

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

IT SEEMS as though Cisco's good weather of the earlier part of the week has already turned bad for the weekend. Cold temperatures and cloudy skies seem destined for the Cisco area this weekend.

I just keep hoping for some really nice weather which might last for awhile longer than a few days.

However, I guess we can just be thankful to the Lord that we are not having the bad weather which other parts of the country are experiencing.

ience abreast of every intricate maneuver. This is a splendid program with just enough change of pace and a bit of comedy."

The show is being sponsored by the Cross Timbers Fine Arts Council, Inc. and the Stephenville Chamber of Commerce. It will be held at 2 p.m., in Wisdom Gym, Tarleton University Campus. The show will last about 40 minutes and is billed as an "entertaining, clean and wholesome program" being offered free of charge.

IF YOU ARE trying to think of something different to do sometime during the month of February, then you might be interested in a program scheduled in Stephenville on February 10.

They will be having a show of Spaceball, "an exciting game used in training the astronauts and directed towards physical fitness. A fascinating trampoline program blending humor, showmanship and breathtaking skill that literally guarantees fast-moving entertainment. Students and citizens of all ages are urged to attend and participate. The running commentary keeps the au-

Debby Ingram Is New Owner Of O.K. Shoe Shop

The O.K. Shoe Shop, 503 Conrad Hilton Ave., Cisco, has a new owner - young woman named Debby Ingram.

W.T. Moseley, the former owner, sold the shop recently because of ill health. The business was begun by his father, C.P. Moseley, in 1923, and has been in the same location since 1937.

"It was not easy to leave a business which had been in my family so many years," says Mr. Moseley. "But I'm sure the public will be highly pleased with the work of Debby Ingram."

Miss Ingram states that she will keep the business name of O.K. Shoe Shop, and that she plans to carry on the same traditions of good leather work at reasonable prices.

She will feature boot and shoe repair, and do custom leather work such as individually styled belts, billfolds, briefcases, chaps, gun cases and the like. She has several custom items on display at the store now, and they show skill in designing and details.

In the near future there will be a full line of new boots on sale in the store, in a number of popular types.

Debby Ingram was born in Cisco, but moved to Abilene when a child. Even when quite young she enjoyed crafts and leather work, and hoped to have a career along that line.

She gained work experience at a Boot and Shoe Repair Shop in Abilene, and also worked in Breckenridge at a Saddle Shop.

Moving back to Cisco was like coming home to Debby Ingram. She has a number of relatives in town, and her mother and father, Clay and Vera Ingram, moved back about the same time she did.

"I'm so glad to be back home with all the family," she says. "And I do hope my shop will serve this town in the best way possible."

"I would really like for people to come by and see the shop and look at some of my work."

Cisco Art Club Will Meet Mon.

The Cisco Art Club will meet Monday, January 31st, at the Art Room of the Harrell Fine Arts Building on the Cisco Junior College campus. The artists who wish to come may work between the hours of 3 p.m. and 9 p.m.

The membership to the club is entirely open and all area residents who desire to work in fellowship with other artists are welcome. The college furnishes tables and easels. Each artist is asked to help his fellow artist, but there is no formal instruction.

If no one is present at 7:30 p.m. then Mrs. Mullinax (CJC art instructor) will close the room. Some of the mediums that artists have been working with are oil, pastel, and wax sculpture.

Three Men Receive DWI Sentences

A 91st District Court jury took 15 minutes to find a 64-year-old Ranger man guilty of driving while intoxicated; two other men pleaded guilty to similar charges; and all three received severe penalties this week.

J.C. Grissom was represented by Truman Kirk and prosecution was led by Assistant Criminal District Attorney John M. Hawkins. Testimony of two arresting D.P.S. officers constituted the state's case and defense consisted of character witnesses regarding the defendant's physical condition.

After the jury decision, Presiding Judge Jim Wright took the matter under advisement over night, and the next day sentenced the man to 25 days in the county jail, a $250 fine, and court costs.

After the Monday jury verdict, a 41-year-old Cisco man, Billy Frank Garrett, whose DWI case was set for next week, pleaded guilty and received a sentence of 25 days in the county jail, a $400 fine, and court costs.

Then Russell Francis Fanning pleaded guilty to DWI and received a ten-day sentence, a $250 fine and court costs.

Council Calls City Election April 2 At Corral Room

Cisco's City Council voted Tuesday night at the regular council meeting to call a city election on April 2nd, 1983, at the Corral Room for the election of a Mayor, Council member place I and Council member place II.

Candidates for the election may start signing up on Monday, January 31, at City Hall. This year's absentee voting will also be held at City Hall.

The positions to be voted on are presently held by Eris Ritchie as Mayor, Linton Batteas as council member place I and Brad Kinbrough as council member place II.

Garl Gorr was named as election judge with Elmer Escobedo as alternate. Ginger Johnson and Beth Prickett were named as absentee voting clerks.

In old business, the council approved a lease with the Girls Softball Association for Whitley Field. The lease was for five years with two additional five-year options at one dollar per year.

Local Hospital To Become Abilene Affiliate Tuesday

On Tuesday, February 1, the E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital of Cisco will become an affiliate of Rural Hospital Management, Inc., a subsidiary of Hendrick Medical Development Corporation, Abilene. A 20-year lease was signed recently in ceremonies held at the local hospital.

Under terms of the contract for total operations and management, RHMI will lease the 30-bed hospital from the Cisco Hospital District for $5,000 a month. William D. (Bill) McKinnon, vice president of Hendrick Medical Development Corporation, oversees all RHMI operations, including the Cisco hospital and a management contract with the hospital in Seymour.

No personnel changes are anticipated and Mrs. Helen Orr, current administrator, will continue in that role, reporting to McKinnon.

Physician recruitment and retention will be a major emphasis for RHMI, and the outlook is favorable for encouraging staff development in Cisco, according to a recent statement by Mr. McKinnon.

RHMI and Cisco authorities first began negotiations for the lease in early 1981, only to discover that state legislation would be needed to cover legal problems associated with the lease.

Governor Bill Clements signed the needed legislation in June of 1981, and in August the Texas Health Facilities Commission granted a declaratory ruling, clearing the way for the lease acquisition.

CofC Individual Membership Still Growing

New individual members in the Cisco Chamber of Commerce are: Bobby Fink; manager of Quickway Gro., Bruce Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Smith.

'Christmas In May' Plans Its Workday

Saturday, May 7, has been selected as the workday for Cisco's "Christmas in May".

"Christmas in May" is Cisco's annual volunteer housing repair project for the elderly and handicapped. "CIM" is a nonprofit organization with a volunteer Board of Directors and is a project backed by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce.

Anyone wishing to contribute money, materials, or labor should call the Chamber of Commerce at 442-2537.

Three Men In County Jail For Stowe's Burglary

By Maybelle Trout

Three men, ages 19 and 20 are being held in Eastland County jail after Cisco criminal investigator Jackie Hobbs, acted on information he had received. Cisco Police Chief Billy Rains and lake patrolman Cas Ingram assisted in the investigation and arrest Thursday.

The three are being held on forgery and burglary charges. Cisco City Judge Jasper Cook read the men their rights following their arrest.

Some of the merchandise taken in the break in of Stowe's Hardware in Cisco last week has been recovered. Several guns and knives were reported stolen from the store last week after the back door was broken open.

The men are also being held for investigation of passing forged checks in Cisco, Ranger, Eastland and Coleman, this past week. They reportedly passed pay roll checks on a non-existent business in Cisco.

With the arrest, a sizable number of checks were recovered, made out in large amounts. It is not known the dollar amount loss the merchants suffered when the checks were cashed at places where no identification was required.

District Attorney Emory Walton said he expects to file charges against the three as soon as their identities are confirmed.

Locals Make Dean's List

Abilene, Texas...More than 210 Hardin-Simmons University students received academic honors in the Fall 1982 semester.

The Dean's List is comprised of students carrying 12 or more semester hours who have a grade point average of 3.75 for the semester. The list includes: Laquita L. Lorraine, sophomore, Mr. David Lorraine, Route 4, Cisco.

Would you like to get a home loan at an interest rate of only 3 percent?

Such a loan is being recommended by some economists for adoption in this country. The rate is low because the principal balance is indexed to inflation.

One of the reasons that current interest rates are high is that lenders much include an amount to offset the effects of inflation. An inflation-indexed loan would overcome this problem. Loan payments are based on a real rate of interest, or the rate that could be charged if there were no inflation.

Each year, the principal is increased by the inflation rate. Monthly payments increase by an identical percentage. The borrower does not have to make up for future inflation in early years.

Such mortgages are already in use in other parts of the world. Should inflation persist in the United States, these mortgages may someday be used here.

A DIFFERENT SLANT ON LEVERAGE

Two traditional advantages of real estate investment—cash flow and property appreciation—have been tempered by high interest rates and lowered inflation rates. But one significant advantage remains—and that is tax benefits.

With a small amount of your money and a large amount of borrowed money, you can still buy property that will provide you with a large tax shelter. Tax deductions, which you can claim as a property owner, include depreciation on the property and the interest paid on your loan. Depreciation can be claimed even if your property is increasing in market value.

So, depending on your investment objectives, real property may still provide you with the investment benefits you need, even in a high-interest rate, low-inflation-rate economy.

Ask your broker for more real estate investment information.

LISTING YOUR HOME

When you list your home for sale, what steps can you expect a real estate agent to take?

At the initial meeting, a competent salesperson will gather detailed information about your house. Salespeople ask for copies of mortgages, deeds, surveys and title policies. Also, the agent will inspect the house, provide recent selling prices of comparable houses in your neighborhood and assist in drawing up a plan to make your house more marketable.

A service more important than ever today is arranging—or at least suggesting financing. This information will include whether or not a buyer can assume your mortgage. If your mortgage can be assumed at a lower interest rate than the borrower can otherwise obtain, it is a key selling point. With an agent's assistance, you may realize a price that includes a premium for good financing, in addition to the amount for the house itself.

FTC REQUIRED INSULATION DISCLOSURE

The Federal Trade Commission now requires new home sellers to disclose the type, thickness and thermal resistance of the insulation installed in each part of a dwelling.

If no insulation is installed, that fact should be disclosed. In order for this disclosure to be effective, this information must be included in the sales contract or in a separate document referred to in the sales contract. Thus the buyer has an opportunity to review the insulation-related disclosures at the time the contract is signed.

In the case of multi-unit buildings, the disclosures are required only for the buyer's unit, although additional information is not prohibited by the rule. This rule applies only to the sale of new homes or existing residential structures, and only if insulation has been added as part of a conversion or renovation in preparation for resale.

CHANGES IN THE CONSUMER PRICE INDEX

When you read reports on inflation, the most common statistic used to measure the rate is the Consumer Price Index.

The index is intended to reflect current relative prices for the things most people purchase. It is an important number since wage rates, Social Security payments and many rental rates are adjusted by changes in the index.

For some years, many people have felt that the way housing costs are measured in the index was unrealistic. The index includes the cost of buying a new home. Since no one has to purchase a new home every month, critics contend this method overstates the impact of inflation on the average person. Accordingly, the Department of Commerce recently revised the index, substituting rents for home buying costs.

The expectation is that the new index will rise more slowly than the old one, but with the current pressure on rental rates, this may not be the case.

Eastland County cattlemen should take note of the new regulations that encourage vaccination for brucellosis control that are now in effect in Texas. The regulations apply to cattle being shipped into Texas as well as cattle being moved intrastate.

The two-area program for Texas has become Class B and Class C, effective January 12. The Class B area is comprised of 140 counties in the western half of the state which includes Eastland County. Class C area is composed of 114 counties in the eastern and

Extension Service Sponsors Letter Series

The Eastland County Extension Service is sponsoring a free, mail-out letter series entitled "Time of Your Life."

There is no magic formula for time management, but there are several basic principles involved which you can learn about and practice by enrolling in this free 6 part mail-out, study at home series.

The "Time of Your Life" letters will discuss the following topics:

- setting goals and priorities
- making "to do" lists and using them effectively
- coping with procrastination
- delegating responsibilities
- making time for yourself
- working more effectively

Time is something you can't save; you can't borrow it; you can't lend it; you can't take it with you. Each of us has exactly the same amount of time. How we spend it is up to us.

At times we may feel very little control over our own time, by allowing family, other people and events to control our time.

Are you feeling a time crunch, with little or no time left for yourself? Then you are especially invited to register for this mail-out letter series by notifying: Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent, P.O. Box 189, Eastland 76448, or telephone the Extension Service office at 629-2222.

Registration deadline is January 31. The letter series will begin in February.

coastal areas of Texas. These areas were previously known as the Class A control and Class B control areas, respectively.

After July 1, 1983, female breeding cattle four months of age or older must have been vaccinated before entering Texas with these exceptions: (a) Cattle from a certified free herd. (b) Cattle being shown in fair or exhibitions. (c) Cattle from commuter herds. (d) Cattle for slaughter or quarantine feedlots.

Female cattle four months of age or older born after January 1, 1983 must have been vaccinated when moving from one area to another in Texas, while those born before that date can move within Texas without having been vaccinated.

Cattle born after January 1, 1983 changing ownership within the C area must have two negative tests at least 60 days apart unless they have been officially vaccinated. Officially vaccinated heifers of dairy breeds under 20 months and beef breeds under 24 months which have not calved and are not pregnant are exempt from test.

Non-vaccinated female cattle entering either B or C areas of Texas from a Class C state or area require two negative tests 60 days apart until July 1 of this year, after which all females will need to have been vaccinated.

Vaccination is a cornerstone of the Texas brucellosis program. Vaccination ages for heifers as official vaccinates are 4 to 12 months of age for all breeds. Bulls are not vaccinated. The vaccine is provided free to cattlemen, but must be administered by an accredited veterinarian.

In 1982 only 14.4% of the eligible heifers in Eastland County were vaccinated for brucellosis. This compares to 32.5% for the state average. It will be most important to have 100% of the replacement heifers in Eastland County vaccinated in 1983. Contact your veterinarian and get information on calf hood vaccination.

trolled this time of year.

The pests attack leaves, tender shoots, leaf stems, catkins and nutlets.

Phylloxera can be controlled with dormat oil or the insecticides, malathion or zolone.

Malathion and zolone may be applied at bud-break, about the first of April.

Phylloxera overwinter in the egg stage and can be found in protected areas on pecan tree, such as under bark and in crevices. Overwinter eggs hatch in early spring and migrate to newly developing leaves and twigs.

Pest Alert

Gordon Woolam

Several aphids infest small grains. The greenbug is the major small grain pest. In most years, damaging populations develop throughout the area. However, an individual producer may not need to apply control measures for greenbugs every year.

Greenbugs develop in large number under certain conditions and may cause economic losses. In some cases, entire fields of grain are lost. Greenbugs suck plant juices and inject toxins into small grain plants.

During the winter, infested fields may have yellowed spots preceding the appearance of small deadened areas. Later, greenbugs in these spots may increase and spread throughout the field. Greenbugs cause more damage when small grain crops suffer from deficient moisture during midwinter and cool spring.

The greenbug reproduces rapidly at temperatures between 55 and 95 degrees F. Its natural enemies, however, reproduce slowly when temperatures are below 65 degrees F. Thus, in cool weather the greenbug may increase to enormous numbers while its natural enemies multiply slowly. Greenbug damage may be confused with moisture stress and/or nitrogen deficiency.

The need for applying insecticide depends on the number of greenbugs present, size and vigor of plants, temperature, time of year, moisture condition and stage of growth and presence of parasites and predators.

Treatment may be warranted when at least 100-300 greenbugs are found per linear foot when plants are 3-6 inches in height or when 300-800 greenbugs per linear foot of 6-18 inch plants are found. The appearance of dead plants caused by greenbug feeding in spots within the field may also indicate a need for treatment.

Greenbug control is more effective when temperature is above 50 degrees F. Use higher recommended rates when temperatures are below 65 degrees F. The chemicals most commonly recommended for greenbug control are Cygon*, DeFend*, Di-Syston*, Malathion or Parathion. Be sure to check label for grazing and harvesting restrictions.

Texas & The Legislature

Current Session Promises To Be Controversial

Senator Bob Glasgow

Now that the brouhaha of the first two weeks is over the 88th Legislature can finally sit down and go to work. This Session promises to be one of the more controversial and important. Particularly of interest this Session will be the thirty-two agencies up for Sunset review. Sunset review is a process requiring review by the Legislature of each State agency every twelve years. The Legislature must review and pass legislation continuing the agency for the next twelve years or else the agency goes out of existence. The largest agencies up for review are the Public Utility Commission, the Railroad Commission, the State Banking Department, the State Banking Commission, the Finance Commission, Savings and Loan Commission, State Board of Insurance, Industrial Accident Board, Texas Department of Community Affairs and the Texas Employment Commission. Although these bills are less glamorous and less sensational than other legislation, the treatment of these subjects will have by far the greatest impact on your everyday life than any other legislation being considered this year. Some of the more controversial subjects that will be considered include repeal of the blue law, intrastate trucking deregulation, parimutuel betting and the allowance of second liens on homesteads. The volume of mail in my office has been heavy on these subjects. Other measures of interest include a bill that would remove barriers that keep public trust and retirement funds from being invested in home mortgages. This measure is estimated to free between $18 billion to $12 billion for those needing housing loans. Another finance measure is a bill that would keep consumers from being charged interest on open-end credit accounts from the date of purchase. The measure would keep lenders from charging interest until the end of the billing cycle. In the criminal area, DWI bills and measures reforming or doing away with the insanity defense are prevalent. Most of the insanity bills filed restrict the definition of insanity and make changes in the procedure in an insanity case. Some provide for a "guilty but mentally ill" verdict as an alternative to "not guilty by reason of insanity." And there are those bills that completely abolish the insanity defense. These are just a few of the subjects that will be considered. Almost a thousand bills have been filed in the House and Senate already with a total number anticipated to be filed of 7,000 during the Session. If you have comments or inquiries on these or other legislation, please do not hesitate to contact my office: Senator Bob Glasgow, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711. Telephone number 512/475-3452.

Spotlights And Sidelights

Julia Worthy

"...the problems of unemployment, falling prices, bankruptcies, and insecurity." Sound familiar? No, it doesn't refer to President Reagan's State of the Union. It was written about the problems of FDR's "brain trust" of fifty years ago.

Sunday (January 30) is the birthdate of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, thirty-second president of our United States. Aside from Washington's and Lincoln's, Roosevelt's is the only presidential birthday I ever remember.

There are probably a couple of reasons for this—maybe more. The March of Dimes, originally set up to combat poliomyelitis, got a lot of publicity mileage from the fact that FDR was a partially recovered victim of the disease. Stricken in 1921, FDR re-entered public politics on crutches when (in 1924) he nominated Alfred E. Smith as Democratic candidate for the presidency.

Roosevelt didn't have to go into the political arena or anywhere else. His family name was so respectable that he never did anything. In 1932, I was at an impressionable age—I prefer "impressionable" to "gullible"—so I admired FDR's determination and effort that won him the presidency for himself.

Roosevelt was President through all my teens and beyond. There is no way I can NOT remember debating the merits of the Agricultural Adjustment Act which was meant to raise farm prices and conserve soil by restricting the raising of crops and farm animals. (That's when cattle were slaughtered, but not eaten, and potatoes were dyed blue.)

The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), created in the interest of low-cost electrical power, was another debate topic, I believe. Instead, it may have been one of the subjects for UIL extemporaneous speech contests.

There were new bureaus, commissions and agencies every whip-stitch, and effects trickled down to the Moran schools and community to leave definite memories with me. My accuracy is questionable, but the effect isn't.

There was a rock fence built along the street side of the school grounds. It was done by the people "on" WPA (Works Progress Administration). Most of us who were in school politely ignored the workers as if they had some kind of physical affliction they couldn't help. Where we got this idea, I do not know. Neither do I know why being "on" WPA was slightly tainted, though it was perfectly all right to "go to" the CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps).

Included in Roosevelt's alphabet soup were NIRA (National Industrial Recovery Act), FERA (Federal Emergency Relief Administration) and the SSA, better known to us as "Social Security." The Social Security Act seemed to be an umbrella-type legislation meant to provide aid for the aged, unemployed, handicapped, child welfare and public health. Could it be that the spectrum covered by Social Security has become as inclusive as the implied powers of the Constitution?

FDR's lower body may have been impaired by polio, but the energy meant for his legs went to his brain. At this late date, it is difficult to say how many of his acts blossomed from his fertile fancy and how many resulted from the inspiration of his brain trust or of his wife.

Regardless of where he got his ideas, banks closed (some re-opened), stock market speculations were curbed, investments were regulated, prohibition was repealed, and in his determination to end the depression, FDR announced he "would demand powers comparable to those held in wartime," if necessary.

The Problems Of Unemployment

Eventually, FDR had those wartime powers for a sure-nough war and his administration, the first to go into a fourth term, provided a great deal of debatable material—then and now.

The depression ended, but it seemed to me WW-II had more effect on the economy than the OPA (Office of Price Administration), or the OES (Office of Economic Stabilization—not Order of Eastern Star), or any of the rest of the alphabet.

Yes, there were a number of things about FDR I admired, but I don't now how the history books will treat him in another fifty years. I do know, admiration of my salad years notwithstanding, I never have been able to shake the uneasy feeling his "fireside chats" always gave me. Color me "Unpersuaded."

'What's So Bad About Gambling?'

By Rev. Jim Hooten
There are a number of reasons why gambling is wrong. I would like to mention three:
1. It is contrary to the Bible.
There is no proof text which says "Thou shalt not gamble." The Bible often speaks on moral issues in principles rather than prohibitions. The spirit and basic intent of the Scriptures reveals that gambling is morally indefensible. The spirit of the Scripture as it applies to gambling is indicated in the following statements:

(1.) God's Word demands love of God and neighbor (Matthew 22:37-40). Gambling contradicts such love.
(2.) God's Word condemns covetousness and materialism (Matthew 6:24-34) which is at the heart of the gambling process.

(3.) God's Word repudiates theft (Matthew 19:18) while gambling is theft by mutual consent just as dueling is murder by mutual consent.
(4.) God's Word encourages honest work (Ephesians 4:28, II Thessalonians 3:10-12) while gambling encourages an attitude of something for nothing.
(5.) God's Word demands stewardship of life and possessions (Matthew 6:33; Romans 14:12; Colossians 3:17) while gambling rejects the idea of stewardship.
(6.) God's Word demands the worship of God alone (Exodus 20:3) and recognition of His sovereignty (Matthew 10:29-30) while gambling is the worship of luck and chance.

his family. The children of such people are the innocent victims.
3. It is destructive to the good of society.
It is often said by gambling proponents that anti-gambling laws come from the Puritanic heritage of our nation. The fact is that such laws come out of bitter experience with gambling in the past.
Most legitimate business men and bankers reject gambling because it deprives society of wealth which could be used productively. Gambling involves 50 billion dollars a year and yet produces no new wealth. Respected economists consider gambling a distributive force rather than a productive force. Its primary function is to "redistribute" your money from your pocket to pockets of the racketeers.
Another ill that attends gambling is the deprivation of the poor. This happens because many times those who are least able to afford it are the ones most tempted to participate. These poor people spend their nickles, dimes and quarters to chase the elusive dream of wealth. Losses for these people means no rent money, no money to pay medical bills and no money for the grocery store.

In short, gambling is personally selfish, morally irresponsible, and socially destructive.

It is my prayer that all of us will be ready to take our stand and vote with our mouth what we feel in our heart when the issue of horse-racing and par-mutual betting is brought before us.

Public Invited To Hear Arthritis Program

The Extension Homemaker Club program leaders will meet on Monday, January 31 at 10:00 a.m. in the Eastland National Bank Community Room. The public is also invited to attend.
The program will be on "Arthritis Management". Guest speaker will be Mrs. Jackie Tucker, registered nurse. Mrs. Tucker was formerly with West Central Texas Home Health Care agency, and has had extensive experience in all areas of nursing and health care.
Mrs. Tucker will speak on various phases of arthritis management including diet, exercise, how to detect arthritis "cure" quackery, etc.

Arthritis is a disease that strikes one out of every four families. Over 20 million Americans have arthritis and spend over two billion dollars a year on medical care for arthritis.
Everyone interested in hearing Mrs. Jackie Tucker speak on arthritis management is invited to attend this program Monday, January 31, at 10:00 a.m. in the Eastland National Bank Community Room states Mrs. Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent.

2. It is detrimental to the life of the individual.
Approximately one out of ten petty gamblers becomes a compulsive gambler. These poor people reveal many of the same symptoms as the alcoholic and dope addict. Although in misery and despair, they seem powerless to escape. The individual gambler almost always suffers financially which results in hardship on

Choice Of Tax Preparer An Important Decision

If you choose to have someone do your federal tax return for you, the Internal Revenue Service advises that you take the same pains in making a wise choice as you would in choosing a doctor, lawyer, or any other professional, since the only person who is ultimately responsible for your tax return is you.

The IRS offers these suggestions on how to select and what to expect from a preparer.

*Taxpayers should not sign a blank return, nor one which is partially completed, nor one prepared in pencil.

*Preparers should be asked to sign the return in the taxpayer's presence and to give his or her identification number, as required by law.

*The taxpayer must be given a copy of the completed return.

*Preparers who promise a refund, claim a special relationship with the IRS, or boast of ways to beat the tax system should be avoided.

IRS INTRODUCES A NEW FORM-1040EZ

The Internal Revenue Service had developed a new simplified tax form for single taxpayers, called Form 1040EZ. The IRS says that, as the name implies, the 1040EZ is a brief, simple-to-complete tax form.

The IRS estimates that over 20 million taxpayers will be eligible to use the new form. For example, most college students who file federal individual income tax returns will be eligible to use the 1040EZ even if they are claimed as dependents on another taxpayer's return.

To use the 1040EZ, a taxpayer must be single, claim only one personal exemption, and claim no exemptions for children or other dependents. All income must come from wages, salaries, tips, and no more than $400 in interest. Taxable income must be less than $50,000.

The form contains only 11 items, the IRS says, which is half the lines on the Form 1040A for 1982. The 1040EZ is divided into steps that guide the taxpayer through the form.

Most of the instructions needed to complete Form 1040EZ are on the back of the form. However, the IRS advises that this year's 1040EZ filers will need to use the 1040A instructions for the tax table and for the special worksheet used to figure the allowable deduction for charitable contributions on the new form.

The 1040EZ has been included in the 1982 Form 1040A tax package. It is also available separately at many local IRS offices and through form distribution centers in many banks and post offices.

A TAX RETURN PREPARATION CHECK-LIST

The Internal Revenue Service offers the following time-tested approach to avoiding errors on your federal income tax return.

- First:
 - Do you have all your necessary records and forms easily accessible?
 - Do you have plenty of time? (Rushing leads to errors.)
 - Have you received a

Wage and Tax Statement (W-2 form) from each employer you worked for during the past year?

-Do you anticipate any questions or problems? Are you puzzled about any particular law changes? If so, check your instructions. Also, check with IRS—they may have a free publication that will answer your questions.

Next, before you mail your return, double-check the following:

- Are all W-2 forms attached?
- Are all supporting schedules attached to your Form 1040?

-Is the arithmetic correct?

-If you rounded off numbers, did you round consistently?

-Did you use the correct tax table, and did you follow the line across to the correct figure?

-Is the return signed and dated (by both spouses if a joint return)?

-Did you use the peel-off label and, if so, is the information correct?

-Is there a stamp on the pre-addressed, coded envelope?

-Did you make a copy of the return for your own records?

W-2 FORMS SHOULD BE RECEIVED BY FEBRUARY 1, 1983

Employees who have not received a W-2, Wage and Tax Statement, by February 1 should contact their employer to be sure they have the correct address, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Even if an employee is unable to get a W-2 before the tax filing deadline, the return must be filed by April 15. The IRS reminds taxpayers that they must have a W-2 form from every employer they worked for during the year. If it is impossible to obtain a W-2 from an employer, the employee should either request a Form 4852, Substitute Wage and Withholding Statement, from the IRS or attach a signed and dated statement explaining the tax computations for the missing wage and tax information to replace the W-2 and file it with the tax return, according to the IRS.

TEA Fetes Cisco Visitor

A tea honoring Mary Latch Carey, a visitor from Talkeetna, Alaska, was given in Cisco Monday afternoon, Jan. 24 at the home of Mrs. J.M. Sauls, hostess.

The table was decorated in a red and white Valentine motif, accented with crystal and silver serving pieces. A red tablecloth, with a white embroidered overlay, was set with spiced tea, coffee, fruit cake, cookies, nuts, and candies.

Guests were the honoree, Mary Carey and Annie Rendall, Lela Lloyd, Eunice Penn, La Vena Nance, Viola Payne, Jewell Cole, Ellen Justice, and Mary Bob Leveridge.

The guests enjoyed looking at slides made by Mary Carey during her recent tour of Africa. There were excellent photographs made on a Wild Game Preserve, an Ostrich Farm, in the Capetown area, and during a trip down the Nile in Egypt.

Mrs. Carey, an author, has several speaking engagements and reviews in this area. She will also appear on "Mid-Day With Kay", Channel 9 Television, Abilene, Jan. 26. She will return to Alaska around Jan. 30.

Corinth Educational Building

Nearing completion at Corinth Baptist Church is this new building which houses classrooms, rest rooms, and fellowship hall with a kitchen. It will almost double the size of the rural church.

Dreams Come True At Corinth Church

The dream of a new educational building at the Corinth Baptist Church is coming true only two months after the decision was made to build.

Members of the country church, located just north of Hwy. 80 midway between Cisco and Eastland, had determined that the small church should not borrow, but build only as the money, labor, and materials were donated.

As the church members and people of the area continue to give and give again, a new building almost as large as the original rock church building is nearing completion.

The church built on faith, and if just a little more money and labor is donated, the building will be completely finished.

A few people can usually be found at the church in the evenings with sheetrock being nailed over insulated walls, cabinet work receiving finishing touches, or paint and trim being applied, all with a mood of fellowship.

Water is now being piped to the new building, which includes three classrooms, two rest rooms, and a fellowship hall with a kitchen.

The church, which was struggling just a few months ago, had record attendances Sunday in both Sunday School and Training Union.

With the goal of extending Christ and the Christian fellowship of the church to the people of the community, the members are trying to invite people and to make them feel wanted.

The East Cisco Baptist Church has made their baptistry available to the Corinth Church, which does not have one, and as men were working on the building Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Newt Hart of the East Cisco Church came by and said that he had had a dream that he should fill the baptistry with water at East Cisco as Corinth would be needing to use it again Sunday.

Just a few hours later following the Wednesday night service, a young man accepted Christ and became a candidate for baptism, thus fulfilling that dream also.

Birditt Hitt, the Corinth pastor, invites everyone looking for love, fellowship, or a church home to visit the church.

Bass Association Schedules Largest Tournament In State History

In less than two years, the Texas Bass Association has become the premier bass fishing organization in the State of Texas, and TBA president Coy Milam has recently announced the largest bass tournament in the history of Texas bass fishing, the Texas Bass Association, Inc., First Annual National Big Bass Roadrunner Open Bass Tournament with anglers allowed to fish on their choice of 36 lakes in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana on April 30, 1983 and be at the weigh-in in Tyler, Texas that afternoon. The guaranteed cash purse of $100,000 offers a first prize of $50,000, followed by $15,000 for second and $8,000 for third, and a total cash payout to the top 25 finishers. The cash purse is supplemented by over $36,000 in boats, trailers and other merchandise drawings provided by many national sponsors.

The tournament, which has a $100 entry fee before April 22 and $125 after that, will be headquartered at the main pavilion of the Tyler Fair Grounds on Loop 323 in Tyler, within a 3-hour drive of all 36 lakes available in the tournament.

All 25 cash winners will be administered polygraph tests as a team of bonded, licensed polygraph examiners, at no expense to the winners.

A couple of years ago the Mesa Builders of Longview started the 8-lake Battle of the Lakes which provided up to $76,000 in cash payouts, and those tournaments have created a lot of commotion in the Texas bass fishing world.

The Texas Bass Association National Roadrunner open should create a lot of commotion nationwide as it becomes part of a $500,000 weekend in American bass fishing. There are also two professional tournaments (Arkansas and Florida) the same weekend which will provide a combined purse of over $400,000 and with the TBA Roadrunner the total goes well over a Half-Million Dollars for the weekend.

The TBA National Roadrunner entry fee is by far the most modest of the three events with a comparable purse and wider range of choice of lakes for the competing fishermen.

In the next three months tournament information and entry forms will be available at most tackle and bait shops and marinas throughout the states of Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

This will not only be the largest tournament conducted by the Texas Bass Association, but the largest ever conducted in the State of Texas, not only in the scope of the number of lakes but in what could be the largest field of competition and the largest payout ever. And the best part of it is that ANYONE can enter and compete.

Mr. Winter wins again. Due to adverse weather conditions we were unable to hold our annual awards banquet as was scheduled January 21st. But not to worry we shall set another date in the near future.

February the 3rd will be our next meeting. We shall again hold our meeting at the new Cisco National Bank. Everyone is urged to attend and get a good start on the new year. We have broadened our money structure this year in attempt to more evenly distribute it. But you can't win unless you get those dues paid and be an active member. Your County Bass Club needs your support and participation. See you all February 3rd.

Homemakers Council To Meet Wednesday

The Eastland County Extension Homemaker's Council will meet Wednesday, February 2 at the Eastland National Bank Community Room at 2:00 p.m.

Important business will include the final adoption of the 1983 Recommendations of Work. Following Council, there will be a TEHA election to elect 3 voting delegates to represent Eastland County at the District 8 TEHA Spring Convention on April 5.

Mrs. Edna Bint, County TEHA Chairman; and Mrs. Dorothy Underwood, Council Chairman; will report on the recently held District 8 TEHA training and planning meeting they attended in Stephenville on January 27th.

All Council members are urged to be present.

WOW Youths Schedule

Mon. Meeting

A January 31st meeting has been scheduled for the Woodmen of the World Youth Lodge No. 4559. The meeting will be held at the Eastland National Bank Community room beginning at 7:30 p.m.

All Woodmen of the World youths are encouraged to attend. Future programs and parties will be planned and youth camp discussed.

Program: CLEANING ON A SHOESTRING by Janet Thomas, County Extension Agent

Would you like to learn how to make one-half gallon of window and mirror cleaner for 30 cents compared to buying a commercial window cleaner priced at $1.27 for 10 oz. at the grocery store? Window cleaner along with many other home cleaning products will be demonstrated that you can make for "pennies".

The Extension Service is sponsoring a homemaker's study group which meets informally at noon once a month. Interesting and creative programs will be presented each month. February's program will be on crepe cookery and March we are planning to have an interior decorator.

Come and join the fun during your noon hour! We will adjourn before 1 p.m. so you can be back to work on time.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE
BY CORNELIUS R. STEAM, PRES. SEBASTIAN BIBLE SOCIETY CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60635

A CLEAR CONSCIENCE

With the knowledge of good and evil man came into the possession of conscience. A sense of blame-worthiness smote him when he committed, or even contemplated committing, evil. This has been so ever since. The Bible tells us that even the most ungodly and benighted heathen "show the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the meanwhile accusing or else excusing one another" (Rom. 2:15).

It is true that man's conscience can be violated so often that it becomes calloused or, as St. Paul puts it: "seared with a hot iron" (1 Tim. 4:2), but events or incidents can take place which suddenly awaken the conscience and make it sensitive again. Many a person has indulged in "the pleasures of sin" more and more freely until, suddenly, his sin has found him out and his conscience has caught up with him to condemn him day and night and make life itself unbearable.

The Bible teaches that all men outside of Christ are, to some degree, troubled by guilty consciences and certainly most are "through fear of death...all their lifetime subject to bondage" (Heb. 2:15). But it also teaches that "Christ died for our sins" so that our penalty having been paid, we might be delivered from a guilty conscience.

The works and ceremonies of the Mosaic Law could never accomplish this, but sincere and intelligent believers in Christ, having been "once purged," have "no more conscience of sins" (Heb. 9:14; 10:1, 2). They are, to be sure, conscious of their sins, but they are no longer tortured by a forever-condemning conscience, for they know that the penalty for all their sins, from the cradle to the coffin, was fully met by Christ at Calvary.

This is not to imply that even a sincere believer may not be troubled about offending the One who paid for his sins, but he knows that the judgment for these sins is past. Thus he earnestly seeks, like Paul, "to have always a conscience void of offence toward God and toward man" (Acts 24:16).

WORD OF GOD

Jesus said repent!
Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent.

They Didn't Even Mention Old Rip

(ED. NOTE: "And they didn't even mention Old Rip" - but this article from the Dallas Morning News answers the oft-asked question "Why doesn't Eastland re-stage the famous Horn Toad Derby?" Written by Deanie Francis Mills, the article tells of the problems Snyder had last fall in putting together a "Chamber event" at which they'd hoped to have a horn-toad derby.)

If Mark Twain's Jim Smiley were around today, he could have placed a bet on something a lot more exciting than the celebrated jumping frog of Calaveras County.

Could have, that is, because the event never took place. The First Annual World's Only Scurry County Horny Toad Race and Style Show, scheduled for the county fair in Snyder (population 13,000) this fall, was scrapped in a cloud of controversy.

It's bad enough that the horny toad or Texas Horned Lizard or Horned Frog or phrynosoma cornutum or whatever you want to call it is so ugly. The runty little pseudo-dinosaurs also have to worry about being eaten by hawks, road runners and snakes, or even worse, imprisoned in shoe boxes and carried off by tourists.

Not only that, but the poor critters suffer from such high blood pressure that they actually squirt blood from the corners of their eyes when frightened, yet they are such trusting creatures that they can be put to sleep simply by having their tummies stroked.

For the folks of West Texas, however, the horny toad is as natural a part of the environment as cactus and mesquite trees. The toad race, which was the brainchild of Jerry Baird, director of adult Vocational and Continuing Education at Western Texas College in Snyder, was scheduled with the Greased Pig Scramble and the Mule Pull. The activities looked likely to be a full day.

Glen Poke, a radio announcer in Snyder, was in charge of the race.

"When we first started publicizing it," he says, "I figured it'd be just a bunch of kids and a handful of horny toads. I had no idea what a big deal it would be."

As news of the event spread, competition grew fierce to find the biggest, the fastest, the most alert lizard. Bets were swapped, more horny toads captured, named and trained. One executive of a large oil company showed up on Polk's doorstep at 7 a.m. one day before the race and said: "I just want you to know I've got the race won. I've had oil-field workers from all over the country hunting for the biggest horny toad, and I'm here to tell you I've got me a 4-pound champion!"

Meanwhile, costumes were being created for the style show. One spiny creature was custom-fitted for his own tuxedo. One was outfitted with a tutu, complete with matching sequined pasties.

Trophies were ordered from a Texas Christian University alumnus who owns a sporting goods store in town. A race track was constructed, complete with six lanes and the AstroTurf running surface. Rules were drawn up. (You could "help" your toad with a gentle poke on the fanny, but it would cost you five seconds off your total time for each poke.) All animals were to be returned to the wild after the race.

In the final week before the competition was scheduled, Polk estimates that as many as 500 Texas Horned Lizards had been rounded up for the First Annual World's Only Scurry County Horny Toad Race and Style Show.

Then, on the day before the race, the ax fell. Copies of a letter from William R. Meade III, director of the Gulf States Region of the Humane Society, arrived in the mail for the president of the Scurry County Fair Association, the editor of the Snyder Daily News, the mayor of Snyder and the executive director of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. Meade took issue with all three scheduled events - the greased pig scramble, the mule pull and the horny toad race.

Mull pulls overworked the animal, the letter said. Greased pig catching inflicted fright and harassment on the animals and invokes a "form of torture," Meade said.

But the horny toad race was a particularly heavy infraction of the state anti-cruelty law (Section 42.11), because horned toads are protected under 43.021 Protected Non-Game Species of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Code. Anyone caught catching one of the ugly animals could be fined as much as $200.

Meade suggested that the fair should consider sack races or Frisbee throws in place of the scheduled events.

After Polk wearily read a copy of the letter over the radio, the protests began: It was an outrage! How could a mule pull be inhumane, when mules were bred to pull? And how could children chasing a pig be considered a form of torture? But worst of all, how could the community do without its First Annual World's Only Horny Toad Race?

Telephone lights at the radio station lit up, and letters to the editor of the newspaper began pouring in overnight. Nobody wanted to be cruel to animals. They just wanted to have a little harmless fun.

Polk felt lodged between a rock and a hard spot. If they went ahead with the race, the contests could cost the game warden his job since having the race would be breaking the law. Yet, if he canceled it...he was liable to find himself run out of town on a rail. In an 11th-hour bid for mercy, he placed a call to the regional director of the Humane Society in Corpus Christi.

Meade said the law was conceived when the society learned that baby horny toads were being shipped out of state where they were electroplated in gold or silver and made into jewelry. The toads had been advertised in the backs of magazines for sale and shipped out by the hundreds.

The delicate creatures, which thrive only in high temperatures, must have certain types of ants in their diet. To capture them for the contest probably would cause their deaths, the Humane Society spokesman said.

In an article for the San Antonio Light, the reptile supervisor for the San Antonio Zoo, Joseph Laszlo, is quoted as saying that the lizards are so delicate that even the zoo does not try to keep a live one on display.

"You just look at them, and they die," he said. Therefore, while not yet on the Endangered Species list, the spiky little critters are protected.

Fair officials, in a fit of defiance, decided to go ahead with the mule pull and greased pig scramble. But with a communal sigh, the First Annual World's Only Scurry County Horny Toad Race and Style Show, was cancelled.

"The little buggars were probably robbed of their only moment of glory," Polk said afterward.

Bandy-legged Baird, who had the idea for the race in the first place, reared back in his office chair, propped one booted foot on the desk, shifted an unlit cigar to the corner of his mouth, and waxed philosophical.

"The moral of this story is, you gotta be nice to horny toads."

Perhaps the best comment of all was made a few weeks later in an editorial by Donny L. Brown of the Snyder Daily News:

"The final fact may be that the poor old horny toad is an anachronism, out of place, out of step and out of time.

"No comment will be made to the charge that using the harmless critters as racing animals will speed up their demise. It is just the possibility that they may be going that makes us suddenly aware of change and the mortal nature of things.

"Walking across a vacant lot in spring, or your own back yard in summer, or a turnrow in fall, who hasn't felt a tiny squirt of pleasure when they see the crazy scurrying dash of a horny toad in flight.

"If the horny toad is on the way out, we might look around to see who's next."

One thing for sure. The horny toad won't ever be taken for granted in Scurry County again.

Seeds From The Sower

Michael A. Guido

There was a minister who had a boat named CALL. When someone asked for him on his day off, and he needed rest, his wife would say, "He's out on CALL."

There are two dangers in life. There is the danger of too much activity. No one can work without rest.

Our age is a tired age. So many have not learned the art of restful living and restful laboring. Everything they do is a burden to them. At work, at home and at school, they are living tired lives. They rush to work, to school, and they rush home. The Lord did not mean for us to live like this.

Neither did He mean for us to live the Christian life without getting along with Him in prayer. He said, "Come ye apart and rest a while." If we do not rest a while, we will come apart.

There is a danger of too much withdrawal. There must be motion as well as devotion, work as well as worship.

The rhythm of the successful Christian life is talking with the Lord in the secret place and toiling for man in the market place.

Word Of God

For Those Who Wish To Be Saved:

That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved.

For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.

SETTLING AN ESTATE?

There are several important tasks you must perform when you are given the responsibility of settling an estate. If the decedent does not leave a will the court will appoint an administrator. Or, if there is a will the decedent will have designated a person to act as executor of the estate.

The executor, or administrator, must ascertain what holdings of real estate and personal property are in the estate. After compiling a list of assets an appraisal must be made to determine their value for estate taxation purposes.

If bequests were made in the will the specific items must be transferred to the recipients. In most cases it will be necessary to convert remaining assets to cash so they can be distributed according to the will, or according to the laws of the State.

White Assures Of Favorable Business Climate

In his first public meeting with oil industry leaders, newly-inaugurated Texas Governor Mark White yesterday assured the Executive Committee of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) that his administration will work to improve the overall business climate in Texas. He pledged to "work with and for the producing industry to get a free market for oil and gas in Texas."

"We're being cut to pieces in Texas by (federal) energy policies that are not working," White said.

The oil executives, who assembled in Austin to discuss legislative priorities on the state and federal level, were reminded by White that his work as the Texas Attorney General was of primary importance in having the Windfall Profit Tax declared unconstitutional in a Wyoming Federal Court. "I am persuaded," he said, "that the Supreme Court will uphold that decision."

TIPRO President Harrold E. "Gene" Wright, Gilmer, warned the TIPRO leaders that oil and gas producers could be the target for higher state taxes, and quoted Lt. Governor Bill Hobby who has said that the current session will be about, "Money, money, money." Wright recapped a long list of taxes already paid by oil and gas producers in Texas. "But the same barrel of high-priced oil, or unit of gas, coming into this country from Mexico or Canada, or Venezuela or Saudi Arabia have absolutely none of those taxes imposed on it," he said. "This is a reverse tariff on Texas producers, royally owners and consumers, favoring foreign interests who are enjoying a free ride at our expense."

Wright called for a tariff on foreign imports. A resolution was adopted to recommend to federal legislators, which said in part, "Should Washington, in order to help resolve the nation's budgetary deficit problems, determine that taxation should be placed on the energy industry, TIPRO strongly believes such taxation measures be directed to currently un-taxed oil imports into the United States." A special Oil Import Fee Task Force, headed by independent Marvin Zeid, Houston, was directed to analyze the various forms such a tax might take.

Wright further recognized that Texas' share of the new federal 5 cent per gallon gasoline tax will not meet the states urgent need for highway funds. "In my personal opinion, a straight 5 cent per gallon fuel tax on the state level should be instituted," he suggested, "so that the problem of Texas highway maintenance can be handled without resorting to the use of state general revenue funds."

Following the recommendations of the National Policy Committee headed by producer Rex Fuller of Lubbock, the TIPRO leaders voted to join forces with the Natural Gas Equal Access Association, Denver. They will work for legislation to provide transportation for natural gas which might be sold directly to consumers by producers. Natural gas sales are currently made directly to pipelines who then control the price of natural gas delivered to consumers. A number of TIPRO executives expressed the belief that such legislation will increase sales of surplus Texas gas and lower prices to consumers nationwide.

The high level meeting was attended by a number of Texas agency officials and legislators, and by representatives of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association,

Wichita Falls; Permian Basin Petroleum Association, Midland; Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association, Amarillo; and the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, Abilene. At the conclusion of the formal meeting, TIPRO and the four regional associations sponsored a reception for the new members of the Texas Legislature.

RRC Chairman Wallace Calls Public Interest 'Paramount'

TYLER—Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace today identified environmental protection, public safety, natural gas rates, oilfield theft, and federal regulation as key issues facing the state's energy regulatory agency.

He vowed to keep the interests of the people of Texas always paramount in attempts to solve these problems.

Wallace, who was elected chairman of the RRC earlier this month, made his statement to oil and gas industry representatives at the Commission's monthly statewide oil and gas hearing here.

He said the Commission's responsibilities in rail safety, LP-gas safety, and natural gas pipeline safety are "high personal priorities."

"I want to improve this Commission's capabilities to abate oil field pollution whenever and wherever necessary," he said.

Wallace added he felt the conservation and protection of the state's scarce water resources are "equally essential" as the conservation and protection of the state's oil and gas resources.

"I am committed to a stepped up enforcement effort to assure that the use of the state's fresh water, as it relates to oil and gas production, is guarded against those who would pollute it," Wallace explained.

The RRC chairman further maintained that assuring Texans of a stable supply of natural gas at the lowest possible cost "continues to occupy a position of high priority with me," as does the quality of service provided consumers by gas companies.

He added that the Commission has recently implemented steps to require gas utilities to give customers five working days notice before service is terminated and to inform customers on how to resolve billing disputes and register complaints.

Wallace pointed out that the federal Natural Gas Policy Act, passed by Congress in 1978, is keeping the price of natural gas "unconscionably high at a time when the laws of supply and demand dictate that the price should fall."

He said he would do all in his power to seek repeal of the NGPA.

Other federal procedures, Wallace said, have kept the state from getting access to the $14 million that has so far been collected from Texas lignite producers by the federal Office of Surface Mining. The fund was created to provide money for reclaiming lands disturbed by mining operations in Texas for which no one has the responsibility for reclamation.

Although Texas has identified hundreds of mines in the state that have been left unreclaimed, "the mechanism set up by the U.S. Congress has prevented the State of Texas from receiving any money pursuant to its approved regulatory program to reclaim any abandoned land," Wallace said.

He proposed that state governments be allowed to collect the fund money and administer the reclamation program to eliminated federal involvement as an "unnecessary intermediary."

Imports of foreign oil are another problem facing the country, Wallace said. "While it is true that imports have declined considerably over the last few years, the fact remains that today this nation still imports more than five million barrels per day of crude oil and crude oil products into this country at a cost of billions of dollars."

A limitation on crude oil imports, Wallace explained, could boost oil exploration and production at home and encourage the use of domestic gas.

Hearings Begin On Mining Application

BASTROP—The Railroad Commission's Surface Mining and Reclamation Division continued public hearings here today on an application from the Lower Colorado River Authority for a permit to conduct surface mining for lignite in a portion of Bastrop County.

Those interested in commenting on the application may do so at the hearing or by submitting written comments to the Surface Mining and Reclamation Division before the conclusion of the hearing.

The hearings examiners will make no recommendation to the three commissioners on the application until after the hearing concludes and all the evidence and comments are thoroughly analyzed.

The LCRA stated in its application that the proposed permit area would encompass approximately 956 acres, but that only 157 acres would actually be mined. They said the operation would be known as the Powell Bend Mine and would produce about 200,000 tons of lignite per year.

The proposed permit area is located about four miles north-northwest of Bastrop, west of Highway 96, and southwest of Camp Swift.

Even before the public hearing is held on a permit application, applicants must show the proposed mining operation will comply with provisions of the Surface Mining and Reclamation Division rules, the federal Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act, and the Texas Surface Coal Mining and Reclamation Act.

Permit applications must include a detailed analysis of area geology, ground and surface water, climate, vegetation, fish and wildlife resources, and soils, and the measures to be taken to minimize or prevent adverse effects on each due to mining.

A complete reclamation plan must also be part of the application showing reclamation methods, proposed postmining use of the land, and actions to be taken to protect the hydrologic balance of the area.

Before any permit is issued, applicants must also post a performance bond in an amount sufficient to cover all reclamation costs.

That bond must be approved by the Commission.

Once the hearing on the LCRA application concludes, the examiners will weigh all evidence submitted and develop a written recommendation. This recommendation, called a proposal for decision, will be circulated and comments on the recommendations may be submitted to the Commission. The examiners may thereafter alter their recommendation based on the comments received.

The final written recommendation of the Examiners is submitted to the commissioners along with all the public comments and replies that have been received. After reviewing all the evidence of record, the commissioners then make a decision on the permit application.

...give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD HOOKS

Deana Marie Thompson & Donald Lloyd Hooks United In Matrimony

Miss Deana Marie Thompson and Mr. Donald Lloyd Hooks were united in holy matrimony in a candlelight ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stroebel on the 11th of December 1982.

Donald, formerly of Ranger, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alford Bush of Ranger and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lloyd Hooks of Eastland.

Deana is the daughter of Mrs. Maggie Thompson. Rev. Doyle Roberts performed the candlelight ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Kenneth Thompson of Graham. Candlelighter was Ernest Thompson of Cisco. Mr. Alford Bush, stepfather, was the groom's best man. Matron of honor was Mrs. Billy Bisbee of Eastland.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Randy Rust of Cisco. The reception was hosted by the bride's aunts, Mrs. Carl Stroebel of Cisco and Mrs. Fred Wende of Breckenridge. The cake and punch were served by Mrs. David Boland of San Antonio, sister of the bride.

B&W Furniture Store Plans Grand Opening

Wayne and Barbara Thatcher, owners of B and W Furniture, are having a Grand Opening for their store on Feb. 1. B and W Furniture is located at 304 W. Commerce, Eastland.

The Thatchers, who formerly lived in Andrews, have owned B and W Furniture since last June. The store features an excellent quality of new and used furniture, and many household items.

The public is invited to come by and register for prizes during the Grand Opening, and to check the already-low prices in the store. Some items will be marked as much as 20% off.

DANNY HUNT AND GAYLA GWINN

Announces Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gwinn announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gayla Beth, to Danny Shane Hunt, son of Mrs. Bernice Hunt.

The couple will be married at 6:00 p.m., Saturday, March 12, at Interstate 20 Church of Christ in Cisco.

The bride-elect attended North Garland High School in Garland and graduated from Cisco High School where she was a cheerleader.

The prospective bridegroom attended Permian High School in Odessa and graduated from Cisco High School. He attended Angelo State University, UTA (Arlington) and is now attending Tarleton State University. He has been on the honor roll at colleges attended. His major is business marketing.

The Magical Martins -- An American Guitar

By Viola Payne

Several years ago the late Guy E. Gabbart, a violin maker of Abilene, mentioned that he had once seen a Martin guitar from the Civil war era which was owned by "someone on a ranch in Eastland County." He couldn't remember the name of the owner.

If this instrument is still around, and in recognizable condition, it is one very valuable guitar! For that script "C.F. Martin & Co., Est. 1833" sitting above the neck of any instrument has a magical ring to it.

There are other good American guitar companies, but C.F. Martin is the oldest, and probably the most innovative. For a long time it has set a standard of workmanship for this country...and actually the whole world.

Manufacturers of other American products might note the qualities which have made the Martin instrument sought after - the finest of materials is used, the styling is creative, with some experimentation. The business, which has been passed down through several generations of the same family, has remained small enough for the owners to directly oversee construction.

Furthermore, there is a lot of contact by the Martin Company with the people who actually buy the guitars, with a constant flow of ideas as to performance and quality.

The Martin guitars are constructed in Nazareth, Pennsylvania, where the family has lived since 1839.

The company has also produced mandolins, ukuleles, harp guitars, banjos, zithers, and instrument called a taro patch, and some other rare instruments, a few rarities, such as the "Model America" guitar, were made for other companies. The "Model America" was a very odd looking instrument, with a double body connected to one fingerboard. Needless to say, it did not go over very well.

The Martin Co. also manufactured some more conventional types of guitars under the label of Belltone, Carl Fisher, Rudolph Wurlitzer (1922-24), Wolverine and Paramount. A few guitars, ukes, and mandolins were manufactured for Montgomery Ward in 1932.

The Martin guitars actually began around 1800 in Saxony, Germany, when Johann Martin, of the Cabinet Maker's Guild, turned out some good instruments. His son, Christian Frederick Martin, apprenticed in Vienna under Johann Stauffer, a well known guitar maker of that time. Christian Frederick Martin married there, had a son, and returned to Germany.

This was a time of strife for the Martins and all others who belonged to the Cabinet Maker's Guild, for the Violin Maker's Guild was trying to prevent them from making musical instruments. The Violin makers called them "bunglers," asserted that they had no "cultivated taste," and demanded a government injunction against them.

The Martins and other Cabinet Makers replied hotly that the Violin Guild had no vested right in the manufacture of guitars - that craftsmen such as Christian Martin produced guitars which left nothing to be desired!

The German authorities permitted the Cabinet Makers to continue to make guitars, but the Martins had apparently grown weary of such jealousy and quarreling. In 1833 the family moved to New York, where they established a shop and full-line music store. A few years later they moved among Moravian friends in the small town of Nazareth, Pennsylvania, where family members have since lived and worked.

From the start the Martin family has searched for a perfect bell-like tone in an acoustic guitar. The 1840's were a time of change for the instrument, for C.F. Martin's own ideas of bracing, shape and ornamentation were put into use. By 1856 the Martin guitar became clearly defined in style - a classic shape which is still generally in use. The early Martins were made with tops of spruce from the Appalachian mountains, cedar necks and rosewood from Brazil. The necks are still cedar but the rosewood for current guitars usually comes from India and the spruce from Europe.

All Martin guitars have a special registration number and are catalogued as to style. Some favorite styles have been the D-28, the D-35 and the D-41. A number of well-known entertainers have used a martin, but probably the most famous guitar ever manufactured was Gene Autry's D-45. It was created with elaborate ornamentation, which included his name. Only 91 of a similar Model were ever manufactured.

Early Martins sold as low as $25.00 and the guitars could be bought for $225.00 in the 1960's. Now a Martin will probably be priced at $850.00 and some models run as high as $2,500. Older guitars of particularly desirable Models are sought after by collectors.

Some people question how long this price rise can go on and whether American manufacturers can continue to compete with Japanese imports. The answer probably lies in a story of how Japanese manufacturers made a minute study of the Martin instrument, planning for exact duplication.

Various measuring devices were used. But when the guitars were duplicated, there was an unmistakable difference in the "soul" - the sound - of the instruments. For each Martin guitar is individually crafted and no two ever sound alike. Each has its own personality.

This would doubtless have surprised the elite Violin Guild of Germany. But it distinctly pleases a musician, who knows what he is looking for in an instrument. And until someone comes up with something better - the Martins will be seen in the best of company.

conditioning dealers throughout the WTU service area have been informed of the new program. Details may also be obtained at all WTU local offices.

The program is available for single-family residential customers. Don Welch, vice president and director of customer services, said the purpose of the plan is to urge customers to install higher efficiency equipment to help reduce the peak summer demand for electricity.

"If more of our residential customers install better equipment, we can make more efficient use of our present generating stations and prolong the installation of expensive new units," Welch said. "This would benefit all of our customers in the long run."

The new program provides cash incentives for air-conditioners, both central and window units; heat pumps, heat-recovery units for electric water heaters, and solar-assisted electric heaters in single family homes which are served by WTU.

The homes must meet WTU's energy efficient home requirements, which involves such things as insulation, weatherstripping, and storm windows. Homebuilders and air-conditioning dealers throughout the WTU service area have been informed of the new program. Details may also be obtained at all WTU local offices.

Looking for Drama? Try Paper Negatives

Not too long ago, a former photo student and now a good friend sent me an interesting shot she had printed. The subject was both simple and dramatic--the weathered cupola of an old building she'd photographed.

But something was "wrong" with it. The black-and-white print, mounted on a stiff board and ready for framing, wasn't a "positive," but a "negative." She had taken a positive image--a 35 mm slide of the cupola--slipped it into her enlarger, and printed it on a sheet of black-and-white paper. This created a negative image--the same image she would have gotten had she photographed the subject on black-and-white film.

What she'd done, in effect, was create a "paper negative." If she wished, she could have placed her paper negative face-to-face with a fresh sheet of enlarging paper and exposed both to several seconds of light in a contact-printing frame in order to get a positive--a print made from the paper image. Instead, she chose to stop at the paper-negative stage. Why? I suppose she liked what she saw. In fact, I liked what I saw. The "wrongness" of the shot--the reversed black-and-white tones in the negative--made it very "right."

Making paper negatives is interesting for a couple of reasons. First, it demonstrates graphically how photography is a reversal process. By taking a positive image--the subject--and exposing it to light-sensitive film, we get a negative. Then, by taking the negative after processing and exposing it to light-sensitive paper, we get a positive.

This is the same thing that happens in the camera, of course. But we never get to see it happening there. It's done in private, within the light-tight security of the camera body. By using a slide positive to create a paper negative, we get to see the reversal procedure first-hand. It's a good reminder of the possibilities--and limitations--imposed upon us by the materials with which we work.

Creating paper negatives from slides is a good way to analyze our slide-taking techniques, too. All too often, color slides look "good" because of the color present. Remove the color--as when creating a black-and-white negative from the slide--and all that's left are gray tones and form.

It's much easier, then, to analyze the strength of the scene without color present. It's easier, still, with a black-and-white paper negative because nothing looks real...all is reduced to shapes, lines, and gray tones.

Another advantage to creating paper negatives comes in creating positives from the negatives. It's fun, and the resulting positive prints are always just a little "softer" than the same images produced from film negatives.

For more creative involvement, take an opaque black marker and "remove" those elements from the paper negative which you don't want present in the positive. Simply black them out before sandwiching negative and positive together in the contact printer. In this manner, too, we can create all kinds of abstractions. By carefully manipulating the marker, it's possible to create cars suspended in mid-air and heads mysteriously "growing" out of nowhere.

Creating a paper negative from a slide can be intermediate printing process...or and end in itself.

There are an infinite number of other ways to utilize paper negatives creatively. You can photograph one with black-and-white film in order to create a black-and-white transparency. You can reduce contact-printing times in order to create a high-contrast positive. And, of course, you can mount the paper negative and hang it on your wall for a stunning, graphic view of the world around us. Just make sure the slide you select for your paper-negative project is very simple and uncluttered for the best possible results.

WE NOMINATE Mr. Carl E. (Snake) Moates of 1111 West 4th Street as our town's champion skunk catcher. He captured skunk number 17 last Sunday night in an eradication campaign that has been going on at the Moates home for some two months.

It all began last November when the Moates got home from a vacation and smelled skunks. They had left a self-feeder full of goodies in the backyard for their cat and, apparently, skunks moved in. Mr. Moates uses a live trap and shoots the skunks in the back so they won't smell up the neighborhood.

He caught two skunks one night. He used a 410 shotgun to exterminate them. The skunk catching may be nearing the end for the Monday night catch was the first in two weeks.

Mr. Moates is a retired Exxon pipeliner.

OUR SCOUTS report that little Miss Sarah Guilder, 4, has a business sense. Sarah's mother, Doris, operates Hair Etc., a beauty shop in the old Savoy Cafe building at 502 Conrad Hilton Avenue.

The other afternoon, Doris and Sarah met up with a lady and after a few words of greetings, Sarah asked: "Does Mommy fix your hair?"

ANOTHER SCOUT who lives up in Duncan, Okla., has passed the word that the large Baptist congregation there gave up in efforts to lure Dr. Robert Sloan, son-in-law of Mrs. Lucy Collier of Cisco, as their pastor. Dr. Sloan, a young member of the faculty at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, served as their interim pastor for more than a year.

After Dr. Sloan turned down the pastorate several times, the church located one. And they presented Dr. Sloan with a brand new automobile, observing "you've worn out your car driving here every Sunday."

Dr. Sloan is the husband of the former Sue Collier and the Sloan family visits in Cisco often.

THE HONORABLE John Webb, who had a very enviable record when he retired after a brief football coaching career, believes the Miami Dolphins will win the super bowl. Reports tell us that Coach Rodney Hess of the Eastland Mavericks has had a number of feelers, including one from Abilene, to determine his interest in moving.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Scholl, who moved from Cisco to Illinois a year or so ago, were visitors in our town last weekend. Wesley Methodist Church plans a community singing from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday. Everybody's invited.

OBITUARY

Services For O.L. Ashton Are Friday

Funeral services for O.L. Ashton 73, of Cisco, a former employee of Cisco Junior College, were at 4 p.m. Friday at Kimbrough Funeral Home. Rev. Larry Sowers of Bible Baptist Church officiated. Burial was in Corinth Cemetery.

Mr. Ashton died at 12:50 a.m. Thursday at Eastland Memorial Hospital.

He was born April 8, 1909, in Baird, he had lived in Cisco most of his life. He married Grace Prickett Dec. 1, 1957, in Breckenridge. She died March 15, 1977. He drove a truck for Sandler Manufacturing Co. here and later worked in the maintenance department of Cisco Junior College for 13 years. He retired about three years ago. He was a Methodist and a member of Cisco Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include two step-daughters, Claudie Murray of Cisco and Amy Price of Trent; two step-sons, James Butler of Cisco and Clyde Butler of Sweetwater; 13 grandchildren; and 15 great-grandchildren. Grandsons will be pallbearers.

MR. RANDY Whittle, recently hired as Cisco Police Chief, will be moving to town this weekend and will be at his office at City Hall on Monday, January 31, City Manager Mike Moore reports.

The Whittle family (wife Katha and son Randy, Jr., 3) are moving to Cisco from Sulphur Springs. He has been in police work for some 10 years.

TUESDAY, FEB. 1, will be "take over day" at E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital. The local hospital will become part of the Hendrick Medical Center, Inc., on that day, according to contracts signed recently by the two institutions.

Local officials feel that it's a real good move for Cisco. There will be little or no noticeable change immediately as the same staff will be in charge here, operating under a Hendrick supervisor.

LOOKING OVER reports of calls coming in at the Cisco Police Department last Monday night, we were amused at the first four.

No. 1 - Lady locked her keys inside car. (Police went to help as they have special tools for unlocking car doors.)

No. 2 - Fight in progress at Taylor Center. Investigator wrote: Two juvenile females fighting... no charges filed as subjects said they would go home.

No. 3 - Man locked his keys in car. Police to rescue.

No. 4 - Prowler reported in area of Village Cobbler. None found.

LISTENED TO a discussion of Highway Patrol work the other day. The talker, a person who is in position to know, observed that a DPS trooper takes his life in his hands every time he approaches a car that he has stopped for traffic law violations.

Statistics were quoted to show that it is not unusual for a DPS trooper to be attacked or shot as he approaches a stopped car. You read about it often. Our speaker went on to say that DPS troopers always want stopped drivers to get out of their cars. They ask you to take your driver's license out of your wallet, the man said.

Judge Guy Lyerla:

'The First Taste Of Justice'

By Viola Payne
Feature Writer
R.G. (Guy) Lyerla, a lifetime resident of the Eastland area, began his duties as Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, the first of January.

Judge Lyerla says that his interest in the County and the Justice System caused him to become a candidate for the office in the 1982 elections.

"The J.P. Court is the first taste of justice for the People of Eastland County," he states. "My desire is to deal with them in a courteous and impartial manner."

Mildred Mannke, a Secretary for the late Judge Rowch and for Judge I.W. Ussery, will remain in the J.P. office and work for Judge Lyerla.

This Courthouse office will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. weekdays. The Judge is on call 24 hrs. per day, however, and his work may take him anywhere from the jail to the scene of a highway fatality.

January is traditionally the "slow" month for the J.P. Courts, and this month has followed the pattern in Precinct 1. But the new Judge has married several couples, settled disputes, had "four or five" D.W.I. cases, worked with drug possession, and has dealt with traffic violations and an accidental shooting death.

"I found the office in good shape when I came in," Lyerla says, "with no large backlog of cases. I appreciate that, and will strive to keep it that way."

"Another thing I appreciate is the complete cooperation I have had from the Department of Public Safety and other Law Enforcement agencies of the area. We are all working for the same cause."

When asked his opinion on the penalty schedules being used in Eastland County J.P. Courts, Judge Lyerla replied that he planned to continue with the same general guidelines for fines. He explained that the five Eastland County J.P.'s had agreed on these schedules in 1981. They were considered equitable under current laws, and could prevent situations where people in different parts of the county would have to pay varied fines for the same type of offense. They are also useful when dealing with out-of-County people.

Lyerla stated that he was opposed to setting "prohibitively high" bonds on accused persons. He feels that these deprive a poor person of his rights. Although a number of cases which come through the J.P. Court go right on to the higher Courts, Lyerla must "read rights" to the accused, set all bonds, hold inquiries, ask for any autopsies, attend to all D.P.S. citations, and deal with many other things.

"One thing sure," the Judge says, "There is something new every day. There is no way you could call this job boring."

Guy Lyerla has had interesting jobs before this one - he has worked in agricultural, civic, Church and community projects for a number of years. Several years ago he and his wife, Vera, were given the Agricultural Award as an outstanding farm family by the Eastland Chamber of Commerce. Lyerla served 16 years on the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee, and was elected as Chairman several times. He resigned this post when he decided to retire from farming and ranching. Now he plans to devote full time to his Office as Justice of the Peace.

"This work is really a challenge," he says. "I can't think of anything more important than the quality of our J.P. Courts."
