Dad Helps In Baby's Delivery

By DEBBI STALTER Avalanche-Journal Staff

Kevin Elam had planned to spend today on the road, traveling back to his native state of Illinois but he ended up staying at home instead — to deliver a baby.

Elam and his wife, Donna, both 20, are now the proud parents of a 6 pound, 15 ounce baby girl named Kimberly Ann, thanks to some quick work by Kimberly's daddy

The couple had been awaiting the birth of their third child sometime soon, but hadn't expected the infant to be born right in their own living room

Elam said his wife had been feeling some pain throughout the day Monday, but prior experience told them not to become alarmed too soon. Little did they know that their new arrival was to come within a few short hours.

Elam said his wife had started to feel better after they had eaten their evening meal, so they went to bed about 11:30 p.m. for a restful night's sleep - or so they thought.

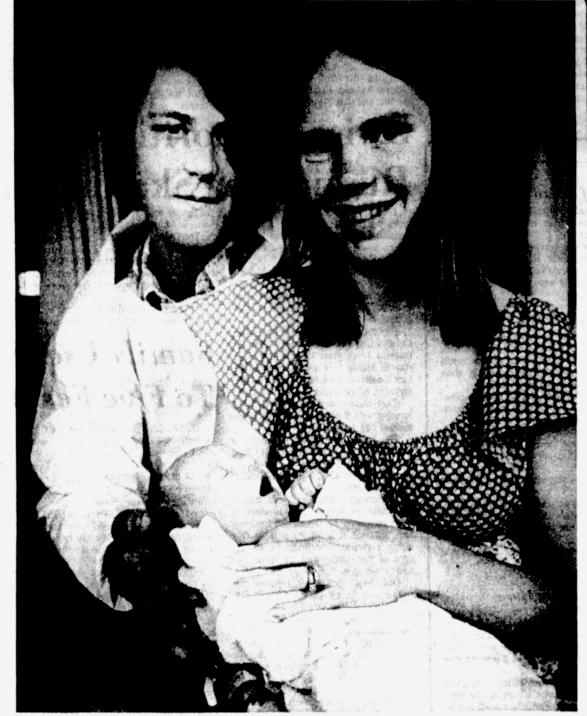

Mrs. Elam awoke about 2 a.m. and decided to go into the living room to read for awhile because she couldn't sleep

Elam said he had been sound asleep, but got up when he heard his wife calling to him that the baby was on its way.

Elam tried to reassure his wife that they would get to the hospital in time for the delivery and just to remain calm, but he soon realized they had less time left than they

Elam had served as a medic in the Air Force for several months prior to April of last year. Although he had helped with several deliveries during his service, he had never performed a delivery by himself, at least until now.

Energy Costs Lead August Price Surge pushing the cost ahead rapidly.

gy costs continued to surge through the economy in August, pushing consumer prices up 1.1 percent, the government

The sharp rise was the eighth consecutive monthly increase near or above 1 percent, the Labor Department said. And it occurred despite a leveling-off in food prices, which showed no change in

If there is no break in the price pattern, the nation will end the year with an inflation rate above 13 percent - the worst since World War II, economists

The Labor Department today also introduced its new energy report, which gives monthly price statistics on gaso-line, fuel oil and other energy costs. The report showed the impact on families of the 60 percent rise in crude oil prices enacted by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries since the start of the year. Among the statistics:

The average price for a gallon of gasoline last month across the nation was 96.7 cents, up 28.2 cents since the start of the year.

The average price of fuel oil was 80 cents per gallon, up 25.5 cents since

In another report, the Labor Department said Americans' average weekly earnings were badly eroded by inflation in August, falling 0.8 percent in the month. Spendable earnings, which are weekly earnings after Social Security and federal taxes are deducted and adjustments are made for inflation, fell 0.9 percent in August, the third consecutive monthly decline.

The Carter administration has been hoping for a turnaround in inflation before the end of the year.

But Labor Department economist Patrick Jackman said signs of that turnaround are not yet visible in the Consumer Price Index.

"Energy has direct and indirect effects on prices, and we have to continue to face that," he said.

The report said "about two-thirds of the (August) increase was due to higher energy and home ownership prices."

Transportation prices were up 1.5 percent for the month, with most of the rise blamed on a 4 percent surge in gasoline prices. Public transit costs also rose. 'In the 12 months ended in August gasoline prices increased 46.1 percent, the report said. Housing costs also reflect higher fuel fuel oil costs (56.4 percent for the year)

"In August, home prices rose 1.5 per-cent," the report said. "Home financing costs rose 3 percent, reflecting increase in both mortgage interest rates and house prices."

Although food prices held, continuing a pattern begun in June, clothing prices rose 0.7 percent after two months of decline and the miscellaneous category went up a full percentage point.

the average for this time of year, but still above normal. Lows for the next couple of days are viet ice skating stars, the fourth and fifth Russian artists to defect to the West in recent weeks, were in hiding and under police protection today.

Swiss officials announced Monday that Oleg Protopopov and Ludmila Belousova, winners of two Olympic gold medals, asked Switzerland for political asylum.

Protopopov, 47, and Miss Belousova, 43, who first skated together in 1951 and married seven years later, will have to stay in hiding "for several weeks" before a decision is made by the Swiss government, officials said.

They disappeared Sept. 17 after performing with their own ice revue in the town of Zug, near Zurich.

The Swiss government said today it has heard nothing from the Soviet Union so far about the defection.

"Nothing so far," a Justice Ministry spokesman said. A Foreign Ministry official added, "We have not received any message or been contacted by the Soviet Embassy and, although it is always possible that either a protest or demand for the return of the couple may be made, we don't really expect anything." One Swiss newspaper reported the couple was hiding out in a hotel near

"They seemed very happy that evening, laughing and joking as always, before leaving our house," said Kurt Soenning, a former Swiss skating champion and the couple's host in Switzerland.

The latest in a long list of Soviet defectors, the couple asked for Swiss asylum within a few weeks of similar asylum requests in the United States by three ballet stars. On Aug. 22, Bolshoi Ballet dancer Alexander Godunov defected in New York.

Two other Bolshoi stars, Leonid and Valentina Kozlov, asked for asylum in Los Angeles last week just before their troupe returned home to Moscow. The ice skating stars were world champions from 1965 to 1968 and were Olympic pairs champions in 1964 and It appeared that the defection by the skating stars was well-planned and that the couple was receiving help from both Swiss and foreign residents.

The Protopopovs left Moscow in mid-August for six shows in West Germany and arrived in Switzerland one month later for two performances at the invitation of Soenning, their manager when in

Family Uses Small Boat To Flee East Germany

LUEBECK, West Germany (AP) -A married couple and their 21/2-year-old child sailed out of East Germany in an inflatable boat today in the latest of a series of dramatic escapes from the Communist country, police said.

Police said the couple sailed unharmed into the West German port of Travemuende, just across the border from East Germany. They had mounted a small, outboard motor on their boat to make the trip, officers said.

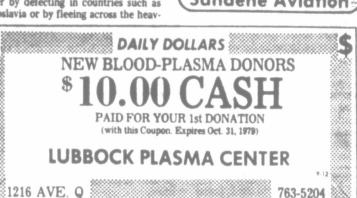

Officers said the family came from the East German port of Grevesmuehlen. about 20 miles from this Baltic port. The couple managed to elude East German patrol boats normally stationed off its Baltic coast.

West German sources say about 260 people leave East Germany each month, either by defecting in countries such as Yugoslavia or by fleeing across the heavily guarded border to the West. The number of defectors has reportedly increased in recent weeks amid rumots in East Germany of impending economic problems. In the most cele brated escape, two East German families sailed across the border into Bavaria on Sept. 16 in a homemade, hot-air bal-

A new exhibit on sheep and goats at the Museum of Texas Tech University was to be one topic of discussion at the annual membership meeting of the Food and Fiber National Institute of Achievement at 2 p.m. today at the Museum.

The exhibit, scheduled to open Feb. 1, will join the 3,600 square feet of Food and Fiber exhibits already in place at the Museum. The existing exhibits trace the historical development of the beef cattle, cotton and grain sorghum industries and honor outstanding individual contributors in each

The weekend's biggest open event, team roping which drew 400 teams in 1978, is expected to have more than 500

Other traditional events include the art preview party Oct. 5, and the Oldtimers Breakfast and Brush Arbor Service Getting to be a tradition is Ken Cur-the Postal Service-where it's currently being called a surplus.

USPS anticipates it will wind up operations for the current fiscal year with approximately $400 million in the black. That's a surplus, alrighty, and a healthy one. But the Postal Service can show a $400 million surplus on its books only because of the $920 million federal, uh, subsidy it got.

Laying aside the fact that taxpayers still are underwriting postal service to themselves to the tune of better than half a billion dollars, they have cause to be grateful.

This is the first year since 1945 that the service has not had to go back to the Treasury for additional funds above and beyond the legislated handout.

THE IMPROVEMENT in postal finances is a consequence in part of the latest rate increases and in part of USPS efforts to trim payroll costs-which account for more than 80 percent of annual expenditures.

But improvement in finances may be in part at the expense of productivity.

Horror stories of mail delay and nondelivery abound. Individually they may be subject to some exaggeration. They may fail to allow for occasional acts of God or other agencies that can stay the courier where weather can't.

But there is evidence of a perceptible slowing of delivery. Under American circumstances, a system delivering 90 percent of first-class mail within one day would be considered more than efficient. It would be reckoned a miracle. At least, a near miracle.

THAT IS THE achievement of the British system, which nevertheless is under critical fire and about to be reorganized.

Like the U.S. service, Her Majesty's Mail has a monopoly on delivery and has been a financial loser. The new Tory government hopes to shake it up a bit and improve efficiency with a spot of private competition.

Among other measures being considered, metro London may be opened up to private carriers. That experiment, if it comes to pass, could be of particular interest on this side of the Atlantic where the postal service vigorously opposes similar private opera-

Prop. 4 Puts Horse Before Cart

LOS ANGELES-Paul Gann is smiling. He is talking about his baby. The man who, along with Howard Jarvis, co-fathered Proposition 13, says: 'I've been saying for years that there's more of us than of them. We just needed to get together."

And get together they did with a vengeance in June 1978, when an overwhelming majority of Californians voted to cut the state property tax by nearly 60 percent-almost $6 billion

Following the passage of Proposition 13 there was much doom-mongering, some predictable, some not so predictable.

SEN. GEORGE McGovern, D-S.D., denounced the tax revolt as an example of "degrading hedonism," economist John Kenneth Galbraith said it was a "disguised attack on the poor," British journalist Henry Fairlie called it "an irresponsible use of the initiative," and the moderately conservative Business Week magazine said that Californians had "threatened the strength and stability of the boom, and have raised serious doubts about the state's ability to accommodate future growth.

Again, Paul Gann is smiling. He's heard it all. Says Gann, still smiling:
"It was said that if Prop. 13 passed, 451,000 jobs would be lost. But only 100,000 government jobs have been lost and 552,000 jobs have been created in private industry.

We think this is good for California, because during the past 10 years inflation and the population in the state have grown at an average rate of 7.7 percent, whereas the cost of government has grown at the average rate of 13.7 percent. So Prop. 13 will save Californians about $6 billion a of the Federal Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations: "There's much more emphasis on program productivity, less emphasis on program enrichment, more emphasis on tax relief, less emphasis on tax reform. And the fees and charges fit in with the privatization of the

According to John Shannon, assistant director

SHANNON ADDS that Proposition 13 has also 'stiffened the backbone of Congress so that they're moving much more rapidly toward a balanced federal budget.

In addition to all this there are the metaphysical benefits of Proposition 13. Neil Jacoby, professor of business management at the University of California here, says:

"Californians feel they have recovered control of their government. They have a revived faith in democracy. They feel more secure in their homes. Prop. 13 is bringing more efficient government, more equitable taxation, less social tension, and an improved climate for business."

Reports by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and a Boston financial consulting firm show that Proposition 13 is on its way to doubling the economy in this state, putting California's rate of inflation at 1 percent below the national rate and adding $110 billion to personal income.

DURING THE final quarter of 1978 and the first three months of this year, personal income here rose 14 percent above a year ago; only a few states did better.

Why should we pay Mexicans $3.625 and Americans only $1.50, or even $2.25?

Our Guv'ment also is accusing domestic producers of energy of ripping off the consumer and reaping windfall profits.

It's even trying to impose a "windfall profits" tax on our mean old oil companies, taking the money and giving it to the poor-so they'll be able to buy Mexican gas for a higher price than Texans can produce it for 'em.

Meanwhile, West Texas gas wells are shut in because there's a surplus of the stuff on the market. And, after spending millions to meet demands that they convert to other fuels, industries in Texas and elsewhere are being told there's plenty of cheaper natural gas, after all.

And Mexico says it's not going to pay for its oil slick's damage to our beaches...

IT'S A SHAME and disgrace the way some congressmen browbeat and insult American citizens who testify before their committees.

At a hearing last week, Rep. Peter H. Kostmayer, D-Pa., told Texaco officials "you can't trust the man who wears the star." accused them of price gouging, threatened them with nationalization and generally behaved in a boorish manner toward the executives.

The sad part is that the Congressman probably is a hero to the "folks back home" and that's all he wants.

A congressman who is rude and insulting to witnesses brings discredit to the office that once was held in high respect.

Army Pregnant With Problems

WASHINGTON-The All Volunteer Army is facing an unexpected and highly explosive socialpolitical problem: the high rate of pregnancy among women soldiers and its impact on combat readiness and morale.

Although little is being said in public because of Defense Department policy, high-ranking Army officials now privately admit that the pregnancy problem overshadows other difficulties such as drug abuse, racial tension and even AWOLs.

The latest Pentagon figures indicate that during 1978 a total of 7,500 of the Army's approximately 50,000 service women were pregnant. That's 15 percent of the women serving in that service. The number of pregnancies are believed to be slightly less for the Navy and Air Force.

MOST DISTURBING TO the top Army brass is that the pregnancy situation is expected to increase as the number of women in the military services grows due to Pentagon policy encouraging their enlistments.

The best Defense Department estimates indicate that approximately 10,000 of the current 105,000 women in the four military services are of will become pregnant during 1979.

With the number of women in the military services expected to double by the mid-1980s, the estimate is that as many as 20,000 pregnancies will occur annually and it could even be much It is what this growing number of pregnancies is doing to the reading er military forces that is beginning to bother U.S. military commanders.

BECAUSE OF THE existing Defense Department policy that nothing bad can be said about women in the military, most U.S. commanders won't talk about the pregnancy problem in public. There are a few exceptions.

Brig. Gen. William H. Fitts, chief of personnel for the U.S. Army, for example, recently told a group of visiting U.S. reporters: "Pregnancy is most certainly one of the major problems in the Army here in Europe. In a major field exercise last winter in West Germany, the general noted, the Army learned that numerous women were unable to pack up and leave their home bases because they were el-ther pregnant or caring for small children. While estimates vary, Army personnel officers say, that anywhere from 10 to 20 percent, and sometimes as high as 25 percent of the 13,000 women now serving in Army units in West Ger-

Under present Defense Department policy, pregnancy is regarded as a temporary disability and not as a reason for discharging the woman

Should the women decide to remain in the military service, which most do, they are usually reassigned to positions where they will not have

In many cases, the pregnant women are put on medical leave or become "part-time" soldiers due to their condition. This policy, in many instances, shifts their duties on to others and causes morale problems.

Officially, a woman is given six weeks' medical leave after having a child. But, according to Army sources, medical problems often arise in the period leading up to birth, resulting in the woman being forced to take extra time off.

Chrysler, the only domestic carmaker using direct rebates to cut car and truck prices, said Monday it sold 112,835 cars in 26 selling days of the rebate program between Aug. 21 and Sept. 20.

That represented a 51.3 percent from the previous 26 days, when the ailing No. 3 automaker sold only 74,540 cars.

At the same time, truck sales increased 60 percent to 36,866 units in the 26 days of the rebate program, compared with 22,948 in the preceding 26

The rebates were offered on all but the company's hot-selling small cars and imported subcompacts. The program will end Saturday.

"We regard this dramatic sales increase as a great vote of confidence from the buying public," said Gar Laux, Chrysler's executive vice president for sales and marketing.

"We've achieved great sales momentum and simultaneously achieved a substantial decrease in our factory and dealer inventory," he said,

Although full profits on rebated cars were foregone, the program saved money by reducing an expensive car and truck inventory.

Chrysler reported the number of unsold cars in factory and dealer lots decreased 27 percent during the rebate program from 296,078 units on Aug. 20 to 216,238 on Sept. 20.

Chrysler lost $260 million in the first half of this year and has estimated its losses in 1979 and 1980 could total more to tide it over until it launches a new line of 1981 compact cars, which it believes will restore its profitability.

However, the company is scaling down its earlier request for $1.2 billion in guarantees which the government re-

GM Recalls Compact Cars For Faulty Transmissions

DETROIT (AP) - General Motors Corp. is recalling all of its new "Xbody" front-wheel drive compacts with automatic transmission to fix potential transmission and steering problems.

The 225,000 cars, about 84 percent of those sold so far, are the Chevrolet Citation, Pontiac Phoenix, Oldsmobile Omega and Buick Skylark. Manual transmission models are not affected.

It was the first recall for the series, introduced in April as 1980 models. GM said "material deficiences" on transmission cooler line hoses could cause the hoses to fail and leak fluid, increasing the chances of a fire under Steering gear mounting plates on about 160,000 of the same cars could crack from fatigue, allowing the steering gear to loosen, GM said. If that should happen, the driver would notice excessive play in the steering wheel. New hoses and new steering gear mounting brackets will be installed by

The company said it knew of no accidents or injuries resulting from either problem, but it did know of nine fires. Spokesman Bill Knight said repair reports led to the transmission recall and that durability testing led to the steering recall.

Most of the cars "probably never" would suffer cracked mounting plates, Knight said, but he added that he was unable to say how long a typical car would have to run before such cracks were likely to show up.

JODY GERARD Wants Tax Law Changed

Interest Bill Ready For Senate

WALLINGTON (AP) - A bill to gradu eliminate federal interest ceilings distings accounts is awaiting Senate action after winning the endorsement of its Banking Committee.

Aimed at encouraging Americans to save more, the measure also would reduce from $10,000 to $1,000 the minimum deposit necessary for a high-earning money-market certificate and would authorize interest-bearing checking accounts nationwide.

The passbook interest ceiling has, by one estimate, cost savers $42 billion they would have otherwise collected on such accounts over the last decade.

Regulations now prohibit banks from paying more than 5¼ percent, or savings and loan associations more than 51/2 percent, on passbook accounts.

The measure is backed by the Carter administration and the Federal Reserve

Board. Senate action is expected next

The provision on checking accounts, similar to a measure the House passed last week, would overturn a federal court finding that such interest-bearing accounts are not legal.

The bill was approved by the committee Monday on a voice vote, with only Sen. William Armstrong, R-Colo., opposing it. However, Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said he probably will attempt on the Senate floor to retain for another 18 months the passbook interest ceiling, known as Regulation Q.

The committee's chairman, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., called that regulation a disincentive to savers and said it "particularly outrageous at a time when interest rates (paid by borrowers) approach the rate of inflation.

He agreed with Cranston, however, that eliminating the ceiling would impose a hardship on many savings and loan associations, although adding that the 10-year phase-out favored by the committee would negate most of the Savings and loans favor Regulation Q. which allows them to pay interest one-quarter of a percentage point above that paid by commercial banks. Savings and loans have much of their assets tied up in long-term mortgages with fixedinterest rates and thus would be had put to ay higher rates to depositors, Cranston reasoned.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENTS

According to the Insurance Information Institute, nearly 2 million people have died and 132 million have been injured in 672 million highway accidents in the U.S. in the past 50 years. The loss to the nation economically from these accidents amounts to some $508 billion

EDDYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) - Denouncing taxation without representation, 12-year-old Jody Gerard says he plans to lobby for changes in a state tax law that requires him to collect sales taxes on his backyard worm business. Since it became known the state Tax Department put the bite on Jody this summer for not collecting the tax on his sales to local fishermen, scores of letters have poured into the tiny post office here - some from as far away as Switzerland.

To date, the young entrepreneur has received more than $80 from well-wishers to help cover his first-quarter tax bill of 64 cents. Dozens of reporters have found their way to this Catskill Mountain hamlet to talk to him. And tax officials have announced plans to seek a change in the law.

The proposal would exempt children with small businesses around the home from paying sales taxes, but it will be next year before the Legislature could act. Until then, the tax will be collected.

To insure some relief, Jody says he will press his case in the Legislature during an upcoming class trip to Albany. "I am going to be talking to people. I think the law should be changed," he said recently. "Kids shouldn't have to collect

So far, Jody has personally answered 73 letters, but he's not sure of the total he has received. "I got lots, and some of them were funny," he said. A hand-let-tered "thank you" note to those who didn't include a return address appeared in the New York Times.

Jody says the Tax Department "probably wouldn't have changed anything if it wasn't on television and in the newspapers," but the freckle-faced young businessman is unimpressed by all the attention. It wasn't hard to answer reporters' questions, he said, because they all asked the same ones.' Meanwhile, business is booming. For the latest quarter, he remitted $2.78 to the state on earnings of $39.71. But he still won't charge the 7 percent sales tax required in Ulster County. "It's not right," he says. "I will pay the money

Jody's troubles began early this summer when a certified letter from the Tax Department arrived saying the worms were "tangible personal property" subject to sales taxes. The department says it was acting on an anonymous tip and

After an anxious week, Jody called the department. But the state wouldn't back down, and a short time later two tax men from Albany arrived at the Ger-

Army Recruiters Claim Corruption Widespread

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) Four recruiters accused of participating in a nationwide Army recruiting scandal have told a Fayetteville newspaper that unwritten rules of corruption for recruiters have been in existence for years.

The four men, who have all been relieved of duty while three face courtsmartial, said in the interview that getting copies of entrance exams to aid recruits in cheating in the Army's Charlotte district was as easy as taking in the

One of the four said the tests arrive in the mail, or a veteran of the recruiting system takes a newcomer aside and slips him one."

The four made their comments in an interview with The Fayetteville Observer. They asked that their names not be

They said recruiters trying to fulfill enlistment quotas frequently gave enlistees test answers, handed out forged Social Security cards and IRS forms and lied on paper about a prospective recruit's educational qualifications.

They said those and many more illegal activities go on under the noses of recruiters' commanders without protest, and are condoned by the commanders. In some cases, they claimed, superiors have participated.

"It's been exposed to the public now, and the commanders have to do something to satisfy the public. So they are going to make scapegoats out of the enlisted people," one said.

The four recruiters are among a group of nearly 20 recruiters who were relieved of duty in the Charlotte District and have banded together in an attempt to start an investigation into recruitment

Their attorney, Mark Waple said Monday that some of the suspended recruiters plan to hold a news conference Wednesday "to be more specific with their allegations."

The Army has relieved 101 recruiters and three officers nationally in five months of investigation inside at least eight recruiting districts that began with the Charlotte command last May.

Thyroid Deficiency

BY LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D. DR. LAMB - Could you l me of there's a special diet for a rsec with an underactive thyroid person with an underactive inyroid gland. I'm taking two pills a day for my Thyroid. I just want to know if there's something that can help to keep my weight down. Also can a person with an underactive thyroid

DEAR READER - It's a good idea for most people who have an underactive thyroid to be on a diet. If you're not producing enough tyroid hormone, the metabolism of your body will be decreased. That means you'll use less calories at rest than the normal person. It also means that if you keep on eating the same amount as a normal person you'll

The ideal solution, of course, is to have enough replacement of thyroid hormone that there is no deficiency present. In that case, you should be able to eat a normal diet.

While it's well known that an underactive thyroid can contribute to obesity, that is seldom the cause for being overweight. That's why giving thyroid tablets for people who are simply overweight doesn't help. You annot increase the metabolism of a normal person simply by giving them additional thyroid pills unless you

As The Health Letter I'm sending you points out, exercise also helps in weight control. For a person who is moderately obese and isn't very active. I think that exercise is the most neglected feature of weight control. This, too, has to be sensible. Not only are crash diets harmful, but so are crash exercise programs.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would like to get some information about a person who has had his stomach removed. How does one digest food?

Or are people who have had their stomachs removed on a special diet?

DEAR READER some problems. A small pouch may be left that functions as a stomach In such cases it certainly won't hold a lot of food. That's true even if only part of the stomach is removed. The biggest problem is that it limits how much food a person can eat at a time and of course, if there's no stomach at all, soft, liquid or at the most semi-solid foods must be relied upon.

The stomach normally churns and liquifies the food into a semi-solid state before it enters the small intestine. In the absence of the stomach, you need to use foods that are already in this state. As far as digestion itself is concerned, most of it is really carried on in the small intestine. None of the foods except alcohol are absorbed directly from the stomach into the circulation. The chief function of the stomach is to add acids and digestive juices that begin the breakdown of proteins and to churn and mix the food until it's converted to a liquid or a semi-solid consistency.

Dallas School Workers Protest Firings

las Independent School District employes were absent from work Monday in an apparent protest over the recent firings of three administrators and sever-

The firings came as a result of an investigation into allegations of wrongdoing in the school system.

School officials said they have been unable to determine just how many of the 118 absent employes could have been on vacation, called in sick or took a personal business day or just did not show up for work.

They said they also did not know how many would return to work today and if any action would be taken against them.

In a letter sent to school board members and the news media and signed only by "members of the Dallas Independent School District Maintenance Department," the persons said they were taking sick leave to protest Superintendent Linus Wright's "insatiable desire to investigate" and what they described as the school board's "brand of justice."

"God, forgive us, but we have been meek, trusting, prayerful and loving

Therefore, and finally an epidemic of heartbreak, emotional fatigue, upset stomach, nausea, frustration, headaches, dizziness, sinus difficulties, serious in somnia, and other personal ailments are forcing a large group of this maintenance department to take sick leave for

Two Suspects Jailed In Stokes' Death

TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN RESOURCES Title 20 Social Services Plan

The 1980 social services program for Texas has been prepared by the Department of Human Resources in cooperation with citizens throughout the state. The plan is available for public

Comprehensive Annual Services Program Plan for Texas (CASPP)

October 1, 1979 to September 30, 1980

Differences Between Proposed and Final Plan-The proposed Title 20 plan was published May 11, 1979. Public comments were accepted through June 25. Changes in the final plan show updated estimates of the number of people to be served and program cost. A summary of the major differences between the proposed and final

Organizational Structure -- The organizational charts for DHR's State Office and Social Services Branch have been updated

Clients to be Served and Income Eligibility - Income eligibility for all services, except those provided in the Alternate Care of the Aged, Blind and Disabled (ABD) program, has been changed from 55 percent to 56 percent of the state median income, adjusted for family size. Income eligibility for ABD services has been set at 70 percent, 60 percent and 40 percent of the state median income, adjusted for family size. Income eligibility for ABD services varies by services and by region

Fees for Services - A sample schedule of day care fees is included in the final plan

Planning, Needs Assessment, Evaluation-These sections have been revised to include an updated description of the department's planning, needs assessment and evaluation processes. The criteria used to allocate program funds to regions also are included.

Service Definitions - The definitions for Permanent Planning, Protective Community Resources and Alternative Living Plans have been revised to better describe the activities included in these services.

New Service - A new service was added to assist victims of family violence. This service was made possible by a special appropriation by the 66th Texas Legislature.

Service to Be Continued-The proposed plan stated that Health Assessment Services would be discontinued after December 31, 1979. This service will be provided in regions 5 and 7 throughout the 1980 program year.

Program Expenditures - Estimates of expenditures and clients to be served in the proposed CASPP were based on Legislative Budget Board recommendations. The figures in the final CASPP are based on the actual appropriations approved by the Governor. With the exception of state contracts, most programs received a slight increase in funds. The ABD program received a major increase, about $13 million, and AFDC Special Services were increased by about $8.6 million. State contracts were cut about $1 million. The estimated number of clients to be served in each program has been updated based on regional projections.

Catalog of Services-The eligibility criteria for ABD, Rehabilitation and Community Services have been clarified. ABD eligibility has been simplified to include fewer categories.

Purchase of Service Providers -- The list of purchase of service providers in the final CASPP has been updated to show contracts which were in effect July 1, 1979.

Getting Copies of the Plan-The complete plan may be read or reviewed in the DHR offices listed below, or obtained free by writing to Title 20, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

West Texas Hospital personnel, Lubbock firemen and EMS ambulance attendants participated in a disaster drill Monday night with high school students acting as the injured in a mock explosion and fire at The Avalanche-Journal build-

The supposed explosion "killed" several persons and sent about 25 more to West Texas Hospital with a variety of in-

Units from the Lubbock Fire Department and Emergency Medical Services rushed to the scene, where the students lay strewn about the basement and first

"We're required to do drill such as these twice a year," said Dave Moore, director of education at West Texas Hospital. "But we like to do them just tokeep our people responsive to such dis-

Working through the Explorer Scouts, the hospital rounded up nearly 30 student volunteers from Lubbock High School to pretend they were injured workers. After they were decked out in articial blood and gore, they were spread around the inside of The A-J building, just as if there had been a real

We want this to be as real as possible," Moore said. "EMS and the Fire Department know we're going to have the drill, but they've got to react and get things right just like this was for real.

As the EMS crews found their way to the basement of the A-J building, they were confronted with moans and screams from the "injured" workers. Outside, fire units covered the building as fire crews checked the top and sides

The EMS technicians checked each person they found, quickly diagnosed his injuries and decided which needed to be taken care of first. They had to find their own way in and out, encountering locked doors, stairs that were too narrow for stretchers and several very un-

Several concerned bystanders, attracted by the flashing lights and gathering of emergency vehicles in front of the paper's offices, watched closely, but the worried looks quickly disappeared when informed the disaster was only a fake.

Girl Scouts Witness Citizenship Ritual

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles dealing with the United Way of Lubbock. Except for efficials of United Way agencies involved, the names used are fictitious to pretect the identities of those served. However, the steries reflect actual case histories here.)

When Roberta Preston made her decision to become an American citizen she thought it would be fun to get everyone into the act - everyone in her daughter's Girl Scout troop, that is.

She knew that by getting the girls involved she could achieve her two-fold purpose: to interest them in the "active citizen" badge for junior Girl Scouts and get the moral support she needed to walk into the courtroom, give up her British citizenship and espouse the U.S.

The Caprock Girl Scout Council, a United Way agency, will receive $81,838 from the United Way's 1980 goal of $1,-

"I thought it would be a great thing if the girls could watch it (her swearing the oath of allegiance). It's not often little girls get to go into a courtroom. They were very much in awe," Mrs. Preston said, "It's a big step to give up citizenship. I wanted to become an American, but to give up my Bridsh citizenship,

As a part-time volunteer and soon to be co-leader of her daughter's troop, Mrs. Preston thought the experience of going with her would exemplify the purpose of the active citizen badge which is to "find out about and put into practice New York City. The Ohio branch is the the responsibilities of a citizen of the only residential campus in the system United States of America," according to and the only branch called Antioch Col- a Girl Scout publication. battled Rev. Charles E. Glass of the First United Pentecostal Church in Sherman, says things are looking up but he'll feel a lot better when his name stops appearing on newsprint.

Last month the Texas District board of presbyters of the United Pentecostal Church International stripped Glass of his ministerial credentials.

The action, taken after two ministers filed formal charges against him for alleged conduct unbecoming a minister, was aimed at prohibiting Glass from serving as pastor for any church congre-

But Glass, 57, contending he never received written notice of the action, attended the church's general conference here Monday and was seated without question among 2,000 other ministers.

There was no question in my mind that I would be (seated) - no question that I'll remain a member of the Pentecostal Church," Glass said. "And I'll be glad when you all get back to writing something I can get back to enjoying sault charge brought by a former member who alleged Mrs. Glass slapped and choked her.

Mrs. Glass and her husband deny the allegations. And in April, Glass' congregation voted to withdraw from the parent church.

The Rev. Nathaniel A. Urshan, the 500,000-member church's general superintendent, said, "We were ignorant of the big contention about Mr. Glass being

He said the Texas District had not informed the church's national board of any action against Glass. "We'll just wait until the Texas District contacts us," Urshan said.

But there were indications Monday the board may be reconsidering its action, a process Glass said would be best for all concerned.

Said the Rev. E.L. Holley, Texas District superintendent, "Inasmuch as it is in the process, it's probably altogether inappropriate for me to make much comment." But told that Glass hoped for a reconciliation, he added, "I share the wishes for the least amount of problem. I'm a Christian and I don't like to see problems anywhere.

I believe Mr. Holley wants to do what's right," Glass said. "But I hope what he thinks is the right thing is what I think is the right thing.

To drop the whole thing? "To say the least," Glass said. Glass had said he would consider legal action against the board, but after his uneventful seating he said he thought the matter could be settled short of court action.

'We feel very good about it ... as far as resolving allegations against us," Glass said of his situation in Sherman, where he been pastor since 1958. "I think we're heading in that direction.

person becomes a citizen and how a person may lose citizenship.

Before the courtroom visit, Mrs. Preston explained much to the girls about her native England and gave them explanations on the processes of becoming an American citizen.

Also, Mrs. Preston took the girls to the Texas Tech University Law School for a talk on local government for part of the work on the badge.

However, another very important aspect of Mrs. Preston's work with the troup is making them aware of the international aspect of the Girl Scout program. Mrs. Preston as a child was a Brownie Scout in the Guide Program in Morecambe, England.

According to Peggy Sugarek, field director for the Caprick Girl Scout Council. the Girl Scout/Girl Guide organization exists in more than 100 countries around the world, with three million in the U.S. alone. She said, except for the Iron Curtain countries, the scouts subscribe to the same programs and beliefs in every country, but the structure may differ slightly

The World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides formed in the early 1900s was begun to promote understand ing and unity of purpose in all the organizations world-wide. They maintain four world centers in Mexico, Switzerland, England and India as gathering points for girls around the world to meet and work at a greater understanding of varied cultures while maintaining the unity of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides, Mrs. Sugarek said many girls from the Caprock Council have attended these meetings and have brought back many memorable experiences and new friendships.

The Caprock Council, chartered in 1957. serves 18 counties - Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Parmer, Swisher. Terry and Yoakum — with its headquarters in Lubbock

Panel's Decision SPAG May Hurt

Avalanche-Journal Staff

Lubbock County commissioners may have voted more than themselves out of the South Plains Association of Governments Monday - their decision may mean the loss of two minority representatives on the council of governments' board of directors.

County Commissioners Coy Biggs, Alton Brazell and Edgar Chance voted during a morning session to pull out of SPAG, with Commissioner Jim Lancaster abstaining. Lancaster had sided with County Judge Rodrick Shaw in saying the county should stay in the organization to retain an active voice in projects affecting the county.

SPAG serves as a clearing house for federally funded projects, with its comments for or against the project's merits having considerable weight with funding

SPAG executive director Jerry Casstevens, in his third week serving in that position, said the board now will be faced with deciding what to do about the minority representatives that were to be elected from Lubbock County.

The SPAG general assembly had decided Sept. 11 to approve the addition of eight minority members to qualify this area as an Economic Development District. Two of those members were to be elected from Lubbock County.

Casstevens said the board must now make a clarification of whether six or eight minority members should serve. Casstevens said that according to SPAG's bylaws, the two representatives in question will not be shifted over to represent other areas. The board must decide if it should drop the two, now that their constituent government is no longer part of SPAG.

The matter will come before the board at its October meeting.

SPAG also will suffer a loss of about $9.000 in membership dues as a result of Lubbock County's pull-out. Total annual dues paid to SPAG have totaled about

That loss, coupled with the decrease of any planning monies coming from the county in the next year, may hurt SPAG some. Casstevens said, but does not mean the end to the organization's oper-

"I'm sure it will have some effect," he said, "but we're not going to close the doors.

The commissioners' vote marked the second time the county has dropped its SPAG ties. Commissioners voted to get out of SPAG in 1975, citing reasons of Commissioners at that time gave similar opinions on the addition of minorities to the board in an effort to get economic development funds. They said that while they were not against minority representation, they were strongly opposed to the federal government telling them who could serve on a local board.

After the 1975 pullout by the county. commissioners waited two years before voting to return to SPAG, a decision which came about the time the county began seeking federal funds for its juvenile detention center.

Lubbock minority leaders say the commissioners may be hearing from minorities in the area about the vote.

Bidal Aguero, who organized the Conference of Organizations represent ing about 30 minority groups, said the conference will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Auxilio Center, Third Street and Avenue F, to decide its course of action in response to the county's decision.

"I think something is needed to make the commissioners realize they must be responsible to other people besides themselves," Aguero said, adding that he was not surprised by the vote.

Lubbock city and county officials both have been criticized by the conference for their stance on not wanting anyone other than elected officials serving on the SPAG board. The board currently has no minority members

SPAG board President Medlin Carpenter, who pushed for minority representation to get the Economic Development District designation here, was not available for comment on the commissioners' withdrawal Monday

New York Women's Organization Hall Of Fame To Honor Past Leaders

AP Writer

SENECA FALLS NY (AP) - The place where the national women's-rights movement begat in 1848 is a laundromat todas in this picturesque central New Fork village

But less than two blocks away a more lasting memory to the birth of the women scrights struggle survives in the recentis opened national Women's Hall of Fame

The idea for a hall was conceived 11 years ago when a group of Seneca Falis women sat down to tea and decided women who had made significant contributions to American history should be honored.

There was no place to come to learn about the women who have contributed to this country," said Carole Stallone, executive secretary of the hall. "There's a football hall of fame and a hockey hall, but there aren't any women honored in these various fields.

The women organized and chartered a hall of fame in 1969 and then began a 10-year campaign to find the permanent headquarters necessary to "make it via-

Coincidentally, five women honored in the hall all lived in the Finger Lakes region of central New York during the last half of the 19th century. These women are honored in a special section of the hall, which contains exhibits dedicated to each of the inducted women.

Perhaps the best known of these New York women is Elizabeth Cady Stanton, who lived in Seneca Falls and

Only one brick wall of that chapel remains today, and it serves as one of the walls for the Seneca Falls Laundromat. But the participants of the convention 131 years ago made clear their belief that women were capable of doing more than west durty laundry

Modeled after the Declaration of Independence, the Declaration of Sentiments laid the foundation for the wornen s-rights struggle

The document, which states in its preface that "all men and women are created equal, demanded that women be given more equitable tax and divorce laws, job equality and the right to attend college and to vote in elections. The declaration also vowed that

Rebecca Holden, president of the hall, says nominations to the half are screened by a 10-member research committee, which then passes its recommendations to a national honors committee for a final decision.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who has always been an excellent student, graduated from a fine Eastern school last spring. She decided not to stay for the commencement ceremony since she felt the financial burden wasn't justified. Consequently she felt it would be tacky to send graduation announcements, so she didn't send any.

We have a large family on both sides, and I have always acknowledged graduations with gifts - announced or not. Even though the whole clan was aware of my daughter's graduation, not one sent her a gift!

I am upset over this, and intend to act accordingly when future gift-giving events occur in the family.

My daughter thinks I am being overly sensitive. What do you think? DISAPPOINTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are hurt because your daughter's accomplishments were not acknowledged, and I don't blame you. But if you intend to withhold gifts from the clan because they failed to give your daughter a graduation gift, you are, in effect, acknowledging that you give only to get a gift or to repay one.

DEAR ABBY: As you pointed out to STEAMED IN STOCKTON, who cooled his heels in the doctor's office for two hours, emergencies and telephone interruptions can throw any doctor off schedule. As an obstetrician I am particularly susceptible to this, but there is no excuse for keeping a patient waiting for two hours! I don't care whether he earns $50 an hour or is unemployed, every patient's time should be considered as valuable as the doctor's.

If I am running late, my office telephones the patients to let them know before they arrive at my office.

Any patient who is kept waiting for two hours should complain to the receptionist who booked the appointment, and to the County Medical Society if necessary. Overbooking is a common practice, unfortunately. And unless these doctors who overbook don't get feedback in the form of complaints, they will continue to overbook. IRVINE, CALIF., DOCTOR

DEAR DOCTOR: You're just what the patient ordered!

DEAR ABBY: I'm getting married

next month and a very touchy problem has come up. My fiance wants to sing at our wedding. And before you say you think it's a lovely idea, let me give you a few facts. Danny has a fair voice. Just fair. It's all right in the shower, but it's not good enough to sing in public. He loves the idea of having such a large audience, but Abby, our wedding guests are coming to see a wedding, not to hear

Science Digest Writer Questions 'Live-Cell Theory' Of Skin Care

NEW YORK (Special) — Our society is youth-oriented. To many people, wrinkles herald faded youth, and a new line of skin-care products based on "live-cell therapy" developed in Switzerland is selling briskly in the U.S. for $235. Many dermatologists say a person can get rid of wrinkles as temporarily and effectively with a moisturizer bought in the 10-

The new creams are made from live sheep embryos and the producers at Clinic La Prairie in Switzerland claim the substances check aging in epidermal cells by penetrating the skin. But, investigative reporter John Stossel says in the September issue of Science Digest, it just isn't so

The consensus of doctors I interviewed was that no cream will penetrate the skin, so all you are doing with any cream is applying some temporary moisture," Stossel says. One doctor told him that he advised poorer patients to put Crisco on dry skin, that it worked as well as expensive moisturizers even though it didn't smell as good.

If La Prairie process did work, Dr. Albert Lefkovits said, a person could rub a fertilized egg yolk on the skin and get

EAT MORE CHEESE!

Americans are eating more cheese! In 1978, the per person consumption rang the bell at 17.3 pounds, which is up from 16.4 pounds in 1977. Cheese consumption has doubled since 1961!

"Perhaps," the article hypothesizes, buyers consider $235 cheap compared with the cost of flying to Europe to get the full treatment at Clinic La Prairie that lasts nine days and costs $4,000.

"The treatment operates on the same principle as the face creams except that the sheep embryo cells are injected instead of smeared on. Also, you receive cells for specific diseases."

For liver problems, injections of liver cells. For mental retardation, injections of brain and pituitary cells. And the like.

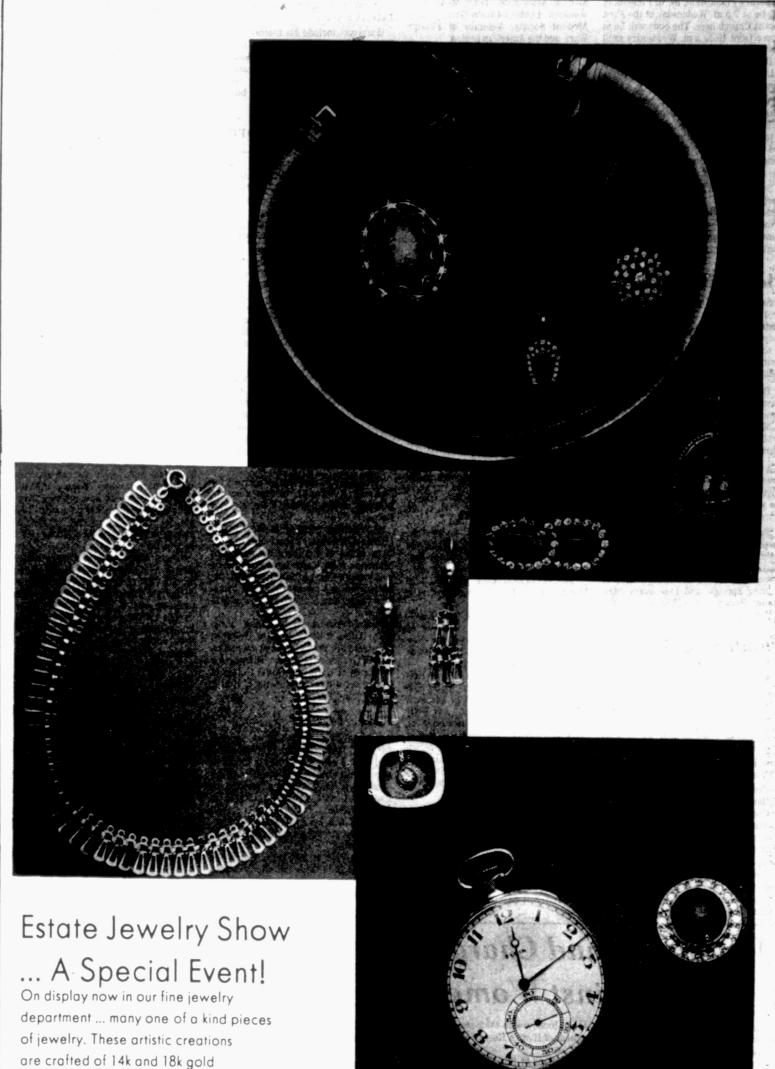

Science Digest says American doctors interviewed found most of the clinic's claims ridiculous and points out that the bloodstream distributes cells equally throughout the body, that the cells would die anyway because the body's immune system would attack cells from any foreign agent.

Yet, 60,000 people have gone to Clinic La Prairie for embryo cell therapy. "People," observes Dr. Mark R. Newman, a specialist, "are drawn to anything that sounds like it can't hurt you and could really help you.'

flagged down a police detective Monday night to ask him if he wanted a date. But what she got was a date at the Lubbock County Jail, where she was booked on a count of prostitution.

Police reports indicate the detective was hailed by the wornan in the 1200 block of Avenue F about 6:30 p.m. Monday and asked if he wanted a date.

When the officer asked the woman what that date would include, she told him it would cost $20 for straight sex and directed him to an East Lubbock

Reports show that when the detective gave the woman $20, she took her blouse off and the detective showed her his badge and told her she was under ar-

In other activity Monday night, police arrested a 21-year-old Roswell, N.M. man during a rock concert at the Municpal Auditorium after an apparent argument over the ownership of a shirt.

Police officers who were working security at the concert said they saw three men scuffling over possession of the shirt and asked them to take their argument elsewhere.

One of the men told police he could play wherever he pleased, and reports show police asked him to leave twice before restraining him.

The man was arrested and booked into county jail for resisting arrest, criminal trespass and failure to show identification upon request.

The Monday night concert also meant trouble for a 16-year-old Lubbock High School student, who told police he was attacked by four men in the parking lot about 11 p.m.

The youth told police the four men jumped him as he left the concert. His sister flagged down police and gave them a description of the car the four men were riding in.

Reports indicate police stopped a 1966 Chevrolet Belair in the 2500-block of Fourth Street and one of the occupants told them the LHS student had instigated the fight and that he was the onyouth

Police said the student sustained minor cuts and a possible broken nose and that no arrests were made.

Unemployment continues to drop in Lubbock, despite a decrease in the total number of employed people, according to figures released by the Texas Employment Commission Unemployment receded from 3.9 per-

Demand for workers showed an increase as those students and summer workers left their jobs. But the number of job seekers continues to outnumber available jobs. The 1979 August unemployment estimate is below that of August 1978. Last imployment was at 4.1 percent during August. Lubbock has been following the trend line for Texas so far this year, though the local rate is considerably lower. Texas unemployment is estimated at 4.6 percent while U.S. unemployment is 5.9 percent. TEC officials are predicting an additional 3,000 jobs above the current level will open up during the coming quarter.

Approximately 98,480 people were employed in August and estimates put the November work force at about 100,800. The pattern of growth is expected to continue during the rest of the year due

Soil Samples Fail To Show Any Uranium

ERWIN, Tenn. (AP) - The Nuclear Regulatory Commission said today it could find nothing in soil samples to explain the loss of at least 19.8 pounds of weapons-grade uranium from a defense

NRC spokesman Ken Clark said soil samples taken from around the Nuclear Fuel Services Inc. plant showed no traces of the missing high-enriched uranium when tested Monday at Oak Ridge National Laboratory and at the Argonne National Lab near Chicago.

The analyses indicate that the material in the soil is consistent with normal effluents from the plant, which means it doesn't have anything to do with the inventory," Clark said.

The NRC closed the plant on Sept. 17 after the Getty Oil Co. subsidiary reported at least 9 kilograms - 19.8 pounds of 96 percent enriched uranium 235 unaccounted for in a two-month inventory from June 18 to Aug. 14.

Inventory discrepancies are not unusual in such plants but NRC officials decided to order an immediate shutdown at Erwin because of its long history of such errors, most of them later blamed on accounting mistakes.

Clark said officials will likely have to wait until a new inventory is completed at the end of October before knowing if the uranium is really missing. The new inventory, requiring 30 days, is to begin

We have eliminated some possibilities," he said. "We know that it's not a glaring bookkeeping error and we did a physical search and it wasn't located.

After completely reviewing the physical security plans and procedures, there is nothing to indicate that there was a breach that allowed someone to physically remove the material," he

The soil samples were taken from areas associated with settling ponds that handle some of the plant's wastes. The sites were chosen on the basis of an aerial survey pinpointing locations where radioactivity exceeded levels in a similar survey two years ago. Bob Burnett, the NRC's director of nuclear safeguards, said it is not unusual for such readings to occur in an area where a plant such as the Erwin facility has been operating for more than 20

Clark said the trace amounts of uranium and other material found in the soil pose no health or safety threat.

Prehistoric Bones Found

Around Constructrion Site

PLYMOUTH, Wash. (AP) - Bones of a Columbia mammoth, musk ox, bison, deer and bighorn sheep, all believed to be about 13,000 years old, have been identified at a site being cleared for highway construction, spokesmen say.

The site just north of the Columbia River was first spotted in 1977 when a piece of mammoth tooth was found among small bones in sagebrush east of Washington Highway 14. Delbert Gilbow of Washington State University said the team has uncovered a nearly complete mammoth skeleton. including a giant skull and tusk. background vocals on others folks' records, or commercial jingles. She starved in Los Angeles and Dallas and Nashville just waiting for the opportunity. She then found work, singing backup for Dolly Parton and Barbara Mandrell, Ronnie Milsap and Johnny Paycheck, Elvis and, yes, even Dr. Hook. Her salary grew to more than $100,000 per year. She'd attained a goal.

Then a strange thing happened. Though her name wasn't listed on the record, country DJs started crediting the female singer by name who was heard on Johnny Duncan's singles. People started finding out who the voice was behind those national television commercials. And finally CBS Records recognized a different sort of commercial possibility and offered Miss Fricke a

Most singers would jump at it. A contract offer from a major label? Pardon my dust. But Miss Fricke was hesitant very hesitant

"I never had any intention of becoming a solo act," she said during a recent telephone conversation. "I was real surprised when the disc jockies started getting my name out. And I was surprised when my first single was nominated for a Grammy. Now I'm nominated for a Country Music Association award, which I know I won't win. But it's an honor just to go.

'Anyway, I can remember being offered that record contract, and my reasons for being hesitant were strictly financial. There was just no way I was going to make as much money on the road as I was making doing sessions... And I told the record company in advance I was not going to be their normal act, that I was not going to want to tour as much. And I don't have to be gone that long. Like this week, we'll record on Austin City Limits, then do a show with Kenny Rogers, then Lubbock and then I go to Michigan and then home.

Asked if CBS tightened the vise a bit to force her to tour, she answered, "No, they really didn't pressure me much. In fact, they've been very understanding about my desire to stay in Nashville. But I felt if they were going to record me, I owed it to them to go out and support the albums.

Yet even with all this in mind, there's no way one could guess what Janie Fricke finds most difficult about being on the road. Loneliness, hotel walls, waiting in airports and buses? Not hardly. "I'll tell you what's hardest about touring is the packing. No, really, I'm not kidding. You've got to pack costumes for 10 days, and then everyday clothes to wear when you're not per-

Hance Willing To Help HSCHGetFederal Grant

Avalanche-Journal Staff U.S. Rep. Kent Hance will do what he can to help Health Sciences Center Hospital get the remainder of its federal grant money, he said today, but he's waiting for an official request for help from the county hospital district. Health Sciences officials have been watching the daily mail for a $120,000 check from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare - the last installment on a $1 million construction grant. But recent conversations with HEW officials have indicated they are using the funds as leverage to make the hospital pay its own debt on an HEW

Hance told a spokesman from his Washington, D.C., office that he would wait for word from the Lubbock County Hospital District before contacting anybody from HEW. The office spokesman said Hance wasn't sure what could be done, but that he was willing to give it a shot.

The hospital missed its July payment toward the $8 million loan. But recent negotiations with both Dallas and Washington, D.C., HEW representatives produced an agreement from the agency to hold off on requesting the payment for

The 90-day period won't be over until the end of October and hospital officials think HEW is pressuring them unfairly. "That is not cooperation," hospital administrator Robert Berryman said at Monday's county hospital district board meeting. The loan and the grant have nothing to do with each other, Berryman said, adding that one should not be witheld to produce payment of the other.

HEW officials didn't make any promises when they visited Lubbock July 26. Hospital district officials tried to convince them that the teaching hospital needs an extension of at least one year

The payment the hospital failed to make July 1 was for almost $450,000

Hospital district board members were asking for the hold-off period to allow them to straighten out the myriad financial problems at the hospital. HEW representatives had several major concerns in granting a loan extension, including increased revenue at the hospital, better management and more paying patients.

But when the HEW officials flew back to Dallas and Washington, D.C., hospital district officials and staff appeared confident that things could be

Berryman told board members that trying to get out of paying back the loan altogether. Several board members suggested they might have misunderstood board members contention that since the loan was to be repaid from net revenues - and the hospital has no net revenues - that they were not yet legally responsible for repayment. Berryman doesn't believe HEW is oing to release the $120,000. And he thinks that if they do release it, it will be earmarked toward paying back the $8

Board members asked the Lubbock County Commissioners, present at the meeting, to help them out with the HEW problem.

In other action, Berryman told board members that the hearing officer for the Texas Health Facilities Commission has favorably recommended the certificate of need for the hospital's proposed burn unit, as long as the hospital limits expenditures on that project to $130,000.

The hospital reportedly has already spent about that much on equipment alone, without actually beginning construction on the project. The issue now goes before the full health facilities commission for a public hearing and approv-

Board members also approved a 'gold card' credit policy for outpatient clinic use. Processed through regular credit check channels, upon recommendation by a Health Sciences physician, issuance of the card will enable the holder to "charge" outpatient clinic services like with any credit card.

The card will be good for 90 days, but may be renewed if necessary. Board members and finance director Tom Kearney haggled over whether the 90day period was too short to be convenient, but ultimately agreed that 90 days would be an easier period to monitor as well as process through the hospital's limited computer system.

Brookwood Management Services' Ronnie Elliott told board members he recently met with Blue Ribbon Committee member Lonnie Hollingsworth to discuss Emergency Medical Services. He said Blue Ribbon members would like access to the same information on EMS available to the board to help them study EMS as well as other hospital

Board member Rushing asked for clarification as to the responsibilities and supervision of the Blue Ribbon group. County Judge Rod Shaw told him that the committee had been appointed by the commissioners as an advisory group for the LCHD board. The commit-

Hospital finance director Torn Kearney told the board that cash collections for the hospital, as of Sept. 21, had reached $624,000. He predicted that if the hospital could collect about $200,000 more by the end of the month, it would not be necessary to cash in any more of the hospitals certificates of deposit.

the hospitals certificates of deposit.

Administrator Berryman asked for a 10-day period of recess for current shared services negotiations between the hospital, Texas Tech University and the Tech medical school. He said they would be ready to reconvene next week, Kearney also recommended that the board try to re-negotiate contracts with Texas Tech concerning the use of the teaching hospital for student health services. The hospital is not always paid for student health treatment, he said, beyond previously agreed services which do not always cover costs.

Board members went into closed session for about two hours to discuss a lawsuit recently filed against them by Texas Tech University students alleging violations of the Open Meetings Law. Legal counsel briefed the board on the current status of the suit as well as the specifics of the Open Meetings Law. 'We feel we've been in compliance board chairman Jack Strong said after

Pueblo Schools To Remove

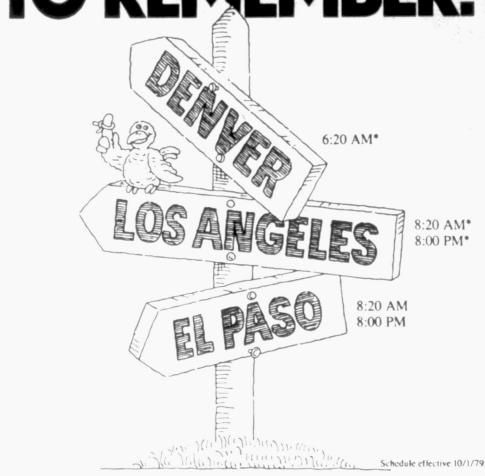

Time Clocks PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) - Teacher time clocks will be removed from Pueblo County schools and replaced by mag-netic in-out boards that will show simply whether teachers are present, according to an agreement between teachers and administrators

The removal of the controversial time clocks became administrative policy for School District 70 on Monday night during a sometimes stormy meeting of the district school board.

The agreement ends a dispute between teachers and the District 70 school board that erupted Aug. 20.

On that date, school district officials announced that time clocks would be installed in all schools and that teachers would be required to punch them. School district officials contended the time clocks were needed because some teachers were ducking out early.

Papal Tour Creating Problems By The Associated Press

Holidays for schoolchildren and county workers in Iowa are the targets of the latest lawsuits inspired by Pope John Paul II's upcoming visit, and in Washington, D.C., dissident priests are urging a clerical boycott of the papal Holy Communion service.

Plans for the rare papal visit have also prompted dissent in Boston, where a federal judge was to rule today in a suit brought by birth control activist Bill Baird over the archdiocese's decision to reserve for persons of its choosing 18,000 of the available seats for a papal Mass on the Boston Common.

Boston is the first stop on the Roman Catholic leader's U.S. itinerary. After his arrival from Ireland on Monday, the pope will also tour New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Des Moines, Iowa, and Washington. In Iowa, the state Civil Liberties Union stressed that its quarrel is with public - not church - officials in the suit it plans to file today to overturn the decision to close schools in the Lenox School District southwest of Des Moines during the pope's visit.

On Monday, the ICLU went to court to stop Polk County supervisors from giving workers a paid holiday on Oct. 4, claiming a violation of constitutional guarantees of church-state separatioh. A hearing was set for Thursday before U.S. Judge William C. Stuart.

Steven Brown, executive director of the ICLU, told a news conference that the group objects to the day off because some 50,000 in tax funds woud be spenton holiday salaries and because it would deny county services to the Jour plaintiffs in the suit.

Brown said that while the pope is a head of state, he is coming primarily for religious purposes and that the four-hour visit to Des Moines will be given over almost entirely to saying Mass.

Brown said officials of the Des Moines Catholic Diocese "have been very cooperative throughout all this. They have expressed great sensitivity to church and state issues.

In Washington, the dispute centers on the role of women in the church. A group of priests known as "Priests for Equality" is urging Catholic clergy in the Washington area to refuse to help distribute the Holy Eucharist during a papal Mass on the Mall.

The dissidents are upset over a Yatican directive forbidding lay women who regularly serve as special Eucharistic ministers from assisting at the papal Mass. Priests for Equality hope the boycott will force the pope to call on wom-

Also in Washington, U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch has scheduled a hearing next Monday on lawsuits by atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair, who is suing the government and the pope in an effort to prevent a Mass the pope plans to celebrate on the federally owned-Mall that divides the Smithsonian Institution

Mrs. O'Hair contends the use of fed erally owned property violates the First Amendment's separation of church and state. Her companion suits say the use of the Mall for a Mass is an "entanglement with religion, and has the principal effect of advancing religion through use of U.S. government-owned property.

One suit was filed against the Department of Interior, which is in charge of activities on the Mall, while the other action named the pope as defendant. It was not clear who would represent the pope at the hearing.

Meanwhile, in New York, where police have code-named the papal visit 'Operation Shepherd,' officials are taking special steps to prevent imposters from attending papal events dressed as priests and nuns. The pope's two-day stay in New York includes 58 miles of motor trips through city streets, and Police Commissioner Ellen Fleysher predicted that traffic would be a "nightmare. And church officials in Chicago say the pope's visit will cost at least six times the original estimate. Richard Rosemeyer, chancellor and vicar general of the archdiocese, told a news conference Monday that current estimates are "well over half a million dollars. The church is using general funds and some private donations to pay for the pope's visit, except for the costs of public "support services." Meanwhile, the city of Chicago has made a "rough" estimate that the visit will cost the city about $1 million — largely for police and fire services, said Bob Saigh, city spokes-

Gold Sales Fail To Help Dollar

By JOHN CUNNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — It has made nen wealthy and it has made of them fools, and if you want to see how it works you'll probably get your chance over the next few weeks. Perhaps you might even be an exhibit.

You would have company. Uncle Sam decided some time ago to auction government supplies of the metal because, among other things, he sought to depress the price by increasing the sup-

That goal seemed logical for many reasons

First off, the sales would benefit the dollar, whose value had been moving inversely to that of gold. Uncle Sam wanted to promote the notion that his paper money was just as good, even better, than gold.

He also wanted to help attract foreign funds in order to help correct to some small degree his imbalance of international payments. He figured that many of the buyers would be foreigners,

It didn't work out as planned. Gold buyers bid prices to record highs, indicating demand far exceeded supply, regardless of how much the U.S. government put up for sale. Auction prices reached $378 last week.

When you match that price against those of less than two months ago, when the inert yellow commodity sold for less than $300 an ounce, you realize the extent of Uncle Sam's miscalculation.

True, he made profits and he attracted foreign funds, but he didn't help the dollar much. As few events have, the auctions told the world how much people preferred an ounce of gold to a U.S.

Uncle Sam's experience notwithstanding, you too might have notions about gold that you cannot surpress. Be advised that it is available, but that it can bring you anxiety as well as the security you seek.

Nun Performs Clown Act For Audiences

CHICAGO (AP) - Sister Shirley Stockus is a 33-year-old nun who uses makeup - the greasepaint of a clown.

She doesn't think that dressing in outrageous clothes, painting a big smile on her face and clowning around is conduct unbecoming a nun.

"Bringing joy to people and lifting their burdens is not unbecoming of a Christian," says Sister Shirley who belongs to the religious order of the School Sisters of Notre Dame.

She is known around school as "Sister Stringbean" because she is rather slender and tall. She teaches third grade at St. Benedict School in Blue Island, a suburb south of Chicago, and says the antics she uses to keep her pupils interested helped her perform as a clown.

"I do a lot of volunteer clown work in schools, hospitals and before senior citizen groups, but I work for a fee like any professional clown at such things as birthday parties or business functions, she said. "I took a 10-week college course on being a clown after a woman

One of the doctors halted the flow of blood from the heart by holding his finger in the hole made by the knife until stitches could be made. The work moved so quickly that Cook, whom doctors say has a good chance of returning to normal, was still wearing his pants and boots when the operation was over 90 minutes later. It was around 2:30 a.m. Sunday. Cook was injured so badly that he was rushed directly from the ambulance to the operating room. Dr. Richard Glaser made the cut, felt around the rapidly beating heart until he found the hole in the heart wall, and then held his finger there, stopping

With the bleeding stopped, Glaser, Dr. Michael Thomason and the other members of the operating room team began to do the things that normally would have been done first - give Cook blood, stabilize his blood pressure, and, finally, give him an anesthetic. Then the 34-year-old Glaser, just days away from finishing his thoracic surgery residency, used two big stitches to close the half-inch hole in the barten-der's heart. "The hole was very hard to find," said Thomason. "Once we got in, we had 15-20 seconds to find the hole.

Both doctors said Cook would have died if everything hadn't clicked from the time he was picked up by MEDIC at a downtown Charlotte restaurant, where he was stabbed while trying to stop a knife-wielding patron, to the time when surgery was complete.

"He would have died before he got to the hospital without what the medics did," Glaser said. Cook was in satisfactory condition Monday, and said he remembers only snatches of the hospital drama. "I remember rushing down the hall, and I remember feeling that first cut," said Cook

"What Dr. Glaser did was just amazing," said Thomason. "He sewed up something that was beating that fast. I was impressed. Glaser said the whole incident hit him afterward.

"I had to go over and sit down," he said. "That's when it hits you — when Western military sources said the fragment was from a spare fuel tank that is normally jettisoned when a fighter goes into combat. The sources said the tank would naturally have exploded on impact with the ground.

On several occasions, the sources said, these discarded fuel tanks have been found in south Lebanon and mistaken for part of a destroyed Americanmade Israeli jet.

An Israeli military spokesman said Monday that F-15s and Israeli-made Kfirs were involved in the dogfight with Syrian MiG-21s.

The touring black American activist leader, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, visited the Wailing Wall, the Church of the Holy Sepulcher and a Palestinian refugee camp, where residents told him the Palestine Liberation Organization was their only representative.

In a visit to the Kalandia refugee camp just north of Jerusalem, Jackson was told by a Palestinian spokesman: We say that of course we don't want the (Israeli) occupation to continue, and the PLO speaks in our name.

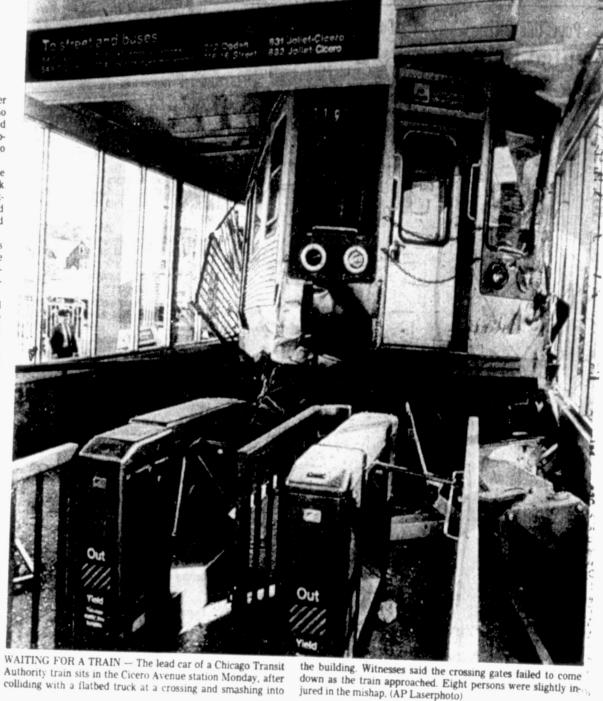

It was "unfair" that Washington provided only $50 million in annual aid to the United Nations relief agency helping Palestinian refugees but almost $2 billion to Israel, Jackson said.

One Israeli Jackson encountered in a walking tour of Jerusalem's walled Old City urged him not to shake hands with PLO chief Yasser Arafat when he goes to Beirut. But Jackson responded with a New Testament teaching: "We should not only shake hands with our enemies but we should love our enemies as we love ourselves.'

After arriving in Israel Monday, Jackson had a seminar-like session with Kollek, Israeli professors and former officials who argued that the PLO was an 'obstructive force' better kept out of the peace process. Jackson also visited victims of last week's terror bombing that killed one Israeli and wounded 42. by Brad Anderson Board Wants More City Buses

By NANCY ALLEN
Avalanche-Journal Staff
With Citibus ridership on the rise,
Lubbock's Transit Advisory Board voted Monday to recommend that the city purchase four more 39-passenger buses for use on the Texas Tech campus and Citibus routes beginning next summer.

Although the city previously had planned to use a federal grant to purchase 14 buses, the board voted unanimously to pick up the city's second option on the grant and purchase four more of the advance design diesel-powered vehicles.

The federal Urban Mass Transit Administration in July approved Lubbock's original request to purchase 14 buses at a cost of $125,000 each. The purchase, however, would not have required a cash outlay by the city because of a matching fund set-up provided by the federal government.

The city's second option on the grant, for 18 of the wheelchair lift-equipped General Motors RTS II buses, will require $35,000 in city money, explained City Transit Coordinator John Wilson. If the City Council approves the transit board's reccommendation, that money will come out of next year's budget.

If the grant is approved, most of the 18 buses will be used for the city's charter service at Texas Tech. A limited number would be available for regular Citibus routes, according to Wilson.

'The city is going to replace the Grummans (Citibuses) anyway," commented board President Milton Smith. 'It makes sense to start now.'

Bus prices are expected to jump 10 percent due to inflation next year, noted Wilson. He also stressed that maintenance costs on the aging fleet of 24 Citibuses will be much higher as they continue to wear out.

The one year required to submit a grant and wait for its approval, in addition to the one-year delivery lag on bus orders, also influenced the board's deci-

"City council approved option one in September 1978 when we first applied for the grant," Wilson told the board. "They know about the second option, but they don't know the cost."

The option will be presented to Lubbock City Council at Thursday's meet-

In other business, the board asked Wilson's staff to look into the possibility of contracting with a taxi company to provide demand-response service to the city Health Department.

A five-day transit study, requested in May by Lubbock's League of Women Voters, indicated only minimum demand for bus service to the North Avenue Q and Jarvis Street location.

Cost of the special route required to carry the 100 passengers per week would be "prohibitive," concluded the study. Wilson added that long waits between buses would most likely decrease ridership over the long run, because many of the riders to health department clinics are mothers with infants.

"I'd love to serve the health department." Wilson said. "I don't like to tell people they have to walk from the intersection of Avenues P and Q to get

Transit assistant Clyde Shannon not-We're not saying there is no need for transportation to the health department, but a bus would not fill the need.

Increased ridership on Citibus - in August it reached a peak of 79,562 may force the transit department to substitute older but larger buses for the 21passenger Citibuses on some routes at peak hours, Wilson told the board.

Buses running daily to Health Sciences Center Hospital and on Saturdays to the South Plains Mall, routinely have passengers standing, he said.

"We can operate the 35-passenger leased buses at the same cost as the Citi-

more economical than adding another

Wilson said he "hesitates" to use the older buses because "we have a problem with image; people don't recognize buses also would have to be replaced.

If the consequence of increased rider-ship piques Lubbock's transit coordina-tor somewhat, the increase itself does

"We had our best month since February," he noted enthusiastically. Ridership has increased steadily over the summer, from 67,000 in June. The August total also marked a 16 percent increase."

Foreign Relations Committee Passes Krueger Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) -An ambassa-dor-at-large for Mexico, confirmed by the Senate, may be on official duty by the time Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo arrives at the end of the week for talks with President Carter.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee cleared the way Monday by voting 9-6 in favor of Bob Krueger's nomination for the new position.

The last hurdle remaining for the former Texas congressman is confirmation by the full Senate, with a vote expected to be scheduled as quickly as possible

Most opposition came from Republican committee members. Krueger lost a tight, bitter Senate race last year to incumbent Sen. John Tower, R-Texas.

Carter nominated Krueger as ambassador-at-large and coordinator of U.S.-Mexican relations in June, but word of the choice first circulated in the spring.

Krueger moved into State Department quarters in July while waiting for Senate action. The nominee took an active part in the natural gas negotiations that led to an agreement announced Fri-

Weather Delays Capping Of Runaway Oil Gusher

CIUDAD DEL CARMEN, Mexico (AP) - Rain and ocean currents are stalling efforts to cap the runaway Itox 1 oil well, but Mexican officials say they will probably try again today to place a huge steel cone over the underwater gusher.

"It is raining, cloudy and there are very strong ocean currents. We have some operations that must be done with divers which we cannot possibly do now because of the currents," Rafael Marquet, a spokesman for the government oil monopoly, PEMEX, said Monday.

We will probably continue tomorrow." he said. On Sunday, divers lowered the 35-foot by 65-foot steel cone to the test well's platform, 190-feet underwater. But Marquet said darkness prevented them from positioning the 310-

Angola President's Death Seen

© 1979 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) - Reports filtering out of Angola indicate the Soviets may have achieved a major gain in the death of Angolan President Agostinho Neto.

Both of Neto's most likely successors are hard-line Marxists of the Angolan Popular Liberation Movement (MPLA) who have long tied their star to Moscow.

The reported interim president, Jose dos Santos, received his engineering degree in the Soviet Union and returned home with a Soviet wife. As foreign minister and later planning minister, he was among those who helped negotiate an agreement that gave the Soviets the right to fish in Angola's rich waters. Angolans gained the same rights in Soviet waters, but Angola had no trawlers and has still to acquire one.

Dos Santos' counterpart as MPLA Party boss, Lucio Lara, likewise is reputed to have close Soviet links, al-

As Major Gain For Soviet Union

THANKS TO JOANN KREIMENDAHL, MENOMONEE FALLS, WI. - KREIMENDAHL'S LAW: WHY CLIP THE ZIP?

Whoever comes out on top, Angola's foreign policy is liable to remain unchanged on the short term with the country seeking gradual rapproachment with the West and at least limited friendship with neighboring Zaire. The same could be true with Neto's campaign for a demilitarized zone along the southern border with Southwest Africa

The reason is that the country has no other realistic options.

Neto's successor inherits a state split by a worsening guerrilla war and an economy barely able to maintain the capital's population at subsistence level.

Almost 90 percent of the nation's foreign exchange comes from oil pumped off the Cabinda enclave by Gulf Oil. Much of that money is being spent to help maintain 20,000 Cuban combat

Other economic sectors don't work and haven't since the Portuguese gave Angola independence and a three-way civil war four years ago.

Diamond production is down by 80 percent, iron ore mining has virtually stopped, the coffee crop is 50 percent lower than in colonial days, and much of the country's food producing area is a no-man's land dominated by Jonas Savimbi's UNITA Guerrillas.

The guerrillas also have kept closed the strategic and economically important Benguela railway linking Angola's Lobito seaport with the copper mines of Zaire and Zambia.

The government has announced the reopening of the railway at least four times in the past year, each time with champagne parties along the border to watch the inaugural train's departure for the coast. None has yet arrived

Noisy Campaigns Occur In Japanese Elections

TOKYO (UPI) - Elections mean noise in Japan and the current campaign, which hasn't even officially started yet, is no exception.

Even on Sundays, at 8 a.m., the blast of the loudspeaker shatters the morning calm. "Vote for X ... lower taxes ... energy ... quality of life.'

The Japanese, who have done well in cleaning up dirty air and rivers, can walk by a loudspeaker-equipped van without apparently noticing, while a visitor winces at the noise pollution.

Last April a young Frenchman, upset by days of the noise during a local election, punched the Japanese holding the microphone. He was convicted of assault and left the country.

Nationwide elections for the lower house of parliament - the Diet - will be held Oct. 7 and officially began last week. But campaigning actually has been under way for weeks with the noise steadily increasing.

One of the charms of Tokyo is the welter of side streets inviting exploration - and sometimes the chance to get hopelessly lost

Aside from houses, many of the streets have a small neighborhood Shinto shrine or Buddhist temple.

The just-ended summer festival season gave the neighborhoods a chance to show their stuff, with young men parading a local deity through the streets or a temple hosting evenings of traditional singing and dancing.

At one such fete, nearly all the women were in kimonos, lined up in single file to perform a carefully choreographed dance on the ground while following older women, acting as instructors and models on a high wooden stage.

The next morning, the women were back in skirts and blouses or chic suits, off to work and shop, with kimonos carefully stored until the next festival.

Browns Surprise Fans, Cowboys In 26-7 Upset

quarterback Brian Sipe gave his team-mates a pat on the back for coming up with the big plays, but Dallas linebacker Thomas Henderson couldn't believe the things that happened to the Cowboys in their 26-7 loss to the Browns Monday

"We were probably as surprised as most of the fans were," Sipe said. "They (the Cowboys) turned the ball over in critical situations, and it's a credit to us that we came up with the big play.".

The veteran quarterback ignited a 20point, first-period explosion by capping Cleveland's first possession with a 23yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Dave Logan.

Don Cockroft missed the extra point, but Dallas was forced to punt and Sipe, who connected on 15 of 28 passes for 239 yards, struck again. This time he combined with tight end Ozzie Newsome for a 52-yard score on a broken play.

The stunned Cowboys tried to come back in a hurry, but free safety Thom Darden added insult to injury by ending Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach's string of 150 passes without an interception. He picked off a pass intended for running back Ron Springs and ran 39 yards for a touchdown to build the margin to 20-0 just seven minutes and five seconds into the nationally televised

"They're rolling now," said Hender-son about the unbeaten Browns, "They're hot. They're screaming out there like Oklahoma University.

ABC Gains Rights To '84 Olympics

NEW YORK (AP) - ABC-TV, with a long history of broadcasting the Olympics, has sewed up the television rights to the 1984 Summer Games, sources said, with a bid believed to be $200 million, the minimum figure established by the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing ABC, which became the No. 1-rated network following its telecast of the 1976 Games from Montreal, thus would regain the broadcasting plum that it lost to NBC for the 1980 Olympics. NBC paid $87 million for the rights to the Moscow Olympics and plans 152 hours of cover-

ABC paid $15 million for the less glamorous Winter Olympics, which will be held in Lake Placid, N.Y. in Februar-

The proposal by ABC for the Los Angeles Games, significantly higher than the bids tendered by CBS and NBC, was the only one to meet the minimum demanded by the LAOOC, said sources who declined to be identified.

CBS offered $160 million and NBC bid $150 million, according to sources, and neither of these networks have been asked to send representatives to meetings scheduled for today involving members of the Los Angeles Organizing Committee and the International Olympic Committee.

Roone Arledge, president of ABC News and Sports, was in Los Angeles Monday night but was not available for comment. The operator at his hotel said Arledge had left instructions not to forward any calls to his room.

In Los Angeles, Peter Ueberroth president and managing director of the organizing committee, said no agreement had been reached

'It's not true, nothing is wrapped up," Ueberroth said. "It's impossible for the LAOOC to make an agreement without IOC (International Olympic Committee) approval. Clearly, there is no IOC approval. I would know if there was."

Monique Berlioux, executive director of the IOC, has been in Los Angeles since Saturday. The Los Angeles Times, quoting sources, reported in today's editions that Berlioux told Los Angeles organizers Monday that the IOC's executive board would take up the TV rights matter in Nagoya, Japan, Oct. 25. The paper said no agreement could be formalized until then.

Five organizations paid the $500,000 preliminary fee required by the organisers to bid on the Los Angeles Olympics. As expected, the three networks made presentations two weeks ago, along with two darkhorses - the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network (ESPN) and Tandem Communications.

Chet Simmons, president of ESPN, admitted that his all-sports network wanted to supplement the winning network by showing events not covered by the winning organization. Tandem, a company owned by TV magnate Norman Lose and promoter Jerry Peren-chio, was believed never to have been a real factor in the bidding.

The LCC coach remarked that this situation comes as no surprise. He realized the strength factor would be obvious this first year for his team.

"Everybody is going to concentrated weight training; we're just two or three years behind. And you can't have regular workouts and heavy weight training at the same time during the season. We just have to get by and then concentrate on it when the season is over.

"It's not something that we can accomplish (completely) before next fall, but we will be much stronger in just a year.

"And I'm sure that Austin (College, this week's opponent), will be strong, just like McMurry and Tarleton; I know they have good size.

"But," added Sanders, "we're not trying to hide anything from our kids; we're trying to emphasize this (strength factor) to them. . . that if they work at it, then we will be there in two or three years. "Maturity and strength are things that it takes time to develop.

McKay, Bucs Finally 'Arrive

AP Special Correspondent "Dump McKay in Tampa Bay.

That was an exhortation blared on automobile bumper stickers and t-shirts throughout the Tampa Bay area in 1977 after John McKay's Tampa Bay Buccaneers had lost 26 straight games in the National Football League.

"Go for O," said other disparaging fliers while posters surfaced depicting a sinking Pirate ship.

Florida newspapers were full of letters from disenchanted fans, urging that the coach of the NFL's expansion team be subjected to every mode of medieval torture.

It was enough to send even the strongest man scurrying back to the safe haven of college football, such as the University of Southern California where the laconic, silver-haired gridiron tactician had solidified his base as a builder of traditional national champions.

But Joh McKay hung tough. He might have been dying inside but outwardly he never lost his bravado. He set his jaw, chomped down on that ever-present cigar and strode jauntily through the front door of his offices.

"If this keeps up, I may have to don a fake nose and mustache," he quipped. He didn't mean it for a second, and it never became necessary. In fact, the onetime Trojan genius not only survived the crisis but he could easily have traded his masquerade gear for a halo. He has emerged as the new god of the pigskin worshipers in the sunshine belt, an area now basking in heady success such as its citizens have never enjoyed before.

The once scorned Buccaneers, Tampa Bay's first major sports franchise, now have gone 40 in the new season with a punishing 21-6 victory over the highly rated Los Angeles Rams. And Tampa Bay people are wildly de

It hasn't been an easy road for

McKay. Critics lambasted him for draft choices that cost the Buccaneers the services of such stars as Tony Dorsett and Earl Campbell, now rated two of on the Tampa Tribune's sports page the best ball-carriers in the NFL. They trumpeted: "BELIEVE IT!"

said he favored his former USC players, including son Johnny, a wide receiver. Some pundits called the team "USC East.

The winless Bucs became the butt of Johnny Carson jokes on the "Tonight Show." Fans repeated them and laughed. The story went around the league that coaches motivated players by threatening to trade them to Tampa McKay bit his lip, took another puff on his cigar and went his way. Now his critics are feasting on barbecued crow.

In the May, 1977, college football draft, McKay chose his former USC running back, Ricky Bell, over Dorsett, Pittsburgh's highly touted Heisman Trophy winner. Critics called it the fumble of the age.

Bell, 6-feet-2 and 220 pounds, has grown in confidence and skill as have other Bucs and is performing comparably with Dorsett, who runs for the Dallas Cowboys. He has 253 yards in 56 carries compared with 162 in 39 carries (before Monday night's game) for Dorsett, who missed the opening game because of an injured toe.

McKay swapped his No. 1 draft choice the following year to Houston for a tight end Jimmie Giles and a draft pick the Buccaneers used to draft quarterback Doug Williams. The Oilers used the pick to snare Texas' hard-running Heisman winner, Campbell.

Despite the appearance of a gross inequity in the deal, Williams and Giles have turned out to be gold in the Tampa Bay talent chest. Williams is not a high percentage passer but is rated one of the best clutch performers in the sport. He hit for two touchdowns Sunday, one a 29-yarder to Giles. He hasn't been sacked this year.

Meanwhile, Tampa Bay's swarming, inspired defenders held the Rams to no offensive points. The Rams' lone score came on an interception and runback, extra-point kick blocked.

So much for those nasty bumper stickers. Monday morning the headline
