Thousands greet Pope John Paul II

NEW YORK (AP) - New Yorkers cheered the arrival of Pope John Paul II today with banners flying from the Bronx to the Battery and thousands lining the streets under x-ray skies, many in ethnic Polish

The scoreboard at Yankee Stadium was lit up with a giant "Welcome." At Shea Stadium it was "Shalom." The top of the Empire State Building was ablaze with with white and yellow lights, the Vatican colors.

"I'm really amazed at the passion this event has generated," said Marife Hernandez, chief of protocol for the United States in New York. Thousands waving banners, pennants and balloons stood behind police barricades along city streets as the pontiff landed at LaGuardia Airport in "Shepherd I," his specially marked TWA 727, and drove to the United Nations for an historic address. Mayor Edward Koch had promised a "bigger and better" reception than the pope received in his

Police had estimated that 5 million people would turn out along the pope's route, despite a forecast of rain heavy at times. Though the sky was overcast, the rain held off during the morning.

Mary Jo Mullally, who saw the pontiff at the beginning of his pilgrimage in her home of Dublin, flew here with a cousin to see him again.

"We shook his hand. We follow him just like people follow Elvis," she said, referring to the late rock 'n' roll star Elvis Presley. 'There are so many sinners in the world, that when you see a holy man you want as much of him as you can," said her cousin, Suzzane. Others on hand for the welcoming ceremony, along with Mayor Koch, included Govs. Hugh Carey of New York and Brendan Byrne of New Jersey, Cardinal Terence Cooke of the New York Archdiocese and Bishops Francis J. Mugavero of the Brooklyn Diocese. Governor Byrne commented that the Pope's visit had "been good for the morale of the whole world and I think it's going to be good for Bishop Mugavero of Brooklyn said, "... he gives us a great deal of courage, fortitude and daring. He is inspiring. He gives us great vision. Felicia Zochowski was present with 49 members of the Polish-American Congress of Middlesex, N.J, most in Polish national costume. Police Sgt. Peter C. Bartoszek, president of the Pulaski Association of the Police Department, was there with a dozen other members of the association wearing red jackets as an honor guard.

"It's a thrill and an honor as a Catholic to see Christ's representative on earth come from such a long distance to see all of the people of New York and it's a double honor because he is of Polish heritage.

Betty Dundon of Astoria headed for the airport at 4 a.m. so she could get a good spot. "This is a once in a lifetime — to see the pope. He's so good, he's restored my faith in mankind. He's really an evangelist," she

At United Nations headquarters, where the pope was to spend much of his first day, diplomats had assembled impressive guest lists for two receptions and John Paul's major speech to the General Assembly.

The guests ranged from Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and her daughter. Caroline Kennedy, to the presidents of Cyprus and Gabon and the prime ministers of Grenada, Portugal and Mauritius.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, mindful of the fact that the U.N. speech was the formal reason for the pope's visit, planned a double welcome - first at LaGuardia Airport, then at the U.N.

'I can hardly wait," said Mayor Edward Koch, who planned to trail the pope through practically all of the tightly-packed schedule until John Paul leaves for Philadelphia early Wednesday afternoon.

An estimated 70,000 were expected to jam Yankee Stadium tonight as the pope celebrates mass with Cardinal Cooke and other of the area

The 53 miles of parkways and city streets along the pope's route were ordered closed half an hour in advance of his arrival at each point. And it was rush hour all day on subway and bus lines and commuter railroads as transportation chiefs pleaded with drivers to leave their cars at

The second Roman Catholic pontiff to visit the city, John Paul willspend twice as much time here as Pope Paul VI did on Oct. 4, 1965, and will get much closer to New York's ordinary citizens than Paul did during his whirlwind tour of the United Nations, the World's Fair and Yankee

The pope came to New York to address the United Nations on the moral perils in a world of conflict, terrorism and East-West rivalry.

There were repeated cheers and cries of "Viva il papa!" as the pope moved into the U.N. complex, accompanied by Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim and surrounded by U.N. employees who pressed close, seeking a word or a handshake. He went to the 38th floor of the Secretariat building for a private talk with Waldheim.

"I greet all the men, women and children of the countries that are represented at the United Nations," said the pope as he arrived at LaGuardia from Boston for the second day of his week-long U.S. tour.

Carter fails to untie SALT

nal critics say President Carter's Caribbean initiatives have failed to untie the knot linking the SALT II treaty with the Soviet brigade deployed 90 miles from U.S. shores in Cuba.

In his speech to the nation Monday night, the president outlined plans to increase U.S. surveillance of military activities in Cuba, bolster the U.S. Naval and military presence in the area and speed more aid to those Latin American nations which feel threatened by the Soviet-Cuban alli-

At the same time he reported that he has been given "assurances from the highest levels of the Soviet government" that the brigade of Russians are indeed engaged only in training and that they will not be used to threaten anyone.

But the Carter speech did little to sway critics of the administration's foreign policy, many of whom complained that the president failed to keep his pledge to change the status quo in Cuba by negotiating withdrawal or dismantling of the brigade.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called the Soviet assurances, said to have come personally from Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, "welcome but insufficient."

"I continue to believe that before the treaty may take effect the Senate will insist on an affirmation by the president, backed up by our own intelligence, that Soviet combat forces are no longer deployed in Cuba,' Church said

The president said the Cuban controversy must be kept in perspective. He maintained it is no reason for a rebirth of the cold war. And he said if it led to the destruction of the SALT II treaty, the United States would be forced to live in a world "in which every confrontation or dispute could carry the seeds of a nuclear con-appreciated. - F. H. McGuigan ANSWER: Here are the figures from the Finance Department of the city of Midland.

In reply to your first question, total assessed valuation for the city at the end of 1978 was $991,748,933. As to your second question, total dollar amount of all the building permits issued by the city was $86,935,-

There was no new revenue generated because the City Council lowered the tax rate to avoid this.

In Midland, keeping students in school is, if not the biggest single discipline problem, at least the most frequent one, outstripping bigger-city threats of drugs, alcohol and vio-

On an average day at Midland High

School, for instance, more than 100 students are reported absent without explanation from one or more classes after attending others.

The problem of "skipping," most high school administrators agree, is the most serious one facing the schools today.

Of the 863 discipline referrals recorded in the office at Lee High School last year, for example, 531 of those more than 60 percent - were attendance-related.

"Midland has finally caught up with the national trend," according to Midland High School assistant principal Glenn Hixon. "School has become less important to our teen-age people today, and when students cease to become students, you have more discipline-type problems."

'Skipping' may be biggest problem

THE INCREASING NUMBER of students who choose not to show up for some classes "shows apathy towards school and what school stands for," Hixon said. "We've always had kids who didn't want to come to school, but the percentage has been increasing in the past five or six

The increased pressure in high school leads some students to be disruptive, Hixon said.

"Kids get to this point in their school life and it gets more difficult for them to succeed in the classroom. When they don't succeed, they become disruptive to release their frustrations. Students who 20 years ago would have dropped out to get jobs are staying in school now on the advice of family, friends and counselors, "We're supposed to do all we can to keep a child in school until he's 17, and we strive to do whatever we can with them. 'But," he said, "I have encouraged a couple of older students to go ahead and take the GED test (a high school equivalency exam). It's a way to keep ODESSA - A proposal to store nuclear wastes one-half mile beneath a site 25 miles southeast of Carlsbad, N.M., appeared a two-sided coin Monday during a public hearing on the proposal's draft environmental impact statement.

All morning long, officials with the U.S. Department of Energy presented rebuttals to a series of issues raised by the public on the draft environmental statement concerning the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant.

Those issues include safe transportation of nuclear material across the country to the Carlsbad site, the ability to react quickly to a nuclear accident and the geologic integrity of the WIPP site itself.

Without exception, officiais representing the DOE said' Monday they 'don't anticipate" any problems will be serious based on scientific data available.

Monday afternoon, the public spoke, and the gist of their comments - with only two exeptions - was that those problems still needed to be addressed

Several people Monday expressed concern over information not included in the draft environmental state-

While DOE officials noted Monday the agency still agreed with the principle of "concurrence and consultation" with both the states of Texas and New Mexico on the project, officials from both states appeared unaware of a change in direction for the project.

DOE officials said Monday the Nuclear Regulatory Commission would not be involved in licensing procedures since the project would contain only militarily-produced radioactive from the project. George Dennis, public information director for the DOE in Albuquerque, noted Monday that interest in WIPP, at least in West Texas, has died down since original hearings were held in Midland more than a year ago.

Even without storage of fuel rods (WIPP had been viewed as a solution to the nuclear waste problem for commercial reactors as well), it will be several years before shipment of nuclear material begins, officialshave said.

Information presented Monday will be included in the final environmental statement for the project. That document will further define the project. Results from a separate Congres-

48-year-old Odessan killed when truck hits gravel mound

ODESSA - A 48-year-old Odessa man was killed instantly Monday night when the pickup truck he was driving struck a mound of gravel at a street construction site here, according to Odessa police.

The man, Robert Arnold "Bob" MacMurchy, Route 5, was pronounced dead at the scene of the mishap on Odessa's west side by Peace Justice Manuel

Odessa police said MacMurchy's pickup struck a wooden barricade before striking a 42-inch hill of gravel. MacMurchy was not thrown from the westbound vehicle, which also did-not overturn, police said. The mishap occurred shortly before 8:30 p.m. on West 22nd Street. Police said MacMurchy was a telephone company service man. *

Southern governors express their dissatisfaction with energy policy

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Southern governors are using their annual conference to trumpet irritation over energy policy which they say is hobbled by unreasonable environmental rules and federal regulations.

'Almost every electric power plant in the country should be converted to burn coal by now but nothing is being done," said Kentucky Gov. Julian

Critical broadsides, including a move to propose that the Department of Energy be abolished, led to an last-minute decision by Secretary of Energy Charles Duncan to fly in today for lunch. Gov. Edwin Edwards said Duncan requested that his talk with the governors attending the 45th annual conference be private. Both the Department of Energy, known as the DOE, and the Environmental Protection Agency came under attack during Monday's session

'If you really want to get their attention, get a resolution through here calling for the abolishment of the Department of Energy," Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards said.

Cooler temperatures hit Basin area

Colder air nipped at Midlanders' noses early today after a front moved through the Permian Basin during the night. The cold front dropped the overnight low to 54 degrees after a high temperature Monday of 97 degrees, said the weatherman. Colder temperatures are on tap for tonight and Wednesday, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. The mercury should descend to the upper 50s tonight and rise into the upper 80s on Wednesday. High Monday was 97, one degree shy of the record temperature of 98 degrees set on that date in 1951. The overnight low of 54 degrees was much warmer than the record 42 degrees set in 1965. Skies should be fair through Wednesday with variable winds 5 to

No precipitation fell on the first day of this month, leaving the total accumulation this year at 12.28 inches.

turn signals on traffic lights at Midkiff and Wadley and Garfield and Wadlev?

I enjoy reading Answer Line very much. It is very informative. -

ANSWER: No, it is not a compulsory law for car owners' liability. If there is an accident, the driver without the insurance can file for financial assistance. If this fails, the driver without the liability could lose his or her driver license. The left-turn signals at the two intersections you mention are in working order. The one at Wadley and Garfield was damaged and has been replaced. The other intersection signal is in working order; according to the traffic engineer. The arrow device works on a detector system which indicates the presence of cars in the left- turn signal lane. If a driver enters the intersection too far, the indicator fails to work. It's a matter of stopping the car right before entering the center of the intersection to let the signal work.

Grand jury re-indicts man on capital murder charge

The Midland County Grand Jury has issued a re-indictment in the case of 29-year-old Herbert Lee Minor, charged with capital murder in connection with the September beating death of a 73-year-old Midland

Minor was re-indicted by the grand jury last Wednesday. That grand jury also returned indictments against eight other individuals, including one other re-indictment.

Minor, an unemployed laborer, was charged Sept. 11 in connection with the death of Ardesha Wortham, 73, 303

S. Calhoun St. He had been arrested Sept. 9 on-atraffic citation and was being held on that charge when the capital murder complaint was filed against him. He remains in jail in lieu of posting a $50,000 bond. Mrs. Wortham's body was found in her home on the morning of Sept. 9 by her son. He called police after he discovered a side window of the home broken and Mrs. Wortham failed to answer her door or telephone.

An autopsy indicated the woman died from blows to the head. She also had suffered broken ribs.

The grand jury also re-indicted unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. She remains in jail in lieu of posting a $7,500 bond.

Wilbur Hodges was indicted on a charge of forgery by possession with intent to pass. He is in custody in Waco. Bond was set at $7,500.

'Public Schools Week'

This is "Public Schools Week" in Midland, with the occasion being observed in various ways in the Tall City's public schools.

It is an important annual observance, yet it seldom receives the widespread recognition it so richly deserves.

Public education is one of our greatest assets, yet all too many of us are inclined to take it all for granted, accepting its benefits while seldom taking the time to give it serious thought or study.

Well, "Public Schools Week" is an excellent time to correct this oversight by taking the time to find out what kind of a job our schools are doing, and what makes them tick.

Midland public schools have been very much in the news of late, and the present observance affords a marvelous opportunity for one and all to learn more about the operation, programs, teaching procedures, objectives, problems and needs of their public schools. Tall City residents are urged to visit a school at sometime during the observance, taking a close look at the schools their children are attending.

Invitations have been extended to parents to join their children

CHARLEY REESE Phil Crane: Better not write him off in the fall

By CHARLEY REESE Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. - The political oracles have apparently decided that Rep. Phil Crane, the conservative Illinois Congressman, is out of the running for the Republican presidential nomination. The news magazines and networks don't even mention

This is no surprise. The political oracles in the news racket are by and large a provincial crowd. They don't believe the world is flat, but too many of them think that if you venture south of the Potomac or north of the East River, you will fall off. That's why long after Barry Goldwater had the '64 nomination sewed up tight, they were writing stories about how William Scranton was making a real race of it. Scranton, of course, had as much of a chance the day he started as Custer had the day after the Battle of the Little Bighorn.

The point is that Crane will surprise them. Reports of his political death have been greatly exaggerated. Come next spring, they will be forced to write about Crane because he will, by then, be a strong contender.

Crane has had some organizational problems, but what most people have overlooked is that he has two huge, hidden assets which are ticking away like time bombs under the hopes of his.

the Republican presidential nomination race and the general election are two entirely different contests. Liberal Republicans lost their grip on the party in 1964 and never re-gained it, though they have been pretty good at co-opting the candidate once he gets

At the present time, there are only two genuine conservatives in the race: Ronald Reagan and Crane. John Connally, George Bush, and Howard Baker, while conservative compared to the Democrats, do not have the credentials to satisfy those Republicans who are philosophically conservative. Connally and Baker appeal to the professionals, who love the center; Bush, so far as I can tell, has not developed a clearly identifiable constituency

For that reason, Crane's first hidden asset is that he is the only sure heir to Reagan's support should the Reagan campaign falter and I think the odds are pretty high it will. People who are fond of Reagan, and I am one of them, are desperately trying to pretend his age will not be an issue, but it will be. The Rockefeller Republicans will make it an issue and so will the Democrats. The man is 68. All he has to do is catch a cold in the snows of New Hampshire or show visible signs of fatigue and the age issue will Crane's second hidden asset is his face. In politics, television is the decisive medium and God created Phil Crane for a television campaign. At this early stage, Crane has not gotten much exposure on the tube, but as the primaries begin, he will and when he does, his television charisma will begin to take effect.

It may sound far-fetched to the casual observer of politics, but take it from a former political mercenary, a strong television personality can swing more votes than all the editorials and commentaries in the world. Reagan's political career began on television and Crane has the same qualities - the All-American Boy good looks and the soft-spoken elo-

The camera can be cruel. Connally, who has stump charisma and who can dominate a room full of people, comes across on television as jowly and overbearing. Baker has a tendency to appear shifty-eyed and strident. Bushprojects an Ivy League aloofness. It . may be unfair but it's a matter of pure physiology Of course television appearance can't do it alone, but then Crane is no dummy either. He's probably the smartest candidate in the field. He earned a Ph. D. and taught history. He ran in a liberal district, won, and has since been re-elected by phenomenal margins. Some of the oracles are relying too heavily on the polls which at this stage-reflect only name recognition. Some of them are talking only to professional pols who are already hung up on the general election.

There are still a lot of if's in Crane's campaign, but anybody who writes him off in the fall of 1979 will be tasting crow in the spring of 1980.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Consulting firm strays over line

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - In Washington, old soldiers never die - they become government consultants.

Not content with their military pensions, many retired officers decide to use the expertise — and the contacts they acquired in service to climb aboard Uncle Sam's gravy train as private contractors. So many of them have hung out their consultants' shingles in office buildings along the circumferential highway around the capital that they are known, only partly in jest, as the "Beltway Ban-

The ingredients for hanky-panky are rife: Consultants' fees are measured in thousands of dollars, not millions, so they are not scrutinized by government watchdogs as closely as the big defense contracts. And because a consultant supposedly has a unique service to offer, the contracts are almost always negotiated instead of subjected to competitive bidding. Worst of all is the inherent difficulty federal officials have in maintaining the proper arm's-length relationship with the consultant. A consultant's services are almost by definition more likely to be personally oriented than, say, a contract for stove bolts of rubber stamps. And while improprieties in an individual case may seem like small potatoes in our multibillion-dollar government, taken together they add up to millions of dollars that are being picked from the taxpayer's pocket

ne example of a consulting firm that has strayed over the line - and unfortunately it is not unique in its errors — is the Universal Systems

It is under investigation by the FBI and the Naval Investigative Service. for possible violations of law. Meanwhile, our own investigation has shown a clear pattern of abuse pieced together from internal company documents and interviews with past and present employees. Universal was organized in 1974 by a former Marine colonel, Ken Reusser, a wounded veteran of three wars. Joining him in the enterprise were three other ex-Marines and Reusser's second wife.

Reusser admitted "a few mistakes," but told our associate Peter-Grant that while he may have been 'naive'' he did not intentionally break any laws. And his naivete is borne out by company expense accounts that frequently list an unnamed "naval officer" as a luncheon guest - despite strict rules forbidding officials from accepting any gratuity from a government contractor

Yet naivete doesn't explain Reusser's remark at a staff meeting, as recorded in an internal document. 'How many of you,' 'Reusser is quoted as saying, "have taken a customer who is a naval officer to lunch and then submitted an expense chit with someone else's name? We all have.

Universal's favors go beyond free lunches. Company records show that Capt. Tim Connolly, then an assistant project manager in the Naval Electronics Command, accepted a fishing excursion in the Chesapeake Bay and tickets to the Marine Corps Ball.

Naval investigators found integnal Navy documents in Universal's safe. They concerned a contract Connolly was handling - and which Universal was trying to get. The company didn't wangle the consulting fee it was after, refused to give the company-its de-sired status. The firm folded without ever landing a government contract. PRESS PUSHOFF: The Carter administration's animosity toward the press is filtering down to the regulatory agencies. The Interstate Commerce Commission has given the heave ho to Traffic World, a watchdog trade publication that has occupied working space on the ICC premses for nearly a half century. In August, Traffic World's five ICC transports in wartime.

WASHINGTON - At his home in 7 Palm Springs within the next 30 days, Gerald R. Ford will get this hard word from professional political advisers: If you want to be president again and if you want to keep Ronald Reagan from being nominated, you must become an active candidate and soon. That means running in the pri maries, not waiting at the 19th hole. for a plea from the Republican party. Ford's advisers will not recommend, only lay out options and probabilities: If he opens a campaign during the next two months, perhaps 50-50; if heawaits a draft, forget it.

Such blatant talk is intended to: dispel the unrealistic aura developed around Ford by sycophants, especially former and present staffers. Ford has told friends that "you won't see me ploughing through the snows of New Hampshire this time;" yet he passionately wants to get back in the White House - or at least keep-Reagan out. At the forthcoming secret meeting in Palm Springs, he will betold he cannot have it both ways.

The need for Ford to face reality has been hastened by two interrelated developments. The first is that noactive candidate has been able to break out of the pack against the front-running Reagan. The opinion of Ford's advisers that only the former president can stop Reagan is widely shared by influential Republican

Nevak

-The second is Sen. Edward M. Ken nedy's prospect as the most likely Democraffe nominee. Since the polls show Reagan-beating President Carter but losing badly to Kennedy, the quest for an alternative has taken on new life

The advent of Kennedy had nothing to do with making Jerry Ford the charter member of the anybody-but-Reagan club. Within weeks after leaving office in 1977, he confided he might run again if it appeared Reagan would be nominated by default. Despite Reagan's peace-making efforts. Ford's bitter language in his memoirs ("his (Reagan's) penchant for offering simplistic solutions to hideously complex problems") shows that he still believes the 1976 Reagan challenge made Jimmy Carter presi-

But Ford has not spent the years out of power as an articulate voice carving out an opposition record. Instead, he has divided his time between the golf course and the lucrative podium, with scant time for politics. White Ted

Kenndy and other major figures addressed the National Urban League convention at Chicago in late July, Ford was in the same city talking to the Laundry and Dry Cleaning Institute's convention about Carter's Cabinet shake-up.

Passing up the Urban League for the dry cleaners is blamed by Ford's political supporters of his executive assistant, Maj. Robert E. Barrett. A young infantry officer serving as President Ford's Army aide. Barrett resigned from the service after the 1976 election to go with the defeated candidate to Palm Springs. Since then, he has become Ford's most intimate adviser.

Like his boss; Barrett is unaware that primaries obviate a brokered convention. Consequently, he has told politicians, newsmen and Ford himself that the Detroit convention will turn to the former president. Several of Ford's ex-staffers, possibly unenthusiastic about getting inducted into another relentless primary chase against Reagan, echo Barrett.

Many prominent Ford-for-president enthusiasts, such as Vermont's Gov. Richard Snelling, want him to run in the primaries but belive, against all evidence, that he can be nominated even if he does not. It will be the mission of the political pros at Palm Springs to persuade Ford that this is pure nonsense

One such adviser will inform Ford that to return to the White House in 1981, he must endure those New Hampshire snows in 1980. The Boston Globe poll giving Ford an edge over conviced this insider While fund-raising would prove diffieult this late and Ford's lackadaisi cal performance since 1976 has soured some erstwhile supporters, he could easily assemble a campaign organization. Key professionals in his 1976 campaign - Stu Spencer, Bob Teeter. and John Deardourff - have not joined any other campaign.

Some other prominent Republicans who would not join Ford still hope he decides to run; they reason that a renewed Reagan-Ford battle could unlock the process and open support for a third candidate. Jerry Ford's political advisers are not the only tepublicans who belive the alternative to his active candidacy is a Kennedy-vs.-Reagan race that they fervently want to avoid.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would print this so other housewives won't get stuck with what I did.

It began with a telephone call from a lady who said, "Congratulations! You have just won a free carpet cleaning! Don't move any furniture, our men will do everything. We will be out at 6 this evening to clean your carpet like new -- with absolutely no cost or obligation to you.'

Well, at 6 o'clock, one man came with a vacuum cleaner and a shampoo attachement. He talked to me for two solid hours trying to sell me the vacuum cleaner. I told him I couldn't afford to buy anything, and meanwhile he didn't make one move to clean my carpet. I was home alone, and kept telling him I wasn't in the market to buy anything, but he kept right on talking and trying to sell this thing. Abby, I finally got rid of him at ELEVEN o'clock, and I didn't get my carpet cleaned.

I was so nervous and angry by the time he left I could have screamed. Have you any suggestion besides a 7-foot watchdog and an unlisted telephone number to prevent such practices? - Mrs. K., Salt Lake City

DEAR MRS. K.: Yes. If anyone calls you to "congratulate" you on having "won" something, say "thank you but, I don't want anything for nothing." And don't let anyone in your home without first checking them out with the Better Business Bureau.

I'm stuck in the middle. Mom has for cards, but I can play a fairly decent game if I have to.

All of Larry's relatives play cards night and day. They think it's terrible that I don't go crazy over cards the

New York City readies big greeting for pope

By HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK (AP) - With banners flying from the Bronx to the Battery, with Yankee Stadium's scoreboard flashing "Welcome" and Shea's 'Shalom," and with the mayor promising a "bigger and better" reception than the pontiff got in Poland, New York City opened its arms today to Pope John Paul II.

Frenzied preparations for the pope's 28-hour visit to the city were under way even before his plane landed in Boston Monday at the start of the week-long, six-city tour.

Workers erected altars and scaffolds, children prepared gifts, and

BOSTON (AP) - From every lot in life they come to see and hear Pope John Paul II.

The young and the old, the ill and the well, the loved and the lonely. He is a man for all people.

And, by official estimate, up to a half million of them turned out in the rain to watch him celebrate Mass and listen to his homily on Boston Common on Monday.

"I greet all Americans without distinction," he said. "I want to meet you and tell you all - men and women of all creeds and ethnic origins, children and youth, fathers and mothers, the sick and the elderly - that God loves you, that he has given you a dignity as human beings that is beyond compare.

One hundred of the handicapped in wheelchairs listened from a reserved section in front of the altar. They included the blind, the deaf, the paralyzed, the amputees.

Pope Paul VI once called them the "aristocracy of the Kingdom of God." Pope John Paul II echoed this. "Follow Christ!" Pope John Paul II

Police estimated 5 million people would turn out along the pope's route, whatever the weather - and rain was

That figure would rival the crowd that gathered under sunny July skies for the tall ships of the Bicentennial celebration.

An estimated 70,000 persons were expected to jam into Yankee Stadium tonight as the pope celebrates Mass with Cardinal Terence Cooke, archbishop of New York, and Catholic bishops of the area. And about one million persons were expected for a major address Wednesday morning at Battery Park on Manhattan's southern tip, a crowd so huge city officials decided to close down the nearby Staten Island ferry slips for two hours.

The 53 miles of parkways and city streets along the pope's route were ordered closed a half-hour in advance of his arrival at each point, and transportation chiefs braced for an all-day rush hour, pleading with drivers to leave their cars at home.

But no one doubted that for two days, the city would see not only one of the most important visitors in its history, but some of the worst traffic jams of all time.

The second Roman Catholic pontiff to visit the city, Pope John Paul II will spend twice as long here as Pope Paul VI did on Oct. 4, 1965, and will get much closer to New York's ordinary citizens than Paul did during his whirlwind tour of the United Nations, the World's Fair and Yankee Sta-

Pack vents frustrations on helpless Patriots Barty Smith. Graves' interception at

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) - The Green Bay Packers had been 1-3. Their unique fans, while still fiercely loyal, had taken to booing of late.

Coach Bart Starr and quarterback David Whitehurst had been severely criticized all last week.

In other words, Packer safety Johnnie Gray said, the team had everything going for it.

"We were under no pressure tonight because nobody gave us a chance," Gray said after Monday night's 27-14 National Football League upset of the New England Patriots "Everybody was fired up," he said.

"Part of it was the Monday night thing - the national TV exposure. But there was a lot of personal pride at stake, too, because of all the things that were written and said."

The Packers vented their frustrations on the heavily favored Patriots with Whitehurst passing 15 yards to Aundra Thompson for one touchdown and running for another.

The Green Bay defense set up three touchdowns with interceptions of Steve Grogan passes, and tackled New England's scrambling quarterback five times for 31 yards in

The manner in which the Packers upset the team which had ranked third in the NFL on offense and second on defense was almost as startling as the upset itself.

Deluged with criticism after playing conservatively for a tie in regulation, only to lose in overtime at Minnesota'eight days earlier, the Packers this time held nothing back. *

They surprised New England with a 3-4 defensive alignment. They blitzed - a rarity for them. They passed from their own end zone. They ran unsuccessfully - on fourth-and-1.

They threw on first down. Receiver James Lofton tried a forward pass. They ran plays without a huddle and holder David Beverly even tried to pass to kicker Chester Marcol on a fake field goal play

If the wide-open play was in any way intended as a response to the past week's censure, Starr would not admit it.

But he couldn't mask his elation. That was as inspirational, as emotional a victory as I have ever been a part of," he said. "New England has one heck of a team. We were grateful just to be on national TV against them. To win is a huge bonus for us. "I think we had to open it up, to have a chance against them. We felt that, in order to prepare properly for a team of their caliber, we couldn't hold anything back."

'We had to use everything at our disposal," Starr said. "We just felt we had to, let it all hang out.

Coach Ron Erhardt, whose Patriots, 3-2, muffed a chance to tie Miami for the AFC East lead, said he had warned his team that the Packers might be at an emotional peak.

"It is Monday night. They had a 1-3 record and they are trying to come back," Erhardt said. "We alerted our squad to all of that. I don't think we took the Packers lightly

"But we had a couple of interceptions that hurt us, and they blitzed a lot. That surprised us more than any-

Two of the Packers' sacks of Grogan were accomplished by reserve defensive end Robert Barber, who played in place of the injured Ezra Johnson

Whitehurst's touchdown pass to Thompson with 9:03 left in the first half gave Green Bay the lead to stay at 44-7. A 28-yard gain on a pass from Whitehurst to Lofton sparked the 74yard, nine-play drive.

Two plays later, safety Steve Luke picked off a Grogan pass and returned 10 yards to the Patriot 10-yard line, setting up a 1-yard touchdown plunge by Terdell Middleton as the Packers led 20-7.

Tim Fox blocked Marcol's extra point try. The Patriots then had an 83-yard drive, culminated by a 6-yard touchdown pass from Grogan to Russ Francis 1:01 before halftime.

However, cornerback Mike McCoy intercepted a Grogan throw intended for Francis at the Packer 38 on the fifth scrimmage play of the second Whitehurst passed 21 yards to Lofton on the next play, then scored on a K. K. Compton, the USGA Senior Amateur champion last year, and Frany Guernsey, a two-time champion in this event and a runnerup once, demonstrated they were ready for the 43rd Texas Senior Men's Amateur golf tournament by sharing medalist honors with qualifying 72s over the demanding 7,349-yard Midland Country Club layout Monday.

So where does that leave two-time defending champion Bill Trombley of Dallas? Well, right beside them. As defending champion, Trombley was guaranteed one of the berths in the 32-man championship flight, so he was exempt from qualifying. Still, he went around just for fun and perhaps to get the feel of the course and shot a 72, which leaves everybody wondering what he'll do when he gets seri-

Compton, a retired Lt. General, showed a 36-36-72 card, birdying the par five second and par four tenth holes while taking bogies on the par five fourth and par three eighth. On the back nine, Compton had a bird on 10, then bogeyed 13, 14 and 16, but made up for it with a double eagle two on the par five 15th.

Guernsey, the winner of the Seniors in 1974-75 and runner up in 1977, shot 37-35-72, bogeying No. 1, five and nine and birdying eighth. On the back nine, he had birds at 10, 11, 15 and was a stroke over on 14 and 16. Trombley, the Seniors champion in 1977 and 1978, fired 37-35, taking bogeys at one and five and skinning a stroke off regulation at seven and 12, the most consistent round of all.

AFTER THE three low scores, Barnes Whitehead of Dallas was third at 74 while Kermit's Roy Peden shot a

Golfers with handicaps of eight or less were required to play in the championship qualifying and scores ranged up to 99 with one withdrawal, Mac Boring, Odessa. The cutoff point was 82 and since four golfers tied for the final championship flight berth, a card playoff was held with Lynn Fargo, San Antonio, and Otis Garner, Austin, making the elite group.

Richard Jennings, Lubbock, winner of the World Seniors at Broadmoor in Colorado Springs, Colo, recently, shot an 81 while Walter Locker, Jr., had the best score by a Midlander, 81. Bill Hightower, 81, and Walter Hubbard, 81, also made the title flight.

John Kline, Major-General, ret., from Houston, who finished one stroke behind Lt. General Compton in the USGA Men's Seniors last year, took a 76 and A.J. Clayton, the Texas Seniors champion in 1973-76 and runner up in 1974, struggled around in 81.

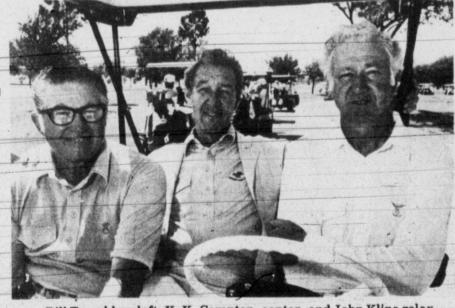

HOWEVER, IT really didn't matter what a golfer shot Monday as long as it was below 83. Everybody will be starting from scratch at 1:30 p.m. today for four rounds of medal play concluding Friday. There will be cuts after the second and third rounds Wednesday and Thursday, first to 16 and then to eight players.

Aubrey Wolfe, Houston, gained the title flight with a 77.

Web Wilder, San Antonio, and Raleigh Selby, Overton, were among former champions who saw their chances for adding to their laurels foiled. Wilder, winner in 1967-68, had an 83, 1969 winner Selby fired an 84.

Despite all of the best laid plans of Tournament Director Bill Potts and his staff, a minor disaster delayed the start of the round some 45 minutes when no one could locate a key to the locker room. Someone apparently might have overslept.

To give you an idea of how tough this field is, Tom Kite shot a 78. Of course, that's Tom Sr., not Jr...Some 65 golfers qualified for title play, but 252 were expected to tee off today when the match play flights join the championship golfers in for keeps play...Monday's activities were capped off by a buffet dinner and an official welcome from Texas Golf Association President Jack Harrell... 38-13 dismantling of Cincinnati, there should be no doubts that this group could develop into one helluva unit. Hey, it's not yet the fabulous 'Flex' - that marvelous all-purpose buffer zone that chewed things up quicker than you could say Vegamatic. But you know, it might never be. One day, in fact, they might be bet-

Some of the old familiar faces are still there. But one relatively new starter and a classy rookie from Nevada-Las Vegas playing his first full game, contributed heavily to what could only be termed the exctinction of the Bengals.

Randy Hughes, the prematurely gray haired fifth-year man from Oklahoma, came up with the first game-turning play. Hughes, of course, became a starter when Charlie Waters was felled with a knee injury. He may make folks forget their resident poster-boy. It was Hughes' first quarter interception and 68-yard return of a Ken Anderson pass that set up the first. Cowboy score and gave them the lead for good.

Said Hughes, "It was a big thrill for me. I've had my hands on the ball about three or four time this year but haven't made an interception. I hope I can make some more.'

Attesting to the intense heat of the afternoon, Randy keeled over following the return of his theft.

'I had to run about 50 yards," he said, "and when I got by Anderson it wasn't the head so much as my legs. I thought I was going to have a heat stroke. In fact, when I came back to the bench I didn't know if I was going to be able to go back on the field or not. It didn't have anything to do with conditioning. It was just my legs. They just went down.

Perfectionist that he is, Hughes didn't feel the defense was all that impressive.

"I think that overall the defenseplayed pretty well, good enough to win. It wasn't exceptional," he said. Surely, Randy would get an argument from dejected Bengal boss

Mitchell, a talkative youngster with radar instincts, moved into the starting lineup at left cornerback because of Benny Barnes' recurring foot prob-

Asked when he was told he'd be starting, Mitchell said, "I guess about

Wednesday or Thursday. The coaches put more emphasis on 'you've got to do this and you've got to do that.""

Concerning the pressure of starting, he said, "It didn't really bother me. Playing for the Cowboys, you don't feel as much pressure on you as an individual." For the 22-year-old, the opportunity to start and go the distance was something he'd been waiting for. "I hadn't got a chance to play a full game and this really helped my confidence," he said. And his desire to score was nearly fulfilled, too, when he zoomed 36yards to the Cincinnati 12 in the third quarter with a pass that was intended for Bengal wide receiver Steve Kreider. The super play helped set-up a Dalla's tally. "I had both hands on it," explained Mitchell. "I remember I got a good block from Harvey (Martin), It was like a dream. I wanted to score bad: Not only for the offense, but for my own self. I had not been in the end zone since I was in high school.' As far as Mitchell's concerned, being a starter is peachy keen.

"As we got going more, I felt real good," he said. "You know, once you get a good taste, you just want To be honest, there were a ton of defensive stars Sunday for the Cowboys, namely anybody wearing white jerseys and silver pants. The once dynamite Cincy offense, still showing some remnants of its past explosiveness, dented the pumped-up 'Poke protectors for 285 total yards. Only once that boiling afternoon, in the third quarter, as coach Tom Landry mentioned, did Dallas have anything close to what could be called a lapse.

Middle linebacker Bob Breunig, quietly on his way to perhaps becoming one of the game's finest, was simply incredible. The whirling dervish made seven solo stops, assisted on five others and had two quarterback sacks.

Or how about Randy White, who had four tackles, five assists and a

Don't forget Harvey Martin, who was his usual beautiful self, causing all kinds of havor in the enemy backfield and creating a pass deflection that rookie lineman Bruce Thornton pilfered.

Yesiree, folks, these cats have had their tough times. They've had to compensate for the loss of Waters, who helped direct the pass coverage. Jethro Pugh retired and Too Tall defected to the boxing ring.

So far, however, they've overcome. And they shouldn't have to worry about any more bad raps.

Grand Prix drivers charged

MILAN, Italy (AP) - Italian Formula-one driver Riccardo Patrese and the starter of 1978 Grand Prix of Italy at Monza have been indicted for the accident in which Swedish ace Ronnie Peterson was fatally injured, reliable Milan court sources reported Patrese and Gianni Restelli, both charged with manslaughter, were also indicted for the injuries suffered by Italian driver Vittorio Brambilla. He suffered a skull fracture in the pileup of cars which followed the start of the Italian Formula-one grand prix, the same sources said.

Armando Spataro, the Milan judge in charge of the investigation, did not confirm nor deny the report. "I can not confirm officially they have been charged," he said. However some of his aides reported indictments notices already have been

BALTIMORE (AP) - California Manager Jim Fregosi says it's not a life-or-death situation for the Angels in the opener of the American League playoffs against Baltimore, and the Orioles' most recent post-season performances bear him out.

Palmer chooses Reds for pennant

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) - Coming into this weekend, there was a good chance Dave Palmer would be on the mound Wednesday, pitching against either the Pittsburgh Pirates in a one-game playoff or the Cincinnati Reds in a best-of-five series for the National League pennant.

Now, the Glens Falls native, and millions of others, will be in front of their television set watching the Pirates and the Reds square off.

Palmer, a highly successful rookie with the Montreal Expos, said Monday he thinks the Reds will beat the Pirates, a team that outlasted the Expos to win the National League's Eastern Division on the last day of the regular season

'Both the Pirates and Reds have good offensive clubs," said Palmer, who finished the season with a 10-2 record, including a club-record eight

"However, because the Reds have a pitching staff that is better rested. I think Cincinnati will win the National League playoffs," Palmer said. They could go to the five-game day's 7:30 p.m. start in the best-of-five series, "It's a very big advantage to win the first one, but if you lose it's not over.

The Angels, winners of the AL West Division title for the first time, will be meeting a team that is in the playoffs for the sixth time in 11 years and holds a 12-6 record in league champi-

But the Orioles, East Division winners with the major leagues' best record of 102-57, have lost six of their last eight playoff games and have dropped both of their last two series each time after winning the open-

Jim Palmer, sidelined with arm trouble much of the season, will start for the Orioles against another veteran right-hander, Nolan Ryan. Palmer, who finished 10-6, was picked over 23-game winner Mike Flanagan to start the opener because Manager Earl Weaver wanted the benefit of his experience under playoff pressure. The three-time Cy Young Award winner is 7-2 in postseason competition and says his arm "feels great. It feels just like it used to Flanagan, scheduled to pitch Game Two here Thursday, heads a staff that led the league with a 3.27 earned run average and maintains Baltimore's tradition of strong pitching.

In the Angels, the Orioles' pitchers will be challenged by a group of heavy hitters who averaged .281 as a team with 164 home runs.

'There's no doubt that our strongest point is our hitting and the Orioles' is their pitching," Fregosi said Monday after rain washed out a scheduled practice here

'We've never really been a high hitting team until this year," he said. "Pitching and defense were always the Angels' strong points before. We made up for it this year, though."

The Orioles, who won the season series from the Angels 9-3, go into the playoffs in good physical shape except for outfielder Gary Roenicke. Roenicke was struck on the left elbow by a thrown ball during batting practice Sunday and may be sidelined for the playoff opener.

'Except for Roenicke, we're all set to go," said Orioles Manager Earl Weaver. "I'm looking for a good series against California. What we have to do is go out and play like we have played all year.

Fregosi said the Angels also are in good shape, particularly among the pitchers where a strong performance by Frank Tanana in last week's division clincher provided a boost.

"It's going to be a fine series. I'm just glad I finally have a pitching staff that's healthy," said Fregosi.

Hernandez grabs NL batting title

ST. LOUIS (AP) - What-can you do for an encore after putting together the kind of a season just enjoyed by Keith Hernandez? 'All I can have now is consistency,' said Hernandez, 26, the slick-fielding first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, after capturing his first National League batting title. "It's just a matter of having the same kind of productivity," continued

Hernandez after climbing from a .255

season in 1978 to a .344 mark in 1979. "The great ones do it year in and year out," he said. "I've proved some things to myself and to others. But it's only one year. Next spring, it won't mean a thing." Hernandez, a product of the Cardinals' farm system, became the first St. Louis player to earn the batting title since Joe Torre, now the manager of the New York Mets, batted .363

Appropriately, he clinched the title Sunday against the Mets, enabling Torre to extend formal congratula-

"Joe's always been a friend of mine," Hernandez said following a brief ceremony near home plate. "When I first came up, he was always ready and willing to help me in any way he could.

In addition to the batting crown, Hernandez led the NL with 48 doubles and 116 runs scored. He had 11 triples among his 210 hits. And his 105 runs batted in were built with the help of only 11 home runs.

Except for Torre, probably no other Cardinals' player had put together a better year since Stan Musial, now a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, retired in 1963. "I was more relaxed than I've ever been," Hernandez explained. "It was only in the last month that I started getting anxious. The final two weeks seemed like they lasted two Hernandez' 313 total bases, his previous status as a Gold Glove performer and his excellence in living up to the promise once predicted for him are certain to rank him among the top vote-getters in balloting for the league's Most Valuable Player. But he is under no false illusions. "I think Willie Stargell will win it," he said of the voting which may lean toward the long-time leader of the Pittsburgh Pirates, champions of the

"If I get it, I'll feel that I deserved. it. But a lot of it is sentiment. And that's not wrong," said Hernandez.

King disappointed in crowd

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) -Billie Jean King looked around the Met Center Monday night and wondered why there weren't more people on hand to view the U.S. Women's Indoor Tennnis Championships.

"People don't realize that the first rounds of tournaments can be just as exciting as the later rounds," said King, who won her opening-round match over a rusty Terry Holladay

"If you check the scores you'll find that first-round matches are usually very close, very competitive," she added. "But I guess people are edueated to think in terms of the semifinals and finals.

An estimated 3,000 fans turned out for the $100,000 event, which runs through Sunday.

The 71st annual indoor tourney is sponsored by Michelob Light beer. King, the No. 3 seed in the 32-player field, was one of three seeded players to advance after the first day of play. The others were No. 2 Tracy Austin, who beat Barbara Potter 6-1, 6-3, and No. 8 Kerry Reid, who dispatched Sylvia Hanika 6-4, 6-2.

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Oiler Coach Bum Phillips has been criticzed for using Earl Campbell too nuch and he's been cricitzed for not ising him enough. If anyone is inclined to criticize, it would be the latter group's turn to stand up and be heard. Campbell, bothered by a foot oruise, rushed carried only 18 times in Sunday's 31-10 victory over Cleveland out Phillips expects few complaints Campbell cored his third touchdown of the game on the first drive of he third quarter and then gave the rest of the Oiler running corps much needed work "I don't think anyone will criticize that offense," Phillips said Monday.

'We played a lot of people not be-ause we were ahead but because they are good players. Earl could have carried 35 times if we needed

Boobie Clark ran with the ball for the first time this season. Starting fullback Tim Wilson had his biggest production of the season with 46 yards on four carries and Rob Carpenter carried 11 times for 57 yards. · The Oilers had all the breaks their way Sunday, Phillips said.

We didn't do anything differently, but it turned out differently," said Phillips, who usually has to sweat out second half rally. "This is one time we had everything go our way. We had a couple of balls dropped and they bounced right back to us.

ABC picks Saturday matchup

NEW YORK (AP) - Saturday's game between Michigan and Michigan State at East Lansing, Mich., will be televised nationally, ABC-TV announced Monday, with air time at 12:30 p.m., CDT.

The teams are 3-1 this season, both having lost to Notre Dame. Michigan bowed to the Fighting Irish 12-10 on Sept. 15 while Michigan State dropped a 27-3 decision last weekend.

March by Panamanians into canal zone peaceful

BALBOA, Panama (AP) - Vice President Walter Mondale planned to tour the former canal zone today as cleanup crews tackled mountains of trash left from Panamanians celebrating the end of 75 years of American jurisdiction.

White House spokesmen said Mondale would visit the Miraflores Locks, cruise through the Gaillard Cut to Gamboa and fly by helicopter over the canal area before heading back to Washington.

Americans living in the zone and Panama City residents both agreed Monday's march into the zone by thousands of Panamanians was peaceful. There had been fears of friction between the two groups.

"I think it went off pretty well. There was no violence. There were no incidents. I consider that good," said the spokesman for the new Panama Canal Commission, Vic Canel

The commission is the new U.S. government agency created to run the canal in conjunction with Panama until the year 2000. It is headed by a board of five Americans and four. Panamanians.

The United States will keep five military bases in the area until the end of the century. After that the only official American presence in the Panama assumed jurisdiction over the zone Monday in accordance with the new canal treaties signed in 1977 Torrijos, the Panamanian strongman. Panama took over responsibility for most basic services in the zone as well as the operation of the ports and the transcontinental railroad.

Canel said the Panamanian takeover of the railroad went smoothly. The 51-mile line was opened in 1855, 59 years before the canal was completed

Panamanian cleanup crews were hard at work on the acres of trash left from Monzay's symbolic march by an estimated 250,000 persons from Panama City to Albrook Air Field. President Aristides Royo, Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo and Mondale spoke to the throng there.

Torrijos, under whose 10-year-rule the new treaties were concluded, did not appear. He had been expected both at Albrook and at Fort Amador for the installation of the new joint American-Panamanian defense command. Instead Arroyo's office distributed a note from the former chief of state congratulating Lopez Portillo on his speech. It was signed "from some place on Panama's sovereign territory, eitizen Omar Torrijos. Torrijos is considered a national hero for concluding the new canal treaties. Many of the marchers carried posters of the fatigue-clad general into the zone amid chants of ing from Albrook, but most returned to Panama City by late afternoon. Dancing in the streets, firecrackers and fireworks followed.

Stock market

NEW YORK (AP) - Worries about rising gold prices and interest rates pushed stock prices down sharply for the second straight session today. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues was off 7.93 to 870.65 at 2 p.m. Declining issues led those advancing on the New York Stock Exchange by a 3-1 margin.

The price of gold broke through the $400-an-ounce barrier and closed at about $413 an ounce in Zurich and London today, while the dollar was mixed.

The chairman of Chase Manhattan Bank, Donald C. Platten, said that the prime lending rate has "not quite yet reached the peak." The prime - charged by banks on loans to their best corporate customers - now stands at 131/2 percent and has been rising steadily in recent weeks as the Federal Reserve tightens credit in an attempt to stem inflation.
The NYSE's emposite

common-stock index was off .54 to 61.70 at 2 p.m.

Big Board volume came to 17.84 million shares at 2

Louisiana Land & Exploration was the NYSE's most-active issue as takeover rumors continued to swirl around the firm. It rose 34 to 46%, with a 138,000share block trading at 451/4.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .89 to 24.29,

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Export wheat 4.94-5.00. Milo-5.36-5.57. Yellow corn. 3.21-2.3.421-2. Oats 2.101-2.2.141-2.

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain and soybean futures rose Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade, influenced by higher precious metals prices.

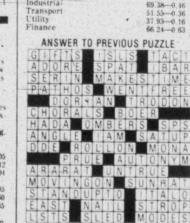

Light country cash sales of corn were reported, leading to only modest harvestime hedge-type selling in the corn pit.

Many graders moved to cover short positions, or open selling positions, taken last week.

Analysts said the sharp rally in precious metals prices that carried both gold and silver to new record highs were seen as signals of an absence of support for the dollar. A dollar decline is seen by some traders as increasing the appeal of dollar priced grains to foreign buyers.

At the close, soybeans were 6 to 11½ ceffls higher, November $7.2½, wheat was 13 to 20 cents higher. December $1.85%, coff was 8 to 10 cents higher. December $2.90½, and oats were unchanged to $4½ cents higher. December $3.66%.

Grocery bills increase again

By The Associated Press

Meat prices led the way as supermarket bills increased by almost half a percent last month, an Associated Press marketbasket surveyy shows.

The latest increase brought the total rise in grocery prices for the first three-quarters of the year to just over 6 percent. One of the few encouraging signs in September was a drop in coffee prices. The AP drew up a random list of 14 commonly purchased food and non-food products and checked the prices at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973. The prices have been rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. Among the highlights of the latest survey

-Prices for the three meats checked by the AP went up in more than half the cities, with chopped chuck leading the way. The price of a pound of chopped chuck increased at the checklist store in eight cities. On the average, a pound of chopped chuck at the checklist stores cost $1.96 at the start of October, up 5 percent from a month earlier and up almost one-third from the start of the year. Meats accounted for 21 percent of the items in the AP survey and 43 percent of the increases.

-The marketbasket total went up during September at the checklist store in four cities and went down in seven cities. It was unchanged in two cities. The increases were sharper than the decreases and on an overall basis, the marketbasket bill rose by fourtenths of a percent during September. That compared with an increase of-nine-tenths of a percent in

-Since Jan. 1, the marketbasket bill has risen by an average of 6.1 percent at the checklist store. Food prices generally have fluctuated more than nonfoods. During September, for example, non-foods accounted for only 8 percent of the increases although, like meats, they represented 21 percent of the items on the list.

-Coffee prices dropped slightly after rising for several months. The increases followed a frost in Brazil that dashed hopes of a coffee surplus. The latest survey showed the price of a pound of coffee dropped at the checklist store in six cities. On the average, coffee cost $3.16 a pound at the start of October, 21/2 percent below the $3.24 level of a month earlier, but more than 4 percent above the Aug. 1

A look at the overall number of items in the AP survey showed fewer increases during September than during August. Here are the percentages of increases and decreases:

Aug. Sep. 34.6 26.9 Down 19.8 20.9 Unchanged 40.6 47.8 Unavailable 5.0 4.4 The AP survey originally included 15 items, but chocolate chip cookies were dropped from the list because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey. No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents. The day of the week on which the check was made varied depending on the month. LABOR BRIEFS

Security guards end nuke plant walkout

AMARILLO (AP) - Department of Energy supervisors at the nation's only final-assembly plant for nuclear weapons said operations were "normal" after a walkout by security guards ended.

The guards, members of Local 38 of the International Guard Union had struck the plant when their contract expired Sept. 16. They ratified new manage ment proposals Saturday and returned to work

UAW wins vote

DETROIT (AP) - Workers at the Rockwell Aero -Commander plant in Bethany, Okla., have voted by a 3-2 margin to have the United Aoto Workers represent them, the union says.

The union had been trying to organize workers at the Oklahoma City plant since 1954.

Strikers get more support

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Actors George Kennedy and Glenn Ford joined celebrities supporting office workers striking major film studios as negotiations in the dispute remained deadlocked. Talks, under the direction of Tim O'Sullivan of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, were scheduled to resume today.

Tractor talks stalled

Purchase talks may resume

CHICAGO (AP) - As efforts to increase freight volume on the strike-crippled Rock Island Railroad. continued, a Chicago transportation agency said it would renew 2-year-old talks to buy the line's commuter service.

Striking Rock Island employes were awaiting some word today on terms under which they will return to work, according to a spokesman for the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks.

Ford to match GM contract

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) - Both labor and man agment say Ford Motor Co.'s current cash bind will not stand in the way of a contract matching one the United Auto Workers union won from General Motors Corp.

Ford on Monday presented its economic offer, one modeled on the GM settlement. UAW President Douglas A. Fraser said it seemed to offer a basis for settling the economic differences, though Vice President Ken Bannon warned that "special problems remain" before the Thursday midnight strike deadline.

Negotiators locked up

Negotiators for the Lansing, Mich., school board and the city's striking teachers were looked in a courthouse today after a judge ordered them to stay together and keep talking, The Associated Press much authority. "There is simply no reason to assume that a decision at the federal level will be a better decision than one made in a community or state capi-

They also oppose a provision which would prevent local and state governments from halting an energy project once construction has begun.

Further, the critics also urge that the mobilization board be permitted to designate only 24 projects, and allow the Energy Department to screen the initial choices

Morrow says imports may grow

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) - Domestic production of oil and natural gas must continue at current levels or the nation will be forced to increase its oil imports in the 1980s, the president of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana said Mon-

Richard M. Morrow said that despite stronger conservation measures, a low rate of energy growth and more reliance on coal and nuclear power, the country will consume more oil in 1990 than it does in 1979.

Speaking to the New Mexico Oil and Gas Association's annual meeting, Morrow said solar energy, synthetic fuels and other alternative energy sources will not contribute significantly to the country's energy supply for the next 10 or 20 years.

Earlier, the president of the Mountain States Legal Foundation, James G. Watt, told delegates that oil and gas companies must assert themselves in court if they want energy development to continue.

Morrow said that because coal production and nuclear power are politically unpopular issues, the nation will continue to rely heavily on natural gas and oil until 1990.

'From whatever source we expect to get incremental oil and gas, the challenges - physical, in terms of people and equipment, and economic, in terms of capital investment - will

"There is no evading the blunt truth," Morrow said. "The oil industry, shackled by federal regulation on the one hand and widespread public misunderstanding on the other, will be hard pressed to meet those chal-

Maintaining the current level of oil production could require the oil industry to drill twice the current number of wells, Morrow said. He said the oil industry will spend about $24 billion this year on drilling operations. He estimated oil companies will need to spend $40 billion annually in the next few years just to keep production at its current level. Morrow said oil companies have been turning their profits back into exploration for new sources of oil in recent months. In New Mexico, the

'With such a clear picture available of what happens when controls are relaxed only a little, it seems incongruous that the administration's program for phased decontrol is so structured that 75 percent or more of the benefit would be captured by the tax collector," Morrow said.

Morrow was referring to the proposed windfall profits tax which has been sharply criticized by oil and gas industry executives at their annual meeting. Excessive regulation by the federal government has inhibited, not helped, oil and gas production in this state, Morrow said.

Exxon and home heating oil:

Exxon's home heating oil is sold to homeowners through independent distributors.

Our wholesale price to distributors averages about 62¢ per gallon. This is now 5% below the industry average.

We offer the same credit terms we had before the oil shortage. They are equal to or better than those of competition.

We expect to make available as much home heating oil this winter as last winter.
