Benton Lacy, a Cisco resident for 12 years; Joe Bob Moore, who has lived her for 16 years; and Robert T. Now is the time that Hummingbird feeders should be taken down so the birds will migrate south, according to our resident bird expert, Joe Sitton. When feeders are left up, birds tent to tarry too long in this area and die from the cold.

The following was contributed by Mary Bethel Snyder who found the prayer printed in an English language newspaper while she and her husband, Bob, were stationed in Germany. It is entitled "A 17th Century Nuns' Prayer."

Billy Bacon Is Write-In Candidate

I, Billy Bacon, Jr. Commissioner of Precinct 4, announce that I will be a writein candidate for reelection in the Nov. 6 General Election.

I have been asked to run as a write-in candidate for several reasons. For one, there are more than 2800 registered voters in Pct. 4, yet only 860 voted in the Party Primaries. That is less than one-third of the voters, and I would like to see a larger majority decide who is to serve as Pct. 4 Commissioner.

I have lived in Eastland County since 1935, and spent over 37 years repairing and working on telephone and lines in the Cisco area. I have been your County Commissioner for the past four years, and feel like I have done a good job.

The office of County Commissioner is very important. The Commissioners deal with a $3 million dollar County Budget each year. I feel like I have saved the County some money on these budgets.

Besides finances, the Commissioners need to keep up with changes in State and Federal laws and environmental regulations. During the past four years I have attended eight Seminars dealing with these things and other items involved with County Government.

An important part of the job of County Commissioner is the miles of rural roads to keep in repair. Pct. 4 has approx. 154 miles of dirt roads. I have repaired many of these roads and a number of tinhoms and bridges. There is much more work to be done, and I have been donated material to help complete it.

Early in my term I was appointed by the other Commissioners to make reports on the County Jail. I have been assisting Sheriff Dee Hogan in supervising the jail. It is clean, well-run, and in compliance with the State-Jail

Standards Commission. I feel that my job as County Commissioner is not complete, however. I would like to complete more bridges on the county roads, and finish repairing rural roads - all of this as money is available. It will take several years to do

I ask that you consider my record as Commissioner, and give me your vote for reelection in the Nov. 6 election. Remember that you have to write in my name in the place provided on the ballot.

The series will begin Sunday morning at the 9:30 Bible Class hour, with Parsons speaking on "Defeating the Giants in Your Life." His sermon topic at 10:30 will be "The Greatest Need of This Church," and he will issue "A Call to Commitment" Sunday evening at 6.

A fellowship luncheon will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at 12 noon, featuring a light lunch and brief message from Mr. Parsons, with the program ending in ample time for people to be back to work by 1 p.m., Mr. Yates stated. Topics for the luncheons will be "A Life That Wins," "Winning Over Worry," and "Keep the Magic in Your Marriage." Evening services will be held Monday through Wednesday at 7 p.m. with the subjects of "God's Ageless Ultimatum," "Danger of Delay," and "The Greatest Event in Your Life.'

A special feature of the series will be performances by the "Jubilee Boys" Quartet of Brownwood before and after Sunday evening services, at 5:45-6 and 7-7:30.

He attended Southern Methodist University, Oklahoma Christian College, and Hardin Graduate School of Religion. He has preached and lectured in 12 national and 37 states, and has been a featured lecturer at all of the Church of Christ related colleges and universities. Dear Joie, Jessie, Kelly, Mikie and Mother,

I will never forget what you did to help some little kid that can't help themselves! You made my day! You gave me back the belief that all is not lost in Cisco! If we adults could be kids for one day and stop and think there is more to life than "dog eat dog" and reach out to each other in compassion, love and goodwill as you have- boy wouldn't it be a great place to live! We better shape up!

Just because the events went sour for a little while for your efforts. Bite Not Right

Q. Can an improper bit be harmful to my general health? A. Yes. This situation, called "malocclusion", can be harful in several ways. Inability to chew food prop erly can place an extra burden on the stornach and digestive tract. A soft food diet may be required, which could result in inadequate nutrition. Malocclusion can also cause strain make interpretable and in the strain of the s on the jaw muscles and joints, resulting in dull, constant pain. Impaired speech and appearance can also cause negative psychological effects. Happily, most cases of malocclusion can be corrected with orthodontic treatment. A Thought For The Day

BE YOURSELF... There are many people who go through life not knowing who they really are. They go throught life imitating other people and never really live up to their own innate abilities and talents.

There is a story told about advice Irving Berlin gave George Gershwin, when Gerswin was a struggling young composer in new York. Berlin offer Gershwin a job as his musical secretary. yet in the next breathe he said: "But don't take the job. If you do, you may develop into a second-rate Berlin. But if you insist on being yourself, someday you'll become a first-rate Gershwin." And we all know what happened to George Gershwin. He went on to become one of America's great composers of his gerera-

Dale Carnegie puts it another way..."All art is autobiographical. You can sing only what you are. You can paint only what you are. You must be what your experiences, your enviroment, and your heredity have made you. For better or for worse, you must cultivate your own little garden. For better or for worse, you must play your own little instrument in the orchestra of life."...Good advice? We think so. Why not try it? Next week we will comment more on Being Yourself." Whatch for it. You will find it interesting....

GOVERNOR MEET CLAYTON WILLIAMS

Utility ratepayers in San Antonio and Corpus Christi may be paying higher bill because of a Clayton Williams busi-ness deal that has reulted in a lawsuit accusing him of fraud and coercion.

Revelations concerning the lawsuit come on the heels of recent news stories linking Williams to junk bond deals, leveraged buyouts and pollution violations resulting in

Once again, we find Clayton Williams manipulating his companies for his benefit at the expense of the taxpayers of Texas," said Bill Cryer, a spokesman for the Ann Richards for governor campaign. "When you get to know Clayton Williams, you know you can't afford him."

In the latest case, Williams is being sued by Champlin Exploration, Inc. which sold gas to Williams' companies. Williams, in turn, then sold the gas to Valero, which supplies utilities in San Antonio and Corpus Christi. The suit alleges that Williams forced Champlin to reduce its gas prices while at the same time Williams was increasing gas prices to Valero and hence to the ratepayers of San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

"Williams, by buying gas on the cheap and selling it at inflated prices, was price gouging the ratepayers. It looks like Williams was robbing Peter and Paul to pay Clayton,"

The suit further alleges that Williams' gas companies "threatened to shut in Champlin's wells and unilaterally reduce its prices if Champlin didn't accept major proposed price reductions."
The suit says that Williams did not reduce the contract

The suit says that Williams did not reduce the contract price for gas that was sold to Valero. Champlin says that by manipulating gas prices, Williams was able to inflate the apparent worth of his company by 75 percent. Williams then sold his company it in a leveraged buy out for $213.5 million. "Clayton Williams needs to come clean on his business deals. Voters are entitled to get to know the real Clayton Williams. He must divulge the details of this deal and open his personal income taxes for inspection," Cryer said. CER72

I would like to correct a couple of misinterpretations in my last article. I mentioned the Jr. Division in the local tournament, and the sponsors of this division. As I stated the sponsors were Sandy Creek Marina Fullen Motor Company and Fishing Outdoors. This list should have also read the Eastland County Bass Club as a sponsor too.

Also 15th place in the Jr. event is not guaranteed.

I have been asked by the Eastland County Bass Club to discontinue being the official listing of the Bass Club news and events, Fishing Outdoors has been and will always be an open article for any note worthy news, but will not be dictated by any one organization.

Retirement Party Held For Elevator Operator

Courthouse employees held a retirement party for Bobby Todd, last Friday, in the County Commissioners courtroom. A crowd gathered to express their appreciation to Todd, who has operated the clevator in the Courthouse for the past 13 years. His courtesy and helpfulness were praised.

After some tasty homemade ice cream and cookies were served, some cards and gifts were presented to Todd. They ranged from a gag gift to a money tree.

The elevator Todd operated has been replaced by a new one which doesn't have to have an operator. But was out of order last week and Assistant D. A. Bill Dowell used the trip up the stairs as an example of how much Todd had meant to those working in the Courthouse.

Williams-Huff

On Saturday, August 18, 1990, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Allison Christine Williams and Daniel Ray Huff were united in marriage at Mt. Top Church in Cisco.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Watson Sr., of Eastland. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Peck of Defiance, Ohio.

The church sanctuary was beautifully decorated with the bride's chosen colors of fuchsia and white. Below the steps, a white unity candle with matching single candles was supported by a brass candelabra entwined with greenery. The decorations were completed with brass hurricane aisle markers adorned with white candles, fuchsia bows, stargazer lilies and cascades of greenery. Candlelighters were Jeanette Housson of Birmingham, Alabama and Amy Freeman of Lawton, Oklahoma. Leah Watson, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest registry. The groomsmen served as Carol Whitehead of Arlington was the vocalist and was accompanied on the piano by Ken Watson Jr., brother of the bride, also of Arlington. Together they performed "Wind Beneath My Wings," "The Wedding Song," and "On This Day." "The Lord's Prayer" was sung acappella by Mrs. Whitehead as the couple knelt. The traditional wedding march was played both as a processional and recessional on the organ by Rachel Watson of Chicago, Illinois, cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride was ushered by her son, Kerry Watson. She wore a soft pink chiffon, dropped waist dress which was accented with a pink satin band and bow. The mother of the groom was ushered in by her son, Chris Peck. She wore a multi-tiered dress of pink chiffon, featuring a scoop neckline. They each wore a cymbidium orchid corsage with iridescent accents. Each father wore a traditional black tuxedo, identical to that of the groom, with a soft pink carnation boutonniere.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride entered on the arm of her father. She was wearing a formal gown of white, hand-beaded taffeta with a wedding ring collar, dropped pearls, and a sheer yoke of silk illusion above a sweetheart neckline. The fitted basque bodice was of reembroidered alencon lace encrusted with seed pearls and iredescent sequins. Tiny covered buttons accented the back from the high neckline to the v-shaped long waist. The beaded, long sleeve featured a short puff with dropped pearls fitted to a delicate point over the bride's hands. The skirt was three v-shaped tiers of beaded, alencon lace trimmed taffeta embellished with center front dropped pearls. The lower tier swept into a semi-cathedral train. The bride chose to complement her dress with a wreath headpiece of pearls and sequins that held an illusion fingertip veil and blusher with a soft elegant pouf in back and lilies-of-the-valley falling on each side of her face. The bride's bouquet was of white cascading stephanotis, gardenias, baby's breath, and english ivy.

For something old, the bride carried a small white Bible given to her at birth. Her something new was her wedding dress and veil. To complete the tradition of something borrowed and something blue, she chose a white lace handkerchief that her sister-in-law carried at her wedding and a blue sapphire and diamond ring given to her by her fiance.

Whitney Reese of Denton was the bride's maid of honor. Serving as matron of honor was Robbie Watson of Arlington, sister-in-law of the

They wore identical dresses of fuchsia moire' taffeta. The floor length dresses had fitted bodices with rounded necklines, large puffed sleeves, full skirts with basque waistline featuring large bows in the back below the waists. Each attendant carried a bouquet of stargazer lilies, baby's breath, magnolia leaves, english ivy and a

The reception hosted by the bride's parents was held at Lone Ceuar Country Club following the ceremony.

On the registry table was the bride's portrait, and on the gift table, were two white wicker baskets adorned with fuchsia and white silk flowers, filled with birdseed bags. The round tables had floor length, fuchsia cloths with white Battenberg lace over-

The bride's table was covered with a floor length, white chiffon, swagged tablecloth with fuchsia tulle bows at each point. It held an elevated, hexagonal, three-tiered wedding cake which featured a lighted, flowing fountain

Each of the tiers, as well as the two satellite cakes in front was adorned with fresh flowers consisting of pink roses, fuchsia mini-carnations, baby's breath and plumosa. The traditional bride and groom topped the cake. The centerpiece was of the same fresh flowers with pink gladiolas and was accompanied by two brass candlebras holding pink tapers. Also on the bride's table was a brass punch bowl. Serving at the table were Pat Gaeta of Fort Worth and Shirley Housson of Temple.

The circular groom's table was covered with a floor length, taupe cloth and a beige cut-lace overlay. It held a hexagonal, two-tiered, chocolate cake with raspberry filling, a brass coffee service, and a brass hurricane lamp with a pink candle, greenery and a fuchsia, tulle bow. Serving at the table were Leah Watson of Gorman and Rhonda Derden of Irving.

A brass and silver champagne fountain was placed on a round table with a white chiffon, floor length cloth of the same style as the bride's table and surrounded with greenery and fresh flowers.

A buffet was served, and guests were seated at tables decorated with greenery, fresh flowers and pink vo-

Music for the reception and dance was provided by Jason Phillips of Cisco. After greeting guests with their parents, the bride and groom danced the first dance to "Only You".

Other members of the house party included Jean McCullough of Eastland, Ken and Sandra Reese of Red Oak, and Connie Watson of Gorman, aunt of the bride.

Pre-wedding activities included a rehearsal dinner hosted by the groom's parents in the Bethel Baptist Church fellowship hall following the wedding rehearsal. The catered dinner was attended by about forty-five guests.

The bride was honored with a bridesmaid's brunch on the morning of the wedding at the home of Kathy Owen in Eastland; seventeen guests attended. The hostesses were Kim Meadows and Kathy

Methodists To Meet In Fort Worth

Local United Methodist leaders, both lay and clergy, will be joining thousands of other Methodists in Fort Worth, Texas Oct. 31-Nov. 4 for one of the largest and most unique gatherings ever for the United Methodist Church.

THE GATHERING, a churchwide convocation, is intended to equipt local congregations for ministry in the 1990's through a renewed sense of discipleship of individual members. It will draw Methodists from all over the world into a major gathering of the church for worship, inspiration, celebration and learning.

"Not ever in the past has the church come together like this to focus on a single theme and to worship and receive inspiration for a new endeavor," said Bishop John W. Russell, Bishop of the Fort Worth Episcopal Area of the United Methodist Church.

The Bishop of the church will release a pastoral letter at The Gathering designed to launch a new initiative for the church. Its title is "Vital Congregations: Faithful Disciples."

Vital congregations build faithful disciples and faithful disciples build vital congregations. Vital congregations minister to a wide variety of real human needs.

Sponsored by the United Methodist Council on Bishops and the church's General Board of Discipleship, lay and clergy members from all level of church's worldwide leardership are being called and urged to participate in The Gathering.

General meetings and special events are expected to occupy the rooms and facilities of over 20 downtown Fort Worth hotels. The general sessions will take place in the Tarrant County Convention
