HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

IF YOU missed the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday night, then you missed a very nice affair. There was good food, good music and good people at the banquet.

There seemed to be very few no-shows at the annual affair, despite the bad weather conditions.

The parking lot was very muddy and a slight mist was falling throughout most of the night, but everyone seemed to have a very enjoyable evening.

temperatures on Sunday, but Monday it began to rain and turn cooler. As the week progressed we had rain, fog and colder temperatures.

Friday morning we woke up to find snow falling in the Cisco area and it continued to fall throughout the morning. Fortunately the temperatures were not too cold so the roads were not icy; however, there were a few slick spots and it was feared they would become worse later in the evening.

SPEAKING OF the mud at the banquet's parking lot, some persons used paper sacks to keep their footwear from becoming dirty as they crossed the mud to their automobiles.

YOU HAVE always heard the old saying, "If you don't like the weather in Texas, stick around a while and it will change." Well, this week has been a perfect example of that old saying.

Early in the week we had pretty skies and warm

WEATHER REPORTS varied early Friday morning on the amounts of snow reported in Lubbock, Texas, with one saying 12 inches and another saying 13 inches, but any way you look at it that is a lot of snow.

Last report I heard later in the morning was that Lubbock had 15 inches of snow on the ground and it was continuing to fall.

Reports on weather conditions in this area said the snow became heavier and conditions worse as you traveled west.

City Taxes Will Be Delinquent

The 1982 ad valorem and personal taxes for the City of Cisco will become delinquent on February 1, 1983. Penalty and interest for 1982 delinquent taxes will be higher than it has been in past years. Penalty and interest for the 1982 delinquent taxes will be 7 percent if paid in the month of February, 1983.

Penalty and interest charges will go up considerably each month thereafter. Some of the monthly increases are as follows: May-13 percent, July-18 percent, and September 20 percent.

To avoid a large penalty and interest payment for the 1982 taxes, and possible additional attorney fees and court cost, taxpayers are encouraged to pay their 1982 taxes before February 1, 1983. Anyone having any questions regarding their 1982 city taxes should call City Hall at 442-2112.

Oil Well Site Is Given Approval

A request of Katlaco Drilling Co. of Lubbock for permission to locate a drilling rig some 350 feet from a runway at the Cisco Municipal Airport was endorsed at a meeting of the Cisco-Eastland Joint Airport Zoning Board last Wednesday at City Hall.

Dr. Chief Brown, chairman, said the rig would be on location during the drilling of a second well on the airport tract. The company's

No.1 City of Cisco was completed recently and is reported to be pumping some 20 barrels of oil per day.

Dr. Brown said that the Federal Aviation Administration has approved the rig location subject to the airport being closed while it is in place and that obstruction lights be used to mark the rig. The Texas Aeronautics Commission has also given conditional approval.

The application now goes to the Cisco City Council for consideration, Dr. Brown said. The No. 1 well is located in the northwest quarter of Section 508, SPRR Co. survey. The No. 2 well was spotted 1,571 feet southeast in the same section and survey.

Schools Open As Snow Falls Here

The Cisco Public Schools and Cisco Junior College were operating on their regular schedules Friday as snow that began during the early hours continued most of the day. The snow was expected to measure several inches before the end.

Area streets and highways were open but traffic was moving with caution.

Forecasters called for an end to the snow and rain by Saturday. The city fire station rain gauge had caught a total of 1.08 inches for the month before the snow began.

Abbott Is Presented CofC Award Post-Humously

The late Gene Abbott was honored post-humously, two women's clubs were awarded community service honors, a city employee was honored, four students were recognized for academic excellence, and the district's new member of the state legislature spoke as some 250 persons gathered Thursday night for the annual banquet of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce.

The event was held at the Cisco Junior College Agriculture Building and, despite cold and rainy weather, most of the 280 persons who made dinner reservations were present.

The CofC's annual "over-due" award was presented to the late Mr. Abbott, who served as the organization's manager for 12 years before his death last October. The award was accepted by his daughter, Mrs. Anthony (Cathy) Strother of Abilene. A life membership in the CofC was presented to Mrs. Gene Abbott, who was unable to attend.

In announcing the award, Mayor Eris Ritchie noted that "Gene worked at preparing these annual banquets, along with other duties in the position of presenter -- never as presenter. Tonight, we are at last correcting that oversight."

the National Honor Society and active in school affairs.

Clois Purvis, academic dean at Cisco Junior College, introduced two students in the upper class -- both graduates of Cisco High School. They were Patty Gorr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gorr, and Tracy Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Owens. Miss Gorr's grade average for three semesters is 3.76, and Mr. Owen's average is 3.94 (perfect is 4.0).

Mr. Ritchie said that "in Cisco the word was not 'Leave it to George,' it was 'leave it to Gene.' Whether it was conducting a community drawing in 100 degree weather, putting up Christmas lights or the town billboard in freezing weather, or traveling about the district to meetings to represent and promote Cisco, he never turned down a job and always did it right. His loss is felt by the CofC and by many other civic organizations. His devotion of family, church and community was unfailing." Mr. Abbott served as CofC President in 1961 and 1962.

New this year were two "Cisco Helping Hands Awards." These went to Mrs. Bess (Jack) Farleigh, a veteran of 56 years with the local hospital, and Miss Catherine Cunningham, retired insurance company owner. Both were cited for long years of unselfish service to help friends and neighbors. Mr. Ritchie presented plaques to them.

State Representative Jim Parker of DeLeon who discussed important matters that the 1983 state legislature will consider. The lawmakers this year face a problem that comes up for the first time since 1971 -- the possibility of having to raise taxes, Mr. Parker said.

"I am a believer in making do with what you have and in knowing what you are doing when it comes to spending public money," Mr. Parker said. "I will approach all spending matters with cautious conservatism."

standards would require heavy expense on facilities. We want to keep the drunks off the highways, but there are problems to look at."

The legislator invited anyone to write or contact him. "Let's look at legislation before we act... let's consider options and attend to business." He added that highway and rural road upgrading would be another item that would require additional money.

Hardware Store Is Hit By Thugs

Guns, hunting knives and tools valued at several hundred dollars were taken by burglars who broke into Stowe's Hardware at 604 Conrad Hilton Avenue last Wednesday night.

Milton Stowe of the store said that an inventory had not been completed to determine the exact loss. The thugs broke in the back door. The same night, efforts were unsuccessful to enter Western Auto Associate Store and White Auto Store. Both buildings had damage in the attempts to break into them. Police were investigating.

Mr. Dudley introduced the staff, including Vice Presidents Gene Gwinn, Jerry Morgan and Dan Dixon, Manager Randy Speegle and Secretary Vallie Parker, and the 1983 board -- Mr. Dixon, Mr. Ledbetter, Mr. Ritchie, Bobby Smith, Rex Fields, Dr. Wallace, Mr. McGrew, Ivan Webb, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Wheeler, Mr. Gwinn, L.D. Woolley, Mrs. Hargrave, Billy Wright and Mr. McMillan.

Proposals to change the "blue laws" and to authorize para-mutual betting on horse races were due to come up, Mr. Parker said. The state needs nearly two billion dollars to upgrade and enlarge the prison system to satisfy a federal judge, Mr. Parker noted. There are 35,000 persons in state prisons who cost $47 per day to keep and, he said, "it seems a wise step to spend money to educate people where they would be able to live without resorting to crime."

During the dinner, the CJC Stage Band played a musical program. Students appearing with the band, directed by Tim Jones, included Richard Barron, steel guitar; Lee Hatch, bass and vocals; Mitchell Parr, piano; Bob Stone, drums; and Cindy Yates and Sandy Cox, vocalists.

Home Volunteer Council Will Meet Monday

The Volunteer Council of Cisco Nursing Home will meet Monday, January 24th, at 7 p.m., at the Nursing Home. All members are urged to attend.

Others who would like to assist with the social services of the Home are also invited.

Mr. Parker said there would be considerable activity in support of proposed laws to penalize the drunk driver. "The DWI battle will be hard fought," he said. "If we send to the jails all the DWIs the counties prison population would increase 150 per cent and the new jail Guests present included Mrs. Parker, and others from area cities, including Eastland 13 persons, Ranger 2, Brownwood 2, Austin 1, Mineral Wells 4, Fort Worth 3, Abilene 2, and DeLeon 2.

A reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Parker was held at the First National Bank's community room following the banquet. The invocation was given by the Rev. Milo Steffen, pastor of the First Christian Church. Dr. Wallace headed the arrangements committee.

Dinner was catered by Oscar's Barbecue.

The United States Supreme Court recently ruled that states could not prevent federally chartered savings and loan associations from enforcing due-on-sale clauses in mortgage contracts.

The ruling has immediate impact in about 14 states which have enacted such restrictions. Due-on-sale clauses allow lenders to require repayment of the loan whenever the house is sold. Generally, lenders will approve assumption of the loan by the new owner on the condition that the interest rate be adjusted to or near the going rate. This frustrates the ability of sellers to offer low interest financing as an inducement to buyers. As interest rates rise, the effect is to reduce the number of home sales.

In Texas, due-on-sale clauses are not restricted by state law, so the ruling has no immediate effect, except to discourage attempts to restrict them in the future.

TEXAS HEADS FOR SECOND

Texas is now the fastest growing state in the nation and will very likely become the nation's second largest state by 1990.

The latest Bureau of the Census statistics show that between April 1, 1980, and July 1, 1981, Texas added more people than the 22 Northern states put together, and for the first time, Texas had a higher growth rate and a larger growth in actual number of people than the nation's most populated state, California.

In the 15 months following the 1980 census, Texas grew at more than three times the national rate and more than one and one half times the California rate.

If Texas and New York population growth patterns continue, Texas population will surpass New York's by 1990. When it does, Texas will become the second most populated state in the nation.

ESCROW PAYMENTS RISE WITH TAXES

Did you know that your house payment could go up substantially, even if you have a fixed-rate, low-interest mortgage? It's true. In many instances, part of your monthly payment to the loan company goes into an escrow account to cover taxes and insurance. Consequently, if your property tax bill goes up, your monthly contribution to the escrow account must be increased to meet the higher tax payment.

The likelihood of your receiving a larger property tax bill has been increased under the state's new property tax code, which requires reappraisal of all taxable property every four years.

If your house has not had such an appraisal in several years, you may be surprised at how much it has increased in value. And with such an increase in appraised value, your taxes will likely increase, thus causing your monthly payments to go up. Don't let such an occurrence catch you by surprise. Keep abreast of local taxing decisions.

FIXED-RATE LOANS MAY RIDE AGAIN

In recent years, more mortgage lenders have been converting to adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs). These adjustable loans help protect lenders from unforeseen increases in interest rates, which push up the cost of the money used to make loans.

Fixed rate loans are still available, but at rates so high as to scare away many borrowers. The adjustable loans often are offered at slightly lower rates. But what will happen if it becomes evident that interest rates will fall?

Depending on the index to which they are pegged, adjustable loans could experience rate declines greater than those on deposits. In this case, the fixed-rate loan may be more profitable to lenders than the adjustables.

Would lenders then offer fixed-rate loans at lower rates than adjustables? This new wrinkle is just one of many issues as the housing market adjusts to prospects for lower inflation in the years ahead.

USE EQUITY TO INCREASE HOLDINGS

Real estate investment has always provided one of the best vehicles for building for the future. The secret to using real estate to build a secure future is the practice of pyramiding.

This simply means using a growing equity to acquire even larger holdings. Pyramiding requires periodic, well-timed transactions to maintain the best use of borrowed money. The methods are varied: They include sale and repurchase of property, refinancing of property and exchanging property.

Timing is important to maximize proceeds from sales and minimize financing costs. Successful pyramiding requires patience and prudence to avoid quick and risky profits in favor of long-term growth.

As with any investment acquired with borrowed funds, real estate acquired through pyramiding is accompanied by the risk that cash flows will not cover debt service.

Appraisal Office Releases Exemption Information

The Eastland County Appraisal District now has 1983 property exemption forms available. There are many property tax exemptions available and all property owners are urged to take advantage of the exemptions available to them. It is stressed by Appraisal District Personnel that only those Residential Homestead owners not receiving an exemption for 1982 or those who have moved to a new or different property need to sign up.

Landowners wishing to receive Open Space Land (Ag-Use) valuation for 1983 fall into the same category as the homeowners. Only those who failed to sign up for the exemption in 1982 or who have acquired new property need to sign up.

The following is a partial list of the property exemptions available for 1983 to property owners of Eastland County. All of the exemption applications must be timely filed with the Eastland County Appraisal District by May 1, 1983, if they are to be granted. This is a requirement of the State Property Tax Code.

Exemptions are to be filed with the Eastland County Appraisal District office, which is located on the second floor of the Eastland County Courthouse.

RESIDENTIAL HOMESTEAD: $5,000 in value subtracted from taxable value of homestead property.

OVER-65 RESIDENTIAL HOMESTEAD: $10,000 in value subtracted from taxable value of residential homesteads of homeowners 65 years of age or older.

OPEN SPACE LAND EXEMPTION: Allows landowner to have land valued at age use value rather than the higher market value.

DISABLED VETERANS EXEMPTION: Allows a value reduction of property based upon percentage of disability as determined by the Veteran's Administration.

RESIDENTIAL-HOMESTEAD DISABILITY: $10,000 in taxable value subtracted from value of Residential Homestead of qualifying disabled persons.

Tax Code Requires Business Property To Be Rendered

The State Property Tax Code requires that all business personal property be rendered for ad valorem taxation each year.

During the next few weeks, a business personal property appraiser will be in contact with each of the Eastland County business owners. The appraiser will have 1983 renditions forms available.

If you own a business and are not contacted, you should call the Eastland County Appraisal District and request a rendition form be sent to you.

The completed rendition forms are required by law to be timely filed with the Eastland County Appraisal District Office by May 1, 1983.

The Appraisal District Office is located on the second floor of the Eastland County Courthouse, phone number: (817) 629-8597.

Homemaking Hints

Janet Thomas

Time is something you can't save; you can't borrow it; you can't lend it; you can't take it with you. Each of us has exactly the same amount of time. How we spend it is up to us.

At times we may feel very little control over our own time, by allowing other family members and people; and even to control our time. Are you feeling a time crunch, with little or no time for yourself?

The Eastland County Extension Service is sponsoring a free, mail-out letter series entitled "Time of Your Life."

There is no magic formula for time management, but there are several basic principles involved which you can learn about and practice by enrolling in this free-six part mail-out, study at home series.

The "Time of Your Life" letters will discuss the following topics:

- setting goals and priorities
- making "to do" lists and using them effectively
- coping procrastination
- delegating responsibilities
- making time for yourself
- working more effectively

If you are feeling a time crunch, then you are especially invited to register for this free, mail-out letter series by notifying: Mrs. Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent, P.O. Box 189, Eastland 76448, or telephone the Extension Service Office at 629-2222.

Registration deadline is January 31. The letter series will begin in February.

Cold weather is here and you might like to try these sausage sticks. They are great for an evening meal on a cold night.

- SAUSAGE STICKS
- 1 pound pork sausage
 - 1 cup corn meal
 - 1 cup flour, sifted
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 4 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup canned apple slices, diced
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 1/4 cup milk

1/4 cup melted margarine

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Fry sausage until brown and crumbly; drain well and set aside. Sift together corn meal, flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt into mixing bowl. Stir in sausage and apple. Add egg, milk and butter or margarine and mix well. Spoon into greased large corn stick pans, filling level full. Bake 20-25 minutes. Remove from oven; let corn sticks rest in pan 10 minutes before serving. Serve warm. Yield: 14 large corn sticks.

These sausage sticks would be good served with apple butter and hot cocoa.

County Beef

And Cattle

Course Set

An Eastland County beef cattle short course will begin Monday night, January 24, according to County Extension Agent DeMarquis Gordon. Economics of the cow-calf operation will be the topic of the program which will be held at the Cisco Junior College Agriculture building. The program begins at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Ashley Lovell, Extension Economist-Management, will discuss cost and return budgets for cow-calf production in Eastland County.

Two more sessions of the short course will be held the next two Monday nights, January 31 and February 7. Topics to be discussed at those sessions will be nutrient requirements of the beef herd on January 31 and external parasite control on Feb. 7. All sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the same location.

The short course is being sponsored by the Livestock and Forage Committee, Extension Service, and Cisco Junior College Agriculture Department. All cattlemen in the County are encouraged to attend.

WAYNE CHANDLER

Wayne Chandler Joins Pat Maynard

Pat Maynard Real Estate of Eastland has announced their new associate, Wayne Chandler of Odessa, Texas.

Chandler, who was the branch manager at James S. Kone and Company in Odessa, retired from the company and then decided age 57 was too young to retire.

In an effort to get involved in the job world again Chandler moved his family to Gorman, where he bought a house, where he would be close to his work and his small farm South of Cisco. While in Odessa Chandler worked for the Kane Co. for 22 years.

Chandler graduated from Thorndale High School and then went into the Navy for two and one-half years before attending Texas A&M.

Chandler will be assisting in real estate sales for Pat Maynard.

"I will be helping people find homes, farm and ranches and real estate in general for our customers," said Chandler.

Chandler is married to Ida Chandler and they have one son, 15, who is attending school in Gorman.

"What's So Bad About Gambling?"

(ED NOTE: These comments are by the Rev. Jim Hooten, pastor, First Baptist Church, Eastland. Other opinions on the subject are invited.)

Gambling has invaded practically every area of life and poses a serious threat to our nation and its homes. Very few families are not affected by America's "something-for-nothing" craze.

Numerous Americans are involved in hard-core gambling. They wager on horse races, athletic contests, card games, dice and bingo. They play slot machines and buy lottery tickets. They patronize bookies and casinos. An estimated 50 million Americans bet 50 billion dollars annually.

There is every reason to believe that more money is spent on gambling than on education, religion or medical care.

The annual profit of professional gamblers is greater than the combined profit of the 100 largest corporations in America.

For Texans, the menace looms larger every day. The threat of increased legislation lurks in the halls of our State Assembly. The great state of Texas is now surrounded by states which have, in recent years, surrendered to the wealth-without-work myth which is epitomized in the horse-racing, para-mutual betting lobby that is launching an all-out drive to bring its empire to our state.

Some years ago, the Christians and other right thinking people of Texas were warned that "liquor-by-the-drink" was coming up for vote.

Instead of rallying to the cause of what is right and good for future generations, we stuck our heads in the proverbial sand pile and figured it could never happen in Texas, the buckle on the Bible Belt!

How wrong we were! Now, on the horizon looms another insidious evil—legalized horse-racing and its attendant corruption, para-mutual betting.

What will we do? The sand pile is getting crowded; there's no room for us to stick our heads in and hope for the best.

The possibility is that we may not win, but let's put up a howl that will penetrate the semi-deaf ears of our State Legislature.

H & R BLOCK HAS 1040A's INSTANTLY PROCESSED PRICES START AT $7.50

H & R BLOCK fights inflation. Again this year, short form (1040A) prices are starting at only $7.50 which includes the full Block guarantee. In addition the 1040A form will be instantly processed, so you will only have one visit to H & R Block. All you will need to do is sign and mail it, to get your refund.

Block has never charged on the basis of income or the size of the refund, but solely upon the return's complexity. THE AVERAGE CHARGE last year for all returns in the Dallas area was less than $40.00. Skilled preparers conduct personal interviews to be certain that every legal deduction to which the customer is entitled will be uncovered. Often taxpayers are short changed when they simply file the form they received in the mail from the government.

All types of tax returns are done by H & R Block. This includes the Federal 1040A, 1040, state returns, complex corporations and foreign tax income and preparation.

H & R Block has 2 conveniently located offices to serve you.

Another Long-Gone Depot...

From the Archives at Eastland Centennial Memorial Library this photograph of the long-gone depot at Mangrum, once a landmark in Eastland County. The community, known for its, Switzer Bath House in 1909, was a popular place. According to the legend on the back of this photo, "Mrs. Gladys Bond, her father section foreman. Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Boon worked in Switzer Bath house." and "Pete Mangrum was the depot agent."

Bite the Bullet

People are getting tired of the pussy footing around by our congress that we elect to run this country.

First of all we want them to balance the budget. Then we want them to cut out the GIVE AWAY; TAKE AWAY AND THE THROW AWAY, that is going on in Washington.

And above all we want the congressmen to cut their own salary instead of raising it.

The people only ask that they run it as it should be, like a business and get the most for the dollar they spend. Most people think that government employees should be cut by at least ten per cent and all programs be cut until the income meets the out go.

The gun law could be passed to about everyone's liking. We could let everyone own all the guns they want, require them to be registered and not allow the guns to be taken out of the home without a permit. That would allow hunters to use their guns for hunting only and if a member of a gun club wanted to shoot, he could get a permit.

Then we could make the law for murder or manslaughter a death penalty or a life sentence and get rid of those kind of people for good.

We also need to pay our national debt. The president of one of the Abilene banks, before one of the service clubs the other day, suggested that a five per cent tax would pay the national debt in nine years. That would make our dollar worth something.

Have you ever heard of a congressman advocating to pay up what we owe. This would save more than one hundred billion dollars in interest each year.

We are certainly getting tired of the way the congress runs this country.

If you call this biting the bullet, let's do it.

WORD of GOD

New Testament [Fulfillment]

Then one of the twelve, calls Judas Is-car'i-ot, went unto the chief priests,

And said unto them, what will ye give me, and I will deliver him up to you? And they covenanted with him for thirty pieces of silver.

And from that time he sought opportunity to betray him.

Individuals Need Nutrition Programs

If you have been reading the papers and nutrition magazines, lately, you will find that it is more and more important to ask your doctor what types of food and drinks you may take with your medication.

It seems that medication will not enable you to have the maximum benefits if you drink juices, for instance, rather than water when taking the medicine.

Nutritionists insist that certain foods must not be eaten when you are taking certain antibiotics, on the other hand there are foods that are a must if you take another type of medicine.

You are encouraged to talk to your doctor, when he gives you a prescription, and ask him or her if you are restricted from drinking or eating certain items when you take the medication.

The American is becoming more and more knowledgeable about the functions of his body and it is important that you talk with your doctors about the medication that you are taking.

The programs for the week included: Alva Jones showed slides in regard to wild flowers. Her presentation was unusual and very informative: Janet Thomas, from the Extension office, gave a discussion concerning nutrition: Dick Lindley presented an organ recital: and AARP held their monthly covered dish dinner and meeting.

The menus for the week are:

MONDAY - Ham/rice, green peas, celery-carrot-pineapple-raisin salad, chocolate pudding, bread, butter and drink.

WEDNESDAY - Roast beef, brown gravy, whipped potatoes, mixed vegetables, fruit cobbler, bread, butter and drink.

FRIDAY - Meat loaf, buttered corn, lima beans, pineapple/grated cheese jello, bread, butter and drink.

January and February is an ideal time to select shade or ornamental trees for planting so they can become established prior to spring growth.

Tree planting should be done with care. To begin, select a tree that suits your particular landscape needs. Before buying, ask yourself these questions: Will there be adequate room for the trees when it reaches maturity? Will it fit the existing landscape? Is it for shade, screening or wind protection or just to balance the landscape?

Choose a tree that is well adapted to area soils and weather extremes. Consider possible insect problems such as elm leaf beetles, common to various elm species, and disease susceptibilities such as anthracnose, common to sycamore trees and Arizona ash, and leafspot common to mulberries.

Choose between deciduous and evergreen trees. Deciduous trees provide shade in the summer and shed their leaves to let sunlight through in winter. Evergreen plants provide shading and screening the year round but do not change color or texture in the fall.

After selecting the tree, make certain it's planted correctly. Make sure the planting hole is large enough for the root system. For a bare-root tree, make the hole large enough to allow the root system to spread out naturally. The plant should set no deeper than its original soil level - slightly higher (1-2 inches) is even better. Next trim broken or damaged roots and then form a mound in the bottom of the planting hole letting the roots flow down the mound. Do not allow roots to dry out.

For a balled-and-burlapped tree, dig the hole about 1 1/2 times the diameter of the ball. Plant it so that the top of the soil ball is at or slightly above existing soil surface.

Finally, prune the tops to transplanted trees to compensate for loss of roots. As a general rule, prune about 1/2 of the top growth. Then fill the hole with a good soil mixture and water thoroughly.

For a list of trees suited to Eastland County get a copy of the list of trees recommended for Eastland County at the County Extension Office.

A farmer's decision to "self-insure" against possible crop losses can have tragic financial result. Some farmers feel that if they've survived in the past without insurance on their crops, they can survive in the future without it. They neglect to take into account that a crop loss today is likely to have far more serious economic consequences than ...give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.

We are now finding more and more Kalanchoes plants available and especially during the holiday season. The Kalanchoe makes an ideal gift. These plants vary in shape of growth and foliage, and they survive in many different conditions. They are short-day plants and will only bloom when the day length is less than twelve hours.

If this short-day schedule is started in the month of October, flowering will commence in about sixty (60) days and be in bloom around Christmas. Plants that are brought in to bloom with the short-day schedule will continue to bloom for a month or longer. The fleshy green leaves and clusters of small, showy red or orange blossoms are indeed a welcome sight in the winter months. Give the Kalanchoe bright light and let the soil dry out between waterings.

To avoid mildew, take care not to overwater nor to grow the Kalanchoe in a humid atmosphere. If the leaves develop a white coating, dust lightly with Karathane. If you find signs of aphids use malathion to control them. When fertilizing the Kalanchoe use a well-balanced fertilizer such as a 20/20/20 soluble. Always use three to four inch pots and repot every two years. New plants can be obtained from sowing seed as well as separate potting of naturally formed plantlets.

The Kalanchoe blossfeldiana grows to twenty inches and sometimes blooms twice a year in the winter and again in the spring. The "Tom Thumb" is a dwarf hybrid that is often seen in super markets, florist shops and nurseries during the holiday season. The Kalanchoe tomentosa is the "panda plant" grown for the foliage to about twenty inches, with brown-spotted, graygreen fuzzy leaves. The Kalanchoe uniflora grows to fourteen inches and is a charming prostrate species with pink-to-orange bell-shaped flowers that bloom late in the winter and sometimes in the spring.

Remember Kalanchoes make a good plant for a gift that is different and can be grown year round as a house plant. If you received a Kalanchoe as a gift this past Christmas just follow the suggestions above and you will be able to enjoy this beautiful plant for many months.

Reflections In Perspective

By I.W. Ussery

(ED. NOTE: We welcome this column back. We've all missed it.)

We knew him as "Mr. Mathew". It seems that he had the characteristically British three initials, but I can't be sure of that. He had a sort of quiet reserve about him which did not encourage intimacy, although he was actually quite a brilliant and interesting conversationalist. Some of the men on the Island affectionately referred to him as "The Witch Doctor", or "The Soothsayer". Sometimes simply "The Prophet".

You see, Mr. Mathew was the Resident Meteorologist on the tiny Persian Gulf island of Das, the outermost of the Abu Dhabi archipelago and eighty miles offshore. Das was the operations base for the development of Abu Dhabi's first offshore oil field.

Now one could wonder why a meteorologist was considered to be such a vital member of the society of working men living on an island. Being only three quarters of a mile wide (at the top) and a mile and a half long, Das Island was most vulnerable to the whims of the weather. And since all the operations were in support of offshore activity, any advance notice as to the whimsical conduct of the winds and waves gave us at least a fighting chance. Not infrequently a boat's captain, an "Outsider" failed to heed Mr. Mathew's warnings and lived to rue the day. A sudden onslaught of a "Shamal", the strong north-west wind of the area could easily whip the gulf from a mirror-like calm to roiling ten- to twelve-foot seas in literally minutes. I was once on a 62-foot survey vessel, trying desperately to reach the haven of the little island before the arrival of "Shamal".

Two miles of the island the wind struck, with all the fury stemming from its thousand-mile journey across the Arabian desert. In a matter of minutes the island disappeared in the wind-borne dust, and towering waves broke across our bow. Fortunately, it was a "bow on" sea in that we could keep our vessel headed into the rolling waves and still be able to reach the island. And reach it we did, after two tortuous hours. From that day forward, when Mr. Mathew's morning weather bulletin warned... "Shamal; winds to forty knots, sea state to twelve, striking at 1400 hours"...we took heed. Mr. Mathews held in disdain those who disregarded his carefully prepared warnings. But there were only a very few who deliberately repeated an act of disregard.

With his office on the ground floor of the two-story "Marine Department Headquarters", Mr. Mathew was in radio contact with stations in Russia, Turkey, Iraq, Pakistan and Saudi Arabia. He also maintained a Telex contact with his Home Office in Kuwait. With this system of communications, he was capable of plotting the air mass movements with a very high degree of accuracy.

There was one time, however, that Mr. Mathew flunked the course. While he never outwardly laid any claim to infallibility, this particular failure to "hit it on the nose" left him embarrassed... even perplexed. Each morning's bulletin carried its warning of "Shamal". But flying over the Gulf from Bahrain, two hundred miles to the north, in a lumbering old DC-3 there could not be seen even the slightest ripple except in the wake of a school of sharks or the occasional whale. The entire Gulf looked as though it had a coating of heavy oil, it was that calm.

For three weeks, while Mr. Mathew's weather warning flags hung limply from their mast atop the corner of the building; his daily bulletins kept forecasting Shamal. Finally the gods of wind and wave came through, and a weak Shamal tore the surface of the Gulf for a day and a night.

Only then did Mr. Mathew, from his spot just past the corner of the bar in the Staff Club offer any explanation. Quietly sipping his "Gin and Nonesense", he calmly informed those who wanted to hear that he had lost contact with the reporting station down on the northwestern shore of the Red Sea. It seems that conditions reported from all the other locations made Shamal inevitable, while all the time a "pressure cell" along the southern end of the Arabian Peninsula served to neutralize those wind-forming conditions. Simple as that; loss of contact. Mr. Mathew apologized for his having made an incorrect assumption, but everyone agreed that it was better to be falsely warned than not to have been warned at all.

That occurred in February, and for the following three months everything rocked along and worked progressed as planned. No one chided Mr. Mathew, nor poked fun at his daily bulletins nor at the warning flags flying from the mast. When Shamal was warned, we took heed. And Mr. Mathew came through. And then, one bright sunny day in mid-June the morning bulletin shocked everyone into almost frenzied activity of preparation. "Shamal! Striking around 1600 hours. Winds to sixty knots, gusting to seventy - eighty. All outward activity must remain in port".

Now for conservative Mr. Mathew who only issued his bulletins, allowing seafarers to take them or leave them, to issue such a warning was not in keeping. Questioned in his office, his response was... "That is the way it develops. And have you noticed the fishing fleet in the harbour?" Although there was a breathless calm, the shallow end of the man-made harbour was literally jammed with the ocean-going "dhows" of the commercial fishermen who worked that part of the Gulf. Bearing pennants from almost all the seven Trucial States, we'd often seen them in our little "port", but never in such numbers. Incredulously, radio messages were sent out to all vessels working offshore, and all supply barges and boats... "Put into Das before 1600 hours to-day. URGENT, IMPERATIVE, put into Das before 1600 hours today". And fishing Dhows kept coming in.

Not long off schedule, Shamal hit. Fortunately the most of the vessels were in port. This quite overcrowded the tiny harbour, but at least gave the boats and barges a lee from the storm. And storm it was. In minutes after it struck, the wind reached gale force. By sunset, it was holding a steady velocity of sixty knots and spray was being carried halfway across the island. The only activity was that of trying to restrain the barges at their moorings at the jetty in the harbour. Everyone turned to, fighting wind and spray and the backlash of waves which kept the barges lurching at the moorings.

At one point a 100-foot barge, the moorings of which I was trying desperately to keep tashed and secured to their bits snapped its lashing. A supply boat was snubbed to the barge, doing its bit to help hold it to the jetty. And that barge held twenty tons of dynamite! The wind was coming at a direction which carried the barge and its attendant boat directly through the mouth of the harbour and into the angry sea outside.

An Arab deckhand was aboard the barge, and just as the two of them, barge and boat, cleared the mouth of the harbour the deckhand dived overboard and accomplished the almost impossible feat of scrambling aboard the supply boat which at just about that moment cast off from the barge. The barge went its merry way and was found two days later, bobbing in the surf in the lee of another island 15 miles to the southeast.

And at 0300 hours the next morning Mr. Mathew recorded "Sustained winds, seventy knots. Gusts to ninety". And few people slept on Das Island that night. A work barge, with 175 men aboard, was caught thirty miles off the island. There was no way it could have made port, so four sea-going tubs tied onto the bow bits and tried to keep the barge headed into the wind. Dragging four 30-ton "gravity anchors" and four twenty-ton "fluke" anchors, and with the tugs churning away full speed, the barge was carried a distance of almost a mile and a half, stopping when the wind died down less than 500 feet from an un-protected high pressure well head.

The wind stopped almost as abruptly as it had begun. The cargo of dynamite was recovered, intact. Damage was surveyed. No real damage. And that evening Mr. Mathew, from his now exalted stool at the end of the bar made his observation. "Quite a respectable blow, now wasn't it? And I hear the "MINOR" (the work barge) was in something of a spot of bother".

But how did the fishing fleet know to put into safe harbour? Sheik Shakbut, the Ruler of Abu Dhabi told me. But that's another story.

SETTLING AN ESTATE?

There are several important tasks you must perform when you are given the responsibility of settling an estate. If the decedent does not leave a will the court will appoint an administrator. Or, if there is a will the decedent will have designated a person to act as executor of the estate.

The executor, or administrator, must ascertain what holdings of real estate and personal property are in the estate. After compiling a list of assets an appraisal must be made to determine their value for estate taxation purposes.

If bequests were made in the will the specific items must be transferred to the recipients. In most cases it will be necessary to convert remaining assets to cash so they can be distributed according to the will, or according to the law of the State.

Attorneys and trust officers can help you fulfill your legal responsibilities. I can help you with appraising and selling and remember, when it comes to selling AUCTION'S BEST

Senior Citizens Nutrition Menu

If you have been reading the papers and nutrition magazines, lately, you will find that it is becoming more and more important to ask your doctor what types of food and drinks you may take with your medication.

It seems that medication will not enable you to have the maximum benefits if you drink juices, for instance, rather than water when taking medicine.

Nutritionists insist that certain foods must not be eaten when you are taking certain antibiotics, on the other hand there are foods that are a must if you take another type of medicine.

You are encouraged to talk to your doctor, when he gives you a prescription, and ask him or her if you are restricted from drinking or eating certain items when you take the medication.

The American is becoming more and more knowledgeable about the functions of his body and it is important that you talk with your doctors about the medications that you are taking.

The programs for the past week included: Walt Knowlden, President of AARP, made a presentation in regard to using your medicine wisely. He showed a film, from national AARP, entitled "Using Your Medicine Wisely." A musical program was presented by the Priest Band: Roy Speegle, Billie Woods, Plez Ray, Gerald Parks and the Senior Center Band and Choir furnished music during the lunch hour. Jo Barrett presented an excellent demonstration concerning CPR.

The Menu for the week are:

Monday—Ham/rice, green peas, celery-carrot-pineapple-raisin salad, chocolate pudding, bread, butter and drink.

Wednesday—Roast beef, brown gravy, whipped potatoes, mixed vegetables, fruit cobbler, bread, butter and drink.

Friday—Meat loaf, buttered corn, lima beans, pineapple/grated cheese jello, bread, butter and drink.

Solar Powered Water Pumps Becoming Popular In The West

Fredericksburg - Water pumps powered by solar electricity are becoming popular in the arid west, where conventional power lines don't always reach rural homes and gardens.

Solar electric (photovoltaic) systems are successfully pumping water in fifteen western states, according to ARCO Solar, Inc., a solar equipment manufacturer in Woodland Hills, CA.

Water pump and motor manufacturers have jumped on the solar bandwagon. At a recent national water well show, three firms introduced advanced solar electric pumping systems.

Solar powered water pumps are catching on in the west, observers say, because many people want to raise livestock, a small garden or sink a well on land not serviced by a utility company. The average cost of extending power lines in the U.S. is over $15,000 a mile, according to the Edison Electric Institute. Solar electric pump systems, under three horsepower, can be cheaper to install.

Solar pumps operate very much like conventional pumps. A key difference is that their fuel source - sunlight - is free. Also, special controllers are used to match pump speed to available sun power. Solar pumps operate with or without batteries, depending on a wide variety of site requirements.

There are many advantages to solar water pumps, according to Werner Feller, owner of a 555 acre ranch near Fredericksburg, Texas. Unlike windmills, which tend to conk out during hot, dry spells, "My solar pump produces more water the sunnier it gets," Feller said. "That's when animals, people and plants are most thirsty."

"It was so hot and dry in Texas this year," he added, "the creek and dirt tank dried up." A dirt tank is an earthen dam built to capture runoff water.

But Feller's solar water pump, powered by 24 ARCO panels, worked perfectly. "We haven't had one minute's problem. Everything is automatic so you just forget about it," he said.

Feller's solar panels run a one half horsepower DC (direct current) electric pump. Four batteries store electricity so the system can fully operate on cloudy days. Water is pumped into a 3300 gallon tank with float switch.

Another advantage, Feller said, is that the animals prefer clean pumped water to creek water. "I can tell by looking at the tracks that they go to the troughs. I prefer this because they're more likely to pick up disease from water in the creek or dirt tanks. And that means more expense for me."

Solar-powered water pumps were recently installed in 15 villages on the Papago Indian reservation in New Mexico by Trisolator Corp., of Bedford, Mass. Whole communities are getting potable water automatically, without the hassles of repairing gasoline generators, said Henry Esquivel, New Mexico public health officer.

Dozens of families with small homesteads throughout the western U.S. have put in solar pumps for family and garden water.

Solar pumps are also being used at two sites in California to drip irrigate cash crops such as grapes and ornamental trees.

Bullock Sends $32 Million To Texas Cities

AUSTIN, Tex.—State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday sent $32 million to nearly 1,000 Texas cities as their share of the one percent city sales tax for January.

"These payments are down 7.7 percent from last January's checks," Bullock pointed out. "Collections are down in every major city in the state except Austin. It is this trend that led me to reduce my estimate of available state revenue and it's affecting the finances of Texas cities even more drastically than the finances of the state," Bullock said.

Citing depression in the Texas oil industry and the repeated devaluation of the Mexican peso, Bullock dropped his estimate of available state revenues by 1.5 billion dollars this week.

Eastland's payment, the biggest in the county, was the only one that did not drop below last January's check. The city received $12,080.60 this month compared to $9,924.04 in January 1982.

Cisco's check showed a 10.7 percent drop below last year. Their payment for January 1983 was $9,293.78. Last year the city brought in $10,414.68.

Ranger received $5,928.66 this month with a drop slightly larger than that of Cisco, 11.18 percent. This compared to $6,675.13 in January 1982.

Both Gorman and Rising Star dropped 100 percent from last year with neither city receiving a check this month.

About Infrared Film...

Q: It might be interesting for you to know that your column in the Sunday paper is the first thing I read (after the headline), so you might say I'm a fan of yours. I enjoy your articles.

I've enclosed a story about using a video camera to record heat losses in homes. My question is, can I use my Olympus OM-10 with infrared film to do the same thing, and—if so—what kind of exposure would I use? Should the lights be turned off in the house at the time the picture is taken? Any information you can give me would be appreciated.

H. A. V., Wauwatosa, WI

A: Wow! Good question. In fact, it had me baffled for a while. I knew what you were proposing wouldn't work. But I couldn't quite figure out why. Eastman Kodak told me.

It seems that thermography, the method of using infrared film to record heat visually relies on some intermediate means of converting variations in infrared radiation into a visual display. Once that conversion is made, the displays can then be photographed by conventional methods and photographic techniques.

Modern thermographic methods rely mostly on electronic means. A common technique employs infrared detectors to scan a scene. The resulting electronic signal is then amplified and displayed prior to recording on infrared film. Needless to say, the average 35 mm camera is not capable of making this conversion.

Yet, while you can't load your OM-10 with infrared film and take photos of your home to determine where the heat losses are occurring, you can use infrared film to do some other interesting things—like creating unique photographs: images of great dramatic appeal and power.

Infrared film is specially designed to be sensitive to the wavelengths that lie just beyond the red end of the visible light spectrum. To name, infrared, means "below red." These wavelengths are basically the same as the wavelengths in visible light, except that they are longer and can't be seen by the naked eye.

Black-and-white infrared film is sensitive to two parts of the visible light spectrum, red and blue-violet. To get the most dramatic ultraviolet effects, you'll have to filter out to blue wavelengths. A No. 25 red filter works best; other red and dark yellow filters will produce varying degrees of dramatic effect. You can also hoot infrared film without a filter, but the results won't be nearly as impressive, looking more like ordinary film photography but with colors repropping as different gray tones. The blues will now up lighter, and the reds, greens, and yellow will be darker.

Getting the proper exposure with infrared film is the trickiest part of shooting it. A camera's light meter is designed to read visible light waves, not infrared ones. And nearly perfect exposures are critical to obtaining good infrared photographic results. As a suggestion, set your camera's ASA dial at the recommended speed, and the bracket your exposures, taking one "normal" sit, one 1/2 stop, and another 1 full stop under- or over-exposed. In that way, at least one of the exposures should give you just the results you want.

KNOW YOUR LIMITS

Anyone Who Can't Walk a Straight Line Can't Drive One

It's amazing how some people who can't even control their feet think they'll be able to control their cars once they get behind the wheel.

Statistics show they're dead wrong.

That's why we, the people who make and sell alcoholic beverages, are offering a pocket chart called "Know Your Limits."

Get one at participating restaurants, bars and liquor stores. Or write 205 San Jacinto Bldg., Austin, TX 78701. Because the worst time to find out you can't drive a straight line is when you're on the wrong side of one.
