N-Protest Fails To Close Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Police said they arrested more than 600 anti-nuclear protesters this morning as they tried unsuccessfully to shut down the New York Stock Exchange on the 50th anniversary of the stock market crash of 1929.

The demonstrators, who numbered more than 1,000, sang and chanted as they sat in small circles on streets around the exchange, waiting for police officers to lift them onto stretchers and take them to vans for a ride to headquarters for booking on disorderly conduct charges.

The protest in lower Manhattan was the largest of several anti-nuclear demonstrations in cities around the country today, including Bangor, Wash., Groton, Conn., and the nation's capital.

Deputy Police Chief Michael Willis said that more than 600 persons had been arrested by the time the exchange opened as usual at 10 a.m. Hundreds of annoyed Wall Street workers had been passed through barriers around the exchange by flashing identity cards to police.

Police used 10 buses and a like number of smaller paddy wagons to drive their prisoners to a central booking facility in Manhattan. When processing began to back up, some of the overflow prisoners were sent to a second central booking site in Brooklyn.

Inside the exchange, a cheer went up from the floor as the red warning light went on at 9:59 a.m., followed by a louder roar at 10 a.m. when the bell sounded for trading to begin.

"Usually they cheer when it's closing," said James Fuller, exchange's senior vice president. Fuller said all the exchange employees were at work, some because they had come in Sunday and stayed overnight.

Stock prices rose moderately in early trading, but there were slight declines in some of the nuclear issues targeted by the protesters.

Outside, the mood was almost festive, with little acrimony displayed among the protesters and hundreds of police officers on hand. A 15-piece brass band played circus music and spectators watched the protest from nearby vantage points, including the steps of the Federal Building.

"I haven't had this much fun since the 1960s," Police Capt. Thomas Ryan told some of the demonstrators.

"Tell my mom I'll be late for dinner," a young woman called out as she was lifted onto a stretcher.

Among those taken into custody was Daniel Ellsberg, the key figure of the Vietnam-era, Pentagon Paprs case.

The protesters were from a group calling itself Wall Street Action. Leaders said the demonstration was a move to protest investment in the nuclear industry and "expose the abusive role of corporations and the financial community in controlling people's lives."

"This is a new focus for the anti-nuclear movement," said Sharon Tracy, a leader of the action. "Until now it's been focused just on the installations. Now we're targeting the financiers."

The group had approached officials of the stock exchange earlier this month to request that the 61 corporate members doing business in nuclear weapons and power be suspended. Richard Grosso, a stock exchange vice-president, turned it down.

Today's action followed a rally Sunday in Manhattan next to the World Trade Center. Ellsberg, a central figure of the "Pentagon Papers" conspiracy, drew the greatest crowd response when he set afire a $6.50 dividend check from Rockwell International. Ellsberg said he owns a few shares that permit him to attend annual Rockwell shareholders' meetings.

Across the country, meanwhile, in Bangor, Wash., thousands of anti-nuclear demonstrators massed near Hood Canal to protest the Trident nuclear submarine.

Security forces at the Navy base housing the submarine arrested three men Sunday, officials said. About 100 demonstrators said they were prepared to climb the fence today and face possible arrest for trespassing.

WILSON REVEALS INCIDENT

Red Raiders Given Aggie Game Plan

BRYAN (AP) — Texas A&M football Coach Tom Wilson has told the Bryan Eagle that an anonymous telephone caller gave the Texas Tech University athletic department vital information about the Aggie game plan before the two schools played Oct. 6.

However, Tech football Coach Rex Dockery treated the calls as a prank and told Wilson about the information — which turned out to be highly accurate — before the two teams kicked off in a game Tech won 21-20.

"I'm not making excuses for my losses nor have I before this," Wilson said. "The fact remains we have learned that someone has been contacting some of the schools with some of our game plans."

Wilson kept silent about the affair because he said he didn't want it to sound like sour grapes.

Dockery said, "One of our secretaries got a couple of calls and each time

Baptists Set Stage For State Meeting

By CONNIE CHAPMAN
A-J Religion Writer

Olen Miles of Driftwood, president of Texas Baptist Men, said the state meeting which begins at 6:45 p.m. today in the Southcrest Baptist Church, will take place in "a new day for the laity."

The men's meeting is one of the preliminaries to the state Baptist convention which officially gets under way at 6 p.m. Tuesday at the civic center.

Miles, himself a 73-year-old retiree, has been an advocate of more involvement for laymen, especially for those in their retirement years.

"The laymen are moving out...I see exciting things happening," Miles said Sunday. "More opportunities than ever before are available for laymen to use whatever ability they have to the glory of God."

One example of the use of volunteer efforts which the state president cited was the disaster relief work done last spring after the Wichita Falls tornado. A van with food and other provisions was dispatched to the stricken area by dawn of the day after the disaster, he said. A disaster relief team was ready to help the residents deal with the many problems caused by the tornado.

Another area in which volunteers from Southern Baptist churches have been used extensively is as construction help for new churches. Miles said this is one way retirees can be helpful. "Their work can cut the cost of a new building...and they like to take their campers and stay at the site of construction and hold revivals at the same time."

He said involvement in such projects has much appeal to retirees, many of whom would be doing some traveling anyway.

Miles also has been a leader in setting up camps which prepare volunteers for these mission projects. There are 23 Baptist camps in Texas. While at these camps the volunteers engage in Bible study and hear inspirational speakers, he said.

For some retirees "who have been leaders, but now may feel they are sidelined," Miles said, these presentations open up new ways to get back into the mainstream of service through the church.

Approximately 1,000 men are expected to attend the state meeting, accord-

High Court Gets Veteran's Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether the military time of returning veterans must be honored by firms offering laid-off workers supplemental unemployment benefits based on seniority.

The justices said they will hear the case of Thomas Coffy, whose two years in the Army were not counted by the Republic Steel Corp. when it came time to pay the benefits.

A federal appeals court in Cincinnati ruled that Republic Steel was right, but government lawyers representing Coffy disagree. In similar cases, two other federal appeals courts ruled that such benefits must take military time into account.

Some 1.7 million workers in the steel, automobile, non-electrical machinery and apparel industries are covered by contract agreements providing such supplemental benefits.

The Supreme Court also agreed today to decide whether corporations have a right to patent new forms of life they create through "genetic engineering."

The justices said they will study a lower court ruling that such life forms may be patented.

Government lawyers are urging the high court to reverse the ruling announced March 29 by the U.S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals in a pair of related cases.

The lower court ruled that micro-organisms developed by Upjohn Co. and General Electric scientists had to be issued patents, setting up lucrative possibilities.

In seeking Supreme Court review, government lawyers argued that "the economic implications of that holding are very significant, given the vast area that it opens to patentability."

The government appeal added: "Review at this time is appropriate in order to avoid further complicating the al-

Crash Slowly Hit Europe

Dutch newspapers didn't even play the Wall Street crash on front pages. The Algemeen Handelsblad called it "a thunderstorm that clears the air." Denmark's business community dismissed it as a come-uppance for foolish Americans.

News of the crash telegraphed to England, however, caused an immediate sag on the London Stock Exchange. Sir George Bolton, who was working in the Bank of England on Oct. 24, 1929 — the Black Thursday which started a five-day stampede to the Oct. 29 disaster of Black Tuesday — recalls: "We thought it was the end of the world."

But it took almost two years for the "end of the world" to reach other financial centers and most ordinary Europeans. Bank and business failures, inflation, unemployment, strikes and riots showed Europe it wasn't immune to America's troubles.

The Bourse, Paris' small domestically oriented stock exchange, hardly stirred over the October news. But by spring prices had begun to slip. By fall 1930 the slip had become a rapid slide.

A brokerage firm failed and took with it two banks. Then two more banks failed, taking a number of secondary banks with them. Paris was plunged into a financial crisis.

London, a mammoth overseas market for American stocks, watched stock values drop, interest rates rise and credit freeze. By the end of 1929 business was stagnating.

Reverberations spread through the British Empire. Booming Australia was ravaged by falling wool and wheat prices and moved toward its own Great Depression.

"Schwartzer Freitag" (Black Friday) — Germany's time-zone delayed morning-after to Black Thursday — halted a remarkable post-World War I recovery. The Germans had borrowed huge sums from Wall Street to finance reparations payments and reconstruction. The source — and the money — dried up overnight.

Even the clockwork Swiss economy suffered — although much less than most. The 90 percent plunge in U.S. stock prices had only a 58 percent echo in Switzerland. American industrial production was cut in half, contrasting to a drop in Switzerland of only 8 percent.

Swiss unemployment peaked at 5 percent, but was taken so seriously that employers and employees worked together to save jobs. The new mood resulted in a 1937 agreement between labor and in-

Blaze In LA Kills Three

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Flames and smoke engulfed the 11th floor of an exclusive downtown apartment complex early today, killing three persons — two of whom leaped to their deaths clutching their pet dog.

Officials said the couple was driven onto a ledge on the east side of the building as flames burst into their 11th-floor apartment of the Bunker Hill Towers. Firemen, battling flames on the west side of the complex, did not hear their screams for help.

"The woman kept screaming, 'For God's sake, someone help me,'" one witness, Elizabeth Senia, said after the couple jumped.

U.S. Sends Carrier Close To Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Koreans closed ranks against North Korea today, and the United States moved a helicopter carrier closer to the Korean coast as the government admitted that President Park Chung-hee was assassinated by the head of the Korean CIA.

Opposition leader Kim Young-sam, a strong critic of Park's government, said the entire nation united in warning North Korea it "should by no means miscalculate this misfortune of ours as an opportunity for invasion, and it should bear in mind that the nation is determined to defend free democracy under any circumstances."

Another leading opponent of Park, 1971 presidential candidat Kim Dae-jun, also warned the communists "not to try to take advantage of the situation. ... The entire people's voice is united, transcending political differences."

Warnings to the North and support for acting President Choi Kyu-hah also came from President Carter, Defense Secretary Harold Brown and the commander of U.S. forces in Korea, Gen. John A. Wickham Jr.

U.S. officials said they saw no evidence of unusual North Korean military activity. However, Brown said the United States had sent two airborne warning and control aircraft to South Korea and moved the helicopter carrier Blue Ridge, already on station between Japan and Korea, closer to the Korean coast.

Wickham, who also heads the combined U.S.-Korean Command, sent a letter to Choi pledging that "should hostilities occur the combined forces command will defend the republic ... (and) will remain ready, and totally dedicated to the security of the republic."

Choi, the defense, home and foreign ministers and other key officials met for two hours this morning and declared: "Everything is in order."

However, the Korean armed forces remained on emergency alert, and the nation was still under martial law.

Park's body was in a closed casket at the presidential residence, the Blue House, and hundreds of thousands gathered at public altars across the country to burn incense and mourn the dead leader.

Park was shot Fiday by the head of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency, Kim Jae-kyu. The government said at first the shooting was accidental but the chief of the investigation, Gen. Chon Doo-hwan, admitted at a special news conference Sunday that Kim assassinated the president.

Snowstorm In Rockies Churns Toward Texas

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A balmy autumn in the Rocky Mountain region came to an abrupt end today as a building winter storm dumped heavy snow on sections of Wyoming and Colorado. Weather forecasters said the snow would reach as far south as the mountains of New Mexico tonight.

Snow already was 4 inches deep at Lander and Sheridan, Wyo., at noon, and the National Weather Service said 6 inches would be on the ground in the foothills of the Colorado Rockies by nightfall. Denver residents were warned to expect snow and a low reading of 20 degrees by sunrise Tuesday.

A winter storm watch is in effect this afternoon and tonight in the mountains and southeast section of Colorado, southwestern Nebraska and northwestern Kansas. A travelers advisory has been issued for southern Wyoming. Ahead of the approaching cold front, high wind warnings were issued for the mountain passes of Southwest Texas for this afternoon and tonight.

Residents of the South Plains and West Texas will get their first taste of winter late tonight and Tuesday, with the storm expected to drop temperatures into the 60s here Tuesday and create a chance of rain for the area tonight and Tuesday.

Although weathermen are predicting only rain for the South Plains, they say there's a chance of snow in the Panhandle, where temperatures are expected to hover in the 40s on Tuesday.

Possibility of thunderstorms in the Lubbock area was placed at 30 percent for both tonight and Tuesday.

The front is expected to move through the Lubbock area late tonight, forecasters said. Although temperatures are not expected to dip below the 40s Tuesday morning, Wednesday morning

Low Productivity Causes Alarm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The productivity of American business and workers rose at an annual rate of 0.1 percent in the third quarter, reversing two consecutive quarters of sharp declines, the Labor Department reported today.

However, the slight rise was not likely to cheer government economists who predict that a stagnant productivity rate will mean high inflation and a diminished standard of living for the foreseeable future.

Productivity, a measure of goods and services that the economy turns out per hour of paid working time, has drawn increased attention from economists lately because of its sluggish growth and resulting impact on inflation. Today's figures pointed to a continuation of that poor growth.

Productivity declined at an annual rate of 2.2 percent in the second quarter and 3 percent in the first quarter, according to revised Labor Department figures. Both declines were the sharpest since the 1974-75 recession.

The 0.1 percent productivity rise in the three months ended Sept. 30 applied to all private businesses. Among nonfarm businesses, the rate rose 0.2 percent, and among manufacturers the annual increase was a healthier 3.2 percent, the government reported.

Output by the private sector rose at an annual rate of 2.5 percent during the third quarter, while hours worked rose 2.4 percent, thus accounting for the slight productivity gain.

Worker compensation per hour rose at an annual rate of 8.5 percent during the quarter, while unit labor costs increased 8.3 percent. Both figures are the smallest since the fourth quarter of last year.

Separately, the department reported that major union contracts negotiated during the first nine months of the year provided average first-year increases of 7.5 percent.

The figures do not include fringe benefits or cost-of-living raises that employees might receive in addition to wage increases.

Among larger contract settlements, those covering 5,000 or more workers, the department said first-year wage and fringe benefit increases are averaging 9.1 percent this year, up from 8.3 percent last year.

The department also reported that contract provisions for cost-of-living pay increases accounted for only 56 percent of the inflation rate so far this year, as measured by the Consumer Price Index.

Paul Volcker, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said in an interview Sunday that a slowdown in productivity growth during the last decade has become a serious underlying problem for the economy.

When production per worker declines, in effect, "that means the average worker has less income," Volcker said.

"When productivity is declining, when energy prices are increasing, there is no way you can increase your standard of living in the nation as a whole just by asking for higher wages or prices," he said. "You can try to outrace the other guy, but collectively we cannot possibly consume more than we are producing."

Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, warned last week that unless productivity improves, Americans can expect inflation to run at 8 to 9 percent a year for the indefinite future.

Inflation now is running at a 30-year high of 13 percent annually. Schultze said soaring prices for energy, housing and loans are causing nearly half the current inflation, with prices for other goods and services rising at less than 10 percent a year.

A decline in productivity, which measures the efficiency of both workers and labor-saving machines, contributes to inflation by pushing up production costs and ultimately consumer prices.

Fed Announces Error In U.S. Money Count

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the Federal Reserve Board disclosed today that another $800 million error has been discovered in the nation's money supply figures in addition to the $3 billion mistake discovered last week.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., chairman of the House Banking Committee, called the miscounting of the nation's money supply a "monumental goof" equivalent to a "monetary Three Mile Island."

"The past few weeks have been among the most chaotic in the financial markets since the Great Crash of 1929, 50 years ago," with much of the chaos resulting from the faulty money supply figures, Reuss said.

But two members of the board, appearing before the banking committee, tried to assure Reuss and other congressmen that the miscounted money was not their fault and did not influence the board's recent actions.

"This error was corrected before it could have any appreciable impact on the way we conduct monetary policy," said Charles Partee, one of the seven members of the Federal Reserve Board.

The latest error meant the money supply in recent weeks grew by $3.8 billion less than the board said it did. The rapid growth of the money supply during this period was the chief reason the board gave for its decision on Oct. 6 to raise interest rates in an effort to slow money growth.

But Board Vice Chairman Frederick Schultz told the banking committee that even after discounting the errors, the money supply still expanded in early October at more than a 10 percent annual rate, a rate of growth that the board feels encourages inflation.

Schultz said the latest $800 million error, like the other $3 billion, was the result of mistakes in money reporting by the Manufacturers Hanover Bank in New York City, and he did not rule out that additional errors would be found.

"I cannot guarantee that there will not be further revisions from this bank," he said, explaining that Manufacturers Hanover was having trouble with a new reporting system.

Growth of the money supply is considered important as it provides the fuel on which inflation can thrive if money growth is too rapid. The board influences money growth by depositing or withdrawing money from the banking system.

Reuss claimed that the miscounting of money had serious repercussions on financial markets, noting that the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 90 points since Oct. 5 and the bond market also plummeted. Losses to bond and stockholders totaled $200 billion, he said.

"Now we find out that much of that chaos was completely unjustified," Reuss said, declaring that "financial people panicked" when they saw the erroneous money supply report.

Schultz said individual securities dealers may well have lost money.

Rent Refunds To Be Awarded To Families

WASHINGTON (AP) — As many as 750,000 families who have lived in federally financed housing are due up to $500 each in rent refunds following settlement of a class-action suit against the government.

A public-interest law group and an advertising firm have initiated a nationwide campaign, focusing on more than 100 cities, to locate the tenants of some 4,800 housing projects, government officials said today.

The outreach program will distribute $60 million in refunds covering allegedly illegal rent increases between February 1975 and September 1977, a Department of Housing and Urban Development spokesman said.

The campaign began Oct. 21 with the mailing of claim forms to tenants now living in the projects, as well as people who have moved away.

Posters in English and Spanish are being placed at the projects, public service announcements featuring actor Norman Fell are being prepared, and officials are visiting many cities to brief tenant groups and the local press, said Claire Brechter of the J. Walter Thompson advertising firm.

While announcements will be broadcast in more than 100 cities, the campaign will concentrate on Chicago, Detroit, Denver, Dallas-Fort Worth, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., Baltimore, New York and Minneapolis-St. Paul, she said.

The refund program is the result of a class-action suit against HUD initiated in 1976 by Patricia Tenoso, a Los Angeles lawyer, on behalf of a tenant of a Carson, Calif., housing project.

Rents at that project were increased to cover rising utility and tax costs, a HUD official said.

Subsequently, Miss Tenoso, of the Western Center on Law and Poverty, discovered similar rent increases at other projects.

Experts Advise Consumers On Charity Donations

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Before you know it, street corner Santas will start to "Ho, ho, ho." The familiar black kettles will dot the sidewalks. There will be new appeals: "In a season of joy, remember the less fortunate."

Americans gave nearly $40 billion to charity last year, up almost 10 percent from 1977. Most of the money — some $33 billion — came from individuals.

There are thousands of charities. Some seek money on a year-round basis; others run one-time fund-raising drives; and still others count on the Christmas spirit to fill their coffers.

Religious groups are the biggest beneficiaries of U.S. generosity. In 1978, they received $18.4 billion — almost half the total given to charity. Health causes and educational groups got about $5.5 billion each; social welfare organizations got just under $4 billion.

Which charity should you support? How can you be sure your money will reach the people it's intended for? Which cause is worthiest? Who needs help the most?

"Reputation alone ... is no surefire guide to wise giving," writes Carl Bakal, author of a new book, "Charity U.S.A." Bakal says: "Many well-known and highly regarded organizations are efficiently run and dedicated to a real social need. Others, however, although equally sincere in purpose, are badly run or directed toward an outdated or not particularly urgent need."

More than half the states have laws regulating the solicitation of charitable contributions, but the statutes vary widely. Some limit the amount that can be spent on fund raising; others merely require the filing of an annual report.

Internal Revenue Service regulations also require charities to file an annual financial report if they want to keep their tax-exempt status. Religious groups, however, are exempt from the rule. And, although the reports are available to the public, they may not be much of a help unless you are a financial expert and can understand all the figures.

The National Information Bureau and the Council of Better Business Bureaus publish rating lists of charities, indicating whether they meet organization standards. The lists cover only a few hundred charities each, but they can be useful. For information write: Philanthropic Advisory Division, Council of Better Business Bureaus, 1150 17th St. N.W., Washington, D.C., 20036 or National Information Bureau, 419 Park Avenue South, New York, N.Y., 10016.

The final decision about giving is up to you, but experts advise consumers to follow these general rules:

—Restrict donations to groups you are familiar with. Don't give to organizations you have never heard of or know nothing about.

—Ask for a financial statement before you give. Check to see whether the charity has been independently audited by a certified public accountant. "Most reputable organizations will provide this information," says Bakal. "If it does not or will not answer any reasonable questions regarding its programs and operations, be suspicious of it."

Coogan Wants Tougher Law

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of Hollywood's first child superstars has reached retirement age, but he hasn't quit working.

COOGAN

Jackie Coogan, who starred in Charlie Chaplin's 1920 classic, "The Kid," says laws are not adequate to protect child entertainers, and he and his producer-son, Anthony, are out to change that.

Coogan, who turned 65 Friday and was honored at a surprise party over the weekend, said he earned $4 million as a child star. In 1938, he sued his stepfather and mother after the money disappeared, and the scandal resulted in the "Coogan Law" which protects the earnings of California minors.

Coogan said more teeth have to be put into the laws.

"The child's money should be maintained in a separate trust fund, so that come hell or high water he or she will receive it at the age of 18. It shouldn't be left to the discretion of the court or the parents, who nine out of 10 times are the worst factors in embezzlement."

Coogan has lived in Palm Springs for 17 years and considers himself "semi-retired."

Mary Tyler Moore Gets New Role

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Tyler Moore was on Broadway this weekend for the closing of a play that's being rewritten so she can star in it.

"Whose Life is it Anyway," a play about a sculptor who is paralyzed from the neck down, closed Saturday night at the Trafalgar Theater.

Tom Conti, who made his Broadway acting debut as the sculptor, won a Tony award for his performance, but is leaving the production to make his Broadway directing debut with "Last Licks," a new play by Frank Gilroy.

"Whose Life," is being rewritten to allow a woman to play the part of the sculptor.

A Man's Life

DAVIE, Fla. (AP) — First Thor lost his front teeth. Then he lost his job over his new ones. It was beginning to look like he might be leading a man's life.

The Lighter Side Of Today's News

Moore was referred to Dr. J. Scott Owen by the U.S. Police Canine Asasociation. Owen, a veterinarian, had done dental work on dogs in the Air Force.

After six weeks of trips to McOwen's office in Delray Beach, Thor had a bright smile, highlighted by four shiny metal-capped teeth.

But someone in the police department thought the new choppers looked overly sharp and worried that somebody bitten by them might sue the town as a result.

Thor was suspended until the town insurance agent concluded the teeth posed no more of a problem than the dog's regular teeth.

Moore says he never doubted the outcome, insisting that the capped teeth "are not as sharp, not as long and not as dangerous as the regular teeth God gave him in the first place."

New Mexico Sherlock Holmes Group Sets Annual Gathering

MORIARTY, N.M. (AP) — One night a year, the deerstalker hats replace Stetsons at Moriarty's Frontier Bar, and country-western music gives way to the rousing strains of "Unhappy Birthday, Moriarty."

When that happens, residents know a group of more than 50 of New Mexico's Sherlock Holmes fanatics, known collectively as The Brothers Three of Moriarty, are at it again.

The group — dedicated to perpetuating the idea that Sherlock Holmes is not a legend — plans this year's salute to the sleuth on Thursday. They will gather at 6:30 p.m. in the bar in this small ranching community that shares a name with the great detective's nemesis, professor James Moriarty.

"The average Sherlockian is doing it for the fun of it," said John Bennett Shaw of Santa Fe, a Holmes expert and member of the group. "It overlaps all social, educational and racial barriers."

The common link is the fictional Victorian-era detective who deduced his way through 60 mysteries, ostensibly chronicled by the ever-faithful Dr. John Watson in Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's stories.

But why Sherlock Holmes?

"He's real — he's more real than Richard Nixon," Shaw said. "Look at today's heroes. Farah Fawcett, Reggie Jackson ... I'd rather believe in Sherlock Holmes.

"Subconsciously, I think we're looking for a leader who's honest, loyal, patriotic, successful — and here's Holmes."

Shaw, a retired funeral director and longtime library trustee, spends nearly all his time to the famous "consulting detective." He has given lectures and workshops on Holmes all over the world.

Agriculture Department Receives Fleece Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $90,000 project to probe the mysteries of vegetarianism qualifies the Agriculture Department for a Golden Fleece Award, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today.

But it was a close race. Proxmire said in a prepared statement he almost gave the same department his monthly "award" for spending $65,000 "to develop psychological profiles of nutrition enthusiasts" so more could be learned about "nutrition behavior and motivation."

In fact, Proxmire added, a third possibility for the October award was another Agriculture-financed project: a quest for the gasless bean.

Or, as Proxmire put it, "a non-flatulent bean."

"That could have involved considerable fun, but further checking on our part disclosed that the (bean) research had considerable nutritional as well as aesthetic merit," Proxmire said.

He said the two-year study of vegetarianism was "not just meaty enough to warrant such an expenditure of federal funds. The taxpayers may, in fact, be getting something for their money which is neither fish nor fowl."

The $90,000 vegetarianism study, conducted by the University of Texas, was designed, the Agriculture Department said, "to help learn why some people shift to high-vegetable diet and if their sense of taste for various foods is a factor in dietary change."

Study Shows Doctors Work Longer Hours

CHICAGO (AP) — Doctors in small towns worked longer hours in 1978 than their colleagues in larger cities, says the American Medical Association's Profile of Medical Practice 1979.

But regardless of where they live, the book says most doctors work longer than the average 40-hour work week. The average office-based U.S. doctor worked 50.3 hours a week in 1978, while surgeons averaged 53.2 hours a week, the book says.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

Mayor Has A 'No' Job

THE LESSON probably won't stick, politicians being what they are, but what's happened to Washington, D.C., Mayor Marion S. Barry Jr. is a sight to behold.

Fiscal reality has reared its beautiful head and caused him to blink.

For a decade before his election, Barry was a firebrand anti-poverty activist who in effect said "hang the cost" to every social welfare program ever dreamed up by the big spenders.

But, faced with the responsibility for preparing and executing a budget—with Congressional approval—Barry has proposed to cut some municipal services.

"I'M STILL ANGRY about social injustice," he explains, "(but) now I have the awesome responsibility of trying to make some of the things happen that I was agitating for." He adds, in a commentary every social activist should be required to write on the blackboard 100 times: "We have taken from those who have and given to those who don't have—but those who have are fast running out."

Barry's $1.5 billion budget—an obscene amount, if we might borrow a phrase politicians like to use in describing corporate profits—for 1981 proposes an 8.1 percent increase over 1980 spending.

Since the inflation caused by the governmental big spenders now is running at a rate of 13 percent, he has had to propose some service cutbacks.

The mayor suggests reducing garbage collections, ending free abortions (Washington has the highest illegitimacy rate in the country), closing three health clinics and cutting public school spending by $10 million (enrollment is expected to decline 12 percent).

THE MAYOR SAYS the District of Columbia simply can't afford to do everything that needs to be done or would be nice to have done.

"We can't pay for everything everybody wants," the erstwhile outsider activist asserts.

He has learned his lesson, up to a point, but has he been able to sell his former activist allies on it? Not on your life.

Welcome to the establishment, Mr. Mayor.

Oil-Fueled Pensions

IT'S BEGINNING to look like the city will run out of streets and statues before it runs out of people to name 'em and erect 'em for.

★

Isn't it wonderful the way price controls on oil have held down the price of gasoline and the way deficit budgets by Congress have met all demands for social services?

★

IN ITS POLITICALLY inspired zeal to impose a windfall profits tax on "the big oil companies," Congress is taking dead aim on pensions of the elderly.

Oil company profits go to stockholders—and pension funds comprise the biggest block of stockholders. Exxon's stock, for example, is owned 28 percent by pension funds.

House Speaker Tip O'Neill, who calls oil company profits "an absolute and utter disgrace," appears incapable of understanding the basics of a free economy.

HE AND OTHER socialist-leaning Congressmen believe that it's better to tax away corporate revenues and put elderly citizens on a federal dole, beholden to the politicians for income to buy their groceries, pay their heating bills and clothe their backs.

Far better it would be for Congress to leave the money with the citizens, including the oil-enriched pension funds, than for the politicians and bureaucrats to rake off the cream for themselves.

Even without taking a bigger bite, government already rakes in much, much more of your gasoline dollar than your pension fund and all other stockholders get.

★

★

Police description: "...elderly white female, age 50 or over..."

My Sweet Wife says it was probably issued by some juvenile cop, age 25 or under...

★

If Carter and Kennedy were partners in a bridge game, would Carter trump his partner's ace?

★

Let's see now. The lunatic fringe wants us to do without nuclear power, tax the oil companies out of existence, import no oil, protect the caribou and the snail darter, give every woman an unlimited number of free abortions, share the wealth, discipline no child, let the employes run the company, unilaterally disarm, eliminate defense spending, feed the world free of charge, kiss the cheeks of terrorists, put homosexuals on pedestals, treat religion as leprosy, decriminalize crime, eliminate the death penalty and free the murderers, replace old housing with rent-free new housing, scorn profits, never build a highway, bus everybody, impose confiscatory inheritance taxes and love everybody except the Nazis, racists, conservatives and corporation presidents.

It's kind of hard to keep it all straight in my mind at times.

I MENTIONED the other day the tomfoolishness of the government's accusations against a retailer of dishwashers.

The company is accused of advertising that pots and pans don't need to be scraped, but a federal bureaucrat—exercising the abusive power of the government—says it's his opinion that the machine doesn't get the pots clean enough that way.

Now comes syndicated columnist Paul Scott, who wrote elsewhere on this page last week that the Federal Trade Commission was out to get Red Fox overalls.

Since there's no red fox fur in the brand-label britches, the FTC solemnly intoned, it's misleading to call them by that name. It ordered a store owner to remove them from his shelves.

One supposes such rank obnoxiousness and "consumer protectionism" has no end: No Cougar cars without a cougar in the seat, no Camel cigarets without a camel in the pack, no Greyhound buses, no Hamilton Beach mixers, no Bell milk, no Vienna sausage, no Avalanche-Journal, no Green Giant peas...

What the consumers need is protection from the federal bureaucracy. How about no Federal Trade Commission if it doesn't stop interfering in trade?

John D. Lofton:

Pot-Smoking Takes Breath Away

WASHINGTON—I had not planned to return to the subject of marijuana so quickly. But then again, I did not expect to run across such a shoddy piece of journalistic nonsense as a lead editorial in New Republic magazine, titled "Reefer Madness."

Excoriating the "insanity" of the nation's drug laws, the article says that there is "no evidence" that pot is more harmful than alcohol and cigarettes.

It is stated, as fact, that: "Despite more than a thousand studies, the government has discovered no proof that marijuana is either physically or psychologically addictive, or that it causes brain and chromosome damage, or male impotence."

"NO EVIDENCE" that pot is harmful? The country is awash in such "proof"—if one is truly honest intellectually. In his as-yet-unpublished testimony before the House Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control, Dr. William Pollin, director of HEW's National Institute on Drug Abuse, says:

"While much remains to be learned about the health implications of marijuana, I would like to emphasize at the outset that our present evidence clearly indicates that it is not a 'safe' substance."

Citing a study of 12,000 junior and senior high students in the Boston area which showed that the earlier one smokes pot, the "more likely is use to become heavy and to include other illicit drugs," Pollin observes that "while 'high,' memory and other intellectual abilities are temporarily impaired; marijuana use is antithetical to learning."

POLLIN SAYS:

— "Based on both clinical observation and laboratory measurement, marijuana shows evidence of interfering with lung function and producing bronchial irritation in habitual users.

"It is known that marijuana smoking contains more carcinogens than tobacco, that in animal testing the smoke residuals produce skin tumors, and there is laboratory evidence that human lung tissue exposed in the test tube to marijuana smoke shows more cellular changes than when exposed to similar amounts of standard tobacco smoke."

— "Although it is difficult to establish with certainty, many clinicians feel that regular marijuana use may seriously interfere with psychological functioning and personality development, especially in childhood and adolescence."

— "Virtually all of the many studies which have been done of performance while 'high' converge toward the conclusion that marijuana interferes with immediate memory and intellectual performance in ways that impair thinking, reading comprehension, verbal and arithmetic problem solving."

— "There is animal and human preliminary evidence that relatively heavy use ranging from several times a week to daily use may reduce fertility in women."

— Of 14 research findings reviewed, nine have shown that marijuana use "adversely affects the body's natural defenses against infection and disease."

Pollin says that, unfortunately, because of the hesitancy of the scientific community in not drawing unwarranted definitive conclusions from what are preliminary research findings, this has led many to conclude that pot is without serious medical hazard, even for the very young.

As for the idea that any doubts about the harmfulness of marijuana constitute a kind of "reefer madness," Pollin warns: "If we must err, there are good arguments for erring on the side of caution."

Sylvia Porter:

Odds Are Against You Finding Even Number

WASHINGTON—A jar of grape jelly 69 cents; a box of tea bags $1.59; a camera $209.95; fur coats on sale at prices ranging from $1,799 to $8,299.

You name the item. Chances are it will carry a retail price tag that ends in an odd number. Scan the ads in your newspaper, the posters in your supermarket windows, the flyers promoting this week's specials.

You're likely to see a bundle of 9s, a lot of 7s, a good group of 5s. Almost surely, these will be in the fat majority.

Whatever happened to even numbers? Have they just faded from the marketplace? Why are they unavailable for final-digit duty?

Is this some inflation-induced trick to keep prices leaping ahead? One of my more observant readers, Gerry Scorse, wrote asking "what gives?"

I ACCEPTED HIS query more seriously than I suspect he thought and with my associate Brooke Shearer in Washington and me on a week-long trip across the U.S., went searching for explanations behind this curious but now common pricing philosophy.

The practice of working odd digits overtime is an old one. It dates back to the early days of retailing—before the introduction of state sales taxes led retail clerks to ring up the cost of a $1 item as $1.04 or $1.08.

The phenomenon has been investigated by Florida University professor David M. Georgoff, who reports that merchants discovered that attaching odd-digit prices to merchandise forced their sales personnel to make change.

This trip to the cash register, or in the old days, the pneumatic tube, meant clerks had less opportunity to pocket a shopper's money. It also encouraged more impulse buying by compelling a customer to wait for change.

BY FAR THE most widely held explanation for the prevalence of odd numbers is psychological.

Many retailers believe that consumers perceive items with prices ending in odd digits, particularly 9s, cost substantially less than prices finishing off in even numbers.

An item marked 99 cents, for instance, appears cheaper than one priced at $1 or even, for that matter, marked at a lower 98 cents or 98 cents.

This truism of retailing holds that consumers generally focus on the first digit, so that digit is kept low, and the odd number at the end encourages you, the buyer, to round down rather than to round up (which you would tend to do with an even digit at the end).

DOES THIS PSYCHOLOGICAL theory make sense—or profits? Does a product marked $12.97 or advertised at three for $5.35 create the illusion of a bargain or a major discount?

Georgoff has tested this theory both in a laboratory setting and in a department store.

His blunt answer: "No." His research shows that you, the consumer, are not fooled by this marking technique. You are not more likely to buy a suit if it's marked $139 than if its price tag is $138.50 or $140.

Others believe that prices ending in odd numbers generally, and 9s in particular, attract the shoppers' attention and draw them into a store. Thus, they continue to use these familiar digits.

Georgoff makes two additional points that suggest fascinating conclusions about our mentalities as shoppers.

First, attaching a round dollar price to an item tends to increase its prestige in the minds of potential buyers. This is why you'll frequently see high-fashion merchandise carrying round and sometimes even dollar tags.

SECOND, AN EXAMINATION of old newspaper ads going back for decades suggests that odd-digit price marking seems to increase during times of economic downturn and to decline when the country becomes more prosperous.

In blunt terms, even numbers will begin reappearing on an ever-mounting scale when we have stumbled through the current downturn (whatever its depth, breadth or duration) and are clearly on the upswing again.

Perhaps, unwittingly, my observant reader has led to the discovery of a new key economic indicator of ups and downs!

James J. Kilpatrick:

Voter Verdict Out On Talmadge

WASHINGTON—If it were not for the smugness demonstrated by Sen. Herman Talmadge in the past few weeks, there would be no particular reason to dwell upon the Senate's 81-15 vote to denounce his conduct.

Talmadge is a senior senator, but not a notably influential one, and the funds involved in his various offenses were not unusually large.

But there is something peculiarly revolting in the senator's complacency. When the report of the Senate Ethics Committee first was released, he crowed that he had won a "personal victory." After the Senate vote, he proclaimed his "vindication."

Back home in Georgia he has sought to persuade his gullible followers that the whole affair was somehow the work of them lyin' Atlanta newspapers.

THE RECORD IN this matter is long. The Ethics Committee heard 36 witnesses, received 292 exhibits and took 2,800 pages of testimony.

At the outset the committee dismissed a charge that Talmadge had exerted improper influence in connection with certain real estate transactions; the charge was "without proper foundation."

With that allegation out of the way, the committee concentrated on the senator's handling of his public and personal funds. In the end, the committee and the Senate reached this conclusion:

"It is the judgment of the Senate that the conduct of Sen. Talmadge is reprehensible and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute and is hereby denounced."

That solemn judgment is a personal victory? A vindication? Let reasonably minded men read the record and decide for themselves.

The committee's principal findings had to do with reimbursements paid to the senator from public funds.

UNDER THE LAW, every senator is entitled to be reimbursed for expenses having to do with postage, telephones, subscriptions and home office expenses. It is an honor system; no supporting documentation is required; a senator needs only to certify that the reimbursement is owed him.

Between 1972 and 1978, the senator's own auditors found that he had received and deposited $36,000 on vouchers for nonexistent expenses. The committee's auditors raised that figure to $50,000.

Whatever the precise sum may have been, it originated largely in payments on bogus claims for home office expenses.

For example, the committee found that in 1974 the senator submitted a voucher for $3,685.85 for home office expenses. "During this period there were no allowable home office expenses."

FOR THE FIRST six months of 1975, the senator claimed $6,500 in home office expenses. "There were no allowable home office expenses for that period."

What is the senator's defense to these fraudulent vouchers? His cavalier response is that somebody else, some other time, signed his name to the vouchers; office finances had a "low priority" with him; he paid no particular attention to such petty matters.

But the uncontradicted testimony was that Talmadge himself signed virtually all checks drawn on the special account in which the reimbursements were deposited.

He was characterized as a man with a "steel trap mind" for figures. His office aides knew exactly what was going on.

Granted, Sen. Talmadge is a wealthy man. Sums that seem large to others may well seem trivial to him. Even so, was the senator to be believed in his answers to questions involving his personal pocket money?

Counsel elicited a statement that "I've got, I think, $100 or so in my pocket now. I don't recall where I got that."

Q. YOU DON'T KNOW where the $100 in your pocket came from?

A. I don't know whether it came from cashing a check or cash I had on me...

Q. Have you had cash on hand other than in banks?

A. Modest amounts, yes...A few hundred dollars.

Q. And what would be the source of those few hundred dollars?

A. I don't know.

One member of the committee, Sen. Harrison Schmitt of New Mexico, filed a blistering supplementary statement in which he summarized the uncontradicted evidence against Talmadge.

His own conclusion was that the senator knew of the reimbursement vouchers and knew they were phony. Georgia voters, if they will examine the record, may well come to the same conclusion when the senator seeks re-election next year.

So They Say...

The teachers don't keep the kids after school these days. When 3:30 comes, they're afraid to be alone in the same building with them.

Berry's World

"You're lucky! This is REALLY hard for a workaholic."

Life On Road Appealing To Trucking Family

Jasmine, 2, and Jed, 1, were getting impatient. The family dog, a terrier cross-breed known as Tanya, watched patiently as the morning traffic rolled by.

Sue was waiting for her husband, David, to repair the engine on the used tractor-trailer rig they had bought a few months ago. It had broken down the night before.

"Would you believe it, the engine dropped," Gagne muttered.

Jasmine whined.

"They like to be on the move. They don't like to stay still long," the 24-year-old mother and apprentice truck driver explained.

Gagne is of late an independent trucker from Dover, N.H. Like Roman soldiers of ancient times and an increasing number of truckers, he hauls his family with him on the long treks across the country.

"Why not? I mean, that rig has everything a Winnebago does except running water and a toilet. And you can find those at truck stops," Gagne, 25, says. In fact, he adds, the life he and his family lead isn't very different from that of cross-country campers.

The Gagnes are known on the circuit as a truck family. The kids sleep in in the back of the rig, the parents forward. They eat in truck stops and restaurants along the way. It beats getting lonely, Gagne said. His wife added that the route was an improvement over housework.

Gagne has been driving heavy rigs since he was 18. Until recently, he worked for a meat-packing firm. But in July he made what he said was the next logical step up a trucker's career ladder. He bought a 1973 rig, investing about $15,000 in it.

"When we were getting ready to buy the truck, he used to call me and say, 'Think about it,'" Mrs. Gagne said, explaining the process by which she, Jasmine, Jed and Tanya wound up making a trailer rig their home.

"I said I'd try it a couple weeks at a time and see how it works," she said.

Mrs. Gagne says she's learning to drive the rig. A lot of women drive trucks, she said.

On this particular day, as Gagne struggled to correct his rig's engine problems, the family was on its way to Wheeling, W.Va., with a load of candy from Boston.

They planned to stop to visit relatives in Pennsylvania. After reaching West Virginia — who knows — Gagne said. They could pick up a new freight load there and wind up in Texas.

"It's great for the kids. Most kids their age are tied down to home and a nursery school. They're out seeing the country," Gagne said.

When Jasmine and Jed reach school age, the Gagnes don't expect to be hauling freight. They have ambitions of owning a truck fleet and running a farm in New Hampshire.

They don't consider themselves nomads. Before they bought the rig, they built a house in Dover. Mrs. Gagne said she enjoyed being a housewife. But she says she also enjoys being with her husband when he's on the road for weeks at a time, rather than at home alone with the children.

Gagne finally had the rig in working order.

He swept up Jasmine and Jed from the curb with both arms and hoisted them into the cab. The two were smiling. Tanya followed, then Sue and David.

Workshop To Study Needs Of Handicapped

The Museum of Texas Tech University will be host for a two-day workshop Nov. 8-9 to assist those engaged in various arts programs to meet the needs of physically disabled persons who want to participate.

The workshop, sponsored in part by the West Texas Museum Association, will focus on the special needs of the disabled with regard to the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and specifically Section 504 of that federal law prohibiting discrimination against qualified handicapped persons in federally assisted programs.

The federal regulations require both program and architectural Larry Molloy, director of Special Constituencies for the National Endowment for the Arts, will open the workshop with an explanation of Section 504 and its relationship to the arts.

Cathy Neman, director of Programming for the National Association of Retarded Citizens, will deal with special needs in regard to specific disabilities.

Others on the program include Russell Bowden, director, Projects with Industry, Goodwill Industries Inc.; Dr. Virginia M. Sowell, assistant professor in the area of special education within the Texas Tech College Of Education; and Joe Burks, director, Bi-County Regional Deaf Program, Lubbock Independent School District.

Thursday sessions will last from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8:30 p.m. Friday sessions will last from 9 a.m. to noon. Two meals are included in the $22.50 registration fee.

Judy Hunter, named coordinator of Section 504 programming at The Museum of Texas Tech University, said the workshop should prove helpful for people working in the fields of dancing, music or any other of the arts.

"The deaf can be helped in enjoying opera," she said, "and those who are blind enjoy dance. The intent of the law is to make all arts programs accessible to any of the disabled who might want to participate."

A part of the law, according to Hunter, requires that museums and other institutions dealing in the arts develop and work with consumer councils which are to include disabled persons.

"A great deal has been done to solve architectural accessibility problems for public buildings," she said, "but making programs accessible to all who want to participate is a relatively new concept for many program directors. This workshop should provide know-how as well as greater understanding of the problems involved."

Registration checks should be sent to Miss Hunter, The Museum, Texas Tech University, P.O. Box 4499, Lubbock, Texas 79409.

HEW Advises Filing Suit Against Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare formally recommended today that the government sue the Chicago school board because of its failure to end racially segregated and overcrowded conditions in the school district.

HEW officially turned the case over to the Justice Department with the recommendation that legal action be taken to improve conditions in the schools. It said the agency's attempts to reach a negotiated settlement had failed.

In a letter to Drew Days III, assistant attorney general for the civil rights division, Albert T. Hamlin, HEW's assistant general counsel, has concluded that racially segregated and overcrowded conditions cannot be eliminated from the Chicago public schools without additional busing.

The Office For Civil Rights, the HEW agency with direct responsibility in this case, cannot order busing because of a specific congressional prohibition.

Since the negotiation attempt failed, "OCR is obliged to refer this matter to the Department of Justice for the filing of a lawsuit," Hamlin wrote.

HEW warned Chicago officials 10 days ago that the case would be passed on to the government's lawyers unless some acceptable plan was forthcoming.

In that time period "the district has not submitted an adequate plan to correct violation of Title VI (of the Civil Rights Act)," Hamlin said.

The Chicago school board had turned down an HEW plan that would have given the board until Dec. 18 to deal with its desegregation problems. HEW had been willing to extend its deadline if the board agreed to a set of principles that would have been used in writing a desegregation plan.

The terms HEW sought included a commitment to develop a desegregation plan where no school would be more than 50 percent white or 63 percent black. The school system is about 79 percent non-white.

The school board's original proposal had been rejected by the government as one that affected too few students, was vague and contained too few mandatory provisions.

HEW officials have described the government's case against Chicago as one of the best documented they have developed.

Tips From Psychics Prove Futile In Search For Abducted Child

Elizabeth Barclay was last seen Tuesday by two young friends who said she was taken, as they walked to a neighborhood store, by a man who said he would "take her ... and throw her in the water."

Linda Barclay pushed through thick grass and waded in Northwest Dallas creeks, but by late Sunday night there was still no trace of her missing daughter.

She said her weekend search was inspired by unidentified psychics who told her they envisioned the missing girl near trickling water, high grass and trees.

"When I first started talking to the psychics, every time they'd mention something I'd say, 'I know where that is,'" Mrs. Barclay said. "But you go here and you go there and it all looks the same.

"I've been in some places that I just don't want to leave because I feel so strongly that she's there."

Mounted police units and helicopter patrols have conducted an intensive and fruitless search for the girl since Tuesday night. Aand the officers said their efforts are being complicated by callers claiming to have psychic powers.

City Youth Apprehended In Theft Of Vehicles

By JACK DOUGLAS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A Lubbock boy, chased by police through East Lubbock early this morning after he allegedly stole a motorcycle and two cars, was apprehended after an officer accidentally tripped near a bush where the youth was hiding.

The 14-year-old suspect was taken into custody about 4:10 a.m. today in a vacant lot in the 1500-block of East Sixth Street after officer Roger Hearron stumbled during the pursuit and spotted the boy's hiding place.

Before his capture, the young fugitive led police on a wild chase that reached speeds of 80 mph and rammed a patrol car with one of the stolen vehicles.

The boy allegedly stole a motorcycle out of a pickup truck, but apparently could not get it started. Police said he then jumped into a 1972 Thunderbird parked in the 1600-block of 59th Street about 12:40 a.m. today and drove off.

Gene Riddle of 2534 69th St. found the stolen vehicle in front of his house, but discovered his 1977 Gran Prix was missing from the driveway. Police speculate the boy also Riddle's auto after finding that his first stolen car was running out of gas.

Hearron said he began pursuing the youth at East Colgate Street and Cherry after watching him run a stop sign. Reports indicate the suspect ignored the officer's emergency lights, jumped a curb, drove across a vacant lot and headed south on Quirt Avenue.

Hearron said he clocked the car at 80 mph between Auburn Street and Parkway Drive.

The boy pulled to a stop at Fifth Street and Oak Avenue but reportedly started up again as Hearron was getting out of his car.

Reports state the boy rammed the vehicle into the patrol car and both vehicles locked at the bumpers.

During a foot chase involving the young suspect and Hearron, the officer fired one shot into the air, but the boy continued to run. The boy reportedly was yelling while attempting to flee the officer.

Hearron said the boy rounded a corner of a house, and he thought he had lost him until he stumbled and saw the young fugitive under a bush.

Hearron said the boy struggled for several minutes before he was subdued and taken to the county juvenile ward.

Gubernatorial Races Significant To Both Parties

WASHINGTON (AP) — In 1976 Jimmy Carter carried Kentucky, Louisiana and Mississippi by narrow margins and won the presidency. They all had Democratic governors, but now Republicans are threatening to capture state houses in all three.

This gives the upcoming elections in those states an uncharacteristic importance to both parties. If Republicans control the machinery in 1980, these states, critical to continued Democratic occupancy of the White House, would be tougher to carry than in 1976.

Carter carried Mississippi by a scant 14,463 votes, Louisiana by 73,919 and Kentucky by 83,865. Without them, he wouldn't have been president.

Gil Carmichael, a millionaire auto dealer, is making his second bid to become Mississippi's first Republican governor since Reconstruction. His opponent to succeed Gov. Cliff Finch is veteran Democrat William Winter, making his third race.

Most observers say Winter is leading, but Carmichael claims his opponent has peaked and is slipping since their televised debate in September.

Carmichael has been criticized by Democrats as a businessman's candidate, and Carmichael has countered by calling Winter a "super bureaucrat." Winter has been a lieutenant governor, state tax collector, treasurer and three-term member of the state House of Representatives.

In Kentucky, fried chicken king John Y. Brown Jr., assisted by his wife, former Miss America Phyllis George, is the front-running Democratic nominee to succeed Gov. Julian Carroll.

But Brown is being pressed hard by former Gov. Louie Nunn in a bitter contest. Nunn has criticized Brown's millionaire lifestyle, and Brown has proposed "a real good whipping" for Nunn's campaign style.

Both states will hold their general elections Nov. 6.

In Saturday's non-partisan primary in Louisiana, the apparent top two finishers are Republican U.S. Rep. David Treen and Democratic Lt. Gov. James Fitzmorris. With the unofficial count complete, Fitzmorris led Louis Lambert, the head of the state's public service commission, by about 1,500 votes for the No. 2 spot. The winner in the Dec. 8 general election will succeed Gov. Edwin Edwards.

No less than 49 of the nation's 163 cities with at least 100,000 residents elect mayors next month. The greatest excitement centers in Cleveland, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Boston and Minneapolis.

Cleveland Mayor Dennis Kucinich, a Democrat who won election after bucking the party machinery and who barely survived a recall election last year, is facing an uphill fight for re-election.

Mayor Frank Rizzo failed last year to change Philadelphia's charter ban on a third term, but Democrats are favored to retain the city hall control they have enjoyed since 1951.

Similarities Found In Carter, Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The differences on the issues between President Carter and Sen. Edward Kennedy are not striking. At this point in the campaign they seem to be more imagery than substance.

Carter gives the appearance of a budget-balancing conservative and Kennedy has the reputation of a free-wheeling big spender.

In reality, the two men are not that far apart on issues. In a tabulation as of the end of September, Kennedy's votes in the Senate favored Carter measures 58 times and opposed them on only 10 votes.

Also, in both 1977 and 1978, Kennedy was among the top 25 percent of Democratic senators supporting Carter positions.

To be sure, these two unannounced candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination have differences.

Their most celebrated dispute — fought in public and private — is over national health insurance. And even there, both are committed to a national health program. The difference is a matter of approach: Kennedy wanted a cradle-to-grave program immediately, and Carter opted for a phased-in approach.

On the issue of the economy — the one Kennedy used as the reason for becoming a presidential candidate — there also is little to choose between them.

Despite all his criticisms, Kennedy has as yet enunciated any alternatives to Carter's plans — no call for an immediate tax cut, for example, no demand for wage-price controls.

In fact, Kennedy's quarrel over the economy has not been with Carter programs to combat the recession and inflation but with the president's ability to handle the task and provide it with leadership.

There is an unusual difference in the two men's positions on one issue: Both oppose a constitutional amendment to outlaw abortions. But Kennedy, the Catholic, favors federal funding to provide abortions for the poor, and Carter, the populist, does not.

Kennedy and Carter are even more in step on foreign policy than on domestic issues.

Kennedy was with Carter on human rights, the Panama Canal treaty, the restoration of full diplomatic relations with China, the president's peace initiative in the Middle East, and the SALT II arm limitation treaty.

Their differences over foreign policy have been minor. Kennedy wants stronger action against Chile for that country's refusal to extradite three nationals for their alleged part in the murder of Orlando Letelier, has criticized Carter for not moving more swiftly to provide humanitarian aid to Cambodia, opposed restoration of military aid to Turkey and opposed military sales to some Arab states.

Close Voting Predicted In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The qualifiers in Louisiana's primary election for governor were campaigning again today. All three of them.

Only Republican congressman David Treen was assured of one of the two runoff spots in the Dec. 8 general election. Lt. Gov. James Fitzmorris held the second spot by a razor-thin margin over a fellow Democrat, Louis Lambert, chairman of Louisiana's regulation-setting Public Service Commission.

Complete, but unofficial returns from Saturday's non-partisan election, the most expensive primary election in Louisiana history, showed 297,177 votes for Treen, a four-term congressman from suburban New Orleans; 280,490 for Fitzmorris and 279,014 for Lambert. Six other candidates were farther back with all 2,899 precincts accounted for.

"This has got to be one of the most unusual primaries in state history," said Fitzmorris, who claimed to have shattered "a myth" that a New Orleanian can't be elected governor.

"We just have to shake our heads and ask, 'Can an election be this close in Louisiana?,'" said Lambert. "This will be one that people will be talking about for the next 50 years."

Louisiana has not had a Republican governor since Reconstruction.

Secretary of State Paul Hardy, who also spent over $2 million finished fourth. Next came Speaker E.L. "Bubba" Henry of the Louisiana House of Representatives and state Sen. Edgar Mouton.

A record 1.35 million persons voted in the election in which campaign spending was expected to surpass $20 million. Lambert spent $4 million, Fitzmorris $3.3 million and Treen $2.4 million.

Lambert conceded the No. 1 spot to Treen, but said Sunday he would have "a team of lawyers" at each of Louisiana's 64 courthouses Tuesday to check totals when voting machines are opened. The official count of primary votes begins Wednesday and was expected to end Saturday.

"Until we get the official count, we won't know who is going to be in a runoff," insisted Lambert. "We're going to continue our operations as if we are going into the primary."

And if the official canvass still eliminates him, Lambert said he might go to court for a reversal.

"I don't anticipate any legal challenge," said Fitzmorris, who once lost a mayor's race in New Orleans by about 200 votes.

Prisoners, Guards Killed In San Diego Air Crash

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Four American prisoners headed for a Tijuana border exchange were among 10 persons killed when a Mexican government plane crashed into a telephone pole and burst into flames, officials said.

Also killed in the Sunday morning crash were the two Mexican pilots and four prison guards, according to the U.S. consulate in Tijuana, Mexico.

San Diego police Lt. Dave Spisak said the pilot of the Otter turboprop apparently became disoriented in fog, wandered over the Mexican border and crashed a half-mile north of the international border between Tijuana and the rugged Otay Mesa area of San Diego.

The four Americans were en route to the United States as part of a prisoner exchange program. They were identified as Steve Michael Olsen of Imperial Beach; Julie Ann Sheldon of Cambria; Lotus Mary Sanchez of Garden Grove, and Gerald John Lapinski, hometown unknown.

Two of the prisoners, Olsen and Miss Sheldon, were married in prison and were returning to the United States to be reunited with their 9-month-old daughter, authorities said.

The couple was arrested on marijuana charges while vacationing in Mexico about a year ago and their child was being cared for by Miss Sheldon's mother, Patty Sheldon of Cambria.

The two Mexican pilots were identified as Rene Hernandez Rodriguez and Marco Antonio Fano. The four federal guards accompanying the prisoners were Rafael Gama Avistas, Ramon Lara Estrada, Fernando Ijiarte Aceves and Raul Santos Benevides.

It is not uncommon for planes landing in Tijuana to approach using American airspace, particularly during an instrument approach to the field, a Federal Aviation Administration official said.

The pilot of the turboprop had requested clearance into U.S. airspace through the Tijuana airport tower several minutes before the crash, the FAA official said. Both Mexican and U.S. officials are investigating the accident.

Spisak said the plane picked up two prisoners in Merida and two in Monterrey and was headed for Tijuana, where they were to be exchanged for Mexicans jailed in the United States.

The prisoner exchange program, in effect since December 1977, allows American prisoners in Mexico and Mexican prisoners in the United States to finish their terms in their native countries.

The exchange agreement between the two governments followed reports that American prisoners were being abused inside Mexican jails.

Italian Sets Record In Pipe Smoking

ROME (UPI) — Italian Viris Vecchi kept his bowl of tobacco burning for two hours, 51 minutes and 22 seconds to set a world pipe smoking record in the fourth annual world pipe smoking championships.

The previous record was set two years ago by a Japanese contestant.

Pathologist Discounts Impersonation View

NEW YORK (UPI) — The pathologist who performed the autopsy on the body of Lee Harvey Oswald says he believes the body was that of Oswald and not a Russian agent impersonating him.

Dr. Earl Rose said he identified Oswald's corpse through fingerprints.

Rose was supported in his contention by Robert Blakey who was chief counsel to the House Select Committee on Assassinations.

Blakey, who teaches at Cornell University, said fingerprints of the man arrested in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963 as the slayer of President John Kennedy, matched those of Oswald taken when he joined the Marine Corps in 1956.

Blakey said speculation that the man apprehended was not Oswald but a Russian agent impersonating him is an unfounded "sideshow" that casts doubt on legitimate questions surrounding Kennedy's death.

Earlier this month, Dallas County Medical Examiner Charles Petty requested exhumation of the body in Oswald's grave to answer discrepancies reported between Oswald's military record and the autopsy report compiled after Oswald's murder by Jack Ruby.

But Rose offered possible explanations for the reported discrepancies. His explanations were supported by other pathologists interviewed last week.

The discrepancies include differences in height and weight between the autopsy report and Oswald's service record and the lack of notation on the autopsy report of a small mastoidectomy scar behind Oswald's left ear.

Rose, who now teaches at the University of Iowa, told UPI last week he documented the corpse's identity by taking its fingerprints.

He said he estimated the weight because the Dalls facility lacked a large enough scale. This, he said, possibly accounts for the difference from military records.

Wayne County To Lay Off Employees

DETROIT (AP) — For 4,825 employees of Wayne County, the third most-populous in the nation, the morning mail in the next few days will likely bring layoff notices.

The financially troubled county was to mail out pink slips today, with the layoffs to take effect Nov. 12. The Wayne County Board of Commissioners voted to take the action last week while it struggles through its current economic difficulties.

Wayne County workers already have suffered two payless paydays.

Meanwhile, the county's economic condition was scheduled for discussion by the Legislature and the courts today.

"The key to the crisis in Wayne County is management's failure to match budget revenues with expenditures," Lt. Gov. James Brickley said in a news report Sunday.

"They failed to lay off 5 percent of the workers at the beginning of the year, so now they have to lay off 50 percent of them. Because of their unwillingness to cut expenditures by 5 percent they were willing to let the entire county close."

Action is anticipated in the Legislature within two weeks on a bill that would provide the county with $10.8 million in state assistance. The money would be enough to pay the county's 5,300 workers through the end of the year, Brickley said.

County employees who went without paychecks Oct. 19 got paid Friday after the county received a $2.9 million reimbursement check from the state for providing medicaid services. However, about 2,600 workers who were to be paid Friday did not receive checks because there wasn't enough money left.

Club Notables

By CONNIE CHAPMAN
Family News Staff

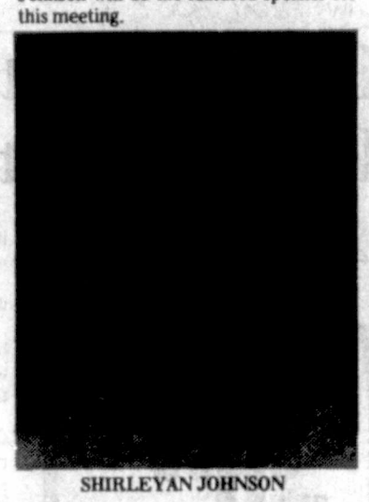
In this week of ghosties and ghoulies, clubs in and around Lubbock are also planning some "notable" meetings and activities not related to trick-or-treat. While much energy (not to mention time) will be spent on helping churches and P.T.A.'s prepare for Halloween parties and carnivals, many groups are working on Christmas related events.

Family News will carry a "bazaar" listing each Sunday. So please let us know what your group has planned. Remember that our deadline for this Sunday listing is noon Wednesday and we must have the information in writing.

One especially "notable" event this week is the Reese Officers' Wives Charity Bazaar which will be held at the Officers' Club on the base from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday.

As the West Texas Museum Association continues to celebrate the 50th anniversary of The Museum, a special "Art to Own" show will open to the public Sunday afternoon. A gala reception will be held Saturday evening to give members an advance preview of this show and to meet Rosalie Berkowitz of New York City who put together the collection on local display. For more information, see yesterday's Family News section.

The Lubbock Christian Women's Club is making plans for a luncheon meeting to be held Nov. 6 at the Hillcrest Country Club. Persons planning to attend need to make reservation this week by calling 799-3448 or 792-5943. Child care is also available and reservations for that are also needed and can be made by calling 799-2609. Shirleyan Johnson will be the featured speaker for this meeting.



SHIRLEYAN JOHNSON

Jean Jones, reporter for the Lubbock Area Square and Round Dance Federation, has announced that Chuck Bryant of San Antonio will be the caller for the Federation's November dance. This event is scheduled for Saturday evening at the Fair Park Coliseum. Rounds will begin at 7:15 and the Grand March will begin at 8, Jean said.

CHUCK BRYANT

Halloween Kidstuff which features stories, poems, and puppets and a film will be given for school-age children today at 3:30 p.m. at the Godeke Library and Tuesday at the Mahon Library at 4 p.m.

Bookman Group VI of the AAUW will meet Thursday at 10 a.m. at the University-City Club. Mrs. George H. Holland Jr. will present the program.

The Club Panamericano de Lubbock will hold its monthly meeing and Mexican Halloween party Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William H. Orr, 1306 48th St.

THIS WEEK AT THE LUBBOCK WOMEN'S CLUB: The Bible and Heritage Roundtable will meet Friday at noon. Guest speaker, Jim Bertram, will give a program on "Preserving Lubbock's Heritage."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Janes announce the engagement of a daughter, Nancy Jane, to Ronald Lynn Sloan, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.V. Sloan Jr.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

Women who work outside of their homes...all 42 million of them...have a unique set of problems.

They have to deal with how to stretch Saturdays into a 36-hour day...how to cook when they're too tired to eat...how to look great on a budget, handle guilt, get time to themselves, and get to the bank, doctor, dentist, and the cleaner when they work the same hours as they do.

But possibly the greatest problem of working women everywhere is one that is rarely talked about: The Office Food Pusher.

Every office or place of business has one.

She's a woman who usually weighs about 36 pounds who comes in every day with a supply of food that she keeps on her desk to tantalize you.

Need a cookie fix? She's the connection.

A Crock Pot party? She's the supplier.

The Office Food Pusher works slowly at first to gain your confidence. She may amble up to you when you're having your first cup of coffee at the desk and say, "Tell me what you think of this strudel. I just tried a new recipe."

The next time (two hours later) she brings out a butter sugar cake and says, "Today's my birthday. You wouldn't refuse a piece of my cake, would you?"

As the weeks go by you are drawn to her desk by garlic dips, homemade breads, sandwiches and candies. It is only one day when you accuse the office of moving your typewriter and someone points out that it is hidden under your stomach that you know you have the eating-on-the-job habit. But it's too late. You're already dependent on the Office Food Pusher.

You find yourself at 9 in the morning stalking the Office Food Pusher's desk saying, "Got anything to take the taste of stamps out of my mouth?"

You invent reasons for a party: "It's my anniversary." "I cut my first tooth 46 years ago." "It's my last day." "It's my last meal."

I know what I have become and it's too late for me. But for the women who are just entering the job market, let me give you a piece of advice. Before you accept the position, wander through the office. Is there a thin girl at a desk? Does she have a letter opener with icing on it? Are there crumbs in her outgoing file? Is she putting a homemade taco in aluminum foil on the radiator to melt the cheese?

Run as fast as you can!

Tech Organization Sponsors Carnival

The Student Council for Exceptional Children of Texas Tech University will host their Annual Halloween Carnival for the students of Ballenger School Monday from 1:30-2:30 p.m. The public is invited.

The group will have games, booths and a spook house as a part of the carnival.

Refreshments for the carnival have been donated McDonald's will provide punch for the party and KarmelKorn will donate plenty of popcorn for everyone. Other businesses have provided "treats" for the children.

Dear Abby,

DEAR READERS: With Halloween just around the corner, may I point out that this happy holiday sometimes ends in disaster for some. According to the National Safety Council, 135 Halloween fatalities occurred last year. Some were children who died in Halloween-related traffic accidents. Some were youngsters who were fatally burned due to flammable costumes. And others died after eating booby-trapped "treats."

The American Optometric Association, whose 22,000 members are concerned with the need for seeing and being seen, offers the following safety tips:

• Buy FLAME-PROOF costumes only. Or if costumes are made at home, treat the fabric with a flame-resistant solution.

• Because masks, floppy hats, wigs and veils often interfere with a child's vision, use MAKEUP instead.

• Accessories such as swords, broomsticks, hatchets, wands, etc., should be made of CARDBOARD rather than plastic, metal or wood. Sharp items are dangerous.

• Provide youngsters with flashlights to prevent falls on sidewalks or porch steps. (Positively NO Lighted candles should be carried!)

• Decorate your child's costume and trickster bag with reflective tape to make them highly visible to motorists.

• Remind children that they should NEVER enter the home of a stranger or accept rides.

• Adults can help by keeping their yards well-lighted. Parents should check all "treats" before allowing children to eat them.

Very young children should always be accompanied by an adult.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: A woman physician, married for nine years to a career officer in a foreign military service, says their marriage was never consummated. She signed herself DOING FINE WITHOUT.

I am reminded of a quotation from Voltaire, who said (re sex): "The only aberration is abstinence."

Respectfully,
JOEL FRIEDMAN

DEAR JOEL: One could say, "Abstinence makes the heart grow fonder."

• • •

DEAR ABBY: The invitations are out, the wedding gifts are coming in and the wedding is to take place soon.

My fiance and I went to see a counselor because we can't seem to agree on many things. (We argue constantly.)

I am beginning to think it's a mistake to continue.

The counselor says to either postpone the wedding or forget it. What does one do (and how) at this stage?

It can only get worse.

CHICKEN

DEAR CHICKEN: Cancel the wedding either by telephone or telegram immediately. It will be somewhat sticky, but far better than being stuck in a bad marriage.

Book Offers 'Trekkie' Costumes

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Family Editor

Lynn Edelman Schnurnberger, author of the "Star Trek, the Motion Picture Make-Your-Own Costume Book" (Wallaby $6.95), says she really intended her new, large-format paperback for children to use with their parents.

"But a lot of people interested in 'Star Trek' are not children," says Paul Thomason, Miss Schnurnberger's editor at the Simon and Schuster division. "We didn't want to turn off the high school and college age groups." That's why an age span recommendation was omitted from the book cover, Thomason said in an interview.

"Eight and nine-year-olds who are fairly precocious could do most of the projects themselves," he added.

He's right. The costumes are plain and require few sewing skills. They are put together with the simplest stitches or with fabric glue.

Sizing is done by having someone measure the height and breadth of the person to be costumed.

Miss Schnurnberger said she tested all the projects with 8-year-olds whom she has worked with in a variety of museum programs in New York City. She currently heads the summer workshop costume program at The Cloisters, the medieval division of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

She said she worked from slides and still photographs from the Paramount movie, which is scheduled for release in December.

"I also saw some original costumes that were shipped to New York," she added.

Patterns are provided for the Enterprise Crew, James T. Kirk, Mr. Spock, Dr. McCoy, Lieut. Ilia, Vulcan Masters, Zaranite, Andorian, Arcturian and a Female Civilian.

The jewelry looks remarkably realistic. While some of the necklaces might be hazardous on very young children if caught on a doorknob or pulled from behind, in general the costumes have recommended safety features: full pants elasticized at the ankle or held by rubber bands, few flowing sleeves or overlarge capes.

THOUGHTS ON FASHION

For fall, I feel very strongly about the romantic 19th century era.
Everything at that point was overly romantic.
The clothes were elabroate, lavish.
My feeling is that opulence, ornamental fashions, are due to return.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF
© 1979 by Chicago Tribune

Q.1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J965 ♡A95 ◇A82 ♣A103
What is your opening bid?

A.—You have just too much to pass, for despite the fact that you should deduct one point for your flat distribution, your three aces, which are undervalued in the point-count method, are adequate compensation. Since your four-card spade suit is not biddable, open with a "convenient" one club bid.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK8 ♡A854 ◇AJ6 ♣A92
What is your opening bid?

A.—You are much too strong to open one no trump, but a shade light for two no trump. In order to give partner the maximum amount of room to respond, we recommend a "convenient" one club opening. If partner responds one heart, we have a sound raise to four hearts, while over any other response, our intention is to leap to three no trump to show our balanced powerhouse.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠3 ♡A652 ◇KQ10542 ♣94
Partner opens the bidding with one no trump. What do you respond?

A.—Slam is possible if opener has the magic hand, but it will be very difficult to determine if that is the case. As a practical matter we would be content with game, and would wheel out the Stayman Convention in an effort to locate the best game. If partner shows a four-card heart suit, game in hearts should be preferable to three no trump because of our unbalanced distribution.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K1054 ♡83 ◇AK952 ♣K8
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ◇	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner's "high" reverse has shown a hand of 17-19 points, so small slam is certain. It's simply a matter of determining whether or not you have the values for a grand slam. Given our druthers, we would opt for seven spades, but a better approach is to cue-bid six clubs to show our king. If partner signs off in six spades over this encouragement, we would retire reluctantly. But if he makes any other move, we would leap to seven.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q9652 ♡KJ76 ◇Q104 ♣7
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ♡	Pass	Pass	Dble.
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—You were quite correct to bid only one spade over partner's takeout double, because partner did not promise that much for his fourth-hand action. However, partner's raise to two spades has confirmed that he has the equivalent of a full opening bid. In view of the placement of your heart honors, the singleton club and your fifth spade, it would be pusillanimous indeed to bid less than four spades.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q83 ♡A762 ◇853 ♣A85
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ◇	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner's bid of three diamonds asks you to evaluate your diamond holding for game purposes. You have the worst possible holding, so it would seem that you should sign off with three spades—your 4-3-3-3 distribution is also a drawback. However, your hand could hardly be better for a single raise—you have two aces and the queen of partner's trump suit. Therefore, we would bid four spades.

Q.7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K6 ♡KJ92 ◇K93 ♣AJ82
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
4 NT	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—North's raise to four no trump is not ace-asking. It is a quantitative raise in no trump, requesting you to bid a slam in no trump if you are at the top of the range for your response. With 15 HCP and potentially useful intermediates, you could hardly have more, so bid six no trump with alacrity.

Q.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠1032 ♡KQJ52 ◇QJ9 ♣J3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Your hand merits another bid, and only two possibilities are worth considering: two hearts, to stress the quality of your suit, or one no trump. Our preference is for the latter. Since your hand is balanced, one no trump is a more descriptive rebid. It also serves to highlight your values in diamonds. Two hearts would suggest a more unbalanced hand.

Carter Jabs Senate On Oil Profits Bill

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — President Carter, declaring "we have everything on our side," said today the nation will find its way out of the energy morass with passage of his proposed oil "windfall profits" tax.

Carter called upon the Senate to restore the tax to the original $292-billion level he had proposed. Otherwise, he contended, "this could become a $1 trillion give-away to the oil companies."

He said the version of the tax before the Senate would return to the oil companies $374 billion, but with future inflation and price hikes by oil-exporting nations this figure could rise to $1 trillion.

Speaking to the Coalition of Northeast Governors in the New England political base of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Carter maintained that the United States is in transition between the days of cheap oil and expensive oil.

"There is no reason for us to fear" he said. "We are going through a temporary time of inconvenience and change. We were not adequately prepared for it, but now we understand the problem much better."

The president said the United States had 24 percent of the world's energy resources in such forms as wood, coal and geothermal. By contrast, he said, the oil-exporting nations have only 5 percent. "So we have everything on our side," he said.

Carter reiterated his assurances that the Northeast will receive adequate supplies of home heating oil this winter, saying his goal of having a 240-million-barrel reserve has been met.

He announced he was creating a fuel oil management group, based in Boston, to quickly handle any problems in distributing supplies of heating oil. The group will include representatives of the departments of Energy and Transportation.

The Northeast, more than any region of the nation, is heavily dependent upon imported oil for heating fuel.

The Senate Finance Committee has approved a 10-year, $142-billion "windfall profits" tax that is about half the level Carter originally sought. The House has passed a $273-billion version.

The tax is intended to use some of the added revenues that result from the decontrol of domestic crude oil prices to aid low-income families in paying higher energy bills and for transportation and development of alternative energy sources.

Carter's audience for the speech included six of the 11 governors invited to the session.

None of those attending is publicly committed to Kennedy, D-Mass., the president's likely rival for the Democratic presidential nomination. Most have not yet made their preference known; one is a Republican.

While Carter was making his second visit to New England in 10 days, Kennedy was announcing the formation of an exploratory campaign committee today to raise money for his presidential effort. Carter visited Boston on Oct. 20 for the dedication of the John F. Kennedy Library.

After his speech to the governors' coalition, Carter was guest of honor at a reception for about 500 business, labor and political leaders given by Rhode Island Gov. J. Joseph Garrahy, a Democrat.

At the gathering, Carter compared himself to former President Harry Truman and said, like Truman, "I have not found it possible" to be right and still maintain popularity.

The president called for national unity, saying: "It is not a time to grasp for selfish advantage. It's a time to put aside differences."

Outside, however, some 200 persons protesting high energy prices and nuclear energy demonstrated with shouts of "No nukes" and "Stop big oil."

Garrahy is one of the political fence-sitters in the presidential sweepstakes, according to his press secretary, Lorraine Silberthaw.

"The governor has said that he is a great admirer of the president and an old family friend of the Kennedys and he would be in a dilemma" in deciding whom to support, Mrs. Silberthaw said.

Other governors attending are Ella T. Grasso of Connecticut; Edward J. King of Massachusetts; Richard Thornburgh of Pennsylvania; Hugh Carey of New York and Brendan Byrne of New Jersey. All are Democrats except Thornburgh, who is a Republican.

Congress To Eye Cambodian Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is to act this week on relief for millions of starving Cambodians, President Carter's welfare plan and proposed Energy Mobilization Board, and other issues.

On Tuesday, the Senate is expected to act on a House-passed bill that would provide $30 million for an international effort to save Cambodians from starvation and disease.

The money is part of the $69 million Carter pledged last week to a $111 million relief effort by some 30 nations. Aides to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., say he may try to increase the $30 million to as much as $100 million.

On Wednesday, the House is to act on its version of Carter's welfare plan. The House bill would require a minimum welfare benefit nationwide of at least $4,700 a year for a family of four and would expand the federal role in the system. Welfare would continue to be administered by the states, however.

In a related matter, the Senate is to act on a House-passed bill that would increase federal aid to state services for abused and homeless children to $270 million, nearly five times the present allocation.

Later in the week, the House is scheduled to approve its version of Carter's proposal for creation of an Energy Mobilization Board. That panel is to keep top-priority energy projects moving quickly by cutting through any red-tape delays that develop.

The Senate already has approved a bill creating the board.

The House will have to choose between one proposal that would empower the board to overrule federal, state and local regulations and another that would only allow the panel to recommend quicker decisions to keep projects moving.

The House also is expected to act early this week on legislation that would cut back the powers of the Federal Trade Commission. Under the proposal, every industry regulation by the FTC would be subject to congressional veto. Either house could block any regulation unless the other chamber had voted in favor of it.

The proposal is contained in a bill authorizing funds for the FTC and is intended to give Congress a tighter rein over the agency, which many members contend is overzealous in its efforts to protect consumers.

Europeans Recall '29 U.S. Crash

dustry that has kept the country free from major strikes since.

The crash wiped out the 400-company empire of Swedish "Match King" Ivar Kreuger and almost toppled the Skandinaviska Banken, to which Kreuger owed $89 million — almost a third of its total loans. The bank director was imprisoned. Kreuger killed himself in 1932.

Gradually the impact of America's Depression moved to the less developed countries of Europe, and to the common people.

Polish farmers say food prices sank so low they were virtually without money. The Dutch remember the shame of having holes punched in their bicycle license tags, signifying the rider was jobless and got the license free.

Unemployment in Poland rose 150 percent in two years. In Italy, it jumped almost 360 percent, from 140,000 in 1930 to 500,000 in 1932. The German jobless toll went from 1.9 million in 1928 to 3.4 million in 1930 to more than 6 million in 1932 — a third of the work force.

For those lucky enough to have jobs, salaries dropped. The Dutch cut civil service and military pay 30 percent between 1932 and 1936, trade and industry salaries by 15 percent. Italian dictator Benito Mussolini sliced farm incomes up to 25 percent. Polish workers' pay fell 49 percent.

Discontent turned to riots in Belgium's industrial south, to clashes with police in Czechoslovakia and Denmark. Dutch battleship sailors in the East Indies mutinied over wages and were bombed by the Dutch air force. In Sweden police opened fire on 3,000 pay protesters, killing five. A short, bloody civil war broke out between right and left political factions in Vienna.

A wave of bankruptcies and bank failures in Austria stirred ferment that helped the Nazis to a foothold and set the stage for Adolf Hitler's annexation of Austria in 1938.

The big German minority in Czechoslovakia's Bohemia province was fertile soil for secessionist Nazi propaganda, opening the way for the country's dismemberment at Munich in 1938.

In Germany, the Nazis promised jobs, social welfare and a revived economy in the 1930 Reichstag elections. Their second-place showing catapulted Hitler into national prominence. Three years later President Ludwig von Hindenburg named him chancellor.

Today — as Italians recall "Il Crack," the French "Le Krach" — many European analysts say it cannot happen again.

"It would be crazy to try to see any analogy between the 1929 Wall Street collapse and the present crisis," says a foreign exchange dealer in Milan. "They are completely different situations."

Analysts in Paris, Frankfurt, Geneva and Warsaw agree. They point to the growth in regulation of national economies and of international bodies like the World Bank and International Monetary Fnd.

"If something like Black Thursday were so much as hinted nowadays, countermeasures would be introduced immediately," says an expert at Commerzbank, Germany's third-largest bank.

The economic adviser of Credit Suisse, one of Switzerland's big three, notes that the hottest speculation today is mostly outside the stock markets — in currency or gold.

But Polish economist Stanislaw Chelstowski and French economic professor Maurice Allais say potential problems exist in an oversupply of overseas dollars. Because the dollars are outside the United States, they are not subject to normal exchange controls.

"A major danger to the world economy is the Eurodollars circulating in Europe," says Chelstowski. "These $40 billion are speculation capital, shuttling to and fro."

Allais says that a rapid movement of uncontrolled Eurodollars could start a panic, just as the crumbling of the international credit pyramid touched off the crash half a century ago.

ing to its executive director, Robert E. Dixon. Purpose of the meeting, he said, is "for reporting on lay involvement in the past year and making projections for the coming year." The theme of the meeting is "So Send I You."

The 1979 Texas Baptist Men's Convention will meet in three sessions of which tonight's is the first. At each session the men will hear an address by Dr. Sam Canata, a missionary from Africa. Dr. James H. Smith, executive director of the Brotherhood Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, will also address tonight's meeting.

The second session will convene at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday and the third session a 2 p.m. Tuesday.

In addition to hearing reports of Baptist work with youth and of the special emphasis on work in Brazil, the men will elect state officers for the coming year.

OFFICIAL VISIT — U.S. envoy Philip Habib, who arrived in Israel Sunday on the last leg of his Mideast tour, talks with Prime Minister Menachem Begin, left, in Jerusalem. Habib discussed the Lebanese problem with Begin, who is under pressure because of the resignation of Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and the West Bank issue. (AP Laserphoto)

Begin Not Considering Resigning From Office

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin, seeking a solution to the toughest domestic crisis of his 28-month-old administration, says his government is looking for a new West Bank site to relocate a controversial Jewish settlement judged illegal by Israel's Supreme Court.

Talking to reporters today, Begin acknowledged he faced a "complicated" situation in trying to resolve the settlement issue, find a replacement for former Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan, and deal with Israel's rampant inflation. But he insisted, "I'm not considering resigning."

Begin disclosed the relocation scheme at a Cabinet meeting Sunday and called a special session of his ministers for Thursday to review "general problems" stemming from Israel's much-criticized settlement policy on the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, Cabinet Secretary Arieh Naor said.

In an unexpected blow to the Begin government, the Supreme Court ruled last Monday that the Elon Moreh settlement had been built illegally on land seized from its Arab owners near the West Bank city of Nablus. Siding with the Arab landowners who brought the suit, the high court rejected a goverment claim that the outpost was necessary for Israel's security.

The court gave the settlers 30 days to leave, but so far they have refused to do so setting the stage for the most dangerous challenge to Begin's rule.

Noar gave no details of Begin's relocation plan, but the prime minister presumably could defuse the crisis by moving the settlement to public land.

The Cabinet secretary made it clear that Begin would not accept proposals to pass a new law that would remove the settlement issue from court jurisdiction. "If you are going to change the law that means you are going to change the basis for negotiations on (Palestinian) autonomy," he told reporters. "We are not going to discuss any change in the legal system."

Noar said Thursday's special Cabinet meeting also was expected to take up a proposal from Agriculture Minister Ariel Sharon that Israel expand its network of Jewish outposts in the West Bank.

Sharon, the government's hard-line chief of settlements, threatened to quit the Cabinet if Begin abides by the high court order and forces the Elon Moreh settlers off the land. Other rightists in the Cabinet probably would follow Sharon's lead in a move that could strip the government of its parliamentary majority and force new elections.

Other aspects of Begin's Cabinet crisis include the search for a replacement for Dayan who quit as foreign Minister last week because he was dissatisfied with the government's policy on settlements and the Palestinian autonomy negotiations. Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Yadin and Interior Minister Yosef Burg, two leading candidates for the post, have said they do not want it.

Begin may have to find a new finance minister as well. Finance chief Simcha Ehrlich, under intense fire for failing to dampen Israel's 100 percent inflation rate, told a newspaper today that he will quit "at the latest by the middle of next month."

Wintry Blast Moves Toward West Texas

could bring considerably chillier readings.

Forecasters today were noncommittal about a Wednesday morning temperature prediction. "Right now we're tentatively looking at a forecast of 38 for Wednesday morning, but I wouldn't count too strongly on that," an NWS spokesman said this morning.

In the Lubbock area, fair skies today will become partly cloudy tonight and cloudy Tuesday, weathermen said.

Temperatures were expected to be in the mid-70s today, mid-40s tonight and low 60s Tuesday.

Following a Sunday of beautiful weather in Lubbock and the South Plains, gusty winds were forecast today with a southwesterly breeze of 15 to 25 mph during the day and 15 to 20 mph tonight.

Wind warnings are out for area lakes.

Widely scattered rain or snow showers are predicted for tonight and Tuesday over the New Mexico mountains.

New Mexico nighttime temperatures will be in the 30s and high 20s in the mountains, weathermen said.

A thick blanket of fog enshrouded the eastern third of Texas today and clouded visibility to near zero in some locations.

A rush of warm, moist air formed low clouds that hovered over South Central Texas from Austin and San Antonio west to Del Rio.

Winds were light over the eastern third of the state while southerly to southeasterly winds reaching up to about 15 mph developed over the western half of the state.

The winds were to increase gradually as the storm center developed over southeastern Colorado.

Mild weather is forecast for today with strong winds in West Texas late this afternoon and daytime temperatures generally in the 70s and 80s.

It will be in the mid-90s along the Rio Grande Valley between Big Bend and the Gulf of Mexico, however, forecasters said.

The New Mexico forecast calls for a few showers and colder temperatures over the northwestern part of the state and partly cloudy skies and mild weather in the southeast today.

Colder temperatures tonight and Tuesday over southeastern New Mexico will accompany the expected rain and snow in the mountains and northern New Mexico.

The snow level in New Mexico is expected to be at about the 7,000-foot elevation.

the caller was apparently disguising his voice. He talked only with the secretary.

"When she asked him to wait while she reached defensive coordinator Sam Robertson, the caller said 'No' and just see to it he (Robertson) got the information."

Dockery continued,"Basically what he told us was about A&M's flip-flopping of the tight ends. I didn't learn about it until Friday before the game. We told Coach Wilson about it Saturday. We treated it as a crank call, but A&M did shift the tight end some during the game."

Wilson said, "We flip-flopped the tight end about four times, but Tech stopped it every time so we changed tactics."

The Eagle also said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff received a letter from an anonymous source before his victorious game against the Aggies.

"We didn't get any phone calls, but I seem to remember we did get a letter from Bryan," said Teaff, who asked the Eagle: "Could this maybe have something to do with a former coach?"

In other action today, the high court:

—Refused to hear an appeal by a group of federal employees who are trying to force the government to segregate them from fellow workers who smoke.

—Agreed to decide whether states can impose different requirements for men and women seeking to collect workers' compensation death benefits.

—Refused to block the marijuana possession trial of former Michigan Gov. John G. Swainson, who had sought to have the charges thrown out because on grounds of erroneous and prejudicial publicity.

—Refused to kill a lawsuit in which a professional football player is seeking to collect injury damages from another. The justices let stand an appeals court ruling that the violent nature of pro football should not have been considered in the first trial, which the injured player lost.

Police Seek Motive In Shootings

Joe C. Ybarra, 32, of 2416 Auburn St., Space 15, reportedly was in serious condition this morning at Health Sciences Center Hospital, suffering gunshot wounds in the stomach and buttocks.

His brother, Armando Ybarra, 18, of 2615 First Place, who was shot in the chest and left arm, was reported in in satisfactory condition at HSCH.

A 45-year-old male suspect was apprehended near the elder Ybarra's trailer house, where the shooting occurred shortly after 7 p.m. Sunday, but police said he was released pending further investigation.

When police arrived, they found the older victim lying on the ground in front of the suspect's vehicle. Reports indicate a witness to the incident was holding a shotgun, which he threw down before pointing to the suspect when officers arrived.

Police were told the shooting was the result of a disturbance earlier in the day at Mackenzie State Park. Shots reportedly had been exchanged between occupants of two vehicles at the park. It was not clear what started the disturbance or whether anyone was injured during the earlier gunplay.

The teen-age Ybarra was taken to the hospital by a private vehicle before police arrived on the scene.

In a separate incident Sunday, a 47-year-old Lubbock man was taken to HSCH about 10:30 p.m. after he had been beaten in front of a club at 35th Street and Avenue A.

Billy W. Ramsey of 3701 Ave. S, who was treated and released, reportedly was attacked by two men in front of the club after heated words were exchanged.

Ramsey's wife told police they were getting out of their car when confronted by the pair. She said the men fled in an unknown direction after the assault.

A 19-year-old Dallas man arrested shortly before 5 a.m. today inside the Rusty Nail Saloon, 2311 19th St., was taken to the county jail and booked on suspicion of burglary.

Police answering an alarm at the club said they found the teen-ager crouched behind a booth with a money tray containing $122.50.

Reports indicate that property damage included a roof vent, ceiling, light fixtures, cash register, juke box and game machines, resulting in a total estimated loss of $500.

Dispatched on a report of a burglary in progress, with the suspect thought to be armed, a Lubbock policeman drew his service revolver and ordered a man to halt in the 4700-block of Avenue C about 12:45 a.m. today.

The 29-year-old man, arrested on suspicion of unlawfal carrying of a weapon, reportedly had one hand behind his back when he was confronted by the officer.

The policeman said he drew his pistol, fearing the man was reaching for a weapon. And reports state a .22-caliber revolver was confiscated from the suspect.

Authorities suspect arson in a fire early this morning at Methodist Hospital, which resulted in about $50 damage to a vacant room.

Police reports indicate curtains in the room were torched about 3:45 a.m. today. Nurses described the suspect as a 6-foot-tall thin, white man in his early 20's.

The Lubbock County Sheriff's Department continued today to look for suspects in a burglary last week which reportedly netted intruders more than $250,000 in jewelry and $1,500 cash.

Sheriff's Capt. Alton Hobbs said today they were still attempting to count up the loss suffered by Glenn W. Morgensen of Route 6, Box 645, Lubbock, when his house was burglarized between Oct. 22 and Thursday.

The victim reported a "conservative" estimate of $250,000 in jewelry taken, including antique items dating back 150 to 200 years.

Tire prints were found in Morgensen's backyard and entry was thought to have been gained by kicking open a back door.

Doug Kent Hodel of 2708 62nd St. told police his place was burglarized between Friday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday and $1,250 in property stolen, including jewelry, a television set, gun, binoculars and microwave oven.

A television set, stereo equipment and food was the reported loot in a break-in at Fern Opal Haggard's 3110 Grinnell St. residence between 5 p.m. Saturday and 4 p.m. Sunday.

A 56-year-old Lorenzo man was robbed of $250 at knifepoint about 12:45 a.m. Sunday in the parking lot of a nightclub at 202 Municipal Dr.

Sancisco Guzman told police that the had agreed to let a man help him start his car when the man then pulled a knife on him, ordered him back in his car and demanded his money.

Before leaving, the suspect told Guzman to "lay down and don't move or I will kill you." The victim said he heard the suspect drive off west at a high rate of speed.

Guzman said the suspect was Mexican-American, 26 to 35, short and of medium build. He said the man was wearing a blue shirt, blue jeans and a red band around his long hair.

Charles Edward Johnson of 2507 45th St. told Lubbock County sheriff's deputies that a black male stabbed him in the arms at a "joint" east of the city Saturday night.

Johnson said he and the suspect had been playing pool when the two men began arguing and the suspect pulled a knife and began slashing him in the arms. Johnson was treated and later released from Methodist Hospital.

Police took a juvenile male into custody for the burglary of the Town Draw, 1801 19th St. Sunday morning.

Reports indicate officers responded to an alarm which sounded at the club about 10 a.m. When they arrived at the scene, the officers heard noises within the building, and a policeman saw a juvenile male run out of the building, began pursuit but lost him.

The boy was later apprehended by an officer at the intersection of 19th Street and Avenue T and taken to the juvenile division.

Steve Paul Hartnett, owner of the club, said that $100 worth of damage had been done to the club's doors and to two pinball machines that had been pried.

Joseph E. Burnett, 55, of 1923 29th St. said that a white male stabbed him once in the abdomen during an argument outside a residence in the 1300-block of 29th Street Saturday afternoon.

Burnett said he and the suspect had been drinking, began arguing and went outside where the suspect stabbed him once in the abdomen.

The suspect was described as a white male, 46 to 55, heavy and of medium build.

Five persons reported that a tire or tires on their vehicles were slashed while they were parked at McWhorter Elementary School, 2711 First St., during the school's Halloween party Saturday night.

Cullen Davis' Attorneys End Defense Portion Of Retrial

FORT WORTH (AP) — The defense in the Cullen Davis murder-for-hire trial rested today, the start of the 14th week of trial and the 12th week of testimony.

The prosecution then began its rebuttal phase of the trial.

The rich industrialist's team of lawyers wrapped up their portion of the trial — having called 24 witnesses — after jurors inspected a car to see where a recording device could have been hidden. This was done to bolster the defense's contention that Davis knew he was being tape-recorded when he discussed mass murder with an FBI informant Aug. 18, 1978.

State District Court Judge Gordon Gray allowed the jury to inspect the car although the prosecution objected.

Davis has testified he knew he was being recorded because McCrory, who was wired for sound by the FBI, showed him a second, hand-held Norelco recorder when he climbed into the car where the two met.

The defendant has maintained he thought he was cooperating with the FBI to uncover an extortion plot when he discussed multiple murder with McCrory.

An FBI agent testified earlier that he searched McCrory and the car both before and after the pivotal parking lot meeting and that he did not find a recorder.

Dana Smith, 21, a commercial photographer who has shot pictures of the car's interior, testified Friday that such a "device" could have been hidden in an air conditioning vent, among other places.

Jury Selection To Begin In Trial Of Vietnamese

SEGUIN (AP) — A panel of 150 prospective jurors has been ordered to appear in state district court today for the trial of two Vietnamese refugees charged in the shooting death of a Seadrift fisherman.

Sau Van Nguyen, 21, and his brother, Chinh, 20, are charged in the Aug. 3 slaying of crab fisherman Billy Joe Alpin, 35.

The shooting has been the focal point of a feud between native crab fishermen and the Vietnamese refugees who have relocated in Seadrift, a town of about 1,000, including about 200 Vietnamese.

The natives say the Vietnamese have taken up crabbing without regard for traditional methods of determining territorial rights.

After Aplin's shooting death, three Vietnamese-owned fishing boats at Seadrift were burned and a Vietnamese house was firebombed, but no one was hurt and no arrests were made.

Tensions between factions were running so high that State District Judge Clarence Stevenson moved the murder trial from Calhoun County, where it happened, to Seguin.

The judge scheduled the pretrial portion of the trial to begin at 9 a.m. and ordered the prospective jurors to report at 10 a.m. Monday.

Talk is cheaper than you think.

How to save up to 60% on Long Distance.

The trick to saving money while keeping in touch with family or friends is knowing when to call, and calling One-Plus.

make a ten-minute call to Atlanta for only $1.55. That's almost worth making a new friend in Atlanta for.

Call between 11pm and 8am.

Before you groan about how you can't stay up late or see straight in the morning, think about it.

You'll be saving up to 60%! If you're a night person, you probably don't start counting sheep until after 11 pm anyway. And if you've got friends and family to call out west, it'll be a perfectly civilized 9 or 10 pm when their phone rings. If you like to see the sun rise, and you know folks back east, it'll be an hour later on their end.

Call out of state anytime before 8 am and you can talk all day if you want and still save 60%. In-state calls are also greatly reduced. Just remember to dial One-Plus.

Reach out on the weekend and save up to 60%.

Now this is a stroke of good luck: a really cheap Long Distance phone call just when you may want it most. Call any time between 11 pm Friday and 5 pm Sunday and really save. For instance, dial One-Plus and you can make a ten-minute call to Atlanta for only $1.55. That's almost worth making a new friend in Atlanta for.

Even on weeknights, save up to 35%.

Sometimes you can't wait for the weekend. Or you don't want to. But you can still save plenty Sunday through Friday from 5 pm to 11 pm. Think about what a bargain it is to call someone 1900 miles away, talk it up for ten minutes, and only run a tab of about $2.00. There's just no other way to get close to a faraway friend or relative so quickly, so cheaply.

On weekdays it's still a bargain.

Here's a surprise. From 8 am to 5 pm, a Long Distance chat still doesn't cost very much. A five minute call out of state, to anywhere in the continental U.S. is only about $2.50 when you dial One-Plus. Think of how good the sound of your voice would be to a friend (not to mention your mother!) right in the middle of the day.

Reach out and touch someone.

Fast-Food Business Helpful To Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fast-food business not only has changed the eating habits of millions of consumers but is having an impact on farmers too, the Agriculture Department reports.

For example, when billions of hamburgers are sold, it's bound to have an important effect on the cattle business, particularly markets for so-called nonfed animals such as cows that are culled from dairy or beef-breeding herds and sent to slaughter.

Likewise, USDA experts say, the broiler industry owes a hearty thanks to the growth of fried chicken carryouts.

But the business is becoming much more involved than simply burgers and chicken, says the latest issue of "Farm Index" published by the department's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service.

"Fast-food outlets used to mean just burgers, shakes and fries, but now they run the gastronomic gamut from fish 'n chips to tacos, pizzas, chicken — whatever the public's tastebuds want," the report noted.

Also, the older carryout service "has given way to an interior ambiance designed to get customers indoors for a bigger meal," it said.

Since 1963, officials said, "growth in the fast-food industry has exceeded that of any other segment of food retailing."

Discounting inflation, sales increased 305 percent from 1963 to 1978, from $4.9 billion to $19.7 billion, the report said.

"While this expansion has been extraordinary, surpassing both population and income growth, indications now point to a possible moderation in industry expansion," it added.

"Higher consumer prices ... may be causing people to think twice about eating away from home," the report said. "This hesitation has been compounded by the gas shortage."

Competition has narrowed in the fast-food business, leaving "a handful of large franchising chains with nearly half the market," it said.

The report said fast foods "affect production at the farm level as well as the processing, wholesaling and retailing of farm foods."

For example:

—Many food processors have established internal divisions having sole responsibility for developing products for fast-food chains.

—Some chains are so large they "have assumed the wholesale function and distribute food directly" to their own outlets.

—Some large firms contract directly with farmers to ensure a continuous supply of the quantity and quality of the desired foods.

"Grocery stores are now recognizing the threat that fast-food outlets present to their traditional role as food suppliers," the report said. "In response, many now emphasize convenience foods and services, and provide prepared meals and snacks."

DR. LAMB

See Specialist

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — At 53 years of age I run three miles a day, play tennis and am in good spirits. I'm considered optimistic, enthusiastic and I'm rarely ill. I have a physical every year. I'm 5 foot 9 at 153 pounds and really enjoy life.

I hold an executive position of responsibility but for the past 15 years I've been on 25 milligrams of Librium every day. Strange, vague symptoms brought this original prescriptin on. I've gone without it for a week and the symptoms are accentuated. I have regularly missed taking Librium on two nights a week without any problem. No one call tell outwardly whether I'm taking it or not.

I feel guilty that it's necessary for me to take Librium at all. Each year I ask my doctor and he belittles my concern and claims it's necessary for me with my daily problems. I'm beginning to believe him but I don't want to.

I do not drink or smoke and take care of my body with as much good judgment as I can. Obviously, I'm not taking care of my mind in some way and I would love to be relieved of the apparent necessity to take this Librium. Would you, at this point in time, suggest the involvement of a psychologist? My doctor has never suggested this.

DEAR READER — Why not ask your doctor to refer you to a psychiatrist? People see a heart specialist just to make sure their heart functions as well as possible. We have golf pros to teach us to improve our golf game, lawyers to help us with our legal and business problems so why not see a specialist in mental and emotional functions to get the most out of life? A consultation with a psychiatrist certainly isn't going to hurt you and with a few visits, he could tell rather clearly whether you really have any problems that warrant any further professional counseling.

A person who has been taking Librium for a long time usually will feel some symptoms when he withdraws from it. The severity of the symptoms will depend a lot on how much a person has been taking. It is good medicine for people who need it. There are proper places for uses of most of these not be used on a long-term basis. It's much better to resolve the problem that requires a tranquilizer rather than try to mask its effect with tranquilizers or other such medicines.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 12-2, Sedatives, Hypnotics And Tranquilizers: The Pill Problem. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of The Avalanche-Journal, P.O. Box 1551. Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I'm glad that you're not using alcohol. Most of the tranquilizers and alcohol have an additive effect. The combination can be very dangerous. The other question I'd have about you is how much coffee, tea, colas or such beverages do you use. Many people who have anxiety-type symptoms get them because they use too much coffee. Caffeine is a brain stimulant and has the opposite effect of such tranquilizers as Librium. In a person who has the coffee habit, rather than taking tranquilizers of any form, it's much better to stop the coffee, tea, coloas and any other such beverages.

BUZZARD DISABLES PLANE

TYLER (AP) — Michael Wright was cruising along at 3,000 feet Thursday. So was the buzzard. Wright's Cessna 150, en route from Fort Worth, made a safe emergency landing at Tyler in East Texas after the collision shattered the craft's windshield. Wright managed to put the plane down in a field, walking away from the landing with minor scratches. The buzzard was missing in action.

Crime Line Helps City Police Solve 78 Felonies

Informants calling Crime Line with information pertaining to felonies have led police to solve some 78 felonies in less than seven months, and LPD detective Doyle Nelson reports his men currently are pursuing several leads in connection with other cases.

Each week Crime Line lists several "Spotlight Crimes" that police are especially interested in clearing, but Nelson emphasizes that "We are looking for information on any felony crime," and noted that "Information that helps us clear any felony will get the persons who call it in a reward."

Persons wishing to make tax-deductible donations to the Crime Line reward fund should mail them to Box 2000, Lubbock. Crime Line is funded entirely through donations.

This week Crime Line is offering $1,700 in rewards for information leading to the solution of a rape, and two burglaries and the location of two fugitives.

A reward of $500 is offered to anyone who can aid police in identifying a man described as a Mexican male with a smooth face and the start of a mustache who raped a South Lubbock woman in her home about 2 a.m. Oct. 21.

The woman told police the man slapped her and told her to wake up. She said he held a knife to her throat and raped her after gaining entrance through the front door.

She also said he had big brown eyes with bushy eyebrows and wavy collar length hair combed straight back. He had a gold or silver tooth on the right side and was wearing a dirty silver chain but no shoes or socks.

The first burglary, which has a $300 reward, occurred between 9 and 10 a.m. Oct. 6 at the old Naval Reserve building office No. 7 on the Texas Tech University campus. Tech police said someone cut a round hole in the office door and took $6,735 worth of property.

Taken were an IBM Selectric II typewriter, serial No. 2839889; an IBM Selectric typewriter, serial No. 2839890; a Leasen CPT 4200 Series Cassette typewriter system, serial No. 3366943; a Sony recorder-player system, serial No. 346528; a Sony video camera, serial No. C-1836829; a Sony black and white TV; a Kodak movie projector, model 475, serial No. 4MSR20804; a Realistic multiplex AM/FM radio; an AC/DC adaptor; and three boxes of typewriter ribbons.

The second spotlight burlgary also has a $300 reward and occurred sometime between Sept. 26 and Oct. 3 at the home of Gerald Umsted in the Franklin Addition. Burglars entered the house through the front door and took $1,630 worth of property.

Missing are a Remington model 1100 shotgun with vent rib; a Remington .22 caliber rifle with scope; a Stevens model 47 .22 caliber automatic rifle; a .16 gauge antique shotgun; a Zenith 560 AM/FM receiver; a J.C. Penney 21" color TV; a half-gallon jar full of coins; a book of checks with the name Theresa Umsted imprinted on them; and a box of costume jewelry.

And Lubbock police are seeking information as to the whereabouts of three men listed as fugitives in murders here. In the first of the two cases, police are seeking Joseph Michael DePauw, a 28-year-old white male with light brown shoulder-length hair, in connection with the murder of Lubbock businessman Oland Kenneth Anderson, who was found murdered Oct. 5.

DePauw has been charged with Anderson's murder, but has disappeared. Also wanted in this case is Herman Lee Watts, a 56 year-old white male standing about 5 feet 11 inches, who has been charged as a material witness. Information on either of these two men is worth $300.

In the second fugitive case, police are searching for Joe Gonzales Ramos, described as a Mexican man, age 23, standing 5-4 and weighing 130 pounds. He has black hair, brown eyes and a tattoo on his left hand that reads "Joe Ramos."

Ramos has been charged with the murder of Curtis Lee Pegues that occurred about 9 p.m. on April 14 in at Chocolate City.

Persons with information on any of these crimes or any other felonies are urged to call Crime Line.

Committee '80 Discusses Need For Growth In City

By NANCY ALLEN
Avalanche-Journal Staff

SANTA FE — Lubbock's "sustained, managed growth" during the 1980 s emerged as the primary concern of the Chamber of Commerce's Committee '80, during a weekend conference here.

Rolling up their shirtsleeves for three days of meetings, the 75 conferees agreed the city must continue to attract businesses which will provide a strong tax base in the decade to come.

Cities which do not progress and grow, slide backward, they noted.

Committee '80 members pinpointed filling Lubbock's growing need for a third municipal-agricultural water source , and improving transportation links to, from and within the city, as perhaps the most urgent needs to address in the next ten years.

"It seems to me if we take care of those problems, the rest of the goals will fall into place," noted one of the participants, referring to numerous other aims of the nine subcommittees.

Committee '80 members agreed the planned Justiceburg Reservoir — if and when it is completed — will provide only a temporary solution to Lubbock's shortening water supplies.

"Lubbock is rapidly outgrowing its firm water supplies," said the municipal facilities and services subcommittee. "By the mid '80's a third major water supply will be needed to maintain orderly growth (in the city)."

Water rationing is on the horizon if a new source — imported water from out of state — is not developed, they said. Committee '80 members acknowledged water importation could take up to 30 years.

The interstate would provide an invaluable link between Lubbock, Amarillo and Denver, Colo., subcommittee members said.

Such a large-scale project also would be a rallying point for the community. Conferees worried since the Memorial Civic Center was completed — the biggest project of the '70's — apathy over city goals might set in among Lubbockites.

The whole committee believed Lubbock must maintain and improve the "quality of life" it offers in order to attract top flight employees for businesses locating there.

They threw support behind the idea of a cultural affairs center which would have space for live performances, hanging displays, rehearsel rooms, classrooms, offices and storage.

"Many cultural groups in Lubbock have no place to hang their hat," culturral affairs subcommittee member Harold Luce told the group.

From a purely business standpoint, the committee as a whole endorsed the concept of such a center, believing a stronger cultural atmosphere "would attract the kind of people Lubbock needs."

In summing up major priorities for the next decade, Committee '80 members also highlighted a need for an agency to communicate with residents. "When we achieve something," noted one committee member, "we need to get the story told."

Spirit of Lubbock subcommittee members noted "there's something special about the spirit of Lubbock," and believed maintaining communication throughout the city would keep the spirit strong.

Stepped up law enforcement aimed at reducing the city's high crime rate also surfaced high during the priority session among the many goals proposed.

Though improving the system of government representation on Lubbock city council, and establishing a community college both prompted much discussion during subcommittee reports, Committee '80 members agreed those goals could take a back seat to others.

Government reorganization "is not a crying need because we have honorable people who give a damn about this town (serving now,)" noted one participant.

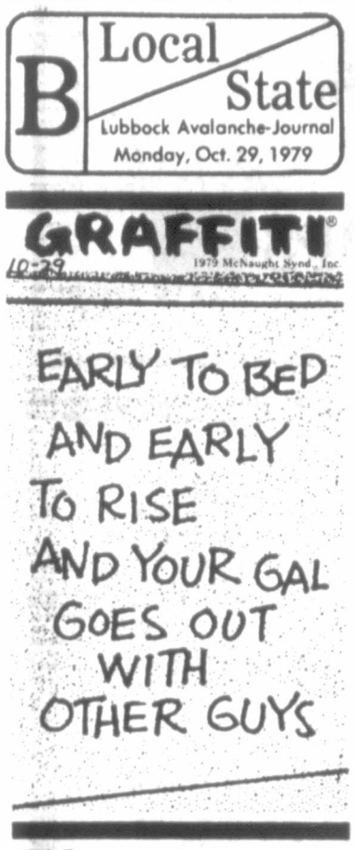
After they are reviewed by the executive committee, they will be presented to Lubbockites in a night of public hearings early next year.



Elections Slated In Houston

HOUSTON (AP)— Under the cloud of a federal grand jury investigation on alleged City Hall corruption, and a fog of confusion on a new council selection process, Houston residents will vote for a mayor and 14 councilmen Nov. 6.

There will be 97 candidates on the ballot, eight of them wanting to be mayor of the nation's fifth largest city.

Among that group are incumbent Jim McConn, a businessman seeking a second two-year term; Councilman Louis Macey, a bitter and vocal foe of the mayor; and Leonel J. Castillo, who recently resigned as commissioner of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Because of the bulky field, runoff races are expected in most of the contests.

Under a new formula, voters will select five council members on a citywide vote, and nine others from specific districts. That means each voter will have a shot at picking six council members.

In the past, the council had only eight persons and all were selected at-large.

But the U.S. Justice Department stepped in and demanded a change be made because recent annexations may have diluted the voting power of minorities.

Most of the new areas brought into the city were predominantly white.

U.S. Attorney J.A. "Tony" Canales ordered the probe into allegations of City Hall bribery and extortion halted until after the election. Canales said the investigation should not be a political issue.

Then Noble C. Ginther Jr., who announced for mayor and later withdrew for health reasons, filed a motion in federal court asking that Canales be forced to resume the probe.

The other 82 council candidates include a former fire chief, a former school board president, and three state legislators.

All in all, it has been a rather subdued campaign with most of the attention focused on the grand jury question and the complaints of many voters that they are confused about the district-and-at-large system.

McConn and Macey have traded a few verbal shots and Castillo has snipped at the incumbent mayor's record, but otherwise it has been a quiet campaign.

High Cost Of Ads Aid Lesser-Known Brands

By LeROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The inflated costs of national advertising may be helping manufacturers and distributors of lesser-known consumer product lines.

Unbranded, minor-brand and private-label merchandise accounts for a huge share of the consumer products markets, the biggest share in some lines.

Belvin Friedson, head of Save-Way Industries, Inc., Hialeah, Fla., which designs, manufactures or distributes a variety of personal care products, says these lines are being helped by the rising costs of national advertising and promotion.

"Advertising and sales promotional costs represent a disproportionate part of the prices for many nationally-branded products, particularly in cosmetics and personal care products," Friedson said. "Inflation has accelerated these costs and the growing concentration of national advertising emphasis on television has tended to make the cost of national branding prohibitive for many manufacturers."

But it is the retailers who really put on the pressure to get quality unbranded or minor-brand products, Friedson said.

"The markups they get on nationally-branded products often just aren't good enough anymore," he said. "Of course they have to carry national brand goods that are in strong demand but their real profit often comes from identical or nearly identical products sold unbranded or under minor-brand names with much better markups for the storekeeper."

The high cost of TV advertising makes the introduction of a new product under a national brand name prohibitive except for very big companies.

"On the other hand, an unbranded or minor-brand new product, can be test-marketed with the risk of only a few thousand dollars. If it flops, there's no big loss in prestige for the manufacturer or advertising agency. If it goes well, the profit is immediate," Friedson said.

He says he thinks the consumerist movement and laws favoring generic prescription drugs over the same drugs sold at higher prices under proprietary names have generated increased interest in merchandise that is not nationally branded.

Traditionally, Americans exhibited a strong brand loyalty which many Europeans found amazing and not always sensible. In the 1960s, however, Madison Avenue discovered this loyalty no longer could be counted on as absolute and advertising and marketing strategies have changed considerably since.

"You can't be outrightly generic in most consumer lines other than drugs and some food and hardware lines," Friedson said. "Even standard grade labeled products frequently are relabeled under the bigger retailers' brand names.

"But you'd be amazed at the high percentage of most lines of merchandise, even fairly big ticket items, that are not sold under brand names that could be expected to have any-real consumer recognition."

KIDS-ONLY CLUB

Game Good To Play At Large Parties

By SHARI LEWIS

Let's say it's a big party. Or a picnic. Or a scout meeting. You have lots of kids running around, and you want to play a fun, active game that you know darn well you can control. Here's a goody:

Sit all the kids down in, say, four rows (if you've 12 kids, then there will be three to a row). Give each of the rows a team name (I've picked Lions, Lambs, Dogs and Cats). Now these are the vertical (up and down) rows.

If you look at those kids from the side, you'll see that they can also be lined up in horizontal (sideways) rows. Give these horizontal rows letters (A, B, C, D, — take a peek at the picture and you'll see what I mean). Tell the players their team names, and then point out which row is called A, B, C, and so forth.

Say to the group, "Each time a letter is called and an activity named, kids who are in the horizontal row with that letter have to stand up, step to their right and do whatever activity is named, as they move to the front of their own line, around the first person, down the left of the line and back to their starting position. The first one to sit down with legs crossed earns a point for his her team (the Lions, Lambs, Dogs or Cats)."

Some exciting, exhausting activities you might name include "Grab your ankle and hop on one foot," "Grab both ankles and waddle like a duck," and "Push yourself backwards on the seat of your pants."

Today's Brain Twister: How can you take a straw and, with one blow, drive it into an apple or a potato without breaking it? (Look for the answer in tomorrow's Kids—Only Club column.)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has approved two grants for the State of Oregon totaling almost $1.58 million to improve the state's recreational facilities.

A $921,000 grant will rehabilitate, replace or improve existing facilities in 20 state parks, including restrooms, a bathhouse, water treatment systems and sewer treatment facilities.

A $657,050 grant will be used to construct facilities in 15 parks, including picnic facilities, trails, maintenance and landscaping.

Each grant will be matched by an equal amount of state money, the department said.

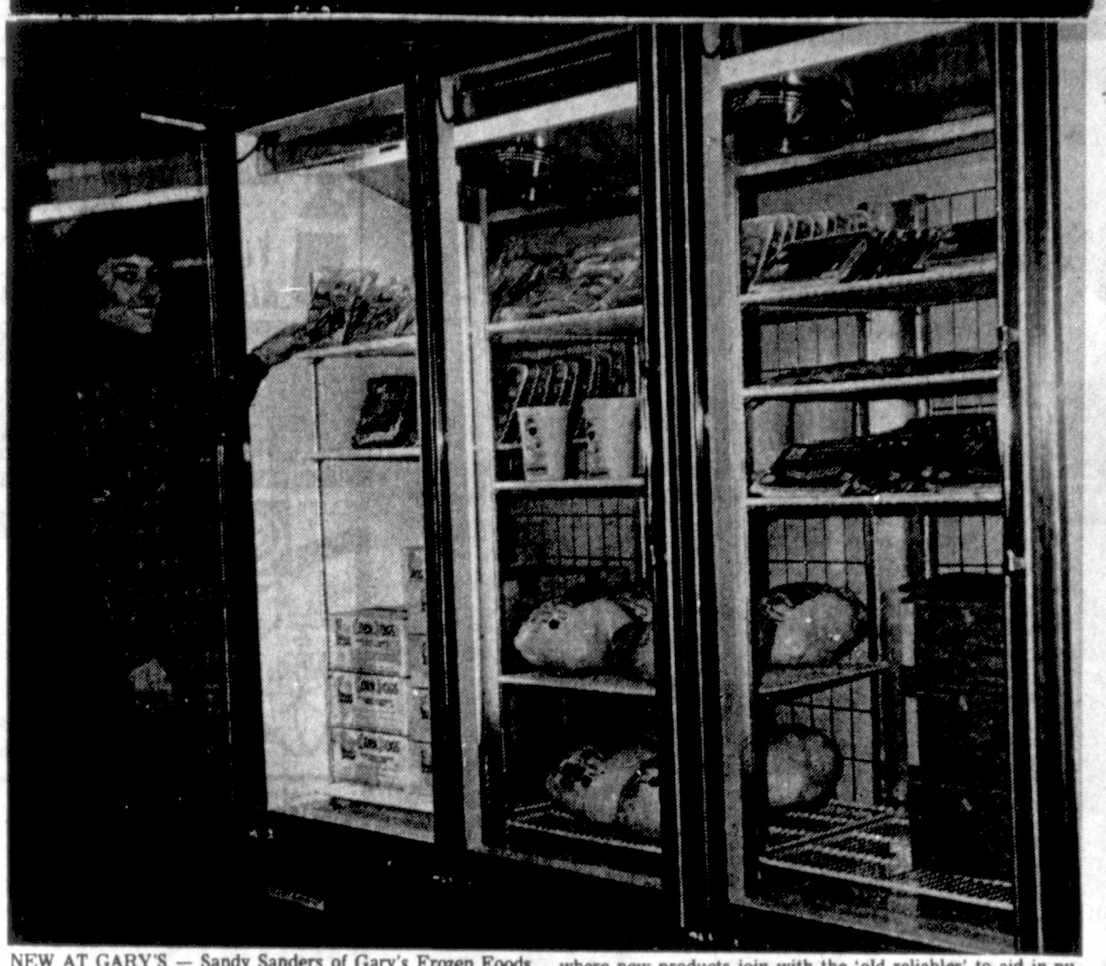
Business & Industrial Review



NEW AT GARY'S — Sandy Sanders of Gary's Frozen Foods directs attention here to new display cases within a showroom recently provided at the south Lubbock 'good food' plant where new products join with the 'old reliables' to aid in nutritious meals and holiday budgeting.

Gary's Frozen Foods Adds Products, Provides More Customer Conveniences

(1) Gary has added fresh home-made chili to his list of products, with this great chili available at the big Gary's facility, 109th Street at South University Avenue. Only the finest meat is used, assuring no fat, no gristle just good chili.

(2) Gary's again is stocking the popular Dynamic electric nut cracker, great for one's own use in the present pecan season or for Christmas gifting.

Response to this unit in seasons past has been so enthusiastic that Gary has made it a year-around feature. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Just call 745-1933 or come by the Gary's plant on South University.

(3) A new showroom with refrigerated cases has been provided at Gary's, making it easier than ever to see and select.

Products to Trust, Enjoy

Whether selection is from Gary's Super Dogs, Bar-B-Que Brisket, Barbeque Delight, Gary's Corn Dogs, or delicious hams, turkeys or beef, one can be assured of the very best . . from Gary's.

Order for Holidays

(Now is the time to book those great hams or other meat for the impending holiday needs.)

So whether the desire is nutritious meals for the student in the family or for easily-prepared but super-delicious meals for any occasion, every Gary's Frozen Foods product is an experience in goodness.

Success with a Reason

Gary Tidwell began back in 1956 with a small barbeque stand in Lubbock, limited in number of people he could serve. Demand for his barbeque and fine food products has resulted in growth and change. Now Gary's products are found in retail stores throughout the southwest. But growth has not changed the dedication to quality and taste by Gary's Frozen Foods!

All the quality items bearing the Gary's label are prepared in the modern, enlarged, functionally attractive quarters occupied by Gary's in south Lubbock, facilities designed and built for service.

True hickory smoking is the secret to The bar-b-que brisket, an Old West favorite. Slowly cooked over live hickory coals, Gary's sliced Beef Brisket gains that honest-to-goodness hickory smoked flavor. Combined with Gary's own special sauce, it is perfect for dinner, picnics or sandwiches, available in 32 oz. boil-in bags or heat-to-eat 14 oz. containers.

Gary's chunk style Bar-Be-Que Delight, one of the newer offerings, has become tremendously popular. Sandwiches never had it so good! Quick meals have become more than just a meal . . . with this Delight, they have become a real treat. A nutritions combination of beef, and textured vegetable protein, Gary's ingredients add the special barbeque sauce that makes this a winner

(Now is a very good time to book for holiday and winter cruises, even trips for the spring breaks, and it is emphasized by World Wide Travel, to assure availability of the particular cruise or other trip desired. Another desirable reason for booking now is to avoid any ticket price increases made before trip time.)

Travel today is a complex and changing field requiring a competent professional to keep up with these changes. World Wide travel agents are professionals in their field, with each rendering service from research and years of experience.

Whether the situation is an impending cruise, group and convention travel, train travel, air travel, hotel and car rental reservation, tours and tailored itineraries or a honeymoon, World Wide Travel knows that it can be of full assistance.

FAMILIAR NAME BUT AT A SECOND AND ADDED LOCATION

Fashion Eyewear Opens Added Facility With Special Prices

Now there are two!

Yes, Fashion Eyewear, Inc., has opened a second dispensary in Lubbock . . . this newest one in the Grand Central Shopping Center, 6212 Slide Road.

Fashion eyewear already has served most auspiciously at its 3833 50th St. facility, a location it still maintains.

The opening of the added store in Lubbock, across from South Plains Mall, comes after the first 19 months of signal achievement at the original dispensary. (This Lubbock-owned and Lubbock-operated dispensary has received recognition in national publications as a unique and successful venture in the field of competitive dispensing of top quality eyewear.)

The new Slide Road facility is under management of Rosemary Parks, with the firm since its Lubbock establishment, and the 50th Street unit is managed by Bonnie Edwards.

To make available complete eye care, Fashion Eyewear has leased space next door to the new location to an opthalmologist who will offer vision exams and expert contact lens fitting, as well as treatment and care of eye diseases.

Grand Opening

Grand Opening of the second Fashion Eyewear has been arranged throughout November, with special prices posted at both locations to mark this milestone.

Prices Told

"All frames at 50 per cent off;
"Soft contact lenses at $85;
"Hard contacts at $49; and
"Thermal care kits at $34."

Six hundred different frame styles are offered at each Fashion Eyewear, with 36 different cosmetic tinting combinations, also at very reasonable prices.

"Don't just take our word for it; come out and discover for yourself how Fashion Eyewear, at either location, provides an exceptional optical dispensary."

"The largest over-all selection of fashion frames in Lubbock" is reported by Fashion Eyewear, with all price ranges represented.

Added Service

"If you have seen a frame pictured in a magazine, it may well be that we have it in stock; if we don't, we'll special order it for you!"

The staff at each Fashion Eyewear location is trained to coordinate frame styles with face structures, tint to complexion and integration with the wardrobe.

"May we have the pleasure of visiting with you . . . and saving for you . . . during our November grand Opening of the new Fashion Eyewear, 6212 Slide Road, phone 792-0111, or at the already familiar Fashion Eyewear, 3833 50th St., phone 792-1137?"

"Don Crow Chevrolet has a good product . . . and they are doing all they can to enable your ownership and enjoyment, to put it in your hands, conveniently and satisfactorily in every respect . . . saving you money at the same time."

One of the considerations at Don Crow that makes it easy to purchase a new Chevrolet or better used car or truck from the big firm at South Loop 289 and Slide Road is the Finance and Insurance Department maintained right in the same building.

New Miniatures For Christmas Swell Stock At Little Shoppe

Miniatures by the thousands . . . delightful new arrivals . . . darling creations . . . clever kits for one's own construction enjoyment . . . and with the stock predominately Christmas oriented at this time . . . this is the provocative picture at The Little Shoppe in Cactus Alley!

Though throughout the year stocking miniatures in almost unbelievable quantity and quality, The Little Shoppe has added more in time for holiday preparation and gifting.

Be sure to see the new doll house kits, the furniture kits, the Victorian and Country Kitchens, with all needed accessories.

And Christmas trees! Select the 3-in. sizes for vignettes or doll houses, with 2-in. and 3-in. trees ideal for shadow boxes and printers trays.

The blank trees are ready for decorating, or in kits. Norma is happy to show how it all is done. In fact, this is one of the key benefits at the so-unique shop: Norma Bartley is glad to "tell you how" to bring to finished state any project originating at The Little Shoppe, just for the asking; no added charge!

There is a very good assortment of cut wood, ideal for packages. (Nancy's darling packages are already gift wrapped and ready for giving).

And there is beautiful, petite scaled wrapping paper!

Plus Christmas wreaths, ornaments, Sculpy clay for making one's own ornaments, a new arrival of poinsettias, and more (all in miniature, remember).

There are new arrivals from the Bead Garden: there are holiday centerpieces, Della Robbia brandy snifters, bead arrangements, etc.

Norma also has stocked the miniature fireplaces to decorate or even use as a house decor item or in vignettes.

Universal Appeal

See the herringbone or parquet floors also available for the doll house.

For the hobbyist, for the amateur and avid miniature collector, for folks who simply appreciate the unusual, the pretty and the intriguing, The Little Shoppe comes through, stronger than ever!

The "miniature"-selection is reputed to be larger than any in all West Texas.

(This year The Little Shoppe, though still in Cactus Alley, moved into enlarged quarters there. With the added room, the stock has been more than doubled, with open display enabled for the thousands of items.

One cannot enumerate all that is The Little Shoppe. Pages could be written describing the miniature cookware, the furnishings for every room of a miniature mansion, greenhouses complete with spring flowers and potted plants, all the Christmas-related stock, etc., but one can only comprehend the completeness of the stock upon personal inspection.

"May we have the pleasure of your early visit, letting us assist in your Christmas planning . . . at The Little Shoppe, 2610 Salem Ave., just south off the Brownfield Highway in Lubbock?"

Home Improvement Made Easy With Help From House Clinic

"Let us custom design a new look for your home; we'll save you money and conserve energy, too."

This is the promise and the business of L.K. and Barbara Lankford, owners of The House Clinic, serving West Texas and Eastern New Mexico since 1960.

"After all, when it comes to home improvements, few things increase the property value more than the appearance of the home's exterior. And if you want these walls, overhang, doors and windows, even shutters, to look their best, the wise word is to call the pros at The House Clinic, 1922 Ave. E in Lubbock, phone 747-4436."

"The House Clinic manufactures a full line of custom-built storm windows, storm doors, replacement windows . . . and the finest, most durable finish for the outside surfaces of your home: Endura vinyl coated steel siding.

Energy Factor Considered

"With the energy situation very much in everyone's mind, it is important to do everything possible to further insulate the home. Endura steel siding offers added insulating benefits for the home, helping keep hot and cold winds from seeping into the house with their related heating and cooling bill increases.

Endura vinyl coated steel siding also reduces outside noise to give quieter living space. The siding is virtually impervious to impacts that dent other siding, the Lankfords point out. There are no temperature or contraction noises, and there is no splitting or cracking.

Long-Term Guarantee

With sparkling new siding that is guaranteed for decades, and with new storm windows and doors, your home will take on a new beauty and utility.

"So . . . if you are wanting to do something about the appearance and comfort of your home, getting away from tedious maintenance and painting, then see The House Clinic for one or more of its products and services, for siding or for a turnkey job assuring a total new look for the home."

The House Clinic is noted, also, for its special treatment of overhang problems (advanced design soffit and fascia systems).

Many of the improvement expenses involve tax deductions, it is pointed out, as further benefit.

All products at the House Clinic are manufactured in the United States, and all metal siding, just as all the related items, is first quality only.

Factors to be considered in selecting systems from the House Clinic include fire resistance, maintenance savings, elimination of costly repainting; termite resistance, a finish that cannot crack peel, flake or blister; choice of colors; insulation and even decor benefits.

"Stop in and visit at 1922 Ave. E in Lubbock to see the graphic displays and to get complete details on how House Clinic can benefit you, too."

Smallwood's Named Magnavox Dealer Stocking Full TV Line

Placing emphasis on the television units, Smallwood's has stocked the full Magnavox selection, from 10-in. color to the big 25-in. remote-control cabinet.

All Magnavox sets at Smallwood's are new 1980 models, received just in time for a great season of viewing.

"(Ordinary color TVs have 260 lines of resolution, and the special Magnavox filter delivers 330 lines, 25 percent more lines of resolution for a 25 per cent sharper, clearer color picture.)"

And the Magnavox Microprocessor, heart of one of the most advanced tuning systems available, gives one instant access to any UHF or VHF channel, at the touch of the finger. You Touch-Tune silently, effortlessly, with the ease of a push-button telephone, the accuracy of a digital computer . . . and there are no mechanical parts to ever wear out!

For Beauty, Quality

"We are thrilled, understandably, at securing the Magnavox line," Smallwood's owners Eugene and Evelyn Kerr emphasize, "and we are happy to stock the wide selection while still offering TV lines including the Muntz giant screen and the Electrophonic brands; we believe we can qualify as your TV headquarters in Lubbock."

Fianancing is available, and early consideration is invited for purchase of a fine TV for viewing now or for Christmas giving.

Multiple Products

Smallwood's versatility, and the same consideration of customer needs is the rule in every season. Whether the need is Filter Queen home sanitation systems, other complete lines of vacuum cleaners, TV, home entertainment systems, gorgeous burl clocks, microwave ovens by Toshiba, and even sewing machines and more. Smallwoods's comes through.

Accessories, parts and bags for most brands of vacuum cleaners are stocked.

"You'll like Smallwood's way of doing business; you'll appreciate the values and the personal attention assured by Mr. and Mrs. Kerr and staff. And we know you like Magnavox!"

Exceptional Selection

Not only is participation in the Anniversary Sale a current benefit, but the present shoe selection is the most complete in Holt's enviable history.

Specialists in Fitting

Experienced shoe fitters round out the picture of service, a tradition at the store. Expert fitting is assured, and this can be extremely important for footwear enjoyment.

Both Visa and Master Charge purchases are welcomed.

Owners-operators Mr. and Mrs. Joe Haire and their fully-qualified staff sincerely urge:

"Won't you honor us with a visit as a proper entry into the new season, and share in our pride of the type establishment afforded, profiting in added manner from the special Sunshine Square anniversary situation? We believe you'll find a genuine customer interest evident at Holt's, at 4519 50th St. . . . in the wide selection, in the quality, and in service."

CARPORTS

Functionally beautiful patio covers, carports, room enclosures, etc., from Lubbock Carport & Patio can add an entirely new dimension to home enjoyment!

Lubbock Carport & Patio, at 2715 Slaton Hwy., features the Howmet line ("Cadillac of patios and carports") including woodgrain patio covers with domed skylight, in rich walnut, golden oak and even white birch, as seen in Better Homes & Gardens and House Beautiful.

Leaseway-Southwest Services Utilized Throughout Wide Area

Leaseway-Southwest, at 409 E. 50th St., in Lubbock, offers a complete transportation service to busy companies that simply cannot devote the time, space or money required to own and maintain a fleet of vehicles or in some instances, just one or two units. This progressive leasing firm provides transportation vehicles to serve any size or type business.

Full Service

"Corporations as well as small operators find that full-service transportation package is more efficient from every standpoint."

"Full service" as provided by Leaseway-Southwest Transportation Corp., is exactly what the name implies. The firm provides the maintenance and inspection and even supplies the fuel and pays the taxes on the vehicle!

Personnel there are most adept, serving in a professional but considerate and friendly manner to meet the particular transportation needs of every customer.

"We'd like to count you, too, among our customers."

Leaseway-Southwest's understanding of the short-term, peak and long-term needs of area industry and business is well recognized, contributing to its own growth, too.

Half-a-hundred Lubbock businesses (and even more) depend on Leaseway-Southwest for transportation vehicle needs.

There must be a very good reason.

In Tune With Times

Keeping abreast with the needs of the area is one of the convincing reasons. Leaseway-Southwest continually adds new equipment for rental and for full-time customers of this service-oriented firm.

"Utilization of leased vehicles is the growing trend in transportation management" it is emphasized by Leaseway-Southwest management.

Valet Parking Proves Customer Pleaser At Budget Rent A Car

"Free valet service, with delivery and pick-up right at the doors of the air terminal . . . did you know such a convenience is being afforded in Lubbock?"

Budget Rent A Car of Lubbock makes it possible.

Yes, one can park his or her vehicle at Budget Rent A Car, 1701 N. Quirt, at a cost of only $1 per day, and free valet service is provided right to the airport! (Many also find it advantageous for the folks at Budget Rent A Car to service the vehicle while it is there.)

Budget Rent A Car of Lubbock, 1701 N. Quirt Ave., not only operates from all-new facilities said to be the most modern in the area, but it provides likely a much greater scope of services than some may have realized.

You don't have to be in need of rental units to be served at this complete Enco service center where there's even a big used car lot.

As for the rental part of the business, the owner emphasizes, that "we save you money," inviting comparison of the low rates afforded on current model GM and other fine cars of all sizes.

Valet Parking

Valet parking is one of the much-appreciated services, with Budget Rent A Car enabling one to leave a personal car there, with a firm representative taking the driver and occupants right to the airport, affording the same service upon return trip! Thus there are no long walks from parking areas; the customer is taken right to the airport doorway.

A full-service station is provided, open six days a week.

Good Car Buys

Not only are autos rented, but a good truck selection is available in the rental department, too. Select units varying from cargo vans to 22-ft. units, some air conditioned, most with hydraulic lifts and some with automatic transmission.

(There is no drop charge for cars dropped in Amarillo.)

Bill Creps is manager of the firm, coming here from Amarillo to the Budget Rent A Car of Lubbock (a budget Rent a Car System licensee) with opening in September '78 in the all-new present quarters just 2¼ miles south of the airport at 1701 N. Quirt. The firm previously was at 604 No. Ave. Q for several years.

Whether the automatic car wash, the full-service station, the rental services, the car sales lot or any other feature of Budget Rent A Car is desired, customer service is assured.

"May we have the pleasure of your consideration and patronage at Budget Rent A Car of Lubbock? Phone 763-6471

Professional Facials Among Benefits At Elisabeth's Swedish Hair Design

For excellence in beauty and hair care, Elisabeth's Swedish Hair Design, 4630 50th St., Suite 106, phone 792-4688, is worthy of full consideration and reliance.

Special attention is directed to the extraordinary facials afforded there by staffmember Angel Smallwood. Angel's understanding of the processes, her expertise in execution, and her interest in every client's beauty and welfare prove most refreshing and "out of the ordinary".

Qualified by her European training and her experience, Angel recommends facials at twice-a-year intervals for normal skin, helping keep the pores clean and the complexion beautiful.

If one has problem skin, more frequent facials are recommended. Teenagers, those with acne situations, and older people with problem skins may wish to participate in a facial series involving more frequent visits to the salon.

The scientific facials at Elisabeth's Swedish Hair Design are most, most relaxing; they are truly deep cleaning, with penetrating action on the skin, moistening dead cells and dirt accumulation. Angel Smallwood also offers facial waxing, and with other members of the staff is most adept in all the hair services.

Whether for facials, manicures, nail extensions or hair styling and care, Elisabeth's Swedish Hair Design is outstanding. (It is a pretty salon, too.)

Opened over two years ago by Elisabeth Pyron, a Jessie Lee graduate who later served as stylist at the Jessie Lee Salon, the shop has enjoyed remarkable acceptance.

Open Mondays through Saturdays, Elisabeth's Swedish Hair Design, phone 792-4688, encourages appointments, but drop-ins are welcomed, too.

"For a really exhilarating experience in facials or hair care, for modern techniques by a skilled, proven staff, for all the best in beauty services and the enjoyment of a beautiful salon, acquaintance with Elisabeth's Swedish Hair Design at earliest convenience is recommended."

For Convenience, Safety, Too

"Will this winter find your family and yourself enjoying the convenience of an automatic overhead door installation for your garage?"

"Likely in the past you have envied your neighbor who with such facilities was spared exposure to snow and sleet (yes, these are sure to come again this year, in just a few weeks).

"There is no need for you to walk on slick driveways to open or shut the garage door, just as there is no need to drive into a darkened garage at night. After all, you can enjoy the convenience and security of an automatic installation from Overhead Door Co, 50th Street at Frankford Avenue (just off the Brownfield Highway near the Loop), phone 797-4141."

Convenience, safety and protection — this is the whole story of automatic overhead doors from Overhead Door Co. of Lubbock.

General Aluminum Windows

And now, not only does this veteran Lubbock firm offer the automatic openers and complete overhead doors and openers, but also has been named as new distributor for General Aluminum Windows!

The Lubbock branch of the Dallas-based company was established way back in 1952, and the growth of the firm here reflects the quality and demand of the service offered.

Other Products, Service

Smith is distributor for the complete overhead traveling bridge cranes manufactured and marketed under the trade name of SECO.

The firm is a major distributor for crane and hoist components and parts bearing the distinguished trademarks of Dresser Industries, Detroit, Wright, Demag and David Round.

The entire Chicago Pneumatic Equipment Division compressor line is available including spread from the 40 hp 230/460 volt, 3 phase, 3550 rpm motor to the big model 1160, a 250 hp 460 volt, 3 phase, 1775 rpm motor.

"Uncommon still in the technology of air compression" is the record of Chicago Pneumatic that has built its Equipment Division on innovation and excellence in industrial air compressors. From its first steam-powered unit, built over 70 years ago, to today's revolutionary Singl/Screw, these have been the Division's primary commitment. Advantages of this new compressor line include simplicity, balanced pressures, low friction, efficient oil flow without a pump, lower operating temperature, no gears to pay for or maintain, new low in quiet operation.

Among the many products and services afforded are air compressors by Campbell Hausfeld and Gardner-Denver. They are available in both tank mounted and stationary type, and new or rebuilt ones are stocked up to 160 hp.

Furthermore, the firm has parts for everything it sells, offering service on everything sold, also.

Wire-in and installation of irrigation motors is another area-appreciated service provided by the company.

Pick-up and delivery is provided, and service men are on call day or night. facilities on the shop enable prompt attention and repair in any emergency need.

Vertical hollow shaft motors from LeRoy Somer are now available and stocked.

Not just another "standard" motor, its features include higher thrust capacity, drip-proof enclosure with ventilating openings designed to minimize entry of rain and particles so that this type of motor is suitable for outside applications in relatively dry climates or sheltered locations.

End brackets are rigid grey iron castings machined with precision; the stator is of welded construction and consists of electric steel laminations, heat treated to improve interlamination insulation and to reduce iron losses.

Consider the other superior features, too, that include 1.15 service factor, robust welded steel frame, heavy construction (compare weights), cooler motor, large double-gasketed conduit box for easy and safe connections, permanently installed lifting lugs, and extremely quiet operation.

"All of these features give you greater hp output and longer motor life" is the observation and promise of Smith Electric and Leroy-Somer.

AMONG STUDENTS, INSTRUCTORS AT PIVOT POINT SCHOOL

Cinderella Beauty School Vastly Expanded In Size, Patron Service

Mrs. Winnie Vaughn, owner-operator of the Cinderella Beauty School in Lubbock, proudly announces that ". . . We have recently enlarged the physical size of Cinderella, adding laboratory facilities for our high school vocational Cosmetology students and more staff offices."

Remodeling and additional teaching capacity were the direct result of ". . . the need to accommodate the 50% increase in our regular student enrollment, not counting the vocational students."

Mrs. Vaughn, a member of the accrediting Committee of the national Cosmetology Accrediting Commission, Washington, D.C., has just returned from a Pivot Point International Symposium in Chicago, where representatives from 28 foreign countries and from all 50 states gathered to learn the latest hair styles and Pivot Point techniques.

Mrs. Vaughn stated, "As the proud owner of a Pivot Point franchised school, I was privileged to take part in one of the most informative beauty culture training symposiums held this year. Pivot Point, the innovative leader in the field of hair design methods, regularly updates its scientific hair designing techniqus, while inspiring hair fashions that most benefit the individual needs of Pivot Point school patrons . . . We here at Cinderella are really excited about the new Pivot Point hair creations which came to us just in time for the upcoming holidays. We can offer not only the latest, but the very best in hair styling assistance, exclusive to this area as the only Pivot Point school in Lubbock . . ."

Special Offers

"While I am on the subject of holidays, I want everyone to come by the school between now and December 23rd and see our expanded school (and, of course, our newest skills). As an incentive, we are making some special offers you cannot afford to miss between now and Christmas. For example, our better permanents are on special, $10 and up; for those who think that a relaxer is expensive, we can give you our special $10 hair relaxer which will give you a new and better look for less; and every woman at some time in her life deserves the luxury of a professional manicure and a pedicure at the same time, and we offer both for just $10, or you can have the manicure, only, for $2.50. Where else can you get so much for only $10 a service? And these services are performed by highly trained Pivot Point students who are motivated and supervised by our Texas licensed cosmetology instructors who have had years of experience and the benefit of Pivot Point scientific skills to help customize your individual hair style."

". . . If you witness Pivot Point and what it can do for you, you may decide that you, too, want to be a part of the Pivot Point International, and you can train right here, at Cinderella in Lubbock, as you learn the 'Scientific Approach to Hair Design,' a methodology which is based on proven principles of art design . . ."

"Further, the Pivot Point curriculum will not make you an ordinary hairdresser, but a Pivot Point Hair Designer. This means you will learn cutting principles that are directly related to sculpturing as you achieve 14 classic hair designs: up-elevation cuts, down-elevation cuts, plus any new developments in cutting that arise, such as in our Pivot Point Symposiums . . . Do come in and talk with me about the very best and how you can be a part of it," Mrs. Vaughn states.

Enviable Record

Cinderella Beauty School, a Redkin approved school, as well as Pivot Point franchised, opened new and modern for the public in December, 1976, and in the past three years has seen every graduating student pass the Texas Cosmetology Commission Examination without a failure.

Mrs. Vaughn, with over 40 years of Cosmetology experience, takes each student under her wing, and with her staff, provides outstanding training. Certainly, Cinderella's record of scholastic achievement and manipulative vocational skills have attributed to this record of never having a failure at State Board, and this record has not been equalled in the Lubbock area by any other source of Cosmetology graduates, Mrs. Vaughn emphasizes.

Customer Services

"We at Cinderella are proud of our students; we welcome patrons, both men and women; and we offer complete Cosmetology services that are most reasonably priced. As a school, we teach a profession which offers pride, prestige, and personal fulfillment in knowing that you are making others attractive and happy. A trained and dedicated Cosmetologist often exceeds college graduates in earning power and financial independence. Certainly age is no barrier and does not present the handicap experienced by many other professionals who must 'retire' in a youth-oriented trade or profession while still physically and mentally capable of performance. The Cosmetologist is only limited by desire and ambition . . ."

Assistance Programs

"If you would like to enroll, but are in need of financial assistance, you may be eligible to apply for the Federal Basic Education Opportunity Grants (BEOG), in addition to other Federal and State assistance programs available to students. We are approved for the BEOG, a grant program, and if you qualify, the grant you receive does not have to be paid back" reports Mrs. Vaughn, adding that "We have all the necessary information and will be happy to assist you in the application procedure."

"Cinderella Beauty School also offers educational benefits and assistance for the Texas Education Agency (TEA) approved Cosmetology Course, as well as the Instructor Course, which can be made available to qualified veterans under Veterans Administration (VA) training; to those eligible for Texas Rehabilitation Commission and Social Security benefits; to high school students enrolled in their Vocational programs; and other assistance as it becomes available," states Mrs. Vaughn.

In Southwest Lubbock

Cinderella Beauty School is conveniently located in the Plaza Shopping Center, 5401 Aberdeen, just north of the South Plains Mall, one block off Slide Road. You can call telephone 792-4439 or 792-4430 for information on classes or for a beauty service appointment. Classes start any day, Mondays through Saturdays, with appointments being offered on those days except for Mondays.

Good Eating At Modest Prices Marks Russell Chicken & Fish

"More and more Lubbock and area folks are discovering Russell's Chicken and Fish, discovering the good food available in both dining and carry-out service, at 50th Street and Kenosha."

One of the happy surprises there is that the menu is more elaborate than likely one would have expected from a business of this type.

Yes, there are all the standard delicious chicken and fish orders . . . and fried okra, hush puppies, squash, steak fingers, chicken bits, chicken fried steak, and more!

Russell's Chicken and Fish, just east of Woolco on 50th Street, will have been open two years in December. The growing and popular establishment is owned and actively operated by Russell Gillentine.

Gillentine, a longtime Lubbock resident, is widely known by the eating public as he was with a Lubbock family center for 17 years and was manager of the fountain and delicatessen there.

Open Every Day

Russell knows food and food goodness, combining all this with modest pricing and best in service at his own Russell's Chicken and Fish that is open from 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. seven days a week.

"Let us prepare your picnic or party foods from our menu; then you can pick them up here and save the difference," is Russell's invitation in outlining catering service also available at his firm offering both dining room (67 seating capacity) and carry-out service.

Prices Emphasized

Russell's Special Chicken Dinner, 1/4 chicken white ($2.20) or dark ($2.10) including french fries, crispy puffs, cole slaw and honey;

For Fastest Service

For quick takeout service or to have your order ready when you arrive, simply phone 799-8855.

"We want to prove at Russell's Chicken and Fish, 50th Street and Kenosha, that we are worthy of your trade when good eating, at modest pricing, is a consideration. May we have the opportunity of serving you soon? We know you'll like what you find . . . at Russell's Chicken and Fish."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) One who is jealous could resent your popularity tomorrow and try to cause you trouble. Don't retaliate, because you'll look as bad as he or she.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Keep your own counsel and don't let other people into your act. They might mean well, but they could influence you to use unintelligent methods.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Because you might have a successful day in negotiating tomorrow, you could later let your defenses down involving a joint effort and do something costly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone with few scruples could try to impose on you tomorrow. Take care that because of this one experience you don't treat all others unfairly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You could have a tremendous number of super ideas tomorrow, but be realistic as to how many you can realize. Unfinished projects will create a mess.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There's a strong possibility that you could be much too irritable to relate well on a social level tomorrow. Try to keep to yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) One of your biggest assets is your patience. However, tomorrow even you might feel it to be strained. You could take your frustrations out on innocent family members.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Get your work done early and don't depend on luck to help achieve your purposes tomorrow. Later you're apt to be too disorganized to accomplish anything.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your relationships with your friends tomorrow will be excellent so long as you don't make any promises involving money. You could be left holding the bag.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you let your generosity toward your family get out of hand tomorrow you'll only have yourself to blame. Don't accuse them of the cause for your extravagance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Because you're willing to concede and cooperate, you may mistakenly judge everyone by your standards and expect others to do likewise. View others realistically.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Many opportunities will be given to you tomorrow to produce a large harvest. However, take care people looking for a free ride don't talk you into giving it all away.

Your Birthday

October 30, 1979

This coming year you are heading into an excellent social cycle and could meet many new friends. A word of caution, however; steer clear of alliances with those in whom you lack complete confidence.

Steeler Defense Too Much For Cowboys

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers have the respect of the Dallas Cowboys. Do they also have their number?

"Somebody said that we beat 'em when it don't count, and they beat us when it does," Dallas linebacker Thomas Henderson said Sunday after Pittsburgh beat the Cowboys 14-3.

"You know, what can I say? I'm at a loss for words," he added.

That's as rare as Dallas scoring just three points, which hadn't happened since a 23-3 loss to the New York Giants in 1972.

But it happened Sunday as Pittsburgh blunted the Cowboy ground game, sent quarterback Roger Staubach to the sideline with a fourth-quarter concussion, and turned Franco Harris loose for two touchdowns, including a 48-yard bolt.

"But," said Henderson. "I have a feeling we're gonna get them when they think they got us."

The Cowboys may get that chance in Super Bowl XIV in Pasadena, Calif. Both teams are now 7-2 and atop their divisions.

But the Steelers have won four big ones in a row over Dallas, and the Cowboys would trade any of those for their five straight preseason wins over Pittsburgh.

"This was a very satisfying victory, to say the least," tackle Joe Greene said after Pittsburgh held Dallas to 79 rushing yards, 73 by Tony Dorsett.

Pittsburgh beat Dallas again 28-13 in the 1977 regular season, but it wasn't a must game for the Cowboys.

After the Steelers downed Dallas 35-31 in Super Bowl XIII, there was much talk about a controversial pass interference call against Cowboy cornerback Benny Barnes.

"There's was nothing flukey about it today," Greene said. "It was top-notch competition, a heck of a game. They came out to play and they played well. But we played better."

"What?" winced Coach Chuck Noll. "I'm not a psychologist. I'm just a poor old football coach. All we do is practice techniques and play the game."

The Cowboys tried one pass from punt formation, but the Steelers were ready for it. Dorsett wanted to throw another pass on an end sweep, but the Steelers were ready then, too.

"We didn't execute. When you play a team of that caliber and don't execute, you're gonna be in for a long afternoon."

Early in the second quarter, the Steelers faced fourth-and-goal at the Dallas one. Tight end Randy Grossman went in motion through the backfield, and Harris followed him off right guard for a touchdown.

Later in the second quarter, Danny White appeared ready to punt as Dallas faced fourth down at its 31. But White called a pass in the huddle.

"They moved their up-backs to the wing position. When people do that we play the pass every time," said Noll.

"He (White) obviously thought he could make the play," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "It wasn't a good play to make."

Does White have an option to call that play? "He won't any more," said Landry.

He and the Steelers have made an abrupt turnabout since they were crushed 34-10 three weeks ago by the Cincinnati Bengals.

"Sometimes something that's bad can make something positive," said Harris. "This is the second half of the season. We have real champions on this team and we want to win."

"Just a big lump on my head. That's all. I'm feeling fine," Staubach said after the game. "Both defenses are strong, but theirs was stronger when it counted."

Last winter, Perles said: "We're probably going to lose to them in the exhibition season, but we'll kick the heck out of them in regular season."

The Steelers lost 16-14 in Dallas last preseason. The second-half of Perles' prediction came true Sunday.

"I won't do that again," Perles said.

A Day For Defense

EVER SINCE POP WARNER invented the double wing formation, coaches have been proclaiming the value of field position. Keep your football team outside its own 30 at all costs, they say, or doom and defeat are assured. Play in the shadow of your own goal posts and you are going to get whupped!

If there were any doubters, they received convincing proof of the validity of that old theory Sunday when the Steelers and the Cowboys teed it up at Pittsburgh. Good kicking and excellent work by the Pittsburgh special teams kept the 'Pokes in the hole much of the game. They started so many series from inside their own 20 that their play selection and scoring opportunities were drastically limited, with the expected result.

Ol' Pop was right, after all!

There were other factors, of course. The Steelers are big, strong, fast and ugly — a most formidable adversary under any conditions. The Cowboys didn't get beat by a bunch of mullets.

But the Steelers did benefit from the early injury that sidelined Dallas cornerback Aaron Kyle, which left young Dennis Thurman to try to cover the swift and clever John Stallworth, and the second-half injury that benched quarterback Roger Staubach.

The Steelers even had the home field advantage, despite the fact that the two teams played at Pittsburgh the last time they met in the regular season. Explain that, Pete Rozelle?

DALLAS' OFFENSIVE LINE was unable to give Tony Dorsett even a glimpse of daylight, so the full offensive burden fell on Staubach's passing arm. Roger has performed very capably against the Steelers in the past, with a lifetime completion record of something like 56 percent against them, and he might have been up to the challenge Sunday with a little help.

But his receivers, who have been erratic all season, dropped six good throws, by official count, and turned what should have been a good day for Roger into a mediocre one. One of the tosses even bounced off Butch Johnson's chest in the end zone, at a time when the tally would have tied the score.

It was ironic that the fiery Johnson, who gained national fame with a sensational diving catch against Denver in Super Bowl XII, would be the victim of such a bobble. The play was all too reminiscent of Jackie Smith's costly drop against these same Steelers last January at Miami.

SOME WILL SAY that Pittsburgh, after four straight victories over the Cowboys, has clearly established its domination over the Dallas organization. A Steeler assistant coach has boasted that the 'Pokes find it hard to swallow when they face those black and gold jerseys. Winners have all the fun, it seems.

But the Cowboys, from club president to the youngest player, still are not convinced the Steelers are supermen. And there was a different atmosphere in the Dallas dressing room late Sunday than it was at Miami. After Super Bowl XIII, there were a lot of doubts and soul-searching. Yesterday, the 'Pokes were businesslike, analytical and not all that discouraged.

"It is frustrating," cornerback Benny Barnes admitted. "But we know we are capable of beating them."

"Two mistakes killed us," linebacker D.D. Lewis growled. "We drop a touchdown pass and then Harvey (Martin) and I mess up an assignment and turn Franco Harris loose for a touchdown. That's a 14-point swing."

Despite the costly mistake, Coach Tom Landry was proud of his defense. Any time you hold an NFL opponent to 14 points, you should win. Doomsday II was a winner Sunday, by Landry's yardstick.

THE COWBOYS HAVE no time at all to dwell on the loss to Pittsburgh, however. They start what amounts to a second season next weekend against the New York Giants — the first in a series of divisional battles that will determine the title in the NFC East.

With all the excitement of playing the Vikings, Rams and Steelers, some fans have forgotten that Dallas still has to win its division to assure a favorable playoff berth. That will not be easy, with Philadelphia and Washington making noises like contenders and the New York Giants emerging as the surprise team in the NFL this season.

Fans across the nation got their first good look at the Giants' rookie quarterback, Phil Simms, Sunday as New York upset the Rams. What they saw was a passer who looked much like Bradshaw or Staubach did a decade ago — young, quick, enthusiastic and a strong arm.

Steinbrenner Fires Martin Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Martin is out, after another strike call.

In the wake of an alleged fight in Bloomington, Minn., the free-swinging Martin was fired Sunday as manager of the New York Yankees and replaced by one-time coach Dick Howser.

Yankee owner George Steinbenner, supportive of Martin in many of his earlier controversies, apparently had reached the limit of his endurance after the manager's latest news-making incident last week.

Martin, who has a long history of similarly sordid affairs, was accused of punching an Illinois man last Wednesday night in the lobby of a Bloomington hotel. His alleged victim, Joseph Cooper of Lincolnshire, Ill., was sent to a hospital where he required 15 to 20 stitches to close cuts on his lip.

Martin denied throwing any punches. But just the news was enough to get Steinbrenner up in the air over the weekend, jetting off to New York from his home in Florida to investigate the case. The owner appeared to prejudge Martin when he commented:

"We just can't have him getting into these things every two months. It's not good for organized baseball."

But Steinbrenner had nothing to say Sunday after letting Martin go, ending a stormy relationship that started in the middle of the 1975 season. No definitive statement concerning Martin was included in the Yankee announcement, just these succinct words:

"The New York Yankees announced tonight that Billy Martin will not be returning as manager of the Yankees."

It was the second time in his controversy-studded career that Martin has parted with the Yankees.

In the middle of the 1978 season he resigned under pressure after a series of problems with management and superstar Reggie Jackson, uttering his infamous phrase that Steinbrenner and Jackson deserved each other because "one is a born liar and the other is a convicted liar."

But less than one week after Bob Lemon had been hired to replace Martin, Steinbrenner reversed his field with the shocking announcement that Martin would return as manager in 1980.

It didn't take Martin quite that long to come back, however. He returned prematurely in the middle of 1979 in an effort to fire up a flagging team. Martin's return did no good as the Yankees finished a desultory fourth in the American League East.

While neither Steinbrenner nor Martin was available for comment Sunday, Howser was.

"I've been around New York 12 years," he said. "I understand what a manager of the Yankees has to go through."

But few went through what Martin did in his embattled off-and-on seasons with the Yankees. And a lot of the trouble was his own doing.

Under Martin, the Yankees won their first American League pennant in 12 years in 1976.

Dockery Leery Of UT Defense

By NORVAL POLLARD
Executive Sports Editor

The Texas Longhorns' defensive unit has ranked among the best in the nation all season long — statistics prove that.

It also ranks near the top of the stack when it comes to collecting superlatives from opposing coaches — Texas Tech's Rex Dockery included.

"They are a very sound group," Dockery said of the Texas defense. "You can't make mistakes against them and expect to win. They have excellent pursuit, they are strong and they have the best depth in the conference. Texas' second team does a great job when they are in there."

The Red Raiders take their 2-2 Southwest Conference mark to Austin Saturday for a 2 p.m. matchup with the 5-1 Longhorns. Dockery will be the first to admit that the game is a big one for his squad.

"The Texas game is always a big game for us," Dockery stated. "Our players always look forward to playing them. We want to win this game badly."

The Red Raiders had this Saturday off and began preparation for the Texas clash last Thursday. Meanwhile, the Longhorns crushed Southern Methodist 30-6.

Tech coaches introduced a tentative game plan during Friday's practice session and the Red Raiders today begin streamlining Saturday's attack. Dockery believes there are three keys to Tech's success.

"We have to be sound in the kicking game, we can't make mistakes and we have to execute," Dockery said. "But you can't make mistakes and expect to beat Texas."

After viewing films of the Longhorns' victory over SMU, Dockery also expressed concern for Texas' explosive offense.

"You can't let Little (Texas quarterback Donnie Little) break containment," Dockery admitted. "You have to put pressure on him, but you can't let him get outside.

"Jones (running back A.J. Jones) has excellent speed and also has good size and strength. He can run inside or outside and he is also a great receiver.

"And Lam Jones breaks the cushion between a defensive back quicker than any receiver I've seen in college. You sure can't let him get behind you."

NFL ROUNDUP

Rams, Vikings Continue Downward Slide

By The Associated Press

The torch may have been passed, once and for all, in the National Football Conference's West and Central divisions.

Los Angeles and Minnesota have ruled those two divisions for years but both have faced disheartening reversals this season and Sunday's games may have signalled the end of their control.

Los Angeles surrendered first place in the NFC West, losing for the first time since 1961 to the suddenly sizzling New York Giants, 20-14, and dropping one game back of New Orleans, which beat Washington 14-10.

Minnesota, six times champions of the Central, went head-to-head with this year's leader, Tampa Bay. The Vikings came out on the short end of a 12-10 score and slipped three games back of the Bucs.

Elsewhere in the National Football League Sunday, Houston edged the New York Jets 27-24, Pittsburgh downed Dallas 14-3, Buffalo edged Detroit 20-17, Baltimore outlasted New England 31-26, Cleveland ripped St. Louis 38-20, Miami beat Green Bay 27-7, Cincinnati stunned Philadelphia 37-13, Denver whipped Kansas City 20-3 and Chicago edged San Francisco 28-27. Oakland defeated San Diego 45-22 Thursday night.

Giants 20, Rams 14

Rookie Phil Simms threw a pair of TD passes as the Giants won their fourth in a row and dropped the Rams to a 4-5 record and second place in the NFC West, where they've won the title for six straight years.

It was the third straight loss for injury riddled Los Angeles and marked the first time since 1966 that the Rams have been under .500 this late in the season.

"It is obvious what has happened to us," said LA Coach Ray Malavasi. "You know the number of people we have lost to injuries. I still think we have a chance to win our division."

Fritsch's FG Saves Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oiler Coach Bum Phillips tipped his western hat to the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service Sunday and cast a broad smile in the direction of Austrian-born Toni Fritsch.

"Every time I look up and see that kid going onto the field I thank God for our immigration laws," Phillips said of the 34-year-old refugee from the soccer fields of Europe. "He's one heck of a player."

For the second time this season, Fritsch ended another of Houston's last-gasp rallies with a 35-yard overtime field goal that gave the Oilers a 27-24 victory over the stunned New York Jets.

The phere Fene on the Astrodome floor appeared to be just the atmosphere Fritsch needed. While the teams lined up for the play of the game, Fritsch stood waiting patiently, hands clasped behind his back.

"I had to go in and make it," Fritsch said matter-of-factly. "I was trying to stay ready. The kicker has one or two chances to show how good he is and I make my living off of kicking."

And so do the Oilers.

The Oiler offense sputtered and popped well enough to take a 24-10 lead into the final minutes of the game despite a total of 104 yards on 10 penalties, including 35 yards on one touchdown drive.

Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini, booed for his ineffectiveness in the first quarter, rallied the Oilers to a 17-10 halftime lead on Fritsch's 47-yard field goal and touchdown runs of one yard By Rob Carpenter and four yards by a hobbled Earl Campbell.

Pastorini, who finished with 18 completions on 36 attempts for 212 yards, regained some of the crowd's confidence in the third quarter with a 37-yard touchdown pass to tight end Mike Barber.

But the boo-birds returned in the fourth quarter when Pastorini could not ignite the Oilers while New York rallied on quarterback Richard Todd's 15-yard touchdown pass to Jerome Barkum with 5:33 to go and Todd's one-yard run with 55 seconds left in regulation play.

Then came Toni's second chance.

Matadors Come Alive In Third, Fourth Quarters

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

For the handful of Estacado Matador fans that braved the 180-mile trip to Borger last Friday — the game must've seemed like same song, second verse.

No, make that same song — third verse.

Because the Estacado-Borger tilt looked like a carbon copy of the Estacado-Dumas game the week before, or for that matter, an instant replay of the Estacado-Lamesa contest of two weeks ago.

You might say the Mats are in a bit of a rut. Nonetheless, it's a rut that any other District 1-AAA coach would gladly sell his socks for.

What happened Friday was this: the Mats scored an early first quarter touchdown, missed the PAT, and then sat back and let the defense run the show. When the Bulldogs got a field goal late in the first half it was 6-3 and Borger crowd was screaming for an upset.

But the Mats didn't look worried, after all they'd been in similar situations at the half all year long. And when the third period rolls around — forget it — that one belongs to the Mats. So it was business as usual when Estacado stormed back to take a 32-10 decision over the Bulldogs.

Estacado has been pretty good in the first period, scoring 27 points and allowing the opposition zippo, zero, nil and nothing. The second quarter has been only so-so — Estacado 19, Opposition 10.

Now let's take a look at the second half — that's where the Mats tend to dominate the show. You can paint the third quarter Blue and Gray, the score there is Estacado 68, Opponents 7. Obviously the Mats have been winning their games in the third period.

Estacado	27	19	68	40	— 154
Opposition	0	10	7	13	— 30

If that's puzzling you, how do you thing Matador coach Louis Kelley feels about it?

"I guess that's just the personality of this team," said Kelley after the Borger game. "You know, people think I yell and scream at the guys at halftime, but really I don't. I just tell them to go out there and force some turnovers and make things happen."

And the Mats have followed Kelley's advice down to a letter. So the coach doesn't really have any gripes.

"I'm real proud of these kids," he said. "Our defense played another good game (against Borger) and right now that's what's carrying us."

And the coach is right: Even though the Mats have had problems getting cranked up offensively in the first half, the EHS defense just hasn't allowed many first-half points. Only one time has Estacado found itself trailing at the intermission. That was against Plainview, in the season opener, when Estacado trailed 7-0 at the half.

Hah, if you figured it was another third quarter explosion by Estacado you're wrong. Against Plainview the Mats waited until late in the fourth period before rallying for 13 points and the win.

For the Dunbar Panthers the season hasn't gone quite as well. And last Thursday the Panthers dropped their second District 1-AAA game of the year as the Canyon Eagles snuffeds the Pack 33-14.

The District 1-AAA race is quickly shaping up as a showdown between Canyon and Estacado. Both schools are 2-0 in loop play while everyone else has at least one loss. But Canyon and Estacado don't meet until the last weekend in the season — and plenty could happen in the next two weeks.

In District 3-AAA, San Angelo Lake View looks like a sure winner after notching a 34-9 win over Brownfield. Lake View is 2-0 in loop play, and the only undefeated team in district, with only two games remaining on the schedule.

Odessa Ector scored a stunning 14-6 victory over Pecos Friday night to move into the driver's seat in the District 2-AAA race. Ector is now the only team without a loss in district play down in that league south of Lubbock.

Pecos had been the A—J's top ranked Class AAA team but with the victory fell all the way down to the No.4 spot. That means those Estacado Matadors move back into the top spot they've held for most of the season.

Stop Houston Cougars Becomes Southwest Conference Battle Cry

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Writer

Stop Houston!

It's not a new battle cry. Southwest Conference coaches have been singing that song since the Cougars entered the league for keeps in 1976.

But it hasn't kept Houston out of two Cotton Bowls.

Houston seems to be able to handle the pressure. Four times the Cougars have trailed at halftime this year and charged back to win. They've beaten Baylor and Arkansas by field goals in the final seconds.

"Somebody has got to stop Houston," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "I wanted Arkansas to beat Houston."

Houston is unbeaten and 4-0 in the SWC race. Baylor is 4-1, Arkansas 3-1 and Texas 2-1.

Houston can all but nail down the Cotton Bowl in two weeks when it hosts the Texas Longhorns.

On that same week, Baylor is at Arkansas. Should Texas win the race would be thrown into a three-way tie. Any ties and it's Houston out of the Cotton Bowl because the Cougars went last year.

"Houston deserves all the credit," says Holtz. "A lot of people will think Arkansas wasn't ready to play two emotional games in a row. Nothing could be farther from the truth. We were ready and played as well as we could."

In Saturday's games, Houston beat Arkansas 13-10, Texas blasted SMU 30-6, Texas A&M strapped Rice 41-15 and Baylor outlasted TCU 16-3.

This week Texas Tech is at Texas, Arkansas is at Rice, Houston is at TCU, and SMU is at Texas A&M. Baylor is idle.

"This is a tough conference and I've been telling you guys that," said Texas Coach Fred Akers after the impressive Longhorn win over SMU. "It's going to be like Murderer's Row getting through this conference. Anytime you get two good teams together anything can happen. It happened to us last week and it happened to Arkansas today. We just need to go on and take care of our business."

Now, it seems Nov. 10 is the pivotal SWC Saturday. All Houston has to do is beat Texas because the Cougars close the season out against Texas Tech and Rice.

If Texas wins and Baylor downs Arkansas, then it's going to get wild again. And stay that way until the final week, Dec. 1.

Johnson, Plainsmen Settle Silver Spurs Question

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

What would happen, the man on the phone wanted to know, to the Silver Spurs if the Monterey-Lubbock High game finished in a tie?

Would you have to give each team one of the spurs? Or would you award the whole set to the team with the most penetrations or first downs?

The question was a sticky one indeed. But Willie Johnson and the Monterey Plainsmen settled the 27th battle for the Silver Spurs rather decisively.

The spurs, both of them, will go back to the Monterey trophy case as the Plainsmen crushed the Westerners 26-0 Friday night at Lowrey Field. Monterey's Willie Johnson keyed the Plainsmen victory as he toted the pigskin 35 times for 249 yards.

Although Monterey dominated the game from start to finish, gaining 473 yards of total offense and racking up 25 first downs, the score was only 7-0 going into the final period.

So even if the Silver Spurs did go to the team with the most first downs — the Plainsmen would've claimed them.

"We didn't play that well," admitted Odom after the game. "We had far too many penalties, but I'm not complaining. We'll take it any day and be happy."

Odom said that possibly the Plainsmen were a little flat after last week's big 17-7 victory over Plainview.

And speaking of Plainview, the once-mighty Bulldogs now look like just another team. The Angry Red needed a 48-yard scoring pass from quarterback Jeff Gould to fullback Ervin Davis to lift the 'Dogs to a 27-21 win over Hereford on the last play of the game.

That means that the Bulldogs are now 1-1 in District 4-AAAA action and 3-4 on the year. That's quite a drop for a team that started the season ranked No.7 in state.

Coronado will enter the contest with an unblemished 1-0 district record while MHS is 2-0. Every other district school has suffered at least one loop loss.

Coronado took a 7-6 squeaker over Lubbock High two weeks ago in the district opener for both schools and Mustang coach Jack Quarles said that his troops may have possibly been looking towards the Monterey game.

Even though there aren't any spurs involved when the Plainsmen tangle with the Ponies — the contest is one of the fiercest of those in the city.

And for Coronado and Monterey — the wait is just about over. Now if the game ends in a tie...well, it'll throw a heck of a monkey wrench into the District 4-AAAA race.

Davis Shoots Suns Past Blazers

By The Associated Press

It didn't much matter to Walter Davis that his Phoenix Suns were playing the unbeaten Trail Blazers in Portland. The thing that concerned him was that his team was only three seconds from defeat.

"I just had to go up with it," said Davis, who took an inbounds pass, dribbled once, ignored a crowd of defenders and sank a 20-foot shot at the buzzer to give the Suns an 89-88 National Basketball victory Sunday night. The defeat was the first for the Trail Blazers after nine victories this National Basketball Association season.

"He's so good in that situation," said Phoenix Coach John MacLeod. "The play was to free Walter off the screen.

"When he put the ball on the floor, well, that was risky with three seconds to go. But it went in, and this kind of thing can really give a team a lift."

The loss will not demoralize Portland, said Coach Jack Ramsay. "We lost a game by one point on a difficult shot," he observed. "That's not a drastic situation."

Ramsay was more troubled by the Trail Blazers' early ineffectiveness as the Suns scored the first 10 points of the game and held a 15-point lead early in the third quarter.

"We didn't execute well under pressure in the first half," said Ramsay. "We really weren't attacking offensively."

They rallied after intermission and took an 83-81 lead with 2:07 remaining on a rebound basket by Kermit Washington. Then the lead changed hands five times in the last 90 seconds.

Paul Westphal led all scorers with 25 points. Davis added 20 while Maurice Lucas had 18 to pace the Trail Blazers.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Los Angeles Lakers topped the Golden State Warriors 97-90, the Seattle SuperSonics downed the Chicago Bulls 108-97, the Kansas City Kings defeated the San Diego Clippers 106-101 and the New Jersey Net trimmed he Houston Rockets 120-115.

Lakers 97, Warriors 90

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 18 of his game-high 26 points in the second half to lift Los Angeles to its fourth consecutive victory. Norm Nixon added 18 points for the Lakers. Robert Parish was the high point man for Golden State with 19.

SuperSonics 108, Bulls 97

Fred Brown came off the bench to score three consecutive baskets, helping Seattle to a 104-97 lead over Chicago with less than a minute to play. Gus Williams had 26 points for the SuperSonics while Ricky Sobers led Bulls scorers with 19.

Kings 106, Clippers 101

Kansas City snapped a four-game losing streak as Scott Wedman scored 17 second-half points against San Diego. The Clippers' Lloyd Free, who entered the game with a 34.0 scoring average, was held to 15 points. Joe Bryant scored 23 points for San Diego.

Nets 120, Rockets 115

Calvin Natt scored 30 points and Mike Newlin added 27 as New Jersey snapped a six-game losing streak by beating Houston. Moses Malone had 32 points for the Rockets — 22 in the second half.

Burns, Crenshaw Win Team Golf Tourney

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — George Burns and Ben Crenshaw were coasting along with a comfortable lead until their birdie streak seemed to dry up on the back nine of Disney's Magnolia Course in the $250,000 National Team Golf Classic.

"Oh, oh," said Gentle Ben on Sunday. "I could see visions of our Friday round all over again." That's when they "skied" to a 66 and had to struggle to make up lost ground on the final two rounds.

But Burns — on the PGA Tour only four years but winner of more than $100,000 in 1979 — got the duo back on the victory trail by chipping in from the fringe with a seven-iron on the par-3 15th for their fifth birdie of theday. They added two more and that was the end of everybody else's hopes of taking the best-ball title and splitting the $45,000 first prize.

"It feels real good to win for the first time," said the tall, blue-eyed Burns, who had career earnings of more than $360,000 but no tour victories until the Disney tourney, the last PGA event of the year.

"And to do it on the course where I went through qualifying school is particularly satisfying," Burns added.

Crenshaw, winner of seven PGA tourneys and more than $700,000 in seven years, said about their three-stroke victory over the par-72, 7,197-yard Magnolia:

"When you win with somebody you're close to, you can feel real satisfaction. George works so hard and, by golly, it was his time ... three-fourths of this victory is his anyway."

Burns got four of the team's seven birdies, including what they called the decisive hole, the 15th, enroute to their final round 65. They had a total 33-under par 255 over four rounds.

Three strokes back at 258 were the teams of Peter Jacobsen-D.A. Weibring, Scott Bess-Dan Halldorson and Jeff Hewes-Sammy Rachels.

Jacobsen-Weibring and Bess-Halldorson shot 10-under 62s Sunday while Hewes-Rachels had 64.

Forrest Fezler and Larry Ziegler, first-round leaders, also had a 62 and tied with Brad Bryant and Joe Hager at 259.

Kush Supporters Take Petitions To Regents

PHOENIX (AP) — Some 500 supporters of football coach Frank Kush paraded to the state capitol Sunday with what they said were 61,000 signatures on petitions demanding his reinstatement at Arizona State University.

Cathy White, a Phoenix housewife who organized the march, said regent Rudy Campbell has promised the petitions will be officially received by the board at its next meeting Nov. 8.

She said the petitions were collected over a nine-day period and "I'm very, very confident that there's a minimum of deuplication."

Kush was ousted Oct. 13 by Fred Miller, ASU athletic director, who said Kush had attempted a cover up in a $1.1 million lawsuit filed against Kush and the school by former ASU punter Kevin Rutledge. Rutledge claimed Kush punched him after a poor kick and forced him to give up an athletic scholarship. Kush has denied all the allegations.

On Saturday, Miller said he received $18,000 and Kush $45,000 from proceeds of an appreciation banquet last November. Miller said part of the money given to Kush was intended for assistant coaches.

Miller said he was a member of a small group that included Gene Felker, executive director of the Sun Angel booster group, that planned the appreciation dinner. Miller said the banquet was not a Sun Angel Foundation function.

Miller said he heard tha one assistant coach, Larry Kentera, was given $1,000 by Kush. Kentera said, however, he didn't get any money until after he resigned in February and didn't believe it came from he banquet.

"My resignation already was in. I was through. I think it was $1,000 or $1,200. I don't even know where it came from," Kentera told the Arizona Republic.

Falcons Host Seahawks In Monday Night Tilt

ATLANTA (AP) — The record doesn't reflect it, but Coach Leeman Bennett of the Atlanta Falcons says, "I still feel like we're a better team than we were last year."

Bennett, hoping to regain the intensity that sent Atlanta to the playoffs last year for the first time in its history, returned to preseason-type practice sessions in preparations for tonight's nationally televised (ABC) battle with the Seattle Seahawks.

The Seahawks entered the first Monday night television appearance in their history as a two-point favorite in a game matching National Football League teams with 3-5 records.

Atlanta, needing a victory to remain within one game of the lead in the National Conference West race, has lost five of its last six games, including the single first-half victories recorded by the Detroit Lions and the San Francisco 49ers.

The Seahawks, meanwhile, have won two of their last three outings and turned in an impressive 34-14 victory over Houston last week in which quarterback Jim Zorn passed for 252 yards and three touchdowns, two of which went to his favorite receiver, Steve Largent, who had six catches for 135 yards.

Zorn, who sparked the Seahawks to a 30-13 victory over Atlanta in the only previous meeting between the two teams, in 1976, passed for 1,660 yards and eight touchdowns during the first half of the season.

Atlanta's Steve Bartkowski, who has had an up-and-down season, has thrown for 1,554 yards and 10 touchdowns, but he already has been sacked 17 times.

Seattle will open with Dan Doornink and Sherman Smith at the running back spots and Atlanta will counter with a pair of rookies, William Andrews of Auburn and Lynn Cain of Southern California.

This will mark Atlanta's ninth appearance on the prime-time NFL weeknight telecasts, with the Falcons shooting for their fifth victory and their third in a row.

They came to life at this same time last season when they stopped the Los Angeles Rams 15-7 on a Monday night game in which Tim Mazzetti booted five field goals shortly after leaving a Philadelphia bartending job to become the Falcons' kicking specialist.

Stock Prices Move Up In Low Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices moved up in light trading today as chanting anti-nuclear demonstrators failed to halt trading on the 50th anniversary of one of the worst days of the 1929 stock market crash.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.33 to 812.63 in the first two hours of trading. Advancing issues led decliners by a 3-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

A cheer went up on the NYSE as the opening gong signaled the start of trading. Outside, more than 600 protesters were arrested as they tried to keep brokers and other workers from entering the stock exchange building.

Oct. 29, 1929 came to be known as "Black Tuesday" as volume reached a staggering 16.41 million shares. The day before the Dow average had plunged 38.33 points to set a record that still stands.

The demonstrators had demanded the NYSE stop trading in stocks related to nuclear energy. Some of those stocks moved lower, with J. Ray McDermott, the maker of the reactor at Three Mile Island, down ¼ to 20⅝ and General Public Utilities, its owner, down ⅛ to 8.

But Combustion Engineering, another nuclear equipment maker, rose ¾ to 45. Oil issues were strong whether or not they have strong nuclear commitments. Exxon rose ¾ to 57 and Kerr-McGee rose ¼ to 56¾. Gulf rose ¾ to 32¾ and Standard of Indiana climbed ⅜ to 76¼.

The Labor Department reported that productivity of the nation's workforce rose at an annual rate of 0.1 percent in the third quarter after two quarters of steep declines.

The NYSE's index of more than 1,500 common stocks rose .27 to 57.23. Volume was 9.68 million shares in the first two hours, down from the previous session's 14.45 million.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose 2.23 to 203.02.

Union Demands U.S. Oust Shah

By The Associated Press

Iranian oil workers reportedly threatened to cut off deliveries to America unless the U.S. government extradites the former shah, and Tehran Radio said the ousted monarch's hospitalization in New York was a trick to get sanctuary.

High school students demanding political freedom in Iran's schools demonstrated in Tehran today, shutting the city's schools for the day, Tehran Radio reported.

The Oil Workers Union, representing field employees of the National Iranian Oil Co., issued their ultimatum Sunday, the Soviet news agency Tass reported from Tehran.

Tehran Radio said Saturday that Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's hospitalization at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center "under the pretext of a medical treatment is no more than a fraudulent trick."

It said the United States "wishes to place under its wing (the) arch-executioner and hangman ... The USA is undoubtedly the greatest and most irreconcilable enemy of the monotheistic revolution."

Pahlavi, who is 60, was deposed in February by forces led by the Shiite Moslem leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. The former ruler flew from Mexico to New York last week for removal of his gall bladder and treatment of cancer of the lymph system.

Doctors say the treatment for the cancer may take as long as a year, and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance says the long-time ally of the United States will be allowed to remain as long as he needs medical treatment but not for political asylum.

Khomeini's revolutionary courts have condemned Pahlavi to death in absentia and offered a round trip to the Moslem shrine at Mecca, Saudi Arabia, to anyone who assassinates him. Khomeini has been quoted as saying he hopes the cancer kills the former monarch.

The student demonstrators, who assembled at Tehran University, shouted slogans calling for political freedom in schools and abolition of school fees.

The radio report, monitored in London, said the students were mostly from the northern part of Tehran — Atar, Iran-e Farda, Adaf and Marjan — and were joined later by a group from the southern part of the city. The report said a group of people attacked the pupils with knives, wounding one of them.

After the demonstration, Tehran Radio said, Education Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai told one of its correspondents:

"I alerted the parents already on Friday, asking them not to repeat the experience to the Mossadegh period with regard to education. During that period, they used to close schools on any pretext and take to the streets. This is a threat to our Islamic revolution."

Former premier Mohammed Mossadegh was overthrown in the 1953 royalist revolt that restored Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi to power. Street demonstrations, many by students and often involving Tehran University campus, played a major part in the shah's overthrow.

Tehran Radio also said a government spokesman had announced that Iran's Health and Welfare Minister Dr. Kazem Sami has resigned.

The spokesman said Dr. Sami submitted his resignation to Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan on Oct. 17, and Khomeini was informed, according to the radio. The resignation was accepted Monday, it said.

Sami was one of three Cabinet ministers mentioned in a statement by Bazargan on Saturday, referring to reports of negligence by ministers. He said rumors of "blunders" by Sami and the commerce and agriculture ministers were false.

Tehran Radio also reported clashes over the weekend between government troops and Kurdish rebels in the town of Bowkan, in the western Kurdistan region.

The broadcast said three government troops were wounded. Rebel casualties were not known. The Kurds have been battling Iran's central government for autonomy for centuries and renewed the struggle after Khomeini's revolution gave them no more control over Kurdistan than they had under the royal regime.

Governors Seek Aid For Dying Refugees

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — After touring a muddy Thai camp crammed with 30,000 refugees from Cambodia, six American governors appealed to President Carter for 30 doctors and nurses to help them.

"For those dying at Sa Kaew, every hour counts," the governors told a news conference after their visit Sunday to the new camp set up out of range of Cambodian guns near the Thai border.

Calling conditions at the camp "appalling," the governors said they radioed Carter a plea for medical aid.

"About 50 people died the day before we arrived and several died while we were there," said the message.

"What is happening to the border people represents a moment of great suffering and shame. The situation in Cambodia is grave," Michigan Gov. William Milliken, leader of the delegation, said in a statement.

"The suffering of those fleeing Cambodia and the prospect of famine for those remaining inside Cambodia require an accelerated worldwide response to prevent further loss of life.

"As we walked among the dying, it was apparent that there is an urgent need for more medical help."

The governors also endorsed a proposal for daily truck convoys to carry food from Thailand into Cambodia to feed the millions said to be starving there. The proposal, made by three U.S. senators who visited Thailand and Cambodia last week, was rejected by Cambodia's Vietnamese-backed government because part of the food would have gone to areas controlled by the forces of ousted Premier Pol Pot.

The Vietnamese army invaded Cambodia in December, drove Pol Pot's Khmer Rouge regime from Phnom Penh in January and has since been fighting the remnants of the Khmer Rouge army. It is this fighting, which has escalated with the end of the monsoon season last month, that has sent thousands of Cambodians streaming into Thailand for refuge.

Leftist Groups Continue Violence Against Junta

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Leftist gunmen ambushed and killed a high-ranking national guard officer as bombers blasted two newspapers and the Bank of America building in this Central American nation's continuing wave of political violence.

Police said Jose Antonio Castillo, the national guard's chief of investigations, was ambushed and killed Sunday in Santa Ana, 40 miles west of San Salvador.

The People's Revolutionary Army, a leftist guerrillas group, said it was responsible for the slaying as well as for bombings Sunday night that injured three persons and caused major damage at the offices of the newspapers La Prensa Grafica and Hoy.

They were the first reported operations by the Revolutionary Army since it declared a truce and pledged to support the new civilian-military junta that seized power from President Carlos Humberto Romero in a bloodless coup on Oct. 15. There was no immediate indication why the group had broken its self-proclaimed truce.

Another leftist group, the Farabundo Marti Popular Liberation Forces, said it was responsible for a bombing early Sunday that demolished part of the facade of the Bank of America building and destroyed a nearby restaurant.

Memorial Fund Opened At Bank

A memorial fund for the children of Sarah Donn Lawrence, 30, who was found stabbed to death at her Amarillo home last week, is being established at Texas Commerce Bank in Lubbock.

Mrs. Lawrence was the daughter of Don K. Royer, manager of Nabisco, Inc., in Lubbock.

The fund will be in the name of the children — Angela Clark, 4, Danny Clark, 5, and David Clark, 9.

Mrs. Lawrence was found on her living room couch late last Friday by her husband, David Lawrence, as he returned home from work, Amarillo police said.

There had been no developments in the case this morning, police said.

Ohio State, Michigan Dominating Big Two (Ten)

By The Associated Press

The Big Ten looks like the Big Two once again — what else is new? — and Ohio State and Michigan both have No.1 on their minds.

There's just one little difference ... Ohio State has its sights set on a No.1 national ranking while Michigan is grateful for the last-second heroics of freshman wide receiver Anthony Carter, who wears uniform No.1.

While Ohio State, tied for No.4 with Arkansas in The Associated Press ratings, was mauling Michigan State 42-0, 10th-ranked Michigan needed a last-second 45-yard touchdown prayer from John Wangler to Carter to salvage a 27-21 victory over Indiana and remain tied with the Buckeyes for the Big Ten lead. They meet in Ann Arbor, Mich., on Nov. 17.

Art Schlichter threw scoring passes of 53 and 12 yards to Doug Donley and scored on runs of 3 and 6 yards as unbeaten Ohio State piled up more than 500 yards in offense for the third week in a row and handed Michigan State its first shutout in 51 games.

Coach Earle Bruce, whose eight victories in his first year at the helm have surpassed last year's seven under the ousted Woody Hayes, was asked if he thought the Buckeyes should be No.1 nationally. "I don't know about that," he replied. "We are looking right down the line at Illinois and Iowa."

And then comes Michigan, whose miracle finish sent Indiana's affable Lee Corso into a state of shock. Corso clutched smelling smalts during his post-game interview and refused to let newsmen talk to his players.

The Hoosiers had tied the score with 55 seconds left on Tim Clifford's 3-yard pass to Dave Harangody and Kevin Kellog's conversion. But Wangler then took the Wolverines 78 yards in five plays. On the last one, he hit Carter down the middle at the 15-yard line and the slender freshman stumbled and weaved his way through the secondary into the end zone.

There were plenty of other minor-miracle finishes, but none quite matched Michigan's. Eric Hipp's 45-yard field broke a tie with 2:46 to go and Charles White added a last-second 5-yard touchdown run as No.3 Southern Cal shaded stubborn California 24-14. Sixth-ranked Houston got fourth-quarter field goals of 37 and 19 yards from Kenny Hatfield, the latter with 1:12 left, and then blocked a 42-yard attempt by Arkansas' Ish Ordonez on the final play to nip the Razorbacks 13-10.

Wake Forest, ranked No.18, used three second-half touchdowns by James McDougald to erase a 38-20 deficit and turn back No. 13 Auburn 42-38. Fourteenth-ranked Notre Dame waited until only 42 seconds remained to edge South Carolina 18-17 on Rusty Lisch's 14-yard pass to Dean Masztak plus a 2-point conversion toss to Pete Holohan.

No.15 North Carolina blew a 21-10 halftime lead and needed Jeff Hayes' 47-yard field goal with 13 seconds left to salvage a 24-24 tie with East Carolina. And Mark Herrmann lifted No.16 Purdue past Northwestern 20-16 with a 17-yard pass to Mike Harris in the final period. Herrmann threw for 228 yards and became the Big Ten's career passing leader with 5,786 ... and he still has another year to go.

Crime Hikes Threaten Lifestyle Of Rural America

By LEE MITGANG
Associated Press Writer

First In A Series

Indiana farmers used to worry about kids cherry-bombing their mailboxes. Now those same kids are often high on drugs or booze, and farmers are locking their doors against thieves and vandals.

From the cornfields of Ohio to the coalfields of West Virginia to the cow country of the Southwest, an almost five-fold increase in crime in the past two decades is threatening the easygoing, secure lifestyle of rural America.

Annual FBI statistics show that since 1960, crime in rural America is increasing more rapidly than in urban areas.

In 1960, the rural crime rate was 423 incidents per 100,000 population. In 1977, the latest year for which figures are available, the rate stood nearly five times higher at 2,012 per 100,000 population. During the same period, crime in metropolitan areas rose about four times higher.

Put another way, in 1960 the odds of someone in a rural area being a crime victim were about one in 236. By 1977, the odds were one in 49.

Professor Howard Phillips of Ohio State University says the FBI figures show that rural crime is now roughly equal to urban rates reached in 1967.

"The question I have," says Phillips, "is do you have to catch up to the problems of urban centers before Washington and others will pay attention?"

Information on the nature and extent of the problem is sketchy, but researchers generally agree rural crime has certain characteristics:

—Property crime is the leading problem, especially vandalism and theft. Phillips estimates that in rural Ohio, vandalism accounts for as much as 50 percent of crime. Purdue University studies of two Indiana counties found vandalism accounted for 23 percent of crime.

In Hampshire County, W.Va., farm equipment theft is the most prevalent crime, according to researchers Thomas Bean and Layle Lawrence, and a local hunter there was recently caught shooting up a farmer's house.

This summer, someone took a four-wheel drive vehicle and ripped through cornfields on the outskirts of Toledo, Ohio.

Around the country, tractors, combines and other expensive farm machines are easy prey for thieves, because many rural Americans can't get used to the idea of locking things and removing keys.

—Rural crime is generally not as violent as urban crime, but the murder rate in rural areas is only slightly less than in cities.

Several reasons are offered for the rise in rural crime. A leading cause cited is the lack of law enforcement personnel in rural areas.

A second factor is the wealth in many country towns: there's plenty worth stealing and not much protecting it. Rural America is much more affluent these days.

New highways and new industry have helped open the way for crime in rural America. Strange cars cruise through, strangers move in.

In many towns, city people buy country homes. The distinction between country and suburb is gradually blurring.

Phillips notes that the past decade witnessed the first increase in rural population in years. Rural communities are losing their first line of defense: knowing your neighbor, knowing who belongs.

"What you have is homogeneous communities becoming more heterogeneous. People don't know each other," he says.

Life for rural teen-agers has also changed. In many states, tight money has forced small high schools to consolidate into sprawling county schools just as crowded as their city cousins.

Donnermeyer says peer pressure and lack of adult attention in these county schools often lead to drug use, drinking and sometimes crime.

Ironically, according to sociologists, rural America finds itself facing the same basic problem faced by crime-ridden city neighborhoods: the ripping of the social fabric, of knowing and caring about neighbors.

Many, including the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the National Sheriffs Association, feel the answer is to restore the strength of country neighborhoods, to make the neighbors care again.

Since 1972, the sheriffs' group has received an annual $250,000 grant from LEAA to operate a National Neighborhood Watch Program. The program, initially geared toward the suburbs, is shifting its emphasis toward rural crime.

Director Ben Gorda says the program teaches people to fight crime with common-sense precautions like locking doors and vehicles and installing anti-burglary devices.

It also encourages people to keep an eye on strange cars driving along rural roads, and note license plates if they appear suspicious.

But beyond such programs, many who have studied rural crime complain the problem has gotten meager attention from government.

"There is a myth about rural areas being relatively crime-free, and that's not true," says Donnermeyer. "I don't think the government recognizes the problem yet."

Study Reveals Why Teachers Drop Out

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Why teachers continue in their careers or quit after the first year was the focus of research toward a doctorate in home economics education at Oklahoma State University.

Rachel A. Anderson, Sulphur Springs, Texas, made a regional study of home economics teachers from Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri.

Among the reasons given for dropping out of teaching were wanting to go into another career, finding no job available, wanting to have a family, frustration, pressure, financial reasons and the amount of time required for teaching.

Boys Town Tries Plant Therapy

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Kent Titze, director of horticulture at Boys Town here, is using plant care as a therapy tool for the youthful residents.

"It provides the perfect relationship for a person who needs to feel needed, but is not capable of taking on any greater responsibility," he explains.

"As the seeds grow into plants," he adds, "the youngsters take pride in the fact that they've been depended upon for survival albeit only by plants."

As president of the Great Plains Chapter of the National Council of Therapy and Rehabilitation, Titze is also working in horticulture therapy for the blind, deaf, disabled and psychiatric patients.

TV Critic Claims Ali Not Greatest Actor

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Team up Muhammad Ali and Kris Kristofferson in Howard Fast's "Freedom Road" and the result is a four-hour drama that moves almost as slowly as the fight for civil rights.

You'd think with all those rotten, white-robed Ku Klux Klansmen riding around and erupting into violence — spurred on by the effete remnants of Southern aristocracy — there'd be more excitement on the screen.

The dramatization of the Fast novel will be shown on NBC Oct. 29 and Oct. 30, 8-10 p.m., Central time, each night.

Part of the problem lies with Ali in the leading role. As an actor, he is not the greatest. He isn't laughable — on the contrary, he lends dignity to his character — but he certainly does slow down the proceedings.

The story begins with a Union officer reading Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation to black troops in 1863. One of them is Ali as Gideon Jackson, who returns after the war to the South Carolina plantation where he was a slave.

As a natural leader, he becomes the elected delegate of his fellow former slaves to the state constitutional convention in Charleston, where he teaches himself to read and write. He returns to help former slaves and poor whites buy land that is up for grabs in a tax auction, and over the years becomes an increasingly important political figure.

Ed Herrmann, meanwhile, is organizing his fellow white aristos into positions of power, with the Klan as their private army. Herrmann, soft-spoken but with the gleaming eyes of the zealot, provides excitement to an otherwise lackluster drama.

The show moves with the stately pace usually reserved for religious epics, long on panorama and crowd shots and short of action and dialogue. "Freedom Road" is laudable in its intention, disappointing in execution.

Whatever the problems of "Freedom Road," it beats taking the train, at least as portrayed in ABC's "Disaster on the Coastliner," to be shown Oct. 28, 8-10 p.m., Central time.

The plot has a mad engineer sabotaging a railroad computer to make the northbound train from Los Angeles collide with the southbound train from San Francisco. The vice president's wife is on the southbound train. William Shatner as a charming conman is aboard the northbound train.

Raymond Burr runs this poor excuse for a railroad. E.G. Marshall heads the railroad computer room, where Secret Service agent Lloyd Bridges has been dispatched. When the computer goes haywire, Bridges want to shoot it. Marshall looks like he wants to shoot Bridges. Why didn't somebody shoot down this script?

Carter Campaign Official Plays Down Endorsement

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Jane Byrne's decision to endorse Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination is not a major setback for President Carter, says the president's Illinois campaign coordinator.

Robert Torricelli said Sunday night that in the 1976 election, Carter's greatest support in Illinois came from areas outside Chicago.

Mrs. Byrne, a long-time supporter of the Kennedy family and a protege of the late Mayor Richard Daley, said Saturday she would formally endorse Kennedy, D-Mass., on Tuesday. She is the first big-city mayor to announce her support for Kennedy.

Asked today about Mrs. Byrne's endorsement of Kennedy, Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, said: "We would certainly like to run in Illinois with the mayor's help, but we will definitely run in Illinois in any case.

"There is a great deal of strong support for the president both in Chicago and in the rest of the state and we intend to mount an aggressive campaign," Powell told reporters traveling with Carter aboard Air Force One to Providence, R.I.
