

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

SENIOR STUDENTS are asked to be sure and read the article in this edition about the yearbook picture which will be made August 22. CHS teacher, Gene Kinser, stated the location has been changed from the info given to the students when they registered this week.

Be sure and read the article so you will know where to go for the picture.

THERE IS one very happy lady in this town, since the local police department was instrumental in finding her new automobile which was stolen in June. That lady is Janet Campbell.

She stated she wants to thank the Cisco Police Department, Chief of Police Raymond Blevins, and Sergeant Lonnie Knight. She also gives a special thanks to Officer Jackie Hobbs and his wife for their kindness. She said, "Cisco is very lucky to have police like Jackie Hobbs."

Her car, a 1982 Pontiac Trans Am, was recovered in Greenwood, Mississippi.

A REQUEST has been made for persons to try and watch their choice of words while visiting at Lake Cisco, since there are families which live along the shores of the lake and others who are also there for the recreational use of the lake.

A lady called to say that sometimes people forget and use too much profanity while skiing, swimming or boating at the lake and the sound travels farther than they might think.

She said she believes it is more a case of the persons not realizing that they can offend others with their language, rather than trying to do it intentionally.

HAVE YOU noticed the new signal lights at the corner of Conrad Hilton Avenue and 8th Street? Highway department crews were busy several days this week taking down the old lights and poles and replacing them with the new ones.

One advantage of the newer ones is they are higher than the old ones, so maybe they will not be hit by trucks carrying large loads.

I have heard comments from some people who are not too crazy about the yellow paint though.

Location Is Changed For Senior Picture

There has been a change in the location for making the senior colored picture for the 1982-83 yearbook.

The picture will be made at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Anderson, 1011 W. 14th, Cisco.

As planned, the picture will be made August 22, at 4:00 p.m. in the afternoon. All 1982-83 seniors of Cisco High School are asked to be there along with the senior class sponsors. Please do not wear shorts.

If further information is needed, call Greg Sipe, 442-3676; Tricia Zellman, 442-2025; or Mr. Kinser, 442-1624.

Kiwanis Ask For Donation To Rummage Sale

The Cisco Kiwanis Club will be conducting a rummage sale on October 16, 1982. Mr. Stanley Pirtle, president of the club, stated the Kiwanis would appreciate any items that anyone would like to donate to the club for this sale.

If anyone has something they would like to donate to the Kiwanis, just drop it off at Cisco Lumber and Supply (Mr. Joe Wheatley), or the Kiwanis would be happy to come pick up anything being donated. Donations may be called to Stanley Pirtle at 442-2614.

HIGH SCHOOL, Junior High and Primary School students registered this week for the coming school year and Intermediate School students are scheduled to register next Friday, August 20.

PARENTS HAVE one more week before they can go on their vacation from having their children home all summer.

Some children may be looking forward to getting back to school, to get away from all the chores their parents have given them this summer to keep them busy and out of the way.

Council Votes To Remove Parking Meters; Sets Tax

Cisco's city council voted to remove parking meters and impose a two-hour parking limit in downtown Cisco at Tuesday night's regular meeting. They also approved the first reading of an ordinance which levies the city taxes for 1982-83 fiscal year at $47 on each and every $100.00 valuation of 100% of the assessed market value of such property.

With a full council present, the minutes from three previous meetings (one regular, one special called and one emergency called) in July were approved as presented in a motion by council member Loyal Lundstrom. The motion was seconded by council member Bobby Ingram and all voted in its favor.

City Manager Michael Moore presented a financial report for the month of June to the council and stated that with the completion of June, 75% of the fiscal year was over.

In the general fund, 95% of the budgeted estimate of $660,830.00 had been collected by June 30, 1982. The amount collected totaled, $624,603.15.

In expenditures, the general fund has expended 75% of the budget appropriations of $663,830.00. The total expended by June 30 in the general fund was $494,642.71.

Council member Ingram made a motion to accept the financial report and council member Ivan Webb seconded the motion. All voted in its favor.

City manager Moore also gave a report to the council in which he said the sewer project on the west side of town is on its way with the contracts having been signed. He said it is hoped it will be under operation before the first of the year. The city is in the process of finalizing the plans and specifications for the program at this time.

He discussed the possibilities of having the city's water sedimentation and overhead tanks cleaned. He stated the city staff is looking at all improvements which may be to the betterment of the citizens of Cisco.

Mayor Eris Ritchie opened two sealed bids for an oil and gas lease from the city at the meeting. The first bid was from Stanson Oil Co. for $30 per acre and the second bid from Matney Oil and Gas was for $55.55 per acre. Council member Brad Kimbrough made a motion to accept the higher bid of Matney Oil and Gas and give him a two-year lease as he requested. Council member Lundstrom seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

The results of a survey made of local businesses concerning parking meters were made available to the council by city manager Moore at the meeting.

Mr. Moore stated that 69 businesses were contacted by the survey and only 22 responded. From those responding, 16 said the parking meters should be removed, while five voted no; 11 said they would prefer and support a two-hour parking limit in the downtown area, while six said they would not.

Mayor Ritchie emphasized his main concern with removing the parking meters would be someone parking along Conrad Hilton Avenue in front of businesses and leaving their automobile all day. He said he would like to see such a situation avoid-

Judge Rules Against Admission Of LeFlore Statement Friday

Permission to admit as evidence Charles LeFlore's statement in his upcoming capital murder trial in 91st District Court was denied by Presiding Judge Jim Wright in a special hearing Thursday afternoon.

The statement had been denied by Judge Wright as evidence in an earlier pre-trial hearing when LeFlore was under indictment for murder, but he was later re-indicted by a 91st District Court Grand Jury on capital murder and the prosecution asked for a re-consideration based on their report of "new evidence."

Judge Wright heard the latest motions Friday, Aug. 6, and took under advisement as to whether the material was in fact, by law, new evidence. At the hearing Thursday, Aug. 12, he gave a decision on the new evidence, and listened to testimony to that end before ruling on whether to admit the statement or not.

Acting on another motion on Aug. 6, Judge Wright granted permission for prospective jurors to be examined individually. (He had earlier denied that request at the first pre-trial hearing.)

He also denied a request that the jury be sequestered (be housed apart during the trial.)

Trial for LeFlore is scheduled for Aug. 16. He now stands charged with the capital murder in the shooting death of Debra Garcia in Cisco last December. The trial was originally scheduled to have begun July 19, but was reset following the new indictment.

In the original pre-trial hearing Judge Wright ruled that the confession dictated and signed by LeFlore could not be used by the state in the trial.

The defense had asked that the confession not be admitted and based on the direction of testimony brought out by the defense, the court records show that the 20-year-old LeFlore may or may not have fully understood what the statement could or could not do for him.

Judge Wright placed a "gag" rule in effect to restrict publicity. He ordered that no photographs could be made of the defendant in the courtroom area and directed officers of the court to make no comment regarding the case. The "no photograph" order also applied to witnesses.

Mrs. Garcia, 29, disappeared from her job at Quickway Grocery in Cisco during the night of Nov. 29, 1981. Her body was found two days later in a roadside ditch on the old Abilene highway, three miles west of Cisco. She had been dead only a short time, it was believed.

The young mother's body was fully and neatly clothed. A bullet hole was found in her skull. The body was taken to Dallas for an autopsy and results were never released.

Cisco A's Win Three Of Four Games In Tourney

The past two Sundays the A's have been getting ready for the tournament in Abilene by playing the Abilene Jets four games.

The first game was the only one the A's lost, by the score of 7-3. Losing pitchers were Tibbels and Kent.

The second game the A's won by the score of 7-0. Ronnie Eudy pitched a three hitter for the shut out.

Cisco won the next game 17-7. Craig Kent was the winning pitcher. Home runs were hit by Kent and Pence. Eudy and Ramer had three doubles each.

The fourth and final game went into extra innings. Winning pitchers were Wilcoxon and Cannistraci. Cisco won 9-6. In the bottom of the seventh with Cisco behind Larry Pence got on with two out. Then Eudy hit a double to send the game into extra innings. Bottom of the ninth with two outs Eudy doubled again and Kent walked to set up Cam Webb's three-run homer to win.

Siblings Of Cystic Fibrosis Patients Are Often Forgotten Sufferers

Editor's Note: This is part of an occasional series on how the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation spends its money to help fight this inherited, fatal disease. Today's piece focuses on problems of the brothers and sisters of chronically-ill children.)

Brothers and sisters are often forgotten sufferers when one child in a family is stricken with cystic fibrosis, a disease that usually kills its victims in childhood.

These siblings "are more withdrawn socially, find life generally harder and have more difficulty coping," says Marsha Kanoff, a social worker at Children's Medical Center in Dallas, citing studies of families in which children have cystic fibrosis, the nation's leading genetic killer, or other chronic illnesses.

Parents, doctors and nurses "tend to forget siblings" as they struggle to cope with the terrifying illness, in which abnormally thick mucous secretions obstruct respiratory, digestive and other organ systems, Kanoff told caregivers attending a Cystic Fibrosis Foundation-sponsored conference recently in Washington, D.C.

Fred Greene, president of the North-East Texas Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, said the conference is a good example of why so many volunteers are working locally to help raise funds for educational meetings, basic research and treatment for children and their families.

Siblings usually are buffeted by a wide range of emotions - jealousy, resentment, anger - that lead to guilt, she said. With guilt, "the whole process starts over again."

The threat of death hanging over a sick child haunts brothers and sisters but often "they protect their parents and don't talk about said Knoff. "They fear that each admission (of their ill sibling) to the hospital is the last admission.

She said that the Dallas hospital's cystic fibrosis center encourages families to let brothers and sisters visit the hospital, and even to stay overnight.

"When they don't know what's happening to their siblings in the hospital they grow really fearful," she said.

At the same time, "a lot of them (well siblings) think the hospital is fun, with kids getting presents, attention, candy," she said. Showing them the unpleasant aspects of treatments, examinations and of feeling sick can alleviate the jealousy that grows as siblings watch parents devote much of their time to the ill child.

Kanoff believes that well brothers and sisters would help with the work of caring for a young cystic fibrosis patient at home, but warns against placing too much responsibility on the siblings.

"We see many role changes and reversals," she said. "A younger sibling can become the rescuer, for example, at school, of the CF child."

When the oldest child in a family is not afflicted with cystic fibrosis and is a girl, she often becomes mothering and protective of her afflicted sibling, and "has the most trouble when the patient gets sick."

"Siblings develop close relationships with their sick sister or brother. It becomes very important for them to be close to their brother or sister, especially in adulthood. I think they understand they don't have much time with them."

Kanoff said communications is vital in families with cystic fibrosis because "kids feel so often that no one explained why all this is happening to them." Time is a big factor in families because parents must spend so much of it with the sick children, leaving the well ones to feel jealous and lonely. It is important that parents talk with the well children, helping them to understand why the children don't have more time with their parents.

The well siblings feel angry when there are no family vacations and activities, when money, time and parental energy are focused on the sick child. "If they can talk about it with parents, it helps the well child not to feel guilty," said Kanoff.

Parents' absences at the hospital also interrupt the routines of well children, and rob them of time they need with parents.

"Parents in some ways have to encourage kids to be more independent because a child with CF takes so much time," said Kanoff. "Then when the child dies, the parents treat the well children as if they had not grown older since the child with CF became ill."

And when the brother or sister dies, well siblings often feel a lot of survivor guilt, because they are the ones who are healthy, and because "they got the good genes."

The genetic implications of belonging to a family in which a child is afflicted with cystic fibrosis are enormous for the unaffected siblings, she said. The siblings know they may carry "bad genes" and could themselves have a child with cystic fibrosis. "They are all very conscious that they have a high probability of being carriers. It has an important impact on their self-esteem and self-image. They fear their own deaths more, and a lot of psychosomatic things go on."

Kanoff described the case of a 13-year-old girl who took on all the symptoms of her sister who died of cystic fibrosis, and "almost took on the dead child's identity."

Other problems reported in children include depression and withdrawal from friends and family members. Some children begin to have trouble in school, drift into delinquency and even end up in court.

Families should not fear that such reactions are inevitable, however.

How siblings cope depends on many factors - their parents, their peers, how sick their siblings are, and many more," said Kanoff. On the positive side, children can be helped to become more empathetic and more mature, while facing the enormity of cystic fibrosis can "sometimes bring families closer together."

GORDON SPOT

by DeMarquis Gordon

Many trees throughout Eastland County are showing symptoms of scorching. This is not a disease but is either some type of chemical burn or simply leaf scorch.

In years, such as this year, when May & June are extremely wet and cool, many trees put on excess foliage, even more than the root system could support under normal conditions. When the weather changes and becomes extremely hot & dry, such as has happened the last month, the root system is not able to support the foliage that has been produced. The edges of the leaves will consequently burn from the edge back toward the mid-rib of the leaf and the tree will take on a yellow appearance and in many cases show severe defoliation. This usually will not kill trees, but in some cases might. This is referred to as leaf scorch and thought of as a physiological disease.

We are also seeing quite a bit of chemical or herbicide damage. The symptoms will be much the same as with physiological leaf scorch as will the damage, due to the fact that the chemical damages a large portion of the root system and then as it begins to get hot, the tree cannot support the foliage. Also, during periods of high levels of rainfall, chemicals that are in the soil can move some distance from the point of placement and consequently, do damage much further away from original placement than most people think.

Construction damage also causes these symptoms and often kills trees. This may be the misuse of fill dirt, scraping away soil trenching, or walks, patios, buildings or roads that cover part of the root zone.

Be on the alert for armyworms! Armyworms are being found in coastal bermudagrass pastures and the early signs are being seen in lawns. The early signs of young armyworms are small white spots on leaves. The very young worms eat the green cells of the leaf which gives the white spot appearance. The larvae feed mostly at night and usually hide in debris on the soil surface in the daytime. As the worms grow larger they consume the entire leaves.

Begin control measures when the worms are small and there are three or more worms per square foot. For control of armyworms on pasture grasses, use Sevin, Naled or Dylox. For lawn applications, use Sevin, Diazinon or Dursban. There is no grazing restriction or waiting period between application and harvest for Sevin, Naled or Dylox.

The armyworms are more effectively controlled when the worms are small.

Pest Alert

By Gordon Woolam

The Peachtree Borer
The peachtree borer can be one of the most destructive insect pests of peaches in Texas. Damage occurs as a result of the larvae feeding around a tree's base just under the bark. Severe infestations reduce tree vigor and can kill a tree if allowed to continue uncontrolled for several years. Populations that average more than one larva per tree should be treated. Control is achieved with a single late August application of insecticide of Lorsban.

Peachtree borer eggs are laid on the bark near the soil line of a peachtree. Hatch occurs in about 10 days. Newly emerged larvae bore into and feed in the bark cambium for 10-14 months. Mature larvae migrate from the tree out into the soil and pupate just below the surface. Eggs are laid in August or September with adults emerging the following August or September.

Adult peachtree borers are small moths with a wing span of 1 - 1 1/2 inches. The female is larger, solid black with a single orange abdominal stripe. Males are black, not quite as robust as the female and have numerous yellow lines on their body.

After emerging from pupae, adults rest for a short period of time before mating. The mating sequence begins with the search for a mate where the male seeks out the female. The female emits a chemical (pheromone) which attracts only the male of the same species. Using the odor the male peachtree borer will locate and mate with the female. Egg laying follows in a few days. It is that period of time from egg lay to larval hatch that the peachtree borer is best controlled with insecticides.

Research has shown that a single late August application of the insecticide Lorsban or Dursban will effectively control the peachtree borer. Treatment is made by thoroughly wetting the base of each tree (about 1/2 - 1 gallon) with a spray mixture. Read the label for mixture rates and application restriction.

Contact the County Extension Office with any questions regarding this or other pests.

Certain Rights Accompany Property Condemnation

With changes in roads, streets, and urban living patterns, property is sometimes condemned.

But certain rights accompany condemnation, according to information from the Texas Real Estate Research Center, Texas A&M University.

Although the Government has the right to condemn land for public use, you have the right to just compensation at fair market value for the part that is condemned.

manently attached to it. In addition to being paid for damages resulting from loss of property, the owner may also receive financial assistance under the Texas Relocation Assistance Act of condemnation forces a move.

"If you are faced with the prospect of having some or all of your property condemned, it is wise to consult an attorney," states the researchers at the University Center.

Taxing Units Adopt '82 Rates

Most Taxing units in Texas (cities, counties, school district and special taxing districts) are adopting their 1982 tax rates. The actual schedule in each case will depend on when the appraisal roll is approved by the appraisal review board and the effective tax rate and unencumbered fund balances are calculated and publicized.

These provisions of the Property Tax Code were designed to prevent tax increases due to changes in appraised values of property. Basically, after receiving the approved appraisal roll, the tax assessor for a unit must calculate and publicize an effective tax rate which, based on the unit's valuation this year, would provide the same operating revenue as last year, plus sufficient revenue to meet debt service in the coming year. If the governing body anticipates adopting a tax rate which exceeds this calculated effective rate by more than three percent, it must vote its intent, publish a quarter-page notice in a newspaper, hold a public hearing, publish a second quarter-page notice, and then hold a meeting for adoption of the rate.

Because a tax shift to other classes of property occurs when new exemptions are granted for the first time, the revenue lost from the granting of the exemptions must be deducted from the prior year's levy. In some cases, therefore, a taxing unit may be required to advertise a tax increase to produce a 1982 tax levy equal to the levy for 1981.

The truth-in-taxation calculation is significant because, beginning this year, taxpayers can exercise a limited form of initiative and referendum to roll back tax increases which exceed the calculated effective tax rate by more than eight percent.

Should you have questions concerning tax rate adoption procedures, please feel free to contact us. The toll free number is 800-252-9121, or 512-837-8622 in the Austin area.

New Interest Drop Helps Home Buyers

Prospective home buyers watched with optimism this week as the government lowered federally-backed single family home loans to 15 percent. This decline, which took effect Aug. 9, places interest rates at the lowest level of more than a year.

The 0.5 percentage point drop applies to both graduated-payment and level-payment home loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration. The lower ceiling also covers single-family home loans guaranteed by the Veteran's Administration. Ceilings for interest rates for other FHA insured loans also are being lowered in the next ten days, according to an announcement from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

In changes taking effect August 16, ceilings will also decline to 18.5 percent from 19 percent for home-improvement loans, to 17.5 percent from 18 percent for mobile home loans, and to 17 percent from 17.5 percent for combination mobile home and lot loans.

"We, as realtors, are encouraged by this drop in interest rates," states Barbara Love, owner of Town and Country Real Estate in Eastland. "We feel this decrease will open the door of home ownership to families who were previously unable to qualify."

HUD officials, also, claimed their ceiling-rate decrease is a sign of better economic times to come.

"This decline in the FHA rate is additional evidence that the economic recovery program is beginning to work," said Under-Secretary Donald Hovde.

Loans carrying the 15 percent interest rate will be available in the Eastland County area, according to Jerry Richardson, Senior Vice President of Ranger Savings.

"Ranger Savings and Eastland Savings are continuing to back FHA and VA loans, and will do so at the lower rate."

"Furthermore," states Richardson, "Ranger and Eastland Savings have acquired money through the Texas Housing Agency. This is for loan primarily to first-time home buyers, and will go at a fixed rate of 11 percent. for qualified buyers, the loans will cover 95 percent of the cost of property they are purchasing.

"This will be loaned on a first-come, first served basis, and the area we have to consider applicants from reaches over a large part of west Texas.

"I would like to see all of this money stay in Eastland County. I urge interested persons to check it out, for I don't see a chance the interest rate will go lower than that.

"It is better for all of us when people can afford to buy homes."

Hightower Will Be USDA Speaker

Congressman Jack E. Hightower of Vernon will be the principal speaker at a field day to be held at the USDA Soil Conservation Service Plant Materials Center at Knox City on August 25, 1982.

Congressman Hightower serves on the conservation, credit, and rural development subcommittee within the Committee on Appropriations. He will speak about 12:30 p.m.

Ron Bailey, district conservationist for SCS at Eastland, said the public is being invited to the event. The center serves both Texas and Oklahoma.

Guided tours will be conducted through the 90-acre center from 9:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The center is located on FM 1292, 2 miles north and 2 1/2 miles west of Knox City.

A barbecue lunch will be available on a prepaid basis at $4.50 per plate. Payment should be sent to Ms. Doris Crownover, Chamber of Commerce, Box 91, Knox City, Texas 79529 by August 20.

Seed or rootstock from native plants that show potential for solving specific soil and water conservation problems are collected, then grown and evaluated at the Knox City Center. The more promising ones are then tested under field conditions by farmers and ranchers cooperating with local soil and water conservation districts. Selections which prove superior to commercial varieties are then released to seed growers. These producers then grow seed and sell it to the public.

Several hundred strains of grasses, legumes, forbs, and woody plants are being tested at Knox City.

Anyone having questions about the field day should contact Bailey at 629-1480 in Eastland.

Good food, visits, swimming and water sports were enjoyed by all.

Those in attendance were: George and Mildred Sledge, Lake Leon; Larry and Merrilee Sledge, Randy, Ronnie, Shelley and Susan, Round Rock, Texas; Dianne (Sledge) and Johnny Carson, Scotty, Rodney, and Gigi, Missouri City, Texas; Billy and Jean Sledge and Bryan, Big Spring, Texas; Bobby and Jo Sledge and Lisa, Big Spring, Texas; Charlotte (Sledge) and Johnnie Reynolds, Mike and Jason, DeSota, Texas; Terry (Sledge) and Terry Johnston, Jeffery and Kanan, Odessa, Texas; Pat (Sledge) and Gene Gist, Mike and Greg, Hamby, Texas.

Aug. 8th was also the birthday of Dianne Sledge Carson, so she had a big birthday celebration.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

As the reports on our nation's war against drugs become more discouraging, one bright spot has developed.

According to the Drug Enforcement Administration, we have made dramatic strides in the fight to eliminate "angel dust."

When "angel dust," or phencyclidine hydrochloride (PCP), was developed in the mid-50s, it was seen as a promising anesthetic for use in operating rooms. Research, however, showed that the drug produced horrifying psychotic reactions. It literally drove people mad, so it was barred completely for use on humans.

By the mid-70s, "angel dust" was fast becoming one of the most abused drugs in the nation since it could be produced at such a low cost—only $1 per "hit." Between 1976 and 1977, the DEA reported that confiscated dosage units had doubled, from 1.7 million to 3.5 million. This was happening in spite of appalling reports of derangement caused by the drug.

One young man under the influence of "angel dust" pulled out his own teeth with pliers; another gouged out his eyes to avoid seeing grotesque visions; a third youth drank rat poison to kill the rodents he believed had infested his body; and a fourth gnawed his forearms almost to the bone because of "voices" telling him his hands had offended him.

It took six police officers to arrest another young man brandishing a knife who kept such a "death-like" grip on the weapon that officers had to hit his hand with night-sticks. They shattered the knife handle, but the youth still clutched the blade when he finally was subdued. Later examination showed his hand was broken in four places.

These horror stories could not be allowed to continue. In 1978, I authored and passed through Congress the Psychotropic Substances Act, making it difficult for drug dealers to purchase the chemical piperidine, a key ingredient of "angel dust." My bill also substantially increased penalties for trafficking in the drug.

Since the law went into effect in 1979, the results have been heartening. Within a year, emergency rooms reported a 24 percent decrease in cases involving "angel dust." Black market prices for piperidine skyrocketed a hundred-fold, and the average sentence for "angel dust" traffickers went from two years to six years.

Just recently, the new DEA deputy director Jack Lawn told me the best news yet. He told me that we'd had the most dramatic reduction in "angel dust," by legislation, that he'd ever seen in any drug before.

Hospital emergency cases involving use of "angel dust," he said, have now been cut in half—from approximately 10,000 in 1978 to about 5,000 last year.

That's doing pretty well, as I see it. But I won't be content until we've wiped out this menacing drug entirely.

Cisco Library News

The 1982-83 Directory of Financial Aids and Educational Programs, promising "all you need to know" about careers in health-care professions in Texas, is now available for loan at your Cisco Public Library.

The brochure is published by Texas Health Careers, Texas Hospital Education and Research Foundation and will be of interest to young people as well as older people in considering career fields. The Library obtained the publication following a news story in the Abilene Reporter that referred to health-care agencies in Texas as "manpower-hungry industries" and cited growing shortages of laboratory and technical workers, therapists and nurses. Anthony B. Owens, vice president of Texas Hospital Association, is quoted: "Tuition assistance programs for Texans pursuing health careers have never been more plentiful or generous"...and this in face of recent slashes in federal tuition assistance outlays in many other educational programs.

Word from the office of the Governor's Assistant is that Pulitzer Prize-winning author, James A. Michener, is still scheduled to accept the proposal from Governor Bill Clements to write a book about Texas to coincide with the Sesquicentennial. Hopefully, the book will be as realistic and of the same background authenticity of his other books, "U.S.A."

"Chesapeake", "The Covenant" and others, all available at the Library.

"Back Roads of Texas" by Earl Thollander, who has written similar books on Arizona, California, Oregon, New England and "Barns of California" is unique in its hand-written comments, hand-drawn locality maps and sketches - all exactly as stated - the "Back Roads" as viewed by an appreciative artist with an eye for beauty in all things and a special feeling for rural landscape.

Someone has donated a number of large print Reader's Digests - for which the Library is grateful.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs was organized in 1889 in New York. The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs was organized in 1898 and at its first convention, the most significant action taken was the establishment of Free Public Libraries. Eighty-six percent of the public libraries in Texas were either established or promoted by a Federated Club group. The Twentieth Century Club, an affiliate of both Federations, was organized in 1898, and assumed sponsorship of the Cisco Library in 1900, from the Library's founder, Frank Vernon, Newspaper Editor.

Miss Ballard is currently employed by the Lubbock Independent School District as a teacher at Wheelock Elementary School. She is a 1981 graduate of North Texas State University.

Industrial Development Consultant Will Be In Eastland Thursday

Chloe Chaddick, an industrial development consultant with the Texas Industrial Commission (TIC), will be in Eastland on Thursday, August 19, to brief community leaders on ways the TIC can be of service in local industrial development efforts.

The Industrial Commission is the state's primary economic development agency responsible for job creation. Texas is now the fastest growing state in the nation, surpassing California for the first time. Much of this population gain can be attributed to the influx of people from the Northeast and Midwest, many of them unemployed.

A recent report by the Governor's Texas 2000 Commission found that 170,000 new jobs must be added to the Texas economy each year in order to handle these new entries to the labor force and still keep the state unemployment rate relatively low.

"In today's economy the competition for industrial expansion is fierce," Chaddick said, "and it is even more important that Texas communities be aware of the assistance available to them from the state."

Chaddick will speak at 10:30 a.m. at the Chamber of Commerce Board Room.

The presentation covers all assistance programs available through the TIC with emphasis on industrial revenue bond financing, accessing the state's rural loan fund and start-up training programs.

John Payne's
Video-Drama
Is Playing In

NY museum

A video-drama using the score and playing of John D. Payne of El Paso, guitarist, has played across the country during the last few months, according to information received here. This summer it is showing once a week in the Museum of Modern Art, New York City. John Payne, who has visited in Eastland County a number of times, is the son of Viola Payne, who lives S.E. of Cisco.

Payne recorded the music for the video-drama last winter in Los Angeles, California. He plays engagements in the southwest, with a recent concert being held at the University at Chihuahua City, Mexico.

Vacioners Can Renew Spiritual Awareness

Sleeping bags. Camp stoves. Flashlights. It's Vacation Times, U.S.A.

Newspapers and magazines abound with travel tips. Recent titles include "How To Survive A Family Vacation," "Outsmart Thieves While You're Traveling," and "Don't Get Taken While You Take A Vacation."

Although domestic travel has leveled off in recent years, a by-product of increased fuel costs, passenger miles in 1980 came to 1 trillion, 188 billion, with 82 percent being by car.

Vacations take many forms. Forest service officials predict a 23 percent increase in winter sports in the 154 national forests over the next 10 years, twice the expected increase in sports for other times of the year. The National Park System reports more than 282 million visits during the last year.

Along with insect repellent, binoculars, and motel directories, millions of tourists will add Bibles and other devotional materials. In order to accommodate travelers, weekend worship services are held at many of the nation's major attractions.

Vacations can be an excellent time to renew spiritual awareness. It is very interesting to drop off the Freeways and visit a Church far from home. Fresh viewpoints can be gained and it's a good way to meet new friends.

Eastland County Churches, as always, welcome visitors into their worship services. And they encourage members, when traveling, to include times of worship in their vacation plans.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

One day little Billy kissed the air with a loud "smack" and shouted, "That's a kiss for Jesus. I love Him!"

We do not become children of God because we love Him, but because He first loved us.

It is not love as a principle which saves, but love in a person. God did not save us by His love, but by His Son.

We are not saved because Jesus practiced a life of love, or because He preached the love of God. But because He loved us and gave Himself for our sins.

His love originates. Our love appropriates. When we accept the God of love then we will abound in the love of God.

Love is brightly expressed by admiration for God. But it is better expressed by action for man.

Since God loved us without our loving Him, we ought and must love those who do not love us. It is human to love those who love us, but divine to love those who do not love us.

Let us do something for others and say with the boy, "That's a kiss for Jesus. I love Him!"

Lights from the Christian World

By: Josephine Cleveland

A certain cut of diamond has 144 facets. This particular cut is beautiful to the eye of the beholder. Its brilliant sparkle catches the attention of all who sees a glimpse of its dazzling glitter. However, this many-facet diamond has limitations. Unlike this particular diamond, God has an unlimited amount of facets. The writer of Hebrews tells us, "God who at sundry times and in diverse manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son—Who being the brightness of his glory and the express image of his person—sat down on the right hand of his Majesty on high." Hebrews 1:14

The brightness of Jesus' glory has as many facets as is necessary to shine the light of his grace, mercy, comfort and peace into everyone's life according to their need.

Friend, are you in some deep sorrow, great trouble, or have you had some great disappointment or some unspeakable loss? Cheer up! God has a facet of light coming your way. Look to it's brilliance. It need only to catch your attention. Praise Him that He maketh "all things work together for good." Now you are shut up in your need. Look at the facet of faith which God is giving you. Let his facet of joy touch your heart — "for this day is holy unto our Lord; neither be ye sorry; for the joy of the Lord is your strength." Nehemiah 8:10

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

No funeral director in the country would dispute the right of a family to specify "No visitation" - if that is the way the family wants it. But, if asked, we are sure every funeral director would suggest visitation in most cases. It has been proved through the years visitation at the funeral home HELPS the family face the reality of death. It is only human to want to express feelings. And this applies to most people. It has been proved that shock and surprise, emotional release, loneliness, distress and anxiety are emotional moods that can be HELPED by the appearance of friends. Words are NOT necessary. In fact, usually the less said, the better. Personal appearance is sufficient. Visitation is an act of kindness . . . These are only a few of the reasons why funeral directors welcome visitation prior to and during a funeral service . . .

Senior Citizens Nutrition Menu

From time to time, this column will present a thought that may seem remote from the idea of balance diets and good nutritional habits; yet, we find a close relationship with this week's thoughts.

How long has it been since you have looked into the medicine cabinet, on the drawer where you keep your medicine, and checked the dates you obtained the medicine?

Some medicine becomes dangerous after a period of time!

Look at the bottles and boxes and ask yourself: Is this too old? Could I become ill, some night, and reach for one of those pills and it could cause me to become violently ill? - Shouldn't I call the druggist and ask him if it would be safe to take the medicine?

Druggists and doctors encourage people to take an inventory of their medical supplies and if necessary to throw away the old medication.

When was the last time you took inventory of your medicine cabinet?

Programs for the week were: Mrs. Lela Lloyd gave an interesting book review, musical program by Rev. and Mrs. Ronnie Shackelford, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church. Dinner music by Leah Brown, Vida Killion and Al Sims. A group from Cisco Center went to Eastland to enjoy a covered dish luncheon and game day. Menus for the week are as follows:

MONDAY--Hamburger steak, onion gravy, blackeyed peas, fresh tomatoes, tapico pudding, bread, butter and drink.
WEDNESDAY--Oven-fried chicken, bean salad, summer squash, pear halves bread, butter and drink.
FRIDAY-- Braised beef/barbecue sauce, potato salad, fresh cantaloupe, cookies, bread, butter and drink.

A BOX CONTAINING a western hat and a picture of the late M.E. Fry, well known as a Polled Hereford rancher, was mailed from Cisco last Friday afternoon to the American Polled Hereford Association in Kansas City. The hat was mailed by Doug Fry, son of M.E. Fry, in response to a request by the association for a same.

M.E. Fry is scheduled to be inducted into the American Polled Hereford Hall of Fame at a national awards banquet there next Nov. 8th and the picture and hat will be displayed prominently along with those of other pioneers in Polled Hereford ranching.

Biographical data also was included in the material sent to Kansas City. Mr. and Mrs. Doug Fry plan to attend the dinner next November.

DICK AND: Sandra Woolley and their three children recently enjoyed a vacation in the Red River country of New Mexico. It was the first time the whole family had been off vacationing together in quite a while, reports the First National Bank president.

Mr. Woolley reported that Nov. 1st is the target date for completion of the new FNB building.

SAW THE MOVIE: "The Best Little Whore House in Texas" the other day. If you overlook occasional gross speech and action, the movie was pretty entertaining. And most of the music was good.

Mrs. Rosa Lee Broyles was due in last weekend after a vacation with son Tommy and family in New Mexico. Ditto for the George Owensens who went over Fuidoso way. The Royce Darrs enjoyed a camping trip in their van up in the western states, including Colorado and Utah, according to scout reports.

OUR SCOUT AT: Scranton reports that Mr. P.M. Ray, well known resident of that community, suffered some broken ribs in an accident with a horse the other day. Guess he was out cowboying.

Coach Jim Puryear says any and all fans will be welcome to watch football practice as the Lobos prepare for the new season. They workout daily at 9-11 a.m. and 6-8 p.m. at their practice field near Community Gym and Chesley Field.

ONE OF MR. Dean Madison's friends out at Lubbock sent him a clip from the newspaper there in re oil well drilling in the Cisco city dump. It was the story we referred to recently that UPI was working on. The story quoted Oil Man Don Hanvey about his oil wells on city property here.

Mr. Madison reports that their western store is doing nicely this summer. Steve Madison, son of the Dean Madisons, works as city recreation director for the City of Stephenville. He is almost a graduate of Tarleton State there where his sister Terry is a senior.

DON AND PAT: Kincaid of Grand Prairie and Douglas, Arizona, spent last weekend here with her parents, the Mart Agnews, and his dad, Alvin Kincaid. The DK's were en route to Arizona. See by the sign out front that the Red Gap Western Store on IH-20 is having a 6th anniversary sale. The Wilson Smiths are doing some hammering and nailing on the front porch at their house at 14th and Ave. P. The Bill Hesters and the Gilbert Garces arrived back home last Sunday after a 10-day vacation in Mexico.

OUT AT THE: Cisco Country Club the other afternoon, we decided to hit a few golf balls. Nobody was around, so we took off alone - playing two balls and logging the best ball score. (Your nine-hole score is usually a lot better this way.)

At the 140-yard par three number two hole, we hit a good shot and watched as the ball hit the ground and rolled straight toward the cup. We've had a couple of near misses but never a hole-in-one. Our feeling of pleasure soon turned to one of horror as it became increasingly apparent that the ball might go into the cup.

Things went through our mind - like wouldn't it be awful to score a hole-in-one while playing alone? When you told people, they'd smile politely and offer no comment. Nobody would believe you.

These thoughts of calamity subsided, however, as the ball ran out of momentum and stopped six inches short. We had a tap-in birdie. A near disastrous happening had been averted.

WHEN MRS. Bertha Reimers got home the other day from a vacation visit up in the Pacific Northwest she got a shock. Her home freezer had stopped running and all of the vegetables and things she had put in it last spring were spoiled. It was a nice vacation, she said. The Jim Choates and the Mike Andersons are back home after a vacation up in Colorado. Hear that Banker Jerry Pruitt, formerly of here, has moved from Brownwood to a bank at Haskell. The Howard Turners of Round Rock spent last weekend with home folks here.
