, Mr. Cookie Monster," said Little Brownie, "don't take all my cookies. I won't have any to sell to all the people who have been waiting for them since last year's cookie sale. Please don't take my cookies and I'll give you my beanie cap," said Little Brownie, looking sorrowfully up at the cookie monster.

"Oh, all right," said the cookie monster, "but if you have any cookies left when you finish, you must bring me a box."

"Okay, it's a deal," sang Little Brownie, as she skipped off down the sidewalk.

And the cookie monster plopped the beanie onto his head and went away saying, "now I'm the grandest cookie monster in town."

So Little Brownie went along and went along until she came to Humble Street, where she encountered another cookie monster. "Oh no, not another one," she screamed, as she turned to run.

"Just a minute there, Brownie," growled the cookie monster, catching her by the scruff of her insignia sash. "Give me all your cookies. I'm hungry."

"Oh please don't take my

CHS Sponsor 'Safety Week'

The Cisco High School Student Council will sponsor "National Safety Week" March 23 through March 27. In conjunction with Safety Week there will be programs each day at all of the local schools.

A representative of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission will come from Dallas to address the schools concerning poison prevention and outdoor electrical hazards to the high school, as well as playground safety to the intermediate school.

Other programs include a first aid demonstration given by the Cisco Junior College student nurses, as well as a water safety program given by Jeff Cathey.

The primary school will have a safety puppet show, in addition to films and discussions on playground safety and meeting strangers.

The safety committee is also planning an assembly for the high school ladies, concerning how to change a flat tire and what precautions to take if a breakdown occurs. This program will be given by the CJC Auto Mechanics Department.

Delia Lopez is the chairperson of Safety Week and is in charge of arranging and organizing all programs for the schools throughout the week.

cookies, Mr. Cookie Monster, and I'll give you my Girl Scout pin and World Association pin," said Little Brownie, holding her breath. "Oh, all right," the cookie monster said. "But if you have any cookies left, you must give me a box."

"I promise, Girl Scout honor," said Little Brownie, giving the promise sign with her right hand.

So the cookie monster put the two pins on the lapel of his sport coat and went away saying, "now I'm the grandest cookie monster in town."

By and by, Little Brownie was startled by a third cookie monster, who jumped out from behind a grocery store and said, "Give me all your cookies, Little Brownie. I have been waiting for the cookie delivery man, but I am always asleep when he comes by."

"Oh, please don't take my cookies and I'll give you my Brownie patches," pleaded Little Brownie. "I've worked very hard for them."

"Well, all right," the cookie monster said, "but you must promise to save me a box of cookies." And he stuck the patches to his fuzzy chest and went away saying "now I'm the grandest cookie monster in town."

In all, Little Brownie met seven cookie monsters that day. To keep them from taking her cookies, she had given away all her uniform, membership stars, pins and patches. And had promised to save a box of cookies for each one.

There she stood in the Girl

Scout House shivering in her petticoat when she heard all seven cookie monsters coming up the street. They were arguing about who was the grandest. And she was sure they were coming to get their cookies.

Well, it just so happened that she had seven boxes left when she stopped her rounds. (After all she couldn't go selling cookies in her petticoat.)

The cookie monsters had taken off all the things that Little Brownie had given to them and were preparing to fight.

"Oh, monsters," called Little Brownie, "here's your cookies." And she flung them out the door.

"Oh boy, oh yum yum" cried the cookie monsters, as they grabbed his favorite kind of cookie.

"This samoas is by far the best Girl Scout cookie," said well, maybe his cookie wasn't the very best after all. And they all strolled off to take a nap. In the meantime, Little Brownie had put back on her uniform and patches and pins that the cookie monsters had forgotten about. When she counted up her cookie sales that day, she had sold a hundred and sixty-nine boxes—not just because she was such a good sales girl, but the Girl Scout cookies were so good, they practically sold themselves.

April 1 - TV cancer special

A live cable television special on cancer set to air April 1 represents a first of its kind venture by cable television into the arena of public service broadcasting. Entitled "Cancer Can Be Beat," the 90-minute program will feature prominent cancer specialists in a talk-show format. Topics will cover the various aspects of cancer - from breast cancer in children and from advances in treatment to current directions in research. In dealing with a wide range of cancer-related issues, the telecast will provide the viewer with practical, up-to-date information on the disease.

In Texas, the program will air from 7:00 p.m. - 8:30 p.m. C.S.T.

"We hope that this cable television special will not only increase awareness about cancer, but help the people of Texas understand their personal role in detecting cancer early," said Donald C. Spencer, M.D., President of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society. The ACS and the National Cable Television Association are co-sponsors of the program.

Cancer specialists to be featured on the show include Dr. Edward F. Scanlon, President of the National ASC; Dr. Arthur I. Holleb, Senior Vice President for Medical Affairs, ACS; Dr. Frank Rauscher, Senior Vice President for Research, ACS; Dr. Vincent DeVita, Director of the National Cancer Institute; Dr. Shirley Lansky, Pediatric Psychologist with the University of Kansas Medical School; and Dr. William Cahon of Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City.

Cancer patients, including those who have been cured and those still undergoing treatment, will also be featured. Former football Hall of Famer Otto Graham, 1980 recipient of the American Cancer Society's National Courage Award, will discuss his experiences with colorectal cancer.

Richard Loftus, a member of the National Cable Television Association Board of Directors and originator of the idea for the cancer awareness program, said that, "When the American Cancer Society first began in 1913, cancer was rarely spoken about. Only one cancer patient in five could hope to live. Today, one out of every three people who get cancer will live. The April 1st 'Cancer Can Be Beat' program will contribute greatly to that awareness."

"Cancer Can Be Beat" will originate from the Turner Broadcasting Studios in Atlanta. It is expected to

By Mrs. R.B. Taylor

The calendar says spring is here but the weatherman says differently. And haven't we had some sandstorms? I thought with all the rain we have had that maybe we would escape the dust. But all that just goes along with West Texas. Any way its the best place to live.

We are sorry that we still have some on the sick list. Mrs. Ruie Sunderman is still in West Texas Medical Center. She is doing fine and may be dismissed this week.

Mrs. Frank Sunderman of Corpus Christi and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sunderman of Canyon have been here looking after her.

Mrs. Bessie Jobe underwent surgery Friday at Hendrick Hospital at Abilene. She was doing very well at last report.

Mr. Grover Maxwell is still in Baird hospital. He has not been doing very well but was some improved at last report. His daughter and family, the John Sawyers of Laredo have been here this weekend. Also a nephew, Wallie Welch of Dallas Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Ollie Burnam spent a few days last week with her granddaughter, Mrs. Dianne Heidelberg at Forney.

Mrs. R.L. Clinton of Cisco celebrated a birthday Wednesday. Enjoying the occasion with her were Mrs. Alton Hutchison and a friend of Stephenville, Mrs. Naomi Heyser and Mrs. Clara Cunningham of Baird, Mrs. R.B. Taylor of Putnam and Mrs. Douglas Fry and Mrs. Lewis Williams of Cisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Carter of Vernon visited Mrs. Veda Yarbrough and the John McIntyres Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Green of San Angelo spent last week with the home folks the Calvin Kings. Buford put in most of his time hunting rattlesnakes. We understand he found a lot of them.

A square dance class has been organized here. They will meet at the school house Monday evenings at 7:30. The instructor is Mr. Ralph McMullin of Baird. Anyone from 12 years up may participate. Call Mary Fry or Ruby Weathermon for more information.

Mrs. Naomi Heyser and Mrs. Maggie Cook of Baird and Mrs. I.G. Mobley had lunch with Mrs. R.B. Taylor Sunday.

The Crusade for Christian Service Group of boys led by Billy Wagley and Mr. Don Price enjoyed a fish fry at the Wagley Cafe Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Weathermon of San Antonio visited his parents, the Sid Weathermons last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Taylor and Glenna of Mineral Wells visited her mother, Mrs. Maxie Solomon Friday and Saturday.

Two By Two - still unique individuals

Although twins are enjoying a new focus of attention, it's important to remember that each is a unique individual with rights and needs, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist.

TWINS IN SPOTLIGHT
If you think you're seeing or hearing more about twins these days, there may be several reasons.

Twins have always intrigued family researchers, parents and people-watchers, Ms. Taylor says.

As more adults, adopted as children, search for their natural families, the interest in phenomenal similarities of separated twins has reached an all-time high, she adds.

Ms. Taylor is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Why are twins so special in the human species? Mankind naturally has paid special attention to its offspring. When the offspring come two by two, mankind as a whole does a "doubletake" in terms of attention given, the specialist explains.

In addition, there are more twins these days than in the past, Ms. Taylor says.

When fertility drugs were introduced in the early 1960's, there was sudden increase in multiple births.

TWIN STATISTICS
Birth rates of twins are different in various parts of the world, among different aged mothers and among different races.

Twinning rates for whites average about one of every 90 births. For blacks the average is about one of every 73 births.

Scandinavian rates are one of every 62 births, and Yoruba tribe in Nigeria has the highest rate: one of every 25 births. Orientals tend to have the lowest living-twin rate.

Experts are not quite sure why, but older women are more likely to produce two or more eggs at a time.

Women between ages 35-39 are three times as likely to have twins as women under age 20.

Furthermore, because of medical advancements and improved health care, more twins survive today.

TWINS OF OLD
Our fascination with twins will probably remain so for years to come, just as it has historically.

Twins have played an important role in Biblical history, mythology and literature. Shakespeare featured twins in several of his comedies, probably because he was the father of fraternal twins himself.

FRATERNAL OR IDENTICAL?

What is a twin? There are two different kinds, fraternal and identical.

Identical twins begin as a single fertilized egg which divides and becomes two identical fetuses.

Fraternal twins - the vast majority - result when two mature eggs are released by the mother and fertilized at approximately the same time.

Fraternal twins can be different in numerous ways - sex, looks and size.

TWINS 'TEACH' SPECIES
While we are fascinated by twins, we can also learn about the human being from twins, Ms. Taylor points out. Over the years genetic and behavioral studies have used twins for comparative research.

EACH TWIN UNIQUE
While twins receive attention from the world, their parents are facing a twofold challenge - that of childrearing and that of rearing twins as two separate, individual children.

Providing an environment for individualism, uniqueness and independence for each twin is difficult when two children are in the same physical environment, share similar family experiences, are the same age, are in the same stage of growth and development and share special bonds that other brothers and sisters may not understand, Ms. Taylor says.

Parents can promote uniqueness and individuality among twins by treating them as individual children, dressing them different, doing things with each one, encouraging separate classrooms and evaluating each for his own accomplishment - not comparing, the specialist advises.

Twin means two - two separate people, Ms. Taylor emphasizes.

(ED. NOTE: It has been reported that Kentucky has the highest number of twins born among the 50 states.)

Local Twins

By Michelle Lindsey
Recently two sets of twins were born at the Eastland Memorial Hospital, the Addington girls and a boy and girl McCoy.

Jenny Marie and John Wayne McCoy were born March 3, to Mr. and Mrs. John McCoy of Olden. Jenny weighed 7 lbs. 4 ozs. and was 21 inches long, John weighed 5 lbs. 8 ozs. and 21½ inches long. Their paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McCoy.

All of this led to the research of multiple births and several was found, including a set of triplets.

Joshua, Aaron and Jeremy are the triplet sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wheeler Jr. of Cisco.

The triplets were born Aug. 9, 1978 at Jacksonville, Florida. Aaron was born first, weighed 5 lbs. 10 ozs., a minute later Jeremy was born weighing 5 lbs. 10 ozs., ½ minute later Joshua was born weighing 6 lbs. 4½ ozs.

Joshua and Aaron are identical twins and Jeremy is fraternal.

Joshua, Aaron and Jeremy have an older sister, Stacey who is 4. According to Mrs. Wheeler, Stacey has always felt a part and has been a big help with the triplets. The Wheelers have lived in Cisco since June '80.

Maternal grandparents are Herbert and Mary Lee from Jacksonville, Florida and paternal grandparents are Fred and Jo Wheeler of Cisco.

Timothy John Larkin and Todd Roy Larkin were born Nov. 9, 1978 and are the identical twins of Eddie and Pam Larkin of Cisco.

Ema Lou Benton, the secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, is the grandmother of two sets of twins.

Kerri Ann and Larry Dan Levens were born July 7, 1963 and are now 17. When they were born they each weighed 4 lbs. 4 ozs. Kerri was born first by 57 minutes. They are fraternal twins. Their parents are B.J. and Corynne Levens, maternal grandmother, Ema Lou Benton, maternal great grandmother, Erra Byrd.

Jill Da Sha and Jack Ray are the fraternal twins of Jerry and Nancy Lowrance. They were born August 3, 1966 with Jill being 5 minutes older. Jill weighed 6 lbs. 1 oz. and Jack weighed 5 lbs. 11½ ozs. Maternal grandmother is Ema Lou Benton and paternal grandmother is Doris Thompson.

One of Eastland's better known twins are Stacey Dee and Steven Lee Blair. They were born September 17, 1954 with both weighing 3 lbs. 8 ozs. to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blair of Eastland. Stacey is the older by 20 minutes.

Steven is married to the former Cindy Milligan and Stacey is known for his excellent trumpet playing. Their maternal grandmother is Jackie Williams and paternal grandfather is Barney Blair.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Maston of Eastland are also parents of twins. Terry Wade and Jerry Don were born Sept. 21, 1954 and are identical. Jerry was born first and 8 minutes later Terry was born. Jerry weighed 6 lbs. at birth and Terry weighed 5 lbs. 13 ozs.

Jerry now lives in Olden and is married to the former Janice Sharp. Terry lives in Mineral Wells and is married to the former Debbie Johnson from Cisco. Their maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Lindsey of Ranger.

Bobby J. and Pat Elliott of Eastland had identical twin daughters born February 3, 1959, Darla Fay and Carla Mae. Carla is two minutes older and weighed 4 lbs. Darla weighed 4 lbs. 2 ozs. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Elliott of Rising Star.

IWU Reflections in Perspective

By I. Will Ussery

Our Turkoman bhadji (housemaid) was a youngish widow with four sons when we first acquired her. The eldest son was in his early 'teens, and with two of his brothers lived with relatives in the village of Ishmael, high in the alborz mountains above the city of Qazvin. The youngest boy was maybe four years old, and lived with his mother in "The Mahdavi House." We had leased the house from Madame Mahdavi, who requested that we accept Moelli as our bhadji.

The story of the development of the sons would fill a good book. A story of boot-strap self-improvement, it was interesting to watch unfold. The names of the sons were, in inverse order of age, Amhed, Mahmoud, Hussein, and Hossein. For quite some time we rarely saw the child Hossein. He kept strictly to himself...perhaps by order of his mother. He either played in the small park outside the garden or inside Noelli's quarters. He was allowed, again by his mother's choice, only into the kitchen of our house. He and his mother took their meals in the kitchen.

While the house was "fully furnished," the kitchen was conspicuously devoid of extraneous furniture of any sort. The usual built-ins (it was one of 209 houses built by the Rockefeller Foundation), a butane range and an electric refrigerator together with a rectangular table completed the furnishings in the kitchen. There was not a single chair. And this paucity of furniture in which to rest a wee bit tore at the heartstrings of My Lovely Wife. Forthwith, she acquired two ordinary wooden "straight chairs" and presented them to Noelli. After all; she and Hossein could not be expected to take their meals standing at the kitchen table.

While Noelli was very grateful for the chairs, and put them to use immediately, they were not used to facilitate the taking of their meals. While she and Hossein luxuriated by sitting "at rest" in the chairs...they insisted on placing their food and drink on the kitchen floor where they sat crosslegged and ate from the good china.

Now I have an affinity for highly spiced foods...on occasion, the principal occasion for my dousing some of my food with hot pepper sauce of the "Tabasco" variety consists of those meals when we have rice, soup, stew, beans, dried blackeyed peas, mashed potatoes, scrambled eggs or roast beef. I rarely use it on sliced tomatoes or dessert of any sort.

Hossein, probably peeking from behind the kitchen door into the dining room had observed "Agha" sprinkling the bright red stuff on his food. And, like all small children, he had longed for the day when he'd be grown up and maybe very, very wealthy with maybe a hundred rials in his pocket and could indulge in sprinkling the forbidden sauce on his food. Not that we forbade them anything in the way of food. Noelli never used the Taasco. Entirely too hot for her taste. And she, not we laid down the rules as to what Hossein could or could not eat from our pantry. Noelli knew that Hossein would not be able to go with the hot stuff, but never gave him the benefit of sampling it.

Came finally the day when the little bottle was emptied, and was relegated to the garbage can. Hossein retrieved same, knowing that no one would object to his scrounging a little empty bottle from the garbage. And there must have been enough left for him to just taste. He'd pretend for a moment that he was "Agha."

The first we knew of his having satiated his curiosity was when we heard his almost animal-like screams coming from the courtyard between the house and the servants' quarters. Dashing to the kitchen door, expectation to find his mangled little body lying on the tile we encountered Noelli...laughing fit to be tied. And there was poor little Hossein, by that time only crying uncontrollably.

He'd sampled the Tabasco. It was so hot it brought tears to his eyes. When he rubbed his eyes...well, you know the rest. And Noelli was saying in her mixture of Turkish, Persian, Russian and a few words of English that Hossein had learned his lesson about forbidden fruits.

But from that day until we departed Teheran eleven years later, there was nothing in our pantry which was called "hot sauce." It was "Hossein Sauce." And Hossein grew to be a tall, handsome young man. Without ever again sampling the hot stuff, I'm quite certain.

Mrs. Abbott called her husband, Gene, and he rushed out to help. It wasn't a very serious problem that confronted him. The cart control lever somehow had moved to "neutral" instead of "forward" or "back."

The Abbotts, by the way, attended a meeting of the West Texas CofC Managers Association Board of Directors over in Lewisville last weekend. And they just happened to run into their daughter and family, the John Isenhowers, who live there.

Mr. WU was wearing his Texas (JREwing) hat and boots. And he bowed and smiled as the lady went in.

Isn't Mr. Arley Whitley's beard nice and aren't Arley and Debbie Whitley and their two children a handsome family? Mrs. Jack Stephenson was at church last Sunday with two handsome grandsons, Charles and Todd Stephenson, who live over Fort Worth way.

OUR SCOUTS report that Paddy Wright Wiesenfeld, daughter of the Paul Wrights, is working on a PhD degree up in the Washington, D.C., area

A VACATION trip out west to California and points in between was rather eventful recently for Doug, Jr., and Carolyn White and their two handsome boys, Gable 6 and Brodie 3. Going out, they enjoyed El Paso and Tucson and on to Nogales, Ariz., where they visited relatives and enjoyed a bit of seeing and shopping in Mexico.

At Old Tucson, they saw "Little House on the Prairie" being filmed with Michael Landon and Merlin Olsen in person.

In California, they visited more relatives and a number of family mementoes were presented to them, including a lap robe that Doug's grandfather used in his buggy when he went out with the girls on cold winter nights during the olden days.

The trip home included a stop-over in Las Vegas, Nevada, where they stayed at the Golden Nugget Hotel. One day, Doug was at the nearby Fremont casino and was watching a blackjack game. He noticed a man standing next to him, also watching. After a time, the man grabbed the game table operator's tray full of chips and ran out the door.

Soon, the man was apprehended in a blind alley. Doug identified the man. And the Fremont folks told him to bring his family and be their guests next time they were in Vegas.

The man who grabbed the chips knew which ones to grab for he was an unemployed dealer who formerly worked at another casino, the Whites learned.

Driving home, the Whites stopped at a service station and their boys began playing with two small dogs, a Cocker Spaniel and a Chihuahua. The service station man told them the dogs had been left there a few days before by a motorist, and he offered to give them to the Whites.

They brought the little dogs along and Mrs. White's mother, who lives in Abilene, took the Chihuahua, and the Rev. David Adkins of First United Methodist Church latched onto the Cocker Spaniel.

Mr. White is a construction contractor who does a lot of work for SWBell Telephone Company in this region, and Mrs. White operates Supertravel, the local travel agency.
