WANTED

HELP WANTED: Man to work day shift that is mature, sober and presents good appearance to public. Must be able to work on his own with minimum supervision. This is a steady job and those afraid of work need not apply. Lewis Texaco, corner of Highway I-20 and 183, Cisco. p-73

New inside and out downstairs, upstairs needs to be finished, have already purchased new fixtures for bathroom upstairs, also have new central air and heat ready to install. Sits on plenty of ground and already financed and will pay out in six years. This is a bird's nest on the ground as the owner has to leave town.

Near new, three bedroom brick, this is a very attractive dwelling, it is roomy, they did not skimp on material when it was built, has electric garage door lifts and etc.

Owner lives out of town and needs to sell attractive frame dwelling with lots of room, and very well worth the money.

We have sold several conservative type houses and here is another very livable frame dwelling on paved street, priced to sell.

A place you will like, situated very good and you will like the way it looks with possible owner financing.

One, two-story frame dwelling priced right, good location.

One, two-story brick you will need to see to appreciate.

Another two-story frame that most people would like to own.

Three bedroom brick with extra ground to go with, owner financing.

80 acres very good land, no minerals and priced to sell.

Look, we have 10 to 15 other houses, commercial buildings, mobile homes, you name it, we may have it and cannot afford to advertise them individually.

We are getting the property and we are selling it, so come on in or call.

Peanut Growers Urged To Join Organizations

We urge that you join us in building the Peanut Membership Organization (PMO) and the Southwest Peanut-PAC (Political Action Committee).

The PMO is an incorporated voluntary organization of peanut growers set up to provide for the general well being of peanut growers. The Southwest Peanut-PAC sponsored by the PMO is a special legal entity, permitted by federal election laws, organized to solicit and distribute political contributions from a corporation's members - in our case, the PMO. Once the PAC is established by the PMO, contributions to PAC will be used to assist candidates for federal office whose positions on agricultural policies are considered helpful to us.

The PAC will be used to promote our cause in an urban dominated Congress. Our PAC personnel will coordinate efforts directly to inform influential legislators of our feelings on pending legislation that affects our farming operations.

Recent legislative experience has shown us that we must pool our resources in order to exert the maximum amount of influence at the Congressional level.

The undersigned feel that the PMO-PAC offers peanut growers a unique opportunity to gain attention at key Congressional levels. We are convinced that our investment of dollars in the Peanut-PAC will yield sound returns.

You will be contacted shortly about how you can participate in this program. Peanut growers in Eastland County should join and support these organizations which we feel are essential to our survival as peanut growers.

NOTICE

Eastland County Farmers Home Administration Office will be closed Monday thru Thursday, September 13, 14, 15 and 16. Local personnel will be attending a training meeting in San Angelo.

RANGER TIMES EASTLAND TELEGRAM CISCO PRESS

Thursday, September 9, 1982

By Richard

"The defensive line was excellent in the first half" were the words of Dallas Cowboy head coach Tom Landry after the Cowboys defeated the Houston Oilers for the pro championship of Texas.

The Cowboys now are preparing to open the regular season with a Monday night game against the Pittsburgh Steelers at 8 in Texas Stadium.

Even though the game is drawing national attention, the big Cowboy news this week is that the final cut to forty-nine players will be placed on a taxi squad and the other forty-five will be active.

But wait, Cowboy President Tex Schramm says they expect to place center Robert Shaw and guard Herbert Scott, who injured his knee in the Houston game, on the temporary injured reserve, where they can be brought back onto the squad in four weeks, and pick up two players that have been cut by the Cowboys or another team.

My guess is that the two will be defensive linemen.

Howard Richards will replace Scott at left guard. James Jones and John Dutton are questionable for the Steeler game due to injuries.

Ron Fellows and Doug Donley are now the kick returners after they played well there. Another area of play that looked good was the two minute offense.

Five veterans were cut from the team, and six rookies including one free agent made the team.

The veterans cut were Steve Wilson, Andy Frederick, Bruce Thornton, Ron Spears, and Bill Roe.

Rookies making the team were fullback George Peoples, guard Brian Baldinger and tackle Phil Pozderac on offense, and linebacker Jeff Rohrer; and defensive backs Rod Hill and Monty Hunter on defense.

Rookies Ken Hammond, Jim Eliopoulos, and Scott McLean were placed on the injured reserve list for the year.

AARP Celebrates 'Everybody's Birthday'

The August meeting of the Cisco Chapter of AARP celebrated "Everybody's Birthday" with music, special decorations, personal stories of past birthdays and personal greetings of "Happy Birthday" to all members, whatever the date of their birthday. The program was arranged by Thelma Bosworth and her committee of Patti Merti and the C.L. Webbs.

Invocation was by Rev. O.T. Killion. Singing of all-time favorite songs was led by Jack Roberson with Ima Thompson at the piano. Table decorations, that always reflect great care, talent and effort, were 12 centerpieces representing each month with appropriate symbols for a holiday, the season, or something of special significance. The artistic creations were the handiworks of Mable Theford, Johnnie Jeffcoat, the Walter Knowldens and the Henry McCoy.

The business session opened with reading of the previous meeting's minutes by Secretary Sue Taylor, and the financial report by Treasurer Velma Joyner. President Walter Knowldens reported that letters were mailed to Congressional representatives in response to the National AARP "Alert" regarding a proposed bill before Congress that could adversely affect protective regulations for patients in nursing homes. Chapter participation is a part of the AARP lobbyist program at state and national levels that works for protective and beneficial legislation for senior citizens.

Roy Cartee, who is Tax Aid Consultant for AARP members in this county, called for volunteer counselors to assist AARP members who may desire help with tax form preparations. He referred to several changes in the federal income tax law that will apply to IRS forms to be submitted in 1983.

The next meeting of the Chapter will be Thursday, September 16, with the covered dish supper at 6:00 p.m. in the Corral Room. Membership is open to all persons over 55 with an interest in the purpose of this large, national organization: "To serve and not to be served."

TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets for the Sept. 25th Lions Benefit Bowl football game between Cisco and Ranger Junior Colleges at Breckenridge are being sold by members of the two local Lions Clubs. Tickets are $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for students if purchased before going to the game. At the gate, all tickets will cost $3.50. Tickets are also on sale at The Press office.

OBITUARY

Services For

Thalmer Coker

Funeral services for Thalmer Preston Coker, 79, of Cisco, were at 3 p.m. Sunday in Higginbotham Funeral Home Chapel in Rising Star. The Rev. Lewis Wilkerson, pastor of First United Methodist Church of Rising Star, officiated, assisted by Ray Green, Rising Star Church of Christ. Burial was in Romney Cemetery.

Mr. Coker died at 12:05 a.m. Saturday at Eastland Memorial Hospital.

He was born September 6, 1902, in Navarro County. He was a retired carpenter. He married Florence Coker on December 26, 1926, in Meadow. He was a Methodist.

Survivors include his wife of Cisco; two daughters, Ilva Dudley of Cisco and Mary Armstrong of Red Water; three brothers, Warren G. of Wolforth, S.L. of Dallas and

SAT and ACT Test Schedules

High school juniors and seniors who are thinking of going on to school after graduation will want to take note of the national test date schedule for the ACT Assessment Program and the Admissions Testing Program of the College Board (including the SAT and the Achievement Tests).

Students who want to take the ACT or the SAT on the first 1982-83 national test date must have their registration materials completed and mailed before the September 24th (SAT) or October 1st (ACT) deadline. The full 1982-83 schedules of test dates and deadlines are as follows:

ACT: Test Date Oct. 30, 1982; Regist. Deadline Oct. 1, 1982; Test Date Dec. 11, 1982; Regist. Deadline Nov. 12, 1982; Test Date Feb. 12, 1983; Regist. Deadline Jan. 14, 1983; Test Date April 16, 1983; Regist. Deadline March 18, 1983; Test Date June 11, 1983; Regist. Deadline May 13, 1983.

SAT: Test Date Oct. 16, 1982; Regist. Deadline Sept. 24, 1982; Test Date Nov. 6, 1982; Regist. Deadline Oct. 1, 1982; Test Date Dec. 4, 1982; Regist. Deadline Oct. 29, 1982; Test Date Jan. 22, 1983; Regist. Deadline Dec. 17, 1982; Test Date March 19, 1983; Regist. Deadline Feb. 11, 1983; Test Date May 7, 1983; Regist. Deadline April 1, 1983; Test Date June 4, 1983; Regist. Deadline April 29, 1983.

The basic student fee for using the ACT Assessment is $9.50, the SAT $10.50. Students can obtain ACT Assessment and SAT registration packets, as well as other college and career planning materials, from the counseling office at Cisco High School.

At area test centers on national test dates it will take about three to four hours to complete the ACT or the SAT. In order that students may be familiar with the character and format of test items and responses, a copy of a full-length test booklet is available in the counseling office. Students who wish copies of additional tests may obtain them upon request from ACT or the College Board at cost.

Information reports resulting from the tests and the questionnaire are sent to the students and their high school counselors, as well as to those colleges and other institutions specifically designated by the students.

It is recommended that students take these tests during their junior year or early in the senior year so that resulting information will be available in time to be of maximum assistance to students and their counselors in education and career planning. Students who are uncertain if they need to use the ACT or the SAT, or are concerned about the location of the nearest test center, are urged to contact Mrs. Mouser in the counseling office at C.H.S.

It is noted that the ACT will be given at Cisco Junior College on the February date.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Hallmark, I have been in prison now for three years and in that time I have lost my family and friends. Need I tell that I am lonely.

I have no money to pay to run an ad in your newspaper but if you could find it in your heart to print this letter in your Letters to the Editor, words alone could never thank you enough.

In 1975 I visited relations in Texas and I've always wanted to return there someday. Since that isn't possible right now, I would like to write some of the people living there. I am sure somebody out there needs a friend as much as I do.

Thank you dearly,
William Harris 8080

This dependable energy saving Frigidaire Laundry Pair can handle big family-size loads — up to a full 18 pounds.

Washer offers dependable cleaning power — even lets you conserve hot water and detergent

- No need to waste hot water. This Frigidaire Washer features a Water Level selector that lets you match the amount of water to the size of your washload.
- Depend on Frigidaire to keep lint from settling back on your clothes with the Lint Filter which snaps in and out for easy cleaning.
- New horizontal cleaning action passes clothes under the recirculating filter 8 to 14 times each cycle. The new system is equally effective for small, average or large loads.

Dryer puts big drying capacity within easy reach

- For easy loading and unloading, the big oversize door opening — one of the largest in the industry — is positioned a comfortable 18 inches off the floor.
- For efficient drying without hot spots that can damage fabrics, Frigidaire gently pulls air through your clothes.
- For big-family wash loads this Frigidaire dryer provides gentle fabric care for up to 18 pounds of laundry.

Citizens Ban Together On Crackdown

A DRUG ALERT has been sounded in Eastland County! There's a super crackdown coming as citizens ban together to bring an end to what is being described by the District Attorney's office as a "very serious situation."

The 91st District Grand Jury will convene Thursday, Sept. 9, and map strategies, and invites citizens to assist by coming forward with any information which they believe pertinent.

Criminal District Attorney Emory Walton said that authorities have recently picked up the second 13-year-old boy "high on drugs," here, and that the problem is much worse that people believe.

The grand jury room is located on the second floor of the courthouse, east end, and the D.A.'s telephone number is 629-2659.

Late Registration At CJC Thru September 9

Late registration for the Fall 1982 semester at Cisco Junior College will continue through Thursday, September 9 at the Cisco campus and all off-campus centers. Students may register at the main campus in Cisco, at the Clyde Educational Center, or at the Community College Center of Abilene at anytime during regular office hours, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Friday.

OILFIELD DISPATCH

Texas Oil Discoveries Up In August From 1981

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent announced that Texas operators reported 122 gas and 67 oil discoveries in August 1982.

One year ago, 130 gas and 37 oil discoveries were filed with the state's energy regulatory agency.

Gas discoveries in the eighth month of the year included 52 in deep South Texas, 27 in the Refugio area, 13 in Southeast Texas, eight each in East Texas and West Central Texas, five in North Texas, three in the San Angelo area, and two each in the San Antonio and Midland areas and East Central Texas.

Oil discoveries included 13 in West Central Texas, nine each in North Texas and the Midland area, seven in deep South Texas, six each in East Texas and the Refugio and San Angelo areas, five in Southeast Texas, three in the Panhandle, two in the Lubbock area, and one in East Central Texas.

Through the first eight months of this year, there have been 993 gas and 435 oil discoveries throughout the state. For the same period last year, there were 841 gas and 420 oil discoveries.

In August, operators reported 322 exploratory and field tests wound up as dry holes. New applications for permits to drill oil and gas tests totaled 2,510 in August compared with 3,388 in the same period 1981.

Applications to drill, deepen, plug back and for service wells in August amounted to 2,913 against 3,724 a year earlier.

Operators filed 845 amended applications to drill. A year earlier they submitted 874 amended requests.

FARMERS

Farmers could get their prices for the products they raise if they would just stick together. This is an old saying that is never going to come true and so long as the supply is more than the demand, prices will always remain low. The government is never going to help the farmer; they must learn to help themselves. They need to allocate the acres or limit production to a point where there is no large carry over from year to year. They depend on the government to support their prices and it lets them down each time the production goes beyond the demand. The government has been using farm products as a political football since anyone can remember and the farmer would be better off without the government at all. The major oil companies have led them to believe that wheat, corn and feed grains were not economical to make alcohol from. At $1.80 per bushel, corn would make fuel cheaper than oil! Anyway, if each of the farmers would spent less than ten thousand dollars each, they would use up all the surplus grain making motor fuel with their stills and would be in a position to control the prices of the grain sold abroad. During times like these farmers who rent all their land and borrow all the money to farm on, always have a hard time staying in business; it's been like that always, but a land owner with at least part of their machinery paid for, will always stay in business.

or deliver to the Extension Agent by September 14. Only county residents are eligible to enter the hay show, but the hay may be produced anywhere. An entry may consist of one bale, regular or large bale. No fee is charged when entire bale is entered. As another option a producer may enter a cross section of a regular bale, 6 to 8 inches in thickness, string tied with a $3.00 fee for testing. If an entry is made from a large bale put a minimum of 3 pounds of hay in a box approximately 6 x 14 x 18 inches with a $3.00 entry fee. The hay show is an educational event to help producers learn how to produce high quality forage says Gordon.

This program helps kids say No to alcohol and drugs

By Ruth Seegrift

HIGH SCHOOL KIDS are just like everybody else: They need someone to talk to when they're in trouble. But unlike adults—who are more likely to know about and be in touch with people who are in a position to help them—high school kids often don't know where to turn. Of course, it would be ideal if kids trusted their teachers and school administrators as confidants or advisers. But because they often don't, the principal of Swarthmore High School in Swarthmore, Pa., decided a counselor (not a member of the school's regular teaching or counseling staff) who operated an in-school counseling center might be helpful to troubled teens. Here's an example of what the school accomplished using this method:

Alex (a pseudonym) was in trouble—failing in all his classes and running into problems with teachers, administrators, and other students. He frequently didn't show up for classes at all, and when he did, he often came to school high. Home was no better. He couldn't see eye to eye with his parents on anything, and he vented his problems by beating up his younger brother. As you might have guessed, Alex had problems with a variety of drugs: He used marijuana, alcohol, and any other drugs he could lay his hands on.

In a small high school, a kid like Alex stands out. Everyone knew about Alex, but no one knew what to do about him—until Marcie Smith. Even Smith's interest might not have been enough to make a difference in Alex's life, but as coordinator of the student attitudes program at Swarthmore High School, she also was working with one of his friends. The friend persuaded Alex to go into counseling with Smith and then into drug rehabilitation. Now, Alex has managed to stay off drugs, and he is making a difference in the lives of other kids. His presence in one of the program's support groups and his openness in talking about his former problems have helped other students understand themselves and their feelings.

The idea for an outside counselor in school was conceived in 1978, when Swarthmore Principal Val Sandberg invited the Delaware County Alcohol and Addictions Council to use his school for a pilot prevention program called CAPS—Chemical Addictions Prevention in Schools. Sandberg had good reason to bring the program into Swarthmore High: According to state surveys, the Wallingford-Swarthmore school system's students (nearly 600 in seventh through twelfth grades) were using and abusing chemical substances at levels similar to those found in nationwide studies.

Examples: Thirty-eight percent of eleventh graders at Swarthmore admitted to getting drunk weekly and 31 percent to getting high on drugs every week. Ninth graders reported only a 3.5 percent incidence of weekly alcohol or drug abuse, but by tenth grade, 18 percent admitted to getting drunk every week and 23 percent to getting high on drugs regularly. For purposes of the pilot project, Principal Sandberg believed that Swarthmore High School served as a microcosm.

A grant to the county Alcohol and Addictions Council, provided under the federal Comprehensive Education and Training Act, allowed CAPS to hire Smith, a trained counselor, to run the experimental program for the first year. Smith's first job, as she describes it, was to let students and faculty know what she could do and how she would operate. As an outsider in a school, she had to garner support for the program by letting everyone know how she would treat students—that is, she would treat kids as persons who need to learn how to listen and communicate with one another, as individuals whose feelings she would respect and whose concerns she was willing to address.

At the same time, her status as an outsider ultimately was key to students' willingness to accept her. Kids—whether in trouble or not—aren't ready to trust most adults, especially school personnel, when it comes to expressing the thoughts and feelings that concern them deeply.

Says Principal Sandberg: "It was important for the students to know that Marcie was not a member of the staff. There had to be confidentiality and anonymity for the students, with her room recognized as an island within the school."

Drinking and using drugs, says Smith, are just two symptoms of deeper problems that affect all young people to some extent: Young people question who they are and whether they have "worth" to themselves and others. The problem of getting through to such adolescents, of course, is compounded if they are abusers of drugs or alcohol. Lonely and confused, these young people have few good feelings about themselves, and their feelings often are rooted in very real problems, such as family conflicts, pressures to succeed, and shifting and confusing notions of morality. A student who doesn't feel good about himself, Smith says, is convinced no one else will like or accept him, either. His need to be accepted in a group is so strong that it will outweigh what he has learned in a drug education class—that marijuana could be sprayed with dangerous additives such as P.C.P., for example, or that alcohol is addictive and does physical harm.

Making contact with kids at the outset of the program was a job Smith calls "selling myself." She talked to students; she held open houses in her assigned room at school, which was dubbed the Student Communication Center. Students had to learn they could trust Smith, that she would accept them no matter what they had to say, and that whatever they said would remain totally confidential: What they discussed in the room would stay in the room.

In fact, what goes on in her room, says Smith, is key to the CAPS program. Kids are allowed to explore and discuss all of their feelings. Smith's goals are to guide students in understanding their feelings, to help them learn to communicate with friends and parents, to teach them how to build positive relationships with others —in short, "to create an environment in which they can begin to feel better about themselves."

To build such self-esteem in young people, Smith organizes peer counseling groups to train participants in listening, communicating, and helping one another and to teach students when to seek professional help.

Smith works with students in each group. Each group begins with approximately 24 hours of intense discussion over several days. Training includes practice in listening, in communicating feelings tactfully, and in encouraging others to express their feelings while refraining from giving advice.

Group members develop these skills slowly, often through activities that help them learn to trust one another—as when the group stands in a tight circle and one student falls into the outstretched arms of the others. Other games help them understand more about themselves:

"If you imagined yourself to be a car," Smith asks a student, "what kind would you be?"

The answers, says Smith, give insight into each person and stimulate further discussion:

"I'd be a V.W., because they're dependable and hard working"; "I'd be a four-wheel drive, because I could operate differently in various situations."

Smith no longer has to sell kids on the CAPS program. The students spread the word among their friends, and more support groups have been born. Over time, the groups have attracted a cross section of students—high achievers and low achievers, drug users and nonusers, the assertive and the shy, leaders and followers. Now, with as many as 50 students a day taking advantage of the program, groups meet once or twice a week during study halls, lunch periods, or after school. Smith or the program's second coordinator always is present.

The support groups, says Smith, help students learn to talk about their feelings rather than turning to drugs or alcohol to numb their feelings or to create good sensations artificially. Students learn to explore the reasons behind their own behavior and to understand the effects of their behavior on others. They examine what they consider important in their lives, and they find out how to deal honestly and responsibly with conflict.

Their comments reflect what they've learned: "If I don't want to drink, I can say so without being put down," says one student. That comment represents what has become a norm at Swarthmore High School: Being against drug use is accepted and respected, as is admitting you're afraid you won't be accepted if you don't want to get high. Acting cool isn't cool, Smith has made students understand; it's simply artificial.

Other student reactions: "I don't feel left out anymore." "I have more friends." "I've learned to talk with my dad." "It's all right not to feel good all the time." "I understand my friends better." "I know myself better."

The CAPS program has grown beyond the peer counseling and support groups and now includes both crisis prevention and intervention. Prevention begins with a minicourse called "Inner View," which introduces communications skills to seventh graders. Intervention takes a variety of forms. Teachers and guidance counselors may refer students for individual counseling at the center. Sometimes a student will ask how to help persuade an addicted friend or family member to seek counseling or treatment. An Alateen group (a self-support group for teenagers who have alcoholic parents) now meets regularly after school.

Another outgrowth of the CAPS program is a task force of parents, students, teachers, school board members, administrators, clergy, and other community members. Focusing on school curriculum, policy, and parent and community involvement, the task force currently is working on a series of drug and alcohol courses for students in all grades.

The task force was instrumental in establishing a new disciplinary procedure for heavy drug users. Formerly, a student simply was expelled for violating a school drug or alcohol rule; now, the student and his parents must agree to some sort of counseling or treatment before the student may return to school. Smith sometimes refers both students and family members to an appropriate treatment center, hospital, or therapist. Acting as a go-between, she maintains the program's confidentiality. She informs school officials when a student is in treatment or counseling, but she offers no other report. This assurance of privacy is vital to the program's success, Smith says.

The task force also has a crucial role in working with the community. Parent groups, for example, have formed. Parents have requested lectures and workshops on drug and alcohol abuse and on understanding and communicating with adolescents. The task force also is exploring ways for the community to help finance CAPS. Although state funds are available in Pennsylvania to initiate prevention programs in schools, the school system must pick up the ongoing costs. By incorporating CAPS under nonprofit status, the task force hopes to raise funds to help keep the program going.

So far, however, the Wallingford-Swarthmore schools have been able to support CAPS, currently contracting for two full-time coordinators—one in Swarthmore, and the other in the district's Nether Providence High School. School board members, administrators, and teachers are convinced the program has developed healthier attitudes among students. Besides seeing less student drug and alcohol use, Principal Sandberg reports a more positive atmosphere in Swarthmore High, with students showing less cliquishness than before and a more mature understanding of one another.

Superintendent George Slick has given much thought to the schools' responsibility to students. He points out that in the face of all the negative forces influencing young people—especially the pressures to drink and use drugs—the school is in a pivotal position to support and care for students.

"There is no other single place, no other social agency that can get students to a point where they might want to seek help," he says. He sees schools as a point of support for those young people who have no other support system. These youngsters, says Slick, "go to school feeling frustrated, lonely, [fearing] that nobody loves them or cares." Schools, he says, must put these kids in a frame of mind to be educated.

For school board members who would like to consider launching a drug and alcohol-abuse prevention program, Slick recommends finding an initial funding source—an outside agency or grant that will give the school a way to initiate the program without having to find tax dollars to support it (at least until the program is off to a good start). Contracting with an agency like the Alcohol and Addictions Council—as the Wallingford-

Swarthmore schools did—is an excellent way to get started, he advises.

But even if outside funding is not available, you might well decide that money spent preventing alcohol and drug abuse is a sound investment in the welfare of children.

Museum Will Officially Open October 9

The "Roaring Ranger Museum" located in the old Texas & Pacific Railroad Depot will officially open its doors Saturday, October 9th at 11 a.m.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies and museum dedication will serve as the keystone event for the first annual "Roaring Ranger Days" Festival to be held that same day, according to Jerry Bob Greer and Tom Brashier, Museum Co-Chairmen.

In addition, the depot building will house the Ranger Chamber of Commerce office and the Ranger Exes Sports Hall of Fame. The building that will be the home of the Roaring Museum was donated to the Ranger Industrial Foundation in 1980 by the Missouri Pacific Railroad after a year and a half legal struggle that included a hearing with the Texas Railroad Commission. Originally, this historic landmark had been scheduled for destruction, but through the efforts of a group of local citizens, an agreement was reached with the Missouri-Pacific Railroad to preserve the depot for posterity and make it the permanent home for the museum that will chronicle the colorful past of Ranger, the boom town.

Erected in 1919, it stands as the largest unchanged reminder of the boom days of Roaring Ranger. The south end of the structure remains as a working part of the Missouri-Pacific with several crews working out of the office.

Many of the items for the museum are in place but the Chamber of Commerce is issuing a plea to anyone and everyone who might have artifacts or pictures they want to donate or loan to the museum. If you have such items, please contact Jerry Bob Greer at Greers Western Store or Tom Brashier at Ranger Furniture Exchange or call Stubby Warden at 647-3091.

PROPERTY TAXES—
GOOD INTENTIONS AREN'T ENOUGH

I want to talk this week about taxes and good intentions. As I travel around Texas, I notice that what's known as the Peveto Bill is the subject of much talk and controversy. This bill, named after state representative Wayne Peveto, is a tax reform law: legislation of the best intention.

The law was designed to end confusion and unfairness in the way property taxes were assessed. Property was often on different tax rolls at different values. Older properties went years, sometimes decades, without being revalued or updated. New construction and newly sold property was on the rolls at more correct values and so people who owned it paid a higher share of taxes. Some property was simply left off the rolls entirely. The system was confusing and inequitable.

In an attempt to correct these problems, the Peveto Bill created property tax appraisal boards for each Texas county. These boards were charged with the responsibility of setting all property at its full value—as residential or commercial property or as land used for agricultural purposes. Taxes could then be levied on this accurately assessed property according to the needs of the taxing entities.

It sounded good, but it hasn't worked. The biggest problem is that the people on the appraisal boards are appointed, not elected. They are not accountable to the taxpayers. So now we have a new, faceless bureaucracy to deal with. It amounts to taxation without representation.

My opponent has been on both sides of this issue, first supporting the bill in the legislature—then doing an about-face and calling it bad legislation after it was passed.

The Peveto Bill, though well-intentioned, has created problems which must be dealt with in the next legislature and as your next Lt. Governor, I will do just that. If you have any thoughts on this subject, please write me at 1213 W. 34th, Austin, 78705.

Koelreuteria paniculata, the goldenrain tree, was first described by the Reverend Eric Laxmann (1737-1796), of Sweden, who was for a time the pastor of Kolywan, a town near Tomsk on the Ob River in west-central Siberia. He published his description in Novi commentarii: Academia imperialis scientiarum petropoli in 1771 and 1772. This is one of the oldest scientific journals.

Laxmann dedicated his new genus to Joseph Gottlieb Koelreuter (1733-1806), who was professor of natural history and curator of the botanical garden at Karlsruhe in southwest Germany. Koelreuter is remembered for series of publications recording experiments and observations on sexual production in plants.

Koelreuteria is a small genus of four species that range from the Fiji Islands to Taiwan, China, and Korea. The family Sapindaceae, to which Koelreuteria belongs, is large, with about 140 genera and 1,500 species spread throughout the tropics and sub-tropics of both the Old and New World. Two species, Koelreuteria paniculata and Xanthoceras sorbifolium, are woody ornamentals and very hardy. Several of the tropical and sub-tropical species are of at least local importance as sources of edible fruits.

Koelreuteria paniculata is a small, twisted tree that grows forty-five feet high in its natural habitat but usually somewhat less in cultivation. It is native in northern China from Shanxi, just west of Beijing, southward and westward. It flowers in July and August, and there is a clone in cultivation that flowers as late as September. The tree was often planted about the tombs of Chinese feudal princes. The flowers have been used medicinally, and the plant yields a yellow dye. The hard, pea-size seed have been used as beads. It was introduced into cultivation in England in 1763.

The plant is easily grown from seed. Nick the seed coats with a file, then place in pots and cover with 1/4 inch of soil. Enclose the pots in a plastic bag, seal, and keep in a refrigerator at 35 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit for two or three months. Remove from the refrigerator and place in a warm, light (but not sunny) spot. Open the bag when the seedlings appear.

Koelreuteria paniculata is very hard in the South. In the southernmost regions of the United States, two others species are cultivated. They are both larger trees (up to sixty feet high) with long trunks, and make good street and shade trees. Koelreuteria bipinnata, from Southwest China is the hardier of the two, growing in to the Northern states.

Good Gardening until next week from your garden editor Ted Brice.

EASTLAND COUNTY FAIR PREVIEW...

Getting Ready for the Eastland County Fair - Oct. 20-23

HOW TO COOK CUCUMBERS.-We have a recipe to cook cucumbers somewhat after this fashion.

Take the cucumbers, and after cutting off the rind, but them into slices, then cut up a few onions with them, pepper and salt them to your liking, and add vinegar to them - and then, - open your window and throw them away.

This is the usual way for preparing them for the table, and doubtless the recipe is so worded as to impress the idea of their unhealthiness, and we must confess, that we are among those who have esteemed them. But if cooked as below stated, we conceive them not only to be wholesome, but among the most palatable vegetable dishes with which the table can be garnished. Our method is this:

Pare off the rind, then cut the cucumber into slices lengthwise, dust either sides of these slices with corn meal or wheat flour, pepper and salt them to please your taste; this done, fry them brown, and you will have one of the most delicious dishes that you can imagine, combining in their flavor, those of the oyster plant and eggplant. Of their healthfulness, thus cooked, there can be no question, and of the palatableness; it is only necessary that you try them, to say with us that they are exquisite.

HOME FROM A travel trailer vacation to points east are the Willis Parkers of our town. Their stopping points included Operland in Nashville, the Elvis Presley home in Memphis, and the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

The Parkers had received a very brief look at the Smithsonian when they accompanied the CJC Band and Belles to Winchester, Va., a couple of years or so ago. This time, they really looked over the famed place.

Usually it rains when the Parkers leave town. This time, there was only hot weather. And their peanut fields, like others around this area, are suffering from lack of moisture. As a matter of fact, this county's peanut yield will be comparatively small unless rains come and very soon.

MET UP WITH Ed Pugliese, graduate of CHS, CJC and Howard Payne U, and he has put his new degree from college to work.

Ed took a job at Munday and his duties include teaching history classes, coaching junior football and basketball, and helping with high school coaching.

Ed was an outstanding student assistant with athletic teams in high school, junior college and senior college. Although he didn't play football or basketball, Ed is a student of the game and is well qualified as a coach. The Munday team won their opening game.

THE GROUP of dove hunters drinking coffee at the White Elephant Restaurant the other morning included three former Ciscoans - Dr. E.H. Ramsey of San Antonio, Buddy Waters of Fort Worth and Dr. David Waters of Tulsa. They enjoyed several outings here during the Labor Day weekend.

Dr. David told us that he has just moved from Oregon to Tulsa and will be opening offices to practice chiropractic in the Tulsa area. David and Buddy are sons of Mrs. Wilma Water and nephews of Dr. Ramsey.

PLAYING GOLF at the Cisco Country Club the other afternoon, Mr. Derward Morris was real pleased to see his chip shot from 125 feet off the green roll into the No. 8 cup for a birdie two... Back home and on the job as manager of the Cisco Country Club is Mr. Bob Bennie. His vacation included a visit with brother Bill Bennie at Sherman and a dove hunting trip with three highway patrolmen (Bill is with the DPS)... The Bill Pencas are back home after a holiday weekend visit out at Odessa where they used to live.

ONE OF OUR scouts went to a local firm the other day and bought some meat, potato salad and beans. After serving her family a delicious meal, the lady started to put the remains of the potato salad in a small dish for storage in the refrigerator.

Something gleamed as she picked up the potato salad. Investigation revealed a diamond ring - a gold engagement type ring. The lady took the ring back to the store and an assistant server, who hadn't missed her ring, was very, very glad and thankful to get her ring back.

OVER AT THE First United Methodist Church they're having a rummage sale from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 9-10. Ladies of the church are baking pies that you can drop by Fellowship Hall there and eat - coffee and pie at a reasonable price.

What is more, you can donate items for the sale if you have some things around the house that you'd like to pass along... Members of the church are working there on Wednesday nights to get everything ready for their homecoming on October 9.

GLAD TO HEAR that Mrs. Jimmie (Jeanne) Lee is home from West Texas Medical Center, Abilene, where she was hospitalized for some two weeks. Her condition was reported as improved... Holiday weekend visitors at Mrs. Lee's mother's house (Mrs. Lillian Hansen) in Cisco were Mrs. Lonnie (Dixie) Crosby of New Deal, near Lubbock, and daughter Cindy Porter and her daughter Brandi. Lonnie Crosby is superintendent of greens and fairways at a big country club golf course in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Foy (Jeannette) Flood of Seymour and their daughter and two sons were also visitors at Hansen House. Mr. Flood is superintendent of schools at Seymour.

Interested bidders should inspect copies of the lease agreement to be used at the City Secretary's office in City Hall. The City Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to waive any or all bid requirements. Ginger Johnson, City Secretary (9-8, 9-11)

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO WATER CUSTOMERS OF HIGH TURBIDITY

Dear Customer:

The City of Cisco during the month of July, 1982, supplied water that exceeded the Texas Department of Health's "Drinking Water Standards," which were promulgated as required by the "Safe Drinking Water Act," Public Law 93-523 (US), for turbidity. The water supplied failed one or more of the following criteria: (1) the monthly average exceeded 1 turbidity unit (TU).

The presence of excessive turbidity or cloudiness in drinking water may interfere with the effectiveness of disinfection of the water. Permitting the turbidity level to exceed the standard may present a risk to the health of persons drinking the water.

However, up to five turbidity units (TU) may be allowed if the supplier can demonstrate that the higher turbidity does not: (1) interfere with disinfection, (2) prevent maintenance of an effective disinfectant agent throughout the distribution system, (3) interfere with microbiological measurements.

The water system is being studied to correct any high turbidity at any future date.

The notification of the public is in compliance with Texas "Drinking Water Standards" and the "Safe Drinking Water Act," as a means of keeping the public informed.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR A BRANCH OFFICE AND OF HEARING THEREON

Notice is hereby given that application has been made to the Savings and Loan Commissioner of Texas by Olney Savings Association, Olney, Young County, Texas, for the approval of a branch office of said association, such branch office to be located at:

701 Avenue D
Cisco, Eastland County, Texas

Notice is further given that hearing on the application is set for Monday, October 4, 1982, at 10:00 a.m., in the offices of the Savings and Loan Department, 1004 Lavaca, Austin, Texas, pursuant to authority and jurisdiction granted by Art. 852a, TEX. REV. CIV. STAT. ANN. The particular sections of the statute involved are 2.13 and 11.11. The particular rules involved are 056.01.00.003 through 013 and 056.02.00.003 and .004. Such rules are on file with the Secretary of State, Texas Register Division, or may be seen at the Department's offices.

The applicant association asserts: that operation of the proposed branch office will not unduly harm any other association operating in the vicinity; that there is a public need for the proposed branch office; that the volume of business in the community in which the proposed branch office will operate is as to yield a profit to the association in a reasonable time, and certain other assertions per rules 056.02.00.003 and .004.

Anyone desiring to oppose this application may do so by writing the Commissioner at P.O. Box 1089, Austin, Texas, 78767, and so indicating or by appearing at 10:00 a.m., October 4, 1982, in the Department's offices and voicing opposition when the application is called.

If no opposition is registered prior to or at the time the application is called, hearing may be dispensed with; if opposition is registered and existing when called, hearing on the application will be continued to a later date for the purpose of receiving testimony and evidence from the parties and to accumulate a record of pertinent information and data in support of the application and in opposition to the application. ISSUED in Austin, Texas, August 31, 1982.

Interested bidders should inspect copies of the lease agreement to be used at the City Secretary's office in City Hall. The City Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to waive any or all bid requirements. Ginger Johnson, City Secretary (9-8, 9-11)

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would exempt machinery and equipment used in the production of farm and ranch products from taxation. No dollar limits would be imposed and the exemption would apply to corporations and partnerships as well as to families and individuals.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment exempting implements of husbandry (agricultural machinery and equipment) from ad valorem taxation."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 77 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Legislature to set a four year maximum term of office for board members of certain water districts and conservation and reclamation districts.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide terms not to exceed four years for members of governing boards of certain water districts and conservation and reclamation districts."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 119 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize Tarrant and Bee counties to hold county-wide elections to abolish the county treasurer's office by majority vote.

Should the county treasurer's office be abolished, the duties, powers, and functions of that office would be transferred to the county auditor or the successor to the auditor's functions.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment to abolish the office of county treasurer in Tarrant and Bee counties."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would raise the constitutional interest rate limit on state general obligation bonds from 6% to 12%. The new 12% ceiling does not, however, apply to bonds issued by the Veterans' Land Board.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment increasing the maximum interest rate allowed on state general obligation bonds to a weighted average annual interest rate of 12%."

WEEKEND VISITORS at the Louis (Jake) Morgan home were their daughter Susie and husband... And the Paul Blaines entertained their daughter and husband during the holidays... Mr. Loyal Lundstrom tells us that he is chairman of the program for the Cisco Lions Club luncheon this Wednesday noon and that Pat Owens and a group of her Wrangler Belles will be there to entertain the club.

THE DELEON Bearcats lived up to their reputation as the top team in District 10-AA when they played here last Friday night. Elsewhere, you'll read where they threshed out Lobos. The Lobos will very likely be a good team as they gain a bit of experience.

The Lobo Band certainly looked good in their debut. This year, Director Al Young will recognize a section of the band each week for outstanding work. And members of this section will wear gold feathers in their hats on Friday nights. The honor last Friday night went to the trombones... Matt Ritchie was a soloist with his trumpet in one number... The costumes worn by the drum major and majorettes were distinctive.

A new rules allows the whole football team (if you're beyond the 50-yard line in enemy territory) to call time out and go to the sidelines for a conference with the coaches... The new signboard in front of the pressbox says "Home of the Lobos" and in tiny type just above the word Lobos is the slogan type phrase "home of rats on cheese." Nobody around us quite understood the meaning of the slogan but there's probably a good reason for it... Chesley Field had a real good crowd for the game.

Cisco Boy Scout Troop 101 raised the flag in pre-game ceremonies... Rev. Buddy Sipe gave the invocation.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S debut of the CJC Wranglers was most impressive as the Cisco team defeated McMurry College's junior varsity... The half time show featured the Wrangler Belles and Band in their first outing of the year. Prof. Wyley Peebles was on the job to MC the show. The 48-piece Wrangler Band sounded super and the Belles, who are 45 strong this year, were applauded for a good job... Mr. Gary Adams gave the invocation.

You'll want to be in Chesley Field this coming Saturday night as CJC tangles with Tyler JC. The Tyler team is always one of the state's top junior college teams.

Thursday at 7 p.m., the Cisco High junior varsity will entertain the Haskell JV at Chesley Field and, of course, the Lobos will be in Haskell on Friday night.

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 2, 1982

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 1 proposes a constitutional amendment that prohibits any state ad valorem tax. Receipts from previously authorized state ad valorem taxes that are collected after the effective date of the proposed amendment shall be deposited to the credit of the general fund of the county collecting the taxes and may be expended for county purposes. Taxes collected before that date shall be distributed by the legislature among educational institutions eligible to receive those funds under prior law. The proposed amendment also repeals a section of the Constitution levying an ad valorem tax for a construction fund for 17 state colleges and universities.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment repealing the state property tax."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 62 as amended by Senate Joint Resolution 10 proposes a constitutional amendment that would eliminate the $80,000,000 ceiling on state welfare aid during any fiscal year.

The amendment would set the state welfare spending limit at $160,000,000 for the 1982-1983 biennium.

The amendment further provides that, for each subsequent biennium, the maximum amount spent for state welfare shall not exceed one percent of the state budget.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to provide assistance through the appropriations process to needy persons and to place a ceiling on payments for needy dependent children at one percent of the state budget."
