A Grand American Tradition

The Cuppers had a grand old family reunion last week-for the first time since the war.

Big and little Cuppers came, by car and train, from as far west as Nebraska and as far east as Vermont. They crowded Dee and Jane's house, set up quarters in the barns, or stopped with neighbors-and a jollier gathering you couldn't have imagined!

I was asked to their final Saturday night supper, when they sang old songs, drank beer and cider, reminisced. Dark Cuppers and

Alabama drawls-doctors and farmers . . . all with their differences of taste and politics, yet as close and harmonious in spirit as a group

From where I sit, it's a great American tradition-not just family reunions, but the ability to get along as one harmonious family, regardless of differences of tastewhether it's taste for politics or farming, beer or cider.
