

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

A GRAND Opening was held this week at Interiors Unlimited, one of Cisco's newest businesses. The business has been in operation for several weeks now, but just this week held its formal opening.

If you have not already gone by, be sure and do so. You will enjoy looking at the remodeling work which went into the building the business occupies.

WORK SEEMS to be progressing nicely on Cisco's new First National Bank building at 5th and Avenue D. Workmen started putting up the outside walls Monday of this week.

I am anxious to see what the actual building will look like when it is completed. The model on display at the present building looks really great.

REMEMBER Thurber...Do You?, is the question asked by the Thurber Historical Association's Bulletin which was received at this desk Tuesday.

If you have ever been on Interstate 20 going east toward Fort Worth, then you have passed Thurber, Texas. Most people in this area are familiar with the old mining town.

But, did you know, "Thurber was born in a period of turmoil in Texas, a scant fifty years after Sam Houston's forces had driven the Mexican army from Texas soil. The railroads had built their lines westward across the state and industry was replacing what had been a primarily agrarian society. Founded against the backdrop of the western frontier, Thurber brought culture and better living conditions to the west.

"A mining camp, peopled by a hardy breed whose only wish was for survival and an opportunity to make a better life for themselves and their families, a people accustomed to the hardships of the raw frontier. Here a dozen cultures merged to form the most unique society the world has ever known. There was only ONE Thurber. Right?"

The purpose of the Thurber Bulletin was to let everyone know that Thurber will be holding a reunion June 12-13, at the old Dry Goods Building.

The Thurber Historical Association was formed to perpetuate and preserve the history of the Thurber area. Plans are being made for a gala celebration of Thurber's one hundredth birthday in 1986.

One amusing note about the bulletin promoting Thurber's reunion was the statement, "Situated on Interstate 30, mid-way between Fort Worth and Abilene, Thurber is convenient to all sections of the state."

You would think a historical association would know which Interstate passes by the town they are promoting. The same Interstate which passes by Cisco goes by Thurber and I believe it is called Interstate 20, not 30.

CISCO HIGH School seniors will be graduating soon and we are planning our annual edition of The Cisco Press which features the senior's pictures and their autobiographies.

We also sell advertisements to local businesses congratulating the students on their graduation. If you are not contacted by the Press, and would like to have one of these ads in the graduation edition, please call the office at 442-2244 and we will be happy to explain to you about the ads.

Two CHS Athletes Win Places In State Meet

Two Cisco High School athletes will go to Austin this weekend to compete in the annual state track and field meet by virtue of their performances last Saturday in the finals of the regional meet at Stephenville.

Gary Speegle, senior high jumper and hurdler, won first place in the high jump with a leap of six feet and six inches at Stephenville, and he will enter that event at Austin. Jason Potter, junior sprinter, placed second in the 100 meter dash to win a berth in the state meet. Potter, who was timed at 10.8 in the preliminaries, had a time of 11.02 in the finals for the second place ribbon.

Speegle and Potter and Coach Tom Slagle will leave early Friday for Austin. The events will take place Saturday. Speegle will be making his second trip to the state meet. He placed second in the high jump there last year.

GARY SPEEGLE JASON POTTER

The Lobo sprint relay team had a "no time" at Stephenville due to a dropped baton. Speegle placed 5th in the high hurdles. Kenneth Preston threw the shot 51 feet and two inches to place third - missing a trip to Austin by two inches. He threw the discus for a 4th place. Brian Fleming came in 5th in the pole vault. Other Cisco High youths participating in the regional meet were Joe Perry, Randall Rattan, Larry Adams, Doug Hendricks and Mark Humphries.

KINGDOM KIDS I, ages 4 through second grade, are shown in the activity room of Cisco Nursing Center on Tuesday, May 4, as they bring songs in honor of Mother's Day. They took time out during their regular Tuesday meeting at the First United Methodist Church to share songs and Bible verses with residents of Cisco Nursing Center. (Staff Photos)

Retail Trade Committee Will Sponsor Sidewalk Sale

The Retail Trade Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a unique sidewalk sale May 22. Along with the merchants displaying their wares out on the sidewalk they are inviting organized clubs and groups to set up shop along side of them. They can use the space for exhibits showing the purpose of the organization and their accomplishments, or they may use the space for a "flea market" type of operation. They are encouraged to call the Chamber and request a space, 442-2537. The sale will start at 9:00 a.m. and end at 5:30 p.m.

An added attraction for the day will be a real live flea market with dealers provided free spaces. The First National Bank parking lot across the street from the City Hall is the location for the flea market.

School Board Has Monthly Meeting

Participation in the regional service center another year, purchase of a new school bus, and acceptance of three resignations were among the business items handled by the board of trustees of the Cisco Independent School District at their monthly meeting Monday night.

Supt. James Couch said the educational service center at Abilene provides a number of services, including a library of 16mm motion picture film, computer assistance and help with federal Title I forms, under the auspices of the Texas Education Agency. The center's services permits smaller schools to share resources that might not otherwise be available to them, Mr. Couch added. Cost of the service is provided by the state agency.

The resignations of Mrs. Brenda Land, Mrs. Betty Bray and Mrs. Nina Kent were submitted and accepted, Mr. Couch reported. Mrs. Land's husband, David, has been girls basketball coach at Cisco Junior College, and he has accepted a post at Texas A&I University, Kingsville, and the family will be moving there.

Both Mrs. Bray, wife of CJC faculty member Carl Bray, and Mrs. Kent, whose husband Danny is a member of the CHS coaching staff, resigned to stay at home with young children. The three vacancies will be filled before the next school year begins, Mr. Couch said.

Mrs. Josephine Cleveland, librarian at the high school, will retire at the end of this school year, Mr. Couch told the board. The board approved plans to buy a new 72-passenger school bus. School buses are purchased through the State Board of Control, Mr. Couch reported. The last new school bus cost the Cisco ISD some $20,000.

The new county tax district was discussed. Board President Emmett Rich presided and all members were present.

BENNIE NICHOLS AND MIKE THIBERVILLE Stafford Classic Champs

Cisco Team Wins Stafford Classic

Bennie Nichols and Mike Thiberville of Cisco scored a nine-under par 195 for three 18-hole rounds to win the J.L. Stafford Classic golf championship at the Cisco Country Club last weekend.

The tournament, an annual event using a par-scratch-scramble format, attracted some 25 two-man teams. Nichols and Thiberville were the defending champions.

Coming in second was the Doug Jones-Howard Tucker team from Abilene with a score of 203. Placing third was the team of Don Johnson of Athens and Ralph Glenn of Cisco. Scores for the three top teams were: Nichols-Thiberville 67-68-60-195; Jones-Tucker 60-77-66-203; and Johnson-Glenn 72-73-61-206.

Day money (lowest score Sunday exclusive of winners) went to Bobby Smith and Delbert Schaefer, Cisco, who carded a 211. They tied with Ralph Cain and Cliff Beck of Eastland and won a playoff on the 4th extra hole when Smith sank a long putt for a birdie.

Two teams—George Owens and David Callarman of Cisco and David Willoughby of Eastland and Walter Snead of Ranger—tied with scores of 221 for first place in the first flight. A playoff gave the flight title to Willoughby-Snead on the first extra hole.

Third hole in the first flight went to the Carrel Smith-Tim Jones team of Cisco with a score of 223. Day money for the flight was won by Kevin and Keith Winnett of Cisco who had a 67 for their Sunday round.

In the second flight, the team of Oliver Smith of Cross Plains and Harold Evans won top money with a score of 228. Coming in second was the team of Jimmy King and Ray Kemper, both of Clyde, who had a three day score of 233. Greg Pippen and Roger Autrey, both of Cisco, had a 240 for third money. Day money went to the team of Buddy Ramirez and Keith Carson, both of Cisco, who had a 72 for their Sunday round.

First Industrial Arts Club Installs New Officers

The First Industrial Arts Club closed the year work with a covered dish luncheon and installation of 1982-83 officers.

The club met Thursday, April 6 in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church.

The president, Mrs. Bernice Carter, presided and welcomed club members and guests. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Carter introduced Trixie Whately who installed the new officers in a very beautiful service. The new officers are as follows: Ruby Lee Pirtle, president; Elsie Jackson, first vice president; Lessie Lee Greer, recording secretary; Betty Wallace, corresponding secretary; Evelyn Fry, treasurer; and Ina Stamey, parliamentarian.

Faye Gardenhire, chairman of the nominating committee, presided and made complimentary remarks concerning the retiring president, Bernice Carter, and presented her with a lovely gift. It was given in behalf of the club in appreciation for Mrs. Carter's capable leadership, untiring efforts and unstinted giving of time and energy. The meeting adjourned at 1:35 p.m.

Several Arrests Made By Police During Weekend

The Cisco Police Department handled a business break-in investigation, arrested two persons for driving while intoxicated, arrested a man for driving with a suspended license and picked up three youths on charges of breaking into a residence during the past few days, Chief Raymond Blevins reported Tuesday.

Oscar's Barbecue, East 6th at Avenue A, was broken into Monday night. Missing were three cases of Cokes, five cooked briskets, and an undetermined amount of money from a cigarette machine. The building was entered through a window. Two DWI's, one a man and the other a woman, were picked up and placed in the county jail awaiting trial in 91st District Court, Chief Blevins said. A man was arrested May 5th while driving with a suspended license. His record included four DWI convictions, the chief said.

Two 17-year old youths and a 14-year old boy were arrested Saturday and charged with burglary and breaking into the home of Judge and Mrs. Scott Bailey, 708 East 23rd Street. Stolen property was recovered. The youths were released from jail under $5,000 bond.

Acting auditions for the Cisco Junior College Summer Dinner Theatre season will be held Saturday, May 15, at 10:00 a.m. in the Roof Garden Dinner Theatre atop the Laguna Hotel in downtown Cisco. This year's season includes Neil Simon's recent play "I Ought to be in Pictures," followed by the musical comedy hit "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," ending with a different kind of comedy in George Herman's "The Company of Wayward Saints." As in the past, a number of young professional actors will be cast in many of the leading role with apprentices and members of the community acting all the other parts. CJC theatre director Philip Craik says, "Our summer season this year should be of particular interest to students and community people looking for an opportunity to act. The musical (Forum) requires 18 cast members and our final production will be cast almost entirely with students from our apprentice program."

Ladies Golf Meet Is Scheduled Here

The annual Cisco Country Club Ladies Invitation Golf Tournament will be played Thursday at the local golf course and everything is in readiness for the event, according to Chairman Ruth Pugliese.

Plans call for the 18-hole medal play affair to begin at 9 a.m. and to end with an awards luncheon around 1 p.m. Some 30 to 40 area golfers are expected to take part in the tournament. There will be a $20 entry fee that will include the luncheon. Prizes will be cash.

Assisting Chairman Pugliese were Flo Robinson, Dorothy Farnsworth and Nadine Elliott.

Homemaking Hints

By Janet Thomas

So you're feeling down...you've been retired for six months & the honeymoon is over.

You read everything on your "list" the first month. The second month you did all the little household tasks you'd put off for years.

Then you took your trip "around the world" or "across the states" in the next three months.

Now you are at a record "low." You're feeling depressed and you're thinking about asking your doctor for "something" to give you a lift.

Stop there!

What you do now about depression can help you. You may find that those "down in the dumps" feelings can be helped by talking to a friend.

Of course, on the other hand, you may need medical advice if the depression is severe or continuing.

First, you are not alone. Depression is a universal human ailment. All cultures and races are affected by depression. And, it is not just a 19th or 20th century phenomenon. Feelings of helplessness and hopelessness have been written about since Biblical times.

Second, feelings of depression are not confined to any age. They occur throughout the lifespan. Once you have had a bout of depression, you do have a greater chance of being depressed again. On the positive side, however, when you get out of a depression one time, you will more than likely get out of it another.

Think of depression as a continuum — or long line — of feelings. On one end there is sadness and grief. These feelings are a normal part of life. They occur with such losses as retirement from a lifelong career or the death of a spouse.

On this end, depression is a way of coping with stress. In most instances, having someone to listen to your concerns is a key to sorting things out. Once individuals come to terms with their losses, they can reestablish their lives.

On the other end of the continuum, is severe depression. This type of depression is an illness. Such body functions as sleep, appetite, elimination and sexual activity may be continually disturbed over several weeks.

Medical help is necessary for this type of depression. Where does your "depression lie on the continuum? Feeling "down in the dumps" following a ma-major life change is probably a normal reaction. But, take note, when the feelings are strong and persistent. Be aware of changes in your regular body functions.

RECIPE FOR THE WEEK
Sometime ago, Hazel Collins at Eastland Drug gave me one of her good recipes. It's called "Out of This World Pie". This recipe makes two pies and the name of this pie describes it accurately... It's out of this world!!!

OUT OF THIS WORLD PIE
(Makes two pies)
1 can cherry pie filling

3/4 c. sugar
1 large can crushed pineapple & juice
1 T. cornstarch
1 t. red food coloring
1 box (3 oz.) raspberry jello
6 bananas, sliced
1 cup chopped pecans
2 baked 20 inch pie shells
Whipped topping

In a saucepan, combine cherry pie filling, sugar, pineapple & juice, cornstarch and food coloring. Cook until thick. Remove from heat and add jello. Allow to cool. Add bananas and pecans. Pour into two pie shells and top with whipped topping. Chill.

Here's a way to use a little ingenuity and save a whole lot of money SHINGLE YOUR ROOF

Mother Earth News Reprinted From Mother Earth News Magazine June '81

by D. Simmons

A number of years ago, I covered my home's entire 1,800 square foot roof with aluminum shingles — a job that would have set me back more than $2,000 if it had been done commercially.

I chose aluminum because it can last a lifetime is fire and rustproof, and will often reduce heating and cooling expenses. In addition, such shingles are lightweight...an important consideration when you have to lug hundreds of them up a ladder. What really clinched my choice, however, was the discovery that this roofing material can be easily salvaged from inexpensive, used printing plates.

SHOP AROUND

A little research convinced me that the best print-shop "leftovers" — for shingle use, at least — were 900" — for telephone calls to several local presses proved that such plates vary quite a bit in availability and in price. However, I finally located one small job printer who had thousands of the shingles-to-be that he was more than willing to unload for a bargain price.

So, I drove to his shop and carefully selected undamaged plates that had a sturdy, 1/8" double-over edge (created when the aluminum was locked in the press). In two hours I had loaded 600 of the metal sheets in my truck...and had thoroughly blackened my clothes and gloves. (Printers ink soaks everything it touches, so always don old stained garments when you work with this recycled aluminum.)

CUT 'EM UP

I soon determined that if I cut the 2' X 3' plates into fourths I could produce shingles that were attractive and strong enough to resist our Utah mountain winds. So I place a single aluminum sheet-printed side up — on my work surface...measured carefully to determine the midpoint of each side...lined a yardstick up across the marks, and scratched in a "cross hair." I then used scissors to divide the plate up into four equal sections...and these rectangles became the patterns for the rest of my plates.

I found it easy to cut the sheets with my stout scissors. In fact, I was able to quarter 10 sheets in about 25 minutes...and the job could be done much more quickly with a paper cutter. (An even faster method would be to pay the print shop to "size" the plates with a power knife...but my pressman didn't have one of the tools on hand.)

A TEMPLATE AND TOOLS

I decided to fashion each shingle into a parallelogram...for a number of reasons. The "lopped rectangles" only required one thickness of aluminum...involved few manufacturing steps...allowed me to overlap each piece of "roofing" on all four edges, produced slanted vertical "tiles" (to shed water well), were easy to mount,

MY SHINGLE MOUNTING METHOD

I'm not a professional roofer by any stretch of the imagination, so what I'll say here certainly won't be the last word on shingle mounting. However, the method that follows did work on my own house, and can probably give you some idea of how to proceed.

First, since aluminum is slippery stuff — and because I didn't want to put too much stress on my lightweight creations — I planned to work from right to left and place the shingles (one above the other) in vertical strips... while I sat safely to one side on the old asphalt roof.

Here's the procedure: I hooked each plate's 1/8" "lip" — beneath edge "A" — over the top of the shingle below it, and slipped the right side "B" of the aluminum shake into the strap-iron-formed pocket of the matching shingle in the row immediately to the right. This placed the upper right obtuse corner of the "new" tile beneath the upper left acute angle of the shingle in the preceding row. These two corners — "C" and "D" — were then secured with one nail (near enough to the upper edge to be covered by the next shingle), while a second fastener was used to hold down the "flap" at "E". In this way, all of the sides of my shingles overlapped, and two roofing nails were sufficient to secure three corners of each of my plates. Finally, any nailheads that — because of non-uniform shingles — were not covered by another aluminum plate received a waterproofing coat of black plastic sealant.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Although Mr. Simmons didn't use them, we recommend rubber-fitted roofing nails for this job.

is only the facet of the club work which is carried out. In 1981, Extension Homemaker Clubs across the state received a special award by Governor Clements for their outstanding volunteer work and efforts. Eastland County members are to be commended for their outstanding community service projects which are sponsored locally.

The most recent project has been to provide a flag pole and an American flag for the Eastland County Courthouse lawn. The county courthouse has been without a flag for years. With this being selected as their project for 1982, the club ladies went to work. A flag has been purchased. A special dedication program is planned for June 14, National Flag Day.

In recent years, county wide projects have included providing a bronze directory for the courthouse lobby in 1976. In 1977, an American and Texas flag set with stands were presented to the Eastland County Commissioner's Court for use in the courthouse. In 1981, the tree was planted and dedicated on the lawn of the new Eastland County jail facility.

Some of today's projects also include assisting in sponsoring the annual Eastland County Sr. Citizen's Bazaar, doing volunteer work in the nursing homes, supplying equipment for local child care centers, having fund raising projects for West Texas Rehab Center and other needy causes, conducting cancer and March of Dimes drives in the various communities, improving and maintaining three community centers, testing home canners for accuracy and safety, and many more worthwhile projects to benefit others in order "to make the best better."

Liability Insurance Law now enforced

By David Ingram
On Jan. 1, of this year, the Liability Insurance Law, (adopted by the state 45 days earlier), went into effect. As of March 1, (after a 90 day "Grace Period", or period of leniency), a strict enforcement of the law was begun by local law enforcement agencies.

"The first day it went into effect, and the DPS (Department of Public Safety) counted it's 'Grace Period' over, the city police in Cisco surrounded the Junior and Senior High schools, (set up check points), - they made a really concerted effort."

Sargent, Loni Knight, of Cisco, recently stated that the standard procedure adopted by the Cisco Police Department was to include the enforcement of the law as a part of the normal routine.

According to Judge I.W. Ussery, first precinct Justice's Court, subsequent to the end of the "Grace period", there have been 21 cases of failure to demonstrate proof of policy ownership.

"The majority of those cases are brought in by the Highway Patrol - off I-20 Although, some have come in from Route 6 and 80", said Mr. Ussery.

The current penalty for non-ownership in Precinct 1, Justice's Court is a fine of 75 dollars plus court fees - total of 81 dollars.

In a recent Opinion Poll conducted on the campus of Cisco Junior College, students and faculty were asked to comment on the Liability Insurance Law. Of those who participated, 75% were in favor of the law. 21% were against, 2% were indifferent and 1% believed the law was in need of revision.

"I believe it is a well thought-out law," wrote one participant. "It forces persons who wouldn't otherwise buy liability to purchase it or face a stiff penalty if caught."

"A law saturated with good intentions and fraught with danger," wrote one worried participant. "What prevents the insurance companies from tripling their rates? Certainly not supply and demand; the new law removes that."

In answer to that question, David Callerman, of Callerman Insurance, Cisco, said, "I don't think the law has anything to do with rates at all. Insurance rates are set, pretty much, by the state of Texas, supposedly based on premiums paid and amount of losses. If you look at it one way, it's possible that with more premiums being paid in and going into the calculation - rates would go down."

Why would anyone almost 60 years old want to run all the way across the U.S.A.?

by Viola Payne
When I met long-distance runner Hubert Morgan in Breckenridge on May 1st, my first reaction was amazement at his appearance which far younger than his 60 years. He had the lithe strength and deep tan of a cowhand who does all the work for some ranch owner.

You might say Morgan was a long way from home, since he was Pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Sayre, Pa. But at his speed of 45 mi. per day, it wouldn't take too long to bridge the gap! He had left Los Angeles City Hall in March, with T.V. cameras flashing. He planned on running all across the United States, back to his home Church, taking about 3 months for the 3300 mi. trip. Along the way he would fill speaking engagements and make guest appearances.

As he stepped up to the Church pulpit in Breckenridge I thought: "Sometimes Pastors are accused of being 'hard to catch', but this one must set the record."

"Why would anyone 60 yrs. old want to run all the way across the U.S.A.? How can he, when it would do me under to run four mi. per day? Doesn't he have any cholesterol in his blood stream at all? Isn't he afraid of a heart attack?"

Pastor Morgan soon began to answer my questions, in addition to giving an interesting sermon. His run had two reasons: to demonstrate physical fitness and healthful living, and to raise money to help his Sayre, Penn. Church build a new sanctuary. A number of persons, it seems, had pledged funds for each mile he ran. Others would contribute when he stopped off for speaking engagements along his route. And his route, after leaving Breckenridge, led roughly through Ft. Worth to Nashville, finally on to Washington, D.C. and then to Sayre.

This run, I soon realized, was no sudden whim of the Pastor. Hubert Morgan had been running for over 22 yrs., and ran on an average over 3,000 miles each year. He had made 90 mile trial runs to raise his endurance level for this climactic trip.

His running accomplishments over the years were amazing-record time (in 1977) on the grueling 28 mi. Pike's Peak Marathon, U.S. age record of 58.12 minutes on the 10 mile D.C. Cherry Blossom run, farther in 1 hour than anyone else in the U.S. over 50 yrs. old, competition in the Boston Marathon 12 times, and so forth.

After the sermon was over I began to ask Morgan some questions. "Pastor Morgan," I said, "I have recently discovered that even an 83 yr. old relative can wear me down with gardening! How can a person work into a good physical fitness program?"

"Very gradually and the wonderful thing about it—anyone of any can gradually raise their energy level by building up muscle tone.

"Start out by walking, and do a little more each day. Eat healthfully, with as few fats (especially animal fats) and refined sugars as possible.

The Pastor went on to explain that he had worked out the very best diet possible to give his body endurance without clogging blood vessels or adding weight. He eats no meat, but gets needed protein from whole grains, legumes, nuts, and some other foods. (I assumed these included some commercial meat-substitute products, and dairy products and eggs, but I did not learn details). He also eats a lot of fruit and vegetables, and few desserts.

"On a run like the current one," Morgan said, "I must admit that I am using more sugar than I usually do. It is hard to provide enough calories without it. Around 6,000 calories per day are needed to maintain energy at the rate I run.

"This is a trip I will never forget," the Pastor finished. "You can say that I wanted to do what I could for the people I love."

I did not see the Pastor make his run down the main street of Breckenridge, for this came after he took a little time out to rest. But I understand that the Breckenridge American covered the run. At least one local man attempted to keep with Morgan for a mile, then fell back.

I have been thinking about Morgan's trek. Few of us expect to do long-distance running, but we do want enough stamina to tackle the daily round of life. We also want to cut down on as many medical bills as we can.

So if Hubert Morgan's type of food and life-style can benefit us, time spent learning about them is well spent.

Arts & Crafts Fair Sale Set Saturday In Flatwood

Everyone is invited to attend an arts and crafts fair and sale on Sat., May 15, from 10 A.M.-2 P.M. at the Tucker Auction Barn in the Flatwood Community. From Eastland go south on Hwy. 6 approximately 6 miles to FM 2563 and follow the signs.

Anyone wishing to display their crafts or needing more information, call Jackie Tucker at 629-1966 (evening) or 629-8041 (day). This would be a good time to buy those special gifts or even shop for Christmas. Come out and have a good time.

WWI County Veterans Added To Growing Lists

Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland is a World War I veteran who should be added to the list. Joseph Perkins was born in Massachusetts and was educated at the University of Wisconsin with a major in Mining Engineering.

Perkins made early petroleum surveys in this area, locating some of the first oil wells in Eastland County.

On July 1, 1917, he married Emily Gleason of Gleasondale, Mass., and the young couple moved to Oklahoma. In late 1917 Joseph Perkins enlisted in the Naval Reserve in Oklahoma City. He received training at the Great Lakes Officer's Reserve Training School near Chicago, then was transferred to Boston.

The flu epidemic was very severe in the Boston area, so

Watermelon Is Topic

Watermelon production will be the topic of a meeting in the Gorman School Cafeteria Thursday night, May 13 at 7:30 p.m.

County Extension Agent DeMarquis Gordon said that the meeting is planned to help watermelon growers with production in 1982.

Two Extension Service specialists, Dr. Chip Lee and Dr. Jesse Coker, will discuss varieties, pollination problems, disease, insect and weed control.

Everyone interested in watermelon production is urged to attend the meeting.

Perkins and his Unit were virtually quarantined. Fortunately he did not take the disease.

Shortly afterward Armistice was declared. After the war Perkins continued with independent geological work, and also worked for the U.S. Geological Survey. He was instrumental in the location of Eastland County oil, gas fields near Amarillo, potash deposit near Carlsbad, N.M., and oil and minerals in Australia.

In 1925 the Perkins family bought their present home in Eastland.

In the search for surviving World War I veterans, the Eastland County newspapers have received work that two veterans are out of the County at this time, although still maintaining their homes here.

B.T. (Brady) Leveridge of Cisco is in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene undergoing medical treatment. He enlisted from the Scranton Community in World War I on Aug. 10, 1917. After training he was sent to France, where he served in the 2nd division. After the Armistice Leveridge was discharged, on Aug. 13, 1919. He has lived for many years in Cisco.

C.B. Pruet of Ranger is presently in a Methodist Rest Home in Georgetown, Tex. He served in the 3rd Battalion, Company C, in World War I. More details on C.B. Pruet will be forthcoming.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The current dispute between Argentina and the United Kingdom is disturbing to all of us. All peace-loving peoples abhor the use of violence to settle international disagreements, and I have fully supported the Administration's efforts to help resolve the situation through negotiations.

However, I believe we must recognize that if the dispute cannot be resolved within a reasonable time through negotiation, the United States has no moral or practical alternative but to support the United Kingdom.

Britain in this century has been our closest and most reliable ally standing with us on matters of NATO policy and sanctions against the Soviet Union for the destabilizing and aggressive acts of that country. They have provided us with a base in Diego Garcia and British naval units are permanently deployed in the Southwest Asian theater. Britain has supported us most strongly in our efforts to focus the attention of the Alliance on crises that occur outside the defined boundaries of NATO that threaten the vital interests of member nations.

Support for Britain would be consistent with long standing fundamentals of American foreign policy -- that nations should not resort to force of arms to settle disputes between them and that the principle of self-determination must be upheld. These principles are inherent in the United Nations Charter and reinforced in the 1970 Declaration of Principles of International Law approved by the United Nations General Assembly stating that: "every state has the duty to refrain from any forcible action which deprives peoples...of their right to self-determination and freedom and independence....all peoples have the right freely to determine, without external interference, their political status and to pursue their economic, social and cultural development, and every state has the duty to respect this right in accordance with the provisions of the Charter." Argentina's act of aggression cannot be justified as an act of liberating the Falklands from British colonialism. In denying self-determination to the Falklands it is Argentina who should be subject to international condemnation for military imposition of colonial rule.

The Argentine claim to the Falklands which it has asserted by force of arms does not meet certain criteria of international law that have been used to assess claims to sovereignty of disputed territories. These criteria include: acquiescence to claim; actual administration of the area; affiliation of inhabitants; and historical, social and cultural links. In this context it is clear the British have the better claim.

There is more at stake here than our standing among the Latin American republics and our long term friendship and our special relationship with the British. There is also the perception of the United States as a dependable ally. There is the credibility of our leadership in NATO and the solidarity of the Alliance itself. The consistency of our dedication to principle is at issue. It is imperative that authoritarian powers be discouraged from imposing their will on a weak and unwilling neighbor.

Our support should take the form of economic sanctions, shared intelligence, logistics support, and consideration of any requests for assistance or support the British might submit to us.

Teaching Children About Babysitters

Do your children often resist staying with a babysitter? Parents can help by understanding why and taking definite steps to make resistance "not so necessary" in the child's mind, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist.

Taylor is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Many children resist babysitting because they resent the child-like treatment they're pretty sure they'll get -- today's more sophisticated children want to participate in adult affairs, Taylor says.

Of course, some children -- as thought for many years -- are afraid of their parents won't return home, but that's not usually the case any more, she says.

In helping children deal with these feelings, parents can take two definite steps: show children understanding and remind them that "rules of the house" still hold, Taylor says.

Give the child some responsibilities that focus on being a good host, which, in a way, he really is to his babysitter -- let him prepare a snack for everyone, help a brother or sister get ready for bed, or read a story to the others and the babysitter, the specialist suggests.

Also, issue a written list of household rules -- the do's and don'ts, so both sitter and children will know them, she adds.

Stay in touch with your babysitting arrangements as the years go by, too, Taylor advises. Some sitters respond differently to babies than to inquisitive five-year-olds, so you may want to change babysitters as children grow older.

Also, remember that different situations require different handling, she says.

For example, overnight care sometimes calls for a different babysitter. Some babysitters are more afraid of this kind of arrangement than the children they're caring for, so find a babysitter who feels comfortable with the job.

Learn to recognize babysitting problems or concerns. Children who are newly resistant to babysitting are signaling you about concerns or problems, Taylor notes.

When children -- some as young as five or six -- resent being left with a sitter, the problem is probably their desire to "be grown up."

One "sure-fire" way to meet this desire is the ability to control one's sitter.

Here are some behaviors that signal the problem of children trying to control a sitter:

- they may want to play parent or employee, telling the sitter what to do and what not to do

- they may want to do things expressly forbidden by their parents

- they may want to be pals or peers with the sitter, especially if the sitter is a pre-teen.

To achieve these "wants" a child might try acting extremely helpful, cooperative and affectionate, the specialist says. Parents must then decide what behavior they will or will not allow.

Finally, remember that care for children is a responsibility that requires special attention from parents and sitters alike, Taylor says.

Producers And Royalty Owners To Meet

The Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association will hold their 36th Annual Meeting on June 6-8 at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel, Houston, Texas.

Senator Bob Dole (R. Kansas) is expected to open the convention on Sunday afternoon with the congressional and Administration's viewpoint about the economy. The policymaking committees of the Association will also meet on Sunday afternoon to formulate and recommend directives for the Association.

There will be cokes, cookies, cake, sandwiches and lots of laughs!

Other program speakers and experts will be addressing the natural gas decontrol issue, declining oil prices, and the many pending laws, rules, and regulations affecting the oil and gas industry.

A Program highlight will be a "Hats Off Award" honoring U.S. Congressman Kent Hance, Lubbock, for his efforts in forming a coalition in the House which resulted in obtaining an exemption from the Windfall Profit Tax for royalty owners.

"The oil and gas industry is confronting a new onslaught of difficult problems this year," states L. Frank Pitts, Dallas, President of the Association. "There is also a fresh wave of optimism that the problems can be solved."

Policy decisions traditionally come from the TIPRO meetings, so this one is expected to be very important.

Farmers provided information by A&M University on buying or leasing peanut poundage quotas

COLLEGE STATION--Peanut growers have a four-year program to operate under, but there are still a lot of questions about buying or leasing peanut poundage quotas.

Dr. Ashley Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, provides this information regarding poundage quotas:

Current law requires that individual farm quotas be reduced based on the farm's production characteristics during the 1979-81 crop base period.

1982 USDA regulations divide peanut farms into three priority categories to reduce the national poundage quota from 1.44 million tons in 1981 to 1.2 million in 1982: category 1 - farms with inadequate tillable cropland to produce poundage quotas; category 2 - farms on which quotas were not fully produced in at least two of the last three years; and category 3 - quotas on all other farms.

To comply with final regulations, category 3 farms in Texas must factor their 1981 poundage quotas by 0.882621, which is less than the 16.7 percent reduction in the national poundage quota. The balance of the poundage quota reduction in Texas resulted from eliminating quotas held by category 1 and 2 farms, notes Lovell.

The national poundage quota in 1983, '84 and '85 will be reduced 2.7 percent, 2.8 percent, and 3.1 percent, respectively.

Regarding the impact of the poundage quota reduction and its effect on buying or leasing quotas, Lovell offers these comments.

From 1978 through 1981, peanut producers have experienced annual reductions in peanut acreage allotments. From 1982 through 1985, the national poundage quota is to decrease by 8.33 percent. Due to the relatively small size of the typical peanut enterprise and other considerations, the impact is negative from the individual producer's vantage point, says the economist.

Since category 1 and 2 poundage quotas were eliminated this year and in view of the new farm bill, farms that previously leased out poundage quotas produced off the farms are likely to take the first reduction of quotas in 1983. Assuming a 10 to 12 percent reduction per year through 1985, these quota holders would incur a poundage quota reduction totaling 29 to 32 percent or more through 1985. If poundage reduction is achieved in this manner, operators producing their own poundage quota may expect only a slight or no cut in their quotas, Lovell says.

Another alternative for 1983 being followed this year is an across-the-board cut for category 3 and category 4, where category 4 includes operators producing their own poundage quotas. As should be apparent, it is a guess at this point as to who will take quota reductions in 1983 and the magnitude of these cuts.

If one needs to maintain or increase the size of his peanut enterprise, then buying quotas in 1982 appears to present the safer alternative for achieving this objective, notes Lovell.

including the final ASCS regulations for implementing the peanut section of the farm bill. The key toward understanding this uncertainty is realizing that poundage quotas purchased in 1982 do not take on the same ASCS characteristics as quota one already possesses, explains Lovell.

Instead, quotas bought this year carry with them history for the base period 1979-81. Quotas with "good history" should be more valuable than quotas with "bad history." Good history might mean that the poundage quotas were "fully produced" in 1979-81 or 1980-81 while bad history could be quota which was not "fully produced" in 1980 or 1979-80. In this example, poundage quota with bad history would have to be fully produced on the farm in 1982 or the operator could face a significant reduction in the 1983 poundage quota, notes the economist.

He advises parties considering the lease or sale of poundage quotas to carefully check out the situation through the ASCS office in the county where the peanuts are located.

The tough question is "How much can one afford to pay for buying peanut poundage quotas?"

Estimating a quota buying price is subject to error due to the lack of knowledge about most factors involved.

Seeds From The Sower

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

At the entrance of a drive, leading to a church, someone posted this sign, "Enter at your own risk." The sign was placed there for a different purpose, but it proclaims the fact that discipleship could be dangerous.

Think on the apostles: Matthew was slain with a sword. Mark was dragged to death. Luke was hanged on an olive tree. John was boiled in oil. Peter was crucified on a cross.

Christianity is not for mouse-like men or weak women. It is for brave believers who would rather give up their lives than their Lord.

Dudley A Lyng was such a person. While he was conducting a crusade in the city of Philadelphia, he sustained an injury from which he never recovered. As he neared death, a friend asked, "Is there some message you would like to send to your fellow workers?"

"Yes," he answered. "Let's all stand up for Jesus." His challenging and courageous words were the inspiration for the stirring song, "Stand up, stand up for Jesus."

Dare you stand up for Jesus? If you do, you "enter at your own risk."

WORD OF GOD

Jesus said:

Likewise, I say unto you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth.

To The Voters In The Eastland County Area

Martha and I would like to thank you for the support and confidence placed in me by virtue of your vote in the Democratic primary race for State Representative from this District.

We are now looking forward to the November general election and would sincerely hope for your vote and support in that race. If elected I will do my very best to merit the confidence you have placed in me.

In an attempt to better prepare myself and to be more familiar with your feelings on what I perceive to be the issues I expect to face in the next regular session of the Texas Legislature, I will, for the next several weeks, be using this paper to place these issues before you and to elicit your response thereto. Please watch for these requests and respond to them so that I may know your feelings and reflect them to the extent possible.

Sincerely,
Jim Parker
Democratic Candidate
65th Legislative District

Again, Thank each and every one of you.

Pest Alert

Gordon Woolum

There is nothing more discouraging to the houseplant lover than to find plants suffering the effects of insect attack: leaves with holes, ragged edges, brown spots, and stems that are stunted and dying.

If you have houseplants, you're likely to have insect problems at one time or another. The following precautions and remedies for houseplant insect attack are suggested.

It is relatively common for new plants to already be infested when they are brought home from the store. Also, tiny insects can come in every time you open the door or raise the window. And if houseplants are taken outdoors during the summer months, they will be susceptible to the same insects as the plants and flowers growing in your garden.

To prevent trouble, examine new plants to be sure they are free of pests. It's also a good idea to isolate new plants and watch for infestations. Insects spread quickly and easily to adjacent plants if left unchecked. Fortunately, the most common houseplant pests are few and easily controlled with the proper spray material and application equipment.

What follows are the more common pests you are likely to find on your houseplants.

APHIDS--These plant lice are soft-bodied, round or pear-shaped, and come in many colors. Typically, aphids cluster on the undersides of leaves or on young, tender leaves and stems. Aphids feed by sucking plant juices; this feeding causes poor growth, stunted plants and distorted leaves.

CYCLAMEN MITES--Adult mites are too small to be seen with the naked eye. Mites are found mostly in protected places on young tender leaves, young stem ends, buds and flowers. They crawl from plant to plant where leaves touch. Infested leaves are twisted, curled and brittle.

MEALY BUGS--Slow-moving pests covered with a mealy wax, these insects look like dabs of cotton not more than 1/4 inch long. Like aphids, they suck the juices from plants. Infested plants are stunted and eventually die. Found on stems where stems and leaves join, and on leaves--especially along veins.

MILLIPEDES--Millipedes are found in the soil or any place near plants where there is plenty of organic material to feed on-- including seeds, roots and stems.

SCALES--These insects resemble brown barnacles that attach themselves to the underside of leaves, main stalks and shoots. Scale insects obtain food by sucking plant juices; this causes poor growth and stunted plants.

SPIDER MITES (Red Spiders)--Barely visible to the naked eye, these eight-legged pests are maned because they spin tiny webs in the various fleshy parts of the plants. They are found first on the undersides of leaves and when numerous spread to other plant parts. These sucking pests are particularly troublesome during warm, dry weather. Infested foliage appears rusty or bronzed. As feeding progresses leaves may drop from plants.

WHITE FLIES--These small, wedge-shaped, white insects fly away when disturbed. They resemble small snowflakes or bits of paper ash. White flies are found on the underside of leaves. They damage plants by sucking the sap. Infested leaves become pale and mottled and may eventually turn yellow and die.

Pesticides, such as pyrethrum and malathion, will work wonders in eliminating houseplant pests without damaging plants. But if you are in doubt about which spray to use, consult your county extension service. Once the proper spray material has been determined, select the right sprayer for proper application. For more information contact your County Extension Office. And remember always read and follow label instructions.

CALADIUMS

The Caladium is a tuber, not a bulb, and is native to the banks of the Amazon River in South America. Therefore, it comes to us from the tropic region. There are only 50 cultivars of Caladiums. They are very tolerant to varying light conditions from full sun to deep shade. Since they come from the tropic region, they are subject to cold damage very easily. The tuber is stored at a temperature of 55 degrees while it is in the dormant state. The minimum low temperature is 50 degrees. When the day temperature reaches 70 degrees and the night temperature stays above 55 degrees, you may plant the Caladium tuber.

The roots grow from the top of the tuber; therefore, plant the tuber upside down and cover with one inch of soil. Plant the tuber in moist compost or vermiculite about 10 to 12 inches apart. You may add well rotted cow manure and sand to your planting medium. The Caladium should be fed every two weeks with a well balanced fertilizer such as a 20-20-20 or a 6-10-5. Remember to water regularly when the soil becomes dry around the Caladium. The Caladium may be started in pots inside and transplanted outside as the temperatures rises to a safe level. When starting the Caladium in pots, a four-inch pot shall be used along with the planting medium described above.

The plants grow about a foot to 18 inches tall. The leaves resemble wet tissues paper texture. All wilted leaves should be removed. The flowers should be removed as they appear since the Caladium is grown for its foliage. The flowers are a pale pink and are usually hidden by the foliage.

When frost threatens in the fall, dig up the tubers with the soils and roots as well as the foliage attached. Then let them dry in an airy place out of the direct sun for about a week or 10 days or until the foliage can be removed by an easy pull. Then shake the dirt off the roots and dust with a fungicide and store in dry peat moss at a temperature of 55 degrees or above. You may propagate the Caladium now by cutting the tuber and leaving one eye to each piece.

We have been discussing the standard Caladium. The Dwarf Caladium which reaches only 10 inches tall can be handled in the same manner.

Caladiums do excellent in window boxes, planters, beds and pots for indoors. The best effect is moss planting in the bed and planters. The various park departments have used Caladiums well in shade areas to give the needed color to their landscapes.

There seems to be almost endless combinations of red, pink, silver, white and green Caladiums. Some of the more popular ones in this area are Candidum Silver, White Christmas White, Freida Hemple, Red-green, Red Flash-red, June Bride, Silver Pink Beauty and Hortulania-pink. The Candidum which is a silver leaf with the green veins showing is the most popular in this area.

Church of God plans revival

Texans become 'do-it-yourselfers' and reap savings

IT'S A FACT...Some 5,000 Texans have attacked high home repair and maintenance costs by attending workshops and enrolling in a television short-course conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. These "do-it-yourselfers" reported saving more than $165,000 in just one year by doing many of their household repair and maintenance jobs with skills and information learned through Extension training programs. This is another example of "The Extension Way--People Helping People."

Calves should be vaccinated against brucellosis

Cattle producers with heifer calves between the ages of 4 and 12 months should make plans now to get them vaccinated for brucellosis, Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, suggests.

An area program to increase vaccination for brucellosis is continuing, he said. "We are seeing an increase in the numbers of calves being vaccinated, but we need to do more," he said. In 1981, statewide, about a third of the eligible calf crop in Texas was vaccinated for brucellosis. A 70 percent level of vaccination of eligible calves is needed to significantly reduce the disease. The reduced dosage of Strain 19 vaccine is recommended. It is virtually as effective as the old strength, and is eliminating problems caused with the stronger dose. Vaccination ages for heifers for official vaccination are 4 to 12 months of age.

Financial assistance is available. You can contact this area Texas Animal Health Commission office for details.

Vaccination is a major part of the Texas brucellosis program. Advantages for vaccinated cattle compared to non-vaccinates include the following:

1. Vaccinated cattle can move more freely in accordance with brucellosis regulations;
2. Vaccinated cattle have more value;
3. Vaccination will build up immunity against brucellosis.

"Vaccination alone is not the single answer to our brucellosis situation, but it is the single most important thing producers in this area can do in their efforts to control brucellosis," Dr. Holcombe said.

Some producers may be considering adult vaccinations. "We suggest you consider your own herd situation, and consult with your own veterinarian or with this office," he suggested.

EASTLAND

County Property Owners Will Receive New Tax Valuations

The Eastland County Tax Appraisal Office reports that it will be about June 1 before the new tax valuations will be mailed to County property owners.

Prior to those mailings, the County Appraisal Review Board has issued the following statement:

Ad Valorem (Latin for "according to value"), or property taxation as we know it, began over 100 years ago.

Property taxes are the primary source of revenue for local governments such as counties, cities, school districts, and special districts (hospital, junior college, water, utility districts, etc.). They are used by the respective governing bodies to provide services of benefit to the community. Public education, fire and police protection, street construction and repair, utilities and health care are among the many projects supported by local property taxes.

The state of Texas has legislated some major changes in the ad valorem tax system.

In order to understand what has happened you first need to know that there are four basic stages in the tax process:

1) All property is supposed to be appraised at some value.

2) All appraisals are supposed to be equalized.

3) All taxing entities (i.e., school districts, cities, counties, hospital and college districts, etc.) set their own TAX RATES. That is, they tax your property at a rate determined by each of them that will generate enough revenue for that particular body to operate and function in the public interest.

4) Finally, all taxing entities set into motion some method of Collecting taxes. This letter will deal primarily with stages 1) and 2).

In the past all individuals were expected to go to the local taxing offices and place a value on their own property. An Equalization Board would meet once a year to determine if all values were proper. Because all taxing bodies levied their needs and collections differently, we have ended up with all kinds of values being placed on our properties.

Example: Mr. Smith's house may be on the school tax roll at $3,000, the county tax roll at $2,000, the city tax roll at $1,000, and the water tax roll at $500. All of these values would be on the same house.

In addition, two houses (or two pieces of property) of equal value may be on the tax rolls at entirely different values.

To further complicate things, different types of properties have been taxed at different percentages of their value.

Oil and gas may have been taxed at 60% of assessed value and homes at 40% of assessed value.

As you can see things began to get completely out of hand. Therefore the state legislators determined that three major things would happen. First, all property in the state of Texas would be reevaluated at some "Fair Market" value. Secondly, all taxing entities will tax on 100% of valuation. Thirdly, all appraisal records will be updated at least every four years.

To get all property values reappraised an Appraisal Board was formed in each county. Their job was to get all property reappraised and set up an appraisal office.

After all property has been reappraised then the new values are to go to an Appraisal Review Board.

This board in Eastland County consists of three men: John Nevill of Eastland, Bob Shults of Rising Star, and Truman Fambrough of Ranger.

Their job will be to insure that all values that have been placed on Eastland County properties are fair and equal. All taxpayers who feel that the values set upon their property is unfair or unjust have a right to appeal to this board.

It is important, in fact it is imperative, that you realize that this board has nothing, nothing at all, to do with the amount of taxes you will be paying. The job of the Appraisal Review Board is to insure that fair values have been placed upon all properties. THIS IS THEIR ONLY PURPOSE.

Certainly the values placed upon your property will determine the amount of taxes you must pay; but not until a tax rate has been set by the various taxing bodies.

For example: if your house is valued at $100,000 and you are taxed at a rate of 10 cents/$100 value then your taxes would still be $100. So the tax rate which is set by your local taxing entities will determine how much your actual bill will be.

Again I wish to emphasize that the Appraisal Review Board's job is to set values only.

Thanking you advance for your support and cooperation.

John Nevill, Chairman, ARB.

"ROUND AND ROUND SHE GOES..."

The question is: where will it stop? Many people have no idea. Life can be lived in a flurry of activity — flitting from person, to thing, to dream, and back again. Or it can just settle into a monotonous routine. Either way, meaninglessness has taken hold.

Lack of meaning in life has been called "furious activity around an empty center." That's what a whirlpool is. Activities, meetings, schedules, parties, appointments — but no direction. The swirling pace can get to you — especially if there's a hollowness inside.

Jesus talked a lot about meaning in life. But he not only talked about it. He gives it! He came to take us out of the whirlpool and set us on course in the Life Stream.

THEY'VE APPARENTLY struck oil out back of the Wesley Smith home on the Lake Road. Hanby Drilling Co. drilled to about 4,130 feet and set pipe last week. Completion work began Monday in the Lake Sand around 3,600 feet, we were told.

The well is an offset to a Lake Sand producer drilled by the same company recently on the nearby Boggs place. Understand the Boggs well is a good one. Hanby begin rigging up Monday to drill just back of the CJC Ag Building on City of Cisco land. You'll want to notice the Hanby rig, in case you haven't. It is a hand-some affair and they fly both

Texas and USA flags atop the drilling derrick.

THE ANNUAL J.L. Stafford Classic was a very nice golf tournament, reports Chairman Ralph Glenn. It attracted a good many of our region's top players. Assisting Mr. Glenn with details were Vandell Weathers and Letha Schaal. The Saturday noon hamburger luncheon for all tournament players was a nice affair. The burgers were cooked by Mrs. Glenn and the menu included some of her nice cookies and candies for dessert. Mrs. RG was assisted by Mrs. Gene Abbott and daughter Cathy Strother. The Glenns, by the way, expect to fly out soon for a vacation with their daughters Doris Lee and Marcia in Switzerland and Germany, respectively. It was good to see O.L. (Robbie) Robinson out to watch the golf. He is recovering from a serious illness.

THE AREA'S Lady golfers will be here Thursday for the CCC's annual tournament for them. You might want to drop out Thursday morning and see some of the action. The Shady Oaks Country Club (Baird-Clyde) will hold their annual couple's tournament next weekend, and a number of local golfers usually take part. Lady Golfers Laverne Stafford and Dorothy Farnsworth went down to Winters the other day for a tournament. Mrs. Stafford placed third.

M.R. GREG GRAHAM had grey hair when he went home to Abilene last Sunday after a weekend visit here with his parents, the Jim Grahams. He helped with a spray painting operation at the family's old home place out east of town. And the high wind blew some of the paint Greg's way. His face and hair were pretty well painted by the time they finished. Luckily, they used a water base paint and he was able to wash it off. The Randy Grahams of Weatherford were also in town for the weekend.

TRAVIS AND Nancy Chapman, who live out northwest of town on their stock farm, are pretty self-conscious when they see a stormy looking cloud these days. The thunderstorm that produced twisters south of town recently also yielded a twister at the Chapman place.

Nancy said the storm hit around 11 p.m. with a lot of noise and wind. They lost a barn and another out-building. It was pretty scary, she added.

TOOK IN A couple of ball games last weekend. Went out to the Little League park to see the minis play. They're five to seven year old boys - something new this year. The Rangers, coached by Lynn Wages and Barbara Nixon, edged out the Astros of Coaches Beverly Rains and Jeanne Rains by a score of 15 to 4. The other game was between two junior girls softball teams at Whitley Field. The Pink Panthers out-duelled the Go-Getters by a score of 18 to 17. The Little League is having some fine games. And so are the senior boys teams at the City Park Field.

WHAT WAS Bruce Stovall, local oil service man, doing on a bulldozer at the First Baptist Church last Saturday? He was levelling the ground where the old service station used to be at 8th and Avenue E. They're adding to the church's recreational facilities, reports Pastor Buddy Siope. The project is a volleyball court. George and Pat Owens have been invited to play in a couples golf tournament at Houston this coming weekend. Their hosts will be the Benji Lipseys. Benji grew up here, and was a CHS football star. He lives in Houston with his wife and three daughters and works for an oil company.

THE MORRIS Whites, who live up in the Colorado country, visited home folks recently. The N.T. Emanuels of 809 West 9th Street have one of the best looking vegetable gardens we've seen in these parts. The Charlie Grahams went over Big D way to spend Mother's Day weekend at daughter Judy's house. Mr. Jerry Jeffcoat, Lone Star Gas' Pueblo plant supervisor, has re-styled his mustache and it's very handsome, indeed. Mr. Loyal Lundstrom, local business man and city councilman, recently spent a week at Lubbock attending a Church of the Nazarene conference.

NOTE TO THE thief who took three sacks of material from our carport recently. The sacks contained composted barnyard manure. Hope you enjoy same. Mr. C.H. (Cats) Ingram, lake patrolman, reports that fishing hasn't been too bad at Lake Cisco lately. He saw a four-pound bass and several good strings of crappie last weekend.
