

Let's Count Our Blessings Today

For family and friends, bountiful food on the table, love and laughter in our hearts, we are truly thankful. Let's cherish our good fortune in life all the year through, as we express our thoughts of Thanksgiving today.

ALL AMERICANS HAVE REASON TO

GIVE THANKS

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

MOST LOCAL business will be enjoying a holiday this week, as they close for Thanksgiving Day on Thursday. Most of them will reopen on Friday for business as usual.

Let's all remember to give thanks on this holiday for our numerous blessings.

We wish you all a Happy Thanksgiving.

ISN'T IT appropriate for the week of Thanksgiving to also be National Bible Week. In observance of Bible Week the following article is being reprinted here in this column. I found the article both interesting and educational. I hope you will, too.

The article was written by Dr. Martin E. Marty, the Fairfax M. Cone Distinguished Service Professor of the History of Modern Christianity, U. of Chicago, and author of many books. Dr. Marty wrote this article expressly for the Laymen's National Bible Committee.

It is reprinted as follows:

THE BIBLE AND AMERICAN PUBLIC FAITH

Most religious Americans express their personal faith through their church or synagogue. They display their interest in public life at the town meeting or in the voting booth. For their religious life the Bible is the preferred text. For civic life they will turn to the Declaration of Independence or the United States Constitution.

Few of these Americans, however, live in such a way that personal and public faith are completely kept apart. They may well believe in the separation of church and state. Yet the United States flag or other patriotic symbols are likely to grace the sanctuary. Meanwhile, public sites and ceremonies often take on the spirit of the sacred.

The newly elected king will be crowned by Mr. Mike Turner, Cisco High School principal. The king will then crown the queen.

Other members of the court are representatives, who are chosen by their respective classes, from pre-kindergarten through Cisco Junior College.

The Junior Class will present a program for the entertainment of King and Queen Lobo. The program will be "Alice", a mini-musical adaptation of Alice in Wonderland. This musical is full of happy surprises and charming dialogue. Everyone's favorite characters are included in the stage action. The Cisco High Jazz Band will also be a part of the program.

Tickets are two dollars ($2.00) for adults and one dollar ($1.00) for students. Tickets are available from members of the Junior Class and will also be available at the door that night.

Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (M.A.D.D.) will have a representative at the County-Wide War-on-Drugs Rally to be held Saturday, Dec. 4, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Siebert Elementary School in Eastland, it has been announced.

M.A.D.D. is a nation-wide organization whose goal is to help rid the streets and highways of drunk drivers. Chapters are active throughout Texas and the program will be explained so that if there is interest for such an organization here, one can be formed.

Mrs. Betty Prude will represent M.A.D.D. at the Eastland County meeting.

The special program is sponsored by the County Anti-Drug Committee in cooperation with TANE, and will also feature the current, dramatic and informative film "Epidemic" and an ex-

Two Autos Collide Here Last Friday

Automobiles driven by Gary G. Carson of 904 West 9th Street and Mrs. Edith Pearl Donaway of Route 4, Cisco, were in collision at the intersection of 8th Street and Avenue E last Friday morning. Both cars, a late model Volkswagen and a Chevrolet sedan, had extensive damage.

Police Chief Raymond Blevins, who assisted a DPS patrolman in investigating the mishap, said that Mrs. Jamie Boyd and one-month baby, passengers in the Volkswagen, were treated for cuts and bruises at E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital and released.

Another highlight of the program will be a presentation by County Sheriff John Morren and an inmate of the County Jail on the consequence of drug abuse. Other program features will be announced.

The entire public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

A number of churches in the county are making arrangements with TANE for speakers from that organization to speak in churches on Sunday, Dec. 5. Others interested in securing special TANE speakers may do so by contacting First Baptist Church, Eastland, 629-1671.

Two Men Attempt To Rob Quickway Clerk Near Bank

Two men wearing ski masks were unsuccessful in an attempt to rob a Quickway Grocery employee Sunday night as she deposited a bag of money at the First National Bank's night depository, according to a police report.

Mrs. Alva Ingram of Quickway had driven to the bank around 11:30 p.m., the report said. When she started to place the money sack in the deposit slot, the two men appeared from the nearby alley and grabbed her arm.

Mrs. Ingram was able to get the money bag into the deposit slot and the men fled as she screamed. Police were notified but were unable to find anyone.

Freeway Drifting May Be Hazardous

Don't be a "Freeway Drifter", especially if you are drifting out of Eastland County to do your Christmas shopping!

"Drifters" may even be mauled in a mall somewhere - probably not physically, but right in the pocketbook where it still hurts. And the worst part of the scene is that "Drifters" will battle through a crowd of strangers and stand on aching feet, only to ask a dozen people: "Are you a clerk here, please?"

They will also have their ears bombarded by worn-out canned Christmas music, and feel their minds go blank from trying to decide what to buy. Then, exhausted, they finally choose some item, only to return to one of the Eastland County towns and find the same thing in a window of a local store for considerably less money.

They shouldn't be surprised, for the stores in Cisco, Eastland, Ranger, and Rising Star have such lovely gifts this year! Things you can buy range from cars and computers through the latest toys to intricate handwork.

And don't forget the shops which have strictly Eastland County products: paintings by local artists, books by local writers and publishers, sacks of pecans and peanuts, handcrafts, woodwork, purses and leatherwork. Or what about a subscription to the local newspapers - what could be more appreciated? Or flowers and plants from a local florist, or gift certificates from stores and restaurants?

There are stores which have been here for generations, and new shops by enterprising young people. All they ask is that you give them a chance to show what they have. Without the merchants, the local towns cannot exist. They were founded as trade centers for people who live in the area, and they live and grow only as the local people support them. Even the value of property in the area depends on how well the citizens support their towns. And remember that one cent of every dollar you spend in your town comes back from the State Comptroller for local use.

There is an old story - and a true one - about a settler in South Africa who wanted more than anything to find a diamond. So he left his own farm and wandered about the countryside, but was unsuccessful in his search. Years later someone happened to pick up a large brown rock from this man's property, and found that underneath the surface the stone was a solid diamond! More exploration revealed a vast quantity of gems right on this farm.

There are not only "diamonds" in the local towns, but there are many fringe benefits of staying in Eastland County to shop. These include getting to see the attractive local decorations, and visiting with your friends and neighbors in the different stores while you shop. This adds a warmth, an aura, which belongs to the season. After all - isn't Christmas an event to share with people you really care about? Take time to drop by your favorite Churches to see what they have done to make the season more festive. And don't skip taking time to bring your children down to see the Eastland County Courthouse some cold, starry night. The lights will be a part of their memory forever.

So don't be a "Freeway Drifter" - a hurried and harried individual who doesn't take time to count the gasoline cost, and time of driving away to the big towns to shop. Take your time, energy and money and drift right in to your local town, there to look over the beautiful stock of Christmas merchandise.

Christian Science Schedules Thanksgiving Services

A special service of thanksgiving, November 25th at the Christian Science Church, corner of Plummer and Lamar at 11:00 a.m., will trace the Scriptural record of God's blessings - even in times of widespread economic challenges. The Bible lesson-sermon, drawn from both the Old and New Testaments, focuses on God's provision for daily needs of food, clothing, shelter, as well as the deeper yearnings of the heart for fulfillment, health, and the opportunity to help others.

Among specific passages to be included in the sermon are reassurances for Proverbs, "Through wisdom is an house builded; and by understanding it is established," and from Philipians, "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

Brief relevant selections from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be read, including her much-quoted statement: "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

Like all Christian Science services, the Thanksgiving meeting is open to all.

The latter part of the hour-long service has been set aside for expressions of gratitude. Hymns, the Lord's Prayer, and the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation complete the order of service.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO WATER CUSTOMERS OF HIGH TURBIDITY

Dear Customer:

The City of Cisco during the month of September, 1982, supplied water that exceeded the Texas Department of Health's "Drinking Water Standards," which were promulgated as required by the "Safe Drinking Water Act," Public Law 93-523 (US), for turbidity. The water supplied failed one or more of the following criteria: (1) the monthly average exceeded 1 turbidity unit (TU).

The presence of excessive turbidity or cloudiness in drinking water may interfere with the effectiveness of disinfection of the water. Permitting the turbidity level to exceed the standard may present a risk to the health of persons drinking the water.

However, up to five turbidity units (TU) may be allowed if the supplier can demonstrate that the higher turbidity does not: (1) interfere with disinfection, (2) prevent maintenance of an effective disinfectant agent throughout the distribution system, (3) interfere with microbiological measurements.

The water system is being studied to correct any high turbidity at any future date. The notification of the public is in compliance with Texas "Drinking Water Act," as a means of keeping the public informed.

HALL OF REMARKS

Washington. They stop being tourists as they come to this national shrine. Instinctively they remove their hats and shush their children. They approach quietly, just as their ancestors may have entered a cathedral in Europe or a holy place in Africa or Asia.

Presidential inaugural addresses are political. Yet with an instinct that goes beyond politics almost every new President has used his first address to call the nation to holy purposes. Quite frequently, he will quote the Bible and apply its words to the American state and people. All presidents, since Washington, have also brought a Bible which has been important to them, to use for the oath of office. The more eloquent of these inaugural speeches recall the words of ancient prophets who thundered the judgment of God and then gave the people a sense of worth and a spirit of hope.

Scholars regard the people's sense of the holy as part of America's "civil religion" or "public faith." Such a faith does not and cannot satisfy all the needs of life. It does not save souls or gladden sad hearts. Rarely does it minister to people who face death or who celebrate the joys of family life. Yet the sense of the sacred in the public realm can serve a nation well in times of crisis—the Revolutionary or Civil Wars, the battles against dictatorships, the seasons when many are dispersed. When they are uncertain, citizens look to the past to explore their roots and their traditions. Perhaps there they can find a new path.

When citizens look back, they have to work with texts and traces. Their public faith comes from memories and stories. Each person's memory only goes back one short lifetime. To get more of the whole story, we need texts, pages, letters. These tell us what it was like to be someone else, somewhere else. We open such texts to get ideas and images. For public faith, the Declaration of Independence, folk songs, the poetry of Emerson and Whitman, and presidential addresses all have their place.

Millions upon millions of citizens turn to the Bible for another set of texts. No law commands people to have faith in it. You cannot force it upon any one. Many Americans live apart from it and remain good citizens. They are free to attack its teachings.

The Bible, however, needed no law to make its way and has survived both those who ignore it and those who attack it. This book, or library of ancient books, has won its way into American hearts. Every year it remains a best-seller. It shows up in public places, as presidents and common citizens take their oaths. Its phrases live in public addresses. Interest groups quote it to state their claims.

Most people who read the Bible hear in it the Word of God. They may argue over how it came to be that Word and what it all means. But most of them do agree that it is a book in whose plot they still have a part. Its story of ancient Israel or, for Christians, of the early believers in Jesus, looks into the future. Its promises, they believe, include people of later times—including the American epoch.

The Native Americans, who came from Asia ages ago, were not readers and did not know the Bible. Page one of the European experience in America, however, did begin with the Bible. Christopher Columbus searched maps and geographies, but he also read the Bible to get guidance. Columbus loved prophecies like this one: "(God) shall have dominion above from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth." Columbus wanted to help realize God's domain.

The New Englanders and other Protestants brought the Bible and then used it as a mirror of their daily life. They thought of their leaders as heroes and compared them to Moses and Joshua, the leaders of Israel. Puritans drew their laws from those of Moses, and named their towns after biblical places: Salem, Canaan, Rehoboth.

In colonial times Jews came without rabbi but with Bibles. Like the Christians, they saw the American wilderness and little cities as new Zion, a promised land under the guidance of God. When the nation was born, all these believers used the Bible to find ways to give worth to their life together, their public faith.

Such use of the Bible can get people into trouble. A nation can have too much sense of worth, too strong a sense of mission. Citizens can call themselves a chosen or elect people, as Americans have done, and then act as if God favors only them—which, according to the Bible, (Amos 9:7) God does to no people.

When Americans get too high and mighty about their "chosenness," it is the words of the Bible that best corrects them. The nation's preachers look at pride and read Psalms 2(v.4): "He who sits in the heavens laugh" when the princes of earth do their proud plotting. The prophets reduce God's elect people of old or the diverse peoples of America (Isaiah 40:15): "Behold, the nations are like a drop from a bucket, and are accounted as the dust on the scales, compared to the power and purpose of God. Billions, bullets, and ballots become like nothing.

In American public faith, President Abraham Lincoln best knew how to use the Bible to judge a people and then give it hope. He called Americans an "almost chosen people." They had to feel "chosen" to carry out worthwhile purposes—even to the point of death. Yet they were only "almost" chosen, since God had had other, greater plans for the world through the chosen people of biblical times.

During the Civil War Lincoln reminded both sides that "in great contests each party claims to act in accordance with the will of God. Both may be, and one must be wrong." In the present war, he added, "it is quite possible that God's purpose is something different from the purpose of either party." Yet, humbled by that knowledge, people had to act. Elsewhere he said, "That the Almighty does make use of human agencies, and directly intervenes in human affairs, is one of the plainest statements in the Bible." So all sides should try to discern God's mysterious will and to follow it—but then learn from the Bible that they are not themselves God.

Such advice is still valid for Americans who see themselves in the plot of the Bible. In times of financial recession all "parties" are tempted to claim this or that passage of the Bible on their side. In the defense of the nation or the quest for peace, all sides can find some biblical texts to justify what they are doing. In the battle against those who ignore or oppose the Bible it is tempting to quote a favorite section in support of one's own view—on issues as important as the care of the earth, the beginnings and endings of human life, the values we pass on to children, the way Americans determine sexual and family patterns, and the like.

The Bible, in other words, does not settle arguments and sometimes it only heats them up. Yet for all the difficulties, it remains the great guide for believers. From its pages they learn that they have worth, that they can be a "hope of earth." At the same time they learn that they alone do not have all the worth; God loves all people, all peoples. The Bible teaches citizens to have regard for the nation "under God," but to be prepared to follow God when the nation departs from divine ways. Biblical pages teach concern for the neighbor, love for the enemy, support for the friend—messages Americans need in private life and in their public faith.

Perhaps the greatest service the Bible performs is to represent the eternal. The purposes of God outlast those of the peoples and nations. To learn this from the Bible is a liberating idea. People who know this are less likely to pretend to be God, or to be anxious about the purposes of their nation. They are then free to accept the tasks of each day, in personal life and in civic duties. When all others ask them how they know that their and their citizens' lives have value and meaning, they are likely to answer, "The Bible says...."

Industrial Arts Club Hears Susan Harris Commentary

The Industrial Arts Club members heard Susan Harris present a commentary concerning Free Enterprise, when they met last Thursday, Nov. 18, in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church, with Sue Taylor as hostess.

Mrs. Ruby Lee Pirtle, president, called the meeting to order. Nineteen members answered roll call and Elsie Jackson led the group in repeating the club collect and pledge to the U.S. flag.

During the business session Mrs. Pirtle asked for a brief pause of silent prayer for Helen Hounshell who was absent due to the death of her father and also Mrs. W.W. Wallace who lost her son.

The program leader, Evelyn Fry, introduced the high school student, Susan Harris, who told of some learning experiences she received while attending the Eastland County Farm Bureau Seminar which was held on the campus of Baylor University in Waco during the summer.

Mrs. Fry said that two girls were selected, Ann Allison and Susan Harris, out of Eastland County to attend the seminar. She said that two students are selected each year from different schools in the county. They are to be juniors or seniors and in the upper 35% of their class in grades. She stated that the seminar is a form of education in citizenship, American heritage and free enterprise. The study helps students to have a better understanding of what makes America great and what must be done to preserve the country.

In keeping with one of the club's annual projects, the president, Mrs. Pirtle, encouraged members to contribute a monetary gift to be sent to Girlstown USA.

Calvary Baptist Enjoys Dinner

On Thursday, November 18, the Calvary Baptist Church enjoyed a Thanksgiving dinner at the American Legion Hall. Approximately 65 guests attended.

Following the buffet dinner, they were entertained by two special guest singers. The singers are Nelson Dodson of Carbon and Ike Wittson of Eastland. Their special music included "In This Church," "I've Never Been This Homesick Before," "He Looked Beyond My Faults," "Lift Him Up," "Just a Closer Walk With Thee," "Turn Your Radio," "I Saw The Light," and "Rise Again." They were so good, they were called back for an encore. So, they did a medley of popular hymns.

The food was delicious and the music was great. The dinner was a success.

The Madrigal Singers of Cisco Junior College will present their ninth Christmas Madrigal Dinner, December 2 and 3, at the Roof Garden Dinner Theatre. The singers are pictured with their director, Wyley Peebles, chairman of the Fine Arts Department at CJC.

The 1982 Madrigal Dinner begins at 7 p.m. each evening with a trumpet fanfare announcing the entrance of the singers, who process to the madrigal table as they sing. They light the Christmas candles, and another trumpet fanfare announces the bringing in of the wassail bowl, a hot punch which is served to the guests. In a similar manner the trumpets announce the procession of the roast pig, and each guest is served a portion of this unusual delight. At the conclusion of the meal a flaming pudding is brought in and all is served to the accompaniment of Christmas carols.

Finally, the concert of madrigals and carols begins. The concert this year will have at least four bona fide madrigals, some ancient religious music, and plenty of traditional Christmas music. As has been the custom in recent years, the program will have some kind of special feature. In years past it has been classical guitar, a string trio, a real pipe organ, and a guest vocalist. Peebles declined to say what it would be this year, but he did say, "I don't know why I never thought of this before."

Reservations are required and may be made by calling 817/442-2567. Tickets are $8 each.

Stricter Driving Laws Decrease Accidents

Since California's stricter drunken driving laws took effect nearly a year ago, fewer people have died in alcohol-related accidents, but authorities are reluctant to claim success in the campaign to end highway fatalities.

"No simple cause-and-effect relationship should be drawn between these laws and the decrease in traffic deaths involving alcohol, but the reductions in all significant categories seem to indicate that the new DUI (driving-under-the-influence) laws are having a positive effect," Glen Craig, commissioner of the California Highway Patrol, said.

The patrol and Department of Motor Vehicle statistics on drunken driving show:

- From Jan. 1, when the laws went into effect, through August, there were 25,000 more convictions for drunken driving than during the same period of 1981.

- The DMV revoked or suspended the licenses of 10,000 more drivers than it did during those months earlier.

- The number of arrests for DUI during the same period was 87,754, compared with 87,166 in the same time in 1981.

- The number of deaths blamed on drunken drivers dropped 11.1 percent, from 989 during this year. The number of deaths in which alcohol was a factor but not the main cause of an accident dropped 15 percent, from 1,600 to 1,360.

Carole Lockhart, traffic safety coordinator for the DMV, said the number of reckless driving convictions dropped from 1981 to 1982, "which would indicate to me that anti-plea bargaining laws in fact working. More people are being convicted of drunken driving rather than reckless, which was intended."

The new laws require that first offenders either serve two days in jail or have their driver's license suspended for 90 days.

Shaklee Club

The Eastland County Shaklee Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday, December 13, at the Colony Restaurant in Cisco for a Christmas dinner. Special guest will be Dr. Jim Calvert, who will be showing a film.

Bass Club

Oak Creek, southwest of Abilene was the sight we drew for our Nov. tourney. We had 6 members to fish this month with only 2 bringing in 14" or better fish. Will Johnson Sr. took first place and big bass with the big fish weighing 4 lbs. 13 oz. Bobby Maynard was second this month.

Our next meeting will be Dec. 2nd and we need everyone to plan to attend. We shall be discussing our awards banquet and also some new ideas for improvement in the club activities and participation. So everyone please plan to attend. Our usual meeting facilities will not be available this month. We shall announce where we will meet in the near future. Good fishing till next cast. Terry Wilson

Spotlights And Sidelights

When you sit down to the turkey, cranberries and pumpkin pie, plus all the other digestibles and indigestibles, on the Thanksgiving table, you are celebrating a holiday that has been tabbed as "peculiarly American."

However, the Pilgrims had not come up with a new idea at all. They latched on to a custom the Chinese had carried on for thousands of years.

The same custom is embodied in the Jewish Feast of Tabernacles which lasted eight days instead of the three credited to the Pilgrims.

The Greeks whooped it up for nine days for Demeter, their goddess of agriculture. So did the Romans cavort and caper in honor of their Ceres—from whose name comes our cereal, be it all bran to benefit the plumping of us ancients or sugar pops to ruin the teeth of the latest sprouts on the family tree!

The Anglo-Saxons based their Harvest Home celebrations on part of the Druids' high jinks at Halloween. Sometimes the festivities were held in the barns so all the workers could eat and drink at the same time. In Scotland the harvest feast usually followed a service at the church which had been decorated with autumn fruits and vegetables as well as flowers.

England celebrated various days of thanksgiving for such reasons as the defeat of the French by the Black Prince (whoever he was) in 1386. The victory over the Spanish Armada in 1588 came in for gratitude; so did failure of the Gunpowder Plot in 1605.

This last even, also known as Guy Fawkes Day from the man credited with being the chief instigator, was a plan to blow up Parliament by setting fire to barrels of gunpowder in the basement of their meeting place - Parliament's, not the plotters'.

Other countries celebrating fall harvests were Holland, Russia, Norway, Lithuania and Poland.

Back to the Pilgrims and their crops in 1621: After months of anxiety over whether they'd have enough food to make it through the winter, the harvest was abundant. The Pilgrims felt so happy about it that they invited the friendly Indians to come to the party.

The Indians came—ninety of them. They didn't know about BYOB parties, but they did bring along a number of deer they had killed for the feast, and they introduced the Pilgrims to oyster shucking, too.

As piety was about the chief Pilgrim import, it's interesting that history makes no mention of religious services at the 1621 Thanksgiving.

Things changed in 1623. Faced with starvation as a result of a hard winter, followed by severe drought, in 1623 the Pilgrims got their act together and their crops survived. So did they.

The Thanksgiving Day, November 23, 1623, is the real beginning of the present social-religious occasion. Governor Bradford made it clear that "ye Colony" owed its continued existence to the favorable attention of God. In his proclamation he advised all "ye Pilgrims, with your wives and little ones" had better trek on over to the meeting house and "render thanksgiving to ye Almighty God for all His blessings."

Perhaps motivation was lacking, but there seems to have been only a regularly irregular observance of such days for a number of years. But the custom of combining the religious elements with the social spread from the New England area to other settlements.

Following England's example of giving thanks for victories, Americans set Thanksgiving Days for bat-les won and treaties signed. George Washington designated Thursday, 11-26-1789, as the day to honor the adoption of The Constitution, "a form of government that would make for safety and happiness."

There probably are questions floating around about how much safety and happiness we have on tap right now.

But. Even when tears roll down my cheeks as I chop onions for cornbread dressing, even when I get at 5:30 a.m. to put the turkey in the s-l-o-w oven, even when all three kids talk to me at the same time, a grandbaby sobs woefully because he can't have the butcher knife, and all four of the neighbor's dog howl at a police siren, I am so very happy to be "peculiarly American!"

Letters to the Editor

I would like to take this opportunity to say to the teachers in the Cisco public school system, that in no way did I intend to underrate them. I along with the majority of the people in Cisco know that we have some very fine, well educated, and dedicated teachers, not only to their professions but to the students in our public schools. I along with the other people know that if a teacher wants their job and to be able to stay in Cisco Public School Systems that they had better tow the line. To most of you this is your home, your choice of where you want to live and I feel sorry that you can not speak out about what is happening in our educational system, without being afraid of losing your job. In all professions there is bad apples and it is hard to remove them at times. I believe there are some teachers in our schools that are not qualified to teach in the levels that they are in and there are probably those that are more qualified than in the position they are in. Maybe some day in the near future we will have a change around and we will have children that will be proud to attend school in Cisco and will be qualified to go on to college and higher professions.

Thank you
William J. Eudy

To the Editor and Citizens of Cisco

Are you the business people and the football fans aware, that we could have had a football game played in Cisco Friday night? Yes this past Friday night, November 19, 1982! Our town was situated exactly half way between the two teams. The superintendents of those schools asked if they could have their play off game in Cisco. The answer they received was "it would be too much hassle!" Can you believe this? You the business people lost out—maybe gas sales, restaurants and many other businesses lost out. I am sure that our local Lobo Booster Club would have volunteered to sell tickets and most likely that Band Boosters would have been glad to have ran the concession stands. Would it have been too much hassle for you citizens to help out. I would have volunteered my services. But our town lost out

Basketball Teams Score Victories

By Bill Roberts

Schreiner Institute is 0-2 against both the Cisco Junior College Wranglers and the CJC Lady Wranglers—and the two Cisco teams couldn't be happier.

Both teams scored wins over the Kerrville-based school Saturday night, with the Wranglers winning 91-62 and the Lady Wranglers posting an 88-38 victory.

Consistent scoring by 6-3 sophomore Bruce Coleman and 6-4½ freshman David Jones continue to pace the Wranglers, with another Wrangler, 6-4½ freshman Teddy Butler, helping the CJC cause—all with double-figure performances.

Coleman was the leading scorer for the Wranglers with 27 points, while Butler added 19 and Jones 13. Coleman continues to lead the Wrangler scoring with a 20.8 scoring average. Jones is next with an 18.0 mark.

Tuesday night, the Wranglers hosted Panola Junior College in an 8 p.m. game while the Lady Wranglers met Navarro for the second time this season.

Barbara Williams, a 5-9 freshman from Thorndale, is currently the leading scorer for the Lady Wranglers with a 14.5 scoring average while 6-0¼ Hamilton freshman Linda Hubert is next with a 12.9 mark.

Saturday's win upped the Lady Wranglers' record to 6-4 as the CJC women outscored hapless Schreiner 44-13 in the first half, then duplicated their first half scoring in the second 20 minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Green of Perryton are spending some time with his parents, the Calvin Kings and Ray Green. Mrs. Judy Maxwell and Mrs. Pam Shirley were shopping at Abilene Thursday.

Mrs. Jewel Free of Baird Nursing Home and granddaughter, Mrs. Kent Carlile of Midland ate lunch and visited friends at the Community Center Friday.

Billy Wagley and family had dinner at Underwoods at Brownwood Saturday evening.

ANNIVERSARY PARTY
The family of Mr. and Mrs. Glover Johnson would like for you to join them in celebrating the 40th year of their marriage at the Scranton Community Center on November 27th from 4 to 7:30 p.m.

Williams managed 11 points in the game, with high point honors being shared by Sherrie Hill and Laney Oliver with 16 each. DeLinda Pendleton added 15 in the CJC romp. Gwen Johnson and Diane Bendele each had seven to lead Schreiner.

In the men's game, CJC opened up an 11-point lead at halftime, 38-27, then outscored the Mountaineers 53-35 in the second half.

Butler got the balance of his scoring in the second half, hitting five field goals and was three-for-three at the free throw line to help boost the Wrangler scoring effort.

The Wranglers entered last night's game with Panola with a 6-3 record, which includes a five-game win streak. CJC is now 5-1 at home at 1-2 on the road.

Doubling Your Pleasure

From reader George Caron of Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, comes this letter:

Quite accidentally, I discovered the possibility of making an intentional double exposure using my Nikon EM SLR. This opens a brand new field of creative photography about which you certainly can enlighten many of your readers besides yours truly. Doubtless, there have to be rules to observe and a host of do's and don'ts. A few questions come to mind: Should the first shot receive more or less exposure than the second? Or should they be treated alike? Is there any usage of filters recommended for that purpose? And, finally, can you dispense some fresh ideas for this kind of shooting?

I don't personally fool much with multiple-exposure photography. Mostly that's because I haven't had the time. I have created some intentional double exposures which turned out pretty well, however. And I've seen many other photographers' multiple-exposure images which were nothing short of spectacular.

If you're interested in trying your hand at ME's, you'll need some basic knowledge. First, the most common type of ME is the montage—one scene superimposed on another. In creating that image, look for scenes or subjects that either complement or contrast with each other. Pay special attention to colors, as well as to light and dark tones.

After you've taken the first shot, it's a good idea to make a quick sketch of the scene on paper so that you can remember the position of the elements in the scene and use that to your advantage. To prevent overexposure, you'll have to give each shot in a montage less exposure than the subject, alone, would require. The correct reduced exposure can be calculated by multiplying your film's ASA rating by the number of shots in your ME. Set that number on your camera's ASA dial.

For example, if you planned on superimposing three images on ASA 100 film, you would set the dial at ASA 300 and then take the three shots. Or, if you prefer, adjust the lens aperture, instead. For two images in a montage, underexpose the shots by 1 f/stop. For 3 images, 1½ f/stops. For 4 images, 2 f/stops. For 5 images, 2¼ f/stops. For 6 images, 2½ f/stops. For 20 images...oh, come, now. You've got to draw the line somewhere!

Multiple exposures can be fun as well as dramatic, like this montage of Albert Einstein over the observatory at Mt. Palomar.

Of course, you may decide you want to make one image in the montage fainter than the other in order to create emphasis. Use the exposure settings above as a general rule, and don't exceed the sum exposure of the combined shots.

Another commonly done ME involves images of the same subject—non-overlapping images, as in three views of a person's head in the same picture. To do this, you'll need a very dark background (like a soft, non-reflective black cloth) and strong lighting on the subject, flash or photolamps, for example.

Since the film will only record the brightly lighted subjects and not the dark background, you can use a full exposure for each shot. If you want to emphasize one image more than the others, though, give that exposure full exposure and the others less.

As a rule, you'll find it best to use a slow or medium ASA film—like ASA 25 - 125. In a montage, that will reduce the change of overexposure, and in a multiple exposure with separate views, the images are less likely to show stray light bouncing off your dark background, as they might if you used a faster, more sensitive film, like ASA 400.

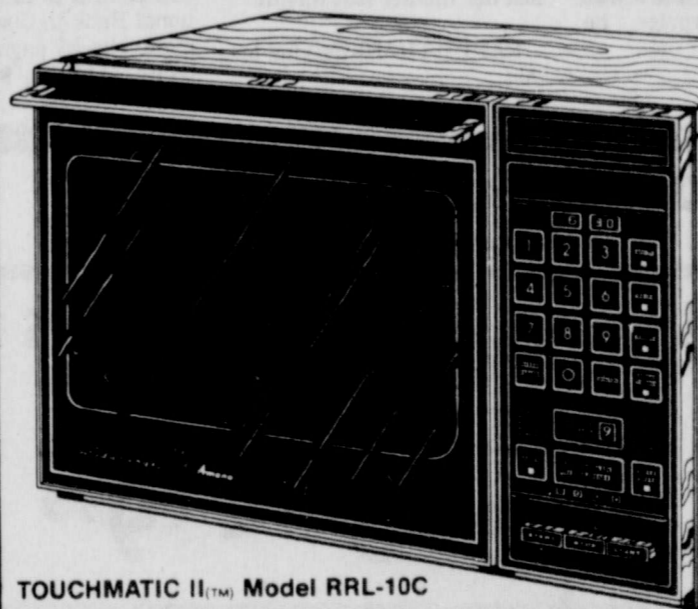

Multiple exposures—fun, but time consuming. Give them a try sometime. You may like what you see.

OUR SCOUTS report that plans are nearing completion for the First National Bank to move into its new building up north on Conrad Hilton Avenue. They're planning to haul records, money and the like to the new building during the weekend of Dec. 4-5. And, of course, security will be tight.

A formal opening party has been tentatively set for Sunday, Dec. 12. There will be an official announcement very soon regarding it all.

WHILE WE WERE out of town for a spell, we read in the newspapers one day that an old DC-3 airplane made an emergency landing with a load of Texas Lions Club members in South Africa. And we knew that the Winston Heidenheimers of Cisco had gone there with other Lions as members of International President Ebb Grindstaff's party. The Ballinger Lion, who took over the top job in Lionism last July, was on an official visit.

And we were glad to learn that the Heidenheimers were not on the plane. They had made the same trip but in another plane. Understand the Grindstaffs were among those on the old DC-3. Nobody was hurt but the airplane had extensive damage, the Heidenheimers report. They had a very enjoyable trip.

THE NEW DEER hunting season hasn't produced very many trophies that we've heard about locally. Dizzy Dean got a buck down Rising Star way . . . R.I. (Bob) Greer bagged a fine turkey gobbler up north of Cisco. And it will be on their Thanksgiving Day dinner table when some of their children will be here to help eat it . . . Police Chief Raymond Blevins shot two turkeys and one of them had only one drumstick (the other was shot away) . . . Bill Wright and Ronnie Ledbetter were among the successful elk hunters out New Mexico way recently . . . Last we heard, Rick Whatley was still hunting with an empty bag.

THEY'RE ALL SET (they hoped) to opening the Colony Restaurant on Saturday morning, Nov. 27. As you know, the IH-20 access road restaurant was virtually destroyed by fire some three months ago, and the Bill Hesters have been very busy every since rebuilding.

You'll want to join us in wishing them good luck.

THE FIRE ALARM at 7:30 a.m. the other day was because a smoke alarm went off at the home of Mrs. Ellen Justice at 1413 Conrad Hilton Avenue. No damage, of course . . . While Mr. E.D. Anderson transacted business in nearby West Virginia recently, Mrs. EDA visited her brother in Washington, D.C. And it was a very pleasant trip, they report.

Golfer Charlie Graham's second shot from some 150 yards away rolled into the cup of the No. 4 green for an eagle two at the Cisco Country Club the other day.

IMPROVEMENTS at the golf course lately include bentgrass greens. This is a special grass developed for golf courses and it stays green the year around. It cost some $1,400 and local golfers donated virtually all of the money for the project. The greens are real nice.

They've finished building 10 new golf cart sheds at the country club. So far, five of them have been purchased by folks wanting a place for their golf cart. If you're interested, see Prexy Ronnie Ledbetter.

THE O.L. (Robbie) Robinsons of our town planned to eat Thanksgiving turkey over at Jackson, Miss., with relatives. He's just about 100 per cent again after two recent rounds of surgery in Big D . . . Miss Helen Crawford reports that her vacation trip to Alaska recently was a very enjoyable outing . . . The Major Farnsworths planned to be in Odessa for Thanksgiving at son Larry's house . . . It's good to see Mrs. Sutton Crofts out again after major surgery . . . The E.L. Jacksons went over Arkansas way recently to see the fall foliage and visit with daughter Eugenia and other relatives.

THE NEW HOME of Lee and Lynn Wallace at Fayetteville, North Carolina, is beautiful and very nice. That's the report of Mrs. Marshall Jones who visited them recently . . . Cisco Policeman Jerry D. Carter was among graduates of the COG Police School over in Abilene last week. He received a diploma . . . Dr. D. Ball, who spent many years tending the medical needs of Cisco area folks, turned age 93 out at the Cisco Nursing Center the other day . . . When the John McGuirens went over to Ramona's Mexican Food Restaurant the other night, a quartet of the ladies there sang "Happy Birthday" to him, and it was a delightful surprise, he reports.

In Memoriam

Chamber Plans Abbott Memorial

A true friend of Cisco was lost in the passing of Gene Abbott, Chamber of Commerce manager. He worked hard to keep a good image of our town before the eyes of people in the Big Country.

In order that the efforts of Gene will not be forgotten, a memorial to him is being planned by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce. Tentative plans call for a brick planter and/or bench in front of the Chamber building with a memorial plaque bearing his name.

If you would like to make a contribution to this fund, it can be sent to the First National Bank in Cisco. Please make checks payable to the Gene Abbott Memorial Fund.

'Pecan Show Week' Set In Eastland County

Next week is "pecan show week" in Eastland County. Some of the finest pecans grown anywhere will be on display in the county courthouse lobby December 3 and 4 according to county Extension Agent DeMarquis Gordon.

Delicious pecan pies, cakes, candy, nut bread and cookies will also be judged and displayed. The bake show will be conducted by the Extension Homemakers and Extension Agent Janet Thomas.

The first county pecan show in Texas was held in Eastland County 30 years ago and has been an important event ever since. The event honors the only native crop of the county and that is a must for holiday baking.

The show is being sponsored by the Eastland County Pecan Growers Association and the Eastland Chamber of Commerce. James Wright, Chamber of Commerce manager, says visitors will see some of the best quality pecans in Texas, as well as prize baked goods.

Plaques will be given for the champion in-shell, champion shelling pecans, and the champion natives. Ribbons will be awarded to the first three place entries of each variety.

Gordon said the pecan crop is small this year, but the quality of pecans are good.

Show pecans not going to the regional show will be sold after the county show closes at noon Saturday. Shelled pecan kernels will also be sold at the close of the show.

Anyone producing pecans may enter the pecan show. Each entry consist of 43 pecans. All entries must be entered at the Extension Service office by 4:00 p.m. Thursday, December 2.

On Friday morning, thepecans from each entry will be weighed, shelled and kernels weighed to determine the number of pecans in one pound and per cent kernel.

Chamber of Commerce members and pecan growers will shell and weigh the pecans.

Judges will be Horticulturists and Extension Specialists from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

THE REAL ESTATE CONSUMER

If you rent and have had an argument with your landlord recently, the chances are the argument occurred because of a misunderstanding about who was to do what under the terms of your lease.

Now there is a brochure available which may help prevent such arguments. It's called Apartment Living and the Law, and it's published by the Texas Apartment Association.

The brochure describes the Texas laws that govern the relationship between a landlord and tenant. In it you will find information about security deposits, ownership disclosure, repairs, nonpayment of rent, evictions, smoke detectors and security devices.

If your landlord can't provide you with a copy of this brochure, request one from the Texas Apartment Association in Austin. It might make life more pleasant for you and your landlord.

PASSIVE SOLAR DESIGN GAINS POPULARITY

Passive solar design is becoming more popular because it can be made to be both attractive and effective in reducing energy bills.

When oil prices were rising, many people became interested in solar energy. Such collectors require pumps and storage tanks to circulate water heated by the sun. They are examples of active solar devices.

Passive solar technology consists of features in a building's design which take advantage of natural heating and cooling due to sunshine, shade and wind. The benefits of these natural factors can be enhanced by properly designing windows, roofs and walls. Also important are the house's position relative to the sun and the placement of plants and trees.

If you're interested in passive solar design, ask your broker to show you examples of such design.

SURVEY HELPS RESOLVE BOUNDARY DISPUTES

Good fences make good neighbors, said Robert Frost. But in Texas, the undisputed location of those fences is at least as important as their condition in preserving friendly relations.

CONTRACT FOR DEED COMMON IN SELLER FINANCING

The seller will receive a cash down payment and finance the remainder of the sales price. The seller receives monthly payments which include interest and principal.

Often a contract for deed is used in seller financing. With a contract for deed, the buyer does not become the true owner of the property until some future date, such as when the obligation is paid in full.

The contract for deed enables the seller to evict the buyer if he or she defaults. Complicated foreclosure procedures are not necessary with a contract for deed. Using seller financing, a buyer may also be able to buy a home with a small down payment and with a loan which is below current market interest rates.

However, if the contract for deed is not properly recorded, a dishonest seller could re-sell the same property to someone else.

"CREATIVE FINANCING" NOT WITHOUT PITFALLS

Creative financing techniques appear to be the intelligent way to avoid high interest rates when buying that new home, but drawbacks do exist.

Most creative financing involves a loan from the seller to the buyer for a portion of the purchase price.

Brochure Helps Prevent Rental Disputes

Since the seller wants to make a sale, the loan often is made at a low rate of interest. But because the seller is also anxious for the money, the loan has a short term, say one or two years.

After that time, the balance becomes due in a lump sum "balloon" payment. The buyer hopes interest rates will drop by that time, so the loan may be refinanced. With rates stubbornly persisting in the range of 16 percent and upward, these "balloon" payments may cause a great deal of financial trouble.

When considering a creative financing arrangement, make sure you can handle the balloon payment when it becomes due.

OILFIELD DISPATCH

Romel, Inc. of Lamesa has revealed plans to drill a 1,300-foot developmental well in the Eastland Regular Field. The operator has 25-acres leased, with drillsite in Eastland County's Mary Ann Clark Survey and has designated the venture as the No. 2 Roane-A. Drillsite is three miles southwest of Romney.

At a location 13 miles south of Graham, the No. 1 C. Dooley has been completed as a new natural gas producer in Stephens County by Frank C. Kramer of Graham.

The well flowed at the rate of 572,000 CF gas per day on a 2-inch choke and was rated at 1,600,000 CFD on absolute open flow.

Location is in a 351-acre lease, S.P.R.R. Survey in the Southwest Strong Field. Kramer took the hole to 4,280 foot total depth after entering the pay zone at 4,146 feet. The production interval will be 4,146 to 4,149 feet.

Pumping 31 barrels of crude per day, a new producer has been finalized in the Stephens Regular Field by Big Country Energy, Inc. of Mineral Wells.

The location is in a lease of Stephens County's T.E.&L. Co. Survey, within the city limits of Parks. Well's designation is the No. 1 Brooks.

Total drilling depth was 4,272 feet, and the pay zone was entered at 3,104. It will be producing from a set of perforations 3,104 to 3,108 feet into the hole.

Abilene-based Sun Exploration & Production Co. has turned in first production figures for its No. 124 and No. 131 J.M. Ward "C", two successful developmental wells in the Stephens Regular Field.

Pumping oil at the rate of 44 and 33 barrels per day, respectively, the wells were both tested on open chokes.

Drillsites were in a 4,068-acre lease in Stephens County's T.E.&L. Co. Survey, three miles north of Breckenridge.

The No. 124 well was taken to a total depth of 3,400 feet after entering the pay zone at 3,072 feet. Production interval will be 3,072 to 3,108 feet into the hole.

The No. 131 entered the pay strata at 3,133 feet and went to 3,500 foot bottomhole. It is producing from a set of perforations 3,074 to 3,112 feet into the wellbore.

A natural gas developmental well has been successfully completed six miles southwest of Eliasville by Lester Clark of Breckenridge. The new Stephens County producer, designated as the No. 5 Black 3, is situated in a 320-acre lease in the West Eliasville Field, T.E.&L. Co. Survey.

It was drilled to total depth of 3,358 feet and will produce from a perforated interval 3,236 to 3,258 feet.

Showing daily potential to yield 252,000 CF gas on a 1-inch choke, the well was given an absolute open flow rating of 260,000 CFD.

Dallas-based Live Oak Production Corp. has filed for permit to drill the No. 1 Dickie Ranch, an oil wildcat in a 220-acre lease in the Richard Starr Survey. Well's designation is the No. Whitist.

Ridge Oil Co. of Breckenridge has revealed plans to drill a 3,600-foot developmental probe in the Ranger Field, 16 miles southeast of Breckenridge. The well will be located in an 80-acre lease in the H.T.&B. RR Co. Survey and is to be designated as the No. 1 Work.

.....give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.
