

Terrorists Shoot At Marines

ROOSEVELT ROADS, Puerto Rico (UPI) — Two unidentified gunmen fired at a U.S. Marine patrol on the Roosevelt Roads naval base, the second shooting attack against American service personnel within a week.

An official Navy statement said there were no injuries in the ambush Sunday. It did not say how many Marines were in the vehicle.

No group immediately claimed responsibility for the attack.

The attack came seven days after terrorist gunmen ambushed a Navy vehicle approaching the Sabana Seca Communications Station outside San Juan, killing two sailors and wounding 10 others in the bloodiest attack ever against military personnel on the island.

"At approximately 6:40 p.m. (4:40 p.m. CST), a Marine security patrol vehicle was fired upon by two unknown individuals while conducting a routine security patrol aboard the naval station at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico," the official Navy statement said.

Both the FBI and the Naval Investigative Services immediately launched investigations into the ambush, the statement said.

Navy security men sealed off a section of the Roosevelt Roads naval base, thinking the gunmen might still be hiding there, a Navy source said.

An unconfirmed report said bullets struck the sentry vehicle as it patrolled inside the perimeter of the base.

Neither police nor the Navy would say how many people were in the vehicle and they did not specify what type vehicle it was, or the weapons used in the attack.

Khomeini Blasts 'Traitor' Carter

TABRIZ, Iran (UPI) — In his most personal attack yet on President Carter, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini today called him a traitor and urged Americans not to vote for him. He also blamed the United States for fomenting a major crisis in northwest Iran.

"Carter has been a bad politician and president for the American people and is not qualified to be president," Khomeini said.

(Other Iranian Stories On Page 15, Sec. A)

told students in the holy city of Qom. "He has been a traitor to the American people. The people of America must know this and not vote for Carter."

Khomeini directly implicated the United States in the current troubles in northwest Iran. He said dissidents who seized the broadcast complex in Tabriz were "American spies. These are men from the (occupied American) embassy."

The ayatollah charged files on these spies and traitors had been uncovered at the embassy, proving their roles.

Khomeini's latest attack was part of an escalating campaign by the government and militants holding the 50 American hostages to blame the United States for the violence in Iran's Azerbaijan region.

Diplomatic sources said this campaign, designed to rally the nation against a common enemy, could greatly complicate any diplomatic moves to secure the release of the captives held for the 37th day.

As Khomeini spoke, antigovernment dissidents reoccupied the radio complex in Tabriz and a high-powered government delegation arrived for mediation talks to try to settle the fighting between supporters of moderate Ayatollah Khomeini and Khomeini's loyalist revolutionary guards.

At least nine persons have been killed and 60 others wounded in the fighting that erupted Sunday and tapered off early today.

In Tehran, diplomatic reports said an envoy of U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim was among several "unofficial" ambassadors in the Iranian capital working with Khomeini's government to try to secure the speedy release of the American hostages.

Hundreds of opposition supporters walked casually into the radio and television complex in Tabriz and reoccupied it without resistance from local army troops who had held it during the night.

Government loyalists seized it from the dissidents Sunday afternoon and lost it back to them in a major battle Sunday night. The demonstrators in turn then handed it over to the army before reoccupying it.

In Tehran, Foreign Minister Sadegh Qotbzadeh said Sunday in an interview that within 10 days he would convene a special international commission to "judge before the world" American crimes in Iran over the past 25 years.

He indicated all 50 hostages would be paraded before the panel of "anti-imperialists and anti-Zionists," but said those captives deemed innocent of spying "cannot be held forever" and would be released at some future point.

He did not specify the exact make-up of the commission or when the innocent would be freed.

The foreign minister said international observers would be allowed to visit the hostages and report on their condition.

The United States announced envoys of other foreign nations were also at work trying to persuade Tehran to release the captives and Secretary of State

Cyrus Vance began a European trip in London in an effort to step up diplomatic and economic pressure on Iran.

The simmering crisis in Tabriz, the unofficial capital of Turkish-speaking Iran and the Azerbaijan provinces, exploded into full-scale gun battles Sunday afternoon when loyalist revolutionary guards recaptured the radio and television complex from followers of Shariatmadari.

They had occupied the compound for four days, initially demanding changes in the new Islamic constitution and then expanding their demands for autonomy for the region. Shariatmadari supporters boycotted last week's voting for the Islamic Assembly.

World Court Hears Plea

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (UPI) — Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti today appealed to the International Court of Justice to take "the most vigorous action it can" to save the American hostages in Iran.

Civiletti accused Iran of using the hostages for political gain and said the Iranian action meant other countries or groups would be able to seize hostages with impunity.

He said Iran had violated crucial elements of international law which had been established in ancient custom. The Iranian action was the first such violation in modern political history.

The 15 judges of the International Court began public hearings on the U.S. application today in the 66-year-old Peace Palace. Shortly after the ceremonial opening of the session by British court president Sir Humphrey Waldock, the official U.S. agent in the case, State Department legal adviser Roberts B. Owen, handed over to Civiletti.

The U.S. application to the International Court was not just a symbolic gesture, he said, it was an appeal to a body "that represents the highest legal aspirations of civilized man."

Civiletti said the application to the International Court of Justice was consistent with America's attempts to find a peaceful resolution of the crisis in relations with Iran.

The application was made on the basis of long-standing treaties involving both the United States and Iran, he said. Four such treaties that are named in the application include specific provision for the settlement of disputes by the International Court, he added.

He refused to discuss the courses open to the United States to secure enforcement of a possible favorable decision, but he said a copy of the court's decision would be sent immediately to the United Nations Security Council.

"I'm here because of the importance of this case," Civiletti said. A decision in favor of the U.S. application would, he said, be one more recognition of the international condemnation of Iran's failure to secure the release of the hostages being held in the Tehran embassy. It would be an "appropriate" follow-up to the recent Security Council resolution on the incident.

The United States' legal team at the hearings should complete its oral presentation within the three hours allowed for the first sitting, a senior State Department official said.

Questions from the international bench of 15 judges could, however, push the public session over into a second day.

New HSCH Officials Approved

County commissioners approved this morning, subject to legal scrutiny, contracts for two men who officials hope will lead Health Sciences Center Hospital "out of the wilderness."

The commissioners made official the hiring of Jake Henry Jr., 33, of San Angelo as executive director of the teaching hospital. Charlie Trimble Jr., 32, of Austin was approved as chief financial officer.

The Texas Tech alumni were hired Saturday by the Lubbock County Hospital District to manage Health Sciences, which has been experiencing severe financial troubles for almost a year. Their two-year contracts begin Jan. 1, with Henry receiving $59,000 annually and Trimble receiving $49,000 annually.

Don McInturf, chairman of the administrative committee which has handled the search for new management, made the contract presentation to the commissioners. He said the board was lucky to have "enticed" the two men to help bail out the hospital.

"They are rather youthful," County Judge Rod Shaw said, "but they do have some impressive experience."

Henry and Trimble attended Texas Tech together. Henry received a bachelor's degree in education at Tech in 1973 and considered being a college professor. But during his student years, Trimble hired him to work at St. Mary's Hospital and Henry decided to enter the health field.

Trimble, a 1972 Tech graduate, worked in the admitting office at Meth-

Four May Testify In School Hassle

Four Lubbock residents, including a former acting president of the local National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, may testify for the Justice Department during Lubbock public schools' integration trial, according to documents filed in U.S. District Court today.

George C. Scott, assistant dean of students at Texas Tech University and a former vice president and president of the NAACP here, may testify in the Jan. 28 trial, although government attorneys stated they do not yet know the specific nature of Scott's possible testimony.

Harry Stokley Jr., a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission; Gonzalo Garza of All American Real Estate; and Bobby Williams of Bobby Williams Insurance and Real Estate are three other possible witnesses.

The names of the four city residents, along with the names of two potential expert witnesses, were contained in Justice Department answers to school district interrogatories.

Named as potential expert witnesses are Dr. Emory Davis, associate professor of sociology at Austin College in Dallas, and Dr. George Henderson, chairman of the department of human relations at the University of Oklahoma in Norman, Okla.

Davis was formerly at Texas Tech and Henderson has recently served as consultant for the school district's human relations committee that was set up to help monitor the desegregation plan implemented in 1978.

Dr. E.C. Leslie, assistant superintendent for administration for Lubbock public schools, said Henderson has issued "glowing reports" about the limited desegregation plan.

The court document states that both Davis and Henderson, if called as witnesses, will probably testify "generally as to the causes of segregated residential housing patterns, and the influence of schools and school actions on these patterns."

Stokley is expected to testify "as to historical residential patterns in northeast Lubbock, specifically the Cherry Point development, and the influence of school board actions thereon."

Government attorneys state that Garza and Williams will testify concerning the importance of schools in relation to home purchasing decisions, including such factors as school openings and closings and the "community reputation of schools based upon the curriculum offered and the racial composition of their enrollment."

Also in response to school attorneys' questions, Justice Department lawyers reassert that the "discriminatory policies and actions of the LISD have substantially contributed to both school and residential segregation in Lubbock."

They contend the effects of de jure (by law) segregation by the school board has had a systemwide effect so that all schools are directly or indirectly affected by the segregation.

Although the Justice Department wants a systemwide desegregation plan for the Lubbock schools, attorneys do not plan to offer an alternative to the plan ordered by U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward.

The Jan. 28 trial is the result of a decision by the Supreme Court.

Goodfellows Get Appeals For Aid

"Please come to this house. There are five little boys there and their only income is welfare."

The letter to Chief Goodfellow began "Dear Sir" and closed "a friend."

Without all the friends, relatives and acquaintances of children who might be forgotten on Christmas, Chief Goodfellow and his anonymous band could not make the day happier for about 10,000 this year.

He wants to know about all children up to 14 who, like the five little boys mentioned above, will have no Christmas.

Ector School Bond Vote Upheld By Court Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to disturb a 1978 election that approved $21.6 million worth of construction and rehabilitation projects for Ector County (Odessa) schools.

The justices, without comment, turned down arguments that the election results should be overturned because, according to county resident Robert Frias, school officials spread false information before the election.

At the same time, the justices turned down an effort by school district officials to collect damages from Frias for having to put up with what was called a "frivolous" appeal.

School officials asked to be awarded $6,337.46 for each day since the Texas Supreme Court dismissed the matter last Oct. 3.

Frias' appeal, filed by Odessa lawyer Gloria Tanner Svanas, argued that school district officials "and their employees intentionally misrepresented facts concerning the needs of the school district."

The appeal said "local banks and Texas business corporations through their contributions funded the dissemination of these misrepresentations."

The funds raised by the bond issue vote are to be used for construction of two elementary schools, one junior high school and a new athletic stadium. The money also will be used for extensive renovating and refurbishing of existing buildings.

The Ector County school district has a student enrollment of about 23,000 and an annual budget of about $41 million.

The Supreme Court today also agreed to consider an appeal seeking to weaken an after-the-fact protection against illegal police searches.

The justices said they will study a Justice Department attack on a 1960 Supreme Court decision giving all criminal suspects an automatic right to challenge incriminating evidence on grounds it was obtained illegally.

Clayton Cites Need For Growth

By JOE GULICK
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives Bill Clayton told a Lubbock Chamber of Commerce audience today that reapportionment will be an awesome task facing the state during the next legislative session.

Speaking to a group of about 60 persons, which included a joint meeting of three chamber of commerce committees, Clayton said it is very important that chambers of commerce in Texas become keenly involved in governmental affairs in the next three to four years.

"Reapportionment will probably affect rural areas more than urban areas," he said. "The rural areas have grown, but not as much as the urban ones."

Clayton said the state government is documenting all correspondence and phone calls that apply to reapportionment. "We have asked the Justice Department to look over our shoulders to make sure everyone has a say," he said.

Clayton said business across the state is faring well and that Texas is the number one growth state in business and industry. To continue this growth, Texans must re-emphasize to legislative members those things that are conducive to bringing in industry, he said.

As an example, Clayton mentioned that one industrialist checked the number of unsolved crimes in an area when considering locating an industry there. It was important to him because he didn't want to move the industry to a high crime area, Clayton said. "In the last several years, we have had a push on to get harder on criminals in Texas, but there is a lot left to do," he said.

Asked about the energy situation, Clayton said discontinuing oil purchases from Iran would certainly have an impact, but he wasn't sure how much. The federal government needs a national energy policy that allows more plowback into developing new energy sources, he said.

Clayton said people see that oil companies made huge profits and they seem to think the money is going into the pockets of a few, forgetting that most oil companies are publicly owned.

"We've got to stand up and say the profit motive is good," Clayton said.

BBB Warns Of Charity Rip-Offs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The holiday season, when charities step up their heart-rending appeals, presents special hurdles for donors who want to help others, the Better Business Bureau says.

"At this time of year, people are thinking of how they can give their money so that it will help some worthy cause. But there also are a lot of things to watch out for," said Helen O'Rourke, vice president of the Council of BBBs and head of its Philanthropic Advisory Service.

"Know the organization and if in doubt check with the Better Business Bureau," she advised.

Among holiday charity rip-offs, she included some sidewalk Santas asking for contributions and groups, sometimes of children, that go door to door asking for money that in the end may not go to charity.

She excerpted the Salvation Army from the criticism of sidewalk kettle collectors. "They meet our standards. ... We know the kettles are checked and sealed at night. But not all kettles are," Mrs. O'Rourke said.

Another holiday deception operating under the guise of charity is what she called "the candy caper kids."

"Someone pulls up to the block with a truckload of kids who go door to door selling candies for Christmas candy at about 10 times the usual price. People are reluctant to turn down kids," Mrs. O'Rourke said.

She recommended that all donations be made by check, payable to the charitable organization. This insures that the money will go to the organization instead of into the pocket of the solicitor, and also provides a receipt for tax purposes, she said in an interview.

Another recommendation is to ask questions of solicitors who come to the door or who telephone.

"When someone calls me selling magazines, I ask 'How much of my money is going to the charity?' If the caller can't say, I say I won't contribute until I know," Mrs. O'Rourke said.

"If you ask questions and talk things over, you're going to get a feeling for whether they are legitimate or not," she said.

Finally, BBB advises donors to give to charities they know, such as their churches or well-known organizations. The BBB says, "Give, but give wisely."

The BBB Philanthropic Advisory Service in Washington and a second organization, the National Information Bureau in New York, have standards for charitable organizations and issue lists of those that meet the standards.

The standards cover such areas as financial accountability, absence of conflicts of interest among board members and ethical fund-raising practices.

"People give more at the end of the year for two reasons," Mrs. O'Rourke said. "At the holiday season, more people want to share what they have with other people. In addition, to get the tax deduction, you have to give before the end of the year."

Almost $40 billion was given in 1978 to charity, with almost half of that going to religious organizations.

"Since about 90 percent of that total is contributed by individuals, it shows how important your dollar is," she said.

Song About Red-Nosed Reindeer Celebrates 30th Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" was easily the worst song ever written when lyrics met notes more than 30 years ago. Or so the author says.

But, fortunately for him and for more than a generation of Christmas memories, he wrote it again the next year, assuring it a place among the most recorded songs in history.

Johnny Marks created the tune about the animal with the glowing proboscis 30 years ago, and has heard his little ditty echoed in more than 500 renditions since.

The song has been pressed into the grooves of at least 128 million records, and has been sung by the likes of Gene Autrey and Willie Nelson in styles ranging from mambo to jazz. Paul McCart-ney's recently released version is an instrumental entitled, "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reggae."

Marks has also written about 900 other songs, including "Have a Holly Jolly Christmas," "I Heard the Bells of Christmas Day" and "Rocking Around the Christmas Tree." But, uncontestably, "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" was his biggest hit.

"It has been said that 'Rudolph' is the most recorded song since 'Jingle Bells,'" the 70-year-old Marks said in a recent interview.

"In 1947, I saw a little children's book about Rudolph and I thought about it for a while and sat down to write a song about it. That song was easily one of the worst songs ever written," he said.

"Then, about a year later, I was walking down the street when a new melody came to me. It's the only time that ever happened, and I have to admit, it's a great melody."

Marks made a demonstration tape and sent copies of the song to the day's leading singers, including Gene Autry, who considered the song but then dismissed it. It wasn't really the kind of tune one would expect from the "Singing Cowboy," Marks remembers thinking.

But Autry's wife was enchanted by the song, and he agreed to record it on the "B" or second side of a disc. The record was released Sept. 15, 1949, and "Rudolph" was a hit by Oct. 1.

Autry's version, which Marks likes best, has sold 11 million copies. Marks has gone on to other things, writing scores for television specials and the other Christmas songs, "I Heard the Bells of Christmas Day," made popular by Bing Crosby, was an adaptation of a poem by Longfellow, and remains one of Marks' favorites.

Most of the songs Marks has written are unpublished, and many litter his office.

Press Club Honors Carol Burnett

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The Hollywood Women's Press Club turned thumbs down on John Travolta while honoring Carol Burnett for personal and professional achievement.

Travolta, star of "Saturday Night Fever" and "Grease," would have left the Sunday ceremonies with the club's "Sour Apple" award if he had shown up.

Club spokeswoman Betty Anderson said the "Sour Apple" scroll is awarded annually to the "celebrity who most believes his own publicity."

Top honors at the 39th annual fete, MISS BURNETT the Golden Apple, went to comedian Carol Burnett, who was lauded for her achievements "as a performer and as a person," Mrs. Anderson said.

The award was established in honor of Louella O. Parsons, charter member and first president of the 200-woman organization that began nearly 50 years ago when 10 news-women met for lunch at the old Brown Derby.

Bette Davis presented "Entertainer of the Year" awards to Jill Clayburgh and Alan Alda. "Discovery of the Year" honors went to Mariette Hartley and Dudley Moore.

Winners received solid gold apple pendants or keychains, Mrs. Anderson said.

believed to have offered up to $8.6 million to establish a permanent Turner gallery in London. The building would house nearly 300 oil paintings and more than 19,000 watercolors and sketches bequeathed to the nation by Turner, who died in 1851, on the condition they be housed together.

Officials of the government and of the museums which now house the works had no comment on the reports. Mellon founded the Yale Center for British Art in New Haven, Conn., and has an extensive private collection.

Sign Of Hard Times

ATLANTA (AP) — Tire dealer J.K. Ramey erected a billboard atop his store to warn people about Atlanta's high crime rate. But it didn't keep the burglars out.

And Ramey, a victim of crime in the past, said he was doubly frustrated and perplexed by the latest incident Saturday.

"I'm telling you, I don't know what's wrong. We've got something wrong in this city," said Ramey.

The businessman attracted national attention when he erected the enormous sign warning citizens to use "extreme caution" while in Atlanta, "where police are underpaid, undermanned and underequipped."

Ramey said someone threw a brick through a plate glass window, broke in the front door and stole an estimated $5,000 in tires, wheels, office equipment and a shotgun.

When the sign was being made, burglars stole parts of it. And when the 22- by 96-foot billboard was being hoisted atop his dealership, vandals cut the brake lines on the crane which was used to raise the sign.

Dangers Aired On Toy Chests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The falling lids of chests where toys are kept have killed at least 16 children in recent years, says a staff report of the government's Consumer Product Safety Commission.

There also have been serious injuries, including brain damage, caused by oxygen starvation.

In all cases, the report said, the lid fell on the child's neck as he or she leaned into the toy chest. The child choked before the accident was noticed.

The commission's records show 16 deaths since 1972, not including any accidents that might have occurred this year, and two cases of brain damage where the child was rescued before death.

If anything, one commission investigator said, the number of deaths is probably underreported.

End Of 1970s Could Bring Cheer From Wall Street

By CHET CURRIER
NEW YORK (AP) — When the 1970s officially come to an end three weeks from now, the last sound heard on Wall Street may well be a sigh of relief.
 For many of the 150,000 or so people who work in the securities industry, and for millions of stock-market investors, merely surviving the decade was something to brag about.
 It began with a bad bear market, and an even worse one hit in 1973-74, wiping out just about all the gains in stock prices achieved during the soaring '60s.

 In the midst of that shakeout, the government ordered an end to the fixed commission schedule under which brokers had always operated in this country. Thus full price-competition came to Wall Street on May 1, 1975 under the innocuous-sounding name of "negotiated rates."

But brokers had another word for it — "Mayday" — as it transformed the once-lucrative business of trading stocks for investing institutions into a loss-leader almost overnight.
 At the bidding of Congress, the Securities and Exchange Commission meanwhile was pushing an often-reluctant industry toward development of a National Market System.

Two years ago, the SEC even proposed to knock down one of the primary walls in the fortress of power at the New York Stock Exchange by allowing brokers to trade listed stocks on their own, rather than through exchange facilities. At the last moment the exchange, with the support of leading executives from corporate America, convinced the commission to hold off on that drastic step. But it remained a prospect for some unspecified future date.

The brokerage houses themselves, in this atmosphere of upheaval, turned to two principal strategies of survival — mergers and diversification.

Hornblower Weeks, Hemphill Nyes merged with Spencer Trask. Hayden Stone merged with Shearson Hammill. Hornblower Weeks, Noyes & Trask merged with Loeb Rhoades. Faulkner Dawkins & Sullivan merged with Shearson Hayden Stone. And then Loeb Rhoades Hornblower and Shearson Hayden Stone agreed to merge.

In 1972, the 10 largest firms accounted for about a third of the industry's equity capital. By 1978 they had nearly half the total.

Diversification, meanwhile, meant expanding into commodities, options, annuities, unit investment trusts, money market funds, insurance, mortgage banking, and more. Merrill Lynch, the giant of the industry, took the plunge into real estate, which some estimate to be a market three times as large as the stocks and bonds business.

Many of the large national firms were talking more and more of becoming one-stop "financial department stores." Things reached the point that the SEC chairman, Harold Williams, questioned a couple of weeks ago whether the industry wasn't drifting dangerously away from its basic mission of providing a capital-raising mechanism for the country.

Robert M. Gardiner, vice chairman of the firm of Dean Witter Reynolds, replied that the merger and diversification trends were "rooted in government regulatory actions," and said they would continue.

But he added that firms like his would keep close ties to the traditional stocks and bonds business, because that was the source of one of their most precious assets, their "customer base."

"We have not taken our eyes off the ball," he said. "We know that our fundamental purpose is still to raise capital for other industries."

The National Market System, an issue throughout the '70s, remains to be completed in the 1980s. Williams lately seems to have taken a go-slow approach to this subject — a stance that has helped make him notably popular in an industry that is used to feeling abused and misunderstood by most, if not all, of Washington.

Williams has a little more than two years left, until the spring of 1982, on a five-year commitment he made when he took the SEC job. If there are no formal deadlines at the moment on the completion of the National Market System, that would seem to stand as an unofficial one.

Modern-day historians say Davy Crockett might have actually died while on his knees, reportedly begging for mercy from his captives at the Alamo.

Man In Wheelchair Accused Of Rape

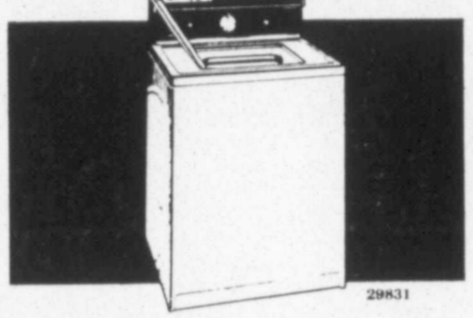

OSARK, Ala. (AP) — A 27-year-old man confined to a wheelchair has been charged with rape, Ozark officials say.
 Police Chief Alan Benefield says a woman told police she was walking along a street this week when a man in a wheelchair pulled a gun on her, forced her into bushes and assaulted her.
 Andrew Stewart was being held at the Dale County Jail pending a bond hearing. Officials said he reportedly was crippled by a gunshot wound.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

Paper Chase Race Is On

LEST ANYONE doubt that the 1980 presidential campaign has begun in earnest, Simon & Schuster has just published "Our Day and Generation" by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Kennedy, of course, already has announced his plans to challenge President Carter for the Democratic nomination. And the President made his re-election bid formal Tuesday in a campaign splash watered down by his expressed desire to concentrate most of his energy on breaking developments in Iran.

Meanwhile, "Our Day and Generation" may be regarded as the latest example of that peculiarly American literary genre, the campaign book.

When the candidate (or more likely a ghost writer) is the author, the objective is to set forth the candidate's views on major issues in the most favorable possible light.

GARRY WILLS, syndicated columnist for The Washington Star, was not impressed with his review copy. "The book," he wrote, "intersperses piths of wisdom with wisps of vital froth."

Kennedy touches all the familiar bases: health, energy, women's rights, environment, defense, human rights, and so forth. Wills found Kennedy's tone (as is customary with shall we say works of this kind) more hortatory than specific on some issues.

But the same criticism could be made and been leveled at such forgettable masterpieces as Jimmy Carter's "Why Not the Best?" (1976), Edmund Muskie's "Journeys" (1972), George Wallace's "Hear Me Out" (1968), LBJ's "A Time for Action" and Barry Goldwater's "Where I Stand" (both 1964) and John F. Kennedy's "The Strategy of Peace" (1960).

THE FIRST candidate-written campaign book, per se, may have been Warren Harding's "Rededicating America" (1920), published the year he was elected President.

His successor, Calvin Coolidge, published "Price of Freedom" (1924) and went on to win election. But the 1928 Democratic presidential nominee entrusted the task of writing "Happy Warrior, Alfred E. Smith" to rookie author Franklin D. Roosevelt.

While the campaign book is an established tradition of American presidential politics, another tradition is relatively new. It was the custom of presidential hopefuls for many years to keep their supporters and opponents guessing about their intentions until the very last moment.

That's ancient history, now. Carter's pre-announcement announcement was made on Oct. 4, two months before he formally admitted the truth. Students of politics can't help thinking it was more fun the old way.

CALL TO THE FAITHFUL

James J. Kilpatrick:

WASHINGTON—Early in 1913, at the tender age of 8, Erwin Griswold began to collect stamps. He had gone to a hospital to have his appendix removed, and while he was recovering from the operation friends brought him a beginner's album to play with.

Today the former dean of Harvard Law has well over 10,000 items in his collection, and the dean is deeply troubled.

If Congress fails to repeal or drastically to amend the "carry-over basis" tax, the investment of Griswold's lifetime—an investment intended to care for his invalid wife in the event of his death—could be virtually destroyed.

Hundreds of thousands of other American families face a similar cruel prospect. The "carry-over" provision is a sleeper in the Tax Code.

IF YOU YOURSELF are likely to leave an estate of at least $60,000—not much in these inflationary times—you had better wake up in a hurry.

By way of background: Three years ago, in its rush to adjournment before the presidential election, Congress enacted a tax reform bill. At the last minute, without floor debate in either chamber, conferees agreed upon a long and complicated amendment.

This was the "carry-over basis" provision. In a recent editorial, the Washington Post argued that "Congress knew exactly what it was doing" in 1976. Nonsense.

Not a dozen members in either chamber had the foggiest notion of the pernicious change they were writing into law.

This exercise in irresponsibility was effectively confessed when Congress subsequently voted to suspend the provision until Jan. 1, 1980.

At this writing, Sens. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and Robert Dole of Kansas have a repeal amendment firmly attached to the so-called "windfall profits" bill.

PRESIDENT CARTER IS pledged to veto a repeal measure if he has the chance, but Carter yearns for his windfall bill like Faust yearned for Helen of Troy. The Byrd-Dole strategy will work.

How did Congress both things up? The carry-over scheme is beloved of such liberals as Kennedy of Massachusetts, who dreams of redistributing other people's wealth.

In a recent Senate test, Kennedy was paired against the Byrd-Dole repeal amendment; the only other senators to vote against repeal were Biden of Delaware, Metzenbaum of Ohio, Proxmire of Wisconsin and Tsongas of Massachusetts. Eighty-four senators voted to wipe the provision off the books.

The carry-over trap can best be illustrated by Dean Griswold's example. In a statement to the Senate Finance Committee, Griswold put no present value on his stamp collection.

LET US ASSUME that at his death his albums have an appraised value of $100,000. An inheritance tax would be levied on that basis.

"No one else in my family is interested in stamps," he said. "It was always my expectation that my executor would sell the stamps, and I

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Time Of His Life

NOW THAT HE'S been given lifetime tenure as the judicial, legislative and administrative head of Iran, say the folks at the Shallowater cafe, the Ayatollah Khomeini is almost as powerful as a federal judge.

The Supreme Court has ruled that an indigent can sue his taxpayer-paid lawyer for malpractice if he loses the case.

Wonder if the taxpayers can sue him for malpractice if he wins the case?

State Sen. Babe Schwartz of Galveston says "absolute confused idiots" are operating foreign-flag ships in the Gulf.

Well, says My Neighbor Twice Removed, that's a relief. He thought they were all in the Legislature.

COLLECTIVE bargaining rights of the type being demanded by Lubbock firefighters have had disastrous results in Cleveland.

Unionized teachers there walked off the job on Oct. 18 and classes were cancelled on Nov. 6, disrupting the education of 92,000 pupils.

Just because strikes by public employees are illegal, as they are in Texas, they are not precluded. The strike is the ultimate and essential weapon in a union's bargaining arsenal and its illegality never has kept it from being used.

Cleveland's teachers union demanded a 13 percent raise, 8 percent in September and another 5 percent at midyear. The school board offered 7 percent in September, period. The teachers struck.

Holmes Alexander:

Blacks Reject Role As Pawns

WASHINGTON—How it will all end, no one knows, but the person who said the ultimate mouthful about the Tehran outrage was Vernon Jordan, the black man who is head of the National Urban League.

When the Iranian captors started by releasing women and blacks from the American group of hostages, Jordan immediately saw it as a ruse to turn the American people against themselves.

Jordan saw the need and the right for Americans to stand together as one nation against all foes. He called the Jim Crow separation of the prisoners for what it was: "a cynical attempt to divide the American public. Black Americans refuse to be pawns in the Ayatollah Khomeini's insane games."

I know it's foolhardy to write about a situation which changes from day to day. But there are elements in it that have lasting significance and values.

FIRST, I THINK, Vernon Jordan has spoken for the evolution to which we have all been witness in the past two decades.

After the outcome of World War II it was no longer plausible that Germany and Japan could ever have been individually superior in their hemisphere, but that democratic and socialist imperialisms were the true world order.

It was never a question of "brave little England" standing alone against the Hun, for that ingenious island race had advanced its rule over five commonwealths and innumerable possessions, none of which would dare go independent until the Mother Country had survived the assault.

The U.S. also held a nation in captivity, the Afro-Americans, and did not seriously think of its liberation until our prodigious imperialism had laid the German and Japanese unstarts low.

THE UNIFICATION of the dominant American races accelerated only after the figurehead of democracy, Franklin Roosevelt, had fallen.

It wasn't until Harry Truman became a presidential candidate that Henry Wallace took the socialist radicals one way, and Strom Thurmond took the propertied gentry another.

That 1948 election distributed the American peoples to their own political devices, much as had happened to the British Empire.

John Kennedy did not advance the frontier of racial opportunity, though he gave it lip service, and was intellectually a progressive who accepted the coming change.

Had Johnson refrained from following Kennedy into the Indochina War much of the violence of marches, demonstrations, assassinations, vandalism and street crime might have been spared both races.

Vernon Jordan spoke for the drawing together

Those pay demands bear remarkable resemblance to those of Lubbock firemen. They want a 15 percent raise, 8 percent more than the 7 percent the Council gave them in September, period.

In both Cleveland and Lubbock, the employees' wage requests were heard, considered and rejected. The only difference was that, with collective bargaining, those in Cleveland went out on strike.

Lubbock firemen say they won't strike even if they win the January referendum and get collective bargaining rights.

They're good folks and they no doubt mean what they say when they say it. But the fact remains that, without the strike as a weapon, collective bargaining would give them nothing they don't already have in the way of making their demands known.

Postmaster Gen. William Bolger has eliminated 1,900 truck routes, saving 1.8 million vehicle miles and 300,000 gallons of gasoline annually by putting more postmen afoot.

My Neighbor Twice Removed says he thinks that's a good move. But he wonders if walking explains why the mail is so slow.

From the Quote Wrack: "Yes, we're going to invade the privacy of some people. They happen to be criminals in drug traffic and we're going to lock them up."—Gov. Bill Clements, promising another attempt to pass a law allowing wiretapping and electronic surveillance.

Sen. John W. Warner, R-Va., who as head of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission traveled more than 300,000 miles—including two trips to Lubbock—is sponsoring a bill to outlaw pay toilets in airports.

Obviously, he paid the price that those who come after him might be free.

Gov. Bill Clements has been accused of trying to exert undue pressure on Texas A&M faculty members by telling Aggie President Jarvis Miller, "I would like statements coming out of there to be accurate."

FAR TOO MANY "near-misses" are occurring in Texas skies these days.

A Southwest Airlines 737 and a small private plane came "within 200 or 300 feet" of each other in the vicinity of Houston's Hobby airport last week.

A few days earlier, two American Airlines 727s had almost collided over Texarkana in air space controlled out of Dallas.

In both instances, there's a dispute about whether computer outages and outdated back-up systems could be blamed.

On Aug. 3, in West Texas skies, a Braniff flight and a Texas International plane both headed for D-FW nearly collided, the Dallas Times Herald reported.

The near-tragedy was averted, according to the safety representative for the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, "when the two pilots spotted each other as they looked out the window."

Steps need to be taken—now—to ensure the safety of growing numbers of air travelers.

You Can Go To College If You'll Repay Price

(Last of Four Columns)

WASHINGTON—Even if you decide not to apply for federal aid: check out all other sources that might help you meet expenses.

(1) Your state scholarship agency in the state capital city. Inquire about the State Student Incentive Grant Program (SSIG). In 1980, all 50 states will share more than $76 million of federal aid money.

The U.S. matches state resources for aid so that thousands of students in all states can receive an average $500 grant. Ask about state guaranteed loan programs, too.

TIP: In 20 states, you can apply for state aid when you apply for federal aid using the Financial Aid Form. Ask your counselor.

(2) YOUR COLLEGE. SINCE expensive colleges usually have more funds to award than lower-cost institutions, the high-cost school may not be out of your range. Ask about long-term, low-interest loans and short-term loans with special tuition plans.

(3) Cooperative education programs, run by more than 1,000 colleges, require career-related work as part of your educational program—alternating full-time study with full-time work. Send for "Undergraduate Programs of Cooperative Education in the U.S. and Canada," available free from the National Commission for Cooperative Education, 360 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass. 02115.

(4) THE community. Ask your guidance counselor or financial aid officer about local and county scholarship programs as well as local organizations and companies that award scholarships.

(5) THE PRIVATE SECTOR, such as trade associations, civic and fraternal groups, your employer. Many employers and unions provide on-the-job training or special tuition aid plans for their employees and their children.

If your child has definite career plans, check out the many scholarships from professional career associations in fields ranging from health to law enforcement. Also such organizations as 4-H clubs, Boys' clubs, Jaycees, Junior Achievement, offer small, specialized programs.

Ask your local or school librarian for reference guides. Write for "Need a Lift?" to the American Legion, Box 1055, Indianapolis, Ind. 46206 (50 cents). For $15, you can buy "Foundation Grants to Individuals" from the Foundation Center, 888 7th Ave., New York, N.Y. 10019.

This guide lists undergraduate and graduate scholarship sources: fellowships, residencies, internships and qualification requirements.

(6) IF YOU ARE a graduate student, check into special fellowships and grants available in your chosen fields. Some larger programs include the National Science Foundation, which offers fellowships for graduate and post-doctoral students with special programs for minorities.

Deadlines for most programs are usually right now. Plan for 1980 by contacting, before September, the National Research Council at 2101 Constitution Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20418.

(7) If you're a graduate student in the eight medical fields, look into the Health Education Assistance Loan program, under which you can borrow up to $10,000 a year ($50,000 maximum) from participating lenders. (Pharmacy students: $7,500 a year, $37,000 top).

While federally insured, there is no interest subsidy on these loans and rates may hit 12 percent. To apply for HEAL, get an application from the aid officer at the school to which you apply.

(8) If you're a member of a minority, write for "Scholarships Available To Black Students, American Indian Students and Spanish Speaking Students," attention of Scholarships, Foothill Area Community Services, Inc., 500 South Pasadena Ave., Pasadena, Calif., 91105. Send 52 cents to cover postage.

(9) If you're a Hispanic student, contact LULAC National Educational Service Center at 400 First Ave. N.W., Suite 716, Washington, D.C. 20001.

(10) IF YOU'RE A woman athlete, about 500 colleges and universities now offer you more than $7 million in scholarships. Invest $5 in the Women's Educational Equity Communications Network's packet listing aid sources.

Write WEECN, 1855 Folsom St., San Francisco, Calif. 94103. Women and minorities can get a free "Selected List of Postsecondary Education Opportunities" from Carol Smith, HEW, Office of Education, Regional Office Building No. 3, Room 4913, Washington, D.C. 20202.

(11) If you're a handicapped student, check with your state department of vocational rehabilitation for special aid programs.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Devote your complete attention tomorrow to your most important goal. Lady Luck is with you, so you have an opportunity to make great strides.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be sure to follow through tomorrow on any plans you've been working on lately. Conditions are ripe for things to work out very successfully.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There's a good chance extra profit or dividends could come your way, shared through some kind of involvement. It'll be a nice bonus.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Go out of your way to be cooperative tomorrow. Any kindness on your part will pay off by gaining you the loving respect of the recipient.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Exceptionally big opportunities are likely tomorrow in your work or career. Take advantage of any breaks — and do a good job.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone you might meet through a friend tomorrow will assume an interesting role in your affairs. This new person will enable you to make valuable contacts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Luck could play an amazing role tomorrow in a situation which is important to you. Be ready to respond positively and things will go smoothly.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Before the day is over you should be in a happy frame of mind. Some joyful news you'll be receiving will be partly responsible.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Influences will be at work tomorrow that should help ease financial discomfort you've felt lately. Be prudent, however, or the advantage could be lost.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Tomorrow could turn out to be more than just your run-of-the-mill type day. Something extremely interesting is developing that will please you greatly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're luckiest tomorrow when you conceal your strategy. Unexpected benefits will result if you don't let others know your game plan.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Friends will be your most valuable asset tomorrow. You should find them much more willing than usual to help you in any way they can.

Your Birthday

December 10, 1979

This coming year some very large opportunities will be presented to you. If you work at them, they'll multiply and bring bigger rewards than you could have hoped for.

Premier-Designate Realizes Goal

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI) — Suave, wealthy Charles J. Haughey, nicknamed the "golden boy" of Irish politics, had everything in life he wanted — except one thing.

But he finally got that, too, in a remarkable political comeback last week when Ireland's ruling Fianna Fail Party voted him premier-designate to succeed retiring Prime Minister Jack Lynch.

Haughey — owner of a string of race horses, a mansion and an island holiday home — has aspired to be Ireland's leader since he first entered Parliament in 1956.

Son-in-law of the late Premier Sean F. Lemass, one of the founding fathers of the Fianna Fail (Soldiers of Destiny) Party, Haughey soon demonstrated he needed no patron to promote his path to power.

Haughey quickly became known as the "golden boy" of Irish politics, combining a flair for popularity with an excepptional administrative ability. He was both a lawyer and an accountant by profession.

Debonair and relaxed, Haughey was a smooth, able debater, seldom ruffled by the cut and thrust of parliamentary in-fighting as he sped rapidly through the corridors of power.

He handled the difficult portfolios of justice and later agriculture, two of the "hot potatoes" of Irish politics, and emerged with increased authority and respect.

When the way seemed clear to the top, with Haughey occupying the powerful finance ministry, his political life was shattered. Lynch sacked him on suspicion of being involved in gun-running to the beleaguered Roman Catholic minority in Northern Ireland.

A court cleared him of the charges, but his political life seemed bleak and empty.

Shunned by most of his colleagues, derided by opposition members, mistrusted by the public — a less dedicated man might have quit and lived out his life in luxury. But Haughey hung on.

He humbled himself by sitting as a backbencher in Parliament behind the Cabinet he once dominated. But even then the ambition that flared through his life was still alive.

He set about garnering support from local party branches, while contributing to debates in Parliament.

His maneuvering paid off. When Lynch scored a smashing 20-seat majority in the 1977 general election, grassroots pressure forced Lynch to reinstate Haughey to Cabinet rank.

Haughey was given the colorful health ministry, but turned it into one of the most publicized departments in government. He headed a "keep fit" national movement, jogged in the morning, gave up smoking and drank only occasional wine.

Archbishop Sheen Dies At Home In Manhattan

NEW YORK (UPI) — Archbishop Fulton Sheen, who pioneered television evangelism to captivate audiences of all faiths with his eloquence and wit, died Sunday at his Manhattan home. He was 84.

Sheen, who had a history of heart trouble and last year underwent surgery to have a pacemaker installed, died at 7:15 p.m. at his home on the fashionable Upper East Side, a spokesman for the Archdiocese of New York said.

During his radio and television career, which spanned more than three decades, Sheen became known and beloved by millions of people of all faiths worldwide.

Thousands of New York worshippers attending a service conducted last October by Pope Paul II at St. Patrick's Cathedral were moved when the pope turned aside as he left the altar and walked over to embrace the frail Sheen.

The Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame, called Sheen "a good guy" and "an unusual and unique person."

Sheen's broadcast career began in 1930, when he became the first regular speaker on NBC Radio's "Catholic Hour," and in 1940, he conducted the first religious service ever to be televised.

His television series included "Life Is Worth Living," "The Life of Christ," and "Quo Vadis, America," which was aired in the 1960s.

He spoke on a broad range of subjects appealing to people of all faiths. He "taught over and over" service to others is one of the cures to loneliness.

Sheen was bishop of the Diocese of Rochester, N.Y., from 1966-69, and Joseph Hogan, who succeeded him as head of the diocese, said he was stunned to learn of his friend's death.

He called Sheen "one of the most unusually gifted men, and totally generous in the use of his talents. No one in the history of the church did more in spreading the word of God."

Bishop Howard Hubbard of the Diocese of Albany (N.Y.) called Sheen an "extraordinary scholar, evangelist and pastor."

"He was unquestionably the premier exponent of Catholic teaching in the 20th century United States and his deep spiritual insights enriched the lives of millions of Americans of all faiths," he said.

The Rev. Michael Hogan, pastor of St. Mary's Church in Corning, N.Y., who was secretary to Sheen in Rochester, said he spoke with the archbishop last week and "he sounded so well and so strong."

Funeral arrangements were pending.

House Sets Action On Chrysler

WASHINGTON (AP) — After six months of lobbying, the Chrysler Corp. and its allies may learn soon whether Congress will come to the rescue of the financially struggling automaker.

Legislation providing $1.25 billion or more in federal loan guarantees for Chrysler is one of the major issues awaiting action before the congressional Christmas adjournment, tentatively set for Dec. 21.

Also on the agenda are:

- The Carter administration's proposed tax on oil companies' "windfall profits" resulting from the planned de-control of domestic crude-oil prices. The Senate hopes to complete action on the bill, which would actually levy a tax on revenues and not on profits, by mid-week. The House already has passed a version of the legislation.
- A bill providing $250 million in government aid for depressed areas with an additional $1 billion for cities and towns hit by a recession, should one occur. The measure is on the House calendar for late in the week. The Senate has approved a different version.

Aid-to-Chrysler legislation also is tentatively slated for House action in the latter part of the week. The Senate is expected to take it up after finishing work on the oil-companies tax. Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., told senators their planned month-long holiday recess would be cut to two weeks if they do not finish work on both measures.

Chrysler has lobbied for government assistance since shortly before July 30, when it reported a $207 million loss for the second quarter. The nation's No. 3 automaker now expects to rack up a 1979 loss of more than $1 billion. The company, which has 113,000 employees, says it is faced with bankruptcy.

After lengthy talks with officials of Chrysler and the United Auto Workers, the administration asked Congress last month to approve $1.5 billion in government loan guarantees on the condition that the ailing corporate giant come up with an equal amount on its own.

The House Banking Committee approved the amounts in the administration bill, but the corresponding committee in the Senate balked. Critical senators said the bill would set a precedent for failing firms to rely on government help.

Ex-Purchasing Chief Enters Guilty Plea

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former city purchasing director Jack Key, who Mayor Jim McConn says is trying to save himself by implicating the mayor in a kick-back scheme, pleaded guilty today to one federal charge of extorting money from city contractors and was sentenced to seven years in prison.

Key, 41, entered the plea as part of a bargain in exchange for cooperating with U.S. Attorney Tony Canales. U.S. District Judge Carl O. Bue proceeded immediately with the sentencing hearing. Key faced a possible 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Bue rejected a petition for mercy and said, "The court is concerned about this type of crime... because the real losers in a case of this sort are the taxpayers of the city of Houston. It is not a case for probation."

Canales is pressing a grand jury investigation of alleged corruption at city hall.

The mayor, all eight city councilmen and other officials have testified before the panel. All have denied wrongdoing.

After an appearance before the grand jury last Wednesday, McConn charged Key had told the grand jury the mayor had ordered the extortion. McConn charged Key was lying to federal investigators to "save his fanny" by implicating other officials at city hall.

The FBI arrested Key April 9 and a grand jury indicted him on six charges of extortion involving $42,500 taken from five firms who do business with the city.

The count to which Key pleaded guilty allegedly was linked directly to McConn.

The count charged Key on Jan. 22 demanded and received a $6,000 payment from Stephen Harry Golub LABBICO Inc., a chemical company doing business with the city.

Two Suspected In Shooting Of Lockney Man

PLAINVIEW (Special) — A 39-year-old man, shot once in the chest Sunday outside a club east of here, was reported in fair condition today at Central Plains Regional Hospital.

The victim, identified as Juanquin Zubia of Lockney, reportedly was shot outside the Amigo Country Club just east of Plainview about 7:15 p.m. Sunday.

Hale County Chief Deputy Blake Gooch said this morning his office had the names of two Lockney men as suspects in the shooting.

Johnnie Alvarez, a bartender at the club, said the victim and another man got into an argument inside the club and were told to leave.

Alvarez told authorities that after the men left the club he heard a gunshot, went outside and saw Zubia on the ground, surrounded by one of the suspects and four women. The suspect reportedly was holding a pistol and had ordered Alvarez not to come any closer.

Zubia's wife, however, told authorities her husband said at the hospital that the man seen by the bartender was not the one who shot him. He reportedly named his assailant as a man who had asked the victim's wife to dance earlier that night.

No arrests had been made by early today, according to Gooch.

Mondale's Kin Dies In Crash

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Blinding sun glare may have been to blame for the truck-train collision that claimed the life of Vice President Walter Mondale's 19-year-old niece, Ramsey County officials say.

Kari Mondale, daughter of William and Shirley Mondale of the St. Paul suburb of White Bear Lake, was killed Sunday when the pickup truck she was driving collided with a Soo Line train at a crossing, officers said.

Passenger Katrina Tismer, 13, was in critical condition at St. Paul-Ramsey Hospital after the accident. Her sister Stephanie, 18, was in satisfactory condition.

Senators Denounce Goldschmidt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three senators proposed today that Transportation Secretary Neil Goldschmidt be stripped of control over $1.4 billion in mass-transit money because of his threat to deny aid to President Carter's political foes.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, said in advance that he would introduce legislation to that effect today. The bill was to be co-sponsored by Sens. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., and John Heinz, R-Pa.

In a prepared statement, Proxmire denounced Goldschmidt's threat as "political blackmail" and "a corrupt use of the taxpayers' money."

Goldschmidt told reporters on Nov. 20 that he would make mass-transit grants conditional on a mayor's support for Carter.

His comments followed Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne's endorsement of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., for the Democratic presidential nomination. Goldschmidt also indicated that allocation of transit money to Philadelphia would depend on who Mayor-elect William Green endorses.

During a hearing before the Senate Banking Committee last week, Goldschmidt said he never intended to withhold federal transit aid from cities whose mayors endorsed Kennedy.

"I have never and do not now intend to use the power of my office in managing the taxpayers' money provided by Congress to deprive people of funds or projects to which they are entitled and which they ought to receive based on merit and need," he said.

Proxmire said, however, that he was convinced Goldschmidt had used and will continue to use discretionary mass-transit funds to punish Carter's political adversaries and reward the president's friends.

"Allocation of funds under this program must be based on merit and need," the senator said. "The suggestion that whom a mayor might endorse for president might have any bearing on how the Department of Transportation might deal with a city is an outrageous abuse of federal power."

Some of Carter's advisers have defended Goldschmidt's comments, claiming that previous administrations also have used government grants for political purposes.

Proxmire denounced that "business-as-usual" argument, saying it reflected "an unfortunate cynicism in the political community."

"Whatever the faults of past administrations may or may not be in this respect, it would be a grievous error to permit such a corrupt use of the taxpayers' money to become an acknowledged and accepted part of our system," he said.

Proxmire's bill would remove Goldschmidt's power over the $1.4 billion in discretionary mass-transit funds for one year.

Recently, Kennedy campaign officials have complained that Carter has been using government money and funds from the Democratic National Committee to promote his re-election campaign.

Kennedy backers charged that the national committee, supposedly neutral, planned to pay for the printing and mailing of 100,000 Carter Christmas cards.

Panel Outlines Steps To Help Prevent World Hunger Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — A global hunger crisis is likely over the next 20 years that may pose even greater problems than current energy woes, a presidential commission said today.

Even after three straight years of good harvests, hunger around the world is still growing, the panel said, and called the Cambodian famine but a vivid reminder of the larger problem.

The panel urged that the United States:

— Double its non-military foreign aid and take other steps to "help others feed themselves" through better farming methods and higher standards of living.

— Mobilize support for such an anti-hunger program, which, if successful, could bring economic harm to some American farmers and factory workers.

The recommendations are in a preliminary report by the Presidential Commission on World Hunger that was being formally presented to President Carter today in a White House ceremony.

The commission, headed by Carter's special Mideast peace envoy, Sol Linowitz, said, "Even after three years of successive good harvests, the world food situation is still precarious."

"One person in eight now suffers from malnutrition... severe enough to shorten life, stunt physical growth and dull mental ability," the panel said.

Unless the United States and other nations act to increase food supplies, the report said, "a crisis... of even more serious dimensions than the present energy crisis appears likely within the next 20 years."

Two successive years of bad harvests in any of the major grain-producing nations could cause "widespread famine and political disorder" in poor countries and "would severely disrupt a fragile world economy already weakened by energy shortages and rampant inflation," the report said.

It urged a doubling of U.S. economic development assistance "within a few years" and asked that elimination of hunger be made "the primary focus" of America's relations with poor nations.

It also urged that the federal government drop its policy of not sending tax dollars to promote its programs and instead "initiate a nationwide, long-term educational effort" designed to garner public support for anti-hunger efforts.

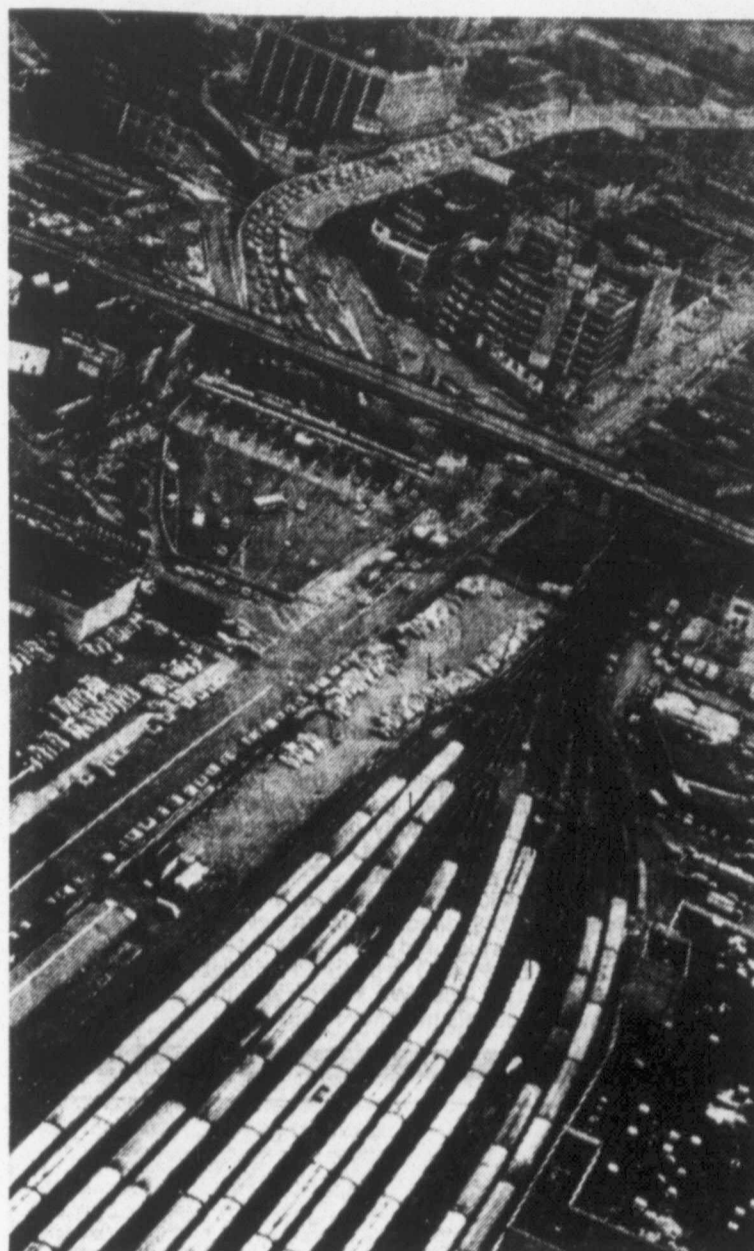

This would be needed because helping poor nations develop their own agriculture and industry doubtless will cause "some dislocation" economically among U.S. farms and factories, the report said.

But it said the government could cushion such shocks and that a healthy world economy would eventually produce bigger overseas markets for American farm and factory products.

The panel said U.S. aid should be designed not only to increase agricultural productivity in poor nations but also to raise income levels so that the poor can afford to buy food.

Noting recurrent news accounts of "the tragedy of famine in the Cambodian countryside, the plight of the boat people adrift in Asian waters, the conditions of refugees in East Africa," the commission said its primary attention has been directed "to less visible aspects of the world hunger problem — aspects that are intrinsically less dramatic, but all the more disturbing precisely because emergency response and crisis management are not the answers."

Carter established the commission 15 months ago.

CAUSE AND EFFECT — Traffic is backed up on the Long Island Expressway, leading to the entrance of the Queens-Midtown Tunnel in New York this morning as cars belonging to the striking Long Island Rail Road remain idle in the yard, right. Long Island Railway Strike Hikes Congestion On New York Roads

NEW YORK (AP) — The 180,000 regular riders on the strikebound Long Island Rail Road, the nation's largest commuter railway, found other ways into the city today, clogging some bridges temporarily. But officials said no major traffic jams occurred.

Traffic into Manhattan, clogged even under normal conditions, was heavier than usual and the morning commuter rush started two hours before dawn, the Metropolitan Transportation Authority reported.

"Traffic on the road is like a Chinese fire drill without the fire chiefs," said Judy Quigley, a driver for Walters Transportation, a private bus line. "All the people know is to drive west, although they might not know where they're going."

But at least one motorist found the going easier this morning. "We made better time than we normally do," said Judy Bailey, a teacher from Levittown, who said she and her husband encountered "very, very light traffic" when they drove to work in Astoria, Queens, at about 7:15 a.m.

Few commuters appeared to be heeding appeals to car pool. A check of two major pooling centers set up because of the strike showed fewer than 100 parked cars.

East River crossings into Manhattan from Long Island were clogged with traffic by 5 a.m. But the Triborough Bridge's operating authority said that major span was normal within 2½ hours.

The Transit Authority said city subways were coping with the extra influx.

The Long Island Rail Road is the major carrier between New York City and Long Island, a 119-mile-long island east of Manhattan where 2.75 million people live.

Meanwhile, business at Manhattan hotels was booming as large corporations booked rooms for their employees.

The railroad, whose 500 miles of track carry one-fourth of all Americans who travel to and from work by commuter train, was struck by 1,200 trainmen early Saturday morning in a pay dispute.

Police feared huge traffic jams today in Manhattan as Christmas shoppers and regular LIRR commuters found other ways to get into New York City from the eastern suburbs of Long Island.

During the weekend, major city streets were jammed with buses and the cars of workers and Christmas shoppers, making it faster to walk than ride.

Additional buses were pressed into service, car pool areas were designated and special park-and-ride centers were set up for persons who chose to drive to outlying stations of the city's subway system, which was not affected.

Hotel managers said Sunday that several of the larger hotels were "booked solid." Manhattan has about 100,000 hotel rooms.

Gas station operators on Long Island reported lines rivaling those during the summer's gasoline crunch as commuters filled tanks.

Meanwhile, negotiations between the United Transportation Union and the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, a state agency that runs the LIRR, were stalled. Sixteen other unions either called strikes or agreed to honor picket lines. The 17 unions represent 6,200 workers.

President Carter refused to name an emergency fact-finding board and thereby halt the strike for at least 60 days. Presidential aide Jack Watson said the White House is "constantly monitoring the situation and would be prepared to take additional steps to avoid severe economic impacts for the region."

Richard Ravitch, chairman of the MTA, told a news conference Sunday that he was still "hoping and expecting" Carter to name an emergency board.

"I think it is the responsible thing to do," he said.

Ravitch also said he was ready to negotiate when the unions got together, but that the MTA, plagued by a $200-million deficit, "was not going to pay a price to settle this strike."

Ed Yule, head of the union's LIRR unit, said, "I'm willing to sit down and talk and be reasonable."

Yule, who walked out of talks in Washington nearly four hours before negotiations collapsed at 1:30 a.m. Saturday, said he was not willing to accept the MTA's final offer. He said the offer was a 7 percent wage increase for 1979, retroactive to Jan. 1, and a 6.5 percent boost for 1980 with an 18-cent-an-hour cost-of-living increase in January 1981.

New Federal Law Closes Court-Martial Loophole

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal law plugs a loophole through which some military personnel have escaped court-martial punishment by claiming fraudulent enlistment, according to Pentagon lawyers.

Language to accomplish this was written into the Uniform Code of Military Justice in legislation signed by President Carter on Nov. 9.

Congress amended the military justice law after strong appeals from the Defense Department for action to neutralize the effects of a 1975 ruling by the Court of Military Appeals.

That ruling involved Army Pvt. Louis W. Russo, who had been convicted on charges of having been absent without leave.

Pentagon lawyers said Russo had been helped to pass Army entrance tests. This led the appeals court to hold that his enlistment was invalid and that, as a result, he could not be tried under military law.

The Russo rule came into play as recently as Oct. 25, when a U.S. Navy judge in the Philippines ruled that a sailor could not stand trial before a court-martial on charges of killing a bar girl. The Navy judge acted on grounds that the sailor had been enlisted fraudulently.

In arguing for changes in the military justice code, Pentagon general counsel Deanne C. Siemer told a House committee on June 11 that the proposed amendments "represent a prudent approach" by providing the military services jurisdiction to try individuals in two types of situations.

"Where there has been a voluntary enlistment by a person who has the capacity to understand the significance of enlisting in the armed forces.

"Where there has been a constructive enlistment as evidenced by voluntary submission to military authority, receipt of military pay and allowances, and performance of military duties, in circumstances where the individual met the mental competency and minimum age requirements."

The lawyer contended that invalidating enlistments because of recruiter malpractice "introduces an unacceptable degree of uncertainty" into the military justice system.

"Under the Russo line of cases," she said, "it is possible for an individual knowingly and intelligently to enter military service and receive military pay, allowances, training and benefits without being subject to court martial jurisdiction."

"An individual might serve for months and even years, only to claim an absence of jurisdiction upon an allegation of recruiter misconduct when confronted by court martial charges."

Pentagon lawyers said the new legislation leaves untouched another ruling by the Court of Military Appeals in 1974, in which an absent-without-leave conviction against Army Pvt. Thomas W. Catlow was thrown out on grounds that his was a

Tax Reduction Sentiment Builds

WASHINGTON (AP) — It has yet to reach fever proportions, but — with election year only weeks away — sentiment is building in the Senate for a major tax reduction.

Twice in two days, senators have narrowly rejected Republican amendments to the "windfall-profits" oil tax that would provide individual tax cuts in 1981 and beyond.

One plan failed by only four votes, the other by five votes, despite the opposition of the Carter administration and Democratic leaders.

A smaller tax cut, which would restore the federal income tax deduction for state and local gasoline taxes, is still alive. Although tentatively rejected by a 40-39 margin, another vote probably will be taken because 21 of the 100 senators were absent.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., voiced President Carter's view that no action to reduce taxes should be taken until the depth and length of the current recession can be determined. To cut taxes now, the president's advisers say, would bring on more inflation.

Meanwhile, the Senate also defeated an effort last week to forgive oil companies up to 75 percent of the proposed "windfall-profits" tax if they can show increased oil production.

Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., billed his amendment as the "put-up or shut-up plan." Those companies that reinvest their earnings and bring in more oil would avoid most of the tax; those that don't would pay it.

Opponents said that amendment, rejected 50-35, would have given a bonanza to some companies and reduced the windfall tax in the 1980s by $30 billion. Bellmon argued that if the provision resulted in increased production of 3 percent a year, it would bring the government far more money than it would cost. Carter recommended the windfall tax to take away some of the increased revenues that will flow to the oil industry because of his decision to phase out federal price controls on U.S. crude oil. The Senate tax would cost the industry $157 billion over the next decade. Carter prefers the stiffer $277 billion version passed by the House.

Technically, the tax would be on the extra revenue, not profits, resulting from decontrol. Without the tax, oil companies would keep more of the revenue as profits.

In an amendment to the measure last week, Sens. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and William Armstrong, R-Colo., urged the Senate to take away the federal government's own windfall that results when inflation forces Americans into higher income tax brackets each time they get a cost-of-living pay raise.

They proposed that individual income taxes be "indexed," or reduced automatically to offset inflation. They lost, 46-42.

Their amendment would have reduced individual income taxes by $17 billion in 1981 and an additional $194 billion in the following three years. That would have meant a $106 tax cut in 1981 for a typical four-member family with an annual income of $15,000. A $30,000-income family would have saved $713.

Debates Could Become Fixture In 1980 Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political debates are likely to become a fixture in the 1980 campaign season following indications the government is willing to bend its rules restricting sponsorship of such events.

By a 6-0 vote, the Federal Election Commission tentatively agreed last week to permit radio and television stations to sponsor political debates.

There is a hitch, however. Broadcasters must be willing to live with the equal opportunity provision in the communications law governing their operations. The provision requires that all certified candidates for a particular office must be given equal access to air time provided for the purpose of candidate debate.

The commission's vote also applies to newspapers and magazines that wish to sponsor debates. The Des Moines Register, for instance, is sponsoring debates in early January among Republican and Democratic presidential hopefuls.

The FEC actually retreated from an earlier stance in which it proposed rules that would have barred broadcasters and publishers from sponsoring debates on grounds of their corporate nature. Federal election laws specifically forbid corporate or union expenditures that influence the outcome of elections.

The new FEC position was in response mainly to the pleas of radio and television station owners in rural areas, who frequently stage debates as the best way of exposing candidate views to a widely scattered electorate.

Whether the tentative decision will mean nationally broadcast debates by the three commercial television networks is doubtful, however.

The networks generally have refrained from sponsoring presidential debates unless they get an exemption from the equal opportunity provision of the communications law, which says all candidates are entitled to air time if any candidate gets it.

It was just such an exemption that permitted the debates between Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy in 1976.

The 1976 debates between then-President Gerald R. Ford and Jimmy Carter were sponsored by the League of Women Voters, and covered by the major networks as a news event. At FEC hearings, spokesmen for individual radio and television stations had testified that they would be willing to give third-party and independent candidates equal opportunity as a result of staging debates for the major candidates.

Local stations say equal opportunity generally is no problem for them because there are few candidates in most of the races they cover.

But the networks face a major problem.

There already are more than 100 presidential candidates registered for the 1980 election, and any one of them could demand air exposure, if the network staged a debate for the "major" candidates.

The Federal Communications Commission paved the way around this problem four years ago when it held that the equal opportunity rule did not apply. It said the Ford-Carter debates represented a news event staged by an outside sponsor. This permitted the debates to go on the air.

Although the FEC's action last week cleared the way for further debates, the agency had to draft rules to cover its scope of election regulation.

The first regulations submitted last summer were vetoed by the Senate in September because of protests by broadcasters. The new rule under consideration would expand the commission's definition of news coverage to get around the ban on sponsorship of debates by corporations.

The commission also tentatively reaffirmed its earlier position that sponsors of debates, such as the League of Women Voters, may accept financial assistance from corporations and labor unions. This assistance would be aimed at defraying the costs of putting on the debates, despite the general ban on political expenditures by such organizations. The actions taken this week principally have the effect of giving guidance to the commission's lawyers in drafting the regulation, although the tentative ruling is expected to stand in the final version to be approved later.

Whatever rules the commission devises must still pass congressional muster before taking effect.

Senator Seeks Financing For Re-Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Targeted for defeat in a $1-million campaign waged by conservatives, Sen. George McGovern is mounting an urgent drive to raise funds for his 1980 re-election bid.

"These right-wing forces will spend heavily to defeat me," the South Dakota Democrat is telling potential contributors in an eight-page letter.

"I must accumulate a substantial campaign treasury to correct the distorted impressions of me they will seek to spread among South Dakota voters," said McGovern, the Democratic Party's 1972 presidential nominee who carried only the state of Massachusetts in his loss to Richard M. Nixon.

The letter outlines a program ambitious enough to be worthy of a presidential campaign.

Many of its points form the reasons why many conservatives would like to see a Republican win the Senate seat that McGovern has held for 18 years.

The McGovern program calls for diverting billions of dollars "from useless defense projects" to a crash program to develop solar energy.

He recommends converting many defense plants for the development of solar energy and public transportation projects.

McGovern says the United States should produce billions of gallons of alcohol from waste and feed grains to fuel public transportation systems and private vehicles.

And he advocates "tough" wage and price controls and gasoline rationing "until the fires of inflation begin to cool."

His basic pitch is that he cannot effectively work for any of these goals if he is defeated.

Japan Aiding Iran With Oil Purchases

PARIS (UPI) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, seeking backing in efforts to squeeze Iran economically and win the release of the American hostages, met today with British, French and Japanese officials.

U.S. officials placed special importance on Vance's meeting with Japanese Foreign Minister Saburo Okita, who is in Paris for a meeting of the International Energy Agency.

American officials were openly distressed by what they called "the ambiguous signals that Japan has been sending to Iran" and the "unseemly haste" with which Japan has been buying Iranian oil on the spot market.

The officials said Japan, by moving into the world oil spot market and buying up Iranian petroleum that the United States has refused to purchase, has given the Iranians "the impression that all talk about western unity in the crisis is just words."

The Americans believe, according to officials traveling with Vance, that Japanese banks also have been giving Iran advice and technical help that enables the Iranian government to bypass some of the difficulties posed by the U.S. freeze on Iranian assets.

The American officials in the Vance party said, "it is our belief that Japan will try to restrain its actions in the future."

U.S. May Slash Missile Force

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The United States will probably withdraw some 1,000 tactical nuclear missiles from Western Europe in response to the Soviet Union's planned troop reduction in East Germany, a senior West German official said today.

Word of the possible U.S. action came as the North Atlantic allies were preparing to decide on deploying medium-range nuclear missiles in Western Europe capable of reaching Soviet soil.

Moscow has charged that deployment of the 572 Pershing and cruise missiles would upset the military balance on the continent and trigger a new arms race.

Big Storm Brews In Rockies

A storm system brewing over the northwestern United States prompted the National Weather Service to post a winter storm watch over much of the northern Rockies and Great Plains today.

NATO officials claim the balance has already been upset in the Kremlin's favor by the introduction of Soviet SS-20 missiles and Backfire bombers.

The missile proposal has become one of the most controversial issues in years within NATO, with influential groups in Norway, Denmark, Belgium and the Netherlands strongly opposed to deployment.

The storm spread strong winds, rain and snow in the higher elevations from the Pacific Northwest coast to northwestern Montana. Winds of 30 to 50 mph were common in northern Idaho and Montana.

The NWS said the storm was expected to intensify today, producing sharply colder temperatures, snow and high winds as it moves south and east over the mountains and onto the northern and central Plains late today and Tuesday.

Dutch Prime Minister Dries van Agt and Foreign Minister Christoph van der Klaauw were due in Bonn later today to confer with Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher, both strong supporters of the missiles.

Observers said they believed the Dutch leaders wanted to show opponents in The Hague that they had done all they could to forestall a decision on weapons deployment.

The West German official said that despite opposition in other NATO countries, the Bonn government expected the alliance to approve the missile deployment at the defense ministers meeting Wednesday.

He said the decision would be coupled with an offer to the Soviets to negotiate a mutual reduction in medium range weapons deployed in Europe.

The storm is expected to bring a chance of rain and snow to the South Plains area late Tuesday or Wednesday.

"Right now the chances look pretty good," a National Weather Service forecaster said this morning of Lubbock's prospects for moisture.

The forecaster added, however, "We're not looking for anything heavy."

The storm is expected to bring considerably colder weather. Forecasters expect highs in the 40s and 50s and lows in the 20s and 30s at least through Friday.

Meanwhile, the forecast calls for a high today in the middle 70s with a low tonight in the mid-40s.

Increasing cloudiness and slightly cooler weather are predicted for Tuesday, with a high in the low 60s.

Southwesterly winds of 15 to 20 mph today were expected to diminish to 10 to 15 mph tonight.

The official said he expected a detailed NATO offer to be placed before Warsaw Pact members at the Vienna troop reduction talks before Christmas.

Representatives of the two alliances have been attempting for years to agree on a formula for mutual troop reductions in Central Europe.

Last October, Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev announced the Kremlin would withdraw 20,000 troops and 1,000 tanks from East Germany over the next 12 months in a gesture of goodwill.

The Soviets are believed to have about 20 divisions with 400,000 men garrisoned in East Germany. The United States has about 200,000 troops in West Germany. The Soviets began their troop reduction last Wednesday with the departure of a small contingent of tank soldiers from a division garrisoned in the East German town of Wittenberg.

Both later received master's degrees in health care administration at Trinity University in San Antonio.

Henry is leaving his position as president of the Angelo Community Hospital, a 125-bed facility in San Angelo. Trimble is chief financial officer at Brackenridge Hospital in Austin, a 350-bed teaching hospital.

Even though the two men's contracts do not become effective until the first of the year, Henry joins board member Dub Rushing in Austin today for a statewide conference of teaching hospital officials. The group hopes to lobby for state and possibly federal funding for Texas teaching hospitals — many of which are in the same financial straits as Health Sciences.

Clayton Airs Views Here

"That is what made this country," He said the government should go ahead with the building of nuclear plants. He cited Three Mile Island as a lesson that a nuclear problem can be faced and controlled.

When asked about initiative and referendum, Clayton said pure initiative and referendum could enable an issue to become law without appearing before a public forum for debate.

Some emotional issues like state income tax or gay rights could be passed on by initiative and referendum without the public fully understanding the issue, he said.

Lubbock school superintendent Ed Irons thanked Clayton for supporting educational issues and for his work in getting the Senate and House together to pass the School Finance Bill in the last session.

When asked about changing the terms of state representatives from two to four years, Clayton said, "There has been talk about this for as long as I can remember. I have mixed emotions."

Clayton said he wished there was a system of electing a president to one six-year term so the president would not have to worry about re-election and could lead the country as it needs to be led. But he hasn't yet decided if he favors changing terms of state representatives, he said.

The American officials in the Vance party said, "it is our belief that Japan will try to restrain its actions in the future."

Vance stopped briefly in London for a 45-minute talk with Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and Foreign Minister Lord Carrington. The main subject was Iran and how to coordinate western policy to bring about the release of the 50 hostages who have been held in Tehran for 37 days, a spokesman for Vance said.

U.S. officials said that Vance would be willing to meet a representative of the Iranian authorities in Europe on this trip, but the Iranians have shown no interest in such a meeting.

American officials aboard the Vance plane said the economic sanctions would be invoked under Article 41 of the United Nations Charter which permits member nations to take economic and other action to head off a "threat to peace."

A senior U.S. official said that one basis for the sanctions would be the fact that Iran has ignored last Tuesday's unanimous Security Council resolution which called for the immediate release of the 50 American hostages and talks to solve the differences between Iran and the United States.

It is expected that the World Court at The Hague, which began a hearing on a U.S. complaint today, will also issue an order within days that the hostages be released. The World Court decision, according to the senior official, would be the second legal basis for economic sanctions against Iran.

Reporters were told that the freeze on Iran's assets in the United States and the U.S. oil embargo, as well as some quiet Western European actions along parallel lines, have had a visible economic impact on Iran.

The American strategy is to line up further economic pressure on Iran, while leaving the door open for any response to diplomatic overtures that have been made by the United States and the United Nations.

Senior officials said Vance will also be seeking European advice on how best to proceed, but his major task appears to be laying the groundwork for a tightening of the economic blockade around Iran.

The strategy is not expected to produce any dramatic breakthroughs and officials told reporters the United States is expecting no quick end to the situation.

On Friday, President Carter told the families of the hostages in Washington that he was prepared to consider military options only after the hostages were freed.

County Offers Proposal On Funds For Library

By MARY ALICE ROBBINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Lubbock County commissioners today proposed a partial solution to problems encountered by the city in the planned construction of a city-county branch library in Southwest Lubbock.

that if CD funds are used to construct the meeting room, only senior citizens can use the room.

"I think if it is a community building, the room should be used by anyone in the community who wants to use it," noted library board member Swain Rodgers.

Instead, Brazell proposed what he termed a compromise to the City Council. Under that proposal, the county would pay 40 percent of the cost for construction of the meeting room if the 60 would pay 60 percent.

Representatives of the Lubbock City-County Library Board appeared before commissioners this morning, seeking financial help for the construction of one meeting room in the branch library, which will be located on Quaker Avenue and Loop 289.

Library board Chairman Charles Burford explained that the problem has developed over the plans to include a meeting room in the library building. One federal agency plans to place restrictions on the use of that room.

Because of the restrictions set by HUD, the library board decided to appeal to county officials. What they requested this morning was for the county to provide funds for the construction of a county Precinct 1 meeting room.

Brazell added some restrictions of his own in the proposal. The county would make the contribution only if the city eliminates all CD funds from the library project.

That motion was approved by a vote of 3-1, with only commissioner Jim Lancaster voting against the plan.

The total cost of the library building will be approximately $550,000. The City Council had planned to use $450,000 in federal revenue sharing funds and $75,000 in Community Development funds to cover the majority of the construction cost.

However, commissioners said they already have a sufficient number of meeting rooms in the Precinct 1 clubhouse, located on 50th Street. Commissioner Alton Brazell said the county would not be gaining much if it closed one set of meeting rooms and opened another.

He would make no comment, though, on what action the council might take on the county's proposal.

Three Major Issues Snag Profits Levy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen days of debate over astronomical amounts of money and complicated regulations have left three major issues standing in the way of final Senate passage of a "windfall-profits" tax on the oil industry.

by the oil companies for the right to drill on state land.

Eighty-three percent of the $128 billion would go to Alaska, Texas, California and Louisiana — where most of the nation's oil is produced.

Those issues are: —Should oil producers be allowed to escape a part of the tax if they reinvest their profits in the search for more oil? The question has come up in one form already, and the Senate said no.

High Court

for criminal suspects incriminated by evidence turned up in a search of someone else's property.

Subsequent rulings, however, appear to conflict with the so-called "automatic standing" rule. Federal appeals courts have split in recent years over the rule's current impact.

—Should a blanket minimum tax be imposed on those categories of oil that the Finance Committee voted to exempt from the levy as an incentive to greater production?

Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd is preparing an amendment that would impose such a minimum and raise the total tax to around $185 billion through 1990.

—The third question is perhaps the toughest. How big a windfall should states owning oil lands be allowed to keep?

President Carter's decision to phase out price controls on U.S. crude oil will bring an estimated $128 billion over the next 11 years to the governments of such states. The bulk would be from increased state tax revenues due to higher oil prices; the remaining $33 billion would be paid

Lebanese Government Attempts To Block Iranian Volunteers

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanon today closed its airspace to Iranian planes to prevent young Iranian volunteers from entering the country, the state-owned Beirut radio said.

day that 1,080 of his followers would leave for Beirut today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Montazari, 34, said his followers would join the Palestinian guerrillas, but the PLO and Yasser Arafat's Al Fatah group kept their official silence on the offer.

to stop Montazari and his teen-age followers from leaving Tehran.

While Montazari repeated his determination to lead his followers into the south Lebanon battle zone, the Beirut government ordered all frontier posts to be on the lookout for any Iranian trying to enter the country without a valid entry visa.

"It is impossible to say we welcome such Iranian troops, and it is impossible to say we are against them. Young Montazari has put the PLO in a difficult situation," Palestinian sources admitted privately.

The Palestine Liberation Organization maintains close relations with Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and has offered to send Palestinian guerrillas to Iran in the event of an American military move to free the 50 American hostages in the U.S. Embassy.

lamic constitution because they oppose its provisions assuring Khomeini virtual unlimited power as Iran's leader.

Shariatmadani forces late Sunday night seized the radio station after several thousand mainly unarmed men swarmed over the compound. They suffered "heavy casualties" from the revolutionary guards firing point-blank.

President Elias Sarkis chaired an emergency security meeting with a top general and also instructed border guards to stop and turn back all Iranians who did not have valid entry visas issued by the Lebanese Embassy in Tehran, the radio said.

Sarkis met the Lebanese commander of the 30,000 Syrian peacekeeping forces and "discussed measures taken to prevent the Iranian volunteers from entering Lebanon," Beirut radio said.

The Lebanese government and the leader of the country's 800,000-strong Moslem Shiite community have rejected the Iranian offer, and said the dispatch of such irregulars would only "complicate matters for the Lebanese, Palestinians and the Arabs."

But Montazari said if his men were prevented from landing at Beirut airport, they will fly to neighboring Damascus and drive down to south Lebanon.

Despite Syria's close relations with the Iranian government, there was no official comment from Damascus on Montazari's reported intentions.

But they quickly withdrew from the complex and army units stepped in after the revolutionary guards used the radio network to appeal for reinforcements. The local army commander said his troops were guarding the compound at the request of the local Moslem Peoples Party.

Minority Groups Threaten Khomeini Government

By ALEX EFTY
 TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A boiling cauldron of ethnic minorities demanding autonomy threatens Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's control of Iran.

The latest to rebel are the Azaris of Azerbaijan, a Turkish-speaking people in northwest Iran who are estimated to number about a fourth of the country's 35 million population.

Hundreds of armed Azaris last Thursday chased the government's forces out of Tabriz, their capital and Iran's third largest city with a population of 600,000. The rebels still held the city Sunday night, and Khomeini's Revolutionary Council announced it was sending a peace delegation to Tabriz today.

It is the fourth armed challenge to Khomeini by an ethnic minority since the overthrow of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi last February.

Rebels in oil-producing Khuzestan Province

After seven months of sporadic fighting, Khomeini's revolutionary guards and the army managed to contain an open rebellion by the Kurds in northwest Iran. The government is now engaged in peace talks with their leaders, but the Azari rebellion prompted immediate expressions of support for the Kurdish leaders.

Rebellious Turkoman tribesmen battled government forces for a week in northeast Iran in April, and at least 50 persons were believed killed.

fought with revolutionary guards in the port city of Khoramshahr for a week in June. Now they make almost daily bomb and other sabotage attacks against the vital oil installations and other targets in the province.

In eastern Iran next to the Pakistani border, the 600,000 Baluchis are showing signs of increasing militancy and restiveness. The Lurs and Bakhtiars in the Zagros Mountains south of Tehran and other smaller minority groups are biding their time, waiting to see how the bigger minorities make out.

The Azaris, although the biggest of these communities, refrained from militant action until last week mainly because they were adherents of the Shiite Moslem sect, the religion of Khomeini and most of the Farsi-speaking Persian Iranians. The Azaris' spiritual leader, Ayatollah Mohammad Kazem Shariat-Madari, was accepted as the No. 1 religious leader of the country during Khomeini's long exile. They expected that Khomeini and Shariat-Madari, both of whom live in the holy city of Qum, would reach an amicable agreement on their demand for autonomy.

near-anarchy of the country and the armed forces in the first months after the revolution.

The autonomy problem has been endemic in Iran throughout this century. During the reign of the shah, however, any stirring of rebellion was ruthlessly crushed.

At the end of World War II, when northern Iran was occupied by the Russians, they encouraged both the Kurds and the Azaris to proclaim independent republics. The shah's army crushed both as soon as the Soviets withdrew.

Khomeini and his men have been weary of granting even limited autonomy to any of the minorities, fearing this would revive secessionist feelings that would spread.

Such feelings undoubtedly exist, particularly among the non-Shiite Kurds and Arabs, who admit as much unofficially. But for the record they say they only want autonomous home rule that will enable them to develop their regions, which are considerably behind the Farsi-speaking provinces.

Observers believe Khomeini's reluctance to grant even limited autonomy is pushing the minorities toward an armed rebellion in which nearly half the population could unite against the revolutionary regime.

Shah's Stay Sparks Plans For Mass Rallies

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The deposed shah of Iran's stay at Lackland Air Force base has sparked plans and rumors of mass rallies both in support of and against his presence.

But so far, city officials, the court, and perhaps increased security, have limited the demonstrations to only scattered and sparsely attended events.

Air Force officials Friday shored up security at Lackland and nearby Kelly Air Force Base after intelligence reports warned of possible problems during the weekend.

But a Lackland source Sunday said there were no problems.

"It's pretty sleepy out here, certainly a contrast to last Sunday when the shah got here," said the source who requested anonymity because of a news blackout on the shah's stay at Lackland.

Security officials hauled out rolls of barbed wire Friday after the reports of possible weekend demonstrations by hundreds of Iranian students. There were no signs of protesters near the base Sunday.

A pro-shah rally planned for Sunday in Brackenridge Park also never materialized.

The exiled monarch arrived at Lackland Dec. 2 to continue his recuperation from gall stone surgery and cancer treatments in New York.

Officials say he will remain until American diplomats can find him a home. Four nations mentioned as possible destinations were ruled out last week by Robert Armao, the shah's senior advisor. Armao said Saturday there had been no progress in the search for a permanent place to live.

The longtime ruler is at the center of an international impasse in which Iranian students demanding the shah's return are holding 50 American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

The rumored weekend protests at the bases caused officials at adjacent Kelly Air Force Base to install barbed wire barricades, floodlights and guards with automatic weapons at the two main gates. Kelly, the Air Force's primary supply depot, houses billions of dollars of government equipment and planes.

A public road that winds around the fringe of Kelly and to a Lackland gate within three-quarters of a mile of the shah's apartment was sealed off Saturday.

The extra security measures were taken because Kelly is virtually deserted on weekends, according to Kelly spokesman A.D. McCall.

Anti-shah rallies planned for Friday by Iranian students here were blocked by city officials and a state judge. City Manager Tom Huebner and State District Judge Peter Michael Curry said they feared violent clashes between the students and Ku Klux Klansmen who promised a counter-rally.

Americans Quietly Demonstrate Against U.S. Embassy Takeover

By The Associated Press
 Pro-Iranian demonstrators marched in Los Angeles, but elsewhere Americans joined in prayer and hoisted signs to express their anger over hostages being held at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

About 75 people, marching under the banner of the "U.S. Hands off Iran Committee," demonstrated Sunday in downtown Los Angeles, urging a return of the deposed shah to Iran and "an end to U.S. imperialism."

The deposed leader, meanwhile, remained behind tight security at Lackland Air Force base near San Antonio. Officials shored up security at adjacent Kelly Air Force Base on Friday after intelligence reports warned of possible weekend demonstrations. But a Lackland source said Sunday there were no problems.

"It's pretty sleepy out here, certainly a contrast to last Sunday when the shah got here," said the source, who requested anonymity because of a news blackout on the shah's stay at Lackland.

Militants holding the American hostages have demanded the return of the former ruler, who is recovering from cancer and gallbladder treatments.

As the hostages entered the sixth week of their captivity, other pro-Iranian demonstrators were arrested on a variety of charges in El Paso and Huntington Park, Calif. But in Arkansas, American flags flew from car antennas and radio stations played the national anthem.

"I Don't Stop For Iranians" read the sign on a pickup truck in Miami. Two Atlanta men are manufacturing buttons and t-shirts with a picture of Iranian strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini wearing mouse ears.

"We had the idea to take that sinister face and use it against him, to make him look like a fool," said Tommy Langley, 21, adding that "we're not taking the hostage situation lightly."

James Reynolds, director of the Colorado Civil Rights Division, said his office has received inquiries about the legality of "No Iranian" signs being posted at bars, restaurants and discos. He is reminding businessmen that discrimination on the basis of national origin is illegal in Colorado.

In Manila, Philippines, U.S. Ambassador Richard Murphy led more than 200 U.S. Embassy personnel, American residents and other foreign diplomats in an ecumenical prayer service Sunday for the hostages. And Gov. Jim Hunt proclaimed Sunday as a day of prayer in North Carolina.

In Huntington, W.Va., Circuit Judge Russell Dunbar asked citizens to observe a mass silence at noon each day this week to honor the 50 Americans being held hostage.

"Silence has a way of sending a message sometimes that mere words cannot send," he said.

Large Amount Of Oil Exists Under Los Angeles

By STEPHEN FOX
LOS ANGELES (AP) — There's oil under Los Angeles — a vast natural reservoir that could be as much as the United States imports in a month. But much of it seems destined to remain right there.

Oil derricks have been as much a part of the Los Angeles landscape as palm trees ever since Edward Doheny drilled the city's first well on Beverly Boulevard in 1892. About 1,500 still pump away, their noise, vibration and appearance controlled by strict municipal codes, but most of the known reserves in Los Angeles have been consumed and only 14 or 15 million barrels are now produced here annually.

At their prime, the late 1920s, several thousand wells scattered throughout Southern California were producing almost one-quarter of the world's output. Well over a billion barrels were taken from the Wilmington fields alone, but the decades of high production took their toll and California began importing oil after World War II.

There is still plenty of oil here, though, and the soaring price of imported crude has made it increasingly attractive. Jeff Druyen, petroleum administrator for the City of Los Angeles, estimates that 250 to 300 million barrels of crude — about a month's worth of national imports — may still lie under Southern California. But Druyen says federal price controls on domestic crude make it unrewarding for oil companies to go after it.

"There is still a lot of oil left in the ground and more to be found," says Druyen. "The rub comes in when you take a narrow view of production and say price relief will only be granted to those who can increase production above a set level."

Department of Energy regulations, Druyen explains, direct oil companies to sell what is known as "old oil" for well below current prices and allow higher prices only when production from a field is increased with "new oil." Druyen and Ed Scott, district land supervisor for Chevron U.S.A., Inc., agree that this "two-tier pricing" has stifled drilling efforts here.

"Two-tier pricing has put us in a situation where it's not economical to drill additional wells because production is dropping off and we'd never have 'new oil,'" says Scott. "The oil industry has explored the easily accessible areas of Los Angeles. We're now in a position of having to go lower and into areas that are more built up and more populated — more difficult locations from a permitting standpoint."

There are new wells going in. Chevron recently won City Council approval for the largest drilling project in the city's history, a 1,645-acre site the company estimates could yield six to 10 million barrels of oil. Other approvals have been hard to come by, though, and "permitting" may prove to be an even more intractable problem for the oil industry than price controls because many local opponents of drilling are well-heeled and sophisticated in permit contests.

Occidental Petroleum Corp., for example, found oil in the exclusive Pacific Palisades area almost 10 years ago but has yet to win approval for actual production. Brentwood residents opposed to a test well proposed by Chevron at the posh Riviera Country Club retained a public relations firm called The Dolphin Group to fight for them. The Dolphin Group, explains account executive Kathy Auth, "did mass mailings, ads and a public awareness campaign" in an effort to block the project.

The City Council recently approved the Riviera test well, provoking suits from three homeowner groups that will put its ultimate fate in the hands of the courts. Tom Adams, president of No Oil Inc., the most vocal group, disagrees with contentions that the nation needs all the domestic production it can achieve.

Crime Line Offers Aid To Towns

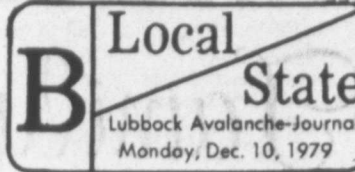

The Lubbock Crime Line board will set up a Crime Line task force to notify cities in the southwestern part of the United States that Crime Line will be available to assist them in setting up a program such as the local Crime Line.

The formation of the task force will come about because of the success of the Lubbock Crime Line program and because of several inquiries about the program that have been received over the past several months from other cities.

The local Crime Line continues to receive many calls each week concerning felony crimes, and Crime Line detectives are currently working on several leads that will result in arrests and convictions of criminals.

Persons having knowledge of a felony crime are urged to call Crime Line at 741-1000. Persons may receive a cash reward if their information is valid. All callers remain completely anonymous.

Anyone wishing to make a donation to Crime Line can mail it to Crime Line, P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock. The donation will be tax free and will become a part of the reward fund.

This week, Crime Line is spotlighting a rape and two aggravated robberies as well as a traffic accident involving failure to stop and render aid. The Crime Line also has set a reward for the location of a fugitive.

Crime Line is offering $300 for any information on a rape which occurred about 12:30 a.m. Nov. 22. The victim, who was taken to Health Sciences Center Hospital, told police that she had gone to the airport to pick up a friend. She said that the flight was delayed, and she went to wait in the airport bar where she met some friends. The victim said that she saw two men whom she thought she knew and went over to talk with them. The woman said that she left the club voluntarily with the two men, and was taken to an area beside a paved road where each of the men raped her twice. The woman said she was then left at a room at the Lubbock Motor Lodge. The victim called her mother, and her mother took her to HSC. The suspects were described as Mexican-American, about 19-years-old, of medium height and build with black hair and brown eyes. The victim said

Miss Lubbock Shows Interest In Stage

By RUTHANNE BROCKWAY

After winning the talent competition and being named first runner-up in last year's local contest, Terri Lynn Eoff spent the next 12 months preparing for the 1980 Miss Lubbock pageant.

Her efforts were rewarded Saturday night when she was crowned the city's new Miss Lubbock.

But in a sense, Miss Eoff has spent most of her life preparing for the role of meeting the public and being on stage.

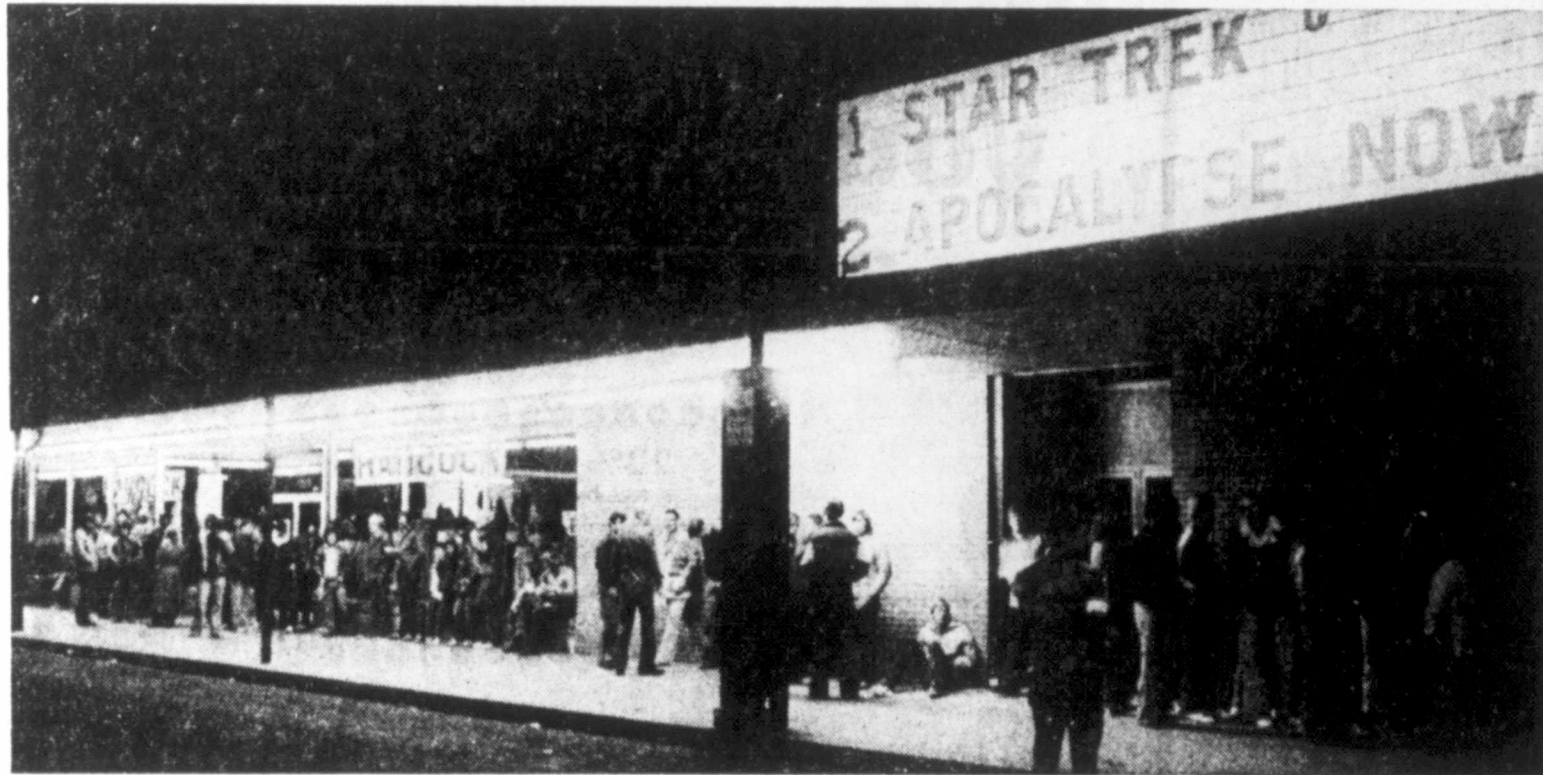

"I was a ham," she said of her childhood. She practiced facial expressions in the mirror and performed on stage for the first time at age six in a children's play.

Her ambition is to be a professional actress on Broadway and she admits the skills she has practiced in acting aided her in the Miss Lubbock pageant. "I like performing in front of an audience more than in front of one or two people," she said, explaining that when the pageant audience laughed in the appropriate moments of her talent presentation, it boosted her confidence.

Regents Keep Silent About New President

After a two-hour closed meeting Sunday to discuss the presidential search, Texas Tech University regents were mum but smiling.

Dan Williams, Tech's interim vice president for finance and administration, was called into the meeting for about 20 minutes. It is believed he was consulted to advise the regents on what kind of salary range the school will be able to offer the next president. Dr. Cecil Mackey received $63,000 a year as Tech president, with a portion of the salary provided by the state legislative appropriation and a portion provided by private funds.

Board chairman Robert Pfluger said the board has not discussed balloting — whether it will be by raising of hands or by secret ballot. He said the board also has not made a decision on how many votes will be necessary to choose a president. Pfluger noted that either the board or a candidate could insist upon a unanimous vote, but that no such mandate was in effect at this time.

Absent from Sunday's called meeting were regents J. Fred Burg of Dallas and B.J. Pevehouse of Midland.

Regents have not made any announcement as to the number of candidates now in the competition, other than to say it is "less than 10."

The next scheduled meeting of the board is Feb. 8, but Pfluger smiled when asked when the board will meet again and said, "Obviously we will probably meet before then."

In procedures drafted at the July 6 meeting, the board agreed that finalists will be interviewed by the regents, the

Dear Abby,

DEAR ABBY: Last year you printed a letter from a young lady who was discouraged about the attitude of family and friends about Christmas. She said all they thought about was presents and big dinners, so she considered taking a room in a hotel for the day, but it was so costly. It was a very fine column. Please print it again.

V.L.H. IN ATLANTA

DEAR V.: Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I'm having a hard time deciding what to do for Christmas. I live about 40 miles from my parents' home, but I don't want to go home for Christmas because it is a depressing time for me. My parents go to church regularly, but they don't act like good Christians. All Christmas means to them is a pretty tree, lots of presents and good food. But it means so much more to me.

I don't want to stay where I live because the people I live with have the same attitude about Christmas. It's all presents and food. Most of my friends are expecting a gift from me and I can't afford any.

I was thinking of leaving town for the day, but I can't afford a hotel room.

Can you give me some advice on what to do? I hate this time of year. It's so depressing!

YOUNG AND UNHAPPY

DEAR YOUNG: Get in touch with a nursing home, a veterans hospital or a children's institution, and offer to visit those who have no one to visit them. You don't need to bring presents. Just bring a cheerful attitude, a happy face and a willingness to listen and chat awhile.

Offer to write letters, read, make a phone call or run an errand.

When you do something for someone else, it's impossible to feel depressed. Try it; it really works. Then write to me and tell me what kind of Christmas you had. I care.

DEAR ABBY: I've read letters in your column year after year from parents who are "furious" because Grandma sends their children money for Christmas (or Hanukkah) instead of a gift.

I agree that a check (regardless of size) means very little to a child, so this is how we handle it in our family:

Some time before the holiday, Grandma (also Great-Grandma) sends a check to the child's mother. Mother then buys an appropriate gift, has it gift-wrapped, and encloses a card "From Grandma."

This arrangement works well because:

- Grandma may not be physically able to shop.

• Grandma (if she lives far away) may not know what the child needs. And probably doesn't know what size to buy.

DREAMING OF CHRISTMAS — Christmas programs and carols remind children Christmas is just around the corner. Add to the excitement and color of the holiday with this corduroy skirt and vest outfit. The royal blue vest and skirt, trimmed with lace, are combined with a white blouse with ruffled front and ribbon tie.

• Sometimes it cost more to ship packages than the contents are worth.

When Grandma sends money instead:

• Grandma is happy because she knows that the child has received a gift that is wanted and needed.

• Mother is happy for the same reason.

• The child is never disappointed with Grandma's gift.

HAPPY GRANDMA IN N.Y. STATE

DEAR ABBY: As the Christmas season nears, please allow me to share an idea for one of the best presents I've ever received.

I'm in the Army, stationed in Korea. For Christmas last year, my mother promised me a parcel of goodies every month!

It doesn't take much time or money, and it's greatly appreciated all through the year. I'd recommend this as a really terrific Christmas gift to any GI (or student) away from home.

N.S. IN KOREA

DEAR N.S.: Thanks for a practical suggestion.

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

DRESSING IN HARMONY — Not only are these teen-agers playing music in harmony, but dressing in harmony, as their smashing outfits keep with the spirit of the season. The girl is dressed in black velveteen-look pants, fashionably topped by a quilted Chinese-style jacket. A long sleeve yellow blouse is worn underneath. His gray and burgundy sweatshirt combines handsomely with black textured woven slacks.

Mrs. Rodgers True Statement:

For several years I had slowly been gaining weight, thinking of course I could lose it by myself any time. BUT-I found out it's not that easy to do by yourself!! When my husband started making comments about my figure I knew it was time I found professional help. Having already read many things about the Pat Walker Program, the idea of being able to lose both weight and inches where I really needed them off, plus not even messing my hair or having to change my clothes while doing it really appealed to me. I am so pleased with the success I have had with the Pat Walker program. Pounds and inches came off to give me a new figure I can be proud of! I can really say I'm glad I did it.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK
I knew kids were changing, but I never realized how much until I got a toy catalogue in the mail the other day.
There was a game called "Adventures in Adverbs," ages seven and up. (Wow!) A group decision and survival game on a non-tearable game field, ages nine and up. (Far out!)
Fun with Math Motivators, ages 8-12. (Neato!)

And Baby's First Calculator... with all the features, including plus percentages, a memory to store subtotals and an eight-digit readout, ages four and up. (Thanks, Dad!)

To a woman who put both legs in one side of her underwear until she was six years old, that's quite a jolt.
Where are the dolls that don't do anything but sit on the bed and look terrific? Where are the logs that multiply under the bed? What happened to books that had pictures instead of being contained on cassettes and played back on stereos?

I don't like to think what would have happened if I had bought my children "Adventures in Pronouns" as a biggie for Christmas. They used to write phone messages on flash cards.
I also don't like to think about what is going to happen to parents on Christmas morning when their child opens a box and says, "Oh, Mommy! Just what I wanted! Vowel Hopscotch. Play with me. Here's a bean bag. Now, all you do is toss it on a vowel and then use a long or short vowel sound. Then you hopscotch your way across the mat and back. You first, Mommy."

I can see Mommy turning pale and saying, "You play, darling. Mommy is into vowels" and it wouldn't be fair.
Maybe I'm mistaken, but I visualize a lot of parents sitting around at Christmas being outflashed by flash cards, outsmarted by math puzzles and outclassed by the fastest calculator ever wielded by a three-year-old.

As I leafed through the catalogue, I came across a game for a little friend on my Christmas list. It was a computer with an electronic flash card with over 16,000 problems in four levels of difficulty and instant feedback.
I'll feel like a fool taking my checkbook to a five-year-old, but what the heck, this is no time for pride.

the organizations to which you belong. Several groups, including many chapters of Beta Sigma Phi, are remembering the children in Girlstown this Christmas, we noted.

Also "notable" are the many organizations — about 50 of them — who are helping out in the bell ringers program of the Salvation Army annual Christmas kettle drive.

In addition to the many Christmas programs which were listed yesterday, we want to put the "Notables" spotlight on a few special meetings scheduled for the Hub City this week.

Tuesday, for example, the Lubbock Lions Club, the largest club of that organization in the U.S. (a moment's pause for some civic pride, please) welcomes new First Baptist Church pastor, the Rev. Fred H. Wolfe, to town and gives the members and their guests for Ladies Day an opportunity to hear him speak. Ralph Krebs is president of the city club and Art Cook is serving as program chairman for the month of December.

The Epilepsy Society of the South Plains will hold a Christmas open house at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cartwright Tuesday and have issued special invitations to doctors, nurses and other medical personnel as well as to teachers, counselors, pastors and social workers who work with the handicapped. Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦KQ1082 ♥J5 ♦AQ7 ♦K107
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♦ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—You have a balanced hand that is better than minimum because of the good five-card suit and intermediates. A rebid of two spades will not convey that message to your partner. Two no trump describes your holding much more accurately.

Q.2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♦109 ♥A ♦AK982 ♦AKQ83
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Before taking any further action, pause and ask yourself: "What kind of hand can my partner have for his jump to four hearts?" If he knows what he is doing, he has great length in hearts and no honor strength outside—with strength in a side suit, he should respond only one heart and then jump on the next round. Therefore, you should be off two quick spade tricks, so any move toward slam will only jeopardize the contract.

Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦1076 ♥A982 ♦AK64 ♦Q6
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♦ Pass 2 ♥ Pass 3 ♦ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—You have given partner the opportunity to bid no trump, but he has not seized it. With a full opening bid, you must make at least one move toward game. However, your hand doesn't quite rate a jump to five clubs because of your flat distribution—eleven tricks might be too much. Four clubs should be enough to inspire partner to go on if he has opened anything but a dog.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦AJ4 ♥Q10 ♦AQ92 ♦Q985
The bidding has proceeded: 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 1 NT Pass 3 ♦ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Despite the fact that you have a solid stopper in clubs, don't make the mistake of bidding three no trump. Partner has shown a very strong, unbalanced hand—at least six hearts and five spades. With such a plethora of honors in his suits, you must make an encouraging move, but the only sensible action that comes to mind at the moment is a bid of four hearts.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♦Q7 ♥AK872 ♦KQ64 ♦AK
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ Pass 3 NT Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—You have done your duty when you made your jump shift. Partner has warned you that he has no slam ambitions. Don't make the mistake of bidding four hearts. It is most unlikely that partner has three hearts, since with that holding he would have shown his support at the three-level, rather than bid three no trump.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦A83 ♥10763 ♦9532 ♦AQ
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass 1 ♦ Dbl. Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Normally, you would make a jump bid in response to a takeout double to show your 10-point plus hand. However, this hand has flaws—your major suit is very weak and your honor cards are in your short suits. With only one spade stopper you do not want to play in no trump, so for the moment we would content ourselves with a bid of two hearts. If partner can't bid again, game will probably not have been missed.

Q.7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦Q8 ♥AK107 ♦K985 ♦K103
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♥ 1 ♦ 1 NT Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—By making a free response of one no trump, partner should have about 9-11 points. Your hand is better than minimum, for it has good body and prime cards. We suggest that you extend a cordial invitation to partner to bid game if he is maximum, by raising to two no trump.

Q.8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦KJ10 ♥QJ106 ♦A105 ♦A63
The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ ?

What do you bid now?
A.—The auction has developed in a most gratifying fashion—providing you don't interfere with it! Your opponents are about to play in your best suit and the bidding is not yet over. Pass and be content to collect 100 points apiece for each under-trick.

JUST DREAMING — It may be a few more years away, but these Girl Scouts attending this weekend's Miss Lubbock pageant appear to be wishing for their own crowns. last year, but she noted, "Ever since I was a little girl, I wanted to be Miss Lubbock." When she was a youngster, her parents took her Mr. and Mrs. Ted Eoff of Lubbock, took her to the pageant and Miss Eoff admits she was fascinated.

Her mother was an actress in high school and college and a professional model in Memphis, Tenn., before marriage and Miss Eoff's older sister was in theatre productions at Texas Tech. So Miss Eoff said her interest in the stage has been a natural inclination.

"I modeled in style shows as a little girl," she said and described a television commercial for a local clothing store which is currently being shown on television.

Her chaperones and sponsors for the state competition are Jack and Janis Geddes who noted that the last actress to win the Miss Lubbock pageant was Susan Logan in 1966, who went on to win the Miss Texas title.

Fifty percent of the pageant is judged on the talent competition and Miss Eoff feels fairly secure on that portion of the pageant. It is physical fitness and current events which she will concentrate on between now and the state pageant in July.

The green-eyed brunette said she will concentrate on jogging, dancing and swimming "especially to work on my waist" although her current measurements are 35-23-35.

She accompanied last year's Miss Lubbock to the state pageant last summer and said the three days of preliminary judging gave her some insight.

"They were all so beautiful, so poised and so graceful," she said. "Although Miss Eoff said, "I wish every single girl could feel that feeling" of being named the winner of a pageant, she noted that not all women approve of the contest.

TEC To Receive Award From Legion Post

The George S. Berry American Legion Post will present an award to the Texas Employment Commission at the post's regular meeting Tuesday night in recognition of the TEC's efforts in providing employment assistance to veterans.

Thomas Bourland, post commander, will present the award to Bert Darden, office manager of the TEC here.

Ronny J. Hays, employment committee chairman for the Legion post, said that 1,060 veterans, 38.6 percent of the total, were placed into jobs by the TEC during fiscal year 1979. Hays also noted that the TEC found jobs for 85 disabled veterans during the same period.

In a letter to Darden, Hays said, "We appreciate the excellent assistance provided to veterans seeking employment by the employees of the Lubbock office of the Texas Employment Commission. Most of the veterans are highly complimentary of the service they received."

advisory committee and the search committee. A number of faculty members and some students are on the committees.

Regent Clint Formby, chairman of the search committee, said procedure will be followed, although not all of the current candidates will necessarily be interviewed by both committees.

The university will be closed for the Christmas holiday from Dec. 21 until Jan. 2. Classes will resume Jan. 10. Regents have indicated that the announcement of a new president will probably be in mid-January.

Hockley County Tax Official Faces Charges

A-J Correspondent
LEVELLAND — A Hockley County grand jury handed down five indictments Saturday against county tax assessor-collector Walter Thrash for alleged misappropriation of funds, tampering with government records and official misconduct.

Thrash, who would have completed his first four-year term in 1980, was free Sunday on $5,000 bond, following arraignment Saturday at the Hockley County Sheriff's Department.

Although officials said Saturday they do not know how much money is missing from county funds, District Attorney Bill Boedeker said in a press conference that the charges stem from the tax assessor-collector charging $1.50 each for abstract certificates issued. Thrash is accused of entering only $1 into county books.

Boedeker said that investigations of the tax office began early in 1979 when the county commissioners court received a letter accusing Thrash of misconduct in connection with the county's refund account. The district attorney said audits of that account were instrumental in the decision made by the grand jury.

A petition was filed Saturday by County Judge R.L. Bowman to remove Thrash from office until the time of trial.

O.R. Watkins, retired school-city tax assessor-collector, has been asked to fill Thrash's position. Watkins told KHOC radio Sunday he would consider taking the position on an interim basis.

"No one has to enter the pageant. You do it on your own. You do it because you want to."

Miss Eoff noted that her acting experience at improvisation has sharpened her wits and senses and that will help at the state pageant interviews when contestants are grilled on current events.

But it will also help any time during her reign as Miss Lubbock, she said, explaining that now she will be more aware of her appearance and actions.

"I've got to keep in mind," she said, "I'm representing 200,000 people as Miss Lubbock."

she thought that she had scratched one of them on the face.

Rewards of $300 each also have been posted for any information on two aggravated robberies, which investigators believe were committed by the same persons because of the fact that the car's descriptions were almost the same.

The first incident occurred on Nov. 23 at 1:15 p.m. in Guadalupe Park. The victim told police that he and a friend had stopped to help a person get their car out of a ditch. Reports show that two men drove up and helped to get the car out of the ditch. When they got the car out of the ditch, the driver left. The two men reportedly pulled guns out and told the victims to give them all their money. One of the men shot one of the victims in the foot and again ordered them to give them their money. When one of the victims attempted to grab one of the guns, the man shot him in the right leg. The suspects took the property and fled. The suspects were described as Mexican-American, 18 to 25. One of the suspects was short and thin with black hair and brown eyes, and the other was of medium height and build with brown hair and brown eyes. The suspects were driving a 1973-74 Oldsmobile, two-door and brown over yellow.

The other incident occurred at 2:27 a.m. Dec. 1 at the Rox Club, 2211 Fourth St. The victim told police that he and some friends had just left the club and were at his pickup truck when three Mexican-American men jumped out of their vehicle. One of the suspects, who had a gun, went over to the victim and demanded all of his money. The suspect reportedly stood behind the victim and poked him with the gun in the left arm, removing the victim's wallet from his left back pocket. The suspect took $35. Another suspect reportedly went over to one of the victim's friends, pulled out a long knife and demanded his money. However, he was not robbed. The third suspect approached the other victim and made the same threats but never showed a weapon. The third victim said the suspect kept his hand in his pocket as if he had a gun in it. He also was not robbed. Reports show the suspects jumped back into their vehicle and fled east on Fourth Street. The suspects were described as being about 18 to 25. Two were tall and of medium build, and the other was of medium height and stocky. All had black hair. One of the suspects reportedly had his hair parted down the middle and had a fuzzy mustache. The suspects were driving a 1970-75 Oldsmobile, Delta model, four-door, beige over Crime Line also is offering $300 for information on a traffic accident involving failure to stop and render aid, which occurred at 8:50 p.m. Nov. 14. Police said Jackie Don Tanner was riding his 1979 Harley Davidson motorcycle east on 19th Street in the inside lane when a 1973-1977 tan or brown Oldsmobile Cutlass two-door driven by a white female, 18 to 35, 5'3" to 5'6", medium build with light brown hair, apparently did not see the motorcycle, did not yield to the cycle and turned into the path of the cycle causing collision. The Cutlass reportedly continued into the parking lot in the 2300-block of 19th Street. The driver of the Cutlass ran back to the victim and found that he was injured. She ran back to the Cutlass and left the scene. The victim was taken to the hospital where it was determined he suffered a compound broken right leg just above the ankle. Several people reportedly witnessed the accident and can identify the white female.

Crime Line also is offering a $300 reward for information leading to the discovery of the whereabouts of Mauricio Garza Cardenas, 31. He is described as 5'10", 170 pounds with black hair and brown eyes. Cardenas has been charged with burglary of a habitation and Warrant No. 10335 has been issued for his for his arrest.

Executives Cannot Buy Luxury Homes

DALLAS (UPI) — When financier Douglas A. Means became executive vice president of Jim Williams Jr. Fine Homes, he felt the $100,000 a year executive would be the primary market for homes in a development on the Caruth family farm in north Dallas. Means, however, has reconsidered, recognizing the plight of the "poor" hundred grand a year executive — that he or she cannot afford a truly fine home in 1979.

Inflation, rising construction costs and the money market were the problem. In the early stages, builder Jim Williams Jr. intended to build the 300 luxury homes at a cost of from $125,000 to $175,000 each.

That price tag has risen to more than $275,000 per home since 1977, when ground was broken for the first part of the project.

"Those changes in costs are dramatic," Means said. "Take a two-bedroom, 3,500-square-foot French chateau as an example. In 1977 the home was targeted for a completed, turn-key price of $175,000. It's on the market today at $360,000, and the company is already over that budget by more than $15,000."

The home, Means said, is worth every penny of it because of the quality of the workmanship and materials which have gone into it.

The roof, standing seam metal and flat-topped, cost more than $30,000, twice the original estimate. Concrete, paint, steel, brick, wood flooring and hardware, he said, all have doubled in cost since the home was designed.

Mortgages are not available in amounts of more than $200,000, so the purchaser of the French chateau at Caruth Homeplace will need to invest at least $160,000 in cash. Assuming a $200,000 mortgage at 11 1/4 percent, the buyer would pay a monthly mortgage of about $2,000 for principal and interest, and $2,500 when taxes and insurance are added.

"The 'poor' $100,000 per year executive just can't swing that in most cases," Means said, "unless he has an extremely moderate standard of living."

Means, however, said he is proceeding with 30 more homes costing more than $300,000 each during 1980.

Louis Brown, Marc Gold To Speak At Texas Tech

Drs. Louis Brown and Marc Gold, known nationally for their work with the handicapped and with persons who train them, will be featured speakers at a Texas Tech conference this month.

Sponsored by Texas Tech University Research and Training Center and its Technical Assistance and Development Disabilities Technical Assistance projects, the conference will be held Dec. 11-13 in the Banquet Hall of the Lubbock Civic Center.

Brown is a professor in the college of education at the University of Wisconsin. His success is based on a pragmatic approach — he believes that "if it works, use it."

Stressing the link between school and community, Brown finds the ultimate test of training to be whether the student performs the desired skills where they typically take place in the community.

President of Marc Gold Associates of Urbana, Ill., Gold has worked extensively in the field of mental retardation and has developed the "Try Another Way" approach for training persons for a wide variety of tasks.

He believes that service personnel should revise their perspectives regarding competencies of handicapped people and that "95 percent of the time when handicapped persons don't learn, it's because the teacher does not have the proper strategy to teach the desired skill."

Both men have worked as consultants, Brown with the U.S. Department of Education and the Education Testing Service in Princeton and Gold with programs throughout North America.

Darrel Rutherford, project training officer from the Texas Tech Research and Training Center, is conference logistical coordinator.

Participants will include 300-500 vocational rehabilitationists, teachers, administrators, supervisors, diagnosticians, aides, nurses and community representatives from Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico, Arkansas and Texas.

All interested persons are invited to attend, and there is no registration fee for Lubbock residents.

The Research and Training Center in Mental Retardation is funded by the National Institute of Handicapped Research. The center is one of 19 in the United States, three of which specialize in the study of mental retardation.

West German Distillery Eyes American Market

By PHILIP GREER
And MYRON KANDEL

As more and more Americans have developed a "sweet tooth" when it comes to the alcoholic beverages they consume, sales of cordials and liqueurs have zoomed in recent years.

Now, amid the hundreds of brands jostling for shelf space and drinkers' attention, a new foreign entry — from West Germany, of all places — is trying to make its presence felt.

Munich is well known for its beers, but it's not exactly considered a stronghold for distilled spirits, at least not in this country. But since 1835, the Bavarian capital has been the home of Anton Riemerschmid Distillers, one of Europe's leading makers of liqueurs. And the family-owned firm is embarking on a major effort to crack the American market.

It won't be an easy task. Although Riemerschmid products have been sold here for some 30 years, it's been on a strictly limited basis confined to German ethnic areas. In fact, German liqueurs are such a small factor in the United States that they are not even included in the alcoholic beverages industry's own reports of imported cordials and liqueurs.

Dieter Riemerschmid is determined to end that situation. Representing the sixth generation of his family in the company (his father Heinrich is now the sole proprietor), he is heading the American sales effort, which is getting under way in selected markets this fall.

Riemerschmid has a sales model to aim at — the success story of German wines, which are moving into second place among imported wines in this country (ahead of French, but still well behind Italian).

Trade figures show that 10 of the 40 top-selling imported table wines in the United States are German, most of them Liebfraumilch. Spurred by the American trend to drinking white wine, German wines are steadily growing in popularity here (although the leader among them, Blue Nun, which holds fourth place in the overall rankings, still accounts for less than a quarter of the sale of No. 1-ranked Riumite Lambrusco from Italy.)

The house of Riemerschmid is hoping to emulate at least part of that performance, capitalizing on the fact that cordials and liqueurs — characterized by government standards as sweetened liquors bottled generally at over 40 proof and produced by processing brandy or neutral spirits with fruits, herbs, seeds and other flavoring materials — have had one of the highest rates of growth in the U.S. distilled spirits market in recent years.

Part of those gains are attributed to the increasing consumer preference, particularly among women and younger people, for a variety of drinks, rather than the traditional adherence to one favorite. There has also been a decided trend to lighter drinks, such as wines, liqueurs and even mineral waters. And members of the vast young-adult market, brought up on sweet drinks, are showing a greater preference for sweeter spirits as they become an important factor in that market.

Among the most familiar names in the cordial-liqueur field are Southern Comfort, Amaretto, Grand Marnier, Drambuie, Kahlua, Cointreau, Benedictine, Irish Mist, Galliano and Tia Maria.

American-made products dominate the market, with Italy, France and Mexico the leaders among the imports, which account for about a quarter of all sales, mostly at the premium-priced levels.

It is against this competition that Riemerschmid is heading. The opening gun in its battle for acceptance among American consumers is a Bavarian herb liqueur with the decidedly non-Germanic-sounding name of Escorial Green (which was introduced into the home market in 1913 as the German response to the French Chartreuse.) It comes in a white ceramic bottle painted with colorful scenes of old Munich.

The younger Riemerschmid — who has a master's degree in business administration from the University of Augsburg and cut his marketing teeth working for Seagram Distillers in the United States — hopes that Escorial Green will carry as powerful a sales clout as it does an alcoholic content. It's 112 proof, leading its maker to suggest that it goes well both in mixed drinks and as a flavoring for foods and sauces. It's not made for chug-a-lugging.

With Escorial Green leading the way, the firm also hopes to win American tastes over to such selections as Monastery Gold (a digestive that traces its roots back to the Benedict Brothers Abbey built in the year 733), Goldwasser (which contains tiny gold flecks), Royal Coffee Cherry Liqueur and Rum, and Enzian (made from the genian plant found in the Alps and Pyrenees).

EPA Action May Halt Oil Project

GALVESTON (UPI) — The Pelican Island Deep Water Oil Terminal may have been dealt a severe blow by an Environmental Protection Agency recommendation that asks the Corps of Engineers not to grant permits for its construction.

The recommendation was made in a letter received last week by Corps District Engineer Col. James Sigler.

EPA officials said that based on the EPA review of the final environmental impact statement on the project and information gathered at a Nov. 15 public hearing, the project "entails unacceptable environmental impacts."

The EPA said it prefers as an alternative an offshore port such as the one planned by the Texas Deep Water Port Authority.

"The project impacts to air, water and land resources and their interdependent biotic components from both normal project operations and from possible accidents would be substantially reduced" at an offshore terminal, the letter said.

The Pelican terminal does not "attain the widest range of beneficial uses of the environment without degradation, risks to health or safety or other undesirable or unintended consequences."

"Therefore, in fulfilling our duty under Section 309 Clean Air Act, we submit these comments and respectfully recommend that the Corps of Engineers deny permit applications No. 10400, 13576, 13577, 13578 and 13579," the EPA said in the letter.

The letter was signed by regional EPA administrator Alene Harrison.

"It's a very difficult permit request," Sigler said, adding that the final decision "will take a little bit of time. I don't think we can set a date yet," for the decision.

Although the EPA's remarks are only a recommendation and do not carry the weight of law, an EPA spokesman in Dallas said that if the permits are granted anyway, the EPA can refer the case to the Council on Environmental Quality, a kind of "supreme court" for environmental matters.

That council could then, if it decided to hear the case, make a recommendation to the president that he halt the project. This has been done only once before, the spokesman added.

DR. LAMB

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
 DEAR DR. LAMB — What do you think of this diet? Roast beef with all the fat, hamburger meat — very fat, tuna in oil (she eats all the oil), all the eggs you can eat, chicken, lots of butter and mayonnaise. For example, she eats ground hamburger and adds four or five eggs, fries it in lots of butter and puts it on the plate with a big chunk of butter on top and loads of mayonnaise all over it. She eats it grease and all — no sugar or salt.
 She's not allowed any breads, fruits or vegetables, no milk, coffee, tea, etc. She's been on this diet for over a month and has lost 25 pounds. She was told to stay on it six more weeks.

She takes a diuretic, potassium and vitamins daily. I don't think this is a sensible diet. It was doctor prescribed. He said eat all the eggs you want, there's no cholesterol.

DEAR READER — I really don't care where it came from — it's a terrible diet. First, it's grossly deficient in calcium. Since she's taking a diuretic as well as not consuming any carbohydrates, she must have washed out a lot of salt and with it, would have lost some important minerals that affect how the heart functions. That also means losing a lot of body water which may be how she has lost pounds.

It's just this kind of dietary nonsense that got people into trouble with the liquid protein diet. Eggs do have a lot of cholesterol in them. The high fat content in the diet that you described would increase the absorption of the cholesterol as well.

It's true that you can lose weight on some of these ridiculous diets but it's usually because the total calories in the food have been restricted. If you don't decrease the calories taken in or don't increase the calories used, there's no way that you'll lose calories of fat. Those people who lose part of their initial weight from washing out normal body water or dehydrating the system are not losing fat. The water loss can be dangerous.

To give you a better idea on some of these ridiculous diets, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 2-2, Low Carbohydrate Diet Fads. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of The Lubbock

There are many ways to lose weight. Some of them aren't very safe. The only safe and sane way to lose weight is to go on a well-balanced, regular diet combined with a sensible exercise program. The adjustment in lifestyle should be permanent. The weight loss should be slow and gradual.

In the process a person learns to eat properly and live properly so that he can avoid obesity. Crash diets are the ones that usually cause the most trouble. The more odd-ball a diet is, the shorter length of time a person should be on it if he wishes to maintain his health.

Excessive loss of water or salt or both can cause a person to be fatigued. It can cause mental confusion and disorientation. This is sometimes mistaken as senility when it happens in an older person. Salt and water disturbances, particularly potassium salt loss, can contribute to serious heart irregularities. That is apparently one factor in the deaths from the liquid protein diets that were reported.

COINS FOUND
 MOSCOW (UPI) — Archaeologists have discovered a large quantity of 700-year-old coins from the ancient city of Merv, now known as Mary, in Soviet Turkmenia, the Tass news agency said. Reporting from Ashkhabad in the Soviet Asian republic, Tass said this week. "The hoard includes coins of the 13th century minted in Merv."

Robert Spence School Relates New Classes, Winter Schedule

"Feeling good about yourself, knowing that you are poised and self-confident and that you are socially effective" is what the courses at the Robert Spence School are all about.

"We recognize that such a process is a very individual one and that you are seeking to develop a sense of style that is comfortable, natural and effective — a sense of style that will let you be your most successful self."

The Robert Spence School, in Terrace Center, 4902 34th St., Suite 15, phone 797-8134, is now making plans for its January session of classes which will begin Jan. 14, 1980. The deadline for registration is Jan. 11.

A variety of classes will be available during this next class session: personal development, exercising, business etiquette and professional modeling. In addition, the Little Princess, the Young Miss and the Classic Woman brief courses will be offered. Enrollment is limited since no more than eight students are assigned to a class so that instructors can devote individual attention to each student.

New Course
A new course, designed for professional women, will be offered beginning in January. The four-lesson course concentrates on posture, poise, make-up, hairstyles, wardrobe and business etiquette for the woman in business. This course is excellent for the personnel of large or small businesses, banks or professional organizations. Class times are flexible to meet the schedules of the various groups.

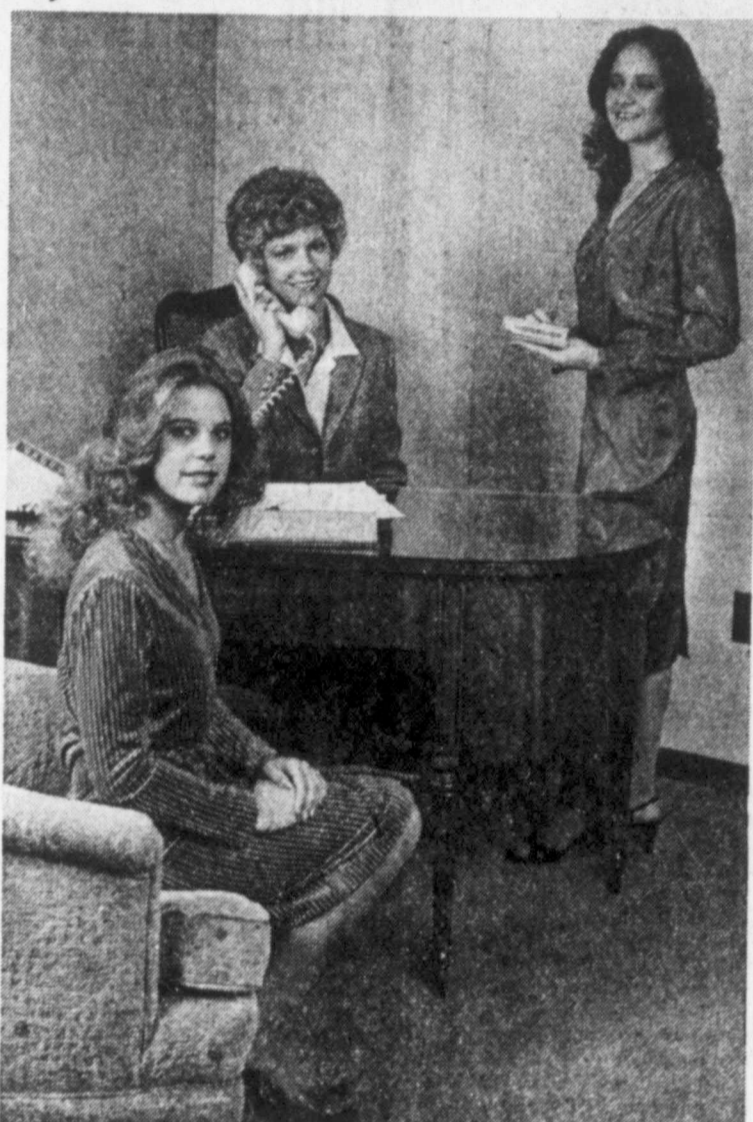

The Little Princess and the Young Miss are six-week courses designed for girls who are age five to nine and 10 to 14, and cover posture, social etiquette, grooming and personality.

The Classic Woman course is a six-week course designed for the woman who is interested in updating her wardrobe, perfecting her make-up and developing poise so that she will be confident in all situations she may encounter. This course is especially successful for clubs and area groups.

The Robert Spence School now has licensed aestheticians who can assist individuals on make-up application. Facials and mini-facials are available by appointment.

The personal development course, a 26-week course, is designed to help the student look and sound her best. By concentrating on the fundamental elements of movement, skin care and make-up application, hair styling, figure correction, speaking, wardrobe coordination and personality development, the personal development course helps students achieve poise and self-confidence.

For Professional Modeling
Beyond these self-improvement courses, Robert Spence offers an 18-week course of instruction in professional modeling. Such training can open career vistas to many women. The school functions as an agency and has placed many women in modeling jobs in the Lubbock area as well as in Dallas and New York City.

As a modeling agency, Robert Spence makes available its professionally trained models and instructors for occasions such as conventions, grand openings, fashion shows, commercials and photography.

Long Record
The Robert Spence School is owned and directed by Brenda Becknell and is fully certified by the Texas Education Agency. In January, the school will begin its eighteenth year of operation in Lubbock.

All instructors are members of the World Modeling Association and the Modeling Association of America, and they are graduates of the Robert Spence School. They attend workshops and seminars in New York, Utah and Nevada to update their curriculum and keep abreast of the current trends in fashion. In addition, they all have professional experience modeling for advertising, television commercials, and fashion shows as well as being experienced public lecturers.

Instructors are available to give lectures and demonstrations to groups and organizations. They also teach the short courses for groups of eight or more in Lubbock and surrounding towns.

During the next session, classes will be offered with various weekly schedules from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, or 1-3 p.m. Evening classes meet once weekly from 7-9 p.m. Arrangements can be made for private and semi-private sessions as well as for special location classes.

Gift certificates are available for those who want to give a gift that will be appreciated for years to come.

A phone call, remember, will bring complete information about the classes.

Optical Store And Boutique Reveals New Location, 'Just One Door South'

The Optical Store and Boutique has a new home!

Formerly familiar at 5202 Slide Road, this "Our Boutique is Unique" firm has moved just one door south . . . to 5204 Slide Road, into larger, convenient and easier departmentalized quarters.

"We know you'll like the new convenience, and we hope you will visit us at earliest convenience. Let us say 'Merry Christmas!' After all, we're somewhat of a Christmas type store, too! Proof:

"Wouldn't the holidays be a good time to come out, while that student son or daughter is at home and select fashion frames, as example, for a gift and for enjoyment in the new school term or other field of endeavor?"

"And there are live houseplants stocked for sale, also! And silk flower arrangements and other gifts. Likely a gift certificate from the Optical Store and Boutique, now at 5204 Slide Road, would be in order, Right?"

"Also, remember that several plus-factors place this firm at the forefront in its field. Such as one-day service on many prescriptions (with its own lab, the firm can act most speedily and efficiently).

And the video that is utilized in frame selection has met with tremendous approval.

It all is a part of the firm's appreciation of its friends and customers and its dedication to finest service possible.

New video tape equipment has been installed to enable one to be photographed with the various frames, then the tape is played back through a color television set to enable one to see exactly how the frames look upon him or her!

Doesn't this make sense?"

"We at The Optical Store & Boutique think so, and we believe we are the first optical company in Lubbock to offer this brand new innovation to optical dispensing."

"We believe it is general knowledge that quality lines in frames and glasses are just as near The Optical Store & Boutique.

Thoroughly in keeping with the firm's consideration of the customer's welfare, the folks there emphasize:

- (1) Children should have an eye examination annually.
- (2) Adults should take the same step every two years.
- (3) Even if one does not wear glasses, eye examination on a systematic schedule is recommended.

(4) See your eye doctor and then when glasses are advised, bring his prescription to us at The Optical Store & Boutique, and we'll prove our uniqueness and capabilities, with you benefiting.

"We want to see you keep your frames in good repair, and we'll help if you simply give us the chance!"

Envisable Frame Selection
"And did you realize that The Optical Store & Boutique stocks the complete spectrum in frames, including a utility selection combining style with surprisingly low price?"

A departmentalized arrangement of rooms and areas provides four distinct categories in our service: (1) utility selection, (2) another where quality is the sole consideration, (3) designer frames, and finally (4) the Boutique.

So, whether the attractively priced lines in frames and glasses for the student, as example, or the very finest in choices from the Designer collection or the unusual and expensive lines within the Boutique are preferred, this Lubbock facility is outstanding, in a class by itself.

EXTEND SEASON'S GREETINGS — The entire staff of the Jean Bledsoe Insurance Agency sends warmest of Christmas and New Year greetings. Shown is Jean, seated, together with Gene Knight, Laura Hawkins, Betty Pena and Kathy Voss.

Jean Bledsoe Agency Voices Christmas, Year-End Thoughts

"Let us be the first to wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!"
"We at the Jean Bledsoe Insurance Agency, 3305 81st St., wish each of you a most rewarding and prosperous New Year, a season of achievement and fulfillment of your desires."
"At the same time, we are most mindful of the many blessings of '79 and years past; we express heartfelt thanks for every friendship, every consideration, every opportunity. We appreciate so many of you relying upon us for your insurance services.
Among the thoughts foremost in our mind at this time is the recognition of our richly-endowed city, community, region, state and nation. We have truly been blessed at every level in America. The positive attitude that has made our nation great can continue and must be perpetuated... we're glad to be a part. It has been a good year, especially in this area, with an economic stability that might well be the envy of other areas. Agricultural abundance, industrial achievement, the educational community... all have been contributing factors in the desirable region that is the South Plains.

"But most of all, it is people... folks like you, our valued friends and customers, that make Lubbock and environs great."
"We salute you and add that we in '80 will be honored to again service all your insurance needs."
Humbly appreciative of the customer confidence that has made our agency what it is today, we look forward to continuing assistance. We hope you'll consider the Jean Bledsoe Insurance Agency, 3305 81st St., for your every insurance need. We know we can help.
"Happy New Year."

Bargain-Priced Clothes, Shoes For Entire Family Found At Like-Nu Shop

"If you've been out shopping for clothing lately, you can see how prices have skyrocketed."
"Our store, the Like-Nu Shop, 1918 Ave. Q, has some of the latest style clothing for very reasonable prices. We have clothing and shoes for the entire family."
Lingerie
"Sample items sometimes find their way to our shop. Now we have new sample lingerie just in time for Christmas giving. Some of our little girls' dresses are new Ruth of Carolina brand. New, as well as used long dresses for those evenings out are here, also.
"In men's clothing, we have some larger size suits such as 54. Men's jeans are in stock now. In men's shirts, we have a range from size 14 1/2 through 18. Brand new vinyl jackets in medium have arrived."

Coats
Coats are a big item in stock at this time, with The Like-Nu Shop having car coats, camel hair, fake fur, suede, wool, a zip-length, etc. Also there are very popular sweater vests, pullovers and cardigans.
Clothing accessories such as belts, scarves, hats, gloves and handbags are available. Recently, some men's belts have come in, with sizes 52, 54 and 44.

Beautiful new costume jewelry is displayed for sale in the counter in the front room.
Women's dresses are coming in often, with name brands such as Melissa Lane, Joan Blackshear, Butte Knit, Trolley Car, Inc., Center Stage, Neiman, Fred Rothschild, etc. Mostly consignment clothing, the items are in "like-nu" condition and have a lot of wear left in them.
"Come by and see us soon for your best bargains, at the Like-Nu Shop, 1918 Ave. Q, one of Lubbock's most unusual clothing shops."
Martha Morris, manager, welcomes one's inquiries and business.

Lee's Custom Jewelers Stocks 'Christmas Items That Please'

"For Christmas giving, why consider less than a gift of jewelry?"
"And where better could one select a cherished gift, with confidence, than at Lee's Custom Jewelers, 2115 50th St.!"
Whatever the choice, one may be sure that "quality" has been the foremost consideration of Lee's, passing on this quality and selection at sensible prices.
Something for all ages is evident in the attractive and discriminating displays — from quality diamond jewelry to watches and bands.
Lee's Custom Jewelers, in Oakwood Center, has a very good selection of mountings, with equally impressive less than a gift of jewelry?"

Gift certificates are available, too, and might in many instances be the proper Christmas consideration.
A very good selection of Longines, Wittnauer, Seiko and Technos fine watches is stocked.
Custom-made jewelry is one of the shop's specialties, and there still is time to have custom jewelry orders completed by Christmas, but only if one hurries, for the holidays are near!
Watch repair receives expert attention at Lee's Custom Jewelers, with qualified watchmakers including owner

Lee Tyler Jr. on the job. All repair work is done right in the store, with none "sent out," thus assuring both personal and expert attention.
Master Charge and Visa purchases are welcomed.
Lee Tyler Jr. a Lubbock resident of some 14 years, purchased the firm eight years ago, and he and his wife, Willene, head a staff dedicated to quality merchandise and finest service.
"For jewelry items sure to please, and for watch service and repair (of all major brands), one can turn with confidence to Lee's Custom Jewelers, phone 744-4814, in Oakwood Center, Lubbock.

Charlene's, In Town South, Offering Apt Gift Suggestions

Its Christmas time at Charlene's!
 "The holiday season is upon us... crowds shopping... holiday parties beginning... carols being sung... and Christmas music everywhere."
 "Charlene and staff will help you with all your gift selecting for 'her.'"
 New shipments have arrived for one's selection. There are new holiday robes that are warm and cuddly.
 There are glamour negligees and pajamas designed by Bob Mackie.
 Also newly arrived are pastel velours in coordinating pants, skirts and tops, by Larch.
 Velours
 She'll like the fashion feel and look of velours.
 There are new arrivals in street dresses, also in midnight royal velvet and holiday burgundy velour.
 Select sweaters with matching pants for a great look.
 Available at the inimitable Charlene's are many gift items including music boxes, book ends, dresser sets, even Christmas decorated hand towels.
 "We try to make wishes come true at Charlene's of Town South, don't you agree?"
 "We'll help you with the selections, and we'll gift wrap them, too. Call or come shopping; we're so happy to assist you with your holiday giving."
 Shop Charlene's, 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., at 73rd Street and Indiana Avenue (Town South Shopping Center), phones 792-2776 and 792-2777. Visa and Master Charge purchases are welcomed.

Bugs & Bikes' Complete Sales, Parts, Service Simplifies Christmas Gifting

"Featuring Takara and Motobecane bicycles. Bugs & Bikes at 3211-B 34th St. can be quite a Christmas kind of store for you, too, in gift planning or even for meeting bicycle needs the year around."
 Though specializing in adult 10-speed bikes, Bugs & Bikes is devoting full attention to the Model 500 bikes for children... the ideal first bike for the 3 to 6 year old, and great for under the Christmas tree! The Takara units for children are of such rugged design and construction that the bikes can be passed down to several kids! In Cherokee Red, it is ideal for Christmas.
 Repair, Accessories
 Bugs & Bikes is exclusive Lubbock dealer for the prestigious Takara and Motobecane bikes, also stocking a full line of accessories.
 Repairs on all makes of bicycles is a specialty.
 Owners-operators Preston and Kathy Doughty point out that the Junior 10-speed bikes by Takara and Motobecane are great for teenagers, too.

 And for the really serious bike riders, Motobecane is said "in a class by itself," in the top five worldwide.
 Preston invites the customer to compare the quality bicycles on the market, comparing feature by feature. Then one will discover just how very much the lines at Bugs & Bikes have to offer!
 Mr. and Mrs. Doughty are glad to take time explaining the criteria for selecting the appropriate bicycle for your particular needs, extending professional but personal interest in your selection and enjoyment of a bicycle best for you.
 A good stock of motocross models is stocked.
 And something new:
 Bugs & Bikes not only stocks bicycles but has added a special product that could well be the most considerate Christmas present of all: a Minibrute battery-powered chain saw!
 12-Volt Chainsaw
 This chainsaw, Doughty explains, is the world's first 12-volt battery powered chain saw.
 Just clip the power leads on the saw to the terminals of a 12-volt battery, press the switch and make your cut; it is that easy! The saw starts easily and instantly; it is quieter than gasoline-powered saws and is said to require very little service.
 Perfect for cutting firewood and for trimming, the Minibrute 14-inch chainsaw can be used for heavy cutting for a period of time, with actual design for light to medium cutting. It is powered by a small but powerful permanent magnet motor, the type used on electric winches and as starters on many small engines.
 How long will Minibrute run on a battery? Well, long enough to cut about a pickup load of wood, using a standard auto battery!
 For a thoughtful Christmas... Bugs & Bikes can give the big assist! Select now, at 3211-B 34th St., phone 795-5416, and be assured of quality, selection, and consideration by "pros" in the business. For a bicycle for any age, for a bike with all the desired personalized features, for a craftsmanship/quality precision unit to enjoy season after season, select from Takara or Motobecane at Bugs & Bikes, the bicycle people at 3211-B 34th.

Little Shoppe Miniatures, Gift Items Aiding Santas

For the hobbyist, for the amateur and avid miniature collector, for folks who simply appreciate the unusual, the pretty and the intriguing, The Little Shoppe comes through, stronger than ever!
 Miniatures by the thousands... delightful new arrivals... darling creations... clever kits for one's own construction enjoyment... and with the stock predominately Christmas oriented at this time... this is the provocative picture at The Little Shoppe in Cactus Alley!
 Though throughout the year stocking miniatures in almost unbelievable quantity and quality, The Little Shoppe has added more in time for holiday preparation and gifting.
 Owner-operator Norma Bartley seems to take delight in stocking miniatures never before seen or presented in this area!
 Be sure to see the new doll house kits, the furniture kits, the Victorian and Country Kitchens, with all needed accessories.
 And Christmas trees! Select the 3-in. sizes for vignettes or doll houses, with 2- and 3-in. trees ideal for shadow boxes and printers trays.
 The blank trees are ready for decorating, or in kits. Norma is happy to show how it all is done. In fact, this is one of the key benefits at the so-unique shop. Norma Bartley is glad to "tell you how" to bring to finished state any project originating at The Little Shoppe, just for the asking, no added charge!
 There is a very good assortment of cut wood, ideal for packages. (Nancy's darling packages are already gift wrapped and ready for giving!)
 And there is beautiful, petite scaled wrapping paper!
 Plus Christmas wreaths, ornaments, Sculpy clay for making one's own ornaments, a new arrival of poinsettias, and more fall in miniature, remember!
 There are new arrivals from the Bead Garden, there are holiday centerpiece, Della Robbia brandy sniffers, bead arrangements, etc.
 Norma also has stocked the miniature fireplaces to decorate or even use as a house decor item or in vignettes.
 For Christmas, the miniature creches for home or for gift packages are something special; these must be seen to be fully appreciated.
 See the herringbone or parquet floors also available for the doll house.
 The "miniature" selection is reputed to be larger than any in all West Texas.
 (This year The Little Shoppe, though still in Cactus Alley, moved into enlarged quarters there. With the added room, the stock has been more than doubled, with open display enabled for the thousands of items.)
 One cannot enumerate all that is The Little Shoppe. Pages could be written describing the miniature cookware, the furnishings for every room of a miniature mansion, greenhouses complete with spring flowers and potted plants, all the Christmas-related stock, etc., but one can only comprehend the completeness of the stock upon personal inspection.

tion that the bikes can be passed down to several kids! In Cherokee Red, it is ideal for Christmas.

PKM Jewel Salon Meeting Gift Needs With Fullest Stock Ever

Christmas... gifts for one you love... PKM Jewel Salon... they all go together... delightfully so!

Visits to PKM, at 4509 50th St., are especially advised and invited at this time to solve the Christmas gifting need in your own situation; and in consideration of its many customers, PKM has expanded its hours, its staff and its stock!

Extended Hours
Hours, until Christmas, are 10 a.m. until a late 9 p.m. closing, Mondays through Fridays, and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturdays.

Early and astute purchasing by PKM owner and founder Ron Morgan has resulted in a large and selective stock from which gift buying can be most rewarding.

New Arrivals
Be sure and see the new brass items, the new-design jewelry and other daily arrivals that swell the stock in this so-attractive southwest Lubbock store.

PKM truly is a "one-of-its-kind establishment; and if there is any one season during which it could be said to afford special benefit, then that season would be Christmas!

Aside from seemingly "providing it all" throughout the year, even more has been added within every department to serve the enviable and growing list of South Plains customers.

Ron Morgan recently made a buying trip to the South Pacific, and merchandise now being shown reflects his success in securing quality in the unusual, including jade, pearl, coral and lapis jewelry.

Karen Boggs, interior designer, operates the design studio within PKM where "wonderful things" for the home and office design are provided. Karen a few weeks ago made an extensive buying trip to Europe, with so much that is new now offered within the studio in time for Christmas.

"Whether served by Ron, by Karen, by Donna Golightly, Teresa Hall, Nodia Brent, Fred Wooten, Dottie Saeger or Henry Gibson, one may be assured of professional knowledge and a genuine desire to best serve you as a cherished customer... at PKM Jewel Salon, a beautiful firm thoroughly worth of its name as a jewel salon with gifts suitable for every person on one's list."

Select from fine watches for both men and women, custom-designed jewelry, rare jewels, loose diamonds, decor items, etc., at PKM Jewel Salon, 4509 50th St., phone 793-3291, in Sunshine Square.

Prater's Holiday Order Schedule Dates Posted

Holiday meal planning certainly accentuates the importance of the following:

"For quality products at their best, buy Prater's... smoked turkeys, country cured bacon, brown 'n' serve turkey, fresh dressed turkeys and regular hams, long cured boneless hams and oven-ready dressing.

"If you have not formed the Prater's habit, then a delightful new experience is in store for you."

Important Dates
The following deadlines are of importance in assuring one or more of these birds for you, however:
Reserve orders are encouraged and should be picked up Dec. 17 through Dec. 22.
If the bird is needed before the 17th, there is no need to call for reserve order.
Those remaining after the 22nd will be placed in open stock.
Prater's, phone 745-2727, will remain open until noon Christmas Eve.

In Supermarkets, Too
You may buy the Prater products at Prater's (just drive about two miles south of Loop 289 on University Avenue and look for the Prater's sign on the Left) or you can find the special Prater's Label right in your favorite supermarket.
At the Prater plant, clean throughout, there is noticeable attractive decor and ease in shopping.
Check the several products for which Prater's is famous, products that are available for the holidays and for value

Earl Ray Music Enabling Easy Solution In Instrument Needs

"Looking ahead to the perfect (and wanted) Christmas gift for that musically inclined student within the family?"

Then... Earl Ray Music Co., "Mr. Music" on the South Plains for over 30 years, can greatly assist.

"Name" lines, layaway plans, rentals, purchase plans and more emphasize Earl Ray's question: Why settle for less than Earl Ray Music Co., in Briercroft Center, phone 762-0468, in Lubbock!

Names To Trust
Selling, servicing and trade-rent-lease of fine instrument lines is the whole business of Earl Ray Music Co. Whether selection is from Conn, LeBlanc, Bach, Artley, Selmer, Bundy, Gemeinhardt or Getzen band instruments, Conn or Gibson guitars, or Premier or Ludwig drums, quality is assured.

"If you are the parent or other near relative of a band student, most likely you know first hand, already, of the valued services and products of the Early Ray Music Co.

For over three decades, Earl Ray has served as a firm sincerely interested in your welfare, in seeing that the student or other musically-inclined person is set with the best in instruments... whether purchase, rentals, trading up, or repairs are involved.

For 'Trading Up'
"Trading up" is a very popular program presented by Earl Ray, making for ease in securing a quality instrument to best serve in the progress one has made in any musical pursuit.

Service does not end with the rental or sale at this leading band house. Earl Ray maintains the largest band instrument repair department on the South Plains, with fulltime specialists on the job, Ray emphasizes.

Earl Ray since its founding has been known and trusted by band directors,

Business & Industrial Review

Wheel & Tire Center, On 50th, Distinctive In Looks, Values

"Surely you've discovered the bright yellow building at 1506 50th Street... home of Wheel & Tire Center!"
 "And if you have visited this center, you have discovered selection, quality and price in tires to your exceptional benefit. Wheel & Tire Center would have it no other way."
 Opened in Lubbock in early June, the Wheel & Tire Center here is a second facility of the Amarillo firm of the same name, operating and serving that region well for several years.
 Reception in Lubbock has been most gratifying. Lubbock manager Ray Jackson reports, expressing his appreciation to customers who have helped the business grow in a most notable manner since its opening here.

Double T Ranch Gallery Tells Added Gifting Merchandise, Extended Hours

Double T Ranch Gallery, at 5302-D Slide Road, is not a limited-inventory shop... far from it! One can select from the most economical gift or jewelry item or from the highest price individual art work, and in a price spread in between. Double T Ranch Gallery is a customer-considering establishment, and a great "find" at Christmas time!
 Special Opportunity
 Right now, there is a big 30 per cent off marked on all Nambe ware.
 And there's free engraving on bill-folds.
 There are original Paul Wylie paintings and bronzes.
 And Indian things... such as rugs, pottery, paintings, sand paintings, and much more.
 In selection of Christmas gifts, why settle for less than what you know will be "right" and "appreciated"... a quality Western gift at affordable price!
 Why settle for less than gifts from Double T Ranch Gallery, headquarters for Western arts and crafts, 5302-D Slide Road, phone (806) 792-2306.
 Western Greeting Cards
 (Western Christmas cards of distinction are in stock, but hurry!)

Don Crow Chevrolet Explains Service Charge Comparisons Often Deceiving

"A lower hourly service rate does not necessarily mean that your auto repair cost will be less!"
 This is the word from Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., Slide Road at South Loop 289, where Service Manager Jess Nichols and staff take pride in the ultimate in customer service and "square dealing."
 Nichols elaborates upon the statement about hour rates:
 "We at Don Crow Chevrolet use 'Chevrolet factory time' in computing time for any job operation. Many other dealers and shops use an industry-popular 'Chilton time' in computing jobs. What is the difference? Note the following and possibly you will discover how first appearance, first figures, first implications may be misleading.
 "Suppose we need to perform a repair service involving a particular phase of a brake job. Chevy factory time allocates 6 hour. Chilton time, for the same job, is 1.2 hours.
 "So... 6/10 hour at our $25 per hour rate equals $15.
 "Another shop, quoting a lesser $14 hourly rate, but using Chilton's 1.2 hour computation would thus charge $16.80 for the same operation though a lower hourly rate had been posted.
 Check It Out
 "It pays you to know all the facts; it pays to know and trust Don Crow Chevrolet" is the word and pledge from Manager Don Crow Jr. and the entire service staff at the big and time-proven Don Crow Chevrolet in southwest Lubbock.
 "When you consider our honesty in dealing, the dedication of a professional staff with true know-how, our reputation for saving for you in dollars and cents, then why consider anything less than Don Crow Chevrolet for your every auto repair need?"
 All service work is guaranteed 90 days or 4,000 miles on all General Motors parts and accessories.
 More than a dozen technicians and three service advisors are on the job.
 Service Manager Nichols is a 25-year Lubbock resident and is especially well known in the Lubbock and Brownfield areas.
 "The Service Department of Don Crow Chevrolet invites comparison. We are glad to show you the posted hourly rates and allotted Chevrolet factory time for any job; we are open in our every transaction."

Catering From Southern Sea Easily Solves Many Demands

"Possibly you are host for a year-end or Christmas event, maybe you have been named food chairman for your organization, possibly unexpected situations call for quick feeding of a sizeable crowd, or maybe you are just hungry for good food!"

"In any of these events, aren't you glad that Southern Sea's so-convenient catering service is a key department of that firm?"

"Using two mobile kitchens, we from Southern Sea are in position to serve your group (just as we have others) anywhere in the area with one of the finest catered meals you've ever had!"

Widest Menu

"We are happy to custom plan your menu from a variety of entrees... not just fish and chicken, but choose also from barbeque, chicken fried steak, ham, turkey and dressing, spaghetti and many other entrees, with all the trimmings."

Furthermore, fish and chicken are fried on location and served from the Southern Sea mobile kitchen assuring freshness, prepared just minutes before you eat! Chicken fried steak also is cooked right on location."

"Just about any menu item of which you can think can be catered to your complete satisfaction... by Southern Sea."

Served buffet style, these menus are economical, versatile and convenient, served on an "all you can eat" basis (however, we can serve any style catered meal that will best suit your needs).

For full details and arrangements check now with Danny Waller, catering manager, at (806) 799-2099, or come in person to Southern Sea at one of its two Lubbock facilities, 10th & Q and Loop 289 at South Indiana.

"You most likely already know how Southern Sea excels in good food and service within each of its two Lubbock operations, and how the call-in orders are promptly filled; the catering department is equally service-oriented, with good food always the foremost consideration."

"Finest food, prices to live with, and a service reflecting genuine appreciation of the customer" is the whole story of Southern Sea, founded, owned and operated by Robert and Priscilla Sims, on the Lubbock food service and preparation scene since back in 1974.

Bowman Arranges Santa Visit Saturday, Sunday Afternoons

Two significant situations at the Bowman Garden, Gift & Christmas Center might lead in the scores of reasons for patronizing this center at 8301 S. University:

(1) Santa will be on hand this Saturday, Dec. 15, from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. Then he will be back on Sunday, Dec. 16, from 1:30 p.m. until 4 p.m. He invites folks to bring the kiddies, free candy canes will be given.

Tree Special

The Bowman Garden Center will be open Sunday from 1:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. as further customer consideration.

(2) Beautiful live Christmas trees are stocked in abundance, with a special selected group of Douglas firs, 5 ft. to 7 ft. height, priced at just $8.99! What an opportunity!

Other trees, including Noble fir, Concolor fir and Douglas firs are available in heights 4 ft. to 8 ft., and in a price range from the $8.99 specials to $34.99.

Everything is a-glitter at the Bowman Garden, Gift & Christmas Shop, with scads of decorations, decor and gift items, artificial trees, custom arranging and decorating, a tremendous ribbon selection and more.

See the shell Christmas tree ornaments, plus sea shell graphics, night lights, etc. And handblown glass Christmas ball in the gorgeous decorator colors.

It is a fantastically large, discriminating stock, with new gift lines from throughout the world, that greets one at Bowman's. (Check elsewhere in the big center, also for appropriate gifts for every member of the family. Power tools, art supplies, decorator items and thousands of other needs are stocked to assure your being a Santa long to be appreciated and remembered!

QUALITY TREES — Bowman comes through with a great tree selection including specials as announced in the accompanying story. Shown with one of the beautiful trees are Alan Dye (left) and Jerry Krejci. Check also for dates of Santa's visit to Bowman's, and for values throughout the center (such as Series 84 Croft storm windows in any stock size at just $16.88).

Business & Industrial Review

Pigg Bros. Shamrock Jewelry Seen Filling Needs In Gifting Selection

"Have you discovered what a complete gift selection is stocked at Pigg Bros. Shamrock Jewelry, 2147 50th St.?" Then, don't delay! The gift items there correctly reflect the firm's traditional consideration for every age group. "If you have someone very special in mind for a very special Christmas remembrance, it is high time to visit Pigg Bros. Shamrock Jewelry in Oakwood Center." For watches, rings, diamonds, pins, neck chains, brooches, bracelets and more, and all in a sensible quality-price combo, one cannot go wrong at this well-known and long-respected jewelry firm. Unusual, beautiful musical porcelain figurines are stocked, including the "Little Drummer Boy," kissing angels, birds, etc. A large selection of rings is maintained, including dinner rings, engagement rings, birthstone rings, diamond guard rings, mountings, etc.

The gift choices at Pigg Bros. Shamrock Jewelry are truly numerous and delightful. Diamond pendants are stocked, as are opal pendants, pearl necklaces, etc. "If you are shopping on a planned and limited budget for that extra special gift on the list, a man's or lady's fine watch from Pigg Bros. might well be just the thing. There you'll find the so-popular quality digital watches, the prestigious Accutron, Seiko, Citizen and Caravelle. And remember this: gift items are not limited to adult appeal, or to timepieces for that matter, at Pigg Bros. There is something in stock for every member of the family, for any possible recipient of any age. There are scads of baby gifts, costume jewelry items, beautiful lockets, pens, Cross pencils, lighters, Franciscan ware, and more! "The smart and easy thing to do then, would seem to be to go right this week to Pigg Bros. Shamrock Jewelry,

2147-B 50th St., and make a selection from the full but selective stock, with new items and patterns quite evident. Even Engraving "Have the gift engraved, if wished, and be assured your Christmas gift situation has been most satisfactorily solved." This south Lubbock store has an established reputation for offering only quality merchandise, and highest quality workmanship in watchmaking and jewelry repair. The present season is no exception. No gimmicks... no so-called cut-rate prices on inferior merchandise... Pigg Bros. wants your business the next time, too, and they go all out to make one completely satisfied "the very first time you come into the store." "Why wait... shop now at Pigg Bros. Shamrock Jewelry, in Oakwood Center, and know that your Christmas selection has been 'right,' thoughtfully chosen, and at a price that won't frighten you!"

Ski-Lubbock Sports Devotes All Efforts To Skiing Satisfaction

Christmas... holiday time... ski time... what a bountiful season it is... in fun, enjoyment, fellowship and appreciation. Ski-Lubbock Sports, devoting all efforts to skiing satisfaction, is glad to have a part in the enrichment of wintertime pleasures. "We have the quality merchandise (ski wear for all the family), all the ski equipment you'll ever need, the know-how and a professional but friendly approach to every transaction... and we have layaway and all the other conveniences to ease the gifting situations and for needs in your own skiing plans." "Put yourself in our hands" is the qualified invitation of the staff at Ski-Lubbock Sports whose whole job is to assure maximum satisfaction, correct fitting, everything that is right for the avid ski enthusiast or the beginner. For a Christmas gift that can be immediately used and appreciated, apparel or equipment for a visit to the slopes, on the South Plains it is Ski-Lubbock Sports, 2918 4th St., phone 747-5748, Lubbock. Clothing selection is at its finest at this time, including latest fashions, items and materials. Skiing underwear for ladies is stocked. Not only do the products excel, but Ski-Lubbock Sports is especially well known for its fitting and its expertise in equipment maintenance and repair. Nothing is left to happenstance; satisfaction is more important than the sale to Ski-Lubbock Sports owners and staff. (Hoyle Moss provides an extra service in the "Ski Tip of the Week" series prepared and available at the big store. Really valuable information is afforded in these tips, relating to such matters as proper length of ski pant or bib, use of binding covers, keeping the racers edge by doing your own tuning after each day of skiing, etc. Moss even tells how not wearing a hat can cause cold feet!) Rentals As in seasons past, the rental department is complete, enabling quality skiing equipment use at nominal fee. The same proficient crew is back to assist in apparel needs, in choice of the finest ski lines, in fitting and in serving with a staff including certified ski mechanics. Yes, not only is the stock of apparel and all ski equipment most impressive, but Ski-Lubbock Sports is manned by dedicated, top-notch specially-trained "pros." Ski-Lubbock Sports is easy to reach from just about anywhere... from Texas Tech, LCC, the Loop and principal cross-town arteries. Don't forget the location and the easily-spotted and distinctive building at 2918 W. 4th St., Lubbock.

"Name" lines comprise the entire stock at Ski-Lubbock Sports, whether for apparel or skis. "Name Lines" Clothing Select from the Number One Sunline clothing, Innsbruck, Bogner, Anba, White Stag, Rolli, Obermyer, Snuggler, Demetre sweaters, and others. There are Hanson boots, too, and children's apparel is now stocked to round out the selection for the entire family. Dynastar, Head and Olin ski lines are stocked, and the Salomon 626 and 727 ski bindings are featured, and Tyrolia 360 racing, 360 diagonal and the new 280 diagonal, even the 60 series bindings for aggressive children are stocked. Also, select from the "Look in '77" turntable bindings. Qualified To Serve "The selection of a ski dealer might seem nothing more than a question of convenience, but take it from us (and a lot of our customers) where you buy your skis is a most important consideration, for the dealer you choose will affect the skis you choose, as well as the boots, poles, bindings and accessories you need to improve your skiing and for full enjoyment of the sport. Finding a dealer who can satisfy you in each of these areas is not difficult... simply depend upon Ski-Lubbock Sports where expertise and customer consideration is the rule rather than exception."

Two Lubbockites Held In Separate Burglaries

A Lubbock man and a 16-year-old boy were taken into custody early this morning in connection with two separate burglaries on Clovis Road.

The youth was apprehended shortly after 4 a.m. after he allegedly burglarized Pat's Service Station at 1905 Clovis Road and made off with tools, food and ammunition.

Officer Juan Pena said he saw the youth drive away from the station in a pickup truck and followed the vehicle. The teen-ager was stopped by Pena in the 300-block of Temple Street after the youngster ran a stop sign, according to reports.

Pena, in his report, said that after the youth said he did not have a driver's license, he was placed in the back seat of the patrol car and a call was made to check the service station.

The youth was taken into custody on suspicion of burglary after another officer radioed Pena and said the business had been broken into.

Station owner James Leonard said about $750 in damage was done to the building and to two vending machines which had been burglarized. The youth told police he had two accomplices in the break-in, but reports state no other suspects were found in the area.

About 1:30 a.m. today, a 25-year-old Lubbock man was arrested after he allegedly burglarized the Jim Dandy Drive-In at 2601 Clovis Road. The man reportedly had gathered only $35 in cheese, meat and candy when he was surprised by officers Claude Jones and Jeff Gossett.

Dispatched to answer an alarm, Jones, in his report, said he arrived on the scene and saw the man run into the business. After Gossett arrived, the suspect was arrested after he was found hiding behind a door.

A Lorenzo man and two Lubbock women were arrested about 1:40 a.m. today after they were caught allegedly attempting to sell drugs and sex at a truck stop in the 4800-block of Avenue A.

The 32-year-old man was booked into the county jail on suspicion of aggravated prostitution, and possession of narcotics and marijuana. The women, ages 18 and 19, were booked on suspicion of prostitution and the drug offenses.

Reports indicate that officers Pat Hastings and Douglas Beckham received a report over their CB radio that the trio was offering sex and drugs to truckers.

The policemen confronted the suspects and the reporting person in the parking lot. The complainant said the man had told him he could have sex with either woman for $25 and that he would sell him pills for $1.62 each.

The male suspect reportedly had described the pills as "West Coast turnarounds."

Police said they confiscated various substances thought to be narcotics and marijuana in the suspects' vehicle.

Four men, ages 18, 24 and two 20-year-olds, were arrested about 6 p.m. Sunday after they allegedly stole a beer mug and a garden tool from a club in the 1100-block of 25th Street. They also were suspects in the burglary of a car parked in front of the club.

The suspects were booked into the county jail on suspicion of theft, burglary and public intoxication. Another man was arrested for alleged public intoxication.

Reports indicate the fifth man, a 22-year-old Brownfield resident, was found passed out drunk in the suspects' car.

Police today were investigating the reported theft of money, checks and receipts and a car burglary at the Lubbock Civic Center Sunday.

David Steven Schoenberg, 15, of Oklahoma City told Lubbock police he lost $400 cash, $700 in personal checks and $700 in credit card receipts from the center.

The Texas Education Agency, Cardenas said, has insufficiently monitored the state's current kindergarten through grade three program, providing only eight or nine people qualified to monitor the 1,100 school districts in the state. He said the TEA could have had $100,000 in additional funding but did not apply for it.

er's banquet hall between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Sunday.

Schoenberg said the money and various other items had been in a bag which was taken from under a table in the hall. Police did not indicate what the youth was doing at the center, only that he was the owner of the loot taken.

Shirley Faye Jackson of 5217 28th St. said her car was burglarized while it was parked at the civic center between 11:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

She reported her purse, containing $180 cash and credit cards, stolen. She also said one of the bills had written on it, "To Shirley from (country humorist) Jerry Clower."

Police said they recovered a stolen transmission and drive shaft from a residence in the 6200-block of 23rd Street about 11:30 a.m. Sunday. A 54-year-old man was arrested at the scene after officers with a search warrant located the vehicle parts, which reportedly had been installed on a pickup truck at the residence.

The parts were taken from a new, customized van which had been reported stolen last month from Modern Chevrolet at 41st Street and Avenue Q.

The suspect's 16-year-old son was taken into custody Friday morning in connection with theft of the van. His father was booked into the county jail on suspicion of consolidation of theft and receiving and concealing stolen property.

An elderly couple was surprised about 11:20 p.m. Sunday by an apparent burglar in their house in the 4800-block of 10th Street.

Reports indicate a 72-year-old man and his wife were in their bedroom when the intruder walked in. The suspect ran out of the house after the woman screamed, police were told.

The suspect was described as a muscular black man. Nothing was stolen from the residence, according to reports.

Rudy Rangel of 507 43rd St. told police he returned home about 8:30 p.m. Sunday to find his residence burglarized and a microwave oven and Home Box Office television accessory, totaling $750, stolen.

Reports indicate the house was ransacked and a pie had been smeared over walls and a mirror. A neighbor said he saw two Mexican-American men, both wearing white T-shirts and blue pants, leaving the residence with the loot.

Ronald L. Tyle of 4404 45th St. reported shotguns and clothing stolen when his house was burglarized between Saturday and 3:30 a.m. today.

A Lubbock man, who allegedly rammed his pickup truck into at least two parked vehicles and a stop sign Sunday and then threatened a witness to the collisions with a tire tool, was arrested about 6:20 p.m. Sunday at his Second Place residence.

The man reportedly drove into cars parked at 50th Street and Indiana Avenue and at 47th Street and Gary Avenue. Police were told the motorist also collided with a stop sign at 51st Street and Avenue W.

A witness to the collisions said the suspect attempted to run him off the road. He also alleged that the man threatened him with a tire tool after the suspect had parked his car in front of a residence on Second Place.

Police said they found the man drunk in the hallway of the house. However, reports indicate the suspect was not arrested, just given eight traffic citations.

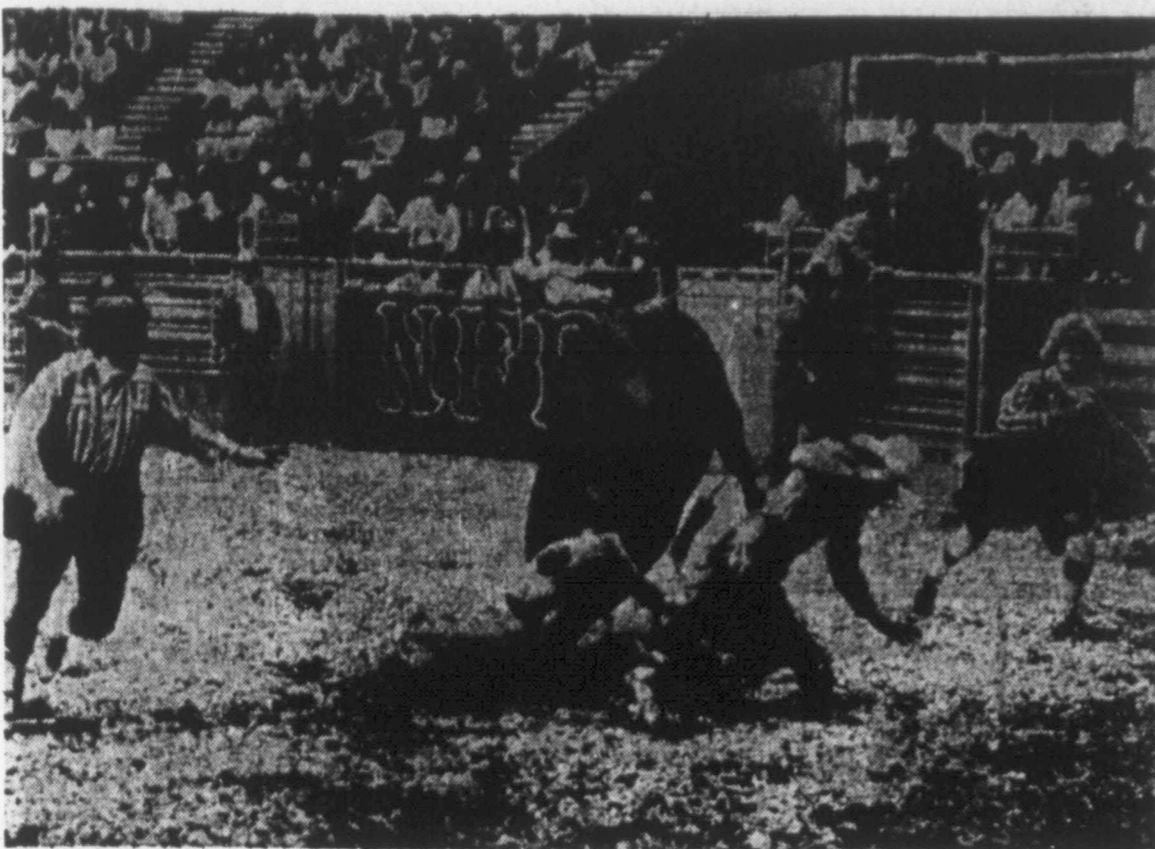

Police today were looking for a suspect in connection with the reported theft of $500 cash from the Furr's Supermarket at 1701 Parkway Drive.

Business manager Paul Sparkman said the money was apparently taken when a cashier left the register unattended shortly before 8 p.m. Sunday.

Another employee said he saw a Mexican-American man near the register while the cashier was on break.

Benita Vasquez of 3505 Ave. R said she lost more than $500 in property, including jewelry and $13 in pennies, when her residence was broken into between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday.

Tommy L. Stalter, owner of a Texaco station at 5002 Ave. A, said his business was burglarized between Saturday and 4:45 p.m. Sunday, resulting in the loss of $887 in tires and tools.

CLOWNS TO RESCUE — Rodeo clowns Wick Peth, left, and Leon Coffee, right, move in to rescue bull rider Jody Tatone of Boardman, Ore., during Sunday's performance of the 21st National Finals Rodeo in Oklahoma City. Peth, of Bow, Wash., and Coffee, of Austin, were responsible for distracting the bull long enough for Tatone to escape uninjured. (AP Laserphoto)

Professional Rodeo Cowboys Face Rugged Competition

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Art Ray lowered himself onto the rough hide of Snoopy, an innocent-sounding name for an enraged half-ton Brahma bull bent on goring anyone within reach. As the bull banged its head against the chute walls, Ray tightened his hold and a small band prepared to burst into light, fast-paced music — a counterpoint to the rough tossing and whipping the wranglers went through to compete in the National Finals Rodeo, the culmination of a year of rodeoing.

NFR, which annually sells out tickets far in advance of its nine-day run, which closed Sunday.

Ray, a 24-year-old, 145-pound Keller bull rider trying for a $15,000 first-place prize, meticulously tightened the rope girthing the bull as he readied for his weekend competition.

The beast reared its head back, tossing its horns, and then slammed its head back and forth from the wooden door of the chute to its metal bars.

The booming low-pitched thuds of the bull's crashing head overpowered the sounds of 13,000 restless rodeo fans in the Myriad Convention Center, where the rodeo was moved this year from the state fairgrounds.

"You better stand back from this one, son. He's (the bull) crazy," a rodeo hand told a bystander. "They're (the bulls) all crazy, but this one's crazier than most."

Ray patiently waited for Snoopy to calm down, wrapped the ropes around his left hand and pounded his clenched fist with his right hand to tighten his grip. When the bull and rider were let out of the chute, the band played a tune.

Despite Ray's careful preparations, he was on the dirt floor in three seconds, not long enough to score any points.

Rodeo clowns, who risk their lives for as little as $50 per performance, ran within a foot of the bull's swinging horns to distract the animal, but the bull got in a sharp kick to Ray's chest, stunning him. The cowboy, not seriously injured, was helped off the floor by two paramedics.

Why should a slender cowhand try to ride a bucking beast that would like nothing better than to put a three-foot-long horn into him?

"People are trying to make money at rodeoing," said five-time national All-Around Cowboy champion Tom Ferguson. "Just like I am."

Most cowboys are professionals, participating in a grueling schedule of 130-200 year-round rodeos, hoping to capture a large share of cash purses as well as the glory of rodeoing.

Rodeos, run much the same as they were 100 years ago, have become a major financial enterprise, with more than 600 meets each year and hundreds of cowboys competing for prizes ranging from a fancy belt buckle to thousands of dollars.

Prosecutors Prepare To Question Sheriff

TYLER (AP) — Federal prosecutors worked late at their offices Sunday night, preparing more questions for Gregg County Sheriff Tom Welch as his federal court trial resumed today.

Welch took the stand in his own defense Friday, and denied he ever ordered any murders, as the government contends.

"I have never instructed anyone to kill anyone nor have I ever had the desire to kill someone else in my life," he said.

Welch and four other men are being tried on federal corruption charges. The other defendants are County Commissioner Bill Satterwhite, Peace Justice Charles Cashell, and two of Welch's former deputies, Jim Cochran and Bill Roach.

The indictment against the men alleges they conspired to permit illegal gambling, and that Welch, Satterwhite and Cochran conspired to commit murder.

Welch, Satterwhite and Cochran also have been indicted on charges they conspired to commit murder.

Welch spent 3 1/2 hours on the stand Friday disputing earlier testimony, including that of a former deputy, Don Hale.

Hale had said Welch ordered him to form a "shotgun squad" to kill three men in 1974.

Welch testified, though, that Hale approached him with a plan to trap two well-known Gregg County thieves. Welch said he had no idea Hale intended to shoot the men, but thought the idea was to arrest them during a burglary.

Welch also denied earlier testimony that he took bribes to ignore illegal gambling at the Gregg County Fair in 1978.

"If Seymour Berger Schlar said he paid you $1,000 in 1977, would it be your word against his word?" asked assistant U.S. Attorney Jeff Baynham during cross examination.

"It'd be a lie," Welch responded.

"And if he said he paid you another $1,000 in 1978, would it be your word against his word?" Baynham asked.

"It'd be another lie," Welch said.

Welch acknowledged he took $100 from Jerry Don Stewart in 1973, but denied it was to be a payment for any services, official or otherwise.

Jodie Hilliard III, convicted of two counts of robbery and one count of assault with intent to murder in Howard County in 1970, had his parole revoked because of a new conviction. Hilliard had been on parole since July 5, 1978.

Tommy Hounshell, convicted of forgery of a credit card, burglary with intent to commit theft and theft over $200 in Eastland, Howard and Dallas counties in 1976, had his parole revoked for unsatisfactory adjustment. He had been on parole since Nov. 8, 1978.

Larry Charles Neal, convicted of burglary of a habitation and burglary of a building in Lubbock County in 1977, had his parole revoked because of a new conviction. Neal had been on parole since May 16, 1979.

Weldon Vassaur, convicted of rape in Terry County in 1948, had his parole revoked for unsatisfactory adjustment. Vassaur, who is serving a life term, had been on parole since April 25, 1975.

George Lela Walker, convicted of burglary in Castro County in 1977, had his parole revoked because of a new conviction.

Manuel Zarate, convicted of burglary of a building in Motley County in 1976, had his parole revoked for unsatisfactory adjustment. Zarate had been on parole since Sept. 5, 1978.

Fourteen witnesses have already testified before U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, who is conducting the hearings into a suit filed by the federal government against the state's administration of bilingual education programs.

Among the latest to testify was Jose Cardenas, executive director of the Intra-national Development Research Association in San Antonio, who is considered an authority on bilingual education.

He discounted the state's contention that it cannot afford bilingual education at all levels.

"Last year there was a surplus of $2 billion in state funds and there will be approximately $1 billion this year," Cardenas said. "Of the $700 million in restricted school funds, $500 million are tax monies and $200 million could be re-assigned (to programs such as bilingual education)."

The Texas Education Agency, Cardenas said, has insufficiently monitored the state's current kindergarten through grade three program, providing only eight or nine people qualified to monitor the 1,100 school districts in the state. He said the TEA could have had $100,000 in additional funding but did not apply for it.

Governor Revokes Paroles Of Seven Area Convicts

A-J Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Alley Garcia, convicted of burglary of a habitation in Hale County Jan. 2, 1979, has been paroled by Gov. Bill Clements on recommendation of the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Garcia was paroled to Hale County after serving and earning one year and eight months of a five-year sentence.

Seven other persons convicted of crimes in the Lubbock area have had their paroles revoked.

Jodie Hilliard III, convicted of two counts of robbery and one count of assault with intent to murder in Howard County in 1970, had his parole revoked because of a new conviction. Hilliard had been on parole since July 5, 1978.

Witnesses To Continue Criticism Of Schools

TYLER (UPI) — Although the state contends it cannot afford to expand its bilingual education program, federal court hearings are expected to bring further criticism that it is providing inadequate educations for thousands of Spanish-speaking students.

Federal attorneys today were to present three witnesses from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to support the federal government's contention the state is not doing enough in the way of bilingual education. They are Marty Gary, HEW consultant in Washington; Jim Littlejohn of the Dallas HEW office; and Tony Califa, also of Washington.

Seven NFL Teams Start Playoff Preparations

NEW YORK (AP) — With one week remaining in the regular National Football League season, seven teams have earned playoff berths and six teams still are alive for the three remaining spots.

In the National Football Conference, those assured of playoff positions are Los Angeles, 9-6, the West Division champion (NFL Roundup, Page 2, Sec. D)

It will clinch the Central title. If Houston wins and the teams finish the season with identical 12-4 records, the deadlock for first place would be broken on the basis of net points in division games. The other team then would be a wild-card team.

The Browns can get the other wild-card spot by beating Cincinnati if Oakland and Denver lose their final games. This would create a two-way tie between the Browns and the Broncos. The tie would be broken on the basis of best net points in all games, since both would have identical 7-5 conference records. Denver currently is plus 37 net points. Cleveland is plus 11.

San Diego can clinch the AFC West crown by beating Denver in their final game. Denver can win the division title by beating San Diego in that game, on the basis of a two-game sweep over the Chargers.

Chaps Edge PSC On Shot At Buzzer

Kevin Wharton and Keith Gardner had to hustle to take a test, so they didn't want any of that overtime stuff like last Thursday.

Wharton was throwing in the ball, so he couldn't score, and Gardner was whirling around inside trying to get open.

But, there was Bill McGee open just a few feet away, and with two seconds remaining, there wasn't much time to paddle around. Thus Wharton gave it to McGee.

Then McGee gave it to Panhandle State. McGee's 25-footer at the buzzer was See CHAPARRALS Page 2 would be broken on the basis of best net points within the division. Presently, Washington has scored 148 points against its East Division opponents and allowed 104 for a plus 44. Philadelphia, which has completed its division schedule, wound up at plus 21.

If Dallas wins, it would clinch the division title, beating Philadelphia on the basis of a better conference record: 10-2 to 9-3.

The Eagles can win the division title only if they beat Houston while Washington and Dallas tie.

If Washington loses, it still can be a wild-card team. If it ties, it automatically gets a wild-card berth.

If Tampa Bay wins or if Chicago loses, the Bucs clinch the Central Division title.

The only way Chicago can win the division crown is to beat St. Louis and have Tampa Bay lose to the Chiefs. If the teams finish in a tie, at 10-6 or 9-7, Tampa Bay gets the title on the basis of a better division record, 6-2 to 5-3.

If Chicago and Washington each finish 10-6, and the Bears don't win their division title, the tie for the wild-card berth would be broken on the basis of best net points in all games — points scored against points allowed, because both teams would have the same conference record, 8-4. Going into the final game, Washington is plus 54 points, Chicago is plus 21.

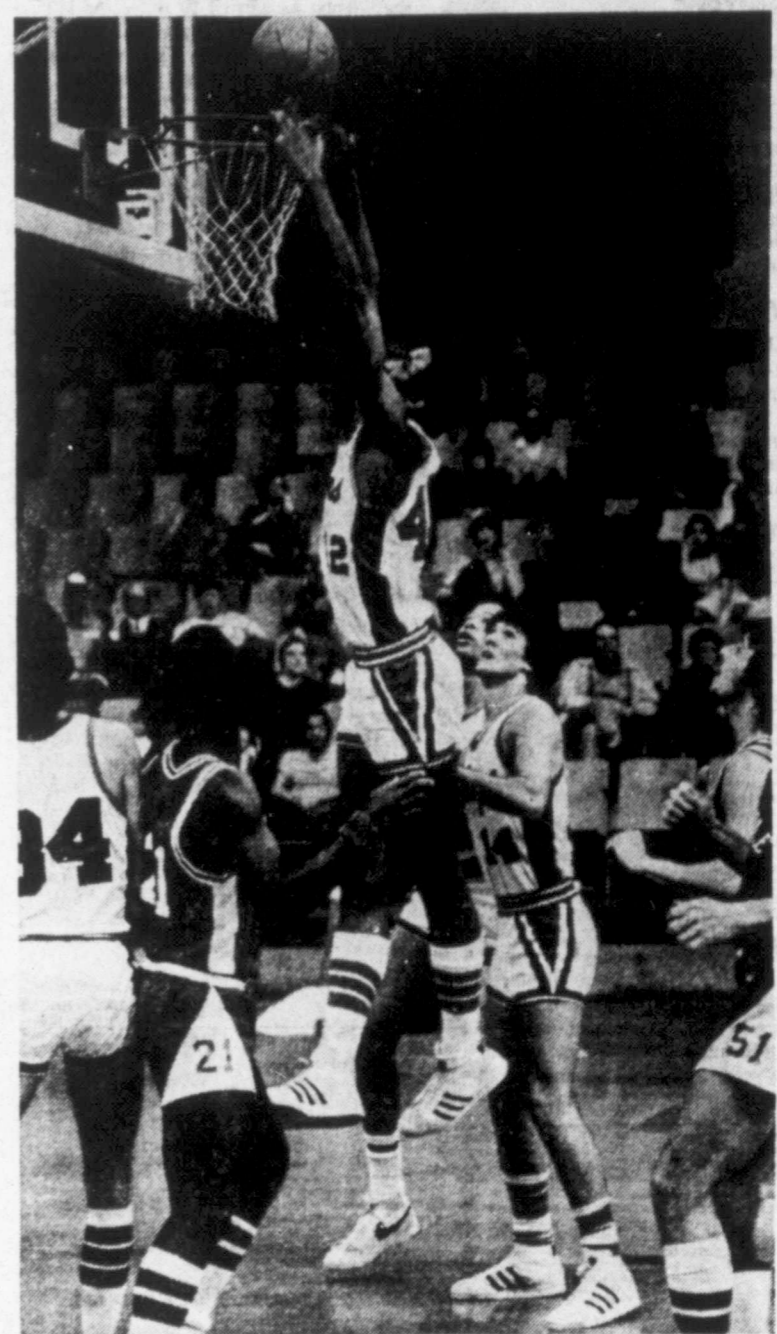

In the American Football Conference, Miami, 10-5, has clinched the East Division crown while Pittsburgh, 1-3, the Central Division leader, Houston, 10-4, the Central runner-up, and San Diego, 11-4, the West front-runner, are assured of playoff spots.

That leaves Denver, 10-5, Cleveland, 9-6, and Oakland, 9-6, alive for the last post-season berth.

Pittsburgh and Houston each has two games remaining — including one against each other tonight in the Astrodome. The Steelers' final game is at home against Buffalo, while the Oilers entertain Philadelphia.

San Diego and Denver play each other on the final night of the season, Dec. 17, at San Diego. Cleveland winds up at Cincinnati and Oakland is home against Seattle.

If Pittsburgh beats Houston tonight,

No Time To Celebrate

IT WOULD BE EASY for the Dallas Cowboys to spend this week celebrating their victory over the Philadelphia Eagles, but the cheers would be a bit premature. The road to Pasadena and Super Bowl XIV still is long and rocky.

The Washington Redskins, who trounced the 'Pokes rather soundly last time around, come to Texas Stadium for the season finale next Sunday. The 'Skins still are very much in contention for the division championship, a fact that some Dallasites are prone to overlook. This is ever bit as big a game for the Cowboys as the one at Philadelphia last weekend.

All the division honors and playoff advantages aside, the Cowboys and Redskins just don't like each other very much. George Allen taught the "Over the Hill Gang" to hate Dallas, and the 'Pokes get their fightin' clothes on when they face Diron Talbert's crew, too. Coaches don't need any tricks to motivate the teams for this one.

It was fitting and proper that the Redskins kicked a field goal in the final seconds to run up the score against the Cowboys when they met at RFK Stadium a few weeks ago. No use pretending that there's a shred of sportsmanship when the teams tangle. The Cowboys rate the 'Skins right along with the Ayatollah Khomeini in their popularity poll.

TAKING A LOOK FARTHER down the road, however, there is little for Dallas partisans to get elated about. This Cowboy team is much below Doomsday standards, defensively, and there is no chance to remedy the basic situation before next season.

Adding to Coach Tom Landry's woes, injuries continue to take a heavy toll of the Cowboys' top players. When the final gun sounded Saturday, there were more questions about the condition of Tony Dorsett, Aaron Mitchell and Randy Hughes than there were shouts of joy over the victory.

Fortunately for the 'Pokes, the injury report looked better Sunday. Dorsett got a hard lick on his shoulder, but he could be back for the Redskins. Mitchell has a strained or sprained ankle, which should heal before playoff time. Hughes has a dislocated shoulder and probably will be sidelined for a while.

The big question is are wide receiver Drew Pearson. The Cowboys shudder at the thought of going into the playoffs without "Mr. Clutch."

ON A HAPPIER NOTE, quarterback Roger Staubach still leads the NFL in passing and several of Dallas' younger players are coming through in great style. Defense or no, the 'Pokes always have a chance with Roger throwing. One of Dallas' top sports columnists said recently that the Cowboys probably would have about six wins without Staubach. Some might say five, but the point is that the Dodger is the key to Cowboy success. As long as he stays healthy, then the 'Pokes can at least dream of Pasadena.

Some of the newcomers have shouldered part of the burden, too. Ron Springs, the fifth-round draft pick from Ohio State, subbed for Dorsett at Philadelphia and did an outstanding job. On the slippery rug at Veterans Stadium, he showed speed and power, plus those good hands that have caused Landry to use him on the third-down passing team.

Rumor has it that Landry may shift Springs to fullback next year, since Robert Newhouse is nearly 30 years old and suddenly injury-prone. Scott Laidlaw is impressive at times, but leaves the ball on the ground and also has had more than his share of ailments.

Springs will make a fine fullback, if Landry decides to use him there.

SHORT SHOTS — Some Dallas insiders are very unhappy about the performance of middle linebacker Bob Breung. They wish Landry would start Bruce Huther, who led those great goal-line stands against the Giants and Eagles. But Landry isn't likely to make such a move at a crucial stage of the season.

Former defensive end Ed "Too Tall" Jones will fight at Dallas Friday night and will get a cut of the gate instead of a guaranteed fee. His manager says if the fans turn out for the bout, Ed will fight in his home town frequently in the future. It all depends on the money.

Dallas sportswriters are speculating that Staubach will retire after this season, if he takes the Cowboys to the Super Bowl again. Roger will not play forever, of course, but it's difficult to see him bowing out after such an outstanding year, individually.

Raiders Tackle Air Force

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (Special) — Gerald Myers has a pretty good idea about exactly what happened to the Red Raider basketball team Saturday night in Fort Collins, Colo., when Tech dropped a 73-66 decision to Colorado State.

And, no, the Raiders weren't the victims of any home-town officiating either.

The Raiders, instead, fell victim to their own mistakes. Myers hopes to have that problem corrected tonight when Tech faces the Air Force Academy just outside of Colorado Springs.

Tipoff for the Tech-Air Force tilt is set for 8:45 p.m. and KFYO radio will broadcast the game.

"We walked out there last night (Saturday) like it was going to be real easy," said Myers said Sunday. "Part of our problem might've been that it was our first road game and part of it was that easy (103-68) win over North Texas."

"But we just didn't play very well. Those 21 turnovers really hurt us. We were just throwing it away, forcing passes and all that stuff."

In general, Myers said, the Raiders played completely unlike the way they had performed at home.

"There just wasn't anything we could depend on," added Myers. "We were just standing around hoping something would happen. We didn't have anybody that played good — I really can't point out anybody."

But there is some good news in the midst of all this despair.

"At least," said Myers, "this will bring us down to reality."

And the Air Force Falcons could well keep the Raiders down at the reality level. The Cadets are 2-2 on the year (Tech is 3-1) and look to rebound from a 73-68 loss against Colorado Saturday night. Among the Falcon victories, though, is an impressive win over Stanford.

Tim Harris, a 6-6 junior forward, is the leading scorer from last year's Academy team which posted a 12-13 season.

Surging Rams Claim Record Seventh Title

By The Associated Press

A month ago, the once-proud Los Angeles Rams were struggling. Their record had slipped to 5-6, they had fallen out of first place and their chances of winning the National Football Conference West Division title for the seventh consecutive year appeared dim.

What a difference a month can make.

Now, after four consecutive victories, including Sunday's 34-13 romp over the Atlanta Falcons, the Rams again are kings of the NFC West for a record seventh time. Three other teams in National Football League history — Minnesota, Dallas and Cleveland — had won six division crowns in a row. No team ever had won seven.

"I always felt somehow we'd get it," said Rams coach Ray Malavasi. "Right now, we have momentum and this is when you like to have it — at the end of the season."

Although the Rams have dominated the division in recent years, they never have won pro football's biggest prize — the Super Bowl.

"It's the last year we'll be the Los Angeles Rams," said running back Wendell Tyler, who opened the scoring against Atlanta with a 5-yard run and set up a field goal with a 60-yard dash while rambling for 138 yards. "Maybe we'll be the Cinderella team of the playoffs."

While the Rams were dreaming about Super Bowl miracles, five other teams joined them and Philadelphia — which clinched it last week — in the playoffs.

Raiders Face AFA On Road

Mark. He averaged 17.2 points an outing for the Falcons.

Manning the other forward spots tonight for Air Force will be either Marc Duncan (6-6, sophomore) or Peter McCaffray (6-5, sophomore). McCaffray scored 15 points in Saturday's loss to Colorado. At center will be Reggie Jones — he also scored 15 Saturday night. The guards should be 5-11 Greg Lewis and Dean Christen (6-3, sophomore).

Jones is the Falcons' biggest man at 6-7 and the Academy has three 6-6 men. Obviously they match up pretty well size-wise with the Raiders.

Tech will start 6-8 Ralph Brewster at the post, 6-6 Ben Hill and 6-6 David Little on the wings with 6-5 Kent Williams and 6-4 Jeff Taylor at the guards.

"Air Force is about like us," informed Myers. "They're the same size and they always play well at home."

"It'll be a tough game. I just hope we don't turn the ball over 21 times again."

The Raiders worked out in the AFA gym Sunday afternoon, but Myers said that it's hard to get much accomplished on the road. And, no, the Raiders won't have time for any sightseeing or ski trips today either. This basketball is serious business.

"We just don't have time for much between games," said Myers. "But we'll probably go to a movie tonight (Sunday)."

What are they going to see?
 "I don't know," he replied. "We'll just have to see what's in the papers."

How about "The Fish That Saved Pittsburgh"? It's about a basketball team that was plagued by turnovers. . .

Houston Hosts Steelers In AFC Central Shootout

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini hopes to live out a fantasy twice in three nights on national television today when the Oilers host the Pittsburgh Steelers in a key American Football Conference Central Division game.

Pastorini played the role of a football hero Saturday night in a segment of Fantasy Island, a television series where all dreams come true. Pastorini was part of the fantasy of a woman who wanted to become a cheerleader and meet a star player.

The gifted Oiler quarterback will get a chance to make his own fantasy come true before a national television audience and a standing-room-only crowd in the Astrodome in a game that has tantalizing playoff possibilities.

The Steelers, with the best record in pro football at 11-3, could clinch their sixth consecutive American Football Conference Central Division title and eighth straight playoff berth if they beat the Oilers.

The Oilers, 10-4, coming off a disheartening 14-7 loss to Cleveland last week, could grab their second consecutive playoff spot and keep alive slim hopes for a Central Division championship.

Oiler running back Earl Campbell, the NFL's leading rusher, might also be in search of a fantasy — to gain 100 yards against the Steelers.

Campbell was held to 38 yards rushing against Pittsburgh in the two teams' first meeting this year that resulted in a 38-7 Pittsburgh victory. Campbell goes into tonight's game with 1,454 yards on 319 rushes for his fourth try for 100 yards against the Steelers.

"We're going to have to capture the line of scrimmage," Oiler offensive line coach Joe Bugel said. "Oiler know how we'll do it. Not by fooling them. It comes down to one of our men blocking one of their men."

The Oilers will have a rugged time capturing anything from the Steelers, currently humming at a record offensive pace.

Quarterback Terry Bradshaw, ignoring a sprained wrist, has set Steeler records with 231 pass completions on 16 attempts for 3,278 passing yards.

Franco Harris went over 1,000 yards for the seventh time last week, matching Jim Brown's NFL record.

Pastorini, suffering from a shoulder injury when the teams met Set. 9, has since broken out of a lengthy slump and recovered from a bout with flu that slowed him last week against the Browns.

Chaparrals Nip PSC

the difference, as it ripped the nets and lifted Lubbock Christian College to a 70-69 squeaker over the visiting Panhandlers from Oklahoma.

Now, the Chaparrals must face a week of final examinations before returning to the court here Thursday night against Wayland Baptist College. And on Friday and Saturday, the Chaps will be at Brownwood, facing first Angelo State, then host Howard Payne in successive days in the HPU Classic.

"I don't know why we have exams on Sunday," commented LCC coach Larry Hays after Sunday afternoon's basketball game. He looked at his watch. "We started at 2, and Wharton and Gardner have final exams at 4:30. That doesn't leave them much time."

"And I don't know how we'll have workouts around the exams this week."

But, those problems Hays will work out later, as he was savoring the tight victory Sunday afternoon. He knows all about those tight finishes, which left him in a good position to console Panhandle coach Dennis Aye after Sunday's furious, you-lead-then-I-will finish.

But, as a result of McGee's buzzer bomb, the Chaparrals improved their season record to 5-8 and dropped Panhandle to 5-3.

The final result came with the help of a defensive error — which followed a defensive mistake which allowed Panhandle to go in front. It was one of those finishes.

LCC, after that early lead (up to 12 points in the first half), had to come back from a 5-point deficit in the final 1 1/2 minutes.

After guard Bob Wakefield's fast-break bucket with 1:20 remaining put the visiting Aggies up 67-62, LCC retaliated with McGee's follow shot with 1:08 left.

Playing a tight, gambling defense, the Chaparrals regained possession and scored on a 23-foot jumper by Bruce Carver with 52 seconds left. Another turnover, and the Chaparrals slipped in front 68-67 on Wharton's layup following a feed by guard Marshall Smith.

Now, with 23 seconds left, Panhandle faced the challenge. The Aggies got a shot, but it was wide and the basketball went out of bounds — off LCC.

Eight seconds remained when the Chaparrals' defense left Ron Mims open on the baseline near the goal. The pass went to him, and he dropped it in for a 69-68 lead with six seconds left.

LCC called time out — four seconds showing — and Aye, noting that LCC was not in bonus-shooting position, called for a foul shortly after LCC inbounded to both kill time and upset any LCC play.

Panhandle fouled with two seconds remaining, and immediately, Hays jumped up, yelling, "Out-of-bounds play, out-of-bounds play."

Later, he commented, "We wanted to get it to Carver (averaging 17 1/2 points a game and the leading outside shooter) in the corner."

But, while Carver was getting in position on the right side, Wharton, inbounding, saw McGee on the right side and no defender within three steps.

So, McGee caught the ball, took a couple of dribbles and launched the perfect 25-footer. And at the apex of its flight, the buzzer sounded.

Carver was high man for the Chaparrals, with 20 points. McGee had 17, Gardner 14 and point guard Smith 11.

Gardner had 11 rebounds to go with his six-for-15 shooting afternoon.

Simpson Bids Final Farewell

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — For one brief shining moment, it was like the good old days. The fans were cheering and O.J. Simpson was running for daylight.

And then the deja vu ended and Simpson trotted off Candlestick Park for the last time. The greatest runner of his time was no more in the city where he first gained fame as a high school star.

Simpson's return to the place of his birth two years ago had been anything but bright. His team, the San Francisco 49ers, won only four games in two seasons. His body, aging at 32, betrayed him with a slow comeback from knee surgery and a separated shoulder. His personal life, formerly storbook, became tragic, with the death of a young daughter following the breakup of his marriage.

But on Sunday, while formally announcing his retirement from pro football after next week's final game at Atlanta, he was on top again, if only briefly.

"Over the years I've heard your applause and appreciated your cheers," he told the fans before the game against Tampa Bay. "I already know that's what I'm going to miss the most."

As he has since early November, Simpson began his last home game in the bench, watching Paul Hofer run in his place. Then, early in the second half, Hofer got hurt and Simpson got his chance.

At one point, with the ball on the Bucs' 2-yard-line, the fans began yelling, "Juice, Juice," but coach Bill Walsh sent in Lenell Elliott to score the clinching touchdown instead. He had other plans for Simpson.

With 1:31 left in the game, San Francisco got the ball back on its own 31. In came O.J.

Snap went the ball to quarterback Steve DeBerg. Pitch went the toss to Simpson. Off went the O.J. of old.

He started off tackle and then cut to the outside, gaining 17 yards and even giving a hint of going all the way, before being pushed out of bounds by former Texas Tech standout Curtis Jordan, who was only 13 when the man he tackled burst into the national scene.

Simpson cracked a huge grin and looped off the field, waving his arms to the cheering crowd and embracing his teammates when they engulfed him.

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — Sweden's Lei Agren scored his first-ever World Pro Skiing victory and France's Claude Perrot posted his first tour win in four years this weekend. Agren, 26, earned $6,570 for his slalom victory.

Injuries Hit 'Pokes; Dorsett 'Questionable'

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys star running back Tony Dorsett suffered a "mild shoulder separation" in Saturday's game win over Philadelphia and is listed as "questionable" in the Cowboys' regular season finale against Washington, a team spokesman said Sunday.

Dorsett, whose injury had been thought to be more serious Saturday, may be able to participate in non-contact drills as early as Wednesday. Team doctor Marvin Knight said the best treatment for his ailment is rest.

But strong safety Randy Hughes suffered a dislocated right shoulder in the Philadelphia game and is definitely out for the Washington game, according to team spokesman Greg Aiello.

Cowboys Follow Springs, Luck To Key Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tony Dorsett, the Dallas Cowboys' bread-and-butter ballcarrier, went down with a separated shoulder, and the Philadelphia Eagles reovered his fumble and drove 77 yards for a touchdown.

With over 70,000 fans screaming their support as the first half ended with the score tied 10-10 Saturday, it looked like the Eagles had "America's Team" on the ropes.

But a little luck and a rookie back named Ron Springs boosted the Cowboys to two second-half touchdowns and a 24-17 victory over the Eagles, avenging Philadelphia's upset last month in Dallas.

The victory tied the Cowboys with the Eagles atop the National Football Conference's East Division, guaranteeing Dallas at least a wild card berth and their 13th playoff appearance in the last 14 years. The Eagles have already won a wild card spot. Both teams are now 10-5.

"When Tony (Dorsett) left the game, I thought it was an edge for us," said Philadelphia's own premier running back, Wilbert Montgomery, who got 65 of the Eagles' 80 yards on the ground. "But Ron (Springs) came in and did a great job."

Springs, who started the Cowboys' first game this year when Dorsett was out with a broken toe but has since seen only spot duty, rushed for 62 yards on 12 carries.

The former Ohio Stater carried on three of eight plays as the Cowboys drove 52 yards for the go-ahead touchdown in the third quarter, fullback Robert Newhouse (68 yards) scoring on a 17-yard run.

Springs gained 22 of 56 yards in the Cowboys' winning scoring drive, Butch Johnson snaring a tipped pass in the end zone with 4:46 gone in the fourth quarter.

"They didn't change the game plan one bit," said Springs. "They just gave me the ball. I like carrying the ball."

Murle Breer Team Claims

Mixed Golf

LARGO, Fla. (AP) — Murle Breer wanted to ask partner Dave Eichelberger for advice as she came up to putt the final hole. She changed her mind and rolled in a 12-footer for a birdie to win them $72,000 and the title in the $400,000 Mixed Teams Golf Tournament.

"I had been reading putts by myself all along and I decided to stay with it."

she said after the hot-firing duo shot a 20-under-par-288 for a one-stroke victory Sunday.

"He played his game and I played mine. And I think that's why it all came together," said the 39-year-old pro, beaming after her first tournament win in a decade.

That was the key to their success, agreed Eichelberger, who was down the PGA money list at 90th with earnings of just $43,000 before this tournament. "In team events you can put a lot of pressure on each other. To me it's much more confusing if you discuss things with your partner. Putting is a very personal art of the game and the worst thing you can have on a putt is a second opinion."

Playing together for the first time, the twosome came out of the pack and birdied their way past early leaders Jim Colbert and Silvia Bertolacini.

Johnson's catch was the little luck the Cowboys needed. "We were driving into the wind," said Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, who hit 11 of 21 passes. "It looked like we would have to settle for three points, and it would have been tough to kick a field goal in that wind. But the ball was tipped and we were lucky."

"I got four fingers on the ball. It was too high to get a handle on it," said Eagle linebacker Frank LeMaster, who tipped Staubach's pass to Tony Hill into the diving Johnson's hands.

"You've got to play well and get some luck and that was a lucky tip," said Cowboys coach Tom Landry.

"This was really a big win for us because we had our backs to the wall and the Eagles had everything going for us," said Cowboy free safety Cliff Harris. "But I'll tell you this, when the Redskins come to Dallas next week, they better have all their pads on."

If the Cowboys defeat Washington in the showdown next Sunday in Texas Stadium, they will win the division for the fourth straight year. Philadelphia, which would have clinched the division title with a win over Dallas, travels to Houston to play the Oilers.

"I wouldn't miss the Washington game for anything," said Dorsett, whose shoulder was to be treated today. "If I had a broken leg, I'd go out there and play."

"They not only beat us, they rubbed it in," Springs said of the Redskins, who beat the Cowboys 34-20 three weeks ago, adding a last-second field goal.

"Next week tells the big tale," added Staubach.

Eagles quarterback Ron Jaworski passed for 216 yards, including a 14-yard scoring strike to Montgomery, who also tallied on a 1-yard drive. But Jaworski was intercepted barely a minute into the game, setting up Dallas' other touchdown on Scott Laidlaw's yard run, and was sacked by Harvey Martin for a 12-yard loss with less than a minute remaining to kill an Eagle drive for the tying score.

TRACK AND FIELD

HONOLULU (A) — Dean Matthews, a 21-year-old Clemson University student, won the Honolulu marathon in record time. He crossed the Waikiki finish line in 2:17:54, 16 minutes, 11 seconds topping the old mark of 2:17:54 set by Don Kardong last year. Patti Lyons of Boston was the first woman across the finish line. Her time of 2:40:40 was three minutes off her record, set last year.

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — Claude Perrot of France won the giant slalom competition at a $50,000 event on the World Pro Skiing Tour. It was the first victory for Perrot, a slalom specialist, in his four-year World Pro Skiing career. He defeated Peter Dodge, St. Johnsbury, Vt., in the final round.

FORT WORTH (AP) — Daring performances by Kurt Thomas and Bart Conner gave the United States three gold medals at the 1979 World Gymnastics Championship individual finals. Thomas, 23, retained the gold medal he won in the floor exercise a year ago as he shared the gold medal with Roland Bruckner of East Germany. Both received 9.90s for combined totals of 19.800. Thomas also captured the horizontal bar title with his stunning half-in, half-out dismount. He earned 9.90 for a 19.75 total to edge Soviet stars Alexander Tkachev and Alexander Diltiazin in the women's individual, Christa Casary, 16, of Northbrook, Ill., placed highest among the American women with a fifth-place finish in the vault. The United States finished third in men's competition and sixth in the women's.

CONNER, who finished sixth in the all-around, delivered a crowd-pleasing routine on the parallel bars to win America's third gold medal. He earned 9.90 for a 19.75 total. Neeli Kim of the Soviet Union earned the first women's all-around gold medal of her career. Kim's victory gave the USSR both all-around titles following Alexander Diltiazin's gold medal victory.

Bay City, Lions Vie For AAA State Crown

After three months of weekly head-knocking, only two teams remain in the quest for the Class AAA schoolboy football crown.
Bay City and McKinney will take the field this Saturday at Houston's Astrodome in a battle for all the marbles.

Running back Cecil Garrett scored two touchdowns and McKinney held off two fierce fourth-quarter attacks to beat Lubbock Estacado 19-14 Saturday.

Meanwhile, Bay City advanced to the championship game with a 7-0 shutout win over Beaumont Hebert. Billy Booker scored the game's only touchdown with a 21-yard run just eight seconds into the second quarter.

In a Class AAAA quarterfinal match Saturday, Lewisville fumbled for times. But one of the miscues rolled into the El Paso Coronado end zone where quarterback Rex Cole pounced on it.

That touchdown gave Lewisville a 15-7 win over Coronado and a berth in the semifinals against Temple. The two teams meet Saturday at Irving's Texas Stadium.

Temple advanced to the semifinals with a 21-3 win Friday night over Euless Trinity. Quarterback Robby Harris raced for a 14-yard score on the Wildcats' first possession, and Temple held the lead to the end.

In another AAAA semifinal match Friday at Corpus Christi, Alice faces Houston Memorial.
Halfback Arnoldo Balboa scored three touchdowns as Alice beat San Antonio Wheatley 29-20 Saturday in the AAAA quarterfinals.

Quarterback Ricky Matteson threw for one touchdown and ran for another as Memorial advanced with a 16-14 win over Baytown Lee.

Surprising Van advanced to the Class AA semifinals Friday by beating highly touted Breckenridge on penetrations. The teams deadlocked 13-13 but Van earned another week in the playoffs by edging Breckenridge in penetrations 4-3.

Van meets Childress — a 19-7 winner over Fabens — in a semifinal game Friday at Wichita Falls. Another AA semifinal clash Friday at Austin will feature MacGregor — a 20-7 winner over Waller — against Edna — which beat Port Isabel 21-6.

In Class A quarterfinals this past weekend, Seagraves tied New Deal 10-10 but advanced on a 5-2 lead in penetrations; China Spring downed Pitt Point 20-6; Troop creamed Lovelady 28-7; and Hull-Daisetta outshot Falls City 14-3.

Seagraves faces China Spring at Abilene, while Troop takes on Hull-Daisetta in the two Class A semifinal games Friday night.

Wheeler will tangle with High Island for the Class B championship Saturday night at Cleburne.

HOCKEY FOOTBALL

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Scott Brunner paced the University of Delaware Blue Hens to their first NCAA Division III football crown since the playoff system began in 1973 with a 38-21 victory over Youngstown State in the Zia Bowl.

FINLAY, Ohio (AP) — Quarterback Paul Trina threw for 183 yards and won the outstanding offensive player award as the Findlay College Oilers crushed Northwest Iowa's Red Raiders 51-6 and captured the NAIA Division II championship. Findlay set four championship game records with 51 points, 92 offensive plays, 27 first downs and four interceptions by Charley Byrd, voted the game's outstanding defensive performer.

Ponies' Speedy Start Features SWC Season

By The Associated Press
Southern Methodist, Arkansas and Texas have leaped to the front in the young college basketball season among Southwest Conference teams, each with undefeated records.

The Longhorns put their 3-0 streak on the line tonight when they visit 10th-ranked DePaul in the first real test of strength for them.

SMU has done so well in its first four basketball games that even some of its own players are surprised.

"We thought we would come out of these first four games 2-2 or 3-1," said Billy Allen, who scored 17 points in Saturday night's 86-65 win over Colorado. "It's a big lift to be 4-0."

SMU also has beaten Tulane and 19th-ranked Kansas. Arkansas, also 4-0, meets SMU in the Southwest Conference opener for both teams Jan. 3. SMU Coach Sonny Allen — father of Billy Allen — says a lot of work must be done before then.

"Rebounding is our main concern now," he said after the Colorado game. "We were still a little spotty on the boards."

The Baylor Bears also need some time to get ready for the start of the regular SWC season, and coach Jim Haller says playing tough opponents now is a good way to do it — despite Saturday night's 80-46 trouncing at the hands of fifth-ranked Kentucky.

"There's no doubt we have played the toughest schedule in the country this past week. And it should pay dividends later on," Haller said after losing to Kentucky and 18th-ranked Brigham Young. The Bears are 4-0.

"Believe it or not, we did our best rebounding of the year (30, compared to Kentucky's 44), but Kentucky outperformed us at every position. Probably only one of our players could make their team, and that's Terry Teagle (who led all scorers with 18)," Haller said. "Kentucky has the makings of one of the greatest teams America has ever had."

SWC teams overall are 20-14 so far against non-conference opponents.

In some other games this week, Baylor will try to break its losing streak against McMurry. Rice will visit Tulane. Houston will play in the Albuquerque Cage Classic. Texas A&M will compete in the Brigham Young Cougar Classic, and SMU only plays one game — against Texas-Arlington.

Free's Buzzer Shot Serves As Present

By The Associated Press
Lloyd Free wanted something different for his birthday — a victory in Portland. It was, after all, something he's never had before. So rather than drop any subtle hints, he decided to go out and get it for himself.

Free connected on a jumper from 22 feet at the buzzer Sunday night, giving the San Diego Clippers a 98-96 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers. It was Portland's eighth loss in a row, its longest losing streak since Jack Ramsay became coach in 1976.

"I never won up here before. This is especially great because it's my birthday," said Free, the Clippers' self-proclaimed "all-world" guard who turned 26 Sunday and is in his fifth season in the NBA.

The Blazers were in no mood to celebrate, although Ramsay wasn't overly depressed by the loss.

"We're about an inch away from eight wins instead of eight defeats," Ramsay said. "We're not playing that bad basketball. We've been in these games."

The Blazers have been crippled by injuries to Lionel Hollins, Bob Gross, Larry Steele, Kevin Kunert and Mychal Thompson.

"It's a tough time, a very difficult period," said Ramsay. "We've just got to keep our heads up and keep trying."

The Clippers were one of four road teams to win in the five NBA games played Sunday night in a reversal of the NBA norm.

The only home team to win was the Los Angeles Lakers, who beat the Denver Nuggets 131-118. In other games, the Chicago Bulls defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 121-112, the Atlanta Hawks clobbered the New Jersey Nets 122-85 and the Boston Celtics trimmed the Milwaukee Bucks 113-108.

Free led the Clippers with 25 points, 20 of them in the second half.

Swen Nater's basket gave San Diego a 96-94 lead with 28 seconds to go, but Ron Brewer tied it for Portland with a shot from just inside the three-point arc 15 seconds later, setting up Free's winning basket.

Lakers 131, Nuggets 118
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 31 points, shooting 15-for-18 from the field, and the Lakers pulled away from Denver by outscoring the Nuggets 19-9 at the end. Abdul-Jabbar also had nine rebounds, nine assists and six blocked shots.

Los Angeles made 52 of 84 field goal attempts, a sizzling 61.9 percentage, and also made 27 of 29 free throw attempts. Jamaal Wilkes added 25 points. Norm Nixon had 23 and rookie Earvin "Magic" Johnson had 21 plus 11 assists for Los Angeles.

One bright spot for Denver was the play of George McGinnis, who has been hampered recently by a sore shoulder. The 6-foot-8 forward scored a season-high 32 points and led all rebounders with 14.

Bulls 121, Sonics 112
Reggie Theus scored 26 points as the Bulls beat Seattle, snapping the Sonics' 10-game Kingdome winning streak.

Seattle, led by Gus Williams' 30 points, cut a 22-point deficit to four, 111-107, with 3:41 left to play before the Bulls' David Greenwood and Theus each sank two free throws to clinch the victory.

Hawks 122, Nets 85
Reserves Charlie Criss and Jack Givens contributed 18 points each as the Hawks routed the Nets, breaking the game open with 16 straight points in the second quarter for a 47-29 lead.

Atlanta led by as many as 48 points in the final period.

Celtics 103, Bucks 98
Despite playing their third game in three nights, the Celtics led all the way in raising their record to 21-7, pulling even with Philadelphia for the lead in the Atlantic Division as well as the best record in the NBA.

Larry Bird had 25 points, Dave Cowens 23 and Nate "Tiny" Archibald 21 for Boston.

Blue Devils' Defense Too Much For ECU

By United Press International
After East Carolina had stayed a little too close to Duke in the first half of Saturday night's game, Duke coach Bill Foster decided to have his team change its defensive strategy.

It must have worked — because the Pirates were forced into 23 turnovers in the last 10 minutes of the second half and the second-ranked Blue Devils came away with a 92-73 victory.

"I'll give ECU a lot of credit," Foster said. "They played a very sound ball control type of offense in the first half. They actually had more fast breaks than we did. We just couldn't get going."

After a 37-37 halftime deadlock, Duke moved up by five with 16:31 to play on back-to-back baskets by Jim Suddath and Vince Taylor. Less than two minutes later, Mike Gminski broke away on a steal and dunked the ball to give Duke a 52-45 lead and unlock the doors for the Blue Devils' fast break. East Carolina never regained its composure and Duke widened its lead.

Gminski, with 26 points, and Taylor, with 20, led Duke's scoring.

In other weekend games featuring Top 10 teams, No. 1 Indiana routed Texas El-Paso 75-43, No. 3 Ohio State downed Stetson 69-50, fourth-rated Notre Dame topped St. Louis 93-65, No. 6 Kentucky rolled over Baylor 80-46, seventh-ranked North Carolina downed Cincinnati 68-63, No. 8 UCLA tripped Santa Clara 92-79 and ninth-rated Purdue slugged Providence 76-44.

In a Sunday night game, Jacksonville defeated the University of New Orleans 72-57 in a Sunbelt Conference match for its fifth straight victory.

Mike Woodson scored 15 points and reserve Landon Turner added 14 as Indiana captured its sixth straight Indiana Classic tourney title with a decision over UTEP. Freshman guards James Thomas and Isaiah Thomas added 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Herb Williams scored 18 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked four shots to lift Ohio State. The 6-foot-10 center scored 14 of his points in the first half, which ended with a 36-26 OSU advantage.

Notre Dame reeled off 22 unanswered points in the last five minutes of the first half to rout St. Louis. All-America Kelly Tripucka led the Irish with 20 points, 16 of them in the first half. Tracy Jackson added 15 and Gilbert Salinas came off the bench to score 14.

Senior guard Kyle Macy scored 17 points, including a record-breaking free

Charity Soccer Meet Concludes

The West Texas Women's Soccer Association meet concluded Sunday afternoon.

The title was won by The Other Guys, who downed The Wings 2-0.

The consolation title was won by The Huff 'N' Puffs in a 2-0 victory over the Jock Socks.

The proceeds of the tournament are to be donated to the Lubbock State School.

Sixteen teams from Lubbock participated in the weekend-long event.

throw, to pace Kentucky over Baylor. Macy set a consecutive free-throw record for Kentucky when he hit his 27th in a row — bridging two seasons — to break the old mark set by Louie Dampier in the 1966-67 season.

Mike O'Koren put in a rebound with four minutes remaining to snap a 63-63 tie and give North Carolina its triumph over stubborn Cincinnati. O'Koren had 16 points and James Worthy added 12 to lead the Tar Heels.

Forward Kiki Vandeweghe's 28 points help extend UCLA's winning streak to three. Vandeweghe, a senior, hit nine of 14 shots from the floor as the Bruins made it 10 in a row over Santa Clara.

Joe Barry Carroll scored 32 points to trigger Purdue past previously unbeaten Providence. Carroll chalked up 19 of his points in the first half as the Bolleymakers raced to a quick 19-4 lead that was never threatened.

Rounding out the Top 20, it was No. 11 St. John's 84, Army 61; 12th-ranked Syracuse 72, Illinois State 70 in overtime; 14th-rated Oregon State 92, Hawaii 62; No. 15 Louisville 77, Tennessee 75; Michigan 63, 16th-ranked (tie) Marquette 60; No. 16 (tie) Georgetown 117, St. Leo 68; 18th-ranked (tie) Brigham Young 78, Oral Roberts 75; No. 18 (tie) Kansas 79, San Diego State 66; and 20th-rated Arkansas 70, Centenary 62.

Makeshift Lobo Lineup Impresses NM Staters

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — On paper New Mexico didn't seem to have much of a basketball team left after transcript and eligibility problems knocked six players, three of them starters, off the squad last week.

But what was left of the team, four players, along with two add-ons from the football squad and a student trainer, showed up in Las Cruces to tangle with New Mexico State's unbeaten Aggies. The Lobos apparently didn't know they were supposed to roll over and play dead.

New Mexico jumped to a 40-33 halftime lead before falling 68-58 to superior numbers and size.

"I don't think they're taking us quite so lightly now," said senior co-captain Jim Williams. "After the publicity, they thought we would die. I think we have a good chance for a good season."

Charlie Harrison, an assistant coach named to run the club after head coach Norm Eilenberger was suspended Nov. 30, started the four remaining members of the original squad — freshman Michael Johnson, sophomore Kenny Page and veterans Everett Jefferson and Williams. His fifth starter was freshman Keith Magee, a 5-foot-11 wide receiver on the football team who joined the basketball squad last Wednesday.

His bench consisted of Derwin Williams, who signed up last Thursday, and Jim Menning, a freshman student trainer who didn't practice with the club until it arrived in Las Cruces Friday.

"It was a great performance," said UNM's new athletic director, John Bridgers. "If they stick with it, I think we might slip up on a few people."

Bridgers, who was the athletic director at Florida State, accepted the position at New Mexico the same day Eilenberger and his chief recruiting assistant, Manny Goldstein, were suspended indefinitely by university president William E. Davis.

The suspensions were prompted by an FBI affidavit filed in U.S. District Court that it was investigating the school for possible mail fraud and bribery in the preparation of junior college transcripts. The FBI said it would present its findings to a federal grand jury in Albuquerque Wednesday.

One player was declared ineligible in the wake of the FBI probe. And UNM officials began checking the transcripts of other basketball players, which resulted in the team losing the six additional players last week.

Bridgers had said upon arriving in Albuquerque last week to assume his new duties that the basketball program, as a last resort, might have to fold for the season. But later in the week, it was decided to continue with a patched-together club.

Harrison's makeshift lineup held together well in the first half as the Lobos jumped out front on the scoring of Johnson and Page, who stung the stunned Aggies for 11 points apiece.

But New Mexico State regrouped during the halftime intermission and battled back in the second half behind the play of Albert "Slab" Jones. The 6-foot-7 pivot dominated the inside during the final 20 minutes. He finished with 24 points and 14 rebounds, while forward Greg Webb added 19 points and 10 boards for the winners.

Johnson topped the Lobos with 20 points and Page tossed in 17 before fouling out in the closing minutes.

"I became a veteran in a couple of days," said Johnson. "I played like I did in high school. I thought the Aggies would be better. They just wanted to blow us out. We just got tired."

The Aggies used their size advantage for a 44-33 rebounding edge and hit 45 percent from the floor to 40 percent for UNM.

The Lobos were hurt when their ball handler, Jefferson, fouled out with 11 minutes to play in the game. That made life easier for the Aggies, who pressed full court most of the night.

Aggie coach Weldon Drew, who saw his team go to 4-0, seemed a bit taken-back.

"I'm never embarrassed by a win," he said. "But those guys (New Mexico) fought and it's a tribute to their character. You have to give them credit."

Butchers Lead Kart Races

It was a big day for the Butchers as more than 40 drivers competed in the Lubbock Karting Association's races at Lubbock Speedway.

Kirk Butcher won the Junior 1 division — by defeating Toby Butcher. And Derrell Butcher claimed the Senior 1 race. In winning the senior race, Derrell Butcher had the fastest time of the day, 17.7 seconds.

The karters were competing over a dirt track, only the second time the local group has compete on a dirt layout.

The seven-division competition drew drivers from as far away as Dumas and Hobbs, N.M.

The results:
Junior 1 — Kirk Butcher, Toby Butcher.
Junior 2 — Clay Lawrence, Hobbs, N.M.; Toby Zahn, Luffield; Tommy Leich.
Junior 3 — Jay Pebsworth; Tahoka; Richard Walden; Dimmitt; Mich Griffin.
Senior 1 — Derrell Butcher, Dave Calvert, Dumas; Ronald Driver, Dumas.
Senior 2 — Ronnie Birdwell; Dickey Hays; Dumas; Stephen Settles.
Senior 3 — Mike Black; Gene Harper; Ashley Wester.
Senior 4 — Curtis Whitley; Tahoka; Danny Dean; C.J. Henry.

Mother Teresa Gets Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Norwegian Nobel Committee today delivered the 1979 Nobel Peace Prize to Mother Teresa of Calcutta, praising the Roman Catholic nun who has devoted her life to India's poor for her respect for the individuals she help.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the award ceremony in Oslo, the chairman of the committee, Prof. John Sanness said Mother Teresa deserved the prize "because she promotes peace in the most fundamental manner — by her confirmation of human dignity."

The year's 10 other Nobel laureates, five of them Americans, were to receive their prizes today at a ceremony in Stockholm.

Recounting the 33 years Mother Teresa has spent tending the poor and the sick in the sprawling slums of Calcutta, Sanness recalled she once said:

"In these years of work among the people, I have come more and more to realize that it is being unwanted that is the worst disease that any human being can experience."

"She believes," Sanness said, "that the worst disease today is not leprosy or tuberculosis, but rather the feeling of being unwanted, uncared for and deserted by everybody."

"The hallmark of her work has been respect for the individual and the individual's worth and dignity."

Sanness said the Yugoslav nun, the sixth woman to win the Peace Prize, shares the standard of another Nobel laureate: the "veneration for life" of the late Albert Schweitzer.

He gave this explanation of the choice of the 69-year-old founder of the Missionaries of Charity, a Roman Catholic order that has spread its works among the poor from the streets of New York's South Bronx to the alleys of Vietnam:

"The year 1979 has not been a year of peace: disputes and conflicts between nations, peoples and ideologies have been conducted with all the accompanying extremes of inhumanity and cruelty."

"We are faced with new and overwhelming floods of refugees. Not without reason the word genocide has been on many lips.

"The Holocaust film series has shaken us, not only as an evil memory ... (but because) not one of us can be certain that the like may not recur in the future."

Because of this, Sanness said, the committee "considered it right and appropriate" to choose Mother Teresa to remind the world of the words of another Nobel Peace Prize winner, Norwegian scientist and humanist Fridtjof Nansen, who said:

"Love of one's neighbor is realistic policy."

He said the "committee posed a focal question: Can any political, social, or intellectual feat of engineering on the international or national plane, no matter how effective and rational ... give us anything but a house built on sand, unless the spirit of Mother Teresa inspires the builders ..."

Sanness cited her words when she first learned she had won the prestigious award: "I accept the prize in the name of the poor."

"Better than anyone else," he said, "she has ... developed an attitude to the relationship between donor and recipient ... In her eyes the person who, in the accepted sense, is the recipient, is also the giver, and the one who gives most."

"Giving — giving something of oneself — is what confers real joy and the person who is allowed to give is the one who receives the most precious gift," he added.

Mother Teresa has said she will use the $192,000 prize to build homes for lepers. In addition, she has been awarded the $70,000 Norwegian Peoples' Prize. She also asked that the traditional Peace Prize dinner be canceled so the $6,000 allocated for it could be used instead for her work.

The other prize winners include American economist Theodore Schultz, who shared the Economics Prize with Princeton professor Sir Arthur Lewis, a British subject born in the West Indies; Allan M. Cormack of Tufts University and Godfrey N. Hounsfield of Britain, medicine; Sheldon Glashow and Steven Weinberg of Harvard and Abdus Salam, a Pakistani who works in Italy; physics; Herbert Brown of Purdue and Dr. George Wittig, West Germany, chemistry, and Greek poet Odysseus Elytis, literature.

Soviet Press Rebuts Human Rights Charges

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet press has rebutted American charges of human rights violations in the Communist countries of Eastern Europe saying some of the worst offenses against freedom take place in the United States.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda swiped at the United States Sunday for President Carter's report to Congress last week charging "serious failures" in the Soviet bloc's observance of the Helsinki Accords on human rights.

Pravda contended there were "thousands of political prisoners" in U.S. jails who have been denied their human rights, along with "millions of U.S. Black Americans, of Mexican descent (and American Indians reduced to the position of second-rate citizens."

Carter's report and a subsequent statement issued by the White House are "purely propagandistic devices, the aim of which is to slander socialist countries and to present the state of affairs in America in the best light," Pravda said.

"What do more than six million (U.S.) unemployed think about the 'right to happiness?'" Pravda asked in its editorial, timed to coincide with today's celebration of the 31st anniversary of the U.N. Declaration on Human Rights.

Carter's human rights report to Congress said the four years since the signing of the Helsinki Accords have produced some encouraging results. But he also cited some "serious failures" this year within the Soviet orbit — the trial and imprisonment of Czechoslovakia's "Charter 77" dissidents, harsh new laws in East Germany and the Soviets' ban on 40 Western books that were to have been shown at this year's Moscow book fair.

As the Pravda report was being distributed by the Tass news agency, however, dissident sources in Moscow were spreading the word of a police raid at the home of Malva Landa, a founding member of the Moscow group monitoring Soviet compliance with the Helsinki Accords.

The 61-year-old retired geologist, daughter of a veterinarian who died in Stalin's labor camps, originally was exiled because she was found guilty of damaging state property after a fire broke out in her apartment. She has not yet been able to obtain permission to move back to Moscow, since residence in the capital is restricted.

The editorial made no mention of specific complaints about human rights abuses within the Soviet Union.

In Washington, a report released Sunday by the private U.N. Association of the United States said concern for human rights of other people must remain a "serious and vital" part of Carter's foreign policy.

"Morality, humanitarianism, the furtherance of peace and world order and international obligations ... require it," the group said.

"Other U.S. interests are also enhanced by such a concern," said the report, prepared by a panel of public figures from labor leaders to corporation executives and religious leaders.

Moslems Claim Russia Escalating War Effort

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Soviet Union has 25,000 troops and advisers in Afghanistan aiding government forces in a 19-month-old war against Moslem rebels that has claimed 250,000 Afghan lives, a rebel leader said today.

Zia Khan Nassry, a leading spokesman for anti-government alliance, also called on behalf of the Afghan "freedom fighters" for the release of the 50 American hostages held by Iranian militants at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

He said Iranian strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini should free them "in accordance with Islamic principles" of tolerance because the actions of the Iranian regime have alienated the world Christian community from the cause of Afghanistan's Moslem insurgency.

Nassry is chairman of the Afghanistan Islamic and Nationalist Revolutionary Council, one of the numerous rebel groups battling forces of President Hafizullah Amin's Marxist regime.

He told a news conference in New Delhi that he had recently returned from rebel-held territory in Afghanistan, and claimed the Soviets "recently brought in 800 new tanks and 100 Mi-24 helicopter gunships which we call flying tanks."

His figure of 25,000 Russians in Afghanistan could not be independently confirmed. Western diplomatic sources have estimated that 3,500 to 4,000 Soviet military advisers are in the Moslem Central Asian nation.

Nassry, who is seeking foreign support for the rebels, urged Indian Moslems to demonstrate next Friday outside the Soviet Embassy in New Delhi to protest the Soviet role in Afghanistan.

He denied claims by the Amin government and the Soviet Union that the rebels are armed with Chinese and American weapons. He said the rebels mainly use Russian-made weapons captured from government troops.

He also claimed three mechanized Afghan army brigades, totaling 15,000 men, have deserted to the rebel side in the past year.

Epileptic Seizure Leads To Drowning

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — A member of the Louisiana State University swimming team suffered an epileptic seizure and drowned in his bathtub during the weekend, the coroner's office said.

Mark E. Chiles, 21, of Memphis, Tenn., was found dead about 7 a.m. last week in his apartment. Assistant East Baton Rouge Parish Coroner Mike Williams said Chiles suffered a seizure and lost consciousness, then drowned.

Candidates' Problems Mounting

By DON MCLEOD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A full field of candidates has become something of a standard for presidential campaigns, but there are growing signs that the thinning may come earlier this time.

This doesn't necessarily mean most of the 13 major-party candidates will drop out after the first caucus, but already Republican ticket, is in the midst of reorganizing his campaign in New Hampshire, the first primary state, after wholesale resignations last week.

Starting early became the established wisdom after George McGovern grabbed the Democratic nomination that way in 1972 and Jimmy Carter won the nomination and the election with an even earlier start four years later.

This season's first entry was Republican Phil Crane, who broke even those records with a mid-1978 announcement for 1980. Crane was raising money and lining up field workers when others were just thinking about it.

But the strategy went sour when Crane's campaign began to come apart last spring with mass resignations in the top ranks of his organization.

It also was learned that his spectacular fund-raising had a kink. The expensive direct-mail technique he was using had run him almost $1 million in debt.

Today, Crane is still trying to get his campaign back on track, but his poor showing in early straw votes and continued low rating in the polls indicate the difficulty. His last financial report listed a $793,041 debt.

Baker went the other way. He decided to delay his entry into the race while making the most of his role as minority leader and the publicity he gained as ranking GOP member of the Senate Watergate committee.

The indications now are that Baker may have waited too long. He took a surprise thumping in a Maine straw poll last month to long-shot candidate George Bush.

Baker responded by replacing his campaign manager and announcing last week that he will concentrate on a few early states, virtually writing off his native South.

Connally's predicament is a little more surprising. He got off to a fast start, raising more money and drawing louder cheers than any other candidate.

Now Connally has named Charles Keating as chief administrative officer for his campaign, with orders to whip it into shape. Political veteran Eddie Mahe retains his title as campaign manager, but Keating is obviously taking over the business end.

The changes carry strong hints that Connally has skimmed almost all the easy money he can get from his business connections and the rest may be harder to come by.

Dole, who had to be granted some standing by virtue of his spot on the last GOP presidential ticket, has been way down on the money list and the polls.

Last week, eight of his 10 New Hampshire staffers quit, followed by resignations in Washington of his executive directors and press secretary.

Bush, a former party chairman and ex-CI director, has been doing it the hard way. With little name recognition outside Washington, he has concentrated on organization and scored well in early straw polls by dint of plain hard work.

This brings us to Ronald Reagan, who has been the front-running Republican ever since he almost beat a sitting president for the 1976 nomination. He did all the requisite groundwork for the 1980 race, announced later and is actually expanding his organization.

Confidence In President Soars

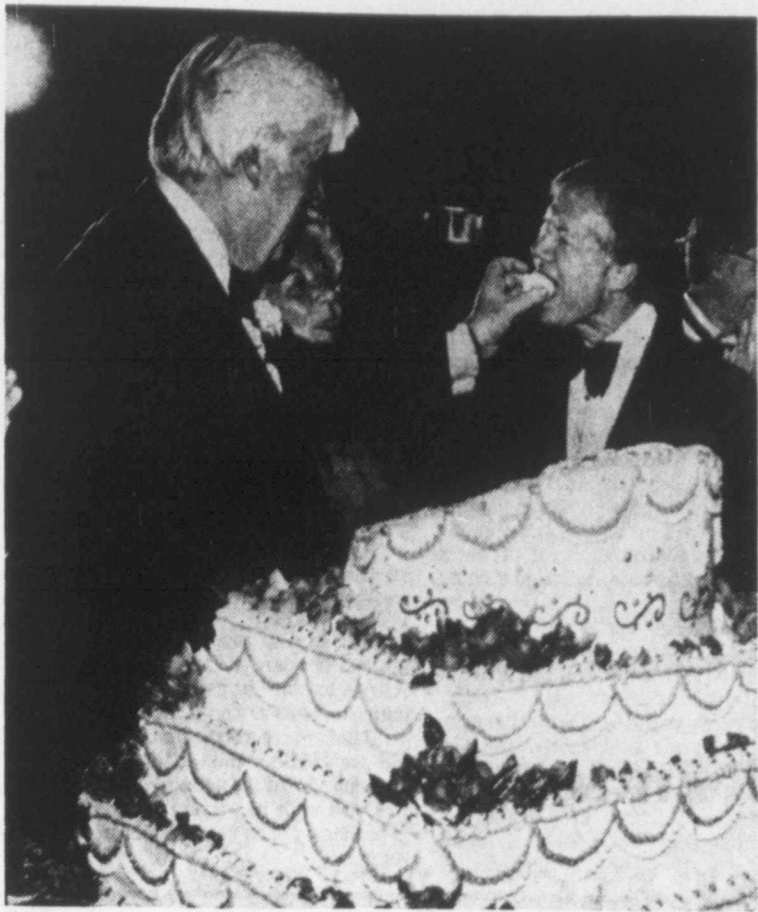

NEW YORK (AP) — Public confidence in President Carter has more than doubled since the beginning of the crisis in Iran, the largest one-month jump ever recorded by Gallup, the polling organization says.

According to a recent poll published in this week's edition of Newsweek magazine, public approval of Carter's performance rose from 30 percent to 61 percent since Nov. 4, the day militant students took hostages at the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

Gallup Organization President Andrew Kohut said it was a jump in presidential popularity exceeding those just after Pearl Harbor, the invasion of North Korea and the Cuban missile crisis.

"However," Kohut said, "Carter is working off a base of 30. Most presidents started at a higher base than that during times of crisis."

Carter, Kennedy Attend Dinner Honoring House Speaker O'Neill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A non-political event honoring a very political man gave fans of President Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy a chance for a side-by-side comparison of the two rivals for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination.

It was a standoff. Kennedy kept his speech light and got more laughs. Carter drew the most applause when he expressed his belief that America would prevail in the crisis in Iran.

Both men were back at business as usual today, Carter in the White House and Kennedy in another campaign swing, this one a series of fund-raising events.

The occasion that attracted the two men was a $1,000-a-plate testimonial dinner Sunday night for House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. The proceeds — $1.2 million — will be used to endow a chair in politics in O'Neill's name at his alma mater, Boston College. It was the first time Kennedy and Carter had appeared together since the Oct. 20 dedication of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library in Boston.

The diners sat at round tables, 12 at each.

Kennedy was at Table 29, near the front of the room. Among those who shared his table was Lt. Gov. Thomas P. O'Neill III of Massachusetts, son of the House speaker and New England coordinator of Kennedy's presidential campaign.

A few feet away at Table 30, the speaker's table, sat Carter.

The briefest of handshakes were their only greeting to each other, although their speeches were laced with references to their conflicting ambitions.

Kennedy said he saw Miss Lillian Carter, the president's mother, in Alabama last week.

"She said Jimmy had been working very hard for three years and she thought he needed a little rest," said the Massachusetts senator. "I assured her I was in agreement."

"My mother takes a different attitude. About three months ago, she told me, 'Teddy, isn't it about time you went out and did something?'"

The crowd seemed to love it.

They also laughed when the senator poked fun at himself in the controversy that followed his denunciation last week of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi. Kennedy said both the speaker and the president had been looking forward to his speech: "They can't think of anything controversial I could possibly find to say about this."

Later, Kennedy quipped that the senior O'Neill "taught me everything I know about foreign affairs."

Carter also told a few campaign jokes. He said the voters of O'Neill's Massachusetts district "know the value, which I cherish along with him, of re-electing the incumbent."

The president used his praise of the speaker to point to congressional approval of his jobs program.

Louisiana Republican Awaits Vote Results

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Republican security guards watched over the Louisiana $6,400 voting machines today as Dave Treen — apparently the first Republican to win the governor's chair in a century — cautiously accepted victory. Meanwhile, his margin dwindled.

"It is a close election, and until the official results are promulgated I don't want to be boastful or sound that way," Treen told reporters Sunday as his slim margin shrank by 6,000 votes. "I think we won, but with a large votewe should wait and see."

Treen aide Jay Brinkman said private guards were posted to "protect the integrity" of voting machines used in the Saturday election.

"We're trying to minimize the chance of anyone getting to the machines and changing the totals," he said.

The Oct. 27 open primary was marred by charges of voter fraud and other irregularities. Thirteen errors were found in favor of Democrat Louis Lambert, giving him enough votes to make the runoff election.

Lambert, 38, would not concede defeat but acknowledged Treen, a Republican congressman, appeared to be the winner.

"We will know after tomorrow or Tuesday when the results are counted," Lambert said early Sunday.

Meanwhile, Treen campaign manager John Cade said "major errors" had been found on unofficial totals of one parish, cutting 6,000 votes from Treen's margin. In another error, Lambert picked up 1,000 votes and Treen lost 10.

With the corrected unofficial figures from all the state's 2,899 precincts, Treen was ahead by 10,402 votes with 690,325, or 50.4 percent, to 679,923, or 49.6 percent, for Lambert.

Treen didn't mention the 6,000-vote switch at his news conference, but, when asked, agreed it was one of the reasons for his caution.

"We know about it. It appears to be an honest error. We're checking — and re-checking — all the parishes," said the 51-year-old four-term congressman from suburban New Orleans.

The election brings to a close the $20 million governor's race — the most expensive in the state's history.

Although Democrats outnumbered Republicans 18 to 1, Treen neutralized the imbalance with a strong showing among white voters, a large turnout and strength in the areas dominated by four Democrats he beat in the primary.

Treen will take office March 10, succeeding popular two-term Gov. Edwin Edwards who was barred from seeking a third consecutive term. Edwards threw his support to Lambert in the final two weeks of the campaign, and President Carter and Sen. Edward Kennedy sent endorsements for the Democrat.

The last time a Republican lived in the governor's mansion was 1877, when William Pitt Kellogg ended a four-year term.

In the other statewide races, Democrat Bobby Freeman, an Edwards administration floor leader backed heavily by labor, took the lieutenant governor's post.

Blacks and women picked up seats in the legislature. Among them was Mary Landrieu, the 24-year-old daughter of former New Orleans Mayor Moon Landrieu, who is now secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

Former President Of Algeria Still Under Close Surveillance

By ROBERT KAYLOR
 ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Suspicion and uncertainty still cloud the future of former President Ahmed Ben Bella, keeping him under tight restrictions despite a promised relaxation of his 14-year imprisonment.
 Some time ago Algeria's military-dominated government spread word that Ben Bella, a dynamic spokesman for the Third World as his country's first president in 1962, would get total freedom last Nov. 1, the 25th birthday of the war for independence from France.
 But sources say the former president, now 63, remains under close surveillance in a government villa in the dusty crossroads town of Msila, southeast of Algiers. He is followed whenever he goes out. Conversations in the residence are bugged, a reminder that despite liberalizing steps by President Benjaddid Chadli in the last 10 months, Algeria still is far from an open society.
 Under terms of Ben Bella's partial release last July, he is allowed to travel only within the immediate area. Government officials say he has agreed not to make any political statements or speak to journalists.
 Ben Bella theoretically is free to receive Algerian visitors, but sources say some former supporters who have been to Msila have been questioned later by authorities.

 A guerrilla leader who spent years in French prisons before independence, Ben Bella was toppled from power in 1965 in a coup led by one of his closest associates, Houari Boumedienne.
 Though no charges ever were brought against him, Ben Bella was kept in isolation in an underground cell for the first eight months of his imprisonment. It was not even known he was alive until he was moved to a two-room prison in a house near Algiers.
 Boumedienne, apparently fearing his popular former comrade would return to power if freed, permitted Ben Bella to marry a young supporter after five years. She was allowed in and out of the compound — being stripped and searched each time — but Ben Bella himself had no direct contact with the outside world.
 When Chadli took over earlier this year following Boumedienne's death from a blood ailment, he immediately eased some repressive measures of the former regime. Rumors said he would free Ben Bella.

 Why the government did not go ahead with publicized plans for full freedom in November is not known. But sources who have watched the case say that apparently some factions still see Ben Bella as a threat.
 They note that although in his later years Boumedienne guaranteed Ben Bella's life, there were apparent attempts by guards to poison him in 1973 and 1974.
 Ben Bella was an active athlete who regularly played soccer until he was imprisoned at age 48. Today he is reported in excellent health.
 He is said to have become a devout Moslem in captivity, practicing the state religion to which he gave only lip service during his years as a revolutionary.
 There are reports government authorities granted his request to leave the Msila region to visit the grave of his mother, who died while he was in total captivity, in his home region near Oran in western Algeria.

Corporation Astrologers Give Executives Advice

NEW YORK (UPI) — First there was the corporate "shrink." Now comes the age of the corporate astrologer whom bosses can call on not only to solve sticky personnel problems, but also to aid them in making major business decisions.

One of this new breed, Jeff Jawer, 33, advises among other businesses a firm that publishes a stock market newsletter, an Atlanta-based commodities firm, a sporting goods store and the makers of a cigarette paper.

Besides doing astrological charts of individual employees to determine who should be doing what, and when, Jawer also does them for the company as a whole to determine whether it's time to diversify, sell, hire or fire.

"Yes, you can do a horoscope for a business," the Atlanta-based astrologer said. "You can do charts for rocks, animals, chairs, anything."

Jawer passed an 8-hour exam for a license to practice astrology in Atlanta — the only city in the United States where such a certificate is required.

Lately he has been busy traveling around the country selling an astrological computer that he helped develop. "It's not meant to replace professional astrologers," Jawer said, "but to bridge the gap between them and the newspaper horoscopes, which are most general."

An astrologer can provide several services for a business, Jawer said.

"Part of it involves personnel," he said. "You serve as a sort of corporate psychologist. You can do a character analysis: An employee might be perfectly qualified for a position, but is it the right time in his life to make such a move? Are two employees compatible?"

"And then you can provide service for the employees acting as a sort of in-house shrink."

Then there are the corporate horoscopes that can be based on incorporation dates, certain significant agreements, or even the date of a first sale. "You can do several charts and decide which one looks like a company."

Using that date as a base point and tracing the movement of the planets, one might determine that now is "a good time to launch a new product or to build a new plant," Jawer said.

Jawer earned a degree in the "History and Science of Astrology" at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst under a program that allows students to design their own majors. His adviser was a classics professor.

The trim, bearded astrologer said he first became interested in his field at college when his marriage to a Libra was breaking up and someone did a chart for him. "It was fascinating and it explained a lot to me (a Taurus) about the relationship I had with my ex-wife."

Jawer firmly believes astrology can be used to provide guidance for individuals, relationships, companies, cities and even international politics.

But even beyond the practical appli-

Scuba Diving Hurts Fetuses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scuba diving may be hazardous to unborn children, warns the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Administrator Richard A. Frank said a government-funded survey conducted by the Florida Sea Grant Program supports conclusions made last year that pregnant women who scuba dive, particularly to depths of more than 100 feet, may give birth to malformed children.

The Florida survey indicated that three of 24 women who had dived to depths of greater than 100 feet while pregnant gave birth to malformed infants and two other women who dived extensively during pregnancy, but not to the 100-foot depth, bore children with "serious deformities."

Earlier tests by Texas A&M University on sheep in a pressure chamber "indicated dives to 100 feet presented risks to unborn lambs," the administration said.

Florida researcher Margie E. Bolton said the "risk of harmful effects" to an unborn child from the mother's diving "appears to be real."

She said pregnant women who want to dive should limit dives to 60 feet, limit the duration of dives to one-half the time length recommended by Navy decompression tables.

Apartment House Caters To Single-Parent Family

PRESCHOOLERS — Children in the playground at Warren Village grin for a photographer. The high-rise apartment complex with its preschool facilities is operated for Denver's single parents. The project, operated by the Warren United Methodist Church, is being studied by other local governments concerned with their single-parent populations. (AP Laserphoto)

DENVER (AP) — Warren Village, a six-story apartment building near downtown Denver, is square and brick like thousands of others. The playground equipment says it is something different — the nation's only community devoted to the single-parent family.

A project of the Warren United Methodist Church, the 5-year-old village is being studied by governments interested in helping their own single-parent populations.

The U.S. Census Bureau says last year there were nearly 6 million one-parent families with children under 18. Currently, 87 families — containing 122 children — live in the building's 96 apartments. All but two are headed by women and more than half have annual incomes of less than $4,000, says Kathy Pierce of the village staff.

Rents and fees for the building's day-care center are keyed to the low-income levels, she said, with rents perhaps $100 a month cheaper than for comparable apartments nearby. A large one-bedroom is $165 a month and many residents qualify for reduced rates.

A full-time staff steers those who need it to government and community programs that can help, such as Aid to Dependent Children, job placement or further college classes.

"If ever there was a place that will help you feel that it's OK to be a single parent, this is it," says Trica Johnson, a 31-year-old staff psychologist who earned her undergraduate degree while living in Warren Village with her daughter.

Mary Anne Guillot, who lives there with her 3-year-old daughter, says a community of one-parent families is much better for the children.

"It makes a difference to them to know that, despite what they read or see on TV, a whole lot of families are living in one-parent families," Miss Guillot explains. "They learn you're not 'weird' because you don't have a father or you don't have a mother."

"And it takes a lot of pressure off me, too," she adds. "Here, I can see lots of alternatives to what you do when you don't have two cars and you don't have two people."

But executive director Charles Mowry says despite inquiries from groups and governmental units, he is not optimistic that Warren Village will be re-created elsewhere. "Some of what we have here can't be done as easily at today's prices," he said in a recent interview.

Mowry said the real credit for Warren Village lies with the congregation of Warren United Methodist Church, which decided 20 years ago to preserve the character of its Capitol Hill neighborhood. The congregation "started buying property before they even knew why they needed it," said Miss Pierce.

The congregation still helps with the village's $600,000 annual operating budget. A professional fund-raiser was hired recently, and Mowry says the annual democratic budgeting sessions, for example, face inevitable changes as the budget grows.

"But we know the community's need for us, if anything only going to increase," he said.

Town Helps Brothel Owner Raise Funds

BEATTY, Nev. (AP) — Fran York was welcomed with cheers and whistles when she arrived for a fund-raising dance attended by ranchers, miners and technicians of Nevada Test Site. When it was over, she had about $5,000 to help rebuild her brothel.

"This is the most beautiful thing that's ever happened to me in my entire life," said Mrs. York, owner of the Fran's Star Ranch brothel, who was honored at a "fire dance" Saturday.

About 400 persons — more than half the population of this tiny southwest Nevada community — turned out to help raise money for the popular businesswoman.

The brothel, located about a mile outside the mining-ranching town 114 miles north of Las Vegas, burned about three weeks ago. Mrs. York, a half-dozen prostitutes and two customers escaped without injury but the women lost all their belongings in the fire.

The fund-raising dance was a natural small-town thing, sponsors said. And the popularity of Mrs. York made it even more of a success.

"She's been a good friend. She helps people in town. She donates to everything," said Sandy Sanborn, a Beatty housewife. "This is for her, not the house per se."

A variety of items were auctioned off, including one of Mrs. York's bras. That fetched $100 after she agreed to autograph it.

G.L. Coffey, an area rancher, said Mrs. York "contributes to everything. Anybody who is in trouble, she's always there to help."

Although some Beatty residents were opposed to the party, Bill Terry, one of the organizers, said there was no strong opposition.

"We respect their beliefs," he said. "And they respect ours."

Prostitution is outlawed in Nevada's two largest counties, where Las Vegas and Reno are located, but the issue is left up to local ordinance in the remaining 15.

Mrs. York was delighted with the turnout, but said it's what she would have expected from Beatty residents.

"I love people, and I love the people in this town," she said. "If other people would go by the people in this town, it would be a beautiful world. It really would."

Concert Mishap Examined By Task Force

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A task force is trying to find ways of preventing a repeat of last week's "incomprehensible" tragedy at Riverfront Coliseum where 11 persons died in a stampede of rock fans.

Mayor J. Kenneth Blackwell appointed two students, a security specialist, a lawyer and the director of a rock radio station to serve on the task force which began consideration of better crowd control measures for future concerts.

Thousands of rock fans rushed the doors of the Coliseum last Monday night, trying to push and shove their way into the concert hall where The Who were performing.

"The loss of 11 lives... is so absurd, so incomprehensible, in fact it's madness," said Blackwell, who along with about 75 others attended an inter-faith memorial service Saturday night for the victims.

The mourners gently placed fresh daisies at the spot of the stampede as cold winds teased their candles.

A clergyman offered the bereaved families comfort by referring to the title of a movie biography of The Who.

The movie was titled: "The Kids Are Alright."

"The kids are alright. It's we who don't understand," said the Rev. Richard Rohr. "It's we who carry the burden. It's we who grieve... The kids are alright. The life they lost is the life we must somehow now treasure."

The student council president of suburban Finneytown High School, which lost two students and a recent graduate last week, tried to put the mourners' shock into perspective.

"When a parent dies, you lose your past," said Nancy Weil. "When a child dies, you lose your future."

"We must thoroughly and convincingly search for every fact that will lead us to some understanding of why this tragic event visited us," Blackwell said. "This anguish must compel us to find a solution that will prevent a recurrence of this sort of tragedy again."

Painted Rocks Make Good Presents

By SHARI LEWIS

A pretty painted rock on my desk serves as a paper weight. It also serves to remind me of a Christmas past when my daughter was 10. If you want to give someone a gift that will make them think of you every time they look at it, paint a rock. You've done that, haven't you? But this season, paint it with yarn!

In Ranger Rick magazine (oh, is that fun to read!), I learned about how the Huichol Indians make yarn paintings by covering plywood with beeswax. They set a board out in the sun until the wax becomes soft. Next, they scratch a design into the wax with a sharp object. Then they press yarn into the soft wax. The design is outlined in many bright colors of yarn. Then the background color is filled in.

With glue and a rock, instead of beeswax and wool, you can make a yarn animal paperweight. Here's how:

Choose a smooth rock. Draw an animal design on the rock. Squeeze glue along the lines of the design. Press pieces of brightly colored yarn into the glue. When you have covered all the lines, fill in the background area with more glue and yarn.

TODAY'S BRAIN TWISTER: Eight of our 51 states were named after Indian tribes. How many can you name? (Look for the answer in tomorrow's Kids-Only Club column.)

Old Bookstore To Close On Christmas Eve

BOSTON (AP) — Daniel Webster, Nathaniel Hawthorne and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow once congregated at the Old Corner Book Store, a Boston tradition for more than 150 years. But as the city grew, the store lost business and on Christmas Eve the store will close its doors.

Manager John Zielinski said there is only a slim chance that the store, first opened in 1828, will re-open at a new location. The store is owned by Doubleday, a New York publishing firm.

"Right now, it looks like we'll probably be closing rather than moving," he said. "It depends on whether the people who own the store can find another place to move to. It looks like we'll go out of business."

"The store doesn't do enough business at the location to support itself," Zielinski said. "Our lease expires at the end of January" and employees will spend the month clearing out.

Despite its name, the book store is not on a corner. The building it originally occupied is now occupied by the circulation and advertising office of The Boston Globe.

It was there that Ralph Waldo Emerson, John Greenleaf Whittier and other authors of America's young years could be found.

It has been at its present location, 50 Bromfield St., near Boston Common and the burial ground of Revolutionary War patriots, for 75 years.

"The location is probably the biggest problem," Zielinski said. "We're not on a main thoroughfare. Bromfield Street was much more prosperous at one time," he said. More competition has been another factor.

"The store has been struggling for quite a while," he said.

Zielinski said Doubleday has offered to transfer him to another location, but he does not want to leave the area and probably will not take it. The other three employees will be laid off, he said.

JOHNSON STARS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Academy Award-winner Ben Johnson will play an aging Houston sheriff in "The Hunter." He tries to prevent bounty hunter Steve McQueen from apprehending a fugitive in the movie. Johnson and McQueen previously worked together in "Junior Bonner" and "The Getaway." The movie is based on the life of contemporary bounty hunter Ralph "Papa" Thorson.

HOW TO MAKE A MERRY CHRISTMAS

ACLU Plans To Challenge Texas Law

HOUSTON (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union intends to use the case of Ruth Krause to challenge the Texas law that allowed the woman to spend a month in a mental ward as the result of a series of events that began with her failure to pay her rent.

Mrs. Krause, 55, has been declared competent by a Harris County jury to handle her own affairs and Probate Judge Jim Scanlan dissolved the guardianship that made her a temporary ward of the court.

With that, Mrs. Krause, a veteran of a World War II Nazi concentration camp who testified "the most essential thing for any human being is freedom," was released from St. Joseph Hospital, where she had been sent for mental tests.

"I might just as well go to Iran if I wanted to be a slave," Mrs. Krause told Scanlan and the jury last week.

American Civil Liberties Union lawyers said they plan to use her case to challenge a Texas law that allows the creation of guardianships without notice or hearings for the person affected.

Mrs. Krause, who has impaired vision and has undergone three operations for caner, was evicted from her two-bedroom apartment at Royal Oaks Apartments after failing to pay the $260 monthly rent for five months.

The Houston Housing Authority, which had suspended her rent subsidy because she lived alone in the two-bedroom apartment, demanded that she move into a one-bedroom apartment.

Joan Glantz of the ACLU said Mrs. Krause refused to move because she wanted the extra room for her plants, which she grew and sold to supplement her Social Security disability pension.

At the urging of Mrs. Krause's landlord, who was concerned because she had no place to go, Harris County welfare workers obtained a temporary order placing her under court guardianship.

New York Post Office Tries To Answer Letters To Santa

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Please let people be nice to each other," Peter, age 7, asks. Gustavo says his feet are "flat and twisted" and he was wondering if he could get "new feet." Larry asks for some money so his mother can pay her bills.

These are among the requests in letters to Santa Claus that are pouring in by the hundreds each day from around the world to the General Post Office in New York, where mail to the North Pole is delivered.

Mostly the letters are lists, both long and short, of toys tots want.

But others are pleas from people who might seem too old to believe in Saint Nick but not too old to hope someone might care, might be able to help.

And sometimes there is help because the post office encourages those who can to take at least one of the letters and either answer it with a letter from Santa or, if possible, to send gifts because the writer comes from a poor family.

Millie Lee, a customer services representative for the Postal Service, said that of the 8,500 letters received last year, 1,500 were answered in one way or another.

"Some people go so far as to dress up as Santa and take gifts to poor families," she said.

And many who come in find it hard to refuse the simple words of children.

"I've been good all year," writes Billy. "You can ask all my friends."

"I know you give toys to little children and I like to know if you can give me a toy," asks Joey who lives in a poor neighborhood in Queens.

"I been bad," says Annie. "I will try to be good."

Many children also seem aware that these are financially tough times. Some send coupons or they say they are aware their list cannot be filled.

"I don't want you to get me all of these because it would cost too much so get the ones you think that I want most," writes Amy from Cleveland.

And then there are letters from the poor.

"I'm the mother of three boys on welfare and with the little money I receive from them it's impossible for my children to enjoy a merry Christmas like other children without your help," writes one woman from Harlem who opened her letter with "Dear Santa."

One 14-year-old girl from New York said her widowed mother was sickly and could not afford to buy gifts for her two brothers and one sister.

"If you can help it would ease Mom's heart some," she says.

"I am afraid my children's dreams are not going to come true," says an unemployed man whose wife ran out three years ago.

"Please, could you send some toys to my little brother Oliver who is six," scribbled a girl named Anne from Striferton Northern Ireland.

And with the number of shopping days becoming fewer, there are more and more letters, but as Mrs. Lee knows, there are people with the Christmas spirit.

"Some of my friends say there is no such thing as Santa Claus but I believe in you," says Sandra of Ridgefield, N.J. "Thanks for your letter last year."

Inflation Makes Profits Deceptive

By JAMES A. WHITE
NEW YORK (UPI) — The murky world of financial accounting contains few simple truths but one today stands out: Inflation has made standard methods of accounting for corporate America's profits deceptive.

Misleading financial statements are the unavoidable result of the punctured value of the dollar — the unit in which all financial activity is measured — just as though the number of inches in a foot was changed one day to the next.

First In A Series
"The higher the rate of inflation, the easier it is to report a profit," notes Lee Seidler, investment analyst for Bear, Sterns & Co. "So you don't know who really is making a profit and who isn't."

simply not accumulating and retaining the resources required" to keep up production.

"Some businesses may actually be distributing their capital and be in the process of unconscious liquidation," he says. Analysts believe this is true of the steel industry, where inflation corrections would show some firms with no real profits still paying dividends to shareholders. Other firms, especially those with older manufacturing equipment, may be in the same boat.

Inaccurate financial reports are of obvious concern to investors, who rely on them to estimate how well companies will perform in the future. But the impact ripples far wider.

It may help explain why executives, to the utter disbelief most Americans, complain about high business taxes while corporations report record profits.

The $98.6 billion in after-tax profits reported by U.S. nonfinancial corporations in 1978 would have shrunk to $56.5 billion with proper inflation adjustments. That makes the effective tax rate on real earnings — those not created by inflation gains on inventory holdings or under-expensing depreciation on plant and equipment — much higher than it first appears.

To keep reported profits growing while coping with inflation, businesses also look to buy other companies for a quicker return than internal expansion would provide and they add increasingly to their debt rather than trying to raise capital in the stock market at depressed prices.

The distortions in accounting caused by the declining dollar still are a well-kept secret as far as the public is concerned. "We have done little collectively to set the record straight," concedes Thomas Thorsen, General Electric Co. vice president and comptroller.

Now, after years of debate, that is changing through an accounting experiment which has split the profession, angered corporations and promises confusion for the uninitiated.

The 1979 annual reports published early next year for the largest 1,200 to 1,500 public U.S. companies will contain supplementary financial data adjusted for inflation.

Education Chief To Seek Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newest member of President Carter's Cabinet, Shirley M. Hufstедler, says the Department of Education will seek to "make dreams come true" for Americans.

The nation's first secretary of education was sworn in last week in a brief ceremony in the East Room of the White House.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger administered the oath of office to the former federal appeals judge, who is often mentioned as the leading female candidate for the next vacancy on the Supreme Court.

She was meeting hundreds of her 14,000 new employees this week in her first visit to the headquarters of what was formerly the U.S. Office of Education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The president extolled the 54-year-old jurist as a believer "in excellence ... and the value of human beings."

The ceremony set off a round of celebrations in the capital, including a victory banquet thrown by the National Education Association, the 1.8 million-member teachers' union that lobbied for years for a place in the Cabinet for education.

In a brief appearance at the NEA celebration, Mrs. Hufstедler said she would look to the nation's teachers for guidance. She said she prefers to consider herself a student rather than "the nation's school marm," as one magazine called her.

"There is a voice in Washington at the Cabinet table that wants to listen to what you have to say," she said.

"I won't agree with every one of you — but of course, you don't agree with each other," she added, drawing laughter. The other major teachers' union, the American Federation of Teachers, opposed the separate department.

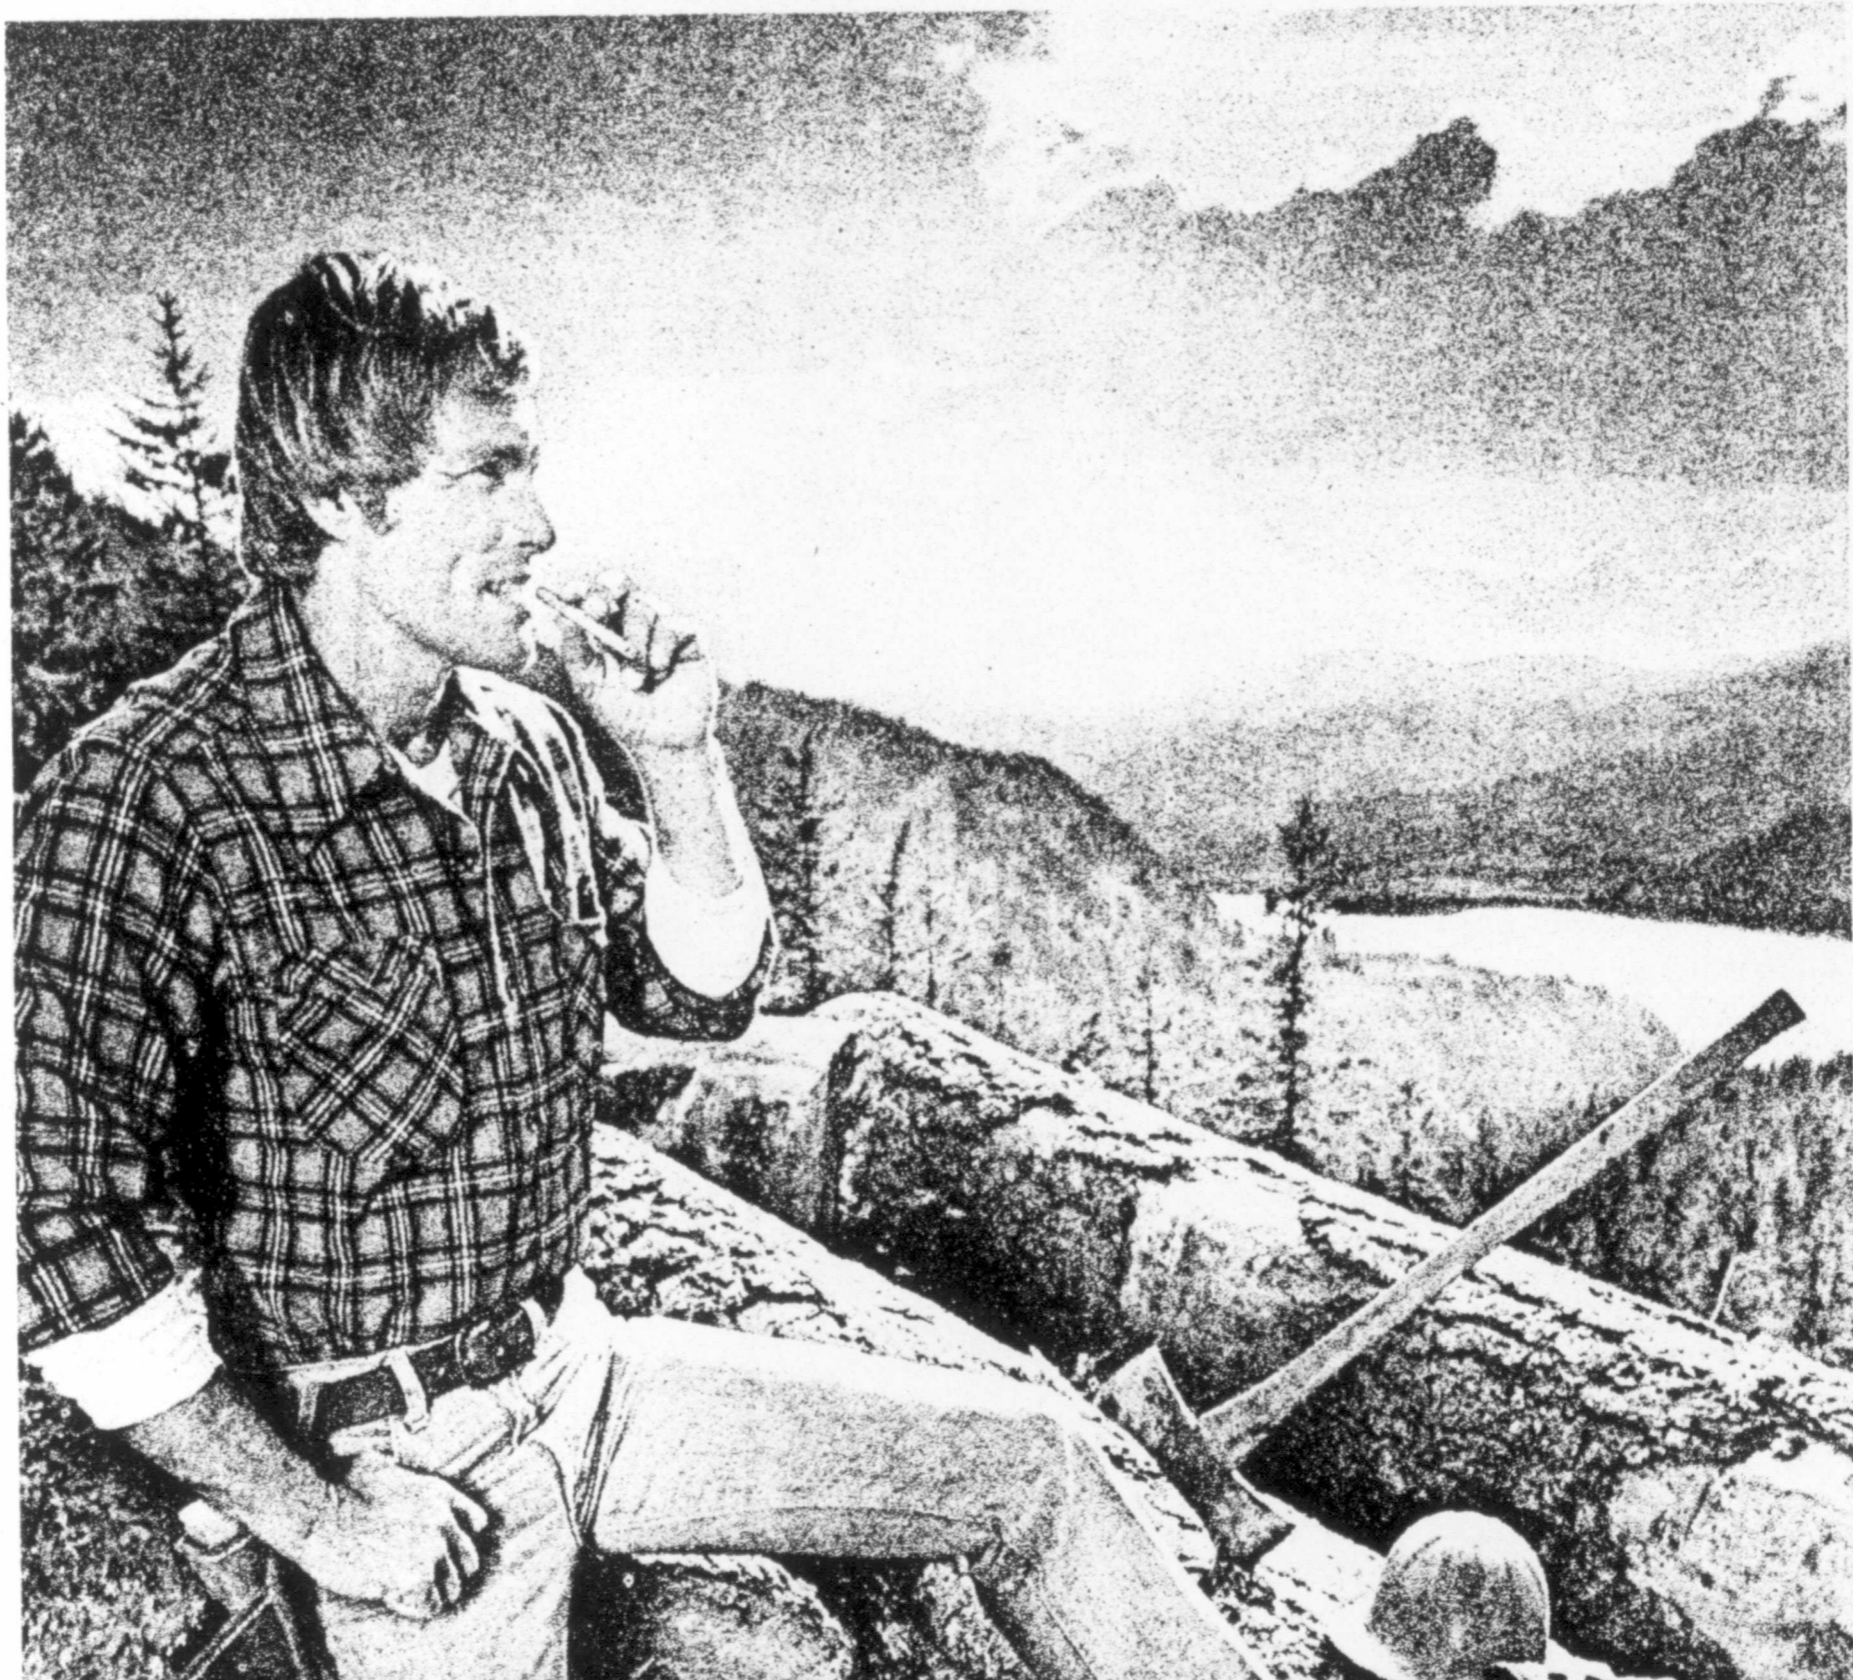

Mrs. Hufstедler, a judge for 18 years, said, "It is incumbent to make this department (one) about which dreams can come true for the great hope of Americans to give all students, able-bodied or not, rich or poor, whether their skin is black, white, yellow or red or any shade of the rainbow ... a chance to enter into the richness of the experience of the mind."

Most of the new department's 152 programs will be transferred from HEW, but four other Cabinet agencies also are ceding their education agencies. The new department technically does not come into existence for up to six months from Mrs. Hufstедler's swearing-in.

In the meantime, she must choose a staff, and it was learned that she has offered the No. 2 job, undersecretary of education, to Lisie Carter, president of the University of the District of Columbia and a top HEW official in the 1960s.

When the new department is officially created, HEW will be renamed the Department of Health and Human Services.
