

Mexico Braces For Hurricane

A-J News Services
MIAMI — Hurricane Henri, maturing quickly from a tropical storm, stalled in the Gulf of Mexico today, slowing its trek toward Mexico's Gulf coast, forecasters said.

Forecasters said the hurricane still appears destined to slam into Mexico, however, despite the delay.

A British cargo ship with 19 aboard was battered by the leading edge of the storm and took on some water, but was able to reach port ahead of Henri, the Coast Guard said in New Orleans.

No injuries were reported as the 258-foot Largo Isabel fought through high winds and 20-to 25-foot seas to reach the port of Coatzacoalcas, south of Vera Cruz, said Petty Officer Jim Morrison.

Henri became a hurricane late Sunday, the same day it matured into a tropical storm. It had been expected to move inland near Tuxpan, Mexico, today, but the National Hurricane Center said its forward movement had slowed and that its path had become erratic. They said the storm could strengthen during the day.

The Coast Guard said the Largo Isabel had a lot of trouble because it was not carrying cargo.

"When they're light like that, they have a lot of freeboard — a lot of the boat showing — so they're getting blown around a lot, said Morrison.

Reports from a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance airplane indicated Henri's broad center was about 150 miles east-northeast of Vera Cruz at noon, near latitude 20.5 north and longitude 94.0 west.

Henri is the eighth tropical storm and fifth hurricane of the Atlantic season. Maximum sustained winds were 75 mph and gales extended 125 miles west and 50 miles east of the center, forecasters said.

The hurricane was not likely to threaten the United States, they said. Gale force winds were predicted for the Mexican coastline from Tuxpan to Vera Cruz and officials said there would be heavy rain and tides 3 to 5 feet above normal near and north of where the hurricane made landfall.

But small craft along the lower Texas coast were advised not to venture far from port, either. Forecasters said Henri was interacting with a large high-pressure system over the United States produce strong winds along the northwestern Gulf coast.

"It's a possibility the storm could hit the Gulf Coast and we wouldn't want to exclude anything," forecaster Miles Lawrence said earlier Sunday. "Some storms behave so erratically, we can't say it won't hit the Gulf Coast. We don't want to guarantee anybody safety from the threat.

"These things usually don't go back east unless there's a very strong front pushing them and that doesn't seem to be the case here," he said.

The hurricane center also watched another disturbed area — in the Atlantic 500 miles east of the Lesser Antilles. A disturbance — was reported moving in a generally westerly direction at 15 mph.

Halfway around the world, heavy rains and fringe winds from Tropical Storm Mac battered the coconut-producing region on the main Philippine island of Luzon today.

FUTILE EFFORT — A Los Angeles fireman turns his face away from the intense heat as flames engulf an expensive home in the Laurel Canyon area of the Hollywood Hills Sunday night. Fires Raze Homes Near Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stubborn brush fires roared out of control today in Southern California, blackening thousands of acres and destroying nearly three dozen fashionable homes as firefighters called in reserves from as far away as Maine and Rhode Island.

Authorities said 34 houses had been destroyed by midday and they estimated damages were in the millions of dollars.

Stunned residents of fashionable Laurel Canyon dug through the rubble of 24 houses destroyed when a fire pushed by 25 mph winds burned its way through the wooded area overlooking Los Angeles. Five other homes were damaged and 17 cars destroyed by the fire, which caused an estimated $3.9 million worth of damage, said Los Angeles Fire Department spokesman Ned Chaffield.

In a preview of the next heavy rainfall, which will undoubtedly cause many mudslides in the now denuded area, one home began sliding down the hillside this morning after a water main broke and the water undermined the house. It was sliding from its perch to the street below.

Among the homes destroyed in the fire were those of blues musician John Mayall and actress Mackenzie Phillips, a regular on the CBS television series "One Day At A Time."

"My home, my beautiful home," said George Hunt as he walked near his home on Grandview Drive, where houses are valued at as much as $500,000. "It was so beautiful, so lush here."

Three hundred firefighters stopped the flames after water drops were made by helicopters and two "super scooper" airplanes that skimmed the Pacific Ocean to fill their water tanks.

The Forest Service asked for 800 firefighters to help the 2,473 men and women battling the blazes, which have consumed more than 55,000 acres.

"We've gone about as far as we can with what we have, so now we're drawing on our firefighting resources nationally," U.S. Forest Service spokesman Lee Redding said Sunday.

The crews called in to help were from stations in Indiana, Ohio, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

But 100-degree temperatures today were expected to ease another problem in Southern California. The Air Quality Management District said the temperatures and Santa Anna winds could break the inversion that gripped the area in an eight-day siege of smog last week.

"As far as we're concerned, the worst smog in 24 years came to an end. See CALIFORNIA Page 14

Guard At Navy Yard Attacked

KITTERY, Maine (UPI) — Officials at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard today investigated a reported nighttime attack by two divers on an armed guard alongside a nuclear-powered submarine.

A guard patrolling on a barge alongside the U.S.S. Stonewall Jackson, a 425-foot nuclear-powered ballistic missile sub, reported he was attacked by two divers wearing scuba equipment shortly before 9 p.m. Sunday night, shipyard public information specialist Robert W. Johnston said today.

Johnston said Navy officials were investigating the alleged incident for corroborating evidence of the guard's report. "No one else has reported seeing anything. We're looking for corroborating evidence," he said.

The guard, whose name was withheld, reported the two divers jumped back into the water after he scuffled with them and fired two shots from a .45-caliber handgun. It was not known if either intruder was hit.

The intruders never boarded the sub.

Johnston said the submarine has been docked at the shipyard for routine overhauls since August 1978, and was scheduled for completion early next year. The ship is equipped to carry 16 Poseidon solid fuel missiles, but he said that all ships are disarmed before entering the shipyard.

The ship, under Cmdr. James Edward Shew Jr., had 188 crewmembers aboard when it checked into the shipyard from its home port in New London, Conn., Johnston said.

He said security at the shipyard consists of a 50-60 man civilian patrol for "internal security" and a Marine Corps security force for "perimeter security." He said security for individual vessels, which are docked outside the gates patrolled by the Marines, is the responsibility of the individual crew.

He said the submarine has a "shack" on board equipped with radio contact with shipyard security, but that the guard himself does not have a portable radio or device to alert security.

Showers Forecast In Area

A-J News Services

Overnight temperatures dropped into the 40s in parts of the South Plains this morning, and cloudy skies today carry a 20-percent chance of rain. The lack of sunshine is expected to hold the mercury to about 80 this afternoon.

It was 48 at Spur and Tulia, 49 at Levelland and 50 at Plains and Morton early today. Lubbock's low was 54.

No rain was reported in the area Sunday. However, weekend totals from Friday and Saturday showers included .47 at Hereford, .30 at Littlefield, .69 at Muleshoe, .51 at Silvertown and .01 in Lubbock.

The forecast calls for considerable cloudiness over the Lubbock vicinity through tonight and partly cloudy skies Tuesday.

Temperatures will be in the mid-50s tonight and low 80s Tuesday.

The extended forecast predicts scattered showers Wednesday over the West Texas region and widely scattered showers and warmer temperatures Thursday and Friday.

Daytime highs in the low and middle 80s Wednesday are expected to warm to the middle and high 80s Thursday and Friday.

Early morning skies ranged from fair in the northern and eastern portions of Texas to cloudy over the coast and West Texas, as another mild autumn-like day shaped up across the state.

Intermittent light rain continued to fall mostly west of the mountains in Southwest Texas.

Official Predicts Stable Prices On Heating Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil companies have gone so far toward meeting President Carter's goal for stocking heating oil that a mild winter might even mean a drop in prices to consumers, a Gulf Oil Co. official told Congress today.

However, C.H. Bowman, a Gulf vice president, said this was only a slight possibility.

Generally, Bowman predicted that prices for heating oil would remain stable at their current all-time high of about 80 cents a gallon through the winter heating season — as long as crude oil prices do not rise in the meantime.

But he told a House Government Operations subcommittee on energy that he could not promise his firm would heed President Carter's appeal to oil companies to voluntarily freeze heating oil prices this year.

Meanwhile, subcommittee chairman Toby Moffett, D-Conn., said he would hold another meeting on Tuesday to determine whether a subpoena should be issued to Texaco for refusing to appear at the hearing.

Of the 11 companies invited by the panel to discuss heating oil prices, Texaco was the only one to refuse to testify unconditionally, Moffett said.

He said it was unfortunate, since Carter had urged other companies to follow Texaco's lead in agreeing to freeze heating-oil prices this winter, to hold Texaco up as an example for the industry.

Texaco officials told the subcommittee they did not want to discuss matters of a competitive nature in a public forum.

Gulf's Bowman said he could not speculate on "what will happen to the price of crude oil" and thus could make no promises on whether heating oil prices to consumers can be frozen through the winter.

"But it's our best judgment that if there are price changes, they will be driven only by significant changes in the cost of crude oil," he testified.

He said Gulf and other major refiners have made a maximum effort to meet the president's goal of having 240 million gallons of heating oil and diesel fuel on reserve by Oct. 1.

"If the weather does not get cold early, we may have too much heating oil," he said. That could cause a "softening of the market," possibly meaning lower prices to home-heating oil users.

In fact, Bowman said, the result of this might be a surplus of heating oil this year. See SENATE PANEL Page 14

ABC To Air Tech Game

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC-TV announced today that it will televise five college football games on a regional basis Saturday, including the Texas Tech-Arizona tussle at Tucson.

The game will be carried in Lubbock on Channel 28, with the kickoff at 1 p.m.

The Missouri-Mississippi game in Jackson, Miss., and Texas Tech at Arizona had been listed as night games. Air time for those contests will now be 12:30 p.m., CDT, along with Brown at Yale and Kentucky at Indiana.

Egypt Raps Israeli Action On Arab Land

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin's Cabinet lifted a ban against private Israeli land purchases in occupied Arab territory, stirring a new dispute with Egypt today, first anniversary of the Camp David peace accords.

The Egyptian Foreign Ministry issued a statement saying the Israeli move contradicts "the spirit and letter" of the Camp David agreements. It is "another dangerous obstacle" to a comprehensive peace in the Middle East, the statement said.

The Cabinet on Sunday decided to end a ban against Israelis' buying of private land from Arabs in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip. The action reversed a government decision 12 years ago to allow only government agencies to buy property in the Arab territories Israel seized from Jordan and Egypt in the 1967 Mideast War.

The decision may ease the way for expansion of the Jewish settlement program in the occupied territories, a key point of friction between Israel and the United States.

In other developments: —A bomb exploded today at a soldiers' hitchhiking station in the outskirts of Jerusalem, but caused no injuries. Israeli state radio reported. In Damascus the Marxist guerrilla group Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine claimed responsibility and said a number of Israeli soldiers were wounded.

—Begin's spokesman and his doctor both denied a Time magazine report that Begin was examined by three non-Israeli doctors last week and told to drastically trim his workload. Spokesman Dan Pattir said Begin, who suffered a mild stroke July 19, has been maintaining a scaled-down but heavy pace and has not been ordered to limit his work day to three hours.

—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin visited the Soviet-oriented Arab state of South Yemen and denounced the Camp

David accords, saying they had not brought peace to the Mideast.

—Libya denied U.S. and Lebanese claims that it had seized a shipment of American weapons being delivered to the Lebanese army aboard a U.S.-owned freighter that entered the Libyan port of Benghazi last week. Lebanese sources speculated the ship may have entered the port illegally, angering the Libyans. The current whereabouts of the vessel could not be determined immediately.

It is not known whether any Arabs will be willing to sell land to Israelis, since such sales would subject them to the death penalty under Jordanian law. Although Jordan, former ruler of the West Bank, is in no position to enforce the law, the Palestine Liberation Organization has threatened to kill any Arab who sells land to Israel. Because of this, the government has never said how much Arab land has been bought by its agencies.

"Why should a Jew be allowed to buy property in New York or Chicago and not in Hebron, the city of his forefathers?" asked Cabinet Secretary Aryeh Naor.

"Why should a Jew not be allowed to buy property in Hebron when an American can?"

There was no immediate U.S. comment on the decision.

Westmoreland Raps SALT

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Saying "we should rearm before we disarm," Gen. William Westmoreland has urged the Senate to reject the SALT II treaty.

Westmoreland, a retired U.S. Army Chief of Staff and commander of the U.S. forces in Vietnam from 1964-68, said Sunday during a news conference that the proposed arms limitation treaty is a "cosmetic" rather than a "constructive" approach to nuclear disarmament. He said the proposed treaty limits the United States' ability to achieve an effective deterrent capability.

"I think we should prudently rearm before we disarm, or in the long range we're in trouble," Westmoreland said. "After SALT I, they (the Soviets) accelerated while we stood still. If this scenario is repeated, we'll be playing into their hands."

Kennedy Gets Boost

CLEVELAND (AP) — Economist John Kenneth Galbraith says he thinks Sen. Edward M. Kennedy can be elected president if he chooses to run.

Galbraith, currently the Paul M. Warburg professor of economics emeritus at Harvard University, served as ambassador to India in the administration of John F. Kennedy.

He was in Cleveland on Sunday to address a meeting of the Americans for Democratic Action.

"I would think he (Kennedy) will be a candidate and will be elected," he said. "But then, I've supported every great liberal cause for the last 30 years."

Galbraith also said that wage and price controls are necessary to curb inflation in the economy.

Ali Visits Evangelist

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP) — Muhammad went to the mountain and apparently he liked what he saw.

Muhammad Ali, three-time world heavyweight boxing champion, spent several hours Sunday with Billy Graham in the evangelist's home atop a mountain in Montreat. Ali said his visit was one of "looking and searching" in an effort to "learn more about other people."

Sitting on the porch of Graham's home, Ali looked at the evangelist and said, "He comes before me. I'm just a boxer — famous and all that — but he leads people to God. I look up to him."

Strange Chili Recipe

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — It's made with tender loving care and essence of armadillo hide, costs about $15 a gallon to make and won the fifth annual 1979 Illinois Chili Cook-Off.

"I don't put rabbit in because people don't like hare in their chili," chuckled Don Goff, after his "Big Red Fiesta Chili" nosed out 51 competitors to take the championship for the second time.

In Illinois, chili is spelled chili and beans are a must, or at least a likelihood, says Goff. But in Rosemond, Calif., where Goff will compete for $30,000 at the International Chili Cook-Off in October, it's spelled chili and beans are banned.

The secret ingredients in Goff's chili were lined up in jars on the shelf of his booth. The contents of the jars looked innocent, but the labels read: "armadillo hide," "buzzard skins -mild," "cactus flakes — tart," "desert sand — sweet," "rooster combs — hot" and "eagle claws — medium."

Goff said he really doesn't put much in his chili but beans, meat, five secret spices, three kinds of peppers and "lots of love."

Bald Eagle Mutilated By Man At Seattle Zoo

SEATTLE (AP) — Someone stole a wounded bald eagle from its cage at the Woodland Park Zoo, wrung its neck and made off with decorative feathers from the wings and tail, say zoo officials.

Seattle police and wildlife agents are looking for a young man suspected in the Saturday night incident. An officer said the man had tattoos, wore an earring, bearclaw necklace, leather vest and dirty jeans.

The carcass was found Sunday just south of the zoo grounds in north Seattle, said Ernie Wagner, reptile curator and temporary zoo manager.

"Someone had wrung its neck and stripped its wing and tail feathers," he said. "Anybody who would kill a bird for its feathers has got to be sick."

The eagle had been wounded and was being nursed back to health. Its cage was pried open where two pieces of screen met, Wagner said.

Another eagle in the cage was unhurt, he said. The birds probably were confused in the dark and the wounded eagle as "easy prey," Wagner said.

Workers had noticed the bird was missing Sunday, Wagner said. "On weekends we're very busy, and we thought it had just gotten out and we would find it somewhere later," he said.

Federal wildlife protection agent Commodore Mann of Bellevue said the crime is punishable by a fine of up to $5,000 or a year in jail or both. Bald eagles are protected under the Bald Eagle Act and the Endangered Species Act, Mann said.

Texas Officials Expect More Oil To Hit Shores

By United Press International

Some say "It's over." But many scientists believe Texas' tourist-dependent businesses and delicate wildlife areas could "live in the shadow" of another oil spill disaster as long as Gulf currents bring crude north from Mexico.

Fishing and tourist industries lost at least $300 million in the three weeks oil and tar balls washed onto Texas shores this summer from the blown-out Ixtoc I well in Mexico's Bay of Campeche. But officials along Texas' Gulf coast fear that amount could be surpassed if the well is not capped and sends its black crude shoreward again next year.

They also cite plans for many more wells — and many more potential disasters — in the Bay of Campeche.

Ixtoc I, 550 miles south of the Texas coast, has dumped hundreds of tons of oil into the Gulf of Mexico since it blew out June 3 and became responsible for history's worst oil spill.

Officials of the Mexican oil monopoly PEMEX say the Ixtoc I well cannot be capped until late October — at the earliest. Privately, some observers say that is a conservative guess.

"What is happening here is people are saying 'It's over,'" said Dr. Nancy Maynard, a scientist with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. "But wait until spring. It took three months for that oil to get up here and the currents have now reversed."

In spring, the currents flow north again. If it's (Ixtoc I) not capped, if the oil is still flowing, we'll get plastered again. We lucked out this fall because it happened just at the end of the northerly currents."

On Sept. 6, the most recent date measurements were taken, there were 3,700 metric tons of oil in the Gulf, on or near south Texas beaches.

Ralph Thompson of the South Padre tourist bureau said the $300 million loss figure was probably conservative. There have been some estimates that $400-$450 million was lost to the economies of Padre Island, Galveston, Port Aransas, Port Mansfield, Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

In some areas, business was cut by 80 percent.

Thompson said he was hopeful Ixtoc I could be capped by the end of October, but prospects of future offshore well-drilling were frightening.

"This is one of perhaps a hundred wells they're proposing to build in the Bay of Campeche, any one of which could pose the same threat if anything goes wrong," Thompson said.

"We're going to have to live in the shadow of offshore drilling in the Bay of Campeche for many years to come."

Dr. Maynard said it was too early to determine the extent of long-term ecological damage.

"Preliminary studies indicate such things as dead animals, oiled animals, habitats which are oiled and some behavioral abnormalities in the organisms," she said.

A study showed the toxicity of the oil was reduced only 25 percent after its more than 500-mile journey from Mexican waters.

Coast Guard Lt. Roger Bogue said the U.S. spent $2.8 million to clean up the oil and already signed contracts to raise the total to $4.5 million.

Currently, 317 people are involved in a coastal cleanup effort financed by a special Federal Water Pollution Control Act "pollution fund."

The issue of that legal responsibility has caused some intense controversy.

Houston Robbers Make Large Haul In Heist

HOUSTON (UPI) — An unplugged burglar alarm and an unloaded security camera allowed three armed robbers "doing their Christmas shopping early" to systematically clean out a jewelry store of $1 million in diamonds and gold.

Robbery detectives, who interviewed several customers and employees in a Klein's jewelry store after the Saturday afternoon holdup, said the robbers emptied nine cabinets of valuables and then selectively chose the most expensive items before departing.

One shot was fired at an employee who moved more slowly than one of the robbers wished, but no one was hurt.

Several employees tried to press alarm buttons during the 15-minute looting spree but the system would not work because it was unplugged.

Store manager George Bronstein was undetected in a back room as he watched the robbery. He failed to call police, however, for fear the robbers would see a telephone console in the showroom light up.

Bronstein, who estimated the loss at $1 million, said, "They got all the heavy stuff."

A detective said "It was like they were browsing and doing their Christmas shopping early."

He said it was "important," "my the direction deal with m we're facing the mood of sider running Kennedy

Economy Worries Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, at the brink of a 1980 challenge to President Carter, suggests it may take a tax cut soon to cope with rising unemployment, and tougher wage-price guidelines to cope with inflation.

Insisting that he hasn't decided whether to run, Kennedy said he has been "heartened and encouraged" by the support generated in the 10 days since he said he'd consider it.

The Massachusetts senator said he had decided by Labor Day "that I at least would not preclude the possibility of candidacy."

Always before, Kennedy had said he expected Carter to run and intended to support him. But he said he reconsidered during the summer at the urging of congressional colleagues and other supporters.

He said his family approved, and he also concluded that a challenge to the incumbent president would not divide the Democratic Party more than it already is divided.

"I became convinced that the divisions that existed in the Democratic Party and in the country existed today ... and were very deep-seated, and they would be there whether I was a candidate or not," he said in an interview with The Associated Press recently.

While Carter supporters contend a Kennedy challenge could be so divisive as to make the Democratic nominee vulnerable to a Republican in the general election, the senator said past contests have seemed to "energize the party, bring new people in."

He said those factors and, most important, "my own deep concerns about the direction of the nation, our ability to deal with many of the problems that we're facing here in this country, about the mood of the nation," led him to consider running.

Kennedy said his decision is not made yet, and he doesn't know when it will be. But he also said that if he runs, he expects to compete in the Iowa Democratic caucuses. They will open the delegate selection process on Jan. 21, and to run there, he would need some time to organize and campaign.

He said economic problems, and the way Carter is addressing them, are one of his principal concerns, and will weigh heavily in his decision about 1980.

Kennedy offered no specific alternatives to Carter economic policies, but questioned whether the president's leadership can inspire confidence that such problems as inflation and recession will be handled.

"It's back to whether the people have a sense of confidence that he can deal with these issues, I think that's the matter of deepening and increasing concern to people as we come to the 1980s," he said.

Last week, an AP-NBC News poll showed only 19 percent of those questioned rated Carter's work excellent or good. It was the lowest overall job rating for an American president in 30 years.

Asked what he would do differently, Kennedy said "the way we come to grips" with rising prices and unemployment will set a course for the early 1980s.

"I today don't call for a tax cut, but I think we are going to have to be sensitive to the need for that over, potentially, the latter part of this year and the first part of next," he said. "How that is shaped, formulated, is going to be a very important choice and decision by the administration...."

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller said Friday that "at the moment, it would be inappropriate to consider a tax cut." Carter said on July 16 that "if unemployment starts getting too high, then I will take action," probably to lower the payroll taxes that finance Social Security. But nine days later, he spoke out against Republican tax-cutting proposals. And administration economic officials have been playing down the possibility of payroll tax cuts.

Kennedy also said he thinks people are confused about the Carter administration's commitment to wage-price guidelines. He said Americans don't know how sincere the president is about his own program. He said voluntary guidelines worked in the early 1960s. "As a technique, it has merit." But he said it sometimes seems the guidelines are not really the president's, but only a project of inflation adviser Alfred E. Kahn. He said that "leaves some confusion on this."

Again, Kennedy did not offer specifics as to how he would make the guidelines more forceful.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Because you will place the needs of others before your own tomorrow it will do much to enhance your image and win their gratitude and respect. Your unselfishness becomes you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Currents are stirring which will give you something big to be hopeful about. Fortunate things could start to happen tomorrow.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Should you find yourself in a challenging situation tomorrow, don't let circumstances intimidate you. Lady Luck will be available if you have to call upon her.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) Sometimes your insight regarding the outcome of events is startling. Tomorrow will be one of those days when your predictions could be right on target.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 19) Your greatest benefits or advantages are likely to be gained tomorrow from joint ventures or situations you'll manage for others. Focus on these areas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A wise selection of a partner could double your luck tomorrow in an involvement where a team effort is required. Be very choosy.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Persons in the position to give your career a boost will see you in a very favorable light tomorrow. Continue to do a good job. They will be even further impressed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You will be luckier tomorrow in dealing with persons you deem to be "big shots" rather than with those you feel are small fries. Go right to the top.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A domestic situation that has concerned you appears as if it will work out so that all will be pleased. Hope for the best.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Success will not be denied you tomorrow if you visualize what you hope to achieve positively. Think "win." Act accordingly.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Something you are involved in can be expanded tomorrow to produce an even larger return than anticipated. Look for ways to enhance what you've already begun.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Enterprisers requiring your personal touch should work out as you hope tomorrow. Instead of delegating, handle the important elements yourself.

Moynihan Criticizes Zionist Statement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan is demanding that the Carter administration condemn the conference of nonaligned nations for listing Zionism among "crimes against humanity."

In a speech scheduled for delivery today in the Senate, the New York Democrat quotes a section of the final declaration issued Sept. 7 at the Havana meeting of 89 nonaligned nations that says "racism, including Zionism, racial discrimination, and especially apartheid, constituted crimes against humanity...."

Moynihan said the statement comes close to declaring it "a crime to be a Jew," adding, "Our government remains silent."

low commercial expansion under tightly controlled restrictions that would cause the businesses and the residential area to blend together compatibly.

There can be some give-and-take on both sides, with all coming out winners in the long run.

WE CAN NOT IMAGINE the City letting this opportunity pass to give residents of Overton South the support they must have for a self-motivated neighborhood preservation project.

Even in a city as young as Lubbock is, there are several neighborhoods which are deteriorating all too rapidly because the property owners, residents and city policymakers have been guilty of apathy and neglect.

Overton South can either slide toward becoming a cesspool of crime and unsightliness, causing Texas Tech to lose some of its appeal to downstate students and becoming a blight on all who live here, or it can be revitalized as one of the most attractive neighborhoods in Lubbock.

Encouraging the property owners to preserve and enhance the district will pay dividends; failing to do so will be costly economically, socially and environmentally.

HOMEOWNERS in the neighborhood want not only to preserve the character of the single-family residential district but also to push back slum-like conditions that otherwise could encroach on the historic area.

Some businessmen fear they would be blocked too restrictively from future expansion if their properties and adjacent lots are included within the design historic district.

An appropriate compromise, in some parts of the perimeter area, would be to al-

James J. Kilpatrick:

Senate Bells IRS Cat--For Now

WASHINGTON—The Senate struck a blow for liberty the other day when it voted to put at least a temporary leash on the Internal Revenue Service.

The effect is to prevent the IRS from pursuing its campaign to revoke the tax exemption of private schools that do not meet the agency's ideas of interracial acceptability.

This is an important story. The Senate's action constitutes one more effort by the Congress to defend its powers against an increasingly arrogant bureaucracy.

The conflict ought to engage the attention of every serious student of American government, for the battle affects virtually every area of our public life.

THE GENERAL dimensions of the problem are well known. Congress creates a new agency, or enlarges the authority of an old one, and delegates to the agency the power to make rules and regulations consistent with the basic legislation.

Then Congress forgets about it. A bureaucracy comes into being, staffed by men and women of dedication, ambition and zeal. The rules they promulgate become almost unresistible.

When Congress at last awakes to the possibility that its basic legislation is being distorted, it is too late for remedies to be applied. The usurpation of legislative power continues.

In recent months this question of power has attracted much concern. Sen. Harrison Schmidt, R-N.M., is gaining support for a bill that would permit Congress to impose a legislative veto upon Trade Rule Regulations of the Federal Trade Commission.

The American Bar Association has recommended a presidential veto power in certain circumstances. Constitutional scholars are debating the wisdom of various mechanisms of restraint.

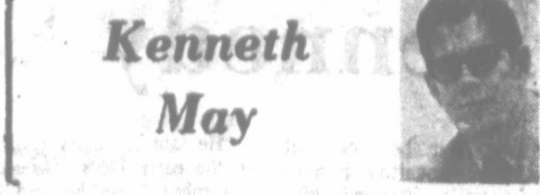

The Senate's recent move to rebuke the IRS was one of two significant developments, back to back, in this area. On Sept. 6, led by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., the Senate adopted his amendment to the Treasury Appropriations Bill denying funds to the IRS on the matter of private, religious, or church-operated schools.

ON THE FOLLOWING day, Sen. Dale Bumpers, Ark., won a victory of possibly wider meaning with an amendment to the Federal Courts Improvement Act.

Under the Bumpers amendment, federal courts no longer could assume that an executive agency was operating within its statutory authority.

Says the amendment: "There shall be no presumption that any rule or regulation of any agency is valid." If a regulation is challenged, "the court shall not uphold the validity of such challenged rule or regulation unless such validity is established by a preponderance of the evidence shown."

WITHOUT REHASHING nine years of controversy, it may suffice to say that the IRS has been pushing a proposed new rule to punish schools that fail to prove themselves innocent of racial discrimination.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

A Union Town?

TEDDY KENNEDY and Jimmy Carter have more in common than a desire to be the 1980 Democratic Presidential nominee. Each was reluctant to report what happened to him out in the water one time.

Kennedy says the reason he may run for President is that the economy's in such bad shape. He fails to mention that it got that way largely because of the big spending programs he has supported.

The Post Office has automated the raising and lowering of the flag at its 50th St. and Ave. L station. I'm told.

Machines now sell stamps, sort the mail, make change and raise the flag. If we could teach 'em to lose letters and drink coffee, just think how much we could reduce personnel costs.

My Neighbor Twice Removed wonders where a county taxpayer goes to find a Grievance Committee if he thinks JP salaries are getting too high?

NO, VIRGINIA. Congressmen are not dummies. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller asked that the national debt ceiling be increased by $56 billion.

That would have raised it to $886 billion, enough to see us through next September.

But next September is just a month or so before the 1980 Congressional elections. So the House Ways and Means Committee approved a

Soviets Have 'Base' Up Sleeve

(First Of Two)

WASHINGTON—The Russians bold deployment of nearly 3,000 Soviet combat troops in Cuba is as much a political as military move.

Principal purpose of the military deployment is to set the stage for three way negotiations with the Carter administration for the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Guantanamo Bay naval base and the ending of U.S. economic embargo against the Castro regime.

Soviet bloc officials are being told that the Kremlin will offer to withdraw the combat unit now in Cuba in exchange for U.S. abandonment of the Guantanamo Bay base and the ending of the economic embargo.

SUPPORT FOR THE forced U.S. withdrawal is now being sought by Soviet and Cuban diplomats in a series of backstage conferences at the so-called "Third World" conference now underway in Havana.

In private talks with "Third World" leaders, Castro is letting it be known that he plans to raise the Guantanamo and embargo issues along with independence for Puerto Rico when he speaks before the UN Security Council in New York early in October.

By raising these issues and forcing the U.S. to negotiate on Guantanamo, the Soviet-Cuban combine hopes to keep the U.S. on the defensive in the Caribbean while they expand their influence in the region.

IN ADDITION TO turning Castro's 120,000-man military into an "offensive force" for use in Africa and Central America, the Russians are building their most powerful advance military operational base in Cuba outside of Russia with no effective protest or opposition from the U.S.

This advance Soviet military base, located inside U.S. defenses for the Western hemisphere, is now protected by the latest Soviet aircraft piloted by Russian fliers along with the new Soviet combat unit.

There are now an estimated 10,000 Russian and Soviet bloc military advisors and combat troops in Cuba. The number of Soviet pilots are estimated at between 100 and 200 with "several hundred" Soviet aircraft ground crews and communication personnel.

According to an estimate of one group of U.S. intelligence experts, the Russians with their new MIG-23s, medium range bombers, and missile firing submarines in the Cuban waters now have more of a nuclear striking capability there than they did at the heights of the Cuban missile crisis in 1962.

Along with this growing military force, the Russians now have two squadrons of troop-carrying boost of $99 billion. That's enough to let Congress go about its Big Spending ways and buy re-election votes with borrowed public money without raising the debt limit again until after the election.

Isn't it nice to have all the money in the world to play around with?

Mrs. John C. Pickett writes: "I must commend you on your statements about the 'boat people.' ...Opening our country to a flood of disadvantaged people of an entirely different culture is extremely short-sighted policy. It will cause trouble later on."

FORMER MAYOR Morris W. Turner predicts "the election will be called and the firemen will win" their demands for a 15 percent pay hike and the right to bargain collectively in the future.

And Turner fears "that will be the beginning of the end of Lubbock as we've always known it."

He says that "hard-core unionism is the real issue" and that the firemen will win because of apathy among rank-and-file voters.

He paints a scenario in which the firemen and their families and friends, other union families, the minorities, school teachers, other city employees and state, county and federal employees flock to the polls while other voters stay home.

"THE PEOPLE OF Dallas didn't think it could happen in their conservative city," Turner says, "but it did (less than a year ago) because of apathy."

He conjures up visions of a spread of unionism here if the firemen win, ultimately leading to "situations like they've had in Memphis" where garbage piled up, buildings burned and crime flourished while garbage workers, firemen, policemen, etc., "watched and applauded."

State laws against public employe strikes don't stop strikes, the former mayor points out, as witness the recent example of the teachers' walkout in Oklahoma City.

Turner believes union organizers from outside the city have been and will be formulating the firefighters' collective bargaining campaign.

He also doubts that there's anybody on the City Council who will work forcefully to defeat the union. He's right to this point, at least. When he was mayor, Turner met the firemen's challenge by offering to call an election without the necessity of a petition.

Mayor Dirk West did not do that and Turner thinks this was a tactical error; the momentum of the petition-carrying campaign will help the firefighters stir up sympathy for their demands.

A RAISE ALREADY approved by the City Council would make the typical firefighters' salary run $15,446-plus per year. Their work schedule permits them to hold other jobs or own businesses and many of them do so, Turner points out.

But with state Comptroller Bob Bullock urging unionization of all public employes in Texas, the former mayor thinks that a union victory by the Lubbock firefighters is the real goal of the election.

He's probably right.

cargo planes with ranges from 500 to 800 miles or far enough to ferry troops and guerrillas to any point in Central America or Mexico.

The strange responses by the State Department and White House clearly indicate President Carter is following a policy of "protecting rather than opposing" the Soviet's advance military operational base in Cuba.

While refusing to publicly reveal why the Russian troops were sent to Cuba, the State Department in admitting the presence of an estimated

"2,000 to 3,000 combat troops," pronounced this force "no threat to the U.S."

Even the liberal Washington Post cautioned that "the judgment seems premature and gratuitous."

"Not only does the intelligence community feel it has a good bit more to learn about the force's military dimensions and political design, but by clearing Moscow before Moscow has answered its queries as to what's going on, the State Department virtually invites a brushoff."

Market Is Straining To Go Up--Not Down!

(Last of nine columns)

WASHINGTON—The worst worldwide depression of all time did not start on Oct. 29, 1929, as so many of you believe.

Business activity in the U.S. was into a well-defined decline long before "the crash." Nor was Oct. 29—the most famous day in the stock market collapse—the day of the biggest decline in points or percentage.

That day was October 28, and stock prices had begun to retreat long before then. In fact, with the benefit of 20-20 hindsight, the signals of severe trouble ahead for stocks were flashing as early as August.

On one day in August, prices, as measured by the Dow Jones average, fell 4 percent.

In September, when optimism was at a peak, this average dropped 10 percent. By Oct. 23, a full week before the bottom dropped out, stock prices were down a full 20 percent from Sept. 3.

BUT WHEN THE stock market crackup caught up—belatedly—with the economic depression, the price decline became precipitous and almost uninterrupted until the Dow Jones average reached its depression low of 41.22 on July 8, 1932—a cataclysmic drop of 89 percent from the all-time high recorded 34 months previously.

In brief, what should have been a classical business downturn was converted by the gambling fever in Wall Street into a catastrophe repeated in various degrees the world over.

The breakdown of the European banking and payments system in 1931 was a blow the U.S. economy couldn't absorb.

And the failure (inability?) of leaders in the White House and Congress of that era to take effective measures to cushion the bankruptcies of businesses and banks kept driving the economy ever deeper into depression.

AND NOW? NOW, the danger is not wild gambling fever in the stock market! On the contrary, the dangerous gambling is in areas far removed from stocks.

Now, there is no slap-happy optimism about "permanent" prosperity among average citizens.

The U.S. economy is into a business decline of still unknown depth, breadth and duration—and fear of inflation rather than euphoria about our future expansion dominates psychology.

Another stock market break could come. Only a fool would deny altogether that there always is this possibility—but if it did come, it would be triggered by:

The breakdown of our world monetary system due to a complete loss of faith in the U.S. dollar and a worldwide run from the dollar into "things" or other more trusted currencies;

The only people keeping cool these days are shady characters. It was so hot yesterday sweat wouldn't even run.

* WORLDWIDE DEFAULTS ON debts owed to U.S. financial institutions by underdeveloped and Third World nations, compelling the U.S. to redefine the loans as "grants" or "gifts" in order to avert chaos in our banking system.

* Widespread defaults on consumer debts by U.S. families frighteningly overloaded with loans they could not possibly repay in the event of any prolonged business slump and a big jump in joblessness.

* A new burst of inflation that would accelerate the annual rate of rise in consumer prices to, say, 15-20 percent—and would push down stock prices until the annual yields on stocks were high enough to meet the 15-20 percent price spiral.

"An extremely remote scenario," in the opinion of a leading Washington economist. "The worst case that could be imagined."

* ECONOMIC CHAOS throughout the West brought on by oil shortages so severe that production and corporation-worker earnings would be sharply curtailed everywhere.

What would trigger another 1929 in 1979, 60 years later, would, then, be the collapse of our international financial system combined with our inability to carry any longer this overload of debts, internal and international.

But we are fully aware of the dangers, on the alert.

And with so many stock prices on the bargain counter, the market in 1979 seems straining to go up, not as in 1929, down.

Wisconsin Paper Prints Restricted Information

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A small daily newspaper, objecting to "the shadow of government censorship," has rushed into print with a letter that discusses what the government calls nuclear weapon secrets — information a federal judge had forbidden a California newspaper to publish.

"We have had no contact with any authorities and we hope it stays that way," editor Ron McCrear said after the 11,000-circulation Madison Press Connection printed the letter in a special Sunday edition.

The printing came hours after U.S. District Judge Robert Schnacke of San Francisco signed a temporary restraining order Saturday against publication of the letter by the Daily Californian of Berkeley.

The government, seeking a restraining order against the California student newspaper, said the letter contained "secret, restricted data," that could help other nations develop nuclear weaponry and injure the U.S.

The Energy and Justice departments acted against the Daily Californian under the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, which provides penalties of up to 10 years in jail for possessing and communicating "restricted data."

The Press Connection announced Saturday evening that it had received from an anonymous source a copy of the letter written by computer programmer Charles Hansen, 32, of Mountain View, Calif.

As published in the Press Connection, Hansen's 32-page letter is roughly half technical information on what he says is how to build and trigger a hydrogen bomb and half social commentary on the need of the American people to have the information so they will understand the weapon's destructive power.

Other recipients of the 18-page document were asked to surrender their copies, authorities said. The New York Times today quoted the Energy Department's deputy general counsel, Eric J. Fygi, as saying the Press Connection was not on the department's list of seven papers that had the letter.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Tribune said it plans to publish parts of the letter Thursday "because of the government's behavior concerning the letter." A newspaper owned by the Tribune Co. also has already published a part of the letter.

In San Francisco, the American Civil Liberties Union said it would seek to vacate Judge Schnacke's order. Executive Director Dorothy Erlich said it is a "serious abridgment of First Amendment rights," and that a ban on publication is now moot.

U.S. Attorney Frank Tuerkheimer of Madison said the Press Connection's publication of the letter was under study by his superiors and that it was unclear what action might be taken.

The newspaper noted in a front-page editorial that the government in March obtained an order barring Madison-based Progressive magazine from publishing an article on nuclear weaponry based on research using unclassified public documents.

"Saturday night, the same thing happened to the Daily Californian," it said. "The shadow of government censorship has fallen across the land. It must stop, and it must stop now."

YWCA Teaches Muscle Development Course

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles dealing with the United Way of Lubbock. Except for articles of United Way agencies involved, the names used are fictitious to protect the identities of those involved. However, the stories reflect actual case histories here.)

Did you ever wonder where you picked up that slight slouch when you sit in an upright chair or that funny little hitch in your step? Well, it could go all the way back to before you were two years old.

This year, the YWCA of Lubbock, a United Way agency, began a program to assist parents to teach children correct muscle development, according to class instructor, Judy Campbell.

The YWCA will receive $89,992 from the United Way's 1980 goal of $1,803,752. Aply named "diaper gym" the program, divided into four age groups—6 months to walking, walking to age 2, 2 years and 3 years—is designed to instruct parents on the correct exercises for their children to gain strength and flexibility in all muscle groups.

Mrs. Campbell said the children work on learning to crawl, to reach out and, with parents, on spatial awareness, such as holding the child upside down. She explained that this not only teaches space concepts but also enables the child to gain trust in the parent at an early age.

In addition, she said, work on balance beams with parents guiding the children gives the child greater trust and decreases any developing fear of heights.

Much of the time is spent developing skills the child will need in life and the strength and flexibility so they can hold their bodies correctly throughout their lives. Mrs. Campbell said that this could, perhaps, prevent many of the aches and pains suffered in later life due to simple strain and tension.

The total concept of the program, she said is to teach the child total body awareness—how to control the body and use it. The program gives greater emphasis on eye-hand coordination which, Mrs. Campbell pointed out, is important when the child learns to read and write.

"We want to teach the normal patterns of movement—sensory and motor patterns—so children will develop normal learning patterns. Many patterns they develop are done before 18 months, so it's never too early to teach them," the instructor said.

According to YWCA director Betty Rhea Moxley, the diaper gym program is one of many programs the organization is instituting in expanding its services to the community.

Currently the YWCA has a membership of about 4,400 members and a participation of approximately 66,000. And, as Mrs. Moxley pointed out, the YWCA is expanding to include much more of the family. "We are no longer just a women's organization. Many of our programs include men and we have men as members. Some of these programs are lessons in yoga, which is supposed to be good for joggers and skiers, and our swimming program," she said.

The YWCA also includes classes for pre-schoolers, like diaper gym and "kinderhookery" and "rocker gym" for those who do not want a vigorous exercise program, but nonetheless, do want some exercise.

Also, fine arts and crafts are offered, along with personal enrichment, including dancing and photography classes, adult fitness classes, teen programs and an extensive swimming program in the YWCA's olympic size pool.

Mrs. Moxley pointed out that many new services will be available at the YWCA when their building project is completed in 1981. She said the project will include a regulation size gymnasium, with more office space and storage space, as well as meeting room.

The new area will free the organization to include more team sports, such as basketball, volleyball and gymnastics,

Teen Has Abortion Despite Court Ruling

HOUSTON (UPI) — An unmarried teen-ager, whose fetus was placed under a guardianship by a county Probate Court judge when she sought an abortion, has undergone the surgical procedure.

"Jane Doe," 19, described the attempt to prevent the abortion as "silly." The abortion was performed Friday.

"I never dreamed anything like this could happen," she said, explaining it began Aug. 31 when she called an organization listed in the Yellow Pages as able to provide birth control information.

She said she called the Abortion Abuse Advice and Information Service because "I thought they would know which ones (abortion clinics) were good and which ones were bad."

She said she was informed the service did not perform abortions but could provide the information she sought. Instead, on Sept. 5, she was served with a court citation notifying her that Probate Judge Bill Bear had appointed a temporary guardian for her 16-week-old fetus and barred her from obtaining an abortion.

The next day she called the woman at the abortion organization office again.

"She told me she had been asked to hold back the information I asked for and that I would have to talk to Mrs. (Eileen) Brady, who got the temporary guardianship," the teen-ager said.

She told Mrs. Brady she was not sure she would remain in Houston and was told "that if I was going home (Florida) and was going to keep the baby I would not have to go to court."

After conversations with Mrs. Brady and the woman's lawyer, "Doe" sought legal advice from the American Civil Liberties Union, which had the guardianship dissolved and the abortion suit blocked. The ACLU also filed a federal court suit to have the state's temporary guardianship law declared unconstitutional.

Dallas Officials Seeking Cause Of Blaze

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas fire officials were still investigating the cause today of a devastating fire of "suspicious origin" that leveled 10 buildings of a north Dallas apartment complex causing an estimated $3 million damage.

No one was injured. Lt. Tom Oney of the Dallas Fire Department arson investigation squad said he was "completely undecided" on the cause of the fire early Sunday.

But arson investigators initially called the five-alarm blaze — which broke out in a section of apartments under construction — "suspicious."

About 64 occupied units were destroyed and an additional 24 units in another complex under construction were leveled.

Oney said damage from the blaze would exceed $3 million, an increase from earlier estimates of $1.5 million. The investigator said the blaze was one of the costliest in Dallas history.

Remarkably, there were no injuries reported from the giant blaze, Oney said.

"Not even any pets were killed as far as I know," he said.

Firefighters said the fire spread rapidly because the buildings in the complex had wood shingles and at least two sides of the building were made of wood.

"These wood-shingled roofs are like pouring gasoline on a fire," said Battalion Chief Travis Zuber. "If we had had 15-20 mph winds, it would have gotten the whole complex."

"When we first rolled up, the first thing I thought of was the Houston deal," he said, referring to a fire Aug. 1 in which 324 units of a fashionable Houston apartment were destroyed.

Like the Pepper Mill and Forest Green complexes, Houston's Woodway Square Apartments also had wood shingles.

The Houston City Council voted after the disastrous fire to tighten up rules about the use of wood shingles in apartment and single dwelling housing.

The Dallas City Council has considered taking similar action, but has not done so.

Firefighters credited a young man with saving the lives of many persons who lived in the Pepper Mill Apartments at the intersection of Preston Road and Arapaho. They said he raced from door to door, knocking, shouting and awakening sleeping residents.

Gene Morel said he believes he was first to sight the fire. "I saw some smoke ... I thought at first it was steam coming from an air conditioner. I ran over there and saw what appeared to be a vent."

State Bar Brings Oscar McInnis To Trial

EDINBURG (AP) — The State Bar of Texas has succeeded at what state and federal prosecutors failed to do — bring indicted Hidalgo County District Attorney Oscar McInnis to trial.

Although the bar's suit to take away McInnis' law license is a civil matter, it involves criminal allegations that McInnis tried to get a hit man to kill a friend's ex-husband in Reynosa, Mexico.

State District Judge Joe B. Evins, who lost to McInnis in a 1966 race for district attorney, will preside as jury selection begins today in the disbarment trial.

A federal grand jury charged McInnis with conspiracy to commit murder, but a federal judge threw out those charges on grounds the alleged crime took place in Mexico and could not be tried in American courts.

The intended target of the purported plot, Noe Villanueva, was not killed.

State prosecutors dropped similar murder-conspiracy charges when a state judge ruled they could not use a tape-recorded conversation between McInnis and a Hidalgo County Jail inmate as evidence.

Law enforcement officers wired Daniel Rodriguez, who McInnis said tried to trap him into giving incriminating answers to questions about the murder plot.

No motive for the bizarre undertaking has been made public except for a federal court paper that said, "McInnis had animosity toward Villanueva, as he was bothering women," he knew.

Still pending against McInnis are feeral charges that he lied to a grand jury when he said he knew nothing about a murder plot. The trial on those charges is expected later this year. The district attorney's peers also want to remove him from office, but the legitimacy of their suit is being considered by the Texas Supreme Court.

McInnis' lawyers wanted to postpone the disbarment trial until the federal perjury case is closed.

"That case down there (in Brownsville) if he is convicted, kills every cat in the alley," argued lawyer John Lewis. "It takes care of the removal suit and this action would become moot."

Connally Linked To Bank

DALLAS (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee is examining the circumstances surrounding the charter of a Dallas bank whose original stockholders included a son and seven former aides of former Treasury Secretary John Connally, says a Dallas newspaper.

The Morning News reported in a copyright story Sunday that investigators are checking the possibility that Connally, a Republican presidential candidate, used influence to secure the charter for Love Field National Bank of Dallas.

The bank was chartered in 1972 while Connally was secretary.

"It ought to be emphasized this investigation (on bank charters in general) is not for the sole and principal purpose of looking at Connally's dealing when he was secretary of the treasury," said Kenneth McLean, staff director of the Senate Banking Committee.

"It happened to turn up in the context of a much broader investigation, and we took a little closer look at it."

Connally was asked Friday if his son's position as an initial stockholder might have been a conflict of interest.

"I don't know anything about that," Connally said while campaigning in Florida. "I don't even know when the bank was chartered ... Bill Camp was running that comptroller's office ... I wasn't. Mike Myers owns the bank, I think, and I think he got my children in to it."

Comptroller William Camp, who died in 1975, issued the charter for the bank despite recommendations from his staff and his deputy that the charter be rejected.

McLean said his staff has examined the comptroller's files at Love Field National Bank as one of seven in Texas "where the comptroller reversed the recommendation of his deputy and staff."

At the time, the office of the comptroller was an agency of the Treasury Department.

Myers was a Connally assistant when Connally was the Democratic governor of Texas from 1963 to 1968. Myers currently is the Texas state deputy campaign chairman for Connally's presidential bid.

Asked about the bank charter, Myers said, "The secretary of the treasury didn't have anything to do with it."

Caryl Austrian of the comptroller's office in Washington said, "We are taking a 'no comment' position on this entire Connally bank charter situation."

Suspicious Man Struggles With Police, Dies

DALLAS (AP) — A young man described as "acting paranoid" died Sunday shortly after he was subdued and handcuffed by police officers in a downtown bus station, authorities said.

A preliminary autopsy failed to reveal the cause of death, a spokesman for the Dallas County medical examiner's office said. An official ruling was pending the results of toxicology tests.

Police said the man, apparently in his 20s, was not carrying identification.

Sgt. W.D. Eisey, working an off-duty security job at the Continental Trailways station, said the man began creating a disturbance in the terminal after being told he could not exchange a ticket to South Carolina for one to New York.

"He was acting paranoid," Eisey said. "He began saying things like, 'They are going to kill me if I don't get a ticket to New York. They are going to kill me in South Carolina.'"

Lt. B.G. Maroney said the man was later ejected from his bus when he started yelling after boarding. Eisey and two bus station employees struggled with the man for 10 minutes before finally subduing him.

"After we got him handcuffed, he continued to thrash and kick for some time," Eisey said.

After noticing that the man had become quiet in a police squad car and had quit breathing, officers applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external heart massage. He was ruled dead about 20 minutes after arriving at a local hospital by ambulance.

A spokesman for the Dallas Police Department said a preliminary investigation showed no wrongdoing on the part of officers and that the case will be referred routinely to a grand jury.

German Families Use Balloon To Escape

MARMADUKE by Brad Anderson

NAILA, West Germany — Four children and four adults bet their lives on a hot air balloon made of nylon and bedsheets and drifted through the darkness of East Germany, hitting the jackpot — freedom across the border in West Germany.

Peter Streizak, an airplane mechanic who designed the escape craft, told reporters Sunday the 12-mile, 20-30 minute flight was his second attempt to escape by balloon from his communist-ruled homeland.

"It was no longer possible for us to lie to our children and put up with the political conditions in East Germany," he said.

He, his wife and two children, along with stonemason Andreas Wetzel, his wife and their two children, got onto a gondola made of an iron plate. Gas burners were fired, filling the handsewn envelope with hot air at a field near Lobenstein and the balloon rose aloft.

Borne toward the south by a good breeze, the refugees flew over the "death strip" border and put down in this Bavarian town, far from the border's electrified fences and minefields. It was believed to be the first time refugees had used a balloon to cross the border.

During the flight, the children rode in the middle of the 18-square-foot iron plate, and were huddled around bottles of gas used to fuel the fire that heated air in the 5,230-cubic-yard balloon. The adults rode on four iron rods projecting laterally from the plate, each grabbing onto inch-thick ropes attaching the gondola to the balloon.

Streizak said he designed the balloon using principles he learned from his work with airplanes.

The escape began about 1:30 a.m., Streizak told reporters, and the balloon climbed to 8,000 feet in the moonless sky as the breeze pushed it toward freedom.

As the balloon came down, it was met by two West German police officers who had raced to the landing site, thinking the floating object might be a UFO.

"Are we in the West here?" one of the balloonists reportedly asked.

"We were convinced that we were in the West even before the police officers came because we saw a modern farm machine on the field unlike anything we have," Streizak told a reporter.

He said his first attempt, during the night of July 4, ended 220 yards short of the border, but the balloonists were undetected and they returned home.

After their arrival in Naila, the mayor reportedly offered the families housing and jobs but the group had not decided whether to stay here.

"Next time you wait for your master, would you mind making a little less joyful noise unto the Lord?"

Socialists Hold Edge In Voting

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The opposition socialist bloc held a one-seat edge over the governing non-socialist coalition today in Sweden's general election, but with the conservatives posting the biggest gains, mail-in votes from traditionally conservative areas could easily reverse the standings.

Preliminary returns from all 267 municipalities in Sunday's voting gave the opposition Social Democrats and Communists a 175-174 parliamentary majority over the conservative Moderate Alliance Party, the Center Party and the Liberals of the non-socialist bloc.

But statisticians predicted the pendulum would swing to 175-174 for the non-socialist bloc after an estimated 40,000 mail-in votes have been counted Wednesday. Experience shows that the non-socialists get the bulk of the mail-in votes and since the race was in a dead heat just a few thousand votes could tip the balance.

"What is essential is that we have turned the trend upwards," Social Democratic leader Olof Palme said. "The party emerges strengthened and united from the election campaign."

The Social Democrats saw their vote percentage shrink in three consecutive elections — all of them with Palme at the helm — and the 52-year-old leader's political career appeared to be on the line in the latest campaign.

The Social Democrats gained a modest 0.6 percent for a total of 43.5 percent, or 2.3 million of the 6 million eligible voters. This would give the Social Democrats 155 seats — up three — in the 349-seat Parliament.

Palme, who spent the past three years in opposition following defeat at the polls in 1976 after 44 years of Social Democratic rule, said he would form another Social Democratic minority government if offered the premiership again.

The Communists, in their best result in 30 years, increased by 0.9 percent to 5.6, adding three parliamentary seats for a total of 20. They would be expected, as always, to back a Social Democratic government on crucial votes.

But the big winner in the elections was Gosta Bohman, 68, forceful leader of the conservative Moderate Alliance Party, which took over from the centrists as the largest non-socialist party.

Bohman, economics minister in the non-socialist coalition which fell after two years in office, advocated a lowering of taxes, a "strong economy" and a back-to-basics policy at school.

The conservatives chalked up 20.4 percent of the vote — an increase of about 4.5 percent — and 72 parliamentary seats compared to 55 before dissolution.

But Bohman was not expected to be asked to head a non-socialist government even should the mail-in votes decide the see-saw battle in favor of the non-socialists.

The centrists and Liberals have ruled him out as a prime minister, saying a non-socialist government must rest on a middle-of-the-road platform.

Bohman's aggressive campaign largely upstaged those of his former coalition brothers, Thorbjorn Falldin and Ola Ullsten.

Falldin, the anti-nuclear Center Party leader who served as prime minister for two years before the three-party government stumbled on the nuclear energy issue, saw his party's share of the electorate slump by a disastrous 6.0 percent to 18.2, losing 22 of its 86 seats in Parliament.

Liberal Party leader Ullsten, head of a lame duck minority government, got away less painfully than Falldin from a lackluster campaign and his party polled 10.6 percent, down a half. Its parliamentary strength was reduced by one seat.

The advance of the Center Party in the 1976 elections was attributed to Falldin's firm no to nuclear energy — a stand in which he was joined only by the Communists — but that controversial issue was defused this time.

Young Dismisses Issue Of Troops

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young today dismissed as unimportant the presence of Soviet combat troops in Cuba and said that for the good of the United States he did not think Sen. Edward Kennedy would challenge President Carter for the presidency.

In a wide-ranging news conference, Young also said his resignation opened fresh debate on the Middle East issue, and the Rhodesian constitutional conference in London was off to a good start in its effort to find a peaceful solution in Zimbabwe Rhodesia.

Asked about the recent statement by the Carter administration that Soviet combat troops had been in Cuba for several years, Young virtually dismissed the issue and said, "I think those troops have been there a long time.

"They haven't bothered me at all. If they start bothering me I'll let you know. I'm not sure we even know what they're doing there. There was something a bit more political about that debate than strategic."

Young said that if Kennedy challenged Carter for the presidency it would be bad for the country, the Democratic Party and both men "and that's the reason I think Kennedy will have the sense enough not to run."

He also criticized American blacks, women and other minorities for their vociferous criticism of Carter.

"The minorities and women are all mad at Carter," he said. "I don't think they have a right to be mad. The black community (especially) is very upset with Carter. I'm not sure why. Everything that was asked for in 1976 in the campaign he's delivered on."

Young, who said he will campaign for Carter when he leaves his U.N. post said, "I've never believed Carter is as weak as the polls would indicate... and I don't think anyone is going to beat him easily."

Commenting on his own resignation following his unauthorized meeting with a representative of the Palestine liberation organization, Young said he had deliberately challenged a policy he thought was outdated but his resignation had now opened the way for fresh discussion on the issue.

"I have no regrets," he said. "We are all better off for it."

Newborn In Critical Condition Following Death Of Mother

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A baby girl who survived an emergency Caesarean section performed by jittery paramedics was in critical condition following the car-train accident that killed her young mother.

"She (the baby) looked real good.

She was breathing on her own. We think she might make it," said John Linahan, one of the emergency medical technicians who performed the Caesarean section in the back of an ambulance Saturday.

"We weren't trained to do anything like that," Linahan said of the 13-minute operation. "But sometimes you have to work so fast you don't have time to be scared or nervous."

The full-term delivery was performed by Linahan and paramedics Morgan Mansfield, Brenda Alford and Rick Archer in radio contact with Dr. Rolla Burghard, an emergency physician at Community Hospital.

"We were kind of jittery and we had to rely on Dr. Burghard to tell us what to do," said Linahan. "He talked us all the way through it."

The newborn girl was in critical condition Sunday at Community Hospital here, hospital spokeswoman Lynn Bivens said.

The baby's mother, Angel L. Barton, 17, Indianapolis, died of head injuries after the Amtrak National Limited passenger train slammed into the car stalled on tracks on the city's eastside.

"There was no way she could be saved," Linton said, adding that the paramedics performed cardio-pulmonary resuscitation to keep the dead woman's heart beating while they tried to remove the child.

9-Year-Old In Hospital After Shooting Incident

By JACK DOUGLAS

Avalanche-Journal Staff
A 9-year-old boy, shot with a pellet gun Saturday in front of his trailer home east of Lubbock, was listed in serious condition this morning at Methodist Hospital.

Doctors told Lubbock County sheriff's deputies Saturday night that surgery would be needed to find the pellet which lodged in or near the heart of William Clemmer of Route 7, Box 701, Lubbock.

It could not be determined at noon today whether surgery had been performed on the youngster.

Deputies were questioning an 11-year-old Lubbock County boy, who reportedly told them he was pointing the pump-action pellet rifle at young Clemmer when the weapon discharged.

The victim's stepfather, Doug Diver, said the boy had gone outside to play about 8:30 p.m. Saturday and that minutes later he heard the youngster scream.

Diver said he ran out of the residence and saw the boy sitting on the porch, and that he was sweating profusely and appeared to be about to lose consciousness.

An ambulance was called and the boy was taken to Methodist.

Deputies, after leaving the hospital, went back to the trailer park, where they talked to the young suspect and two other juveniles.

The 11-year-old said one of the other boys had been holding the rifle and dropped it when Clemmer slapped him in the back of the head.

Deputies were told the victim was being chased by the boy who had dropped the gun when the 11-year-old picked up the rifle and pointed it at Clemmer. The youngster who was holding the gun said he did not realize the weapon had discharged until he saw Clemmer drop to his knees and yell, "I've been shot."

Deputies said the rifle was shattered to pieces by a father of one of the boys after he learned of the incident.

The juvenile suspect was not in custody early today, authorities said.

UW Campaign Officials Face Hectic Schedule

United Way campaign officials face another week of heavy activity leading up to the public kickoff of the campaign Oct. 2.

Beginning with the regular campaign breakfast at 7 a.m. Tuesday, campaigners will be rushing to meet schedules throughout the week.

At noon Tuesday, campaign coordinators in the Loaned Executive division launch activities in a meeting at Memorial Civic Center. Campaign coordinator are representatives selected by management to head the campaign for their employee groups. Loaned Executive division is made up of executives from large er employee groups throughout the city.

Jay Egan heads the division as chairman, aided by B.C. "Peck" McMinn, vice chairman.

Last scheduled meeting for Tuesday is a report by the members of the professional division at the United Way office at 2201 19th St. Dr. Lawrence Montgomery and Norton Baker are professional chairmen.

On Wednesday, Combined Federal Campaign kickoff activities begin with a tour of United Way agencies at 8:30 a.m. and climax with a noon meeting at the Officers Club at Reese Air Force Base. The campaign includes all federal employees in the city and is chaired by Col. Richard Ingram and David Bass.

Members of the Metro division begin activity with a 7 a.m. breakfast Thursday at the civic center. Volunteers in the division call on firms with fewer than 15 employees. Phil Crumpler and Bill Dean head the Metro group.

Thursday's activities end with a report from the Advance Gifts division at the United Way office.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

There isn't a person who takes a trip out of the country who doesn't live in dreaded fear of the LL Experience...Lost Luggage.

I have been on trips where poor devils have been two days ahead of their luggage for the entire trip. You try not to notice the ring around their collar, cuffs, waistbands/hems. You try to feign joy when they show you their newly-purchased toothbrush and dental floss. You are tactful when they squirm uncomfortably in damp underwear that didn't dry during the night.

We have just returned from a trip out of which columns are made. We flew from Phoenix to Los Angeles and our luggage was there. We flew to the Fiji Islands and our luggage was there. We flew to Sydney, Australia, and our luggage was there. Sydney to Perth and it was still with us. From Perth we flew to Adelaide and witnessed yet another miracle.

From Adelaide we shot up to Brisbane and were confirmed believers in the airlines. From Brisbane to Melbourne, our luggage once again appeared.

From Melbourne to Sydney was a piece of cake as our four pieces of yellow luggage came tumbling off the conveyer belt FIRST, no less.

We wavered a bit when we flew from Sydney to Port Moresby, Papua New Guinea, but lo and behold, there it was. From Port Moresby to Madang, from Madang to Goroko and back again to Port Moresby and Sydney, we watched in absolute disbelief as the Bombeck luggage whirled around the carousel.

We watched it being loaded on the flight to Auckland, New Zealand, so its arrival was no surprise. But we knew we were pushing the odds as we breathlessly awaited its arrival in Wellington.

It arrived, but we were worried. We were trying for the Guinness Book of Records and we knew it. I even rechecked my tags with the airline to make sure he had our next stop, Rotorua, but he did and they did and we were ecstatic.

We flew to Auckland and our luggage was there.

We flew to Los Angeles and our luggage was there...bringing the total exchanges to 18.

We flew to Phoenix. They lost our luggage.

At least three state officers of P.E.O. are expected to attend Thursday's organizational meeting for the newest Lubbock chapter of that organization, Lillian Williams reports. The meeting is scheduled to take place at the First Christian Church.

Tuesday's meeting of the Lubbock Legal Secretaries should be an extra special one if its intriguing title is any indication of the program contents. The topic is listed as "Tom Paine, Howard Jarvis and Other Squeaky Wheels."

The Texas Lamplighter Chapter of ABWA will have a fall enrollment tea at the Lubbock Women's Club Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Reese Women of the Chapel will meet Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. for a fall kickoff and get acquainted meeting. Chaplain Charles H. Locklin, one of the Protestant chaplains at Reese, will speak at the meeting in the chapel social hall. May M. Carsten is president of Women of the Chapel, an non-denominational organization open to all women associated with Reese regardless of their church affiliation.

While not exactly a club, the RSVP volunteers are having a meeting Thursday which is, nevertheless, NOTABLE. The first recognition event will be held for these hard-working senior citizens whose help in schools, the library and in various community agencies means so much. The meeting will be at 10 a.m. in the Garden Room of St. John's United Methodist Church. Betty Anderson is the RSVP coordinator.

Lubbock Council of Garden Clubs will meet Thursday at 9:30 a.m. at the Garden and Arts Center for a business meeting and a program on care and growing of grapes.

Special guest speaker at the Friday morning meeting of the Lubbock Music Club will be Mrs. C. E. Christmann, Texas-Oklahoma District coordinator and past president of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs.

Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. the ladies of Phi Beta Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will wash your car, pick-up or camper if you will come to 14th Street and University Avenue. Charges will be $2 for cars and $3 for pickups and campers.

Zeta Tau Alpha Mothers will meet for luncheon Thursday at noon at the Lubbock Club.

THIS WEEK AT LUBBOCK WOMEN'S CLUB: Wednesday the Holiday Roundtable will be treated to a presentation by Wallene Dockery on the subject of spotting techniques of good fiction. This charming and gracious lady is the talented author of last year's Christmas hit book, "Gabby's Christmas Wish."

The Broadway and Books Roundtable meeting Friday at noon will also have a treat, a presentation of scenes from the Lubbock Theatre Centre production of the popular musical "Gypsy."

Thanks to Sue Clary for seeing that the Family News staff received copies of the handsome new Women's Club yearbook.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

Q.1—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦AQ62♥KQ♦AQ106♠A94
Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one diamond. What action do you take?

A.—You do not need much from partner to make game, but the odds are against it—partner's share of the outstanding points should be only about 3. Pass. This does not indicate timidity, but rather bloodthirstiness. Even one diamond could be defeated for as much as the value of any game you might have. At a different vulnerability, you could not afford this trap pass. Then you would have to double and rebid in no trump to show your balanced powerhouse.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦642♥AK974♦A102♠K5
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 3♦ Pass
3♥ Pass 3♠ Pass

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♦AJ♥KJ4♦KQ2♦AQ962
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1♦ 2♥ 3♦ ?
What action do you take?

A.—Someone is lying through his teeth—probably West; there just aren't that many points in the pack. Your vulnerable partner, however, must be telling the truth. Even if he has no more than a reasonable heart suit, you should have excellent play for slam, so you surely intend bidding six hearts. Since it can't hurt, we would check for aces en route in the hope of possibly uncovering the values for a grand slam.

Q.4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦A752♥A963♦72♠AJ5
Partner opens the bidding with one diamond. What do you respond?
A.—Take a demerit if you elected to bid two no trump. With all the aces and scant intermediates, your hand is oriented to a suit contract, if a fit is available. Respond one heart, giving partner room to bid one spade if he does not have a heart suit but does have four spades. That way you will find a fit in either major if one exists.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦K10753♥J4♦7♠AJ962
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♦ Pass 1♥ Pass
2NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?

A.—It appears that your side does not have the values for slam, but don't give up on this and yet. Bid three clubs. If partner has a strong fit for one of your suits and prime values, he will probably make a slam-going move, which you will happily accept. If not, you can still settle in three no trump.

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♦Q952♥A94♦Q5♠AQ62
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♦ Dble. Rdbld. 2♦
4♦ Pass ?
What action do you take?

A.—You have asked partner for the right of way and he has refused to give it to you. The only explanation can be that he has a long, strong spade suit and a very unbalanced hand. An accountant might settle for a sure profit and pass, but for our 2NT Pass 3♦ Pass

3NT Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Since you have a full opening bid opposite a partner who has shown a 19-20 point balanced hand, you surely want to be in slam. It is only a question of where to play the hand. For the moment, you need do no more than complete the picture of your hand. Bid four diamonds. Since you took partner out of a game contract, this bid is forcing, and your next move will depend on how partner reacts.

'No better way to lose pounds and inches' — Mary Anne Paschal

The radiant beauty of a slender figure, dramatically illustrated here by Mary Anne Paschal, undoubtedly is the most obvious advantage you'll derive from losing unwanted weight at Pat Walker's. Improved appearance, however, is only part of the story: Ms. Paschal cites other benefits:

"[More than a year ago] I completed my prescribed number of treatments, losing 22 pounds and 45 inches. Since then I have easily maintained the loss of pounds and my newly proportioned figure by following the Pat Walker way of eating sensibly, a plan I intend to continue for life.

"There are absolutely no gimmicks, no calorie counting, no carbohydrate counting, no special foods — thus enabling the patron to continue on her own to manage her weight forever. Two important additional benefits are the renewed energy for zestful living and the uplifted spirit as the 'new you' emerges. . . . In my opinion there is no better way to lose excess pounds and inches.

- Reduce with dignity
- Pat Walker's is not a gym, spa or health club. Rather it is an elegantly decorated salon in which you can shape your figure pleasantly and privately — without stringent diets or strenuous exercises. And you'll enjoy:
- a proven program of weight reduction
 - safe passive exercise
 - a personalized program to meet your needs
 - guidance from trained professional counselors

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am a normal, 24-year-old man who happens to love snakes. I have a six-foot boa constrictor who is a wonderful pet. Nellie was born in captivity so she isn't dangerous, but whenever I take her out for an airing, most people freak out, call the police, and demand that I be locked up!

I never let Nellie out of my sight, so she can't possibly harm anyone, but when people see Nellie curled affectionately around my neck they practically go into shock.

Abby, everybody I know reads your columns, so please say a few kind words about snakes. They make ideal pets. They don't bark, shed hair, or have to be walked. And they eat only once a month.

It's a shame that most people hate snakes without ever having met one. How did snakes get such a bad name in the first place? And, by the way, please tell your readers that a boa constrictor is non-poisonous. It kills by STRANGLING its victim. Thank you.

SNAKE LOVER

DEAR LOVER: Snakes got a "bad name" when the first one slithered around in the Garden of Eden. You are right when you say that most people hate snakes without ever having met one. Including me. And I'd just as soon leave it that way.

DEAR ABBY: I work at a small community drive-through bank. There are just two of us girls working here in a tiny room. Much of the day there is so little activity that we try to find something to do to keep from being bored to death.

We've tried sewing, reading, writing personal letters and talking to each other, but our days are 8½ hours long, and we're still bored.

Do you think it would be okay if we asked our boss if we could bring in a portable TV to watch when we're not busy? This boredom is about to drive us both up a wall.

TWO BORED GIRLS

DEAR BORED: Tell your boss how much free time you have and ask if he has some odd jobs to fill your idle hours. If he has none, ask if he would have any objections to your bringing in a TV.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 62, and this is my first letter to Dear Abby. To get right to my problem, how can a mother get her grown, married children to pay back the money they borrowed?

One daughter left home as a teenager to live with the "flower children" in San Francisco. Over the years she has borrowed over $1,000 from me!

One of my sons owes me $2,000. He is well-off now and could pay it back, but he ignores the debt as though it didn't exist.

Another son was always hitting me up for a few hundred dollars at a time. I never kept track of what it amounts to, but he also pays no attention to the debt. I am not destitute, but I could use the money, and these kids can pay me now without hurting.

A mother can't sue her own kids, but I am really disgusted with this situation. Any advice?

DEAR SOFT: Write them each a letter and remind them of their debts. If they ignore your letters, write again. And again. And again.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SECOND TIME AROUND": Marriage is like the Army. Everybody complains about it, but a surprising number re-enlist!

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet: "How To Be Popular. You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Rock Lobster Good Diet Food Claims Cooking Expert

By TOM HOGUE
AP Wire and Food Writer

Weight watching is one of my pet dislikes, but like so many of us, I find it a constant struggle to keep the pounds within bounds.

This is especially difficult when one writes about gourmet foods and has to sample all sorts of goodies. If only they weren't blanketed with those rich sauces!

Seafood is generally low in calories and I was pleased to learn recently that rock lobster, at 32 calories an ounce, is one of the least fattening. It packs about half the caloric punch of your average hamburger.

Rock lobster does not have the big claws of the American crustaceans — which we call Maine lobsters — despite the fact that about two-thirds of them come from Canada. Some people call them clawless lobsters crayfish, which also is wrong since the latter live in fresh water.

What the rock lobster does have is a large tail packed with a solid piece of white meat. Only the tails are frozen and exported to this country. What they do with the rest of the crustacean, I do not know.

Rock lobsters can be found in South African waters, off Southern California and Mexico, in the Mediterranean and near Australia.

Seafood buffs tell me the South African variety is preferable because it comes from the coldest waters, the Benguela current, an icy stream which originates in Antarctica. The colder the water the better the texture of the meat, they say.

There are many non-fattening ways of preparing rock lobster. Mixed with diced celery, it can be used to stuff tomatoes. Combined with cottage cheese and hard-boiled eggs, it makes a nice salad. But if you prefer it hot, try this recipe for Lobster Continental.

20 oz. boiled lobster tail
2 pkgs. (10 oz. each) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and squeezed
Salt, pepper, onion and garlic powders
8 oz. cottage cheese
1 beef bouillon cube dissolved in 4 oz. water
½ cup tomato juice
1 cup fresh sliced mushrooms
Dice lobster meat in bowl. Season spinach with salt, pepper, onion and garlic powders. Divide spinach into 4 scallop shells. Spoon lobster in equal parts over spinach mixture. In saucepan, stir cottage cheese, bouillon and tomato juice together. Add mushrooms, stir over low heat till sauce bubbles. Spoon sauce over lobster in shells. Bake in 350-degree oven 10 minutes or till hot. Serves 4.

Mix, Match Dishes Fashionable Again

NEW YORK (Special) — A matching set of china is generally considered essential to the well-appointed table. Only the artistic, the eccentric and the most secure hostesses have dared to differ.

This wasn't always the case, says Ann Winfield, consumer adviser. Back in the 1930s a colorful and then highly avant garde table could be set with Fiesta dinnerware, ironstone in brilliant and assorted hues that is now coveted by collectors.

Fiesta caught on quickly, so did its less expensive version, Harlequinware. Harlequin, like Fiesta, was born in 1936 and its simple lines and bright colors soon graced many a table throughout the nation.

Harlequin has now returned. Its blue, green, yellow and dusty rose pieces can be used in random fashion for matched (or unmatched) sets. For example, a breakfast setting can be all yellow, yellow or blue or yellow or green. For tea, you might just want to use the dusty rose pieces.

Hunt Elementary PTA will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the school cafeteria. State Representative Froy Salinas will speak at the meeting.

Lubbock City Council PTA has announced a schedule of programs for the coming year. The meetings are designed primarily for PTA officers and principals, but all interested persons are welcome.

The group will meet at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Municipal Garden and Arts Center, 4215 University Ave. The topic will be programs in the Lubbock Independent School District. Representatives from Iles, Ballenger, Dunbar/Struggs and Lubbock High will discuss features of the innovative new educational programs at their schools.

Oct. 23, Capt. Cox from the Juvenile Division of the Lubbock Police Department and Leota Matthew from LISD Central Office will discuss juvenile crime.

Caprook Chapter of National Secretaries Association will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, 14th Street and Avenue K. Dr. Glynnia Dodd from Wayland Baptist College will be the guest speaker and the 1979 scholarship recipients will be presented.

The association will present the 1979 scholarship winners at the meeting. Those recipients are Teresa Gail Calhoun, a student at Wayland Baptist College, and Leslie Moore, a student at Texas Tech University. Each will receive a $150 scholarship at the meeting.

Any secretary interested in becoming a part of this organization should contact Peggy Wright at the Chamber of Commerce for more information.

Community Concerts Seeks New Members

Lubbock Community Concerts Association is conducting its second annual membership drive for the 1979-80 season through Sept. 24.

Through membership in the association, concert-goers can enjoy four concerts during the course of the year by outstanding artists.

Scheduled to appear this year are the Glinka Chorus of Leningrad; Beverly Wolff, mezzo-soprano; Leonard Pennario, pianist, and the New York Harp Ensemble.

Individual memberships are $15. Students may join for $8. Family plan memberships are available at $40 — which entitles a family to attend the full program of concerts.

The membership committee consists of Dr. Ruth Holmes, Mrs. Roy Sheffield, Mrs. J.P. Kenney, Ronald Herrin and Eugene Johnson.

To join the Community Concert Association or to obtain more information, interested persons may contact one of these committee members or write to Lubbock Community Concerts, 3406 53rd St., Lubbock, Tx. 79413.

Many Teachers Still On Strike

By The Associated Press
A circuit judge was asked today to order Detroit's 12,000 teachers back to work and end a week-long strike that has left 100,000 students. It is the biggest strike among walkouts in 10 states that are disrupting classes for nearly 750,000 students.

In San Francisco, Mayor Diane Feinstein met Sunday in marathon negotiating sessions with representatives of some 3,000 teachers, but no school was scheduled for 60,000 students today as that strike continued into its second week.

With more than 30,000 teachers off the job across the country, lawyers for the Detroit school board and the Detroit Federation of Teachers presented arguments before Wayne County Circuit Judge Patrick Duggan on the board's attempt to get a temporary restraining order to halt the strike.

Michigan remained the hardest-hit by the school strikes, with 18,700 teachers still out in 15 separate disputes involving 312,000 students.

Elsewhere, negotiators for Paterson, N.J., teachers, bused from jail to contract talks, reached a tentative settlement with their school board.

Teachers in western Pennsylvania's New Castle district ratified a new two-year contract Sunday, said the state Education Association, while teachers in Ringgold and Union City walked out.

And tentative agreements were reached in three Illinois school districts — East Maine Elementary, McHenry County and Springfield, but teachers were manning picket lines in seven districts.

In Indianapolis, where a judge ordered teachers to return to class and the school board to find the money to give them a 7 percent raise, school board officials said Sunday they had not found the money and teachers said they were not going to work without a contract.

Some 21 teachers in Woodbridge, N.J., are to go to court Tuesday following their arrest last week for refusing to obey a court order to return to work.

Negotiators for the 1,700 teachers in Paterson were jailed Friday for refusing to obey a back to work order.

Buses took them from detention centers to the negotiations before the settlement was reached Sunday.

There was no word on the details of the settlement. Samuel Ranhand, a state-appointed mediator, said "money was the issue," and a ratification vote was to be taken today.

Solons Debate '80 Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today began debating a binding 1980 budget, with the Budget Committee chairman, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, challenging his colleagues to stand by their anti-spending rhetoric of last spring.

The Maine Democrat described the 1980 target budget, approved last May, as the "most thoroughly considered and stringent budget in history." He said it responded to the nation's need for spending restraint to control inflation and the public demand for smaller federal deficits.

"These needs and the goal of balanced budgets have not changed in 100 days," Muskie said. "The country's watching to see if we stand by that commitment."

The House also began consideration of the 1980 budget today.

Both the House and Senate budget committees are recommending higher spending and a bigger budget deficit than Congress approved tentatively last May amid a wave of anti-spending rhetoric.

The two committees blame the ballooning budget largely on higher-than-expected inflation and the economic downturn, which are increasing the costs of operating the government.

The proposed budgets, however, also contain more money for energy and defense than was included in last May's target budget.

Despite the higher totals, Rep. Robert N. Giarmo, D-Conn., the House Budget Committee chairman, said his panel's proposed spending package is still "a tight budget, which continues our policy of spending restraint and reaffirms our commitment to fighting inflation."

Congress must also decide the politically touchy issue of defense spending, President Carter, seeking Senate support for the strategic arms limitation treaty, is recommending higher levels than either the House or Senate committee.

On Saturday, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd strongly endorsed Carter's call for 3 percent "real" growth in the defense budget, after inflation is deducted.

The West Virginia Democrat said hearings on SALT II have been a "rude awakening" to him about the need to modernize U.S. weapons systems. "There is a consensus around here that there has to be a 3 percent increase," he said.

The House Budget Committee is proposing $548.7 billion in total spending for fiscal 1980, which starts Oct. 1, compared to $542.7 billion recommended by the Senate budget writers. In last May's target budget, spending was set at $532 billion.

The figures are also up for the deficit, which Congress vowed to cut substantially in fiscal 1980 en route to a balanced federal budget in fiscal 1981.

Last week, sparring over the red ink would be reduced from more than $30 billion this year to $23 billion in fiscal 1980. However, the House committee now projects a $29.2 billion deficit and the Senate panel puts the figure at $28 billion.

Meanwhile, House Republican leaders are charging that the Democrats have failed to control spending and are ignoring the need to cut taxes to stem the recession.

The GOP plans to push an alternative budget, containing a $20 billion tax cut and a deficit trimmed to $20 billion. The Republicans also propose slashing spending to $528 billion, but they decline to say where the cuts would be made.

Last week, sparring over the budget began in the Senate, where the Budget Committee pressed its demand that seven committees achieve $4 billion in savings included in last May's target budget but so far not achieved.

In a compromise with Senate Democratic leaders, Muskie, the Budget Committee chairman, agreed to scale down the amount of expected savings to $3.6 billion and give the committees until Nov. 1 to achieve them.

In other congressional action, House and Senate energy conferees were meeting today to continue their attempts to resolve differences over a standby gasoline rationing plan.

The negotiators deadlocked last week on the issue of whether Congress should have veto power over the rationing plan after the president drafts it but well before its use. Senate conferees favor this veto but House negotiators say it would needlessly tie the president's hands.

The conferees have already agreed to give Congress a one-house veto over rationing when the president moves to impose it during a shortage.

California Fires Out Of Control

on Friday," said Jeff Schenkel, a spokesman for the air quality agency.

On the other hand, the wind was expected to increase air pollution in some areas — especially the coastal region, metropolitan area and inland valleys.

Meanwhile, orders closing the Angeles, Los Padres, Cleveland and San Bernardino National Forests were issued during the weekend because of extreme fire hazard.

Only one of the major fires, the Pinecrest blaze which at one time threatened the radio and television transmitters serving Southern California atop mile-high Mount Wilson, was expected to be under control today. After charring nearly 3,000 acres of valuable watershed since Tuesday, it was contained Sunday night.

Farther south, San Diego County's most destructive brush fire in decades was brought under control after seven hours Saturday, but ocean breezes caused flare-ups Sunday that kept more than 100 firefighters busy. Seven homes were destroyed and the fire was halted a half mile from Torrey Pines High School.

Some 8,000 acres were charred from the blaze that started at Black Mountain and swept through the Rancho Penasquitos area. Damage was estimated at more than $2 million, according to fire authorities.

Six other brush fires in the San Diego area left up to 50,000 homes and businesses without electricity Sunday.

Meanwhile, Oregon firefighters controlled three forest fires in the southern part of the state after the blazes had charred 1,800 acres. The largest fire, in the Winema National Forest about 30 miles north of Klamath Falls, burned 1,150 acres.

Other California fires raged in:

- Hacienda Heights, a suburb east of Los Angeles, where several homes were scorched by flames coming within 40 feet of the structures in a 600-acre blaze that remained out of control after sundown.
- Angeles National Forest, where firefighters were making a stand today in hopes of preventing the out-of-control 20,000-acre Sage fire, 30 miles northeast of downtown Los Angeles, from jumping the Angeles Crest Highway which cuts through the San Gabriel Mountains.
- Cleveland National Forest near Corona where Riverside County and state firefighters battled a 3,700-acre blaze. Three structures were damaged and control was not expected before Wednesday.

Senate Panel Alarmed By Pollution Dangers

winter "if the weather does not get cold."

However, he cautioned congressmen against being too optimistic that prices will decline.

In energy developments over the weekend:

- The Senate Governmental Affairs Committee said a major international effort to produce synthetic fuels will contribute to increased levels of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere that could cause dangerous climatic changes.
- The Energy Action Educational Foundation, a consumer group, said decontrol of domestic oil prices will increase revenues of the 23 largest oil companies almost $4 billion a year and boost the value of untapped oil reserves by more than $300 billion.
- The Office of Management and Budget issued a report criticizing the Department of Energy for allegedly creating public confusion, denying citizens the chance to comment on regulations and creating an artificial fuel shortage for truckers and barge operators in its efforts to insure supplies for farmers, food shippers and mass transit.
- The Senate panel, reporting on a July 30 scientific symposium, said large-scale synthetic fuels production alone would not significantly affect carbon dioxide concentrations.
- But it said massive development of synthetic fuels, "coupled with continued emphasis on traditional fossil sources, may have severe climatic consequences."
- Synthetic fuels produce more than twice the carbon dioxide emissions of natural gas, 1.7 times the emissions of oil and 1.5 times the emissions given off by coal, the committee reported.
- Some scientists fear increased carbon dioxide concentrations will produce the so-called greenhouse effect and cause global temperatures to rise, with resultant changes in weather, ocean currents and sea levels, the committee reported.
- Energy Action's figures on the impact of decontrol of domestic crude oil prices were obtained by comparing controlled prices, averaging $10.24 per barrel in 1978, with world oil prices of about $20 per barrel.

President Carter has ordered the gradual lifting of domestic price controls over the next two years, which would raise domestic prices to world levels and thus encourage increased domestic production.

Energy Action says the decontrol would represent "some of the largest income transfers to individual private corporations ever accomplished by a single act of a government official."

An American Petroleum Institute spokesman, Mike Waters, said the consumer group "totally overlooks the purpose of decontrol."

"Our national objective is to reduce our reliance on uncertain foreign sources of crude oil," Waters said, adding, "The plain fact is that reserves left in the ground won't help us cut imports, and additional capital is essential to achieve this goal."

Meanwhile, the Office of Management and Budget says the Energy Department is hastily issuing poorly analyzed regulations that have grown into an error-filled mess.

The report covers all Cabinet departments and was aimed at determining their compliance with Carter's orders to make federal regulations easier to read, more open to public comment and more thoroughly analyzed.

Overall results were mixed; the Energy Department drew the strongest criticism and the Department of Transportation was lauded for its efforts.

The report said the Energy Department has been "less than satisfactory" at allowing public comment on regulation of fuel prices and allocation. It also said the department's analysis of the impact of its rules was not satisfactory.

"There is a lack of structure and continuity" in the department's regulations, the report added.

Some 21 teachers in Woodbridge, N.J., are to go to court Tuesday following their arrest last week for refusing to obey a court order to return to work.

Negotiators for the 1,700 teachers in Paterson were jailed Friday for refusing to obey a back to work order.

Food Shortages Follow Storm

By The Associated Press
Residents of Mississippi and Alabama coastal communities prayed in darkened churches and Louisiana's "jambalaya king" dished out his specialty for the survivors of Hurricane Frederic while the work of cleaning up the devastation went on.

Food was running short for some victims of last week's storm.

About 5,000 people mobbed a downtown food stamp office in Mobile, Ala., today, forcing police to close the entire operation.

"We dispersed the crowd with bullhorns," said police Capt. Walter Milne. "We're closing the food stamp office until we can set up other distribution points."

In Pascagoula, Miss., more than 1,000 people poured into the Jackson County fairgrounds Sunday to pick up emergency food stamps. Welfare officials turned hundreds away, saying they could process only 300 applications a day.

In the meantime, federal officials said today it probably would be two months before a dollar amount could be put on the damage caused by last week's storm.

The Mobile County, Ala., Civil Defense office estimated Sunday that the hurricane had caused $1.25 billion damage in the county.

While most fishing boats along the Mississippi Gulf Coast escaped to inland waters before the storm, there was heavy damage to seafood factories and docks.

"I know it's going to hurt us because first of all we can't produce, and we're still in the middle of shrimp season," said Billy Gollot, co-owner of a seafood firm in Biloxi, Miss.

In Hollingers Island, Ala., a business owner painted on the wreckage of a store: "Southerners die hard. We'll be back."

"Freddie, hell! It had to be a woman!" someone added below.

Not far away, an ambulance took Hattie Pendarvis to the hospital. Her husband Walter, 84, said she couldn't take it any more.

"All the stuff rotted in the freezer," he said as he looked at the splintered wreck of the oak he had planted 46 years ago. "There was no air conditioning at night."

The storm hit the Gulf Coast from Florida to Louisiana on Wednesday, driving 130-mph winds into homes and businesses before moving north. The trip over land cost the storm its brutal winds, but it packed enough rain to flood parts of Ohio and Pennsylvania. About a dozen people were killed.

Power was cut in many communities that night, and work continued Sunday to restore electricity to hundreds of homes.

Mississippi Gov. Cliff Finch announced a $2 million program to put the jobless and disadvantaged to work.

There was no word on the details of the settlement. Samuel Ranhand, a state-appointed mediator, said "money was the issue," and a ratification vote was to be taken today.

Meanwhile, strikes continued in Alabama, Ohio, Louisiana and Washington.

Gold Soars In London

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold hit an all-time high of $351.50 an ounce in London today, a jump of nearly $7 from the closing price Friday. The precious metal then settled back a bit in morning trading, but the price hovered around $350 an ounce.

The dollar gained more than four cents against the British pound, but was generally lower against other major world currencies.

Gold, traditionally used by investors as a hedge against inflation, has been increasing steadily in value and setting new record prices week after week.

It traded at $351.50 in early trading in London, up from $344.875 when the market closed Friday. Later, the price fell a bit to $349.375, still ahead $4.50 from Friday.

In Zurich, the early price for gold was $350.375, up nearly $6 from Friday's close of $344.50.

The previous all-time high for gold was $345.80 an ounce hit during trading in London last Friday.

The British pound dropped sharply against the dollar in early trading in London, prompting one dealer to speculate: "The pound could take a bath today." It cost $2.1415 to buy a pound today, compared to $2.1855 late Friday.

Rhodesian Faction Slaps British Plan

LONDON (AP) — The opposing parties at the Zimbabwe Rhodesian peace conference opened their second week of talks today in search of a constitutional settlement that will end seven years of war.

Whites in the Zimbabwe Rhodesian government delegation were furious about a British-proposed constitution that would take more power from them and vowed to fight it.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington, who opened the talks a week ago, has included the question of establishment of a new security force and who will control it in the debate at the guerrillas' insistence.

But on Sunday, during the weekend recess, Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa declared he will not discuss the army question, and observers said Carrington may have trouble keeping Muzorewa and his delegation from Salisbury at the negotiating table.

The delegates were to have begun debate Friday on a British draft constitution. But the debate was stalled because the guerrillas offered their plan and the Salisbury government offered its present constitution, which gives the whites 28 of the 100 seats in Parliament and which the guerrillas say is a facade to enable the whites to retain power behind a black government.

The guerrilla draft gives Zimbabwe Rhodesia's 230,000 whites no parliamentary seats, and stipulates that current top commanders, judges and other officials — all whites — must quit before independence.

Muzorewa already has troubles with his delegation over the British proposal to strip power in his government from the white minority, which refused to turn over power to Muzorewa until it had that power to protect its interests.

Ian Smith, Muzorewa's predecessor and a member of Muzorewa's delegation here representing Zimbabwe Rhodesia's whites, said he will fight Carrington's proposals, which allows whites some special parliamentary seats, but removes their power to veto constitutional change.

Cuban Government Frees Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Americans held in Cuban prisons since the mid-1960s were released today and were to be flown to Miami later in the day, the State Department said.

In announcing the release of the four Americans, State Department officials denied that there was a "package deal" involving the release last week of four Puerto Rican terrorists from U.S. prisons.

The Americans were identified as Larry Lunt, sentenced to 30 years in 1965 for espionage; Juan Tur, sentenced to 30 years for "counter-revolutionary activities" in 1963; Everett Jackson, sentenced to 30 years for espionage in 1967; and Claudio Rodriguez Morales, sentenced to 30 years in 1966 for smuggling people out of Cuba.

The four Americans were to be flown by a U.S. government-chartered airplane to Miami and were scheduled to arrive about 5 p.m. CDT.

For many months, Cuban President Fidel Castro has publicly offered to release the four if the United States released the four Puerto Ricans. Three of the Puerto Ricans were involved in the 1954 shooting of five congressmen from the gallery of the House of Representatives and the fourth was involved in an attempt to assassinate President Harry S. Truman in 1950.

President Carter granted clemency to the Puerto Ricans two weeks ago and they were released from prison last Monday.

But State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said "there was no package deal" involving the release of the Puerto Ricans, although he acknowledged that the Carter administration was aware of Castro's offer when it decided to release the Puerto Ricans.

The spokesman said he did not have home addresses for any of the four. But he said Lunt is listed as a Wyoming resident, Tur has relatives in New Jersey, Jackson has relatives in Chicago and California and Morales' relatives are from Mayaguez, Puerto Rico.

Other reports have indicated that Lunt is from Saratoga, Wyo.; Tur from Tampa, Fla.; Jackson from Los Angeles and Morales from Mayaguez.

Crime Line's Success Continues

By DAVE KNAPP
A-J Executive Editor

Rewards totaling $1,500 are being offered in four burglary cases and one armed robbery incident this week by Crime Line Inc., which continues to rack up impressive statistics in a citywide anti-crime battle.

Det. Sgt. Doyle Nelson, who heads the Crime Line operation at the Lubbock Police Department, said the five-month-old program now has been successful in cracking 63 felonies, resulting in the arrest of 44 suspects.

In addition, Nelson said, $140,956 in stolen property has been recovered in the course of the investigations and cash rewards amounting to $7,100 have been paid to informants.

The program now is being hailed as the most successful of its kind in the nation.

Persons having information regarding cases published in The Avalanche-Journal every Monday need only call the Crime Line hotline, 741-1000, and give the information to detectives.

Anonymity is guaranteed at all times. All dealings with officers are by code number only. The number is assigned on the initial call. All rewards are paid in cash.

Citizen response has been good. Many decline rewards.

Last week tips cleared 15 soft drink machine burglaries although no rewards had been posted in the cases.

This week, a $300 reward is being offered for information concerning an armed robbery of a Seven-Eleven store at 2318 19th St. The incident occurred at 1:30 a.m. on Sept. 13, when a suspect entered the business through the south main entrance, withdrew a medium-watch and $155 in cash. Total loss was estimated at $1,760.

Items valued at $1,255 were stolen in a burglary on Sept. 8 at 2433 23rd St. (rear). Taken were a 19-inch Panasonic television set (color), several men's suits (size 38 regular), a Cobra quartz cigarette lighter (white gold, with inscription "Love Joan"), a man's watch (Texas Instruments, white gold digital), approximately 150 bicentennial quarters, a brown leather shaving kit, 150 business checks for Globe Life and Accident Co.

(account 11131772-00-0652875), 125 personal checks (account 111306050-21-6784-5), one set of car keys, a man's bracelet (heavy silver, handmade), and 10 coral stones with bearclaw insignia inside.

On Sept. 6, intruders broke a window to gain entry into 5208 34th St. Taken were a Sony black and white portable TV set, a large Roto Rooter sewer machine, a small one, a large portable acetone bottle and a small soldering rig. Loss was pegged at $2,524.

A front door was kicked open to gain entry at 2510-A 74th Place on Sept. 7. Stolen were a Sears 12 gauge shotgun, one Remington .32 caliber bolt action single shot rifle, a .12 gauge shotgun (single shot, bolt action), one Home Depot Office unit, an Emerson AM/FM radio, digital clock with wainscot cabinet, and a Polaroid One-Step camera. Loss was figured at $1,025.

Crime Line Inc. is financed entirely by contributions. Tax-free donations may be mailed to Crime Line Inc., P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock 79407.

"You're going to see people from all over Texas," Binals said. "I think we're going to make a big success here."

Nuevo Laredo Opens Turf Club To Get Revenue From Texans

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico (UPI) — Officials in Nuevo Laredo see the zealous Texas bettor as an important economic investment that will pay off handsomely. And there are no complaints from the investors either.

Tamaulipas state governor Mariano Gonzalez Gutierrez officially opened the Laredo Turf Club during the weekend and let hundreds of Texans flow inside to lay down their money in the Las Vegas-style "sports book."

Ben Lynch of Galveston was the first at the windows, placing $22 on the first race at Belmont Park in New York. Lynch said he drove nearly 400 miles to make the bet.

"I'll be coming here pretty regular," said Lynch, an oilfield worker who also frequents pari-mutuel horse tracks in western Louisiana.

Eventually the club will accept bets on horse races at two dozen tracks in the United States and Mexico, Mexican soccer and professional football, basketball and baseball games.

The book is in a modern two-story building, and has a bar, restaurant and efficient betting rows. At one end of the main room the tellers take bets and at the other end tellers pay off. Behind the ticket sellers, large boards display the names of horses and races at each track being handled.

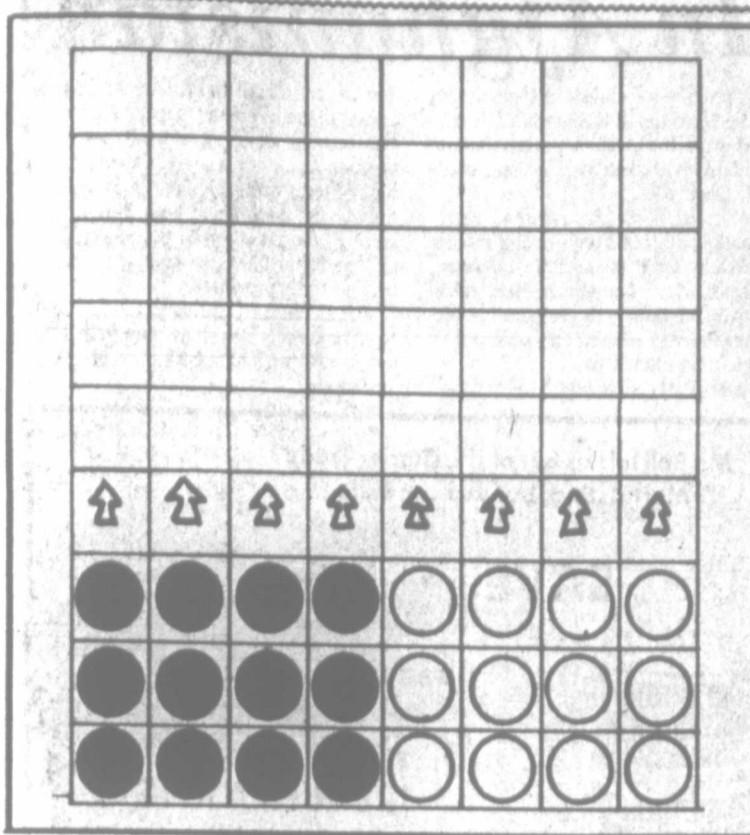

Until now, Juarez has been the closest pari-mutuel horseracing for most of west Texas, but it is a 600-mile desolate drive from south Texas.

Although Texans spend millions of dollars each year attending horse races in neighboring states, there is no legal betting in the state. Law enforcement officers, however, have said $1 billion is wagered on pro football games alone in Texas.

Luis Vinals, director of the Mexican corporation which operates the book and plans to open a horse-dog track in Nuevo Laredo next May, was excited about the first day's reception Saturday.

"I'm very pleased," he said. "We have the main representatives of the unions and government here. This is the best chance Nuevo Laredo and Laredo (Texas) have ever had to progress. You'll see a big difference in these two cities in the next five years." Officials on both sides of the border were predicting the betting operation and racetrack would be a boon to the tourist business for the two sleepy towns. Officials in both cities were hastily making plans for new hotels and restaurants to accommodate an expected influx of gambling-starved Texans and Mexicans from the northern metropolis of Monterrey.

Shari Describes Fortune Checkers

By SHARI LEWIS

I lost interest in checkers one night in Bali. There was no electricity, so after dinner we couldn't even read, much less watch TV. Our host brought us candles and a checkerboard, and I settled in for a pleasant evening with my husband of two weeks. Was I in for a shock! It seems that my husband had played checkers with his dad every evening from the moment he has been until the day I married him. He was a whiz! He was so far ahead of me that it was just no fun at all.

Since then, the only checker game I enjoy is this game of pure chance called Fortune Checkers.

On tiny slips of paper (like strips in fortune cookies) write lots of different instructions. Here are some examples:

- Move one checker one square ahead.
- Move one checker one square back.
- Move two checkers two squares ahead.
- Move one checker three squares ahead.
- Don't do a thing. You've lost your turn! Sorry!
- You may take one checker off the board now! Congratulations!

—All your checkers go back to their starting position. Whoops!

Place these fortune slips into a bag or box and mix 'em up.

Now on a checkerboard, line up all of the checkers as shown in the picture. (The blacks on one side, the reds on the other.)

You and your pal each take a fortune slip from the bag and do exactly what it says on the paper.

In this game you can move your men forward or backward, playing every single square (no jumping allowed). What you want to do is move all your checkers forward to the end of the board, and then off the board!

The first player to have all his or her checkers off the board is the winner.

Today's Brain Twister: How can you prove to your friends that you're not a liar, even though you say, "I am a liar?" (Look for the answer in tomorrow's Kids-Only Club column.)

size brown handle pocket knife and demanded money. The attendant gave the intruder $75 she was holding in her hand. The suspect was described as a black male, 18 to 35 years old, short and thin built, with black hair, brown eyes and wearing a black watch on his right wrist. The attendant said he also had a medium length Afro hair style, was clean shaven and wearing a plaid, multi-colored shirt and blue trousers.

Information is needed in the following burglary cases with $300 in rewards being posted in each.

On Sept. 8, intruders entered through a window and removed from 1709 E. 28th St. the following items: a Magnavox color television set, a Silver-tone record player, 30 yards of assorted color material, two king-size bedspreads, one white, three-tier jewelry box with assorted jewelry, one Seiko woman's

Parents Sue Program Over Death Of Sons

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Outward Bound, a rugged outdoor program, has been sued for $2 million in the deaths of two men who drowned on a kayak trip into Mexico's Sea of Cortez.

The suit was filed Friday in U.S. District Court in Albuquerque, N.M., against Southwest Outward Bound, based in Santa Fe., by George Schwimmer, 48, of Raleigh, and Delight Breidegam, of Kutztown, Pa., in the January 1978 deaths of their sons. David Schwimmer, 18, and Tim Breidegam, 21, drowned while taking the school's ocean-going kayaking course. The suit contends the school was negligent; its instructors, inept; and search-and-rescue operations, inadequate.

Hard-Line Communist Takes Over In Afghanistan

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Hafizullah Amin, Afghanistan's hard-line communist prime minister and secret police boss, took over as president and chief of the ruling party from Nur Mohammed Taraki, and reports today indicated he might have staged a brief but bloody coup in the former palace.

Radio Afghanistan reported the ultra-leftward power shift Sunday, and said Taraki resigned all his posts on health grounds. But Taraki looked fit in Moscow last week en route home from the Havana non-aligned meeting, and although he was fond of TV appearances did not broadcast his resignation.

Diplomatic sources said this immediately triggered reports in Kabul, the Afghan capital, that Taraki was forced out by Amin and possibly even killed or wounded since his whereabouts were unknown. The sources said troops and tanks were guarding key ministries and the Radio Afghanistan complex.

The state radio added to the speculation by reporting Air Force Maj. Syed Daoud Tarun, who often served as Taraki's submachine gun-toting bodyguard, was killed Friday along with three others in the former royal Arg Palace, now the president's official residence called the People's House.

The three were not named, but an informed source in New Delhi who asked to remain anonymous, said four pro-Taraki men were killed in Kabul the same day. They were identified as: Interior Minister Col. Aslam Watanjar, Frontier Affairs Minister Sheirjan Mazdooryar, Communications Minister Sayed Mohammed Golabzoi and Public Works Minister Dastagir Panjsheri.

Afghanistan, bordered on the north by Russia, the west by Iran and the east by Pakistan, is currently embroiled in a bloody civil war and torn by an internal split in the ruling Khalq (People's) Party.

The 50-year-old Amin, long-considered more radical than the 62-year-old Taraki and the real strongman in pro-Soviet Afghan government, is expected to step up the fight against rightist Moslem rebels who are reported to have seized about half the mountainous nation in their war against what they call the "Godless" Marxist regime in Kabul, the capital.

The Kremlin reportedly has funneled large supplies of weapons and thousands of military advisers into Afghanistan to aid the government against the rebels.

Amin, a brilliant but ruthless political strategist, rose to power in a series of shake-ups in the Taraki government that underlined internal squabbling in the Khalq Party on land reform policy and war strategy. Along the way, he removed numerous political opponents and potential rivals.

"When told to take caution, he goes like a tank," an Asian diplomat in Kabul said earlier this month. "Amin has made a mess of the land redistribution program and other reforms close to the heart of the idealistic Khalqis."

Like other Khalq leaders, Amin often evaded questions regarding his political ideology. But his actions, if not his statements, have identified the chunky, self-assured politician as an old-school Marxist whose handling of political rivals has reminded some observers of the Stalinist purges in the Soviet Union.

Amin has protected himself by establishing a wide network of informers and by reorganizing AGSA, the government's feared secret police, under his personal control. His power base lies among a cadre of army and air force officers he personally recruited as military commissar of the then-outlawed Khalq Party before the April 27, 1978 military coup that ousted then-President Mohammed Daoud and installed Taraki as chief of the impoverished, 99 percent Moslem nation.

A former school principal, Amin received a masters degree from Columbia University in New York and attended the University of Wisconsin, where he recently told a news conference he became politically aware by attending "socialist progressive clubs" in the summer of 1958. He claimed U.S. authorities conspired with the Afghan government to invalidate his student visa because of his political activities.

Returning home, he resumed teaching mathematics and physics and ran unsuccessfully for Parliament in 1965 from Paghman, his hometown, 12 miles northwest of Kabul. In 1969, on his second try, he was elected and served four years as a representative.

Khalq Party dissidents have risked torture and death to criticize Amin in a series of underground papers known as "shabnama" or night letters. They have accused Amin of privately profiting from his office, removing party members merely for disagreeing with him, "conspiring" too closely with the Soviets and making his brother the security chief for four northern provinces.

Unique 'Cotton Patch' Draws Acclaim For Concept, Stock

Unique in concept and selection, The Cotton Patch, in Idalou on Hwy. 62/82, affords a most inviting and appreciated shopping experience.

Check some of these highlights that already have gained acclaim for the Cotton Patch since its opening in early July:

- (1) Specializing in cotton, the ownership believes in cotton as a cool, comfortable, superior fiber and purchases accordingly, staying with quality lines and fashion.
- (2) A wide selection of sizes is stocked, with emphasis at this season on the casual look throughout.
- (3) The complete Elizabeth Arden cosmetic line is stocked; in fact The Cotton Patch is said to be one of only five small stores in the nation securing and offering this line!
- (4) An Elizabeth Arden Skin Care Clinic, with the newest look in makeup for fall, is slated Oct. 9, at 7 p.m., and again Oct. 10, at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., at The Cotton Patch. This is your special opportunity, upon appointment, to actually use Elizabeth Arden products to create your own distinctive look. Call for reservations; the class fee is only $5. Call 892-3623, The Cotton Patch in Idalou.

Cosmetics by Elizabeth Arden always are in beautiful taste, and they enable the skin care you can trust.

For personalized makeup and skin analysis, call for appointment, there is no obligation.

The Cotton Patch is owned and actively operated by Janis DeBusk.

"My husband is a cotton farmer, and I believe in this material; it is not only fashionable but is a renewable resource. Living, shopping and producing here in the midst of such a large cotton area, I felt it was high time for a store to really stock and promote cotton; and we buy as much cotton wear for the store as possible while staying with quality lines and fashions," Janis emphasizes.

Dresses, Jeans
Dresses are arriving with such respected labels as Non-Stop, Holiday Dresses, Halston loungewear and lingerie by Her Majesty.

There are 100 per cent cotton jeans in stock, all from "known" manufacturers, together with designer jeans for all ages. Apparel sizes include infants, boys through size 7, girls through 14, pre-teens, juniors and misses.

With all this, isn't it clearly understandable why The Cotton Patch, Hwy. 62/82 in Idalou, has such an enthusiastic and growing customer list from through-

Montgomery Ward Beauty Staff Color Specialists

"We at the Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon, invite you to visit or call us with any of your questions on hair care. (We'll answer as many as possible in our feature articles during the following weeks.)

It is a highly-talented staff, genuinely interested in the customer's satisfaction and fashion, that one finds at the Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon, 50th & Boston, phones 795-8221 and 795-0557.

In its report and helpful hints for this week, attention is directed to "Coloring".

"Many reasons put our customers on the road to coloring their hair. They may want to cover gray, highlight gray or other color, but most of all they want to change from a drabness to brightness.

"If you've never colored, many things should be considered before the actual coloring. First, a patch test is advised to determine if any allergic reaction or sensitivity would occur.

"Next, discuss with us about upkeep on retouching, conditioning and cost. Most of all, how much change are you considering. If you want to lift your natural color a few shades, it can be accomplished with color itself or with one of the many products made especially for lifting.

"When considering a total change of color, it is an excellent idea to try on some wigs, approximately of the same shade you had in mind. Then both of us can help you decide the exact color, shade and highlight.

"If you are a person that doesn't want the monthly retouch, we at Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon have a selection of special hair coloring services. Frostings (usually done every six months) can be done light, medium or heavy, in more of one area than another, as around the face, with a variety of colors depending on the look desired.

"Cap frostings are fine for the shorter length hair, but the longer length is done by a process called 'weaving' and wrapped in foil for processing.

More Ideas Given

"Many of our customers have gray hair and like it. We can suggest several ideas, the most popular being the temporary rinse lasting from one shampoo to another. Again, many do not like the weekly application and prefer the semi-permanent coloring that lasts about four to six weeks. (Semi-permanent coloring also is ideal for customers who are sensitive to peroxide colors.)

One of the most unusual looks for gray is the TRI-coloring, a look showing highlight and depth.

"Browns are another color with which many things can be done. Selective coloring, small amounts of hair (usually around the face) give both highlight and depth, blended with your natural color. Carmelizing is the combination of brown blending with your natural shade."

We cannot over-emphasize the importance of conditioning hair, especially during chemical processing. Treatments help to keep your hair healthy and manageable.

"Color is an area in cosmetology that has unlimited potential in expressing the individual 'you'."

Check further reports and the weekly Monday ads of the Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon on these pages for other helpful hints, of the many services to help one secure the right service at the right price... at Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon in Lubbock.

Business & Industrial Review

'COUNSELORS WHO CARE' — On hand as unquestioned authorities at the Diet Centers in Lubbock are (from left) Connie Dunlap, Deanie Alewine and Sheryl Shields. Check the accompanying story for details including an Open House and the opening of still another Diet Center.

Diet Centers' Weight Loss Program Enable 'Winning At The Losing Game'

"A sensible weight loss program that really works" and attention by "a counselor who cares" aren't these great reasons in themselves to depend upon the Diet Centers in Lubbock, now located in Security Park and on South Indiana, with another opening soon at a Boston address?

In introducing and explaining the Diet Center programs in Lubbock, let us first learn about the counselors heading each of the units. Each of the three counselors became head of her business after personal experience in Diet Center weight loss, becoming "sold" on the program through personal trial. What better proof could there be?

Deanie Alewine heads the 8302 Indiana Diet Center. A native West Texan, Deanie is more recently a 10-year Bryan (Tex.) resident where she attended Texas A & M.

Connie Dunlap is owner of the newest Diet Center, at B-10 Security Park, 3802 Slide Road. Connie is a longtime Lubbock resident, and began her Diet Center program under Deanie.

Sheryl Shields, from Idalou, tells of impending opening of her Diet Center on Oct. 1 at 4211 Boston Ave.

There's a Diet Center near you! (In citing their personal experiences with Diet Center, each of the three counselors relate a personal and measurable weight loss that has remained stabilized. In fact, they report that each probably has lost over 200 pounds during their lifetime in other programs and on their own, what with fad diets, crash diets, etc., but each prefer the Diet Center program because it has worked for them. Each have had special training at the Dietology Training School in Rexburg, Idaho, before opening centers as franchise owners. Each has graduated from the Rexburg school.

Program Defined
 No drugs or shots are involved in the very practical program that features (1) well-balanced diet, (2) individual counseling and (3) daily weigh-in.

A 12-week program most usually is utilized, with 17 to 25 pound loss normal within a six-week period.

Stabilization after weight loss is an important facet of the Diet Center program, it is emphasized.

Diet Centers in Lubbock are open five days a week; no signing of contracts is involved; it is a plan to "live with" pleasantly.

Open House
 To introduce the newest Diet Center, in Security Park, an Open House is slated Sept. 27. Opened for one month, and very much in business at this time, the Open House nevertheless is slated to afford special opportunity for getting acquainted. On that day, one is invited to register, with awards including two 3-week programs free. (You don't have to be present to win.)

For Men, Women, Children
 Some may not realize that Diet Center programs are set up to meet each individual's needs, and that these can be adjusted for folks with special health problems. Counseling is afforded men and children, as well as women.

Finally, and in brief, it is explained that the Diet Center program calls for a well-balanced diet, and the clients will not lose the essential fat on the body, but only the extra adipose fat; the dieters will have all the nutrients necessary to maintain good health while losing adipose fat from the body. At a very, modest price, one may avail herself or himself of daily counseling during the weight loss period, counseling during stabilization, and further aid during later maintenance for a lifetime of weight control.

"With the aid of one of the Diet Centers in Lubbock, you can feel well and if you persevere, in no time at all you'll begin to look as great as you feel!"

Maxey Home Center Announces Benjamin Moore Line Featured

Maxey Home Improvement Center, 120 N. University Ave., is proud to announce that it now features a most representative line of famous Benjamin Moore paints.

Whatever the painting need, for inside, outside, enameled, exterior stains, varnishes, etc., Maxey feels it has a really outstanding offering.

With the large stock of paints now presented, Maxey emphasizes that whatever the color, it can be secured now; custom mixing enables over 1,000 colors.

(In closing out its former paint lines to make ready for the featured Benjamin Moore labels, drastically marked-down prices were posted on the other brands. There still is a small supply of this older stock, and if one is fortunate enough to find the type and color desired, exceptionally low prices are arranged.)

For new beauty, luster, resistance to blistering, alkali and fumes, Benjamin Moore comes through. Whether selection is from MoorGlo latex house and trim paint, MooreGard vinyl-acrylic, exterior paint for wood siding, trim, shakes and shingles, even unglazed brick and asbestos shingles, stucco, cement and cinder blocks, or from Moore's Impervo high-gloss enamel, with its bold, bright, durable, wet-look finish, one cannot go wrong with Benjamin Moore.

"We hope you'll come in real soon to see the paint department now featuring Benjamin Moore paints," is the invitation.

tion from the management and staff at Maxey Home Improvement Center, a ready source for supplies for both handyman and professional.

For remodeling, home improvement, new construction and all, Maxey Home Improvement Center seems to be "designed specifically for your needs," stocking those often hard-to-find items as well as those others rightfully expected in a good building center.

FOR FINEST PAINTS — Ben Romo of Maxey Home Improvement Center calls attention to the Benjamin Moore paint new at the firm but long recognized for its quality features.

Business & Industrial Review

FOR PLEASURE AND ACHIEVEMENT, WITH CERAMICS at the newly-opened shop. Mrs. Hudon recently completed a number of ceramic "banks" for use in the KIND (Kindness in Nature's Defense) program in Lubbock.

Ceramic Country Sets Special Bonus Offer During 'Grand Opening Month'

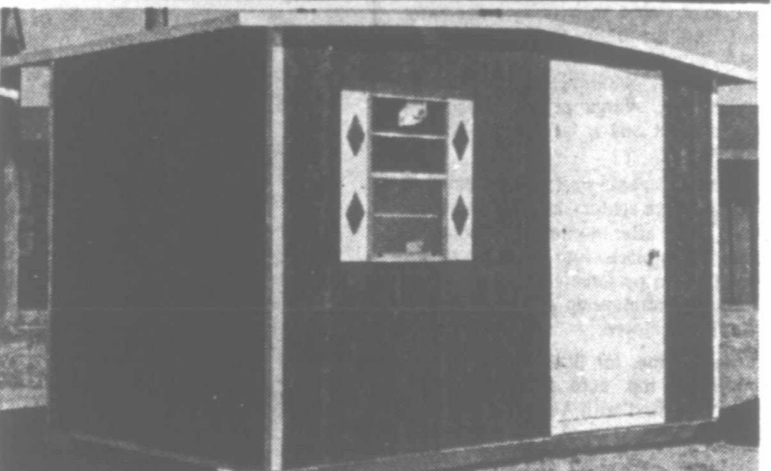

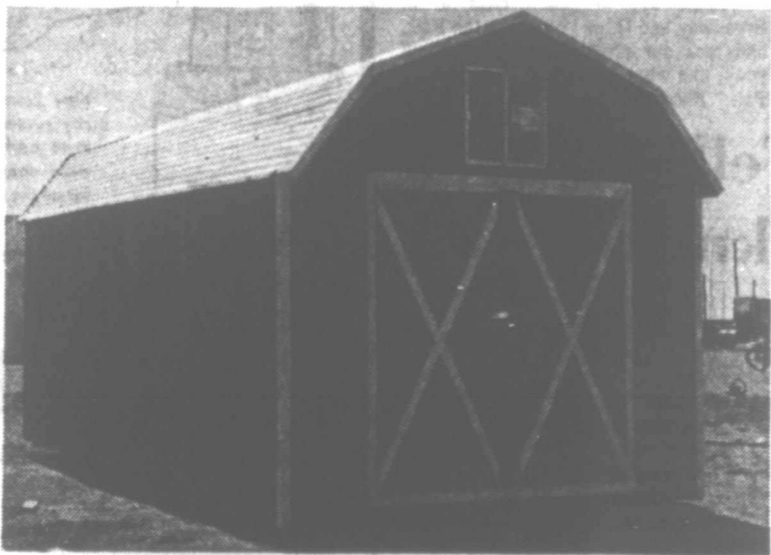

"Ceramic Country," new at 2705-A 28th St., seems to be about the most appropriately named business one could imagine!
With everything in the attractive shop related to ceramics, ease in shopping, selection and craftwork is most noticeable.
Even with Grand Opening underway this month, equally exciting are the classes made available.
For Class Registration
"Call and register now for beginning classes in ceramics... there is no previous experience necessary, and there are no age limits! It could be a whole new experience in pleasure, achievement and even profit."
Specials
During the Grand Opening (throughout September) there is a 10 per cent discount in price on all greenware.

Owner (and founder) Bonnie Hudon has made personal buying trips to eastern states and has secured really distinctive pieces great for gifts and as decor items within one's own home.
Large ceramic items are featured, and it is wisely suggested that one commence now in planning ceramic gifts for Christmas. The classes can be a big advantage.
Greenware, bisque, firing and unfinished and finished wares all are available at Ceramic Country, phone 792-7502. No plaster is stocked.
A kiln has been installed, and custom firing is available, even though the piece might not have been purchased at this store.
However, all tools and supplies necessary for ceramic achievement are stocked at Ceramic Country.

There is plenty of room for classroom work, and the "know how" of Bonnie Hudon in the art can be of key consideration.
A lifelong Lubbock resident, Bonnie Hudon before opening the shop pursued ceramics as a hobby. As time passed, she really got the "ceramic fever" and consequently opened her own shop and has planned classes and all to be a real help and pleasure to others, too.
Hours at Ceramic Country, 2705-A 28th St., are 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays (with extended 6-9 hours Friday), and from 9 until 12 noon on Saturdays.
For new achievement this fall, for holiday preparation, for gifting needs, let Ceramic Country work with you! Remember, call now for details regarding classes; you'll surely want to be included.

Dura' Bilt's Week-Long Sale Affords Special Opportunity

It is a "Pre-Fair Special" that begins today, Monday, at Dura' Bilt Portable Buildings, 6415 Ave. H, just south of the Tahoka traffic circle in south Lubbock,

Every building on the big lot is marked at 10 per cent off throughout this week, through Saturday, Sept. 22.
With already-low prices (tomorrow's buildings at yesterday's prices), this week-long sale enables extraordinary savings.
Another bonus feature is that exceptional selection opportunity is enabled, with over 40 units in stock, from size 6 x 8 to 12 x 24.
So... check the selection, compare the price, note the quality and versatility, and Dura' Bilt surely will be your choice. Early attention is advised to be sure of full selection while at sale pricing.
Locally Built For Savings
"Dura' Bilt Portable Buildings are manufactured locally to better serve you. Whether the need is an office, barn, garage, storage, warehouse, hobby shop, mobil-home add-on or a field office, as example, Dura' Bilt can be the economical and practical answer."
Features include pre-finish masonite exterior that requires no paint or maintenance. It is of best quality and available in various colors.
Strong steel roofing guards against hail.
Exterior grade plywood flooring is utilized, with floor joists on 16-inch center to assure further quality.
Baked-on enamel aluminum trim in lovely colors is another feature.
And rubber closures in the eaves to guard against dust.
Options Available
On the finished building, Dura' Bilt offers 3 1/2-inch rockwool insulation and lovely wood paneling. Many "extras" can be added to assure a building that meets your needs and preferences.
Bank financing is available.
Dura' Bilt also provides delivery of the units.

Business & Industrial Review

Pick Up Pals' Multiple Stock Items, Service Meeting Need

For those interested in new utility and added functionally-attractive accessories for the pickup, Pick Up Pals comes through, but strong!

Supplying pickup needs exclusively, Pick Up Pals has a really "sit up and take notice" stock at its Broadway & Ave. Q location in Lubbock.

Functional and protective accessories for vans, pickups and 4x4's not only are in the attractive showroom there but also will be shown at the firm's booth at the South Plains Fair, beginning Sept. 22 and located in Space K, across from the Commercial Exhibit building at the fairgrounds.

Installation is available, of course, on anything Pick Up Pals sells.

Suggestions Given
Among these items are Pick Up Pals' grill guards (three kinds of guards: plain steel, chrome steel and aluminum); Aero Shield bug deflectors; Extruded and Tred Brite running boards for "everything on the road;" Line-a-Beds (the best thing that ever happened to a pickup truck, protecting and keeping the bed looking like new); Tool and utility boxes by DE, with low, streamlined design, covered continuous hinges, of heavy duty steel construction and with other benefits; Side rails, sun shades, chrome show grills, grill guards, rope hooks, spare tire locks, and more.

There are lowered sun shields for both the mini size and standard trucks.

Bed Liners to fit El Camino units are due to arrive any day. Liners to fit all pickups are now in stock.

Rapid Acceptance
Small wonder we have heard so many favorable comments about Pick Up Pals, the relatively new but well established firm at Broadway & Q.

Opened early this year, this home-owned and home-operated business is said to be Lubbock's only dealer devoted strictly to pickup accessories. Weldon Davis is store manager.

More about the popular Line-a-Bed: Line-a-Bed is the new liner protector for truck beds, vacuum molded as a tight-fitting insert and made from a high-density, extra high molecular weight polyolefin base material. Made of the same high-impact materials that go into crash helmets and football helmets, it is almost impossible to break or stain.

One solid piece covers and protects a pickup floor, headwell, sides and side rails. The Line-a-Bed is often used for auto parts delivery because of its durability!

What a way to protect one's pickup investment! And Pick Up Pals, at Broadway & Q stocks units to fit all import and all U.S. pickups. No long delays to wait for a unit; installation, when desired, most usually can be the same day ordered.

"Anyone who uses a pickup should consider a Line-a-Bed, whether the truck is for business, pleasure or combination. It is one of the few options available that returns your investment.

"If you use the truck for business, the revolutionary liner will return its cost in additional trade-in value, plus you still have the Line-a-Bed to put in your next truck," manager Weldon Davis points out.

"And if the truck is used as a recreational vehicle with a topper as cover, it reduces the danger of noxious fumes from fuel tanks and exhaust, as well as keeping out dust and moisture.

Running Boards
The running boards should come in for equal attention, with such features as construction of brite tread aluminum with skid-resistant surface, appearance of chrome-like finish but one that will not rust or peel, enabling easy entry and protecting the truck body from rock chips and mud splattering. (Front mud guards are included as are mounting brackets and hardware.)

Auxiliary Lighting
Or maybe the need is a bumper; Pick Up Pals keep a full line of bumpers; and a complete line of auxiliary lighting by Hella from Europe.

Grill guards are stocked and recommended, standing up to abuse and still looking good! Made of extruded aluminum, they have more elasticity than most metals and have tensile yield of 46,000 pounds per square inch.

Let Davis and his efficient staff open a whole new area of enjoyment of your pickup, slicking it up, protecting your investment and enabling new convenience... all at a cost likely less than imagined.

"Come by; you can't miss us at Broadway and Q, or visit us at the Fair, and look our products over; we think you'll like what you discover at Pick Up Pals." Phone 747-7098.

Auto Upholstery & Trim Tells Huge Stock Materials, Fine Workmanship

For the finest in all types of auto upholstery and tailor-made seat covers, Auto Upholstery & Trim Co., 1910 Ave. Q, phone 745-6523, invites consideration and comparison.

Said to be unique in the trim business, everything is guaranteed for one year!

Owned by Steve and Elizabeth Varga, the Auto Upholstery & Trim Co. is actively managed by Mrs. Varga.

She emphasizes that only finest in upholstery installations are the rule there, with value foremost.

Large Material Stock
Actually, "the largest stock of auto upholstery material in town" is the claim by the firm, and they take pleasure in showing the patterns and materials available, one seemingly "just for you."

And there is carpeting and vinyl top material, too.

Workmanship Equals
Owning related businesses, the Auto Care Center and Mr. T-Top, these at 2507 Texas Ave., Varga performs quite a service out that quality is more important than ever, what with today's economy need and the desire to "make things last." Whether for complete upholstery jobs, T-Tops, windshields, for sunroof repairs, etc., Varga prides in factory-type product and a factory-type job to satisfy.

A most capable staff is maintained at these car care centers, and even with the really top "after-market" products utilized, Varga places first emphasis on every effort to personally guard the reputation of craftsmanship and integrity the firms have enjoyed.

"Next time, for that upholstery job, convertible top, auto glass, vinyl top, etc., check first with Auto Upholstery & Trim Co., 1910 Ave. Q, phone 745-6523; with Auto Care Center, 2507 Texas, phone 747-3797; or Mr. T-Top, 2507 Texas, phone 747-8784. Don't you deserve the ultimate?"

CARPET DISCOUNTS ASSURED — Carpet City owner Howard Darwin, right, is shown with staffmember Gary Oliver, both of whom know their carpet and make it available at about half what you would expect to pay.

Carpet City Arranges Added Savings In Simplified Sale Ending Wednesday

Already gaining reputation as a carpet source where one can consistently save, Carpet City at 2257 34th St. is conducting an unusual sale through Wednesday of this week.

For these three last days of the sale, all carpet in the big store has been divided, with one group of rolls on the east side, and another group on the west. And... everything on the east side is marked at $4.99 per yard, with the west tier a still modest $5.99!

What better arrangement could be made? How much simpler can a firm make shopping and selection for its customers?

Discount Throughout

Carpet City, a discount store featuring special purchases (factory irregulars and discontinued quantities) was opened June 1 by Howard Darwin, owner, who went into the carpet business after '77 graduation from Texas Tech. Formerly of Brownfield, Howard knows the area and its residents, appreciating their recognition of quality and value.

Special Opportunity

There presently is some very good kitchen carpet in stock, with some that normally sells for $9.95 going at $4.99 for what is left on the rolls. (Carpet City usually receives full rolls from the suppliers, but is glad to cut a roll for particular needs.)

Quantity buying from suppliers is one of the factors enabling the firm's discount policy, Darwin explains.

The firm has its own installation crew, with installations guaranteed for a full year. Installation usually can be made within a day or two of purchase. (Prices quoted in Carpet City advertising are for carpet only.)

Good Choice

A good color and material selection is maintained, and Darwin says, in explaining prices to be expected, that customers can secure carpet there at about one-half suggested retail.

Financing is available, and both MasterCard and Visa are honored.

Carpet City, 2257 34th St., phone 747-9027, is open six days a week, from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 9 until 1 on Saturdays.

The current sale would be a very good time to learn firsthand of the type store Howard Darwin has provided in Carpet City.

(A special room has been arranged for sample showing of finest carpet available on custom order. Yes, Carpet City can order just about anything one could possibly desire in carpet, up to the most expensive available. Carpet City is in business to serve "you," whatever your preference, but always assuring quality and savings.)

Hufstedler GMC Truck Firm Tells Limited-Time Situation

There's no doubt about it: the current model year and the big selection at Hufstedler GMC Truck Co., 1802 Erskine Road in Lubbock, presents some opportunities that never will be duplicated.

There are a few Jimmys and pickups still in stock, before model change, that have the 400 cu. in. V8 motors and are full-time 4-wheel-drive units.

(Neither the 400 engine or the full-time 4-wheel-drive will be available in '80 models, the local dealership reveals.)

More about these units in stock: They have automatic transmissions; most of the Jimmys have 33-gallon gasoline tanks; and the pickups (½-ton short wheelbase) have auxiliary tanks to permit extra long distance between refueling stops.

All full-time 4-wheel drive controls are available to the driver from inside the cab. There is no need to shift into or out of 4-wheel-drive or to get out to lock or unlock front free-wheeling hubs.

Haven't you wanted a Jimmy with its 4-wheelin' adventure, for a long time? Then, now is the time to make that dream a reality. For 4-wheeling touring or trailering, Jimmy offers dependable performance, toughness, comfort and good looks that lasts!

Check the Features

Jimmy, a vehicle to be trusted, has such standard and available features as:

- A chassis with tough side rails and cross members.
- Drop center frame for low body mounting, providing an entry height under 22 inches while maintaining a 74-inch ground clearance.
- Tough transfer case.
- Long, wide, energy-absorbing front leaf and two-stage rear leaf springs for steady, firm support; standard 25-mm front and rear shock absorbers, rear shocks staggered to help control the effect of brake thrust and power hop;
- Brake system computer matched to GVW rating, front disc brakes with wear sensor and finned rear brake drums for efficient cooling;
- Exhaust system compression hangers compensate for expansion and movement;
- Standard heavy-duty, 1.25-inch-diameter front stabilizer bar;
- Power steering that is standard; And more!

Such as the luxury in Jimmy's interior!

And don't forget the exceptional combination that goes out with the model change — the 400 cu. in. V8 full-time 4-wheel drive units. Get one now; Hufstedler makes it possible... at 1802 Erskine Road in Lubbock.

FOR DELIGHTFUL DINING — Whether in Ol' Doc Chumley's or at poolside, both at the Hilton Inn in Lubbock, new experiences in selection from an international cuisine are the rule, never the exception.

Elegant Menu, Decor, Service Highlight Hilton Inn Dining

On ballgame occasions, when entertaining out-of-town guests, when just appreciating finest dining for yourself and family, the Hilton Inn of Lubbock invites you to Ol' Doc Chumley's emporium of tonics, elixirs, libations and palatable delights!

A new and elegant menu is presented, under direction of a new chef with international capabilities.

Ol' Doc Chumley's Restaurant, in the Hilton Inn at 505 Ave. Q, phone 747-0171, is open daily from 5 to 10 p.m.

And there is the Garden Pub bar with entertainment and free hors d'oeuvres.

The menu is truly exciting at the Hilton Inn, and General Manager Alain Pelletier prides in the delicious meals there, noting that testimonials from satisfied customers are available upon request.

Aside from the great food, only top liquors are made available.

Appetizers, Texas treats, salads, wines, Doc's palatable platters, the great steak menu, desserts and beverages... all invite and merit your pleasure and applause at the Hilton Inn!

All meals at Ol' Doc Chumley's are served with Doc's salad bar, a choice of potato and the vegetable of the day.

Meats To Please

The platters include such popular offerings as U.S. top sirloin steak with two giant broiled shrimp, cooked to one's taste; the shrimp Italienne; double pork chop broiled; sauteed trout almonde; Texas pepper steak, Chumley's beef skewer and seafood Newburg.

In the steak menu, select from Texas-size T-bone, Kansas City strip, filet mignon and U.S. top choice sirloin.

Texas Treats include the Chumley Burger (half pound chopped beef patty on a sesame seed bun with steak fries, even with cheese when desired; the chicken breast cordon bleu, Italian Bird and Chicken Chumley.

Fine Wines

One's favorite quality wines are available, including Cabernet Sauvignon, Gamay Beaujolais, Blue Nun Liebfraumich, Pinot Chardonnay, Mateus, French Mumm's champagne and Korbel-U.S., most popular domestic champagne.

The nighttime menu is most unique, with the suggestion on the cover:

"Take these contents in one or more generous portions. Prescribe your own cure and, for best results, repeat dosage as often as possible. For internal use only. Spread the good news to your neighbors!"

(And once you've tried Ol' Doc Chumley's at the Hilton Inn, you, too, will spread the good news... it is a place and an experience worth recommending.)

Professional, Yet Friendly, Service Staff Excels At Don Crow Chevrolet

The service advisor is the first person one meets when calling with problems at the Service Department at Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., Slide Road at South Loop 289.

And it is the friendliness, interest and product/technical knowledge of that advisor that makes a first... and lasting... impression in most instances.

This is one of the reasons that Don Crow Chevrolet is very careful in its choice of service advisors.

It would seem that Don Crow Chevrolet thoroughly understands the meaning of "service" in its Service Department, with the customer considered in every instance. From service manager Jess Nichols to the service advisors and technicians, the entire staff takes pride in the type service rendered.

All service work is guaranteed 90 days or 4,000 miles on all General Motors parts and accessories.

Fourteen technicians and three service advisors are on the job.

Areas of service within the department include new car make ready, used car make ready, quick service, heavy line service and the paint and body department.

Service advisors include Mrs. Jess (Eve) Nichols; Ron Scott and Andy Holt. Both Holt and Scott have completed GM training as service advisors; and Mrs. Nichols is certified from the Cadillac Motor Division.

The advisors, together with technicians, mark both practical experience and special training among their qualifications. Several are certified as master technicians.

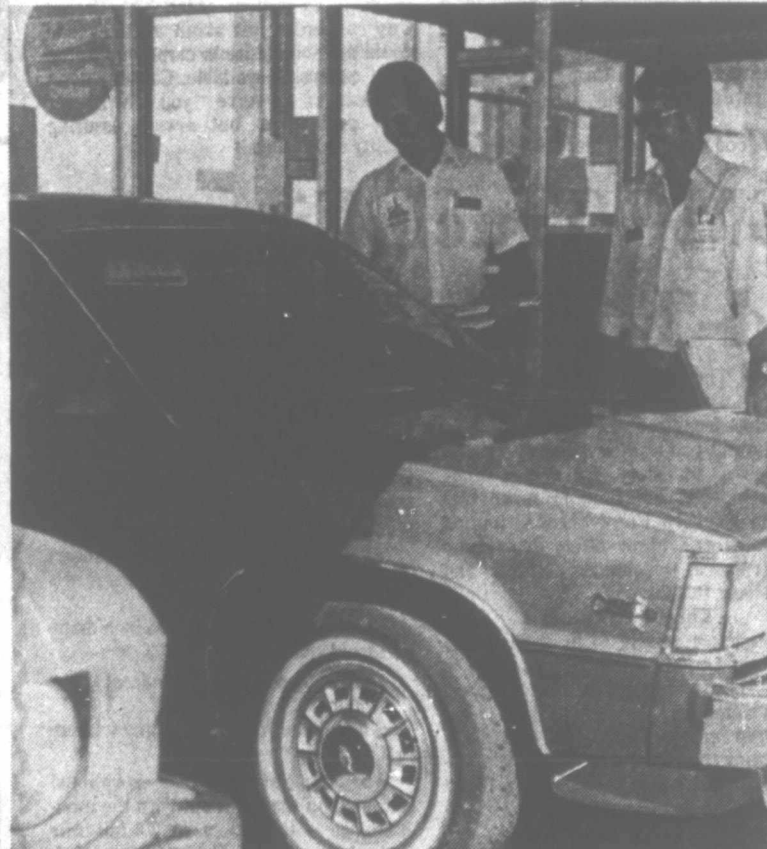

Service Manager Nichols, a 25-year Lubbock resident, recently has returned to Don Crow Chevrolet after a short absence (he was formerly with the firm for 7½ years). He is especially well known in the Lubbock and Brownfield areas.

"Mini Maid" service is one of the benefits at Don Crow Chevrolet, with a Mini Maid picking up and delivering service customers as need is presented.

Rental cars are available, also at the firm.

The Service Department of Don

Crow Chevrolet is open five days weekly, from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., with 7:30 opening of the service drive to enable one "getting to work on time" when leaving the vehicle at Don Crow Chevrolet "where the customer signs our paychecks."

SERVICE SATISFACTION BEGINS HERE — Service advisors at Don Crow Chevrolet not only merit confidence but they are enthusiastic exponents of the Don Crow policy of friendliness and consideration in all customer relations. Pictured are Andy Holt and Ron Scott, with Eve Nichols within the vehicle at the firm's service entry.

Good Eating At Modest Prices Marks Russell Chicken & Fish

"Have you discovered Russell's Chicken and Fish, for dining and carry-out service, at 50th & Kenosha in Lubbock?"

"And have you discovered that the menu is more elaborate than likely you would expect from a business of this type?"

Yes, there are all the standard delicious chicken and fish orders . . . and fried okra, hush puppies, squash, steak fingers, chicken bits, chicken fried steak, and more!

Russell's Chicken and Fish, just east of Woolco on 50th Street, will have been open two years in December. The growing and popular establishment is owned and actively operated by Russell Gillentine.

Gillentine, a longtime Lubbock resident, is widely known by the eating public as he was with a Lubbock family center for 17 years and was manager of the fountain and delicatessen there.

Open Every Day

Russell knows food and food goodness, combining all this with modest pricing and best in service at his own Russell's Chicken and Fish that is open from 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. seven days a week.

"Let us prepare your picnic or party foods from our menu; then you can pick them up here and save the difference," is Russell's invitation in outlining catering service also available at his firm offering both dining room (67 seating capacity) and carry-out service.

Prices Emphasized

Examples of the affordable prices at Russell's include:

Russell's Special Chicken Dinner, 1/4 chicken white ($2.20) or dark ($2.10) including french fries, crispy puffs, cole slaw and honey.

A regular order of three chicken pieces (choice of the firm) is $2.20 including puffs and honey.

And there is a Fisherman's platter of Texas style fish, shrimp, oysters, scallops, french fries, cole slaw and hush puppies, at just $2.99.

And there are lots of other golden fried chicken orders and delicious seafood orders, even child's plates at special savings.

For Fastest Service

For quick takeout service or to have your order ready when you arrive, simply phone 799-8855.

"We want to prove at Russell's Chicken and Fish, 50th Street and Kenosha, that we are worthy of your trade when good eating, at modest pricing, is a consideration. May we have the opportunity of serving you soon? We know you'll like what you find . . . at Russell's Chicken and Fish."

Davis R.V. Service Center Tells Avion Factory Offer Spelling Big Discounts

"This can be a memorable season for you . . . the time that you purchase that long-desired Avion travel trailer from Davis R.V. Service Center in Lubbock!"

"You see, there is a current factory offering of a full $1,200 discount on Avion 28 ft., 30 ft., and 32 ft. models!"

What a saving . . . and made available at Davis R.V. on the above-listed sizes.

"Trailer people recognize that Avion is the finest travel trailer built in America," the Davis staff emphasizes. "Step inside and you'll see for yourself. That sleek aerodynamic styling contains a unique world of luxury and livability. Avion's exclusive suspension, its painstaking construction, its technical excellence . . . all make it one of a kind."

Avion has been selected as the official travel trailer of the 1980 Olympic Winter Games to be staged in Lake Placid, N.Y., in February 1980.

"Avion was chosen because of its national popularity and its affiliation with family fun during all seasons of the year."

See the several models of Avion now at Davis R.V. Service Center, 220 Paris Ave., where all '79 models are priced to clear.

Davis has other good buys throughout its stock, including used units such as a 24 ft. Holiday Rambler, loaded, with new carpet, upholstery and curtains.

There's storage at the Davis R.V. Center, too, affording protection and convenience; store your RV unit with Davis at a sensible fee.

"Come by and learn the absolute truth . . . that Davis R.V. Service Center at 220 Paris Ave., near downtown, Lubbock, has everything for the person who appreciates the out-of-doors, enjoying it with recreational vehicle convenience and economy."

"Meet the firm's owners-operators, Mr. and Mrs. Boots Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Davis, and profit accordingly. They opened the center back in mid-1973 and have consistently given their personal attention to every sale and service opportunity."

At this time they especially invite consideration of an Avion, by Fleetwood, the world's largest manufacturer of recreational vehicles. Don't forget the whopping $1,200 factory discount offer on the specified models.

Linus Wright Sees More Firings

DALLAS (AP) — More Dallas school employees will be fired as a result of a continuing investigation into corrupt business practices in the state's second largest school district, predicts Superintendent Linus Wright.

School board members, acting on Wright's recommendation fired three top-level administrators and five lower-level employees Friday as a result of the investigation. The superintendent says could last until Christmas.

"There are still several people lined up to take polygraph tests and I feel certain others will be fired in this thing," Wright said. "We still don't know who's all involved and to what degree."

The three upper echelon administrators fired Friday were Dr. Weldon Wells, assistant superintendent for support services; Gordon Semell, chief of architectural services; and Richard Winger, supervisor of maintenance.

Friday's board actions yielded no details of the allegations of corruption, and board President Brad Lapey said the board was not privy to specific reasons why firings were necessary.

"He (Wright) stuck his neck way out," Lapey said. "It's a matter of trust between the board and the superintendent. Linus would not go off half-cocked and make a recommendation of that nature without having his guns loaded."

Lapey said it was not necessary for "everybody in the whole North Texas area" to know the reasons behind the firings. He said the board was reviewing progress reports on 17 separate investigations.

New Charges Face Tyler Drug Suspect

TYLER (AP) — A drug addict defendant has been retried on charges he tried to kill two narcotics officers whose investigation led to his earlier arrest during the big, fast drug raid in East Texas history.

Kenneth Bora, 44, was to be arraigned on attempted capital murder charges today before State District Judge Donald Carroll.

Accompanied by his attorney, Bora surrendered to sheriff's deputies, Texas Rangers and a deputy constable in Canton Sunday night, said Smith County Sheriff J.B. Smith.

Bora had been named in an arrest warrant issued late Saturday by Carroll. The judge said that warrant accused Bora of firing the shotgun blast Friday night that wounded Craig Matthews, 22, and his former partner Kimberly Ramsey, 23.

Matthews was listed in satisfactory condition Sunday night and Miss Ramsey, who police reports said returned fire at the assault, was treated and released from a Tyler hospital Friday.

Matthews worked undercover for eight months as a bartender's helper at a private club to set up last April's raid that resulted in 121 arrests.

Officers said Sunday that Bora was one of those arrested in the raid.

Bora's first trial on charges of delivery of a controlled substance ended in a mistrial. He was scheduled to be retried in Carroll's court Oct. 11.

Smith earlier had discounted the theory that the attacker was a professional.

"A professional hit job does not leave victims alive," Smith said.

Rules Sought On Firearms

DALLAS (AP) — A black law enforcement organization wants a national police chiefs' organization to pass strict guidelines on the use of deadly force by officers and "strong sanctions against officers who unwarrantedly discharge their firearms."

"A black youth age 17 to 28 has six times a greater chance of being shot by a police officer as a white youth the same age," said Thomas Hart, spokesman for the National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives.

The group plans to ask the International Association of Chiefs of Police to adopt the proposals during an IACP meeting in Dallas this week, Hart said.

"We're calling on the IACP to set or propose guidelines," said Hart, who added that some departments have no policy on firing weapons.

"An officer doesn't know when to shoot or when not to shoot," he said.

Hart's group plans to ask IACP executives to adopt a guideline stating that officers may not draw or discharge their weapons except to protect their lives or the lives of "innocent citizens from imminent danger."

Livestock Symposium Scheduled Friday

Financial experts, agribusinessmen and livestock producers will gather in Lubbock Friday to discuss the impact of government regulations and inflation on the livestock industry at the second annual National Golden Spur Livestock and Money Symposium.

The 9 a.m.—2:30 p.m. session in The Museum of Texas Tech University will precede the presentation of the National Golden Spur Award to rancher-businessman-civil servant Jay L. Taylor of Amarillo at a prairie party in Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Ranch-oriented activities conclude Saturday with the 10th annual meeting of the Ranching Heritage Association, one of the sponsoring organizations, at the Ranching Heritage Center.

Top authorities in agribusiness and livestock matters will head sessions broken at noon by a steak lunch with W. P. Flatt, director of Agricultural Experiment Stations for the University of Georgia-Athens, as speaker.

Leadoff speaker for the morning session will be Lawrence L. Boger, agricultural economist and president of Oklahoma State University.

Walter Minger, head of Bank of America's worldwide agribusiness relationships, will discuss "Availability of Funds" and Richard A. McDougal, immediate past president of National Cattlemen's Association, will have producer survival as his topic to complete the morning round.

An afternoon panel discussion on government regulations will be led by NCA president Lauren Carlson and Bartley P. Cardon, chairman of Arizona Feeds board of directors.

Boger, an internationally recognized authority on agricultural economics, has been a member of the National Commit-

Barracks Explosion Wounds Army Men

BERLIN (AP) — Two American soldiers were injured in an explosion at an Army barracks in West Berlin, military spokesmen said.

They said the explosion occurred Sunday morning in the barracks of the 4th Battalion 6th Infantry, on McNair Kaserne.

The soldiers were not identified. The cause of the explosion had not been determined, but the spokesmen said terrorists were not suspected.

DR. LAMB Reading Blood Pressure

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB — I would appreciate it if you would explain something for me in your column. What is meant when I hear people say their blood pressure is 150 over 90 or 130 over 60? What does "over" mean? What does the pressure mean? I am a 70-year-old woman and weigh 165. What should my pressure be?

are related to this and that's why I'm sending you The Health Letter number 1-8, Blood Pressure. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR READER — Let's start at the beginning. You know there is pressure in the plumbing to your house. When you turn on the faucet, water runs out. The greater the pressure, the more forceful the water will come out.

If a person's pressure is 130 over 60 that would mean that the highest pressure in the arteries would be 130 and the lowest would be 60 for each heart cycle. Doctors have developed the system of writing this as a fraction with the highest reading being the top number in the fraction and the lowest reading being the lowest number in the fraction. That's where the term of "over" comes from. One hundred and thirty over 60 really means writing it like a fraction with 130 being written over the 60.

Whenever water is pumped through the pipes, the pumping action increases the pressure which squeezes the water out of the pipe.

It used to be thought as you got older that it was normal for your blood pressure to go up. Your doctor is not likely to get excited if your blood pressure happens to be 150 over 90 but the truth is it would be better if your blood pressure was 140 over 80 or even 110 over 70.

Your heart and circulation are about the same. The heart pumps blood out into your plumbing system which is really your arteries and it comes back through the veins. The more blood your heart pumps out into those arteries in a short length of time, the greater the pressure will be.

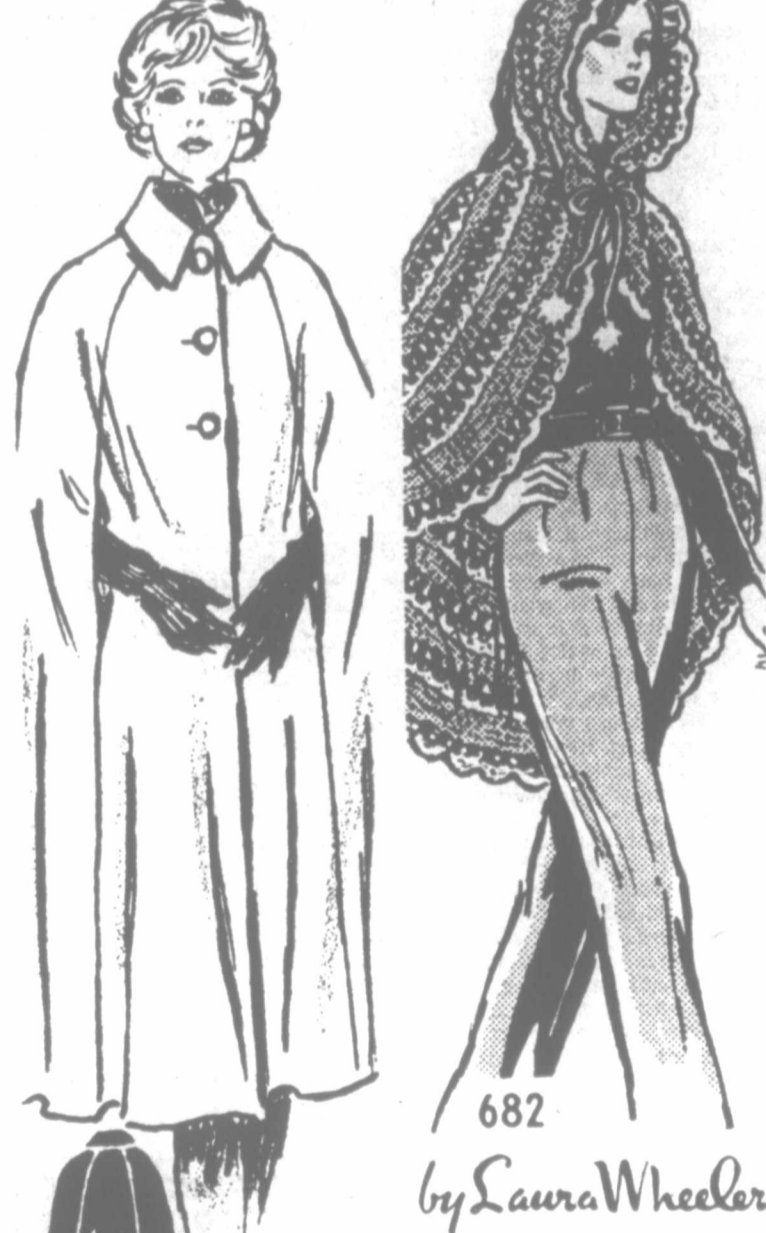

As people get older their top reading often gets higher.

Now there are a lot of factors that

In recent times studies have shown that individuals who have an elevated top reading (systolic pressure) also have an increased risk of heart attacks, strokes and such problems.

Lubbock Man Assaulted During Family Dispute

A Lubbock man, angered early this morning when his 4-year-old boy wet the bed, began whipping the child and was struck in the head and stabbed with a kitchen knife by his wife when he refused to quit, police were told.

The 25-year-old man was listed in serious condition early today at Health Sciences Center Hospital.

Police, arriving at the Avenue H residence about 1:35 a.m. today, were told by the man's wife that she struck her husband in the head with an iron, then stabbed him with a kitchen knife when he refused to quit whipping their child with a belt.

The 21-year-old woman said her husband came home drunk and began beating their son after he discovered the youngster had wet the bed. The man was found lying on a bedroom floor, bleeding from the head and stomach.

The man reportedly told police the incident was his fault and asked officers not to take his wife to jail. The woman remained free early today, according to reports.

Police said Raul Gonzalez did not require hospitalization.

A 16-year-old Lubbock boy was taken into police custody about 8:30 p.m. Sunday after he hit two EMS attendants who thought the youth had been injured in a traffic accident.

Police, dispatched to a report of an accident with injuries in the 200-block of North University Avenue, found the boy lying in the middle of the street with a blanket covering him. An officer said the youth began cursing him when he went over to help.

Reports state that EMS attendants George Jeffery Young and Doak Enabnit were attempting to examine the boy when the juvenile clinched his fist and struck Young in the eye and Enabnit in the mouth.

Police said they decided the boy, whose bicycle was found near him, had not been in an accident. They said he apparently was just intoxicated.

Reports state that police had to handcuff the youth and bind his ankles to keep him from hitting and kicking the officers. He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

The man told police he suspects his 25-year-old wife.

Dennis Earl White, 17, of 2403 E. Eighth St. told police he was assaulted about 11:20 p.m. Sunday by three black males in the 400-block of Fifth Street.

The teen-ager was struck on the head with a board and threatened with a knife by two of the three, according to reports.

White reportedly sustained only minor injuries and refused medical treatment.

The suspects were described as short young men or juveniles.

The Lubbock County Sheriff's Department today was investigating the vandalism of Cooper school in Woodrow, which was estimated to have resulted in more than $1,000 damage.

Reports indicate the damage was heaviest to the school's 16 buses, but that the football field press box and concession stand also were broken into.

Deputies were questioning two boys, ages 11 and 13, in connection with the incident.

Police Sunday were investigating the reported rape of a 16-year-old Estacado High School student and a number of assaults on city residents which occurred over the weekend.

The rape victim told police that she and her alleged assailant had first gone to a relative's house and then went driving around, stopping at the parking lot of Alderson Junior High early Saturday. She said the youth asked her to have sexual intercourse with him and that when she refused, he began choking her and raped her.

The teen-ager said the suspect was black and 17-years-old. He was not in custody late Sunday pending filing of charges, reports show.

The incident reportedly occurred sometime between 1:55 a.m. and 2:25 a.m. Saturday.

A 33-year-old Lubbock man said that he was assaulted by four Mexican-American men at the intersection of Fourth Street and Avenue A about 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

Alberto Azua, Jr. of 1710 E. Second Place reported that a green Malibu had been following him and bumped into the back of his vehicle at the intersection. Azua said he got out of his vehicle and that the four occupants got out of the Malibu and began fighting with him. The victim said he had never seen the men before.

George Konrad Kovach and David Wayne Stafford told police that they were assaulted by two white males in an incident at McDonald's restaurant, 2343 19th St. about 1:45 a.m. Sunday.

Kovach, 26, of 2211 18th St. reported that one of the suspects had been giving trouble to the manager and that he intervened. Kovach said that when he left the restaurant, one of the suspects began hitting him.

Stafford, 26, of 3415 28th St. told police that when he tried to pull the suspect off Kovach, some other men began fighting with him. The victims said the suspects, who were 18 to 25-years-old, left the scene in a 1979 black Mustang.

A 55-year-old Lubbock man said that he is minus $10 and his wallet after an aggravated robbery which reportedly occurred at 7:15 a.m. Saturday in the parking lot of a club at 1819 E. Broadway.

Gregorio Sanchez of 2718 E. Seventh St. said that he was getting into his pickup truck when a black male stuck a knife to his back and ordered him to hand over his wallet. Reports show that the suspect also grabbed the truck keys and threw them to the ground before fleeing the scene.

The victim said the suspect was 26 to 35, tall and thin and was wearing a blue shirt and blue pants.

A 23-year-old Lubbock man was arrested early Sunday after an incident at the Seven-Eleven convenience store at Fourth Street and Detroit Avenue.

When investigating officers arrived at the store, they saw the manager point out the suspect, who was attempting to get into his car. Reports show that during questioning by police, the suspect began cursing and was arrested.

Store manager Ronald McGraw told police that the suspect had entered the store and began throwing food items at him and had also harassed a customer.

In another assault, a 19-year-old Shallowater man said that a woman hit him in an incident which allegedly occurred about 10:30 p.m. Saturday at a trailer park at 4702 Fourth St.

In a separate assault late Sunday, Ruben Gonzalez, 21, of Levelland was treated and released at HSCH after he and a friend were forced to drive off the road at Sixth Street and Avenue R, then beaten by two young Mexican-American men.

Raul Gonzalez, 20, also of Levelland, told police the assaults forced them off the pavement about 11:40 p.m. Sunday. The pair then got out of their car and assaulted the two out-of-towners, according to reports.

IMF Sees Severe Strain On World's Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The International Monetary Fund predicts the expected decline in growth of the industrialized nations will be much sharper than had been believed and the world economy faces a period of severe strain.

The IMF, the influential lending and financial management agency with 137 member nations, said in its annual report the world economy has deteriorated badly during the past year, largely because of the 60 percent boost in global oil prices in 1979.

At the start of 1979, growth of the economies of the industrialized nations was expected to decline moderately because of the economic slowdown in the United States, IMF said.

"Now, it seems clear that the decline of output growth in the industrial world will prove to be much sharper than had been generally expected," it said. It urged the governments of the industrialized countries to make "determined and skillful use" of traditional monetary and fiscal policies.

It also stressed the United States cannot afford to relax its anti-inflation policy to compensate for the recession.

"Policies to counter recession would need to be very cautious with primary reliance placed on built-in fiscal stabilizers to support the economy" instead of artificial devices such as a tax cut, it said.

As far as the world economy is concerned, it said new oil price increases this year came on top of such other problems as "high inflation, sluggish growth, under-utilization of resources, periodic instability of foreign exchange markets, the difficult situation of non-oil developing countries and the spread of protectionist trade measures."

Father Charged In Four Killings

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UPI) — Police said a man shot and killed his wife and three of his four children early today. The fourth child was wounded.

Police reported four bodies were found and the man's fourth child had been taken to a hospital for treatment. The child's condition was not immediately known.

Police were withholding identification of the suspect and victims until family members could be notified.

Assistant Police Chief Jim Robles said the motive for the shooting had not been determined. He said at least one of the victims had been shot twice.

"It's hard for us to tell at this point whether the children were awake or asleep," he said. "Indications were that some were asleep, however."

Robles declined to release additional details in the case.

"We're in the middle of the investigation right now," he said. "We're expecting calls in from family members from all over the nation on this and we're not going to release anything until we get all the people notified."

The suspect was charged with four counts of first degree murder and one count of attempted murder. Bond for the suspect was set at $500,000 in an early morning arraignment before magistrate Ben Rio.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for Tuesday calls for rain over Georgia and South Carolina and a broad band of showers extending from southern Texas east and north along the Gulf Coast and over the mid-Atlantic States. (AP Laserphoto Map)

Nixon Visits Peking To Study Progress

PEKING (AP) — Former President Nixon arrived in Peking today and asserted that Sino-American relations are important to the survival of both countries and the peace of the world.

Nixon, who came in from Hong Kong and Canton to a subdued welcome, told reporters in a brief airport statement, "The purpose of my visit is to be brought up to date on the relations between our two countries and to be able to see what progress has been made."

He said there was bipartisan support for Chinese-American relations, and that the issue is one that would not divide the two U.S. political parties.

"Sino-American relations are vital to the United States and China and to world peace," he said.

"I'm not here to negotiate anything but to exchange views and to get information," he said.

U.S. Ambassador Leonard Woodcock and Culture Minister Huang Zhen (Huang Chen) were at the airport to meet the former president, who is making a four day visit at the invitation of the Chinese government. It is his third visit to China.

There were no ceremonies and no formal news conference. Nixon was taken by limousine into the city, where he will stay in a government guest house.

Five Convicted In Area Crimes Receive Parole

AUSTIN — Five persons convicted of crimes in the Lubbock area have been paroled by Gov. Bill Clements on recommendation of the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Two other persons have had their paroles revoked.

Jerry E. Condon, convicted of theft over $200 in Terry County July 27, 1977, was paroled to Harris County after serving a year and three months and three months of a five-year sentence.

Ronnie Lee Johnson, convicted of aggravated robbery in Lubbock County May 31, 1977, was paroled to Lubbock County after serving and earning four years and three months of a six-year sentence.

Dwayne R. Millman, convicted of burglary in Lubbock County Sept. 9, 1974, was paroled to Lubbock County after serving and earning nine years and six months of a 12-year sentence.

Johnny Samaniego, convicted of forgery by passing and theft in Hale County Feb. 2, 1979, and Oct. 4, 1977, was paroled to Dallam County after serving and earning one year and four months of a four-year sentence.

J.D. Youngblood, convicted of driving while intoxicated, subsequent offense, in Hale County March 30, 1979, was paroled to Hale County after serving and earning seven months of a one-year, six-month sentence.

George Cervantez, convicted of burglary in Dawson County in 1978, had his parole revoked because of a new conviction. Cervantez had been on parole since Oct. 13, 1978.

David E. Stanley, convicted of theft over $200 in Lubbock County in 1976, had his parole revoked for unsatisfactory adjustment. Stanley had been on parole since July 8, 1977.

Roger Rides Again

THE SITUATION LOOKED PRETTY GRIM for the Dallas Cowboys in the final minutes of their battle with the Chicago Bears Sunday at Texas Stadium. The Bears led 20-17, with less than three minutes to play and the 'Pokes 71 yards from paydirt. Dallas only had two time outs left, just to increase the suspense.

Think pulses weren't pounding a bit on the Cowboys' side of the field? Landry sent Roger Staubach onto the field for that crucial offensive series with an encouraging slap on the backside. That was a rare display of excitement and emotion from the usually unflappable mentor.

But, heck, there wasn't any reason for all the commotion. Dallas had the ball and Staubach loves these Frank Merriwell situations. He has pulled so many games out of the fire in the fading seconds that the team and fans rather expect him to produce instant miracles.

Sure enough, ol' Roger made it look easy. A couple of sideline tosses to move upfield and stop the clock, then a strike to Preston Pearson put the 'Pokes in position with plenty of time left.

Staubach faked right and threw a quick screen to Tony Hill on the left side. Hill picked up a key block by tackle Pat Donovan and danced through defenders 22 yards for the winning tally. Just like Landry drew the play on the blackboard.

Donovan later joked that there were two Bears — a burly linebacker and a smallish cornerback — in his path, so "I blocked the little guy and let Tony get past the big one any way he could."

The winners tell jokes and the losers grumble, as usual.

IT WAS DONOVAN, in his post-game analysis, who had a significant observation about the Cowboys, however. Donovan realized that the victory was important because it kept the 'Pokes at the top of the standings, but he also noted that there was some improvement by Dallas' battered and maligned offensive line.

"I thought our pass blocking was a lot better than it has been," Donovan remarked. "The fact that we were able to give Roger adequate protection against a tough, blitzing team was very important."

Donovan, for one, is glad to be playing teams with an orthodox defense. Those three-man fronts used by teams such as Denver and Houston require entirely different blocking techniques than those that work against a traditional four-man forward wall.

"We had to spend an awful lot of time working against the 3-4 during the exhibition season, but I think we are getting back in the groove now," the Stanford grad declared.

EVEN THE MOST ENTHUSIASTIC Dallas fan will admit that the Cowboys still have a long way to go before they reach a championship level again. They make too many mistakes and their pass rush is anemic, compared with the days when Ed Jones joined Randy White and Harvey Martin in terrorizing enemy chunkeys. The defensive secondary still is trying to find a way to compensate for the loss of Charlie Waters, too.

But Landry sees some encouraging signs and believes that the club will jell within a couple of weeks.

"Roger (Staubach) is holding us together and winning the games for us right now," Landry said before the duel with the Bears. "But I think our running game will improve now that Tony Dorsett is back and our defense is gaining some coordination. That is the secret — coordination and concentration."

Several impressive rookies are beginning to play an important role in Dallas' title hopes, much to Landry's satisfaction. Big Bruce Thornton is coming on like gangbusters at defensive end, as shown by the way he ripped up the Bears on their final offensive series Sunday. Thornton may be the best eighth-round draft pick in history.

Cornerback Aaron Mitchell is beginning to challenge for a starting role, too, and running back Ron Springs already plays like a veteran. His clutch catches Sunday were vital to the Dallas offense.

THE COWBOYS NEED EVERY WEAPON they can muster, however, because the toughest part of the schedule still is ahead for the 'Pokes. They take on two members of the vaunted AFC Central division, Cleveland and Cincinnati, then travel to Minnesota to face the weakened but dangerous Vikings.

Then come the meanest kids on the block: Los Angeles, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, with the hapless Giants sandwiched in there somewhere. Those successive encounters with the Rams, Cardinals and Steelers probably will determine the fate of the Cowboys this season.

But as long as the 'Pokes have Staubach, they aren't going to forfeit.

Fought Takes Firsts
Pro Golf Victory

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — The ball dropped into the cup and Mary Fought wept. Her husband, John, didn't know what to do.

And why should he? The 25-year-old Portland, Ore., native had just done something he had never done before — he won a professional golf tournament.

(For Complete Results
Of Buick Open

"She didn't know what to do and neither did I," Fought said after winning the $150,000 Buick Open from Jim Simons on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff Sunday. "I'm in another world right now."

Fought, a Brigham Young graduate who won the U.S. Amateur championship in 1977, had to ram home a nine-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole to finish the regulation 72 holes at eight-under 280 and force the playoff with Simons who had finished earlier.

It marked the first time a golfer ever birdied the 18th to earn either a tie or a playoff in the Buick Open.

"It was probably a little more difficult, waiting around," Simons said. "I really tried to get myself psyched up again to go back out and play."

After they halved the first playoff hole — the par-5, 598-yard 16th — Fought (rhymes with vote) hit his tee shot onto the fringe of the 185-yard, par-3 17th while Simons drove left near a clump of trees.

Simons skulled his second shot across the green and into a bunker, then blasted out 8 feet above the pin.

Fought, who just joined the tour this year, chipped to within 3 feet of the pin. Then, after Simons missed his bogey putt, Fought dropped his putt and Mary ran onto the green crying.

The victory earned Fought $27,000 and the use of a new Buick for a year while Simons won $16,200.

And, as Fought noted: "This is an exemption for a year. This is the greatest."

Dave Eichelberger, the third-round leader who started the final round at six-under, took a bogey 5 on the 18th hole to miss the playoff by one stroke.

Eichelberger finished alone in third place and earned $10,200.

It was the second successive playoff for the Buick Open. Last year Jack Newton defeated Mike Sullivan on the first extra hole.

Long-hitting Jim Colbert, who shot a record 62 over the 7,001-yard, par-72 Warwick Hills Country Club layout during a pro-am event Wednesday, was alone in fourth place with a 6-under 282 and earned $7,425.

PGA champion David Graham, one of the few "name" players here, finished in a six-way tie for eighth at 4-under 284.

Most of the more familiar names on the pro golf tour were in White Sulphur Springs, Va. for the biennial Ryder Cup matches.

Lubbock's Jeff Mitchell finished tied for seventh with a four-round total of 285.

Staubach Rallies Cowboys

IRVING (AP) — Like some of the old New York Yankee teams, tradition and Roger Staubach carried the Dallas Cowboys to another National Football victory Sunday, 24-20, over the Chicago Bears.

"I looked over at the Chicago bench after their last touchdown and they were celebrating like they had won or something," said Dallas linebacker D.D. Lewis. "Hell, we knew it was a long way from over."

Trailing 20-17, Staubach whipped the Cowboys on a lightning 71-yard blitz in 57 seconds, flipping a 22-yard screen pass to Tony Hill for the game's winning touchdown with 1:57 to play.

"It's just a matter of our being in a number of close games in the past," said Lewis. "I think it probably started back in 1972 with Roger."

Staubach brought Dallas (3-0) from behind three times with touchdown passes to spoil the starting debut of third-year Chicago quarterback Vince Evans, who ran for a touchdown and passed for two more scores.

"We've had the ability to win close games a long time," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "We've just played in too many close games and too many Super Bowls ... we always believe we have a chance."

Walter Payton shredded the Cowboys for 134 yards on 22 carries while Evans, a former Rose Bowl hero for Southern Cal, completed only five passes but made two of them count for touchdowns.

Evans connected with Golden Richards on a 52-yard pass-and-run as the former Cowboy sneaked behind the Dallas secondary and was 23 yards ahead of his closest pursuer as he fielded the ball on the 10.

Evans also teamed with James Scott on a 64-yard pass-and-run with 10:44 to play that put the Bears ahead 20-17 for the final time.

Staubach, who had been knocked out briefly in the first half, said, "On that last drive we just knew we could do it. We've been there before."

In all three Cowboy victories they have come from behind in the fourth quarter.

"The turning point was the last drive," said Chicago strong safety Doug Plank. "We just couldn't stop them. Any time the situation comes down to where you can't make the play, you're going to lose."

Chicago Coach Neil Armstrong said, "They're a team that can drive if they are pressed. They are capable of doing all kinds of things. We used this game as a measuring stick to see how good we are. I think we are going to be pretty good."

Staubach passed for 221 yards on 18 of 31 passes, including scoring tosses of 42 yards to Hill and 11 to Billy Joe Dupree.

But the passes that really mattered were in the closing drive where he hit Drew Pearson for 13 yards, Hill for 13, Preston Pearson for 23 and then the short game-clincher to the "Thrill" Hill.

"I hurt in my heart," said Richards. "It was the hardest thing I ever had to do, play against my old team. And they won like they have so many times before ... nothing ever seems to change with them."

Chicago dropped to a 2-1 record and fell out of first place in the National Conference Central Division behind Tampa Bay.

Dallas leads the NFC East a full game ahead of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Ranking Shocks Cooper Coach

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Ray Overton woke up one morning — and much to his surprise — the Abilene Cooper Cougars were ranked number one in every schoolboy poll Texas sports-writers have to offer.

He said he was more shocked than if his wife had run away with a Cruex salesman.

"I really thought we'd be in the top ten," commented the Cooper head coach. "But I never thought we'd be that close to the top."

Through the first couple of games this season, Cooper has rolled up a pair of big wins over Brownwood and Wichita Falls High. The Cougars drilled then-top-ranked Class AAA power Brownwood 50-14 on the opening night and last Friday evening Overton's crew blitzed Wichita Falls High 48-7.

In an attempt to explain Cooper's successful season, thus far, Overton explained: "I guess the key to our success is our ability to both run and pass the football. We've got a very balanced attack. Plus, I think, our offensive line does a tremendous job opening holes for our backs."

"So I think the real key is the team thing. Everyone from the offensive line to the running backs play a team-type game. We're all in this together."

The offensive line is centered around tight end Alvin Jenkins, tackles David Johnson and Charles Buetemeyer, guards Steve P'ill and Jay Zumwald and center Mike Howle. And all five, Overton says, are "very fine athletes and solid blockers."

So far, the line has opened big holes for all-state running back candidate Terry Orr to run through. Although Overton says he doesn't like to single out individual ballplayers as keys to the attack, he amends that rule for Orr. "I guess you could say he's the hub of the team. He is big and very strong. Everytime he gets the ball he's a threat to score from anywhere."

The only problem — and it might not even be a problem, says Overton — for Cooper is at quarterback. It seems the Cougars have two, not one but two, quarterbacks capable of running the first team. So instead of selecting a starter, See OVERTON Page 4, Sec. D

Cincinnati's Seaver Continues To Silence Critics

By The Associated Press
Tom Seaver says he's not the overpowering pitcher he once was.

Ten years ago, a typical Seaver victory was a three-hit shutout with 10 strikeouts. Sunday he had to settle for a three-hitter with four strikeouts.

The 34-year-old right-hander was being written off by some after his 16-14 record in 1978 and a 2-5 start this season. But he has silenced his critics with a 13-1 record since June 9, which has allowed it gave the Reds a 2½-game lead over the Astros, who lost 2-1 to the San Francisco Giants.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Pirates lost 3-0 to the New York Mets and fell .001 percentage points behind the Montreal Expos in the East, who won the second game of a double-header against the St. Louis Cardinals 5-1 in 10 innings after losing the opener 4-3. In the only other NL game, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3.

"I'm not as overpowering as I once was, there's no doubt about that," said Seaver. "But I'm still a power pitcher. My fastball is still the dominant pitch."

Catcher Johnny Bench echoed Seaver's statement that he is a different pitcher than earlier in his career, saying, "He didn't force it (the fastball). It was there when he needed it."

Seaver, who has one more career shutout than Baltimore's Jim Palmer, allowed only two walks in addition to the three Dodger hits, and three of the baserunners were erased by double plays.

The Reds did all their scoring in the fifth inning when they had five hits, including a run-scoring double by Ray Knight and an RBI single by Heity Cruz.

On the close division race, Seaver said, "This is what we work for. It's very gratifying to be in a race. Since the end of February, it's our one goal; to make it worth something in September."

Seaver's only loss since June 4 was Sept. 1 against Montreal and he was also ineffective in a no-decision appearance against Houston last week.

"At this point in my career, I'm going to have those games," he said.

At this point in his career, he is just as likely to throw a three-hitter.

Giants 2, Astros 1

Houston lost to San Francisco in late innings for the second straight day to fall further behind the first-place Reds.

J.R. Richard, 16-13, had allowed one hit and an unearned run going into the ninth. But Mike Ivie's single, an opposite-field double down the first base line by Darrell Evans and an intentional walk preceded Larry Herndon's long drive to left field that officially was a called a single as Ivie trotted in from third base with the winning run.

On Saturday, Houston had a 3-0 lead before the Giants won with five runs in the eighth.

Mets 3, Pirates 0

Pittsburgh dropped into a virtual tie for first with Montreal in the East as

New York got surprisingly good pitching from Pete Falcone, who won only his sixth game in 19 decisions.

The Mets' left-hander took a six-hitter into the ninth but he failed to get his second complete-game shutout. When Lee Lacy led off with a single Falcone threw two balls to Bill Madlock. Neil Allen came in to complete the walk, but then forced a groundout and a double-play grounder to finish the seven-hitter.

Dan Norman's homer, a single by Lee Mazzilli and a double by Joel Youngblood brought home the Mets' runs.

"Usually when you're 30 games over .500 you can get ready for the playoffs," said Pirate Manager Chuck Tanner. "But our situation isn't frustrating. Montreal is doing the job. We're doing the job. And it's a great race."

Cards 4-1, Expos 3-5

Dave Cash, who rode the bench until late August, drove in all five Montreal runs, the last four with a 10th-inning grand slam, in the Expos' second-game victory.

"My job is to be ready when the manager calls on me," said Cash. "I don't care who's playing and who's not playing. Winning is the only thing that matters now."

The Pirates and Expos start a two-game series in Montreal tonight.

Cash, who also had a first-inning double, blasted a pitch from George Frazier over the fence after a double by Gary Carter, an intentional walk and an error by second baseman Ken Oberkfell.

In the first game, the Cardinals got three runs in the first two innings on run-scoring singles by Garry Templeton and Keith Hernandez and an RBI double by Oberkfell.

Phillies 4, Cubs 3

Garry Maddox scored two runs and knocked in the game winner with an eighth-inning triple to lead Philadelphia over Chicago.

Maddox's blast to the center field fence off loser Dick Tidrow, 10-4, scored Greg Gross, who had walked with two out, with the tie-breaking run. Maddox also doubled and scored in the first and singled in the fourth to ignite a two-run rally.

Austin College Leads TIAA

By The Associated Press
Austin College, riding the throwing arm of quarterback Larry Shillings, has claimed an undisputed early season lead in the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association standings by virtue of a 22-2 win over Trinity University Saturday.

Shillings has hit 19 of 37 passes for 231 yards and two touchdowns to guide Austin College to its 2-0 mark in conference play.

The McMurry Indians dropped a 16-3 non-conference decision to Panhandle State Saturday, to fall to a 2-1 season mark.

Tarleton, the pre-season TIAA favorite, pounced on eight Sul Ross fumbles to secure its 15-8 win over the Lobos.

Lubbock Christian rolled to the initial win of their first college football season with a 47-0 thrashing of the University of Monterrey.

Austin College will host the McMurry in Sherman this week in what will probably be the Kangaroos' toughest contest yet this season. McMurry moved to an early season lead with decisive wins over LCC and Trinity, but lost their head of steam last week against Panhandle State.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Angels' Season Just Beginning

By The Associated Press
For all intents and purposes, the season is over for the New York Yankees. But it's just beginning for the California Angels, according to Manager Jim Fregosi.

"All season long, everyone knew it would be going down to the last two weeks," says Fregosi as he prepares to start a vital four-game series in Kansas City tonight.

California holds a three-game lead in the American League West over Kansas City as a result of Sunday's games, when the Angels lost a 2-1 decision to Milwaukee and the Royals were beaten 6-3 by Seattle.

"The fact is we're in a situation now that we're in front and Kansas City has to beat us," said Fregosi. "We beat them three times in our ballpark and three times in their ballpark. We have good pitching, they have good pitching, and you know no one was going to run away with the division title."

Meanwhile, the defending world champion Yankees lost 8-4 in 12 innings to Detroit and were eliminated in the AL East race. The Yankees had won two straight world championships and three consecutive league pennants.

The Baltimore Orioles virtually sewed up the East with a 13-3 rout of Boston that reduced their division-clinching "magic number" to four. Any combination of four Baltimore victories or losses by Milwaukee will give the Orioles the East title.

In other AL games, Chicago defeated Oakland 5-2, Toronto whipped Cleveland 8-2 and Minnesota stopped Texas 6-2.

Paul Molitor doubled home a run in the seventh inning and AL home run leader Gorman Thomas belted his 42nd home run of the year to pace Milwaukee's victory over California. Frank Tanana, 6-5, was Thomas' victim.

Mariners 6, Royals 3

Julio Cruz drove in two runs and Bobby Valentine and Rodney Craig each collected two hits to lead Seattle over

Kansas City. The Mariners scored five runs on seven hits while batting around in the fourth.

Rob Dressler, 3-2, was the winner while Paul Spittorf, 13-17, took the loss. The victory gave the lowly Mariners a 2-1 edge in the three-game weekend series in Kansas City.

Tigers 8, Yankees 4

Lance Parrish's bases-loaded single in the 12th inning keyed a four-run rally that carried Detroit over New York. New York's Rich Gossage, 3-4, pitching his longest outing of the year with 1-3 innings, gave up five hits in the 12th as the Tigers broke a tie created by Roy White's ninth-inning homer.

"Being eliminated today doesn't phase me a bit," said Yankee outfielder Reggie Jackson. "We've been eliminated a long, long time."

Orioles 13, Red Sox 3

Light-hitting Mark Belanger drove in three runs to lead Baltimore over Boston. The Orioles scored nine runs in the first inning, sending 14 batters to the plate against John Tudor and two successors.

Belanger, who had only six RBI in 182 previous times at-bat, was struck by a pitched ball on a second trip of the first inning to drive in a run, and added two more later with a sacrifice fly and a single.

White Sox 5, A's 2

Claudell Washington's two-run homer in the first inning and Mike Squires' tie-breaking homer in the seventh powered Chicago over Oakland.

Blue Jays 8, Indians 2

Roy Howell hit a solo homer and scored three times while John Mayberry added a solo shot and scored two runs to lead Toronto past Cleveland.

Twins 6, Rangers 2

Danny Gooden and Ken Landreaux doubled in two runs apiece in a six-run second inning, triggering Minnesota past Texas.

All the runs in the Minnesota second were unearned as the result of errors by first baseman Pat Putnam and second baseman Bump Wills which victimized Doc Medich, 9-7.

SMU Takes Beating During Victory Over TCU

By The Associated Press
With exactly 3:41 left in the first half of what was to become a very expensive meeting with Texas Christian Saturday night, "Mustang Mania" was put into the hands of Jim Bob Taylor for the rest of the year.

Junior quarterback Mike Ford, the nation's offensive leader last year, suffered a torn ligament and underwent surgery Sunday morning. Southern Methodist Coach Ron Meyer said Ford would be lost for the year.

Taylor, a sophomore who threw only two passes last year and was almost moved to safety in spring training, responded with a 15-yard touchdown pass to tight end Robert Fisher.

However, the rust showed in the eventual 27-7 victory over TCU when Taylor completed a pass to Horned Frog cornerback Ray Berry, who returned it 41 yards for a touchdown.

"I thought Taylor handled the pressure OK," said TCU Coach F.A. Dry. "However, being thrown into a game isn't as difficult as it will be for him this week. He's got all week to think about it." There are some other problems for SMU — like who is going to show up.

Freshman tailback Eric Dickerson, who gained 129 yards in his collegiate debut, suffered a concussion; his back-up, freshman Charles Wagner, sustained a sprained ankle; freshman fullback Craig James bruised a hand; and strong safety Blane Smith fractured his right foot.

Smith will be lost from five to eight weeks. The freshmen running backs will be available for Saturday's non-conference meeting with North Texas State University.

"We're losing some fine people," said Meyer. "When you lose someone of Mike Ford's or Blane Smith's caliber, you really lose something special."

In other SWC games Saturday night, Baylor beat Texas A&M 17-7, Houston tripped Florida 14-10, Texas Tech trimmed New Mexico 17-7, Arkansas downed Colorado State 36-3, and Rice upset Tulane 21-17.

Ford said "I believe someone blocked a player into my leg. I knew it was bad right away."

He was The Associated Press national offensive player of the week twice last year. Ford was the No. 2 passer in the country with 20 completions per game and led the NCAA in passing yardage.

SMU leads the league with a 2-0 record with Baylor next at 1-0.

Baylor Coach Grant Teaf concluded "We're a long way from being in anybody's Cotton Bowl. We play Alabama next week and we might not even make it back from that game."

Texas becomes the last collegiate team to open the 1979 season Saturday night, hosting Iowa State. In other games, North Texas is at SMU in Texas Stadium, Arkansas hosts Oklahoma State, Rice is at LSU, Texas A&M is at Penn State, TCU hosts Tulane, and Texas Tech is at Arizona.

Andrews Has Not Begun Fight

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
The Andrews Mustangs, says head coach Bill Shipman, have not yet begun to fight.

And once the district 2-AAA Mustangs do begin to click, oh boy, that could be something to see. Because Andrews is currently 2-0 on the year, having racked up 758 yards of total offense and 70 points in their first two outings. Defensively, Andrews has allowed only a scant six points and 236 total yards.

"We only have two returning offensive linemen," explains Shipman, "and they haven't been able to play yet because of injuries. So we're pretty inexperienced on the line — and we've been making mistakes."

Missing from that offensive line has been center Donnie Munsell (6-2, 205) and tight end Rick Jarvis (6-2, 195). Munsell was an all-district selection last year but had to undergo surgery after his show-call kicked him last spring.

"Donnie will be able to play this week," says Shipman. "And I think Rick will be back next week."

And the Andrews center couldn't be coming back at a better time. The Musangs will host Seminole this Friday in their biggest test of the year. Although Andrews has already knocked off a 4A opponent and a 3A foe, Shipman says that Class AA Seminole will be tough.

"I think we may run into a logjam this week," said the coach. "Seminole is one of the top AA teams in the state. We expect them to be in the running for the state championship."

Currently the Indians are 2-0 and the No. 1 ranked team in the Avalanche-Journal Class AA South Plains poll.

And even though Andrews is off to a blazing start, in district 3-AAA it hardly causes a ripple. That's because four of the five teams in the district are also 2-0. Fort Stockton, Monahans, Odessa Ector and Pecos have all been impressive in the early games.

"It looks like it is going to be a five-team race when district starts," says Shipman. "I guess that's just your typical 2-AAA race."

But if Shipman continues to get a sterling performance from sophomore quarterback Keith Brooks, the Mustangs may run away with that race. To date Brooks has tossed four touchdowns and run for one himself. According to Shipman, "Brooks has been a real stabilizing factor."

"And our defense is not real big," adds the coach, "but we're solid. They've done a good job."

Speaking of good defenses, Estacado continues to be the big story in district 1-AAA. The Matadors are the only undefeated team in the loop with a 2-0 record, after rolling over Lubbock High 33-0 Friday, that give EHS 45 points in two games, while allowing only seven. Meanwhile Dunbar and Dumas are still looking for their first wins of the year.

Estacado, the number two ranked AAA team in the state, will face Lubbock Coronado in an intra-city match on Thursday at Lowrey Field.

Over in district 3-AAA, Snyder took a narrow 15-14 victory over Monahans Friday night to register their first win of the young season.

Carter Recovers From Road Race

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — Jimmy Carter's personal physician says a "comprehensive examination" shows the president to be in excellent health despite his near-collapse in a weekend foot race.

"The president's health is excellent and his strength is fully returned," White House deputy press secretary Rex Granum said after the Sunday examination by Navy Rear Adm. William Lukash. "He feels fine."

The stress of running a difficult 6.2-mile course Saturday in the Catoctin Mountain National Park caused Carter to become overheated, Granum said.

The president was treated for heat exhaustion, Granum said, quoting Lukash as saying arduous muscle work demanded by the hill course brought on the condition.

Carter became wobbly and nearly collapsed about four miles into his first competitive effort. He dropped out of the race and returned immediately to Camp David, just 100 yards away.

The president rested several hours and then returned to the park for an awards ceremony, where he told reporters, "They had to drag me off. I didn't want to stop."

Carter explained he was trying to cut his own best time for the course, which he said he had run four times in the past.

"Our best time was 50 minutes and we were trying to cut that by about four minutes today and didn't quite make it," he said.

Witnesses said the president kept up his pace in the race, while many of the 900 other participants occasionally walked or stopped to rest.

"It was clear that he was pressing and I thought he was pressing a little too hard," said 33-year-old Keith Miles of Washington.

Another runner, Colman McCarthy of The Washington Post, said he heard groans from Carter, whom he described as looking ashen, "rubbery of leg and gasping."

Miles said when he passed Carter, the president was standing with his hands on his knees. He was being urged to quit by Lukash, who ran alongside the president.

Carter responded by saying, "No, let's go, let's go," Miles said, adding, "it was clear that he was winded."

Carter eventually gave in and was helped into a private car.

After the awards ceremony, the president took a nap, dined with his wife, Rosalynn, and 11-year-old daughter, Amy, and walked around Camp David's forested grounds.

Lukash examined Carter after the race and again following a big breakfast Sunday, Granum said. The president had a good night's sleep and followed his normal Sunday morning routine, attending a church service at the retreat, Granum said.

Laura's in love.

Woman Kills Security Guard

CHICAGO (UPI) — A woman allegedly caught stealing a pair of slacks, shot to death an unarmed 25-year-old Loop security guard at close range, police said.

Coleman Moore, a plainclothes security guard at Chas. A. Stevens and Co., was dead on arrival Saturday at Northwestern Memorial Hospital with a gunshot wound of the upper chest, authorities said.

Another security guard, also trying to stop the woman after she was seen stuffing a pair of slacks under her coat, was injured. The woman fired at the unidentified guard, narrowly missing her chest, but knocking her down.

Police said they were seeking a slender woman, believed to be in her 30s, of medium height with light hair.

"The guy never knew what hit him," a police investigator said of Moore.

"The woman had the draw on him and the bullet's trajectory sliced through his heart, killing him instantly. The woman then put the gun in her purse and walked about 35 yards to the door."

Lost Youths Found Safe After Ordeal

LYDENBORO, N.H. (AP) — Five teen-age hikers have been found safe in a rugged New Hampshire woods area called Purgatory where they became lost Saturday while on a hike.

Lydenboro police said the hikers were rescued about 2:30 a.m. Sunday after a six-hour search by dozens of volunteers. The wilderness area where they were lost is about 20 miles north of the Massachusetts border, said police dispatcher David Turner.

The teen-agers were identified as Randy Boudreau, 19, Kenneth Page, 19, Emily Carignan, 17, and her sisters, Diana, 15, and Cynthia, 14.
