

HALL OF REMARKS

BY HERREL HALLMARK

CISCO FANS who attended the Thursday night games in Tuscola were rained on in the Junior Varsity game. A slight rain started in the final quarter of play and came down for a while, but never very hard.

Some rain fell throughout the drive back to Cisco, but it was never hard enough to really do any good, except make our car look extra dirty.

SPEAKING OF rain, the Cisco area was forecast to have the chance of receiving some rain on Friday and Saturday, but as of Friday noon no rain had fallen. Clouds seemed to roll throughout the area during the day but failed to drop any much wanted moisture.

Area peanut farmers are busy this time of year digging their crops, combining and baling hay. Most prospects for quite a bit of hay to be made, although the local forecast for peanuts is slim.

Some irrigated crops near Carbon have turned out some very good peanuts in large quantities.

HOPEFULLY BY the time you read this, the Cisco High School Lobos will be advancing to the play-offs following their game against Jim Ned Friday night. If Cisco beat Jim Ned and Winters beat Albany, then Winters is the winner of the district and Cisco is the runner-up.

If Winters happened to be beaten by Albany and Cisco defeated Jim Ned, then their will have to be a coin flip to determine who the winner is, since the district race will be knotted in a three way tie between Cisco, Winters and Albany.

Hopefully, this did not happen. It is hard to write what the results may be of Friday night's game since this column was written by Friday at noon; however, I hope that Cisco is in the play-offs.

No matter what the outcome of Friday night's games, the Lobos of Cisco High School, along with their coaches, should be very proud of the way their team has shaped up this year. Their district and season records are very good.

Congratulations Lobos on a winning season.

CISCO VISITORS - Last Friday Paul Warren and A.P. Warren stopped in Cisco, on their way home to Alabama from a hunting trip in Utah, to see what they could learn about the Santa Claus Bank Robbery of December 23, 1927. Paul (shown at left) is the great-grandson of Cisco Police Chief Bit Bedford who was shot and killed during the hold-up. A.P. (right) is married to the former Sara Bedford, granddaughter of Chief Bedford. They are shown standing by the plaque on the front of the former First National Bank building at 708 Conrad Hilton Avenue. The plaque tells about the robbery. (staff photo)

Evening Lions To Bring 'Magic Of Christmas'

The "Magic of Christmas" is in the air... and that just happens to be the name of the show the Evening Lions' Club is bringing to Cisco on Dec. 10, at 7:00 p.m. Mr. Clyde Sublett, project chairman, said "We are excited about the show and feel it will be one of the better shows ever to come to our town and are proud to be a part of it."

The "Magic of Christmas" is a fun-filled 90 minutes. A clown will get things rolling with crazy antics. Singers will lead the audience in Christmas carols and sing specialty numbers. Next we have the world famous 'Fred Cowan Puppeteers' with a fantastic Mexican puppet show. A magician will amaze and amuse you and "magically" produce Santa who will conduct a drawing to give some lucky boy or girl a video game or one of the other prizes. As the kids

Water & Sewer Projects Studied At Public Meet

The City of Cisco is under a court order to build a new waste-water facility and it will be built regardless of the outcome of the November 19th bond election.

This fact was emphasized by Mayor Eris Ritchie and City Manager Mike Moore during a town hall meeting Tuesday night at Cisco High School auditorium when the upcoming bond issue was the topic of discussion. All members of the city council were present along with some 50 citizens.

The 91st District Court decreed at a recent hearing in litigation brought by the State of Texas that the city's raw water disposal plant was inadequate and must be replaced. This was part of the judgement that included a $7,000 fine against the city for water pollution.

Mr. Moore said the city has not been threatened but that in cases elsewhere the state has stepped in to make necessary improvements when local communities failed to do so. The state could put the city in receivership, make the improvements and force the city to assume the costs, Mr. Moore said.

Mayor Ritchie and councilmen agreed that "we in Cisco can do the job better and more cost effective" by approving the bond issue and getting on with the project.

Ciscoans will vote on the issuance of $100,000 in bonds to supplement funds provided in the 1982 election for a water filtration plant and water system improvements and $875,000 in bonds to complete financial requirements to build the new sewer and waste-water facility.

Joe Smith of Abilene, an official of the First Southwest Company of Dallas who is serving as the city's financial consultant, told the meeting that with the 8.3 per cent interest rate "you have the best possible financing arrangement for your improvement program."

Engineer Billy Jacob of the Abilene firm of Jacob and Martin was present to answer questions about both the waste-water and water system projects. He said the filtration plant and system project would begin in the coming week as contracts have been let.

Mr. Jacob said that the site for the waste-water facility is expected to be known prior to the November 19th election. Engineering details, he said, are due to be ready for the city council to approve a site at their Nov. 9th meeting. The city has under option a site east of town and has been studying an alternate site.

The meeting opened with Mayor Ritchie outlining the city's program for improving water quality and quantity and for building the new waste water facility. Financing for the water improvements was provided in an election in April, 1982, when citizens voted 2 to 1 in favor of a bond issue.

There is a possibility that all of the funds will not be needed for the new sewage disposal plant, it was pointed out. The city is asking for a federal grant to help pay for the plant and obtaining some grant money is not impossible, officials said. There is also a possibility of saving money in construction costs, they said.

City officials emphasized that "we are dedicated to using the most cost effective methods in our improvement program." "Cost effective" was defined as "the cheapest price for adequate work with no frills."

Several questions were directed at the water rate ordinance section that gives city employees and firemen 10,000 gallons of water instead of 2,000 for the minimum price. This, city officials said, has been a long-time practice as a fringe benefit - similar to practices of other utilities for their employees.

"Our firemen work without compensation and giving them a break on water is a small reward for service rendered," Mayor Ritchie said. He added that the water could be regarded as part of their salary for city employees "who are certainly not over-paid for their work."

CHS Jr. Varsity Ends Season With 16-12 Loss To Jim Ned

Cisco High School's Junior Varsity team ended their season Thursday night in Tuscola with a 16-12 loss to the Jim Ned Indians. Cisco's district record is 4-3 while their season record is 4-5.

Jim Ned put the first points on the scoreboard when their kick-off return squad picked up a loose ball deep in Cisco's territory and carried it into the end zone. The ball was fumbled when Cisco's Shelby Nixon slipped as he attempted to punt the ball on a fourth down for Cisco.

A handoff for two extra points following the touchdown gave Jim Ned an 8-0 lead with 5:33 left in the first quarter of play.

With 1:02 remaining in the first half of play, Cisco took over possession of the ball at Jim Ned's 26-yard line when the Cisco defense stopped a fake punt play short of a first down. On their second play from scrimmage, Cisco center Brian Nichols appeared to snap the ball to quarterback John Gonzales who started running.

The center fell on the ground at the line of scrimmage. After Jim Ned had started pursuing Cisco's quarterback, guard Deadman picked up the ball, which had been hidden by the center, and ran into the end zone for a touchdown. A pass for two extra points fell incomplete making the score 8-6 in favor of Jim Ned with 48 seconds remaining until the half.

Cisco's Teddy Hull recovered a Jim Ned fumble late in the third quarter of play at Cisco's 15-yard line to stop a Jim Ned threat and set up a Cisco drive. Danny Kearney picked up six yards on a carry to place the ball at Cisco's 21. Quarterback Steve Abbott kept the ball on the next play and appeared to be stopped by Jim Ned, but he spun around breaking their tackles and raced to the goal line for a touchdown.

With the third quarter ending as the play got underway, Cisco's touchdown was scored with 00:00 showing on the scoreboard. The try for two extra points, a handoff to Kearney, was stopped short of the goal line giving Cisco a 12-8 lead as the final quarter of play began.

On a fourth down from Cisco's own 28-yard line, punter Nixon prepared to punt the ball but a bad snap from center sailed over his head. Nixon chased the ball back into the end zone where he attempted to run it out, but he was tackled there by Jim Ned for a safety. With 4:45 remaining in the game, Cisco still maintained a 12-10 lead.

Jim Ned took over the lead with 2:41 left in the game on a two-yard run. Their try for two extra points was no good making the final score 16-12 in favor of the Indians.

On their ensuing possession of the ball, Cisco put together a good drive and threatened to score again before the end of the game. Starting out on their own 38, Cisco moved the ball downfield in ten plays to Jim Ned's 32-yard line. Pass receptions by Nixon, Dusty Deitiker and James Berry moved the ball, along with runs by Abbott and Kearney.

On their final offensive play of the game, Cisco QB Gonzales completed a pass to Abbott which appeared to be enough for a first down, but game officials ruled it was not and turned the ball over to Jim Ned at the Indians' 24-yard line with only 23 seconds remaining in the game.

Good defensive plays were made for Cisco by Michael Wester, Brian Nichols, James Deadman, Danny Kearney, John Gonzales, Dusty Deitiker, James Berry, Teddy Hull, Steve Abbott, Scott Rourts, Kelly Darr, Brett McMillan, Jeff Dennis and Robert Rains.

Junior High Football Teams Lose To Jim Ned Thursday

Cisco Junior High football teams lost both of their games Thursday night to the Jim Ned Indians of Tuscola. The seventh grade score was 18-0 while the eighth grade lost 26-8.

With Jim Ned being the final opponent of the season, Cisco's seventh grade ended their season record at 1-5 and the eighth grade at 0-8.

In the seventh grade game, Jim Ned scored twice in the first half of play, but both extra point attempts failed, making the half-time score 12-0.

Jim Ned scored again in the final quarter of play on a one-yard run into the end zone. Again the try for two was no good, giving Jim Ned an 18-0 lead with 3:06 left in the game.

Cisco's offense was not able to sustain a drive long enough to get any points on the scoreboard.

Defensively, Cisco standouts included Greg Hammer, Kody Wallace, Doug Whitt, Keith Wilson, Shone Melton, Benny Ramirez and Chris Wylie.

In the eighth grade game, both teams battled to a scoreless first quarter of play. Cisco scored in the second quarter for their only touchdown of the game. Jim Ned scored twice in the second quarter, once in the third quarter and once in the final quarter of play.

Cisco's sole touchdown of the game was the result of a drive which originated on Cisco's 29-yard line when Cisco received the kick from Jim Ned following a three-yard touchdown run. Jim Ned's pass for two extra points was incomplete making the score 6-0 with 7:36 left in the second quarter.

From their own 29, Cisco began moving the ball downfield. Runs by Mark McGinness, Brian Wagon, Andy Woody and quarterback Jarrod Jeffcoat placed the ball on Jim Ned's seven-yard line in thirteen plays. A handoff to McGinness and Cisco had tied the score at 6-6. Another handoff to McGinness for two extra points put Cisco in the lead at 8-6 with 54 seconds remaining in the second quarter.

Jim Ned received the ensuing kick-off at their own 21 and returned it to Cisco's 31-yard line before being stopped. On their second play from scrimmage, the Indians scored on a 15-yard run. This time the pass for two extra points was complete, giving Jim Ned back a 14-8 lead with 32 seconds still left in the first half of play.

Jim Ned's next touchdown was on a 14-yard pass play. The run for two extra points was stopped making the score 20-8 with 26 seconds left in the third quarter of play.

The final points of the game were added to the scoreboard by Jim Ned on a three-yard run. The try for two extra points was no good, making the final score 26-8 with 3:51 remaining in the game.

Good defensive plays were made by Mark McGinness, Gordon Davis, David Reyes, Rodney Ledbetter, Andy Woody, Jerry Feiner, Jarrod Jeffcoat, Brian Wagon, Tim Rains, Joe Flores, Robert Webb, Jason Phillips, Shannon Berry, Jeff Hohertz and David Robertson.

Lights From The Christian World

Josephine Cleveland

The book, CHRISTIAN IN COMPLETE ARMOUR, was written by William Gurnell who is considered to be one of the godly men of his day. Although he penned this book over 300 years ago, it still speaks with tremendous power.

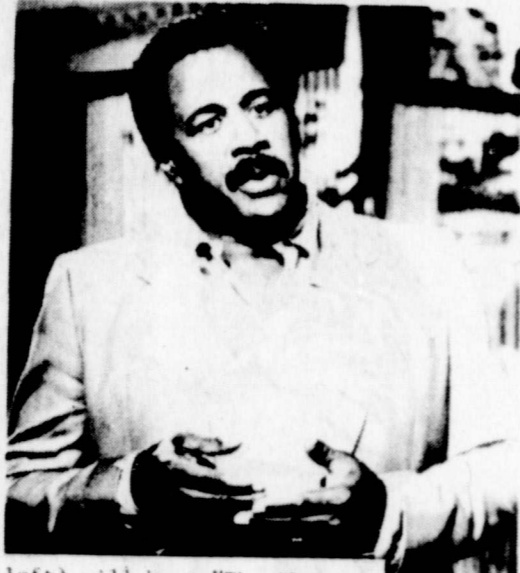

"Satan", he wrote, "with all his wits and wiles, shall never defeat a soul armed with true grace." Look to the Word; there is no record of a nation or saint sifted and winnowed by this enemy who did not come off with an honorable victory.

King David, Job and Paul were tried and tested yet never defeated. Their victories are attributed to God. In Christ the weak are as strong as the strongest. They seemed to be so overmatched; yet so unconquerable. The reason for their victory is their continued faith in Christ, their Redeemer and Sustainer. They knew that "According to their deeds, accordingly he will repay, fury to his adversaries, recompense to his enemies; to the islands he will repay recompense. So shall they fear the name of the Lord from the west, come in like a flood, the spirit of the Lord shall lift up a standard against him." Isaiah 59:18-19.

Senior Citizens Nutrition Menu

Did you see the hundreds of cars surrounding the Senior Center in Cisco, last Monday? Did you see the many, many costumes that the members of the Center wore when they entered the Center?

Over 260 people attended the Halloween Party that was conducted by the Senior Centers of Eastland, Cisco and Rising Star.

Many 90-year-old people attended the party and luncheon. Scores of 80 plus participated in the activities.

The programs for the past week included: Music by Vida Killion and Marguerite King, the Cisco and Eastland Senior Center choirs and the Cisco and Rising Star bands. Ima Ruth Taylor and Milton Hunt from Eastland, who were at one time in old Minnistrail Shows, sang and played many of the old Al Jolson songs. Those who had birthdays and anniversaries were honored. The Hamilton Band played during the week. Also many of the members of the Center participated in the Senior Citizens Bazaar in Eastland. The menus for the coming week will be:

MONDAY--Shepherd's pie with beef, mustard greens, succotash, gingerbread, bread, butter and drink.

WEDNESDAY-- Beef brisket/barbecue sauce, potatoes, mixed vegetables, chocolate pudding, bread, butter and drink.

FRIDAY-- Beef stew, applesauce, gingerbread, cornbread, butter and drink.

Friend To Friend

by Jim Hatcher
 Cisco Church of Christ

Some time ago I watched a television program that horrified me. The program dealt with the problem of adult children abusing their elderly parents.

As I deal with my own parents and the precious elderly of the congregation I serve, it is beyond my imagination as to how anyone could abuse those who have contributed so much.

Almighty God said, "Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honor the face of the old man, and fear thy God" (Leviticus 19:32). Paul in writing to the young preacher Timothy said, "Rebuke not an elder, but exhort him as a father" (1 Timothy 5:1) ourselves as young should look to the elderly and thank God for them. We MUST consider the fact that someday we too shall become old and should treat the elderly as we would like to be treated when that time comes.

We who may still count

In my reading this week I discovered these beautiful "Beattitudes for Friends of the Aged." Let me share them with you. "Blessed are they who understand my faltering step and palsied hand -- Blessed are they who know that my ears today must strain to catch the things they say -- Blessed are they who seem to know that my eyes are dim and my wits are slow -- Blessed are they who look away when coffee spilled at the table today -- Blessed are they with a cheery smile who stop to chat for just awhile -- Blessed are they who never say you've told that story twice today -- Blessed are they who know the ways to bring back memories of yesterdays -- Blessed are they who make it known that I'm loved, respected and not alone -- Blessed are they who know I'm at a loss to find the strength to carry the cross -- Blessed are they who ease the days on my journey Home in loving ways."

Maybe it would be good for us all to memorize these Beattitudes for the elderly and put them into practice. If we will, just maybe someday they will be practiced upon us.

God bless our senior citizens!
 See you next week.

Giving poor quality hay a "shot of ammonia" can make it a better product, but producers need to be aware of recent problems with sorghum hay treated with ammonia.

Research studies have shown that treating hay with anhydrous ammonia—called hay ammonia—will increase its protein level, digestibility and intake and thereby boost animal performance.

However, recently problems have developed in cattle that were fed ammoniated sorghum hay. The animals become wild and irritable and several died or were sacrificed due to the severity of their injuries. Once the ammoniated sorghum hay was removed, the cattle displayed no further symptoms.

Evidence is mounting that under certain conditions, ammonia reacts with sugar in sorghum plants to produce a toxin which adversely affects cattle. No problems have been reported where low-sugar materials such as small grain straw, corn stubble or bermudagrass hay have been ammoniated and fed.

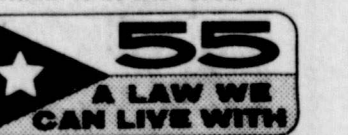

Producers who have ammoniated or plan to ammoniate sorghum type materials should put their plans on hold and not treat their hay or feed treated hay until researchers have time to fully identify the nature of the problem.

In addition to avoiding ammoniation of sorghum type materials, producers should also avoid treating very low quality roughage. Ammoniation will not improve the feeding value of such poor material enough to make up the animal's total diet. If an animal does not get enough energy to convert ammonia nitrogen to bacterial protein, non-protein nitrogen (NPN) toxicity could develop. This can be avoided by feeding some grain or high quality forage along with the ammoniated product.

Producers should be cautious when ammoniating hay because ammonia can form flammable and explosive mixtures with air and within the limits of 16 to 27 percent of ammonia by volume. So forage should be treated in well-ventilated areas downwind from confined livestock or residents. The tank and controls should also be upwind from hay stacks, and the individual uncovering treated stacks should be upwind. Operators should wear goggles or a face shield, respirator and gloves, and have plenty of water available upwind to wash any body part exposed to ammonia.

Treating hay with ammonia (3 percent by weight) has increased crude protein values from 4 to 14 percent, improved digestibility by 10 to 15 percent, and increased forage intake 15 to 20 percent. All this has boosted livestock performance at a cost of about $6.50 to $7 per ton of hay.

So, the practice can pay with certain materials. But certain precautions are important and some questions remain to be answered.

Homemaking Hints

County Extension Agent

Janet Thomas

November marks the start of festivities that run throughout the holidays. For many, choosing the entree for a special holiday meal means simply selecting a turkey.

Turkeys are an excellent buy because they are relatively low in cost per pound and a high yield in tender meat. Turkeys are lower in fat content and calories than most other meats. Protein in poultry contains all the essential amino acids in good balance. These nutrients build and repair body tissue.

Today turkeys are among our safest most carefully controlled foods. All birds must pass a rigid processing plant inspection by the USDA officials.

The correct method to thaw a turkey is to thaw the bird in the refrigerator. A large bird will take 2 to 3 days for refrigerator thawing. To shorten the time, turkeys sealed in watertight wrappers may be thawed in cold water. Change the water often and allow 2 to 6 hours, depending on the size of the bird. Frozen turkeys and turkey parts need to be cooked soon after thawing.

Now, let's cook the turkey. The popular way is the dry heat roasting method.

Grease skin of bird with softened fat. Place breast up on rack in shallow pan. Do not add water and do not cover. Place in preheated oven set at a proper temperature or timetable. Baste with fat from bottom of pan during baking or cover the top and sides of bird with a loosely woven cloth which has been moistened in fat. Moisten cloth with fat from the bottom of pan if cloth dries during cooking.

Some women favor the method of cooking their turkey in foil. The distinct advantage of foil roasting is shortened cooking time. However, the meat has a more steamed flavor then when by dry heat. You can open the foil during the last 30 minutes of cooking so the bird will brown.

How do you tell when the turkey is done? To test doneness, a roast meat thermometer placed in the center of the inside thigh muscle of thickest part of the breast muscle should register approximately 185 degrees F. If stuffing is used, it should register 165 degrees F. at the same time. Poultry is done when thickest part of drumstick feels very soft when pressed between protected fingers.

Some favorite recipes to compliment your turkey are old fashioned cornbread stuffing and giblet gravy.

CORNBREAD STUFFING

9 cups cornbread crumbs
1 cup fat
1 cup chopped onion
4 cups chopped celery
7 cups of bread cubes
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons poultry seasoning

Use 2-to-4 day old light bread for bread cubes, or dry out bread in the oven. Cut into cubes. Cook onion and celery in fat over low heat until onion is soft but not browned, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, blend seasoning with bread crumbs and cubes. Add the onion, celery and fat. Pour liquid and eggs gradually over the surface, stirring lightly. Add more seasoning as desired. Stuffing for a 14-18 pound turkey.

VARIATIONS

1. The proportion of cornbread and light bread may vary to suit taste. Light bread and biscuit or cornbread may be combined.

2. Giblet stuffing: Simmer giblets until tender. Chop and brown in the fat before adding onion and celery.

3. Parsley stuffing: Add ½ cup finely chopped parsley to bread with seasonings.

4. Oyster stuffing: Cook 1 to 2 pints of oysters in oyster liquid until edges curl. Add to bread with seasonings. Include oyster liquid as part of liquid in stuffing. Chop oysters if they are large.

5. Pecan stuffing: Add 2 cups pecans to bread and seasonings.

6. Mushroom stuffing: Add two 6-ounce cans broiled sliced mushrooms, drained.

7. Chestnut stuffing: Add one cup sliced chestnuts or ½ pound boiled chestnuts, coarsely sieved.

Food Preparation Seminar Offered

The County Extension Office and the Texas 4-H Center will offer a one day seminar on quantity food preparation for employees of school cafeterias, hospital kitchens, senior citizen food services, day care centers, and others interested in quantity cookery.

The seminar will include a Review of Nutrition, Food Preparation to Retain Nutrients, Texture and color, Efficient Use of Equipment, Cost Effectiveness of New Service, Recipes for New Dishes, and Group Session on Feeding Children, Feeding Older Citizens, and Developing Culinary Skill for a Profit.

GIBLET GRAVY

Chopped giblets
3 tablespoons pan drippings
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups water, broth or milk
Salt and pepper
Sliced hard cooked eggs, if desired

Cover giblets with water and simmer in a covered saucepan until tender. Drain the giblets and chop. Pour the pan drippings into a bowl leaving the brown residue in the roasting pan. Let fat rise to the top and skim off. The meat juice under the fat should be used as part of the liquid. Place 3 tablespoons of the fat back in the roasting pan. Add flour and blend well. If desired, brown the fat and flour slightly giving additional color and flavor. Add all liquid at once. Cook, stirring constantly until uniformly thickened. Season to taste. Add chopped giblets and sliced hard boiled eggs.

THE CHEMICAL PEOPLE

Did "The Chemical People" mean to include Eastland County when it gave shocking statistics about a society with epidemic-proportion alcohol and drug abuse?

Could it be that Eastland County public school students are among the millions who use alcohol, marijuana, amphetamines, sedatives, LSD and cocaine daily?

The film was shown nation-wide Wednesday evening over PBS Station 13, and the event was publicized in advance with school assignments, official proclamation and in many areas, group viewing sessions. Parents were encouraged to watch the film with their children.

Shocking were the statistics from a nine-year survey made by the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Commission in connection with the University of Michigan.

A second segment will be shown, Wednesday, Nov. 9, beginning at 8 p.m. It will deal with what citizens can do to combat the widespread use and abuse of alcohol and drugs.

"Denial is the biggest problem," the program brought out: parents find it easier to deny that there is a problem than to attempt to deal with it; and children deny to themselves that they have a dependency problem and that their very being can and is being harmed by the abuse of drugs.

Acceptance of the fact that there is a problem is the first step to correcting it, the film pointed out.

"Kids just don't know the facts," an authority said. "If their bodies are not physically damaged by abuse, they will be affected psychologically: they just don't grow up."

The four stages of abuse are experimentation, regular use, early abuse and finally, dependency."

One 12-year-old, "In order to feed my habit, I had three choices: hook, deal or steal." She chose to hook on the streets of Chicago.

A physician explained the use of marijuana can result in the loss of volume of the brain.

An active People Against Dangerous Drugs Committee in Eastland County has already established that there is a problem here and has for months attempted to bring that information to the public and to work with school, law enforcement officers, courts and all others in effort to stem the tide of drug abuse in this county. Progress has been made - but, there's a lot more to do.

As long as one kid is hooked, there's a problem. (Six youths from this county have been sent to the Drug Rehabilitation Center in Vernon.)

What can the average citizen do?

Maybe take the P.A.D.D. approach: don't try to place blame or fret too much about what happened in the past, but get busy working with P.A.D.D., schools, lawmen, courts and all others today to help put a stop to the problem.

How long has it been since you talked to your police chief, school superintendent, county judge or your own children about alcohol and drug abuse?

Parents can also plan to watch the next installment: Wednesday, Nov. 9, 8 p.m. Channel 13 - with their children.

More information may be obtained from MTI Box 1231 Northbrook, Ill., 60062. Is it here? You know it is.

To Meet

The Eastland County Welfare Board will meet on Monday, Nov. 7, at 10 a.m. in the Commissioner's Courtroom on the second floor of the Eastland County Courthouse. All members have been urged to attend.

Lions' Eye Bank Helps Local Woman See

A local woman has reason to be interested in The Central Texas Lions Eye Bank, organized in 1973 by Dr. Richardson Cunningham, Scott and White Hospital's chief of ophthalmology, and the Central Texas Lions Club.

Mrs. Nell Hightower of Eastland has had corneal transplants on both eyes, and is doing "just fine." The cornea on her left eye was transplanted during surgery in December, 1981. Surgery on her right eye was performed Aug. 1, 1983.

Corneal transplants begin in 1979 after Dr. Thomas E. Runyan joined the Scott and White hospital staff. Since then 100 corneal transplants have been done and some patients are waiting now on the graft list for donors, according to Mary Freiling, eye bank director.

The following is from an article printed in the Temple paper which Mrs. Hightower wanted to share.

Mrs. Freiling said, "Each time a donor's eyes are used for corneal transplants, two people receive a transplant. Even if a person needs two transplants, they will be done at the same time. This lessens the chances of corneal rejection.

"Donors may be of any age, and even if a person has eye problems and wears glasses he would be an acceptable donor, because not all eye problems affect the cornea. The cornea is a clear tissue covering the eye. In a corneal transplantation, the clear portion of the damaged eye is exchanged with the clear portion of a donor eye," she said.

Estimates predict this procedure could restore sight in between 15 and 20 percent of the blind patients in America. Even though the technique is possible, 30,000 people remain blind because of lack of donor eyes, Charles Hollinger, president of the Central Texas Eye Bank, said.

"All the Scott and White emergency medical technicians and other emergency room personnel, doctors and nurses on the floors are aware of the donor program at Scott and White. In the case of a dying patient, they would be approaching the family and are trained to recognize which families would be approachable," Freiling said.

"Not all are. Asking for a donor transplant is a sensitive subject and some families are so devastated by the death, they cannot be approached. That's why we don't ask each family and why we don't have enough donors for those needing the surgery," she said.

"The big problem is fear and misinformation, for when the eye is removed, there is no disfigurement. We could have a million donor cards upstairs in the eye bank, but unless the next of kin also is aware of the deceased's request and agrees to it in writing, nothing can be done," Freiling said.

inger said.

"We all realize the emotional trauma a family feels when a family member dies, but it might help to know the enucleation—removing the eye for a transplant, is a technical procedure that in no way disfigures the donor," she said.

Cecil Johnson, first vice president of the Central Texas Eye Bank and a former mortician, authorized to remove corneas for transplants, commented, "Even in an open casket service, it would not be possible to detect a cornea transplant had been done—for there is no disfigurement at all."

If the cornea is not taken at the hospital, but is removed elsewhere, Lions Club members assist in taking it to the hospital. After the enucleation, it is placed in a small vial in a special solution and packed in ice for the trip to Scott and White.

"If, in special cases, a cornea must come from out of state, commercial pilots and private charters volunteer their service free to help the Lions Club transport corneas in a matter of hours.

"Corneas should be removed within four to six hours after death, but once it gets to the eye bank and is placed in a controlled, refrigerated solution, it will last up to 72 hours.

"In the last ten years, I have only participated in four or five cornea transplants for the Central Texas Eye Bank. It isn't done on a routine basis, because even with the urgent need, donors are not always available," Johnson said.

"The problem comes with securing permission from next of kin. Even if the deceased had signed a donor card before death, the next of kin doesn't usually remember it until the next day. By then, it is too late.

"Because of the time involved, when death happens violently in an accident or on the highway, there's not a chance, because usually the next of kin doesn't have possession of the body until it is released by the coroner. There are lots of reasons why we don't have more donors.

"The best answer is to educate the public—for more people to understand donors need to have their wishes understood and accepted by all family members prior to death," he said.

At the same time Mrs. Hightower had the corneal transplant on her right eye last August, a young woman, Pam Kirschner, from Killeen underwent the same procedure. In fact, their corneas were from the same donor.

Mrs. Kirschner, mother of two sons, ages 10 and 5, had had cornea transplants on both eyes. A portion of her story follows:

"Before the first surgery, I had good vision some days and some days not. I stayed on an emotional rollercoaster—not knowing how well I would see one day to the next.

"Because my eyes were getting worse, I had to give up all the things I loved. Because I couldn't read music anymore I had to give up helping in the church choir, and I couldn't teach my Sunday School class, because I couldn't read to prepare a lesson.

"I always prayed to cope with the problem, but in January 1982 I asked my husband, Randy, why we just prayed to cope, why not pray for a miracle?

"I really believed one morning I would wake up, look over at the clock on our bedside table, see the clock and know what time it was. I really believed I would, but it didn't happen that way. God performed his miracle through the Lions International Central Texas Eye Bank and the Scott and White Eye Department. His answer to my prayer was to put me on the graft list.

"During my first surgery, I was sedated with IV's and local anesthetics, but was alert and attentive to what the surgeons and nurses were saying around me. When they took out the old cornea, everything went gray. When they put the new cornea in place, even before it was sutured in, I could see the grid on the microscope light above my eye. I went from a blurred light to a bright, distinct vision. I don't know what my heart and pulse rate was then, but I know it was because I was pretty excited."

"Since donors' names and their families' names are always kept confidential, I do not know who the donor was. I do know it was a young person, because I was told for these grafts the donor had to be a young person close to my age.

"Sometimes, even if a person wants to have his organs donated to medicine or for transplants his wishes are not followed if remaining family members feel too strongly against it.

"I believe, though, the whole key is to let people know what is involved, and my part is to help educate people by letting them know how much being able to see again means to me," she said.

"When I donate these corneas again to the eye bank their records are so complete they'll be able to trace the history of how long these eyes have lived."

Christian Scientist To Speak On Healing

"The movement to Christian healing is being led by an improved concept of God and His creation," remarks Bruce Fitzwater of Portland, Oregon, in a lecture he will give on Monday, Nov. 7, 1983. Sponsored by Christian Science Society of Breckenridge the Fitzwater lecture, "The Logical Certainty of Christian Science Healing", will be given at 8:00 p.m. in Christian Science Church at 401 S. McAmis, Breckenridge.

The lecturer looks to Christ Jesus as setting the clearest, most consistent example of spiritual healing. Referring to Jesus as "the master Christian healer," Mr Fitzwater notes, "Even with all the wonders of modern technology, there has never been a more certain healer than Jesus." An examination of "Jesus" biblical explanation of his healing power," is included in the lecture.

Quoting from the Bible (New English version), the lecturer points to these words of Jesus in the Gospel of John "God is the source of my being, and from him I come."

That source, Mr. Fitzwater explains, that infinite, loving creative Mind, is what Paul later referred to as the "mind of Christ." "This is what Christian Scientists mean by acknowledging God as the source of every man's real condition and perception," Mr. Fitzwater says.

"God is man's true Mind."

During the course of his lecture, Mr. Fitzwater notes several cases where clearer concepts of God resulted in healing and regeneration.

Active in his church's Christian healing practice for a number of years, Mr. Fitzwater recently was appointed to the denomination's Board of Lectureship.

First Industrial Arts Club Observes Diamond Jubilee Thursday

A program honoring all living past presidents of the First Industrial Arts Club was presented Thursday morning at the Club House. Also honored were the other members who have served in the club in some special way.

This was the 75th Anniversary of the First Industrial Arts Club, the Diamond Jubilee.

President Ruby Pirtle welcomed 22 members and 2 guests, Mrs. Jamison and Mrs. Clova Bryson, Heart of Texas District President. Merle Guyger led the group in repeating Collect and Pledges to the Flag. Members sang the Federation song accompanied by Mrs. Lynn Williams. Mrs. Pirtle gave an interesting talk on the Federations projects and the accomplishments of the club this past year.

Program Chairman Helen Hounshell welcomed all past living presidents. They are: Mrs. W.W. Wallace, Mrs. H.A. Bible, Mrs. E.L. Jackson, Mrs. W.V. Gardenhire, Mrs. O.L. Stamey, Mrs. Wallace McCarver, Mrs. T.L. Carter, Mrs. Henry Fry and Mrs. Robert Cole. Their names have been sent in to Austin to be placed in the Golden Book Historical Foundation. Each one told some of the highlights of their two years in office. Then each past president was presented with a certificate and a candle was lit for them.

The group was invited to a beautifully decorated table where refreshments were served by Sue Taylor, Lou Schurp and Bessie Fields. The club works with this quote by James Oliver in mind, "The world is blessed most by men who do things and not by those who merely talk about them."

Kendrick's Will Build Realistic Noah's Ark

An added venture of the Kendrick Religious Pageant "The Life of Christ",

Youngsters Are Invited To Join CJC Drill Team

Cisco public school students in grades 1 through 6 have been invited to join the Cisco Junior College "Lil' Wranglers' Drill Team" that will perform for basketball games at home during the coming season.

Coach Dan Montgomery of the men's basketball program visited Primary and Intermediate Schools on Friday and invited boys and girls to take part in the program.

"You will be given an opportunity to learn basketball handling skills and to demonstrate your learned skills to your family and Wrangler fans at half-time during some of the CJC home games," the coach said.

"All that is required to join is to come to the practices, which will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 on Wednesday evenings and from 8:30 to 9:30 on Saturday mornings. The first practice will be held at the Wrangler Gym at CJC campus at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9.

"Boys and girls interested should wear basketball shoes."

Diorama and Museum is the building of a realistic-sized Noah's Ark.

Demensions of the ark will be 450 feet in length, 75 feet wide and 45 feet tall.

When completed, the ark will then house all of the live animals and birds which are named in the Bible. Those that are no longer in existence will be represented by their closest relative.

The Kendricks request the honor of "your presence" at the ground breaking ceremony of the Noah's Ark Project to be held at the Kendrick Amphitheater on Tuesday, November 15, 1983 at 10 a.m.

A short program consisting of several dignitaries will precede the breaking of ground and a reception will follow in the Religious Diorama and Museum Building.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

an editorial....

WHAT WILL THE NCC CONCEIVE NEXT? AN EDITORIAL VIEWPOINT by Josephine Cleveland

One of the latest ploys of the National Council of Churches is their attempt to deprive the vitality or effect of the Holy Bible. They are in the process of publishing a 112 page, "Inclusive Language Lectionary" intended for use in the Episcopal, Methodist, Lutheran, Presbyterian and Roman Catholic churches.

Webster's dictionary states that a lectionary is a book or list of liturgical lessons for the church. Passages come from both Old and New Testaments. The news of such an effort by the NCC may well leave one wondering what next will they conceive? The familiar passage of Scripture warns those who engage in such attempts, "For verily, I say unto you, till heaven and earth pass, one jot, (the least bit) or one tittle (a point or small sign) shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled." Christ continues to admonish, "Whosoever therefore shall break one of the least of these commandments, and shall teach man so, — ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven." Matthew 5:18-19.

Someone said, "Whatsoever Satan can conceive, his cohorts are capable of carrying out." This is most evident to those who face the reality of our present world.

The NCC's purpose is to rewrite the passages so as to eliminate references to gender. Jesus would no longer be identified as the "Son" of God but rather as the "child" of God. In this version it is "God the Father or Mother." The word, "king" is changed to "ruler" and no longer is the promise made to Abraham but to

Plan Car Wash

The Cisco High School cheerleaders and pep club will be sponsoring a car wash this Saturday, November 5, at McCoy's Texaco station along the east I-20 access road. Hours for the car wash will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The purpose of the wash is to raise money for making signs and banners for possible play-off games. The money will also be used in the making of scrap books for each individual varsity player and football coach for this year.

"Abraham and Sarah" and their descendants.

In Matthew's account of the Last Supper, Jesus announces that He is about to be betrayed, and the apostles ask, "Lord is it I?" And He answers and said, "He that dippeth his hand with me in the dish, the same shall betray me. The Son of man goeth as it is written, but woe to that person, by whom the Son of man is betrayed! It had been good for that person if he had not been born." Matthew did not convey such a message. Matthew knew Jesus was the Divine Son of God.

Any writer or student of English knows that "Man" is not used as a sexist noun. It is ridiculous to argue that "mankind" excludes women. One also has the privilege to paraphrase, using different words to give the same meaning.

What nonsense to think that changing the "Son" of God to "Child" of God is helpful to the woman's liberation movement. Jesus was the Son of God. In no way can one assume he was a woman.

Proverbs 14:6-9 states it clearly, "A scorner seeketh wisdom and findeth it not; but knowledge is easy unto him that understandeth. Go from the presence of foolish men, when thou preceivest not in him the lips of knowledge. The wisdom of the prudent is to understand his way; but the folly of fools is deceit. Fools make mock of sin but among the righteous there is favor."

Galatians 6:7 warns, "God is not mocked; but whatsoever a man soweth (refers to both genders), that shall he also reap." One may think that it is everyone's business to do as they choose, since we are created in the image of God and was given the power of choice, it is our privilege. However, it makes a difference whether one scoffs and makes fun of the precepts as taught in the Holy Bible. The events of the world and the pitiful tragedy of many people's lives should be enough to convince one of the truth of the Word.

Surely most congregations will reject the NCC's new attempts to dupe them. Maybe this time they have overstepped themselves. I doubt that these people will be content to address their prayers to God, or Mother or the Human One. Even may will be less willing to address their prayers and praise to the Chairperson.

Reflections In Perspective

I.W. Ussery

When did you last have a kippered herring for breakfast? I thought so. It is the constitutional right and privilege of every red-blooded native (and adoptive) Texan to have ham and eggs. In any case, even though on occasion he may settle for a stack of pancakes and half a pint of ribbon cane syrup, he'll still insist on his eggs. Goes 'way back into his heritage, I suppose. Back to the days when those frontiersmen who settled the Great State of depended upon the few hens that were brought along in crates and coops provided the mainstay for the opening of the day.

And I'm just about as native as the average Texan; more native than many, if not most. Second generation native born with roots running back to Mississippi and Tennessee. And until my cardiologist inconsiderately placed me on a bran-for-breakfast diet I can only barely remember the few occasions when my breakfast did not consist of eggs-and-something.

I recall once having flown into Beirut, Lebanon on a late flight from London. Landed sometime around midnight or so, and the only accommodation the airline could find was in a bedroom in a penthouse apartment in a little-known hotel in the heart of the city. Came the dawn, and I awoke with my usual appetite for breakfast.

The "coffee shop" of the hotel did not open until nine o'clock, I learned when I'd shaved, dressed and checked with the desk! And that nine o'clock opening, it developed, was for the purpose of serving coffee for those guests who'd perhaps later come along for lunch.

Now, the prospect of waiting three hours for a cup of coffee just wasn't in keeping with my schedule, so I strolled down the street until I finally came to a place inside which appeared to be some people who were eating...something. Know what I had for breakfast? The order of the day, that's what I had for breakfast. It consisted of two thin slices of day-old bread, an orange (which someone in the back had sliced in half), a cup of delicious black coffee (the waiter graciously refilled the cup after the first serving), and a wedge of white goat cheese. At least that would hold body and soul together until I could do better.

When we were in Brazil, our younger daughter used to accompany me at breakfast. That was during the first month while we were living in a hotel in Copacabana while we waited for an apartment to become available. Our going down for breakfast seemed to just sort of throw the entire staff off balance. The hotel guests in Copacabana are not noted to be early risers. But the wee one (she was five at the time) and I went down to breakfast to the coffee shop which was apparently open only for show, know what they had to offer for breakfast was a cup of the finest coffee you can imagine, one thin slice of cold toast (dry), a slice of ham through which you could read the fine print on the back of an insurance policy...and a small banana.

My driver came for me each morning at seven. There was a lunchroom across the street from my office. Before checking in at my office I'd stop at the lunchroom and demand in my very most severe Portuguese that two eggs be fried, two slices of bread be buttered, at least four slices of bacon be fried at the same time as the eggs, and that the lot be placed on a plate and put right there on the table before me. Since the lunchroom was a part of the project, and since "Doktor" was a member of the staff, the help in the kitchen complied. They probably muttered among themselves about the strange tastes of "Yanquis".

At Jebe Dhanna, that sun-bathed spot on the upper Persian Gulf Coast of Abu Dhabi, where we were in the process of constructing a small boat harbour in preparation for a tanker-loading facility which would be built later, we had a "staff" of 37 assorted Irishmen, Scotsmen, Englishmen...and one, lone American. Now, the other nationalities had strong breakfast appetites, so I was among people who understood. It was not considered to be strange that I should with complete regularity order eggs and some flavour of pork for my breakfast. They were having the same. Except for the odd Scotsman who felt that he could do half a day's work on a whopping big bowl of oatmeal. Or a pair of grilled lamb's kidneys (yuk!).

Now, our meals were prepared and served by a "catering contractor" whose base was in Lebanon. Good people they were, and they catered to our every whim. The food was excellent. But every bit of it had to be imported. Fresh vegetables were flown into Bahrain or Abu Dhabi from Beirut, thence by charter flight to the base. Meats, almost without exception, came from Kenya on the East Coast of Africa, or from Australia. And the same thing about eggs.

The egg of the common poultry hen is a most durable ovid. It can make do and maintain its flavour and edibility for much longer than the average housewife would accept. It can go for days, even weeks without refrigeration. Surprise you? I've seen them hanging for days on end in the open and in wire baskets in open air roadside "bodegas" in Venezuela. And have eaten them, fried, straight from those baskets. The egg is durable. But even the largest cell in the animal kingdom, the egg, has its limits.

Our eggs came from far away. And how long they were stacked in the over-100-degree temperature in Bahrain or Abu Dhabi would only be a matter of speculation. And our catering firm was not addicted to refrigeration. I've seen eggs, in their 12-dozen crates stacked outside the door of the kitchen for quite a few days before they'd reach the cold room. And that began to tell in the flavour of the mainstay of the morning meal. There finally came the time that they were just entirely too ripe for even me.

Now the British, particularly those of Scottish persuasion, have a dish which is considered to be something of a "luxury breakfast". It consists of broiled smoked kipper, or of poached haddock. The kipper is a whole herring, cleaned, opened and thoroughly dried and smoked over an oak fire. An from the time it is taken from the smoking process, I don't think there's a limit to its "shelf life". The haddock is a hefty hunk of boneless codfish (or haddock, as they're called in England), likewise dried and smoked. While the kippered herring is always broiled or grilled, the haddock is served poached. Poached in milk, that is.

I came to the conclusion that if my eggs were going to taste somewhat like over-ripe fish, I may just as well eat fish. So, with both kipper and haddock on the menu, I went the fish-for-breakfast route. Not all that unusual, actually. I recall when on special occasion we would have salmon croquettes for breakfast, when I was a smallish boy. An for months, that was my breakfast. The mess steward even became so well-regulated to my schedule that I didn't even have to remember whether it was the day for kipper or for haddock. He'd bring the correct fish. And a tasty dish it is, indeed. Try it, sometime.

Once in Dubai, I came across some smoked kipper herring in a supermarket a short distance from my hotel. Picking up some of them, I took them to the kitchen of the hotel and instructed the staff there (I'd been stopping at that hotel for so many years that I could take certain liberties with the staff) that they would be grilled and served for my breakfast.

Came the following morning. I went in for breakfast. The waiter greeted me, dutifully brought the tomato juice and coffee, and went away. An Englishman was sitting at the adjoining table. I noticed that the prompt service, without conversation, had not gone without observation. Shortly, comes the same waiter with a platter on which reposed a huge kippered herring. I thought the Englishman would swallow his uppers. He couldn't contain himself any longer. "Is that...you will please excuse me, Sir... a kipper?" I assured him that it was. "And how in Heaven's name did you manage that? It is not on the menu." I told him, and asked if he'd like one? He pledged himself to be my slave for life. He had his kipper.

But there was the time on Das Island when I'd ordered a kipper (they're served whole, eyes and all). It had just been served when a crane operator with a queasy stomach asked... "what in Heaven's name (he used more earthy language) is that, Mr. Bill?" "A dead fish", I replied. Placing his hand over his mouth, he left the table. In a hurry.

It'll take some doing for you to find a proper kippered herring. But if you can pick one from your specialty foods dealer, grill or broil it and try it for breakfast. If you have a taste for fish; you're hooked for life.

Construction Work Due To Begin On Water Facility

Construction work was due to begin on or before Monday, Nov. 14, on the City of Cisco's new water facilities improvement program, it was announced Thursday by City Manager Mike Moore. The announcement followed conferences Wednesday with contractors for the project.

The city manager and Water Supervisor Leon Boles along with Engineers Ken Martin and Scott Hibbs met with Joe Fambro of Fambro Construction Co., Stephenville, at City Hall here Wednesday morning. The Fambro Company was awarded a contract to build a new 12-inch main water line from the college Hill Reservoir to the overhead water tower in South Cisco. Plans call for the new water main to run south on Avenue J from the reservoir to the tower. The contract, which calls for $199,877.00 to be paid for the work, has 150 working days.

Mr. Fambro told city officials that, weather permitting, he believed his company could lay the big line in about three months. He was expected to begin moving in equipment early in the coming week.

City officials met with Joe Purcell of Meridian, supervisor for Ben Sira & Company, Dallas, prime contractor for the work at Lake Cisco, including a water filtration plant and pipe line work between the lake and College Hill. The Sira company's contract, which was awarded in the amount of $909,880.00, calls for 300 working days.

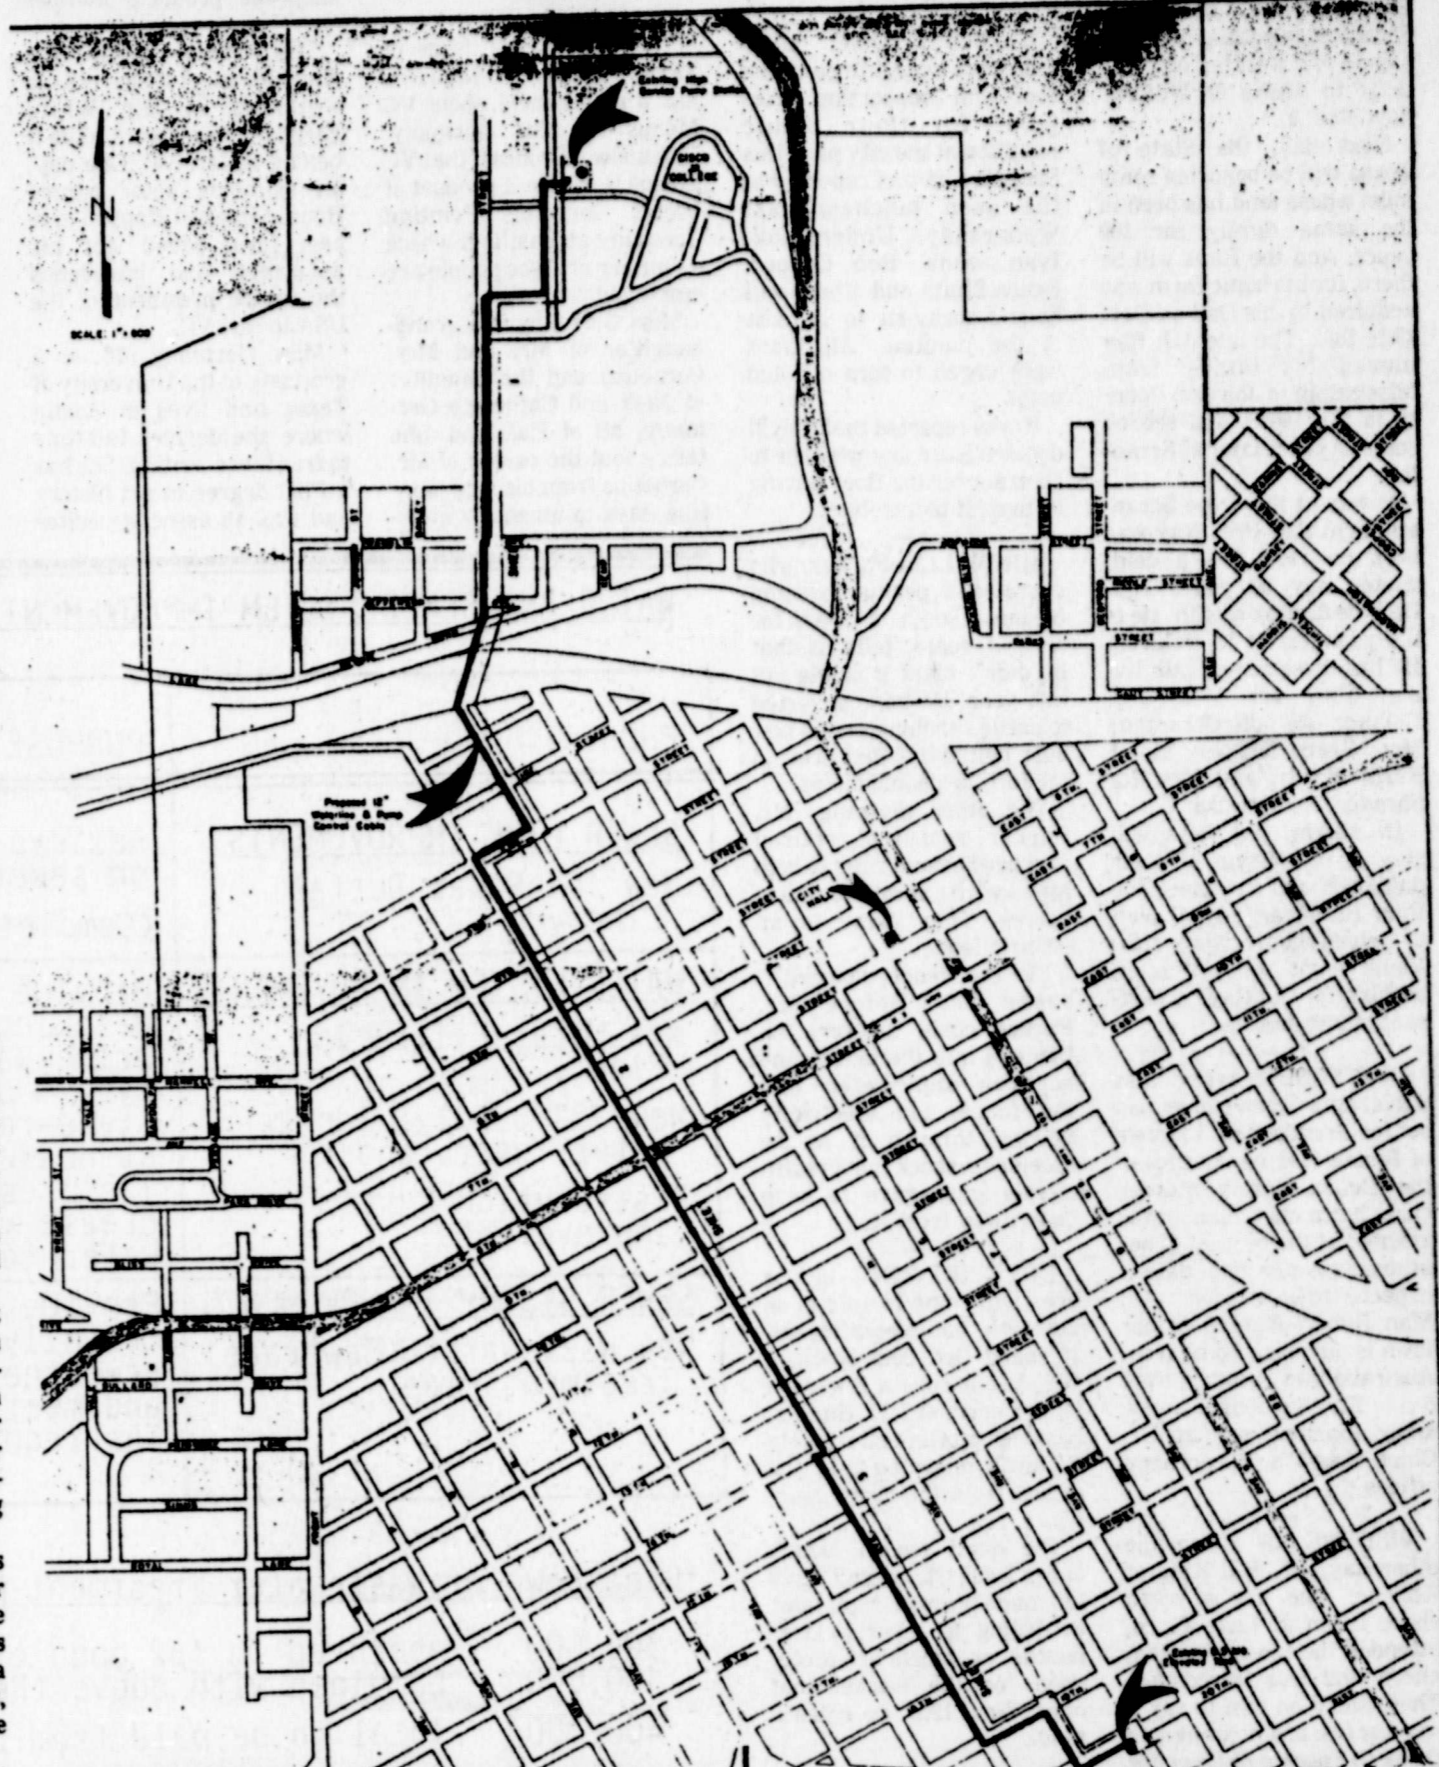

Mr. Moore said that the working day count for both contractors would begin Nov. 14th. The Sira company moved in a large mobile home last Thursday for use of their Cisco project supervisor, and equipment was due to begin arriving in a few days.

There will likely be some inconvenience to Cisco residents during the construction period, Mr. Moore said. "Every effort will be made to carry out provisions of the construction contracts with as little interruption of normal activities as possible," he said. "The patience and cooperation of everyone will be appreciated."

Mr. Moore added there might be a few occasions when the water supply would need to be shut off while equipment change-overs are being made. In all such cases, he said, there will be sufficient advance notice for everyone to be ready.

CofC Endorses City Bond Issue

The three propositions to issue bonds that will finance waste water facility improvements were endorsed by the board of directors of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce at their monthly meeting last Tuesday afternoon at the CofC offices.

The board voted approved after Mayor Eris Ritchie and City Manager Mike Moore outlined the program that is being submitted to Cisco voters in a November 19th election. The vote was unanimous.

Dr. Norman Wallace, who has been named chairman for the annual CofC banquet committee, suggested that the event be held during late February on a date to be selected later. The suggestion was accepted.

Dr. Wallace told the board about a professional development program for CofC executives and recommended that Manager Randy Speegle attend the event for a week in January and another week in June. This suggestion won unanimous approval of the board.

Director Shirley Hargrave commended Office Secretary Joan Schindler and her husband Joe for handling the Hallowe'en candy program that attracted some 200 children to the CofC offices Saturday night, Oct. 29. Mrs. Hargrave's personnel committee was authorized to meet and study the wage structure for the CofC secretarial position.

Present at the meeting were President Robert Dudley, Vice Presidents Gene Gwinn, Jerry Morgan and Dan Dixon, Shirley Hargrave, Dr. Norman Wallace, Ivan Webb, Dick Woolley, Elaine Dixon, Mayor Ritchie, City Manager Moore and Manager Speegle.

RESOLUTION

A RESOLUTION OF THE CISCO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOARD OF DIRECTORS SUPPORTING THE NOVEMBER 19, 1983 BOND ELECTION

Whereas, the wastewater treatment facilities of the City of Cisco have failed to comply with waste discharge standards of the State of Texas; and

Whereas, this failure has resulted in the State of Texas filing suit against and obtaining civil penalties from the City of Cisco; and

Whereas, in compliance with the judgement of said suit, the City of Cisco shall hold a bond election to fund the construction of a new wastewater treatment facility; and

Whereas, the method of wastewater treatment proposed in the election is by far the most cost effective and most economical to construct and to operate and maintain, and to avoid certain additional substantial civil penalties; and

Whereas, the City of Cisco will always be here and the problem of the inadequate treatment facilities must be addressed to solve this unacceptable environmental situation; now therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF THE CITY OF CISCO; that,

The Cisco Chamber of

Mayor Speaks On Bond Issue At Lions Meet

Commerce hereby formally endorses all three propositions of the November 19, 1983 Bond Election of the City of Cisco and strongly encourages all qualified electorates of the City of Cisco to vote for the bond proposals.

The waste-water and sewage disposal plant bond issue on which Ciscoans will vote November 19th was discussed by Mayor Eris Ritchie in a talk last Wednesday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Cisco Lions Club. Lion Walter Knowlden arranged the program.

Mr. Ritchie told Lions that the community has been found to be in violation of environmental protection agency regulations for several years and is under court order to provide adequate facilities for disposing of waste water and sewage.

"Building a new facility is something we must do or face the consequences," the mayor said. "The state has gone into court, levied a minimum fine against us, and has mandated that we make improvements."

Mr. Ritchie said the 2-to-1 endorsement of the water bond program in April, 1982, was evidence that Cisco citizens were "ready to do something, and we have every reason to believe that our people will act responsibly in the election this month."

Details of the project were outlined and questions were answered by Mr. Ritchie.

Guests include Dr. Bill King of Abilene and Coach John Parchman of Cisco High School.

in prayer. Mrs. Perkins led the Flag salute. Mrs. Kiser read from the Annual Report of the 84th State Conference, TSDAR. Members of Charles Crawford Chapter were pleased with the outline of their work in 1982.

Mrs. Joseph Perkins spoke on the subject, HISTORY OF EASTLAND COUNTY. Mrs. Perkins gave an interesting talk on Mrs. Julia Knowlton Alexander who came to Eastland County in 1881 from Farmington, Maine; her Knowlton ancestry can be traced back to those in Kent County, England. She was a lineal descendant of Colonel Thomas Knowlton, hero of the revolutionary War. Mrs. Alexander was a business woman and a leader in fraternal and other organizations in Cisco.

Mrs. Wallace gave a short history of Charles Crawford Chapter DAR.

MR. PLES RAY, whom a good many of us regard as the unofficial mayor of Scranton, is getting his boots shined and working on plans to go to Austin on Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Next day, the State of Texas will be honoring some folks whose land has been in the same family for 100 years. And the Rays will be there, for his home farm was acquired by his dad on Dec. 29th, 1882. The late J.J. Ray moved his family from Mississippi to Johnson County in the 1860's and settled some 20 years later at Scranton.

It was at the same Scranton farm that Pres Ray was born on Dec. 27 - a cold, winter day 84 years ago. He'll be 85 next month. He is the youngest of 13 children. He has three sisters still living. They are Mrs. O.L. Boland, 89, of Scranton; Mrs. Grace Blalock, 91, of Forth Worth; and Mrs. Ila Shrader, 93, of Baird.

In Austin, the Rays will stay at the home of their daughter and husband, the Paul Brashears. They plan to return home Nov. 11th. You'll want to join us in wishing for the Rays a pleasant trip to Austin.

OUR SCOUTS report that a trial date in November was set for Brenda Gail Andrews of Rising Star on charges in the Debra Garcia murder case, but a continuance was granted at the request of her attorney. A new trial date is expected to be set soon. Oil Man Robert Karnon of our town is due back home from Australia late Tuesday, Nov. 8. They've bought a new x-ray machine our at Dr. Chief Brown's Chiropractic offices.

VISITING IN Cisco the other day, Dr. Bill King of Abilene, who has a north shore cabin at Lake Cisco, attended the Lions Club luncheon and was introduced. They called on him to say a word or two and he wanted to thank the people of Cisco for having the lake and facilities that he and family enjoy. He is a dentist, and the Kings are frequent visitors at the lake.

Dr. King is a past Lions Club district governor.

THE GEORGE Gaffords, who live on their small ranch just west of town, are back home after a delightful two weeks in Santa Fe, New Mexico, where one of their two daughters has a summer home. The mountain trees and foliage is particular attractive this time of year, Mrs. G told us.

The Gaffords' two daughters and their husbands were in Santa Fe part of the time, and it was a restful vacation, she added.

Mr. GG is a retired telephone man.

CISCO LIONS Club members expect to paint the roof and supporting steel poles for their picnic pavillion at the city park this Saturday, it was reported at the noon luncheon last Wednesday. Understand, Ivan Webb, Bob Conner, Bruce Smith and others will have a spray rig to do most of the painting. All Lions were urged to turn out and help.

It was reported that they'll decide Saturday whether to contract for the floor paving or to do it themselves.

MR. WILLIS Parker, who operated a peanut farming business south of town for several years, tells us that he didn't plant a single nut this year. He has converted to cattle ranching and is now busy baling hay that grew in the former peanut fields.

The other morning, Mr. Parker recruited retired rancher Sutton Crofts to help him with some cowboy chores. They came to an electric fence.

"Is this fence charged?" asked Sut. Before Mr. Parker could answer, Sut bumped into the fence. And he knew immediately that the fence had electricity flowing through it as he received a shock that is sufficiently impressive to keep cows away from it.

DOVE HUNTING in our area will come to an end on Dec. 9th, our scouts report. It ended Oct. 30th south of I-20, but it runs a few days longer north of I-20. Hunting has been a little better lately as birds migrated into our region from the north country.

The quail season, which opens Dec. 1st, doesn't have too much promise right now, according to reports. Deer hunting prospects are pretty good for the season that opens Nov. 12th, we understand.

THE OLD GUDE Hotel building, which was the Reynolds Manufacturing Co. building for a good many years after it was a hotel, is now the Hull Building and Proprietor Harvey Hull tells us that they're putting a new front on it and doing some work inside.

They hope to open Nov. 10th with the front part being an art supply and picture frame shop, which Mrs. HH will operate. Harvey plans to open a furniture repair and upholstery business elsewhere in the building. He also plans to make covers for the Remco water cooled car seat cushion that Reynolds Manufacturing Co. turned our for so many years. Harvey worked for S&M

Supply for some 18 years before deciding to buy the building and go into business for himself.

And you'll want to join us in wishing the Hulls well in the new business.

THE CURRENT issue of Texas Monthly Magazine has a nice article about VC Menus by Lisa Germany. You know, of course, that VC Menus is the No. 1 product of Victor Cornelius Printing Company at Eastland where a number of Cisco people are employed.

Miss Germany is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius and the daughter of Jack and Catherine Germany, all of Eastland. She tells about the career of Mr. Cornelius from his sign painting days to inventing nap-ing holder theatrical advertising, running a restaurant and, eventually, getting into menu printing... about how Mr. VC often invented machines and methods to keep his products number one.

The article reports that Elva Moad of Cisco was a waitress in the White Elephant Restaurant when it belonged to Mr. VC. One day, an ex-movie actor named Ronald Reagan stopped in to eat. Mrs. Moad got his autograph and introduced the future president of the USA to Mr. VC.

Miss Germany, 28, is a graduate of the University of Texas and lives in Austin where she devotes full-time to free lance writing. She has a PhD degree in art history and was an associate editor of Texas Monthly Magazine before she decided to go full-time as a free lance writer.

Currently, Miss Germany has an article in Texas Home and in Better Homes and Gardens magazines.

Our scouts report that Mr. VC knew the article was coming out and was delighted with it. He is a proud grandfather as well as a good citizen of Eastland County.

Miss Germany comes by writing honestly. Her mother is a journalism graduate of the UoFT. Her dad is an official of the VC printing company.

Like a lot of folks, every time we eat our someplace we always look to see if "VC Menus" in tiny type appears in the lower right of the menu. And it usually does.

You'll enjoy reading the article.

MET UP WITH Mr. John Loveless of Eastland and he reported that his wife Barbara was still over in Big D at the bedside of her son, Bill Wells, Jr., who suffered head injuries in an auto mishap during Texas OU football weekend (Oct. 9).

Little Bill, who was a CHS football star before going on to the UoFT, remained unconscious but was beginning to show signs of regaining consciousness. He remained in ICU at Parkland Hospital. He lives in Houston.
