Mike Keating & Gretchen Cermin Named As Rotary Club Recipients

Mike Keating and Gretchen Cermin have been named recipients of the Cisco Rotary Club Citizenship Awards for 1981, according to an announcement by Eris Ritchie, chairman of the Awards Committee of the club.

The two Cisco High School graduating seniors were chosen by a select committee from the Cisco High School faculty. The award is based on meritorious conduct in some dozen traits of good citizenship as demonstrated by the two during their four years at CHS.

Mike and Gretchen will be honored at the Rotary Club's annual Citizenship Awards Luncheon on Thursday, May 21, at 12:00 noon at the Colony Restaurant. Speaker for the occasion will be Hon. Scott Bailey, County Judge of Eastland County.

Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Keating of 1302

Front Street in Cisco. He has been active in the Student Council, Distributive Education Club, National Honor Society, Band, U.I.L. Spelling, and the senior play. He was in All-District Band, All-District and All-Region Choir, and he qualified for the State Solo & Ensemble Contest in music events. He was also president of the CHS choir.

Gretchen is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ayres Cermin of 1505 Sims. She has been a class officer, Homecoming Queen nominee, and Queen Lobo nominee. She has also been active in Student Council, Future Homemakers, National Honor Society, Band, and U.I.L. spelling events. Quite talented in girls' athletics, she was All-District in basketball and qualified for the Regional meet in track. She also played on the Lobo tennis team. Additionally, she represented the school in U.I.L. typing competition and was in the senior play.

The Citizenship Awards program is an annual project of the Cisco Rotary Club which was begun in 1966. Mr. Ritchie, who was president of the club at that time, has been permanent chairman of the program since then. The annual luncheon has enjoyed an array of outstanding speakers, including Congressman Omar Burleson, Attorney General Crawford Martin, Lieutenant Governor Ben Barnes, several colleges and university presidents, and a number of other patriotic and well-known citizens of Texas who have been interested in the promotion and encouragement of good citizenship among youth. Last year's speaker was Dr. Jesse Fletcher, president of Hardin-Simmons University.

The general public is invited and encouraged to attend the luncheon, according to chairman Ritchie and Rotary President Dr. Norman Wallace of CJC. "Just come out to the Colony, go through the buffet line, and come on in to the meeting room and be with us," the Rotary officials stated.

Raymond Whitley Is Candidate For City Council

Raymond Whitley has authorized The Press to announce that he is a candidate for City Council Place 4 in the special city election May 30. He has released the following statement:

"I am a candidate for Place 4 in the upcoming city election. I have had the pleasure of serving as your council member for three years from 1978 to 1981. I would like to have the opportunity to serve you once again.

"My wife and I are members of the Interstate 20 Church of Christ. I am partners with my brother, Arlie Whitley in Cisco Paint and Body Shop.

"My reason for running for City Councilman is my concern for the welfare of the community. I believe in Cisco very strongly. And I believe that we can have a strong council that might not always agree on everything but that can make decisions and work towards goals that are in the best interest of the citizens.

"I am not being supported or backed by any one particular group. I would like to represent all citizens. I welcome anyone to speak with me on my ideas, my sincerity and my knowledge of the city government and affairs of the city.

"I encourage all voters to go to the polls May 30 and vote for the candidates of their choice."

C.H.S. Athletic Banquet Tuesday

The Cisco High School Athletic Banquet will be held Tuesday, May 12, at 7 p.m. at the White Elephant Best Western Banquet Room, catered by Oscar's Barbecue.

Tickets will be $3.50 per person and may be purchased by contacting Jim Puryear at Cisco High School.

Local Team Wins Golf Tournament

Firing a 12-under par 56 in the final two rounds, Bennie Nichols and Mike Thiberville of Cisco successfully defended their championship in the annual J.L. Stafford Classic Par-Scot-Scram golf tournament here last weekend.

The 12-under par score Sunday was believed to be a new record for two-man scramble teams at the local club. The Nichols-Thiberville three-day score was 60-67-56-183, and this was 12 strokes better than the second place team - Lee and Mike Snead of Eastland.

The Sneads had a three-day score of 196. Finishing third was the Bobby Smith and Delbert Schaefer team of Cisco with a 196. Day money - best score among the losers for the final day - went to Phil York and Mark Marten, Cisco Junior College students.

In the first flight, the team of Ralph Cain and Duff Beck of Eastland had a score of 205 to win first place. Doug Jones and Howard Tucker of Abilene came in second with a 209, and third place went to the team of George Owens and Kevin Winnett of Cisco with a 219. Day money was won by David Willoughby and Clyde Reid of Eastland.

The Anthony Strother and Gene Abbott team of Cisco posted a 228 to win the second flight. Next, Charlie Graham and Tim Jones of Cisco had a 229 for second

Tommy Brock Dies As Result Of Accident

Tommy Lee Brock, 22, of Cisco, was critically injured in a pickup-motorcycle accident Monday afternoon at the intersection of Front Street and East 8th Street. He was transferred to Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene where he died early Tuesday morning. Funeral services are pending at Kimbrough Funeral Home in Cisco.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Scheuren, 510 West 8th. He was an employee of Syntek Drilling Company of Abilene.

Field Day Events

The annual Field Day events at Cisco Intermediate School will be held from 9:00 a.m. until noon on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Third and fourth grade students will participate in various track and field events on Thursday, fifth and sixth grades on Friday.

The public is invited to the school sponsored activities. The P-T-O will sell cold drinks for 25 cents and pickles, also 25 cents during both days events.

Election Ballot Will Not Include Eudy & Pippen

The names of Wm. J. (Bill) Eudy and Harold Pippen will not be included among candidates for places of the City Council in the May 30th special election, City Attorney Wm. B. Wright, Jr., ruled Monday.

Messrs. Eudy and Pippen, who had filed as candidates for the Council, were among five council members who were recalled in the April 4th regular election and to permit their names to appear on the ballot in the new election would be contrary to provisions of the City Charter, Mr. Wright said.

The city attorney's ruling was contained in a letter addressed to the acting city secretary, and it reads as follows:

"Pursuant to the charter of the City of Cisco, Texas, and in particular Section 32, an officer removed from office by virtue of a recall election is ineligible to hold office again in the City for a period of four (4) years from date of his recall.

"Therefore, Councilmen Pippen and Eudy, having previously been recalled, are ineligible to hold office, and their names should not appear on the ballot for the election to be held May 30, 1981."

Mrs. Ginger Parker, acting city secretary, said that on the basis of the Wright letter, the ballots for the election were ordered without the names of Messrs. Eudy and Pippen.

Mr. Pippen had filed for Place 3. Two others are candidates for this place - Leonard Tipton and Loyal Lundstrom. Mr. Eudy had filed for Place 2, and two others are candidates for this place - Jay Maples and Brad Kimbrough.

Absentee voting is scheduled to begin May 11th at the city hall.

Mr. Pippen told The Press that he had talked with Mr. Eudy and they were in agreement to abide by the city attorney's ruling and to drop out without any action.

"We are for Cisco and we want our town to grow and prosper," he said. "It is our hope that our people will vote for the best interests of our community and not engage in personal politics."

Redeemer Lutheran Church To Hold Dedication Service

The Redeemer Lutheran Church of Cisco will have a dedication service for their new house of worship on Sunday, May 17, at 3 p.m. Pastor Theodore R. Griesse of St. Mark Lutheran Church in Waco will bring the message.

Members of the Adult Information Session who wish to become communicant members of the Lutheran Church will be received in the worship service on Sunday, May 31.

Members of the Junior Confirmation Class will be received as communicant members by the Rite of Confirmation on Pentecost Sunday, June 7.

CJC Women's Club To Host Style Show

Cisco Junior College Women's Club will be hosting a luncheon and style show on May 8th in the roof top garden of the Laguna Hotel. The style show will be presented by the Gazebo and the lunch catered by Madrina Glenn. The public is invited to attend.

Reservations may be made by calling Diana Fraley at 442-2567. Reservations must be made by Wednesday, May 6th and cancellations may be turned in by Thursday, May 7.

The price of the luncheon is $4.00.

Fellowship Of Christian Women To Meet May 9

The Fellowship of Christian Women of Cisco will have their regular monthly meeting with a salad luncheon this coming Saturday, May 9, at 12 noon at 309 West 6th. All local and area women are cordially invited and welcome to attend. It is a group of Christian women who get together to share and fellowship. It is non-denominational and great blessings are received by all who attend.

Carolyn Huffman who was scheduled to speak and share has had to postpone coming this month but will be here in the fall.

Mrs. William T. (Candy) Hill from Dallas will be sharing at this luncheon. Candy is married, mother of three children and lives with her husband who is a lawyer in Dallas. She is a graduate of SMU, a member of the Junior League, a Blue Bird leader and she and her family attends the Highland Park Presbyterian Church, Dallas. Candy will be speaking and sharing around the topic of "The Way To A New You."

For mothers of small children, a nursery will be provided at the Cisco Child Care Center from 11:45 a.m. till 2:00 p.m. They are urged to use this service.

For more information and to make reservations, please call Ilene Cotton at 442-2565 no later than noon Friday.

Those who make the effort and attend will be edified and receive blessings. All women are urged and welcomed.

Skate-a-thon Big Success

Skate-A-Thon T-Shirt picture-Green Shirt-Pam Agnew, Blonde female-Molly Hutchinson, Black Shirt-Glena Stennett, 5 yr. old boy-Shawn Scheller.

Skate-A-Thon Trophies - Akiko Kleiner, Tony Stephenson, Jeff Crowder, Rhonda Clark.

The skate-a-thon was a complete success, thanks to the twenty-two kids that entered.

Twenty-two kids started and twenty kids finished. They skated for 10 hours Sunday from 12:00 noon until 10:00 p.m.

There were five Super Skate T-shirts given away, 16 Sonic Hamburgers, and four Trophies; two female and two male.

The kids have between now and May 17th to collect their money, so if you sponsored a child in the skate-a-thon please be ready when they come by to collect. We had two children with over $400.00 in pledges and several kids with over $100.00 in pledges. We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the citizens and businesses that sponsored children and we would like to give our special thanks to Jane Cozart (Granny), and all the parents and grandparents that came and gave their moral support. The following is a list of all the kids that Started and Finished:

Assembly of God Revival May 10-15

After several months of extensive testing in Parkland Hospital Dallas, Texas, Charles Rutledge was diagnosed to have a disease called Myasthenia Cravis. This disease is incurable. After much suffering he lost his ability to walk and to see without double vision. Sometimes his eyes would close altogether. There was a host of other complications. Rev. Rutledge was told there was nothing more to be done for him. The disease could only be left to run its course. At best with medication and close supervision he could be made to breathe a little easier. On the night of December 1, 1976, his respiratory system collapsed. Rev. Rutledge was without breath in his body for over four minutes. An emergency team worked with him for over four hours. With the help of a respirator he finally began breathing again. Because of the respiratory arrest, Rev. Rutledge suffered a cardiac arrest. By scientific standards, Charles Rutledge was dead.

God came on the scene in that hospital room at Parkland Hospital and raised him up. He was completely healed and during the time of his healing God revealed Himself to Rev. Rutledge by visiting with and giving very clear instructions as to the Word of God he was to preach in this hour.

Evangelist Charles Rutledge is traveling across America and Canada giving his testimony. Rev. Rutledge will be giving his testimony concerning his healing and the visitation with the Lord during our crusade here in Eastland, Texas. There will be special songs presented by the church each night.

There will be good congregational singing in every service. Remember our crusade will begin May 10th and will continue through May 15th. That's the Assembly of God church. The church is located at 1608 W. Commerce. For further information call 629-8626. Rev. Paul Nicely is the pastor.

The nursery will be open each service, so come and bring the whole family and enjoy the entire crusade with us.

Prospective Textbooks On Display

Copies of every book submitted to the Texas Education Agency for possible 1981 state textbook adoption will be available to all interested citizens for review at Region 14 Education Service Center, 3001 North 3rd, Abilene beginning May 1, 1981 during regular business hours, 8:00-5:00 Monday through Friday.

The new materials are scheduled for approximately 20 high school subjects, including: Speech, Spanish, Geometry, Calculus, Geology, Economics, Homemaking and Industrial Arts. Elementary subjects include: Kindergarten (English and Spanish), Social Studies, and Art. The new books may be adopted for maximum of six years.

A series of public hearings will be held in Austin beginning August 29 in order to gather citizen viewpoints and opinion before the State Board of Education adopts textbooks at a November meeting. The new materials will be made available to Texas students Sept. 1, 1982.

Offset Peanut Planting Costs

STEPHENVILLE—Due to the increased cost of planting seed, peanut growers need to give particular attention to identifying optimum planting rates as well as evaluating skip-row planting.

"Many peanut growers are concerned about the high cost of planting seed," points out Dr. Ashley Lovell, area economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Planting seed prices at $1.25 per pound represents 20 percent of the projected total cost of production per acre, assuming a peanuts. That's double the percentage cost for seed last year."

45-pound per acre planting rate for dryland Spanish

With these high seed costs, Lovell encourages growers to take a hard look at "traditional" planting rates to determine of optimum yields could be achieved through adjusting planting rates. "For instance, if 45 pounds of seed per acre is sufficient for optimum drylands yields, then planting the traditional 60 to 70 pounds is economically indefensible," notes the economist. However, the final decision must include numerous factors, such as germination, which determine the stand of mature peanut plants.

As far as solid vs. skip-row planting (two rows in and one out) is concerned, Lovell says limited research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Stephenville shows lower yields with skip-row plantings, which also implies lower production costs. These reduced costs result from reduced planting seed rates, foliar fungicides, insecticides, allotment lease, custom drying and interest on operating capital.

"Skip-row Spanish peanuts have a projected preharvest cost of $158 per acre compared to $188 for solid plantings. This lower preharvest cost as well as a potentially higher income over variable costs from skip-row peanuts offers possibilities for Central Texas farmers, who may at least wish to evaluate the practices on a small-scale basis," believes Lovell.

Adjusting the economic optimum seeding rate per acre and evaluating the skip-row planting pattern can help growers cut costs without sacrificing profits, contends the economist.

MEMORIAL—Bob Bennie, club pro, and Laverne Stafford, are showed above with a new memorial in honor of the late J.L. Stafford at the Cisco Country Club. The memorial is a combination ball washer, waste basket and mud brush, and it is located near the No. 1 tee. The sign in the center reads: "In Memory of our Friend, J.L. Stafford."

The equipment was purchased with funds contributed by friends of Mr. Stafford who passed away recently. He was a long-time supporter of the club and community golf program, was a city champion several years and won numerous area tournaments.

Other equipment will be purchased for the golf course with memorial funds. Donations may be made to the Stafford Memorial Fund at the pro shop, the First National Bank and at Cotton's Studio.

Property Tax Re-Evaluation 'On Schedule'

Property tax re-valuation is progressing on schedule and the county tax appraisal office probably will open in the courthouse about July 1. That's the word from County Appraiser Steve Thomas reporting on progress of the MacMannus Co. which is handling the re-valuation for the county's (equalization board) sitting combined (20 taxing entities) effort to comply with new state law.

The rural Rising Star has been completed, he said, and there's still two appraisers finishing up in the City of Rising Star. The rural appraiser has already moved to the Carbon area, and it's likely that some three or four more appraisers may be sent into assist with the project. Goal is equalization of tax values for all taxing agencies.

The field work is expected to be completed by Nov. 1, he said, and the re-appraisal notices will probably be sent out next year, with a county board of review there are 20 taxing entities (city of Rising Star is not presently collecting taxes) who are cooperating in the joint effort.

Thursday,
May 7, 1981

The Eastland County Art Association will have their last meeting on Thursday, May 7 at 7:00 p.m.

Our Demo. will be Bertie Ritchie of San Marcos. Mrs. Ritchie was born on Jan. 18, 1934. She married Troy Ritchie, Sr. on December 27, 1951. They have four children; daughter, Diane, and sons, Troy, Jr., Forrest, and Joel.

She has 26 years of art experience, self-taught, except for workshops under professional artist.

She has had numerous exhibits in and around San Marcos, Austin and surrounding areas. She has held one woman shows at banks and country clubs. Her works have been shown in Cross Roads Gallery of Austin and Dry Creek Gallery of New Brunfels.

Plaza. She was one of 49 artists chosen out of nationwide entries for art annual XVI. Paintings are in Florida, Oklahoma, Germany, Belgium and throughout Texas.

She teaches workshops from studio and gallery.

She has made the statement: "I love the beauty and nostalgia and strength of Texas, and try to paint these feelings on my canvas."

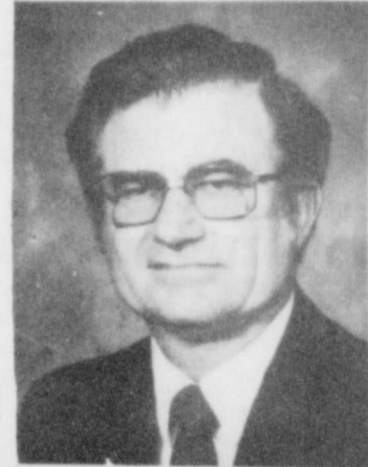

Hope all members and visitors will be able to attend.

Her recognition are painting demonstrations at bank. Painting selected by Heritage Association of San Marcos to be exhibited at historic Juan Veramendi

IWU Reflections in Perspective

By: I. Will Usary

When the Branch Manager of the bank with which we were to do our banking in Teheran asked if I were a hunter, I was delighted. No one asks that question, normally, unless he too is devoted to the sport. And Abusaidi was indeed a dedicated hunter.

Shortly after having discovered our mutual interest, Abusaidi asked if I were free to spend a couple of days "in the mountains" in quest of chukkar partridge. I would be so, and he set the date. We'd travel in his Jeep, along with two other men of the Nimrod persuasion. We would travel to the village of Bivarzan, get in some afternoon shooting, pitch a tent in a high valley and have all the following day for hunting. Sounded good.

Now Bivarzan is something else. And it has an interesting history. The village is situated high on a plateau which appears to provide a footing for a range of mountains which rise to an altitude of more than ten thousand feet. The village itself rests at about six thousand.

Located right at the very edge of an almost sheer cliff, the mosque of the village overlooks a narrow valley which could almost be described as a wide canyon. Through the floor of the valley flows a narrow stream. The view from alongside the mosque is spectacular.

One somber note arises as one enjoys the view of the high mountains towering above the valley on the other side. At the foot of a cliff which rises sheer for almost 4,000 feet lies an immense pile of rubble. That was caused by an earthquake some 400 years ago, and underneath the thousands of tons of stone rests what was once the village of Bivarzan. The few survivors of the earthquake...people who were not at home when it occurred, according to Habib, the Village Headman...began the building of New Bivarzan.

Perhaps three miles across the valley, and not a hundred feet from where they built the mosque they discovered a huge spring from which flows hundreds of gallons of water per minute. To them, it was by Divine Providence that they discovered the spring, so they began the building of Bivarzan. The mosque was the first structure to be built.

The village is similar in concept to practically all the rural villages of Iran, except that the principal building material is field stone instead of the usual sun-baked mud brick. Narrow, winding passageways which could hardly be called streets along which shallow trenches were dug to carry water from the spring. Those waterways serve a dual purpose; a source of running water and a means of garbage disposal. The total population of the village appeared to be less than 500, but each family had its own home.

Low-roofed huts, built of stone with caliche mud as mortar and mostly with a single door opening on the passageway...some with a small window...they provided shelter. And each hut shared common walls with its neighbours.

And about the spring. A ditch carries the water for a short distance from the source, which is a huge crater less than a hundred feet from the edge of the cliff; the spring is something of a geological wonder. The ditch is then branched; one tributary of which leads down toward a notch in the cliff, and then down the steep slope to irrigate tiny plots of vegetables which are cultivated in stone-terraced bits and pieces of the floor of the valley. They are accessible only on foot, down a switchback trail.

The other branch of the water outfall flows through the village. After it has passed through the village the water is directed to yet another shallow basin where crops of peas, lentils, corn, some wheat and turnips are grown. The annual rainfall in Bivarzan is less than 15 inches.

To reach Bivarzan, we travelled the well-paved road which eventually reaches Rasht, on the shore of the Caspian Sea, to the small town of Lochan, where the French had built a cement factory which used the fine limestone in the plateau to the south of Bivarzan for its raw material. From Lochan, we turned off the highway down a road which lead along the stream. After a mile or two, we crossed the stream on a very crude log bridge and reached the top of the plateau via a switchback trail negotiable only by four-wheel-drive vehicles...or donkeys.

Reaching Bivarzan, Abusaidi drove straight to the "Tea House", easily the largest structure in the settlement and situated somewhat on the perimeter. Perhaps it was by some means of mental telepathy, but the village Headman, Habib, was sitting outside the heavy oaken door of the tea house. "You are welcome to the house and home of Habib. My house is your home". Was the welcome of the grizzled ageless Habib. After a brief visit, we headed for the high valley for some shooting, but only after promising Habib that we should return to spend the night. That promise was made on the strength of Habib's warning that a storm was brewing beyond the mountains, and that it would express itself in very strong winds which would come howling through the pass a few miles to the north...shortly after nightfall. We would be unable to keep a tent up in the storm. It was perfectly calm at the time, but there were a few puffy clouds to be seen far beyond the pass. Habib knew his weather.

The teahouse was an experience in itself. It is the village center. During the harvest season, it is the trading center.

During off-season, it provides a social center for the villagers. With only the one door, and with only two small windows in the rear wall, the structure was perhaps forty feet square. The floor was swept and long-packed dirt, and around the wall was built a bench which was perhaps two feet high and maybe three feet wide. It was on that bench that travellers would spread their bedclothes, in case they were staying overnight. I felt more secure from the occasional rat, with my sleeping bag spread on the bench.

Abusaidi and his friends had come prepared to "camp out". A portable kerosene stove appeared, and in minutes tea was brewing. Following the tea, there was scrambled eggs and warm-over mutton. With bread which was produced by Habib, and fresh fruit from Abusaidi's saddlebags, we had a pleasant repast.

Much talk followed the meal, of course. It was not often that Habib had visitors from Teheran, especially visitors as important as a bank manager. And to have a "Feranghi", a real, live American visit his village was a single honour. And if the American Agha was prepared to arise at three in the morning, Habib would have one of his men guide him to a place high in the mountains and some ten or fifteen kilometers distant where at exactly sunrise no fewer than three ibex would appear. Habib was pleased to note that the Agha had brought along his rifle. Turning out at three in the morning was not especially appealing, but after all...hadn't the Agha come to hunt? I would be ready.

We'll not go into the ibex hunt. It is a story in itself. But just as the sun rose, from a precarious perch atop a sheer cliff which dropped more than 500 feet, and just as Habib had described it...three ibex appeared. I was lucky. One of them stayed at the base of the cliff. It went back to Teheran with us, strapped to the back of the jeep.

Habib was quite impressed when he saw the game, hours and hours later. The guide flowered the story of Agha's having bagged the ibex, quite somewhat. Habib asked that he be afforded the honour of examining Agha's rifle. He'd never seen such a beautiful weapon. And perhaps it would be deadly when used against the huge black wolves which came in the winter, with the snows? And even the wily and deadly leopards which sometimes came from the mountains to slaughter the sheep, even coming inside the house through the window to kill and take away a lamb.

A few months later, in the dead of winter Absuaidi called. He had a message from Habib in Bivarzan. How the message was transmitted, I shall perhaps never know. The entire northern half of Iran was blanketed with snow, up to three feet, at higher elevations. But the message was that the leopards had come and had killed some sheep. Could the American Agha perhaps come to Bivarzan and save the sheep by killing the leopards? I could think of no way of getting there other than by helicopter, a craft which I did not have at my disposal. I should have enjoyed that, though.

But one thing came through to me in Bivarzan. The village is Habib's "house". Habib acts as arbiter for whatever disputes which may arise among the villagers. He carries the keys to the teahouse. He supervises the caretaking of the mosque. He rations the water, in the event rationing becomes necessary. His word is final. With that in mind, his responsibilities are great. And with all the tiny huts with common walls in Habib's "house"...I think I understood the meaning of the scripture; "In my Father's house are many mansions"

Texas Dept. of Human Resources Needs Social Study Worker With Degree

The Texas Department of Human Resources is willing to contract with any individual with a master's degree to do disputed custody reports for the court. The work would involve:

1. Contracting one or both sides of the family for an interview with them in their own home.
2. Collecting information from the families and compiling it in the form of a social study. (An outline would be provided.)
3. Contacting references for each side of the family.
4. Typing the report and filing it with the Court within 30 days of when it was assigned.

The Department would pay approximately $150.00 for each social study completed and turned in to the Court. The Court assigns these on a random basis, but usually there are not more than one or two per month.

If you are interested please contact
Gail Jennings, Child Placement Worker
Department of Human Resources
5th Floor Exchange Bldg.
201 West Main
Eastland, Texas 76448
(817)-629-1713

If you have a bachelor's degree and would be interested in doing this part-time work please contact me. The pay would possibly differ from the above amount but would be negotiable.

Be Careful of 'Work-at-Home' Offer

COLLEGE STATION--Tempted by a "work-at-home" offer? Be careful, and proceed with caution -- or create your own "work-at-home" business, advises Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

Mrs. McCormack is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

In many "work-at-home" cases the potential "employee" or "investor" (you) is asked to send a membership or registration fee to a company for more information or to obtain the materials necessary to start the job," Mrs. McCormack notes.

Too often, these "job materials" and "investment secrets" turn out to be simply promotional literature not worth the cost.

If you want to make money at home, and if you have an idea of what you want to do, place your own advertisement in the paper, the specialist says.

Beta Upsilon Chapter Met in Cisco May 2

Twenty four members of Beta Upsilon and one visitor, Mrs. Julie Wives, met for the final regular business meeting of the current year Saturday, May 2, in The Christian Church, Cisco, Texas, at 9:30 a.m.

Hostesses Lois Whitaker, Hellen Hathaway, Olga Fay Parker, Ina Stamey, and Ethel Johnston served delicious refreshments from a beautifully decorated table in the fellowship hall.

President Anna Auvenshine conducted the business meeting, and recognized the contributions of three members who are retiring from active teaching this year: Ruby Lee Pirtle, Adeline Meredith and Dorothy Shook.

With Betty Odom at the piano Catherine Golemon led the group in singing Hymn to Founders. In Memory and the Delta Kappa Gamma Song.

Using individual sketches of the twelve founders, Adeline Meredith presented a most interesting program briefly reviewing qualities that revealed their outstanding abilities to lead, teach, organize, and inspire others. She was assisted by Ileana Beck and Catherine Golemon.

An International Society, Delta Kappa Gamma was founded in 1929 by Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, Miss Mamie Sue Bastian, Miss Ruby Cole, Miss Mabel Grizzard, Dr. Anna Hiss, Miss Ray King, Miss Sue King, Dr. Helen Koch, Mrs. Ruby Terrell Lomax, Dr. Cora M. Martin, Mrs. Lalla M. Odom, and Miss Lela Lee Williams. Members were encouraged to attend the Fifty-second Alpha State Convention in Fort Worth, June 11-14, 1981.

Local Man Chosen For Congressional Internship

WASHINGTON-- Congressman Charles W. Stenholm has announced that the selection for the Omar Burleson and Lyndon Baines Johnson Congressional Internships have been made. Four persons from the 17th Congressional District have been chosen by a committee of six persons from throughout the district, chaired by former Congressman Omar Burleson.

Selected for the positions were 20-year-old, Miss Leslie Ann Barr of Coleman, and Kenneth Hawari, 22, of Cisco. Both will serve during the month of June in the Washington office of U.S. Congressman Charles W. Stenholm. Miss Barr is a sophomore at Texas A&M University, working toward a major in Agriculture and Journalism. She is a member of the livestock judging team at Texas A&M. Miss Barr served as Director of the Coleman Junior Chamber of Commerce. She is the former Miss Rodeo Texas Teen.

Mr. Hawari will graduate in May from the University of Texas in Austin with a B.A. in Government. He holds a 3.95 grade point average at U.T., and has applied for admission to law school.

The two positions for the month of July will be filled by Tom E. Adams, 38, of Big Spring, and Joseph Curtis Henderson, 18, of Jacksboro. Mr. Adams is a 12th grade Government teacher at Big Spring High School. He graduated from Sul Ross University with a masters degree in Education. Mr. Adams' undergraduate degree is a B.A. in Social Science from Tarleton State University.

Curtis Henderson is a freshman pre-law major at Austin college in Sherman, where he maintains a grade point average of 3.8. He was

The winners were selected after meeting with the Selection Committee in Abilene.

Mr. Burleson said, "Each applicant was outstanding, and it was only unfortunate that four, and not more, could go." The winners spoke briefly with Congressman Stenholm following their selection and he congratulated them saying he "looked forward to their arrival in Washington, and would be eager to put you to work."

Death - Learning About It

COLLEGE STATION-- Many of our fears about death, natural to some extent, can be dispelled with understanding, says a family life education specialist.

Death, after all, is the final stage of growth in an individual's life," Betty Jo Smith points out.

Dr. Smith, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says death has been described in recent years as "the last great American taboo."

"That is, some people are afraid to talk about death, to think about death or even consider it as a final stage of life and living," she explains.

"Fear of death, of course, is a universal fear based on a natural desire for living.

"However, it is important for people to be able to discuss these general fears and the personal fright they feel when contemplating their own death.

"It is important that individuals, on occasion, contemplate the end of their own life," she continues.

WHY SUCH FEAR?

Much of the fear that some Americans have of death results from people being alienated from the process of dying, the specialist says.

"As medicine has improved over the decades, families have seen fewer and fewer of their family members die at home, in the presence of other family members or in a family atmosphere of peace and dignity, Dr. Smith explains.

For example, individuals with terminal diseases or severe medical or psychological problems generally have been institutionalized and hidden from society, she notes.

"In fact, our society has increasingly 'protected' its children from death, and this is a different situation than in the first 150 years of the nation's history," Dr. Smith says.

"When the United States was basically a rural society, children grew up with death - deaths of family and community members were a very real part of the agrarian lifestyle. And rural children watched farm animals and pets live and die, just as they watched the seasons bring life and death to plants and trees.

"Now the majority of our children are no longer so lucky - they see only life or unrealistic television death means nothing.

"Many of the real life experiences which can teach children about death and hence, living, are no longer available to them," Dr. Smith emphasizes.

WHY LEARN ABOUT DEATH?

When children-or grown-ups-who have not learned about death are faced with their own death or the death of someone close to them, they have little experience to rely upon.

"They become frightened, an emotion that complicates the natural sadness of the loss," the specialist says. Helping others and ourselves to grow and learn that dying and death are essential to life itself is not easy, the specialist admits.

HOW TO LEARN

In spite of the challenge, there are several things that we can do, Dr. Smith says.

Provide children and others the opportunity to know and love animals - family pets are wonderful companions and educators.

VA Helps Homebound Vet Become Self Employed

A Korean War veteran, afflicted with multiple sclerosis that has left him without the use of his legs, has become a watch repairman under the Veterans Administration's homebound instruction program.

complishment at a ceremony attended by VA employees responsible for his training program.

The presentation was made by Tom Murray, president of the Guild and Skibinsky's instructor under the VA's vocational rehabilitation program. Equipment and tools were provided by the VA.

Murray said, "Mr. Skibinsky was a fast learner and was willing to try anything new. His attitude was just fantastic."

To establish himself in business, Skibinsky knocked on doors in his high rise apartment building.

Today his neighbors and others keep him busy full time. He works on six to 10 watches a week and provides pick up and delivery service.

Veterans Administration counselors in Philadelphia cite Skibinsky's success in overcoming his handicap as one of the most rewarding training experiences in their careers.

ENERGY SAVING HOMES

Colony Square

The future is today at Colony Square, where homes are built with the future in mind. These homes are designed to save you 40% or more on electricity. Features like higher efficiency air conditioning, extra insulation, and Polycel One (the amazing new foam sealant that stops air infiltration!) make energy saving possible.

We have two, three, and four bedroom models for you to choose from, each with these energy saving features.

So, why not drive out and see the future at Colony Square (Colony Street 401 Colony Street, just off Halbryan) where the value per square foot will amaze you.

May Is 'Older Americans Month'

May is "Older Americans Month," an appropriate time to recognize the work that many older Texans are doing to fight a problem common to people of all ages—high energy costs.

"Older Texans are working in many areas of energy conservation and alternative energy," says Diane Parrish, director of Texas Green Thumb, an employment program for people 55 and over.

"Older persons take the energy crisis seriously. They have many skills and a hands-on understanding of natural elements. They are applying their knowledge and interests to help rural businesses and communities increase energy efficiency or produce alternative forms of energy," she says.

Maranatha Baptist Church Holds First Sunday Service

The first Sunday service for Maranatha Baptist Church was May 3, 1981. The church, formerly the Independent Baptist Mission, called Bro. M.H. Jones as its first pastor.

Bro. Jones and Bro. R.D. Sims, who now pastors Northside Baptist Church of Albany, Texas, started the Mission on January 11th of this year in a mobile home.

Much work was done by the many persons who joined them. A sewer system was installed; a water system laid after the meter installation; and electric lines and pole were arranged.

At first the music was by guitar, then a chord organ until a piano purchase was made. And if you think putting a large upright "into" and later "out of" a mobile home is easy the healthy movers say not. The benches were no easy job either. But after the foundation was poured and the building was moved, the movers were thankful.

With the ground level porch and steps finished the entrance was much easier. There were also a few days of "under the building" work which could wreck a back, but everyone laughed just like they loved it all.

Sunday, April 26, at 2 p.m. the mother church, Eastside Baptist of Abilene, and many area churches and pastors totaling about 75, met to organize the little Mission into a full church.

Bro. Whisenant, a home missionary himself, acted as the moderator and Bro. Mangum of Eastside Baptist, Abilene, preached the "charge" to the new church. The names of the charter members were read and minutes were recorded for future references.

A scrapbook of pictures was available for viewing of many preceding events.

The church is really a church now and it has been dedicated to God's work but working has not ceased. The building needs physical work and the pews and rooms need filled as Pastor Jones called the first meeting for business just after organizing to elect officers and teachers. There are classes for all ages and now the available room for visitors.

This is not a "circle" or "cult" but God loving and fearing people who believe and teach the good old King James Version Bible.

The Maranatha Baptist Church, located 2½ miles west of Eastland on U.S. 80, wishes to thank the many, many persons and companies who have donated time, machinery, labors, items, furnishing, prayers, money and presence into getting a building established to further carry out God's great commission of Matthew 28:18-19.

Some area churches represented in the organization were Faith Baptist, Cisco, Pastor Doyle Roberts; Northside Baptist, Albany, Pastor R.O. Sims; Eastside Baptist, Abilene, Pastor Bro. Mangum; Liberty Baptist, Abilene, Pastor Terry Jones; Zion Baptist, Putnam, Pastor Estell Brewer; Bro. Whisenant, home missionary; and Bro. John Whisenant, home missionary.

The Green Thumb program employs about 800 older workers in Texas to assist local agencies in providing community services. It also operates an Energy Employment Training Program to place older persons in energy-related jobs with private and public employers.

In central Texas, for example, an experienced pipefitter is preparing to lay a pipe system from a geothermal well in the town of Hubbard. The natural hot water will be carried first to city hall and the fire station to provide water and space heating. This will greatly reduce the need for gas and electricity. Later the system will be expanded to other buildings and to the homes of residents.

In south Texas, young residents of Crystal City were at a loss when the gas company cut off services to the entire town. With the guidance of senior residents, they turned to traditional and natural methods of producing energy. Many residents placed their water tanks over wood-burning stoves; others used buckets to burn mesquite wood down to hot coals to heat their houses. About 80 homes were equipped with solar collectors to capture and retain the sun's heat for water and space heating.

Now the young city officials are working in ways to employ their older residents to operate a solar collector factory and solar greenhouses.

In nearby Carrizo Springs, an inventor and manufacturer of an electric switch device which cuts down the amount of electricity used when turning on and off lights and which will permit dimming lights with less electrical flow, says "I want to hire older workers. You can depend on them. They appreciate work and they take a genuine interest in the needs of their community and employer."

In east Texas, a Mount Vernon greenhouse employer hired an older worker to help construct a passive solar greenhouse system. An angled fiberglass wall will attract the sun's heat to a rock bin which will absorb and then release heat to the greenhouse as temperatures lower at night. A woodburning stove will provide backup heating on unusually cold nights. The stove will be fed scraps of wood from a local mill—which is another energy conservation measure.

In north Texas, the owner of Mother Nature's Farm in Argyle is building an active solar greenhouse system with the help of a retired navy engineer. They are running water from a Page tank through a large solar collector to the base of 21 greenhouses where gravel will absorb and release the heat. The owner said, "I'll happily hire older workers to operate the greenhouses. They are dependable and they understand the basics of plant growth."

In all areas of Texas, Green Thumb crews and other older persons employed by local agencies have weatherized many houses of the low-income elderly. From January to March, 37 older workers on 19 Green Thumb crews weatherized 127 houses, using materials valued at $43,885.00. Had their local communities employed contractors for the work, the labor costs would have added approximately $115,200—which could not have been afforded by local non-profit agencies.

These are just a few examples of how older Americans are helping solve the energy problem in Texas," says Parrish. "We are also developing jobs for older workers to operate alcohol fuel plants, to assemble dual fuel carburetor kits, to disseminate literature in energy developments and to assemble wind generators.

"We are exploring all areas of energy conservation and renewable resources with older workers," added Parrish. Through the Green Thumb Energy Employment Training Program, employers are offered up to 90 percent wage reimbursement for a specified training period when they hire low-income, rural residents in the field on energy.

Green Thumb is a rural, non-profit training and placement program, sponsored by National Farmers Union and funded by the Department of Labor. It is an equal opportunity employer with a state office located in Waco.

Employers interested in the program may write the Green Thumb office, P.O. Box 7898, Waco, Texas 76798, or call (817) 776-4200. Older jobseekers are also encouraged to contact Green Thumb for assistance in job placement. Local employment agencies may also be contacted about Green Thumb.

FAREWELL TO AN OLD FRIEND

For the past 88 years the name Rockwell Brothers has been synonymous with the growth of Cisco. From the time when customers came to town in buckboards to buy lumber and supplies. Through the oil boom when drilling companies purchased lumber for derricks, through two world wars, the Great Depression, and the construction of Lake Cisco Dam, the name of Rockwell Brothers and the works of the citizens of this community. If you are a Rockwell Brother, the names of your fathers and grandfathers grew up in might not have existed. But for the past few years, times have not been good for Rockwell Brothers Lumber and now it is time to close an era in the history of this community, for Rockwell Brothers Lumber in Cisco is closing its doors forever. It is the opinion of this reporter that this is very bad for our community for without competition citizens will have no choice but to trade at one location which is good for the competition but very bad for the community. Whenever a business closes and competition ceases to exist a monopoly arises usually not to the benefit of the citizens of the community. It is sad to think that youngsters of the future will not come to the big orange building with their fathers as so many youngsters have for so many generations here in Cisco. One regular customer has told me that when he first came to Rockwell Brothers he rode in on a buckboard for lumber and kegs of nails, well kegs nails have fallen to the wayside in favor of more modern methods of packaging. So too has Rockwell Brothers Lumber Company of Cisco fallen to the wayside, kind of run up a dead end street 107 East 5th. It is sad but nevertheless it is still farewell to an old friend.
