CANDIDATES GET READY FOR RUN-OFF

Even before the votes of the primary election are fully counted, some candidates scheduled to be in the run-off Aug. 24 are mapping their next campaigns.

Opponents in the various races are definitely known today. Latest Texas election bureau tabulations Monday showed returns from 248 of 254 counties, 144 complete.

The battle lines (and the votes the candidates have received so far in the primary, are:

For Governor: Beauford H. Jester 394,719; Homer P. Rainey 251,380. For Lieutenant Governor: Allan Shivers 385,057; Boyce House 304,450.

Commissioner of Agriculture: J. E. McDonald 322,095; R. E. McDonald 253,498.

Court of Criminal Appeals: Tom L. Beauchamp 298,596; Jesse Owens 250,878.

There will be other names in the runoff but these will dominate.

Winning candidates in Saturday's primary included Jesse James for treasurer, George H. Sheppard for comptroller, Olin Culbertson for railroad commissioner, John H. Sharp for associate justice of supreme court and Senator Tom Connally.

In Austin, Dr. Rainey said he planned a vigorous battle for the Democratic nomination, and would have his campaign itinerary ready immediately.

Gov. Coke Stevenson predicted that Rainey would get no more votes in the runoff than he did in the primary. Stevenson, long at odds with Rainey, said in Austin he believed the negro vote which had been heavy, had been voted in a block for Rainey. He estimated the negro vote at 75,000 this year, the first time in Texas negroes have had an opportunity to cast a full free vote in a state Democratic primary.

EVERYDAY RELIGION

THE ART OF TALKING TO ONE'S SELF

By E. B. Thompson

Matthew records the story of a Woman who came to Jesus seeking help, and in so doing, talked to herself. What she said to herself was this, "If I can but touch his robe I shall be made whole."

It is generally accepted that what we say is important. Contracts and conversations fill up our days. Words multiply endlessly in the everyday business of living. "What did he say?" "What do you say?" There is another side to the matter—what we say to others is not so important as what we say to ourselves. Those inner conversations that make up our decisions, determine after all what we say to our fellows. Our soul complexions—the color of our flags if you please—are forged in our hearts and minds.

The New Testament is literally crowded with references of people who talked to themselves. The rich farmer—who made such bumper crops that he ran out of barn space "said within himself, what shall I do." The prodigal son, said to himself certain things and made certain decisions that affected his whole life. Jesus said "As a man thinketh—so is he."

What are we saying to ourselves? How do those inner conversations run in our hearts and minds? Some of us soothe ourselves with weak excuses for our failures. In so doing, we fall to face up to life and weaken rather than give strength to our characters. Others indulge in baby-talk. They become sorry for themselves in the great game of existence. Self pity never won a worthwhile battle! Let us strive to talk to ourselves with discipline and confidence, for in them is strength of character and sturdiness of purpose.

The bride wore an aqua suit with white and cherry-coke accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bridegroom's mother wore a navy dress with navy accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

A buffet dinner and reception followed the ceremony, in the home of the groom's parents.

The couple left after the reception for a wedding trip to Colorado. They will be at home after Aug. 1 at 1301 Garland, Pampa.

FARM AND RANCH CHATTER

There will be enough calcium arsenate in Texas to handle the boll weevil crop this year, according to K. P. Ewing of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine cotton insect station at Waco. Pests are scarce, but cotton farmers are encouraged to fight the insects, which are worse than usual this year.

Calcium arsenate, sulphur and DDT are the most commonly used cotton poisons now, and while sulphur and DDT are mixed to control fleahoppers, and sulphur and calcium arsenate mixed to handle boll worms, DDT should never be mixed with calcium arsenate for any purpose, says Mr. Ewing.

Summer range feed prospects are good in all major areas of Texas except the western Trans-Pecos counties and parts of the high plains. Prospects are improved in the central and southern high plains.

Cattle are in good flesh except in the southern and central high plains counties and in some Trans-Pecos counties. Sheep and lambs continue in good condition.

The eyes of the sheep and goat industry of the nation will turn to Fredericksburg on August 1, 2 and 3 for the Texas Angora Goat Raisers' Show. We are told that this is the largest such event in the world.

Live stock prices haven't settled back to their OPA levels but have tapered down to only a slight gain over those ceilings after temporarily skyrocketing on the first day or two after OPA's end.

Texas stockmen generally are optimistic over the price outlook, but can't enjoy it much because of the necessity of spending so much time worrying about where feed will come from.

CHIPS—Cotton pickers are still needed in the lower Rio Grande Valley. The crop is excellent, according to reports.—The U. S. has arranged to buy Cuba's '46 and '47 sugar crops.—Texas now has three official Jersey classifiers, two more than any other state. The new one is G. G. (Hoot) Gibson, extension dairy specialist.—The National Farmers Union, stronger in other states than in Texas, has officially broken with the Truman administration.—We understand farmers are able to sell eggs according to grade now in Lubbock as result of a new program by produce dealers and retailers.

KENT HOMEMAKING CLUB

The Kent Homemakers club met July 19 with Mrs. Henry Hamilton as hostess. Seven members were present.

Two new members who were welcomed into the club are Mrs. Mary Jane Hamilton and Mrs. Alice Carpenter.

Mrs. Oakley was a visitor. The members voted to change the meeting day to Thursdays, and to meet every three weeks. The next meeting will be August 8, with Mrs. G. E. Brunson. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served.

LOTS OF FUN

Quite a huge time was had by all at a party Monday night at the Otis Purcell home. Mrs. Violet Kaneen was hostess, assisted by her mother. Outdoor games furnished the entertainment for the group who shed their years and romped and played like youngsters.

About thirty-five were present for the fun and were served refreshments of pink lemonade and cookies.

METHODIST WSCS

Mrs. Bill Woods was hostess Tuesday night at her home to the Womans Society of Christian Service. Twelve members were present.

Mrs. Frank Hawkins led the devotional and Mrs. Bill Middleton was leader of the program. Mrs. Middleton and Miss Minnie Mae Roberson directed a Bible quiz and Mrs. Philip Hamilton gave an interesting discussion of "Why We Read the Bible."

Delicious refreshments of congealed salad, frosted cup cakes and cokes were served.

READY TO GO AGAIN

Austin—Allan Shivers, dean of the State Senate, lawyer-farmer and combat veteran, who is one of the runoff candidates for lieutenant governor, said here today that "I am deeply grateful for the loyalty and support which has been given me by the people of Texas."

"I shall conduct my runoff campaign on the same high plane as that completed last week," he added, "and will continue to run on my record of experience and qualifications."

The 33-year-old Port Arthur senator said he would spend the better part of this week perfecting his runoff campaign, and that it will be his purpose to see as many Texans as possible before the second primary, August 24.

CORONET TELLS OF UNSUNG TEXAS HERO

One of the greatest heroes of Texas has probably never been heard of by more than a handful of people. He was George Arnold, a modest young farmer of Hill County.

Arnold's act—one of singular courage—is described by Coronet Magazine in the August issue under the title "Greater Love Hath No Man." The incident occurred in 1880, just five years before Louis Pasteur discovered the cure for hydrophobia.

George Arnold had been bitten by a mad dog. Saying nothing about it to his family, he waited several months until the hot summer came, studying meanwhile of the grim fate that was to befall him.

After writing a farewell note to his wife and children, Arnold chained himself to a tree in the woods, locked his ankle to the chain, and threw the key out of reach. He judged rightly the consequences, for when two days later his body was found, the ground had been torn up the full length of the chain, the nails of his fingers wrenched off, and all his front teeth out, in biting.

Arnold thus saved his family and neighbors the consequences of facing a mad man. The Texan's bitter courage made his ancestors' last stand at the Alamo look easy, declares the Coronet article.

PEDESTRIAN ACCIDENTS SHOW MARKED INCREASE

Austin, July 22—This year approximately 360 Texans will "walk themselves to death," predicts the Texas Safety Association. For the most part, they will walk with the traffic and will come from behind parked cars to be struck down.

Others will meet death while crossing at intersections against the signal and while crossing diagonally across the street. These predictions are based on totals for the first six months of the current year in consideration of newly developing tendencies in the pedestrian field.

Pedestrian fatalities increase around the hour of sunset in all seasons of the year. The greatest number during the summer months is between 7 p. m. and 8 p. m. The Saturday and Sunday toll constitutes approximately 50 per cent of the total pedestrian accidents.
