

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

ANOTHER curling iron was given away Friday by The Lobo & JR's in observance of their anniversary. Owner-operator Jim Roberts said Donnie Choate won a new curling iron for his mother. Chamber manager Randy Speegle drew the same for the gift.

Jim reminds everyone to be sure and come in this month for a hairstyle or perm and receive a free brush if you have the coupon from the local newspaper.

He says everything is going great and they still have two more curling irons to give away this month.

A SUM of money was found in front of Dean Drug on Conrad Hilton Avenue in Cisco this week. If you have lost any money, you can reclaim it by calling 442-1921 and giving the amount.

WELL, I guess the weathermen were wrong again, since it rained here Thursday evening. Forecasters had called for no rain before next week, but come Thursday afternoon some clouds rolled in and dumped some rain on Cisco. It wasn't really enough to hardly get the ground wet, but it was rain.

Oh well, I guess it is good for farmers and gardeners.

Businesses Plan To Close Monday For Holiday

Several local businesses were planning to be closed here Monday, February 21, in observance of George Washington's birthday.

Among those planning to be closed are First National Bank of Cisco, Cisco Loan Production, Olney Savings and the Post Office. Mail will be placed in box holders at the post office Monday morning, but there will be no route deliveries made.

All local utility companies planned to be open that day.

Important Band Booster Meet Is Set For Monday

There will be a very important Band Boosters meeting at the Cisco Band Hall on Monday, Feb. 21, at 7:30 p.m.

Everyone is urged to attend, especially High School band members. The upcoming trip to Astro World Music Festival will be discussed.

Sixth Grade Class Thanks All For Help

The 1982 - 83 sixth grade class of Cisco Intermediate School would like to thank the people of Cisco for helping us with our green stamp drive. It was a big success.

Thank You
The Sixth Grade Class

New Church Group Begins Services Here

Rev. and Mary Jay Williams of Cisco have begun a Church group called the Landmark Apostolic Church, which meets at 409 W. 11th Street. This Church building is located across the street from Cisco Intermediate School. Williams states that the Landmark Apostolic Church has the same doctrine as the United Pentecostal Church. The Williams lived in Carbon for about four years before moving to Cisco in late December. Before coming to Eastland County, the couple spent most of their lives traveling and evangelizing.

They have six children, with their youngest daughter, Retha, still living in the home. They also have two grandchildren.

Services at the Church are: Thursday night, 7:30 p.m.; Saturday night, 7:30 p.m.; Sunday morning, 10:00 a.m.; and Sunday night, 7:00 p.m. The Williams state that they have very good special singing at each meeting, as well as prayer for the sick. Saturday night will be the evening set aside for Youth Services. Mrs. Virginia Brister is in charge of this program, and there are lots of activities planned. In the near future an Outreach program will begin. The Williams would also like to start a Christian School in Cisco.

The public is invited to come out to all the services at the Church.

C.J.C. Talent Show Will Be Wednesday

The annual Cisco Junior College Talent Showcase will be held Wednesday, February 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Harrell Fine Arts Auditorium on the CJC campus. The general public is cordially invited to attend. Admission is $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children. A $10.00 door prize will be awarded. Cyndi Yates of Dublin and Lowell Lowrance of Eastland will be co-master of ceremonies for the evening's events. Young, old, and all those in between are invited to come out and enjoy the talent.

Glory-Heirs Will Be At Church Of The Nazarene

The Glory-Heirs, an exciting, new gospel group will be in full concert at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 20, 1983, at the Church of the Nazarene located at 10th and N Avenue here in Cisco.

No admission will be charged. The Glory-Heirs' music is largely southern gospel but also includes a smooth blend of country gospel, inspirational, middle of the road, and traditional selections.

The members of the group come from widely ranging backgrounds but share a common bond of commitment to serving the Lord artistically through music. The male quartet is composed of Ed Tichenor, Harvey Jackson, Tim Earles, and Tommy Reed.

The group also consists of pianist Joy Tichenor, guitarist Ron Kendrick, and sound technicians Pat Jackson and Sarah Earles.

The Glory-Heirs live and maintain their headquarters in Abilene, Tx. The full-time weekend schedule, although demanding, is made easier by the group's type of transportation, a customized bus. The Glory-Heirs rely upon love-offerings and the proceeds from record sales for its financial support.

The group has recently appeared at Six Flags, fairs, with the nationally known Happy Goodman Family, and in churches throughout the south. The Glory-Heirs have recorded two albums ("Now I Have Everything" and "Reach Out").

As a service to the community, Cisco Junior College will offer a Defensive Driving Course March 2 and 3 from 6 - 9:30 p.m., in the Science Hall Lecture room. Fee for the course is $20. The Defensive Driving Course is an eight-hour classroom course designed to improve driver skills and attitudes, especially in emergency situations.

Drivers who complete the training are eligible for a 10% discount on automobile insurance rates covering bodily injuries, property damage, medical payments and collision coverages. Good for three years, the discount may be renewed by retaking the Defensive Driving Course.

Mayor & Two Councilmen File For City Re-Election

Mayor Eris Ritchie and Councilmen Linton Batteas and Brad Kimbrough have all filed for re-election with the City Secretary. They submitted their applications for a place on the ballot on Thursday at noon, all three filing simultaneously.

As of Friday at 5:00 p.m., they were the only three candidates to file for the three expiring places on the city council—Mayor, Councilman Place I and Councilman Place II. Mr. Batteas currently holds Place I and Mr. Kimbrough Place II.

The Cisco city election will be held on Saturday, April 2. Elections for the Cisco I.S.D. Board of Trustees and Cisco Hospital District Board will be held on the same day, at the same place—the Corral Room of the Laguna Hotel.

Mayor Ritchie issued the following statement in regard to his announcement for re-election: "It has been a very rewarding experience in serving you, the citizens of Cisco, as your mayor for the past two years.

"Although I never enter-taind any serious intention of running for re-election, I have been convinced to do so in order to see through to completion the major projects we have initiated for water and sewer improvements in our city.

"As those of you who know me well are aware, I am a quite busy individual with family, business, church, and civic responsibilities, and my family will always take a very high priority in my personal time management.

"My wife and children have been extremely supportive of me during the past two years, and I wish to publicly express my appreciation to them. I also would like to thank the six very fine councilmen who have served with me. These men have always worked harmoniously and cooperatively, and with the very best interests of our city at heart. And thanks also to each of you as citizens for being so supportive in every way.

"If you would like for me to continue in this leadership capacity, I am again willing to serve. If you would like to choose another individual, possibly one with more time to focus on city matters, then you should by all means put forth one or more candidates and work for the election of the individual you would prefer for our mayor.

"In any event, I graciously thank everyone who has been so encouraging and supportive of our administration in every way."

Councilman Batteas stated, in asking the voters for re-election, "It has been a real pleasure working with our current city council, even though we've had to face some tough decisions and issues during the past two years. We feel that we've started some things that we'd like to see finished and on-line, and we also feel that it has been good for Cisco to have a council that has functioned in a progressive and businesslike fashion. I hope that the citizens of Cisco have been pleased with me as a part of this council, and I now place my services before you for a full three-year term in the position of Councilman Place I."

Councilman Kimbrough expressed the following: "It has been personally rewarding to me to be a part of a 180-degree turn-around so far as the functioning of our city government is concerned. Some of the things we've had to do have not been easy...such as passing a tax increase and asking the voters to pass a bond election that would result in the doubling of their city utility bills. Yet in spite of these factors, the community has shown an extremely understanding and supportive attitude, and for this all of us on the council are grateful. We feel that we now have a fine city manager who heads up a well-organized and properly-administered city staff, and we hope to see things continue in a positive, forward direction. It is for this reason that I offer my services to you, the citizens of Cisco, for continuing in the office of Councilman Place II, in the April 2 election."

'Brazil Night' Is Set At First Baptist Sun.

Miss Aldenice Oliveira, a native of Fortaleza, Brazil, will be a guest at the First Baptist Church of Cisco, Sunday, at 7:00 at the evening services on February 20, 1983.

A "Brazil night" program will be presented by Truman Kirk, showing picture slides and commentary about his recent mission trip to Fortaleza, Brazil.

Rev. Bryant Ross, area missionary with the Big Spring-San Angelo Baptist District, will also be a guest at this program. Rev. Ross was one of the leaders on the two trips where over 100 West Texans went to Fortaleza to witness during the past two years.

The First Baptist Church choir will sing two numbers in Portuguese. Also Pastore Buddy Sipe and wife, Carolyn, are expected to sing a special number in Portuguese.

ALDENICE OLIVEIRA

"Brazil night, Feb. 20, is expected to help acquaint Cisco with the mission program in Brazil and the fellow Christians of this great country Brazil. Everyone is invited at 7:00 to the worship service Sunday night, Feb. 20.

S.S. Teacher Program Is Set At Local Church

First Evangelical Methodist Church will have a Sunday School teacher's program, Saturday, Feb. 19, at 7 p.m., by Judy Caraway from Breckenridge.

Judy is qualified in teaching. She teaches a teacher training program once a week.

Anyone interested in furthering their education in Sunday School is invited. For more information, call 442-2168 after 5 p.m.

Country Kids 4-H Club Will Meet Tuesday

There will be a meeting of the Cisco Country Kids 4-H club Tuesday, February 22, in the community room of the new Cisco bank building at 7:00 p.m. The purpose of the meeting is to recognize the club, elect a new organizational leader and decide on a monthly meeting place and time. The meeting will be led by County Extension Agent, Christy Fuqua, who encourages all parents who are interested in keeping this club going to attend. New families are invited to attend also.

Green Stamp Collection Is Great Success

This project that the 6th Grade class at the Intermediate School in Cisco sponsored, was a great success. At last count they had taken in enough stamps to get $900.00 to give to the family they were raising money for.

The Cisco Chamber of Commerce would like to congratulate the 6th Grade class for the great job they did.

The wells will be in an 80-acre unit in Sec. 76 Blk. 3 H&TCRR Survey. They are designated as the Nos. 1, 12 and 16 Maxwell and the Nos. 5 and 6 Isenbach.

Ridge Oil of Breckenridge has posted initial production figures for a new producer in Eastland County's Northwest Ranger Field. It is the No. 1 McDonald, pumping 22 barrels of crude and 103,000 CF casinghead gas per day on open choke.

Ridge took the hole to 3,450-ft. bottom and perforated the Marble Falls Formation for production, 3,262 to 3,288 feet into the hole.

Drillsite was in a 126-acre lease in the McDonald Survey, A-16, two miles northeast of Ranger.

Richard Neal Wilson of Cross Plains has staked location for a 1,650-ft. wildcat re-entry probe two miles east of Romney. It is designated as the No. 1 J.F. Reed, with drillsite in a 40-acre lease in Eastland County's W.T. Penn Survey, A-25.

An 1,800-ft. developmental well is scheduled in Eastland County's East Nimrod Field, 10 miles south of Cisco. Edd Wittie Enterprises Inc. of Abilene is the operator. The well is slated in a 40-acre unit in the H&TCRR Survey, Sec. 78 Blk. 3. It will be known as the No. 1 Morris.

A Wichita Falls-based operator has staked location for the No. 1 Fambrough, a wildcat well to be located three miles north of Wayland. With projected total depth of 4,400 feet, the well is in a 20-acre unit in Stephens County's T&P RR Co. Survey. The operator is Donald Birge.

A 2,000-ft. Eastland County wildcat is scheduled to be drilled by A.W.S. Petroleum of San Angelo five miles southeast of Eastland. The explorer well will be known as the No. 1 Ora Haynes. It is in an 80-acre unit in Sect. 15 Blk. 4 H&TCRR Survey.

Flowing 654,000 CF gas per day on a quarter-inch choke, a new producer has been brought on line in the Eastland Regular Field by Hailey Energy Corp. of Abilene.

The absolute open flow rating came in at 1,750,000 CFD.

Drillsite was in a 151-acre lease in Sec. 45 Blk. 3 H&TCRR Survey, two miles east of Cisco. Hailey bottomed the well at 3,949 feet. It will produce from a perforated interval 3,882 to 3,892 feet into the hole.

The well will be known as the No. 1 McCauley.

The No. 1 Gorr, a 4,150-ft. developmental well, is scheduled to be spudded in Eastland County's Kleiner Field, three miles north of the Cisco city limits. Hanvey Production of Dallas will be the operator. The location is in an 88-acre lease in Sec. 508 SPRR Survey. The Kleiner Field produces from the Lake Sand.

A.W.S. Petroleum of San Angelo has revealed plans for a developmental well in the Eastland Regular Field five miles southeast of Eastland. It has been designated as the No. 1 Morrow. Located one mile northwest of Cisco, the No. 1 Pitts-Murdoch flowed at the rate of 202 barrels of oil per day on a 10/64 choke — plus 325,000 CF casinghead gas. It bottomed at 4,148 feet and will produce from a set of Lake Sand perforations, 3,492 to 3,514 feet. Tubing pressure stood at 880 PSI. Located two miles north of Cisco, the No. 1 Thomas et al "A" pumped 52 BOPD and also yielded 155,000 CFD casinghead gas on open choke. It was drilled to total depth of 4,090 feet and will produce from the Lake Sand 3,494 to 3,510 feet into the hole.

The wildcat well was located in an 80-acre unit in the A.C. Stephens Survey A-693. The Thomas was located in a 40-acre unit in Sec. 83 Blk. 4 H&TCRR Survey.

At a location two miles north of Cisco, Penn-Tex Petroleum has finalized the No. 1 Thomas et al in the Kleiner Lake Sand Field. The well flowed 31 barrels of oil and 166,000 CF casinghead gas daily on a 22/64 choke. Tubing pressure came in at 90 PSI.

Drillsite was in a 40-acre unit in Sec. 83 Blk. 4 H&TCRR Survey.

The well was bottomed at 4,060 feet and will produce from Lake Sand perforations, 3,516 to 3,522 feet into the wellbore.

Highway Dept. Opens Seal Coating Bids

AUSTIN—Bids for seal coating more than 160 miles of highways in eight Brownwood area counties will be opened Feb. 16 by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT).

The work will seal surface cracks preventing moisture from seeping into the underlying base and damaging the roadways. Brownwood District Engineer Lawrence Schulz said the project, which will require an estimated 80 working days, will be supervised by B.R. Russell of Brownwood.

In Eastland County: Texas 6 from Seaman Street in Eastland for 9.7 miles to Loop 389 southeast of Carbon; US 183 from Texas 6 (out of Cisco) northeast for 9.4 miles to Texas 69 (at the Y); FM 571 from FM 8 out of Gorman for 9.7 miles to FM 570 Chaney Crossroads and FM 570 from FM 2461 S. of Ranger for 5.5 miles to FM 571 (Chaney Crossroads).

A contract to the successful low bidder is expected to be awarded later this month by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

Applications to drill, deepen, plug back and for service wells in January amounted to 2,697 against 3,099 a year earlier.

Operators filed 782 amended applications to drill. A year earlier they submitted 791 amended requests.

Company Found In Contempt Of Court

AUSTIN—Coldwater Creek Operating Inc. of Iowa Park has been found in contempt of court by a Wichita County district court judge for violating a court injunction ordering the company to correct oil and salt water pollution problems in Wichita County.

Coldwater Creek will be fined $100 per day, after Feb. 14, for each day that work is not done to fully seal and repair wells No. 2 and No. 5 on the company's Foster lease. The court also ordered Coldwater Creek to comply with all other provisions of the temporary injunction issued last Oct. 7.

The October injunction required Coldwater Creek to empty and no longer fill leaking oil storage tanks until they are repaired, seal and repair the two leaking wells, repair leaks in flow lines on the lease, and remove oil and salt water from pits near the two wells. The company was given six weeks to comply with the terms of the injunction.

The action was the result of a July 1982 inspection by Railroad Commission field investigators. They documented oil and salt water on the ground near wells and storage facilities, as well as active leaks in some areas. Last August the Commission referred the company to the Texas Attorney General for prosecution for violations of the Texas Water Code, the Texas Natural Resources Code, and Commission rules.

Many Good And Sincere Individuals
...give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.

Before you buy a house, you should know what you are getting. Here are some things to look for when you inspect a house being offered for sale.

Check the foundation. It should be level and free of cracks. Examine the quality and condition of the roofing material.

Ask to see utility bills and check the energy efficiency of the house. Are the walls and ceilings properly insulated? Are doors and windows tightly fitted and weatherstripped? How old are the air conditioner and heater, and are they economical to operate?

Examine the number and condition of electrical outlets. Make sure bathroom fixtures work, and check the condition of the hot water heater.

The list could go on, but these are some of the most significant things to consider before you sign a contract. If you are not confident in your own ability to determine the condition of these items, seek professional assistance.

HEAT PUMPS CAN CUT UTILITY BILLS

If you used electricity to heat your home this winter, here is a tip that might save you some money in the future. A heat pump produces far more heat for each kilowatt-hour of electricity than does a resistance heater. This means your electric bill could drop substantially while you maintain a constant level of comfort.

A heat pump operates somewhat like an air conditioner in reverse, and, in fact, can actually warm your house in winter and cool it in summer.

The reliability of heat pumps has often been questioned, but present heat pump designs appear to be as reliable as conventional air conditioning units. Extended warranties are available for heat pumps at the same cost as for conventional air conditioners.

A heat pump costs more than a conventional electrical heating unit but could be worth the added cost in areas where electricity, propane or butane are used for heating.

CLOSING ENDS SALES TRANSACTION

When a real estate broker uses the term "closing," what does it mean? Closing is the last step in the legal and financial process of buying a home.

At closing, certain costs are charged against the buyer and/or the seller.

These include the broker's fee, if any; prorations of property taxes and insurance; fees for mortgage and hazard insurance; the fees for inspections and other charges.

In addition, several important legal documents will be signed at the closing. These include the mortgage and promissory note, which indicates the amount and terms of the home loan.

Due to the complexities of a real estate transaction, a lawyer will be required by the lender to handle the closing. The buyer may want to employ an attorney to make sure his or her rights are protected. In most cases, however, the buyer would pay for the services for both attorneys.

YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE DECEPTIVE TRADE PRACTICES ACT

If you own or anticipate owning real estate, you should be aware that you have certain legal rights under the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act. Originally passed to regular practices of the used car industry, the DTPA has been extended to cover real estate transactions. Homebuyers now have the same protection as other consumers.

The law requires that persons pursuing a claim under the DTPA prove a violation of at least one of the 23 unlawful business practices listed in the act. These include such things as representing goods as being new when they are not, knowingly making false or misleading statements or failing to disclose information concerning goods or services which was known at the time of the transaction.

HOT WATER SAVINGS CAN REDUCE UTILITY BILLS

During cold weather, hot water use for showers and baths usually increases. As the water heaters labors to keep the water temperature constant, increasing amounts of energy are used which is reflected in higher utility bills.

Here are several things you can do to reduce the amount of fuel your hot water heater consumes. If you are already thinking about replacing your water heater, consider buying one of the new superinsulated models. They may cost a little more than a regular heater, but fuel savings over time will more than repay the additional cost.

If you have a water heater you do not expect to replace soon, consider installing additional insulation around the outside for this purpose.

Either of these options will keep you in hot water without heating you up over your utility bills.

Homemaking Hints

County Extension Agent

Janet Thomas

Pressure of stress is something all of us experience in varying degrees at various times of each day, week, month, and year of our lives. It occurs as the result not only of unpleasant circumstances which, no matter how enjoyable, still require significant expenditures of our energy. Usually, minimal degrees of stress motivate individuals into productive action; maximum degrees of stress, on the other hand, often times result in little or no productive outcomes.

Americans are expressing a new and growing concern for coping with the stress of everyday life. Close to one in two American families (44 percent) are finding it harder to cope with problems such as high food costs, meeting monthly bills, saving for the future, fear of crime and time constraints caused by family and work responsibilities. Eight out of ten family members now indicate a need for less stress in their daily lives. Indeed, most persons agree with the experts that stress is one of the most important factors preventing their being as healthy as they could be.

Most of us are able to recognize when we're experiencing stress. There are emotional, mental and physical signals which "flag" the fact that we're in a stressful situation. Recognizing and being aware of symptoms of stress in yourself (and others) is important so that you can work out ways of coping with stress. By becoming aware of the first signs of stress we can 1) more clearly identify the causes of stress for ourselves, and 2) learn to discharge the stress before it becomes a very distressful situation. Recognizing stress is the first step in dealing with it.

What are these recognizable signs that serve as stress indicators? Are the signs the same for everyone? In fact, there are almost as many reactions to stress as there are individuals. Not everyone reacts to stress in the same way.

Some of the more common signs and symptoms of stress include: Emotional changes such as: irritability, lowered self-esteem, angry outburst, lack of interest, restlessness, anxiousness, withdrawal, reduction of personal involvement with others, critical of self and others, and appetite extremes.

Mental-intellectual changes such as: forgetfulness, preoccupation, errors in judging distance, lack of concentration, lack of attention to details, reduced creative, and diminished productivity.

Physical changes such as: increased heart rate, elevated blood pressure, tightness of chest, sweaty palms, trembling, ticks or twitching, tightness of neck or back muscles, headache, diarrhea, nausea and vomiting, sleep disturbance, fatigue, accident proneness, susceptibility to minor illness, slumped posture and shallow breathing.

In order to cope with stress, one needs to communicate. Communicate your feelings to someone you trust who will listen without criticizing. Talk, cry, express anger. No matter what you feel, express your feelings and get them out in the open rather than bottling them up.

If you cannot control or change the situation which is the source of stress, you can try to adapt. Adaptation is a long process which does not occur spontaneously. Attitude is important to coping with stress. Recognizing and accepting one's limitations fosters a realistic attitude and reduces distressed feelings. Being organized in daily activities gives the feeling of being in control rather than being ruled by circumstances. A good sense of humor is an asset to handling stress. The ability to laugh at yourself or the situation is a healthy emotional outlet for dealing with life's crises.

RECIPE FOR THE WEEK:
For some of the upcoming spring and summer parties, here is a very good cookie recipe. It makes 12 dozen.

DISH PAN COOKIES
2 cups sugar
2 cups brown sugar
2 cups salad oil
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 eggs

4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup dates (you might want to use condensed mincemeat instead)
1 cup coconut
1 cup nuts (you might try sunflower seeds)
1 1/2 cups oatmeal
4 cups corn flakes, crushed or rice crispies

Cream first four ingredients. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well. Add flour, soda, and salt and mix well. Set aside. Mix remaining ingredients. Add this to flour mixture and stir. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 12 minutes. Yield: 12 dozen cookies.

Extension Services Slates Lunch & Learn Program

Mrs. Janet Thomas
County Extension Agent

Crepes Cookery will be the upcoming "lunch and learn" program sponsored by the Eastland County Extension Service. The art of making crepes will be demonstrated by Chisty Fuqua, County Extension Agent on Thursday, February 24 from 12:00 - 1:00 p.m. in the Texas Electric Reddy Room in Eastland.

There will be a $2.00 registration fee for this program. The fee will cover the cost of food, since a luncheon featuring crepes will be served for everyone to enjoy.

The menu will be: chicken Divan crepes, salad, Strawberry dessert crepes, and iced tea.

While you are eating your Chicken crepes, Chisty Fuqua will demonstrate how to cook crepes and then let everyone make their own dessert crepe. Crepes are easy, fun and economical to serve, so everyone is invited to come and join us for the program on Thursday, February 24.

Due to the fact that we need to know how many to prepare food for, a preregistration is required for this program. Please call in your reservations by Friday, February 18 to the County Extension Office - 629-2222.

The Extension Service is sponsoring this "lunch and learn" study group which meets informally at noon once a month. Interesting and creative programs are presented. Everyone is always welcomed... so bring your friends.

A good group of Eastland County gardeners attended the vegetable and fruit production meeting Friday afternoon at the Reddy Room in Eastland.

Interest in home gardening is very high at this time. Our weather conditions for a successful home garden is better than in several years. There is good moisture in the soil and because of the mild winter the soil is warmer than usual for this time of year.

Although food prices have declined recently, home vegetable and fruit production has remained steady because folks have found it to be an enjoyable and healthful as well as profitable activity.

Mid to late February is the ideal time for Eastland County gardeners to plant Irish potatoes. I noticed that the Farm Bureau seed potatoes came in this week.

Local gardeners have several varieties of potatoes from which to choose. The most popular are Ted Las Soda, Red Pontiac, Superior and Kennebec. The red skinned varieties are better for boiling and potatoe salad while the brown skinned are best when fried, baked or whipped.

Buy 10 pounds of seed potatoes for every 100 feet of row to be planted. Grocery store potatoes do not make good seed potatoes unless they are designated as such.

Good seed potatoes are firm with prominent eyes. Avoid those with cuts, bruises or wrinkles. The inside should be white with no discoloration—discoloration indicated freeze damage, disease or poor storage conditions.

Traditionally, gardeners cut large potatoes into smaller pieces and plant these four to six inches deep and one foot apart in the garden row. However, small whole potatoes used as seed have advantages over cut pieces—there is no chance of spreading disease and they are less likely to rot when planted.

If medium-sized or large potatoes are used, cut them into blocky pieces that weight one-and-one half to two ounces each. Each piece must have at least one eye. A two-ounce whole potato yields about the same as a two-ounce cut piece, but the whole potato will yield more small potatoes.

Potential loss of cut pieces to decay can be reduced by keeping them at 60 degrees F. for about a week before planting to allow the cut surfaces to heal.

Plant the seed pieces or small potatoes with the eye pointing up or down. However, make sure the soil is not waterlogged or not too dry. Either mix fertilizer in the row before planting or place it in narrow bands four to six inches from the seed pieces on both sides of the row.

During the growing season, gardeners should be on the lookout for insect and disease problems. Pest control recommendations are available from the County Extension Office.

Fresh potatoes should be ready for harvesting about 30 after planting.

WRITING BEST SELLERS

Successful auction selling begins long before auction day. It really begins on the day you call.

On my first visit to your place I can obtain a list of the items you wish to sell. And, I can gather the information that will help make your auction advertising more helpful to those who read it.

By determining quality and condition I can properly describe your offering. And by seeing them in use at your place I can tell all those interested bidders how they can benefit from buying your items.

My auction ads are easy to read due to the special efforts I make to set them up right. And your friends and neighbors can quickly spot the good items you wish to sell.

My auction ads are "best sellers" and I'd like to get started right now on writing one of my "best sellers" for you. You will get my best effort from the first call and I'll begin selling for you from that day on. And remember, when it comes to buying or selling AUCTION'S BEST

Time To Get Tough On Drug Abuse In Our Schools

(Reprinted from the American School Board Journal)

By Gerald Strong, an English teacher at Xenia (Ohio) High School, is a curriculum consultant who also teaches at the University of Dayton.

The growing use of alcohol and drugs by our students is a problem that damages the well-being of our children and undermines everything we are attempting to achieve in education. It's a tough problem, and it requires a tough solution.

For too long, schools have taken a permissive approach to alcohol and drug use by students. It's time to take a hard line. What our young people need—especially those who are dependent on chemicals—are communities, schools, and parents who are willing to take charge, who will accept their responsibilities as adults, and who will insist that kids get off and stay off drugs and alcohol.

Schools, especially, must be unyielding. Students who drink alcohol, smoke marijuana, or use other drugs must understand that the consequences of their behavior are unalterable: expulsion from school and disqualification from all extra-curricular activities. To be reinstated, the offender must agree to get help. Getting tough, in short, is the kindest thing we can do for our kids and the only way schools can bring the drug and alcohol problem under control.

This is the approach we're undertaking with considerable success in the Xenia (Ohio) schools (K-12; enr.: 6,800). In the past, students in our school system have used and abused drugs and alcohol at rates typical of U.S. high schools. The different between our school system and most others, however, is that we've admitted that we have a problem and are doing something about it.

Facing the problem

In combating drug and alcohol use in your schools, you probably have found what we have in Xenia: It's an uphill battle all the way. Chemical use and abuse are pervasive in our society. We tell youngsters not to drink yet U.S. consumers down 180 million barrels of beer a year. That's 42 gallons for each person in the U.S. who's 14 or older, and that doesn't include wine or hard liquor. Drugs are bad, we proclaim; yet 40 cents of every dollar spent on pharmaceuticals at the drug counter goes for Valium. The amount of money spent on advertising alcohol and over-the-counter drugs runs into millions of dollars every year.

Certainly, no easy way exists for schools to counter the overwhelmingly mixed message adolescents are getting: No matter what you tell them, they constantly are exposed to suggestions that using drugs and alcohol is cool, sophisticated, attractive. In the face of this, your job is to take an unflinchingly firm stand. Schools must teach abstinence, concentrate effort on prevention of abuse, get tough with abusers, and make young people accountable for their behavior.

Accountability, in fact, is the pivotal requirement in fighting chemical dependency. To be sure, it shouldn't be the only tool in your prevention program: You also need to tell students how chemicals harm their bodies; you must teach them to say No; and you should counsel them to understand themselves and their environment. But none of these techniques is enough. In the end, there simply is no substitute for personal accountability in any chemical abuse prevention program.

Here's why: The problem of dependency is one of personal choice. Young people are influenced by their peers and by all kinds of pressure, but ultimately, the vast majority of abusers—at least in the beginning—choose to put a chemical substance into their bodies. In other words, kids cause or prevent their own problems, and that boils down to personal accountability. But here's the clincher: For a program of accountability to be effective, the consequences must be severe. In the long run, of course, the consequences of addiction to drugs or alcohol are clear enough: Addiction can be fatal. Adolescents, however, tend to see little beyond the immediate consequences. Drugs and alcohol make them feel good, so they indulge. Schools, then, must impose immediate and stringent consequences on abusers.

In doing so, schools can take a lesson from private enterprise. Many company programs that mandate treatment among employees have had great success, and the key to their success is that employees know the consequences of not getting treatment. The message to employees is strong and clear: Stop drinking, and get treatment—or be fired. Similarly, for schools to reduce chemical abuse among students, you must send a message that's equally straightforward: Stop drinking or using drugs, and get treatment—or be expelled.

Getting your message out

Here, then, is what you can do to reduce drug and alcohol abuse in your schools—an approach we find works for us: Develop and formally adopt a chemical abuse intervention policy that forces chemically dependent students to find help.

The policy should be simply and unequivocally stated. Here's an example: "Students found to be under the influence of drugs or alcohol at school will not be tolerated. On the first offense, the student will be suspended from school for at least ten days and recommended for expulsion. The student may be permitted to return to school after ten days if—and only if—the student and parents agree to participate in a community treatment program. The local juvenile justice court will intercede against any student or family that does not comply. In addition, the student may not take part in any extracurricular activities for at least one season."

Punishment for the second—and each subsequent—offense must be even stronger. For example: "The student will be expelled from school for the rest of the semester, with loss of credit for the semester. Both student and parents must participate in a treatment program. Those who fail to comply will come under court order to do so."

In Xenia, we have toughly worded policies such as these, and we've made an agreement with the juvenile court. We inform the court when a student and family fail to comply with our requirement that they receive counseling and treatment. The court assigns a probation officer to the student and places the student under court order to follow through with rehabilitation. As a last resort, if a student still refuses to cooperate, the court sends the student to a juvenile detention center.

In most cases, of course, such extreme actions aren't necessary, because our students know even before committing the first offense that chemical abuse will not be tolerated. Awareness of the consequences, indeed, is the strength of a firm intervention policy.

Developing a plan

If you want to introduce an intervention policy similar to the one we use in Xenia, be prepared to move slowly. Building grass-roots support for a firm policy takes time, yet that support is essential for the program's success.

Here's a plan you may follow in developing a successful chemical abuse intervention policy:

1. Form a committee representing a cross section of the community, including school board members, parents, teachers and students.

2. Require all committee members to participate in at least a half-day course of instruction on chemical dependency and the need for an intervention policy.

3. Assign the committee responsibility for composing an intervention policy. Send reports frequently to parents regarding the committee's progress.

4. Conduct an open meeting for the public to discuss the recommended intervention policy and to ask questions.

5. Publicize the recommended policy, including your school board's endorsement of it, throughout the community.

6. Discuss the adopted policy with parents, teachers, and students in separate meetings. Distribute a final copy of the policy to every parent, teacher, and student in the school system.

7. Conduct a comprehensive teacher inservice education program on implementing the policy.

The moral obligation for preventing and stopping alcohol and drug dependency lies with those of us who are not chemically dependent. Of course, we can continue to share information in school and conduct values clarification exercises, games, and simulations. Without questions, these are admirable efforts. They don't do much, however, for the student suffering from the disease of chemical dependency. For that student, accountability is the key; without it, we shall continue to meet with the same rate of failure as we have in the past.

In the end, it is imperative that we force students who are using illegal substances—and misusing legal ones—into taking responsibility for their behavior. We must force chemically dependent students to seek treatment in exchange for the privilege of remaining in school.

Xenia High School is achieving a chemical-free environment using this approach. Happily, education once again is our major concern.

Greyhound Cuts Back Bus Service

AUSTIN--Greyhound Lines, Inc. told the Railroad Commission in a hearing here yesterday they intend to cancel bus service to 58 Texas cities that are located along ten company routes in the state.

Cities which will lose service under the proposal are Melissa, Anna, Van Alstyne, Howe, Glen Rio, Anthony, Canutillo, Kingsbury, Harwood, Belmont, Gonzales, Waelder, Flatonia, Engle, Weimar, Glidden, Alleyton, Eagle Lake, and East Bernard.

Also Karnes City, Sheldon, Crosby, Vidor, Junction, Lancaster, Sterrett, Forrester, Italy, Milford, Abbott, Elm Mott, Lorena, Bruceville-Eddy, Troy, Salado, Jarrell, Buda, Kyle, Bremond, Wylie, Copeville, Farmersville, Campbell, Cumby, Cumby Junction, Brashear, Saitillo, Gordon Junction, Putnam, Clyde, Merkel, Trent, Roscoe, Loraine, Westbrook, Coahoma, Pyote, and Toyah.

After receiving testimony from Greyhound officials, state legislators, and members of the public, examiners from the Commission's Transportation Division recessed the hearing and indicated additional hearings would be considered in several of the affected cities.

Under the provisions of the federal Bus Regulatory Reform Act of 1982, interstate bus companies must apply to the Railroad Commission when canceling bus service in the state. However, the act seriously limits Commission authority to block such moves.

Any action by the Commission other than a total grant of the application may be appealed to the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington, D.C. That Commission will override the Railroad Commission unless it is convinced that Greyhound's proposal to discontinue service is not in the public interest or that failure to discontinue service will not burden interstate commerce.

Hearing examiner Renee McCright explained the situation this way in a statement at the opening of the hearing, "Under the new federal legislation, it is presumed that any schedule which fails to cover its expenses is a burden on interstate commerce, creating the possibility that the Interstate Commerce Commission will override any Railroad Commission order seeking to preserve service on schedules where the bus company's revenues do not cover its variable expenses."

McCright encouraged affected communities to request a local hearing so that all affected passengers, shippers, and receivers will have a chance to give information to the Commission.

Transportation Division officials also indicated they are considering other actions to recommend to the commissioners in connection with the Greyhound application, including cancelling Greyhound's statewide package delivery authority and encouraging Texas intrastate bus companies to apply for new authority to serve the affected cities.

Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace and Commissioners Buddy Temple and James E. (Jim) Nugent foresaw just such problems developing in the state last fall when the Bus Regulatory Reform Act was being debated in Congress. Before President Reagan signed the act, the Commissioners sent a telegram urging him to veto the measure.

While Bahrain was on the London-to-Australia/Asia airline route from the early days of the flying boats, Sikorsky and Boeing seaplanes which flew only during daylight hours; the southern sheikhdoms had no air service until the oil companies engaged in the exploration and development of the scattered fields from Qatar to Oman set up their semi-scheduled charter flights. Gulf Aviation Company, Ltd. was formed for the purpose of providing that service.

The charter service of Gulf Aviation was owned by the Rulers of Bahrain, Qatar, Abu Dhabi and Dubai. Abu Dhabi was the last of the Rulers to buy into the business. The service was managed and operated by British and Australian personnel provided under a contract by and between Gulf Aviation and British Overseas Airline Company (BOAC). While occasionally a 4-engine transport was used under lease from the Royal Air Force, the principal aircraft consisted of a few absolescent (though never obsolete) DC 3, twin-engine aircraft like those on which the airline service in the U.S. was founded.

The lumbering old "Gooney Birds" were flown for the most part by Australian pilots who had seen service in the Royal Australian Air Force during World War II, and some of whom had a background of service as "bush pilots" in Australia. They loved the lumbering old craft, and could perform incredible feats of airmanship with them. I once saw one of them airborne after a takeoff run of less than 500 feet from an unfinished dirt strip. The pilot shrugged off the fantastic performance with... "There's a lot of things that are not in the book but that can be done".

As a part of the war effort to provide air protection to the Persian Gulf during W.W. II, England had built landing strips at Bahrain, Kuwait, Sharja and Muscat, where the Royal Air Force maintained bases. Sharja was about in the center, north-to-south of the "Trucial States", and while it was quite convenient to Dubai, which was only fifteen miles from the landing strip, Abu Dhabi was isolated.

The Oil Company which was formed to explore the offshore fields of Abu Dhabi prepared a compacted subtidal flat strip about half a mile in length toward the landward side of the island on which the village was built. Characteristically, the strip was separated from the town by a sand field navigable only by sand-tired, four-wheel-drive vehicles. Nonetheless, Abu Dhabi had its "International Airport", complete with a terminal which consisted of a concrete block structure less than twenty feet square and which was open for business only when it was known that a charter flight was coming in. By the early sixties, the charter service had established scheduled flights on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Occasionally an extra flight would be laid on to bring cargo only, usually consisting of perishable foodstuffs flown from Beirut to Bahrain.

Sheikh Achmed bin Hamad al Thani, Ruler of Qatar constructed a modern airport, complete with a landing strip which could accommodate the largest jet airliners which by then had become quite commonplace in international airline transportation. When Ahmed married Sheikh Rashid of Dubai's youngest (and, some say loveliest) daughter, one of the conditions of the marriage "settlement" was a multi-million-dollar contribution to the construction of Dubai's 12,000 ft. landing strip. That strip was constructed under the supervision of FAA and CAB of the U.S. Rashid was quite shrewd in that he wanted a landing strip to which he could invite U.S. airlines to make scheduled landings. To reactionary but loveable Shakhbut of Abu Dhabi, the airplane was still a toy of the Westerners, and would never really compete with the dhow and the camel. He'd make do with the strip which was built by the oil company. The Gooney Bird was good enough for him.

Before the construction of Rashid's airport, his gold shipments were flown to Bahrain where they were stored under strick security until they could be relayed by DC3 to Sharja, where the gold would be taken by Landrover to Dubai. And "Cam"

Campbell, Chief Pilot and Gulf Aviation and a dean of the Bush Pilot Fraternity insisted that it seemed to fall his lot to make the most of the gold flights. And Cam worried about that, quite a lot.

When you could get him to talk about it, he'd tell you that he had visions of some criminal organization's learning of a gold flight, putting a couple of people aboard who would force him to land the aircraft on some isolated beach between Qatar and Dubai, kill the pilot and crew, transfer the gold to a waiting high-speed dhow and be far away long before the downed aircraft would be found. It worked on Cam. He became downright skittish when his cargo consisted of half a dozen passengers and a ton of gold bars.

On one sultry summer's day, Cam was carrying two metric tons of gold from Bahrain to Dubai when, just as he was about to fly over Abu Dhabi he lost power on one engine. In contact with Bahrain by radio, he informed them that he was putting her down at Abu Dhabi, and for them to send a spare engine and a maintenance crew. Then he proceeded to land with only the one engine functioning, and began preparing to leave the aircraft to board the ever-present Land Rover which was standing in the sand nearby.

"But, Captain, what about the gold?" Ask his young copilot. Crusty old Campbell had a few choice remarks to make concerning the gold, and ended with: "That gold belongs to Dubai National Bank. When the aircraft is airworthy, I shall continue my flight with it. Until then; if they want anything done with it, they can do it. I am a pilot; not an armed guard. I'm hot and tired. I'm going to the hotel, have a tall, cold drink, and can be found in my room, asleep".

Word was passed, Bahrain - Dubai - Abu Dhabi via radiotelegraph, one could suppose. Sometime during the afternoon an armed guard...the usual uniformed policeman with this faithful 16 gauge shotgun took up his stand to protect almost $3,000,000.00 worth of gold while the maintenance crew changed the engine...and Cam took his nap. Cam chuckled when chided about it... "If a bar is missing you just pick out the deepest footprints in the sand and follow them until you find the thief...exhausted under his 66 lb. load."

Gulf Aviation Company went on to become a highly modernized airline, complete with schedules to all the capital cities of the Middle East and to Frankfurt, Rome and London. I seem to recall that they even had a "Booking Office" in New York. But there's still a couple of old DC3s collecting dust in a hanger at Bahrain. Now and again one will be dusted off, trundled out, and flown to some isolated oil well somewhere in the desert.

And Sheikh Zayed bin Sultan al Nahayan took over from his brother, Shakhbut, as Ruler as Abu Dhabi he almost immediately constructed a landing strip to international standards, and followed that construction with a spacious, ultra-modern terminal building. And "Cam" Campbell has long since retired to his farm in "The Outback" of Australia.

Comanche Peak Nuclear Plant Receives Highest Rating

The performance of the Comanche Peak nuclear plant's management received the highest rating, Category 1, in four areas and a satisfactory rating, Category 2, in two areas, Texas Electric today announced.

In the remaining two areas, the performance of Texas Utilities Generating Company (TUGCO) was rated as satisfactory, Category 3, but needs for increased attention were noted.

The assessments were made during the most recent evaluation by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's (NRC) Systematic Assessment of Licensee Performance (SALP) Board covering the period October 1981 through September 1982.

The areas in which performance was judged as being in Category 1, the highest ranking, were safety-related components, electrical power supply and distribution, instrument and control systems and licensing activities.

The NRC's office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation made the evaluation in the area of licensing activities for the SALP Board. In regard to TUGCO management's involvement in assuring quality, the evaluation stated, "overall the corporate management officers are knowledgeable and dedicated to the safe, reliable operation of the station."

The SALP Board gave a Category 3 rating in two areas -- preoperational testing and vendor procurement cycle controls.

In preoperational testing, the board stated there had been no violation of NRC requirements, but noted the lack of actual nuclear plant startup experience among plant personnel.

The board recognized the fact that a program already was underway to add more experienced people, but said it had not been in effect long enough to be evaluated in the current assessment.

In a letter responding to the SALP Board report, TUGCO said 54 of the 79 engineers now involved directly with preoperational testing have had nuclear plant startup experience. Most of the rest have experience with fossil-fueled plant startup or military nuclear experience. All personnel meet the NRC's education and experience requirements.

In the vendor procurement area, which involves inspection of equipment supplied by manufacturers before it is shipped to Comanche Peak, the board said too few people apparently were not fully trained.

In its response, TUGCO said it considers its overall vendor compliance program to be effective. But the company said it has recognized a need for improvement in inspections of vendor-supplied welds. A consulting firm with nationally recognized expertise in the area (Reedy, Herbert, Gibbons & Associates of Los Gatos, California) has been hired to carry out an on-the-job retraining program for source inspectors.

In two other areas -- containment and other safety-related structures and piping systems and supports -- the board rated TUGCO's performance as Category 2.

Comanche Peak is owned jointly by Texas Electric, Dallas Power & Light, Texas Power & Light, the Texas Municipal Power Agency, Brazos Electric Power Cooperative Inc. and Tex-La Electric Cooperative of Texas Inc. Texas Utilities Generating Company acts as agent for the owners in construction of the plant and is responsible for the operation of the plant.

Spotlights & Sidelights

Julia Worthy

Today's contribution to the wonderful world of fact and fantasy is a review of the "In Our Opinion" page of "Modern Maturity."

"Modern Maturity" is the magazine published by the American Association of Retired Persons, and if you are feeling lonely sometimes, you should plunk down the membership fee of five bucks to join. You'd find that you might be lonely, but you are not alone.

In a section headed "Fancies distort economic realities," a Cyril F. Brickfield takes apart the contention that "cash per capita household income of the elderly as reached parity with that of younger people."

The theory quoted is that of Lester Thurow, MIT economist, and he also says, "...the total income of the elderly may even exceed that of the rest of the population when health-care benefits are considered."

On paper, it seems Thurow might be right as median income ($22,028.00) for a younger household of four would slice up about the same as for the over-sixty-fives ($9,903.00). The figures are close.

Too, the elders, it is assumed, are eligible for Medicare, food stamps and the like. But in-kind benefits are not distributed evenly among the elderly, and what good is a benefit if you don't have access to it? As far as benefits go, the working Americans often have better employer-paid benefits than the elderly people ever will have.

These "good working conditions" put up measurably the actual income of the work force, but how often is this gray-area income measured in comparison with intergenerational wealth?

Brickman makes clear his opinion that Thurow's study, based on per capita income, does not have that firm a foundation, and "...in-kind benefits help all generations, albeit imperfectly."

In conclusion of his section, Brickman says, "...in their efforts to shore up Social Security, lawmakers shouldn't give much weight to studies purporting to show that the elderly are doing as well financially as younger age groups, possibly even better. That case hasn't been made."

And that statement leads neatly into the comments of Peter W. Hughes on, "How important is Social Security?"

Hughes pays his respects to the undeniable fact that Social Security "...was never intended to provide full retirement income..." He also gives due consideration to the equally undeniable fact "...that's what many people use it for."

This reminds me of the bumblebee. The theory of serodynamics says the bee can't fly. But it does.

Social Security is not meant for total retirement income. But for people at the bottom of the economic ladder, it is.

So much for theories. Here are the facts.

The pensions and savings that Social Security was meant to supplement have eroded as far as buying power goes.

Private pensions, which usually are not indexed to rising prices, remain fixed. Inflation whittles away savings meant to supplement the pensions. The retiree has to rely on Social Security.

Hughes used 1978 figures, and at that time no more than thirty percent of employee pension and saving incomes down to only twenty-five of the total of all aged retirees.

Another fact Hughes dredged from his '78 figures is that sixty percent of the aged family units had total incomes below $9,000.00; and "...the great majority relied on Social Security to provide well over half of that total income."

This pretty well equates Social Security with the bumblebee which isn't supposed to be able to fly but does. Social Security isn't supposed to provide full retirement income but for an appalling number of us, it does.

For the majority of us oldsters, living proof that there is an aftermath of improved infant care, Social Security is the only part of our income that can be tabbed "flexible." Even here, by the time the legislative process cranks up, it is sometimes too late and too little.

Retired Persons Are Not Alone

The younger generation needs to do some projecting on its own future. Whether you quote the Chinese proverb or Harry Golden, "It's later than you think."

You need to take care of our (your elder's) present in order to provide for your own future.

Home Garden And Fruit Production Meeting Set

Demarquis Gordon

Home food production continues to increase according to a recent survey by the Gallup Poll. In an effort to help Eastland County people with the nation's number one outdoor activity, a home vegetable and fruit garden production meeting will be held Friday, February 18. The meeting, sponsored by the Extension Service, will begin at 2:00 p.m. in the Texas Electric Reddy Room in Eastland.

Dr. Sammy Helmers, Extension Horticulturist, will discuss management of fruit trees. Such things as mulch and fertilizer, planting dates, varieties, and insect control in gardens will be discussed. Dr. Helmers will also talk about fruit varieties, pruning, insect and disease control and fruit thinning.

Eastland County Extension Agents say the meeting is planned to help all home gardeners and they invite all persons interested in gardening and fruit production to attend.

"Interest in home gardening has risen sharply in the past few years, triggered by rising food prices and the desire to return to nature," points out the agents. Although food prices have declined recently, home vegetable and fruit production has remained steady because folks have found it to be an enjoyable and healthful as well as profitable activity.

Educational programs conducted by the Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

ASSE Wants Local Families To Host Exchange Students

The American Scandinavian Student Exchange (ASSE) is seeking local families to serve as hosts for Scandinavian and German high school students who are part of the ASSE exchange visitor program, according to Susan Hayes, Director of ASSE. The non-profit ASSE operates under the auspices of the Swedish Department of Education and is officially designated by the U.S. International Communication Agency as an Exchange Visitor Program.

The students, 16 and 17 years old, are fluent in English and are carefully selected for the program based on their high school performance, good character, and interest in the ASSE program. All of them are covered by medical and liability insurance and have adequate money for personal needs supplied by their parents. The host family furnishes meals and housing.

The ASSE program offers families the opportunity to share American cultural and educational experiences with a Scandinavian or German young person and, at the same time, to learn about another culture and language. Hayes indicated that a volunteer Area Representative, provided by ASSE, will contact the host family and the guest student on a regular basis to assure that everything is going smoothly.

Families interested in serving as hosts for the 1983-84 school year should contact: Carroll Draper, Route 4, Box 33, Comanche, Texas 76442 915-966-3588 or 817-734-2721.

Comptroller's Office Returns Tax Payments

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday returned $114.3 million in local sales tax payments to 974 cities who levy one-percent city sales tax.

Eastland County paid $98,413.37 in for this period ending February 7, compared to $92,053.54 paid in this same time last year.

Total payments in Eastland County, to date in 1983 is $125,716.41 compared to date in 1982 was $120,308.79.

The city sales taxes are collected along with state sales tax by merchants and rebated monthly to the cities in which they are collected by the Comptroller.

Homeowners throughout Texas will be planting vegetables in their garden the next few months. Many of these gardens will be very successful, while others will be less than that desired. In most cases, the success or failure of the garden will depend on the variety that is being planted. There are a number of varieties sold in Texas that are not adapted for Texas. There are also many varieties that are not of the quality that most people would like to have. For this reason, gardeners are encouraged to visit their local garden centers and County Extension Agents to determine what varieties do best in their particular county.

One thing to consider when selecting a variety is disease resistance. A variety that is resistant to a disease may determine whether or not you have to spray for diseases during the growing season. In areas where nematodes are a problem, resistant plants will eliminate that need for soil fumigation. One particular group of vegetables that has an excellent resistance to nematodes and other soil-borne fungi is tomatoes. There are now varieties that can be grown in nematode-infested soil and not be damaged by the pest. Some of the more commonly grown resistant varieties are: Big Set, Bonus, Jackpot, Better Boy and Small Fry, a cherry tomato. These varieties are adapted for most areas of Texas and will produce excellent tomatoes if properly cared for.

One way to determine if a variety is resistant to nematodes is to check for the presence of three letters after the name of that variety. In the case of Big Set, it is listed in the catalogs as being Big Set VFN. The VFN means that it is resistant to verticillium wilt, fusarium wilt, and root knot nematodes. Any variety that has these three letters or any combination of these letters will be resistant to the diseases indicated by the letters. There are some varieties that are resistant only to fusarium wilt. In this case, they would carry only the letter F behind the name. There are others which are resistant to fusarium and verticillium, and in these both the V and the F letters would appear. There are new varieties being developed which have resistance to additional diseases.

Big Set is a large-fruited variety that is a determinant. A determinant variety is one that grows to a height of about 3 feet and then terminates in a flower cluster. Varieties such as this generally have a more concentrated fruit set, producing large quantities of tomatoes within a short period of time. They also tend to be somewhat earlier than the vining types. Big Set is one of the earliest of the nematode-resistant varieties.

Bonus is also a large-fruited variety and is a determinant plant which stops in growth at about 3½ to 4 feet. It will be a few days later in coming into production than Big Set. By planting a combination of these two varieties, you can lengthen the season in which you will have tomatoes available from your garden.

A third variety is Jackpot. This also is a large-fruited tomato. It comes in about the same ripening time as the Bonus.

A fourth variety is known as Better Boy. This is an indeterminate variety. An indeterminate variety is a variety that continues to grow and becomes taller as the season develops. Better Boy is also a large-fruited tomato. It produces tomatoes somewhat later in the season than Bonus. It could be used in combination with Big Set and Bonus to further extend the ripening period.

The sixth variety is a cherry tomato called Small Fry. Small Fry is a very heavy producer. It is an indeterminate type which grows to an unrestricted size and produces small tomatoes. If Small Fry is being grown, it is important to continue to apply fertilizer and water so that the fruit will continue to size properly as the season progresses.

Former Eastland Family To Represent WESTCOM

A former Eastland family now located in Hawaii was recently selected to represent WESTCOM in the American Family Society and Mrs. Nancy Reagan. Selected were SFC Gregory Emfinger and family of Aliamanu Military Reservation.

The family was selected for contributions to the community and obstacles they overcame to make those contributions. Although recent arrivals in Hawaii, the Emf-inger family quickly became involved in the community. Emfinger, training NCO for Headquarters Company, USASCH, is a coach for a Youth Activities football team at Fort Shafter. His wife, Cathy, helps assist the team's cheerleading coach and volunteered to sew their uniforms. Both are members of the community council and Campus Beautification Project at Red Hill Elementary School and chaperone for the Youth Activity Teen Center. They also participate in all parent related programs at Jefferson Elementary School.

Cathy is in the process of starting an exercise program that would be free to women in the AMR community. Probably most important is the family's contributions and support of local groups for handicapped individuals.

"I think it is a great honor to represent the command," said Emfinger who arrived six months ago. "Where I feel great is that someone has recognized my family. I credit all of it to my family."

Mrs. Emfinger said, "There are times that have been trying, but it is a complete family effort. You really do get more by giving more."

The family will receive a letter of commendation and certificate of Recognition from the WESTCOM Commander.

Church Surprises Corinth Resident

Trick candles that wouldn't go out with any amount of blowing symbolized the 84 years of a longtime Corinth Community resident at a surprise birthday party this week.

Mr. Newt Hart, who always seems to have a word or deed of encouragement for people of the community, was surprised by a group of friends with a cake and a party after being asked to stop by the new fellowship hall at the Corinth Baptist Church, which was still being completed by community workers.

With the walls yet to be coated with paint, it was the first activity to be held in the new building and indicates the church members wish to see the building used.

church, Mr. Hart is on the staff of the East Cisco Baptist Church.

The people at the church have also been improving the grounds and Saturday, Feb. 19, has been set as a workday at the church and cemetery.

Interested individuals are asked to bring tools for cleaning the grounds or graves, along with a sack lunch, and to come spend the day.

The church is located on a county road just north off of Hwy 80 mid way between Eastland and Cisco and you are always invited to visit the services.

Look What Diet Center Did For Leroy Steinman

I came to Diet Center for help in losing weight because I was fed up with feeling tired all the time and I was having problems breathing. This is the only diet I have had success with. The food is good because I can season it. This is the only diet I have been on and didn't crave sweets, or was hungry. It would have been impossible to lose without my counselor, because she encouraged me, she took interest, she helped me plan different kinds of food, she took time to talk to me - I was never rushed. I was a person who needed and wanted help to her, and not just a number. The more weight I lost the more confidence she gave me to lose some more.

This is the smallest I've been in over fifteen years. I feel super, I feel younger, I can cross my legs, and tie my own shoes. My feet and legs don't hurt anymore because I don't have to carry all that extra weight around. I can go in any store, now, to buy my clothes instead of going to the big man's store.

I have lost 117 1/2 lbs. in 25 wks. and have gone from a 52 1/2 inch to a 34 inch waist.

Morton Valley Homemakers

Give To County 4-H Clubs

The Morton Valley Ext. Homemakers Club met Feb. 9, 1983, in the home of Dude Ramsey. In the absence of Edith Wilson, due to illness, the meeting was conducted by Mabel Wilson. Estelle Leach led the opening exercises.

It was voted to give $50.00 to the Eastland County 4-H Clubs to help in extending their programs. As Chairman of the Community Service Committee Dude Ramsey outlined the activities of the Ranger Hospital Auxiliary and plans were made to attend their fund raising covered dish luncheon Feb. 16. Pennies for Friendship were collected. This fund, or most of it, is used for Special Olympics for the Handicapped.

Janet Thomas, County Ext. Agent, brought the program, "Cleaning on a Shoestring", giving us many useful hints on how to save money on cleaning materials and still have pleasant and workable materials on hand.

Those attending were Mabel Garrett, Ora Roberts, Alice Brooks, Ada Tankersley, Bertha Asher, Betty Greer, Estelle Leach, Daisy Valiant, Dorothy Underwood, Leta Brockman, Helen Phillips, Luella Kitchens, Lee Funderburg, Roberta Bray, Janet Thomas and our hostesses, Dude Ramsey. Thoughts of our diets were thrown to the winds as we enjoyed German Chocolate Cake, Cherry Cobbler, coffee and tea.

No first visit to Dude's is complete without the mini tour of the guest house out back and those of us who had already seen it enjoyed another visit.

Next meeting will be held March 9, at the home of Mabel Garrett.

Spring And Water

It's late February and bulbs are beginning to send shoots up, reminding that Spring, and by extension, Summer, is just around the corner.

Summertime is the time when Eastland Counties begin to think W-A-T-E-R.

More so if the summer turns out to be filled with long periods of hot days and no rain. The area hasn't experienced that kind of summer in a number of years, but most can remember those summers "when it just never rained," and the temperatures "busted 100 every day." With the fickleness of Central Texas Weather, one never knows when these kind of summers will roll around.

It is during those periods that water delivery capability begins to falter. There's plenty of water in the lakes, but the facilities are strained to treat and deliver it during those long, hot summers. Pumps run around the clock in an effort to keep the storage tanks full, but given an unlucky main-line break, a bad fire or some such, it makes it almost an impossible task to get the tanks back up to a level to begin another day.

Eastland County Water Supply District and its Lake Leon was originally created to serve Ranger and Eastland, both of which have grown steadily. In addition, each of these entities now serves extended "sub-systems": Eastland - Carbon, Westbound, Staff and Olden; Ranger - Morton Valley and Staff. So the demands on the treatment and delivery systems have greatly expanded.

An engineering firm recommended in a commissioned study to the Water Board in 1981 that a "duplicate plant" be installed to increase the treatment and delivery capacity.

It was estimated by the board that to have implemented that recommendation (which also included some other suggestions) would have in effect "tripled the present water rate" to pay for the expansion.

This was of course primarily due to the high interest rates which such bonds would have required at that time.

In the same year, another firm recommended to the city of Eastland, among other things that a 12-inch pipeline be added from the plant to the city to improve pressure and volume. Costs at that time for the line was for some $770,000, the city didn't have it and it wasn't a good debt time for them either.

Cisco is served by Lake Cisco which is located north of the city. In especially dry summer months, it is sometimes requested of local citizens to be conservative in their uses of water; however, this does not mean the lake is close to running out of water.

Cisco presently has an engineering firm from Abilene in the process of finalizing plans for extensive water improvements for the city. Plans will include the construction of a filtration system and pumping improvements at the treatment plant located at Williamson Dam at Lake Cisco.

Further plans will call for substantial improvements in the water lines within the city of Cisco.

It is hoped the construction of all these improvements will be underway this summer, but until they are completed Cisco must continue along as it has in the past.

So mostly by good management, make-do and cooperative summers, the water flows well in Eastland County.

But we all need to remind ourselves that "being at the mercy" of the weather isn't the most comfortable place to be. All would join in hoping that needed improvements could be made (without financially costing everybody "an arm and a leg") so that when the really bugger-bear summers come, we'd still have good water flow, or on the positive side, should a large industry move in and say, "we need water, lots of it!" we'd be able to say:

"Where do you want it, and when do you want it turned on?"

Because we planned ahead during cool weather.

From The Proverbs

Chapter 1, 1-6.

The proverbs of Solomon the son of David, king of Israel;

To know wisdom and instruction; to perceive the words of understand;

To receive the instruction of wisdom, justice and judgment, and equity;

To give subtlety to the simple, to the young man knowledge and discretion.

A wise man will hear, and will increase learning; and a man of understanding shall attain unto wise counsels;

To understand a proverb, and the interpretations; the words of the wise, and their dark sayings.

Aeronautics Commission:

"On Feb. 3, 1983, the Director of Air Carrier Administration received a request from Eagle Commuter Airlines, Inc. to amend its certificate to delete the points of Eastland, Fort Worth and San Angelo.

So apparently Eagle, without much of an effort, is dropping Eastland from its routes.

The area needs a dependable service.

State Capitol Highlights Texas Press Association Lyndell Williams

AUSTIN—The lull that has characterized these opening weeks of the Legislature was unfortunately disturbed last week by a fire that ravaged the East Wing of the State Capitol.

The flames that destroyed the Lt. Governor's offices and apartment on the second floor licked around the door frames leading into the Senate chamber, but firefighters brought it under control and senators are still meeting in full session.

In fact, one of the Senate's first items of business last week was to approve an emergency appropriation of $7 million to rebuild the damaged heart of the Senate.

The appropriation was sponsored by Nacogdoches Sen. Roy Blake, who rushed 200 miles from his home to the scene of the early morning fire. On the way, he was stopped for speeding by a police officer, who didn't believe him when he explained the Capitol was burning. Finally, the officer relented, pocketed his ticket book, and let Blake journey on to Austin.

To observers who can maneuver past the Capitol guards to see the ruined wing, the blackened walls and ceilings, the memory of the one fatality and the near escape of others, and the destruction of 100 years of Texas tradition, the experience is grim.

Attorney General Jim

Mattox assigned outside experts to investigate the cause of the blaze, believed to be either a faulty electrical appliance or smoking materials.

Capitol Shanties

Two weeks ago, Gov. Mark White addressed national Democratic Party leaders in Washington, D.C., and underscoring his feelings about the recession, mentioned a shanty area in Austin just a few blocks away from the State Capitol.

After Austin police and Salvation Army officials professed no knowledge of his example, White a few days later led a group of reporters to the places 14 blocks from the Capitol where people live in makeshift shacks along creek beds and railroad tracks.

"You have to recognize that these things exist. When I say these things exist, I don't say it lightly," White said.

In January, the national unemployment rate decreased while Texas' rate increased to 8.2 percent, the first time that has happened in years, he said.

"No" To PUC

White also criticized the Public Utilities Commission's attempt to eliminate the controversial automatic fuel cost pass-through. Commission officials said their new emergency rule adopted last week would outlaw the pass-through, but White said "No."

State Capitol Fire

"I made it very clear when I said I wanted the fuel pass-through abolished. That's simple English. I don't want them to hide it. I want them to abolish it."

Battleship Texas

The Battleship Texas moored at the San Jacinto State Park near Houston is like "a slave galley," according to Galveston Rep. Lloyd Criss.

Criss blasted officials of the Battleship Texas Commission for consistently mistreating its employees and ignoring the safety of its workers and tourists.

He pointed out the case of one employee who was fired for reporting a leak in the ship's hull. The report was later confirmed and cost the state $70,000 to repair.

Criss has filed a bill to abolish the battleship commission and transfer control to the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Fee Proposal

Bryan Rep. Bill Presnal, chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, tried last week to for a compromise to the funding impasse which has developed between the House and Senate.

The Senate appears to favor a tax increase, the House appears adamantly opposed to one, and Presnal suggested a periodic, automatic increase for hundreds of state fees for permits, licenses and other services.

His legislation would be across-the-board increases according to an inflation-keyed formula. A new fee schedule could raise an extra $60 million.

Presnal said his bill could cut down "political demagoguery."

University Funding

A proposed constitutional amendment to create a fund for construction at universities not under the Permanent University Fund got a shot in the arm last week when White designated it emergency legislation.

Sponsors are now discussing whether to send the proposal, if it passes, to the voters for approval in May or November elections.

Adventist Pastor Against Reader's Digest Bible

The Reader's Digest edition of the Bible will probably not be used by Seventh-day Adventists, according to Paul Van Buren of Mineral Wells, who is Pastor of a District which includes Eastland County.

The problem with this condensed version of the Bible, according to the Church leader, is that too many key texts supporting Christian concepts have been deleted.

"The book does deserve high rating on readability," the Pastor says. "But the principal drawback, which I hope will be corrected, is the omission of a number of texts supporting important doctrinal subjects."

Van Buren and other Adventist Pastors in Texas agree with Bob Spangler, editor of the denomination's Ministry magazine, who says, "Adventists would prefer to struggle through 'begats' in the Chronicles rather than settle for the sharp-edged editing to which the Book of books has been subjected."

The Digest Bible's general editor, Dr. Bruce M. Metzger, said nothing had been removed that diminishes its spirit or teaching. Yet Adventists answer that 33 or 125 key doctrinal passages they identify with are missing or sufficiently changed to alter their meaning.

Adventists, who are creationists, do not find in Digest Bible that the Son "didst found the earth in the beginning, and the heavens are the work of his hands" (Hebrews 1:10, R.S.V.) Missing also is the warning that he who is deceived by wine (Proverbs 20:1) is not wise.

Church leaders are pleased to see that the Ten Commandments, the Beatitudes, the Lord's Prayer, and the twenty-third psalm escaped the scalpel. Missing are texts, however, which confirm that all thoughts cease at death (Psalm 146:4), and that those who die no longer possess love, hate, or envy. (Ecclesiastes 9:6)

It has been noted that the Reader's Digest editor apparently ignored the apostle John's warning to anyone who "shall add unto" or "shall take away from the words of the book of Revelation!"

As the Reader's Digest Bible becomes more readily available to the Eastland County public, there will undoubtedly be further comment from both Ministers and Church laymen in this area.

—CLIP & SAVE—

$2-4,000/Month Income With No Effort

In 1984, the Social Security contribution of self employed individuals will jump to a whopping 14% from the present 9.35%, with increases over the next few years to bring it up to over 15%. Employers and employees will also be hit with higher SS taxes. A self employed individual with a fairly profitable business will be paying almost $9,000 per year into this program - with little hope of any kind of return on his investment. But, let's take an average self-employed person or employee in the $35,000 per year salary range and show what, if by law, that contribution were placed in your name in an approved local lending institution in the private sector. Let's take the lowest rate of return now available - a passbook savings account. Your 1984 contribution at retirement (assuming you are 35 years old now and retire at age 65) would have increased to $446,505.93. If at retirement, you elected to leave your nest egg in that passbook savings account, you could draw the interest, which would amount to $2,300.68 each month for the rest of your life without touching the principal. The bureaucracy doesn't want you to know that.

If you were a little more astute and elected to try one of the 8% instruments, your nest egg would have increased to over $660,000.00, which would generate a monthly income of some $4,600.00 without touching the principal. That is in today's dollars, since your interest rate would actually move up and down with the general economic times - which would be far stronger with this large amount of capital available to the private sector.

The law was passed as a temporary solution to the Social Security problem. The only thing that can change the law is a constant inundation of mail to Congressmen and Senators. Don't think they don't listen to what their constituents are saying. While they will skirt the issues if they think they can get away with it and will listen to the highly organized special interest minorities rather than the less organized majority, don't think your letters don't count. It probably wouldn't count if yours were the only letter, but consider this - an apple has only a handful of seeds, but how many apples are in a seed?

Clip out this article, photocopy it, and give it to everyone you know. Without spending an extra cent, without changing your present savings program (if you have one), you can increase your retirement income by some $2,000.00 to $4,000.00 per month. The only effort required on your part is to make as many people aware of the facts as is possible.

Does The Eagle Fly?

Eagle Commuter Airlines came to Eastland County amidst one of the most county-wide welcomes every put together. Since that time the Brownwood-based firm has maintained a rather "low profile" of scheduling, costs, services as it's operated here. There's been precious little public pronouncement of services available, and from what is known, less attention to scheduling flights into and out of the county.

Police Arrest Migrant

A 27-year-old recent migrant from New York was jailed Wednesday as police investigated numerous bad checks written to merchants here and in Cisco and Ranger.

Police Chief Bobby Arriola said formal charges were expected to be filed Thursday in connection with a bad check given to a discount store here.

The suspect, a Bavaria, N.Y., man who recently moved to Eastland, was arrested Wednesday about 20 minutes after employees at Brittain's Discount Store discovered that a check written there was worthless.

According to employees at the store, after receiving the check, they placed a call to determine if it was good, as a routine precaution.

They saw the car still parked and wrote down the license plate number and a description of the car, and then proceeded to call the local police department.

Authorities theorized the man was preparing to leave the state, and officer David Sancillo arrested the suspect at a service station, Arriola said.

Arriola said other bad checks linked to the suspect also were passed to merchants here and in Cisco and Ranger during the past several days.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

While on a missionary tour in a distant land I saw a truck stuck in the mud. It was loaded with boys and girls.

But instead of getting out of the truck, the children stood where they were and pushed the cab. They almost pushed it off the frame, but they did not get out of the mud.

When you try to lift yourself by your own boot straps you are doing the same thing.

The only way to get out of the mud of your own mischief is by calling upon God.

That is what David did. He was stuck, and the Lord came to Him and the Lord gave him a lift, not a load; a blessing, not a burden.

David testified in the 40th Psalm, "I waited patiently for the Lord; and He inclined unto me, and heard me cry. He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings. And He hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God."

Stuck? Call on the Lord. He will lift you!

Senior Citizens Nutrition Menu

Dr. Paul Lachance, professor of nutrition and food science at Rutgers University, advises us that the most recent nationwide surveys indicate that the majority of Americans eat equal proportions from each of the four groups, thereby creating nutritional problems.

To develop sound nutrition, he suggests we adopt a new approach and eat twice the proportions of fruits and vegetables, and cereal grain foods as we do milk and milk products, and high protein foods.

"The whole idea of sound nutrition is to approach a good balance of nutrients and roughage while at the same time keeping a reasonable calorie count."

His advice is take off your clothes, weigh yourself, then stand sideways and look at your profile in the mirror. His assessment is that if you look fat, you are fat, unless of course, you are pregnant.

But he tells us that we should be grateful that the major sources of calories in our diet are in our own control, and we can decrease or increase our intake as we see fit.

The programs for the past week were: Fay and Jack Stephenson presented a Valentine musical program with Carolyn Sipe accompanying at the piano; the C&W Band presented a program; dinner music was provided by Marguerite King, Al Simms, and the S/C Choir and Band.

The menus for the week are:

Monday—barbecue beef on bun, pinto beans, carrot raisin cabbage salad with mayonnaise, baked custard, butter and drink.

Wednesday—chicken fried steak, cream gravy, corn, spinach, banana cake, bread, butter and drink.

Friday—roast beef, brown gravy, whipped potatoes, collard greens, cheese sticks, pineapple chunks, bread, butter and drink.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

George Washington's birthday arouses speculations on what he might advise were he living today.

His famous warning against permanent alliances with foreign nations has been violated in this century by the necessity of the wars we have fought and also by the leadership of the free world this country has inherited.

Our huge national debt resulting from the repeated deficits in our massive budgets violate his warning against a big public debt.

Perhaps had he lived now, he would not have warned against the maintenance of a large military establishment. He knew the value of protecting his own.

He praised the reciprocal checks of the Constitution . . . Something the Justice of the Supreme Court, with recent tendency to legislate as well as to interpret, might read with profit.

Publishers and all others engaged in the communications media would welcome his stress on the need for enlightened public opinion.

Perhaps his most needful advice in today's world is that "religion and morality lead to political prosperity."

Good advice then . . . good advice now . . . What do you think?

People n Things

LOOKING OVER the WWII aircraft relics and visiting the campus of the Marine Military Academy are two "musts" when you visit Harlingen in the Rio Grande (Local folks pronounce the "e") Valley.

The old military airplanes are, of course, owned by the nationally known Confederate Air Force Association, an organization founded by WWII aviation men soon after the war. An aim of the association was to obtain one or more of all types of airplanes that flew during WWII.

After you pay your $3 at the gate, you go through their museum that has many, many items used by the military during the war. There are uniforms, guns, maps, navigation equipment, and just about anything that might have been developed for the war years.

After the museum, you go into a theater that seats 100 or so and they show a movie that tells the Confederate Air Force story. It shows how many of their aircraft were salvaged from dumps and restored to flying condition.

The 20-minute movie is very interesting, and after you see it you are invited to tour the flight line and maintenance hangars to see the old airplanes. The airport area used by the Confederate Air Force used to be a military base and they've preserved many of the buildings that are now used by the association.

The Confederate Air Force frequently flies several airplanes of WWII vintage to air shows around the country. Association members, who include some of the big names of our country, spend their free time to maintain the old planes. They are flown by ex-pilots of WWII military services and younger pilots who have been taught to fly them.

A LARGE AREA of the old military base at Harlingen International Airport is now the campus of Marine Military Academy, an independent, non-profit college-preparatory boarding school for boys in grades 8 through 12 - the only school in the world with military leadership training based on the customs and traditions of the U.S. Marine Corps. They have some 500 students who received a full course of athletics and physical fitness training along with their classroom work. They're fully accredited by state and national educational associations. The school receives no state or federal financial support. Some 20% of the MMA graduates receive appointments to the three national services academies.

A FEATURE OF the old military base is the Marine Corps War Memorial, which was the original working model prepared by Dr. de Weldon for the casting of the bronze memorial in Arlington Cemetery in Washington, D.C. - the famous flag raising inspired by the Marines on Mount Suribachi, an extinct volcano on Iwo Jima. This incident took place in 1945 after U.S. troops recaptured most of the territory taken by the Japanese in 1941 and 1942.

The story goes that the famous flag raising picture was taken by a photographer that won for him a Pulitzer prize for news photography. After the picture was released, Sculptor Felix W. de Weldon was so moved by the scene that he constructed a scale model within 48 hours, which became the symbol for the 7th and final war bond drive.

After the war, the sculptor spent some nine years to prepare a working model from molding plaster. Some of the men in the flag raising scene posed for the sculpture. Once the statue was completed in plaster, it was carefully disassembled and trucked to Brooklyn, N.Y. for casting in bronze. This took three years. The bronze was trucked to Washington and assembled. President Eisenhower dedicated it in 1954 on the Marine Corps' 179th anniversary.

In 1981, the sculptor donated the original working model to the Marine Academy. It has been assembled and stands facing a chapel. The 32-foot high figures are shown erecting a 78-foot steel flag pole from which a cloth flag flies 24 hours a day. No public funds were used on the project, which was paid for by former military men.

You are given an opportunity to make a contribution to the upkeep of the memorial, and they give you a folder that tells its story.

You'll want to spend several minutes admiring the memorial. Its base is made of black granite. Buried in gold on the granite are the names and dates for every principal Marine Corps engagement since the founding of the Corps.

Inscribed on the base is the tribute of Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz to the fighting men on Iwo Jima: "Uncommon valor was a common virtue."

You'll want to see the memorial next time you're in the valley.
