Inmates escape

MOUNT PLEASANT, Texas (AP) - Armed with a pistol and a straight razor, four Titus County Jail inmates took the keys from a jailer and escaped Friday night.

Titus County Sheriff John Moss identified the escapees as Don Jackson, 17; Billy Ray Barnett, 24; Tommy Earl Turner, 19; and Billy Lynwood, 21.

Moss said the escapees should be considered armed and dan-

Chlorine drained

MISSISSAUGA, Ontario (AP) - Technicians drained all 20 tons of deadly chlorine from a derailed tank car Friday and ended an evacuation for the last 89,000 area residents ordered to leave their homes six nights Authorities ordered 223,000 people out of the area Sunday, the day after 19 cars derailed in this Toronto suburb. Most of the evacuees were allowed to return home Tuesday.

Several of derailed cars were filled with propane that caught fire a few feet from chlorine tanker, and officials ordered the evacuation for fear the tanker would burn and send deadly chlorine gas into the air.

Woman barred

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - A Lubbock woman was ordered by a state district judge on Friday to stop attending services at a Baptist church.

Members of the congregation of the Lyons Chapel Baptist Church in Lubbock brought the suit against Bobbi Greenwood, who was expelled from church membership in July 1978.

After being expelled, she continued to attend services, regularly interrupting with loud and profane language and threats against members, according to the lawsuit.

The church is affiliated with the National Baptist Convention U.S.A. Inc.

Spill 'slowed'

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — The Coast Guard reported Friday that only a trickle of crude oil was spilling into the Gulf of Mexico from the burning tanker Burmah Agate, crippled in a fiery and fatal ship collision on Nov. 1.

A light to moderate wind switched from the north to the east and southeast, but no more oil was reported to have reached Texas beaches.

Cook's release accompanied by new threat

By The Associated Press

Militant Iranians holding the U.S. Embassy in Tehran have released the embassy's Italian cook, but threatened harsh action Friday against their remaining hostages if the United States sends the shah to any country except Luigi Salvia, the 51-year-old cook, called his mother at her home on Capri and told her he was freed Thursday. The State Department in Washington also reported Salvia had been released, but said he was the only one and the embassy invaders still hold 60 or 62 Americans and about eight non-Americans. The Italian news agency ANSA quoted Salvia as saying he had been under "strict guard by armed Islamic students" as a "possible spy" at a house inside the large embassy compound. It also said Salvio reported that he and his Dutch-born wife and their 8-year-old daughter were staying wih Iranian friends in Tehran and could not leave for Italy immediately "because one needs special permits to leave Tehran and there is a little confusion over

HUGE CROWDS OF SHOUTING MARCHERG DESCENDED on the occupied embassy Friday in a virulent anti-American demonstration. Some 80,000 marchers clamored outside the compound after Moslem Sabbath prayers in what NBC-TV news in Tehran called the biggest march since the Nov. 4 takeover. A long line of taxis carried effigies of animals which demonstrators hit as they shouted anti-American slogans.

In Washington, President Carter told reporters there were no encouraging developments in the crisis, which entered its 13th day

Foreign diplomats predicted a long siege for the hostages. Shortly after the takeover, students released some non-American hostages and there had been reports they would release the remaining Indians, Pakistanis and Salvia.

AYATOLLAH RUHOLLAH KHOMEINI, THE 79-YEAR-OLD MOSLEM revolutionary leader who has played a major role in the standoff between Iran and the United States, has canceled all appointments for three weeks because of "slight fatigue and illness," the state radio said.

But an evening broadcast by Tehran Radio said Khomeini, at his headquarters in the holy city of Qum, received Abolhassan Bani Sadr, the Foreign Ministry supervisor. It said Bani Sadr met with reporters after the meeting and was asked about U.S. economic measures against Iran. The broadcast quoted him as replying, "There can be no war without losses and damage," but "the losses suffered by the U.S. would be many times more than Iran's.'

A spokesman for the militants inside the embassy told Tehran Radio, monitored in London: "We announce the message of the Iranian people to the world that if America expels the shah, it will be committing an offense even greater than its previous ones. The shah should be delivered to the Iranian nation with his hands tied. If America expels the shah, it must be certain that harsher decisions will be taken against the hostages." The shah is a patient in a New York hospital.

Deportation could be result of check

By The Associated Press

Immigration authorities said Friday that about 10 percent of the 4,000 Iranians interviewed so far under orders from President Carter are subject to deportation, and protests continued around the nation against the holding of American hostages in Iran. Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd said Iranian demonstrators make his blood boil and he wouldn't blame Americans for "throwing rocks, eggs or anything else." But there was also some opposition to Carter's order to check the visas of all 50,000 Iranian students in this country. The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service reported in Washington that agents had interviewed about 4,000 Iranian students since the president ordered a check on the status of all Iranian students living in the United Of those interviewed, INS spokesman Verne Jervis said, about 400 are subject to deportation because they dropped out of school, held jobs without INS permission or attended college only part time.

WITH SOME 60 AMERICANS BEING HELD HOSTAGE IN THE U.S. embassy in Tehran, there were these developments in the United States: - The school board at Greenville (S.C.) Technical College voted to bar Iranian students from classes during the quarter beginning Nov. 28, if the American hostages are not released. About 100 Iranians are enrolled at the two-year college. - The Students for a Liberation Society denounced plans to deport Iranian students with invalid visas, comparing the attempt to the internment of Japanese-Americans during World War II.

- An estimated 2,500 persons, many in uniforms ranging from that of the military reserve to baseball togs, gathered on the Southeastern Oklahoma State University campus in Durant for what was billed as an old-time American rally. Just two days earlier on the campus, some Iranian students had to seek refuge in the student union until college officials were able to disperse 40 sign-carrying students.

- An immigration official in Seattle said some Iranian students found to be out of compliance may be elilgible for reinstatement. He cited the example an Iranian woman who has married an American and may be able to avoid deportation by becoming a permanent U.S. resident. In Cincinnati, Lloyd Harris of the immigration service said the crackdown on Iranians "could never become a witch hunt. They have the right to a constitutional court process; they have their rights and benefits under law, just as everyone else does.' - An ABC News poll showed Carter receiving strong public support for his handling of the situation. The random nationwide telephone survey of 502 Americans on Thursday showed 64 percent of those polled approved of his actions, while 23 percent disapproved. Twelve percent of those polled favored returning the deposed Shah of Iran to his homeland, as militant students holding the hostages have demanded.

down offers to take the post. Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter on Friday named Philip M. Klutznick, a Chicago businessman and Democratic party contributor, to become secretary of Commerce.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Klutznick has "a great deal of experience in the two most important areas of concern to the Commerce Department" - international trade and economic develop-

Carter also named Luther Hodges Jr., who had been considered a darkhorse contender for the commerce post, to fill the new post of deputy secretary in a reorganized Department of Commerce.

In that post, which will be created by a reorganization plan now making its way through Congress, Hodges would be second in command to Klutznick.

Klutznick, who would be by far the oldest member of Carter's Cabinet, was described by Powell as "a very active 72."

He has been a heavy donor to the Democratic party. Federal Election Commission records show he gave $1,000, the legal maximum, to Carter's 1976 campaign and a total of $7,500 to the Democratic Finance

Carter recently nominated Shirley Hufstedler, a federal appeals judge, to the newly created job as secretary of Education. Carter had sought a businessman of international stature to head Commerce, which is slated to be upgraded and given the primary mission of promoting sales of U.S. products overseas.

At least eight persons hurt in Grand Canyon plane crash

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP) - A tourist plane crashed on the south rim of the Grand Canyon on Friday afternoon, bursting into flames after the 44 persons aboard climbed from the wreck. All those aboard survived, but at least eight persons were injured.

Dennis Feldman, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration in Washington, said the left engine on the twin-engine Martin 404 failed on takeoff and that the plane crashed 11/2 miles northeast of the Grand Canyon

More cold weather due

Instead of getting colder with the approach of winter, nights in Midland are warming up a few degrees.

But they are still nippy - in the low 40s, said a weatherman at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

But apparently that is only a brief respite from the freezing and nearfreezing temperatures, which have visited the Midland area since early in the month. The weatherman says he's expecting the weather to turn colder again by the middle part of next week. Daily temperatures, warmer than the usual, will be near 70 today and

The overnight low temperature near dawn Friday was 33 degrees, which was well above the record low of 18 degrees for the date in 1959. Friday's high of 65 degrees was 21 degrees away from tying the record high of 86 degrees for a Nov. 17. Winds today are expected to be southerly at 5 to 10 mph.

The crash of the Las Vegas-bound flight occurred at 4:53 p.m. EST. Many of the passengers were part of a French-speaking tourist group, said Susan Bradley, an emergency medi-cal technician who treated at least six persons injured in the crash.

She said one person she treated suffered a broken leg, another had a back injury and others had cuts. She said at least two other persons were taken to a Flagstaff hospital.

Nevada Airlines spokeswoman Sharon Wicks said Arizona Air Traffic Controller Frank Spencer had advised that all the passengers were able to disembark at the site of the

Firefighter injured in blaze at Midland firm's warehouse

by Bruce Partain)

By ED TODD Staff Writer

A rookie fireman was injured here Friday morning in a blazing warehouse fire that was apparently ignited by a faulty overhead gas heater.

The fire inflicted heavy roof and ceiling damage on the Britton Industries warehouse, but most of the damage was caused by water pumped in to contain the blaze and by heat and

The injured rookie, 26-year-old Robert Segovia, one of 15 firefighters battling the blaze, suffered an apparent wrenched neck and an eye injury when part of the roof and ceiling fell on him as he was helping to hose out the fire, said Battalion Chief Doyle Land of the Midland Fire Department.

Segovia, who was felled by the crashing debris, was treated and released at Midland Memorial Hospi-

Fifteen firemen from three stations reponded to the fire at about 9:45 a.m. The fire, which shot about 15 feet above the roof and billowed dark smoke, was contained about an hour and 15 minutes later, Land said. Firefighting and mop-up operations lasted about four hours.

"The heater evidently got the boards in the attic hot" and kindled the fire in the east end of the warehouse, Land said.

Firemen, using two pumping trucks, dumped about 10,500 gallons of water onto and into the wooden, stuccoed building. "And we couldn't hardly chop through that old thing (at first), Land said, "and the roof was weak."

But firemen eventually chopped through the walls and roof with their axes to make port holes for themselves and their spraying hoses. The fire was restricted to the attic, Land

"That was about the hardest one (building) I can remember in years to get through," he said. Land said firemen were able to 'save" about a third of the building, which houses awnings, fences, trailhouse axles and other supplies, at 28-A Industrial Loop on Midland's west side. "There wasn't anything burned inside that building," which he said resembled an old military barracks.

Most damage to materials stored in the warehouse was due to smoke, heat and water. The building was owned by Ronald John Hensley, 34, sold and repaired boats before arifle bullet blew out his eyes Feb. 15 as he was leaving his South Padre Bland condominium.

In late September or early October 1978, according to Hensley, Burkhalter met him for lunch. Burkhalter is accused of trying to arrange Hensley's death

"He wanted me to quit seeing Laurie," said Hensley, who testified 40 minutes in a soft, calm voice: "He offered me money to quit seeing Hensley said he refused $5,000 the doctor offered. On Oct. 30, 1978, Hensley and Mrs. Burkhalter married.

Burkhalter leaned back in his chair throughout Hensley's testimony without displaying any emotion. Hensley was the last of 38 state witnesses in the case. Assistant District Attorney Joe Hendley rested the prosecution at 10:35 a.m. Defense lawyer Warren Burnett would call several of Burk-halter's relatives as witnesses. A week before their marriage, the doctor's ex-wife left her South Padre Island apartment and arrived at Burkhalter's Pasadena Memorial Hospital in what the state alleges was a kidnapping.

Burkhalter also has been indicted for kidnapping.

"I knew when she was missing and where she was," Hensley said. Hensley said the physician called him during the incident.

"The doctor said he was going to press charges against me for beating up Laurie," he said. "I told the man he had better not hurt her."

Burkhalter called the couple so many times after their marriage that they had to take their telephone off the hook, Hensley said.

Hensley testified he was shot about 8 a.m. as he was unlocking his car.

"I thought I had been shocked," he said. "As soon as I was shot, I was blind. I put my hand to my face and I could feel parts of my eye, bone and skin hanging on my face," he told the

Accusations of pet eating threaten refugee relations

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) - Charges that Indochinese refugees are eating the neighborhood pets are threatening their coexistence with low-income whites and blacks in St. Paul public housing projects.

The refugees, mostly Hmong tribesmen from Laos, vigorously deny the charges and say the complaints may stem from racial prejudice and resentment among their neighbors in the Summit-University area.

The Hmongs, for their part, say they do not even allow dogs inside the house, much less eat them.

But authorities say they had received several complaints in recent months from neighborhood residents who claimed they had witnessed animal thefts or had seen pets skinned and prepared for food.

"We never eat dogs and cats," said Pancho Yang, a Hmong refugee from Laos who works for Catholic Charities of St. Paul. "We've got some problems. Before, the black people lired here and now we are here and some of the black people can't move in. Maybe that's the problem.

Virginia Payne, director of the Ramsey County Humane Scriety, said her agency had been unable to confirm any of the alleged incdents. "There have been too may calls from too many people to saythat it's just a rumor or that there's nithing to it," she said. "We just don't know what to think.

A forner city dog pound employee, Alvin Edgman, said he found more than a dozen "dressed out" dog carcassesin streets surrounding a public housing project this summer and

"Tie dogs had been completely skined out and the meat removed justlike you'd see done with a cow or left was the hide and the head, just tosed out in the street."

2000 Indochinese refugees living in R. Paul are Laotian Hmong people, aid Jane Kretzmann, supervisor of the Indochinese Resettlement Office for the state Department of Welfare. "I tend to think it's untrue," she

The Indochinese refugees asked about the charges seemed appalled and embarrassed.

"I just don't know why people say that," said Neng Thao, head of the Hmong Association. "Last year Hmong people and young blacks had problems, fighting. But this year we don't have a problem. Maybe they just don't like our people.

Leng Vang, a Laotian social worker, said that eating dogs was considered a taboo by Hmongs.

Despite denials by officials, woman cites refugees' health

ALDERGROVE, Britis Columbia (AP) - A woman who tok four Vietnamese boat people ino her home says immigration officials were dishonest in saying the reugees had no health problems.

Suzanne LaRose, 31 of this Fraser Valley community so theast of Vancouver, says she fear that by taking the family into her time in October she has endangered he health of her 18-month-old child.

Members of the 'ran family, who moved into the LaRse home last Oct. 17, are suffering from hepatitis, intestinal parasites an suspected tuberculosis.

"I feel the goernment has been dishonest becaue we asked immigration people wether there was any risk of disease and they said no,"

Mrs. LaRose sid. "I would no have gone ahead if I had known I would be putting my little boy Christian at risk."

Doctors in the Aldergrove area say many other refugee families are suffering communicable diseases, despite assurances the boat people were screened before being admitted to Canada

Provincial health officials have been concerned about the health of British Columbia's 2,000 boat people for more than a month and have planned a new program to try to minimize the risk to sponsors.

Mrs. LaRose said her family's problems started when a dentist wanted to see a hepatitis clearance form before he would start work on the teeth of 3-year-old Le Thien.

When the 14-week-old baby, Quan, developed a cough, Mrs. LaRose decided to take the whole family to a doctor for tests. They revealed Le Thien had hepatitis, Quan was suspected of having tuberculosis and both parents had parasites.

Talk with governors centers on saving fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter called Friday for strong, immediate fuel conservation programs, suggesting that states consider returning to odd-even gasoline purchase rules and rigid enforcement of the 55-mph speed limit.

Administration officials also announced the government is aiming to increase the use of "gasohol" to 10 percent of all unleaded gasoline sales next year, and would try to double the pace of converting oil-burning utilities to coal.

The actions were aimed at reducing U.S. demand for foreign oil, which the president has said makes the nation vulnerable to actions such as the takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Energy Secretary Charles Duncan conceded that the effect of the cutoff of Iranian oil imports, announced Monday, will not show up for another 45 to 50 days and may well be considerably less than a 4 percent short-

Nonetheless, Duncan and Carter, in addressing a White House gathering of 39 governors and other top state executives, urged immediate action to conserve energy.

Some of the governors were critical of the conservation appeals. Republican Gov. Bill Clements of Texas said it was "the same song, third verse" about saving energy. "Really, it was just warming over yesterday's scrambled eggs," he said.

Gov. Jim Thompson of Illinois, another Republican, said that "to go" back to our people and ask for conservation again, without any progress (on a national energy program), rubbed the governors the wrong

Duncan said later the governors were asked to consider reimposing odd-even gasoline sales plans and requiring minimum gasoline pur-

He said 100,000 barrels of oil could be saved daily through strong en-forcement of the 55-mph speed limit.

Duncan said an additional 50,000 barrels could be saved through ridesharing and van pooling arrangements, and 200,000 barrels per day through enforcement of building temperature regulations.

He said he asked the governors to achieve a 5 percent cut in fuel use by each state government, including a 10 percent reduction in fuel consumed by state-owned vehicles.

He said: "An early and permanent commitment to the sharpest possible reduction in wasted energy of all kinds would be helpful.

Duncan assured the governors the government would take action to spread shortages evenly over different states and regions and among different refiners.

The cutoff of purchases of Iranian oil which Carter ordered Monday is expected to reduce the flow of foreign oil into the United States by 700,000 barrels a day, or roughly 4 percent of total U.S. consumption.

Duncan said some or all of that could be made up from other sources, but he said the administration is acting on the assumption the shortage will be a full 4 percent.

He said the administration is drawing up state-by-state conservation targets. Duncan's chief deputy, John Sawhill, said these targets would be ready by the end of the month.

They indicated some states may be asked to save more than 4 percent and some less, depending on how vigorously they have been moving in the past to conserve fuel.

"We don't want to penalize states that have had good conservation efforts," Duncan said.

Besides requesting state cooperation, Duncan said the administration was moving to "double, we hope, utility conversions from oil to coal.'

Duncan said the administration also was aiming to increase use of "gasohol," which is a blend of 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent methanol. Sawhill said the administration wants 10 percent of all unleaded gasoline sales in 1980 to be "gasohol." Energy Department spokesman Phil Kief said only 1 percent of unleaded gasoline sales currently involve gaso-

Gasohol wasn't product, ABC rules

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission official Friday said a Kansas firm talked gasohol but was thinking vodka when it sought permission to build a $20 million plant in the Rio Midwest Solvents officials recently told a Senate committee the company scrapped the plans because of an ABC staff decision change. The ABC staff initially told the firm the alcohol it planned to produce was not fit for human consumption, but the ruling was later changed and the project was blocked, Midwest officials said.

However, Mike McKinney, assistant to the ABC administrator, Friday said Midwest always planned to produce liquor at the proposed Santa Rosa

"We knew and everybody knew they were talking about vodka and gin and liquor, but the term used by Midwest was 'alternate markets.' I think the public and disinterested persons reading the testimony didn't really take into consideration that 'alternate markets' was certainly liquor," McKinney said.

ABC staff members recently came under fire from the special Senate Committee on Gasohol. Committee Chairman Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg, said he was trying to find a way to resurrect the project that could mean hundreds of jobs for the impoverished Santa Rosa area. Committee members asked several ABC staff members if liquor lobbyists had spurred the decision change that blocked the plant.

Midland Lee's Mark Thompson and Gary Butler wound up their high school careers with a bang here Friday night.

Thompson, a 190-pound fullback, rushed for 103 yards in 21 carries while Butler, a 170pound quarterback, hit 11 of 19 passes for 137 yards in leading the Rebels to a hard-fought 15-9 victory over the Midland Bulldogs in Memorial Stadium.

Coach Gil Bartosh's Rebels had to overcome 112 yards in penalties to post their seventh, victory of the season in a game that was a classic in the first half only to have it turn into a flag football game in the second half as the officials went crazy with the yellow hankies.

While Thompson had a great night, Midland's Jeff Robnett who was District 5-4A's leading rusher going into the game, had to work hard for 68 yards in 18 carries against the rugged Rebel defense. Teammate Billy Applin, running as hard has he has in two years, added 50 yards in 15 carries for Coach Dennie Hays' Bulldogs who wind up the 1979 campaign with a 5-5 rec-

Rebels lead series for first time

The 1979 Midland Lee Rebels stamped their name in the Tall City history books at Memorial Stadium Friday night by finally gaining the series edge against the Midland High Bulldogs. It has been a hard climb to the bitter end.

Lee now leads the local rivalry by a 9-8-2 margin, the first lead in the series that they have held in 19 long seasons. The series started with the Rebels losing the first five meetings with the Bulldogs. It has been a struggle to overcome that start, but it finally happened after 19 years. Lee now owns a four-game winning streak in the series.

And now that history has been served by the details that will be remembered in years hence, we can look at the events of the night - a night in which both schools served themselves well.

One thing this corner would like to forget is the second half. The officials seemed to be more than a little flag happy and it helped to ruin what was a fan's delight to begin with.

But, oh, that first half. It was the best football Memorial Stadium has seen this year. That's when all of the 24 points were scored and the lead switched hands four times with the Bulldogs leading twice and the Rebels twice. The Rebs, however, had it at the last and that was what counted.

It was the last game of his career for Lee's senior quarterback Gary Butler, and it may have been his best performance ever. He hit 12 of 19 for 137 yards. He had a lot of help from his friends like Wade Cartwright and Larry Linne, both making circus catches right and left. Flags destroyed many a fine play, however. Then there was fullback Mark Thompson, who led all rushers with 103 'yards. He has been devastating this year when he was well, and it was good to see him go out with a bang. And senior Steve Waldron fooled everyone in Midland with a tailback pass to Linne for 39 yards which set up Lee's winning TD late in the first half. In fact, that drive started with less than 1:40 on the halftime clock and the Rebels punched it in with only 12 seconds left before intermission. The Cowboys couldn't have done it any better.

And the Lee defense was super in the second half with Waldron playing cornerback like a gypsy and linebackers Craig Ellis and James McGarritty busting heads. Throw in Barry Corley, Clifton Barnett, Tom Williams and Anthony Johnson and you see why the Rebs were so tough this year. The defense is the main reason Lee had a fine 7-3 record this

And if by now you were thinking that the Bulldogs took the night off, forget it. They too had stars on the field. Their offense woke up after two weeks and gave Lee fits early in the

Kermit captures 7-AA title

KERMIT - The Kermit Yellowjackets captured the District 7-AA football title here Friday night with a 26-7 victory over Crane's Golden Cranes.

Kermit will enter the bi-district playoffs next week with a 7-3 record. They had a perfect 3-0 mark in 7-AA play. Crane finished the year with a 4-6 mark and a 1-2 district reading.

Four different players scored for Kermit in the victory. Malcolm Bryant ran 81 yards for one touchdown and Lino Lujan scampered 64 yards for another. Quarterback Earl Stanley hit Roy Boring for a 16-yard score and Kermit got its other TD on a four-yard run by Roger Short.

Crane's touchdown came in the second period when they were already down by a 20-0 margin when Johnny Sanchez caught a 46-yard TD pass from Pedro Rosales.

Kermit rolled out 263 yards rushing and another 29 passing while Crane had 102 yards on the ground and another

Badgers wrap up 6-A title with 26-12 win over Rankin

By RICHARD VINCENT Sports Writer

McCAMEY - When a district football title is on the line, and when you're playing for bragging rights in Upton County, well, sometimes it takes a little something extra.

And Friday night at Badger Stadium, the McCamey Badgers had that subtle something as they totally dominated Rankin for a 26-12 District 6-A victory that clinched the district championship for McCamey.

The Badgers, 4-0 in 6-A and 8-1-1 overall, now advance to bi-district play where they'll mee District 5-A. kingpin-Seagraves.

But first, let's find out about that unknown commodity that worked in the Badgers' behalf.

"I thought," said jubilant first-year McCamey head coach Larry Nabors, really as an old Baptist lay minister, that we were blessed.

Nabors probably won't find any disagreement with that statement.

Twice the Badgers gambled on fourth down situations and each time they came away with a score. Then there was the super defensive play of Eddie Kennedy, Raul Arana, Todd Sample, Mike Hanks and Gary

For the record, McCamey rolled up 201 rushing yards to complement Arana's six of seven passing accuracy that added 86 more yards to the Badgers' awesome offensive display.

Rankin, meanwhile, totaled 229 offensive yards as they closed the season 2-2 in district and 6-4 overall. Things went correctly from the start for McCamey as the Badgers tallied the first two times they got their hands on the ball. Senior tackle Kennedy's recovery of a Naldo Esparza fumble, positioned the Badgers at the Rankin 17. Four plays later, Arana, threw into a crowd of Red Devils but was still able to find senior split end Billy Ray Terry with a 15-yard touchdown pass at 9:19 of the first period.

Casting all aspersions to the wind, Rankin came out smoking on their second possession and found paydirt as Esparza, who led all rushers with 110 yards, used his blazing quickness to pop off tackle and then scoot 51 yards into the end zone. The kick failed and at 6:11 of the first, it was

Not to be outdone in front of a good-sized home audience, McCamey marched 72 yards in 13 plays for another score. The hard running of Brent Rhodes, Ben Ferguson and Hanks enabled junior Ferguson to cap the foray with an 8-yard run on an option pitch. Arana boomed the extra point through to make the count 13-7 with 27 ticks remaining on the first quarter clock.

Despite McCamey nance, Rankin controlled the second quarter, largely with a 20-play sojourn to the goal line that ate up 10:35

Two key passes, including a 19-yard dart from Brant Myers to Steven Midkiff, kept the Devils moving in clutch situations as Esparza completed the 75-yard jaunt by slicing over from the two at 2:52. The Devils went for two, but the pass failed due to Stacy's super effort to deflect the

After receiving the second half kickoff, McCamey strolled to a quick touchdown that seemed to spell trouble for Rankin.

Ferguson opened the brief drive with a pair of nifty gains before B. J. Terry got one yard and Arana threw for 13 to Hanks. Hanks then slipped through the first line of defense and cruised the final 38 as McCamey went ahead 19-12 with 9:53 in the third.

Then, moments after Rankin's first punt of the game, the Badgers took charge at midfield:

Tailback Billy Applin was running harder than any time this year while Pat Hickey deserves special mention for his play both offensively and defensively.

Defensively, Jerry Zachery leveled some hits that had shock waves rolling off the bleachers and linebacker Rick Ankerholz, who has never known the word fear, played another outstanding game. The truth is, however, that he has never played a bad game for Midland High.

And then there is the case of fullback Jeff Robnett. I saved him for last because he may best symbolize the Bulldogs. Jeff had 68 yards rushing to win the District 5-4A rushing title to earn his mitch alongside other great Midland High fullbacks like Ross Montgomery and Wahoo

So, Robnett won a personal victory, but there were tears in the end. He couldn't keep them back. He wept openly. His team had lost, losing a chance for a winning season. He was for the team to the end, and that was the bitter pill he had to swallow. The personal triumph will have its place in Jeff's memory and ours, but the Bulldogs had hoped for more this year. Reagan defeats Eldorado, 14-13

ELDORADO-Fullback Kent Burleson cracked over for first and fourth quarter touchdowns on short yardage situations and Byron Bitner kicked the PAT in each instance, which turned out to be the winning margin as Reagan County defeated Eldorado's Eagles, 14-13, here Friday night in a District 9-A football game.

Burleson punched over from the two in the first period to wrap up a 65-yard drive in 10 plays with 3:31 left in the first period.

Burleson's fourth period score was a two-yard plunge over right guard after an eight-play, 45-yard hike with 6:41 left in the game. Each time the Owls scored, the Eagles retaliated from the ensuing kickoff with scores. A two-point gamble after the second score was the difference between victory and defeat for Eldorado, which finished 2-3 in district and 5-5 for the season.

Randy Morrison scored from the one with 12 seconds left in the first period after a 76-yard drive and Michael Mertz converted.

Morrison again scored with 1:29 left to culminate a 66-yard drive, but the conversion run was stopped. The win gave Reagan a 3-2 district record and 7-3 record for the season. Burleson was the Owls' workhorse with with 181 yards in 32 carries.

Sun Devils offer to forfeit rest, too

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) - Arizona State University offered Friday to forfeit its two non-conference football victories after the Pacific-10 Conference declared eight players ineligible and took away the team's three league wins.

"For all intents and purposes, we are 0-9. And I can't see it going in our brochure next year as anything else but," said ASU Sports Information Director Dick Mullins

The Pac-10 declared that ASU must forfeit its league wins over Washington, Washington State and Oregon State. ASU offered to forfeit non-conference victories over Toledo and Utah State.

The players were declared ineligible because they were given credit for an extension course at Rocky Mountain College in California that they admit they didn't take.

The NCAA director of enforcement, David Berst, said he was aware of the situation but "we won't make any comment out of the NCAA office regarding what we're doing or anything else related to the case in question ... (until) the NCAA concludes the case and makes a determination.

In a statement, ASU athletic direct tor Fred Miller said:

"I regret that ASU has had to declare football players ineligible because Rocky Mountain College has withdrawn transfer degree credits which were previously awarded to those players.

"I have the deepest respect for those eight players who testified honestly and forthrightly about the extension course, despite the fact that they knew the information they provided jeopardized their continuing eli-The statement went on, "...it would be unjust for them to bear the responsibility alone. The responsibility ...rests in the first instance on the head football coach and the academic advisers to the athletic department and in the second instance on those who actually had a responsibility to actually conduct the extension

An anonymous phone call received by Miller early in October brought the Rocky Mountain case to his atten-

"The minute we started checking into the information provided by the caller, we realized it was accurate," Miller said.

One of the eight players, fullback Arthur Lane, said ASU academic adviser John Rehfield filed their applications to attend the Rocky Mountain class using false California addresses for the players. Lane added that Rehfield signed the players' names to the documents.

Another player, wingback Ron Washington, said Rehfield "misled" the players into thinking the class was a "correspondence course." We were told we were supposed to Former ASU Coach Frank Kush said he doesn't know anything of the Rocky Mountain situation, adding that, "I'm not involved," but an assistant coach, who requested anonymity, said that was untrue.

"What bothers me is that Kush was totally aware of it. He was consulted because it was a somewhat questionable deal,"the assistant coach said.

"John Rehfield is somehing of a scapegoat," the coach said. "He was told to get the kids eligible or be

Frogs, Ags give bowl folks shakes

AP Sports Writer

The Texas Aggies and Texas Christian Horned Frogs could really give the Cotton Bowl committee a bad case of the shakes this weekend.

Arkansas can sail right into the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day as the host team if it whips the Aggies Saturday in Kyle Field and takes out Southern Methodist Nov. 24 in Little

But the Aggies could put the Texas Longhorns on the front row of the Cotton Bowl race with an upset vietory IF Texas beats TCU then Baylor then the Aggies If TCU upset Texas, then Houston would have the edge over Arkansas because the Cougars beat the Razorbacks earlier in the year.

There are all sorts of ramifications if Arkansas doesn't maintain an unbeaten course.

Cotton Bowl officials will be on hand at College Station and Austin. More importantly they will be scattered at various points to watch the doings in the Big Eight, and Big Ten and taking a look at unbeaten Florida State, looking at potential guest

'There is the possibility we won't make any announcements Saturday, said Jim Brock, the executive director of the Cotton Bowl. "We'll keep everybody informed." The Aggie-Arkansas game is rated a tossup while Texas is a 21-point favorite over the improving Horned Frogs in Austin.

In other games, Texas Tech is a one-point pick over Southern Methodist in Texas Stadium and No. 20 ranked Baylor is a solid 24-point selection over Rice in Waco.

Sun Bowl scouts will be on hand in Waco to eyeball the Bears. The Sun Bowl is said to be locked on Washington as one team with hopes of luring an SWC club as the other.

Bowl committees can officially invite teams at 6 p.m. Saturday.

TCU Coach F. A. Dry just hopes Texas will still be celebrating its victory over Houston when the Horned Frogs come calling.

'I hope they're staying out all night celebrating, missing practice, missing classes and (Coach Fred) Akers will have to kick a bunch of them off before we get there," said Dry.,

Ruidoso fattens All-American pot

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (AP) -The world's richest horse race, the All-American Futurity, will have $250,000 added to the kitty in the 1981 running, officials said Thursday.

The gross purse will be increased from $1.28 million to $1.53 million, said R. Wood Erwin, general manager of Ruidoso Downs. "The new purse structure will go into effect with the 1981 running and should add even greater prestige and stature to one of the great events in · racing history," he said in a statement. The winner of the race will collect

SWC race settles now into family feud

Texas, Arkansas and Houston efficiently took care of the Southwest Conference's national championship aspirations with the hatchet job they performed on one another in their silly game of ring-around-the-rosey, although those chances might not have been that good as long as Alabama, Nebraska and USC remained undefeated.

Texas had it all in its grasp after beating Oklahoma, 16-7, early in the season and if the Longhorns could have followed up that win with a victory over Arkansas the following week, they might have vaulted past USC when the Trojans were tied by Stanford.

But the Steers stubbed their toes and Arkansas, in turn, lost to Houston, which left the Cougars the SWC's lone remaining national championship hopeful, faint as that hope might have been.

However, last week Texas relieved the Cougars of undefeated pressure, 21-13, and perhaps any kind of a bowl bid

So now, the squabble evolves into a family feud for SWC honors and the right to the role as host of the Cotton Bowl. Arkansas has the inside track with only two games left, unpredictable Texas A&M and ravaged SMU. Houston winds up against Texas Tech and Rice and will

Texas has three games left, and both Baylor and A&M are capable, but before that TCU looms today.

The Frogs, although 2-6-1 for the season, are, nevertheless, back to respectability. No one has embarrassed them this year and it's a team that in some ways resembles some of those old time underdog Frog teams that thrived on upsets. No one knows it better than oldtime Longhorn fans.

In 1941 TCU handed Texas a 14-7 defeat, the year's premiere shocker. Texas was so good that year that Life magazine mug shots of the Longhorn players on its

Hank knows his Xs, Os, but mixes Curts, Jacks

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

Forgive Hank Stram. He knows of what he speaks, but not always whom he's talking to. At the start of the Kansas City-New York Giants' football game two weeks ago, Stram began the broadcast by calling his partner "Jack." Curt Gowdy, the veteran play caller and the other man in the booth, broke into a 100-yard grin. But he didn't correct Stram, even during the commercial "I didn't say a word to him. I know he would just have gotten upset," said Gowdy, the consmummate professional. "I'm told he's given me a call on radio a number of times. I think it's all pretty funny. Stram, the former pro coach who is teaching a nation Xs and Os with his easy-going analytical style, should go the blackboard and write 100 times: 'Sunday-television-Curt Gowdy. Monday-radio-Jack Buck."

This type of mistaken identity may be the only fumble Stram makes. Remember when ABC's Howard Cosell incorrectly identified Gordon Gravelle of the Giants for Gus Coppens on a Monday night game? On radio, Stram didn't confuse the two offensive linemen. "I had seen Coppens play for Los Angeles," Stram said. "I knew what he looked like."

It is Stram's crackerjack commentary that has prompted many Monday night viewers to turn off the sound on ABC's broadcasts and switch on Stram's radio descriptions, even though the TV replays and explanations would then be out of sync.

This season, including pre-season and playoffs, Stram expects to work over 50 games. Stram coached the Chiefs for 15 years, leading them to a 23-7 Super Bowl victory over Minnesota in 1970. He was fired in 1974, then took over the Saints in 1976 for two seasons.

"He was really hurt by the New Orleans dismissal," said Gowdy. "He didn't think he was given a fair chance.'

Stram, in his second year as a broadcaster, says he isn't itching to trade in his microphone for a megaphone. "I'm not using this as a stepping stone," he said. "I wouldn't consider a job just for the sake of getting back into coaching. I'm really happy with what I'm doing. I'm not going around looking for a coaching

Hrabosky, Braves OK pact terms

ATLANTA (AP) - The Atlanta Braves have come to terms with free agent relief pitcher Al Hrabosky and are expected to sign him Tuesday, a spokesman for the National League club said Friday.

Hrabosky, the "Mad Hungarian," was 9-4 with 12 saves with Kansas City last year. The 30-year-old left-hander was Fireman of the Year in the National League in 1975 with St. Louis, when he was 13-3 with 22 saves and had a 1.67 earned run average. After the 1977 season, Hrabosky was traded to Kansas City, where he pitched in 1978 and 1979.

Braves Public Relations Director Wayne Minshew said General Manager John Mullen and Hrabosky's agent, Jack Childers, came to terms Friday evening, but still "have a few things to work out." Minshew said Hrabosky is expected to sign a fiveyear contract with the Braves Tuesday.

Bowling-for-Dollars day here and fingers are crossed

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Easiest, quickest, surest way to sell. WANT ADS, 682-6222

College football's version of Bowling for Dollars becomes the most popular show in the land Saturday. And even the high-and-mighty Rose Bowl has suddenly rejoined the ranks of the worriers with the possibility that it might lose unbeaten-but-tied, fourth-ranked Southern California.

With second-ranked Ohio State and No.13 Michigan preparing to square off for the Big Ten berth in Pasadena, the Pacific-10 Conference dropped a bombshell Thursday night by ruling that Arizona State must forfeit its three league victories because it used eight ineligible players.

Since one of those triumphs was over Washington, the decision thrust the 16th-ranked Huskies back into the Rose Bowl picture with a 5-1-0 Pac-10 record to 5-0-1 for Southern Cal, which is idle Saturday while Washington entertains Washington State. Southern Cal winds up its regular season next week against UCLA.

By Saturday evening, the Rose Bowl will know its visiting team -Ohio State can lose to Michigan and still go to Pasadena if No.12 Purdue wins at Indiana — but the host squad could be in doubt unless Washington State upsets Washington.

THAT, HOWEVER, is small potatoes compared to the plight of the Sugar Bowl. Unranked Georgia, a four-time loser, can win a trip to New Orleans by beating No.15 Auburn at home and there's nothing top-rated Alabama can do about it, even though the Crimson Tide is fit to be tied with Georgia atop the Southeastern Con-

If Georgia loses, though, Alabama can represent the SEC and dry those Sugar Bowl tears by defeating Auburn on Dec.1. The Tide entertains Miami, Fla. in a nonleague game as the second half of an ABC-TV doubleheader which begins with Ohio State at Michigan (11:30 p.m.)

Bowl bids can be officially extended at 5 p.m.

Third-ranked Nebraska tunes up for next week's Big Eight-Orange Bowl showdown with Oklahoma by hosting Iowa State while the seventhranked Sooners visit Missouri.

Rounding out The Associated Press Top Ten, fifth-ranked Florida State plays host to Memphis State in a night game while No.10 Brigham Young puts its Western Athletic Conference. lead on the line against runner-up Utah at home.

Elsewhere in the Second Ten, No.11 Pitt visits Army, No.14 Clemson is at Notre Dame, No.17 Wake Forest at South Carolina, No.18 Temple at Penn State and No.19 Tennessee vs. Mississippi at Jackson while Baylor hosts Rice and Tulane, tied with Baylor for 20th, is idle.

OHIO STATE-MICHIGAN is the weekend's only meeting of two Top Twenty teams and one of them will be the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative for the 12th year in a row. A standing room only crowd of around 104,000 is expected in Michigan Stadium. "It will be a great game because it is a great rivalry," says Earle Bruce, who has led Ohio State to a 10-0 record in his first year as head coach. "I know from my days here as a player, and later as an assistant coach, there's nothing quite like an Ohio State-Michigan game.

"We expect as great, great game. We have waited for this moment all year long. It's great to be playing a team like Michigan for the title. That's what it's all about. It really doesn't matter whether Michigan won or lost last week. The important thing is what happens this week."

What happened to Michigan last week was a 24-21 loss to Purdue.

"I think you'll see a team ready to play this week," says Coach Bo Schembechler. "We have nothing to lose, so I think we'll be kind of loose for this one. We have to forget about what happened against Purdue, and forget about it fast. The quicker we drop the subject the better off our team will be.

"Like I've said before, in a big game the defense will be the key, and I think the same will hold true for this game. Ohio State has a very solid defense and a very quick defense."

ALABAMA'S BEAR Bryant has a 13-0 record against Miami - 9-0 at Bama - and hopes the number doesn't prove unlucky. Once again the Bear will be facing of of his "boys" in Howard Schnellenberger, one of 41 Bryant exes who have gone on to become head coaches. Sixteen of them are still active. Schnellenberger, who was recruited by Bryant at Kentucky and coached under him at Alabama, will be trying to stop a streak of 25 consecutive victories by the Bear over his ex-players and coaches ating back to 1970.

If Georgia beats Auburn and gets the Sugar Bowl berth, look for the Orange Bowl to invite Alabama, with Florida State the second choice to oppose the Nebraska-Oklahoma winner. Texas and Arkansas reportedly are lined up for the Sugar and Cotton, Bowls, or vice versa, although Houston could sneak into the Cotton and foul up those plans.

Willie Stargell...Kuhn's gotta do something.

Thought of Ryan, Richard, Niekro horrifies Stargell

Willie Stargell says he is not looking forward to going to the Astrodome to see Nolan Ryan, J.R. Richard and Joe Niekro. The Pittsburgh first baseman says he may even ask Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to void a reported contract agreement between Ryan and the Houston Astros. "The commissioner should tie up that deal the next five years, By then I'll be out of baseball."

The Astros still have said nothing but reports continued that free agent Ryan will sign a $4 million-plus contract with Houston. Ryan, with a 16-14 record with the California Angels, led the American League in strikeouts at 223 last season. Richard, with an 18-13 Houston record, led the National League at 313. Knuckleballer Niekro was 21-11...

Veteran Tony Perez, 37, a slugging first baseman whose 1975 World Series home run still haunts Boston, agreed to terms Friday for a guaranteed three-year contract with the Red Sox. The former Reds star, who has played with Montreal for the past three seasons, is viewed as the replacement for another right-handed slugger, Bob Watson, signed off the Red Sox roster as a free agent by the New York Yankees...

Navy football Coach George Welsh is a leading candidate for the LSU coaching job, the Baltimore News American said Friday. North Carolina State's Bo Rein and Arkansas' Lou Holtz were also mentioned as possibilities to succeed Charlie McClendon...

TEE TIME Numerous rules changes for 1980

BY REX WORRELL Hogan Park Golf Pro

In last week's column we mentioned a significant USGA rule change for 1980. Following are the remainder of the more significant changes for next

Embedded ball-For the first time, the rules will provide free relief when a ball is embedded in a closely mown area through the green. A closely mown area will be interpreted to mean any area cut at fairway height or less. For a number of years, the USGA has authorized a local rule providing free relief for an embedded ball through the three (i.e. the whole area of the course except the teeing ground and putting green of the hole being played and all hazards on the course.) The USGA will continue to authorize the local rule when such a rule would be warranted

Rectification of Serious Breach of a Rule—If, for example, a player's ball crosses a water hazard in front of a putting green and rolls back into the hazard, the player, unless he plays the ball or opts for stroke-and-distance procedure, must drop a ball keeping the point where the ball last crossed the hazard margin on the green side of the hazard between himself and the hole. Thus, in almost all cases, the player must drop a ball on the tee side of the hazard. Some players have become confused in such circumstances and have dropped and played from the green side of the

Usually; such a breach of the water hazard rule is termed a serious breach, the penalty for which is disqualification in stroke play. In 1980, a new rule, (21-3d) will be introduced under which a player may rectify a serious breach of the rules under penalty of two strokes. However, rectification must take place before the player tees off on the next hole. Identifying or cleaning ball-Rule 23 permits a player to lift his ball for identification under certain conditions and to clean it when it has been lifted in certain circumstances. Currently, the penalty for identifying or cleaning a ball except as provided in the Rules is two strokes in stroke play or loss of a hole in match play. Effective in 1980, the penalty will be reduced to one stroke in both forms of play, making the penalty consistent with that applicable under Rule 27-

Ball in motion accidentaly deflected by opponent— Currently, Rule 26-2b provides that, in match play, if a player's ball is stopped or deflected fy the opponent or his equipment, the opponent loses the hole. Since such an incident usually occurs as a result of a poor or freakish stroke, the rule has been amended to provide that, if the ball is accidentally stopped or deflected, no penalty is incurred. The player may play the ball as it lies or cancel the stroke and replay. Rules 40-2a and 40-3c which cover such deflection in multi-ball play have been similarly amended.

Ball unfit for play—For the first time rule 28 will define what constitutes a ball unfit for play. The rule will state: "The ball may be deemed unfit for play when it is visibly cut or out of shape or so cracked, pierced or otherwise damaged as to interfere with its true flight or true roll or its mormal behavior when struck. A ball shall not be deemed unfit for play solely because mud or material adhere to it, its surface is scratched or its paint damaged or discolored."

Further, in 1980 the player will be required to announce his intention to proceed under rule 28 to his opponent or marker. Currently, the rule must be invoked in the presence of the opponent or marker. Ole Hole Plugs-Rule 35-1c permits a player to repair damage to the line of putt caused by the impact of a ball. The rule will be broadened to permit also the repair of an old hole plug on the line of the putt. These and other changes in the rules of golf will be published in the 1980 Rules of Golf

The Hogan Park Women's Golf Association held a Turkey Shoot Thursday with Merla Ketner winning the 18-hole division and the turkey, Gene Velten taking second, Bernice Cox third and Bernice Webb fourth...In the Hazards division, Jennie Piette took first followed by Renee Beique, Mary Davis and Barbara Larsen. There will be no scheduled play day on Thanksgiving Day.

All of the staff at Hogan Park Golf Course wish each of you a very Happy Thanksgiving Holiday. If you are among those who will be traveling during the holidays, have a safe jour-

USC officials are unhappy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As expected, Southern California officials weren't pleased with the Pacific-10 Conference's decision Thursday night that enabled Washington to remain in the Rose Bowl race.

"We are obviously disappointed," said Southern Cal Coach John Robinson Friday. "Under all normal conditions, we played for, and won, the conference championship and the right to go to the Rose Bowl with our victory over Washington.'

Pac-10 Commissioner Wiles Hallock ruled that conference member Arizona State must forfeit its five victories this season because eight of the school's football players did not attend a summer class in which they were enrolled.

One of the five victories by Arizona State was over Washington. The reversal means the Huskies are 5-1 in Pac-10 play and 8-2 overall while Southern California is 5-0-1 and 9-0-1.

Washington completes its regular season against Washington State on Saturday while Southern Cal finishes against UCLA on Nov. 24. If the Huskies beat Washington State and the Trojans lose their finale, Washington gets the Rose Bowl berth.

Had it not been for the ruling, Southern Cal would be the Pac-10's Rose Bowl representative by virtue of its 24-17 victory over Washington last

"The championship was settled on the field - their field in Seattle," said Robinson. "Obviously, these eligibility questions cause unusual circumstances, and the resulting decisions were very difficult.

"However, the way it turned out, it seems to me the most punished group is the USC football team. I'll have no further comment on this question now or in the future. Our only goal is to win our last game against UCLA."

Southern Cal Athletic Director Dick Perry expressed similar feelings, but at the same time defended the rulSE

"There's no question that we feel like Arizona State was guilty of the particular violations, but the people that get hit the hardest would be the University of Southern California," said Perry. "I think we have to modify that, however.

Over-30 league begins Nov. 28 at Alamo Y

The Alamo YMCA has set plans for an Over-30 Basketball League, according to Guy Fish, director of helath and physical education at Alamo

The league will start Nov. 28 and all games will be played on Wednesdays, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Fish stresses the point that this will be a fun league and all participants must be at least 30 years old. Only a few more teams are needed to fill the league. Team registration and team fees must be in by Nov. 21. Any individuals or small groups who need a couple of extra players

Zimbabwe Rhodesia's peace negotiations in final stages

LONDON (AP) - Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington of Britain opened the final stage of the Zimbabwe Rhodesia peace talks Friday the task of arranging a cease-fire in the seven-year-old guerrilla war. He told the warring parties he expected them to end the conflict in "a matter

A controversy erupted outside the conference, however, over whether the guerrillas will have equal status with Zimbabwe Rhodesian government forces after fighting stops. It raised the possibility of difficulties in

Cease-fire negotiations to conclude the 10-week-old talks started with Carrington putting forward an outline of a British plan envisaging strict separation of the 12,000-man government army and the estimated 16,000member guerrilla force while a British governor takes over to supervise elections for a new black-majority government.

Carrington insisted on brisk negotiations following a major breakthrough Thursday when the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance of Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo joined the country's biracial administration in agreeing to Britain's plans for direct Conference officials reported that Carrington tapped the desk at a 30-minute meeting of all sides Friday and declared: "If we now lose the momentum achieved by our agreement we shall bitterly disappoint the people of Zimbabwe and the international community.

"It is essential we reach agreement on a cease-fire as soon as possible.... I envisage a matter of days. The guerrilla war has taken about 20,000 lives since its beginning seven years ago. According to a Zimbabwe Rhodesian military communique issued in Salisbury on Friday, 47 persons have been killed in fighting since these talks began Sept. 10. It listed victims as 12 black civilians killed by the guerrillas, 3 security force men, 31 guerrillas and a black civilian slain in crossfire.

Military experts from both sides and Britain are scheduled to hold what conference officials here termed "intensive consultations" through the weekend. Carrington scheduled another formal meeting for Monday.

British sources said Carrington was determined to complete the cease-fire talks by the end of next week, meaning a British governor could be running Zimbabwe Rhodesia within two

Meanwhile, Zimbabwe Rhodesia's prime minister, Abel Muzorewa, left for home Friday night, apparently to start his election campaign and to try to reassure the country's white minority and his black supporters that he has not given too much away in the conference here

Observers noted that the key role in the coming week falls to Muzorewa's supreme military commander, Lt. Gen. Peter Walls, who is a white.

The controversy over the status of forces began when Walls told a news conference that it would be "nonsense" for the guerrillas to have equal status with his forces under the British transition plan

He said that he believed that the guerrillas would be assembled at camps across the country, while his men would not be confined to bar-

Carrington secured guerrilla agreement to the transition plan only after amending his proposals to specify that the guerrillas would, like government troops, come under the authority of the British governor. Pressed in a radio interview Friday, Carrington said the amendment did not lay down equal status. "It has nothing to do with status," he said. "It's merely a question of fact."

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) - Congress unanimously elected Congresswoman Lidia Gueiler as president of Bolivia at an urgent session Friday, ending the 16-day military dictatorship of Col. Alberto Na-Mrs. Gueiler, 51, is the first woman to become president of Bolivia and the second woman president of a country in this hemisphere. She is to serve as interim president pending new elections set for May

Natusch, a right-wing army officer, went on national television to announce he had resigned. Mrs. Gueiler was elected by the 114 legislators attending the joint session of the Senate and House of Deputies. There are 144 members in both houses. A member of Congress for more than 20 years and president of the legislature during the current session, Mrs. Gueiler was a staunch opponent of the series of military regimes that ruled the country for

A military adviser close to Natusch said the colonel resigned as self-proclaimed president at 4 p.m. Thursday during a meeing with his high command, but it was agreed no public announcement would be made until Congress selected a president.

Congress convened in midafternoon to end the political crisis created with the Nov. 1 coup by Natusch that ousted civilian President Walter Guevara. It first revoked the Aug. 6 congressional election of Guevara and then elected Mrs. Gueiler.

She is a member of the socialist-leaning Revolutionist Party of the Revolutionary Left and became the first woman member of Bolivia's Congress when she was elected to the legislature in 1956. The western hemisphere's first woman president was Isabel Peron of Argentina. Mrs. Peron, Argentina's vice president following elections in 1973, became president upon the death of her husband, President Juan Peron, in July 1974. She was ousted by a military coup in March 1976 and is still under house

Natusch failed to gain popular support following the coup in which human rights groups say more than 200 civilians were killed in clashes with soldiers. Natusch's backing within the military began to wither in recent days as Bolivia plunged toward

Military sources, who asked not to be named, said congressional and Roman Catholic church leaders met with representatives of the armed forces and negotiated a settlement that included Natusch's resignation in exchange for Congress prohibiting Guevara from regaining the presidency. Earlier talks had collapsed over Natusch's demand that he be named to a three-member ruling junta pending

Guevara had been installed Aug. 8 to serve as interim president under an agreement that new

Reports draw queen into Blunt spy scandal

LONDON (AP) - Queen Elizabeth II was drawn into the Anthony Blunt spy scandal Friday as the result of conflicting statements by her palace press office. At the same time, opposition members of Parliament demanded a no-holds-barred investigation of the security coverup that kept Blunt in a royal post for years after he confessed to being a Soviet spy.

The controversy involving the queen revolved around whether or not she was informed of the confession in 1964, and thus knew Blunt, an art historian, was a spy while serving in the unpaid post of Surveyor of the Queen's Pictures.

'Queen and the Spy - Did She Know?" blazed a headline in London's Evening Standard, about the tangle in the Buckingham Palace press office.

The office first said the queen was told about Blunt, then later it retracted the statement. The upset began when a spokesman earlier in the day confirmed Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's statement to the House of Commons on Thursday that the queen's private secretary in 1964, Sir Michael Adeane, was told about Blunt. The spokesman added: "It can be taken from that the queen did know.

That was carried by the domestic news agency, Press Association, and was aired by the British

Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) and a commercial radio

Then the Press Association advised its clients that its report was to be held back for urgent clarifica-

Michael Shea, chief press secretary to the queen, put out another statement saying the comment about the queen knowing was a "personal interpretation made by a member of the press office."

What Adeane told the queen, if anything, will never be revealed because, Shea said, "exchanges between the private secretary to the queen and the sovereign are confidential."

Bolivian congress picks president elections would be held in May to select a president tary aid and $22 million in economic aid after the for a full four-year term. He was elected by Congress coup.

Aug. 6 following three days of balloting. Selection of the president had been turned over to Congress after none of eight candidates in the July national elections failed to get a majority and the three run-off candidates were blocked in congressional voting by their refusals to compromise. The July elections ended a decade of military rule.

Guevara, 68 and a former foreign minister, went into hiding after the coup but held occasional clandestine news conferences. At such a conference Friday, he said he had not resigned but would accept a decision by Congress.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said reports about the congressional session "indicate an apparently favorable turn of events which promises to restore constitutional processes in Bolivia."

Carter said if a constitutional government takes office, the United States would renew its aid to the country. Washington suspended $6 million in mili-

Natusch's regime encountered international condemnation and at home faced united opposition from Congress, the unions, Catholic clergy, students and private sector. The new government must move immediately to shore up the failing economy, shattered by general strikes called to oppose the Natusch regime. Private economists say Bolivia must devalue the peso - now pegged at 20 to the dollar - and stop subsidizing wheat and gasoline, now at 30 cents per gallon of

A devaluation and end of subsidies would bring stiff price hikes. Such unpopular decisions in the past have resulted in public disturbances in this country that has had nearly 200 governments in its 154 years

But while the economic measures may be painful, they are all but inescapable because the Central Bank is broke and foreign debt stands at $3 billion, huge for a country of 5 million people.

President 'plays hard, fast'

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Lidia Gueiler, elected by Congress as Bolivia's first woman president Friday, is a 51-year-old former accountant who has been chief of the national legislature for three months. Her friends say she goes at politics as she does tennis hard and fast. She hasn't found much time for tennis as president of the two-house Congress. Her associates says Mrs. Gueiler has been working 10 hours or more a day, arriving at the congressional palace promptly at 9 a.m. each weekday and sometimes remaining until midnight.

Mrs. Gueiler is not the first woman president in the Western Hemisphere. Isabel Peron became president of Argentina in July 1974 upon the death of her husband, President Juan Peron, with whom she had served as vice president. She was ousted by the military in March 1976 and still is under house

The new president is not given to frivolity, but she is said to be witty. Co-workers cite patience as her most admirable characteristic, but add that they have seen her give an insolent political opponent a tongue lashing more than once.

A representative of the socialist-leaning Revolutionist Party of the Revolutionary Left, she was elected the first woman member of the national legislature in 1956.

She is known as a supporter of the women's movement and has written several treatises on women's rights. She also got a bill through congress creating a ministry to provide social welfare, principally for women and children.

A close associate says her boss "is feminine, but not feminist." Mrs. Gueiler is plump, discreet in her use of makeup, usually wears skirts and blouses and likes to change her hairstyle often.

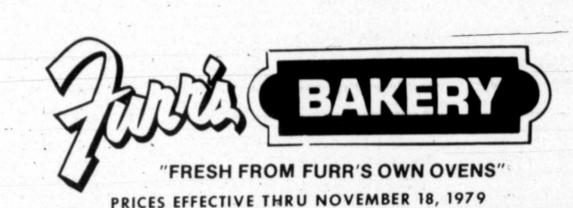

Aides say she likes to drink a scotch with water at the end of the day; that she stopped smoking about 10 years ago, but drinks coffee frequently.

Mrs. Gueiler lives modestly, with her only daughter and her daughter's two children in a rented three-bedroom house. Mrs. Gueiler was divorced about 10 years ago.

She is a prolific reader, mostly nonfiction works of pscychology, sociology and history, and is said to be an enthusiastic moviegoer and a fan of automobile

In addition to Spanish, Mrs. Gueiler speaks English, German and the Inca language Quechua

Ready smile doesn't hide commitment

By ROGER SOUTHALL Staff Writer

He has a ready smile and a happy personality, but members of the congregation of Oaklawn Park Baptist Church are quick to point out that their pastor, David Piearcy, is nevertheless dead serious about his responsibilities to his church and to God.

Characterized as a hard worker who is single-minded to the point of stubbornness about building an active, aggressive, multi-ministry church in Midland, Piearcy came to the city in October, 1976, in response to a call from the Oaklawn Park congregation.

Since his arrival here, Oaklawn Park Church at 3001 North A St., has been a busy place, with the addition of a bus ministry, a radio ministry and a school.

The radio ministry, known as "Gospel Outreach," is aired locally over Station KKKK and, in addition, is aired over stations in four other states and over an international station. The international station is a 50, 000-watt facility in St. Kitts, West Indies, which reaches the entire Carribbean. The broadcasts draw response and mail from as far away as South America.

Piearcy recently toured the Caribbean islands, preaching special revival services, and will return there next March for additional preaching mis-time to erect a new school building which will be able to accommodate up to 300 students.

Piearcy says that the Oaklawn Park school is dedicated to providing "solid Christian education with Bible morality discipline and training." He adds that "it is not our purpose to rear doctors, lawyers or politicians, but to aid the parents in rearing Christians. Students may become doctors, lawyers or politicians because of our superior training but, more importantly, we want them to grow up to serve God sacrificially.

The school also places strong emphasis on patriotism. Staff members and students dress in colorful red, white and blue uniforms. Piearcy believes that "we must train our young people to not only love our country but to be the force that brings it back to Biblical morality and character. If this is not accomplished, I personally believe our future as a nation is limited, indeed.'

Piearcy serves as a consultant for the Accelerated Christian Education program, and visits and advises more than 30 Christian schools throughout Eventually, he resigned to accept the pastorate of a Baptist church in Nashville, Ark. The church was a small one, with a congregation of about 20 elderly people meeting in a delapidated structure. During his two and one-half years as pastor, the church purchased new property and greatly increased its attendance at Sunday school and church services.

With mortgage rates climbing, rental housing is in high demand - and it's time for renters to be wary of the "deal" they're getting. (AP Laserphoto Cartoon by Joe Yeninas)

House panel to try again to restrict housing bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Ways and Means Committee voted Friday to try again to restrict the use of tax-free bonds to finance single-family home mortgages.

By a 20-12 margin, the tax-writing panel approved a bill designed to limit the size of the bond programs and to prevent the subsidized mortgages from going to well-to-do Americans buying expensive homes.

The bill is similar to one that the House Rules Committee sent back to the panel last month for more work. The Ways and Means Committee also agreed to permit a House vote on a competing Republican-backed measure that would replace the mortgage bond programs with a tax incentive to encourage savings.

The savings proposal would permit single taxpayers to exclude from taxation $100 of savings interest and married couples to exclude $200.

The proposal's sponsor, Rep. W. Henson Moore, R-La., predicted a close vote on whether his plan or the committee bill would carry when the legislation reaches the House floor, probably next month.

"It's about an even ball game at this point," Moore said.

The committee bill would set nationwide income and house-price limits for homebuyers seeking the subsidized mortgages.

The use of tax-exempt bonds enable government agencies in many cities and states to offer mortgages under below conventional financing. Mortgage bond supporters say the programs give low- and middle-income Americans a chance to buy homes when they otherwise could not obtain financing. However, critics contend that reduced-rate mortgages sometimes go to homebuyers who earn up to $40,000 a year and who are buying homes costing up to $150,000.

The Carter administration claims that left unchecked, the bond programs could cost the U.S. Freasury $12 billion a year in lost tax revenue by 1984.

The committee bill would limit the total amount of subsidized mortgages in a state to 5 percent of the conventional mortgages issued.

It also would limit the mortgages to persons earning less than 115 percent of an area's median income and those buying homes costing less than 80 percent of an area's average purchase price.

The mortgages could also go only to persons who have not owned homes within the last three years, a provision intended to direct the assistance to young families just entering the housing market. The bond industry claims that the committee's restrictions are so tight that many mortgage bond programs would be destroyed and others seriously weakened.

The Senate Finance Committee has yet to begin considering the issue.

Iran occupies commanding position athwart strategic Strait of Hormuz

(The Islamic revolution in Iran, along with the present crisis involving the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, has brought renewed concern for security in the Persian Gulf. Here is a report by The AP's chief of Middle East Services who previously had assignments in Iran.)

By OTTO C. DOELLING

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Iran, once regarded as the United States' policeman in the Persian Gulf but now as America's foe, is in a position to cut off the flow of 60 percent of the world's oil — by blockading the narrow Strait of Hormuz, the outlet from gulf oil nations to the world's sea lanes.

But, despite the crisis provoked by the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, Western diplomatic sources in the Iranian capital rule out such drastic "Arab guif states, particularly Iraq, would consider that a very aggressive act. So I don't think the Iranians would dare do it," commented one diplomatic source reached by telephone from Nicosia. He added that the United States probably would deploy its Middle East and carrier-led Indian Ocean naval forces to break any blockade.

Iran's heavy dependence on foreign food and other imports from the West also militates against a sea

At its narrowest, the Strait of Hormuz forms a 24-mile water gap between southwestern Iran and the pro-Western sultanate of Oman.

But the strait's shipping lane actually is only about two miles wide and snakes through dangerous shoals. Tankers pass through the strait at the rate of one every 12 minutes.

An AP correspondent who recently visited Oman reported that leaders there say they regard mining of the channel as the biggest potential threat. The strait is about 200 feet deep most of the way across and this should enable vessels to pass around any ship purposely sunk in an effort to block the

Some Arab states would like to see some American military presence in the area, but not necessarily in the gulf itself. Conservative Arab oil states much prefer to have U.S. naval forces "over the horizon" in the Indian Ocean as a deterrent to Soviet penetration. They fear a U.S. presence in the gulf would invite a U.S.-Soviet confrontation in the

The closest thing to an American base in the Persian Gulf is a "supply facility" on the gulf island emirate of Bahrain for the U.S. Navy's five-ship Mideast force.

The fall of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, unofficial Iranian claims on Bahrain and fears of the spread of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Islamic revolution have heightened concern over gulf security among Arab states on the littoral. Impetus was added by Iranian naval maneuvers in the gulf two months ago.

Earlier this week, Prince Abdullah bin Abdul Aziz, Saudi Arabia's deputy premier and commander of its national guard, was quoted in an interview with a Jordanian newspaper as suggesting that a regional force be formed for "true self-defense of the oil-rich countries, which are the target of many

"Saudi Arabia," he was quoted as saying, "believes that defense should come from inside of the gulf area and not from outside." The prince appeared to be voicing Saudi objections to a reported Omani plan to defend the Strait of Hormuz with Western help.

Under the Omani plan, oil producers and leading consumer nations — notably the United States, Britain, West Germany and Japan — would be expected to combine their financial, material and technical resources.

The Arab oil-rich states of the gulf, which do not include Oman, would provide funds to buy patrol boats, reconnaissance aircraft and electronic surveillance equipment from the West. Western powers would provide the expertise, while Oman supplied the manpower.

Iraq denounced the Omani plan and accused its sultan, Qaboos ben Saeed, of intending to play the West's "small policeman" in the gulf.

Iraq, which until recently purchased the bulk of its weapons from the Soviet Union, advanced a counter-scheme for the collective security of Arab gulf states.

According to Arab press reports, the Iraqi plan contains internal security features. This reflects the concern of Arab leaders that their Moslem Shitte minorities might be stirred up to follow Khomeini's lead. Khomeini is the spiritual leader of the Shittes, who form a majority in non-Arab Iran. The majority of Arabs, however, are Sunni Moslems.

The rise of Islamic fundamentalism in Iran also has met with a sympathetic response from elements in Afghanistan and Pakistan, both Moslem states on Iran's eastern border.

Afghanistan's Soviet-backed leadership is worried that rebel tribesmen will begin drawing material aid in addition to the moral support they already are receiving from Iran's revolutionaries.

Pakistan, on the other hand, is believed to be using the collapse of the West's military posture in Iran as an added argument for obtaining more arms from the West to guard against Soviet penetration.

Although fear of Soviet expansionism has been shoved into the background by recent events in Iran, anti-communist states in the area remain concerned that a worsening of Iran's internal political situation could strengthen the hand of well-organized leftist elements there and that this could have a domino affect on the Arab side of the Persian Gulf.

Texas Railroad Commission said most powerful regulatory agency

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission — an agency that regulates so many things besides railroads that it may be the most powerful such department in the nation — has two seats up for grabs

Commissioners John Poerner and James Nugent, both former legislators who were appointed to their posts in non-election years, are now running with all the big industry money and political backing traditionally awarded incumbents.

The challengers are a timber baron's son and a muckraking journalist who used his tabloid to criticize the cozy relationship between the commissioners and the very industries they regulate.

What attracts so much attention to the 1980 statewide races for two $45,200-a-year jobs is the commission's duties.

SER 18

The three-person agency was created in 1891 to control outrageous rail freight rates. Over the years, the commission kept its name but added duties.

Now it regulates the strip mining of coal, lignite and uranium, the rates and routes for intercity buses and trucks and the production of liquefied petroleum gas such as propane and butane.

But most vitally, it sets prices and regulates production for Texas' oil and gas industry, which supplies 25 percent of all fuel consumed in the United States.

"We know a senator can debate energy policy and we've seen a governor can spill oil on our beaches.

"We know a senator can debate energy policy and we've seen a governor can spill oil on our beaches, but a railroad commissioner actually sets energy prices," says Jim Hightower, 36.

Long-distance pollution alleged in lawsuit threat

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pennsylvania, New York and Canadian officials are reportedly considering a lawsuit over alleged long-distance pollution from Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. plants, Pennsylvania officials say

David Milne, a spokesman for the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources, claims emissions from two CEI plants contribute to "acid rain" north and east of Ohio's borders.

Pennsylvania officials have threatened to go to court to force CEI and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to reduce sulfur-dioxide emissions from CEI's Avon Lake and Eastlake plants.

Milne said New York and Ontario officials are considering joining the suit.

Pennsylvania officials contend federal air quality standards ignore pollution across long distances, particularly across state lines. Milne said Pennsylvania is just now recognizing the impact of acid rain on trout streams and plant growth in the Harrisburg and Pittsburgh areas.

"We are trying to get CEI to obey air-pollution standards," he said.

The CEI plants were exempted by the EPA from having to comply with stringent new emission standards that took effect Oct. 19 in Ohio.

CEI spokesman Steve Lorton said the company has been monitoring air near the two plants and believes it is in compliance with federal standards.

"There are no standards for long-range transport," he said.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has ordered Ohio utilities to use as much Ohio coal as possible, washing it to reduce sulfur content rather than importing low sulfur coal from out-of-state.

Meanwhile, CEI unveiled Thursday an electrostatic precipitator designed to reduce pollution at its Eastlake generating plant. The precipitator is the first of four being installed in a $90 million program, CEI said

The precipitators are designed to remove more than 90 percent of the fly ash or soot produced at the

He quit as editor of the bimonthly Texas Observer to run against Nugent, who was nicknamed "Supersnake" for his maneuvers in the Texas House. Rep. Buddy Temple, one of the richest men ever to run for the commission, will oppose Poerner, whose previous campaign focused on the pronounciation of his name — Pur-ner.

Temple, 37, is the son of Arthur Temple Jr., who was chief officer of the Temple-Eastex lumber company before it merged with Time Inc. several years ago. The elder Temple is now vice chairman of the Time board.

Temple announced first, choosing to oppose

Poerner. He estimated his race would cost $600,000 and said about one-fourth of the $200,000 he had raised had come from oil and gas people.

At a news conference last month, Temple told reporters he saw no need to investigate published reports that the oil industry created an artificial gas shortage this summer to jack up the prices. Nor did he see any reason to question data furnished by the industry on oil and gas reserves.

Hightower said he would not accept campaign money from the oil and gas industry. He said he chose to oppose Nugent because Nugent "best symbolizes the industry viewpoint" and way of doing things, which he wants to change.

Before he left Texas Monthly, the paper frequently ran articles on issues which concern the Texas Railroad Commission, such as strip mining and the end of train service to some small towns.

it's an uphill fight."

The commission's powers of regulation are so extensive that former Gov. John Connally said he was looking for a "miracle man" when he sought a replacement for William Murray Jr. in 1963.

Murray resigned after published reports disclosed he had grossed more than $285,000 on a Throckmorton County oil lease.

The "miracle man" was El Paso civil appeals judge Jim Langdon, who served 14 years. He reportedly once described the commission's primary function as assuring proits for Texas' oil and gas industry. He quit at the end of 1977 after president criticism that he was too friendly with the oil and gas people. A World War II Navy veteran, Langdon said he would "much rather be in a fox hole than being sniped at like this." Langdon was succeeded by Poerner.

Nugent was appointed to fill a vacancy created when Jon Newton, also a former House member, resigned. Newton said he wanted to avoid any appearance of a conflict of interest after his wife received some family-owned land where natural gas had been discovered.

The third member of the commission is Mack Wallace. He succeeded former House Speaker Byron Tunnell, who resigned in 1973 to work in public affairs for Tenneco Inc., a huge conglomerate whose natural gas pipelines are regulated by the commis-

World's horiculturists to see 'secret garden'

FEASTERVILLE, Pa. (AP) - Fred Bergman's secret garden will be sold this weekend, and it could bring $1 million.

Horticulturists all over the world know about it. But only a handful have ever strolled among the strange, even grotesque, flora, some of which exists nowhere else on this planet.

There's a small mutated pine tree so flexible that it can be twisted like a pretzel without snapping. There is a plant that grows in the shape of an elephant, another resembles a 50foot tall woolly mammoth. There are pine trees that are green on the top and blue on the bottom. And there's an entire acre of bamboo.

Bergman created and bred, often from genetic mutants, thousands of one-of-a-kind conifers, spruces and hemlocks; weeping and prostrated plants and contorted trees. Many are expected to bring prices of $20,000 or more.

Bergman grew his Eden on 30 acres of Bucks

County soil during 35 years of quiet isolation And it came to be known as the Raraflora Nursery Collection. Last December, Bergman

He was very protective of his leafy companions. He discouraged visitors, even potential buyers, and made only rare appointments for people to see the collection. Once he turned down a check for $45,000 for a single bush. He was worried the purchaser would propagate it, thus diluting its value.

For most people, the garden will remain a secret. The others - horticulturists willing to pay a $500 deposit - will gather here Saturday, Sunday and Monday to bid on Bergman's treasures. Those who purchase nothing, will get back only $400, so it's unlikely they'll be any browsers.

Investors purchased the property on Stump Road after Bergman's death.

KAYFORD, W.Va. (AP) - Arnold Miller's former neighbors and union brothers on Cabin Creek were in general agreement Friday with his decision to step down as head of the United Mine Workers.

Many Customers Think It's Just Sound Business To Buy A Used Car.

Wes Jones O'Neal James Steve Miles Gary Uselton Ray Lecocq lim Weeks

Year in and year out, we have certain steady customers who buy nothing but used cars. To them, it makes good business sense to buy a good used car. In many cases, aside from the mile age...the only difference between a new car and a late model used car is the price! And if you'd like to pay hundreds of dollars less, we'll be glad to show you how. Here are just a few examples:

Flying buffs missing dessert

Copley News Service

WASHINGTON--Aviation buffs visiting the nation's capital are feasting on the main course but missing delightful dessert.

More than 10 million people annually visit the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum here, a gleaming $40 million edifice opened to the public in July 1976.

Less than 10,000 people each year make the 10-mile trip into suburban Maryland to tour the Smithsonian's Silver Hill Museum, where aircraft are restored, displayed and ware-

Silver Hill is a "no frills" museum, a collection of aircraft and parts spread through a 25-building complex mostnotable from the outside for peeling paint.

BUT TUCKED AWAY inside is an array of aircraft to stir the passions of anyone who has ever built a model airplane or marveled at the miracle of flight.

"It is more or less a hidden treasure," said Louise Hull, a Smithsonian staff assistant.

"It has only been open to the public since January of 1977, and it is just beginning to attract attention." Unlike the Air and Space Museum, visitors cannot just wander in off the street. Reservations must be made two weeks in advance. But it is worth There are no crowds to cope with, and the volunteer tour guides take time to sate the curiosity of visitors.

THERE IS NO SHORTAGE of curiosity-provoking aircraft.

While the main downtown Air and Space Museum offers about 56 aircraft (excluding spacecraft), some 90 aircraft are on display at Silver Hill. Virtually every period in manned flight is represented - frail-looking turn-of-the-century craft, the "Jennies" and Spads of World War I and the barnstorming era, the betweenthe-wars craft as the aviation industry grew and experimentedd, the 'Mustangs", "Lightings", "Thunderbolts", German Messerschmitts and Japanese Mitsubishis of World War II, and a few jets from the Korean war and post-Korea period. (Most of the Smithsonian's space age craft are on display at the Air and Space Muse-Silver Hill has historic gems tucked away in dusty corners, such as the as-yet unrestored "Enola Gay", the B-29 bomber that awakened the world to the atomic age when it unleased its load over Hiroshima.

It also has one edge over the Smithsonian's fancier facility in downtown Washington -- a chance to glimpse skilled craftsmen laboriously restore vintage craft to their original appearance.

THERE IS NO SENSE of urgency in the Silver Hill workshop.

Only about four aircraft and about 20 artifacts -- such as engines, propellors and landing gears -- are restored each year.

Although the public may see only the outside of the aircraft, the entire aircraft -- every single nut and bolt -is restored, explained volunteer tour guide Richard Baumgardner, a retired management consultant and

Once an airplane is dismantledd, the metal parts are dipped in vats of carbon stripper, solvent and boiling water to get them as clean as they looked when first manufactured.

If the corrosion still does not come off, they are scrubbed with steel or copper wool. Sandd or glass blasting is used for the delicate parts.

SIMILAR ATTENTION is given to the other parts, and paint schemes and markings are researched carefully for authenticity. Efforts are also made to get a full history on the particular craft.

The decision on which airplanes will be restored is made largely on the basis of the exhibition plans of the Air and Space Museum. Since the museum now is planning to expand its exhibit of aircraft from the early 1900s, two craft from that period are in the shop.

Popular demand is a factor too.

One of the airplanes being restored is the "Corsair", the F-4-U fighter used by Marine and Navy pilots in World War II and Korea and familiar to fans of the now defunct television show, 'Baa-baa Black Sheep"

"I do not know whether the Corsair is being restored as a result of popular demand," said Baumgardner. "But I do know a lot of people ask about it.

There is no shortage of planes to restore. The few buildings open to the public evidence enough unassembled aircraft to provide both Silver Hill and its downtown big brother with a continuously changing supply of exhiand PTA.

Midland College students will be able to earn six hours of college credit by touring England next May.

The college-sponsored, 19-day tour will be led by Dr. Tim Green and Dr. Robert Miller, both members of the Midland College English department and authorities on English history and literature. Miller spent much of last summer touring England.

Persons wishing to enroll for the study tour must have completed freshman English 1301 and 1302 and register for six hours of elective credit hours in English to participate.

The tour group will assemble for two days of study at Midland College on May 12 and 13. They will leave Midland May 14 and arrive in London the following day.

From May 15 through 19, the group will tour various points of interest in and immediately near London. Workers again halt shipping

HONOLULU (AP) -Striking public workers shut down the state's docks Friday for the second time since they walked off their jobs Oct. 26 in a pay dispute.

Pickets from the United Public Workers showed up at piers throughout the state early in the morning, and longshoremen either refused to cross the picket lines or crossed but refused to work.

The UPW represents some 150 maintenance workers at the stateoperated piers.

Union pickets shut down the docks on the second day of the strike, but the UPW withdrew the pickets after the brief shutdown. .

By Friday, three-fourths of the state's 228 public schools had reopened with the help of parents volunteering as custodians. The schools were closed for nearly three weeks because bathrooms were not being cleaned. School janitors are among the state and county bluecollar workers on strike.

Most of the 60 schools which have not reopened are in low-income areas, where there is strong support for the strike.

Negotiations aimed at ending the walkout re-sumed Friday with federal mediator Gayle Wineriter. When talks broke off Wednesday, both sides were still holding firm to their positions. But the state indicated it could increase its offer slightly if a settlement is near.

'Aunt Hattie' Bilbrey — She toils and spins at 85

By JOE BOETTNER
The Los Angeles Times

BUENA PARK, Calif. - When Hattie Bilbrey was 10, her mother taught her how to operate a spinning wheel in a backwoods Tennessee log cabin.

Sitting behind a spinning wheel on the porch of another log cabin — this time in Knott's Berry Farm's Ghost Town — "Aunt Hattie" is still carding and spinning wool at 85.

"I learned to spin at my mother's knee," says Mrs. Bilbrey, with a twinkle in her eye. "She taught me how to make thread. She needed help. She put me behind the wheel. "There were seven boys and three girls in the family. Mama made the clothes." Mrs. Bilbrey and her brothers and sisters helped their parents grub out a living on a Pickett County

She was born in the log cabin on May 11, 1894. At 25, she was married in the cabin to Ernest Bilbrey. She then left home for the first time.

She recalls that she and her husband "drifted around the Midwest" for years as he held jobs on farms and as a machinist. The couple settled in Southern Calfiornia in 1948.

They made occasional trips back to her childhood home in Tennessee, however. She laughed as she recalled one visit. "A fox was killing the chickens," she said. "No one was able to do anything about it. I said I'll take care of it. I got the traps out. I'd done a lot of trapping as a kid — fox, 'coon, possum. "I said that I was going to catch me a fox. And I did, too. I hung a dead chicken in a tree. I set three traps under the three limb and smoothed the dirt out

"When the fox jumped for the chicken, he caught a leg in the trap as he came down. I out foxed the farm," she said. "But I like people. I love children.

As the Bilbreys traveled from city to city, Aunt Hattie, as she is fondly called by her friends, taught classes on the spinning wheel in schools and gave exhibitions before civic groups. They had three children. Her husband died in

"I wanted to go to work," she said with a tug on her sun bonnet. "I wanted to make my own way. I didn't want a handout from anybody. That's the way I was taught. I want to work for what I have.' She learned of a possibility of working in Knott's

Ghost Town through her son, John. "I went to Knott's one day on my own," Aunt Hattie recalled. "I took some pictures of things I had made by spinning and weaving. They hired me right on the spot."

That was June 19, 1967. Ever since that day, she has been giving her demonstrations on a 16th century spinning wheel on the porch of a log cabin hewed from oak logs and imported from the Ozark Mountains of Missouri.

Recently, however, illness has forced her to limit her work. She normally works four days, and Viola Schulte, whom she taught, works the other three. Knott's supplies the wool from its sheep. She cards or combs it and then spins it into yarn for a loom, where it is weaved into fabrics. She has fashioned a variety of articles - dresses, stoles, aprons, blankets, bed coverlets. Mrs. Bilbrey finds time to give spinning wheel demonstrations in nearby schools and classes come to Knott's to watch her demonstrate her handi-

"Sometimes I think that I'd rather be back on the do good to others. They write letters to me. That makes me feel good.' She said she thinks the children of today might do with more discipline.

They are my buddies. I tell them to be good and "I was brought up on reading, writing and arithmetic," Aunt Hattie said. "And also to the tune of the hickory stick. That was good for me. Maybe there isn't enough of that for the kids nowadays.
