

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

IT SEEMS as though Cisco could possibly have another dreary weekend as forecasters were calling for freezing rain or snow on Friday of last week and the weekend forecast was about the same.

AUSTIN'S FURNITURE store in Cisco is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year and Mr. Austin, owner of the store, stated he may let the store celebrate its 25th anniversary all year long.

SPEAKING OF anniversaries, you may read the story in this edition of The Cisco Press about the seventh anniversary of The Lobo barber shop in Cisco which is owned by Jim Roberts.

You will want to go by and register for your chance at winning "Willie the Pooch" or one of four curling irons to be given away.

You should also be sure and clip the advertisement from an edition of the newspaper this month and present it at The Lobo or JR's when you go in for a hairstyle or perm to receive a free brush.

Gene Abbott's Daughter Expresses Thanks To CofC

Anthony and I would like to thank the officers, directors, and members of the Chamber of Commerce for the tasteful way they honored my father, Gene Abbott, at the recent Chamber banquet.

The banquet was always such a highlight for Daddy. He spent many hours mentally and physically, preparing for it each year. He has even been known to call me long-distance just to bounce off a "Banquet idea." The Overdue Award was started by Daddy—How beautiful, for him to be the recipient also.

I am sorry Susan and Mother were unable to be with us, but circumstances kept them away. I shared every moment with them and they were as pleased as I. Your plaque for Daddy and life-time membership for Mother are greatly appreciated.

Mother, Susan, myself and our families would like to thank you and all the citizens of our "Love Town" for your outward signs of love for Gene Abbott.

God Bless You All,
Anthony and Cathy Strother

Eastland County Court Watchers Meet Monday

Eastland County Court-Watchers met Wednesday morning for briefings and visits with county and district court officials at the Eastland County Courthouse.

Court-Watchers is an organization of citizens who are concerned about the drug and drunk-driving problem in this county, and who are volunteering to aid and assist in helping bring the problem under control.

Approximately 25 citizens-who-care were briefed by County Judge Scott Bailey, Criminal District Attorney Emory Walton, Assistant Criminal District Attorney John Hawkins and 91st District Court Judge Jim Wright about the workings of the courts here: how and where cases are filed and how they are disposed of through the court system here.

Others interested in joining the Court-Watchers program may do so by sending their name and address to Court-Watchers, post office box 29, Eastland, TX 76448. Such volunteers will be contacted and told where and when the meetings will be held.

The Court-Watchers visit the courts and observe trials in action, and help keep records of case filings and dispositions.

State authorities report that the Courtwatcher program is one of the strongest deterrents to drug and alcohol abuse efforts.

Among the many things the volunteers learned Wednesday was a report that the census of the Eastland County Jail is up and that of 23 prisoners Wednesday morning, 17 or 18 were there on charges with either alcohol or drug related crimes.

Free Income Tax Service Is Available For Retirees

Free income tax advice will be available for Eastland and Cisco retirees starting Monday, February 7, through the tax-aid/TCE program of the American association of retired persons.

Volunteer counselors will be at the Senior Citizens Centers, weekdays, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from February 7 through April 15.

For appointments for the service call 442-2263 or 629-1382.

Roy V. Cartee, coordinator for the tax program, said the service is designed to help older persons understand the various income tax forms and become familiar with special benefits available to retirees.

"Our counselors, some with business experience, are equipped to prepare returns for older taxpayers," Cartee said. "The service that the counselors perform is free and all who feel they should file income tax returns for the year of 1982 are encouraged to call the centers and make appointments."

According to Cartee, past experience has indicated that many older persons are unaware of special benefits they are entitled to claim. Some may not even be required to file a return because of their limited income.

Thirteen people have received the special IRS training and will be staffing the counseling desks. Persons utilizing the service should bring with them copies of their last tax returns and forms for the current tax year, including W-2's and other relevant materials showing income for the year.

Hospital Directors Filing Deadline Is March 2nd

The Lobo and JR's Is Observing 7th Anniversary

Jim Roberts, local hairstylist, is observing his seventh year in business at 709 Conrad Hilton Avenue, Cisco, this month. Mr. Roberts owns and operates The Lobo and JR's at that location.

The Lobo and JR's offers full family hair care and a full retail service for Roffler and Framesi hair and skin products. The Lobo also offers a "tonic bar" with a full line of tonics for its older customers. Jim says, "If we don't have your brand of hair tonic, we will get it."

Lobo customers can look thru a guide book on Roffler products while they wait and see just what the products will do. The guide book is for Roffler's guaranteed professional products and services.

In observance of its seventh anniversary, The Lobo and JR's will have a free drawing for a stuffed dog ("Willie the Pooch") and four curling irons. Throughout the month of February, every customer will receive a complimentary pocket comb.

Every customer who clips the ad from their local newspaper and presents it at

The Lobo or JR's when they go in for a hairstyle or perm, will also receive a free brush (approximately $4.00 value).

Jim and hairstylists Charlene Thomas, Mark Dobson and Lesa Roberts, have recently attended a styling school for Framesi. They learned color series and perms from Italy while attending the school.

The Framesi school is just one of several schools which the staff attends. Jim said they normally attend at least 12 different schools during a year.

All free gifts may be seen in the display window at The Lobo and JR's.

Community Chest Needs Your Support

The Community Chest needs the support of every business and individual to be fully funded. The goal is $13,700 which is only $200 greater than last year. Let's strive to make this campaign 100% with your donations. The following is a list of the organizations that need financial help with their allocations:

- Girl Scouts--$3,000; Red Cross--$400; Public Library--$1,000; Child Care Center--$1,200; Girl's Softball--$1,000; ABC League--$1,000; Little League--$1,000; Salvation Army--$400; Mental Health--$150; Boy Scouts--$3,000; West Texas Rehab Center--$500; Texas United Community Service--$50; and Cisco Welfare Association Reserve--$1,000.

The funding of these organizations is very important, especially to our youth. Please drop off your donation at the Chamber of Commerce or at the First National Bank to the attention of Ron Patton.

Volunteers are needed to help raise money for the Community Chest. A meeting has been scheduled for Monday at 10 a.m. on February 7th at the Chamber of Commerce.

Three recent 91st District Court convictions have been affirmed by a higher court, and a stiff sentence pronounced in 91st in connection with a no-good $11 check.

The conviction of Roland Murray Owen of Cisco in the 91st District Court for Failure To Stop and Render Aid has been affirmed in part by the Court of Appeals.

Owens was convicted for the August 3, 1980, automobile-motorcycle collision in Cisco wherein Allen Cory Stinson was killed and Vickie Hooser was seriously injured.

The jury assessed Owens' punishment at the maximum of 5 years in the Texas Department of Corrections on each count.

The appellate court reformed the conviction of the second count. Owens was represented by Wm. T. Palmer and Emory Walton, Criminal District Attorney, prosecuted.

The final conviction of Boby Ray Freeman, Sr. of Ranger has been affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Freeman was convicted in the 91st District Court on December 2, 1979, for the felony offense of Driving While Intoxicated, Subsequent Offense, at which time he received a 2 year probation sentence.

On September 20, 1982, his probation was revoked by Judge Jim R. Wright after which he appealed the revocation of his probation to the Court of Appeals.

Freeman was represented by Ben D. Sudderth of Comanche and the case was prosecuted by Criminal District Attorney Emory Walton.

The Court of Appeals has also affirmed an Order by Juvenile Judge Jim R. Wright that a 15 year old Eastland boy had engaged in delinquent conduct. The evidence at the trial of the subject youth showed that the youth was found with parts of a stolen bicycle and that he admitted his participation in the theft.

In a recent hot check case, Judge Jim R. Wright assessed a $200.00 fine and costs against a young man for writing a hot check of $11.50 after extensive efforts had been made by various officials to get the young man to pay the check.

CARD OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS
It is so wonderful to live in a town like Cisco which was proven to me in my recent stay in Graham Hospital. Out of a heart full of love and gratitude I want to say thanks first of all for the many, many prayers that were offered for me at the throne of God, for my recovery and well being. Also Dr. Cermin and Dr. Addy and the good care they gave me, for the nursing staff at the hospital, not only their nursing duties but the many little things they did for my well being and for the cook who tried to fix me the things that I could eat, the housekeepers, the personnel staff and all who showed so much love and concern for me. For all the beautiful flowers, gifts, visits, and over 200 get well cards. For the love and concern you showed my good wife Thelma and my little girl Carlyn and her family. For my beloved brother Ernie Ritchie, for his love and concern and the visits each morning and evening when he shared a prayer with me. Bless him. My Lord said it is more blessed to give than to receive. I knew the blessing of sharing, but I've learned through your love and good deeds the blessing of receiving which I am very grateful. I'm home now slowly gaining my strength and health back by my good wife's nursing care. For every kind thought, and every act of kindness of love and concern the only thing I can do now is to say Thank You and I Love You. Neal Moore

Real Estate Consumer

David S. Jones

The Real Estate Consumer is brought to you as a public service by this newspaper and the Texas Real Estate Research Center. Address inquiries to: The Real Estate Consumer, Texas Real Estate Research Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

If you are selling your home, it is important that you select a knowledgeable realty agent.

To begin with, find out which brokers are most active in your neighborhood. Ask these brokers about sales commissions, services, multiple listing exchange membership, advertising, open house commitments and names of clients.

Before listing your home with the broker, phone the client references to see if former sellers would list that broker again. Be careful to select a broker who understands today's complex financing arrangements.

In addition, solicit each broker's suggestions on how to package your home to make it attractive to potential buyers. Finally, be cautious about signing a listing for longer than 90 days. If the home doesn't sell within 90 days but the agent is doing a good job, you can renew the listing.

FLOODPLAIN FACTS
Do you live in a floodplain? A floodplain is that part of a water shed subject to inundation by rising flood waters.

A 100-year floodplain is an area that might be expected to flood once on an average of every 100 years. This is a statistical statement, however, and also describes an area that may flood three times within 300 years, with all three floods occurring in one year.

The movement of a large volume of water down a water shed over a short period of time makes the width and depth of the stream channel incapable of carrying the water. Factors that contribute to flooding are: speed and duration of rainfall, the size of the water shed, stream channel and floodplain, and the kind of ground cover present.

For more information, consult the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers or your city planning department.

HOW MUCH IS HOME WORTH?

Do you know the value of your house?

Many people who sold homes in 1979 and 1980 were amazed at prices they were able to get. On the other hand, people selling in the last year were equally surprised at the low offers they received.

Unless you've kept up with the market, you'll need professional assistance to find out the value. If you wish to determine an appropriate price to put on the house when you sell, a real estate agent can probably give you an estimate based on a market analysis.

But for legal and tax purposes, you need a market value appraisal provided by a real estate appraiser. Market value is not the same as the probable price but is the highest price you would receive under a specific set of conditions.

You'll find that knowing market value is necessary for filing estate tax on inherited property, for condemnation proceedings and for appealing property tax assessments.

CONSEQUENCES OF CO-SIGNING

With credit harder to obtain today, many people are asking friends and relatives to co-sign for loans.

Co-signing occurs because the borrower does not have acceptable security to offer. When individuals co-sign, they are accepting the risk that the lending institution refuses to accept. But now more and more people are defaulting on their loans, leaving their co-signers to pay the notes.

Studies by Cornell University show about half of all co-signers are asked to make payments. So before you co-sign a loan, get everything in writing for the borrower and the lender. Ask the lender to give notification in case the borrower misses a payment. This way, problems with loans can be discovered before the case winds up in court.

Never sign for more than you can afford to pay for. Remember, when you co-sign, you may get stuck with the bill.

NEW STARTER HOMES

In years following World War II, homeownership came within reach of average income families.

Builders learned to produce modest, inexpensive houses which working people could afford. Young families saved for down payments while renting or living with parents. Then they purchased small homes, perhaps with FHA or VA mortgages. As incomes allowed, they moved to more spacious quarters.

This strategy was foiled during the years of rapid inflation. Families stretched their budgets and added second paychecks to buy the biggest houses they could, then rode the appreciation surge to prosperity. Now that appreciation prospects have dimmed, the concept of starter homes has returned in several forms, including condominiums.

These units may have small amounts of space, but may be designed for an open, uncrowded feeling. Many feel low-priced condominiums are the answer to the first-time buyers dilemma.

Homemaking Hints

County Extension Agent

Janet Thomas

Have you ever made the statement, "I'm going to get myself and my house organized!" If you are an average homemaker, you have probably said this to yourself many times.

I have some hints on how to organize your home. But remember, you can't get organized overnight. If disorganization took years, organization won't happen overnight. The important thing is to have a systematic plan for getting organized. Then you can tackle each goal individually, step-by-step.

Here is a potpourri of ideas of what to do and how to do it:

Assess your clutter realistically. Just how much of it do you really need to save? Unless you want to create a National Museum in your home you need to learn when things should be discarded or recycled.

Organize the storage space in your home. Kitchens and closets can usually benefit from periodic reviews. If storage is to be functional, store items used frequently close to the area where they will be used. Place items so they are easy to see and reach.

Learn how to deal with paper. From magazine clippings to financial documents, you can only do three things with the paper that enters your life: throw it, use it, or file it. Set up a home filing system to keep the papers readily accessible. Some organizers recommend using different color folders for stashing your papers. And don't forget about the alphabet!

Learn to make the most of your time. Use a central family calendar to keep track of everyone's activities and responsibilities. Write your shopping list according to the location of supermarket items. Use odd moments and waiting time for mini-projects. Don't over-organize your time.

Organize routine tasks, like housecleaning. Make a list of housecleaning activities to be completed weekly, monthly and annually. Schedule them on your calendar. Divide responsibilities among family members.

Set up filing systems for clippings and written information using colors - dots - stars. Keep the system simple. Use just a few good key words or you'll forget how to use the system.

Schedule an annual garage sale and have a special spot to store things you plan to sell or give away.

Take advantage of biorhythms - know when you best suited to complete certain tasks. Organize them ahead of time and complete them when your productivity level is at its peak.

Buy a notebook small enough to carry around everywhere. Write all "to do" notes and errands in the notebook. That way you'll rid yourself of all the little scraps of paper that usually accumulate.

Make a study of "organizers" available for organizing desks, shelves and closets. Evaluate their potential usefulness. Do the benefits outweigh the costs?

Keep flexibility in mind when you set up organizational systems. An address book may soon become out of date. File cards kept in a box are easily replaced or added to.

Training yourself to remember certain dates is easy if you write them in a perpetual calendar. No more forgotten birthdays.

Keep a special basket or drawer for all incoming financial papers. That way they are never lost or misplaced.

Make out a grocery checklist. Have copies duplicated and you'll never have to write out a long list again.

Convert a corner into a home office. Channel all home paperwork through that location. Stationery shop and a little ingenuity can outfit the area into an efficient work area.

Don't confuse being well-organized with being a perfectionist. Perfectionists don't finish tasks. Well-organized people do.

RECIPE FOR THE WEEK:

Sweet potatoes are a favorite of mine. This is a recipe that I came across in the Extension publication Holiday Foods. It sounds good and I plan to try it.

YAM SWEET BREAD

- 1-1/2 cups mashed yams, canned or fresh
- 1-1/4 cups sugar
- 2/3 cup salad oil
- 3 eggs
- 1-3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 1 cup raisins or pitted and sliced prunes

In large bowl, add mashed yams to sugar, oil and eggs and mix until smooth. In another bowl, sift together flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Add raisins and nuts to coat them. Slowly stir dry ingredients into yam mixture. Turn into greased and floured 9" x 5" loaf or fluted pan. Bake at 350 degrees F. approximately 1 1/2 hours or until bread tests done. Cool 30 minutes and remove to rack to finish cooling.

Texas Department of Public Safety

FmHA Encourages Use Of New Programs

Temple, Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) State Director, J. Lynn Futch, is directing FmHA district directors and county supervisors throughout the State to encourage Texas farmers to seriously consider participating in the new Payment-In-Kind (PIK) or "Crop Swap" Program.

Mr. Futch, who just returned from a Department of Agriculture briefing in Washington, said he is "convinced that the PIK Program can go a long way toward solving surplus grain problems and easing the cost-price squeeze, while at the same time, holding down federal spending."

The meeting in Washington, Mr. Futch said, was called by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block. It included comments by the Secretary and detailed briefings by Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Administrator Everett Rank and FmHA Administrator Charles W. Shuman, among others. ASCS Executive Directors, including Charles W. Mayfield, Texas ASCS Executive Director, and ASCS committee members from around the country, also attended the meeting.

realistic level this year and, if necessary, next year. It can help relieve cash flow problems for many farmers and in the long run improve the general agricultural economy.

"I sincerely hope that every farmer will study the details of the new program with an open mind and determine its benefits before the end of the sign-up period, March 11," Mr. Futch said.

Tax Perspective

Q. When does a U.S. citizen first have to start filing income tax returns?

A. In this country, age is not a factor for the purpose of determining who is required to file. Therefore, any person age one day to 100+ years old may be required to file. The amount of income received is the determining factor. A complete list of the different categories of taxpayers, and the income requirements for who must file is stated on page three of the Form 1040 instruction booklet.

Q. My wife and I are both over 65 years old. We get social security of $9,000 per year, and we also get interest from savings totaling $6,000 per year. How much income tax must we pay?

A. You will pay no income tax at all. In fact, you don't even have to file a return. You must have more than $7,400 of income that is subject to tax—and your social security benefits are not subject to tax. Had your interest income amounted to $8,000, you would need to file a return and figure the tax due.

Q. My husband and I are divorced and he pays me $300 alimony each month. He also pays for a life insurance policy on his life where I am the beneficiary. I know alimony is taxable income to me. Are the life insurance premiums he pays also considered income to me?

A. No, life insurance premiums paid by him are not considered alimony, but if you receive dividends for the insurance policy, they would be taxable income.

Q. I am self-employed and anticipate moving to a new location. Can I claim moving expenses?

A. Yes, if you meet the full-time work test. For self-employed persons you must work 78 weeks in the 24 month period following your move; and 39 weeks must be during the 12 month period immediately after you move.

"This innovative PIK Program can be of great benefit to Texas farmers," said Mr. Futch. It can help reduce the need for operating capital, reduce interest costs, and hold production to a more

Nursing Applications Being Accepted

Cisco Junior College is now accepting applications for the August, 1983 Licensed Vocational Nursing program at Cisco.

In accord with certification requirements, applicants must make application in advance and pass a pre-entrance physical and examination. Pre-testing for the August class will be held in March.

Don Morrison To Speak In Cisco

Wilson Don Morrison, postmaster and Bible teacher from Throckmorton, will speak at Community Room of 1st National Bank in Cisco Tuesday, Feb. 8 at 7:00 p.m. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The twelve month program will hold classes on the campus with clinical work in the E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital in Cisco and the Eastland Memorial Hospital in Eastland on a rotating basis.

Satisfactory completion of the program entitles the student to a certificate from the college, and qualifies him/her to take the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiner's examination.

A prospective student must be at least 17 years of age and must be in good physical and mental health. Students must be high school graduates or have successfully taken the GED examination establishing high school equivalency. The GED examination is given on the CJC main campus in Cisco.

Employment opportunities for a Licensed Vocational Nurse are very good; the demand for LVN's far surpasses the supply. For full information, interested persons (male or female) may contact Vocational Dean, Gerald Bint or Program instructor, Mrs.

Wanda Wheatley in the Vocational-Technical Building on the campus or by telephoning (817) 442-2567.

Spotlights & Sidelights

Julia Worthy

It took me awhile to reconcile myself to a car that screeches fretfully at me when I leave the keys in the ignition. It also protests an unfastened seat belt.

"It's for my own good," I tell myself when I bump my head as I reach back for the keys.

"They'll grow," I comfort myself when I break another fingernail on the seatbelt buckle.

"I'm coming! I'm coming!" I answer the call of the microwave when its computerized innards decide it's time to disgorge. Never, in my wildest dreams in the years I chunked another stick of mesquite into the firebox of Mamma's wood-burning range, did I envision bip-bip-beep-beep cooking.

There were a number of things I didn't envision, and the perverse little monster on the counter at the Pizza House is one of them. It is called a "Cash Register." If there is any way to make an error, I will find it, and that thing tells everybody in the place about it. I probably wouldn't mind so much if it just jammed—I grew up knowing about balky mules. But it screams and screams and screams.

As yet, I have not yielded to the temptation to take it away and drown it. But I've been tempted. I believe it would be accurate to say, "sorely tempted."

I do find some consolation in the fact that, electronic marvel that it is, the contraption does not confine its animosity entirely to me. Now and again, it racks up strange sums for other users, but I am convinced it reserves its special effects for me.

I have to make friends with it some way because I do not expect to understand it. I'm not even sure I want to.

The Machine Age never has been for me. I'm not against it by any stretch of the imagination. I appreciate creature comforts and dote on the pleasures afforded us. Understanding is beyond me because I don't want to put that much time into learning the whys and wherefores of machinery, even if I could. Which I doubt.

As long as a key in the igni-

You'll Never Learn Any Younger

tion lock will get my Z-car moving, I will be grateful that I don't have to saddle a horse or hitch up to the buggy. I'll tolerate the necessary buzzes, clicks and whirrs it takes to get me moving. I'm not really irritated, so I tell myself, when the built-in reminders sound off about keys and safety belts.

Push-button cooking with a microwave beats chopping wood. Not that I ever did much wood-chopping. Mamma was afraid I'd split a foot, and Papa knew he'd have to sharpen the axe. I did carry forty-nine jillion buckets of chips...give or take a few.

It doesn't hurt my feelings that I don't know how the television set reaches into the air waves to pull in the disheartening sight of the Redskins cleaning up on the Cowboys. I don't even understand how Morse, Bell or Edison figured out the telegraph, telephone or phonograph.

My secret conviction, which hereby becomes no secret, is that those fellows didn't understand all that much about their inventions or discoveries, themselves. The ideas struck them the way that apple hit Newton on the head. They had to have the backgrounds to comprehend what happened when the "apple" hit them. I know that.

I know just as well that I don't think in those directions. A background of such stuff as Alcott's "Little Women," Twain's "Tom Sawyer," and "The Bobsey Twins" series does not indicate any great appreciation of the mechanical world.

Oh, I'm not a complete wipeout. I know cars have things like gaskets, plugs, carburetors and manifolds. I can thread my sewing machine and adjust the bobbin tension—yes, there are two! It may be that I've read too much science fiction. Am I endowing that mechanical whiz-bang with human characteristics? Is it really out to get me? What should my tactics be, as I don't intend to be got?

One thing for sure: I have to take to heart my own advice dished out for years to my students, "You'll never learn any younger."

So...do keep in touch for more chronicles of the Cash-Register Clashes! I'm sure there will be some.

Gas Explosion Damages Enserch Equipment Wed.

Staff Writer

MORTON VALLEY—A gas explosion damaged a two month old building and two 800 horsepower gas compressors at Enserch Exploration just East of Morton Valley Wednesday night.

The explosion occurred around 8:45 p.m. and could be heard with in a five mile radius. It took firemen a little over 30 minutes to get the fire out and under control. No one was injured in the explosion since the plant is not watched during the night hours.

Wesley Dempsey, Enserch Exploration plant supervisor, said that it might be several days before the cause of the explosion and the damage was determined.

Dempsey also said, "I would like to express my appreciation to the Eastland and Ranger Fire Departments who did a great job on putting the fire out and keeping things under control."

The explosion originated from a building on the northwest corner of the plant that had just been in operation for only two months. The building contained two 800 horsepower gas compressors that are used to pull the gas from the field and then send it on to the towns through other lines.

The 250 pounds of pressure gas stream line had to be cut off after the explosion to cut off the fuel source of the fire since it was the gas itself that was burning.

Also burning in the fire was some oil in the building that caught the floor on fire and one of the engines on the compressor was burning when firemen arrived.

Early estimations on the damage was that one of the compressors would have to be replaced. Replacement cost on the compressor would be about $500,000. No other estimations on building or other damages had been made at press time.

It is expected to be several days before the cause of the explosion and damages will be known.

WORD of GOD

Warning - Promise

But the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all.

Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed.

In that day, he which shall be upon the housetop, and his stuff in the house, let him not come down to take it away; and he that is in the field, let him likewise not return back.

Remember Lot's wife.

Whoever shall seek to save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life shall preserve it.

I tell you, in that night there shall be two men in one bed; the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left.

Two women shall be grinding together; the one shall be taken, and the other left.

Two men shall be in the field; the one shall be taken, and the other left.

Photograph Thyself

Remember that old Biblical saying, "Photograph thy neighbor as thou photograph thyself"? Well, something like that. The point is, if you spend all your people-taking time photographing others without stopping from time to time to take a self-portrait, you're missing some fun, some good experience, and possibly some top-notch photos.

Think about it for a moment. Who best knows who you are and how to "capture" the real you if not, well, you? Surely there are times when you've looked at yourself in the mirror and thought, gee, the old guy doesn't look too bad! Or maybe you were on a business trip and stopped to do a little site-seeing. Wouldn't a shot of you in the scene make for a more interesting photograph?

Then, too, there are times when you and a friend or your spouse would look good in a photo together. Without a third person present to snap the shutter, what's your option? Or maybe the old gang from J. P. Morgan High gets together and everyone there wants a photo...of everyone there. Can you deliver?

Today, cameras of every format and type come equipped with self-timers--those little gizmos which, when set, delay the snapping of the shutter for from 5 -15 seconds or so. And that's just enough time for you to set up the camera and get in on the action. If you know how to go about it.

For starters, when photographing more than yourself, set the camera on a tripod or other very firm, stable support. If you don't have a tripod, it sometimes helps to set a small beanbag or other flexible, weighted object on the camera to prevent it from moving accidentally during exposure.

Next, set the scene as though you were going to take the photo without you in it. If necessary, do all the preliminary stuff like posing, focusing, and metering. Then imagine another body in the viewfinder-- yours. Pre-visualize where you'll be and what you'll be doing. To the left of Patty with my arm around his shoulder, for example. Set the self-timer, press the release, and run like crazy to get into the scene before the shutter is tripped. Then try to look casual...like you've been standing around, waiting for the photo to be taken, all day.

If you're the only one in the scene, you'll need a mark so you know where to stand once you release the self-timer-governed shutter. It helps, too, to place a chair or some other object in the scene while you're setting up so you'll have something to focus on. Move the object before pressing the release, of course.

As an alternative, you can run a tape measure from the camera's film-plane mark to the spot on which you'll pose and set the camera's focusing ring accordingly. This isn't likely to be quite so accurate as the preceding pre-focusing method, though, so use it only when absolutely necessary.

There are other ways to take self-portraits, of course. One of the most frequently used is to shoot your image in a mirror. In that way, you can see exactly what you're getting before you get it. Unfortunately, that often includes the camera, if you're shooting handheld. Mirrors aren't selective enough to exclude certain unwanted objects from their reflections. To beat this problem, you can mount the camera on a tripod set off to one side and out of the scene. Then you can step before the mirror and use a cable release or the self-timer to trip the camera's shutter.

Just remember when focusing around a mirror that the distance from you to the mirror is only half the distance necessary for a correctly focused shot. If you're standing six feet from a mirror, holding a camera to one side, the correct focusing distance is six feet from subject to mirror and whatever the distance from mirror to camera film plane.

KNOW YOUR LIMITS

Anyone Who Can't Walk a Straight Line Can't Drive One

It's amazing how some people who can't even control their feet think they'll be able to control their cars once they get behind the wheel.

Statistics show they're dead wrong. That's why we, the people who make and sell alcoholic beverages, are offering a pocket chart called "Know Your Limits."

Get one at participating restaurants, bars and liquor stores. Or write 205 San Jacinto Bldg., Austin, TX 78701. Because the worst time to find out you can't drive a straight line is when you're on the wrong side of one.

Judge Bailey Speaks To County Courtwatchers On U.S. Court System

County Judge Scott Bailey quoted two pertinent paragraphs on the courts in talking with members of the Eastland County Courtwatchers organization this week.

The paragraphs are from the book, "Crime in America" -

"Courts are the major balance wheel in the system of justice. While they determine guilt or innocence and sentence persons convicted, they also insure fairness and objectivity. They neither initiate investigations or prosecutions of crime, nor execute plans to rehabilitate criminals. Their role is intermediate-to protect the innocent, to assure fair trials, to apply the law, to instruct a jury or, if trial is held without a jury, to determine guilt or innocence, and to fix penalties for those found guilty.

"Basically, courts administer case loads. They accept pleas of guilty, which account for nearly 90 percent of all convictions, but even in so doing they take precautions to be sure that the accused understands the charges against him, that he desires to plead guilty, and that he is competent to do so. In a trial the courts assure fairness in selection of a jury-and determine what evidence is admissible. A jury, or in its absence, a judge will find facts from the relevant evidence, and the judge will apply the law and in most jurisdictions fix the sentence."

If you own cattle we hope that you will attend the third session of the beef cattle short course Monday night at 7:30 at Cisco Junior College Agriculture building. Dr. Jesse Cocks, Extension Entomologist, will tell us about the new insect control methods on the market and others that are in the experimental stage.

which would help reduce the host-parasite reaction. Use of nonsystemic dust applied by hand or in dustbags would eliminate the possibility of host-parasite reaction. But because of a lack of penetration of heavy hair coats, dusts do not provide as effective lice control as dips or sprays.

One of those parasites annually plagues the pocketbooks of cattlemen for $100 million nation wide. Lice are the culprits and they reproduce rapidly during cool weather.

Uncontrolled, lice can soon infest a whole herd, because with cold weather, cattle tend to bunch up more and the pests can easily move from one animal to another. Heavy hair coats on animals during cold weather also afford protection for the parasites and allow increased reproduction.

Costs to the cattlemen-both in control efforts and dramatic production losses-increase as lice populations build.

There are two types of lice-bloodsucking and biting-and both infest cattle. Sucking lice pierce the animal's skin and suck blood while biting lice feed on particles of hair, scale, scab and skin discharges.

Lice infestations irritate animals, causing itching, scratching and rubbing on fences or anything else available. This produces denuded areas, bruises and lacerations on the affected animal. Heavily infested animals will have an unthrifty appearance and will suffer weight reduction, decreased milk production, anemia or even death.

Lice infested animals may also be more subject to respiratory diseases such as pneumonia. Heavy lice infestations often stunt calves. Undernourished cattle of any age usually have the heaviest infestation.

Some cattle appear to be physiologically more susceptible to lice than others and thus have higher pest populations. Such animals are called "chronics" or "carriers" and are usually instrumental in reinfesting the herd annually in spite of repeated insecticide treatments. Culling "carrier" animals is a helpful management practice in reducing lice problems.

Insecticide control of lice is not difficult to achieve but there are some problems. Most insecticides don't kill eggs; therefore, retreatment is required in two to three weeks to prevent another buildup. However, if the initial treatment comes late enough in the season, there may not be enough time for lice to build to economic levels again before warm spring weather.

Spraying and dipping infested animals with proper insecticides is an effective means of controlling lice. However, control measures are usually required when winter conditions are most harsh-a time when cold stress is a good possibility and respiratory diseases prevalent. Some of this problem can be prevented by treating animals on a day when they can be dry before sundown.

Pour-on and spot-on grubicides labeled for lice are effective and considerably reduce the problem of cold stress associated with dips and sprays. However, the possibility of a host-parasite reaction is always a threat if the material is applied after the cut-off date for grub control.

Systemic grubicides labeled for lice control usually recommend a lower rate than that to control grubs, effective against lice. The product kills all stages of lice-eggs, nymphs and adults. One application is adequate for season-long control if the entire herd is treated and no untreated animals are later introduced into the herd.

Only a small amount of chlorpyrifos is required, thus eliminating cold stress from soaking animals with sprays and dips. The insecticide is not a grubicide, so it can be used anytime without fear of a host-parasite reaction. However, this product is not labeled for dairy animals, bulls over 8 months, or purebred exotic breeds.

Whichever lice control program is used, the cattlemen should be certain to read label directions and pay particular attention to warnings, restrictions and pre-slaughter intervals.

Additional information on control of lice and other external parasites of cattle is available in the publication, "Suggestions for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry," at the County Extension Office.

Judge Bailey Proclaims County Farm Bureau Week

A proclamation, designating February 7-12, 1983 as Farm Bureau Week, was signed by County Judge Scott Bailey in recognition of the 50th birthday of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Ernest Reich, Eastland County Farm Bureau President, of Cisco, reported that the week is part of a statewide observance. During the week, county Farm Bureaus will make a special effort to enroll new members.

Ted Bott of Ranger, is chairman of the county membership committee. He is responsible for membership acquisition and maintenance. Other committee members are Grant Lewis, Desdemona-Policy Development; Bob Shults, Rising Star-National Affairs; Joe Frank McCollum, Carbon-State Affairs; Luther Fambro, Strawn-Budget; D.F. Williamson, Eastland-Commodity Service; Pete Hathcock, Ranger-Beef; and Preston McWhorter, Eastland-Public Relations.

"For the first time in history, the TFB is now the largest state Farm Bureau in the nation with more than 300,000 member families enrolled," the proclamation reads.

It also states "The Farm Bureau is a grass-roots organization and its foundation is the county Farm Bureau."

Eastland County Farm Bureau is among 216 organized county Farm Bureaus in the state. Mr. Reich said, "the local county Farm Bureau has 1,705 member families and is seeking to exceed that figure in 1983."

He also related that the Farm Bureau is a general farm organization that seeks to improve income and living conditions of farm and ranch families. It represents the farmer and rancher at the local county courthouse, at the Senate Capitol in Austin, and in the nation's capitol.

OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION
BY
SCOTT BAILEY, COUNTY JUDGE
EASTLAND COUNTY

The Farm Bureau is a grass-roots organization, and its foundation is the county Farm Bureau. There are 216 organized county Farm Bureaus in the state, including the Eastland County Farm Bureau.
Therefore, I, Scott Bailey, County Judge of Eastland County, do hereby designate February 7-12, 1983, as FARM BUREAU WEEK in Eastland County, and urge our citizens to give due recognition to this Golden Anniversary Year observance in Texas.
In official recognition thereof, I hereby affix my signature this _____ day of February, 1983.
Signed: _____ County Judge

Texas Electric Files Estimates Of Expenses

Texas Electric filed with the Texas Public Utility Commission information regarding estimates of certain fuel-related expenses to be incurred from April through June.

The filing is part of a regulatory process through which the PUC will review payments for fuel and certain related expenses made by TESCO to any of its affiliates. The payments will be approved on a quarterly basis before they can be billed to customers as part of the monthly fuel charge.

The review process includes a public hearing, which has been scheduled for 9 a.m. March 7 at the PUC offices in Austin. Public notices concerning the procedure begin appearing in local newspapers this week.

Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light - subsidiaries along with TESCO of the Texas Utilities Company - also filed estimates today and will be involved in the same public hearing. The review procedure was established after a series of hearings and discussions before the PUC that began in 1979. The PUC approved the procedure for obtaining prior approval of the affected expenses on a quarterly basis in July 1982.

Today's filing and the scheduled hearing will not result in an increase in base rates for electric service. Also, the procedure is not related to other hearings before the PUC concerning possible changes in the state rule governing how fuel costs are charged to electric utility customers.

Farm Bureau Week

County Judge Scott Bailey is shown here signing a proclamation that had designated February 7-12 as Farm Bureau Week in recognition of the 50th birthday of the Texas Farm Bureau. On hand to witness the signing was Farm Bureau members (l to r), Cecil Self, Ernest Reich and Mac McWhorter.

At a luncheon a lady said "God has been good to me," confessed a man. "He that one of my ancestors signed the Declaration of Independence?"

"And did you know," he asked, "that one of mine children were last night."

I do not judge a man by the pictures of clever ancestors hanging on his walls, but by Christlike children holding onto his hands as he leads them in reading the Holy Bible and in praying.

Some parents can trace their ancestry back hundreds of years, but they cannot tell where their children were last night. I do not judge a man by the pictures of clever ancestors hanging on his walls, but by Christlike children holding onto his hands as he leads them in reading the Holy Bible and in praying.

CONTROL OF GRASSBUR

Because of their variation in texture, growth habit and color, weeds create an unsightly appearance in turf grasses. Proper maintenance is the best means of controlling weeds. Thorough and infrequent watering, adequate fertilization and proper mowing are important steps to weed control. However, lawns damaged by insects or disease, wear or other problems are highly susceptible to weed invasion.

Grassbur, goosegrass, and crabgrass are the major grassy weeds which cause problems in lawns during the summer. These are annual grasses which emerge from seed each year. These weeds can be controlled with preemergent herbicides applied in the early spring. Preemergent herbicides prevent the seed from germinating. Examples of preemergent herbicides recommended for the control of crabgrass and grassbur are Balan[®] and Dacthal[®]. Preemergent herbicides are not harmful to existing vegetation.

The best and most effective form of weed control is good lawn fertilization and maintenance program. Weeds invade thin, wear stands of grass. Killing weeds with chemicals will not keep them out unless followed by management practices that encourage the grass to grow vigorously enough to compete favorably with the weeds. Herbicides are not a miracle answer to lawn control, but merely a useful tool in a total lawn maintenance program.

In heavily infested lawns two applications may be necessary. The recommended chemicals will give about three months of protection. Postemergent application of a contact herbicide such as MSMA will give in season control of annual grasses in bermuda grass. Only use materials recommended for St. Augustine grass should be used in St. Augustine lawns, as the turf might be damaged by some materials that are safe for Bermudagrass.

Public Hearing Scheduled By Wildlife Dept.

Notice is hereby given by the Parks and Wildlife Department that a public hearing will be held at 2 p.m. on March 21, 1983 at the County Courthouse at Eastland for the purpose of gathering information concerning proposed hunting and fishing regulations for Eastland County.

As the result of action by the Texas Legislature, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, under the authority of the Uniform Wildlife Regulatory Act, Chapter 61, Texas Parks and Wildlife Code, is responsible for the setting of seasons, bag limits, means, and methods for taking the wildlife resources in Eastland County. All interested persons are urged to attend and comment upon the proposed regulations.

Additional information concerning the public hearing may be obtained by calling our Toll Free Number 1-800-792-1112 or 512-479-4974.

Regal Operating Brings In Producers

Three new producers have been brought on line in Eastland County's Midkiff Field by Regal Operating Inc. of Eastland. All of the wells are about 10 miles south of Cisco.

Designated as the No. 2-A, No. 3-A and No. 6-A Shook, the wells demonstrated a combined daily potential to pump 112 barrels of oil per day. The location is in a 160-acre lease in the H&TCRR Survey, Sect. 56 Block 3.

The No. 6-A pumped 32 BOPD from Adams Branch perforations 1,075 to 1,079 feet. It bottomed at 1,115 feet. The No. 2-A flowed 34 BOPD after bottoming at 1,134 feet. Production interval will be 1,083 to 1,090 feet in the Adams Branch Formation. The No. 3-A pumped 46 barrels per day from Adams Branch perforations 1,078 to 1,084 feet. Bottomhole was at 1,132 feet.

Two new producers have been brought on line in the Simpson lease of the Hawk Eye Field 10 miles south of Cisco. The wells are designated as the No. 3 and No. 7 T.P. Simpson. They are in an 80-acre drilling unit in the H&TCRR Survey A-1310. The No. 3 bottomed at 1,500 feet. It will produce from a perforated interval 1,068 to 1,074 feet into the hole. It showed potential for 24 barrels of oil and 40,000 CF gas per day on open choke.

The No. 7 flowed 80 BOPD, along with 51,000 CF gas, on open choke. It went to 1,150-ft. bottom and will produce from perforations in the Adams Branch Formation, 1,104 to 1,112 feet.

Eastland-based Buckwheat Resources is the operator.

The same Eastland operator has finalized a new oiler known as the No. 1 Williams in the Midkiff Field nine miles north-northwest of Rising Star.

The well pumped 38 barrels of oil per day on open choke. Bottomed at 1,200 feet, it will produce from Adams Branch perforations 1,157 to 1,163 feet. The operation is in a 10-acre lease in Eastland County's Mary Ann Clark Survey.

Dallas-based Petro Mack Inc. has posted first production data for two new oilers in the Waldrop Field, Eastland County.

The wells will be known as the No. 11 and No. 14 G.P. Brawner. They are situated in a 240-acre lease block in the ETRR Survey A-89, three miles northwest of Rising Star.

The No. 11 pumped 20 barrels of oil per day on open choke. It bottomed at 1,151 feet and will produce from a perforated interval 1,108 to 1,118 feet into the hole.

The No. 14 showed potential for 21 BOPD. It will produce from perforations 1,131 to 1,141 feet after bottoming at 1,153 in the Strawn Formation.

Operating out of Eastland, Dallas Energy Development has finalized the No. 1 Campbell as a successful oil wildcat 10 miles south of Cisco. The well flowed nine barrels of crude per day on a half-inch choke.

forated the Bend Conglomerate for production 5,252 to 5,256 feet. The drillsite was in a 240-acre lease in the T&P 109 Survey.

The same operator has meager results at a developmental oiler in Parker County's Cal-Tex Field. His No. 2 Hutchesson "A" came in with two-barrel-per-day pumping potential.

Located three miles southwest of Springtown, it is in a 660-acre lease in the J.H. Pyle Survey. After bottoming at 5,794 feet, it was plugged back to 2,814 and will produce from Strawn perforations 2,278 to 2,291 feet.

...give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.

ARA Announces Major Reorganization

Houston-ARA Services, Inc. announced today a major reorganization of the company's nursing home group. According to Glendon E. French, President of ARA's Health Services Sector, the nursing home group, previously identified by four separate company names, has been brought under one name, ARA Living Centers. ARA Living Centers has been divided into three geographic divisions, Western, Central and Eastern, with the presidents of each geographic division reporting to French.

ARA Living Centers manages nursing care services in 266 facilities, and centers for the care of the mentally retarded, totalling 31,272 beds, in ten states, and is one of the largest nursing home care providers in the country. ARA Living Centers also manages four retirement centers with 555 beds.

"Until now our operations had 24 different names at least five different logos," said French, "We realize that to maintain our position as a leader in the industry in terms of the quality of care we provide, that we must move toward uniformity of operations taking full advantage of economies of scale."

ARA Living Centers has been divided into three geographic areas for extended care facilities as well as two new business centers; namely Development Centers for the mentally retarded and Retirement Centers.

David Kremser has been appointed President of ARA Living Center's Western Division and will be responsible for 68 nursing facilities with 7,765 beds in California, Colorado and Wyoming. Kremser joined ARA in 1974 as financial vice president of Geriatrics, Inc., ARA's Colorado based nursing home group. He has served as president of the group since 1979. Prior to joining ARA, Kremser was an accountant with Haskins and Sells in Denver. A graduate of Clarkson College of Technology, Kremser is a CPA.

The Central Division, previously known as National Living Centers, will continue to be headed by Demeris Smith as president. She will be responsible for ARA's 158 nursing facilities in Texas and Oklahoma. Northview Development Center in Eastland is one of the 158 Central Division facilities. Smith joined ARA in 1972 as a senior vice president of National Living Centers. In 1976, Smith was appointed an executive vice president and in 1978 was named president of National Living Centers. Smith previously was with Blalock Nursing Homes, which was merged into ARA in 1972. "Over the next six months we will implement a system for uniform identity of ARA Living Centers consistent with ARA Services corporate identity program," said French. "We believe that bringing all of our nursing home companies together will enhance our abilities to continue to provide top quality nursing home care to the residents and their families around the country who depend upon us. It should also provide greater career opportunities for the over 10,000 employees in ARA Living Centers." ARA Health Services Sector also provides emergency department services to about 250 hospitals and medical services for more than 18,000 inmates in nine prisons in four states. ARA also operates 105 child care centers in 11 states and the District of Columbia.

ARA Services is an international diversified service management company providing such basic services as food and refreshment, uniform rental and maintenance, periodical distribution, transportation, health care and child care.

OUR TRIP TO the Rio Grande was not too eventful—unlike the journey a year ago when we departed in ice and snow and temperatures in the teens. This year, the sun was out and we had a nice tail wind all the way.

The trip was broken with an over night stop in San Antonio where we renewed acquaintances with Mrs. Eunice Garverick, formerly a member of the faculty of the Cisco Public Schools. She continues work as a librarian and is looking with interest at vans, probably considering travel in her coming retirement years.

Arriving in the valley, we found our favorite travel trailer park full and overflowing. So we're parked at La Feria, a few miles west of Harlingen of U.S. Highway 83. Like last year and the years before, the valley is full of Winter Texans and their travel trailers and mobile homes.

In our park, there are very few cars and pickups (tow vehicles) with Texas license plates. They're mostly from the northern states. The park has a recreation center and an organized program that includes exercise classes, square and round dancing lessons, games like bridge and dominoes, pool and shuffle board, Bible study sessions, Sunday church services, and entertainment programs in the evenings two or three days a week. It costs you $55 per week or $120 per month to stay in the park.

A business card given us at the park office has its name and address on one side. And printed on the other side is this message: "How to Be a Real Husband—If you cannot stay home at nights and cannot absolutely refrain from drinking, then start a saloon in your own home, be the only customer and you will not have to purchase a license.

"Give your wife $12 to buy a gallon of cheap whiskey, as there are 128 snorts in a gallon. Buy all of your drinks from your wife at 40 cents a snort. When the first gallon is gone, your wife will have $39.20 to put in the bank and will have $12 to start up in business again.

"If you live 10 years and continue to buy all your drinks from your wife, you will die with horns in your socks, she will have $37,750.40 in the bank, enough to bury you, respectfully, raise your children, stay at our RV plaze, marry a decent man and forget that she ever knew you."

WENT OVER TO Mission on Saturday, Jan. 29, to attend their annual fruit festival and to see the parade, which was the day's highlight. The parade had a couple of hundred entries and citrus fruit was the theme of float decorations. It was quite nice and crowded and warm with bright sunshine.

We sat on a curb next to a senior citizen who told us he was from Cincinnati. He was a talkative gent who seemed to appreciate a good listener. He got out of the hospital the day before. Heart trouble, he said. Nothing like the old ticker acting up to make you apprehensive, he said. He went on to mention other ailments, including a bladder problem and arthritis in a hip that would probably necessitate surgery. After a time, the man paused and looked askance. And we felt pretty inadequate as we told him that we've never even been in a hospital except to have a bone spur taken off a little toe (WWII service connected) and never take any pills or medication—except, maybe, an aspirin a couple times a year. He shook his head in disbelief and sighed in a "poor fellow" sort of way.

There must have been 1,000 folding chairs lining the Mission parade route—chairs for rent at $1 and up by the Boy Scouts. The festival is an annual event, so they must store the chairs from year to year. A lot of bands were in the parade (Mayor Ritchie's Southwest Enterprises probably sells them shoulder patches for their uniforms).

ON SUNDAY, Jan. 30, we got reacquainted with waiting in line when we went to a cafeteria. The line of senior citizens was fully a block long. It was a 35 minute stroll in line to the food counter.

We're eating a lot of citrus fruit, which always seems to taste better here.
