

U.S. Refuses To Return Shah For Trial In Iran

By The Associated Press
The U.S. State Department today rejected the demand of Iranian students that the ousted shah be returned to Iran to stand trial, in return for the release of hostages held in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said there were no plans to revoke the shah's visa, which allows him to remain in the U.S. for medical treatment. Carter repeated the official position that the shah's stay is temporary and that he will not be allowed to reside in the U.S. permanently.

There is no extradition treaty between the U.S. and Iran.

Anti-Western actions continued in Iran today, as demonstrators were urged on by the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. Iranian protesters seized two U.S. consulates, an American cultural center and the British Embassy in Tehran and continued to hold the U.S. Embassy and more than 50 hostages, it was reported.

Khomeini called on the student militants to act against "the great Satan, America," in order to force it to extradite the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, hospitalized in New York for cancer treatment, back to Iran for trial, Radio Tehran reported.

(In Washington, Sen. John Tower of Texas today decried the takeover of the American Embassy in Iran and blamed "weak foreign policy decisions" by the Carter Administration for the incident.

"Following an entire series of weak foreign policy decisions, it is no wonder that virtually any government feels it can thumb its nose at the U.S.," Tower said in a statement.)

The Moslem clergyman and revolutionary leader also demanded that Britain hand over former Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar. But the British Foreign Office said it believes that the exiled Bakhtiar, though he was in London in September, is now in Paris.

In a French radio interview today, Bakhtiar said he is living in France and that Khomeini is "ashamed" of asking the French for his extradition, since Khomeini himself was given political refuge there before the Iranian revolution.

Radio Tehran said the students who seized the U.S. Embassy Sunday added a new demand today — a break in relations with the United States.

The Iranian oil minister raised the possibility of cutting off Iranian oil exports to the United States — 900,000 barrels a day that amount to 5 percent of all U.S. oil.

In a Radio Tehran interview, the oil minister, Ali Akbar Moinefar, said the decision was up to Khomeini.

The British Foreign Office announced that its embassy in Tehran was seized by students today in an apparently peaceful takeover. It said some staff members were believed inside the embassy at the time, but further information was not available.

The official Tehran Radio, monitored in London, said student protesters also took over the U.S. consulates in Tabriz, in northwest Iran, and in the southern city of Shiraz. There was no word on the fate of the consular staffs.

Later, the State Department reported that students occupied and ransacked the Iran-American Society building, a cultural center in the central city of Isfahan. No injuries were reported there. Radio Tehran said other anti-American demonstrations were staged across Iran.

Tehran Radio said Khomeini's son,

Ahmad, traveled to Tehran to meet with the students occupying the U.S. embassy.

Some Iranian government officials said they hoped the younger Khomeini could obtain the release of the hostages, seized when 200 or 300 students overpowered Marine guards and took over the embassy Sunday.

But the students said they invited Khomeini's son to the embassy only to have him inspect "the great nest of U.S. espionage in Iran," and the ayatollah himself denounced efforts to have the students abandon the building.

As for the hostages, State Department spokesman Mark Johnson said this morning in Washington, "We continue to get reassurances from the students that all are well."

Another department spokesman said there may be as many as 65 American hostages, along with an unknown number of Iranian employees. Earlier reports on the number of hostages had ranged from 43 to about 100.

Radio Tehran said Sunday the students were motivated by a "message" from Khomeini. The revolutionary leader openly endorsed the embassy takeover in a speech today in Qum, his headquarters city.

"When we face plots, our young people cannot wait around... Our young people must foil these plots," Radio Tehran quoted him as saying.

Khomeini has repeatedly demanded that the shah be handed over and accused the United States of plotting against Iran.

The State Department said the Iranian government had given assurances it would do its best "to resolve the matter satisfactorily."

LCHD Seeks Data System

By DEBBI STALTER
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The Lubbock County Hospital District is facing still another problem along with its plague of financial woes — it must now find an alternate data processing system for Health Sciences Center Hospital.

Health Management Services, which currently handles the processing for the district, has announced the firm is going out of health care business, leaving hospital district officials to find another data processing system before March 15, 1980.

If that deadline is not met, the hospital could face a major interruption in its billing system.

The district's finance committee this morning decided to recommend to the LCHD board of managers that the board hire the consulting services of Ernst and Whinney, an auditing firm headquartered in Dallas, to review the selection process of the new system.

Committee chairman C. Wayne Smith said Shared Medical Services of Pennsylvania is one of the data processing firms to be considered by the district and discussion of the firm was to be on the board's agenda when it met in full session this afternoon.

Richard David, who serves on the consulting staff of the data processing area for Ernst and Whinney, said the current rate charged by HMS is reasonable and told committee members they "would be high-pressured to match that."

Committee member Dub Rushing suggested to the committee that they draw up an in-house recommendation for the system's criteria and hire the auditing firm only to consult with the district after the plan is completed.

Ernst and Whinney has also been hired to prepare the year-end audit of the hospital.

Charles Smith, director of patient accounting for the hospital, said the main priority in selecting a new system will be in finding a sound patient billing method in view of past problems the district has had with inefficient billing.

David stressed the need for the board to act immediately on their decision of a new system to allow enough time for conversion and thus keep the billing department running smoothly.

David said he does not expect the billing to be interrupted if the selection process is carried out immediately.

David quoted his fee last year for consulting in similar business matters at $36 an hour. However, that rate has gone up to $38 or $40 since the beginning of the new fiscal year.

During the board's meeting this afternoon, board members were to hear a report from the nominating committee in charge of selecting a new board chairman following the resignation of Jack Strong.

Strong resigned last week after the board's decision not to sign a two-year contract with Brookwood Management Services, saying he did not want to participate in another major reorganization of the hospital's management.

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge today refused to halt Tuesday's sale of 660,000 acres of offshore oil leases in the Georges Bank area, despite appeals by two states and an environmental group.

U.S. District Judge John J. McNaught denied the plaintiffs' contention that there are not adequate safeguards against oil spills that could devastate the fishing and tourism industries of the New England coastal areas.

"I have reviewed the entire proceedings to date and have concluded the plaintiffs have not shown a reasonable prospect of succeeding on the merits in establishing their contention that the secretary or secretaries have failed to follow the steps required by Congress" to safeguard the rich fishing grounds, said McNaught in a memorandum accompanying his decision.

McNaught ended three days of hearings into the lease sales after attorneys representing three states, oil companies and an environmental group debated the dangers of offshore oil exploration against the need for new energy sources. One opponent of the lease sale, John Bell, president of the city council in Gloucester, a fishing industry center, refused to say whether the plaintiffs would fight the court decision.

"We're disappointed. At this time, we're not sure there will be an appeal," he said, adding "It could in fact have a devastating effect... Fishing is the toughest occupation in the world... This (drilling and its possible effects) is too much to ask of any profession."

The suit was brought by the states of Maine and Massachusetts and the Conservation Law Foundation of New England, which claim the federal government has not shown the 20,000-square-mile fishing ground is safe from the threat of oil spills.

Douglas Foy, attorney for the foundation, closed Friday's arguments, repeating earlier warnings that the sale of 116 underwater tracts would mean an "irreversible commitment" to offshore oil exploration in the fish spawning grounds.

"But attorneys for the U.S. Department of Interior said the sale should go through because Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus had complied with the law by making a thorough review of the risks and rewards involved in drilling for oil 100 miles off the New England coast.

The federal government was joined by a coalition of oil companies and the state of Rhode Island, who all favor offshore oil exploration.

New Blasts Rip Tanker; Rescuers Recover Body

GALVESTON (AP) — Rescue ships found another body floating in the water this morning about four hours after a series of three explosions roared through a crippled tanker in the Gulf of Mexico, causing a large fire.

The explosions rocked the burning tanker Burmah Agate, which collided with the freighter Mimosa last week near the entrance to the Galveston Ship Channel.

The body found this morning raised the number of confirmed dead to 11, including one spotted in a stateroom aboard the Mimosa. A medical examiner's ruling was pending on that body.

Still missing and presumed dead are 21 crewmen from the Burmah Agate.

The new explosions might have disrupted plans by a Dutch firefighting team to douse the fire aboard the tanker.

"It certainly means that there was more damage done... we don't have a good idea of the extent of that damage," said Coast Guard Chief Richard Griggs. "There was a very large fire that resulted. It died down and the last report we have is that the fire is again localized to the damaged section at the center of the vessel."

Since the collision, the tanker has burned steadily. The Burmah Agate was carrying 400,000 barrels of crude oil, and some of that oil has seeped into the Gulf since the collision.

Oil from the burning tanker was carried ashore along the Texas coast today about 50 miles south of where the vessel is burning, a government scientist said.

A containment barrier has been placed in the water by a Gulf Coast strike team to skim the oil off the surface water, and buoys have been dropped to monitor the direction of the Gulf currents, Griggs said.

Griggs said two commercial fireboats were spraying water on the tanker at the time of the first explosion, but there were no reports of injuries. He said the three explosions occurred during a 40-minute span, starting around 2 a.m. CST.

Griggs said a Dutch firefighting team arrived in Galveston Saturday and had planned to spray foam on the burning tanker today.

South Korean Party Leader Calls For Reforms

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The leader of South Korea's major opposition party called today for sweeping democratic reforms, immediate release of all political prisoners and free elections to choose a successor to assassinated President Park Chung-hee.

Kim Young-sam, head of the New Democratic Party, warned at a news conference that "there may be some disorder and instability" if free presidential elections are not held.

Acting President Choi Kyu-hah and other key civilian and military officials now making most of the decisions in the government have not said how Park's successor should be named. But informed sources said Park's Democratic Republican Party wants the election in accordance with the constitution Park wrote in 1972 to perpetuate himself in office, by an electoral college packed with his supporters. Earlier today, the government party convened the National Assembly to reject the resignations of 69 opposition members. All 66 assemblymen from the New Democratic Party and three splinter Democratic Unification Party members quit en masse Oct. 13 to protest Kim's expulsion from the body for criticizing Park. Kim said he and his colleagues had not decided whether they would return to the Assembly when it meets Nov. 15. However, some members of the party said there was no need to stay out longer since Park was assassinated Oct. 26 by the head of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency.

Leaders of the opposition party, which topped Park's party in the popular vote in the 1978 election, met today to formulate a platform. Afterward Kim told a news conference: "The first step toward reform should be the lifting of Emergency Decree No. 9 (outlawing criticism of the government, the constitution and the president) and the release of political prisoners." Kim said.

The next step, he continued, should be amendment of the constitution to provide for a popular election, then scheduling of elections. Kim also said the constitutional requirement that a new president be named within 90 days need not be heeded so long as the president is elected by the people.

The Democratic Unification Party, meanwhile, called on the acting president to release former President Yun Po-sun and former presidential candidate Kim Dae-jung. Both were under house arrest for opposition to Park and for advocating democratic government.

Kim also praised the military leaders for helping keep the country stable after Park's killing but said they should not be involved in political matters.

Gen. John Wickham, commander of U.S. forces in Korea, predicted today during an interview that South Korean military leaders will support the constitution and the civilian government.

Wickham toured the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea, apparently as a warning to North Korea. He said there had been some North Korean military activity north of the DMZ since the assassination.

U.N. Diplomats To Pledge Cambodian Aid

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Diplomats meet here today to pledge food supplies for millions of starving Cambodians, and hours before the talks begin the Phnom Penh government announced it was opening the Mekong River to Western food shipments to its hungry people.

The United States and 31 other nations are studying a report issued by the U.N. Children's Fund and the International Committee of the Red Cross asking for $111 million to supply 165,000 tons of food over a six-month period.

The report said 2.5 million Cambodians in "extreme need" include 700,000 children and sick people. It said 80 to 90 percent of the children were severely undernourished, that malaria, dysentery, and respiratory diseases were epidemic, and that only about 50 doctors were available to care for some fourmillion persons.

It said about 300 tons of food, medicines, surgical supplies, shelter materials and other things had been airlifted to Cambodia since the end of July in one flight daily from Bangkok.

"An immediate need is seen for large-scale transport," the report said. It did not mention the fact the Vietnamese-backed Cambodian government of Premier Pol Pot which the Vietnamese invasion last winter drove into western Cambodia. In a statement broadcast today by the Vietnam News Agency, the Heng Samrin government said "the People's Republic of Cambodia is from now on ready to receive whatever quantity of humanitarian aid" and "without political conditions."

The Cambodian statement again rejected the U.S. proposal for truck convoys.

Vietnamese Forces Rout 10,000 Pol Pot Troops

ARANYAPRATHET, Thailand (UPI) — Khmer Rouge guerrillas were routed today from one of their last remaining mountain strongholds in western Cambodia by Vietnamese forces and are streaming south, border observers report.

An estimated 10,000 troops and their families still loyal to deposed communist leader Pol Pot headed south toward jungle-covered safety in the Cardamon Mountains in southwestern Cambodia.

Meanwhile, rice supplied by the International Red Cross was delivered to the border in the same area Sunday and distributed to unarmed Khmer Rouge who carted it back into Cambodia, well-placed sources said.

The Vietnamese-backed Heng Samrin regime in Phnom Penh recently rejected a U.S. proposal for a massive, overland relief program on the grounds that aid would fall into Khmer Rouge hands — a charge also made by the Vietnamese.

In Bangkok today, Cambodian officials said 2.5 million of its people will not starve because of the current flow of relief supplies and the opening of the Mekong River to foreign assistance convoys.

The large-scale exodus from Phnom Malai, a steep limestone outcropping about 30 miles south of the eastern Thai border town of Aranyaprathet, did not appear to be a wholesale evacuation, but could be the prelude to such a move.

The Khmer Rouge have been confined to the mountain's western slope, hemmed between Vietnamese forces on the eastern side and the Thai border about one mile to the west.

DR. LAMB

Liver Damage

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About a month ago I had a complete physical, the first one I've ever had and I'm 72 years of age. When the results came back, the doctor asked me if I drank, as alcohol showed up in my liver. I never, never, never touch that poison. I never have nor will I ever. His question really hurt me and I was so mad that I could hardly see straight. Now they want me to go through another test of the same kind. Please tell me how it would be possible for alcohol to show in the liver when I never drank or smoke. I'm still hurt and confused over what he said.

DEAR READER — Perhaps you misunderstood your doctor. You probably had some blood tests that related to the function of your liver. These tests may have been abnormal. One of the common causes of damage to the liver is alcohol. But certainly the liver can be damaged from many other things, including old infections or reactions to gallbladder disease and even as a complication to long-standing heart failure.

It would be natural for your doctor to ask you about alcohol if your tests suggested that you have liver damage. He would need to know that fact and wouldn't know without asking you.

Since you've never used alcohol, it's clear that if you do have any abnormality in the function of your liver, it's in no way related to alcohol.

These tests are very tricky and sometimes you can have abnormal tests and still have a normal liver. That's why he wants to repeat the tests.

To give you more information about the liver, I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-8, Living With Your Liver. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

To illustrate the problem, about 60 percent of all the deaths from cirrhosis of the liver are associated with an excess use of alcohol. It follows that 40 percent are not. Let the doctor repeat your tests and be satisfied in your own personal knowledge that if there should be anything wrong with your liver, it's not because of alcohol.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been told that I have a water sac or a hydrocele around my testicles. They both are large but when I stand up or walk or have a bowel movement, my scrotum gets so filled up that it's as hard as a rock. Could you tell me what causes that? Will this swelling ever go away?

DEAR READER — That swelling is caused by the accumulation of fluid in the water sac that you just told me you had. This is a membrane, somewhat like plastic wrap, that surrounds the testicle itself and fills with water. When you stand up, since water tends to run downhill, these fill up more. Whenever there's any increased pressure in the abdomen, it will cause them to fill.

A hydrocele can be drained but the fluid usually comes back. The usual method for a permanent cure is surgical removal of the sac and correcting the mechanical defect which allows the fluid to drain out of the abdominal cavity into the scrotal area.

Infant Makes First Trip Home

SAN DIEGO (AP) — At birth, Mignon Faulkner weighed just 17 ounces — little more than a loaf of bread. Now the tiny baby, believed to be the most prematurely born baby to survive, is a year old and going home for the first time.

Friends, relatives and hospital staff members jammed a lounge at Children's Hospital and Health Center here Sunday for a combination goodbye-welcome home-birthday party thrown by Mignon's parents.

Mignon, pronounced Megan, was born more than four months premature last Nov. 7. Doctors estimate she was in her 23rd week of gestation — just entering the second half of fetal development. Her birth wasn't announced until January, when doctors felt she had a 50-50 chance of survival.

In the past year, the youngest of Curtis and Myrna Faulkner's four daughters has grown from less than 10 inches long to about 22 inches and her weight has climbed to 10 pounds, 9 ounces.

"It was a long wait for us," Mrs. Faulkner said, "full of trials and happiness. But we always knew there would be a light at the end of the tunnel."

She smiled down at the daughter who was happily smearing pink icing into her dark curls.

"This is the light," Mrs. Faulkner said. "We've spent a lot of time with Mimi here at the hospital," she added, "and now we just want to take her home and get her into a normal family setting, without all the noise of the machines and monitors."

The life-sustaining apparatus and round-the-clock medical care has pulled Mignon through two kidney failures, open heart surgery, regular blood transfusions, chronic lung disease and a perforated intestine.

Under the heat lamps in the intensive care unit, Mignon also developed scalded skin syndrome, a bacterial staph infection that caused lesions to erupt over her body and resulted in the temporary loss of all her skin and hair.

Humorist's Birthday Honored By Admirers

CLAREMORE, Okla. (AP) — An estimated 25,000 people — military and movie heroes and those who admired him as one of their own — gathered here to honor the late Will Rogers on the famous humorist's 100th birthday.

Sunday was "National Will Rogers Day," as proclaimed by President Carter, and an exuberant two-hour parade topped a four-day celebration in this eastern Oklahoma town that Rogers called home.

Actually, Rogers was born 12 miles east, at Oologah, but he always claimed Claremore as his birthplace "because nobody can pronounce Oologah."

Postmaster General William F. Bolger was on hand to present a first issue of the Will Rogers memorial stamp to Rogers' son, Will Jr.

"He was a smile on America's lips, helping Americans to laugh at themselves, diffusing the fear, the hostility and the pain of the Depression years," Bolger observed.

Rogers came out of Claremore at the turn of the century and parlayed a few rope tricks and a few jokes into an internationally famous entertainment career that spanned wild west shows, vaudeville, Broadway, radio and films.

Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, the aviation pioneer and war hero, reminisced about his barnstorming days with Rogers.

Film actress Fifi D'Orsay, Rogers' co-star in his first talking movie, "Cluster of Fans" (1929), held a cluster of fans spellbound with her show business memories.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

'Yes' On 1 & 3, 'No' On 2

TWO OUT OF THREE proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution are worthy of support by Lubbock area voters Tuesday.

The Avalanche-Journal recommends a vote "for" an amendment authorizing the state to guarantee loans to persons of moderate means who want to buy a farm or ranch. We also support a minor amendment dealing with notaries public.

A vote "against" an amendment that would give committees of the Legislature power to suspend or block rules written by state executive agencies is recommended.

THERE IS WIDESPREAD support for Proposition 3, which would set up a $10 million loan guarantee fund designed to help the small farmer and rancher.

Persons with a net worth of up to $100,000 and who could demonstrate training or ability in agriculture as their primary occupation would qualify for the loan guarantees.

Land prices and inflation are such, sponsors say, that a young farmer of modest means has great difficulty in buying land and staying on as a family farmer. The borrower would pay interest, so this is no welfare or give-away program.

A similar program has worked successfully, with no defaults, in Minnesota, sponsors say. With 2,500 families leaving the farm in Texas each year, they believe this amendment is of great importance.

PROPOSITION 2 is a different matter. At first blush, it appears to be a solution to the problem of curbing the power of state bureaucracies which write rules and regulations that have the force and effect of law.

The flaw in the approach, though, is that the amendment merely would create another level of state bureaucracy—this one made up of a committee of legislators—in which state business could get hopelessly bogged down between biennial sessions of the Legislature.

GOV. BILL CLEMENTS and the Texas League of Women Voters are among the outspoken opponents of this proposal. If approved, it would give interim committees of legislators oversight over executive agencies to a point constituting a violation of the principle of separation of powers.

A better way needs to be found to provide for legislative review of state agency rules.

Proposition 1 merely authorizes four-year terms for notaries, provides that they be licensed directly by the Secretary of State rather than through county clerks and gives them statewide authority by removing a restriction that they live in the county where they are licensed.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Holes To Humps

"CHAPPAQUIDDICK will not be an issue in my campaign," Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said in announcing for President.

He thus became the 12th candidate, including Sen. Ted Kennedy, to raise Chappaquiddick as a non-issue.

Headline: "Wholesale Prices Up Again." Nowadays, when a guy tells you "I can get it for you wholesale," he's doing you no big favor.

Texas Baptists, concluding their state convention in Lubbock, blasted liquor advertising during sports events, protested TV programming and called on Baylor University trustees "to fulfill their responsibilities...in line with historic Baptist beliefs" relative to a faculty member's book portraying Adam and Eve as symbolic rather than historically accurate real people.

The resolutions, you might say, dealt with wine, women and so wrong.

IT SHOULD BE no trouble at all for the Texas Municipal League to get legislation passed permitting cities to raise their 1-cent sales tax to 3 cents.

The argument will be that "if the voters approve a tax increase, who can complain about that?"

Well, I can, for one. If a city needs more revenue, let it raise the property tax rate or valuations. People will scream and holler about that, which is the whole point. A tax increase ought to hurt, so that it'll be done only if absolutely necessary. Elected officials and bureaucrats like the sales tax because it's so painless that revenues can skyrocket and the taxpayers blame it all on high prices instead of on taxes.

I might change my mind, but it'll take some powerful arguments to convince me that the federal, state, city, county or school governments need a new or increased sales tax, which all want.

The City is finally removing a stoplight that for years has unnecessarily delayed A-J staffers leaving the employ parking lot.

"I feel like I'm losing a trusted counselor," says the Office Cutie. "That traffic signal has said 'stop' to more passes than I'll ever get."

An unscientific survey showed that 69 percent of the consumers who were questioned favor more government regulation to protect consumers.

The government ought to pass a regulation protecting consumers from unscientific surveys.

THE U.S. DEPARTMENT of Labor, which last year gave Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Union $348,000 to provide English language training for 95 students, is still up to its old tricks.

According to Human Events, CETA funds also have been granted by DOL to provide a staff assistant for Margo St. James, the ex-prostitute who founded COYOTE (Call Off Your Old Tired Ethics).

A comprehensive investigation into possible misuse of CETA funds in Texas is long overdue. My guess is that, as elsewhere, our tax dollars are going into questionable CETA pockets in this state.

Note from M.O. Marshall: "The City of Lubbock has finally filled in most of the pot HOLES in the streets of Lubbock, but they left behind the pot LIDS. Now we motorists are in for a rougher ride than before."

Well, sir, it just goes to show that you really have to hump it to stay up with City Hall.

Headline: "Prosecution Rests In Murder Trial."

My Neighbor Twice Removed says that's one reason crime is so rampant in this country.

A SHORT 20 years ago, Mamie was the First Lady of the land and Ike was closing out as President a distinguished military career.

When she was buried Saturday, Mrs. Eisenhower joined others who were at pinnacles of power and prestige in 1959 and later: Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson, Rayburn, Dirksen, Humphrey, Rockefeller, King, Khrushchev, de Gaulle, Nasser, Mao...

Looking back, life and time seem so brief and compressed that it's difficult to comprehend why we worry so much about its problems rather than breathe in the full measure of its goodness.

Nukes Illuminate Neo-Dark Ages

WASHINGTON—"When does the big demolition of American homes and the move of the population into nuclear plant sites begin?" asked the Returning Traveler who'd been away for a while.

"Anybody can see that's the only logical solution."

At least it's a novel idea, the Returning Traveler was told. There hasn't been a forced migration of peoples in America since the Indians were uprooted and sent to their reservations.

Why in the world would you expect homeowners to trek into nuclear power plant sites?

"Logic," repeated the Traveler. "The annual rate of fatal home-accidents is in the tens of thousands, while the rate of death from nuclear electrical plants is zilch."

It had to be admitted, the Traveler was told, that illogic and hysteria have characterized the anti-nuclear protestors.

It may not be coincidental that these mindless masses are often made up of the same Lunatic Leftists who rioted against the Vietnam War. We can see today what's happened to Far East civilization because of the Hanoi victory.

"WHAT WE'RE SEEING," declared the Traveler "is the closing down of a new era of the Dark Ages."

"Without nuclear fuel to make up for non-replenishable oil and to complement the supply of other energy sources, the great American industrial society will die, and it's very plain where the guilt lies."

The Traveler wasn't just whistling the Star Spangled Banner. Those kooks have a lot to answer for. But it's disturbing to read news stories out of Russia where there seem to have been some serious nuclear disasters.

This situation has been known for some time, but in the Soviet Union, where airplane crashes are never reported, we are now finding published interviews and articles by Russian specialists who view with alarm their nuclear industry.

"And so they should," the Traveler retorted. "It's quite possible that Siberia will be polluted, and the Ural Mountains blown up, but we ought to be thankful that, until the Lunatic Leftists prevail, it can't happen here. But there are other ominous signs that the Dark Ages are closing in."

The Traveler must have in mind Castro's defiant visit to New York and his harangue to the United Nations.

Castro's performance has to be called a major putdown for America. It ranks with the U.S. evacuation of Saigon from the roof of our embassy there.

It was almost as if the invader's foot had reached our shore for the first time since the War of 1812.

"The Dark Ages are closing in," the Traveler repeated, "and the coming Presidential election of 1980 ought to show us a rift in the clouds, but it's hard to perceive it.

There was hope that the insane infatuation for the Kennedy name might help us unseat Jimmy Carter. But Ted isn't Jack. He isn't even Bobby.

"If the Republican party fails to give us a leadership-President, we may have to look to the old Roman arena for a 1980 slogan—"We who are about to die, salute you!"

Cries Of Abused Wives Unheard, Unreported

WASHINGTON—Beatings. Kickings. Extreme abuse.

At least 1.8 million women are known to suffer from wife-beating in the U.S. each year—a statistic stunning in itself but representing only the "reported" physical attacks and thus merely the tip of the iceberg.

And this total, appalling though it is, hides the fact that in one-third of these reported incidents, the battered women are attacked an amazing five or more times a year, according to research funded by the National Institute of Health.

Even more mind-boggling, law officials estimate that the reported cases account for only 10 percent of the total number of beating incidents. That suggests that the wife-beatings in this nation are running into the many millions annually!

IT IS NOT in my sphere as a reporter to analyze to what extent such abuse destroys the human spirit. But it is within my sphere to emphasize that the loss to our economy from this horror reaches staggering proportions.

* Abuse-related absenteeism results in an estimated economic loss to the nation of a minimum of $3 billion-$5 billion annually!

* Medical bills easily can add another $100 million or more to these totals.

* And a corollary to these shocking figures on battered women is that the acts of violence frequently are coupled with beatings of children by husbands and boyfriends.

Domestic violence has soared to epidemic proportions, including abuse between spouses, child abuse and abuse by children of their parents.

WITH THE EXCEPTION of an occasional dramatic headline, we, the American public, have been mostly unaware of abuse of the American woman in all economic groups.

But now, the Manhattan-based AWAIC—Abused Women's Aid in Crisis, Inc., a non-profit organization founded in 1975 by Maria Roy, then consulting social worker for the Cardinal Spellman Headstart Center in New York—is spearheading efforts to help the battered woman.

The AWAIC handles 4,000 hot line calls of distress each year in New York alone, reports its executive director, Dr. Doris Moss, and is involved in several projects which will serve as model guideline programs involving millions of Americans the nation over. For instance, its work in New York includes:

WORKING WITH MALE batterers who are coming to AWAIC for counseling on how to stop victimizing their mates and children.

Helping children who witness battering in their homes through an art therapy program.

Providing counseling in prisons to inmates who are batterers and who want help in curbing their aggression before returning to society.

Working with the families of alcoholics. (Many alcoholics are batterers.)

Wife abuse is not a category in which reporting is widely required and in which statistics are gathered by the police.

ON THE SPOT

John D. Lofton:

It's 1984 Now In State Dept.

WASHINGTON—On March 9, 1978, when Anastasio Somoza was still in charge in Nicaragua, Terence Todman, the U.S. assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, testified before the House subcommittee on international development concerning the purpose and effectiveness of U.S. economic and security assistance to Nicaragua. He said:

"Since the 1972 earthquake, 28 major audits, two separate congressional staff surveys and a GAO report on reconstruction activities have been completed. We are pleased to note that no diversion or misuse of official U.S. assistance has been revealed."

On June 26, 1979, a time when the U.S. was seeking to facilitate the overthrow of the Somoza government, Viron Vaky, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, testified before the House subcommittee on inter-American affairs concerning the crisis in Nicaragua and what the U.S. was doing about it.

CALLING THE FAILURE of trust between the people of Nicaragua and their president (Somoza) "fundamental" and "irreversible," Vaky declared:

"Although some antagonisms go back 40 years and more, the current breakdown began in 1972, when an earthquake virtually destroyed Managua. International relief efforts were exploited for personal gain. Corruption became so pervasive that it strangled freedom of initiative."

Now, the more perspicacious may perceive a contradiction between these two official statements. Did President Somoza and his regime rip off U.S. earthquake aid or didn't they?

When I put this question to a State Department spokesman at the daily press feeding, he took my query and said an answer would be forthcoming. A week or so later, the following was posted on the bulletin board in the department's press office:

"Asst. Sec. Todman was speaking about the results of a specific GAO investigation and other audits held with regard to specific U.S. relief funds. None of these investigations or audits revealed diversion or misuse of U.S. funds."

"AMBASSADOR VAKY WAS referring to the general climate of the post-earthquake period.

"The perception was that the regime utilized the situation and its power to benefit itself and supporters through control of business, taking advantage of inside knowledge of opportunities, contracts and the like."

In "1984," George Orwell's political novel satirizing totalitarian barbarism, protagonist Winston is an employe in the Ministry of Truth's Records Department, where it is his job to "rectify" certain articles or news items.

Example: One such item reads "times 17.3.84 bb speech malreported africa rectify" (c.q.).

This means that it appears from the Times of March 17 that Big Brother, in his speech of the previous day, had predicted that the South Indian front would remain quiet but that a Eurasian offensive would shortly be launched in N. Africa.

AS IT HAPPENED, the Eurasian higher command had launched its offensive in South India and left North Africa alone. It was therefore necessary to rewrite a paragraph of Big Brother's speech in such a way as to make him predict the thing that had actually happened.

Describing this "substitution of one piece of nonsense for another," Orwell writes:

"This process of continuous alteration was applied to every kind of literature which might conceivably hold any significance. Day by day the past was brought up to date. In this way every prediction made by the Party could be shown by documentary evidence to have been correct."

"ALL HISTORY WAS...scraped clean and reinscribed exactly as often as was necessary."

Pondering the State Department's non-answer, I walked outside the department to my car. It was a bright cool day in October, and the clocks were striking 13.

I thought about the three slogans on the white face of the Ministry of Truth: War is Peace, Freedom is Slavery, Ignorance is Strength. And it was only 1979.

WAR GAMES IN MARIN — The Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force and Coast Guard participated in what was billed as the largest U.S. Reserve exercise ever conducted over the weekend with 3,000 men and women doing mythical battle in the Marin hills just north of the Golden Gate bridge. NRC To Stop Licensing Of New Nuclear Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission told Congress today that no new nuclear plants will be licensed until safety issues are resolved and that they may even consider closing some existing plants.

NRC Chairman Joseph Hendrie said older nuclear plants, especially those built close to population centers, may have to be shut down because evacuation in case of a major accident could be impractical.

Sources said the NRC also wants to develop new standards for emergency plans at nuclear power plants — possibly requiring evacuation plans for those living within a 10-mile radius of such sites.

Several sources said the NRC also felt time was needed to thoroughly examine safety recommendations released last week by the presidential commission that studied the Three Mile Island accident.

Three Mile Island investigation by Washington lawyer Michael Rogovin, expected at the end of the year. The agency sponsored that probe.

The extended licensing freeze may help soothe several members of Congress who had hoped some kind of moratorium would be recommended by the presidential panel.

The presidential commission made numerous recommendations, but stopped short of proposing an industry-wide moratorium on construction of new power plants.

"I think it's a possibility," he told the House Commerce Energy and Power Subcommittee in response to a question by Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn.

Moffett cited the Indian Point plant north of New York City and the Zion plant near Chicago as ones that should be closed.

Hendrie was noncommittal on which specific plants might be considered, saying "we're not at that point yet."

NRC Commissioner John F. Ahearn said that, short of being closed down, some older plants might be ordered to operate at vastly reduced generating levels to provide an extra margin of safety.

Meanwhile, the commissioners said, they will extend at least through next spring their moratorium on licensing plants beyond the 70 now in operation.

This will directly affect four plants on which construction is complete and which were scheduled to open by the end of the year. And, to varying degrees, the freeze also will affect another 88 plants now under construction, the commissioners testified.

Hendrie said it will take time to digest and implement recommendations made last week by the presidential commission that investigated the Three Mile Island accident.

The NRC imposed the freeze on licensing after the March 28 accident near Harrisburg, Pa.

Sources said the decision to extend the freeze was made on Friday at a closed-door commission meeting.

The commissioners decided the agency needs to focus on safety matters at the existing U.S. nuclear plants, rather than processing licenses for new ones, the sources said.

The extended freeze means licensing could be held up for at least four and possibly seven of the 92 nuclear power plants now under construction.

The NRC's director of reactor regulations, Harold Denton, had recommended a "pause" in licensing, saying it would give his office time to make sure existing plants were complying with rule changes made since the Three Mile Is-

James Earl Ray Attempts Escape

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray, imprisoned in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., tried unsuccessfully to escape from Brushy Mountain Prison early today, prison officials said.

Ray, serving 99 years for the 1968 assassination plus a year for an escape in 1977, was recaptured inside the prison grounds but outside the fortress-like building in the rugged East Tennessee mountains.

Prison Sgt. Ray Tucker said inmate Donald Eugene Wolvorton accompanied Ray in the attempt but was also recaptured. Tucker said a guard fired a warning shot but that no one was hit.

Ray, who pleaded guilty to the killing but has since declared his innocence, escaped with several other inmates from the prison in June 1977 but was recaptured after a few days.

King, a black civil rights leader was gunned down in Memphis, Tenn.

According to Tucker, Ray and Wolvorton began their freedom bid at about 1:06 a.m. EST by sawing through a vent in the back of their cell into an open space called a pipe chase. They cut through a set of bars that leads to an exhaust fan, wired the bars back together, removed an access plate in the fan, moved through and replaced the plate.

They reached a small room on the top of the building, cut two bolts from a lock hasp and attempted to open the door. Then they pushed a hacksaw blade between the door and the jamb and sawed through, reaching the roof.

Climbing down a pipe they reached the ground between the officers' dining room and cellblock B.

There, an officer spotted Ray crawling on the ground and recaptured him.

Wolvorton hid behind an air-conditioning unit but also was recaptured.

Both prisoners were confined in a disciplinary cellblock, officials said.

Tucker did not say how Ray and Wolvorton obtained the saw.

11 Percent Food Price Increase Predicted By Ag Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today forecast increases of up to 11 percent in food prices next year, coupled with a sharp decline in farmers' incomes.

If food prices rose that much for the second straight year, consumers in 1980 would be paying more than twice what they paid for groceries and restaurant meals a decade before.

Net farm income was forecast to fall by "perhaps a fifth" after two years of strong increases.

A projected 11 percent hike in overall production costs is responsible for the gloomy outlook for farmers, whose financial condition "has shown record improvement this year," the department's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service said.

The details of the first official food-price estimates for the new year were being held until Tuesday's sessions of the department's annual outlook conference.

But a summary of the prospects for agriculture said, "Retail food prices in 1980 should rise 7 to 11 percent."

"Most of the rises will be caused by increases of about 10 percent for labor and packaging and continued sharp increases for energy used in processing and marketing," it said. "Transportation costs also will be significantly higher."

At the outlook conference a year ago, the department predicted an average increase of 6 to 10 percent in food prices this year, compared with 1978 averages. J.B. Penn, deputy administrator of the economics service, thought a hike of 7.5 percent was "most likely," depending on over-all inflation.

Over-all inflation has been greater than the 8 percent forecast then. As a result, food prices are averaging about 11 percent higher than in 1978 — the highest year-to-year jump since the 14.5 percent increases of both 1973 and 1974.

Net farm income this year now is expected to reach $30 billion to $32 billion, compared to $28 billion last year, with off-farm income to producers up about $2 billion to $36 billion, today's report said.

A year ago, the forecasters predicted a repeat of 1978.

The University Center Programs LEARN Committee, now setting up the spring semester of the LEARN program at Texas Tech, is looking for qualified people to teach courses.

LEARN (an acronym for Leisure Education: A Recreational Need) provides a wide variety of non-academic courses open to the Lubbock community as well as Tech students.

Anyone with knowledge, skills or experience in almost any area is welcomed by the UC committee to share by teaching a LEARN course. Previous teaching experience is not necessary, but instructors must have a sufficient background in their areas.

Instructors may charge a maximum of $3 per hour of instruction per registered student in addition to material costs. Classrooms will be provided in the University Center upon request.

Those interested in teaching a class should call the University Activities Office at 742-3621. The deadline for arranging classes for the spring semester is Dec. 7.

AUSTIN — Steve Lee Stamp, convicted of burglary in Lamb County Sept. 13, 1977, has been paroled by Gov. Bill Clements on recommendation of the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Stamp was paroled to Lamb County after serving and earning two years and 11 months of a four-year sentence.

John Brown, convicted of theft in Swisher County in 1977, had his parole revoked for unsatisfactory adjustment. Brown had been on parole since July 17, 1978.

Judge Thomas L. Clinton.

Gordon is the last of three men to be tried for the Christmas Eve 1977 beating and shooting death of William Drew Young III. Young's body was found the next day in the trunk of a burning car eight-tenths of a mile south of FM 1585 on Avenue P.

In February, Kenneth Herndon, a truck driver and former truck salesman, was convicted of the murder and assessed a life prison term. It was the 36-year-old Herndon's second trial on the charge because a September 1978 Lubbock jury was unable to reach a verdict.

The third man accused of killing Young, 31-year-old Kenneth Owen Jayson, was convicted by a Lubbock jury in February of participating in the slaying and received a 25-year prison sentence.

Three other Lubbockites also were charged with Young's death, including Homer and Tico Lowrance, who owned the 19th Street club where Young worked and was fatally shot two years ago, but they were granted immunity from prosecution in return for testimony.

Clinton, who presided over the previous trials in connection with Young's death, is in Kerville to act as trial judge in Gordon's case. He granted the change of venue because of the amount of publicity here that surrounded the slaying and subsequent trials.

First Assistant Criminal District Attorney Jim B. Darnell is the prosecutor in the case and Gordon is represented by Lubbock attorney Gerald Anderson.

Economy Faring Better Than Analysts Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever happened to the 1979 recession?

Well, it didn't happen in 1979, at least not yet. Evidence continues to accumulate that the economy is turning up, not down, as the year draws to a close.

The index of economic indicators that came out last week was up by 0.8 percent, the biggest advance in 14 months. Factory orders for September, also reported last week, rose 3.9 percent, the most in a year.

The growth in the economy has frustrated efforts to curb inflation. Wholesale prices increased another 1 percent in October, the government said Thursday.

Unemployment rose slightly last month, to 6 percent, but was still lower than anyone would have predicted a few months ago. And employment increased by 305,000, a business survey showed.

The economy, in fact, is looking downright robust.

"It's the case of the missing recession. It's out there somewhere, but nobody can find it," says Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

"The economy is simply not behaving in response to economic weakness as it used to," Lyle E. Gramley, a council member, said in an interview Friday.

Gramley said one reason for continued growth is that consumers are spending much more in relation to their income than they used to, the result of "being motivated by inflationary expectations."

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, who declared in September that the nation was in a recession, and that it was half over, says the economy is giving off "false signals." But he has retracted his half-over statement.

Miller wasn't the only one who was fooled. A sizable 2.4 percent increase in the nation's gross national product in the third quarter caught nearly everyone off guard, including most private forecasters.

George Perry, an economist at the Brookings Institution who also thought a recession was under way, said the most surprising economic statistics were the September home-building figures, which showed housing starts at an annual rate of 1.9 million during the month.

"Everybody underestimated housing and how strong it would be even with the high interest rates of summer," he said in an interview. He said "one had to wonder" whether interest rates were high enough.

It is generally accepted that the nation's GNP, the value of total output of goods and services in the economy, including housing, must decline for at least two consecutive quarters for a recession to occur.

The GNP had declined at a 2.3 percent rate in the second quarter, and just about everyone else had taken it as a foregone conclusion that the third quarter GNP would decline as well.

The National Bureau of Economic Research, which makes the official determination of a recession, said after a meeting on Oct. 25 that the "recent strength of the economy" makes any such assessment premature. It scheduled another meeting in December.

Most forecasters still expect a recession to occur, especially in the wake of the new measures announced by the Federal Reserve Board on Oct. 6 to curtail growth of the money supply. The actions resulted in another big jump in interest rates, and the housing industry already is feeling the strain.

But the events in the third quarter have led forecasters to be more cautious in predicting when the downturn might begin.

Gramley said the impact of the Fed's actions probably won't show up in the economic statistics until early next year.

"The big issue is what effects the rise in interest rates has had on the outlook for housing and other sectors of spending," he said. "It's premature to make any judgment, except that the uncertainties have increased."

He said the nation entered October "with a much stronger economy than anticipated" and added he would not be surprised to see it grow again in the fourth quarter.

Alaska Land Bill Creates Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill affecting a single state is a bill Congress rarely always loves. The state's senators or representatives make their case, often on behalf of officials back home, then get their way after a brief pause for objections that never come.

"Aye" votes are quick, cheap favors for colleagues who'll do the same for you later. Everybody's happy.

But Alaska land preservation, under a 100-million-acre measure President Carter calls the conservation bill of the century, is a long-running exception on all counts.

It's a huge, time-consuming and controversial bill. It's nearly as important to wilderness-lovers thousands of miles away as to businessmen who want more roads, oil wells and timber mills in the nation's largest state.

State officials once fought it fiercely; now they want a new version — and fast — but probably will have to wait.

Conservationists once pleaded for it; now there's no rush.

The House has given lopsided passage to a version with tough environmental restraints, and both of the state's senators oppose it. But they're split on a more moderate version pending in the Senate, one senator calling it "livable," the other "really terrible."

And in what state lobbyist John Katz calls "very high stakes poker," the high cards may be held by two non-legislators — President Carter and Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus.

State leaders — and a panel of influential Alaskans — are pressuring Democratic Sen. Mike Gravel to join ranks with them and Republican Sen. Ted Stevens behind the Senate version in hopes of passing it this year.

Their reasoning: not only will Congress be more likely to vote a tough environmental bill next year — an election year — but further delay would spur Andrus to extend his three-year federal protection of 57 million Alaskan acres to 20 years. And Carter also has shown no fear of big moves in the area, withdrawing 56 million acres as national monuments.

If the Carter administration finds itself on the way out of office next year, Lt. Gov. Terry Miller said on a visit here last week, "a great deal of abuse could be done to the state of Alaska by the outgoing secretary."

In addition, officials see investment dollars flowing away from Alaska because of uncertainty about future land use there. Final federal boundaries, distasteful as they might be, would be better than more years of doubt, the officials feel.

Given a choice, they prefer that Congress rather than Carter decide; the conservationists also prefer legislative backing for the long run.

Gravel, who doesn't want to budge, has held the key because the land-preservation bill fits the mold for minor single-state legislation in a single way: In a year of energy shortages, inflation and arms-limitation debate, Congress won't touch Alaska if it looks like a place to get mired down.

In that situation: —The bill, which has little chance of being called up anyway, surely won't be unless Gravel, who delayed it to death last year, promises not to filibuster.

—Gravel won't promise unless he knows exactly what will happen on the Senate floor — and later.

Drought Project Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The terrible toll of suffering and death caused by drought might be eased if an experiment by a pair of government agencies succeeds.

Aiming their work at less developed nations, scientists hope to learn to predict droughts so that assistance can be made available before the droughts lead to famines.

"Frankly, the beauty of this project is that this is the first time anybody has really tried to make a global attempt at developing a drought early warning system," said Christian R. Holmes, acting director of foreign disaster assistance for the State Department's Agency for International Development.

After the bad droughts in Haiti and the Sahel region of Africa, Holmes said, people kept asking why no one had known they were coming. "The thing that really pleases me... is that now we have gotten together and done something about it rather than just sitting back and getting blind-sided."

Cooperating with Holmes' agency in the project is the Environmental Data and Information Service of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Over the next 18 months, the effort will be concentrated on Africa and the Caribbean. Later, it will be expanded to Southeast Asia.

Basically, Holmes explained, the scientists first collect historical weather and crop information from the countries involved, which in many areas has never been done systematically.

With this information the scientists can develop computer models of a nation's weather and how crops fared under various conditions.

Meanwhile, he said, current weather conditions and rainfall estimates are received from weather satellites and ground reports. Such data are fed into the computer, and trends are developed which, the scientists hope, will give them warning of a creeping disaster.

The scientists have been collecting historical information on Africa and Caribbean for the last year, but Holmes said the experts are not yet confident they can establish a sure trend in a specific country. "Now we are testing these trends," he said.

Malcolm Reid, supervisory meteorologist for NOAA, noted that "we are dealing with areas of the world for which we have very little current data and so rely very heavily on satellite information to estimate precipitation amounts."

This technique is most effective when dealing with large areas with rainfall deficiencies, he said.

Outlook Poor For Savings Banks

JUMBLE. THAT SCRAMBLED WORD GAME

by Henri Arnold and Bob Lee

By PHILIP GREER
And MYRON KANDEL

Federal and state regulators are worried about the health of the savings bank industry — particularly in the Northwest — in the wake of rapidly rising interest rates and the flight of deposits in search of higher returns.

Savings banks, whose incomes are limited by outdated usury ceilings in many states, have been losing deposits at an alarming rate — more than 1.5 percent a month in New York City for example. On the deposits they have been keeping, their costs have risen from the 5.5 percent interest paid on traditional passbook accounts to the more than 12 percent they now must pay on six-month money-market certificates.

This means that the earnings of the savings banks, already the lowest among financial institutions, are being even more sharply eroded as the interest-rate spiral continues upward. Even if rates peak soon and start down, the industry faces Congressional action that would require the payment of prevailing market rates on all forms of savings.

The situation has grown alarming: The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which regulates all non-Federal Reserve member banks, and the New York State Banking Department, which supervises the state's savings banks, among other institutions, called an emergency meeting the other day to seek some short-term solutions while awaiting longer-term help from Congress and the state legislature.

Among the ideas that have been put forward are granting the savings banks the power to make higher-profit consumer loans and permitting them to issue short-term mortgages that can be renegotiated at the prevailing market rate (rather than remaining for 20 to 30 years at their original level).

Despite the bleak picture, banking experts point out that no savings bank has ever failed in the U.S. or even been forced to omit its dividend. Moreover, every dollar presently on deposit is covered by federal insurance.

At mid-year, though, 26 New York savings banks had to receive supervisory permission to pay their dividends. This was because they could not make the full payments out of current earnings and had to use reserve accounts. Industry observers believe that some savings banks in the other 16 states in which the industry operates have similar problems.

Savings and loan associations, which provide more than half of all mortgage credit nationally, have begun to feel the same pressures, asserts Stan Strachan, editor of National Thrift News, the trade publication that serves both the savings bank and S&L industries.

Strachan notes that the cost of money has moved much higher than mortgage rates in all parts of the country, a situation that previously existed primarily in the Northwest.

He points out that the S&L industry has just gone through its second month this year of net deposit outflows.

The prospects are for savings to continue leaving the S&Ls until market interest rates come down to a point where they can compete with such relatively new vehicles as the booming money-market funds.

What all this means to prospective home-buyers is that there will be virtually no funds available for mortgage lending in the months ahead in most parts of the country. And where money can be found, it will be offered at sky-high rates, such as the record 13 percent now being charged by California S&Ls.

ACLU Wants Cross Taken Off Of Land

ATLANTA (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union has filed suit to force the Rabun County Chamber of Commerce to remove a large cross from state property on Black Rock Mountain.

PICTURES OF MOON

The first pictures of the far side of the moon were shown Oct. 18, 1959, from the Soviet satellite Lunik Three. They had been taken Oct. 6 as the satellite passed behind the moon but were not transmitted until it began its return journey.

Locating a Christian religious symbol at Black Rock Mountain state park violates the First Amendment principle of separation of church and state, Georgia's ACLU director Gene Guerrero said Saturday.

The objection is not to the cross or religion but only to its location on public land, Guerrero said. The suit was filed Friday. State officials asked the Chamber of Commerce to dismantle the cross or move it to private property on the mountain, Guerrero said.

Sewer Gas Converted To Fuel

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Sewer gas that used to be wasted is fueling five municipal vehicles here in a pilot project that could show cities across the country a way to save petroleum.

When the year-old operation is expanded to include an additional 250 vehicles, the city will save about $700 a day in fuel costs, according to John Amstutz, superintendent of water-quality control for this central California city of 100,000 people.

The savings will let the expanded methane facility pay for itself within five years, Amstutz estimated in a telephone interview.

The city's sewage-treatment plant processes about 23 million gallons of effluent daily and produces more than 200,000 cubic feet of gas. About 70 percent of that is methane.

After the gas is processed to remove carbon dioxide and hydrogen sulfide, it is compressed and dispensed into the vehicles. Each vehicle carries two pressurized tanks that hold about 325 cubic feet of gas each. That's the equivalent of 6 1/2 gallons of gasoline, Amstutz said.

Much of the treatment plant's gas is burned to keep the sewage-digestion equipment at an optimum temperature for methane production. When all of the methane is captured and compressed, it will provide the equivalent of 1,000 gallons of gasoline a day, Amstutz said.

The vehicles now being tested have dual fuel systems so they can be switched to gasoline when the methane tanks are empty.

All city vehicles will be added to the system, except large ones such as garbage trucks which have heavy fuel consumption.

It costs about $1,200 to convert a vehicle to methane, and the equipment can be removed and reinstalled by a competent mechanic when it is sold, Amstutz said.

The methane-burning vehicles are completely free from the pollution that is the plague of gasoline-powered ones, Amstutz said.

"Although none of the engines has been taken apart yet to check for abnormal wear, it appears the gas helps extend engine life," he added.

The only problems are a power loss of about 15 percent and the limited range of the converted vehicles, Amstutz said.

The octane rating is over 120 and Amstutz said power and mileage could be increased without knocking if the compression ratio of the engines was increased.

Direct cost comparisons with gasoline are difficult because the methane is measured in cubic feet, but Amstutz estimates the methane costs the equivalent of gasoline priced at 30 cents a gallon.

Since methane is lighter than air, a rear-end collision that would rupture the tanks is not as dangerous as it would be if gasoline was the fuel, he said. Gasoline often spills onto the ground and is ignited, but methane is dispersed into the air.

"So far, we're sold on the system," Amstutz said.

Air Force To Cooperate With States On Project

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP) — Air Force Secretary Hans Mark today pledged full cooperation with Utah and Nevada officials in preparing for any potentially damaging side effects of MX missile construction.

Mark said in testimony prepared for delivery to a House subcommittee that a balance could be achieved between national defense interests and social, economic and environmental concerns.

"The Air Force accepts its responsibility to assist the region, the states and the local jurisdictions to meet new demands without seriously compromising the quality of life of the citizens," he said.

The House Appropriations military construction subcommittee, which must authorize funding for the defense system, convenes its first MX hearing amid widespread concern about the crushing impact the $33 billion system could have on the sparsely populated desert region.

Members of the subcommittee, chaired by Rep. K. Gunn McKay, D-Utah, planned to visit missile sites by helicopter today.

Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, meanwhile, said he favored the MX but doubted it would ever be built. He said the costs and environmental considerations may scuttle the project.

The mobile nuclear missile was approved for development by President Carter in June. When completed in 1989, it would involve 200 missiles, each deployed on its own "race track," among 4,600 shelters spread across 24,000 square miles of southeastern Nevada and western Utah.

The military sees the MX as crucial to bolster the nation's 1,054 ground-based nuclear missiles, which Mark said will become vulnerable to attack in the early 1980s.

MX MISSILE SITE HEARINGS OPEN — The breakout mechanism of the MX missile system stands up after it broke through 10 inches of concrete and five feet of dirt during testing last year. Today, House subcommittee hearings opened on the Carter's administration's plan to build the missile system in Utah and Nevada. Officials are concerned about the deployment of the missiles in their areas, saying that, "no one had envisioned the socio-economic impact." (AP Laserphoto)

Grant Gives City Police Money For Crime Unit

A-J News Services
An unexpected grant approval from the Criminal Justice Division Advisory Board in Austin last week will give the Lubbock Police Department $58,432 to set up a specialized crime prevention unit within the department.

If the grant receives Gov. Bill Clements approval, the police department will provide two crime prevention officers and a secretary to supplement work being done by the Lubbock County Crime Prevention Council, according to Rick Childers, administrative assistant to City Manager Larry Cunningham.

The work will be in the areas of Operation Identification and Neighborhood Watch. Operation Identification, now under way in Lubbock, is an effort to get homeowners to mark their property so it can be readily identified if it is stolen.

"We were really surprised to receive the grant," Childers said, adding that the city has applied for the grant the past two years.

"It will be a cooperative effort with the crime council in educating the people of Lubbock about crime prevention and it should be a pretty effective program."

The Criminal Justice Division Advisory Board also approved a $29,230 grant to Floyd County for jail life safety equipment. The grant will help Floyd County meet life and safety rules adopted by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

The equipment will include a fire alarm and detection system, a smoke and fume removal system, fire extinguishers, an emergency power and lighting system, an exit lighting system, mechanical duct fire dampers and an inter-communication system.

Authorities Probe Poisoning Of Child

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — East Baton Rouge Parish sheriff's deputies have advised parents in a neighborhood subdivision to keep their children from eating Halloween candy until an investigation is completed into the poisoning of a 12-year-old girl.

The child, who was not identified, was listed in stable but guarded condition Sunday night at Doctors Hospital. Lt. Allen West, a sheriff's spokesman, said the girl went into convulsions 90 minutes after she ate three pieces of candy late Saturday.

Deputies said they were unsure whether the chemical that poisoned the girl — called organo phosphate — came from substances around her house or from her Halloween candy.

Authorities have confiscated candy from several houses in the Avalon subdivision for testing purposes, although no other illnesses were reported in the area. Officials advised parents against allowing their children to eat Halloween candy until the source of the poison is found.

West said the girl ate the candy about 10:30 p.m. Saturday and went into convulsions about midnight. Tests showed the chemical in her bloodstream, but deputies were unsure how she consumed it.

"We haven't been able to interview the child because of her condition," West said. "Until we can talk to her anything is possible."

West said the child told nurses at the hospital that she had been eating candy before her convulsions. West said the girl ate a small chocolate roll, a piece of bubble gum and a chocolate-rice crunch bar.

Mamie Remembered For Silent Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — At a memorial service attended by first lady Rosalynn Carter and former President and Mrs. Richard Nixon, Mamie Eisenhower was eulogized today as "a silent partner in the affairs of state" when her husband was president.

"She remained the epitome of a gracious lady," said the Rev. Edward L.R.

Eison, minister emeritus of Washington's National Presbyterian Church, which the Eisenhowers attended. "She will stand tall in the memory of Americans forever."

Mrs. Eisenhower, 82, died of heart failure Thursday at Walter Reed Army Medical Center here and was buried beside her husband, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Abilene, Kan. on Saturday.

Many of Gen. Eisenhower's comrades during his military career attended the service, including Gen. Lauris Norstad, like Eisenhower a former commander of NATO; Gen. Andrew S. Goodpaster, a former Supreme Allied Commander in Europe; and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, a former ambassador and Army chief of staff.

The Nixons sat in a front row seat near Mrs. Carter, but they exchanged little more than a greeting. After leaving the chapel at nearby Fort Myer, Va., where the service was held, Mrs. Carter and Nixon did not speak to one another.

A memorial service was held Sunday in Mrs. Eisenhower's hometown of Boone, Iowa. "She came back, which is a reaffirmation of rural life," the Rev. David Crow said at the service in Boone's First Presbyterian Church.

In addition to the memorial services at Fort Myer, Mrs. Eisenhower, also was being honored today with a day of mourning in Pennsylvania.

Lawmen Investigating Hereford Man's Death

HEREFORD (Special) — Authorities here today were investigating a possible homicide in the Friday afternoon death of a 22-year-old Hereford man who was found unconscious and lying in a ditch Sept. 29.

Jimmy Gomez, who never regained consciousness, died at 4 p.m. Friday at Deaf Smith General Hospital. Hereford Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal said today he was withholding a ruling in the death, pending a completed autopsy report on Gomez.

"Some of the wounds were conducive to being hit by a vehicle and others by a blunt object," Neal said.

Gomez, who suffered most his injuries to the head and shoulders, was found in a ditch off Highway 385 about a half mile south of Hereford.

While no arrests had been made by today in connection with the death, Neal said two persons were scheduled to take a polygraph test in Lubbock concerning the incident.

Neal said the two persons told authorities Gomez had been with them Sept. 29, but they had let him out of their car near his house about 30 minutes to an hour before he was found unconscious.

He was found near his home in the San Jose Labor Camp, a low-income housing development. Speaking of the persons taking the polygraph test today, Neal said, "If the polygraph shows they were telling the truth, then we have no suspects."

Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson indicated his deputies were investigating the incident as a homicide. "He was lying on the side of the road. We don't know if he was beaten to death or thrown out of a vehicle," McPherson said.

Neal said he does not expect to make a ruling in Gomez' death for at least another week.

About 625 Texas residents and nine non-Texas candidates will be taking the exam in Lubbock. About 7,500 candidates will be taking the examination statewide.

The uniform CPA examination is given on the same dates and hours in each state in the nation. Because a common examination is used in all states, the CPA certificate is recognized throughout the nation without examination, provided the applicant meets the other requirements of the state to which he applies for the reciprocal certificate.

Board members Brooks Wilson and Charlie S. Williams will conduct the examination in Lubbock. The exam also will be given in Galveston, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Austin.

Civil Aeronautics Board Revises Air Travel Guide

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
Air fares are on the rise again and would-be travelers have to be more careful than ever if they want to get the most for their money.
The Civil Aeronautics Board has just revised its 28-page guide to air travel in the United States. To get a copy, write: "Fly-Rights," Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

The guide is designed to be as up to date as possible, but the business is changing so quickly these days that the board warns: "By the time you read this, a few of the rules ... may be different. Contact the airline you plan to use or the nearest CAB office if you have any questions."

Higher fuel costs have been blamed for the latest round of price increases and the carriers say the situation is expected to get worse. United Airlines officials, for example, predict that by the end of next year, it will cost up to 50 percent more to fly than it does today.

The boosts will not affect all routes or airlines equally. Because of deregulation, there is a wide variety of fares and promotional offerings. One airline may charge more for a particular trip than another. Finding the bargains often means hard work, repeated telephone calls and persistence.

Here are some things to remember:

—Make plans as far ahead of time as possible. The number of discount seats is usually very limited and the cheaper tickets are often sold out weeks or even months ahead of popular holiday periods.

—Find out what will happen if you switch flights. Is there a cancellation penalty? Is there a deadline after which you no longer qualify for a discount fare? What if you get sick or are forced to cancel by circumstances you can't control? In most cases, you will not be penalized for illness or for something like a death in the family, but it's wise to know what you can expect — just in case.

—Is the fare guaranteed? As a general rule, domestic airlines will not charge you extra once you have bought your ticket — even if the fare goes up. This does not always apply to foreign airlines, however. Nor does it apply unless you actually have the ticket; a reservation alone doesn't count.

—How do you want to pay for your ticket? You get automatic life insurance coverage when you buy your ticket with certain credit cards, including American Express and Diners Club. You also can, in some cases, pay off the bill a little at a time. The drawback to the extended-payment plan is that you pay interest on the outstanding balance. Another disadvantage to charging your tickets is that you won't be able to get an immediate refund if you cancel your plans; you'll have to wait for your account to be credited.

—Be careful with your ticket. "Getting a refund or replacement for a lost ticket is a lot of trouble and there's no guarantee you'll receive either one," says the CAB. If, for example, someone uses or cashes in your lost ticket while you are waiting for the airline to process your refund application, the carrier may not give you your money back. Even if the application goes through without a hitch, the airline may charge you a handling fee of $5 or $10.

—Learn what your rights are in case you are bumped. Under CAB rules, an airline which overbooks a flight must ask for volunteers who are willing to be bumped in exchange for compensation. The amount of the compensation can vary; you can bargain to get the best deal. If there are no volunteers — or if there aren't enough — the airline gets to decide who will fly. If you are bumped involuntarily, the airline must pay you the fare to your destination, up to a maximum of $200.

If the carrier can't arrange another flight to get you where you are going within two hours of the original flight (four hours on international flights), the amount of compensation is doubled.

In either case, you get to keep your original ticket and use it on a later flight or turn it in for a refund. Don't be put off by promises. "Those travelers who don't get to fly are almost always entitled to an on-the-spot payment of denied boarding compensation," the CAB says.

McCartney Will Tour England

LONDON (AP) — Paul McCartney, the only former Beatle to tour Britain since the group broke up in 1970, is coming home.

McCartney will begin a 15-date tour at the Royal Court Theater Nov. 25-26 in his hometown of Liverpool, his agents announced Sunday.

It will be the first British tour in four years for McCartney, who is listed in the Guinness Book of Records as "the most successful musician in history."

The tour will feature a new line-up of the chart-topping band Wings, which he formed with his wife, Linda.

Miss Jillian, who was seen as a child star in such films as "Babes in Toyland" with Ed Wynn and "Gypsy" with Rosalind Russell, does a takeoff of a stripper's dove act, bedecked with more than a dozen of the feathered creatures, in the musical.

Seeing Triple

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The three Fort Lauderdale women don't usually take the same classes at the University of Florida. But this quarter, the Donlin triplets landed in the same French class.

The sisters, Lisa, Mary and Susan Donlin, 20, said they drew numerous questions and stares from their classmates on the first day of school.

"The first day we didn't sit together," said Lisa, a political science major. "People stared and asked if we were sisters. I really freaked them out and told them no."

The women say a fluke landed them in the same section of a beginning French course. But they do participate in many activities together, playing on the same softball team and modeling for catalogs.

The trio says even best friends still confuse their identities. Mary, who is studying psychology, said customers got confused when they all worked as waitresses at the same restaurant.

"People think it bothers us when they don't know which one we are," Susan said. "It really doesn't bother us. I'd rather they ask than guess."

'Pistol' Startles Mayor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Dianne Feinstein was startled by a man who pointed a pistol at her during her door-to-door campaigning for this week's election.

Mrs. Feinstein

The man pulled the trigger, but the authentic-looking pistol, a butane lighter, only shot out a flame. The mayor was not harmed during the incident Saturday.

"It happened so quickly I realized for the first time how helpless you are," said Mrs. Feinstein, who succeeded George Moscone last year after his assassination.

"There was no time to duck or react," she added. "Sure I was scared."

A police inspector who doubles as the mayor's driver and bodyguard was following the mayor and several aides during the campaign swing through the Western Addition.

No attempt was made to detain the unidentified man.

Study Says Peroxide Safe For Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report to the Food and Drug Administration says peroxide is the only substance that can safely and effectively be used for mouth and gum injuries.

The evaluation, however, says some manufacturers overstate the potency of their products when they call them painkillers. It recommended that the Food and Drug Administration's labeling requirements be changed to prohibit the use of such claims as "relieves pain." It also said other claims should be clarified and that a dentist or physician should be consulted if irritation occurs or persists.

Suggestions Combat Food Costs

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (Special) — As food costs continue to spiral, you're bound to come across more and more tips on how to save money on food: Good ideas are hard to keep in mind when you're wrestling with supermarket decisions. We offer instead seven simple words to help. Learn them. Think of them when you menu plan and shop — you're bound to end up a winner when it comes to food savings. Here are seven simple hints:

WAIT — for sales. Deny yourself your favorite foods when they're sky high in price. Most of them have their day on the "sale" shelf — as loss leaders; because they are in season; because there is an oversupply; or for other reasons. Wait for that day. Then stock up with as much as you can afford so you'll have a good supply on hand when prices go back up. This is especially important with high priced items such as meat.

When freezing meat, be sure to help protect the meat from freezer burn by wrapping well with a low moisture transmission wrap such as cellophane plastic film. It's excellent for wrapping odd-shaped pieces of meat because it can be easily molded to the shape of the meat. Seal with freezer tape and label with the cut of meat, date and quantity.

PLAN — for all the food you buy. Use the newspaper ads to plan your menus, incorporating the foods that are on sale that week into your menus. Make up a shopping list from these menus. Add needed staples and desired snack foods, etc. Yes, plan even your snack foods — have a good idea what you are going to spend before you get to the store — then stick to it.

SCHOOL ROUTINE

Start off the back to school routine with a good breakfast. Bake packaged mix muffins with a cling peach slice on top. Easily prepared the night before and reheated for breakfast.

CLIP — coupons from the newspapers, packages, magazines, etc. evaluate the coupons carefully. Do you normally buy that product? If it is higher in price than the product you usually buy, it will cost you more in the long run and the coupon is no bargain. Use only the coupons that are valuable penny savers to you.

BULK — When the savings are considerable, buy in bulk. Strawberries and other perishable fruits and vegetables are least expensive in their peak season. Buy as much as you can afford and freeze for economical year-long use. Convenient plastic storage bags make freezing easier than ever, and with their airtight seal, the foods are sure to retain their fresh-bought flavor and texture. The bags come in large and small sizes for packaging in family or individual portions. Because they are see-through, you can tell at a glance what is stored in your freezer.

DO-IT-YOURSELF convenience foods — is another area for savings, especially with bakery food where there is much labor involved. Cakes, pies and breads, whether made from scratch or from a mix are less expensive when prepared at home rather than purchased ready-made. If time is limited, bake in quantity and freeze extras. Wrap unfrosted cakes with see-through, moisture and vapor free cellophane plastic film. Freeze cupcakes and cookies in airtight plastic storage bags for quick freezing convenience and easy accessibility.

COMPARE — Check the newspaper ads carefully to find the store that offers the best bargains for the foods you want to buy each week.

BARTER skills — While your husband helps a neighbor tune his car, let the neighbor's wife help you make bread or a pie. Friends and neighbors usually have an assortment of skills and services they can exchange, saving everyone money and cementing deeper friendships.

Dear Abby,

DEAR ABBY: I lost my virginity twice. Once when I was 15, and again when I was 18.

I am getting married next month, and the guy I'm marrying doesn't know anything about Guy No. 1 and Guy No. 2. But I suppose after we're married I will have some explaining to do.

I hate to lie, but if he asks me who the other guys were, should I tell him?
WORRIED IN GRIFFIN, GA.

DEAR WORRIED: I didn't know there was a lost-and-found department for virginity. But if he hasn't found that you lost it, twice, why tell him?

DEAR ABBY: I've often seen letters in your column from people who have suffered "the silent treatment." This is something I know a lot about because my father used to pull this on my mother and me. It went on for years.

Finally, when I was in my late teens, it happened again. I didn't have any idea what I had done to displease him. This time, instead of my usual begging, "Please, Daddy, tell me what you're angry about," I decided not to go along with this kind of blackmail.

If he chose not to talk to me, that was his privilege. I made absolutely no effort to re-establish communication. He sulked for about two weeks, then finally broke the ice by starting a conversation.

After that, he never used this "silent treatment" device on me again. But he continued to use it on my mother because she would practically get down on her knees and beg him to tell her what she did wrong. (That was HER choice.)

The silent treatment is an adult version of a child's temper tantrum, and the only way to deal with it is to ignore it.

BEEN THERE IN GALVESTON

DEAR BEEN THERE: Where there is total silence, no progress can be made in righting wrongs on settling disputes.

Apologies of prolonged silences: it has been my observation that it's the more mature party who breaks the silence.

DEAR ABBY: You wrote, concerning men who talk about sex all the time, that "Those who CAN do, and those who CANT, talk about it."

That sure didn't apply to my late husband. He was a morning, noon and night man — seven days a week! He always came home for the noon hour, then again at 5 p.m. on the dot, so I never suspected a thing when he talked about his "other guys," which he did constantly.

Not until he was 60 did I learn that he'd been known at the office as a chaser for 30 years! At 65 I caught him with another woman who boldly said, "If you took care of your husband's needs at home, he wouldn't have to go elsewhere." (He had told her I was frigid!) I couldn't believe it. I started laughing, and haven't stopped yet. Meanwhile I was exhausted trying to keep up with him!

No, I didn't divorce him. After that, I just told him to stay downtown for lunch. Abby, I loved that man until the day he died. He was 76. He never slowed up, and never stopped chasing, and never stopped talking about sex, either. I just had to tell you that not all men who talk about sex are only talkers. Some are doers. At least mine was.

Q.1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠AQJ75 ♥J10632 ♦K6 ♣7
 Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one heart. What action do you take?
 A.—Normally, if an opponent opens in your long suit, you should pass and await developments. However, this is not the hand for that course of action. Your second suit is as long and far stronger than your heart suit. Bid one spade. If you do not overcall now, you will be awkwardly placed later, no matter how the auction unfolds.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠Q92 ♥A7 ♦QJ962 ♣872
 Partner opens the bidding with one no trump. What do you respond?
 A.—You can't respond two diamonds, because that shows a weak hand. However, you aren't strong enough to jump to three diamonds. The choice is between raising to two or three no trump. Since you have a reasonably good five-card suit, which rates to produce four tricks opposite as little as ace or king doubleton in partner's hand, we would choose the more aggressive action.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AK8 ♥AQ7 ♦AK108 ♣K6
 What is your opening bid?
 A.—With 25 high-card points, you are too strong for two no trump—that shows a maximum of 24 points. The correct opening bid is three no trump. Armed with the knowledge that you have a balanced hand of 25-27 points, partner will be perfectly placed to decide the level of the final contract.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠Q93 ♥AK652 ♦764 ♣K8
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♥ 2♦ 2♠ Pass
 3♣ Pass 4♦ Pass
 4♥ Pass 5♥ Pass
 What action do you take?
 A.—There is no denying the fact that you have a minimum opening bid and that you have done nothing, so far, to discourage partner's efforts to get to slam. Nevertheless, there is one key feature of your hand that has not been revealed by the auction—you can guard against the loss of two fast club tricks, a suit which partner obviously cannot control. Bid six hearts. Partner's spade suit should furnish enough discards to enable you to make slam against any opening lead, assuming normal splits.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable with 60 on score, you hold:
 ♠KQ83 ♥J105 ♦K9 ♣QJ93
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1NT Pass South 2♦
 What action do you take?
 A.—Resist the temptation to bid three no trump in an effort to close out the rubber, for partner might have made a tactical one no trump opening on shaded values. A far more profitable course is to double. Regardless of the size of penalty you collect, and it could be handsome indeed, you will still be overwhelming favorites to win the rubber on a later hand.

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠1094 ♥A6 ♦QJ10 ♣AK986
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♠ Pass 1♦ Pass
 1NT Pass 2♣ Pass
 What action do you take?
 A.—North should have a six-card suit for his two-spade rebid—with a balanced hand and five spades, he would have passed one no trump, and with a distributional hand, he would have bid another suit. However, partner's strength cannot be determined. Since you have three quick tricks, fine spade support and a ruffing value, we recommend a raise to three spades in the hope that partner can bid a game.

Q.7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠83 ♥95 ♦AK854 ♣Q632
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1♦ 2♥ ?
 What action do you take?
 A.—What do you want to do? With two low spades, you cannot support partner's suit. And with only 9 HCP, introducing your diamond suit at the three-level, which would be forcing, risks far more than it could gain. Pass. If partner also passes, the most you will lose is a partscore.

Q.8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠J764 ♥6 ♦872 ♣KQ763
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♦ Pass 2♠ Pass
 3NT Pass ?
 What action do you take?
 A.—It is a delight to hear that partner has a strong, balanced hand. However, don't let that deter you from doing your duty. Your hand is unbalanced, and better designed for suit play than for no trump. Therefore, correct to four spades. This does not show additional values; it is simply taking a preference.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK
 In 1955, I gave birth to a child who "marched to a different drummer."
 I predicted then if he didn't shape up he'd goosestep his way right into the unemployment line or the boys' industrial school.

As a child he wandered away from home to see parades...got his arm caught in a construction pipe...and figured out if he coughed on his brother's cupcake, he got an extra dessert.

He sold our cancelled checks door to door, registered us for a free ham (and a visit from an encyclopedia salesman), made the first overseas phone call by direct dialing from a private home without directory assistance, and made history by catching a broken leg at camp.

In 1966, I wrote that parents are awed by genius, adjust to the average child, and are compassionate toward the slow learner. But the child who stands apart and is none of these things only puzzles, confuses, and tries their patience.

They fear for the future of this rare, unpredictable child who is not only out of step with the world, but if there's a puddle or a pile in front of him...will step in it.

What has happened to this child-turned-man whose destiny filled me with apprehension?

He lost his billfold in the Grand Canyon, but the trip back to look for it "was worth it." He forgot birthdays, but when he remembered, the gifts were warm and personal and melted your heart. He set a record for having a tape deck installed and stolen within three hours, but held no malice. He left his space maintainer in a sandwich he was reheating in the micro-wave oven, but paid for a new one with his own money from his paper route. He borrowed the car and when the radiator boiled over, poured Orange Crush in it, but he was contrite.

His mail consists of brochures from causes and needs all over the world. His desk is scattered with unpaid traffic tickets and his billfold holds three duplicate driver's licenses. He runs his car on E, writes 35 checks a week, and has never bought a bottle of shampoo in his entire life.

I have never heard him say, "I'm too busy to talk to you." Never heard him complain, "The world is rotten." Never known him to be intolerant.

He dreams impractical dreams. He tries the patience of Job.
 But with his childlike trust and his zest for living, who am I to say that the drummer he marches to will not take him to the stars?

She reduced from size 14 to size 7 at Pat Walker's

Although she is beautifully svelte now, Frances Lewis used to worry about her waistline—and habitually wore long blouses and coverups to hide her large abdomen. That was before she discovered our proven program of weight reduction and lost a total of 20 pounds and 29 1/2 inches (including 9 inches off the waist). Her story:

"I never liked to admit I had a weight problem, so I attributed my 33-inch waist to a large bone structure. I envied all the girls who could wear fitted clothes—especially bikinis... When I did diet, I always lost weight in all the wrong places—my arms, legs and bust—but never where I needed it—my waist and tummy.

"At Pat Walker's I learned I could still eat all the foods I enjoyed without giving up anything except the 29 1/2 inches I've lost... It's nice to know there is a place you can go when you need help with a figure problem and where people understand..."

Court Backs Ohio Ad Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today left intact Ohio's total ban on billboard advertising by lawyers.

The justices refused without comment to hear an appeal by two Columbus, Ohio, lawyers who challenged the ban as a violation of constitutional guarantees of free speech.

The Supreme Court in 1977 struck down the legal profession's longstanding, absolute ban on advertising by attorneys.

The court ruled that it violated lawyers' freedom of speech.

Last February, the American Bar Association reported the public is paying less for routine legal help in communities where lawyers advertise. ABA surveys indicated, however, that only 3 percent of the nation's 470,000 lawyers have advertised since the 1977 ruling.

There are no statistics showing how many lawyers have used billboards as an advertising medium. Tennessee and Colorado specifically bar lawyers from using billboards. More than a dozen other states implicitly prohibit the practice.

In other action today, the high court: —Agreed to review a ruling the federal government says could seriously damage enforcement of the Clean Water Act. The justices will decide whether individuals legally responsible for oil spills can be required to notify government authorities of the spill.

—Left intact a decision requiring the automatic overturning of any New York criminal conviction when part of the trial is unnecessarily conducted in secret over the defendant's objections.

—Refused to protect three major automakers, General Motors, American Motors and Chrysler, from a wide-ranging federal investigation into auto industry competition.

—Endorsed a ruling by Justice Byron R. White earlier this month that allowed Amtrak to stop operating three passenger trains linking Chicago with the South, Southwest and Northwest.

The Ohio billboard ban, enforced by the state bar and state Supreme Court, was challenged by Columbus lawyers Joseph Waterman and Samuel Calig, whose "high volume" law firm relies on prolific advertising.

Columbus lawyer Stanley Laughlin, who filed the Supreme Court appeal for Waterman and Calig, said in an interview the firm's ads are "pitched toward the working class."

Ohio's Code of Professional Responsibility allows lawyers to advertise in the "print media" and on radio and television. The code's definition of print media excludes billboards.

Waterman and Calig asked the Ohio Supreme Court to allow them to advertise on billboards, but the request was opposed by state Attorney General William Brown, who said use of such ads was "beneath the dignity of the bar."

Last June 8, the state Supreme Court dismissed the two lawyers' complaint without a hearing or a written opinion.

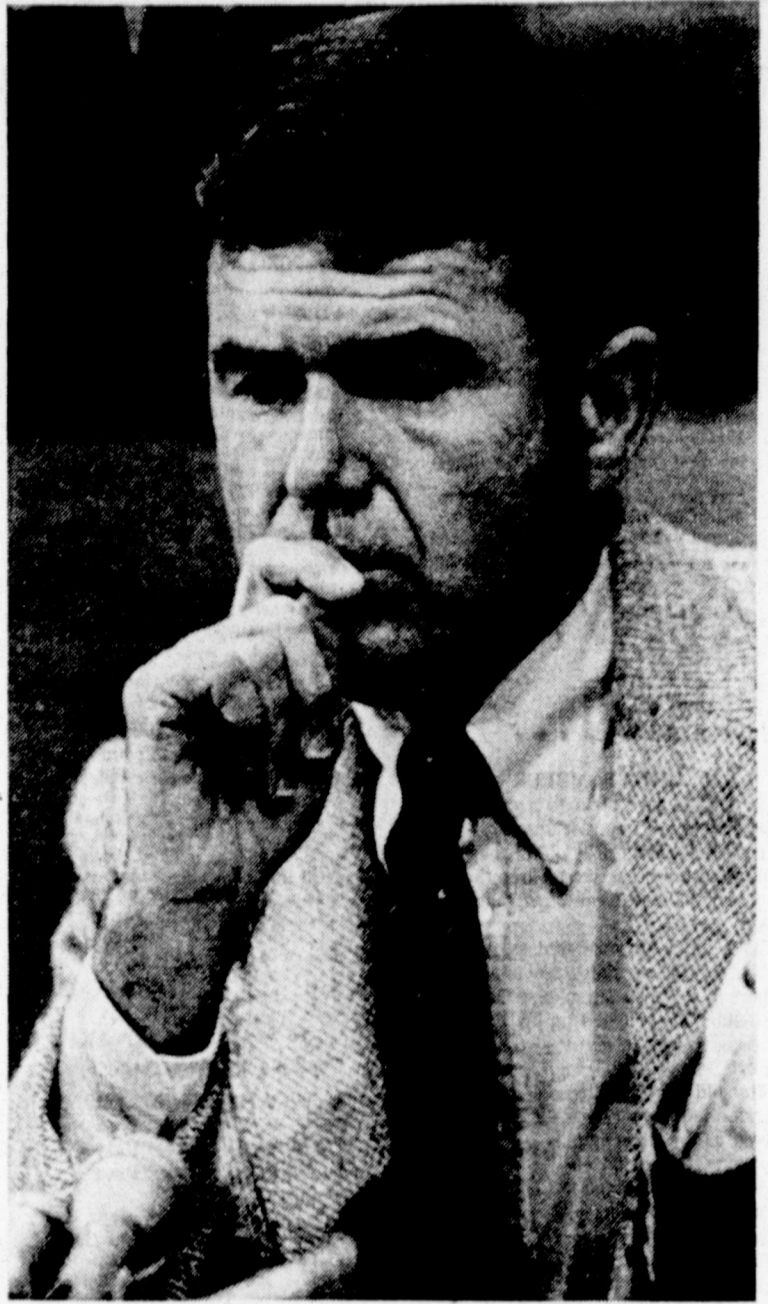

In seeking help from the high court, the lawyers argued that because no one but a lawyer is barred from billboard advertising, the Ohio ban is an unconstitutional infringement on content of speech.

Past Supreme Court rulings have established that government may impose "time, place and manner" regulations on speech when there is some "rational basis" for doing so. But government interference in speech content is allowed only when some "compelling state interest" can be shown.

Recent decisions have extended the Constitution's protection to commercial speech as well.

The appeal by Waterman and Calig argued that the Ohio rule is one aimed at speech content rather than the manner of speech — and therefore Ohio should have to meet the more stringent "compelling state interest" standard.

The billboard ad ban does not serve any such compelling interest, the appeal said.

Senator Says Synthetic Fuels Plan In Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, says a $20 billion piece of President Carter's energy program is in serious trouble in the Congress.

"We are in a fight," Jackson said of the president's proposal for a big synthetic fuels development program. "It's a close one."

The Senate was beginning debate today on the legislation, which also includes about $1 billion to encourage weatherization of residences and expanded use of solar heating and cooling units.

The 10-year synthetic fuels measure would provide an assortment of financing — including loans, loan and price guarantees, and grants — to encourage the extraction of fuel from oil shale, tar sands and coal.

The legislation would also create an independent Energy Security Corp., a five-member board to parcel out the funds.

Before the Senate session today, Carter conferred with Sens. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., and Bennett Johnston, D-La., about the legislation.

A White House official who asked not to be identified said a head count in the Senate showed that the vote would be "very close."

He said the most controversy revolves around whether only the largest oil companies would be involved in synthetic fuel development or whether, with aid provided by Carter's proposal, some smaller energy companies would participate.

Jackson said an unusual collection of lobbyists representing environmentalists, oil companies and big business are allied against Carter's proposal, which the Washington Democrat also vigorously supports.

Late last week, Jackson bitterly attacked "the big oil companies who are calling the shots" in the synthetic fuels debate.

Those companies are seeking to keep the synthetic fuels market to themselves by blocking the legislation, Jackson said, adding, "The lobbying up here has been unprecedented."

Environmentalists say not enough is known about the potential damage to the atmosphere from synthetic fuel plants, which use large amounts of coal to produce heat for the extraction of oil from shale buried deep in a number of western states, including Wyoming and Colorado.

Conservative Republicans and business interests oppose a provision of the legislation that would allow up to three synthetic fuels plants to be owned by the federal government, although operated by private concerns.

Other critics say the technology of synthetic fuels is not far enough along to warrant a big government spending program with large potential risk to taxpayers' dollars.

On other issues this week, Congress is expected to complete work on a $547.6 billion budget ceiling for 1980.

The compromise budget limit contains less money for defense than had originally been sought by the Senate before a compromise was reached between negotiators for both houses of Congress.

The final compromise is to be debated in the Senate on Tuesday and Wednesday before going to the House.

In the House, President Carter's welfare-revision bill will be considered, including the first national minimum payment for many welfare recipients.

For a family of four, the proposed minimum would run about $3,000.

Few Texans Indicate Interest In Election

Clayton, Land Commissioner Bob Bullock and Attorney General Mark White.

However, Clements has announced his opposition to Proposition No. 2, which would allow the Texas Legislature to establish a special committee to review rules and regulations adopted by state agencies while the legislature is not in session.

The legislature currently has the power to change agency rules by law during the times it is in session, but the proposed amendment would allow legislative committees to block the implementation of rules it finds unsatisfactory when lawmakers are not meeting.

Clements and the League of Women Voters oppose the amendment as an encroachment of the legislative branch of state government into powers reserved for the executive branch.

The third amendment on the ballot, Proposition No. 1, would authorize four-year terms for notaries public instead of the current two-year terms.

Also, the notaries would be licensed directly by the Secretary of State rather than through county clerks and the requirement that notaries live in the county where they are licensed would be eliminated.

State officials have estimated only about 740,000 of the five million Texans eligible to vote Tuesday will do so, with most of the votes coming from the state's major cities.

At least half the votes are expected to be cast in Houston where nine candidates are running for mayor.

Dallas voters will decide the fate of a seven-part bond issue, Austin voters will decide a bond issue for purchase of a county office building, and in Fort Worth a tax limitation proposal is on the ballot.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Christina Plans Third Divorce

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Christina Onassis, heiress to her father's shipping fortune, will divorce her Russian husband, a Greek newspaper reports.

The Athens daily newspaper Kathimerini said recently Christina and her husband, Soviet shipping executive Sergei Kauzov, 38, have agreed to end their 2-year marriage, but no announcement will be made until formalities are completed.

Miss Onassis, 28, was the principal heir to Aristotle Onassis' shipping fortune and has run the business herself rather than place it in the hands of managers.

She married Kauzov in August 1978 at a civil ceremony in Moscow, but the couple never had a Greek Orthodox ceremony, the only marriage legally recognized in Greece.

Ruiz said the vehicle veered off the right side of the road, struck the utility pole and went into the pasture. Ruiz had helped Wharton load his truck and was following him when the mishap occurred.

The investigating trooper said it did not appear Wharton suffered fatal injuries in the accident.

Surprise Witness Aids Davis

FORT WORTH (AP) — A surprise, 11th-hour defense witness opened a hole in the state's murder-for-hire case against millionaire Cullen Davis today.

Injured trial judge Gordon Gray was poised to begin final arguments when defense lawyers called Bill Dickerson, manager of an Oklahoma City Holiday Inn, to the stand.

Dickerson testified that prosecution witness Gale Helms and FBI informant David McCrory checked into the hotel the afternoon of June 10, taking side-by-side rooms. McCrory is the state's key witness in the proceedings.

Helms has testified that he and McCrory were in Oklahoma June 9, attending a model airplane show.

Davis contends that he met with McCrory June 9 in Fort Worth and that the two discussed an alleged conspiracy to kill or frame Davis.

Dickerson said he looked through microfilm records taken from rate cards filled out by a customer, then logged into a machine which automatically dates the entries.

Chief Prosecutor Jack Strickland asked Dickerson on cross-examination if he ever had received a call from the Tarrant County district attorney's office concerning the records.

"I don't recall," said the husky witness.

Dickerson said he had two assistant managers who could have taken such a call. "Some of them are just naturally lazy," he said when Strickland asked why prosecutors would have been told the records no longer exist.

"So they would have been available to the DA's office if the right person had been asked?" Strickland queried.

"Yes, sir," Dickerson replied.

Gray wore an arm sling and a rib-and-neck brace during the proceedings, the result of a fall from a horse Sunday. The judge suffered two cracked ribs and a broken collarbone.

But it was business as usual when Gray appeared in court, sporting a blue suede jacket and ready to go.

He said his injuries probably would require surgery.

"But that can wait," Gray said. "We've got to get this case over with."

Suspects Held Without Bond

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A fifth person died today of wounds suffered in a shooting attack on participants in a weekend rally against the Ku Klux Klan.

Authorities said Michael R. Nathan, a physician from Durham, died late this morning in Moses Cone Hospital.

His death came as 14 suspects in Saturday's shootings were ordered held without bond after a judge described them as "imminently dangerous to the community."

District Court Judge Robert Cecil said the 14 men would be held in the Guilford County jail, pending probable cause hearings on Nov. 20.

Each of 12 defendants is charged with four counts of murder and one count of conspiracy to commit murder. Two others are charged with conspiracy to commit murder.

Handcuffed in pairs, the defendants all wore wrinkled jail-issued coveralls as they were brought into the courtroom. Cecil appointed attorneys to represent all but one, who said he had hired his own lawyer.

District Attorney Michael A. Schlosser described the defendants before the court as "a band of marauders, 14 strong, who descended on Guilford County."

Only one defendant made a statement in court.

"God save America and this honorable court," said Rayford Milano Caudle of Winston-Salem as he left the courtroom.

Persons outside the courtroom said they could hear voices singing "God Bless America" and "Onward Christian Soldiers" from the holding cell where the defendants were awaiting their court appearance.

In the meantime, the mayor of Greensboro promised an internal inquiry on how the police handled the violence Saturday that ended with four white men and a black woman dead and 10 other persons wounded. But civil rights groups have demanded an outside investigation of police actions.

Police said some of the suspects had declared they were members of the Ku Klux Klan, but local Klan leaders denied

West Texas Braces For Polar Front

A-J News Services

Cooler weather is in store for Lubbock and the South Plains tonight and Tuesday after passage of a polar cold front that was nearing the Panhandle late this morning.

Cold air behind the front was expected to drop temperatures to the mid-30s early Tuesday morning and hold them in the 50s Tuesday afternoon.

A Pacific cold air mass also was moving across West Texas this morning, but was not expected to have much effect on local weather.

Moisture rotating around a ridge of high pressure is likely to bring a chance of showers to the area about midweek, forecasters said.

Meanwhile, the mercury today should climb into the low 70s by mid-afternoon while westerly winds of 10 to 15 mph shift to northeasterly at 15 to 20 mph and gusty.

Temperatures over the area were relatively mild this morning, mostly in the 40s. Only four stations reported readings of freezing or lower — Muleshoe Wildlife Refuge with 28, Muleshoe with 30, Hereford with 32 and Dimmitt with 30.

Lubbock's low this morning was 42 degrees after a Sunday afternoon high of 72.

Extended forecast for the area for Wednesday through Friday calls for a chance of rain and continued cool weather at midweek followed by decreasing cloudiness and a warming trend toward the end of the week. By the end of the week or early next week, however, below normal temperatures are indicated for West Texas.

Elsewhere in the state today, there was some high cloudiness, although many areas were clear.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the high 20s in the Panhandle and northwest South Plains to the low 70s in the Corpus Christi area.

Meanwhile, parts of Montana, Wyoming and Colorado were blanketed with snow today, and forecasters predicted more of the same for those states as the arctic front spread through the western half of the United States.

Rain and thunderstorms developed in parts of Kansas and Nebraska. Rain also continued in parts of extreme northern California across western parts of Oregon and Washington. There were widely scattered showers along the northeastern coast of Florida.

The National Weather Service said snow would fall across parts of western and southern Montana and from South Dakota across Nebraska into Kansas. Occasional snow flurries were likely in parts of the Idaho mountains, Wyoming and the Colorado mountains.

Carter Signs Standby Gas Ration Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, saying the nation faces the possibility of gasoline shortages "at all times," today signed a bill that gives him power to ration gasoline if supplies are reduced substantially.

At a ceremony in the White House Cabinet Room, the president said a standby plan would be formulated in the next several months.

"I will try to do a good job ... to justify your confidence in us and present a rationing program that will be fair," Carter told several congressmen who attended.

Although the president had sought a standby rationing bill with fewer strings attached, the measure Congress passed last month gives him authority to devise and send to Congress a plan that distributes a gasoline shortage equally among states and takes into account the difference of the states.

The issue, a key element in Carter's energy plan, has been bitterly fought during three Congresses and two presidential administrations.

The bill gives Carter power to impose a rationing plan if gasoline or diesel fuel supplies are reduced by 20 percent and if the shortage seems likely to last for 30 days. The plan would take effect unless Congress objected within 15 days.

For shortages of less than 20 percent, the plan could take effect only with the approval of both houses of Congress.

Carter To Remain Busy As Opponents Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — On Wednesday, when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy announces his presidential challenge, President Carter will be engaged in a struggle for Senate support of the arms limitation treaty.

On Thursday, when Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California declares his presidential ambitions, Carter will be conferring with the prime minister of Ireland.

"A fairly routine week for us here," says White House press secretary Jody Powell.

This is the week, one year from Election Day 1980, when Carter comes face-to-face with the reality he has known for months: he is facing a stiff challenge for the Democratic nomination. Kennedy and Brown are hitting the road on cross-country campaign swings.

Carter is responding with a schedule lacking any overt political work.

Today, for example, he was to sign legislation giving him authority to impose gasoline rationing in a crisis. There is an arms treaty briefing, a breakfast meeting with the Democratic congressional leadership and a conference with economic advisers.

At the end of the week, there are three diplomatic events — the meeting with Ireland's Jack Lynch, a state dinner Thursday night for the prime minister, and then a trip to Canada for meetings with Canadian Prime Minister Joe Clark and a speech to the Parliament.

It all adds up to a fairly common campaign strategy for an incumbent: a portrait of the president hard at work on presidential matters while his work-be replacements are out chasing votes.

Carter's own candidacy will be announced Dec. 4. It will be followed by a cross-country fund-raising trip certain to gain him wide media coverage after this week's focus on the Kennedy and Brown announcements.

Powell predicted that a straw poll, taken in Ames, Iowa, at a Democratic Party fund-raising dinner Saturday night, would offer a counter-measure on behalf of Carter.

The poll results were expected to become available later today.

Another weekend poll, meanwhile, indicated that the scramble for the Republican nomination may be heating up, as George Bush finished unexpectedly strong in a straw vote at a Republican forum in Maine.

Bush got 466 votes, outpolling Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee, who had 426 votes, and former Texas Gov. John Connally, who got 236 votes.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, usually considered the front-running candidate among Republicans nationwide, came in a distant fourth, picking up only 98 votes. Reagan plans to declare his candidacy in New York on Nov. 13.

Baker's campaign since his formal declaration of candidacy last week had been aimed at winning the straw vote in Maine.

He said on Sunday, however, that he was encouraged to have finished ahead of Reagan. And Bush, Baker told television interviewers, "didn't win by much."

Kennedy, meanwhile, campaigned over the weekend in upstate New York and in West Virginia. He focused his attack on Carter administration energy policy, especially the president's support of lifting price controls from oil and natural gas.

This issue is almost guaranteed to be a dominant one in the cold-weather early-primary states, where both Kennedy and Brown are expected to tie soaring heating costs to Carter energy policy.

Brown's campaign manager, Tom Quinn, said the governor's official announcement had been planned for later in the year but was advanced due to concern over the media attention given the Kennedy campaign.

Quinn said Thursday's announcement would give Brown a chance to contrast his views with those of both Carter and Kennedy. And in New Orleans on Sunday, Brown called on his two opponents to debate with him before the New Hampshire primary.

After announcing in Washington, Brown will campaign on Kennedy's home turf, attending a party in Manchester, N.H., speaking the next day at Yale and campaigning in Boston on Nov. 10.

Also on Sunday, Patrick Lucey, who quit as U.S. ambassador to Mexico last week, announced his support of Kennedy.

Precinct Voting Locations Outlined

The following is a list of polling places to be used in Tuesday's constitutional amendments election.

A voter who lives within the Lubbock city limits should refer to the map on this page to determine his precinct number. That number should be compared to the precinct list to determine the proper polling place.

Voters living outside the city limits should refer to their voter registration cards to determine precinct numbers. Those numbers also may be used with this list to determine the location of polling places.

States To Contemplate Bottle Deposits, Taxes

By United Press International

Voters in three states decide Tuesday whether to require beverage container deposits, while Proposition 13-type tax measures are on the ballot in California, Oklahoma and Washington.

Washington and Ohio voters are being asked to require bottle deposits, while in Maine the issue is whether to repeal a "bottle bill" already passed by the legislature.

In all three states, industry has spent heavily to oppose the bottle bills, which are backed by environmentalists who say the measures would mean cleaner roadsides.

The Washington plan would order a nickel deposit in hopes people will return the bottles and cans for the money instead of turning them into litter. The Ohio measure would require a dime deposit and ban pull-top cans. Maine requires a nickel deposit.

Voters in Washington also vote on limiting taxes, with the plan before them requiring tax and spending increases.

Voters To Pick Next Governor

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Democrat William Winter and Republican Gil Carmichael, two veteran campaigners, meet in Tuesday's general election to decide who will be Mississippi's next governor — a prize that eluded both four years ago.

Winter is considered the favorite to maintain Democratic control of the office, but Carmichael is banking on a late surge in the rural vote to make him the state's first Republican governor since Reconstruction.

Winter, 56, is a former state legislator, state tax collector, state treasurer and lieutenant governor who lost Democratic runoff for governor in 1967 and 1975, but rebounded in the August runoff to beat Lt. Gov. Evelyn Gandy for the nomination.

Carmichael, 52, a millionaire Meridian automobile dealer, lost the 1972 race for the U.S. Senate, then made the Republicans' most serious bid for governor in 1975.

However, he lost by about 50,000 votes to Gov. Cliff Finch, who is barred by the state constitution from running again.

An estimated 650,000 voters are expected to turn out in more than 2,100 precincts to decide four contested statewide races and a raft of local offices plus two constitutional amendments.

In California, which began the taxpayer's revolt last year by approving tax-slashing Proposition 13, voters are expected to approve Proposition 4, which would limit state and local government spending.

It would limit budgets to increases in population and inflation. Voters could temporarily raise the limit, but officials could act without their approval in emergencies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — On Wednesday, when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy announces his presidential challenge, President Carter will be engaged in a struggle for Senate support of the arms limitation treaty.

On Thursday, when Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California declares his presidential ambitions, Carter will be conferring with the prime minister of Ireland.

"A fairly routine week for us here," says White House press secretary Jody Powell.

This is the week, one year from Election Day 1980, when Carter comes face-to-face with the reality he has known for months: he is facing a stiff challenge for the Democratic nomination. Kennedy and Brown are hitting the road on cross-country campaign swings.

Carter is responding with a schedule lacking any overt political work.

Today, for example, he was to sign legislation giving him authority to impose gasoline rationing in a crisis. There is an arms treaty briefing, a breakfast meeting with the Democratic congressional leadership and a conference with economic advisers.

At the end of the week, there are three diplomatic events — the meeting with Ireland's Jack Lynch, a state dinner Thursday night for the prime minister, and then a trip to Canada for meetings with Canadian Prime Minister Joe Clark and a speech to the Parliament.

It all adds up to a fairly common campaign strategy for an incumbent: a portrait of the president hard at work on presidential matters while his work-be replacements are out chasing votes.

Carter's own candidacy will be announced Dec. 4. It will be followed by a cross-country fund-raising trip certain to gain him wide media coverage after this week's focus on the Kennedy and Brown announcements.

Powell predicted that a straw poll, taken in Ames, Iowa, at a Democratic Party fund-raising dinner Saturday night, would offer a counter-measure on behalf of Carter.

The poll results were expected to become available later today.

Another weekend poll, meanwhile, indicated that the scramble for the Republican nomination may be heating up, as George Bush finished unexpectedly strong in a straw vote at a Republican forum in Maine.

Bush got 466 votes, outpolling Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee, who had 426 votes, and former Texas Gov. John Connally, who got 236 votes.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, usually considered the front-running candidate among Republicans nationwide, came in a distant fourth, picking up only 98 votes. Reagan plans to declare his candidacy in New York on Nov. 13.

Baker's campaign since his formal declaration of candidacy last week had been aimed at winning the straw vote in Maine.

He said on Sunday, however, that he was encouraged to have finished ahead of Reagan. And Bush, Baker told television interviewers, "didn't win by much."

Kennedy, meanwhile, campaigned over the weekend in upstate New York and in West Virginia. He focused his attack on Carter administration energy policy, especially the president's support of lifting price controls from oil and natural gas.

This issue is almost guaranteed to be a dominant one in the cold-weather early-primary states, where both Kennedy and Brown are expected to tie soaring heating costs to Carter energy policy.

Brown's campaign manager, Tom Quinn, said the governor's official announcement had been planned for later in the year but was advanced due to concern over the media attention given the Kennedy campaign.

Quinn said Thursday's announcement would give Brown a chance to contrast his views with those of both Carter and Kennedy. And in New Orleans on Sunday, Brown called on his two opponents to debate with him before the New Hampshire primary.

After announcing in Washington, Brown will campaign on Kennedy's home turf, attending a party in Manchester, N.H., speaking the next day at Yale and campaigning in Boston on Nov. 10.

Also on Sunday, Patrick Lucey, who quit as U.S. ambassador to Mexico last week, announced his support of Kennedy.

Breeding Of Arabian Horses Good Money-Earner In Poland

JANOW PODLASKI, Poland (AP) — U.S. Gen. George Patton saw the beautiful Arabian stallions first in the conquered Germany of 1945 and wasted no time.

"Put them aboard a plane for State-side," he ordered.

Germans, retreating before the Red Army in World War II, had stolen the horses from this small Polish town, some 60 miles east of Warsaw.

Patton's action caused a flurry of diplomatic notes and demarches. In the end, most of the horses were returned to Poland, but some remained in America, apparently because of the difficulty of tracing which horses came from where.

The borrowed horses established a line of Arabian horses in the United States, distinct from the more popular thoroughbreds, racehorses descended from breeding Arabian stallions with English mares.

Witez II, one of the Polish-Arabian stallions that spent time in the United States at the invitation of Patton, is regarded as the father of Arabian horses in America, officials at Janow said. His top U.S. descendants include Yatez, Natez and Bolero.

The United Nations charter was unanimously ratified by the Canadian House of Commons in 1945.

The stud farm at Janow has organized annual auctions for the past two decades, and buyers come from Western Europe and America. In the beginning, a good stallion sold for a couple of thousand dollars. Now the bidding starts at $25,000.

Today, Poland claims to be the top producer of Arabian horses in Europe, with its main world competition coming from Egypt.

The oldest Polish stud farm for Arabian horses was founded in 1817. The first horses were the progeny of horses captured in the Turkish wars of the 17th and 18th centuries.

A few years later a Polish aristocrat turned Moslem, Emir Rzewuski, who fought for the Arabs against the Turkish empire, stole some mares and a stallion from Nejd, in what is now Saudi Arabia, and brought them to Poland. Arabs sold stallions, but not mares.

The Janow stables and buildings were constructed by Polish-Italian architect Henryk Marconi. The best horses are kept in the main stable under the clock tower. They are almost invariably gray, but sometimes dapple-gray.

The current prize horse is Ellorus, sired by Ellor, and stable chief Kazimierz Szmikowski says he is priceless.

"Or perhaps we could put a price on him — something near half a million dollars — but we would hate to sell him even for that. Or Eucalyptus, who wins all the beauty contests."

At this year's auction, 28 horses were sold to bidders from the United States, France, West Germany, Belgium, Mexico and Sweden for a total of $846,000, the stud farm's director, Jerzy Krzysztalowicz, said.

In Janow there are now 450 horses, including foals. There are three more Arabian stud farms, which altogether have about 300 horses, in Michalow, Kurozweki and Walewice.

And there is also a private breeder near Lublin, eastern Poland, Stanislaw Brauer, who has about 15 horses. But breeding Arabian horses costs a lot of money, and last year Brauer had to sell his prime mare Murcia for $6,000 to earn money for the upkeep of his other Arabians.

Horse breeding is not only a good money-earner for Communist Poland, but Poles are among the top competitors in international horse shows. About 4,000 persons in the 35-million population country compete in horse jumping and other sports, the Polish Equestrian Association estimates.

About 40,000 persons ride regularly for recreation at some 250 clubs across the country, and horse racing is a popular sport in Poland and other Soviet-Bloc countries.

Crime Line Working 'Better Than Ever'

Lubbock law enforcement officials, using information received from persons calling Crime Line, have recovered more than $202,000 in stolen property and cleared 82 felonies to date. The special crime prevention program, which is funded entirely through donations, is working "better than ever," according to Mayor Dirk West, one of its founders.

Persons calling the Crime Line number with information that leads to the solution of a felony crime are eligible for cash rewards. Persons calling the line remain completely anonymous, and if they choose to testify their reward can be doubled.

Persons wishing to make donations to the Crime Line reward fund should mail their tax-deductible checks to Crime Line, Box 2000, Lubbock.

This week, Crime Line is posting rewards totaling $1,500 for information on a variety of crimes. West stresses that all felonies cleared through Crime Line, not just the ones listed in this column, are eligible for rewards.

Crime Line is offering $300 for information concerning the aggravated robbery of the Handy Hut convenience store at 2801 Ave. Q at 11 p.m. Oct. 26. The store manager told police a white male, age 18-25, with a medium build and blond hair told him "This is a hold-up. Open the drawer and give me all the money."

The manager said he opened the drawer and the robber, dressed in a green flowered shirt and blue jeans, took all the bills. The manager said the man stated he had a gun but never showed it.

The robber ran east down 28th street after grabbing an undetermined amount of cash.

Lubbock police are seeking three fugitives through Crime Line this week. Information on any of these men could be worth a $300 reward.

In the first case, police are searching for Pete Arenas Manriquez, a Mexican-American male, 35 years old, standing 5-foot-11 and weighing 150 pounds. Manriquez, who has black hair, brown eyes and tattoos of a woman's head, boxing gloves and a woman in a blanket on his left arm, is wanted for the unlawful carrying of a weapon, which is a felony. A warrant for his arrest has been issued and he is currently a felony, said police.

The second man police are looking for is David Berrall McBrewer, who is charged with aggravated robbery. He is described as a black male, 22 years old, standing 5-foot-9 and weighing 150 pounds. He has black hair, brown eyes and a burn scar on his right forearm.

Also wanted by police is Joe Bob Wilson, a Mexican-American male, age 32, who is charged with delivery of controlled substance and revocation of probation. He is described as being 5-foot-8, 135 pounds, with brown hair, brown eyes, scars over both eyes and a tattoo at the base of his right thumb. Information on any of these men could get the caller $300 in reward money.

And, Crime Line is seeking to solve the burglary of an apartment at 2121 18th St., which cost the tenant $4,154 worth of property.

Police said the burglary occurred Oct. 27, after entry was gained when someone pried open the front door with a screwdriver or similar object. Taken in the burglary were: a Sony TC1778D cassette recorder-player; a Sony 19" color TV, model No. 91C40; a Pioneer receiver-amplifier model No. SV1010, serial no. U13914067M; and an assortment of canned foods.

Also taken were: A Mr. Coffee coffee-maker; 10 pairs of ladies size 5 1/2 shoes; a full-length size 7 fur coat; a patchwork rabbit coat; a quilted black car coat; several more coats and suits of clothes; some towels; an assortment of jewelry and a HBO unit.

Crime Line is offering a reward of $300 for information leading to the solution of this burglary.

Minister Says KKK March United Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A weekend march staged by the Ku Klux Klan in downtown Dallas brought the city's citizens closer together, says a minister.

"Bigotry and hatred are not yet dead in Dallas, this so-called city of excellence" said Rev. Zan Holmes. "We ought to thank them for reminding us we have not yet overcome."

Holmes made his remarks Saturday after more than 30 robed Klansmen, surrounded by police wearing riot helmets and carrying billy clubs, marched through the downtown area for the first time in almost 60 years.

Hundreds of hostile spectators walked beside the group, yelling obscenities and threats.

An hour later, about 2,000 members of the Coalition for Human Equality staged a counter demonstration, protesting everything from the "racism of the Klan" to the "conservatism of city administrators."

During the 20-minute KKK march, several spectators attempted to break through police lines. Three persons apparently angered by chants of "White Power" were arrested by police.

The parade, billed as "The March of the Christian Soldiers" to "save the white race" ended abruptly when police, fearing trouble would develop, herded the group into the basement of the Dallas County Courthouse.

"I'm mad at the police," said Addie Barlow Frazier, the 73-year-old grandmother who organized the march. "They wouldn't let us hold a rally at Dealy Plaza. Yet they allowed the burrheads and the apes to go down to city hall and yack all they want. That should tell you who's running this city."

Both demonstrations were staged after U.S. District Judge Robert Porter refused Friday to block the Klan march.

SPEECH IMPAIRMENT
NEW YORK (AP) — Well over 95 percent of the cases involving the loss or impairment of power to use words (aphasia) result from damage to the left hemisphere of the brain, according to Scientific American magazine.

Regulated Insurance For Autos Praised

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A new federal report shows Texans are better off with regulated car insurance rates than they would be if pricing were competitive, the president of the Independent Insurance Agents of Texas said today.

Tom Baker of Houston said a study just released by the General Accounting Office gives Texas high marks for its auto insurance rate regulation.

"This is good news for independent agents and their customers because it will take the wind out of the sails of the groups pushing for deregulation of auto insurance in Texas," Baker said.

Rates are set uniformly for all companies in Texas, but many are allowed to charge less than the standard rates.

Independent Living Sought For Disabled

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Louise Lundblad, backed by optimism and "sheer luck," has found her way out of the "Catch-22" situation that imprisons many handicapped people. Now she is trying to help others make the break.

For more than a year now, Miss Lundblad, 30, who has been bound to a wheelchair since a swimming accident left her paralyzed 15 years ago, has been living on her own. She maintains her own apartment and gets herself to and from work.

"The one thing that I've learned about independent living is that it's really great," she said in a recent telephone interview. "It makes you feel very good about yourself."

Miss Lundblad, who earned her bachelor's degree from Sacred Heart University where she majored in English, moved to Farmington in the summer of 1978 on a leave from Xerox Corp. in Stamford. She worked as production editor for the company's division on learning systems and lived with her parents in nearby Ridgefield.

For nearly a year she lobbied the General Assembly for a bill that is making it easier for about 10,000 severely disabled persons to live on their own by providing payment of up to 100 percent for personal care assistance. The bill was signed into law in July.

Previously, the state paid for attendant care only for those handicapped people living in a nursing home and who weren't working.

That meant that a disabled person who managed to get past the initial obstacles — finding a job, an accessible apartment and transportation — spent nearly all earnings paying for non-medical personal care and assistance for things like dressing, bathing and house cleaning.

Miss Lundblad said she had run into problems, although not unexpectedly, trying to set up an adequate living situation but finally "landed with my feet on the ground."

She found an accessible apartment and a University of Hartford student who provides her with attendant care in exchange for room and board. Several years earlier Miss Lundblad, who has no use of her legs and limited use of her arms, had bought a van equipped with a hydraulic lift and hand controls.

Since passage of the bill, she has turned her attention to a project she hopes will enable other handicapped people "to do what I'm doing."

Miss Lundblad, through the Connecticut Coordinating Committee for the Handicapped, is spearheading a project that would make available to handicapped people seven Hartford apartments — six of them for the handicapped themselves and the seventh for attendant care. That would allow the handicapped residents to pool their personal-care costs.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) When it comes to managing things for others tomorrow, you'll be able to do so masterfully. Where your own affairs are concerned, you may not be as adept.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Things will work out smoothly tomorrow if you make an extra effort to see things from the other fellow's point of view. Don't be one-sided.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The only thing that could defeat you is your own lack of will and determination. Display courage and you can meet all challenges.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may face a problem tomorrow similar to one that confronted you in the past. Apply the lessons learned from experience and you'll come out the victor.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Where your goals are concerned tomorrow, be content with slow but steady progress instead of trying to do everything in one fell swoop. You'll get there eventually.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Jumping to conclusions tomorrow could cause you unnecessary grief. Study all the facts from every angle before passing judgment or making decisions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you're involved in any financial arrangements tomorrow, make sure everything is clearly spelled out in advance. Nebulous deals could cost you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone who is very fond of you may be a bit more sensitive than usual tomorrow. You could cause hurt feelings if this person thinks he or she is being taken for granted.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Although you may be a trifle inconvenienced by a favor asked of you tomorrow, don't let this person down if he or she went to bat for you in the past.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Friends will find more to admire in you tomorrow if you forego any type of pretense. There is enough to like in you if you'll just be yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There will be ample opportunities to further your ambitions tomorrow, although you may have some difficulty in getting yourself to believe this is true.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Deal with life realistically tomorrow instead of being a wishful thinker. You can solve your problems if your approach is logical.

BICYCLES, EXERCISERS, CEILING FANS, TOO

South Plains Schwinn Heavily Stocked, Filling Bicycle Needs

"If you appreciate selecting from the very largest bicycle selection in this region, then we invite you to come out to South Plains Schwinn, 3651 34th St., where there presently are over 500 bicycles in stock... yes, a half-thousand on hand, not just on order!"

This selection, along with the related accessories, customer appreciation and capacity for service... all say "welcome" in a very real sense to South Plains Schwinn.

The husband-wife team of Don and Wanda Fullwood established the Schwinn dealership about a year ago at this same location and they have been accorded a fast-increasing trade. They are West Texas natives, and Don is a '63 graduate of Texas Tech.

"Thank you for the confidence and patronage that has made growth of our firm possible. We shall do all in our power to merit your continued trade and friendship."

So much could be said in behalf of the type store provided by South Plains Schwinn, and only a thumbnail sketch is given here; we hope you'll make a visit to the facility in person and note just how very much is offered for the customers' benefit.

A Complete Store
It is a Schwinn bicycle store, not just a shop, and it is spacious, neatly and tractively arranged, with an open display enabling full inspection and comparison of units.

Complete repair and service is afforded on any make bicycle. A complete parts and accessory department is maintained.

South Plains Schwinn is a bicycle motocruss dealer. Schwinn exercisers, with a quality well known, are stocked, and these units actually are recommended by many doctors, Fullwood emphasizes.

Casa Blanca Fans
Casa Blanca fans are stocked, too, great for comfort and energy saving in the winter months and summer time alike.

Bicycles stocked include a wide range from the "Little Tiger" for age 2 and under, to the Super Le Tour II, 12-speed 28-lb. ultra-light bicycle.

With all this on hand, it makes good sense to select now and layaway for Christmas. Gift certificates are available, too, and both Visa and Master Charge purchases are welcomed.

'Fitting' Important
Don and Wanda, both factory-trained repairmen, know their bicycles and they are very particular in seeing that the bicycle "fits" in every transaction, as the fit to the bike is most important for enjoyment, comfort and safety.

Even though Schwinn has a 30-day check-up program, Fullwood goes even further to provide a free 90-day check up service.

Every unit is assembled and adjusted and ready to ride before it is sold.

Free repair estimates are given on any repair job, with labor prices clearly posted within the store. There are no "surprises" on repair bills at South Plains Schwinn.

Comparative shopping is encouraged... whether for the bicycles, exercisers, accessories or the Casa Blanca fans for which the firm is authorized dealer.

South Plains Schwinn is open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays. No abbreviated hours here, even on Saturday!

"South Plains Schwinn is recommended as providing a little more, working a little harder, providing the extras that mean so much in product enjoyment. They only want the opportunity to serve, and now would be a very good time for making acquaintance... while selection is complete and everything possible has been done to make shopping for Christmas really convenient. Remember the location, 3651 34th St., where scads of off-street parking is immediately to front of the big South Plains Schwinn facility. We hope to see you and serve you soon."

"Something better for your home" is the watchword at each area Spring Crest facility, at Spring Crest Draperies, 5302 Ave. Q, in Briercroft Shopping Center in Lubbock, and at the newer but already popular Spring Crest store, under same ownership, at 2613 Yonkers in Plainview.

"Come in to either store... the one most convenient in your own situation, and see the most beautiful draperies in the world: Spring Crest.

Ben and Brenda Powell are owners and they are most appreciative of the

Why is Spring Crest different? They must be seen to be thoroughly appreciated."

Furthermore, aside from their beauty and simplicity, they are competitively priced. Spring Crest Draperies of Lubbock and Plainview stocks a complete line of drapery fabrics.

A large line of decorator rods is stocked.

Business & Industrial Review

'Best Without Exorbitant Cost' Said True At University Manor

"It costs no more to have the best." This is the observation that has become the motto of University Manor, state licensed Medicaid Type 3 home with purpose of furnishing aging and chronically ill senior citizens a safe, wholesome and comfortable place in which to live with a homelike atmosphere in quiet surroundings.

Privately and locally owned, University Manor is at 2400 Quaker Ave., phone (806) 792-2831, in Lubbock.

Janell Burns Alexander, lifelong Lubbock resident, is administrator.

Ann Green, LVN, also a longtime Lubbock resident, is director of nursing for the 96-bed facility; Gail Hanson is director of activities; and Grace Hardison is Food Service director.

Physical facilities at University Manor, together with the dedicated, qualified leadership and staff, make for residence there a very pleasant experience, more than a few "who know" will attest.

Men and women, including married couples, may enter the home without age restrictions.

By Doctors' Referral

All residents must have doctors' referral; and local physicians are encouraged to use University Manor for their patients who need nursing care.

Activities are a major factor in the life of each individual, with University Manor offering a variety of programs and opportunities.

University Manor personnel devotes as much time as possible to each resident patient, trying to learn the dislikes or preferences of each in order to give the best service possible, maintaining an active and happy atmosphere.

Churches and civic groups also devote much time to residents at University Manor, and the staff encourages such interest and worship.

The planned activities are very much a part of the University Manor program, including games, entertainment and numerous craft pursuits. Parties are arranged at frequent intervals.

Truly, every phase of operation at University Manor points to the fact that "it costs no more to enjoy the best".

Visits, calls or letter inquiries are invited for full information.

The Medicine Shoppe, Locally Owned, Tells Unique Benefits

"In choosing your pharmacist, are you aware of the special services and even the opportunity to save money, all made possible by The Medicine Shoppe, 4021 34th St., phone 797-0282?"

"As a locally-owned pharmacy with a working affiliation with Medicine Shoppe International, the nation's largest chain of prescription centers, we are able to keep overhead and administrative costs low. As a result, we are able to offer low prices on all products. (And there are a number of free services, and even generic products, and other factors that work for your benefit at The Medicine Shoppe.)"

Ron Crow, Lubbock resident and pharmacist at a Lubbock drugstore for 12 years, is owner and pharmacist at The Medicine Shoppe that he opened some seven months ago at the convenient 34th Street location.

Crow, a Canyon native, attended WTSC there and finished his studies at the School of Pharmacy at Southwestern State University in Oklahoma in 1967. He is a member of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association and the American Association. His wife, Nancy, teaches in Lubbock Public Schools, and they have two daughters, Kelli, 16, and Torri, 13.

On a regular basis, The Medicine Shoppe in Lubbock offers free services such as health screenings. High blood pressure, diabetes, glaucoma, hearing loss and carbon monoxide poisoning are just a few of the serious health problems for which Medicine Shoppe customers can be screened, Crow reports.

"We see the pharmacist as part of the health care team," he emphasizes.

"We believe these screening programs will create awareness among local residents and provide early detection for potential victims of serious health problems. My aim is maintenance of the image of the shoppe as a professional health care center, which provides services particularly beneficial to those on limited incomes or with incomes that cannot keep pace with spiraling prices."

Added Savings Told

At The Medicine Shoppe a unique customer registration program is provided in which senior citizens and registered groups are eligible for additional discounts on prescriptions, vitamins and health-related items, Crow adds.

"If you purchase a product at another store which is normally carried by your Medicine Shoppe, for whatever reason, simply save your receipt and return it to your Medicine Shoppe and they will issue you a credit for the entire difference in price!"

Medicine Shoppes will complete a customer transaction within 15 minutes, too, or Medicine Shoppe International will issue a $1 credit for any inconvenience (not applicable to multiple transactions, compounding or outside consultation, of course).

Generics Included

As for savings on generics, these are available at The Medicine Shoppe together with the other prescription drugs. Not all prescription drugs are available as generic equivalents, but about 40 percent of the most frequently prescribed drugs are available as generics. Ask your Medicine Shoppe pharmacist about your prescription; he can be of benefit to everyone who wants to save money!

The Medicine Shoppe, 4021 34th St., phone 797-0282, is open every weekday, 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. through Fridays, and from 9 until 1 on Saturdays.

"We at The Medicine Shoppe are dedicated to filling your needs so you will come back again and again!"

Business & Industrial Review
New Container Dumper Used, Patented, Marketed By Fabit

It is making news!
 "We are speaking of Fabit Corporation's new Container Dumper, selling for use with both new and existing equipment and also utilized in Fabit's own Refuse Services Division, where side-loading refuse containers are serviced in and around Lubbock."
 Why is the Container Dumper excitingly new, different and efficient?
 Consider the following:
 It is manufactured in Lubbock by the highly capable Fabit Corp. and is being used commercially in the firm's own business, also available for purchase for use on new equipment or to replace other container dumping mechanisms.
 It is covered by U.S. Patent No. 3,881,616.

This new model is an improvement over earlier machines, including those by Fabit. It picks up and dumps refuse containers from the side of the truck by means of hydraulic cylinders, thus eliminating cables, chains, sprockets and related drive components that have been a source of trouble on earlier side-loading units.
 The Container Dumper handles heavier loads and is even faster than earlier models. Its simplicity and its reliance on hydraulic cylinders for power are expected to make this machine the most efficient and trouble-free on the market, it is reported.

"Since the Container Dumper outperforms other available equipment, Fabit Corp. expects it to sell readily for use on new side-loading trucks and also as a replacement for worn-out or less-efficient dumping equipment. While it currently is designed to dump steel containers in size from 1 1/2 to 4 cubic yards, it is capable of being adapted to handle larger containers, or even plastic containers."
 One must see this unit in operation to appreciate fully its utility and the engineering that has made it so simple and efficient . . . by Fabit.

Division Serves Well
 Fabit solicits customers in its several departments, with special attention at this time directed to the Refuse Service Division.
 Providing side-loading container service in and around Lubbock, the Refuse Service Division is in full operation, servicing enthusiastic customers who appreciate the convenience and reliability.
 "Fabit can work for you, too!"

CONTAINER-DUMPER ELIMINATES PROBLEMS

Already established and known for its versatility in custom fabrication, manufacturing of complete machines or parts, the most recent expansion as announced by Clyde A. Blakeley, president, has proven of special benefit to commercial and industrial accounts in Lubbock and neighboring communities.

The Refuse Services Division is geared to manufacture, sell, lease, service and trade refuse containers.

Advantages Cited
 The service is unique in that it uses new automatic side-loading container dumping equipment. Company officials state that the new equipment is better suited for use in narrow alleys or curbside container installation and that it does not spill as much trash as front-loading container systems.

Lubbock-Owned, Operated
 Refuse Services Division is headquartered at the Fabit Corp. location at 1408 N. Quirt Ave. in Lubbock.

The division is managed by Ted Ratcliff IV who is a 1971 graduate of Texas Tech University with a B.S. degree in Industrial Engineering.

Ratcliff has been chief engineer for Fabit Corp. for over four years.

"Refuse Services Division's side-loading container service is cleaner, faster and quieter."

Furthermore, there is provided one source for:

- (1) Dependable refuse container service with the best equipment;
- (2) Container purchasing, front or side loading containers.

Advantages of the side-loading equipment are quite evident, Blakeley and Ratcliff point out:

It spills far less trash than front-loading systems, especially in windy weather.

Safety is another big factor, as the truck doesn't back; it just stops, dumps, then goes on, and the driver can see the container during the entire operation.

If noise is a factor, consider the advantage of a container firmly held and handled gently, without banging and clattering and with far less damage.

Hearing Aid From Sonotone-Lubbock Could Be Finest Of Christmas Gifts

"In planning ahead for fullest holiday enjoyment by the entire family, in making life richer for someone who might have a hearing problem, have you considered a gift certificate from Sonotone-Lubbock, independent multi-line hearing aid dealer?"

Such thoughtfulness is nothing new with customers of Louise Bills, certified hearing aid audiologist, and with long-time staff member Ralph Huntington, at Sonotone-Lubbock, 2318 Broadway, phone 762-5469.

As one woman wrote Louise:
 "Happiness is wearing a Starkey C.E. It is all you said it was, and then some."
 "Can you benefit, too, by availing yourself of these services?"

"Too many people don't realize they have a hearing problem. If you have a hearing problem or even suspect that you may have one, that visit or call you make to Sonotone-Lubbock may be the most important one you will ever make."

About the Starkey, one of the recommended lines at Sonotone-Lubbock:

Hundreds Assisted
 "In the past five years, Starkey Labs has become the world's largest manufacturer of all-in-the-ear hearing aids. Their phenomenal growth is due to the proper fit of each custom-ordered aid to the shape of one's ear and particular hearing loss. We are so confident that you will be satisfied that you will receive a full refund within 30 days if you are not completely satisfied."

Ask yourself these questions:

"Do you hear, but don't understand?"

"Do you ask people to repeat?"

"Do you have difficulty hearing in noisy places?"

"Do you hear as well as you think you could or should?"

If these or any other hearing problems apply, then turn to Sonotone-Lubbock, 2318 Broadway, for counsel and advice . . . and the greatest products imaginable.

Window Place Assures Elegance, Complete Interior Design Aid

"Tailored elegance for your home," this is the whole business and interest of the Window Place, 1919 Ave. Q (upstairs), phone 765-9494.

Affording complete interior design service, the Window Place understands can make the promise:
 "If it goes on windows, we have it, can make it or can get it!"

First located at 4204 50th St., the Window Place is three years old but has close ties with its parent company, Williams Draperies, that marks 30 years service in Lubbock.

Charles Addington is owner of the Window Place. He is a longtime Lubbock resident, a graduate of Lubbock High School and Texas Tech, and before entering business taught for seven years at Whittarrel. His wife, Alicia Addington, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Royce Williams, assist in the Window Place, essentially a family operation. On the staff are two very qualified, respected and well-known interior designers, Darla Loving and Ammie Whaley, together with other staff members as necessary to serve the public superbly in all retail interior design situations.

For all types of window covering, for wallpaper, upholstered walls, custom and ready-made bedspreads, shutters, woven woods, mini blinds and more, the Window Place has met the customers' needs for years.
 Free estimates in home or business in a service, of course, anywhere in the area.

"Actually, we do lots of work that others won't touch," reports the owner. "We welcome the difficult jobs and the hard-to-do windows . . . and we have never had to tell anyone that 'we can't do it.'"

In getting the home ready for the holidays, Addington reminds that time is growing short, but at this date the Window Place still can take Christmas orders. But hurry!

For window needs, for complete interior design service, for commercial interiors as well as those for the home, the Window Place invites consideration and comparison.

Insulating Windows Advantages Include New World of Savings

"Put your windows to work conserving energy!"
This is not a trite suggestion, but rather a very practical procedure. Aluminum replacement windows, storm windows and storm doors can be a great factor in energy conservation, in comfort, in economy and in the over-all beauty of the home.
And these windows and doors can be custom made for you, right here in Lubbock at Insulating Windows, Inc., now in its new home at 327 E. 74th St. (formerly serving at 1616 Ave. F).
Come by the big new facility or call Insulating Windows at 745-5768 for full details about how this experienced firm can work for you.

(Insulation-related installations can qualify for income tax credit, too, it is reminded by the manufacturing firm.)
For All-Year Comfort
Insulating Windows, Inc. can open a whole new world in one's enjoyment of the home every day of the year, winter and summer, with the finest in storm windows and doors, with insulating windows enhancing the beauty, comfort and hospitality of the home... and there still is time to do all this before Christmas and holiday entertaining... but hurry!
Properly designed, properly located and properly used windows actually can reduce heating and air conditioning costs, research has proven. In winter, now at hand, a window can capture the sun's warmth while providing a barrier to heating system losses.

"Proper windows would seem to be a very, very rational approach to energy conservation... and with the help of the experienced staff at Insulating Windows, Inc., the job is simplified... with you, the customer, benefitting now and for seasons to come."
Don't delay; call (806) 745-5768 or come by and visit the new home of Insulating Windows, Inc., 327 E. 74th St. (just south of Loop 289).

Specialization, Practical Experience Spells Satisfaction At Don Crow Firm

Leon Roberts, specializing in brake, front end, power steering and other service areas, is one of the staff at Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., exemplary of the emphasis there on "know how," professionalism, record of achievement and customer consideration.
Roberts is no newcomer to the trade or to Lubbock. Actually, he marks 20 years related experience right within Lubbock dealerships and independent garages, making a lot of friends along the way. His work history includes several years as service manager for other dealerships.
"I invite all old friends and customers to come by and visit with me at Don Crow Chevrolet, Slide Road at South Loop 289 where all service work is guaranteed 90 days or 4,000 miles on all General Motors parts and accessories."

Roberts calls attention to several specialties posted in his particular area of specialization at Don Crow Chevrolet:
Front end alignment still is only $15.95, including free inspection of the front end (applicable to all American-made GM cars and light duty trucks).
Wheel balance and rotation is specially priced at $18.95 on all cars and light duty trucks except front wheel drive and magnesium or aluminum wheels.

The complete brake special is just $79.95, including replacing front pads, repacking front wheel bearings, replacing rear shoes, turning both rotors and turning both rear drums.
And now with the change of seasons, a tune-up could be of utmost benefit, and Don Crow priced now at $29.95 on American-made GM cars and trucks equipped with high energy ignition.
For a staff with technical experience, special training and record of service... Don Crow Chevrolet invites one's complete confidence. Men such as Leon Roberts make this invitation possible and meaningful.

ON PERFORMANCE TEAM — Leon Roberts, longtime Lubbock specialist in brake, front end, power steering and other auto repair needs, is shown at the Don Crow Chevrolet firm beginning a brake job. Attractive prices for services in the related department are outlined in the accompanying report by Roberts.

LELLEM WELCH KEEPS 'MR. WINTER' OUTSIDE WHERE HE BELONGS

Lellem Welch Stresses Precautions, Products That Reduce Energy Costs

"Well, Old Man Winter is up to his old tricks . . . trying to sneak into our warm houses!

"And if the past few days are any indication of our weather to come, we're going to find it very expensive to stay warm this winter; yes, the heating season is upon us, along with those expensive heating bills.

"So we at Lellem Welch, Inc., 1401 Ave. J, phone 762-8797, in Lubbock, would like to suggest that you clean up or change that furnace filter, oil the motor and remove any old oily rags or paint that you might have stored in that heater closet last summer."

"Welch has a large supply of hard-to-find filters, and if we don't have them in stock, we are able to cut one or more to size."

Humidifiers Advised

Also it is pointed out that with the shutting of doors and windows at this time to keep our homes warm, it is to the advantage of the homeowner to consider a humidifier to add moisture to the heated air of the residence. The more the air is heated, the dryer the air becomes, and moisture is taken from plants, carpets, furniture and anywhere else moisture has collected during the preceding months.

Lellem Welch has several humidifier models from which to choose in the April Air line, also stocking parts for humidifiers.

Customers often are surprised to learn that many different humidifier parts are interchangeable.

Welch provides a plumbing and heating service as well as a plumbing and heating retail sales store for the do-it-yourselfer.

Advice is available on just about anything one might need to know on how to fix a wall heater, floor furnace, forced air furnace or unit heater, just to name a few situations.

Mobile homes need a little tender loving care during the winter, also; so how about putting heat tapes and insulation on those water lines? A few dollars now can save a big repair bill on frozen and burst water lines later. Welch has heat tapes from three to 100 ft. length, and roll insulation for water lines 3 inches to 6 inches wide; so wrap-on heat tapes and insulation are very good investments for that mobile home, for sure.

"Most people actually don't pay much attention to the appliances used for home heating, but with the cost of energy going up for both gas and electricity, we need to begin to attempt reduction of heating costs in the home. Right?"

Filters Important

Therefore, clean filters are a "must" for efficient heating operation. Dirty filters eat up energy by making the furnace motor run longer and harder (because less air is pulled over the heat exchanger and a burned up motor is expensive to replace. Setting the thermostat lower also helps.

The addition of a humidifier will help, too, making lower room temperatures more pleasant.

"Properly humidified air can help to repel upper respiratory ailments aggravated by too-dry air. In many cases, where excessive dryness has been diagnosed as the cause of those aggravations, doctors have prescribed humidification. Ask your doctor for his recommendations.

"For comfort, it is pointed out that if the humidity level in the home is too low, you may feel cold, even at 75-degree temperature setting. Proper humidification reduces the rate of evaporation from the skin and makes the room feel warmer. Those annoying wintertime static electricity shocks are reduced, too. Use the April Air humidifier.

"For protection, April Air humidifiers provide the answer. Dry, heated air draws moisture from everything in the home — woodwork, furnishings, books, the piano or organ. It can cause walls and ceilings to crack and make fabrics and carpeting wear out too fast. Proper humidification provides the protection that's needed."

Air Cleaners

Also, with the addition of a Space Gard air cleaner, you can have a cleaner home and also remove up to 99 per cent of pollen and spores, the Lellem Welch firm emphasizes.

"Now, you should also remember to put in the damper on the evaporative cooler so that expensive warm air doesn't just go right out the roof. Cover that evaporative cooler with a cover to also help, holding that warm air.

"If you don't have a damper, our stock of covers is still good with most sizes available."

"Mr. Winter is here, and we at Lellem Welch, Inc., 1401 Ave. J, are here to help keep him outside the door!"

Style, Quality, Wide Choices Mark Optical Store & Boutique

"Our Boutique is Unique" is the motto but nevertheless an understatement of the services and products of the Optical Store and Boutique, 5202 Slide Road, phone 792-0901.

"Situations on every hand call for constant awareness of correct optical needs, and this awareness should well extend to the benefits afforded by Optical Store & Boutique where we know we can serve you within one or more of our departments.

Video Utilized

"Here's something of special interest that we want you to consider, regardless of your eyewear situation, especially if you have too often found yourself in this predicament.

"Upon selecting new frames for your eyewear, hoping of course to get those frames that look the very best on you, desiring frames with which you would be pleased day in and day out, you have found that selection was difficult because in trying them on, with your present glasses 'off,' you just couldn't see to select intelligently?"

The Optical Store & Boutique, just south of 50th & Slide, has done something about this!

New video tape equipment has been installed to enable one to be photographed with the various frames, then the tape is played back through a color television set to enable one to see exactly how the frames look upon him or her!

"Doesn't this make sense?"

"We at The Optical Store & Boutique think so, and we believe we are the first optical company in Lubbock to offer this brand new innovation to optical dispensing.

"We believe it is general knowledge that quality lines in frames and glasses are just as near The Optical Store & Boutique.

Suggestions Made

Thoroughly in keeping with the firm's consideration of the customer's welfare, the folks there emphasize:

- (1) Children should have an eye examination annually.
- (2) Adults should take the same step every two years;
- (3) Even if one does not wear glasses, eye examination on a systematic schedule is recommended.
- (4) See your eye doctor and then when glasses are advised, bring his prescription to us at The Optical Store & Boutique, and we'll prove our uniqueness and capabilities, with you benefiting.

"We want to see you keep your frames in good repair; and we'll help if you simply give us the chance!"

Enviably Frame Selection

"And did you realize that The Optical Store & Boutique stocks the complete spectrum in frames, including a utility selection combining style with surprisingly low price?"

Departments Listed

A departmentalized arrangement of rooms and areas provides four distinct categories in our service: (1) utility selection, (2) another where quality is the sole consideration, (3) designer frames, and finally (4) the Boutique.

So, whether the attractively priced lines in frames and glasses for the student, as example, or the very finest in choices from the Designer collection or the unusual and expensive lines within the Boutique are preferred, this Lubbock facility is outstanding, in a class by itself.

Upon entry into The Optical Store & Boutique, one is impressed with the pleasing but striking decor (such as the art deco in the Designer Room carried out in mirrors, pictures and fixtures), a customer consideration that exemplifies the firm's uniqueness.

One may first discover the Designer Collection where an area is devoted entirely to designer frames by Ralph Lauren, Givenchy, Diane Von Fustenberg, Oscar de la Renta and other top designers.

Then there is the Children's Corner in another segment of the complex.

And who could not help but be most intrigued by the Boutique where antique decor dominates and where the unusual and expensive lines are displayed. Some glasses are set with diamonds, some with 18k gold settings, some with real cultured pearls. Custom design with special precious stones, etc., is a specialty.

Lines are out-of-the-ordinary, with some exclusive in Lubbock to the Boutique, such as the Martin Creations from West Germany.

"See what we mean when we say that 'Our Boutique is Unique,' providing a product and service seldom experienced anywhere?"

Now, Smallwoods, at 3019 34th St., is independent dealer for the prestigious Magnavox TV, stereo, radio and tape line!

ARCADIA STONE, GREAT FOR REMODELING, ADDITIONS, NEW IDEAS

New Location, New Facilities
Now Reality for Arcadia Stone

"Did you realize that Arcadia Stone in Lubbock has a new home?"

Arcadia Stone Co., Inc., long at 1922 Ave. E. is now in big new facilities at 327 E. 74th St., just off the Loop 289 access road in southeast Lubbock; phone 745-6328.

We at Arcadia Stone, in our new home, invite your visits, inquiries and inspection. Most likely you have observed and admired the use of Arcadia Stone in homes, businesses, yards or institutions in your neighborhood or community, wherever you live within the South Plains area. We would consider it a privilege to give a free estimate in your own situation.

For a truly beautiful and functional fireplace, for stone work to modernize an existing home or business, to be utilized in expansion or new construction, commercially or for the home, Arcadia Stone is the firm to know.

"Individuals and contractors alike, throughout the region, have voiced enthusiasm for Arcadia Stone. This is no surprise, for after all, can you imagine a lightweight and durable man-made stone at a fraction of the cost of some other materials, and available in seven decorator colors?"

Full details of the product and services are available at the home-owned and home-operated Arcadia Stone Co., Inc.

Arcadia stone has been used for exceptional beauty and warmth in numerous area situations... commercial and residential. It can be used wherever stone or masonry veneer is desired. It can be used to veneer complete homes or to enhance the quality of one's present residence.

Arcadia Stone is an enduring investment, whether for attractive fireplaces, for beautiful wall and floor tiles, for stepping stones, even the very popular exterior use on metal buildings. (Or interrior walls for offices, as another practical and functionally-beautiful usage.)

Arcadia Stone is ideal for other interior ornamental work such as walls, arches, columns and planters; it affords the attractive way to add a distinctive new look to the home's interior.

The Lubbock firm has its own installation crews, or one can purchase the stone for "do-it-yourself" projects.

Adaptable for either inside or exterior use, Arcadia Stone is flexible; it can be used on any sound surface including metal, wood, block and even sheetrock. It can add architectural beauty to shopping centers, commercial and professional buildings.

Maybe it is an entryway, a bath or a kitchen... or exterior landscaping and fences... whatever the situation, Arcadia Stone is an attractive accent.

"And don't forget our new address and phone number, 327 E. 74th St., phone 745-6328."

Harold Harvey Agency Assures Up-To-Date Insurance Services

"Isn't it most, most advisable to keep your insurance program up to date, programmed to meet the needs of today and tomorrow?"

"Have you checked your insurance situation lately to determine if it meets the test of present needs?"

"Does your homeowners policy have inflation-guard endorsement to assure funds for replacement, regardless of inflation?"

"Does your insurance fully serve the purpose of your personal preference?"

"And does it need review by a knowledgeable expert in the field?"

Then, turn to Harold Harvey, whether the need is for complete planning, for review, for mortgage cancellation life insurance or whatnot.

Harold Harvey's continuing efforts and subsequent successes in insurance service are matter of record.

For a fact, the Harold Harvey Agency (No. 5, Briercroft Office Park, phone 747-6673) can materially assist, professionally and correctly, in the insurance picture.

Harvey takes pride in representing companies with good records, and prompt payments can be (and should be) a big factor in choosing one's insurance agent. Harvey prides in promptness.

The Harold Harvey Agency calls to attention some other situations in which they can be of prime benefit:

"Re-evaluation of one's insurance makes good sense what with property values going up every day."

Harvey points out the value of an "inflation-guard endorsement" that annually increases the insurance coverage of the home. This endorsement can be put on an annual basis on current home-owners' policies at a cost far from prohibitive. It provides a realistic protection of values.

"Specializing in fire and casualty insurance, the Harold Harvey Agency can render services that can be rewarding for every client.

Among the key areas in which Harvey can render a special service is that of home owners mortgage cancellation life insurance, paying off the mortgage in full should the breadwinner die.

The complete homeowners and mortgage cancellation package can be placed through Harvey with one company for maximum convenience and efficiency — the Floyd West Co. organization with which Harvey has had close contact since back in 1959.

Harvey also is a specialist in bonds, whether the need is administrator, guardianship, various types of court bonds, etc.

Whatever the insurance or bond need, Harold Harvey can simplify the problem. It is as elemental and easy as that.

"A package policy" that affords a substantial decrease in premiums in one of the services made available at the Harold Harvey Insurance Agency!

Applicable to commercial interests including hotel-motel and office, institutional, apartment, mercantile, processing and industrial, the Multi-Peril "package plan" is now available in Texas, and Harold Harvey at No. 5 Briercroft Office Park, is eager to assist with this program in improving one's insurance situation.

MODERN CONVENIENCE, SAFETY FACTOR — Shown is a Lubbock installation of an overhead automatic door from Overhead Door Co., together with the popular automatic open-

Wintry Blasts Underscore Need Automatic Overhead Door Units

"Did the first biting breath of winter find your family and yourself enjoying the convenience of an automatic overhead door installation for the garage?"
"Likely in past years and even last week you envied your neighbor who with such facilities was spared exposure to wind and rain (with some just north of the area even experiencing snow and sleet)."

"Will this winter find your family and yourself enjoying the convenience of an automatic overhead door installation for your garage?"
"Likely in the past you have envied your neighbor who with such facilities was spared exposure to snow and sleet (yes, these are sure to come again this year, in just a few weeks)."

"There is no need for you to walk on slick driveways to open or shut the garage door, just as there is no need to drive into a darkened garage at night. After all, you can enjoy the convenience and security of an automatic installation from Overhead Door Co., 50th Street at Frankford Avenue (just off the Brownfield Highway near the Loop), phone 797-4141."

Convenience, safety and protection — this is the whole story of automatic overhead doors from Overhead Door Co. of Lubbock.
General Aluminum Windows
And now, not only does this veteran Lubbock firm offer the automatic openers and complete overhead doors and openers, but also has been named as new distributor for General Aluminum Windows!

Serving with finest products and desire to please, traditional with the firm for its full quarter century of service, the Overhead Door Company of Lubbock is observing its 25th Anniversary and is geared in every operation to render maximum customer service.

And here, with fall weather present and with inclement weather sure to be increasing, what better time is there to arrange for an automatic door opening unit for the family's benefit now and for seasons to come, upgrading a present home or in building a new one.

"Give your home distinction and new convenience at low cost. Give your family the Overhead Door electric operator from Overhead Door Co. of Lubbock."

"Take your pick of the several opener models afforded, including the fine Touch 'n Go system, for your particular need and preference; each represents a real value."

Overhead doors with automatic openers also are available and recommended for commercial and industrial buildings. Whether selection is from an opener system, a steel, wood or fiberglass overhead door, or the General Aluminum Windows, Tim Hatch at Overhead Door Co. assures the very best value in installation and sales.

Town & Country Pauline's Sportswear Greets Season With Selection, Value

"Really, Pauline's is just what you've been looking for!"
With a full line of junior and missy sizes, and a very good stock of queen size, too, Pauline's Sportswear in Town & Country Shopping Center, 4th & University, affords advantages to please.

Even with the already-envied selection, Pauline's has greatly increased its stock.

Quality merchandise (with known and respected labels) at prices inviting comparison, is the rule throughout, whether selection is from the very good assortment of blouses, tops and pants in all sizes represented at the attractive store, dresses (disco dresses included), skirts and a very good jean line that includes queen size.

There are uniforms, too, with tops in all basic colors and with white pants. It is sweater time, and Pauline's, in Town & Country, has a very good choice in these, too.

Examples of the "name" brands featured in the store are jeans by Levi, California and Faded Glory.

Of Added Interest
Of special interest in the pre-Christmas weeks, Pauline's has a unique line of ceramics by Dortha Woodward, and also afghans, including baby afghans, by Affanell Patterson, mother of Kathy Wagner who with her husband, Darrell Wagner, is owner of Pauline's in Town & Country Shopping Center.

Special orders for both ceramics and afghans are taken for Christmas.
All apparel at Pauline's is top quality — no seconds — and this probably is surprising when the modest prices are considered. A low overhead, involving family operation of the store, the location out of the high-rent district, volume buying power, discriminating buying and other factors enable exceptional savings.
The shop relies upon numerous and proven sources of supply for its wide selection.

In the same location for 12 years, Pauline's Sportswear for the past two years has been under its present ownership of Kathy and Darrell Wagner, ably assisted in operation by Mrs. Patterson who has over a decade of experience in the type store presented.

Long-Term Layaway
Aside from its attractive and selective merchandise, Pauline's Sportswear affords other advantages including:
Open six days a week, 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., even on Saturdays.

Master Charge and Visa purchases are welcomed.
Ninety-day layaway is provided without special charges or interest.
Gift certificates are available and encouraged.

"See why we believe that 'we're what you've been looking for!'"

City Woman Escapes Assailant

A Lubbock woman, who told police she was beaten by a man who had demanded her money, was treated at Methodist Hospital for facial injuries and possible broken ribs after she managed to slip away from her assailant hours after the assault.

Diana Perry, 22, of 806-A 20th St. was listed in satisfactory condition at Methodist this morning.

Reports indicate Miss Perry asked a black male to drive her home, but that he instead drove to his residence where he demanded her money. She said he got mad when she said she had none and began beating her.

The victim said she lay motionless after the attack and asked the suspect to call an ambulance, but that he refused because he did not want police notified.

She said the attack occurred about 6 a.m. but that she was unable to slip away until 9:45 p.m.

In a separate incident, a Lubbock woman was in satisfactory condition at Methodist today with a stab wound she suffered early Sunday at an after-hours club northeast of the city.

Olivia Moreno, 22, of 805 Ave. T, told Lubbock County sheriff's deputies she was attacked outside the club by three Mexican-American sisters. She said one of the women was armed with what looked like a bayonet and another was wielding a club. Reports indicate the woman was stabbed in the right side and suffered a small cut on the left arm in the 4:45 a.m. assault.

Miss Moreno told deputies she was confronted by the suspects in a bathroom at the club and that they told her they had vandalized her car. She said she and her boyfriend, Homer Escamillo of 3317 Jarvis St., walked outside and discovered two tires on her car had been slashed.

Reports indicate the females followed the duo outside and jumped on Miss Moreno. She said two Mexican-American men joined in the fight and cut Escamillo on the left arm.

Escamillo, when questioned at the club, told deputies they had met the suspects earlier in the night at a club in the 1700-block of Fourth Street and that the women apparently became angry because he refused to talk to them.

Two 18-year-old Lubbock men were arrested shortly before 9 p.m. Sunday after they allegedly burglarized Matthews Junior High School at 417 N. Akron Ave.

Answering an alarm at the school, police spotted one of the suspects walking alongside the building. Officers confiscated a toy pistol from the man's coat pocket, according to reports.

Police found a ladder leading up to an open window at the school and took the second man into custody after they saw him run from the window and jump down from the roof.

Assistant principal Bill Gonzales told police the men apparently had found a window which had been left unlocked. The suspects were taken to the county jail and booked on suspicion of burglary.

Police today were looking for a man who reportedly exposed himself to a 14-year-old Lubbock girl shortly after 8 p.m. Sunday at an apartment complex in the 7400-block of Quaker Avenue.

The girl said she was walking through the complex when a naked man walked out onto a balcony and yelled, "I prefer younger women." The man was described as a tall white male with brown hair and eyes.

Mrs. Jackson Drew of 2702 61st St. told police her house was burglarized between 11 a.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Sunday and $1,700 in property, including 200 pounds of meat, jewelry, firearms, a television set and typewriter, was stolen.

A $700 television set and $100 cash was the reported loot taken in the break-in of Engracia M. Castilleja's 2810 Erskine St. residence between 5 p.m. and 9:10 p.m. Sunday.

After a high-speed chase that began on 50th Street and ended about a mile west of Wolforth on Brownfield Highway early Sunday morning, police apprehended a Lubbock juvenile and issued him 17 traffic tickets including violations for speeding, running red lights and having no driver's license.

The teen-ager was referred to juvenile officers for investigation into aggravated assault on a police officer for allegedly attempting to force a patrol car off the road.

The pursuit began about 5:32 a.m. Sunday at a parking lot on the southeast corner of the intersection of 50th Street and Indiana Avenue when an officer spotted a pickup truck exiting the lot at a "high rate of speed" and failing to stop at the sidewalk area.

Officials Slate Utilities School

Some 400 water utilities personnel will be in Lubbock this week for the 31st annual West Texas Regional Water Utilities Short School to be held in the Memorial Civic Center.

City officials will host the school, scheduled for Tuesday through Thursday, in cooperation with the Texas Water Utilities Association, Texas Department of Health, Texas Department of Water Resources, Texas A&M University Engineering Extension Service and 10 district water utilities associations from the western half of Texas.

Welcoming the participants in the school will be Lubbock City Councilman Bill McAlister, State Senator E.L. Short of Tahoma who is a featured speaker. He is expected to address water-related legislation pending before the Texas Legislature.

The classroom training — provided by instructors and leaders in the field of water and wastewater utilities — will fill part of the requirements for water and wastewater operator certification.

The school will provide 20 hours classroom credit toward certification. Examinations will be at noon Thursday.

Congratulations to:

- Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Baker of 1308 41st St. on the birth of a son weighing 8 pounds 2 ounces at 2:31 p.m. Sunday in Methodist Hospital.
- Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bayer of Plains on the birth of a daughter weighing 8 pounds 8 ounces at 4:42 a.m. Saturday in Methodist Hospital.

Cowboys Rally Past Giants

ALL SMILES — Roger Staubach and Drew Pearson (right) exchange smiles after their fourth-quarter pass play set up the winning field goal in the final seconds of Sunday's contest between Dallas and the New York Giants. The 16-14 victory kept the Cowboys in first place in the NFC Eastern Division, two games ahead of Philadelphia and Washington. (AP Laserphoto)

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Broken dreams meant broken hearts for the New York Giants, who barely missed knocking off the Dallas Cowboys in their biggest game in seven years Sunday.

"I used to cry a lot when I was a little kid when we lost. This is the first time I feel like crying in 15 years," said a disconsolate Brad Van Pelt after Rafael Septien's third field goal of the game, a 22-yarder with three seconds remaining, gave the Cowboys a 16-14 victory.

"The Giants deserved to win," observed Dallas Coach Tom Landry. New York parlayed incredible emotion, a record crowd and two touchdown passes by quarterback Phil Simms into a 14-6 lead with 8:43 remaining in the game.

"Not until the final gun can you count a victory, we learned that last year against Philadelphia," said New York defensive tackle Gary Jeter, referring to the "fumble" that cost the Giants a game and former head coach John McVay his job.

Jeter was right, but it certainly looked as if the Giants would notch their fifth consecutive National Football League victory and move back into playoff contention after dropping their first five games this season. It also looked as if they would defeat the Cowboys for the first time in 10 meetings.

Dallas, which had not scored a touchdown in more than nine quarters, earlier had to settle for Rafael Septien field goals when they could not crack the New York defense. The Giants even stopped the Cowboys on a tremendous first half goal line stand after Dallas had a first down at the 2-yard line.

Quarterback Roger Staubach, however, began to take advantage of all the Septien's game-winner.

"They gave me a chip shot to work with," Septien said. "I just did my job."

The Giants played with an intensity rarely seen in the NFL. The club record crowd of 76,490 — only 320 no shows — was a big factor. Ultimately, it was the experience of the playoff-hardened Cowboys that burst the bubble.

"We have the poise to execute the big plays when we need to," Pearson said.

"We finally made some big plays at the end," said Staubach. Giants safety Beasley Reece was proud of his team, which was the laughing stock of the league a month ago.

"We did our best today and came up a little bit short," Reece said. "It was just total deflation when they got the field goal. I was so built up, so hyped, playing with so much emotion. I could feel all the air coming out of my body. We know it wasn't for nothing, but that's what it feels like."

The Giants' defense held Dallas to 106 yards rushing and bottled up Staubach until the end. In victory, Landry felt for the team he once played for.

"This may help them mature," he said. "They have a good young quarterback and a good young coach."

That coach also was emotionally drained after the game.

"It would be very wrong for us as a football team to let one game — and I don't think it will — destroy what we have built up," said Ray Perkins. "It's after a defeat like this that all of us find out what we're made of."

New York found out there's no quit in the 8-2 Cowboys.

"This is a 60-minute game, not 57," Dorsett noted.

It's a fact that broke a lot of hearts.

DALLAS COWBOY COACH TOM LANDRY, following the loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers, said that he didn't expect the 'Pokes to play very well against the New York Giants' Boy, was he ever right?

For more than three quarters Sunday afternoon, the Cowboys were the picture of frustration and futility. It was the Pittsburgh game all over again — shoddy blocking by the offensive line, dropped passes, missed tackles — except that the foe was the blue-clad Giants and not the black-and-gold Steelers. The Super Bowl champs make lots of teams look bad, but the Giants?

Some NFL insiders have been wondering for the last couple of years how long Dallas could get by with its no-name offensive line. Since guard Blaine Nye quit to teach physics at Stanford and tackle Ralph Neely hung 'em up, the Cowboys haven't had a blocker of distinction. Dallas coaches vow that Pat Donovan is a future All-Pro at left tackle and that Tom Rafferty is developing at guard, but it didn't look that way the last two weeks.

One must feel a bit sorry for Tony Dorsett, who hasn't had a sliver of daylight on his running plays the last two games. It takes all his skill and moves to get back to the line of scrimmage.

Just how much longer Dallas can go on winning without more muscle up front remains the biggest question of the season.

HAPPILY FOR THE COWBOYS and their followers, the 'Pokes have two of the best clutch performers of all time on that same offensive team. And just when things looked hopeless, with the Cowboys trailing 14-6 and less than three minutes left on the clock, quarterback Roger Staubach and wide receiver Drew Pearson did it again.

The New Yorkers still were celebrating Billy Taylor's touchdown catch when they kicked off to the Cowboys for the last time. Older heads around the league, especially at Minnesota, San Francisco and St. Louis, could have warned them to restrain their jubilation until the final whistle. As long as Staubach is pitching, hope lives in Cowboy ranks.

Sure enough, the 'Pokes moved to midfield, then Staubach threw his high, hard one right down the middle to Pearson. Daring Drew caught the ball between two defenders and struggled a couple of yards to paydirt. Dallas was back in it, trailing 14-13 with only 2:24 remaining.

LANDRY IS NOT ONE to gamble, but with so little time left he called for an on-side kick. It was a desperate maneuver, risking giving the Giants excellent field position if it failed, but the mentor apparently felt that the strategy was the best hope for getting one more offensive series.

Rafael Septien didn't kick it far enough, though, and the Giants took over at midfield. The 76,000 New York fans in the plush Meadowlands stadium went wild.

Until that point Doomsday II had not distinguished itself, despite the fact that the New Yorkers had tallied only 14 points. The Giants had moved the ball on the ground with surprising ease in the first half, and the 'Pokes had not been able to put any pressure on rookie quarterback Phil Simms.

Bob Lilly and his gang used to eat rookie quarterbacks for a mid-afternoon snack, but the present front four couldn't even ruffle Simms' hair.

BUT WITH EVERYTHING on the line, Doomsday stopped the Giants cold and forced them to punt. The New Yorkers still were on Cloud 9 when the ball went out on the Dallas 9-yard line. Time was running out on the 'Pokes, with only 1:49 left on the clock and a long, long way to go.

No matter. Staubach and Pearson had their act together now and down the

Missed Chances Haunt Tech Coaching Staff

By NORVAL POLLARD
Executive Sports Editor

Accepting defeat was extremely difficult for Texas Tech coaches and players following Saturday's hard-fought 14-6 loss to Texas in Austin.

Red Raider head football coach Rex Dockery felt his squad played well enough against the eighth-ranked Longhorns to win.

"We had our opportunities to win," Dockery admitted. "We just didn't take advantage of them. We were every bit as good a football team as Texas was Saturday."

Two big plays weighed heavily on Dockery's mind Sunday after he viewed films of the contest. One was Vance Bedford's last second break-up of an apparent touchdown pass from Ron Reeves to Edwin Newsome. The other was a fumbled exchange between freshman quarterback Jim Hart and fullback James Hadnot at midfield on the last play of the third quarter. The fumble was recovered by Texas and set up the Longhorns' second touchdown drive of the contest.

"Those two plays played a factor in the final outcome of the game," Dockery said. "The pass play really hurt. It looked like we had a touchdown for a second and then we didn't."

The Red Raiders lost more than a football game Saturday. Reeves was lost for the remainder of the season with a shoulder separation and sophomore tight end Kevin Kolbye will miss at least one game with an injury to his left knee. Reeves and Kolbye were hurt on consecutive plays midway through the third quarter.

"It's a shame to lose him (Reeves)," Dockery said. "He had been coming along in his last three games and played very well against Texas. I feel very bad about losing him. We hope to have Kevin back by the last game of the season."

Reeves underwent surgery Sunday morning at Methodist Hospital to repair his right shoulder. The full extent of Kolbye's knee damage won't be known until doctors re-examine the knee sometime today.

Hart, a 5-11, 185-pounder who has spelled Reeves off and on during the season, takes over the duties as Tech's number one quarterback and will start Saturday against Texas Christian.

Sophomore Richey Ethridge and freshman Mark James, who has seen action the past three games at split end, will back up Hart this week in practice. Dockery has not yet decided who will be his number two signal-caller.

Junior L.M. Cummings will take over the starting duties at tight end and freshman Curt Cole will assume the position on the second team.

TCU will be Tech's final home game of the 1979 season and the Horned Frogs, although only 2-6 on the season, have been playing tough football. The Frogs lost to Houston 21-10 Saturday.

"Our players respect TCU very much," Dockery added. "But our team has shown character all season and I think they will bounce back from the loss to Texas and be ready to play another good football game Saturday."

Oilers Visit Dolphins Tonight

MIAMI (AP) — A possible repeat of last year's shootout against the Houston Oilers had Miami Dolphins center Jim Langer tossing and turning in his hospital bed.

Las year, Houston outlasted Miami 35-30 in one of the wildest Monday night games ever played. It isn't likely to happen again, but that didn't calm Langer, who just had surgery to replace bone chips in his leg.

"You can ask our defensive people," Langer said. "Whenever they play against a rookie or someone new at a position, they try to do everything they can to confuse and intimidate him."

Mark Dennard will make his first start tonight against the Oilers. He spent most of the week getting a taste of what to expect from the Dolphins' nose tackle, Bob Baumhower.

"I'm not so nervous that I can't go out and play, but it's exciting," said Dennard, a 10th-round draft choice last year from Texas A&M. Just in case, Langer will be on crutches along the sideline to give advice.

Last year, Earl Campbell erupted for four Houston touchdowns and 199 yards while Miami quarterback Bob Griese had the best statistical game of his career with 23 completions in 33 attempts for 349 yards.

But several factors make another shootout unlikely:

— Campbell's bruised thigh has slowed him to just 41 yards on 14 carries in the Oilers' last two games.

— The steadily improving Dolphins' defense is now the second-best in the National Football League against the run. Five teams have managed fewer than 100 yards rushing in Miami's nine games this year, and no individual runner has broken 100 yards.

— Both quarterbacks, Griese and Houston's Dan Pastorini, have struggled this year. Griese had his first solid game of the season last week when he passed for 287 yards against Green Bay.

— Last week, the Dolphins lost half-back Delvin Williams, Langer and reserve fullback Norm Bulach to injuries. Promising fourth-year pro Gary Davis will start in Williams' place and Bob Torrey, a New York Giants reject, will spell Larry Csonka at fullback.

— Both Miami and Houston are 6-3 this season and each is in a thick cluster of playoff contenders. Last year, Houston eventually beat Miami 17-9 here in a wild-card playoff game.

The Dolphins are battling New England in the AFC East, while Houston is struggling with Cleveland to challenge Pittsburgh in the AFC Central.

NFL ROUNDUP

Steelers, Rams Crush Sunday Opponents

By The Associated Press
You don't design a day like this. You just go out there and it happens.

Terry Bradshaw said of the Pittsburgh Steelers' offense.

He could have been talking about the Los Angeles Rams' defense, too. Bradshaw, the Steelers' quarterback, virtually duplicated his Super Bowl performance (318 yards, four touchdowns) of last January when he ripped Washington for 311 yards and four TDs in a 38-7 victory over the Redskins.

The Steelers amassed 545 yards in a total offense. That must have left the Seattle Seahawks shaking their heads. They managed 552 fewer yards.

Yes, you read it right. They finished with a minus seven yards in total offense against the aroused Los Angeles defense, surpassing the National Football League futility record previously held by Denver. The Broncos came out of a Sept. 10, 1967, game against Oakland with minus five.

Oh, yes, the Rams' offense woke up, too, with Pat Haden throwing two touchdown passes in Los Angeles' 24-0 laugher.

In Sunday's other games it was Cleveland 24, Philadelphia 19; Dallas 16, the New York Giants 14; New England 26, Buffalo 6; Atlanta 17, Tampa Bay 14; Baltimore 38, Cincinnati 28; St. Louis 37, Minnesota 7; San Diego 20, Kansas City 14; Chicago 35, Detroit 7; Denver 10, New Orleans 3; Oakland 23, San Francisco 10, and the New York Jets 27, Green Bay 22.

"That's the best I've ever seen Bradshaw. He was exceptional," Washington Coach Jack Pardee marveled after the Steelers raised their record to 8-2 and retained their one-game lead over Cleveland in the American Conference's Central Division.

John Stallworth, who caught six passes for 126 yards, had an 11-yard TD catch in the first quarter and nabbed Bradshaw's last pass of the game just five plays into the third period with a reception for a TD covering 65 yards.

Bradshaw then retired to the sideline to nurse a bump on his head administered by a swarm of Redskins late in the second period. "My hands were pinned at my sides and I couldn't brace my fall," he recalled. "The back of my head just popped back against the turf."

Then, musing over his performance, he added: "Maybe I should get hit on the head every game."

Rams 24, Seahawks 0

For the past few games, the "What's wrong with the Rams?" yakk had been accompanied by discomfiting sounds from the stands—booming, then the shuffling of feet and people heading toward the exits long before the final gun.

"It was nice to hear the crowd boo somebody else for a change," guard Dennis Herrah said after the Rams had demolished the Seahawks in the Kingdome. "I'd like to have seen people walk out in the fourth quarter," added defensive end Fred Dryer.

The victory put the Rams at 5-5, tied with New Orleans atop the National Conference West.

"It's been a miserable three weeks," Haden said. "Everybody's been on our backs." He'll be on the bench next Sunday in Chicago. After hitting 17 of 21 passes for 172 yards and two touchdowns against Seattle, he broke a finger on his passing hand in the second period.

Raider Golfers To End Season

The Texas Tech golf team will complete its fall schedule this week in the Harvey Penick Invitational in Austin.

The 54-hole tournament will be held over the par-72 Morris Williams Golf Course today through Wednesday. All Southwest Conference teams will compete, along with a number of nationally-ranked teams from other areas.

The Raiders, who are enjoying one of their best falls in years, will be at full strength for the first time this season and coach Richard Whittenburg says he hopes his team can finish in the top half of the strong field.

"We're jumping in with the big boys this week," he said. "We played very well last week (in winning the JT King Invitational) and I hope it will give us confidence in Austin."

UIL Makes Changes In Athletic Leagues

AUSTIN (Special) — The University Interscholastic League, which governs high school athletics in the state, announced new classifications and district alignments today, which make several changes in South Plains districts.

The most widespread change in the UIL decision will affect the entire state as the governing body has changed Class AAAA schools to Class AAAAA. Plus, all previous Class AAA schools will become Class AAAAA with Class AA now being Class A, Class A now being AA and Class B becoming Class A. There will be no Class B districts.

The breakdown in enrollments, which determine school classifications, has schools with 1,310 students and above in AAAAA, 1,309 to 615 in AAAA, 614 to 265 in AAA, 264 to 135 in AA and 134 and below in A. Schools with less than 85 students may enter the six-man conference.

Other than the increase in classification, no Lubbock public schools have been affected by the realignment. Monterey, Coronado, Lubbock High, Plainview and Hereford will continue to comprise one district as 4-AAAA.

Dunbar and Estacado will remain in its district, now known as District 1-AAAA, with Borger, Canyon, Dumas and Levelland.

But that league will have an added entry as Brownfield has been moved from the old District 3-AAA to the 1-AAAA loop.

The UIL combined the old 2-AAA and 3-AAA districts into one group, calling it 2-AAAA. Making up that group will be Andrews, Fort Stockton, Lamesa, Monahans, Odessa Ector, Pecos, San Angelo Lake View, Snyder and Sweetwater.

The old Class AA teams in the area also will see some changes. The old District 3-AA is now 2-AAA and lost Morton as a member. That district is now made up of Dimmitt, Friona, Littlefield, Muleshoe and Olton.

State football power Childress has been added to the old 4-AA loop, now called 3-AAA, which will also include Abernathy, Floydada, Idalou, Lockney and Tulia.

District 4-AAA now has Cooper, Roosevelt, Post, Slaton, Tahoka and Frenship. Denver City and Seminole left that group, joining 6-AAA with Coahoma and Crane.

Morton, at one time a perennial state power in basketball, is dropping down a classification and will compete in District 5-AA with Forsan, O'Donnell, Plains, Ropes, Seagraves and Stanton. Shallowater will remain in the same general classification, but will be in a new district, 4-AA, with Crosbyton, Hale Center, Lorenzo, New Deal, Petersburg, Rails and Spur.

The old Class A group in the area loses Anton, which will be in District 2-A with Amherst, Happy, Lazbuddie, Motley County, Nazareth, Silvertown, Smyer, Sudan, Sundown, Valley and Whiteface. District 3-A loses Jayton, which moved to 4-A, and Borden County, which dropped to six-man.

District 3-A now consists of Sands, Blackwell, Garden City, Klondike, Lorenz, Meadow, New Home, Robert Lee, Roby, Roscoe, Sterling City and Wilson.

The six-man districts also faced changes. In District 1 will be Cotton Center, Loop, Three Way, Southland, Textline, Dawson, Wellman and Whitharal. District 2 will have Borden County, Hermleigh, Ira, Grady, McCaulley, Highland, Hobbs and Trent.

Westerners Show Pride In 7-6 Win Over Herd

By JIM FERGUSON

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Lubbock High had nothing more than a few grams of pride on the line when it traveled to Hereford last Friday night.

The Westerners were down, but certainly not out.

After losing to Coronado and Monterey on consecutive Friday nights, the Army Salinas-coached Westerners had been KO'd from the District 4-AAAA title chase, prompting the LHS mentor to comment: "Let's face it. We're out of the district race. But we can still salvage a respectable year."

Lubbock, pulling itself up by the Adidas shoe-lace, took a giant step toward "respectability" by dealing the Herd a 7-6 setback in the Whitefaces' backyard. The win enabled LHS to crawl out of last place in the loop race with a 1-2 record. Hereford is now the cellar-dweller with a 0-2 conference mark.

"I was real proud of our kids, especially the defense," Salinas said after the win. "We worked too hard for too long not to have something good happen."

Lubbock will attempt to climb one more step on that district ladder Friday night when it finishes the '79 season against one-time loop contender Plainview.

"I think we tried a little bit too hard (against Hereford)," continued the first-year coach.

Apparently it paid off.

The two teams battled to a 0-0 tie for three solid quarters before HHS was able to jump out to a 6-0 lead thanks to a four-yard run by Joe Walker. Just before entering the end zone, Walker held the football over his head — that move almost cost himself and the Herd a score. Defensive back Larry Walker, one of the more versatile players in the conference, came out of nowhere and almost knocked the ball out of Walker's hand.

In the past, the six points might have been enough to nail Lubbock. But not this time.

Lubbock High took the ensuing kickoff and marched 79 yards on 14 plays for the go-ahead TD. As is Salinas' style, there was nothing fancy about the drive; only good hard-nosed football. Johnnie Johnson, who'd been hampered by a sore ankle, took a wide pitch and scooted around the left side of the LHS line for a 29-yard gain to set up the Westerners on the three. It took Lubbock three more plays before Tino Chapa burrowed in from the one.

Quarterback Gilbert Cuevas kicked the extra point and thus put up Lubbock by the single point, 7-6.

Two weeks ago, Lubbock had been on the other side of the 7-6 score, losing to Coronado by that count. But this time, the tables had turned.

Thomas Romero was the leading LHS runner with 52 yards on 18 carries and Chapa had 48 steps after toting the ball 11 times.

But the real star was Walker who had two pass interceptions, broke up another crucial pass while the Whitefaces were marching to what would have been the game-winning touchdown, and caught one pass.

NOTES: In District 3-AAAA, Amarillo and Pampa are slowly but surely marching to what will be a loop title clash in two weeks. Both teams are unbeaten in conference play and, should Amarillo get by Tascosa and Pampa and defeat Palo Duro this Friday night, the duo will meet the next week for the crown. Meanwhile, Monterey clinched at least a tie for the 4-AAAA title by defeating Coronado 24-8.

To claim the title outright, MHS must defeat Hereford in two weeks. The Plainsmen take this week off. And with two games remaining in District 5-AAAA, Abilene Cooper is the only unbeaten team. Only Permian, which is one-game back, has a shot at the title. And the Panthers must get some outside help if they hope to at least tie. (Cooper defeated Permian 14-3 two weeks ago.)

Mats Headed For Showdown

By CHUCK McDONALD

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Slowly, but oh-so-surely, the Estacado Matadors and the Canyon Eagles are heading towards a showdown for the District 1-AAA championship.

Friday night at Levelland the Canyon Eagles used the one-two punch of running backs Craig Byebee and Robert Johnson to roll over Levelland 17-6. Byebee piled up 104 yards and Johnson added 94 to give the Eagles their third district win of the season.

And then Saturday night at Lowrey Field, as the CHS head coach watched from the press box, the Estacado Matadors used the one-two-three-four punch of Greg Drones, Kelvin White, Jerry Gray and George Irvin to romp past Dunbar 35-0.

That leaves Canyon and Estacado as the only two undefeated schools in the loop — both sporting 3-0 marks.

But the two don't meet, fittingly enough, until the final week of the season. So next week the Mats and the Eagles will have to concentrate on the business at hand.

Estacado will go to Levelland to battle the Lobos while the Eagles host the Demons of Dumas. Both those teams are 1-2 in loop action and not likely to do much to dampen the chances of a Canyon-Estacado shootout.

Going one step further, it's looking like the winner of the Estacado-Canyon battle will probably have to deal with the Ector Eagles — who are leading the crowd in District 2-AAA.

Friday night Ector crushed the once-mighty Andrews Mustangs 26-6 as running back James Ricks rumbled for only 77 yards on 10 carries — his lowest output of the year.

Ricks, who may be the best Class AAAA runner in the state, now has 956 yards on only 117 carries — and that's an average of over 8.2 yards a tote.

Two weeks ago Ector knocked off the highly-regarded Pecos Eagles to take the driver's seat in the district race.

In District 3-AAA, San Angelo Lake View has all but sewed up the title with only one contest with Lamesa and Sweetwater between it and a district championship.

And Lamesa and Sweetwater are hardly awesome foes. Between the two schools, their combined record is 2-15.

Besides the Canyon coaches, the Ector coaching staff was in the press box at Lowrey Field Saturday night to take a good, hard look at the Matadors. And the Mats gave them plenty to look at.

Estacado piled up 392 yards of offense — its biggest output of the season — against the Panthers as eight different Mats got a chance to carry the ball. Sophomore Greg Drones had the best night of any of them as he picked up 95 yards on only 11 carries — but he also fumbled twice.

YFL Squads Settle Super Bowl Titles

Flanker Shane Salyer scored on runs of 45 and 60 yards and quarterback Cole Haste hit end Todd Malaise with a two-point conversion pass to lead Deaton Rugby Insurance to a 14-12 victory over Cardinal Sports Center in the YFL C Division (12-year-olds) championship Sunday afternoon at Lowrey Field.

Regi Gibbs scored all of Cardinal Sports Center's points with touchdown jaunts of 20 and 10 yards. The loss was the first in three years for the Sports Center team.

In other YFL championships decided Sunday, Benton Oil Company defeated Washam Steel 14-6 in A Division action (10-year-olds) and Glad Norman Homes tripped American Legion Post 808 in the B Division (11-year-olds) title contest 8-6.

Six hundred and fifty Lubbock boys participated in the YFL program this fall. The three divisions were made up of 25 teams.

field they went. Sideline passes made yardage and stopped the clock, then Roger tossed a 27-yarder to Drew that carried to the Giants' 44. On the next play, Staubach tossed a screen to Dorsett and Touchdown Tony nearly took it all the way.

Dallas probably could have pushed it across on the next play, but Landry wasn't taking any chances with six seconds remaining. Septien booted it through and the Giants tied a little.

It was the 13th time in Staubach's career that he has brought the Cowboys from behind in the final two minutes. Thirteen storybook finishes that have earned him a niche in the NFL alongside the Bobby Laynes and Johnny Unitases.

Roger's gridiron exploits are going to make a heckuva Hollywood movie one of these days, if he ever retires!

Despite 4-4 Record, Georgia In Sugar Bowl Chase

By The Associated Press
Yes, Sugar Bowl, there is a Virginia. Unfortunately, there also is a Georgia, which still is only two victories away from a Jan. 1 trip to New Orleans despite Saturday's embarrassing 31-0 thrashing by Virginia.

Georgia's loss left the Bulldogs at 4-4 overall. But they have had the presence of mind to win their four Southeastern Conference games while dropping their four non-league affairs.

Still to come are Florida (SEC) next weekend, Auburn (SEC) on Nov. 17 and Georgia Tech (independent) on Dec. 1. If the Bulldogs win the first two, they go to the Sugar Bowl regardless of what top-rated Alabama does.

They'll go even if Alabama ties Georgia for the SEC lead, which the Crimson Tide did Saturday by defeating Mississippi State, 24-7. The Orange and Cotton Bowls, of course, are solidly in Georgia's corner and are ready to wage a duel to the death over Alabama — if the occasion warrants.

The Orange Bowl would like to pair the Crimson Tide in a national championship showdown with runner-up Nebraska, which nipped Missouri 23-20 on Dean Sukup's 19-yard field goal with 3:15 remaining. The Cotton Bowl has visions of a match between Alabama and fourth-ranked Houston, a 21-10 winner over Texas Christian.

All are unbeaten and untied, along with fifth-ranked Ohio State, which trounced Illinois 44-7; No. 6 Florida State, which rallied with three touchdowns in the final period to defeat Cincinnati 26-21 for the second year in a row; No. 11 Brigham Young, a 30-7 winner over Colorado State; McNeese State, which whipped Northwestern Louisiana 44-13, and Yale, which became the first school to record 700 victories by shading Cornell 23-20.

Third-ranked Southern California, undefeated but tied, maintained its Pacific-10 Conference lead by downing Arizona 34-7 as Paul McDonald passed for a school record 380 yards and Charles White rushed for 167. If the Trojans make it back to the Rose Bowl, they likely will face the Ohio State-Michigan Big Ten survivor. Tenth-ranked Michigan walloped Wisconsin 54-0 as Butch Woolfolk scored three times, including the longest run in the school's history, a 92-yarder.

Seventh-ranked Oklahoma remained tied with Nebraska for the Big Eight lead by routing Oklahoma State 38-7 as Billy Sims scored four times. Eighth-ranked Texas and No. 9 Arkansas remained on Houston's heels in the Southwest Conference along with idle Baylor. Texas edged Texas Tech 14-6 while Arkansas drubbed Rice 34-7.

In the Second Ten, it was No. 12 Pitt over Syracuse 28-21; No. 13 Notre Dame over Navy 14-0; Clemson over No. 14 Wake Forest 31-0; No. 15 Purdue over Iowa 20-14; No. 16 Washington over California 28-24; Rutgers over No. 17 Tennessee 13-7; Maryland over No. 18 North Carolina 17-14; Miami, Fla. over No. 19 Penn State 26-10 and No. 20 Auburn over Florida 19-13.

Alabama stretched the nation's longest winning streak to 17 games and set an SEC mark of 21 in a row by defeating Mississippi State as Steadman Shealy rushed for 190 yards, most ever by an Alabama quarterback, while backup Don Jacobs scored one TD and passed for another.

"I'm glad I'm not a fan because you never know what Alabama is going to do," said Shealy. "We've got a great test coming up next weekend (at Louisiana State) and it's now time for us to start playing like national champions."

Nebraska played like potential champions for 44½ minutes, rolling to a 20-6 lead over Missouri. But the Tigers capped a 90-yard drive by pulling within 20-12 with 23 seconds left in the third period and they needed only eight more seconds to tie the game.

Nebraska's Anthony Steels fumbled the ensuing kickoff, Missouri's Orlando Pope grabbed it out of the air and ran 17 yards for a touchdown and Phil Bradley's 2-point conversion pass to Tim Horn knotted the score.

After Sukup put the Cornhuskers in front again, Missouri marched 69 yards to the Nebraska 11. With three seconds left, Coach Warren Powers disdained a game-tying field goal attempt but defensive end Derrie Nelson trumped the gamble when he broke through and sacked Bradley.

"Our football team wasn't ready to play a team like Nebraska for a tie," Powers explained. "I don't think my kids wanted to go for the field goal; they wanted the win."

McDonald set Southern Cal records with 25 completions for 380 yards, including touchdown strikes of 17 and 42 yards to Kevin Williams and a 5-yarder to Vic Rakshshani.

Terald Clark rushed for 103 yards and two touchdowns to lead Houston over TCU and Todd Bell returned a blocked punt 16 yards to spark Ohio State's romp over Illinois.

Wally Woodham, who lost his starting job a week ago, came off the bench and threw two touchdown passes as Florida State scored three times in the final period to overhaul Cincinnati after trailing 21-7. "I thought we were beat; I thought we were whipped," admitted Coach Bobby Bowden.

Texas held off Texas Tech as freshman Rick McIvor, the Longhorns' third-string quarterback, threw his first collegiate touchdown pass and sophomore Brad Beck ran 11 yards for a fourth-quarter score. Arkansas' Kevin Scanlon passed for two touchdowns and ran for two against Rice.

Brigham Young's Marc Wilson threw three scoring passes in his 358 passing yards against Colorado State and broke the Western Athletic Conference career total offense mark with 6,697.

Freshman Dan Marino's two touchdown passes helped Pitt turn back Syracuse, Vagas Ferguson rushed for 155 yards and a touchdown as Notre Dame blanked Navy. Jeff Davis returned one of three Clemson interceptions for a touchdown as the Tigers routed Wake Forest and Mark Herrmann passed for 256 yards and two touchdowns as Purdue topped Iowa.

Sonic

By The Associated Press
"The better we play, the better Seattle's Gus Williams, 'the' to play offense."

The SuperSonics played enough Sunday night to beat 114-101 and snap the Bucks' national Basketball Association streak.

Despite being on the road, they were red hot from the start. Milwaukee 42-24 in the opening quarter. Williams scored 19 of his 27 points in that quarter.

"I don't usually shoot just for me, but tonight I was just going for me tonight," backcourtman. "We were in defense and getting the good shot."

The Sonics hit 71 percent of their shots from the field.

Beat Up 'Horns To Face Coogs

By DENNE FREEMAN
Associated Press Writer

Just how good must the University of Texas be to keep the Houston Cougars from all but clinching a second consecutive trip to the Cotton Bowl in the Astrodome Saturday?

Well, what's the most overused phrase in the sports dictionary? Enough hints if you don't have it by now.

"Super, we gonna have to be super," is the way Texas Coach Fred Akers puts it. "We're gonna have to be much better than we were against Texas Tech."

The long-awaited 10th week of the Southwest Conference football season is here with the defending champion Cougars hosting the preseason favorite Longhorns in a vital night matchup.

Houston is unbeaten and playing just good enough to win.

Texas is once-beaten, beat up and unsettled at quarterback.

A Longhorn victory is a must to keep Cotton Bowl hopes alive.

The team that beat Texas — Arkansas — is also in a battle for survival, meeting a surprising Baylor team that has lost only one league encounter. The winner in the game at Fayetteville, of course, keeps its hopes alive for a New Year's Day game.

Akers dug down to his fourth-string quarterback, young Rick McIvor, Saturday to generate some offense in a bruising 14-6 victory over Texas Tech. The Longhorn injury list is long one.

"It was tough out there," said Akers, "but that's becoming a habit in this conference."

Story Claims Bowden Will Remain At FSU

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Bowden has removed his name from consideration for the football coaching job at Louisiana State and decided to stay at Florida State, according to The Sentinel Star of Orlando.

Bowden will sign a lucrative new five-year contract to continue coaching the Seminoles, now 8-0 and No. 6 in the nation, the newspaper said in Monday's editions.

In a telephone interview with The Sentinel Star Sunday from his Tallahassee home, Bowden refused to confirm or deny that he had told LSU Athletic Director Paul Dietzel he did not want to be a candidate to replace the retiring Charlie McClendon.

Bowden said he would "clarify my position at the proper time."

A source close to Dietzel told the newspaper Bowden recently telephoned Dietzel to take himself out of the running for the job.

Dietzel has repeatedly refused to confirm Bowden was a candidate for the job, saying only that he plans to name a new coach soon after the Tigers' last game Nov. 24. However, other athletic department officials have said Bowden was being considered.

The newspaper also said the Florida State athletic board would approve a number of improvements at a meeting today.

Included are plans to add to Campbell Stadium's 47,413 seats.

Sonics End Bucks' Win Streak

By The Associated Press
 "The better we play defense," says Seattle's Gus Williams, "the easier it is to play offense."
 The SuperSonics played both well enough Sunday night to beat Milwaukee 114-101 and snap the Bucks' 10-game National Basketball Association winning streak.
 Despite being on the road, the Sonics were red hot from the start, outscoring Milwaukee 42-24 in the opening period. Williams scored 19 of his 27 points in that quarter.
 "I don't usually shoot like that; it was just going for me tonight," said the backcourtman. "We were playing good defense and getting the good shots."
 The Sonics hit 71 percent of their shots from the field in the first half and limited the Bucks to 36 percent shooting, the result being a 62-44 halftime advantage. Milwaukee came no closer than 12 points in the second half.

 In other games, the Portland Trail Blazers beat the San Antonio Spurs 127-124 in overtime and the New Jersey Nets defeated the Kansas City Kings 101-98.
 Although the Sonics are only 7-5, the win pleased Coach Lenny Wilkens.
 "I think we are more mentally ready to play now than we were at the beginning of the season," he said. "It's tough coming off two straight years in the playoffs and coming back to play in September."
 Marques Johnson and Junior Bridgman scored 20 points apiece for Milwaukee while Lonnie Shelton had 17 points and Dennis Johnson and Jack Sikma scored 15 each for the Sonics.

 "It certainly was an off-night for us," said Bucks Coach Don Nelson, who called Seattle "the best defensive team in the league. They shot well, and the combination of the two beat us badly."
Blazers 127, Spurs 124
 Portland overcame an eight-point deficit with 46 seconds remaining in regulation play to raise its record to 11-2, tops in the NBA.
 Portland trailed 115-107 with 46 seconds remaining, but Tom Owens took two field goals and Ron Brewer made a three-point jumper to cut the Blazers' disadvantage to 116-114 with 14 seconds left. T.R. Dunn deflected the Spurs' inbound pass and Maurice Lucas drove from midcourt for a layup that tied the game 10 seconds from the buzzer.

 Lucas then scored six points in the five-minute overtime.
 George Gervin of San Antonio led all scorers with 32 points. Owens scored 24 and Lucas finished with 18.
Nets 101, Kings 98
 John Williamson scored 23 points, including two baskets after the score was tied 90-90 and two free throws that clinched the victory in the closing seconds.
 The Kings had overcome a 20-point third-quarter deficit only to suffer their third straight loss on the road, despite 26 points from Phil Ford.

U.S. Tennis Team Blanks England 7-0

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Americans then by winning a singles match against Mrs. Wade and teaming with Anne Kiyomura for a doubles win. The British had a hard time motivating themselves for Sunday's play at the Palm Beach Polo and Country Club, Wade said.

Blustery winds and an occasional shower couldn't even stop the American women Sunday, as Mrs. Lloyd teamed with U.S. player-coach Rosie Casals for the final victory in the three-day event. Earlier in the day, Mrs. Lloyd and Miss Austin each picked up a singles victory.
 "I'm not surprised at the shutout, because we had it all on paper — all in the statistics," said Miss Casals. "Chris and Tracy were favored all the way. This was their surface, but I feel they would have been that strong, even if we would've played on any surface."
 "For sure, (Virginia) Wade and (Sue) Barker could have played much better games on a faster surface."
 It was the first Wightman sweep since 1977 at Oakland, Calif., and the 10th by the United States in the Wightman Cup's 51-year history. This time the American women won 79 games to the Britons' 33.

The low note of the day came afterward, when President Carter failed to telephone his congratulations. Even when the U.S. women lose, Mrs. Lloyd said, the president traditionally calls his condolences.
 "We're a little upset with President Carter," said Mrs. Lloyd, a 6-1, 6-1 winner over Mrs. Wade in singles. "He still hasn't called us and we're a little annoyed at that."
 Carter could have gotten himself off the hook Saturday night. Tracy Austin — a 6-4, 6-2 winner over Miss Barker on Sunday — had clinched the cup for the

Iranian Plan Sends Stock Prices Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Reports that Iran was considering halting oil shipments to the United States sent stocks down sharply today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues was down 6.48 to 812.46 at noon.

Declining issues led advances by a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

A group of Iranian students is occupying the American embassy in Iran, calling for a break-off of relations with the United States.

Severed U.S.-Iranian relations could stop the flow of Iranian oil to the United States, and Iranian Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moinefar said he would not rule out the possibility of an embargo on oil shipments to the United States.

A shutdown of Iranian oil imports could plunge the United States into another energy crisis, and that possibility had Wall Street jittery.

Mobil led the most-active list at midday, one of several oil companies making the list. Mobil was off 1 1/4 to 48 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 listed common stocks was off .39 to 57.80 at noon.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down 1.17 at 207.87.

Big Board volume came to a light 9.53 million shares in the first two hours of trading, compared to 11.58 million at the same point in Friday's session.

Among other active issues at noon, IBM was off 1/4 to 62 1/2, Exxon lost 1/4 to 57 1/4, Charter Co. fell 1 1/4 to 37 1/4, Gulf Drilled 1/4 to 33 1/4, Reserve Oil lost 1/4 to 32 1/4, and National Semiconductor was down 1/4 to 29 1/4.

Accused Killers Plead Innocent

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Two men accused of killing Lord Louis Mountbatten of Burma, blown up on his fishing cruiser in Donegal Bay Aug. 27, pleaded innocent today at the start of their trial in Dublin.

Francis McGirl, 24, and Thomas McMahon, 31, allegedly members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, entered their pleas at Dublin's Special Criminal Court, which deals with terrorist cases.

McGill, a farmer from Ballinamore in County Leitrim, and McMahon, an upholsterer from Carrickmacross in County Monaghan, were brought to the 19th-century court building by special convoy from Portlaoise Prison.

A helicopter hovered overhead and police and soldiers stood at the ready as the convoy with sirens arrived at the court from the top-security prison about 50 miles southwest of Dublin.

Both of the men were already in custody when Lord Mountbatten, 79, cousin of Queen Elizabeth II and a World War II naval commander, were assassinated.

The militant provisional wing of the IRA claimed responsibility for the blast, which also killed Lord Mountbatten's 14-year-old grandson Nicholas Knatchbull, 15-year-old boat boy Paul Maxwell and the dowager Lady Brabourne, 83, the mother of the earl's son-in-law.

The IRA, almost exclusively Roman Catholic, is fighting to end British control and Protestant domination of Northern Ireland and merge the province with the rest of Ireland.

He added that sand from the slipway and dunes around Mullaghmore harbor and forensic evidence of explosive substances, including gelignite, were also found on the men's clothes.

Comyn alleged that the two boarded the earl's fishing cruiser, Shadow V, and planted the explosive device. "The state says these are the persons who placed the gelignite," Comyn said.

The prosecutor said Lord Mountbatten's fishing boat was "perhaps over-maintained" with several layers of paint. He said this helped identify the traces from the craft on the men's clothing.

He added that sand from the slipway and dunes around Mullaghmore harbor and forensic evidence of explosive substances, including gelignite, were also found on the men's clothes.

The case for the prosecution will be the two accused, through the evidence of the paintwork and the gelignite, were in Mullaghmore and on the boat in the early hours of Monday morning.

The day the explosion occurred, Comyn told the court.

Bolivian Strongman May Vacate Office

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Members of the Bolivian congress began meeting at noon today amid reports from congressional leaders that Col. Alberto Natusch, who seized power in a coup last week, would resign shortly.

The president of the senate, Leonidas Sanchez, said after a meeting with Natusch that "the political-military crisis we are experiencing will be solved in a matter of hours."

Earlier today, soldiers in downtown La Paz fired machine guns as a crowd of students and workers protested the coup, and witnesses said at least six persons were wounded, two of them fatally.

The congressional palace where the congress is in session is in the Plaza Murillo, which is also bordered by the presidential palace. Tanks and armored cars have been in the plaza for several days.

Natusch took power in a coup last Thursday, named himself president, dissolved the congress and imposed martial law. A Roman Catholic bishop has been mediating a proposal that Natusch turn power over to the congress.

The congress is controlled by supporters of President Walter Guevara, overthrown in the coup.

It appeared that the troops fired over the heads of the protesters and the bullets struck civilians beyond the scene of the demonstration.

Natusch's government on Sunday instituted press censorship and sent two air force jets screaming over the downtown plaza with guns blazing, scattering protesting students and workers.

No casualties were reported in that incident, and witnesses said it appeared the jets were firing into the air rather than into the crowd.

The pope and 108 of the cardinals he summoned celebrated a memorial Mass together at St. Peter's Basilica for the 10 archbishops who died in the past year.

The five other cardinals remained seated because of their age. They included John Paul's former priest, 78-year-old Stefan Wysynski of Poland, and the Ukrainian Josef Slipyj, who is 87.

Vatican spokesman the Rev. Romeo Panciroli said the cardinals also are to examine the administration and role of the church in the modern world.

Panciroli, disclosing details about the meeting for the first time, said the pontiff would open the gathering with a speech which would not be made public.

Vatican Secretary of State Cardinal Agostino Casaroli was to speak to the meeting about the Curia, or the church's central administration. There are reports the Polish-born pontiff wants to institute a major reorganization of the Curia, which is dominated by Italian cardinals.

On Tuesday the Vatican's two top financial experts speak to the cardinals on the Holy See's financial statement, Panciroli said. Cardinals Giuseppe Caprio and Egidio Vagnoni were expected to brief the cardinals.

The meeting has been scheduled for four days, but Panciroli said it may be prolonged if necessary.

Pope, Cardinals Slate Vatican Finance Meet

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II and more than 100 cardinals will examine the church's finances in an extraordinary meeting starting today, the Vatican has confirmed.

Officials here say the Vatican's finances have been running in the red for some years, with reported annual deficits of up to $30 million. The meeting is unprecedented in modern Church history.

Vatican spokesman the Rev. Romeo Panciroli said the cardinals also are to examine the administration and role of the church in the modern world.

Israel, Egypt Resolve Dispute On Sinai Oil

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat indicated today that the path was now clear for an agreement on the supply of Sinai oil to the Jewish state.

Agreement apparently came after Israeli officials bowed to demands pushed by Sadat. The demands were not made public.

"You can take it from me, there is no problem," Sadat told reporters after a nearly two-hour meeting with Weizman at the Egyptian leader's home on the Nile 15 miles north of Cairo.

"Everyone will be so happy they will be dripping with oil," Weizman said. Asked if everything had been resolved, he said, "resolved, resolved."

GOOF-OFF'S LAW: IT TAKES ONE TO KNOW ONE

Physicist Announces Safe Way To Dispose Of Nuclear Wastes

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI) — An Arizona State University physicist claims he has discovered a way to overcome the biggest unresolved problem of nuclear energy — the disposal of dangerous radioactive wastes.

Dr. Radha R. Roy said Sunday he has discovered a way to render the wastes harmless in a matter of weeks instead of the thousands of years it takes naturally for them to lose their radioactivity.

Roy's theory has yet to be demonstrated.

He said all of the necessary theoretical and quantum electrodynamic work on the process has been completed. But, he said, it will take as much as a year to prepare data needed for the engineering design of a pilot radioactive waste treatment plant.

The process, Roy said, "very roughly can be described in part as a reversal of phenomena that occur during a nuclear fission chain reaction."

"Theoretical analysis and mathematical calculations confirm that the process is highly effective and that any level of radioactivity, from weak to strong, can be reduced to a harmless state in a short period of time."

The method "can cancel radioactivity rapidly enough for it to be of real, practical value in disposing of dangerous wastes in storage and as they are being produced," Roy said.

He said one treatment plant design he has devised could reduce the radioactivity of even the most dangerous wastes with half-lives of 15,000 to 40,000 years to a level where they could be essentially harmless in about 20 days. A half-life is the time required for a quantity of radioactive material to lose one-half of its radioactive strength.

Roy, 58, a professor of nuclear physics, said he discovered the method after two years of summer, evening and spare time research.

"I've been working in the field 30 years and the question of nuclear waste always disturbed me," Roy said. "I thought we had no right to leave waste to future generations."

"We are morally obligated not to do yet to come."

Broadway Reports Profit Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway ushered in winners and losers last season, as expected, but overall it was a hit, according to the ledgers.

State attorney general Robert Abrams issued the annual theatrical productions report, which showed a $10 million annual profit increase for Broadway productions. The report, released Sunday, also said off-Broadway shows are on the financial upswing for the first time in 10 years.

Among the biggest profit-makers on Broadway were the long-running "Annie" and "Dracula" at $1.5 million each. Other big winners were "Beatlemania" and "Ain't Misbehavin'."

The U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts agricultural exports will approach the $38-billion mark next year.

Writer Tests Television's Influence On Kids

By PETER J. BOYER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — I was expecting the Incredible Hulk over the other night. He never showed up. There is significance in this.

I was expecting The Hulk because it was Halloween, and I wanted to test a theory.

I'd come across some old speeches by Fred Silverman, president of NBC, and Fred Pierce, president of ABC, aimed at refuting reports that Americans were watching less TV, and watching it with less interest. They pointed to A.C. Nielsen Co. findings showing, of course, that

Dance Company Begins Series In New York

By MARY CAMPBELL
NEW YORK (AP) — The Murray Louis Dance Company zinged right in with a world premiere first on its program recently as it began a "Masters of American Dance" series at the City Center.

In this new dance, titled "Afternoon," things are in an unusual state — nice. Seven dancers, in cheerful yellow tights and sleeveless leotards, dance to rags by Scott Joplin and others, played by pianist William Bolcom with a violinist and a clarinetist.

Sometimes the dancers are arranged as three couples and a solo person, the couples doing the same movements or mirror movements or just complimentary movements that relate to each other but don't get in each other's way. The solo dancer isn't an outsider — he's just doing his own thing.

The dancers move arms and legs, shoulders, hips and heads in a naturalistic manner, not in some stiff avant-garde or dramatic "fraught with symbolism" way.

They relate to each other, but in a special way instead of an emotional way. The only emotion we note is the enjoyment of a stroll on a pleasant afternoon.

The evening continued with Louis' choreography, the nimble "Schubert," to the first movement of Schubert's "Trout Quintet," a muscle-rippling and witty solo by Louis called "Deja Vu," and the angular "Geometrics."

The Murray Louis Dance Company performed May through July in France, Switzerland and England. After this season ends Saturday, the company will tour in Missouri, Nebraska, Connecticut, Florida and Michigan through December.

Other modern dance companies scheduled for the City Center include those of Alvin Ailey, Alwin Nikolais, the late Jose Limon, Merce Cunningham and a ballet troupe from Caracas.

I thought I'd do a little research of my own, less scientific than Nielsen perhaps, but reliable on a gut level. I'd give TV the Halloween Kid Test.

Kids being great barometers of the social climate, and Halloween being a kids' holiday, it figured that if TV were healthy, the Hulk (or maybe Fozzie) would appear on my porch. I remembered some wonderful TV-inspired costumes from Halloween past — My Favorite Martian, Dr. Spock, Howdy Dood-y, Zorro, The Lone Ranger, Paladin... I remembered one kid who actually came as a TV set, knobs and everything.

The first ring of the doorknob came at precisely 5:30. A witch, the first of many traditional spookies to cross the porch last Wednesday night. Halloween convention, at least, seemed alive and well.

A couple of ghosts and skeletons came and went, then a couple of fairies, some more witches, a rock star, a bunny rabbit, a pirate, a horde of R2-D2s and several Darth Vaders. "Star Wars" was still big in my neighborhood.

But no Hulk.

At about 8:00, a big kid came by, dressed as a hobo and toting a grimy paper sack. I think it was a real bum.

HE CAME HOME FOR HALLOWEEN 7:20-9:20

An obnoxious kid came to the door wearing a big green suit with placemats plastered on front and back "How cute," my wife said. "What are you, a frog?"

"A frog? I'm a sea turtle, lady. Got any M&Ms?"

Then a child with bandages all over his body. "You're the mummy, right?" I asked. "Nah," he said, "I'm pretending to be a man who's been hit by a car."

Oh. Where was Hulk?

All manner of ghosts and goblins nearly every character from "Star Wars," enough rock stars for "Woodstock III," Charlie Chaplin, two clowns, a boxer, an egg, a chicken, a sea turtle and a kid pretending to be a man who'd been hit by a car. And two Richardsons, one in plastic, one in rubber.

But no Hulk. Not a single character from TV came to my house last Wednesday night. There is significance in this.

I don't know why the Hulk never showed, but I realize why no other TV characters made the rounds on Halloween. There aren't any great TV heroes. How can a kid dress up like a sitcom? "Hey Mom, can I be 'Hello, Larry' this year?"

Or "The Ropers"? No mother would let her child trick or treat as a toilet joke.

So, there it is, TV executives, the Halloween Kid Test. Its findings are rather dark, but it came cheaply enough.
