Efforts continue to free U. S. hostages

U.S. leaders lash out at Japanese position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting Senate Republican Leader Ted Stevens said today he does not know how long the American people will continue to support President Carter's handling of the crisis in Iran.

"People are getting mad," the Alaska senator told reporters. "They are maintaining support for the president, but I don't know how long that is going to last."

Democratic Leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia charged that Japanese interests "condone if not actually reward illegal actions taken against American citizens" by offering high prices for Iranian oil formerly sold to the United States.

And Sen. Russell Long, D-La., said that if the crisis in Iran led to international hostilities, "Japan will be far less able to defend itself" than the United States.

"If Japan is cheating in this episode, in the future it will find itself in far greater peril than the U.S.," said Long. He said the Japanese have little military might and must depend on the United States for their international security.

In Paris on Monday, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance charged that some Japanese companies are rushing to buy "at extraordinarily high prices" Iranian oil that the United States is no longer buying because of the crisis.

Byrd and Long spoke on the Senate floor. Stevens, who attended one of a series of briefings for senators by Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher on Monday, volunteered his comments to reporters.

He said he was "increasingly disturbed over the lack of information concerning the health of the (50 American) hostages" being held by radical students in Tehran.

"So far as we know, no doctor has seen the hostages since the first hostages were released," he said.

The Republican leader also expressed concern about the Japanese actions and about a Soviet battalion which he said was reported to be within 40 miles of the Iranian border.

He said he was sure that Vance "is telling our allies that he does not know how long the administration can continue on its present course in view of the increasing decibels" of the public response.

Stevens did not say what alternative course of action he thought might ensue.

Earlier, first lady Rosalynn Carter said the extended war of nerves with Iran would make this Christmas "very special" and somewhat subdued.

Khomeini gets warning of danger of civil war

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said today international observers will see the American hostages in the occupied U.S. Embassy "in the very near future."

Meanwhile, the spiritual leader of the Azerbaijani Turks who are rebelling against government authority in the northwest, said in an interview today that Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini would face civil war if he did not liberalize his policies toward Azerbaijan.

Ghotbzadeh told a news conference. "We are going to have independent international observers to go and visit the prisoners in, I hope, a very short time and afterwards I hope that visits will be (made) regularly."

The news conference was for newspaper and magazine reporters, not news agencies, but The Associated Press obtained a tape recording of the questions and answers.

"One visit certainly is agreed upon, and it will be done I hope in the very near future," Ghotbzadeh said. "I hope that visits will be regularly (allowed). I can't guarantee that now."

Among the international intermediaries in Tehran is Harold Schmidt Degruneck of the International Red Cross, who saw 15 of the hostages earlier in the five-week-old siege. U.N. emissary Zuhair Yamin arrived in Tehran Monday and Sri Lankan Foreign Minister Shaul Hameed, who already has acted as an intermediary, is reportedly back in Tehran.

Ghotbzadeh said attempts were being made by Iranian officials to assemble an international grand jury as soon as possible to investigate Iran's grievances, including crimes charged against the deposed shah.

ABC News reported the Carter administration had "signaled" that if the 50 American hostages were not released within seven to 10 days, the United States would launch an economic campaign to bring down Iranian strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. But a spokesman for the State Department's task force on Iran denied the report.

Khomeini on Monday defied the United States to blockade Iran and made a personal attack on President Carter.

Today the dispute between Iran's two highest-ranking holy men intensified when Shariat-Madari, second most senior religious leader, said in an interview with Associated Press Correspondent Maureen Johnson at his home in the holy city of Qom. "If the executive makes mistakes again, the disturbances will continue in Azerbaijan, tension will increase, people will start to kill each other, civil war will take place."

Khomeini says "American spies" fomented the rebellion, now in its sixth day, by the Azari Turks, the largest of Iran's ethnic minorities, in Tabriz, the capital of East Azerbaijan and Iran's third largest city.

The Azeris' rebellion is considered a serious threat to Khomeini's power because of the role the minority plays in Iranian society. Known for their hard work and determination to advance themselves, the Azeris are disproportionately represented among the military, civil service and the merchant class. Although most live in Azerbaijan, many others are spread throughout the country.

And, because of Shariat-Madari's high religious rank, the dispute threatens to undermine the religious legitimacy of the revolution.

Angered by mob attacks on Shariat-Madari's home and by the failure of Khomeini's new Islamic constitution to grant them autonomy, the Turks seized control of Tabriz last Thursday and battled government troops and revolutionary guards through the weekend for control of the local radio station and other government buildings.

Khomeini's forces regained control of the radio station Monday. Tehran Radio said a "group of armed people" tried to attack the station but were repulsed and 72 were arrested. Reporters in Tabriz said rival groups demonstrated in the city but they saw no attack on the station.

Khomeini sent a peace delegation to Tabriz headed by Finance Minister Abolhassan Bani Sadr, but leaders of the Turks' Moslem People's Party, refused to meet with them. The delegation did talk with the province's governor-general.

Japan may curb oil imports

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira said today that Japan might consider restricting oil imports from Iran if the U.S.-Iranian crisis worsens, "but at the present time we are not considering this possibility."

"For the present time, Japan must make every effort to secure the oil imports that it needs," the prime minister told reporters.

The United States has taken a severe stance toward Iran because of the hostage issue. But the crisis between Iran and the United States is in a proper sense not an oil problem.

Ohira was responding to criticism from a spokesman for Secretary of State Cyrus Vance who said Monday that Japanese oil companies and banks were undercutting the economic pressure the U.S. government is putting on Iran to try to force Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to free the 50 Americans held hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran since Oct. 4.

Vance, visiting major U.S. allies in Europe to ask their cooperation, talked with Japanese Foreign Minister Subaru Okita in Paris. A high-ranking official accompanying Vance criticized the Japanese purchase in the spot market of Iranian oil diverted from the United States and the help Japanese bankers gave Iran in easing the effect of the Carter administration's freeze on Iranian assets in American banks.

"As long as there is evidence like that provided by the Japanese, those guys in Tehran have got to believe we are all words and no meaning," said the official, who refused to be quoted by name.

Before Ohira commented, an official of the Japanese Foreign Ministry said the expanded purchases of spot oil for as much as $40 a barrel was "regrettable" and his government was stepping up efforts to curtail the purchases.

"We are asking trading companies to refrain from buying on the high-priced spot market, but there is no way we can end all purchases of spot market oil from Iran because of this nation's energy needs," he said.

"We understand why the Americans, worked up over the hostage issue, become angry when Japanese buy Iranian oil, and we are doing everything to improve the situation."

Informed sources say Japanese traders and oil companies have recently bought 20 million barrels of Iranian oil on the open market, the amount the United States normally would have purchased in a month from Iran.

Culver Home salaries increased

This step may lead to reopening the juvenile facility

By BILL MODISETT
Staff Writer

Midland County Commissioners on Monday agreed to increase the salary paid house parents at Culver Youth Home, the county's minimum security juvenile detention facility.

The step, which commissioners hope will lead to reopening the home closed since Oct. 8, was taken at the request of Juvenile Judge Willie DuBose and Juvenile Probation Officer Grover Green.

The two men said they have been unable to find replacements for the facility's house parents who resigned two months ago. Culver Youth Home has been closed since Oct. 8.

Green had said previously that the salary paid house parents was one obstacle to finding replacements. DuBose reiterated that same thought Monday, saying that he believed replacements would have been found earlier had the salary been higher.

The county pays house parents — a man and wife team — $672 per month. That salary increases to $746 after six months. Additionally, the county pays the team $60 for working a weekend if they work seven days a week instead of five.

Under the pay schedule approved at Monday's meeting — to become effective Jan. 1 — the county will pay house parents $800 per month initially with an increase to $850 after three months and to $900 after six months. Salary for weekend work will be increased to $80.

Following the meeting, DuBose said when the facility may reopen "is a matter of talking to the parties and getting their commitment."

Since Culver Youth Home has been closed, juveniles detained by law enforcement officers have been housed either at Midland City Jail or Midland County jail, or sent home with their parents.

Green said he believes the facility will reopen no sooner than three or four days and no longer than two weeks.

The men are talking to two sets of applicants.

Since Culver Youth Home has been closed, juveniles detained by law enforcement officers in Midland County have been housed either at Midland City Jail or Midland County Jail, or sent home with their parents.

Although such an arrangement poses no particular problem for the county, officials prefer not to detain juveniles in a jail facility.

The vote to increase the salary was unanimous by the three commissioners present. Commissioner Win Brown was absent.

Commissioners also voted to underwrite with county tax dollars the expense of housing children in basic care institutions if they cannot be housed in institutions receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children funds or places providing free services.

Beverly Acker requested the action, noting that at some point it may be impossible to receive assistance from other facilities.

She noted that she first will attempt to get the children housed in a facility receiving either AFDC funds or receiving no reimbursement for its services.

Mrs. Acker said the county has budgeted some $15,000 in fiscal year 1980 for such services.

Commissioners also reappointed the Rev. John Riggs, Mrs. Harold Steek and James Owens to three-year terms on the 10-member county Child Welfare Board effective Jan. 1. Their terms expire Dec. 31.

Commissioners also agreed to let Sheriff Dallas Smith use a $9,000 surplus from his budget for this year to defray overtime in the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Smith's department has accumulated more than 2,000 hours in overtime, largely due to the fact that the department was an average of two men short during 1979, according to the sheriff.

Commissioners Durward Wright and Charlie Welch agreed to allow the sheriff to use the funds in such a manner only after he said he will develop a plan to avoid the overtime problem next year. That plan is to be formulated prior to the commission's Jan. 14 meeting.

The surplus will be used to pay officers straight time for hours worked above the department's 48-hour work week between Jan. 1, 1979, and Dec. 15, 1979, Sheriff Smith said.

Smith will first pay officers below the rank of sergeant with the remaining funds going first to sergeants, then to lieutenants and captains. The higher-ranking officers probably will be paid only a portion of their overtime hours, the sheriff said.

In other action, commissioners renewed the contract of Pritchard and Abbott Valuation Consultants and set a Jan. 14 public hearing on a proposal to lower from 55 mph to 35 mph the speed limit on County Road 1220 from the Interstate 20 service road south to the Scharbauer Ranch.

Shah's disinherited nephew offers to exchange himself

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A disinherited nephew of the deposed shah of Iran has offered to exchange himself for 20 of the American hostages in Tehran.

Darius Pahlavi Hillyer, 22, an American citizen, told a KCRA-TV interviewer Monday that such an exchange would give him a chance to prove himself.

Hillyer was stripped of his princelyhood, a $1.25 million trust fund and Iranian citizenship after being convicted in 1977 of assaulting a police officer in Grass Valley, where he lives, after a high-speed auto chase.

Asked if he had any personal reasons for exchanging himself, he said, "I want to make up for my past life... A reason, for me, is I've been disinherited, and so on. I want my life to be worthwhile like the rest of my family. I want to be a good person."

Asked if the Iranians would accept, he answered, "I think they'd be satisfied."

Interviewer Mike Boyd noted that the Iranians holding the 50 American hostages are demanding the shah, not a nephew.

Hillyer said, "The shah will return — but not now — when the country is changed again."

American hostages

The situation of the American hostages remained unchanged today, the 38th day of their captivity at the American Embassy in Tehran.

One of the hostages, Marine Cpl. Billy Gallegos, 21, of Pueblo, Colo., said in an NBC-TV interview Monday that the students holding them "have really been good to us. It's hard to believe, I know, but we haven't been asked any questions about what really our job was."

Asked if he was worried, Gallegos replied, "I imagine we'll be OK... Nobody's been mistreated. Everybody's OK."

Khomeini's regime

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini made a vituperative personal attack on President Carter, urging "America to remove Carter from its political scene."

"He was a bad president for America, he disgraced America in the world. He mobilized Moslems against America... the nation of America should know that they should not vote for Carter because Carter has betrayed America," said Khomeini Monday in a speech to Moslem students at his headquarters in Qom.

Khomeini also accused "American spies" of fomenting the rebellion, now in its sixth day, by the Azari Turks, the largest of Iran's ethnic minorities, in Tabriz, the capital of the northwestern province of Azerbaijan and Iran's third largest city.

Court of Justice

The United States went to the International Court of Justice in The Hague Monday and charged that the seizure of its embassy and the members of the embassy staff violated four international treaties and agreements signed by Iran and the United States. U.S. Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti asked the court to order the hostages freed, but Iran refused to recognize the court's jurisdiction and boycotted the hearing.

Vance's trip

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance was visiting London, Paris, Bonn and Rome, seeking the cooperation of Washington's major allies in the campaign of economic pressure on Iran.

Vance met with the Japanese foreign minister in Paris, and a high-ranking American official accused the Japanese of undercutting the United States by buying Iranian oil diverted from the American market and of helping Iran to ease the freeze on Iranian assets in American banks.

Approval of missile plan expected at NATO meeting

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — All member governments of NATO have agreed to U.S. plans to base 572 medium-range nuclear missiles in Western Europe, and their foreign and defense ministers will approve the plan Wednesday during the North Atlantic Alliance's annual winter meeting, senior diplomats reported.

Although the Dutch, Belgian, Danish and Norwegian governments have reservations about aiming 464 Tomahawk cruise missiles and 108 Pershing II missiles at Russia, the diplomats said all four have committed themselves privately not to block the move.

The diplomats, who declined to be named, said NATO's more powerful members—the United States, Britain, West Germany and Italy—are going out of their way to ease the problems of their smaller partners by offering a wide range of arms control measures that will be announced at the end of the session Friday.

They said they include a U.S. decision to remove about 1,000 of the 7,000 tactical nuclear weapons from Western Europe, a NATO offer to withdraw 17,000 U.S. troops from Europe if the Soviets recall 30,000 of their own soldiers, and nine other measures intended to ease East-West tensions.

Among the nine, they said, are swapping observation teams on a permanent basis to check against sudden troop movements by East or West and sending observers to each other's military maneuvers.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Monday that deployment of the new missiles "will lead to a new spiral of the arms race and threaten détente."

MC president on committee for junior college funding

AUSTIN — Midland College President Dr. Al G. Langford was named to a Select House Committee on Junior College Funding Monday to prepare recommendations for the 1981 Legislature.

The appointment was made by House Speaker Bill Clayton.

Clayton said the 10-member committee was being asked specifically to determine how current funding formulas need to be adjusted to meet costs, the problems of small taxing districts and small enrollments and how to deal with increasing as well as fast-growing enrollments.

Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, was named chairman.

House members on the committee include Reps. Jerry Donaldson, D-Gatesville, Tom Uher, D-Bay City, Billy Hall, D-Laredo, and Erwin Barton, D-Pasadena.

Private citizens named to the committee were Marvin Baker, Levelland, Tony Bonilla, Corpus Christi, H.J. Shands Jr., Lufkin, Dr. Jerome Weyand, San Antonio, and Langford.

Center for Battered Women hires director

The Permian Basin Center for Battered Women today announced a full-time director has been hired.

Sally Brammer, who was named to the post, said her duties would include counseling battered women, coordinating volunteers and just listening to battered women.

A 1977 graduate of Florida State University with a bachelor of science degree in criminology, Ms. Brammer's experience includes individual inmate counseling with the Crisis Intervention Program at Duval County Jail.

She has also worked at Wisconsin State Hospital with emotionally disturbed children and children with behavioral problems.

According to board of directors President Sue Stephens, Ms. Brammer's salary is $10,500.

"Since the center opened this past March, 130 women and children have been housed in the small, three-bedroom home, according to Ms. Stephens.

She said most of those women have returned to their "abusive" situation because they were not financially independent and wanted to give their marriages another try.

Ms. Stephens said lack of space at the center has been a problem and that future plans include moving to a larger facility "so we will not have to turn women away due to lack of space."

Services offered at the center include a telephone hotline, emergency service, medical assistance, shelter, food, clothing and assistance in obtaining legal counsel.

The hotline is used by numerous women, according to Ms. Stephens. "We receive 100 to 150 calls a month," she said. That number is 683-1300.

According to Ms. Brammer, the holiday season promotes wife abuse.

Kennedy: Some good news, some bad

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG

CHICAGO (AP) — After a festive night in Chicago, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's presidential campaign is $250,000 richer but is seeing troubling signs in two public opinion polls.

Chicago was the first stop on a fund-raising tour for the Massachusetts senator. From there, he was heading today for Florida, where his wife, Joan, planned to spend a day campaigning with him.

Monday night, with Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne at his side, Kennedy attracted between 3,500 and 4,000 people to the Conrad Hilton Hotel for a $100-a-plate dinner.

Kennedy, reciting his now-familiar litany of what he considers leadership failures by the Carter administration, expressed his gratitude to the mayor for her endorsement.

'We are all hostages' of OPEC, Connally says

KEENE, N.H. (AP) — Republican presidential aspirant John Connally says the Americans in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran are not the only hostages.

In a speech at Keene State College, the former governor of Texas said Monday that all Americans and the nation are hostages of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

"You're a hostage, I'm a hostage. We're all hostages. The country is a hostage to OPEC countries," he said. "We're in bondage, we're in chains."

He added that "our economic vitality depends on oil. Yet we've done nothing about it."

Connally also said he favors nuclear power. In response to a question from an opponent of nuclear energy, the former secretary of the treasury said: "We have to have energy. If you shut down nuclear energy you would bring economic chaos."

"The worst environment I can think of is to be cold, hungry and unemployed," he said.

Texas farm labor battles must wait, Chavez says

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — There can be no major United Farm Workers Union effort to organize Texas farm laborers until the UFW completes numerous labor battles still being fought in California, says union leader Cesar Chavez.

"Once we get our battles consolidated in California, we can concentrate on Texas," the UFW president said here Monday in the first stop of a five-day swing through Texas.

"We can't be effective in two places. All of our resources now are committed to California. We've never been able to come down with all our might in Texas," he added in an interview.

Chavez, 52, said the UFW is engaged in seven strikes in California with 13 companies that have not signed union contracts. Chavez' trip to Texas is aimed at promoting the UFW's 11-month-old California lettuce strike.

Chavez' final stop will be Friday in San Juan, where he will inspect the labor situation among farm workers in the Rio Grande Valley.

Valley growers have headed off organizing efforts by the Texas UFW and the Texas Farm Workers Union. The UFW's most concerted effort was a major strike attempt in 1966 that ended in violence.

That endorsement has drawn an angry reaction from the Carter administration, where there had been high hopes of winning her support. Administration officials led by Transportation Secretary Neil Goldschmidt have hinted pointedly that the city could lose federal grants.

"That's our money and they'd better remember that," the mayor said to the cheers of the Kennedy supporters. "No threats will frighten me and I hope they won't frighten you."

While the dinner was a success, two polls published Monday indicated potential problems for the Kennedy campaign in Chicago and nationally.

A survey conducted by the Gallup organization for Newsweek magazine showed approval of President Carter's job performance jumping from 30 percent to 61 percent since the start of the Iranian crisis five weeks ago. The Gallup organization said it was the largest increase recorded in one month's time in its 40 years of polling.

And a survey done for the Chicago Tribune showed only 31 percent of people polled in Chicago rated Mayor Byrne's performance in office as good or excellent.

The mayor received 82 percent of the vote when she defeated her Republican opponent eight months ago.

At a news conference Monday, the mayor acknowledged that many of those polled cited her endorsement of Kennedy as a reason for their disapproval.

"I'm not surprised at that," she said.

The mayor said that a "hate" campaign was developing against Kennedy throughout the city. She said similar hatred was directed at Kennedy's late brothers, John and Robert.

Kennedy has fund-raising events scheduled this week in Miami, Boston, New York City, San Francisco, Los Angeles and St. Louis.

His first stop in Florida was Gainesville, where his wife's mother has a home.

Joan Kennedy has appeared with her husband at campaign events only briefly since he announced his candidacy early in November.

However, she said in an interview last week that she intends to campaign for him after she completes music studies at Lesley College in Boston.

Answer Line

By Franchelle Moore

P.O. Box 1650, Midland 79702

This is a nuisance to me. Once a week there is water all over the street at the corner of Wadley and Whitney Streets.

Not only does my car get splashed all over with water, I understand standing water causes damage to the streets.

I have followed the flow of the water to determine its source, and I think it is coming from an apartment complex on Wadley. — B.K.N.

ANSWER: A check was made with the apartment unit manager and Answer Line was informed that the complex does not water its lawns every week this time of year. However, it was noted, there is a fire hydrant in that vicinity which has to be "flushed out" regularly because of the proximity of a school.

The manager also said there are other residents in the neighborhood who water their lawns, wash cars, etc. During the summer months, the runoff of water from watering lawns is more prevalent.

I have heard about fescue grass. Do you have any information about it? — Mrs. P.L.

ANSWER: According to "The Complete Book of Garden Magic" by Roy E. Biles, "The fescue grasses are tolerant to adverse growing conditions such as shade and poor soil. They also thrive in full sunlight. Although they do not form the thick matted turf, the improved varieties are the same color and texture of bluegrass.

"Chewings Fescue, the older kind, is cheaper, but many object to the deep green color. Pennlawn is the best of the improved varieties. Other selections are Hlabege and Penn State.

There are two tall growing fescues which may be included in cheap mixtures, Alta and Kentucky 31. Both are coarse and would soon crowd out better grasses. Since they do have enduring qualities and will thrive most anywhere, these tall fescues might be used in parking areas.

Could you tell me a good way to feed medicine to a cat? — Mrs. M.F.

ANSWER: According to "The Old Farmer's 1979 Almanac," To feed a cat liquid medicine, spill some on the fur and the instinctively clean cat will lick it off instantly. To feed pills to dogs or cats, coat the pills with butter.

'We lost the satellite and haven't found it yet'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Satcom III, a one-ton, $20 million RCA Corp. communications satellite, is lost in space after technicians fired an engine meant to send the craft into permanent orbit.

"We lost the satellite and haven't found it yet," said John Williamson, a spokesman for American, an RCA subsidiary, in New Jersey.

The television relay satellite disappeared from American's New Jersey tracking screens shortly after a kick motor switched on Monday afternoon, Williamson said.

"We don't know what happened to it," he said. "We hope it will come out OK. But there is certainly cause for dismay."

Williamson said if the satellite were to fall to earth, it would burn up in the atmosphere before reaching the ground.

Sources close to the RCA project told the newspaper TODAY in Cocoa, Fla., "either it blew up or it's flying somewhere out in the universe." One source said the satellite probably blew up because it would have remained on tracking screens longer had it been propelled into outer space, the newspaper reported.

Satcom III was launched from Cape Canaveral Thursday night by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration under a contract with RCA. James Lacy, public information officer at a NASA tracking station in Maryland, said the craft went into a temporary looping orbit, and NASA tracked it for two hours before turning the job over to RCA.

Williamson said the kick motor was to have sent the satellite into a permanent orbit 22,300 miles above the Pacific, midway between Hawaii and California.

Cancer center on MMH agenda

A report on the Nov. 26 certificate of need hearing for the Allison Periman Basin Cancer Therapy Center will highlight the meeting of the Midland Memorial Hospital trustees Wednesday.

The 12:30 p.m. meeting will be in the hospital board room.

The hearing was held in Austin before a hearing examiner for the Texas Health Facilities Commission. A final ruling on the certificate of need — which must be obtained before the $32 million facility can be built — is expected by Thursday.

Trustees also are expected to approve several medical staff appointments and advancements and make staff reappointments for 1980.

Vance says Italy supports U.S.

ROME (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, describing the condition of American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran as "inhuman," said today Italy supported attempts to win their release.

Vance, in a brief statement, told reporters he discussed the hostages' "inhuman conditions" and ways to free them with Italian Premier Francesco Cossiga.

He said Cossiga and President Sandro Pertini gave him their "support and cooperation" in attempts to obtain their freedom.

Pertini had earlier issued a personal appeal to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini for the release of the 50 U.S. hostages.

Vance said the United States is seeking "other channels" for the freedom of the hostages in addition to moves at the United Nations and the International Court of Justice. He did not elaborate and gave no chance to reporters to question him after his meeting with Cossiga.

Vance said it "essential to have the cooperation, as we have had, of the international community."

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Crossing the River

By Alfred Sheinwold

In some problems you have to get "broad" and various answers. When a river is a "small" deal, it's just getting anything or something. Get some "broad" and "fast" at the bridge, you may take the same kind of crossing.

Fast take the arc and returned again. Decoder then get a trump to the arc.

South called. The arc of hearts, truffed a heart and set a diamond. West win and set a third club. Declarer discarded a heart on the high diamond, set a trump to the king and ruffed the last heart.

LOSES TWO TRUMPS

Dummy now had three diamonds, south 4 in 4 of trumps. If south ruffed a diamond in West, would overruff. If south ruffed high West would discard. Either way, West would get two trumps.

South ruffed in the wrong hand because of that first trump to discard. If he limits that play, dummy ends with a trump and three diamonds and South with A-1-10-4 of trumps, South leads a trump to the ace and then the ace of trumps, limiting West to one trump trick.

CHAPPAQUIDDICK NUMBER TWO?

United Way: Success!

Hurrah for the Tall City of Midland, which once again has exceeded a record-breaking goal in its annual United Way finance campaign.

Congratulations certainly are in order for the scores of campaign leaders and workers, volunteers all, who worked diligently, unselfishly and tirelessly in achieving the goal.

This year's fund-raising task wasn't an easy one by any means, but there was never a doubt in the minds of the loyal, determined campaigners that the $1,017,000 goal would be reached, even if it did take a week or two longer than had been anticipated.

This was the first time, incidentally, that the goal had exceeded the one million dollar figure, but this proved to be no hindrance. Midlanders were advised of the financial needs of the participating agencies and they responded magnificently to the challenge.

Actually, this is a tremendous achievement for Midland, making the Tall City stand even taller in the eyes of its residents and others. It isn't every city which can do this sort of thing year after year. But Midlanders somehow get the job done in typical Midland fashion, and they are to be commended for coming through in such excellent style. The success of the campaign once again points up the firm conviction of Midlanders in giving the United Way.

We could never express adequately the community's appreciation to the many volunteer workers for the countless hours they contributed in this particular effort. We can only say from the heart, "Thank you, one and all."

W.F. "Bill" Orloff, who engineered, as chairman, the exceptionally well-organized and expertly directed campaign, commented, "It was a tough job, but our volunteers put in a tremendous final effort and brought us to 100 percent. We appreciate all their hard work and all the generous contributions by Midland residents and businesses."

Enthusiasm was the watchword of the campaigners as they launched the annual effort, and that enthusiasm was never lost. It is one of the essential ingredients of any successful effort of this nature.

And enthusiasm certainly was very much in evidence at the Victory Celebration last Friday. It truly was and is a time for rejoicing. It was a great and most rewarding day for Midland.

Those 'Good Ol' Days'

The following "Good Ol' Days" article, which first appeared in The Salem, Mo., News on Dec. 3, 1959, was reprinted in the "Yesterday's" column of a recent issue of that newspaper.

We found it interesting, and it undoubtedly will bring back memories to many others who are still around and enjoying life. The article reads:

"Life may begin at 40. If you are 'some' past that mark you may remember—

"When a small town could support two blacksmith shops. Air conditioning in the bathroom was too small, half moons in the little house at the end of the path. It took six flatirons to do the family washing. Dad brought milk home from the neighbors in an open bucket.

"When 'shorts' was something you fed to a hog and not a covering for the posterior. When you had to wind the Victrola after each record was played. When you knew the name of the piano player that used to beat the ivories at the Hoot Gibson shows.

"When Mama stood bent over the washing board from 6 a.m. til noon each Monday. When you were given a half teaspoon of kerosene with sugar to knock a cold. When you ran two miles to watch an airplane make a landing in a farmer's cornfield.

"When the girls wore spicurils and black bloomers. When the Sears Roebuck catalog served a dual purpose. When the grocer gave the kids a big sack of candy every time Dad paid the bill. When the baby diaper was always a three-corner affair.

"When Happy Hooligan was your favorite comic strip. When an old nag meant the farm plow horse. When you had to crank the Model T and hold the choke at the same time—and when changing tires meant just that, not changing wheels. When the school principal could and did 'whop' the behinds of misbehaved kids—and still keep his job.

"When a farmer could grow any crop of his choosing (and got whatever he could for it).

"Remember? Those were what are called the 'good ol' days.'"

Would you want to go back to them? Or could you go back to them?

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

The government expected trouble

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — In the backrooms of Washington, everyone seemed to know that the shah was bad news. The State Department and Central Intelligence Agency advised against admitting him to the United States. It would probably incite militants in Iran, they warned, to storm the American Embassy and seize American hostages.

President Carter was aware of the warnings. In response to implorings that he admit the shah, Carter reportedly once asked his advisers ruefully: "When the Iranians take our people in Tehran hostage, what will you advise me then?" Nevertheless, he personally authorized the shah's entry.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance understood the danger. On July 26, he sent an urgent, "eyes-only" cable to Charles d'Affaires L. Bruce Laingen in Tehran. "We are considering," the cable posed, "how to respond to the shah's continuing query to us through various channels regarding establishing residence in the United States. I would like to have your personal and private evaluation of the effect of such a move on the safety of Americans in Iran (especially the official Americans in the compound)."

Laingen warned that the shah's arrival in America could ignite anti-American actions, including probable reprisals against the embassy. Yet Vance advised the president to admit the shah on "humanitarian" grounds.

The shah's case was handled at the State Department by Undersecretary David Newsom. He probably understood better than anyone else in Washington the consequences of granting the shah a visa. He was privy to the many warnings and prognostications that the shah's presence in the United States would mean trouble.

Yet Newsom's only concern was how to minimize the impact of the shah's arrival. He would have preferred, for example, to bring the shah into the country next year—after the Iranian situation became more stable.

Henry Precht, who heads the Iranian desk at the State Department, was in touch with developments in Iran on a daily basis. He knew that the political ingredients in Iran were highly combustible and, with the slightest spark, could explode in America's face.

Yet on Aug. 2, he sent the American Embassy a "Secret-Sensitive" planning paper on how to prepare "for the shah to come to the United States." The plan was to wait until Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini pushed through his new constitution and established a new government.

Then, the paper stated, "We should inform the new government that we wish to clear our decks of old issues on the agenda. One of those old issues will be the status of the shah. We could inform the government that we have resisted intense pressures to allow him to come to the U.S. because we did not wish to complicate (the ayatollah's) problems or our efforts to construct a new relationship."

Now with the new government firmly established and accepted, it seems appropriate to admit the shah to the U.S. The new government may ORLANDO, Fla. — The majority of political leaders in this country need to be defeated at the next election. Actually, they deserve to be tarred and feathered or in some cases confined to institutions for the mentally shortchanged.

I do not say that flippantly. Their own actions and statements convict them of either stupidity, if they really mean what they say, or duplicity, if they really know better.

Either way, a nation can no more survive the dangerous journey through the last of the 20th Century led by incompetents and crooks than a man in a wheel chair can climb Mt. Everest. Let me give you some examples of idiocy.

The Democratic majority in Congress just voted to take $1.35 billion from the pockets of the taxpayers and use it to help a selected minority of people, supposedly the poor, pay their winter fuel bills. These nicemops are sending several millions to Florida and Hawaii where you couldn't freeze to death if you spent the winter in a nudist camp.

They are just oozing with compassion and humanity—at our expense. Furthermore, they are assuming that poor people don't have sense enough to avoid freezing. Since the beginning of this nation, we have had bad winters and poor people. We used to leave the business of keeping warm to individual initiative. I have known several drunks and lunatics in my time who always managed to avoid freezing without any help at all from the U.S. Congress.

This is phony charity. If you want to pay someone else's fuel bill, go ahead, but don't point the tax collector's gun at my head, take money I need for my family, and then pretend to be compassionate.

But hypocrisy is only one of their sins. Why are the fuel bills high in the first place? Because of the actions of the Democratic majority in Congress. They, beginning in the 1950s with natural gas and then in the 1970s with oil, have virtually destroyed the free market mechanism in the energy business. The result is an energy crisis.

Do you see what they are doing? They are: (1) creating a problem; (2) blaming a scapegoat, and (3) robbing us in order to pretend they are trying to solve the problem they created.

The so-called energy program proposed by President Carter and even the mangled version about to pass the Congress is stupid and-or deceptive on its face. The problem is simple to define: we consume 19 million barrels of oil per day; we produce 10.5 million barrels a day; by necessity, we import 8.5 million barrels per day.

The foreign governments from whose countries the oil is imported have formed a cartel and artificially raised the price. How can we be sure it was an artificial price rise? Because prior to 1973 when the price was based more or less on supply and demand, it was around $3 a barrel. Only a fool would believe that demand has increased enough to justify the price hike, especially when you remember that Alaska, the North Sea and Mexico have all come on line since then.

The solution is also obvious: (1) decrease consumption; (2) increase domestic production, and (3) apply political pressure to break up the cartel. Neither Carter nor the Congress has done much of anything to accomplish any of these objectives.

On the contrary, they've aggravated the problem. They are proposing to take $141 billion out of the hands of the oil industry and put it in the hands of the bureaucracy which couldn't find and produce energy with a fairy's magic wand.

They've held domestic prices to artificially low levels which encourages consumption, not conservation. They have passed such a burdensome mish-mash of laws regulating natural gas that exploration has decreased. They have passed other laws and are proposing even more that will discourage exploration for oil, development and use of coal, and efficient use of nuclear energy.

Would you believe they have made it more not less, difficult to seek oil offshore? Would you believe that since the beginning of the energy crisis, they have expanded, by millions of acres, the areas where energy exploration is forbidden.

Either they are stupid or they are deceiving us and playing the multinational game by forcing us to be more, not less, dependent on foreign oil. Defeated? They should be horsewhipped.

THE BIBLE CAN YOU QUOTE IT?

Kennedy's foreign policy record: Serious questions posed

WASHINGTON — To read Kennedy's Foreign Policy, What The Record Shows, in the December Commentary is to understand how vulnerable this presidential aspirant could become on an issue which, given the Iranian crisis, could become quite significant.

After years of skepticism, if not aversion, for the notion of a strong U.S. global presence, liberal Democrats are coming around to a more sober view that there is danger, and evil in the world. Sen. Edward Kennedy's record, as carefully detailed in this first-rate article by Joshua Muravchik, a fellow at Georgetown University, doesn't reflect this realization. There are clear differences between Kennedy and Carter on foreign policy which the President could exploit.

To begin with, Kennedy fails to distinguish the vast difference between totalitarian and authoritarian regimes. Thus Kennedy recommended that the United States "should respect the experiment that has taken place in Cuba and normalize relations with it."

As Muravchik notes, Kennedy "has been unusually kind in his remarks about Vietnam," and after some Americans were repatriated held by the Communists there, Kennedy said he wanted to "commend the government of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam for another gesture of good will to the American people, and for continuing to respond to the many humanitarian issues that remain in the aftermath of the long war."

In 1976, after the monstrous Cambodian regime had depopulated the cities and created a near-Holocaust, Kennedy said that "the authorities have necessarily focused all attention on rural areas and increasing food production."

While trying to show understanding for totalitarian regimes to the point of arguing that if the United States recognizes them, their behavior will improve, Kennedy, by his votes and words, shows no such softness for authoritarian nations like South Korea, Taiwan and Chile, or even for parliamentary democracies like Turkey, Rhodesia and South Africa.

So ardent was he for recognition of Communist China that Kennedy opposed Carter's policy of giving Taiwan one year's notice of termination of our defense treaty. He denounced South Korea as "a veritable police state" and warned that continued military support for that nation bordering on Communist North Korea (which he never criticizes) could make the United States "an accomplice to political repression."

Earlier this year, Kennedy "strongly opposed" the Hayakawa-McGovern Resolution (the Senate passed it overwhelmingly) to send U.S. observers to monitor the elections in Zimbabwe-Rhodesia and objected to the fact that the Patriotic Front (Marxist guerrillas) weren't participating. In 1975 Kennedy led the effort to cut off all U.S. aid to anti-

Marxist forces in Angola and urged that the United States recognize the Cuban-backed government of Neto even while that civil war was still going.

When it comes to global strategy, Kennedy, by Muravchik's analysis, has been for a shrinking U.S. role. He teamed up with Iowa's Sen. John Culver to expose the "secret" agreement between the United States and Great Britain which established a U.S. naval base at Diego Garcia in the Indian Ocean. Considering how explosive that part of the world is now, thank God we have that base. Similarly, he has voted to cut arms exports to Turkey, a longtime NATO ally. On 24 roll calls, Kennedy voted for a stronger U.S. presence abroad eight times while the Senate voted for it 17 times.

All this leads Muravchik to conclude that the Europeans, Japanese and Israelis have reason to be concerned about Kennedy's notions of limited security commitments abroad, especially if Kennedy regards the Indian Ocean, Africa and the rest of the Middle East as outside the U.S. defense perimeter.

Perhaps it is unfair for the author to reach back and cite Kennedy's thinking in 1968 about guerrilla movements, but Kennedy did argue that these movements, "despite their use of terror and violence, will frequently offer disoriented people a faith, an organization, a way of life. To these people, the terror which we abhor is not that much worse from the life of poverty and pestilence which they seek to escape. It is, to put it bluntly, not our business to suppress these movements."

Muravchik concludes that Kennedy's foreign policy views "seem to convey an aura of idealism, but an idealism fueled by naivete and by an unrealistic sense of the balance of power in the world."

This is a good sampling of the Kennedy record, and I am the first to acknowledge that the senator can change his mind, even if it is in an election year. Richard Nixon did on Communist China, and it helped him to an enormous win in 1972. But the way events are turning against the United States in the world today, Kennedy has a lot of catching up to do, and his advertised leadership might not stand up so well in debate.

Not only chronic drinker gets cirrhosis of liver

Dear Dr. Solomon: Is cirrhosis of the liver found only in alcoholics? — Dan. Dear Dan: Heavy drinkers are not the only ones who can get cirrhosis of the liver; however, the disease is found seven times more often in alcoholics than in non-drinkers. Furthermore, the longer a person drinks, the more likely the development of cirrhosis. The condition is found in from 10 to 20 percent of all heavy drinkers.

Dear Dr. Solomon: For three years after my daughter was born, she was cared for by my mother while I went to work. In brief, my mother has different ideas than I do about how and what a child should be fed. Now that I remain at home, I am having trouble altering my daughter's diet. Is it unusual for a young child to have food fads? — Mrs. A.C.

Dear Mrs. C.: It is not unusual for very young children to develop definite food preferences, and you may need to exercise a good bit of patience in introducing unfamiliar foods into your daughter's diet. According to a study by Dr. Paul Rozin, of the University of Pennsylvania, children between 2 and 6 years of age have already established specific food preferences and eating habits. This becomes particularly noticeable when comparing children from different cultures who have developed varying ideas about what foods are edible, toxic, neutral, taboo or even disgusting.

Dear Dr. Solomon: A neighbor of mine had a tumor removed from his throat with a laser. Can you tell me what this is and how it works? — Leo.

Dear Leo: The laser (an acronym for Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation) is being used increasingly as a surgical tool. Among its advantages are reduced bleeding and less postoperative pain, especially during the first few days, than with conventional surgery.

Dr. W. Paul Biggers, an associate professor of surgery at the University of North Carolina, refers to the laser as the "light knife" because its beam acts like a knife. An ear, nose and throat specialist, he notes that the delicate precision of the laser makes it particularly appropriate for surgery near the vocal cords, where tumors can block the airway and distort vocal sounds. It is not used for large, invading tumors, and is rarely used on cancerous tumors because surgeons are not sure they can destroy every cancerous cell with it.

Three men killed in attack on women

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — About 8,000 middle-class women demonstrating for an end to leftist terrorism were attacked with rocks and sticks by some 2,000 leftist men. Hospital officials said three men were shot and killed and several other persons wounded.

It was not known who fired the shots. The women, parading as the Movement for Peace and Tranquility, were waving the Salvadoran flag and singing the national anthem when the men attacked them Monday.

Witnesses said the marchers carried signs reading, "We Do Not Want Enslaving Ideologies," and that the leftists shouted "Popular Revolutionary Bloc" and "Unified Popular Action Front," two groups trying to replace the two-month-old military junta with a Marxist government.

The men also shouted, "Bourgeoisie, Ha, Ha, Ha," and "The Streets Are Ours," then threw rocks and sticks at the women. The women fled, then regrouped in front of the presidential palace and met there with Adolfo Arnoldo Majano, one of the two colonels who overthrew the right-wing military president, Carlos Humberto Romero, on Oct. 15.

The women said leftist terrorists were causing work stoppages and violence in El Salvador. "Majano, We Do Not Want Communism, We Want Peace and Tranquility," they shouted. Majano promised the junta would not lead the country toward communism.

Leftists also attacked a police patrol Monday in La Union, 120 miles south of San Salvador, and authorities said one officer and two leftists were killed in the shootout.

Lasers appear to turn living tissue (which is about 80 percent water) into steam. The instrument is equipped with electronic control that permit the surgeon to manage the power and duration of the beam and enable him to direct it to lesions hidden under folds of tissue.

Lasers are expensive — the one used by Dr. Biggers costs $30,000 — but they can accomplish many things that cannot be done with other surgical tools.

Lawyer says supper club's wiring faulty

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Aluminum wiring in the Beverly Hills Supper Club was a time bomb ready to explode, says an attorney at the first trial stemming from the 1977 fire at the club in which 165 people died.

Chesley, a lawyer for the plaintiffs, said evidence would show that a receptionist who worked in the cubby hole area had said she had electrical problems in the past with an adding machine and a lamp.

U.S. District Court Judge Carl Rubin said the question of whether the companies were covering up would be tackled after the jury determined whether aluminum wiring had indeed caused the fire.

Police said a gunman kidnapped Jim Rogers, 47, in Texas earlier Monday. Rogers later escaped and the gunman then abducted Hardaway and Miss Baxter in Louisiana, forcing the couple to drive him toward Mississippi.

Two persons recently joined the Museum of the Southwest staff.

Filling the newly-created post of education coordinator is Denise Eschberger, 23, a native of Dallas.

Denise was graduated from The University of Texas at Austin in 1978 with a bachelor's degree in public relations journalism.

Her previous job experience includes serving as the North Texas Division program coordinator for the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness, and working as an intern for the Dallas Independent School District and The UT intercollegiate athletics department.

The other new member of the staff is Mai Hughes, who moved to Midland from California. She has replaced Sue Stephens, clerical assistant, who left in September.

Mai, 37, has studied psychology at the University of California at Santa Cruz and the College of the Desert in Palm Desert, Calif. Before coming to the Tall City, she worked as a bookkeeper for various companies.

SANTA CLAUS is coming to Greenwood School. He will arrive at 2:15 p.m. Dec. 21 on a fire engine led by the Sheriff's Dept. and Midland County Commissioner Charlie Welch.

MEMBERS of the Midland League of Women Voters will hold their annual Christmas party at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the home of League president, Charlene Rosebery, 14 Saddle Club Drive.

The League is open to all citizens of voting age and interested persons will be welcome. For more information, call 685-0564.

ALL SECOND GRADERS at Bowie Elementary School will present "The Runaway Toys" at the school's PTA meeting scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. today in Bowie Cafeteria.

REFUGEE RESETTLEMENT PROGRAM of the First United Methodist Church is having an organizational meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

All interested persons are urged to attend.

DEAR ABBY

She's staying home for Christmas

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading your column for years, and around holiday time someone always asks, "Should we go to HIS mother's or to MY mother's for Christmas dinner?" And your answer is always, "Why not alternate?"

Abby, my husband I struggled with that problem for years, and we resolved it according to your suggestion. Both sets of parents lived nearby, and it seemed the only fair thing to do. So for 22 years, we spent Thanksgiving and Christmas in parents' homes instead of our own.

It never dawned on us until this year — as our children are ready to strike out on their own — that we never developed our own holiday traditions. We always went to Grandma's for the holidays. She insisted on doing all the cooking herself — and then complained for months about how much work it was and how tired she got. When we, her daughters and daughters-in-law, asked if we could bring something for dinner, she wouldn't hear of it. When we brought food without asking her, she refused to serve it, so we finally gave up.

I realize now what a high price I've paid over the years for peace in the family. I wish I hadn't. Abby, please urge young marrieds to have their own holiday celebrations in their own homes. Suggest that they invite their parents and grandparents, who might even be relieved to be finally free of the burden of entertaining three generations.

Sign me — "DOING MY OWN THING"

DEAR DOING: You make an excellent point. Your answer was better than mine.

DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas Eve, during my busy preparations for 18 dinner guests (and also during our meal), I was called to the phone three times and kept there from 20 to 30 minutes while the callers wished me a "Merry Christmas." Each said, "I decided to phone rather than send cards this year," then proceeded to bring me up to date on their health, families and activities!

I appreciate their thoughts, and realize that by placing such calls they probably filled an otherwise lonely Christmas Eve, but if they must save the expense of sending Christmas cards, why can't they wait until the holiday is over, and then phone with their annual account of joys and sorrows?

Am I the only one who feels such phone calls are impositions? — UN-APPRECIATIVE IN OREGON

DEAR UNAPPRECIATIVE: Probably not. But if it's inconvenient for you to take the call, say so. And ask if you may return the call when you're able to visit longer.

DEAR ABBY: Our employer used to give Christmas bonuses to all employees, based on their length of service.

In the last couple of years, he eliminated the holiday bonuses in favor of a Christmas party. Well, the only ones who attend these parties are the young, or those who want to act young. Most people drink too much, the music is deafening, and there is more food wasted than eaten.

Many of us here are not party-minded because of finances and inability to get sitters, and we would much rather have the money instead — whatever the amount.

So how about running this letter to ask the boss people — foremen, administrators, managers, etc. — to let the employees have a choice. — JOPLIN, MO.

OC students to model fashions

ODESSA — Holiday fashions will be modeled by Odessa College fashion merchandising students from noon until 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Union Building cafeteria.

The students will model "after-five and evening clothes," according to Dr. Donnetta Heitschmidt, OC director of student activities.

The program is free and the public is invited.

Mammagraphy risks reduced

CHICAGO, Ill. — "Value of early discovery of breast cancer and consequent successful treatment far outweighs any slight possible health hazard from X-ray screening of women's breasts," according to reports published in the "Journal of the American Medical Association."

Mammagraphy (x-raying of the breast) is now carried out at very low doses of exposure and low-dose systems are used for the majority of the examination, Philadelphia radiologist Stephen A. Feig, M.D., states.

AAUW group celebrates 'Christmas Around World'

The Les Toques Blanches Gourmet Group of the American Association of University Women, Midland branch, met last week for its annual Christmas brunch and program at the home of Mrs. D. Jean Thomas, 2404 Dartmouth St.

Les Toques Blanches is a morning gourmet group and serves foods from around the world.

Mrs. J. Wayne Campbell, Mrs. Cary F. Geron and Mrs. Jack Hauke served as co-hostesses.

"Christmas Around the World" was the theme used. The serving table was covered with a white silk antique cloth over a green silk cloth. A green miniature tree was set on a table with miniature iced cookies, tied in red ribbons, attached to it. Della Robia fruit rings were placed around green candles on serving table and buffet. The green wreath theme was used on door, mail box, napkins, name tags and etc.

Foods served were from Germany, South America, Austria, Switzerland, China, Japan, Greece, Mexico, Sweden, England and the United States.

Mrs. Campbell served at the Was-sail English silver bowl and Mrs. Geron poured South American coffee at the silver coffee service.

Mrs. Herta Fuhrmann of Andrews and Mrs. Jerry Duggan, both guests, told of "Christmas in Poland and Germany."

Mrs. Jack Beshears, "Outstanding Girl" chairman, presented a gift to Sharla Southerland, Outstanding Girl for December. Her mother, Mrs. Robert Southerland, was a guest and is a member of AAUW.

Supreme Court to settle 103-year-old land dispute

By RICHARD CARELLI

WASHINGTON (AP) — A legal controversy sparked by Custer's last stand at the Little Big Horn 103 years ago will be settled by the Supreme Court.

The justices agreed Monday to decide whether the Sioux Indian Nation is owed more than $100 million for land taken from it in 1877 by a Congress angered by Custer's defeat and death the year before.

The U.S. Court of Claims, in awarding its largest judgment ever on June 13, said the Sioux are entitled to the money for 7.3 million acres of South Dakota's Black Hills country.

Lawyers said at that time that the award would benefit about 60,000 Sioux.

Government lawyers argue, however, that the Indian nation is entitled to only $17.5 million.

At issue is whether the federal government must pay 102 years worth of interest at 5 percent a year on top of the $17.5 million value of the taken land. As of June, the still-growing interest was nearly $90 million.

The case likely will be argued next spring and decided before the end of the current court term in June.

In an 1868 treaty, the United States promised that a huge portion of South Dakota lands, including the 7.3 million Black Hills acres, would be for the "absolute and undisturbed use and occupation of the Indians."

But in 1874, then Lt. Col. George Armstrong Custer discovered substantial amounts of gold in the Black Hills. The discovery sent white prospectors, miners and settlers flocking onto the Sioux's treaty land.

After President U.S. Grant secretly ordered the Army to turn its back on the interlopers, fighting broke out. It culminated in Custer's defeat and death in the Battle of Little Big Horn on June 25, 1876.

As part of an angry response, Congress passed legislation that cut off food rations to the Sioux until the Indians ended all hostilities and gave up their claim to the Black Hills.

"Since the Army had taken from the Sioux their weapons and horses, the alternative to capitulation to the government's demands was starvation," the Court of Claims' opinion noted.

Government rations worth some $43 million were subsequently sent to the Sioux Nation but there was never a formal payment for the land taken.

The Court of Claims said interest on the 1877 value of the land must be paid because the Indians are entitled to the "just compensation" promised in the Constitution for private lands taken by government.

The Carter administration argues, however, that the constitutional requirement does not apply to Indian lands.

In other matters Monday, the justices took these actions before leaving the bench for a four-week holiday recess.

—Did not take up a challenge to the imminent end of a mutual defense treaty with Taiwan. The treaty will end on Jan. 1 under a decision by President Carter, and a group of congressional conservatives led by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., wanted the high court to hear their arguments that Carter has no right to end the treaty without congressional consent.

—Ending the treaty with Taiwan was part of an agreement whereby the United States and the People's Republic of China established diplomatic relations.

—Ruled unanimously in a West Virginia case involving the United Mine Workers that parent labor unions may not be held legally responsible for unauthorized "wildcat" strikes, even when they do nothing to prevent or end them.

—Agreed to consider weakening an after-the-fact protection against illegal police searches.

The justices will study cases from Massachusetts and Kentucky in deciding the "continued vitality" of a 1960 Supreme Court ruling that gives all criminal suspects an automatic right to challenge incriminating evidence on grounds it was obtained illegally.

LEE YOUTH CENTER CHATTER 'Tis the season to host holiday parties at Lee

By KAREN FIDLER, LEIGH ANNE JONES and GINA BARD

Well, Rebs, only EIGHT more school days until Christmas. Hang in there, we know everybody can make it.

Our mighty Rebel roundballers saw plenty of action this past week. Unfortunately they fell to Snyder last Tuesday night in Snyder. That's all right, guys, we'll get 'em next time. However out J.V. basketball team went ahead and defeated Snyder. Way to go, guys.

Last Wednesday night the football banquet was held in the Lee cafeteria. Tom Williams, Barry Corley, James McGarity, Steve Waldron and Larry Linne all received awards for their outstanding season. Gary Butler received the Lena Douglas award with a 4.306 grade point average. Also congratulations go to Tom Williams, Steve Waldron and Gary Butler for being chosen team captains for the 1979 football season.

The Key Club held a Christmas dance last Saturday night in the Youth Center. It was so much fun that if you missed it, you really missed a good time. Thanks to Cliff Collyer for all his hard work getting organized. Hey, Ted — Where were you president? Also a big thanks to Crazy Joe (Disco) Windsor, Phil (Dr. Feelgood) Carleton, Cliff (Vulcan) Collyer and Tom (M.O.) Williams for cleaning up the Y.C. Sunday.

Congratulations to Lori Breeding for being chosen for the 1979 5-4A All-District volleyball team. Way to go, Lori.

Also a big YEA for the Lee speech and drama squads for winning their second consecutive sweepstakes in the TFA Speech Tournament.

This past weekend, out women roundballers participated in the Midland tournament. Lee beat Lubbock Estacado 41-40. Leshia Watkins was high point-scorer with 17. Our girls then bounced back to also beat Borger 61-60. Way to win, Rebs.

National Honor Society held its Christmas banquet last Saturday at the new Holidome. Hope everybody had a good time. NHS. Also, don't forget the band Christmas party this Saturday night in the Y.C. Plus, the choir will have its Christmas concert Dec. 18, so everybody mark your calendars and come.

REBELETTES: Don't forget your squad meetings Wednesday mornings at 7:45. Set your alarms, girls.

Gary Wood and David Keys were honored by the Kiwanis Club last week. Also congratulations to Roxi Barrett and Ed Ellis, our Lions Club honorees.

Our red-eyed Rebels really did a super job this past week. Both the girls and boys took first place at the San Angelo Invitational last week. All right, swimmers. This Friday and Saturday, make plans to travel to Odessa to see our mighty splashers win the Odessa Invitational at Permian. Come on Rebs and win.

We extend our best wishes to each girl selected for the Catoico Court and Midland High Don't forget Young Life, Rebs. Have a nice week and a pleasant weekend.

Until next week, Gina, Leigh Anne and Karen

Postscripts: Happy birthday to Tina Taylor

Big 18. Happy belated birthday to Jimmy Harmon and James McGarity. B.C. says thanks to Traci Speck, Julie Taylor, Kathy Pitner and Susan Slaydon for working the counter at Saturday night's dance.

Wounded G.I. still missing

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korea said today its troops haven't been able to find an American soldier wounded in an explosion on the communist side of the demilitarized zone but are continuing to search for him, the U.N. command reported.

A spokesman said the command was maintaining communications with the North Koreans in their search for Sgt. 1st Class Thomas L. Anderson, 36, in "an area of dense foliage."

Anderson's hometown was withheld in accordance with U.S. Army policy on missing personnel. The spokesman declined to speculate on whether Anderson was still alive.

FBI studying autopsy for identification

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — The FBI has received an autopsy report that may help determine if the mangled remains of a man found on the beach at Padre Island National Seashore are those of a missing San Antonio realtor.

Joseph Paul Rupp, medical examiner for Nueces County, declined to comment on the autopsy except to say that the death was "unnatural."

The body found Saturday by a pair of beachcombers was badly disfigured by animals, and Kleberg County officials said from the appearance of the remains, they could have been there anywhere from 18 hours to two weeks.

An FBI spokesman confirmed the agency was looking into the disappearance last Tuesday of Julius A. Dess, 73.

The day he disappeared, he was believed to be showing a man and woman a piece of ranch property near Poteet, in Atascosa County about 30 miles south of San Antonio and about 140 miles northwest of where the body was found.

Dess' blood-stained automobile was found last Tuesday night at San Antonio International Airport. Police found sand in the car and said the seat belts were cut, indicating they might have been used to tie up someone or something.

Remains of a fire and what appeared to be a notebook containing real estate material" was found 150 yards from the grisly remains, said Max Hancock, a Padre Island ranger.

Officials want fact-finding board to probe rail strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Warning that a critical gasoline shortage could develop, local officials have asked President Carter to change his mind and name a fact-finding board to halt a four-day strike on the Long Island Railroad, the nation's busiest commuter line.

There was no indication from Washington Monday that Carter would intervene, and no negotiations are expected before at least Wednesday.

The full impact of the walkout at 12:01 a.m. Saturday by 6,200 members of 17 unions was felt Monday as the 90,000 commuters and the other 90,000 off-peak and one-way riders who normally use the railroad switched to cars, buses and subways.

No serious transportation problems developed, largely because forewarned commuters started hours earlier than usual to drive to the city or to bus lines and subway stations in Brooklyn and Queens. However, transit officials predicted things would get worse today.

and Nassau County Executive Francis Percell called the situation "critical."

Senators making move to junk stack of 'windfall' amendments

By JIM LUTHER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders are moving to limit debate and junk a stack of amendments that threaten to turn the "windfall-profits" tax bill into a "Christmas tree" full of provisions that have nothing to do with the energy crisis.

The moves are aimed at forcing Senate action before the holiday adjournment on the oil tax, one of President Carter's top priorities. In an effort to make the Senate version more acceptable to the president, Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd has come up with an amendment that could raise as much as $20 billion and boost the tax to around $185 billion.

Byrd's "minimum tax" amendment would apply a tax of around 20 percent to those categories of U.S. crude oil that the Senate Finance Committee recommended be exempt from the windfall tax in order to encourage increased production. A vote is planned Wednesday.

Also scheduled Wednesday is a vote on Byrd's petition to limit each of the 100 senators to one hour of debate. The cloture vote, more importantly, would also bar consideration of any amendment that is not related directly to the windfall tax.

The Senate has spent much of the past 16 working days on amendments that have nothing to do with the windfall tax, but were offered to that bill in an effort to avoid a presidential veto.

Tax bills often are the last business before Congress quits each year. Any such bill that becomes a vehicle for unrelated tax amendments is called a Christmas tree.

One of those amendments came up Monday night. More than two hours passed before the Senate could dispose of the proposal, which would have limited federal spending in 1981 through 1984 to a fixed percentage of the national wealth.

On a 44-40 vote, the amendment, by Sen. William Roth, R-Dele., was ruled to violate the budget law and was thrown out. Another Roth proposal — to limit federal taxes during the same years — met the same fate last week.

In filing the motion to limit debate and shut off unrelated amendments, Byrd toughened his threat to interrupt the holiday recess.

Byrd said that unless both houses of Congress complete action by Dec. 21 on the tax bill and legislation to aid Chrysler Corp., senators will have to come back to work on Dec. 27. If both bills are passed, however, the Senate would get a holiday until Jan. 22.

In votes Monday on the windfall-tax bill, the Senate:

—Authorized, 61-19, a $110-million tax break as an incentive for increased production in Cook Inlet, a rugged area off Alaska's south-central coast.

—Rejected, 51-31, a second amendment by Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, that would have allowed a $7.6-billion tax exemption to encourage production of oil in Alaska's far north and to expedite construction of a natural-gas pipeline across the state.

—Defeated, 56-29, an amendment by Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, that would have imposed a true "excess-profits" tax on the oil industry. McClure's proposal would have taken 90 percent of oil profits that exceed the average earnings of other U.S. industries. However, oil companies could have escaped the tax by reinvesting their profits in the energy business.

McClure offered the proposal to make the point that the "windfall-profits" tax recommended by President Carter and being considered by the Senate has no direct relation to oil company profits.

Carter proposed the tax after beginning a phase-out of federal controls on the price of U.S. crude oil. The tax would take away a portion of each dollar of price increase above current levels. That, of course, would result in lower oil profits.

The House passed a bill that would cost the industry $277 billion over the next decade. The Senate version currently would cost about $157 billion.

Leaders say 50 cent gas tax has little or no chance

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders are telling the White House that chances of enacting a suggested 50-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax range from slim to nonexistent.

Top administration economic officials, in a closed-door meeting Monday with House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, reportedly listed the tax as one of the options the president has before serious consideration as he prepares his 1980 agenda, sources said.

Administration economic officials see the tax as a way of forcing conservation of gasoline by making the fuel much more expensive at the pump.

But O'Neill, according to a participant at the meeting who declined to be identified, immediately threw cold water on the idea, telling the officials there was "little enthusiasm for a gas tax" on Capitol Hill.

Other sources said White House officials got much the same signal in a recent meeting with Senate Energy Committee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and other Senate leaders.

Rationing and the gas tax, according to the sources, were two of many items discussed at Monday's session with O'Neill, Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, White House domestic adviser Stuart E. Eizenstat and Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors.

At the meeting, the administration officials outlined a series of energy and economic proposals Carter is considering for possible inclusion in his 1980 budget and in his State of the Union address, the sources said.

"We made no commitments," Miller told reporters after the meeting. Miller and the other officials declined to publicly discuss details of what went on at the session with O'Neill.

But one source said the administration officials "laid out all the options and asked for advice."

O'Neill voiced particular pessimism about prospects for a gasoline tax passing — especially in light of the rejection of a similar tax proposal by the House in 1977, the same source said.

Carter submitted a proposed 50-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax to Congress in 1977 as part of his "moral equivalent of war" energy program.

Even though it called for the tax to be levied in annual five-cent increments, and only when total gasoline consumption increased above specified yearly conservation targets, the measure was rejected by the House Ways and Means Committee. The full House shot down a later attempt to revive it on the House floor.

Congressional energy strategists claim the same fate would likely befall another proposed gasoline tax if submitted.

And if it can't get out of the House, its reception in the Senate would be a moot issue — since all tax measures have to originate in the House of Representatives.

In any event, congressional energy leaders say there is very little support for a gasoline tax in the Senate — either in the Senate Finance Committee or in the full Senate.

O'Neill reportedly also told the administration officials he didn't see much support for reopening the gas-rationing question at this time, especially considering how difficult it was getting the recently passed standby rationing bill through the House.

Truly Unique Design
Wall-to-wall carpeting, new dishwasher, range oven, garbage disposal, washers and dryers, plus a fireplace.

Extraordinary Value
With home prices spiraling, Idlewild Village is a great value, affordably priced, within the budget of most homebuyers. If your income was less than $30,000.00 in 1978 or 1979, you may be able to buy under a unique mortgaging program.

Featuring 95% financing, Approximately 9 1/4% interest, 30 year loan

Apartment dwellers paying as little as $225.00 per month may be surprised to learn that they may be wasting over $600.00 per month by renting, instead of buying.

Don't Delay
Stop by our office at 4501 W. Wadley for a free computerized personal budget analysis, or write P.O. Box 5185, Midland, Texas 79701.

Duplex ownership gives many people the opportunity to buy their first home, with the tenant helping pay the mortgage.

Hall's Wildcats ruin McGuire's building job

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Frank McGuire spent 16 years building up the South Carolina basketball program, and Joe Hall's Kentucky team tried to shoot it down in one night.

"That's the highest score ever made against one of my teams and the worst defeat I've ever experienced," said McGuire, a bit stunned after Monday night's 126-81 rout by fifth-ranked Kentucky.

"We tried everything, but you can't use a zone against Kentucky," McGuire added. "Kyle Macy (who scored 24 points for Kentucky) is just too good a shooter. He couldn't miss. Joe used everybody, and those guys coming off the bench are good."

The 126 points is the most ever scored by Kentucky in a home game and is exceeded only by the 143 rung up by the Wildcats in a 1956 romp over Georgia. Included among Kentucky's fancy figures Monday night was a brilliant 28-of-34 shooting from the free-throw line.

"The way Kentucky shot fouls," said McGuire, "it made you sick. It was by talet practice."

McGUIRE remembered a similar problem he had with Kentucky in Lexington back in 1951, when he was coaching St. John's and dropped an 81-40 decision to Adolph Rupp's powerhouse.

"Evidently," noted McGuire, "I'm good luck here (for Kentucky)."

Third-ranked Ohio State and No. 11 DePaul were the only other ranked teams in action Monday night, and both were successful, as the Buckeyes beat West Virginia 72-55 and the Blue Demons defeated Texas 66-60.

Forward Jim Smith scored 17 points as Ohio State whipped West Virginia in a rough game marked by 49 fouls. The Buckeyes jumped out to an early lead and were never threatened.

"I'm very happy to come out of here with a win," said Ohio State Coach Eldon Miller after the game in Morgantown, W. Va. "It was a very physical and rough game. I was surprised at the overall roughness of the game. It's tough to shoot when you're getting pushed every time you get the ball."

The Buckeyes led 33-23 at halftime, but it would have been closer had the Mountaineers shot better than their pathetic 17.6 percent.

"We just couldn't get a good shot," said Mountaineer Coach Gale Catlett. "Our shot selection was bad. We also missed too many foul shots and easy layups. We lost the game in the first half."

MARK AGUIRRE scored 15 of his 20 points in the second half and Teddy Grubbs added two clutch baskets down the stretch as DePaul held off Texas for Ray Meyer's 59th career coaching victory. The Blue Demons twice froze the ball in the final five minutes to protect slim leads.

"My two freshmen (Grubbs and Terry Cummings) took some bad shots from the perimeter when I expressly warned them to shoot only layups," said Meyer.

He added: "Texas knew that if they tried to run with us, we would bury them. So consequently, they slowed the game down to a walk and even when they trailed in the final minutes, refused to take a bad shot or lose their poise."

What bothers me is that we are such a terrible free-throw shooting team, the worst in the last six years here. I was scared to death that if we got into the one-and-one at the end of the game, we would wind up blowing it all.

Elsewhere, Kansas trounced California State-Bakersfield 93-53 as Darnell Valentine scored 24 points and Chester Giles collected 13 rebounds. Tom Sienkiewicz scored 14 points, including two free throws with two seconds left, to lead Villanova to a 57-55 triumph over Princeton.

MHS girls down Odessa Ector, 61-43

The Midland High girls basketball team gunned down the Odessa Ector Eagles, 61-43 Monday night in non-district action in the Midland High Gymnasium.

Sandra Rock, Margaret Christian and Jana Trolinder paved the way for the winners. Rock scored 16 points while Christian and Trolinder added 13 each as Midland was winning their ninth game in 13 outings.

High for Ector was Tammy Alexander with 13. Midland waxed hot in the second period, hitting nine of 10 field goal attempts and the tremendous rebounding of LaSchell Schrock was also outstanding. Schrock came down with 22 rebounds.

Midland plays Denver City next at 10 a.m. Thursday in the opening round of the Big Spring Tournament.

The Midland junior varsity also won, 47-28 with Connie Caton scoring 13 points for the winners.

Bulldogs outclass Pecos Eagles, 94-54

By BOB DILLON
Sports Writer

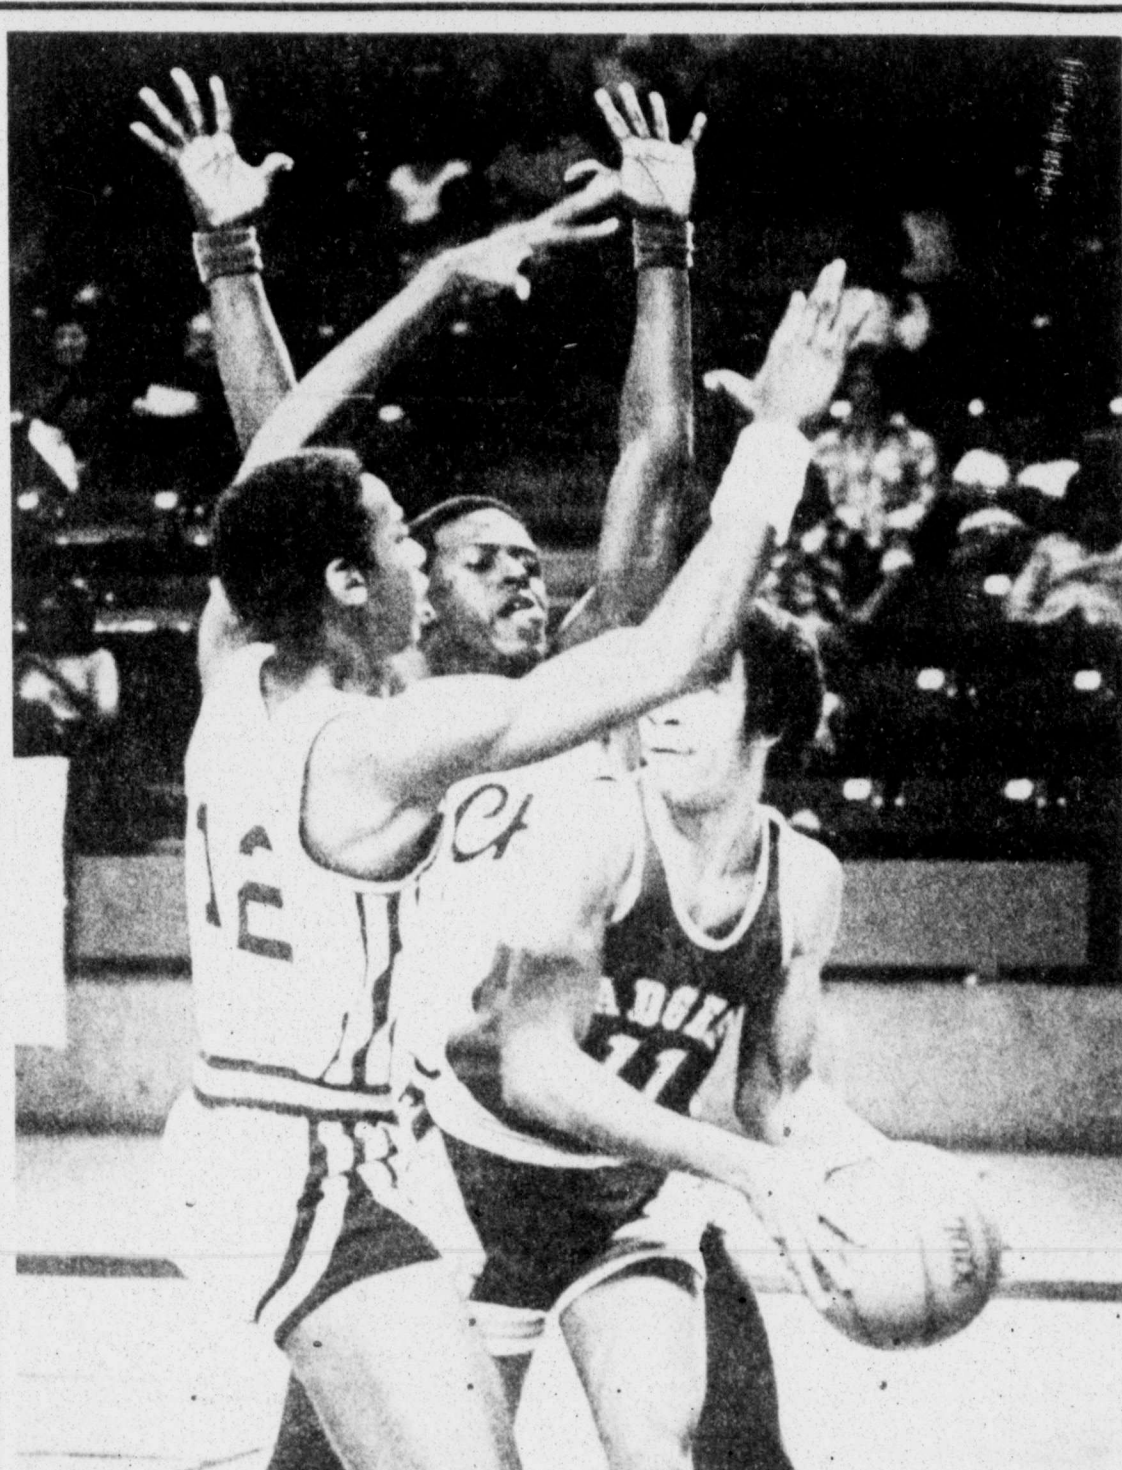

It was a cake walk for the Midland Bulldogs.

Coach Jack Stephenson's Purple Pack gunned down an outclassed Pecos Eagle outfit Monday night, 94-54 in the Chaparral Center on the Midland College campus in a non-district basketball game.

Midland, in winning its 11th game in 13 outings, jumped off to a 22-12 first period lead and never looked back as all 13 Bulldog players suited up for the game, got into the scoring column. Pat Hickey did not suit up due to illness, but the other 13 members scored with the substitutes playing most of the second half or not telling what the final score might have been.

THE GAME was more or less and scrimmage for the Pack that takes on the always-tough Monterey Plainsmen in Lubbock tonight.

Chaps nip Badgers Johnson, Wilson save MC's unbeaten streak

Midland College beat Amarillo College by a point in Amarillo earlier in the season. This time it was even closer, although the margin was 72-68, the Chapparrals were forced into overtime by the Badgers in their Western Junior College Conference clash at Chaparral Center Monday night.

Thanks to the overtime heroics of Charles Johnson, the former Midland High standout, and Derrick Wilson, the freshman from Chicago Austin High, MC stretched its unbeaten string to 13-0 and raised its WJCC record to 4-0. The Badgers are 8-3 and 2-2.

Kevin Parker dropped in a 12-foot fallaway one-hander with one second left to tie it at 62 and second the contest into overtime.

The only reason Parker got the chance to tie it was two long dry spells the Chaps suffered through after building up leads of 53-44 with 10 minutes to play and 60-54 with 3:45 left in the game.

The Chaps scored just one basket in 5:57 after Robert Tate gave MC that nine-point lead midway through the final half. The Badgers battled back to trail 55-54 before Tate, converted a three-point play and then Scotty Tutwiler executed a bold midcourt theft and soloed home for a 60-54 Chaps lead with 3:45 left. MC scored only one more basket, however, as AC stormed back to tie it at 62.

With Tate at the foul line with 1:06 left and MC leading 62-60, the Chaps muffed a chance to tuck the game away when Tate's free throw was wiped out by a double-violation of the lane, prompting the jump ball that gave AC its final chance.

After Parker, scoring all 15 of his points in the final half, gave the Badgers a 64-62 lead in overtime, Tate tied it for MC and then Johnson, who had four rebounds in the extra session,

Oilers show pity on Steelers

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers, following sage advice, declined to spit into the wind or step on Superman's cape Monday night.

Having come within one second of defeating the world champion Pittsburgh Steelers, Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini politely fell on the ball for the final play of the game at the Steeler one-yard line and the Oilers trotted into the dressing room with a 20-17 victory.

The Oilers had better sense and sportsmanship than to rub the Steelers noses in the Astroturf.

"Pittsburgh is too good a team to rub their noses in a loss," Oiler Coach Bum Phillips said.

"If the touchdown would have made a difference in the division championship, we could have scored," Pastorini said. "We weren't trying to rub their faces in it."

The Oilers had accomplished their goal. They kept the Steelers from clinching their sixth straight American Football Conference Central Division championship and kept alive their own chances of claiming a title for the first time since 1967.

"After the way we lost to them the first time we played this year we had to be a little psyched up," Pastorini said. "So we just went out and got a little sweet revenge."

The Oilers, who lost to the Steelers 34-5 in last season's AFC championship game and 38-7 in their first meeting this season, clearly were ready for the challenge this game.

Houston held the Steelers to four first downs and took a 7-0 halftime lead on a 25-yard pass from Pastorini to Ken Burrough. They went ahead 13-3 on field goals of 24 yards and 34 yards by Tom Fritsch in the third and fourth quarters.

The record crowd of 55,293 in the Astrodome and a national television audience kept waiting for the sleeping giant Steelers to wake up and they finally did.

Matt Bahr kicked a 37 yard field goal in the third quarter and Lynn Swann ran nine yards for a touchdown on an end around play that narrowed the Oiler lead to 13-10.

But the Oilers didn't fold: Rob Carpenter ran four yards with 2:10 to play to boost the lead to 20-10 for what proved to be the winning margin.

Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw whipped the Steelers to the game's final touchdown with a 34 yard bomb to John Stallworth with 1:18 left in the game. But the Steelers tried an on-sides kick that found its way to Oiler tight end Mike Barber.

"They took that damn football and ran it down our throats for five minutes and scored a touchdown," Steeler defensive tackle Joe Greene said of Carpenter's touchdown. "That

No one wondering, What's wrong with Ags?

By The Associated Press

When the Texas Aggies lost to tiny Iona and cross-state rival Lamar in a basketball tournament in Alaska, people were beginning to wonder what was wrong with the Aggies, the pre-season favorite to win the Southwest Conference basketball crown.

Vernon Smith, who was suspended for three games because of participating in an unauthorized summer league and was not in the lineup for the two tournament losses, is back and no one's wondering about the Aggies. Just ask Sam Houston State's basketball team.

Smith and teammate Rynn Wright combined for 31 points to lead the Aggies to an easy 71-47 non-conference victory over the Bearkats Monday night. It was the first loss for the Lone Star Conference team after six victories and boosted the Aggies, who were once 0-2, to 5-2.

Overall, the conference wound up the night Monday with a 3-3 record against non-conference foes.

Texas Tech beat Air Force, 58-54, and Arkansas beat Athletes in Action 68-67, in overtime for the other victories.

Texas dropped a 66-60 decision to DePaul, Tulane edged Rice, 56-53, and Illinois beat Texas Christian, 79-64, to account for the three losses.

Two games are to be played tonight. McMurry takes on Baylor at Waco and Houston hosts Texas Lutheran.

Ben Hill had 15 points, including a go-ahead slam dunk with five seconds remaining at Texas Tech beat the Air Force, 58-51. Kent Williams had 11 points each to help the Red Raiders. Rick Harris had 15 for Air Force.

U.S. Reed had 19 points, Scott Hastings pitched in 14 and Alan Zahn had 10 as Arkansas beat Athletes in Action, 68-67, in overtime.

It was Zahn's heroics in the last 12 seconds of overtime that boosted the Razorbacks to the victory. With AL leading, 67-66, he blocked a shot by former Razorback Jim Connor, rebounded the ball and was fouled. Zahn then made two free throws to ice the victory.

Briggs brings movie 'Marathon' to real life

By RANDY KREHBIEL
The Tulsa World

TULSA, Okla. — There is a motion picture making the rounds in which a 30ish businessman quits his job and alienates his family to try out for the U.S. Olympic team as a marathon runner.

Understandably, a lot of people find it surprising that an otherwise mature adult would do such a thing. They think he's been reading too many jogging magazines.

Bryan Briggs has not seen that movie, but he says he'd like to. He could probably empathize with the central character.

At 36, Briggs has accomplished a great deal. He has a college degree (Oklahoma City 1971), good job (manager of administration and personnel for Williams Exploration) and a family of which he is obviously proud.

Briggs isn't doing anything so drastic as quit his job or leave his wife and children. But, like the man on the giant screen, he is pursuing an athletic dream that is just a little out of the ordinary.

BRYAN BRIGGS doesn't want to jog early in the morning or play softball in a summer league. He doesn't go in for racquetball at the club or basketball at the Y. Bryan Briggs wants to be a boxer. Thursday night at the Tulsa Assembly Center he will finally get his chance.

Briggs will fight a six-round mid-dleweight bout against Larry Smith as part of the five-bout card. It is something that is important to him, something for which he has trained a year.

"This is my marathon," he said. "I wanted to do this while there was still something left in my body."

Briggs says underneath the three-piece suits he now wears has always beat the heart of a fighter. A variety of circumstances over the years have kept him from really becoming involved in boxing, however, although he did win two pro bouts in 1970 while a student at OCU.

"I must have had a hundred play-ground fights when I was a kid," he said. "But I would deny I was a boxer. I pursued team sports, but I wasn't really very good in the so-called acceptable sports."

In the Navy, Briggs says he "finally admitted I was a boxer." He picked up some pointers from a variety of sources, but Briggs says he never really took the mechanics or training seriously.

"I was more of a scrapper than anything," he said.

While going to college on the GI Bill, Briggs picked up a couple of fights in Oklahoma City, both of which he won by technical knockout. His professional career, however, was short-lived.

"My wife saw me cut a guy up pretty bad one night," Briggs said. "I wasn't really hurt, but I was kind of banged up. We were younger then. She got kind of scared."

There were no more fights. "I HAD a wife and two little children to support and no real career at that time," Briggs said. "I decided I'd better buckle down. But underneath it broke my heart."

In the succeeding years Briggs began to build his career in the world of big business. As the pressures and frustrations mounted, Briggs found he needed an outlet. At last he decided to give boxing one more try.

"In my line of work I have to be diplomatic. I have to reconcile people and goals. I'm constantly balancing," Briggs said. "That'll eat you up if you don't let it out."

He also decided he needed more exercise.

"I weighed 177 pounds," Briggs said. "I wasn't fat, but I was getting soft. I was disappointed in myself that I'd let myself get so pudgy. At 35 there's no reason to let yourself go."

So Briggs went to work. It was agony, he says, and he dropped 25 pounds in the process.

"This suit," he said, holding his jacket open, "had to be re-cut. Not altered — it had been altered as much as it could be altered."

The process of getting a 35-year-old body back into shape was not easy.

"It was a painful ordeal," he said. "My legs broke down immediately. I got shin splints. There was tendonitis in my shoulder."

But from the expression on his face, Briggs must have savored every minute of it.

"I feel better than I have in years," he says.

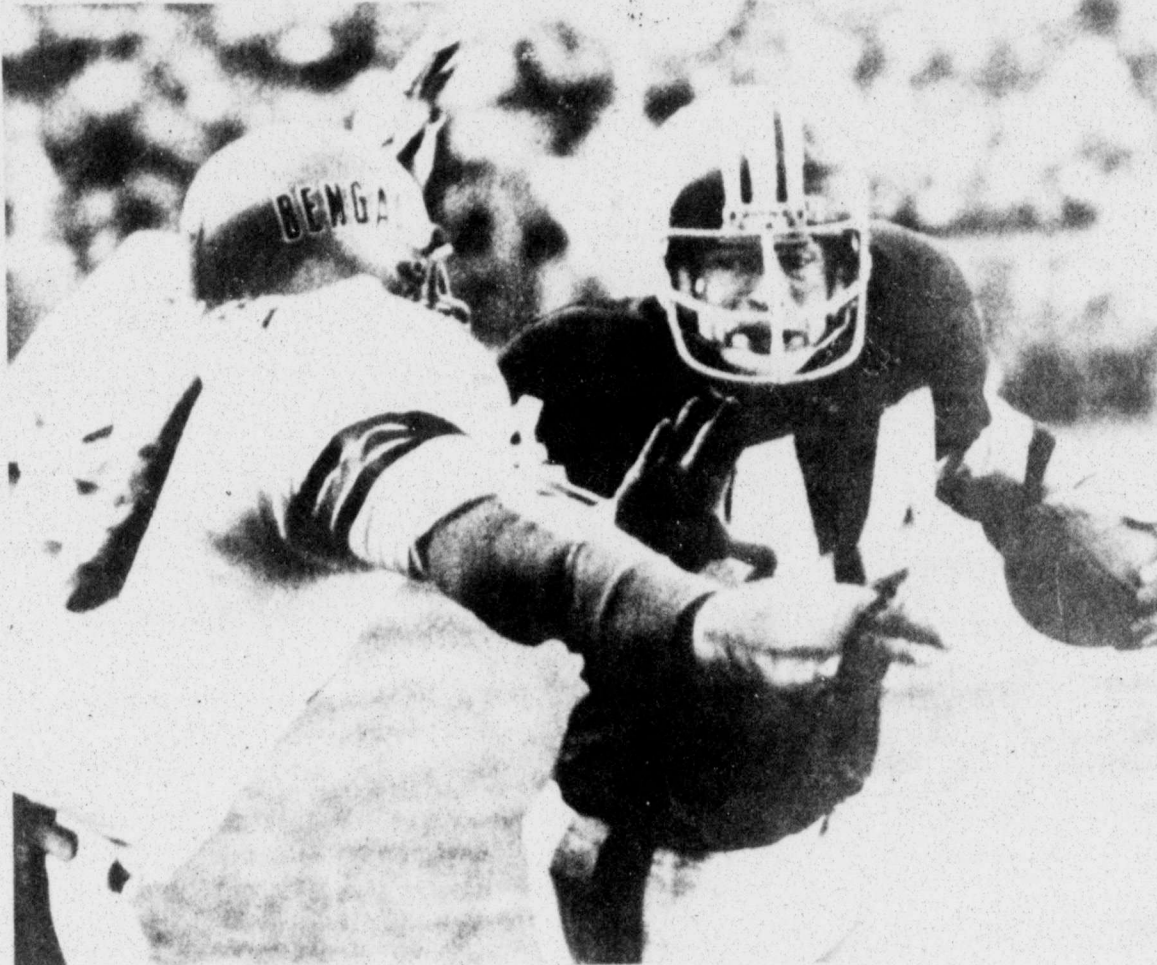

His wife, Janet, who'd turned thumbs down on boxing eight years before, was more understanding this time when Briggs told her he intended to fight again.

Only one thing on Riggins' mind

John Riggins has been around the NFL for nine seasons and has talked, in the past, about making 1979 his last. If he does, he couldn't go out better. Riggins, 30, is having one of his best seasons, has played an important role in the Redskins' thrust to the top and will be in the limelight next Sunday when Washington meets Dallas to decide the NFC East champion.

In fact, Riggins said after Washington's 28-14 win over Cincinnati Sunday it might be a blessing in disguise that he rushed for 95 yards to go over the 1,000-yard mark for the third time in his career. "Maybe it is good that I got it today rather than still have to get it next week, this way there will be only one thing on my mind next week — the Cowboys. That might have been different if I just got near 1,000 and everybody was thinking about it. Of course, it is always great when you reach personal plateaus but they don't mean a thing if the team loses."

Quarterback Doug Williams wept and said it's his fault the Tampa Bay Buccaneers are now the last-chance Bucs. For three straight weeks

Washington's John Riggins stiff arms way to 1,000-yard season. (AP Laserphoto)

NFL report

The Buccaneers needed just one victory to clinch the NFC Central division title and a playoff berth. Each time they failed. They got one last chance Sunday at home against Kansas City. After a humiliating 23-7 upset loss to lowly San Francisco Sunday, Williams cried, then assumed the blame. He was intercepted five times, and two of those led to 49 scores. The first turnover, he said, was off the hands of tight end Jimmy Giles. "But the rest were my fault. Last week (against the Bears) we had a bad game all around. I rushed myself to compensate. I had a bad day." This is the first time Williams has accepted blame, despite obvious blunders such as four interceptions the week before in a 14-0 shutout by Chicago. Then he called it a team loss.

Coach John McKay seldom has been critical of his still maturing quarterback, who guided Tampa to a 5-0 record, then guided them to a 9-3 record and gave them a shot at being the first team to lock up a playoff berth. But then Williams fell apart. This time McKay isn't coddling him. "It just stinks," he said of Williams' play. "I have no answer. The youngster has been throwing well but not now. I'm going to have to do something about it."

Coach Ted Marchibroda may have a tough time convincing the dwindling numbers of Baltimore fans, but he insists the Colts are only temporarily at a low ebb. "The Colts will be back," he said after their team dropped a 10-7 decision to the Chiefs Sunday. The fans aren't too sure. After winning three consecutive NFL division titles, the Colts have gone 9-22 over the past two seasons. Attendance in Memorial Stadium for the season has averaged less than 37,000, or about 60 percent of capacity. Sunday's crowd of 25,681 was the worst turnout in 25 years. Even more alarming, perhaps, is the increasing numbers of erstwhile fans who buy tickets and don't even bother to attend. Sunday's 11,542 no-shows brought the season total close to 50,000.

At the same time, owner Robert Irsay has been pressing for improvements to the stadium and has expressed satisfaction with a proposed $22 million plan that would add about 13,900 seats. Those fans who do show up are becoming increasingly abusive, booing Marchibroda, the players, the play selection, and even a public address announcement that 1980 season tickets would make a good Christmas gift.

Atlanta fans had anticipated watching Falcons rookie William Andrews go over the 1,000-yard rushing milestone Sunday but instead, it was the Los Angeles' Wendell Tyler who stole the show, rambling for 138 yards, including a 5-yard touchdown. His 60-yard scamper set up a field goal as the Rams buried the Falcons 34-13 to clinch a record seventh consecutive NFC West title. It gave Tyler 968 yards for the season going into the regular season finale against New Orleans. "I was hoping I'd get over 100 yards to give me a shot at 1,000," said Tyler, who had gained only 317 yards as a rookie and 45 a year ago before being sidelined with a knee injury.

From Super Bowl contender to also ran, The New England Patriots again have proved that preseason raves don't win games. Sunday's loss to the Jets hammered the Patriots' coffin shut, closing out their playoff chances. But the previous game — a loss to the Dolphins in Miami — may have been sufficient to prove the NFL adage that New England can't win when it counts most. "This team has great talent and when we were 'on' we were as good as anyone in the league," quarterback Steve Grogan said. "But we weren't 'on' enough. Why? I don't know. Something was missing."

Kareem earns NBA award

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who shot 712 from the field in four games last week, was named NBA Player of the Week for the period ending Sunday, Dec. 9. Abdul-Jabbar capped his week with 31 points on 15 for 18 shooting in Los Angeles' 121-113 victory over Denver Sunday night. He also had nine rebounds, nine assists and six blocked shots in that game. In four games, he hit on 92 of 73 shots, averaging 28.3 points and 10.7 rebounds per game, with 26 assists and 16 blocked shots.

Outfielders Duke Snider and Al Kaline head a record list of 62 candidates for the Baseball Hall of Fame on ballots mailed Monday. The ballots were sent to more than 400 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. The final results will be announced in January.

Physicians missed blows

Neither of the attending physicians, at the middleweight fight that took the life of Willie Classen saw the three devastating ninth round punches that buckled the fighter's knees and resulted in a standing eight-count. Nor did the doctors see the two right-hand blows by boxer Wilford Scypion that halted the Nov. 23 Felt Forum bout when Classen was knocked unconscious in the 10th and final round. Classen, 28, the father of three, died five days after the fight from head injuries. A noted neurologist told a New York Senate Commission on Investigations Monday that the ninth round punches to Classen's head "stopped his clock" and the 10th round shots "killed him." Dr. Bennett M. Derby, chief neurologist at New York City Veterans Administration Hospital, said, "Classen was out on his feet and the fight should have been stopped in the ninth round. A person does not have to be on the deck to be considered unconscious." "The fact that he suffered a loss of muscle tone from the punches should have shown he suffered a concussion." The doctor said he believed, from looking at the video tapes of the match, that Classen suffered several concussions during the fight. One occurred when he was knocked to the canvas in the third round and another when he took a right hand to the head in the opening seconds of the ninth round.

Jacquez joins Mountaineers

Russ Jacquez, offensive backfield coach for Ohio University, said he is leaving to join Don Nehlen, West Virginia University's new football coach, and will coach running backs and quarterbacks. The San Jose Earthquakes of the NASL were sold to a group of out-of-state investors headed by advertising executive Joel Chasen, but the team will remain in San Jose. Jim Pyburn, assistant football coach for 16 years at Georgia under Vince Dooley, will resign in June to return to Alabama to enter private business or coaching. Mike White, offensive line coach for the San Francisco 49ers, will go to Champaign, Ill., late this week to interview for the vacant head football coaching job at the University of Illinois.

SMU's Brad Branson, who hit 62 percent from the field in three Mustangs victories, was named as SWC player of the week. The 6-10 senior landed 11 of 14 free throws and grabbed 24 rebounds in games against Texas Lutheran, Kansas and Colorado.

Ray Reynolds and his son, Les, bagged these two bucks Dec. 1 while hunting in Hudspeeth County. The buck on the right, shot by Les, had a spread of 29 inches, one of the most impressive set of horns reported in Texas this season, a 12-pointer.

Lee Rebels seek to end 4-game losing streak

The Midland Lee Rebels will be out to break a four-game losing streak at the Chaparral Center today at 8 p.m. when they host the AAA Snyder Tigers.

Lee's four-game losing streak, however, began last Tuesday when the Rebels lost to these same Tigers in Snyder. Lee then lost three straight in the Austin Invitational Tournament to fall to 5-6 on the year.

Before the Snyder loss, Lee had won four. The Lee junior varsity will also face Snyder at 6:15 p.m.

Coach Jack Stephenson's Midland High Bulldogs, 11-2 and fresh off a 94-54 win over Pecos Monday, owns a five-game winning streak since losing to Seguin in the first round of the Kerrville tournament. The Bulldogs will also be in action today, seeking to up that winning streak, but they will have to do it on foreign hardwood when they face the Monterey Plainsmen in Lubbock at 8 p.m. Monterey and MHS will also stage sophomore and junior varsity contests at 4 and 6 p.m.

The Midland High and Midland Lee girls will be idle until Friday when MHS travels to the two-day Big Spring tournament and Lee enters the San Angelo Lake View tournament.

Sabres blank Red Wings

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — While declaring that he had "very few tough saves" in Monday night's 4-0 Buffalo victory over the Detroit Red Wings, Sabres goalie Don Edwards is still happy to have recorded his first National Hockey League shutout of the season.

"It was a long time coming," he said, after the red-hot Sabres grabbed their eighth straight win — their 11th in 12 games. "I had a couple of one-goal games. But the truth is, I hardly did anything to-night."

It was the only NHL game played Monday night, and Coach Scotty Bowman's 900th game as an NHL coach as well. Rick Martin scored twice for the Sabres, who brought a six-game Detroit unbeaten streak to a screeching halt.

"We didn't skate. We didn't hit. We didn't move the puck," moaned Red Wings Coach Bobby Kromm afterwards.

"But you have to give Buffalo credit. They were on top of us all night."

Missouri shows way in HEW compliance

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The University of Missouri is in a leadership position among colleges trying to gain compliance with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Title IX regulations. Jean Cerra, an assistant athletic director, said, noting that the university has worked since 1975 on a plan that would allot athletic funding proportionately to men's and women's programs. She said in her opinion only a handful of schools have progressed as far as Missouri toward compliance.

Athletic Director Dave Hart said last week the university spends a total of $708,000 on scholarships. He said women receive $183,971 of that amount, leaving Missouri about $61,000 short of compliance with the HEW interpretation. Cerra said after her speech Monday that Missouri hopes to be in full compliance by next fall.

Lytle undergoes knee surgery

DENVER (AP) — Rob Lytle, one of the Denver Broncos' starting running backs, underwent surgery Monday to repair ligament damage to his left knee and will be out for the rest of the season, the National Football League club said. Lytle was injured in Denver's 28-23 loss to Seattle on Saturday. The Broncos play San Diego next Monday night in their last regular season game. The Broncos' playoff hopes hang on that game's outcome.

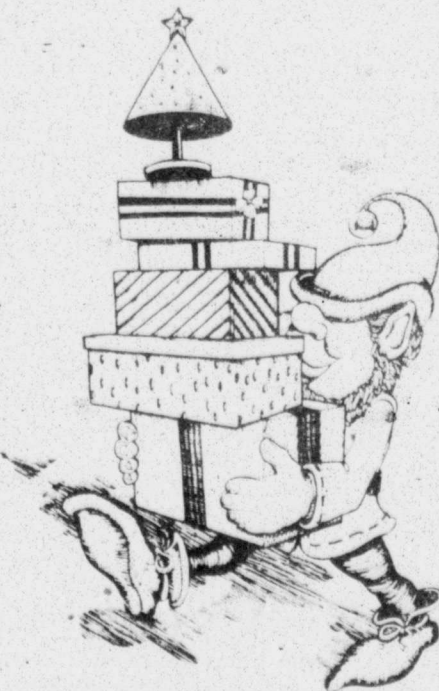

Golden Bears rehire Theder

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Roger Theder was signed to a new three-year contract as head football coach at the University of California before leaving campus Monday for Cal's first bowl game in 20 years.

The Bears have finished 6-5 the last two seasons under Theder, elevated from an assistant coaching position after
